

Democrats Show Deficit In Party Campaign Funds

Nat'l Committee Says It Is $10,755 In The Red; GOP Spending More

Washington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Democrats showed a deficit in their party treasury today, although their top organizations have spent $209,070 less than the Republicans in the struggle for the presidency and control of Congress.

A compilation of reports filed with Congress by the two national party committees and parallel groups seeking to elect senators and house members showed GOP spending at $2,177,277; that of the Democrats at $1,538,507.

The national committees were $209,070 apart with the Republican committee reporting an outlay of $1,706,370 and the Democratic committee $1,507,300.

Spending by the two senatorial committees was listed at $104,650 and $32,283, leaving the biggest spread for the house contests.

The Republican congressional committee spent $306,287 to $235 for the similar Democratic group.

These figures take no account of spending by the various local organizations taking part in the campaigns.

The Democratic national committee said it has gone $10,755 in the red with its bank balance—just a week before election—down to $2,463.

In addition to the money in the bank, the committee listed $95,000 from loans to state and local committees but $114,240 in unpaid obligations.

The Republican committee did not say whether it is operating with black or red ink. Its report covered expenditures up to October 18.

The Democrats covered their spending through October 22. Contributions since January 1 were listed at $1,464,733 by the Republicans and $1,196,827 by the Democrats.

The parties must file their final pre-election reports Thursday.

Germany Is Reviving Rebirth Of German Spirit Continues With Assists By British And American Policies; More Independence; Should We Re-Arm Germans? The Outlook

By GEORGE BRIA

Berlin — A newspaper cartoon shows four giant soldiers sprawling in the ruins of a city. A tiny bespectacled man stands on the outskirts.

"Pardon me," he asks timidly, "where is the German sector?"

The cartoon, published this summer, is out of date.

For a "German sector," born of East-West strife, has grown in the mind if not the body of Germany.

It reached its climax early in September in a demonstration of 200,000 Germans against the Russians in Berlin. Some of them stoned the gigantic Soviet war memorial commemorating the Red Army sweep from Stalingrad to the heart of Germany.

One man defied bullets to climb on the Brandenburg Tor and plant down the Red flag. It was a plain red flag and not the official Soviet hammer, but only a pendant would quibble on the difference.

Even a year ago such a hostile demonstration against one of the occupying powers would have been hard to conceive. Today the mind has become so grooved along East-West lines that the outbreak was hailed by Western supporters as a defiant cry of freedom, and by the Russians as an attack of fascist

Navy Plane Gets Rocket Lift

The Navy's giant 180-passenger Constitution receives terrific thrust from six rockets in takeoff at Los Angeles airfield, Burbank, Calif., in one of a series of final tests. The six JATO (jet assisted takeoff) rockets shorten the takeoff run by nearly 24 per cent. Tests were made up to 184,000 pounds gross weight on the Lockheed-built transport with the controls unaffected by the added power. Rockets give plane power roughly equivalent to one of its 3,500 horsepower engines. (AP Wirephoto).

Truman Says Tide Rolling For Demos

Spurred By Cheers Of Big Chicago Ovation, President Says Pollsters Will Be Red-Faced On Election Day

Aboard Truman Campaign Train. Oct. 26 — (AP) — President Truman claimed that "the tide is rolling" for the Democrats as he turned today from a roaring Chicago welcome to renew his election drive in Indiana and Ohio.

Spurred by the cheers of hundreds of thousands in the Illinois city, Mr. Truman declared that on election day "some of the stiffest necked people the country has ever seen will be the pollsters."

And in Cleveland's Public Hall, at 9 o'clock (EST) tonight, associates said the President will give the poll takers an even more thorough going-over for their predictions of heavy majorities for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee.

Jacob Arvey, chairman of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee, and former Mayor Edward J. Kelly arranged an ovation for the President in Chicago last night such as he has not seen in all his cross-country stumping campaign which started in Michigan on Labor Day.

Bill Horstman, manager of the Chicago Stadium, estimated that 24,000 persons were jammed into the stadium, and another 200,000 stood around outside to hear Mr. Truman as he declared democracy at home is threatened by forces similar to those that backed Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo.

The President said that "powerful reactionary forces" working "through the Republican party," are "silently undermining our democratic institutions."

Ray J. Crane, chief of the Chicago uniformed police, estimated that 750,000 persons greeted Mr. Truman as he paraded from the Blackstone Hotel through streets loaded with holders of Truman signs and alight with fireworks.

Later, grinning happily at the applauding throng in the stadium, the grey-haired Chief Executive said he had gotten the "facts" of the campaign before the people by a strenuous personal campaign.

"I've seen and talked to more than six million people in the United States and they know the facts now," he said.

John Wilkinson Gets Washington Paper's Support

The Washington, (N. C.) Daily News yesterday for the first time since the paper was started in 1909 stepped across the Democratic party traces and gave its unqualified support to Republican Senatorial candidate John A. Wilkinson who is opposing J. Melville Broughton in the coming general election.

The Daily News editorial said its support is thrown to Wilkinson because of his ability, his interest in public welfare and the fact that he is a native of Beaufort County. The editorial did not mention the other Republican candidates.

In part the editorial stated "In view of the overwhelming Democratic registration in the county (Beaufort), this newspaper hesitates to support a Republican and would not do so except for the circumstances that involve this particular candidate."

Only One Polio Case Reported Yesterday

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 26 — (AP) — The State Board of Health today reported only one new case of polio in the state.

State Epidemiologist Dr. C. P. Stevick said it probably was the first day since the last of May in which only one case was reported to the board.

Rally Tonight

Pitt County Democrats will hold a rally meeting at the city hall tonight, with Herbert C. Bonner, First District Congressman, and Capus M. Wayne, chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Committee, scheduled to speak.

John G. Clark, district State Highway commissioner, will preside.

Jack Kelley, swine expert of the extension division of the North Carolina department of agriculture, will decide the winners at the judging which is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Awards will be presented to the owners of the winning hogs tomorrow night at Respass barbecue place where the 4-H and F.F.A. pig club members and their fathers will be dinner guests of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

W. H. Pruden, assistant county agent who is in charge of the junior swine show said, "This is the first show of this kind we have had but we hope to make it an annual event at the Pitt County fair, and I believe it will help promote a better quality of hogs in our county."

Popularity Test For Dewey As He Tours Big Cities

Republicans Hope To Match The Crowds Greeting Truman In Final Week

En Route With Dewey To Chicago. Oct. 26 — (AP) — An unofficial political popularity contest in four of the nation's biggest cities was underway today as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey trailed President Truman into Chicago.

At stake from the Republican viewpoint—is the size of the margin by which the GOP nominee's followers expect him to win the presidency one week from today.

Confident that Dewey has enough rural and smaller city strength to put him over, these Republicans were intent on cutting down the usual Democratic majorities turned out by Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and New York City.

For that reason Cook County Republicans were reported determined to match or exceed the welcome given to Mr. Truman on his visit to Chicago yesterday.

Similarly, Republicans will try to out-do their Democratic rivals when Dewey follows the President into Cleveland tomorrow, into Boston Thursday and into New York City Saturday.

Mr. Truman, keeping one day ahead all the way, will close his campaign Saturday in Independence, Mo., his home town.

Dewey has announced that in Chicago tonight he will outline how he proposes to put into effect "friendly" policies toward labor, business and agriculture if he is elected. The speech will be broadcast (NBC) and televised (ABC) at 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

His election is taken so much for granted in his camp that the Republican nominee is not expected to reply to the bristling attacks directed his way by the President.

Even in his final week, the GOP campaign apparently is moving with the throttle only half open.

On all the 16-hour trip from Albany, where his special train pulled out at midnight last night, to Chicago, no speaking stop was arranged in between.

Neither was there any plan for the Dewey "Victory Special" to pause for an appearance by the candidate on its daylight journey from Chicago to Cleveland tomorrow.

First Ships In Tokyo Bay, Due

Wilmington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Two minesweepers, the first American warcraft to enter Tokyo Bay after the Japanese surrender, are due here late today. They are the USS Elverson and USS Hambleton.

The results, en route from Charleston, S. C., are to remain here until Thursday to participate in Wilmington's observance of Navy Day. They will be open for inspection tomorrow, which has been designated Navy Day.

Tobacco Prices Upped Yesterday

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 26 — (AP) — Most fine cured tobacco did an about-face from last week's downward trend on the Eastern North Carolina and middle belts. The prices upped yesterday. But offerings on the old belt weakened.

On the eastern, smoking leaf, hogs and nondescript jumped $2 to $4 the hundred, while leaf was the main gainer on the middle belt.

French Police Met By Gunfire, Hand Grenades

Paris, Oct. 26 — (AP) — One striker was killed and two policemen were wounded seriously today in southern France in a new outbreak of violence in the nationwide coal miners' strike.

The interior ministry said government forces passing a strikers' road block near Ales were met by a blast of gunfire and hand grenades. Several policemen were wounded. The Ministry said. The striker and the two seriously wounded policemen were struck by gunfire.

The government force was preparing to clear strikers from the coal mines and a power plant near Ales, about 50 miles northwest of Marseille.

Reports reaching government headquarters in Paris said the strikers fired first.

As the government force approached the pits, a number of small mines also exploded, a Ministry spokesman said.

About 100 strikers were captured, most of them bearing arms, a Ministry statement said.

While the police and soldiers were operating between the villages of Rochebelle and Saint Martin De Valgueres, workers in Ales surrounded the subprefecture, the Post-darmie headquarters and the Post Office. Reserve forces drove them off, an official report to Paris added.

The death of the strike today brought the coal mine strike death toll to three. Two strikers were killed last week in a clash between troops and pickets in St. Etienne.

Hope Junior Purebred Swine Show To Become Regular Feature In Fair

One of the features which has been added to the Pitt County fair for the first time this year is the Junior Purebred Swine show.

On exhibit at the fair are approximately 30 purebred hogs of various registered breeds which are owned by boys who are members of the 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs in the county. Each of the entries will be competing for ribbons and $300 in cash prizes which will be awarded to the winners in each of the several divisions.

Jack Kelley, swine expert of the extension division of the North Carolina department of agriculture, will decide the winners at the judging which is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Awards will be presented to the owners of the winning hogs tomorrow night at Respass barbecue place where the 4-H and F.F.A. pig club members and their fathers will be dinner guests of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

W. H. Pruden, assistant county agent who is in charge of the junior swine show said, "This is the first show of this kind we have had but we hope to make it an annual event at the Pitt County fair, and I believe it will help promote a better quality of hogs in our county."

Dulles Says Russian Veto Part Of General Communist Effort

Paris, Oct. 26 — (AP) — John Foster Dulles told the U.N. Political Committee today that Russian action before the world peace agency was part of "a general effort to extend the power of Soviet Communism throughout the world."

The American delegate spoke as small powers of the Security Council renewed their efforts to mediate the Berlin blockade crisis after Russia's veto of a compromise offered by six smaller powers.

Dulles, foreign affairs advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, said international Communism is working for a world revolution through "force, coercion and terrorism."

He linked the Greek question, which is before the General Assembly, and the Berlin deadlock, before the Security Council, as parts of the Russian plan to dominate the world through Communism's spread.

Dulles said he was presenting a resolution to send the U.N. Special Commission on the Balkans (UNSCOB) back to work for another year investigating the Greek civil war and appealing to Greece's northern neighbors to cease aiding efforts to overthrow the Greek government.

The resolution, presented in the name of Britain, China, France and the United States, was not made public immediately.

The 55-nation Political Committee got to the heart of the Balkan question after rejecting 50 to 6 a Yugoslav move to invite representatives of Markos Vafiadis, Greek guerrilla leader, to participate in the debate.

"In Greece," Dulles said, "Communists are attempting to overthrow the government by violence and in this effort they are receiving aid from other countries that are already Communist controlled."

Dulles said the "violent effort to establish in Greece a Communist government is but part of a general effort to extend the power of Soviet Communism throughout the world."

The Security Council, he said, has been considering "another phase of this problem as it dealt with the coercive measures being taken by the Soviet Union to extend its power over all Berlin."

It was one of the first important speeches on over-all American foreign policy in this assembly session by the Republican leader, who has been regarded as a possible selection to become secretary of state if Governor Dewey wins the presidency.

Berliners Told To Brace Themselves For Hardship

Berlin, Oct. 26 — (AP) — German anti-Communist leaders today told western Berliners to resign themselves to the hardships of a winter blockade and urged them to remain defiant to Russian pressure.

This was their reaction to Russia's veto of the Berlin compromise resolution in the United Nations Security Council.

Anti-Communist spokesmen also expressed pessimism that any further attempts to solve the blockade at Paris would have any success. They urged the western allies to step up their airlift still further to pull the city through the winter.

Meanwhile, the Russian-controlled press has attempted to justify the Soviet action, contending that

Paraguay Revolt Said Suppressed

Asuncion, Paraguay, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Paraguay's new government announced today it had suppressed a military revolt after 20 hours of bitter street fighting.

The regime of President Juan Nolasco Gonzalez said Col. Carlos Montano, brother of Foreign Minister Domingo Montano, led the uprising.

The revolt started at 1:30 a. m. Monday. Montano surrendered with the Paraguayan military academy cadets he had at 7:30 p. m. last night. His brother is attending the United Nations meeting in Paris.

A loyal cavalry regiment stationed at Suburban Campo Grande supplied the politically-harassed Gonzalez government the power it needed to suppress the revolution.

Casualties were not disclosed.

The interior ministry said "necessary measures" have been taken to restore normal life in Asuncion. There was no indication the revolt spread to any part of Paraguay outside the capital. The government said the whole country was calm.

Gonzalez was elected president earlier this year. He was the only candidate.

Loan To Britain

Washington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The Economic Co-operation Administration today loaned $118,000,000 to Britain. The money is to be used for purchase of industrial machinery, equipment and materials as part of the European recovery effort.

The agreement was signed by American and British officials of the export-import bank of Washington, which administers ECA loans.

It calls for interest at 3 1/2 percent a year payable semi-annually starting in 1952. Britain is obligated to begin repaying the loan in 1956 in semi-annual installments.

Minister Keeps Taxi Business

Milford, N. H., Oct. 26 — (AP) — Milford's new Methodist minister will continue to operate his taxi business—with special low rates for the pious.

Kendall W. Burgess, 50, former Army chaplain recently appointed by Bishop Wesley Lord of Boston said today taxi fare to the church would be 35 cents, instead of the usual 50 cents charge for the distance.

Burgess had retired temporarily from the ministry after his war experiences in Europe and during his retirement established a taxi company.

Trawler Sinks In Chesapeake Bay

Norfolk, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The trawler Colonna was sunk in a collision with the tanker Tullahoma in Chesapeake Bay near Hoopers Island early today.

Coast Guard headquarters here reported the tanker picked up 16 of the Colonna's crew, leaving five missing. The Coast Guard also said it had dispatched two cutters and a plane to search for the missing members of the Colonna's crew.

Stuffed?

Ballymena, Northern Ireland, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Faddy O'Neill, a meditative man, always chewed a straw as he drove his pony and cart around sleepy Ballymena. He always had a stomach ache, too.

Now he knows why.

Removed from Paddy at the hospital: two balls of straw, total weight one pound — 13 ounces.

N.C. Republicans See Best Chance Since 1928 Vote

But Waynick Hopes For Million Votes, Predicts Democratic Sweep

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the general election a week off, North Carolina Republican leaders were looking back to 1928 today and hoping that history would repeat itself.

In that year North Carolina Democrats split over the candidacy of Al Smith, and as a result the state's electoral vote went to Herbert Hoover. For good measure, the Republicans elected two congressmen in the state.

State GOP Chairman Sam A. DeLapp of Lexington asserted that Republican chances of winning North Carolina's 14 electoral votes are "mighty good."

"It's the best opportunity we've had since 1928, and we'll make a good showing on the state ticket, too," DeLapp added.

State Democratic leaders, also recalling 1928, pointed out that then the state's top ranking Democratic leader, the late Senator Furnifold M. Simmons led the Democratic rebellion. This year, they pointed out, the party leadership is supporting President Truman.

State Democratic Chairman Capus M. Wayne, saying that he hoped to see a record-breaking 1,000,000 voters turn out, flatly predicted victory for the "entire Democratic ticket from top to bottom."

In their efforts to make their predictions come true, the party chiefs drafted a heavy program of oratory and political rallies for the final week of the campaign.

The Republicans called on Senator Owen Brewster of Maine for a speech at Greensboro tonight. He will be introduced by John A. Wilkinson, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate. George M. Pritchard, Republican nominee for governor, also is expected to the Greensboro meeting.

Democratic orators made nine speeches yesterday and today's program calls for Kerr Scott, nominee for governor, to speak at Wilson at noon. J. M. Patton, nominee for the U.S. House, and J. M. Carley, nominee for Congress in the seventh district, will speak at Wilmington at 8 p.m. U.S. Senator William B. Umstead is scheduled for a talk at Salisbury at 5 p.m. and Broughton will speak at Thomasville at 8 p.m.

Challenge Day Is Slated Saturday

Registration Books Closed; Absentee Ballots Available

The registration books for the general election on Tuesday, November 2, closed last Saturday at sundown. Those persons who failed to register will not be entitled to vote in the coming election. The registration books were open at the 29 voting precincts on three successive Saturdays until last Saturday, and the registrars were ready to register any qualified voter who applied to them any day in the week.

Next Saturday, October 30, is challenge day, when any citizen may file objection to any person not qualified to vote.

J. Henry Harrell, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, has announced that any qualified voter who expects to be away on Election Day may apply to him for an absentee ballot.

The chairman also said that any qualified voter who is physically unable to go to the polls on Election Day may make application to him next Saturday, or next Monday, the day before the election.

Draft Rejection Rate 95 Percent

Goldboro, N. C., Oct. 26 — (AP) — The rejection rate for the first 30 men from Wayne County sent up for draft physical examinations was 95 per cent.

Draft board officials sent five white men and 15 Negroes to Fayetteville Oct. 14 for examinations. One Negro passed. All others were reclassified 4-F.

The Goal: Obstruction

Russia Blocked World Action On Two Of Biggest Issues By Taking Opposite Stands; Atomic Control And Berlin Blockade; Are They Wrecking UN?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Russia, by taking completely opposite stands, has now blocked action on two of the biggest issues in the world: the atomic bomb and the Berlin blockade.

In both cases the result is the same: obstruction. By contradicting herself, Russia has made this much plain: If there's going to be any ball game at all, it has to be played Russia's way.

Take the case of the bomb—The U.N. long ago set up an Atomic Energy Commission to find ways of outlawing the atomic bomb and being sure no nation could make it.

The commission finally recommended this: First, set up U.N. control, with U.N. investigators free to go into any country to see that no one was cheating.

After the controls were working, the United States would get rid of its bombs and no nation would have any.

Nothing doing, the Russians said. They wanted the U.S. to destroy its bombs before the other nations set up the controls or talked about them.

Now take the case of the Berlin blockade—

A group of six nations not mixed up in that dispute suggested in the U.N. that Russia lift the Berlin blockade so the U.S., Britain and France could send supplies in by train to feed their troops in Berlin and Germans living there.

Then, said the six nations, as soon as the blockade was lifted, Russia, the U.S., Britain and France could begin talking about all their Berlin problems.

No, said Russia yesterday, vetoing the idea. Russia said it will not lift the blockade before the Berlin talks get under way.

So Russia dashed out the medicine it wanted the U.N. and the U.S. to take on the bomb; but when the U.N. asked Russia to take the same medicine on Berlin, Russia said no. On Sunday of the U.N., Secretary of State Marshall said the greatest blight on the record of the U.N. is the "obstructive attitude" of certain nations.

He didn't mention Russia by name. There's no doubt he meant Russia. That country now has used the veto 20 times in the U.N. to block international agreements or action. The U.S. hasn't used it once.

Library Notes

In observance of Religious Book Week, October 24-30, the Sheppard Memorial Library now has a display of current religious books and a mimeographed list of recent books of interest to church and missionary groups for distribution.

Religious Book Week is a project sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Its aim is to encourage laymen to read books of spiritual value.

For some years it has been customary at the local library to compile a list of religious titles of interest to individuals and to groups. The term "religious" is used in its broadest sense and titles included are those that tend to create good will and encourage an understanding of other people. Copies are now available at the library for any individual or group interested in this type of reading.

Altrusa Club Holds Luncheon Meeting

On Tuesday, October 19, the Greenville Altrusa Club met at a luncheon meeting in the Magnolia Room of the Proctor Hotel. All members were smartly dressed in new fall shades, adding color and zest to the occasion.

The president, Mrs. J. B. Spilman called the meeting to order and welcomed two new members, Mrs. May Johnston Harvey and Miss Margaret Cone. The president requested that since all vacations were over, that each member make every effort to attend all Altrusa meetings.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Mary McCrary, for the past two meetings. She also read a letter from Miss Mamie Chandler, a member away on leave of absence due to illness.

There was a general discussion concerning the regular hour and date of the Altrusa meeting, and it was left open to be voted on at the next meeting. The president announced that Mrs. Hazel Huey, national and international representative, will be a guest at the next meeting. Booklets on the objectives for the Altrusa Club will be given to all members at that time.

The club unanimously voted Mrs. Mary M. Dunn as official reporter for the Altrusa Club. After the business discussion, a very nice luncheon was enjoyed by the following members: Mrs. Clara Gower, Mrs. Frances Wahl, Dr. Malene Irons, Mrs. Ruth Meeks, Mrs. Mary M. Dunn, Mrs. Mary McCrary, Mrs. Dorothy Trotman, Mrs. Emma Evans, Miss Margaret Cone, Mrs. May Johnston Harvey, Mrs. Cora Powell, and Mrs. J. B. Spilman.

Joint Hostesses At Coffee Hour

Mrs. Con Lanier and Mrs. Frank Bendall entertained at the Lanier home on Rock Spring Drive last Wednesday morning at a coffee hour honoring Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Jr. The home was most attractive with arrangements of early fall flowers. Upon arrival the guests were greeted by the hostesses and introduced to the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. R. M. Gaines, of Tarboro, and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr. The guests were invited into the dining room, where a beautifully appointed table was covered with a Madeira cut work cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink mums in a silver bowl flanked by silver candelabra with white tapers. Mrs. R. M. Gaines poured coffee, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. W. P. Moore and Mrs. N. S. Beard. Guests included twenty-five of the younger set.

Mr. Perry Presents Enjoyable Program

Following the collect, roll call and routine business matters with Mrs. E. K. Allen, president, presiding, the Junior Woman's Club enjoyed a most entertaining musical program on the past Wednesday evening. Mrs. Bill Williams, of the Fine Arts Department, introduced Mr. George Perry, a new member of the music faculty of E. C. T. C., who presented a program of piano selections.

Mr. Perry, formerly of Readsburg, Wisconsin, did his undergraduate study in music at the University of Wisconsin, resulting in a degree of Bachelor of Music and later obtaining his Masters Degree from the same institution. Since completing his studies there, he has had instruction under Olive Eiders, Eugenia Ellenburg, a former pupil of Leschetizky, and special work on the harpsichord under John Challis. Also special study in composition with Cecil Bureleigh. Mr. Perry comes to E. C. T. C. direct from Wisconsin School of Music in Madison and is a member of the American Guild of Organists.

His program consisted of selections from Bach: "Fantasia in C Minor" arranged by Rudolph Gank, and "Air in B" arranged by himself from Chopin. He played three "Preludes from Opus 28," and "Etude in C Minor, Opus No. 19." From Debussy, he brilliantly interpreted the first and second preludes from Book I, namely: "Danseuses de Delphes" and "Dolce." His final rendition was "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven.

This was Mr. Perry's first Greenville appearance other than at college and faculty functions. Following this delightful musical, the members and guests were invited to the beautifully appointed refreshment table, presided over by Mesdames R. C. Pearce, Paul Scott, Henry Brown, and Kenneth Mercer, the hostesses. Coffee, congealed fruit salad, nuts, mints and sweet cookies were served. Guests, other than Mr. Perry, included Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. T. M. Watson, Dr. and Mrs.

Study Bettering School Program

The last in a series of six district conferences in the interest of health, physical education, and safety in the schools of North Carolina, was held in the Third Street School here yesterday afternoon at three o'clock.

The meeting was attended by the four committee chairmen selected by each administrative unit, other public school, college, and public health people from the counties in the Northeastern area of the state. This conference was under the direction of Charles E. Spencer, co-director, Miss Ruth O. Moore, Mrs. Annie Ray Moore, of the School Health Coordinating Service, and Mr. John Cameron of the Division of Instructional Service—all of the Dept. of Public Instruction.

The two-fold purpose of these meetings, as stated by Mr. Spencer is (1) to improve the local school health program, and (2) to get material prepared for a guide in health, physical education and safety to be published and distributed to the schools of the state.

Boy Preacher Is Found Popular

Chattanooga, Tenn.—(AP)—A 12-year-old Negro, son of a barbershop porter here, is receiving invitations to preach from churches all over the country. He is Howard Chubb, a student at junior high school. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Chubb.

The child preacher has delivered sermons at Knoxville, Tenn., Cleveland, Ohio, and Indianapolis, Ind. K. V. Gilbert, Mr. Don Blood and Mrs. Rudolph Willmann.

W. W. Taylor, pastor of the West-side Baptist Church, where the youth is a member, says he receives daily requests from many cities for the boy to preach.

Young Chubb helps his father shine shoes after school.

Head-On Collision Near Winterville; One Man Injured

Two automobiles collided head-on on the highway near Winterville Sunday night at 7 o'clock and one person was injured and both cars were badly damaged.

A State highway patrolman who investigated the wreck said a car driven by Joseph Thomas Moore, 57, of Snow Hill, steered his car to the left side of the road to avoid colliding with the rear of a car ahead of him that slowed down and his car and another, driven by Max McGlohon, 57, of Ayden, collided head-on damaging both vehicles and injured McGlohon about the chest. He was taken to Pitt General Hospital for treatment.

A warrant was to be issued against Moore for reckless driving.

Strength FOR THE DAY

Do you like the law of gravitation?

What a silly question. The law of gravitation holds the universe together and is here to stay. What can we do about it? The not a matter of liking it or not liking it, but of obeying it. I did not like the law of gravitation when I slipped on the ice as a boy and broke my arm. Or in later years when I slipped at the top of the stairs and fell to the bottom. I should have been profoundly happy in both circumstances if I could have adjoined the law of gravitation for the time being. But I couldn't, so that was that.

If we will only use our minds and ask the Lord to increase their capacity for discernment, we shall soon observe that there are laws in the spiritual world as inflexible as the law of gravitation. We may not like them, but what difference does that make? They hold the moral universe together and they are here to stay. Chesterton once remarked that a man who jumps off a bridge does not defy the law of gravitation—he demonstrates it. Likewise, you and I never have broken any of the laws of the spiritual universe, but on plenty of occasions they have broken us. And really we should have learned something from such experiences.

Around Capitol Square

ROUND-UP—This week is "round-up time" in North Carolina. For farmers it means completion of harvest for major crops and beginning of intensive preparations for winter. For merchants it means final packing away of late summer and fall merchandise, the beginning of preparations for Thanksgiving and Christmas trade. For housewives it means the job of putting the heating system in shape cannot be longer postponed. Every major college football team in the state has a big game scheduled for Saturday, results of which will pretty well determine relative standing for the season. But the big round-up is political, because it is the last week before election of a governor and a president, along with other state officers, members of the general assembly and hundreds of county officials.

CURTAIN—The final curtain will not drop on the show until six-thirty o'clock next Tuesday, November 2, but the curtain call has been issued and the cast is assembling for the finale. Registration books closed Saturday and only a scattering dozen or so persons can qualify to vote next Tuesday if they are not already registered. These will include persons who have become 21 years old, those who may have attained citizenship by naturalization or convicted felons who have had citizenship restored since the books closed last Saturday. It's too late now for additional candidates to get on even local ballots, and too late for voters except in the very limited groups mentioned to attain voting privileges. That means there will be a change, maybe subtle may be obvious, in campaign tactics. Instead of generally objective, efforts will be intensively specific to get out all partisans on election day. There may be some last minute changes in sentiment on part of voters, but mostly the question will be getting votes in the box rather than converting voters to one or another candidate or party.

IMPORTANT—Most observers concede that North Carolina will remain Democratic, from the electoral college down to every congressional district. The Wallace Progressives and the Dixiecrat States Righters have failed to make the imprint they evidently expected and there seems little chance of the usual more than two to the Democratic majority over the Republicans being upset—though it will almost certainly be reduced. Nevertheless, a heavy Democratic vote is important as basis for representation in state and national party conventions, if not for carrying the immediate election.

CONVENTIONS—Representation in the state Democratic convention is based upon the vote for governor in the next preceding general election. Some preponderantly Democratic counties have traditionally cast five to ten thousand votes in the Democratic primary and less than one-third that number in the general election. This means these counties forfeit their rightful strength in the state convention. Under present plans each state that gives its electoral vote to the Democratic president gets four extra votes in the national Democratic convention. Since the national convention not only adopts the party platform but also nominates candidates for president and vice president, these extra four votes can be of tremendous value. Representation in the conventions rather than election of current candidates is being used by party leaders as basis for the appeal that every Democrat, wherever located, vote the straight ticket.

DEFLECTION—Two major North Carolina newspapers during the past week came out with strong endorsements of Dewey and the Republican national ticket. These were the Charlotte News and the High Point Enterprise. It was the first time since its establishment 60 years ago the Charlotte paper had gone off the Democratic reservation. The High Point paper supported Dewey against Roosevelt in 1944. The Charlotte Observer, generally regarded as independent, has endorsed Dewey.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Sagas of extraordinary heroism are reflected in a collection of correspondence concerning Civil War Congressional Medal of Honor winners gathered by Charles Kohlen, Mr. Kohlen, a little man with bird-bright eyes, owns a cluttered two-by-four hobby shop a couple of blocks from the White House.

He invited me to look over his collection of correspondence upon learning of the Army's publication of similar data concerning World War II medal winners. He said he had bought the bulk of it from relatives of one James Otis, of Portland, Me., who originally collected it in 1862-63, while preparing to write a book.

Some of the writers go into great details. Others are reluctant to tell their story. There was Maj. Gen. Julius H. Stahel, who was awarded the medal "for distinguished gallantry at the Battle of Piedmont, Va., June 5, 1864." There was Gen. A. L. Grant, Assistant Secretary of War, who said the query on how he won the medal "could better be answered by some one else." Sixteen year-old drummer boy Benjamin S. Levy of Yonkers, N. Y. didn't say how he won the medal. He didn't even refer to it.

Irish-born Edmond Welsh, one of the storming party of 7 who volunteered from the 64th Ohio Infantry, received the medal for conspicuous gallantry in action at Vicksburg, May 22, 1863. George W. Roosevelt who later became U. S. Consul at Brussels, also was a Civil War Congressional honor winner. A third cousin of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, he was decorated for gallantry at the battles of Bull Run and Gettysburg.

One of the most interesting letters is that of Maj. Gen. Lew Wallace, commander of Union Forces in Maryland, who wrote on behalf of one of his captains, George Evans Davis of Burlington, Vt. Wallace, the author of "Ben Hur" had to decide upon destroying a bridge on the pike from Frederick, Md., to Washington in so doing he cut off Captain Davis and a detachment of skirmishers.

"Nearly 30 years have passed, yet I remember as if it were yesterday the struggle I had with myself to have the match applied to burn the structure—but, to save Davis was to lose Washington." Wallace learned later, however, that Davis and some of his men had escaped.

How he escaped, Wallace said he never knew until he read an accounting of it in Chittenden's "Recollections of President Lincoln." "That he would attempt to cross the river by the railroad bridge stepping from tie to tie, under fire at close range, and 40 feet in the air, never occurred to my mind—it was one of the bravest things of the war."

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE

New York—(P)—It is a rainy day outside, and I wonder if any political candidate is going to endorse it.

Why not? Well, perhaps because it is too controversial. A politician might win the farm vote by coming out four-square for rainy weather, but there would always be an adviser in the background to warn him.

"Don't do it—too risky. You'll just make the city folks mad." But it has always seemed to me that rain was one of the most blessed things in the universe. And not because it refreshes the green things that grow in the fields—but because of what it does to human beings.

Rain wets down and washes the dreary, dusty face of nature. In the same way it washed the prettiness out of people, and makes them nearer to what they want to be. At least it does for most people.

Sunshine has the opposite effect. Sunshine is an insidious tonic that makes everybody feel wonderful—but selfish. It makes a man say to himself, "boy, today I got the world by the tail." And sunshine is a liar. Nobody ever really had the world by the tail for long.

Rain tells the truth. It doesn't fool anybody. It tells him what he is. Look at a plowhorse, standing in a pasture under the slanting silver pencil beams of the rain. You can tell by the slack muscles, the hanging head, he realizes he is just an ordinary horse after all and will never win the Kentucky derby or fly out to California in his private airplane to race at Santa Anita. So he plods over to the other horses, and is grateful there are other horses in the world to stand with while the rain falls.

Rain does the same thing for people. They grow together more and feel the kinship of their kind, and this is the great gift of rain. Rain does for mankind in a cheap and harmless way what war does in an expensive and wasteful way. It makes a man aware of the loneliness he is born to and dies in. It makes him want to be closer to his fellows, a feeling he always has when hardship threatens, the skies clatter, and his world darkens.

Rain gives a man understanding of what Wordsworth called, "the still and music of humanity." And that music will teach him more than books or bibelots.

Rain makes an old man feel the age in his bones, and tells him he hasn't much time left to do the good he wants to do. It causes young folks far away to pause and write the letter home they had forgotten.

Rain does many other things besides cause pneumonia. It shows up the hypocrite. Beware the man of false good cheer who grumbles testily and continually when it shows. He lacks the pull for the long road, and you're better off without his company. Rain breaks the lock-jaw of the timid soul, and cautions him to speak happily: "We're enough for you today?"

Rain makes the hour bus driver feel godlike, for as he swings open his sheltering door he realizes that he is giving these troublesome passengers a chance to prove they really do have sense enough to come in out of the rain—something he always doubted. They laugh together, and anything they drop in the token box is safe enough.

People don't save up their money for a rainy day. They just save up their humanity. Too bad it doesn't rain more often.

Gilead will conduct revival services at the Ballards Presbyterian church each night at 7:30. Dr. Stork held a revival in the Farmville Presbyterian church three years ago.

C. F. Baucum will be song leader and Mrs. Wiley Crawford is accompanist. The public is cordially invited.

Tar Heels Remain In Third Place National Grid Voting

Injury - Weakened Bucs Patch Up Riddled Ranks

East Carolina Teachers college football coaches looked over an injury ridden squad yesterday afternoon and went about filling in the vacant positions before Friday night's home contest with the Duke Jayvees.

Two of the key Pirate backs were sidelined because of injuries sustained in the Newport News game Friday night. Michael Kovach, terrific halfback from North Tarrytown, N. Y., received a dislocated shoulder in the game and Doug Bryant, currently the hottest thing in the ECTC backfield, re-hurt a shoulder which was injured in the West Carolina game two weeks ago.

Bryant will definitely be out of action this coming Friday night and his absence may be a serious hindrance to the Pirate offense.

In the forward wall the Pirates have two injuries. The most serious of these is being nursed by center Joe Pollini who received a cut requiring six stitches over the right eye last Friday against the Apprentice school eleven. Pollini, who was already suffering from an arm injury, will be given a helmet with a nose guard for Friday's game but it is not likely that he will see as much action as usual. Pete Prominsky, freshman center, and Stan Ford, veteran end and former center, will be used to back up Pollini Friday night.

The second injury in the ECTC line is of a less serious nature. Leon Sella, who played a bangup game in the line for the Pirates Friday night, was in light gear because of a pulled ligament in his leg. He will probably be in shape again for the game Friday, however.

Viewing their chances against the Duke "Be", coaches Jim Johnson and Jack Boone both agreed that Duke wouldn't send down a team which is likely to be beaten very easily. "They can send as strong a team as they feel will be necessary," Johnson said.

There are four fathers on the Lehigh football squad—Jimmy Case, Bob Numbers, Stan Saymakowski and Cliff Freund.

LOOK OUT FOR PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an increasing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living inside the human body, can cause real distress.

So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms—especially the irritating anal itch. Get JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions.

P-W is the Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Michigan And Notre Dame Retain Top Spots; UNC Takes More First Place Ballots Than Irish, But Lag In Total Points

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Michigan's rampaging Wolverines retained their rating as the top college football team in the country today in the weekly Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers.

The powerhouse from Ann Arbor drew 117 of the 206 first place votes and piled up 1,885 points to beat out runner-up Notre Dame by 275 points. The Irish, second also a week ago, gained 19 first place votes and polled 1,615 points.

Michigan, unbeaten and untied in five outings, downed Minnesota, 27-14 last Saturday while the Irish surged to a 27-12 victory over Iowa for their fifth straight conquest of a perfect season.

North Carolina's Tar Heels held on to third place, drawing 46 first place ballots and 1,568 points. The Irish, as they did a week ago, scored heavily in second place votes to beat out North Carolina's unbeaten squad for runner-up honors.

Points are figured on the basis of 10 for a first place, nine for second and so on down the line to one for tenth place.

The point score with first place votes in parentheses (first place figures on basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1)

In 10 post-season bowl games Alabama football teams have averaged 21.3 points per contest.

Alabama has had seven undefeated and untied football teams since 1892.

A rugged Michigan State eleven held the defending eastern champions to a 14-14 tie in the Penn State homecoming game last Saturday.

The big load off his shoulders for the impending Colgate and Penn games was the end of the Nittany Lions' regular season win streak.

"We were operating under a terrific strain while we were riding that winning streak," the veteran coach told a reporter. "Now that it's broken, I think we can play better football."

A rugged Michigan State eleven held the defending eastern champions to a 14-14 tie in the Penn State homecoming game last Saturday.

Not since Bucknell, the longest continuous rival of the Owls, were handed a 21 to 0 setback a year ago, has Temple won a football game. The 7 to 7 deadlock in the opener against Lebanon Valley is the closest Coach Ray Morrison's charges have come to winning.

Posedel Named Pirates Coach

Pittsburgh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today named William J. Posedel, former Brooklyn and Boston Braves pitcher, a coach. Posedel will replace Bill Burwell who was released a short time ago.

The new coach, who lives in San Francisco, served the Pirates as a scout on the West Coast last year. He hurled in the National League from 1938 through the 1941 season, winning 39 and losing 43. He served in the Navy from Jan. 1942 until Oct. 1945.

Here's one for the books: Wofford College from Spartanburg, S.C., hasn't won or lost a game this year. The team, which is coached by Phil Dickens, has trotted to the playing field five times and has trotted off with all ties. Last Saturday they lined up for the kick-off as a 22-0 underdog. When the final whistle blew the score read, Davidson 7, Wofford 7. They play Newberry this weekend.

I don't know who keeps the official statistical report for ECTC, but if they will check up on their scoring, they will find a mistake. It looks impossible for anyone to make a mistake when ECTC has only made 3 touchdowns. They have given Johnny Smith credit for only 2 TDs and he has scored three (all of them). Smith is a sophomore from Portsmouth, Va. He carries the leather from the fullback slot.

There were only three punts made during the game Saturday between Campbell and Belmont Abbey. Campbell won the game 19 to 18. The two teams marched up and down the field, but just couldn't reach the scoring punch but three times each.

In the waning minutes, the Abbeys marched 63 yards for a tally. Ed Snider went over from the one-yard-line, but Snider then missed the extra point attempt which would have tied the game.

Harry Helmer of AC got off a 72-yard kick Saturday night in Wilson. The backfielder ace for the Bulldogs is a former Coastal Plain League pitcher. He pitched for Rocky Mount last year and was one of the few pitchers to win over 20 games. The Bulldogs were defeated by Guilford 19 to 0.

The ECTC Pirates went through a light workout yesterday with several of the boys nursing injuries and colds. The Pirates play Duke "B" team at Guy Smith Stadium Friday night.

Can you imagine Bill Kittrell saying "I never dreamed of the day I would turn out musicians instead of athletes". Guy Smith and Wayne Smiley, both very promising athletes to be dropped from the midgeet squad to join the High School Band. Kittrell who coaches the midgeets said, "I was counting on those boys to lug the leather for me this year up the field, but instead of running up and down the field, they are marching." That's just one headache. Bill, my boy, there will be others.

Governors Send Congratulations To Connie Mack

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A book containing letters of congratulation from the governors of all 48 states was presented today to Connie Mack on the completion of 48 years as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The book was prepared by Mayor Bernard Samuel, who told the 85-year-old baseball veteran:

"You have been a leading exponent of clean sports, and clean living, and the example you have set during your long and eventful career has been and ever will be an inspiration to the youth of America."

Here is what some of the governors had to say:

Thomas E. Dewey, New York—"The name of Connie Mack stands for what is best in our national game. It stands not merely for winning teams, but for fine sportsmanship."

James H. Duff, Pennsylvania—"In your teams you kindle a spirit of effort and victory. Even more important, you have helped kindle that spirit in American youth and you are an inspiration for boys."

J. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina—"Yours is a record which has no equal. Yours is a record of which you may well be proud." Mon C. Wallgren, Washington—"Your name is a household word in every sports-loving family."

Earl Warren, California—"I know that it must give you great satisfaction to review the progress of baseball during the long period in which you have given this sport the benefit of your leadership and counsel."

James E. Folsom, Alabama —

"Your life has been an inspiration to millions of young Americans who today hold you in great respect." Syracuse and Penn State, at the start of this season, had broken even on the gridiron, each team winning 10 games. Five were ties.

Syracuse University footballers will play under the lights twice this fall.

Willie Pep Tunes Up For Big Bout

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 26—(AP)—Rain splashed the Gym windows as Willie Pep, trim and sharp at 126 1/2 pounds, tuned up for his featherweight title defense against Sandy Saddler at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Over in a corner, Willie Pep, Jr., doted in the arms of his grandfather.

A goodly crowd lined the walls of the clean little room on the second story of the Hartford auditorium. Most of the spectators had climbed the same marble steps to the Gym before every fight in Willie's illustrious career.

Bill Gore, a tall, slim, grey-haired man who trains the champ, bounced a medicine ball off Willie's middle as he reclined on a leather mat. You could hear the thud of the heavy ball in all corners of the loft.

There was a homely hum of approval when Gore, doubling in brass as the Harry Balogh of Hartford, dropped the ball and spoke forth:

"Ladies and gentlemen (no ladies were present) I present the featherweight champion of the world—Willie Pep."

Humber Addresses Rotary Club On Federation Plan Proclamation

By WYATT BROWN

With ardence and eloquence the people of the United States were urged last night to utilize world law through a legally empowered United Nations since state nationalism has exhibited its impotence under modern circumstances thus leaving us with diplomacy as the only means of avoiding World War III and diplomacy has no alternative but war for gangster nations, when Rotarian Robert Lee Humber, originator of the Humber Resolution for World Government and an official of World Federalists, addressed his own club last night on the occasion of their observance of United Nations Week, here in Greenville. He pleaded that the citizens use their experience and intelligence in effecting the utilization of law to secure world peace.

In the outset Mr. Humber related the history of World organization—the extinct League of Nations and its world successor the United Nations. The United Nations was born three and one half years ago at San Francisco out of a sixty day conference of fifty nations. The League of Nations was jettisoned because of the fact that the United States had been unable to get her internal politics lined up to join the League and because Russia had been kicked out when she invaded Finland and vowed she would never reenter.

Then Mr. Humber made it clear that the United Nations is an international organization operating without affecting national sovereignty. With its present limited power the Security Council of the UN affords the world little more than a forum. But the speaker was high in his praise of the Educational and Cultural, Labor and Agricultural committees and their achievements. He said it was fine as far as it went and was an organization set up with provisions in its charter for the changes that would give it the power to operate with power under law—become a political entity.

Mr. Humber posed the "supreme question" before the present generation the time has come that modern man if he is to preserve his civilization must have some other method than war to maintain peace. The answer from the speaker was: summon the intelligence of man to work through law that works on individuals instead of communities or nations.

Guests of the club were Charles Poole, W. T. Kyzer, Lecky Hull all of Greenville and Bill Hull of Fort Leavenworth, Missouri. Harry Munford was a visiting Rotarian from the Ayden Club. Bill Hull is also a Rotarian but was present as a guest last night. Bob Bradshaw, immediate past president of the Rotary Club presided in the absence of the president and vice-president. The program was presented by James Fleming, chairman of the International Relations Committee.

American Legion Fair Under Way

By CHESTER WALSH

A tour of inspection of the American Legion's 12th annual Pitt County Fair yesterday afternoon revealed that the agricultural and livestock features of the annual event are bigger and better than in many years. Mark's Shows and rides on the Midway appear to have a variety of entertainment and the management stated that there will be frequent free acts day and night, and a display of fireworks will feature the night performances.

The exhibits of the Pitt County 4-H clubs, the Home Demonstration Clubs, Future Farmers of America, vocational agricultural classes from three county schools, the State Forestry Service, individual farm exhibits, and the livestock are attracting unusual attention.

A big tent encloses the commercial and industrial exhibits and they are exceptionally creditable and interesting.

Manager Harry Burke said the premium list this year contains nearly double the amount of money in prizes to be awarded this year.

The Methodist Church in Bethel Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. W. M. Howard, Jr., the pastor assisted by Rev. J. R. Parker, Holiness minister, will officiate.

Surviving are one son, B. L. Bullock of Bethel; three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst of Bethel, Mrs. J. H. Shelton of Coneloe and Mrs. H. D. Lassiter of Charlotte; 16 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Jones of Rocky Mount.

Anthropologists believe Heidelberg man lived at the second inter-glacial period, probably 250,000 years ago.

Handful Watch Babe Ruth Laid To Final Rest

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—The body of baseball's immortal Babe Ruth was in its final resting place today, more than two months after the former home run slugger's death Aug. 16.

In contrast to the thousands of mourners at final rites for Ruth Aug. 19, a bare handful was present yesterday when the body was taken from a receiving vault and lowered into a grave in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Westchester County. The mahogany casket bore a silver name plate with the inscription "George Herman Ruth."

The widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth, and a few friends stood under a canopy sheltered from the rain and wind as Msgr. George C. Eberhardt officiated at the private commitment.

Shriners Met On Thursday Night

A special program was rendered by A. C. Tadlock Thursday night, October 21, at a regular meeting of the Greenville Shrine Club at the Proctor Hotel dining room. Professor R. C. Deal of ECTC was introduced by the program chairman and entertained the members and guests with his "timely" jokes appropriate to the occasion.

The president, James W. Brewer, appointed the nominating committee for the state of officers for the coming year as follows: B. E. Sugg, Chairman; Z. V. Bunting and Willie Eason.

A report of the annual New Year's Eve ladies party was given by the chairman, Walter Lee. He stated the orchestra had been selected and also a floor show. $237.00 worth of tickets have been sold. Walter Cherry and Ray Oglesby gave good donations toward the party. The following arrangement committee was appointed to work with the committee: Paul Davenport, Jr., Walter Cherry, Dal Cox, R. W. Davenport, and W. H. Jones.

A Great Relief For Acid Indigestion, Stomach Distress

A corrected stomach condition will cause you to feel comfortable immediately. Yes, this fact has been tested and proved by Doctors. So why wait when there is no need to continually carry a lump in your stomach and feel miserable after every meal.

An appetizing portion of SSS Tonic before meals does wonders for the stomach. This famous medicine contains no soda or other alkalis, which usually retard digestion. Instead, SSS Tonic with its highly potent ingredients works to tone-up the stomach so it may release its own digestive juice (hydrochloric acid) to break-up food for body use and tissue repair.

SSS Tonic has helped hundreds of thousands of people, without any organic trouble or focal infection, to really feel better, more vigorous, better able to enjoy living.

Take none less than this effectively-proved medicine to relieve your misery. Take SSS to tone-up your stomach, whet the appetite, build-up blood strength! Get SSS Tonic from any Drug Store today.

Take Only The Best

Bunting of Bethel invited the club to meet in Bethel at the Rotary Club on November 18 at 7 o'clock. The members are looking forward to this meeting as Mr. Bunting will have charge of the program and entertainment.

Scott Backs Pay Hike Amendment

Raleigh, Oct. 26—(AP)—Support for a proposed pay raise for state legislators has come from Kerr Scott, Democratic nominee for governor.

In a statement issued yesterday, Scott urged voters to cast ballots Nov. 2 for a proposed constitutional amendment which would boost legislators' salaries from $600 to $1,200 per session.

The proposal also includes a raise from $700 to $1,500 per session for presiding officers.

Scott said, "It is unfair to require legislators to dig down into their own pockets to meet living expenses while in attendance upon public business."

He added that it also is "unsound public policy and not in keeping with the Democratic principle to restrict membership in the general assembly to representatives who not only can afford to donate their time but also pay a substantial portion of their expenses."

"x x x we face the danger," he added, "of making the general assembly a 'rich man's club.'"

Adjourns Debate Over Holy Land

Paris, Oct. 26—(AP)—The American president of the United Nations Security Council angrily adjourned debate on Palestine today. He closed the session with a statement that the council could not be lashed into action by Arab charges of bias.

Warren Austin, the U.S. delegate, and October president of the council, spoke up sharply to close the debate until Thursday at 10:30 a.m. after Mahmoud Bey Fawzi of Egypt pressed for immediate council action.

The council was called into the emergency session to hear an Egyptian charge that Israel is violating a cease fire order on the Negev front in southern Palestine.

Fawzi said Egypt had accepted the Security Council's week old cease fire order in the Negev, but that fighting there was continuing.

Outside the council, an informed British source said stern United Nations action to secure peace in Palestine is "in the back of many delegates' minds."

Some delegations, he said, are considering action under chapter seven of the UN charter. This involves measures for investigation, economic sanctions or even military action. Egypt also charged that Israel violated the Middle East arms embargo.

Kiwanians Attended Presbyterian Church

Twenty-five members of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, under auspices of Dr. Davis L. Moore's Kiwanis Committee on Support of Churches, attended services in a body at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday Morning. Rev. Leonard W. Topping, the pastor and a Kiwanian, preached a special sermon and the choir rendered a special program of music.

It is a custom of the Kiwanis Club to attend during each year churches whose pastors are members of the club.

ARE YOU WILLING To Let The State Decide

How And To Whom

Your Property Will Be Distributed?

If something happens to you before you get around to making a Will, the state will dispose of your property according to the inflexible terms of the laws of descent and distribution.

porating all modern safeguards and naming a competent executor of your own choosing? Then you, not the state, can decide how and to whom your property will be distributed.

These terms may happen to carry out your special wishes for your family—but this is unlikely. The persons you intend to benefit may receive your property—or someone else may get it.

The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of course, does not practice law. Your attorney should prepare your Will and advise you on all of the legal aspects of your Estate Plan. However, this bank is authorized under the laws of North Carolina to act as Executor and Trustee. More and more people are using this service.

Isn't this too great a risk to take? Wouldn't it be wiser to make your Will—without further delay—incor-

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Deadly Weapon

By Wade Miller

Chapter 30
Major Rockwell walked into the dressing room. Walter James closed the door behind him and leaned his back against it. Rockwell looked at him with astonished eyes.

"What is this all about, Mr. James?"
"Sit down," suggested the slender detective. "I'll try to explain it to you." He cocked an ear to the stage where Shasta Lynn was finishing her song. "It'll have to be brief, though."

The major put one hand on the dressing table chair. "You called me Dr. Boone. That's the second time you've made a mysterious reference to that name, Mr. James."

"Yes," said Walter James and smiled a cat smile. "Because that's who you are, Major."

Rockwell's lanned face whitened perceptibly. "I swear, Mr. James," he said in the voice that held the hint of a quaver.

Walter James' arm was throbbing like the best of a drum. "You don't have to swear, Major," he said softly. "Because I know that you're telling the truth. You're not really Dr. Boone—but you'll do."

The slim man grimaced impatiently. "Sit down, Major." He gestured forcefully with the gun. Rockwell sank slowly into the dressing table chair, keeping his eyes riveted on the smaller man's face.

From his coat pocket, Walter James brought forth several lengths of neutral-colored fish line. With the deftness born of long practice, he tied the big man's wrists to the back of the chair, and then, bending down, his ankles to the legs.

Rockwell said, his voice underwritten by terror. "What—what are you going to do with me?"

"Oh, I thought I told you. You're going to be Dr. Boone. Clapp has worked awfully hard on this case and he deserves to have a Dr. Boone, even if he's the wrong one."

Rockwell stared at him, his lips parted slightly. Walter James squinted thoughtfully at the pistol in his hand. He sat down in the folding chair.

A movement of Rockwell's head made him look up sharply. In the mirror he saw that the door behind him had slid open.

"Keep your hands on your knees, Walter."

The old woman in funeral black shut the door in back of her without looking at it. Walter James sat quietly, watching her in the mirror. The silvered pistol in her hand pointed unwaveringly at his spine.

"Good evening, Ethel," he said.

"Let go of the gun," she said, almost in a whisper. Walter James allowed his fingers to relax and the 38 snuffed against the wooden floor. Major Rockwell let out a wailing sigh.

"Thank God!" he said. The woman gave him the briefest of glances. "Who's this?"

Walter James said softly: "Why, this is Dr. Boone, Ethel."

"Dr. Boone!" The woman's lips curled. "He's not Dr. Boone—you know and I know that there isn't any Dr. Boone."

"Yes," agreed the slender man. "You and I know it. But nobody else does. And Dr. Boone has been very useful to me."

"You didn't think you could get away with it, did you, Walter?" asked Ethel Lantz. "Don't move your hands!"

Walter James froze. "I am getting away with it," he said. "I knew you were here after we found the gun, but I didn't expect you to show up tonight. Did you write that note from Shasta Lynn?"

The plan would have worked for all of us, but you wanted it all to yourself.

"It can still work, Ethel," Walter James inched forward on the chair. "We can get rid of Shasta Lynn tonight. Give Clapp the major here as a fall guy. Then you come out of hiding and—"

Ethel shook her white head and the old-fashioned hat bobbed. "Nobody else is going to die, Walter—nobody except you. I don't want anything more now than Hal can be with me. All I want is to watch you die—the way you watched Hal die."

Walter James shook his head sadly. "I only you had come back to Atlanta.

"I was afraid. Anybody that knows you should be afraid of you. Your eyes—the way they are now. That's the way they were the night when Hal was in Denver and you suggested that we kill him and carry out the plan by ourselves. That's why I went to Miami before Hal got back." Her voice trembled. "I let him down. I was too weak and too afraid of you to stay in Atlanta and warn him."

Indian Summer.

Indian Summer weather prevailing here the past few days has been a blessing to farmers in rounding up their final harvesting, especially peanuts. Lowest temperature in the Greenville area last night was 43 degrees. At 8 a. m. today the official thermometer registered 50 degrees and the mercury was in the low 70s at noon, Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer here for the U. S. Department of Commerce reported.

duration of the strike.

Extra buses rolled on city-owned lines in Manhattan and Queens to relieve the press.

Target of the walkout is the State Public Service Commission. Employees demand that it grant permanent fare increases which would enable payment of about $5,000,000 in retroactive wage hikes.

Old League Of Nations Museum Raises Ghosts

Geneva—(AP)—One end of the United Nations European headquarters building here is haunted. In a small room with heavy carpets just off the library is the League of Nations museum. There are no cobwebs, no rustling curtains, no long shadows. But here, in the beribboned documents, the fading photographs, in the once bold, now meaningless autographs, lie buried the high hopes of another generation.

A modest, almost meager, display of busts, paintings, photographs and papers portrays the birth, slow strangulation and death of the League of Nations. Woodrow Wilson and Paul Boncour look down from their frames on the wall. There is Leon Blum, looking young and active and Paul-Henri looking still younger. Maxim Litvinoff, once the Soviet Union's Foreign Commissioner, now retired, shares a spot with frowning Gustav Stresemann, Lord Halifax and Dine Grandi.

One photograph shows Litvinoff talking over a table with the late Pierre Laval of France. Halie Belassie, looking frail and flustered, is shown during one of his visits to the league to plead for sanctions against Italy. There is a picture of Benito Mussolini receiving the league's economic committee in 1927. One could not picture this man with the jutting chin, the stern eyes and folding arms hanging by his heels in front of an Italian gasoline station.

In one glass case is the yellowed telegram protesting about troubles on the Greek-Bulgarian frontier in 1928. There are still troubles there.

Talk Recreation Program During Coming Winter

The Greenville recreation commission at its meeting last night discussed plans for carrying out a recreational program in the city during the winter months and problems of obtaining facilities for recreational purposes.

During the business meeting B. B. Sugg, Jr., J. H. Rose, and Louis Gaylord, Jr. were appointed to look into the advisability of using the army for recreational purposes this year. Dr. N. M. Jorgensen was appointed to the committee to investigate the possibilities of further use of school buildings for carrying on the recreation program. Heber B. Tripp, acting chairman of the commission, presided at the meeting.

Airman Reports Jump From B-17

Denver, Oct. 26—(AP)—An airman reported he and three others aboard a missing Air Force B-17 parachuted today before the plane crashed into a mountain in northwestern Colorado.

Maj. Philip Wachtel of Lowery Air Force Base said Staff Sgt. James L. Helms (Route No. 1, Greensboro, N.C.), radio operator on the craft, telephoned from Silt, Colo., that he was the last aboard to parachute from the disabled plane. It left Hamilton base at San Francisco for Denver at 10:01 p. m. (MST) yesterday.

Germany . . .

The French, fearful of any sign of German revival, still treat them as an inferior conquered people and base their policy on long term occupation and re-education.

The Russians, although they plump for withdrawal of all occupation forces and for "German unity," also favor socially on the Germans. The unified Germany they seek is a Communist Germany.

So far the spiritual rebirth of Germany poses the greatest threat to the Russians. The mass of Germans are largely anti-Russian and anti-Communist. Germans openly admit they want a crack at the Russians.

This raises the question of how, if it should come to an East-West war, would the Germans do any fighting. Will there be a German army?

In setting up the West German state there are no known plans for a war office, or even a foreign office. The question of rearming the Germans never is mentioned publicly, but it is in the background of everyone's thoughts.

For, aside from the material aid such a force could furnish the West, it obviously is difficult to conceive of rebuilding Western Germany economically without also providing the Germans with the means for defending their gains.

This explains French aversion to the idea of reviving Germany. For the new nationalism which today is pointed against Russia may take a different turn tomorrow in the surprise bag of history.

The Goal: . . .

Only time can show whether this systematic obstruction of the Russians is a plan (1) to make the U.N. helpless and hopeless and (2) to keep the world in jitters.

But it would not be the first time, according to congressional experts on Russia, that the Russians took part in an international peace organization for the purpose of wrecking it.

This year the House Committee on Foreign Affairs published a study of Russia called "The Strategy and Tactics of World Communism." It said: "Pravda in 1931, when the Soviet Union had accepted membership in the commission created under the League of Nations to study the problem of European union, explained that the Soviet Union had done so only in order to wreck the project."

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—Motor issues took over leadership of a generally improved stock market today. Gains ranged from fractions to around a point but at those levels further progress became difficult. Steels, which have been selling at the year's tops wobbled a bit while traders awaited dividend action by U. S. Steel's directors after the close today.

Southern Railway moved up rapidly following word of a raised dividend.

General motors gained a point or so at a new top for the year and smaller advance appeared for Chrysler and Studebaker.
