N. C. Candidates Spur Campaigns For Final Week

Democratic Leaders Intensify Stumping; Republicans Import Speakers

By The Associated Press John A. Wilkinson, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate re-iterated last night a charge that his Democratic opponent is trying to "tip-toe into office through the back door."

Speaking at a Republican rally at Burlington, Wilkinson asserted that J. Melville Broughton, the Democratic nominee, has refused to take a stand on anything save the need for better waterways and more fish in North Carolina rivers.

As the general election campaign was about to go into its final week, Democratic leaders intensified their stumping in every section of the state, and Republicans announced plans to import more oratorical heavy artillery.

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) is slated to address a GOP rally at Raleigh tonight, and Harold E. Stassen, one of the party's most prominent figures is scheduled to visit Charlotte and the Piedmont section of the state on Nov. 1—day before the election.

Yesterday the Republicans announced that Senator Owen Brewster of Maine would address a Piedmont Republican rally at Greensboro next Tuesday night.

A heavy schedule was on tap for Democratic leaders today. Kerr Scott, gubernatorial nominee, planned to address rallies at Elkin at 6 p. m. and Dobson at 8 p. m. Senator William B. Umstead and Rep. R. L. Doughton were scheduled to speak at a rally in Statesville.

Other Democratic leaders also were scheduled for speeches during the day, including Victor S. Bryant, secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, at Lumberton.

L. Gov. L. Y. Ballentine at Wilson, Secretary of State Thad Eure at Glen Alpine, and Brandon Hodges, nominee for State Treasurer, at Newland.

Stanley, Oct. 22—(AP)—Ray B. Douth of Stanley didn't get to the American Legion convention at Miami but he is getting a new home and $500 to purchase a lot.

Douth, 22, an Army veteran of World War II, is a member of Rhyme-Cannon Post No. 286. Announcement of his award was made in Miami yesterday as the convention ended.

His new home is a five-room all-metal bungalow awarded by a Columbus, O., (Lustron) corporation.

Statesville, N. C., Oct. 22—(AP)—Pupils at the Barium Springs Orphanage last Tuesday night lost $14 of their savings to thieves who broke into the Superintendent's office.

But the orphans have nothing to worry about. Superintendent Joseph H. Johnston said a benefactor identified only as 'A Friend' sent a check covering the lost savings.

Johnston also announced the thieves got $700 of the school's payroll from a vault.

Six 'Neutrals' Of Security Council Ask Blockade End

Egypt And Israel Order Desert Fighting Ended

Cease Fire Orders Meet Deadline Set By Mediator; Last-Minute Blows; Air Raid At Tel Aviv, Artillery Fire

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 22—(AP)—Israel ordered her troops to cease fighting in the Negev desert at 3 p. m. today (7 a. m. EST), the government announced.

The Egyptian government announced in Cairo it has informed the U.N. mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, that it has ordered Egyptian troops to stop fighting in Palestine in accordance with the U.N. order.

The announcement came almost simultaneously with the wall of air raid sirens in Tel Aviv, the capital's first daylight alert in three months. Anti-aircraft fire could be heard, but no planes were visible.

The cease fire order met the deadline set by the acting United Nations mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche.

Egyptian artillery pounded Israeli-held roads in southern Palestine this morning apparently in a last-minute blow before the cease fire was to take effect, the Jewish army said.

The battle of the Negev desert is a week old. The cease fire order was handed the government of Israel at 1 a. m., 16 hours before the deadline, U.N. officials said. Israel had asked a 12-hour margin after receipt of the message, to allow time for issuance of orders to advance positions to stop shooting.

The Israelis, flushed with their reported capture of Beersheba, cradle of the modern Arab world, had informed acting United Nations Mediator Ralph Bunche they would quit fighting when assured the Egyptians would do so.

(Bunche set noon, Greenwich Mean Time—7 a. m. Eastern Standard Time—as the deadline for the cease fire. The Egyptians had agreed to stop firing, he said. The Security Council three days ago ordered an end to the south Palestine fighting, but had not set a time.)

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion sent a telegram to the Israeli commander on the Negev desert front, congratulating him.

Raleigh, Oct. 22—(AP)—The Advisory Budget Commission, which recommends to the legislature how much money to provide each state agency for its operating expenses, will begin hearings November 3.

Munich, Germany, Oct. 22—(AP)—Ten German war criminals were hanged today at Landsberg Prison, despite recent appeals of German Catholic and Protestant church leaders that further executions be halted.

Alex Piorowski, 44, one-time commander of the Dachau concentration camp, and former S.S. Col. Hans Trummer, 48, who passed out cigars to his troops after they killed parachuted aviators, were the best known of the ten.

All were convicted by American courts of shooting unarmed American airmen or torturing and killing concentration camp inmates.

Piorowski, a former pencil salesman who became an S.S. (Elite Guard) lieutenant colonel, was commander of the Dachau camp from March 1940 to June 1942.

An army announcement said he was convicted of supervising "beatings, tortures, starvation, abuses and indignities of all kinds resulting in the death of many inmates."

Piorowski filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the United States Supreme Court and appealed to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, for clemency. Both pleas were denied.

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 22—(AP)—A round of entertainment that will extend far into the night began today as Wilson observed its first "Tobacco Tamasha."

Afternoon contests at Municipal Stadium included contests in hog calling, tobacco hand tying, tobacco auctioneering and fiddling. The Tamasha ball, proceeds of which will be donated to the State polo fund, will be held tonight.

Washington, Oct. 22—(AP)—I have a friend, a man who worries a great deal about the world he lives in. When I saw him a few years ago he was more than ever deeply troubled. He was tense and unhappy.

He told me he was thinking of joining the Communist party. Why? He said he thought the Communist was the only people who had the answer to the world's sickness.

He said they would wipe out racial discrimination and make all people equal politically and economically, as well. Recently I saw him again and I asked him: "Have you joined the party yet?" He said no. Why? "Because of the stand they've taken on genetics," he said. "It's unscientific."

Last August the leaders of the Communist party in Russia, not scientists themselves, bounced the top Russian scientists who disagreed with them and announced their own theory of how plants and animals and men can be made better—chiefly through environment, rather than heredity.

Call On Russia To Open Up Berlin In Compromise Offer; Resolution Includes Recognition Of Soviet Mark As Sole Currency Of City

Budget Hearings To Start Nov. 3

Paris, Oct. 22—(AP)—The six "neutral" powers on the United Nations Security Council called on Russia today to lift the Berlin blockade at once.

The meeting was delayed nearly an hour by last minute conferences among the Big Four delegations directly concerned in the issue. The United States, Britain and France have accused Russia of endangering peace by blockading Berlin.

Russia has asserted no blockade exists and that the council has no jurisdiction. The neutral powers—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, China, Colombia and Syria—drafted a compromise solution which the western powers accepted.

The neutrals put before the council a joint resolution which said the four military governors of Germany should adopt the Soviet mark as Berlin's sole currency before Nov. 20 in exchange for lifting the blockade.

The resolution also provided that the foreign ministers council of the U. S., Russia, Britain and France meet to seek a solution of all questions at issue over Germany.

Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia, of Argentina, acting council president, presented the resolution and then addressed the delegates.

"We have reached the hour of decisions, harmonious decisions x a of benefit to all peoples," Bramuglia said.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, deputy foreign minister of Russia, attended but there was no indication as to the start of the Soviet attitude toward the Little Six proposal.

The Little Six resolution called on the Big Four to avoid any incursion which might aggravate the situation in Berlin. The Russians blocked the land approaches to the city—deep in the Soviet occupation zone—last June 23, soon after the western powers introduced their proposed currency into Berlin. This west installed the air lift to feed and supply the 2,000,000 or more Germans in western Berlin and clamped a counter blockade on the Russian zone of Germany.

Bramuglia, in his speech, told the Big Four to forget the prestige involved in the decision.

The question of world peace is much more important than the prestige of any one power, he declared.

The Argentine told the council the small powers had been working toward a "climate of conciliation which would lead to a better fate for the world."

He said the small power proposal is a "solution based on the right and reason."

"The big powers must use "means of reason, not force," he went on.

Plan Expansion For State Fair

Raleigh, Oct. 22—(AP)—A group of agricultural and political leaders met here last night and laid plans for making the annual State Fair the finest of its kind in the East.

J. S. Dorton, manager of the fair since 1937, presented plans for expanding the physical plant at the fairgrounds to include a coliseum to seat 15,000 persons. It also would house a permanent exhibit of the state's resources, modern livestock barns and pens of permanent construction, and housing facilities for organizations sponsoring exhibits.

Washington, Oct. 22—(AP)—I have a friend, a man who worries a great deal about the world he lives in. When I saw him a few years ago he was more than ever deeply troubled. He was tense and unhappy.

He told me he was thinking of joining the Communist party. Why? He said he thought the Communist was the only people who had the answer to the world's sickness.

Last August the leaders of the Communist party in Russia, not scientists themselves, bounced the top Russian scientists who disagreed with them and announced their own theory of how plants and animals and men can be made better—chiefly through environment, rather than heredity.

Immediately the scientists outside Russia called this a scientific swindle, a perversion of science to help the Communist political ends: the spread of communism.

Dr. Frank in an informal manner gave some up-to-date views on current events such as the coming election, the recent report on the state election system and the Russian situation. These items of interest to every North Carolina citizen left with us a desire to think more seriously on problems confronting the state and the nation today both national and international. The club adjourned to meet November 2.—Reported.

Tomorrow's Garden

The Greenville Garden Club. Last week under the above heading we spoke of a plan for Tomorrow's Garden. If that sounds too formidable for the modest gardens most of us have, think of it just as a guide. We use patterns when we sew, recipes when we cook, yet too often we just stick plants in the ground and hope for the best. During the year our ideas of ideal garden planning change. Formal beds of canna, geraniums and coleus gave way to straight borders. In the back we put the tall plants, then the intermediates and so on down, all of them in straight rows. Most of us now agree that, with the exception of straight plantings on each side of a walk or at the side of a house, long curving beds are best. The edge next to the lawn should be kept even since grass has to be cut and edged but inside the bed the plants can be arranged in charming irregularity. The garden hose or a heavy rope may be used to outline the front edge. Move it until you have it where and how you like it best. Then having decided on the shape and size of the bed, have it spaded up, work in some fertilizer, commercial or barnyard, and you are ready to plant. If shrubs are to be moved place them first, then put in the perennials such as daisies, phlox, etc. These we suggest that you plant in groups of 15 to 18 so you will have a mass of color and not a spot. Leave some places for bulbs which will be discussed next week and for annuals. Most of the higher growing plants should be toward the back but they can come forward at intervals letting the low growing plants recede at the same time. This gives the irregularity that is so pleasing. Your plan should not be iron clad. Varying it to suit your own taste, the plants you have and those that friends give you will make it truly your own. In these brief notes it is possible to give suggestions only but in the garden center at Sheppard Memorial Library there are books on every phase of gardening, detailed instructions which will help you avoid loss of time and flowers. In gardening as elsewhere "Knowledge is power."

TUNE UP YOUR HARVESTER...

SHARP!

The secret of fall harvesting is to adjust the cylinder speed instantly for varying moisture conditions that change from hour to hour. The All-Crop harvester's Quick Speed-Change makes it as easy as tuning your radio.

Tough conditions require higher speeds to thresh the grain or seeds from heads or pods. Dry, brittle conditions require slower speeds to avoid damage to kernels.

The All-Crop harvester's famous full-width, rubber-faced, spiral-bar cylinder processes the crop gently and thoroughly in a wide, thin stream... at the proper speed to save it all.

Mrs. Dennis Alexander Jr.

Alexander-Daniels

Miss Evelyn Daniels, niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Daniels of Robersonville, became the bride of Dennis Alexander, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Alexander of Bethel, in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Ralph Ferguson, the bride's pastor, in the First Baptist Church at Robersonville on Sunday, October 10.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Selma Meadows, church organist, presented a program of wedding music. The choir, of which the bride is a member, rendered "Oh Perfect Love" at the beginning of the ceremony and "Lutkin Benediction" at the end. Miss Monteen Winstead and Mrs. A. E. James, soloists, sang "I Love Thee Dear" and "Because" respectively.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. R. Daniels, wore an original model gown of bridal satin fashioned with a basque bodice. The drop shoulder yoke was of tulle outlined with imported chantilly lace. The sleeves ended in points over her hands. The full skirt extended into a cathedral train. Her finger tip veil of French illusion fell from a heart shaped tiara of seeded pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations centered with an orchid and showered with tube-roses and satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. J. R. Daniels, matron of honor, wore a gown of pink taffeta designed with a basque bodice with a deep yoke of marquisette outlined with a ruffle. The full skirt had a ruffle at the top which came to a point in the front. Miss Mildred Everett was maid of honor, her gown was of blue taffeta identical to that of the matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Emily Roberson and Hilda Everett of Robersonville and Mesdames W. W. Taylor, J. R. Matthews of Robersonville, Elbert Sherman of Salisbury and Miles Hart of Raleigh. The bridesmaids' dresses were similar to those of the matron and maid of honor. Each attendant wore matching mitts and carried nosegays of mixed flowers tied with big bows of satin ribbon.

Honorary bridesmaids were Misses Joyce Everett, Mary Alice Roberson, Bill Reddick, W. E. Ward, David Grimes, Jr., Mack Roebuck, Joe Moore, Jim Roebuck, A. S. Perkins, Hardy Rose and R. T. Purvis.

Marvin Everett, Jr., of Robersonville and Neil Mallory of Oak City acted as candle lighters.

Vickie Daniels, cousin of the bride, was junior bride, and Wayne Stocks, nephews of the bride, was junior groom. The junior bride's gown was identical to that of the brides. Patricia Hasty, cousin of the bride, was flower girl wearing a pink taffeta dress like the bridesmaids. Steve Whitehurst, nephew of the groom, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Samuel Alexander, as best man.

Ushers were William Warren Taylor, Carlyle Cox and Donnie Hardison of Robersonville, Ernest Alexander of Bethel, Sidney Mallory and John Daniel of Oak City.

The bride's only sister, Mrs. Sidney Mallory, wore a black crepe dress with a corsage of red carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy crepe dress with a corsage of pink roses.

The bride attended Robersonville High School and Hardberger's Business School in Raleigh. At present she is employed by the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company.

The bridegroom attended Bethel High School and Wake Forest College and is now owner and operator of a general store and service station.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Daniels entertained at a reception at their lovely country home. The home was decorated throughout with greenery, mixed fall flowers and tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the bride and groom the wedding party.

In the dining room the traditional green and white color scheme was used. The table was covered with an imported linen cutwork cloth and centered with a crystal bowl of white gladioli, carnations and baby chrysanthemums flanked on either side by white tapers. Mrs. W. E. Ward served punch and Mrs. Bill Reddick of Elizabeth City served the bridal cakes. Assisting them were Misses Joyce Everett, Rebecca Mobley, Mary Alice Roberson and Mesdames Joe Moore of Norfolk and Mack Roebuck.

Mrs. David Grimes, Jr. presided over the guest book.

Receiving in the gift room were Mesdames Jim Roebuck, A. S. Perkins and Hardy Rose.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Purvis, Jr., of Hobgood, N.C.

Following the reception the bride couple left on a wedding trip to the western part of North Carolina. For traveling the bride wore a brown tweed suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After October 15 the couple will be at home near Bethel.

If you think you will have any work for these girls, call 2495 and make an appointment. Quite possibly sometime Saturday a knock will come at your door and you will be greeted by a hobo, clad in jeans and plaid shirts. If you have any work to be done let this hobo help you. ## Strength FOR THE DAY

HIS LOVING HAND
There are many ways in which we find restful fellowship with God, but the greatest way is through prayer.

We are conscious of God's presence in nature and in many providential acts; but in prayer we definitely choose to exclude all the world and its interests for the time being and to give ourselves in definite fellowship to an unseen personality. The experience of those who have prayed much and have won many triumphs through prayer is the sense of oneness which they have with that great Personality which pervades and directs the whole of the universe. God is always encouraging such fellowship on the part of man, and He made it most wisely available to us when "the Word became flesh and dwelt among us."
It is a marvelous thing to have the burdens of life eased, and a still more miraculous thing when these burdens are removed from our hearts and minds. But the remains that there will be left will be the burden of those burdens that we most need the fellowship of the Most High. We can bear any burden if we know God cares. We can walk any hard pathway if we know He is at our side. We can face any dark bewilderment if we know that his loving hand is ready to lead us to the light.

Around Capitol Square

HEELED—No political campaign ever had what its handlers regarded as "enough" money, and the Democratic party in state and nation now do not have that theoretic "enough," but they are getting along all right. Reports from state headquarters indicate that while total contributions are slightly under recent campaign levels, there are more small individual contributors and the aggregate is not discouraging. Joe Blythe, treasurer of the national Democratic committee, said while he was in Raleigh with President Truman, that the national party treasury is in better condition right now than it was at the comparable date in 1946. He, too, expressed gratification at the number of small individual contributions instead of a few big donations from wealthy corporations.

HOMING—Tar Heels holding high government position in Washington who came home to help welcome President Truman to North Carolina apparently got a big kick out of the experience. An amusing incident occurred when one of the Washingtonians was being greeted by his back home neighbors, who told him how glad they were to see him and to have him visit the Old North State. Then one man added: "But I hope you will not take offense when I say we don't want you to come back home to stay." That stumped the visiting official for a minute, then he smiled as he understood his former neighbor to mean he hoped the Democrats would continue in power at Washington.

SPELLING—President Truman pronounces Carolina as if it were spelled without the "o," and several times during his two speeches here Tuesday some purists in the audience were seen to flinch when the President said something nice about North Carolina.

REGISTRATION—Registration books will close at sundown Saturday and after that there will be no chance for any person to get his or her name on the eligible voting list—except for persons who may have become 21 years old between that and November 2. Reports of registration during the first two weeks of the period have been disappointing, but strenuous effort is being made this week to get all voters qualified. Particular attention has been given to this phase of campaign work by women and young Democrats.

FINALE—It is being said that the Democratic speaking campaign reached its peak Tuesday of this week with President Truman's appearance in Raleigh, and that the Republican finale will come Monday night, November 1, election eve, when Harold Stassen is billed for a speech in Charlotte. Republican state leaders confessed disappointment at failure to get Governor Dewey in this state, but some of them are now consoling themselves with the statement that Stassen can make a better speech than the candidate, although he may not be as good drawing card for an audience.

OUTSIDERS—Republicans have depended largely upon out of state speakers to carry the burden of the campaign, with exception of Candidates John Wilkinson and George M. Pritchard, for senate and governor. These two have spoken almost every night, and many times during the day, since the campaign opened. Heavy Republican artillery was handled by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Governor Stassen of Minnesota, and Congressman Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

HOME-FOLKS—Except for President Truman and Senator Alben Barkley, highest guns of all, the Democrats have called upon a Tar Heel oratorical battery featuring such nationally known campaigners as Senators Clyde Hoey and William Umstead, former Governor and Senator Cameron Morrison, former Governor and Senator-nominate J. M. Broughton. Not only have these men fronted the campaign at home, but most of them have made several speeches in other states in behalf of the Democratic party.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(P)—Ever go to a multi-million dollar diamond show? Well, throw on some lipstick and wrap up in your 1927 furs, and let's get going. But leave off your specklers. They'll look awful dim at this bonfire.
Here we are at the Ritz-Carlton. The Crystal garden? Downstairs to your right.
Who's that rough character at the door giving us the evil eye? That's one of the 16 guards here to see that only the right people get in, and nobody grabs any rock candy and runs off with it to a pawnshop.
Sit here. Who're the other people? Why they're the people throwing the party. It's the first nation-wide diamond show for the fashion press. Yeh, 11 jewelers from Coast-to-Coast raked together $3,500,000 worth of ice cubes for this little get-together.
Have a highball. Have two. Don't worry—they're on the house. And look at the menu—fruit salad in half a sliced fresh pineapple, chicken breast on ham, potatoes, green beans, coffee, ice cream and French cookies.
What's that? Quit giggling. You say it would look funny if all the jewelers took out their little black rimmed magnifying glasses at once and wore them like monocles? Don't think they don't have them in their pockets. They do. But they don't call them magnifying glasses. They call them Loupes.

There go the spotlights. The show's on—the band's playing. Here come the models now, one at a time, parading down the staircase. Get the idea? The band plays a home town tune for each jeweler as his model comes down the stairs.
"Chicago, Chicago, Ta . . . Ta, Ta, Ta . . . Ta, Ta, Ta, Chicago, Chicago, Tum . . . Ta, De, Ta, Tum, Tum . . . Ta, De, Ta, Tum."
Yeah, I guess that one's from Chicago all right.
Look, quit saying "oooh-hh" so loud. Didn't you ever see a diamond before? Not any as big as potatoes, you say? Well, calm down, the guards are watching you.
After they parade around, you know, the girls come and sit for a while at each table. Here's one coming our way now. What's your name Miss, and how much rock candy are you wearing?
"I'm Dru Avedon. This is a half million dollar necklace, and the it makes you feel beautiful—like a great lady. But when I get through here I still have to go home and give my baby a bath. Sure I have a baby—a girl, 2 1/2."
You want to touch Miss Avedon's diamonds? Sure, go ahead. She doesn't mind. Okay, okay, that's enough. Let go of them. Let go! There's that guard again. Boy, is he giving you a tough stare. Listen, remember, they got all these things counted.
There are the lights again. The show's over, except for some posing for photographers. How much do the models get? Oh, about a hundred bucks altogether—$15 to $20 an hour. Here's a guard. Let's ask him if any diamonds are ever stolen.
"None, but we never lost a carat at any diamond show."
What's that? How can he explain that when 1,000 cops at an international convention of police chiefs here last week had 24 badges stolen from their crime prevention exhibit. All right, I'll ask him.
"I don't know about that, bud, but they wouldn't have lost any badges if they'd been diamond-studded."
Well, come on. Yes, you've got enough lipstick on. Let's go. What? What? How about asking for a souvenir? Are you crazy! What-what do you think this is—a radio give-

Interest Grows In Courses For Master's Degree

An increasing interest in graduate courses leading toward the master's degree at East Carolina Teachers College is revealed by figures recently released from administration offices here.
In 1933, when the first master's degree was granted at East Carolina, there was one student completing courses in graduate work. In 1947-1948, candidates who successfully completed work for the graduate degree numbered 37. At present more than 200 students have begun graduate work at the college and are working toward completion of the requirements for the master's degree.

Since graduate work was begun at the college, the master's degree has been conferred upon 97 students, the average for each year thus being 6.46 students. Of the total, 63 of these earning the degree are women, and 34 are men.
The largest number of graduate degrees has been granted in the field of administration; 22 students have completed the requirements in that field. To students specializing in history, 17 degrees have been awarded.
Other fields in which students have specialized in graduate work and in which degrees have been granted are business education, 10; primary work, 14; grammar grade work, 8; education, 5; English, 9; science, 3; and physical education 1.

Fire hazards in nearly every alley in the Greenville business district are a constant and serious fire threat, a public-spirited citizen pointed out to a Daily Reflector reporter yesterday.
The alleys in the business section of the city are littered with easily inflammable paper and trash. The unoccupied lots in the rear of buildings are a tinder-box, as a hunter would say, with paper and other easily ignitable material cluttering up the places.
"A carelessly thrown cigarette or match tossed away from a window or by some person on foot or in a motor vehicle in many business district alleys would start a blaze that would burn like a prairie grass fire," the observing citizen told the reporter.

He reminded that the Colonial Stores warehouse in Durham that was gutted by fire several weeks ago with a million-dollar loss of contents, not counting the building started from burning scrap paper in a rear alley. The building was semi-fireproof, but the fire crept into it through an unshuttered window.
The man who called attention to the fire hazards in Greenville alleys in the business district conducted the newspaper reporter on a tour of the area. From one street to another, there is enough scrap paper and other inflammable debris to make a Christmas bonfire, it appeared. City ordinances require business and other places to deposit paper and other material to be collected by the street department in enclosed boxes or receptacles, but this is not done, the investigation revealed.

The alleys between Evans and Washington street, from Third to Fifth streets, with paper-covered ground, are a serious fire menace. The city street department is handicapped in collecting trash, and an official said it takes the men on the trucks twice as long to pick up trash scattered on the ground as it does from containers.
A similar condition prevails near other business places. The fire-prevention enthusiast pointed out, in some alleys and back lots it appeared that paper and boxes are thrown from second story windows, to fall where they may.
Mayor Jack Boyd, Fire Chief George Gardner and Police Chief Lester D. Page, during the recent "fire prevention week," urged businessmen to remedy this condition and help to prevent causes of fires, but nothing has been done about it, it seems.

The fire chief also warned householders and businessmen to clear out attics and storerooms of unnecessary inflammable material and suggested to householders and others to check their stoves and chimneys before cold weather sets in.

Escaped Prisoners Back In Camp Here

"They walked right off and then they were brought right back again," Capt. Paul Crawford, superintendent of the State Prison camp here, said, after authorities had captured Virgil Wilson and Harvey Stephens, white prisoners and cooks at the prison camp, who were trustees and walked away from the prison about a week ago, phoned a taxicab, then rode to the Hudson's Crossroads community and disappeared.
Virgil Wilson is serving a 25-year stretch for second degree murder in connection with the slaying of a Negro in this county a few years ago. Harvey Stephens was sent up from Durham for attempt at robbery.
The escapees were taken into custody in Durham several days after their escape, Capt. Crawford said.

Capt. Lester Jones Recovering Health

Capt. Lester Jones, commander of the Northeastern district of the State Highway Patrol, with headquarters in Greenville, who underwent a serious operation at Veterans' Hospital in Washington, D. C. two weeks ago, is recuperating satisfactorily, a report from the hospital stated.
Mrs. Jones is with him there.
While Capt. Jones is off duty, Sgt. S. G. Lewis of Rocky Mount, one of the veterans of the State Highway, is substituting for him here.

Urge Citizens To Study Questions

The Woman's Club this year is stressing good citizenship. Believing that to be a good citizen, one must exercise their privilege and duty to vote in the coming election, the club is presenting an outline of the four amendments to the constitution of North Carolina which will be voted on November 2, urging all citizens to study them and decide how they wish to vote before election day.
The outlined amendments are as follow:

1. Whether or not to increase the salaries of the members of the General Assembly.
2. Whether or not to remove the debt limitation upon the state, counties, cities and towns for necessary expenses.
3. Whether or not to increase the limit which the state and counties may levy taxes on property from fifteen cents to twenty-five cents per hundred dollar valuation.
4. Whether or not to determine special elections by majority vote.

Phantoms And Kinston Clash In Homecoming Game Tonight

By TOMMIE LUPTON

Coach Bo Farley ran his Green Phantom eleven through a light workout yesterday afternoon in preparation of the "homecoming" football game with the Kinston Red Devils tonight at Guy Smith Stadium at 8 o'clock.

The Red Devils, who lead the Northeastern Conference with four impressive victories and no defeats, will be favored over the G-Men who have been victorious in only one conference tilt.

Ruby Edwards, Greene end, and Joe Allgood, reserve tailback and kicker, will be back in uniform after being sidelined since the Dunn game. It is doubtful whether or not Sam Northrop, Phantom end, will see any action against Kinston.

The probable starting Green Phantom lineup will be Conway, center; Fleming and Robinson, guards; Lee and "Big" Bland, tackles; Edwards and Ward, ends; Morgan, wingback; Farley, blocking back; "Little" Bland, fullback; Cox, tailback.

A "homecoming dance" will be sponsored by the Greenville High School Monogram Club immediately after the Kinston-Greenville football game.

RECREATION COMMISSION

There will be a special meeting at Shepard Library Monday night the 23rd at 8 o'clock and it is hoped that all members will be present and also new members which have recently been appointed by their organization.

Hunting, fishing and golf are the favorite hobbies of baseball players and executives, a recent poll shows.

Sport Slants by Pap

"There's no getting around it—Chuck Bednarik is a great football player," observed Coach George Munger, "and he could play any position in the line-up."

Coach Munger was referring to his All-American center, the backbone of the University of Pennsylvania eleven. Bednarik had established his greatness as a defensive player but in the season's opener against Dartmouth, the big center proved an offensive threat as Coach Munger unveiled a new attack. Penn used the punt formation as an offensive threat with Bednarik dropping back into the kicker's slot and

Instead of booting the ball, taking off to his right and traveling 35 yards before he was hauled down. On those occasions when he did boot the ball, Bednarik got off kicks of 57 and 50 yards.

The unveiling of Bednarik as a threat on offense opens up scores of possibilities for the talented center. He has demonstrated that he is an able kicker and, now, that he can run with the ball. Perhaps he can lose a football as well. It is a fact that Chuck holds the amateur record for throwing a baseball, indicating a strong arm, if nothing else.

Charley (Red) Ruffing leads all pitchers in World's Series victories with seven.

Paul Rizzo Will Call Signals For Tar Heel Attack

Chapel Hill, Oct. 22—Paul Rizzo, 195-pound junior from Clinton, N. Y., likely will start as blocking back and field general for the undefeated but injury-harrassed North Carolina Tar Heels against unpredictable L.S.U. here Saturday at 3 p.m.

Rizzo, who opened the season as a guard and since then has played at both that position and quarterback, stands to get the offensive call over Bobby Weant, the little wheelhorse from Salisbury. This will make it easier on Weant to devote most of his time to defensive line backing, a post at which he excels.

It has been up to Weant and Rizzo to do the signal calling and blocking from the quarterback slot since the injury to Don Hartig. The former has been a first string defensive man all year, but for Rizzo a starting call is an advancement. He did a creditable job against N.C. State last week.

Coach Carl Snavely and staff have been forced to make several realignments since the recent supply of casualties. Weant, himself, has been nursing a sore leg. Tackle Ted Hazelwood is definitely out of Saturday's party, and so is wingback Fred Sherman. Bill Flaminch, another wingback, can see only a minimum of action, if any.

The hardest hit spot of all, however, appears to be at left guard Bill Wardie is the injured man there. He has had practically no work this week, suffering with a recurring shoulder condition. He will not be able to play at all this week. That puts it up to Bob Milton, with relief from Dick Fetherolf and Joe Augustine, both of limited experience.

Only Manager Of Ball Team To Get Jail Term

Winston-Salem, Oct. 22—(AP)—Two used auto dealers were free today—acquitted of charges of "fixing" a baseball game. A third man, Pitcher-Manager Bernard DeForge faced a year in jail.

DeForge, 31, former field boss of the Reidsville, N.C. team in the Class O Carolina League, pleaded guilty to throwing the game between his team and Winston-Salem the night of May 14, 1948.

A jury deliberated one hour and 37 minutes yesterday and acquitted W. C. McWaters and Tommy Phillips, used auto dealers of Clover, S. C., who had pleaded innocent.

Favor Stranahan To Take Tournay

Mexico City, Oct. 22—(AP)—Low medalist Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, met Armando Dany of Mexico today in the first round of the Mexican Amateur Golf Tournament.

Two rounds of eliminations are scheduled for the first day of match play.

Stranahan, who holds the British and Canadian amateur crowns, is a heavy favorite to recapture the Mexican title he won in 1946. He fired a 69, three under par for the tough Mexican Country Club course, yesterday to lead qualifying.

Alma Mater Will Honor Boudreau

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 22—(AP)—Lou Boudreau, manager-shortstop of the world championship Cleveland Indians, was scheduled to arrive here today in a private railroad car to be honored by his alma mater, the University of Illinois.

Boudreau will come from Chicago with his wife and Wayne Johnston, also an Illinois alumnus who is president of the Illinois Central Railroad.

The World Series hero and former Illini athletic star will be greeted at the Champaign railroad station and presented with a key to the city.

The recent admission of the University of Delaware and Muhlenberg College has brought the membership of the 20-year-old Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association up to 36 colleges.

Yarborough's Punting May Keynote Pirate Victory

By EUGENE PRICE

A freshman end with a stout heart, powerful legs and an uncanny ability to punt out of bounds down near the coffin corner carries the East Carolina Teachers College Pirates greatest hopes of breaking into the win column when they tangle with the Newport News Apprentice at Newport News tonight.

Eddie Yarborough, who has shown dynamic football prowess the offense and defense with the Pirates this year, is one of Coach Jim Johnson's greatest hopes of keeping the Newport News eleven fighting uphill most of the game. Yarborough, who with six other Pirate gridders hails from Portsmouth, Va., repeatedly kicked out behind the 10 and sometimes the five yard line when the Pirates played West Carolina, even though the locals fell to the tune of 39 to nothing.

Yarborough was loosening up his punting leg yesterday afternoon as the Pirates ran through a light sign drill in their final practice before showing off for Newport News. "Punts can mean a lot in a ball game," Johnson said last night. He hopes to keep the Apprentice squad in its own territory on Yarborough's punts.

Ex-Waterboy To Compete Against Three Big Bears

Philadelphia, Oct. 22—(AP)—At two o'clock Sunday afternoon, a 22-year-old ex-waterboy undertakes one of the more difficult assignments in football history.

The young man is Bill Mackrides, second string quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles.

He draws the assignment because Tommy Thompson, the great passer from Tulsa and leading aerial artist of the National Football League, suffered a shoulder separation last week.

The opposition Bill has in store will come from the Chicago Bears the big, bruising western division leaders in the National League the only unbeaten team in the circuit.

The individual competition will be against the greatest passing threesome ever assembled on one team—Sid Luckman, Johnny Lujack and Bobby Layne.

Cyclist In Crash But Continues Six-Day Race

New York, Oct. 22—(AP)—Gerri Loos of Holland crashed against a rail and flew several feet in the air last night but after a brief treatment returned to his wheel to continue the chase in the six-day bicycle race at Kingsbridge Armory.

During the bell lap of the third sprint in the midnight series the high-riding Loos rammed against the rail, cracking it, and was hurled against the tall scoreboard at the edge of the track.

He bounced back on the platform of the scoreboard, cracking a floor board and falling to the concrete floor 22 feet below. The scoreboard attendant, ex-Scoundeta, was injured slightly.

Suspend Boxer

New York, Oct. 22—(AP)—Heavyweight Roy Taylor, who was stopped in the second round by Tami Mauriello last Tuesday night, has been suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Col. Edward Eagan said the New York fighter had been set down for an "unsatisfactory performance" in the fight. Taylor, 127½, was stopped by Mauriello, 210, of New York in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Park Arena.

Eagan said Deputy Boxing Commissioner Pat Callahan, who was an official of the bout, had recommended Taylor be suspended for six months.

GHS To Greet Returning Grads

Greenville High School will greet returning graduates tonight with a series of Homecoming Day festivities.

A bonfire pep rally in the high school ravine at 6:45 will start the activities. Following the pep rally the GHS band will lead a parade of students through the business district to advertise the Kinston-Greenville football game—the feature attraction of Homecoming Day, which is sponsored annually by the high school Monogram Club. Kick-off time is 8:00 at Guy Smith Stadium.

Carolyn Rowlett and Ruth Page have been elected sponsors for the game by the GHS lettermen.

Following the game the Monogram Club will sponsor a dance in the high school auditorium.

Monogram Club President Bobby Fleming said that all arrangements have been completed for the homecoming. "We urge all townpeople, graduates and students to attend the celebration," stated Fleming.

The 36 member colleges of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association have scheduled a total of 317 games for the 1948 football season.

Dubious Outlook For Welter Bout

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 22—(AP)—If a couple of imponderables work out, Ray Robinson may lay his welterweight title on the line against Charley Fusari, the reformed Irvington, N. J., milkman.

The imponderables are, in order of importance:

1. Can Ray make the 147-pound welter limit any more? There are many who say he can't.
2. Does Fusari want to fight Robinson? After Charley stopped Tippy Larkin, the veteran Garfield, N. J., welter in the army last night in the Tournament of Champions first indoor promotion, Fusari said he was eager to meet Robinson.

However, Vic Marsilio, Fusari's manager, hemmed and hawed over the proposition.

"Sure, we'll fight Robinson," Vic said, "but the terms would have to be right, something to keep both me and my boy here happy."

Robinson promised the winner of the scrap a title shot, but until the Fusari camp decides on its strategy, Ray doesn't have to do much worrying.

Larkin, who was knocked out by Fusari once before, managed to stay on his feet this time, but when Ray fired Paul Cavalier stopped the proceedings in 2:35 of the sixth of the scheduled 10-rounder he was wobbling all over the ring.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Deadly Weapon

By Wade Miller

Chapter 27
"Where was he supposed to meet you?" asked Clapp.
"That's the crazy part. Sunset House at three o'clock. I got there at three but he wasn't around. I waited till four and went back to his house. He wasn't there, so I took Kevin out to dinner. The Sunset House had looked like a nice place so I took her there. God, what a thing to do!"
"That's the way things happen, James," Clapp said. "But your story checks."
Walter James sat erect. "What do you mean—checks?"
"Oh, don't go off half-cocked at this time of morning. Maslar put a man on Gilbert today just to be on the safe side. Gilbert went out to the Sunset House at two o'clock. The tall man was there and sat around waiting for him to show again. At three o'clock he saw you come in and start looking around for the old man. That's all."
"That's all? What was Gilbert doing at Sunset House an hour before he was supposed to meet me there?"
Clapp spread his hands. "How am I to know? The man's dead now."
"Sure," said the slender detective bitterly. "He was pushed over the cliff between two and three o'clock. He was keeping an appointment with somebody besides me. You know the question."
"Did Maslar's bright boy see anybody out there who answered to Dr. Boone's description?"
"A big, healthy man?" asked Clapp sarcastically. "They were there in droves, including a state senator. That isn't much to go on. I'm big and used to be healthy myself."
"It's all we've got to go on," snapped Walter James. "Unless you can make the Mexicans write something more out of Lux. I suppose he got hauled in today? Or did Maslar's men lose him, too?"
"Calm down, son. Maslar's doing a good job. The Mexicans and a couple of F.B.I. men surrounded the Devil's Bar this afternoon and closed in like clockwork. But the human element kicked the whole thing in the seat of the pants. When Esteban Lux saw he was trapped, he blew his brains out. Nice neat suicide with witnesses."
Walter James sat down on the window sill and laughed silently, happily. "And just think — Dr. Boone's home getting a good night's sleep. He hasn't ended up as a corpse."
"Cheer up, James. Neither have we."
"It's getting closer. Tomorrow you can check up on who left the lights on in my apartment. And who started shooting from across the alley about seven o'clock when I was about to walk in."
Clapp stamped his hand flat on the desk blotter. "Not again!"
Walter James gave him a sardonic grin. "From behind a fence in the used car lot in back of the Serra Apartments. The shot came through the rear window and was supposed to nail me when I opened my door and stood in the light. Luckily, I caught on. I never leave my lights burning."
Clapp said, "I'll send Jim out first thing in the morning."
"Just don't wake me up. The landlady's pretty nosy. There's an off chance she may have seen something. You can at least dig the slug out of the woodwork if your prowl men haven't done it already. I'm ready to guarantee that it's a .35 caliber from the other gun of the set I gave to Hal."
"James, maybe you shouldn't have been in such a hurry to finish off John Darner and young Esteban Lux."
Walter James's face was impassive. "I don't know what you're talking about."
"I wish you'd thought twice about it. It might have been able to tell us something."
Walter James smiled. "I hate to get shot to little bits just so you'd have somebody to grill, Clapp."
Clapp stood up. "There's a lot of things a guy doesn't feel like doing. Felix from the force this morning and getting together an indictment."
"Felix? What's the story?"
"The usual one," said Clapp slowly. "Good cop goes bad for fifty dollars a month extra. I put a check on the switchboard for all Tjunnans calls and we caught Felix trying to tip off Lux about the raid. Infuriated, he spat out, 'He didn't even have sense enough to use an outside phone!'"
Walter James hit Clapp's arm gently with the back of his hand. "I'm sorry, Clapp. It's nothing you could help."
Walter James snapped his fingura. "On this Gilbert killing, you might nose into Dr. Boniface's movements this afternoon."

Clapp raised his heavy eyebrows. "Something stirring?"
"I'm pretty sure he was hanging around Sunset House. And I'm not forgetting that he's a big, healthy man, either."
Clapp made a note on his desk pad. "Okay."
Walter James roused himself. "I think I'll see if Kevin's in any shape to go home."
"James?"
"What?"
"I'll do my darnedest to keep her father's connection with this marijuana ring undercover. She doesn't know anything obviously, and I can probably keep the investigation away from her. And definitely out of the papers."
"Thanks, Clapp."
The big man smiled and closed his eyes for a second. "Just take good care of the girl. I like her."
"I like Kevin, too. More than you would ever believe," said Walter James soberly. "As soon as this Dr. Boone thing is finished, I'm going to marry her and take her back to Atlanta. I promise I'll take good care of her."

Character Building Goal Of Girl Scout Program

Girl Scouting has as its fundamental goal the development of girls along physical, mental, emotional, moral, and spiritual lines. It is believed that this well rounded development will result, not only in personally enriched individuals, but in intelligent citizens capable of participating in a democratic social order. Girls, regardless of race or creed, are eligible for membership in the Girl Scout organization. Girls are encouraged to be charitable to peoples of all races and creeds. One of the Scout laws is, "A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout."

The Scout program is built around the needs of girls in three age-level groups—Brownies from 7 to 10, Intermediates from 10 through 13, and Seniors from 14 to 18. The same age girls meet in small informal groups with sympathetic adult leaders. They are offered interesting and wholesome recreational activities. The groups are small enough to permit the girls to share the responsibilities of the group as well as share the fun of the activities. Girls in troops are given every possible opportunity to develop initiative, leadership, and cooperation. Believing that all children have the inherent right to a happy childhood, the Scout programs are planned to give girls a maximum of wholesome fun. Fun doing the thing that will make them constructive forces in the society in which they move as adults.

Girl Scout meetings are conducted in a true democratic manner. The girls are given every opportunity to assist in determining the policies of the group meetings. They have a voice in everything that happens in a troop meeting. The leader is there to guide, advise, and direct when her services are needed. Girl Scouting is made possible only through volunteer service. Some adults have to believe in the principles of the Scout program to the extent that they will give their time to put the program over. Since the girls choose the Scout program because it meets their needs in a satisfactory manner, they readily accept the group morality as expressed in the high moral code of the Girl Scout Laws. Volunteer leadership plus volunteer participation in a program is a combination cannot fail to produce the most prized possession of a community—citizens of sterling character.

The Girl Scouts is one of the deserving organizations in Greenville which is dependent upon Community Chest funds for carrying out its work.

Legion Wraps Up 30th Convention

Miami, Fla., Oct. 22—(AP)—S. Perry Brown, the American Legion's newly-elected national commander and about 70,000 other Legionnaires were on their way home today. They wrapped up the 30th annual National convention late yesterday with unanimous approval of Brown for the Legion's highest office.

When the 56-year-old Beaumont, Tex., business man's election became apparent midway the balloting, one opponent, George N. Craig of Braselton, Ind., yielded. As balloting ended, the third man in the race—J. P. Green, 33, Omaha, Neb.—moved to make it unanimous. Brown is a veteran of both World wars.

The National executive committee will meet in Indianapolis next month to choose a site for next year's convention. Only Philadelphia and Miami extended invitations. Boston put in a bid for the 1950 meeting. Two resolutions approved by the Legionnaires asked pensions for all honorably discharged veterans of World War I or World War II.

War Dead Rites Will Be Held On Sunday

The remains of Staff Sergeant Loyd A. Taylor arrived in Kinston Friday morning, and were taken to the Greenville Funeral Home. The body will be moved to the home of his parents in the Cox's Mill community Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 3 o'clock. Interment will follow in the Mack Smith Cemetery at Shelmerdine. The Rev. W. A. Watson of Wilson will officiate. Military honors will be rendered by the Charles Gray Morgan Post of the VFW. Sgt. Taylor finished school at Chocoid and was engaged in farming before entering the Army in 1943. He trained at Camp McCall, S.C. and was attached to the 11th Airborne Division when killed in Manila Feb. 13, 1945.

Surviving are his parents, Mr and Mrs. W. R. Taylor; two sisters, Mrs. David Gaskins and Mrs. Preston Godley of Greenville; three brothers, James and Willie Taylor of Greenville and Herbert Taylor of Ayden.

Battle For A . . .

(Continued from Page One) and make them produce. They went into the weird land bordering on the sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea, prospecting for minerals and setting up chemical works. They propose to do the same thing now in the desert of Negev. They argue that a state of Israel based on agriculture alone cannot exist. It would have no coal, iron or oil. To import these commodities, even for light industry, would be beyond the resources of the country, they claim. Whether the Negev holds any mineral or other resources is unknown, of course. But it is the best hope of Israel, and in fact the only one. Thus, though it be a poor choice the Jews have taken it. Unlike Mussolini, they do intend to collect a desert.

Freedom . . .

So a Russian Communist probably would look upon the views of my friend as childish. But my friend shocked me.

He didn't turn away from communism because the individual has no freedom in Russia; or because it's a police state; or because it uses tactics of terror; or because it's a dictatorship whose end no man living can see positively. He forgets that men in the western world have fought for hundreds of years and at vast sacrifices of their lives to gain political independence in a democratic society—where the state exists for the individual and not the individual for the state.

They fought against the tyrannical dictatorship of kings, with bitter cost, so man could be free at last, or fairly free.

My friend forgot all that and all that freedom means: freedom to work democratically toward a better society. He forgot that once tyranny, through a dictatorship is set up in the world, as it is in Russia, it may never end.

He forgot that this very dictatorship makes Russia not a land of progress but a lake of black reaction, ruled by a group of feudal lords who refuse to let the people think for themselves.

So my friend, like others before him, instead of rejecting Russian communism on the basic grounds just mentioned, rejected it because of a minor detail, like the new genetics theory.

Joe Joyner Reports Cold Weather Is On Way In This Area

By CHESTER WALSH
Lowest temperature last night was 36 degrees, four above freezing. The sky was clear, bright moonlight night, with almost every star visible. Mists were rising from low-grounds in rural sections. The U. S. Weather Bureau thermometer at 8 a. m. today was 46, and rising. Mrs. C. E. Maiden, observer here for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported. Joe Joyner, popular functionary at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, and a specialist as a weather prognosticator, with assistance of his pet groundhog, suggested today that folks get in plenty of fuel—wood and coal on the back porch and oil in the tanks. He gave his weather forecast when the wind shifted and the breeze start coming in from the north northwest. The groundhog was asleep in its cage all day, Joe said. Joyner predicted that farmers who plan to kill hogs will have enough cold weather the next two weeks to do their killing and just hang 'em up in the cold, and not need to go to freezer lockers.

Scholars believe that the gypsy tribes which have been wandering across Europe since the 15th century are remnants of an ancient tribe from India.
