

Buyer's Market Drawing Nearer In Key Industries

Businesses In Which Sellers Held Upper Hand Soon To Feel Changes

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The shadow of the buyer's market is falling today on some industries where the seller has been most strongly entrenched.

Supply has caught up with demand—or is predicted by industry leaders to be breathing down the necks of those who have the following to sell:

Automobiles, houses, oil products, coal, rail transportation, paper products, and even some steel and copper products.

All were among the scarcest of the scarce not so long ago. Few are on the surplus list yet, but their products are now seeing the shape of the buyer's market to come.

Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., says: "I wish we were in a buyer's market today. We're living in a fool's paradise."

Of his own industry the motor man says: "Cars may be plentiful in a year and a half. Then again it might be in six months. Anyway, a customer can usually get a high-price car today without waiting."

Or look at houses. Herman C. Walter of Chicago, a past president of the American Institute of real estate appraisers, says: "The familiar statement, 'I can't find a place to live,' is fast disappearing. The peak of activity was passed in April."

Petroleum supplies have finally caught up with the huge demand, and in Texas they are talking about closing down 17 oil fields for a time.

There are other industries, too, fugitives from the scarcity list:

Home appliances, alcohol—both potable and industrial—rubber and rubber products, shoes, shirts, men and women's suits and dresses, hosiery, gloves.

T. H. Muller, president of Julius Kayser and Co., says that retail stores are over-stocked with women's hosiery, lingerie and gloves and have stopped buying to a great extent.

Grocery "coupon wars" are breaking out in some cities.

American Fliers Offer China Aid

Shanghai, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Claire Chennault today relayed to President Chiang Kai-Shek an offer by veterans of the American 14th Air Force to form a volunteer air group to fight the Chinese Reds.

Chennault, retired U.S. major general and wartime commander of the 14th, now runs an air transport company in China.

He said he relayed the Chinese president the "generous offer" from veterans of the former China-Burma war theater.

Refugees Arrive From Germany

Boston, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Hundreds of smiling men, women and children—displaced persons coming to a new land—lined the decks of the U. S. army transport Gen. Omar Bundy as the ship arrived today.

The vessel reached quarantine after a rough, 13-day voyage from Bremerhaven, Germany.

Customs men climbed aboard before the transport steamed up the harbor toward Commonwealth pier.

How Should He Vote?

Should Your Senator Or Congressman Vote As His Party Wishes? As His Constituents Wish? According To His Own Lights? Actual Practices; The Main Obligation

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Here's a nice little one you can try on your wife or the man next door—and then duck:

In the new Congress of 1949 how should your Senator or Congressman vote?—be he Democrat or Republican—vote:

1. The way his party leading want him to?

2. The way his constituents—meaning you, the people back in his district—tell him they want him to vote?

3. Or use his own head—no matter what you or the party leaders say—and vote as he wants?

Which of the three ways would make you feel he's doing the job for which he was elected?

Will you call him a party hack if he goes along doing just what his party leaders tell him?

On the other hand, do you think he should be entirely guided by the desires of the people back home?

But when he's voting in Congress, he's mostly voting on things that affect the whole country, not just his district.

So, should he put the interests of his district above those of the Farmers Of Pitt Received Nearly $3 Million Less For Leaf Crop

Estimates by tobaccoists and agricultural experts indicate that farmers in Pitt county received about $3,000,000 less for their 1948 tobacco crop than for their 1947 crop, but the county's peanut crop is estimated at a quarter million dollars higher than in 1947, and the half million dollar crop is expected to bring Pitt county farmers about $300,000 more this year than in 1947.

Official figures for the Greenville tobacco market for the 1948 season, released yesterday by Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee, show that the local market paid out $25,172,917.63 for tobacco this fall.

The market sold over $3,398,000 pounds of leaf with a season's average of $47.14 per hundred, approximately $4 per hundred higher than the 1947 average in Greenville.

In money paid out for tobacco, sales in Greenville this season lagged behind last year's sales by $5,000,000, and the poundage was about 17,000,000 below the 1947 level; but considering the 27.52 per cent acreage cut in tobacco this year, and the poor quality and poundage losses in this area because of extremely dry weather during the summer months, most local tobaccoists regard the Greenville market "highly successful" this season.

Figures on the Irish potato crop in the county indicate an approximately quarter million dollar crop for the year, down $150,000 from last year's value.

Money received for the Pitt cucumber and sweet potato crops apparently is about the same as last year, as is the money received for hogs, beef cattle and dairy products. However, indications are that more hogs are being raised in the county now than at this time last year, and the increase in money value is expected to be evident when the hogs are marketed after the first of the year.

No estimate is available on the corn crop of the county, but both production and prices are down considerably from a year ago.

McGrath To 'Use' Election Returns

Hopes To Influence Southern Opposition With Reminder Of Vote Results; Favors Change Of Senate Rules On Filibuster

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath today hoisted the election returns as the Administration's banner for a drive to push civil rights laws through Congress.

McGrath made it plain that so far as he is concerned there will be no compromise with the Southern Democrats who opposed President Truman's election and have threatened to filibuster his anti-race discrimination program.

Without laying out any time table, the national chairman told a news conference yesterday he personally favors a change in the Senate debate rules to kill off filibusters.

Any such move itself would be subject to a talkback by Dixie members. And McGrath wouldn't risk a guess whether the majority of Senate Democrats would support such a change.

Most Republicans, who will be in a 54 to 42 minority in the new Senate, are expected to back it.

How would McGrath convert the Southerners from their traditional opposition to action on any civil rights bill? a reporter asked.

"We'll just show them the election returns," the national chairman replied with a grin.

Mr. Truman won November 2 despite the opposition of States' Rights advocates, who corralled 38 electoral votes. McGrath obviously thinks that should convince some Southerners they were wrong in their position.

But McGrath indicated the Administration isn't going to try to punish Mr. Truman's Dixie critics by denying them places on congressional committees. He said that would be denying their constituents representation they are entitled to.

Belgian Cabinet Resigns; Spaak May Be Ousted

Brussels, Belgium, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Premier Paul Spaak's Socialist-Catholic Coalition cabinet resigned today.

The resignation followed that of Minister of Justice Paul Struyck yesterday after a parliamentary debate on his policy of clemency toward former German collaborators.

It is believed Spaak, a Socialist, would refuse to head a new government and that finance minister Gaston Ryssens, a leader of the Catholic party, might be named Premier.

Prince Charles, regent of Belgium, will consult with the various political leaders before asking one to form a government.

Grange Supports Flexible System

Portland, Me., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The National Grange convention today endorsed a system of flexible government price supports aimed at preventing future surpluses and shortages of farm products.

It took this action after defeating a proposal to continue indefinitely the present wartime support program of 90 per cent of parity.

Working to end its 10 day session by tonight, the Grange declined to take a stand on the controversial issue of compulsory health insurance.

The society announced yesterday it also discussed monopolistic practices in the film industry with Arnall. Arnall has had experience in anti-trust suits in actions against railroads.

Bunche Accepts Reply By Israel

Paris, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting Palestine mediator, said today he regarded Israel's reply to the U. N. order to withdraw from the Negev as indicating a willingness to comply with his order.

The Israeli reply, which was made public in Tel Aviv last night, was received at U. N. headquarters today.

The reply pointed out that the Nov. 4 Security Council order on the Negev desert area asked withdrawal only of troops which had advanced after Oct. 14.

Israel To Retain Negev Desert In Observing Truce

Not All Of Armed Forces To Leave Area Under UN Withdrawal Order

Tel Aviv, Israel, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Israel retained control of the Negev Desert today, the deadline set by the United Nations for withdrawal of troops to positions occupied before last month's fighting in the area.

After a lengthy cabinet session yesterday, Israel announced it would not order all its armed forces out of the Negev.

The government statement added, however, that all troops which entered the area after Oct. 14, had been withdrawn. This left only forces which the Jews said had been in the area since May '48.

The statement said this was in accord with the UN order. The Israeli view was that the UN specified that only forces which entered the southern area after Oct. 14 should be withdrawn.

The Security Council resolution of Nov. 4 ordered the withdrawal of forces to bring into effect a no-man's land in the Negev. Acting UN Mediator Ralph Bunche ordered withdrawal of troops to specified lines to create the demilitarized zone.

The Israeli government welcomed the Security Council decision to facilitate the transition from the truce to a permanent peace in the Holy Land by means of an armistice.

(Bunche said in Paris last night he had asked Israel and the Arab states to start negotiations for an armistice. He said he believed the interests of both parties would be best served by direct negotiations or wished to negotiate indirectly through him.)

The Israeli cabinet also offered to negotiate with UN truce commission observers on possible withdrawal of its forces in the southern coastal area which lies northwest of the Negev.

A UN source in Paris said Bunche would consider Israel had complied in principle with the council's order if by tomorrow she had appointed an officer to confer with the truce mission's chief of staff on the problem of withdrawal. There was no amplification of this statement.

Deny American ECA Official Was U.S. Spy

Vienna, Nov. 19.—(AP)—American authorities have denied reports that Irving Ross was engaged in espionage for the United States at the time of his slaying.

A local newspaper has said that the Economic Cooperation Administration official, who was slain in the Russian zone of Vienna Oct. 31, was engaged in some sort of "double espionage" which would make him suspect by both the Americans and Russians.

"Mr. Ross," the U.S. Army statement said, "was not engaged in any form of intelligence activity for the United States Army or any other United States government agency."

The statement quoted Austrian police reports as "indicating that the murderers were four men in Russian uniforms, that they were riding in a jeep and that one of the weapons employed was a Soviet military pistol. x x x"

Young Rulers Of Iran And Egypt Announce Divorces

Cairo, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The young rulers of Egypt and Iran have divorced the beautiful queens who bore no male heirs to the thrones.

This news came with stunning suddenness today in two communiques from Egypt's royal palace.

One communique proclaimed that "God's will" that the 10-year union of King Farouk and Queen Farida be dissolved.

The other statement said the Persian climate endangered the health of Empress Pahlavi, bride of Shah Reza Pahlavi of Iran and sister of Farouk, and that thus it was agreed that she be divorced.

Farouk, now 28, was married in January, 1938, before he ascended the throne. On his 17-year-old bride, Sazi Naz Sulikfar, he conferred the name of Farida, which means "Pearlless." She bore him three daughters.

Under Egyptian law, only male offspring of the king can inherit the throne.

The Shah took Pahlavi for his bride in March, 1939, when she was 17 and he was the heir to his throne. Farouk's sister, considered one of the world's most beautiful women, was proclaimed Empress of Iran Sept. 17, 1941. The couple have one daughter, now seven. The Shah is 29. Pahlavi just turned 27.

An official announcement in Tehran said the Shah and his empress were formally separated and divorced because of the empress' continued illness, which forced her return to Egypt.

First Cold Blast Of Winter Felt In West And Midwest

Kansas City, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The first solid blast of wintry weather—snow, wind and cold rain—plagued parts of the west and midwest today.

A storm, accompanied by gale-like winds, left a covering of snow from southwestern Minnesota down through southeastern South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas to the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Highway travel was hazardous in many sections. Bus schedules were disrupted and communications lines were down. Some schools were closed.

The storm center swung in from eastern Colorado Wednesday night, lingered over Kansas yesterday and was moving slowly northeastward today.

May Ask Recount Of Ohio Votes

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Numerous tabulation errors in the Nov. 2 election in Ohio—including one that unofficially credited Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York with 10,518 less votes than he received—officials in one county—may result in a state-wide recount by the legislature.

A state legal authority advised Gov. Thomas J. Herbert yesterday the legislature has the power to appoint a commission for the recount. The opinion came after widespread reports of voting errors in recounts.

Name A. H. Edens Next President Of Duke Univ.

Board Of Trustees Name Dr. Flowers Chancellor; Dr. Edens To Take Over Full-Time Duties After February First

Durham, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Arthur Hollis Edens was chosen the next president of Duke University at a special meeting of the board of trustees held on the Duke campus today. Dr. Edens is associate director of the General Education Board with offices in New York City.

The board also named as chancellor of Duke University Dr. Robert L. Flowers, who last January, at 77 requested relief from duties of presidency, after serving the institution more than 30 years. He became president in 1940 after the death of Dr. William Preston Few.

Elected vice-chancellor was Dr. William H. Wannamaker, who until this action was vice-president and dean of the university.

Dr. Edens plans to take over full-time duties of the Duke presidency "some time after Feb. 1," according to Willis Smith, chairman of the board. He will make his first public appearance on the Duke campus on Founder's Day, Dec. 11.

The new Duke president is 57 years old, stands six feet, two inches tall, and is a Southerner, born and reared in Tennessee.

Son of a Methodist minister, Dr. Edens was born at Willow Grove, in central Tennessee. He was graduated from Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., in the class of 1923. Dr. Edens' graduate study at Harvard University was in the field of government and public administration. His educational background also includes the bachelor of philosophy degree from Emory University, master's degree in history from Emory, 1938, and master's degree in public administration, Harvard University, 1941.

One of the South's most distinguished young educators, Dr. Edens has held some of the region's top educational posts, including dean of administration at Emory University and vice-chancellor of the University System of Georgia, which embraces, among 15 schools and colleges, the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Suchow Victory Has Eased Nanking Fears

Navy Unveils Its Fastest Fighter

Remove Secrecy From Plane That May Top Sonic Speed

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Navy thinks it has the fastest fighter in the world.

Its XP7U-1 "Outlaw" may be the first combat plane to fly faster than sound.

Secrecy wraps were pulled aside yesterday on the odd, tailless interceptor—shaped like an arrow head—with swept-back wings and twin jet engines.

The Outlaw climbed like a blown leaf, then turned and twisted with dazzling grace at a press showing at Patuxent, Md., air station.

While officially only in the "over 600 mile an hour" class, the Chance-Vought built craft is "capable of speeds in excess of current models of operational jets, land or carrier based," the navy said in its announcement.

The world's speed record of 670.98 miles an hour was hung up September 15 by the air force's F-86 fighter. The F-86 was not "full out" and is estimated to be capable of 700 miles per hour.

The navy made no predictions as to how much faster the Outlaw will go. But it clearly expects no difficulty in topping the F-86 at its best.

Gas Chamber Has Another Victim

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Deadly cyanide gas today snuffed the life of James (Pete) West, 20-year-old Duplin County Negro.

West, who was convicted last April of the robbery-murder of a 64-year-old, crippled filling station owner, died in the state's gas chamber 12 minutes after gas was released.

Prison Chaplain William H. R. Jackson said that West was baptized on death row yesterday, and as he walked from death row to the execution chamber this morning, other inmates sang the hymn, "Pass Me Not."

Quotes Truman Against Program

Hobbs, Ala., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Rep. Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala.) told a President Truman today that he believed in the civil rights program but needed it to bring about a Democratic victory.

Reports from Dunkerque said the situation was tense. The government may try to take over the port later in the day.

The strike broke dug in behind barricades of shipping crates, wine casks and paving stones.

Control Of The Ruhr

One Of The Toughest Issues To Be Settled By America, Britain And France; How Ruhr Is Important To All Europe; French Fears; Marshall Plan In Balance

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Ultimate control of the rich German Ruhr—industrial keystone of continental Europe—is providing one of the toughest issues to be settled by America, Britain and France.

Twice now the Ruhr, with its wealth of iron and coal, has been the arsenal of an aggressive Reich engaged in world war. The allies have sworn that never again shall Germany be able to utilize the treasure of the Ruhr in this manner.

However, the Ruhr is so important to the rest of Western Europe that its strength must again be able to write across the Rhinish sky the proud claim that here lies one of the greatest steel producing areas of the world. Europe can't recover economically while the Ruhr is important, and this means that the Marshall Plan also is dependent on it.

Not so long ago that problem seemed fairly simple. Just keep the Ruhr under rigid military control while the war damage is repaired and manufacturing is got under way.

Well, it isn't as easy as that. Germany must work the coal mines and the blast furnaces and you can't get full production from sullen workers. They must have inducements. So America and Britain have decided that one incentive would be eventual operation of the Ruhr by the Germans themselves—with proper military controls, of course.

But France, thrice overrun by German armies in seven decades, is insisting on international operation of the Ruhr. She is afraid to let Germany control an asset which is a potential war threat.

France's General Charles de Gaulle says the decision to turn the Ruhr mines and mills back into German hands is "the gravest decision made so far during the 20th century." He adds:

"England and America flatter themselves they can make something of the Reich to oppose Russia. Perhaps they can. But perhaps they can't. Hitler didn't have any difficulty in reaching an accord with Russia when he wanted to dominate it."

The church was decorated with bridal greenery consisting of huckleberry, oregan, plumosa fern, pondanus and shefferrill. Three tall standards of white gladioli and tube roses were arranged in front of the bridal greenery. The church was lighted by seven, nine and twelve branch candelabrum which were lighted behind the altar. Single

Tornado Skipped Through Town

Calhoun City, Miss., Nov. 19—(AP)—More than a score of persons were undergoing treatment today for injuries suffered last night when a tornado hop-scotted through Calhoun City.

The twister demolished 15 homes and damaged as many more as it struck the northern part of the town, rose and then dipped to whirl along a five to six mile stretch.

Chairman W. E. McGahey of the Calhoun City Chapter of the American Red Cross said the injured list will total "about 25 persons with only two or possibly three seriously injured."

THE CONVERSION OF MOORHOUSE
It was said of Henry Moorhouse, the English evangelist, that he moved Dwight L. Moody who in turn moved the world.

But Henry Moorhouse gave little promise in his youth of ever being a Christian. He was indubitably a prodigal; once he tried to poison himself; and the accounts of his youthful escapades are many and lurid.

One night, passing the Alhambra Circus in Manchester where Richard Weaver was preaching, Moorhouse heard a noise within and, thinking that a fight was going on, he rushed in, ready for the fray. As he entered he heard the arresting word "Jesus" uttered by the evangelist, and the word went as a bullet to his heart. All the wickedness of his life suddenly rose before his eyes like a vision, and for the first time he became aware of the fact that a different life was possible and that he might lay hold on such a life. He was suddenly and soundly converted, and from that time until his death many years later, he carried on a glorious service for God both in England and in America.

In Moorhouse, God laid his hand on one of the most unpromising men in the whole of England; yet the power of God's holy spirit in his heart made him a mighty worker in the vineyard of the Lord.

REAL CHRISTMAS JOY
As Christmas approaches each of us would like to feel that we have done something to add to another's happiness at this season.

The joy that Christmas normally brings is not complete unless we have that inner satisfaction that comes with knowing we have made a contribution to the welfare of others, that we have overlooked no little thing that might make this Christmas a better Christmas.

Each person may know of some special thing he can do to make Christmas happier for another. For one person, it may be buying a doll for a neglected child. For another, it may be sending a basket of fruit to an invalid. But, regardless of what we may do for individuals, there is one thing all of us can do for everyone in the community, including ourselves.

We can all buy and use Christmas Seals.

Christmas Seals have become an American tradition. They have become a tradition because they are a symbol of an important piece of work that has been carried on in this country for forty-four years.

That work is the nationwide campaign against tuberculosis inaugurated in 1904 by the National Tuberculosis Association and continued without interruption by the Association and its increasing number of affiliates in every state. One of these affiliates is the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association which, in close cooperation with the health department, is waging an effective battle to eradicate tuberculosis in our community.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN HIGGINS
—An early morning visit to Governor-elect Kerr Scott's office in the Carolina Hotel found the new governor and his secretary, Miss Myrtha Fleming, digging into accumulated correspondence. Large part of the mail had to do with invitations to speak and Scott was accepting some but noting on others that he had previous appointment for the time. Your reporter thought he saw an opening and got in something like this: "I hear you talking about appointments. Are these for speaking engagements or for jobs with the state?" Governor Scott looked up through the cigar smoke and said: "Yes."

SPEECHES—Scott has accepted several invitations to speak before groups whose ideas of governmental policy differ from his own. In most such cases he responds to the invitation with warning "and it will make his own speech." He will not be what you want to hear. Notable examples were his appearance before the commercial secretaries at Sylva some time ago and before the state forestry association in Raleigh this week. He ripped into both for what he charged has been their failure to do anything constructive for the little farmers and landowners. His immediate audience weren't too well pleased, but subsequent mail left no doubt in Scott's mind that he was talking to suit the average citizenship of the state.

PROGRAM—The Scott Inaugural address is being awaited with much greater interest than usual. Questions asked at budget commission hearings, speeches made during the campaign and since his election indicate he is not backing up from his primary campaign positions. At least not much. Close observers detect less enthusiasm on his part for some extreme items since he has gotten a more complete picture of all state functions and obligations through budget hearings. At the same time, no one who knows him expects his proposed legislative program to vary widely from his primary and general election campaign attitude.

APPOINTMENTS—The governor does not appoint his "cabinet," since members of the council of state are elected by the people, but with respect to many other appointments Governor Scott is in very much the same situation as President Truman. The President said the other day it looked like everybody had the cabinet fixed up except the President. Capitol square gossip and newspaper speculation have had this, that and the other man in high appointive position. Scott's answer to the question of how he was getting along with his personnel appointment list was typically cryptic. He said he had eliminated a lot of names and had built up a sizeable eligibility list, but had made only one or two positive selections.

SIMILARITY—Opinion hereabouts is that the new President and the new governor have one other common ground. They are a lot surer about who will be replaced than about who will replace them. Since the two executives have so many similar traits, it is anticipated among capitol square observers that both will spring surprises and that final appointments in many instances will be persons who have not been figured in the speculation, very probably persons who have not heretofore taken active part in governmental administration.

HANDS-OFF—Scott's record as commissioner of agriculture and his avowed present attitude justifies conclusion he will maintain a hands-off policy with respect to departmental and legislative personnel. He probably will be consulted by employees and legislative committee chairmen. But he has indicated that he has enough headaches with his own special responsibilities without attempting to do the job of the presiding officers in the General Assembly or the men who head the various state departments and agencies. Capus Wayne, party chairman, is also maintaining a hands-off policy with respect to appointments. He says his job was finished when the Democratic ticket won in November and attention now should be given to the next election, leaving the officials to handle their present jobs.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
Asbury Park, N. J.—(AP)—An elderly retired Wall Street broker is the big wheel in a one-man campaign to teach the nation how to roller skate.

And the goal of wealthy Perry B. Rawson is to create 20,000 new skating fans. He is probably the only man in the world who owns two private rinks for his own use. "Roller skating has become the number one participation sport in America," he said. "More than 17,000,000 people follow it."

"But only about 5 per cent are really skaters—the rest are just scooters."

A "Scooter" to Rawson is a skater who careers around a rink, teetering and tottering, at the peril of his own limbs and the safety of other fans.

Back in 1932 Rawson, who had seen the 1920 stock market crash coming and wheathered it, retired from business with his fortune intact. He decided to devote his entire time to skating—a lifelong hobby.

"I had spent thousands of dollars here and abroad with professional teachers," he said, "and I decided most of it was wasted. So I set out to find the right way to skate."

He built a large rink on his 200-acre estate here on the Jersey shore and a smaller one on his summer place at Manchester, N. H. He turned the rinks into skating laboratories.

"We made hundreds of experiments," said Rawson, a slender white-haired man of 65, who has a boy's vitality. "We went at it the same way the men did who built the atom bomb. We sought the truth."

He developed several contrivances that have a Rubik Goldberg look but enable him now to teach the average beginner the principles of skating in a single hour.

"I found that most skaters weren't really skating—they were walking. All wrong. Skating is entirely another matter. When you walk, you balance on either the heel or toe in skating you balance on the center of the foot."

Rawson said he also discovered that many states were too rigid, and he advocates a flexible skate that will give with the weight and follow the turn of the body.

Currently Rawson, whose researches were made entirely at his own expense, is trying to get the 4,000 rink owners in the United States to adopt his system of teaching skating, which is entirely free.

An amateur himself, he has taught thousands of would-be professional instructors here in the last ten years. He also has distributed at cost 400,000 copies of four books he has written on plain skating and skate dancing—at which he is an expert.

"The Rawson scouts are 5,000 strong—all over the country," he said with a note of pride. "They are seeking after the truth."

In the eyes of the small ex-broker, who has spent scores of thousands of dollars on his hobby, proper skating is a higher serious goal. He has the boundless energy and zeal of any crusader.

"I want to prevent fear, falls and fatigue," he said. "I want to make skating safe and put it on the map."

"My biggest pleasure in life now is to see beginners change their style and get real joy out of skating. It's been much more fun to me than business ever was."

And then a gleam lit Rawson's eyes: "But we've got a tremendous field

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE HARRIS
Washington—Ate one of the best turkey dinners I've ever eaten the other day.

CARE, non-profit organization of 26 relief, religious and labor organizations, which provides "the best possible" packages of food and clothing to send to the needy in Europe and the Orient, was introducing a new one. Several of us newspaper women were sampling the contents of the holiday package which the agency has prepared "to give Europeans a little, extra spiritual lift—a respite from the scant monotonous diet on which they have lived so long."

Sampling the turkey and trimmings with members of press and radio was the Marquess of Milford Haven. He expressed the thanks of the British people for CARE packages in general and their pleasure at the prospect of a Yuletide turkey dinner. The Marquess, whose squire of Princess Margaret Rose and U. S. Ambassador Douglas Sharrman, has been the talk of London, is in this country on a business trip.

Between courses the slender, 29-year-old Britisher explained that many American tourists get the wrong idea about British food allusions. "They fail to realize how terribly limited the variety of food is, and how the poorer feel the pinch and the monotony," he said. "Having a turkey will be wonderful for families who haven't had a Christmas dinner of this kind for years."

In assembling the holiday package, Paul Comly French, executive director of the government-approved agency, explained CARE's greatest problem was finding a turkey small enough to be canned whole. This problem was solved by using

His 'Hot Dogs' Were Too Real

Porto Alegre, Brazil—(AP)—Alexander Lau, a carpenter, was arrested here under charge of selling "hot dogs" with real dog meat.

Lau told the police "I used to kill dogs to meet the shortage of meat and feed my family." He explained that he got the idea when he saw a man on the street advertising "hot dogs." He thought it would be a good business and started it with real dog meat.

The police released Lau as there is no law in Brazil to punish such cases.

Mr. French said that orders can be taken at local CARE offices up to Dec. 15. Since grain crops were good this year, CARE has cut down on its flour, he said. "More meat, fat sugar and preserves have been added to the box and in all there's $150 worth more groceries in the new package, although the price —$10—remains the same."

The porcupine is America's second largest rodent, next in size to the beaver.

Probe 'Manipulations' In Surplus Property Deals

Raleigh, Nov. 18—(AP)—"Manipulations in surplus property" at the Camp Butner Hospital by three temporary state employees has cost the state funds running in "five figures," says the News and Observer.

State Auditor Henry Bridges said an investigation by his office of two men has been under way for three months but is not complete. He added that he could not disclose any more about the matter until more information is gathered. "Information obtained piecemeal from state officials familiar with the story," the News and Observer declared, "indicated the total realized at the expense of the state would run into five figures."

One of the three men, a former resident of Chapel Hill, made an estimated $15,000 before his operations were detected. "Two others, hired to handle the sale of abandoned army buildings on the hospital area, cleared approximately $1,100 on a single building and the equipment it contained," it was reported.

The newspaper said the case "has been discussed with the Durham County Grand Jury and is scheduled to go before Durham Superior Court in February."

Fewer Farmers Producing More

Raleigh, Nov. 18—During the recent political campaign Kerr Scott repeatedly quoted figures showing that fewer workers are required each year to produce the food and fiber needed for all the people. Not so many years ago it required efforts of 82 per cent of the population to produce raw materials necessary to feed and clothe themselves and the other 18 per cent. Now it requires only 28 per cent to produce enough for themselves and the other 72 per cent.

He added that information obtained through agricultural research combines with improved farm practices might within a short time reduce this ratio to an approximate 10-90 per cent basis.

Statistics made public this week by the government crop reporting service show that throughout the nation, and particularly in North Carolina, production per acre this year is from ten to fifty percent above average for the past decade for major crops. These reports dealt with production per acre and did not cover the increased personal labor required by reason of mechanization. It requires only the most casual observation, however, to realize that while the acre was producing more it was also demanding less man and horse power to do the job. Machinery has taken over a lot of the work, and will take more as new labor-saving devices are perfected.

Dr. Messick To Be Radio Guest

President John D. Messick of East Carolina Teachers College will be the guest of the Teachers Playhouse, college dramatic club, on their radio broadcast "Once Upon a Time" next Monday afternoon, November 22. The program, scheduled for 5:30, will be one of a series of story hours for children now being given three times each week over WGTC, local station, by the college drama students. Dr. Messick will read a Thanksgiving story for children.

Virgil Clark, Greenville student, will be announcer on next Monday's program and will introduce Dr. Messick to his radio audience.

Miss Gene Tierney, and Richard Waring, starring in the radio production of The Enchanted Cottage, have a final script conference with Walter Hampden, host on the program GREAT SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS, presented by the Protestant Episcopal Church over a coast to coast Mutual and Independent network. The Episcopal programs go on the air each Friday evening at eight, eastern standard time, each offering a fine dramatic presentation, with an important brief message from the Church to people who have no regular Church affiliation.

"Love Conquers All" is brought to the radio by the Protestant Episcopal families in this community tonight, over the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Predict Ban On Showing Of Sex Movies In Angier

Angier, N.C., Nov. 18—(AP)—Wednesday night's near riot at an Angier theater brought a prediction today of a town ban against the showing of sex movies here.

Dr. S. Glenn Wilson, the mayor, said the city council would adopt an ordinance outlawing such films. A crowd jammed the theater showing a sex education movie, blocking the entrance and the exits.

After the crowd ignored repeated pleas to clear the passageway, firemen played a hose on the spectators. A fight started when several of the spectators attacked the firemen. Order was restored after five State Highway patrolmen reinforced local police.

Tar Heel Elks In Two-Day Meet

Winston-Salem, N.C., Nov. 18—(AP)—The North Carolina Elks Association opened a two day meeting here today in celebration of the Golden Jubilee of Winston-Salem Lodge No. 449.

A luncheon business session was followed by a tour of industrial plants. Secretary of State Thad Eure, past president, will deliver the principal address at a dinner tonight.

Twin Problem

Leeds, Eng., Nov. 18—(AP)—Mrs. Doris Leake, an 18-month-old twin son under each arm, dashed to the hospital.

One of them, she said, had swallowed the wheel of a toy car. She didn't know which, but she couldn't find the wheel.

Doctors did what doctors do and informed Mrs. Leake that neither Ian nor Paul had a wheel in his innards. They thought perhaps "Topper," the twins' puppy, might be having a stomach ache later today.

PONTIAC

A Product of General Motors

Above everything else... a good car!

Pontiac has one manufacturing principle which takes precedence over all others: Pontiac must always be a good car!

There is no other motor car quality which people value so much as goodness. That's why Pontiac engineers and production specialists spend so much time and energy and money to insure Pontiac quality. Pontiac cars must last long—and they must last well—and they must function through the years with a minimum of upkeep cost.

General Motors Hydro-Matic Drive and White Sidewall Tires and Bumper Guards optional at additional cost.*

Owners have been quick to appreciate this. Some of the testimonials they send to the factory, and to Pontiac dealers, tell of performance facts that seem almost impossible of attainment.

Pontiac has many other outstanding virtues, of course. It is a wonderful performer. It is delightfully comfortable and easy to handle. It is a great beauty, and unusually distinctive in appearance.

But its greatest virtue is goodness. This year, or any year, you just can't beat it for faithful performance.

Pirates Poised For Final Clash With Bulldogs Here

Traditional Rivals Have Been Pointing For This Game All Season; Annual Battle Starts In Guy Smith Stadium At Eight O'Clock

By EUGENE PRICE
The Buccaneers of East Carolina Teachers college and the Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian pose today for their final game of the season. The two squads clash in Greenville tonight in the annual battle for the Bohunk Bucket.

Officials here are anticipating a crowd of some 3,000 fans to witness the affair slated to begin in Guy Smith Stadium at eight o'clock. Adequate seating arrangements for the visiting ACC fans have been made.

Both squads wound up preparatory drills yesterday and the Bulldogs are expected to arrive in Greenville this afternoon. The two traditional rivals have been pointing for the game all season. They both enter the game without a single conference victory to their credit.

The words the Bucs heard from Coach Jim Johnson yesterday might well apply to either team. The ECTC mentor told his boys: "We've had a rugged season. We haven't won a game. This is our last. If we win, all the rest will be forgotten."

The Pirates coach said earlier this week that there isn't enough difference in the power of the two teams to make any difference. "The team wanting most to win will come out on top," he said.

"He would make no further prediction except that 'We are going to give Coach Spangler and his boys a tough time of it when they try to win our Bohunk Bucket.' Of the cherished trophy, Johnson said: "There's a lot of sentiment tied up in that old oaken bucket. My boys don't intend to part with it."

Over at Wilson, the Bulldogs have anticipated a determined ECTC foe and have practiced accordingly. The Bulldogs will be fighting not only for the coveted bucket and tradition but to keep out of the North State

"They ought to bar Steve Van Buren from playing for one half," says Steve Owen, the New York Giants' burly football coach, "to even things up when the Philadelphia Eagles are playing any other team in the league. Why, that Van Buren will go an extra six or seven yards after he has been tackled. If he can't run around defenders, he simply runs over 'em."

"And the Philadelphia team that Coach Greasy Neale has put together rates with the best I have ever seen in pro football," Owen continues. "The Eagles can run the ball and they can pass. Their line is at its peak, on offense and defense. It's a great ball club."

Tie For Elon

High Point, N. C. Nov. 19—(P)—Elon College came from behind twice to manage a 12-12 tie with favored High Point in a North State conference football game here last night.

An 85-yard pass play in the final period pulled Elon even with the host club in a game which saw a touchdown in every period—but nary an extra point.

Michigan State Back To 'Retire'

East Lansing, Mich. Nov. 19—(P)—George Guerre, star Michigan State halfback, turned his back on college football today—effective after tomorrow's Washington State game.

The Spartans' ace runner for three years called it quits despite his chance for another season's eligibility.

conference cellar as well. Both teams are expected to use every trick in the book to win the game. Coach Johnson has had his Bucs in secret practice all week.

Bill Herring Will Not Be Back On Goldsboro Team

Goldsboro, N. C. Nov. 19—(P)—W. A. (Bill) Herring, who managed Goldsboro in the class D Coastal Plains League for the past three seasons, definitely will not be back in the league next year. The Goldsboro News-Army learned today on good authority.

Since Herring's name was sent into the National Association of office on the Goldsboro reserve list, he cannot be released before the association meeting in Minneapolis. However, Goldsboro president C. Ed Worley has indicated that the local club will release Herring if he wishes.

A report circulated here is that Herring has agreed to terms as manager of a team in the class B Southeastern league. Herring said that he had asked for his release here but was not at liberty to state his future plans.

Santa Clara Is Invited To Play Deacs In Bowl

Santa Clara, Calif. Nov. 19—(AP)—Santa Clara's Broncos have been invited to meet Wake Forest in the Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., New Year's Day, Coach Len Cassanova said today.

The Santa Clara athletic board voted not to act on the bid until after the last football game of the regular season Nov. 27 against Michigan State in San Francisco.

Santa Clara has won seven out of nine games this fall, losing only to California and Southern Methodist.

Cassanova said he was not sure whether the invitation to the Dixie Bowl was contingent on the Broncos' defeating Michigan State.

Tonight's Games in the North-eastern Conference
Greenville at Washington
Roanoke Rapids at Tarboro
Edenton at Kinston
North State
ACC vs ECTC at Greenville

The Greenville Phantoms who are suffering from a slew of injuries journey to Washington to play the highly-favored Pamphack. Washington is standing third in conference play next to Edenton, 2nd, and Kinston 1st. The Phantoms come first after the last place Tarboro Tars. With the absence of Bobby Fleming who has been the big gun in the Phantoms forward wall, the Pamphack will have little trouble. Washington by 4 touchdowns or more.

Coach Danny Cagel and his Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets will have little trouble ending up the season with a victory as they invade the Tarboro Tars. Coach Shot Cox of Tarboro stated a few days ago he was going to win a game if he had to play the Men's Ward at the hospital this year. Well, call up the doc, coach and arrange the game because I'm afraid you will still be seeking a victory after this game. Roanoke Rapids by 20 points.

The Champion Kinston Eagles play host to the Edenton Aces in the top game of conference play tonight. Kinston who is undefeated will be battling to keep that record. Edenton has lost only one game and tied one. Led by Halfback Russell Wheeler the Aces will be out to top the champs. They have worked harder this week than the have the whole year, but they should have started earlier. Kinston over Edenton by 18 points.

There were tears and sorrow all over the ACC campus yesterday afternoon when it was learned that Harry Helmer, the Bulldogs' ace passer, might not be able to see any action in the game tonight with ECTC. Harry, who was already suffering from a bruised ankle, got hurt again in a scrimmage Tuesday, so says the ACC officials. But what would an injured man be doing in a scrimmage? Yes, we know that he wasn't able to run last Saturday night at Rocky Mount, all he could do was to pass. Yes, that's all we agree, but he only completed 14 out of 19 aerials he threw, which was only good for 215 yards. Not bad for an injured player. It may be true, Helmer might not be able to play, but he has something wrong with him beside a hurt foot. If he only has a hurt foot, he will be in their throwing passes if two other players have to hold him up. Experts give ACC the slight edge in the game but I'll say it's a toss-up.

Just before Coach Johnson turned his Pirates loose from yesterday's practice. He called them all together and said, "Boys, this is your last day's practice this year, and tomorrow night is the last game of the season. You have come through the season without a victory. Win this one tomorrow night, and all the rest will be forgotten. You can do it, I know you can."

The sound of the voices told us then that the Pirates are going to play their best game of the year tonight at Guy Smith Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Joe Pollitt, Pirates' first string center, will be able to see limited action in tonight's game with ACC. The doctor told Joe at first that he might be through for the season, but after a second check-up he said he was able to see action tonight.

Another warning to the motorists who plan to take in the Carolina-Duke game — "Please drive carefully and pack your own lunch. Be careful when you stop along the roads, make sure you are out of traffic."

What do I think will be the outcome of the Duke-Carolina game? Carolina 21, Duke 0, or Duke 6 Carolina 0. Picking Carolina.

Bob Grieve, Syracuse University track and cross-country coach, is former sprint king of the Western Conference.

Southern Conference Will Have 'Quality' Schedule

Richmond, Va., Nov. 19—(P)—Intra-conference squabbles will be short on quantity but long on quality tomorrow on the Southern conference football front.

Just two tussles between circuit foes are on the card.

The headliner, of course, will be the traditional family affair between North Carolina's Tar Heels and the Duke Devils before an estimated 44,000 fans at Chapel Hill.

Bob Kennedy, reserve fullback until recently, is due to get the starting call at wingback for Carolina, which will be protecting its chances for a post-season bowl bid against the dangerous Blue Devils. The Tar Heels rule two-touchdown favorites, but will be battling up against what Carolina scouts term the best line they've had to face all season.

North Carolina State's visit to William and Mary provides the other half of the Intra-Circuit card. Injuries may play a key role in this one. Williams and Mary, a one-touchdown choice, has been weakened by the loss of injury of halfbacks Buddy Lex and Henry Blance. The Wolfpack, boasting one of the South's finest lines, will be without the services of guard Ralph Burnett and tackle Fred Beaver as well as wingback Gordon Goodman.

Six other conference evenings get into action tomorrow against outside opposition. Two major tests for conference evenings are on the schedule. Maryland meets Vanderbilt and Clemson, regarded now as a shoe-in for the conference title, tangles with Duquesne at Home-

Columbus Ready For Grid Tussle

Columbus, O. Nov. 19—(P)—Columbus began to close down today for the Michigan game.

From now until midnight Saturday, only people like trolly bus drivers, milkmen, cops, and valve spinners at the water works will be doing any serious work. Their minds won't be on what they're doing.

Today is Chic Harley Day, in honor of the back who put Ohio State University into big time-football back in the teens. Tomorrow's the game.

Tomorrow night either 13,500 headaches go back to Ann Arbor with a University of Michigan team defeated in a terrific upset, or 500,000 headaches stay around here with a beaten band of buskeys. There would be a fading scent of Pasadena roses around the latter.

Early this week weatherman Geo. Minding scared people by saying it might rain Saturday, but now the outlook is for fair and colder weather. That would be just about right for the 81,000 to 85,000 expected to shoehorn their way into the big Stadium.

The 13,500 Michigan rooters are already starting to get here by train, bus, car, airplane, and pogo stick. While Columbus citizens could fill up the Stadium themselves if they could get all the tickets, the roads are also getting full of incoming Buckeye backers.

In 26 contests, Stanford has notched 17 wins over Santa Clara. The Broncos have won eight.

The Villanova 1947-48 basketball team, composed entirely of sophomores.

The Dancing Heart

BY EMILY NOBLE

Chapter 20

Rex reached past her and caught Joe's brown hand. "Come in, come in. I'd recognize you anywhere. You must be Smokey Joe. You couldn't be anyone else, since Rosalie told me she was waiting for you."

"Waiting for me?"

Rex patted his arm jovially. "Why not? Aren't you her hero? Come sit down and tell me all about it. I came back from San Francisco just to hear. And to meet you, of course."

"Meet me?"

Joe was utterly bewildered, as well he might be under the circumstances.

Rosalie closed the door quietly and went back to her breakfast. She was shaking with annoyance but she managed to keep her voice steady.

"You'll excuse me while I eat; you two want to talk anyway."

Joe swallowed a lump in his throat. "But, Rosalie, I came—"

"I forgot. Meet Rex here. He is my business agent. Any arrangements for more publicity have to go through him."

"Publicity? Do-do you think I arranged that?"

"Didn't you? Too bad. As one of our smartest theatrical agents Rex could probably arrange other little jobs for you."

The bell rang again. Rex dashed to the door. Rosalie's hand shook as she poured and then held out the cup. Joe took it humbly.

"I know I'm butting in on—"

"Not at all. Everyone comes here."

Rex led Wayne in cordially. "Darling, this is your at home. Wasn't Wayne quick at getting your address? I knew he would be. I'll get another cup. Nothing like coffee after a long plane trip."

Rosalie held out her hand. "What brings you all the way back here, Wayne? Didn't Winnie come with you?"

"She doesn't know I'm here."

"You know Joe, I think."

Wayne smiled and held out his hand. "I want to thank you for what you did for Rosalie. It was very brave among those drunken savages. No one can call them anything else."

Joe squared his shoulders. "I came to talk to Rosalie, and now by God I'm going to talk to her."

"Do you really call her Rosalie?"

"Yes. Joe faced him squarely. "I'm not fooling around any more. I wish you two weren't here now but I'm not going to let you stop me. I came to ask Rosalie to marry me."

"I have already done so, gentlemen," cried Rex lightly.

"And I," said Wayne in his deep solid voice. "I am here to do so again now I mean it so much more than I did then."

The girl stood up slowly, steadying herself with a hand on the back of her chair. She was breathing deeply but otherwise seemed quite calm under this strange triple proposal. Her voice was cool enough to surprise herself.

"Aren't all three of you being a little demanding about all this?"

Rex found his voice first again.

"I'm sorry, darling. We are all sorry, I'm sure. But you see you have a problem on your hands. You can marry Wayne and be rich in California. You can marry Joe and go back to your old neighborhood. You can marry me and go on with your dancing career. I think I'm putting it fairly."

Rosalie asked: "Will you let me go on dancing, Wayne?"

"I'm going to take you away from all this. It's worse than the shanty
Irish. You can't go on this way.
It isn't decent."

She turned. "And you, Joe?"

"You'll always dance in my heart."

Tar River Dam Is Ineffective On First Test

Oxford, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A $15,000 dam has been found ineffective in its first test.

The steel and concrete dam across the Tar River at nearby Providence was completed last month. It was intended to increase the raw water reserve for the town of Oxford.

Last week's heavy rains, the first weather test of the dam, caused the swollen river to cut a new path around the dam last Tuesday.

R. D. Currin, Oxford water works superintendent, said an addition would be made in an effort to have the dam impound water to five feet.

The Tar River rises from springs a few miles from Providence.

Britain Urges That UN Adopt Bernadotte Plan

Paris, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Britain asked the United Nations today to adopt Count Folke Bernadotte's plan to end the Palestine war.

Ector McNeill, Britain's chief delegate, told the 56-nation Political Committee that he would submit a resolution shortly along the lines of the slain mediator's recommendations. He urged the assembly to support it.

The endorsement of the plan was the first in the committee by any major U. N. member.

The United States has not yet told the Political Committee its position on the Bernadotte plan.

Pitt Polio Group Organizes; Plan Doubling Effort

At a dinner meeting held Wednesday evening at the Airport Inn, members of the Pitt County Infantile Paralysis Fund Committee organized for the purpose of raising funds to help in fighting the spread of the dread disease.

Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina Teachers college called the business session to order and addressed the group on the need of redoubling efforts this year because of the more than doubled request for funds over last year, due to the epidemic of polio during the past summer, and because the conditions which caused that record-breaking epidemic are still in existence, and another such epidemic could be possible. The dean told the group that this year more than $11,000 is being requested from Pitt County and that, in order to secure the sum, all of the people of Pitt County will be given an opportunity to assist.

John Overton, treasurer of the Pitt County Fund, stressed the necessity of pulling together and helping to wipe out this worst of all diseases, and that if the present ratio of expenditures is continued the County Fund will be up the "red" before this year is over. For one case alone the fund expended $2,000, and 24 other infantile paralysis cases in Pitt County have been treated with the aid of this fund during the past eighteen months.

Dr. Marshall of East Carolina Teachers college and director of the drive at the college then spoke briefly to the group on the publicity to be employed in order to let the people know how the fund operates and the benefits to be derived from the fund.

Among those present at the organizational meeting were W. O. Latham, superintendent of schools at Bethel; Mrs. W. C. Latham of Bethel; E. Faust Johnson of Ayden; Mrs. Herman Baker of Fountain; A. F. Tyson of Grimesland; Paul J. Clark of Winterville; Carl Connor editor of the Teco Echo at East Carolina Teachers college; Jack Hedgepeth, student director of the Infantile Paralysis Fund Drive at East Carolina Teachers college; and Frank Toothman, representing the Jarvis Forensic Club, which organization will furnish talented speakers throughout the county upon request of the various local organizations.

State Employees Promised Fight

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Mason E. Swearingin, chairman of the North Carolina State Employees Association, yesterday promised a bang-up fight in the 1949 General Assembly to see that state employees are placed on a salary par with private industry.

In an interview here, he said that a state-wide campaign to acquaint Tar Heels with the salary needs of their state services is being opened immediately.

"About the only thing that isn't exactly settled," he said, "is the amount of salary increase that will be sought for the employees."

"A meeting of the board of Governors of our organization," he continued, "is set for Raleigh in December and at that time we hope to have all the statistical data before us so that we can arrive at a definite figure."

"That will give us plenty of time before the opening of the general assembly in January to really get people acquainted with the goals we will seek in the legislature," he declared.

He said, however, that his organization would not wait until the board of governors' meeting in December to get into the fight for higher salaries.

Control Of . . .

Europe.
That's a disturbing thought, and knowing France very well I should say the average Frenchman would agree largely with De Gaulle. They haven't forgotten how Hitler tore up the Versailles treaty in 1936 and the goose-stepped his troops into the Rhineland. Then came World War II.

There is no difference of opinion among the three Western Allies over the need of absolute security against further German aggression. The split comes over this matter of putting the Ruhr resources back under German ownership as an expedient to inspire greater efforts towards recovery.

How Should He . . .

the party says?
In actual practice most Congressmen—I guess all—at one time or another do all three things mentioned above, depending on the issue in each case.

The political science Association says:
"Where conflicts of interest arise between his district or state, his party and the country as a whole, he must remember that his primary obligation is to the general welfare."

Where conflicts of interest arise between his district or state, his party and the country as a whole, he must remember that his primary obligation is to the general welfare."

Colored News

An estimate of 325 4-H boys and girls, local leaders and farm families met at Post Oak school for the third annual Dairy Show and Achievement Day to let the 4-H Club members throughout the community show what they are doing. Present, Matthew Lewis and his staff of teachers let the club members have charge of the program. This was done with the watchful eye and a nod of the head by the teachers to keep them straight. The exhibits were fine, which consisted of produce grown by the farmers and 4-H members.

The dairy show was an improvement over last year. Each year one can see improvement. Blue ribbon was won in the dairy show by Columbus Ward, red ribbon by Willie Little, white ribbon by Walter Jones, Robert Hooks and Columbus Ward.

Those were some happy boys as they led their cows and calves from the show ring with colors flying. These calves were judged by Mr. W. L. Wynn, Negro Dairy Extension Specialist. For three years Professor Lewis at the Post Oak school has been giving strict attention to specific programs to 4-H Club members and this one along with other programs was a decided success. As the results Mr. Sam Hemby Jr., principal of the Glenora School, who was present, decided before he left the grounds that he must have a dairy show along with his Achievement Day the 18th of November. Mr. D. H. Conley was a visitor. Appearing on the program were Professor H. B. Sugg and Messrs. Oliver Carter and R. L. Wynn. Professor Lewis and his teachers spared no pains in making it a great day. When one visited the exhibit room he or she were reminded of a county fair when they looked on the grounds at the fine cattle they were reminded of more milk. A live at home dinner was served cafeteria style which was enjoyed by all. Post Oak school is beautifully located in the Stokes community, the building and grounds are well kept. Professor Lewis, his teachers, Madam Lewis, Simpson and Williams, are doing great work in the Stokes community. Their motto is building as they climb.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Buying interest in stocks sharpened today after an indecisive opening. A brisk rally just before midday left the market with gains of fractions to around 2 points.

Traders seemed to be paying a little more attention to favorable corporate news, of which there was, again plenty. Operations, though, were mainly professional.

National Steel ran up briskly following news of an extra cash dividend plus a stock disbursement. The stock moved ahead around 3 points in a few minutes.
