Tentative Pact In Maritime Strikes

Negotiators On Both Pacific And Atlantic Coasts Announce Settlement Terms; Agreements To Be Ratified By Union Votes

San Francisco, Nov. 26—(AP)—Terms for settling waterfront strikes on East and West Coasts today cleared the decks for early resumption of normal American shipping.

Negotiators in the 86-day CIO longshore strike on the Pacific Coast announced settlement terms last night.

Both tentative agreements must be ratified by the union memberships before some 115 strike-bound ships put to sea.

On the Pacific Coast four other unions are involved in the strike, but the longshore terms are considered the key to peace.

Final settlement would return $2,000 to maritime jobs and many thousands more to work in other industries halted or curtailed by the strike.

It would release some $30,000,000 of Marshall Plan cargo in eastern docks and restore business running into the millions of dollars.

The Pacific tieup, second longest in history, has cost by estimate of the Pacific American shipowners about $44,000,000 a day in the closing days of the war.

The negotiators agreement boosts the western longshore basic wage by 15 cents to $1.82 an hour, which was the amount the union was asking when it struck Sept. 2.

The AFL union officers tentatively agreed on a 13 cent hike retroactive to Aug. 21 to bring the eastern daytime basic scale to $1.88 an hour.

The 65,000 AFL union members vote Saturday on the terms. The union's previous demand was 25 cents above the prestrike $1.75 hourly daytime rate.

Waterfront observers predicted union ratification of the Pacific agreement but believed that if no hitches developed it would be about a week before dock work resumes on the 265 idled ships.

The Pacific Coast Waterfront Employers Association carried provisions for a three-year contract, to be operated under a peace plan underwritten by the national CIO on one side and the San Francisco Employers' Council on the other.

Nazi-Franco And Soviet Deals To Be Bared In Full

Publication By U. S., Britain And France May Provoke Moscow Outburst

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France are planning to publish new facts about Spain and Russia's secret negotiations with Nazi Germany, it was disclosed today.

Details of the pre-war Hitler-Stalin deal to divide Poland will be bared for the first time in two separate 1000-page volumes now under preparation.

Evidence of German, Italian and Russian intervention in the Spanish civil war will feature a third volume dealing with Franco's relations with Hitler from 1936 to 1939.

Diplomatic officials told a reporter the State Department, in cooperation with the British and French foreign offices, plans to start publishing these three documents early next year.

They will be but three of the 25 volumes now being prepared by historians of the three countries from German records captured by American First Army troops in the closing days of the war.

Soviet Russia's relations with Germany will not be dealt with in separate volumes but will be included in two volumes telling of general Nazi foreign policy prior to the outbreak of war in September 1939.

This may be due to a desire to avoid further disturbing the touchy relations with Russia. Moscow bitterly denounced the State Department early this year after it published part of the record of Soviet-German negotiations as revealed in the Nazi documents.

A government official working on the project said, however, the two new volumes being edited now will contain "twice as much detail" on this subject as the earlier State Department volume which ran 362 pages. This fact alone may provoke a ne outburst from Moscow.

Over Billion Dollars Set Aside In Parity Program

Bulk Of Money Distributed As Loans On Storable Products; Amount May Reach $1,750,000,000 By Season's End

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—The government has put out—or set aside—over $1,000,000,000 to help farmers keep their prices up on this year's record harvest.

This outlay, under the price supports program, may reach $1,750,000,000 before the 1948 crop marketing season ends, a survey showed today.

The bulk of the money has been distributed as loans on storable products, particularly grains and cotton. Whether the government gets its money back on these loans depends on future market prices.

Farmers have the option of (a) paying off this debt and reclaiming their mortgaged products, or (b) turning the products over to the government as full payment of the loan if prices do not rise above the support levels before the loans are called.

And whether the government loses money on products it takes over under loans also depends on future price developments. As a matter of fact, the government made money on products taken over before the war. They were sold at inflated war prices.

Loans are limited largely to non-perishable products. In the case of perishable items, the government buys the surplus outright and tries to dispose of it at home and abroad.

Cotton tops all products in price support outlays. The government has put out about $385,000,000 in loans on 2,294,000 bales from this year's bumper crop of about 15,150,000 bales.

The potato support operations, however, have attracted widest attention. The government has bought about 65,500,000 bushels at a cost of about 90,000,000. It has spent an additional $10,000,000 transporting them to public institutions to schools for lunch programs, to stables and flour mills, alcohol plants and to livestock feeders.

About 153,117 bushels of sweet potatoes have been bought at a cost of $23,748. These probably will be contributed also to the school lunch program and public institutions.

Actual Congressional procedure was followed throughout by the young legislators who debated proposed bills, entertained special orders to change the house and senate calendars, distributed mimeographed copies of all bills to members of each chamber, and debated issues which have become vital to the United States' domestic and international policies.

President in the Senate was Fredrick Brooks of Greenville, with Sam Whipper, also of Greenville, as speaker of the House. Over 30 Greenville high school students sat as members of the House and the Senate along with students from Johnson City, Tennessee; Wilson, Winterville, Bethel and Grimsdale. Freshmen members of the National Forensic League served as pages in the two houses and found they had to do plenty of running between the rooms where the respective legislative bodies were seated.

Poland Loses Vote On Economic 'War'

UN Assembly Defeats Resolution To Forbid Economic Pressure As Means Of Influencing Policy Aimed At ERP

Paris, Nov. 26—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly defeated today a Polish resolution to forbid economic pressure by one nation against another as a means of influencing domestic or foreign policy.

Poland's Dr. Oscar Lange carried the ball in the debate for the Slav bloc of nations, bitterly attacking the European Recovery Plan (ERP) as an American "economic cold war against the Eastern European countries."

The vote on the resolution was 33 to 6, with Russia and the Eastern bloc alone supporting it.

Lange said the use of "economic power to influence the policies of another country is inadmissible."

Lange told the assembly some countries said they could not sell materials to some other countries for reasons of "military security."

"Is the refusal to sell gramophone records and such a part of military security?" he asked.

American delegate, Willard L. Thorp, an assistant secretary of state, told the assembly Poland's proposal on discrimination in international trade is an "attempt once again to discredit the ERP and the assistance the United States is giving to that program."

Thorp said the United States would not supply materials to build up military potentials of countries "which have failed to cooperate in international efforts to restore confidence in peace and security."

The American delegate added that some countries "more or less voluntarily decided not to join" in the ERP. These countries, he said, complain that "they too cannot enjoy some of the assistance from the United States (called 'enslavement' in the new terminology) which they simultaneously attack and envy."

Scott's Absence Said A Vacation

His Whereabouts For Past Four Days Is Mystery To Friends

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 26—(AP)—Governor-elect Kerr Scott, whose whereabouts for the past four days has been a mystery, is on a vacation, his secretary said today.

Miss Myrtle Fleming, who has been Scott's secretary 12 years, did not share a cotline expressed by many since the governor-elect's disappearance last Sunday.

"He's on vacation," she said. "That's all I know. I don't know where."

Friends began wondering about Scott's absence last Monday when he failed to show up for a meeting of the Advisory Budget Commission as he had planned.

Heir-Apparent To Chairmanship Of Senate Armed Services Committee Says U.S. Must Be Kept Strong, But Taxpayer Must Also Survive

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md) served notice on the armed service today that the new Congress will aim at a $15,000,000,000 ceiling on defense costs next year.

"We must keep America strong and the world at peace," he said, "but do that with the idea that the taxpayer also must survive."

"We will cut out every bit of military expense that is not fully justified," he told a reporter.

Tydings is due to become chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee when the Democrats take over Congress January 3. He also will be a ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, which has a hold on government pursestrings.

"It is my hope," he said, "that for purely armed services at home and abroad, we will make expenditures less and certainly no greater than the present year."

The current defense budget ranges around $15,000,000,000. But next year, Tydings said, "We may be able to cut it to 14 1/2, 14 or 12. We'll have to be a little tough and make them prove their cases."

Tydings said the Armed Services Committee plans to call in Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Defense Forrestal at the start of the next Congress for a full report on world conditions.

Commenting that defense and foreign occupation policies are not "static propositions," the veteran Maryland senator said:

"We want to be brought up to date on the hazards to peace both in the East and the West. Then we want to know how they affect the peace of our own nation."

He said the armed services group also will take a fresh look at the draft law to see how it is meeting military manpower needs.

Tydings said he plans to reintroduce legislation to put the Air Force on a full-to-group combat basis. The House approved such a plan last session but the Senate later modified it.

At the same time, he expressed opposition to any special congressional inquiry into bickering between the Air Force and Navy. No one expected the unification act to "work smoothly" right away, Tydings said, adding:

"I don't think it is necessary but if Congress wants an investigation we'll do it. The rough places are gradually being rounded off now. There always will be some friction and rivalry. That has its good points as well as bad."

Railway Express Slowdown Ends

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—A "slowdown" by railway express agency employees ended today, paving the way for an expected quick resumption of normal operations by the company.

The city's shipping and freight traffic still were crippled, however, by rail embargoes, a truck strike and the dock tieup. But prospects were good for a resumption of work by the dock workers Monday.

Reds Shift Army In Suchow Fight

New Major Battle Looms; Reinforcements Pouring In

Nanking, Nov. 26—(AP)—Communist forces shifted a step closer to the Yangtze river today in the fighting around Suchow and Ling-ping.

Reds deployed on the eastern flank of Suchow, 180 miles northwest of Nanking, suddenly pulled southward. They regrouped east of the Pukow-Tientsin railroad 40 miles north of Fungai.

Major fighting was expected along the Suchow-Lingpui highway where both sides were bringing up reinforcements.

The new development in the battle for Suchow, gateway to the capital, came as National forces in the Peiping-Tientsin area got ready for a major battle for that area of North China.

Red units east of Suchow covering the Communist southward movements were said to be taking a beating at the hands of government ground and air forces.

(In Peiping a government official said a battle second only in size and importance to the Suchow struggle will break in that area in a few days.)

(North China's supreme commander, Gen. Fu Tso-yi in a speech before army cadres said the situation there was completely different from that which prevailed in Manchuria, where the morale of troops was so low that defeat was inevitable.)

In the Peiping-Tientsin area, Fu said his troops were ready and willing to fight the Reds "at any time and any place."

Freedoms Suspended In Venezuela By Military

Caracas, Nov. 26—(AP)—The military Junta that has taken over the government of Venezuela today suspended various constitutional guarantees, including individual security, freedom of speech, and privacy of the home.

Other guarantees affected are freedom of movement, freedom to change residence, to leave and enter the country and hold public meetings.

The decree said the security of the nation requires suspension of the guarantees. The action is expected to be temporary.

Earlier the Junta promised to make plans for national elections. The Junta took over control of the country after Wednesday's bloodless revolution in which the army deposed President Romulo Gallegos and his Democratic Action government.

Consolidating their move for power, the Junta last night appointed a new cabinet and made arrangements to name new state governors.

Li Col. Carlos Delgado Chabaud, president of the Junta, said the new regime will plan for general elections to the nation can "elect a government that suits it."

Asked when the elections would be held, he replied: "As soon as possible." He pointed out that when the Junta was chosen, it was designed as provisional in character.

Hitlerian Publishers

Serious Problem Raised By Decision To Return German Newspapers To Former Owners After Clearance By Denazification Courts; Have They Reformed?

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A serious problem has been created in the newspaper world of Western Germany by the decision of the Allied Military Government that former owners may by 1952 regain property after being cleared by denazification courts.

The newspapers now are being run in their old plants by carefully screened publishers who have been licensed by the military authorities. Under the new property ruling, those who owned the newspapers during the Hitler regime may, after denazification, take over their plants from the licensees and resume their own publication. Since there are no other plants available, the licensees will have to suspend their papers and the old publishers will be once more in the editorial chairs, unless they see fit to lease the plants.

This naturally raises the question of what ideological complexion the newspapers will have if the old guard take over. Can the leopard change its spots? The present-day German publishers think not. They maintain that the owners who operated under the Hitler regime are too much steeped in the totalitarian Nazi code to be able to shake it off and adapt themselves to post-war conditions.

Hitler ruled the press with an iron hand through that vicious little devil, Joseph Goebbels, who was his propaganda minister. Goebbels' influence increased until towards the end of the war he was credited with being the fuhrer's chief lieutenant.

The history of the war was written to suit Hitler's purpose, and was replayed to the country through the newspapers. The propaganda minister even used the press to further Hitler's scheme for destroying religion and creating in the public mind a messiah complex regarding the fuhrer himself. Young girls were urged to have babies out of wedlock to create soldiers for Germany. The awful anti-Jewish campaign was carried on unceasingly.

A great deal of this propaganda was accepted as gospel by the general public. Indeed, much of it undoubtedly was accepted as fact by many publishers of newspapers. That being so, are we to suppose that the views of a defeated and embittered nation are going to have changed overnight? I think not. I have been in Germany since the war and the look in the eyes of many of the people says that they are beaten physically but not mentally. They are much the same folk as those who fought under Hitler.

So it seems obvious that the military authorities will have to move with extreme caution in allowing Hitlerian regime publishers to take back their plants and perhaps resume publication of their own newspapers. The denazification courts will have to proceed with great circumspection to make sure that no section of the press reverts to Nazi methods.

Our 'Free Enterprise'

A Slogan For Businessmen And Labor Leaders; What Do They Mean? Price Controls And Taft-Hartley Act; Limitations For General Welfare; Some Complexities

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—The words—free enterprise—have become a slogan for businessmen and labor leaders.

It would be helpful if they'd say precisely what they think free enterprise is, how really free it is, and how free it should be.

When they talk of it, they seem to think of it in terms of themselves, depending on who's talking.

As an example, take a couple of things like price controls and the Taft-Hartley labor act. Business and labor have talked about both.

If the government imposes price controls it will affect business directly by keeping down its profits.

The Taft-Hartley act, although it affects business, puts more restrictions on labor than any law in American history.

Business leaders want no part of price controls but they think the Taft-Hartley law should be kept.

Labor leaders have called for price controls but they want the Taft-Hartley law wiped out.

So each side is saying: "Don't put controls on me. I want to enjoy the free enterprise system. Put the controls on him."

Each side wants freedom for itself. That's true of all groups and all individuals in this country.

But in a society like this, where all the parts are dependent on all the other parts, there can be no complete freedom.

For freedom means freedom to do as you please—so long as it doesn't

Parents Assured Lydia Briggs Is 'All Right'

A cablegram from Wiesbaden Germany to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. C. Briggs today notified them that their daughter Lydia, who two weeks ago was reported missing, is all right.

The cablegram from Mrs. Briggs' brother, Lt. E. J. Holder, said: "Lydia all right—missing story mistake—back to work soon—looking after her."

Mrs. Briggs was reported as missing by army authorities in Germany about two weeks ago, but was found in a hospital a short time later. Reports to her parents stated she is in the hospital receiving eye treatment.

Punished Son By Burning Hands

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—A 38-year-old mother was booked early today on a felonious assault charge, accusing her of holding her eight-year-old son's hands over a gas stove flame to punish him.

Police said the woman, Mrs. Geraldine Vetter, told them she spanked the boy, Phillip, of taking some cigarettes and small change from her purse.

She was arrested after neighbors called police.

After a tornado struck a small area of Pitt County between the Fal-land highway and Bell Arthur about midnight.

Eastwood's bed was hurled 40 feet into the yard after the tornado hit the home of W. A. Eastwood, Jr., in which he was sleeping on the Carl Pierce property.

The wind damaged other parts of the dwelling and wrecked nearly all of the furniture and piled it in the yard, some chairs were found half a mile away.

The elderly retired farmer, at Dr. Joseph Smith's Clinic today, told a Daily Reflector reporter about his experience of being blown by the whirling tornado on a mattress from his bed into the yard, where trees were falling, outbuildings were splintered by the wind and splintered timbers crashing all about him.

"I took an awful whipping from the wind while lying on the ground, trying to hold onto the mattress. My clothes, on a chair near my bed, were blown away and we haven't found them. I woke up when the wind blew the door open. I couldn't close it and got back on the bed. A tipping and roaring wind demolished the annex room I was in, left nothing but the floor and landed me in the yard. The tornado didn't last long. They tell me it started a few miles away on the Ira Smith farm, ripped up trees in nearby woods, then stormed its way down the road to the second bend, then struck our place."

Eastwood, very sore, but not seriously injured, said that he had been told that the tornado demolished a nearby barn and stable, then ripped off the annex room in which he was sleeping, and ripped timbers off the main house, then changed its course and demolished another building. The wind uplifted a big cedar tree stump and lifted it by the roots another tree.

Dozens of trees, including some majestic and ancient cedars, were felled. The wind splintered a stable and barn and wrecked a packhouse.

Other members of the Eastwood family were considered shaken up but not seriously injured.

Meanwhile MacArthur received a request from Tojo's wife that she be given his body after he is hanged. Her letter also asked that the bodies of the other six be delivered to their relatives. The request came after the army had announced the bodies would be cremated and disposed of secretly.

Mrs. Tojo wrote MacArthur that she felt the former Premier's body should be returned without restriction after the execution.

This system which was established by MacArthur himself came after newsmen had spent another futile day attempting to scratch up information on what was regarded here as the biggest story of the occupation. All official questions declined to answer such questions as where the seven condemned men are being kept in Sugamo prison and how they are spending their time.

The public information office said that it would issue a statement each morning at 10 a. m. Japan time (8 p. m. EST the preceding day) stating whether the seven war leaders had been executed previously. No other regular announcements regarding the story was planned, they added.

The Greenville Registered Nurses club held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, November 22, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Royce Jones with Mrs. M. E. Corbette assisting hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. E. Corbette and Mrs. C. D. Boss was welcomed as a new member of the club. After a short business meeting Mrs. Simon Tucker presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Langford. In a most pleasing manner Mrs. Langford spoke on "What Makes a Successful Club Meeting." She pointed out that courtesy, tolerance and thoughtfulness on the part of members and officers are necessary in the conduct of good public meetings and develops the American way of life. She closed her interesting and most helpful talk by reading the poem, "The Clock of Life." Following the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.—Reported.

Curtis Lee Leaves For National 4-H Congress

Curtis Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lee of the Parkers Chapel community, left this morning for Chicago where he will attend the national congress of 4-H Clubs as a delegate from North Carolina. He is a member of the Pactivol 4-H Club.

Lee was named a delegate to the congress and awarded a free trip to Chicago when he won the state tobacco growing project conducted through the 4-H Clubs of North Carolina. All his expenses to the congress will be paid by the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina and Virginia, which gave similar awards for the winners in the cotton, corn, sweet potato and peanut projects.

In winning the state tobacco championship, Lee raised one acre of tobacco on his father's farm in Pitt County, and from the one acre produced 2,356 pounds of tobacco which he sold for $1,234.50 or an average just under $33 per hundred.

Yellow Mammoth certified tobacco seed were used by Lee in his project, and were planted in four-foot rows, 20 inches in the drill. He used 1,400 pounds of 3-9-8 fertilizer per acre and a top dressing of 250 pounds of sulfate or potash magnesium.

During his four years in 4-H work, Lee has completed eight projects and estimates he has received a total income of "pigt" at $3,500 from the eight projects. He has won the Pitt County tobacco award for the past three years, but this year's crop netted him almost twice the amount he received from his tobacco project last year.

Lee has completed three tobacco projects, two corn projects, two beef projects and one gardening project. This year he plans to carry out four projects: tobacco, wild life conservation and two other projects which he has not definitely decided on.

Last year he served as reporter for the Pactivol club and was elected vice president of the Pitt County 4-H council.

Lee left Durham today on a special Pullman which will carry approximately 30 North Carolina delegates to the 4-H congress in Chicago. There they will meet with delegates from every other state of the union, and delegates from the United States territories outside the continental limits of the country. The delegates will stay in Chicago's Stevens Hotel.

Hold Tyson-May Reunion Nov. 26th In Farmville

Farmville, Nov. 26.—W. J. Bundy of Greenville, solicitor of the fifth judicial district and a native of Farmville, will address members of the Tyson and May families who will attend the annual reunion Friday, November 26.

Opening at 10:30, with President C. A. Cannon of Ayden presiding, the program included the group singing of "America" with Mrs. Haywood Smith as accompanist; the invocation by Rev. Z.B.T. Cox, Christian minister; welcome by Mayor J. W. Joyner; reading of minutes by Miss Mary Thorne Tyson of Richmond, Va.; president's remarks; special music by Bob Morgan; and introduction of speaker by Mayor Joyner.

After the address, Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti, historian, will trace genealogy lines and read the marriages and births. Solos will be rendered by Mrs. Bernice Turnage, soprano, Rev. Mr. Cox will conduct the memorial service and officers will be elected during the business session. An offering will be taken and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" will conclude the program.

A picnic lunch will be spread on the second floor of the D.A.R. chapter house, scene of the annual gathering.

Officers are C. A. Cannon, president; Mrs. C. H. Moxingo, first vice-president; Miss Tyson, secretary-treasurer. Committees arranging for the event include John C. Parker of Farmville and Walter G. Shepperd of Snow Hill, program; Mrs. C. R. Townsend, Sam Lewis, Jr., Miss Elyra Tyson, Mrs. Travis Hooker of Greenville and Mrs. Henrietta M. Williamson, arrangements and decorations; Mrs. Paul R. Burnett of Fountain, food; Miss Carolyn Jones of Kinston, registration; Mrs. Claude C. Tyson and Mrs. Melton Allen, invitations; Donald Baucom, James L. Jefferson of Fountain, and Elizabeth May, antique exhibit.

Family heirlooms, which belonged to members or descendants of the Tysons and Mays, may be exhibited. Exhibitors should type cards giving history and owners of each article and bring the antiques to the chapterhouse by 10 o'clock the day of the meeting.

All descendants of Major Benjamin May, whose name the Farmville D.A.R. chapter bears, and Mary Tyson, daughter of Cornelius Tyson, who married the major, are invited to attend. It was on the occasion of the celebration of the 15th anniversary of the union of these two pioneer families, that the descendants met together Friday, November 26, 1932, one of the momentous events in the history of Farmville, and welded themselves into one of the largest reunion groups in the state. The late Grigg Tyson of the Ballard's community was the founder of the Tyson reunion, begun 28 years ago.

Strength FOR THE DAY

HEALING OF BODY AND SOUL

"Every one of my patients in the second half of his life—that is to say, over 35—fell ill because he had lost that which the living religions of every age have given their followers; and none of them has really been healed who has not regained his religious outlook."

So speaks Carl Jung of Zurich, probably the greatest living psychiatrist. These are words we might expect from a churchman, but to have a medical authority who has a lifetime of successful healing of mental troubles to his credit should be a matter of great significance to us all. Many people are sick because of disease caused by germs. Others are suffering from accidents and from troubles which can only be relieved by surgery. But still others are sick, really sick, because their inner life is disturbed.

We used to think that those people imagined themselves sick. No one who knows anything about the situation believes that today. These people are sick, only their illness does not begin with infection or deterioration of some organ. It begins with a disordered inner life. Their sickness of soul produces real signs of body, and no medicine will heal them. They must be healed by being made right on the inside of their lives, and only faith in God can do that.

LOST—Speaking of the budget reminds that the advisory budget commission has been working day and night all this week whipping into shape the recommendations to be made to the general assembly. The budgeteers have worked without benefit of counsel from Governor-elect Kerr Scott. He has been "lost" all week. One member of the commission facetiously suggested inserting a want ad in the daily papers for "one governor—lost, strayed or stolen," with a reward for his recovery.

TITLED—Kerr Scott is bound to be tired. He hasn't had much rest since he announced his candidacy for governor last spring, and he is entitled to time out. The budgeteers feel he took an inopportune time for rest, since he will be director of the budget now being arranged and ought to sit in on its preparation.

"Better stick to milk," he said. I went down, had a glass of milk and came back up still feeling hungry. I bumped into a skinny hypochondriac.

I went down and had a hamburger, and came back up again feeling better. But a vegetarian hypochondriac was horrified.

"Meat fills a multitude of graves," he remarked ominously.

So back down I went a third time and ate a combination salad, two radishes, a glass of orange juice, a banana split, and a sack of salted peanuts. The stomach pains were all gone. I felt fine.

It was then I got the idea that hypochondriacs know more about health than anybody. Not just one but all of them together. You have to pool all their individual knowledge.

That's what I do now. I go around and take a pill with each hypochondriac for what ails him, and do what his physician told him to do. I carefully follow each hypochondriac's diet—at the same time. I eat lettuce and carrots with the boys who want to lose weight, burrow through bestsellers with the ones who want to stay slim. I have a glass of beer with the fellow whose doctor says he can drink but must avoid tobacco; I accept a cigar from the gent who can smoke but can't have any alcohol.

Once every week I play poker or go to a nightclub with insomniacs. Other evenings I go to bed early, because some pseudo-sick friends have been told by their doctors that civilized man's greatest need is more sleep.

Today I never felt better in my life. My chest expansion has increased two inches, my waist four. I haven't had an honest ache or pain since—mine are all borrowed—in years. I wear arch supporters to keep me from getting flat feet, and I am full of more vitamins than a drug-store. I don't even know my own strength. And I owe all this health to a bunch of menably hypochondriacs. They'd probably be healthy and happy, too, if they'd quit worrying about one disease at a time and worry about them all at once, as I do.

Right now I'm in the market for a hypochondriac who's afraid he's on the verge of a nervous breakdown. I could use a good vacation in Florida myself.

The Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Conference claim to be the only football squad in the U.S. with three Hawaiian players on the roster.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—As the battle of adults against comic books grows hotter, a 15-year-old Washington school boy grows madder. He calls the row "silly and needless." What's more, he has just completed writing a 70,000-word defense of junior America's favorite literature.

An art major in the 10th grade of Coolidge High School here, young David Pace Wigransky first got mad at comic book critics last summer. He read an article in the Saturday Review of Literature indicting comic books as a major cause of juvenile delinquency. It was written by the well-known psychiatrist, Dr. Frederic Wertham. Then David listened to a radio round table in which author John Mason Brown, an associate editor of the Review, also lambasted comic books.

David sat down and wrote a letter to the editors.

"Unlike other critics of comics," David told the editors, "I possess a first-hand knowledge of them, and unlike even those critics who argue in their favor, I can say that I was once an average, normal comic book fan and reader, during the war and before it. Therefore I feel that I am more qualified than people like John Mason Brown and Dr. Wertham in criticizing them."

The editors found the letter interesting and printed it. David does know his comic books. He has collected more than 6,000 of them, has them all neatly filed and indexed in a room at his home here. In his letter to the Saturday Review he wrote:

"The brothers Cain and Abel lived in a world of ideal tranquility, a world completely devoid of comic books. How then does Dr. Wertham account for this brutal fratricide, told within the pages of the Bible, the only book in history of man more widely read and more widely attacked than the American comic book?" After referring to "some two dozen gruesome and horrible cases of juvenile delinquency" listed by Dr. Wertham, David says:

"A good many of the delinquents happened to be readers of comic magazines just as are 69,999,975 perfectly healthy, happy, normal American boys and girls, men and women. It is just ridiculous to suppose that 69,999,975 people are law-abiding citizens just because they are comic-book readers as it is to suppose that 25 others are depraved criminals due to the same reading habits."

When I called on David at his home the other day, he told me he

Around Capitol Square

CODIFICATION—The state department is seeking budget bureau approval for employment of outside lawyers to codify the mass of rules and regulations heretofore promulgated by the board of agriculture under its ordinance-making powers. The board of agriculture is one of several agencies possessing authority to adopt rules with force and effect of law. Others include the board of health, the highway commission, the board of conservation and development, the wild life resources commission and the utilities commission.

SCATTERED—These and perhaps other state agencies have long had authority to enact ordinances for violation of which a citizen can be arrested and punished. Prior to 1943 there was no provision for publication or centralization of these various "laws," although they were as potent as legislative acts which are required to be published. The 1943 general assembly enacted a law requiring that copies of all such regulations be filed with the secretary of state and in some instances posted in county courthouses. Compliance with this law has not been complete on part of some agencies, but it doesn't make a lot of difference.

INADEQUATE—When the rules are filed in the capitol they are filed—period. They are stamped with date of receipt, placed in the permanent file and indexed. Anybody who wants to see them may do so, but unless the applicant knows so, but unless the applicant knows what he is looking for there's little chance for him to find it. If a citizen knows, for example, that there is an ordinance about the measurement of tin roofing, he can go to the capitol and read it; but if he doesn't know the rule exists, he's out of luck. This is not the particular fault of the ordinance-making department or of the filing office; it's just one of the things that happen when the general assembly enacts a law without following through with an appropriation to effectuate it.

CONCENTRATION—Commissioner Dave Coltrane, acting under authority of a resolution adopted by the board of agriculture last summer, is negotiating with Cornelia McKimmon and Mayne Albright, Raleigh attorneys, to bring all these rules into a condensed code for ready reference. (When asked about the matter L. Y. Balmonte, commissioner of agriculture elect, said it had not been discussed, although most of the work will necessarily be done during his administration.)

NEEDED—Need for codification of departmental regulations promulgated by all state boards and commissions is obvious. The agriculture folks may be setting a good example to other agencies there.

BUDGET—The deal hasn't been completely cleared with the budget bureau but is on the way. As for that, Balmonte was not consulted in preparation of the 1949-51 budget presented to the advisory budget commission, although all of it will be handled under his direction. It is known that he does not approve some of the budget items.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—How to be healthy all over—instead of being unhealthy in one place at a time?

I have finally solved this problem. The answer is to find a group of hypochondriacs. Then do what they do.

Hypochondriacs are people who imagine they have illnesses—any or all illnesses. And they are all around you. There are more hypochondriacs in America than there are Republicans.

Before I began consulting hypochondriacs I never knew what real health was. I made vague, unguided solo attempts to keep fit and well.

I read so many books on how to make the best of my physical birthright that finally I had to wear glasses for eyestrain. I took icy morning showers to make me more rugged. All I caught was cold. I took to lifting barbells for exercise. What happened? I had to take a day off each week to rest up.

This was getting me nowhere. I was worn out, rundown and sleepless from trying to stay healthy.

Then I met my first hypochondriac, a man with the mistaken idea he had a bad heart. He almost fainted when I told him I was lifting barbells.

"Don't you know exercise kills more people than motor cars?" He said.

I quit exercising. Immediately the tired feeling went away.

Another day I complained of a stomach pain to an office friend who thought he had an ulcer.

Dr. Haney Speaks To Lector Club

On Tuesday afternoon, November 16, the Lector Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Flanagan.

Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr., in charge of the program, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church. The speaker talked most interestingly on "Religion in the Home." It was observed that there are four major influences which take our time and interest in the present era, those being: movies, comics, the church, and the home. Dr. Haney proceeded to point out which of these have the most influence and what each is doing for or against the spiritual welfare of our children. He ended by advising that, in his opinion, the three most important things we could do in our homes for our children as regards religion are: to teach our children the concrete things about religion; to put these teachings into practice and to make religion a living element in the home.

Following Dr. Haney's talk, Mrs. Flanagan served a delicious sweet course and coffee.

Victims Of Smog Are Home Again

Donora, Pa., Nov. 26 — (AP) — Forty-five smog victims were back home today after a week's vacation in North Carolina.

They returned full of praise for the residents of Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach, N.C., a group of whom paid all expenses for the vacation trip after learning of the smothering which engulfed this mill town a month ago, causing the deaths of 20 persons.

Burgess August Chambon of Donora said all the vacationers came back in good spirits and good health. The members of the group plan to write "Thank You" letters to residents of the two North Carolina towns, Chambon said.

"And the borough of Donora," he added, "is going to see if it can find some additional way of expressing its appreciation."

"We are feeling 700 per cent better," commented one of the vacationers, Cesare Valeri, 52. "The fresh air and the good times have done wonders for us. We are planning to go back as soon as we can."

Army And Navy Stress What Happened In 1946

Most Colorful Game Of Week As Cadets And Middies Enter Traditional Classic On Football Field

Philadelphia, Nov. 26—(AP)—So many people will be "remembering" in Municipal Stadium tomorrow when Army meets Navy in football that President Truman will feel out of place. The President prefers to remember '48.

The 1946 game gets into the act in both sides. That was the year they played the greatest unbeaten game—Blanchard combines to a yard before losing, 21 to 18. Army had the ball two yards from Army goal line when the game led.

The word at West Point the past week has been "Remember '46—and '47." At Annapolis it has been "Remember '46." The dummies add silently "and take 'em."

Army supporters want the Cadets realize that the Naval Academy presently doesn't teach the Middies to read Army press notices.

Navy rooters like to recall that the 1946 team also was a hopeless derdoo.

Strictly from the records there seems no reason why Army won't win this season undefeated for the time in history. Navy stands to stand up without a victory for the time since it lost both ends of two game schedule in 1945.

However, there are extenuating circumstances. Past performances may mean a thing together—1946 member? And Navy played probably the toughest week-after-week schedule of any team in the country.

While Army was fattening up against Fayette, Villanova, Harvard and Virginia Tech, Navy had but lost to California, Notre Dame, Michigan and Missouri.

Against common opponents, Penn State and Cornell, there wasn't too much difference. Army handed Cornell only defeat of the year, 27 to 6. Navy edged out Navy, 13 to 7. Army beat Penn State, 20 to 14. Navy lost to Penn State, 14 to 14 in the waning minutes.

Boudreau Named 'Most Valuable' Player In Loop

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—Lou Boudreau was the most valuable player in the American League in 1948—naturally.

Most everybody agreed on that a month ago. Now it's official on the vote of the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association.

The writers rated the athletes from one to 10 but Ed Burns of the Chicago Tribune, the retiring president, reports 22 of them named Boudreau first. The other two first place ballots went to Joe DiMaggio, the pillar of the New York Yankees.

If the vote had been taken after the World Series, the shortstop-manager of the world champion Cleveland Indians probably would have made a clean sweep. But this balloting was done before the Series, in fact, before the American League pennant was decided in the final week of the season.

Boudreau made a good case for himself on the playing field.

1. He played the most shortstop of anybody in the league.
2. He led Cleveland to its first flag and Series victory since 1920.
3. He hit 355, second only to Ted Williams, the champ.
4. He worked out the pickoff play that created such a stir in the Series.

When things looked dark for Cleveland after Boston took over first place in late summer, Boudreau kept insisting "we'll win."

When the Indians lost their final game of the regular season and had to travel to Boston for a playoff game he said, "We're just coming into Boston a little early for the Series."

It was Boudreau's first-inning home run off Denny Galehouse in the playoff game that instilled confidence in the Tribe.

Boudreau shared most of the honors during the '48 season and now he has won one of the most coveted awards for the first time.

Dad's Misty Mustangs

If there ever has been a more versatile football player than Doak Walker, of the Southern Methodist Mustangs, on the gridiron of the Southwest there is no one around to remember him. Walker is rated one of the greatest, if not the greatest to come out of the Southwest in its long and colorful football history.

Walker is a mu... on everyone's All-American. He's easily the best ball-carrier, passer, kicker, blocker and defensive back in his section.

If all the honors and publicity heaped upon Walker since his gridiron exploits of 1947 and this season have affected him at all they have only served to make him play just so much harder. Added experience has given him greater poise and effectiveness. He doesn't spare himself on offense or defense. The humblest blocking chore gets his complete concentration. He's that kind of an athlete.

Walker hasn't been used quite as much this season as last year when he averaged about 55 minutes per game. Because the Mustangs have been able to pile up safe leads on several occasions this season, Doak has been given a bit more rest between scoring sprees. With Walker on their side, the Mustangs are on their way to retaining the Southwest conference title they won last fall. And it is a matter of record that champions seldom repeat in that league.

Wilson To Hold Stock Car Races

Wilson, Nov. 26—Sports fans from Wilson and all the towns in eastern Carolina will have the opportunity Sunday to witness the first stock car races ever to run on the Wilson county fairgrounds track.

Stock cars have gone over with a bang in the western part of the state and the same is expected here Sunday when the fans get the opportunity to see them.

Among the top notch drivers who will race here Sunday will be Major Leonard Franelli of New York; Runt Harris of Danville, Virginia; Ray Hurtak of Norfolk, Virginia and Joe Weatherly, National 100 mile motorcycle champ who has recently taken up stock car racing, but who has been a big car driver for some time. Weatherly was the sensational winner last week in the main event at the Virginia Beach speedway.

The program scheduled here Sunday will consist of three qualifying heats climaxed by a 30 lap feature.

The first event will get underway at two o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Robert B. Anderson post of the American Legion in Wilson is sponsoring the races this week. The track is now being readied for the program.

Stages Furious Drive To Keep Football Record

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 26—(AP)—Flyin' Freddy Wendt of Texas Mines staged a one-man riot yesterday to keep football's ground gaining record in the border conference.

The 24-year-old senior ground out 326 yards in scoring six touchdowns as Texas Mines slaughtered New Mexico A & M, 92-7, and set a new individual rushing record of 1,383 yards.

It was the last game on the regular season for Texas Mines. Wendt has one more appearance in his native El Paso. The Miners are host team in the Sun Bowl here Nov. 27, and set a new Year's Day against West Virginia. This is the third straight year that a border conference player has led the nation in yards gained on the ground.

Fire In Stands Adds Thrill For Football Fans

Philadelphia, Nov. 26—(AP)—A fire in the east stand provided an extra thrill for several thousand fans attending the Penn-Cornell football game.

Nearly 30,000 persons still were in the Franklin Field stands at the close of the annual Thanksgiving Day game yesterday when the blaze flared up high in the lower east stand.

A section of about 90 seats was damaged before the blaze, apparently fed by discarded newspapers, programs and other debris, was doused by a bucket brigade of ushers, students and police.

Police said there was no panic, and that no one was injured.

Tulane and South Carolina have met twice on the gridiron—in 1932 and 1948—and the Tulane squad has won both contests.

Flashy Maxie Docusen Is Nearing Big-Time Fights

Los Angeles, Nov. 26—(AP)—Young Maxie Docusen, a nice looking Irish Philippino from New Orleans, rated one of the best rookie light-weight boxing prospects in the nation, is heading into trouble.

Winner of 51 straight bouts, the newly turned 20-year-old Maxie steps up in class in his next match—and that's when the going gets rougher.

Babe McCoy, matchmaker for the Olympic auditorium and a man who believes in taking a youngster along slowly, said today Maxie's next opponent will be veteran Carlos Chavez, a top ranking featherweight now fighting just above the 126-pound scale—around 136 pounds, to be exact, which is Maxie's current fighting weight.

McCoy made it plain there is no shortage of lightweight talent in California.

"We've got the best lightweights in the country, with one exception, out here," he said. "Most of the eastern kids couldn't get a four-round match out here."

The exception, of course, is champion Ike Williams.

The next best, who fights out of here, is Mexico's spectacular Enrique Bolanos.

Docusen has a few chores to perform before he gets a crack at Bolanos.

For while the last ratings placed him just behind Enrique in the line back of Williams, many here think the listing is premature.

Maxie has whipped a lot of fighters, but he hasn't met any of the good topnotchers.

Bowl Talk Sour for North State

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was no bowl talk in North State Conference football circles today as college workers went about their work of packing uniforms away in moth balls.

The last five of the conference's nine teams ended their seasons yesterday and for three of them Thanksgiving meant only turkey—no triumphs.

Appalachian's proud Mountaineers, boasting an unbeaten record that gave them the loop's title, had their hopes for a Tangerine Bowl invitation sour on them.

The Appals to West Chester, Pa., State Teachers, 7 to 2, before 12,000 fans in the Johnson City, Tenn., Burley Bowl.

Catawba's Indians, perennial runners of the North State before losing to Appalachian earlier, finished their most disastrous season since 1941 by losing to Lenoir Rhyne, 16-6, in a traditional Thanksgiving battle at Sansbury Lenoir Rhyne, which earlier tied Appalachian, made good through the passing of Tailback Gene Miller who hit End Charles Jones for two touchdowns.

The day also held nothing but disappointment for Coach William (Doc) Newton of Guilford College who ended a 26-year coaching career watching his Quakers lose to Elon's Christians, 12-0, at Greensboro.

Tom Hamilton Is Offered New Job

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 26—(AP)—The University of Pittsburgh wants Capt. Tom Hamilton as its Athletic Director.

Confirming that he had received an offer from Pitt, Hamilton, who is athletic director at the U. S. Naval Academy, said that "no decision has been made."

"Presently, I am thinking only in terms of peering Army," he added. Captain Hamilton became athletic director at the Academy last June after a two-year hitch as head coach of the navy football team.

Deacon Conquest

Columbia, S.C., Nov. 26—(AP)

Wake Forest's Dixie Bowl-bound Demon Deacons boasted a satisfying turkey day 38-0 football conquest of the South Carolina Gamecocks today.

The Deacons scored on passes and runs, set up touchdowns by pass interceptions, blocking a punt, holding for downs, recovering a fumble and with a sharp return of a short kick in yesterday's meeting here.

The 16,000 fans who saw the Southern Conference contest had no reason to be disappointed in the gridiron show, however. The losers were nowhere nearly as outclassed as the score would indicate.

They piled up 11 first downs to Wake's nine, turned their feet back loose on some fine runs. The Gamecocks' only scoring threat was a first period 80-yard drive that bogged on the three.

Leahy May Upset Rockne's Record

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 26—(AP)—Record-minded Notre Dame ends its home football season tomorrow against the University of Washington and the Irish will be aiming for their 21st consecutive victory.

The Huskies, meeting Notre Dame for the first time, have lost to Minnesota, Washington State, California, Oregon, and Southern California and have been tied by Oregon State. Their two victories were scored over UCLA and Idaho. Their lack of success indicates they will be the medium by which Notre Dame extends its winning streak.

Notre Dame's current streak of 26 games without defeat began with the first game of the 1946 season when the Irish defeated Illinois, 26 to 6. Coach Frank Leahy's team then won four more before playing a scoreless tie with Army. Since that game the Irish have won 20 in a row, including eight wins this season—over Purdue, Pitt, Michigan State, Nebraska, Iowa, Navy, Indiana and Northwestern.

If the undefeated Notre Dames topple Washington, as expected, Leahy will have surpassed the winning record set by the late Knute Rockne. Under the famed Rockne the Irish won 19 consecutive games in 1929 and 1930.

After Rockne's death in a plane crash in 1931, Notre Dame, under Hunk Anderson won the first game of the 1931 season to run its consecutive victory streak to 20 games.

Quarfine Ends Trailer Trouble

Akron, O., Nov. 26—(AP)—The tedium of a 16-day scarlet fever quarantine was broken yesterday for nine residents of a trailer with quarantined Thanksgiving dinner supplies by the Salvation Army.

Until yesterday it looked as if the one man, two women and six children would go without a Thanksgiving dinner. However, before the day ended they had feasted on fried chicken, potatoes and gravy, dumplings, celery and pineapple salad.

Added to the holiday cheer was the announcement that the quarantine would be lifted next Monday.

All began when Pvt. and Mrs. William Riley came to visit in the 18-by-21-foot home of Alvin Conrad. Conrad was away but his four children were there along with Mrs. Alberta Muncy, a baby sitter and her two small children. Mrs. Conrad was in the hospital having her fifth child. Mrs. Muncy's son David 5, contracted scarlet fever and the quarantine went on.

Soldier Is Charged With Hit-And-Run After Collision

By CHESTER WALSH

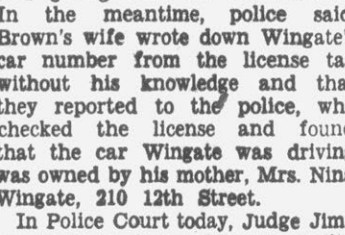

Police arrested David H. Wingate, 18, of 210 12th Street, a soldier, and charged him with failure to stop at a "stop" sign and hit-and-run driving after his car and one driven by William Brown, colored, of near Greenville, collided at the intersection of Evans and 14th Streets Tuesday night about 6 o'clock. Both vehicles were slightly damaged.

Police quoted Brown as saying that after the collision Wingate stopped and told him and his wife that it was his fault and that he would pay for any damage. Brown quoted Wingate as saying that his name was Jack Garlio of Baltimore and giving him his car number. In the meantime, police said, Brown's wife wrote down Wingate's car number from the license tag without his knowledge and that they reported to the police, who checked the license and found that the car Wingate was driving was owned by his mother, Mrs. Nina Wingate, 210 12th Street.

In Police Court today, Judge Jimmy Roberts found Wingate guilty of failure to stop at a "stop" sign and hit-and-run. The court was informed the Wingate had paid damages on the other car. He was fined $25, costs deducted, and his driver's license was ordered revoked for a year.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

The Dancing Heart

Chapter 25

Rosalie looked very beautiful as she paced up and down her apartment the next morning, but her eyes were angry. She missed her maid, Lucy, and even so she had just finished telephoning the girl that she was not wanted any more. Lucy had spluttered, but Rosalie had been firm for the first time, adamant in fact. It was not Lucy's fault in any way. Of course Lucy hadn't known she was coming back.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED A new stock of Rogers Bros. silver sets packed in beautifully finished hardwood cases. We also have a beautiful pattern of open stock china. Globe Hardware Company, Phone 3232.

Lucy could collect what was due her from Mr. Hall. Rosalie would give a good reference, would send it in fact.

It had been best of all to call Wayne early that morning after the worst night she had ever known. It wasn't altogether the heat which had kept her rolling and tossing, but that had contributed. The New York air had seemed stifling after Maine. It was easy to decide to quit New York, easy to make up her mind she was never coming back East. Wayne had sounded sleepy over the phone; she had waked him up at his hotel, of course. But it was good to hear his voice and the eagerness with which he agreed to come to see her at ten o'clock.

WE CAN NOW OFFER OUR friends and customers special 24-hour service. Also are serving good steaks, seafoods and short orders. Come to see us. We'll appreciate it. Carolina Service Station and Cafe, J. W. (Woodrow) Williams, Chocowinity. 11-24-48

FOR RENT—FURNISHED PRIVATE apartment, 305 Eastern street, Dial 2201, Mrs. Mildred Gibbs. 11-24-48

"I can be with you in half an hour if you really need me." She had laughed faintly. "No. Ten o'clock will be fine. But I'll wait your help then."

She smiled, remembering, and glanced at the clock. It was almost ten now.

She hurried to answer the bell. It was her trunk, which she luckily had bought along with her clothes. She had them carried into her bedroom and tipped the man generously, after extracting his promise that he would personally see they got off that afternoon. She opened them but didn't start to pack. There was just time to swallow a last cup of coffee before Wayne arrived. As she opened the door he caught her in his arms.

"Is everything all right? Tell me quickly."

She kissed him and drew him in gaily. "Now you are here everything is all right. I'm glad I gave you time to shave and dress beautifully. Have you had breakfast?"

He nodded gravely. "Yes, I came ready to do anything you want."

Her eyes shone. "Are you ready to leave for California tonight?"

He hesitated, watching her steadily. "I don't understand."

She laughed shortly. "I mean, of course, would you go if I went with you? It is serious, so don't make a quick answer you might regret."

He spoke slowly. "I can only make one answer. I would go anywhere in the world—if you went with me."

"Good. I didn't make any mistake then. I have made reservations in your name. Will you go pick them up and then come back here? I'll be packed and ready to go to lunch."

"I'll do anything you say, Rosalie."

"Splendid. After lunch I want you to go visit Mrs. Monahan with me. She is Joe's mother, the fat woman who taught me to dance. She is very sick and I came back from Maine to see her last night. I promised to see her today before—before I knew it was to be goodbye. I know I am asking a great favor, but I want you to meet her."

"I'll do anything you say, Rosalie."

"I got your father's letter when I got back here very late last night after—after the fire."

"Fire?" He nodded. "I remember. The Coronet Hotel where Rex Hall stayed. Don't tell me anything happened to him."

"Would you mind if it did?"

"Of course. To be trapped in a fire must be an awful thing."

"How good-hearted you are. And I've always tried to make myself think otherwise. Rex wasn't trapped—much. He was saved. In fact, Joe Monahan saved him—and the girl who was staying with him."

"Rosalie!"

She brushed her hair back with a quick gesture. "I feel you have a right to know that. I stood on the curb across the street and saw the rescue."

He smiled very slowly. "You want to tell me that's why I'm here now?"

"In one way—yes."

He took both her hands in his, looking deep into her eyes. "Something had to happen, Rosalie. Somehow you had to see the mistake you were making. When I tried to tell you I know I sounded like a conceited snob. I hope I'm not. Maybe I am. You must help me to see things in a better way. I know you will."

"You're awfully kind."

"I will be if you make me so."

She took his face between her hands and kissed him. "Put your arms around me, Wayne. Make me feel you really want me."

His embrace was quick, reassuring, his lips firm on hers. She clung to him. It was good to cling to him, to feel she could give her problems over to him and be troubled by them no more. She wanted to cry but there would be still time enough for that. There were still things to be done, knots to be cut. In a few hours she would be on the train speeding West and all would be well. She could forget—

"Ah, just in time. Break it up, children. Papa's home."

Patrolman Finds Two Birds Too Much For Him

Boston, Nov. 25 (AP)—Two birds—a turkey and the stork—were too much for patrolman John Mee in one day.

When he arrived home from his tour of duty Thanksgiving Day morning his wife told him he had better start preparing the turkey dinner for their two young children because she was going to the hospital.

Mee and the children, John, 5, and Maureen, 2 had just finished dinner when he got a call to the hospital. There was a new member of the family when he arrived there—an eight pound girl.

It was then time to go back to work. Lt. Patrick J. O'Donnell heard his story.

"Take the night off," said the Lieutenant. "Brother, you deserve it!"

Bowery Trio On 'The Road Back'

New York, Nov. 25—(AP)—A 43-year-old widow and two men ate their Thanksgiving dinners in the Bowery yesterday with added relish—they were on "the road back."

The three had been selected by the Bowery Comeback Association as persons most worthy of rehabilitation to their former ways of life. A jury of businessmen and clergymen made this month's selections. Since January, the association has chosen two men a month for its improvement program.

The three new selectees will get 30 days—in a hotel—plus $11 a week and new clothes to find a job. The woman was Mrs. Gladys Layton—first woman to be picked by the committee.

She said her husband and daughter died on the same day nine years ago. A former waitress, she said, "Now I know I'll be able to get a job."

The men selected identified themselves as Arthur Sellers, 37, and Leon Miller, 25.

Each diner received a glass of whiskey before dinner and a bottle of beer after the feast. Sellers and Miller agreed with Mrs. Layton when she said:

"It's the best Thanksgiving I ever had."

Truman Puts In Heavy Work Day

Washington, Nov. 25—(AP)—President Truman put in a heavy day of work today to clear his desk for a holiday trip tomorrow to the annual Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia.

He met with his cabinet and talked with ten separate White House callers to get his appointments up to date.

Thief Ruined One Thanksgiving Meal

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 25—(AP)—A thief ruined at least one Thanksgiving dinner in Asheville.

Susie Mae Major, Negro, told police that while she was shopping on Thanksgiving eve somebody stole five pounds of "chit'lins" (chitterlins) from her.

Negro Youth Has Narrow Escape While Hunting

By CHESTER WALSH

Joseph Dallas Ward, 20-year-old Negro tenant on the Harvey Briley farm, between Greenville and Bethel, had a narrow escape from death near his home Thanksgiving morning when a gun his brother, James Junior Ward, was about to hand him exploded and part of the charge inflicted a serious wound in the fleshy part of his hip. He was taken to Dr. Joseph Smith's Clinic, Third and Washington streets.

Ward told a reporter that he and his brother were going hunting, that his brother had an old single-barrel 12-gauge shotgun with a defective stock and that the breach was hard to close and asked him to "fix it." The gun was discharged before he got his hands on it, and most of the shot struck the stock of his gun, knocking it from his hand, and wounding his hip. He walked several hundred yards to his home and sat down, but in a little while was unable to walk, he said.

This was the first hunting accident reported since the season opened, it is understood.

Name Daughter For Fred Allen's Wife

Hollywood, Nov. 25—(AP)—It's a girl for British Film Star James Mason and his actress-wife, Pamela Killino.

Their first child was born yesterday and named Portland. Mason and his wife, often guests on Fred Allen's radio program, named the girl after Portland Hoffa, wife of Allen.

Clear Tracks Of Train Wreckage

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 25—(AP)

A 50-man crew from two wrecker trains today strove to clear the tracks near here where the Atlantic Coast Line's East-Coast Champion rammed into a derailed freight train.

About a dozen cars from the freight train were scattered near Hamilton's crossing, four miles south of here. The Champion's engine was derailed.

Bound from New York to Miami, the Champion hit the freight shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday.

Fletcher Anderson, 27, of Ohio, a Negro dining car attendant on the Champion, was hospitalized in Fredericksburg with slight back injuries. A passenger on the Champion received first aid treatment.

Richmond, Fredericksburg, and Potomac railroad officials, on whose track the Champion was traveling, said hours would be required to restore train service on the line.

Rough Draft Of Defense Treaty

London, Nov. 25—(AP)—The Brussels pact powers were reported today to have prepared a rough draft of a North Atlantic defense treaty to be submitted to the United States and Canada in Washington, probably next week.

Responsible diplomatic officials said the Brussels pact countries gave the drafts to their own governments for approval a few days ago. The countries are Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Soldiers Hunted For Killing Japs

Sapporo, Hokkaido, Japan, Nov. 25—(AP)—Two Japanese were shot to death and five others were beaten by a pair of unidentified American soldiers last night.

Military police are searching for the soldiers.

Four of the injured were reported in serious condition.

Robbery Almost Regular Feature

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 25—(AP)—Robbery is becoming monotonous at Reynolds Grill here.

Manager Charlie Cheros told police that six cartons of cigarettes were taken from his establishment Wednesday night. That was the fourth robbery of the grill in two weeks.

It got so bad that Cheros hesitated to put turkey on his Thanksgiving menus. He had the turkeys, all right, but he feared they would be stolen before they could be served.

Study Business Post Exchanges

Washington, Nov. 25—(AP)

A defense establishment committee is studying the multi-million dollar business of Army Post exchanges and Navy ship stores to see, among other things, if there is unfair competition with private business.

The survey is being made by a unit of the Munition Board's Committee on Facilities and Services for the Armed Forces.

Our 'Free . . .

(Continued from page one) public mind so long and so often, free enterprise is a phrase that needs watching—to see whether free enterprise is really involved.

So don't be kidded into getting excited every time you hear someone scream that free enterprise is in danger of being destroyed. Sometimes it's a handy firebell for hypocrites. Look at the facts in each case.

Where did the phrase "free enterprise" come from, anyway? Nathan Robertson, former Washington newspaperman writing on free enterprise in the November Harper's magazine, says:

One of the "Bright young men" working for the National Association of Manufacturers thought it up about 10 years ago.

'Mighty Lucky' . . .

(Continued from page one) The tornado wrecked three tobacco barns on the Alex Allen farm nearby, a part of the Davis estate of Farmville, and swept on to demolish several tobacco barns on another side of the Pierce farm. It faded out when it reached nearby Tar River.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, Nov. 25—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 25 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower.

Noon prices were 15 to 35 cents a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 31.90, March 31.80 and May 31.70.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Nov. 25—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hogs mostly steady. Tops of $22 at Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Washington and Richmond.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Nov. 25—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 35 for 2 1/2-pound weight; eggs steady. A large 65-67.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 25—(AP)—Some rail stocks attracted support in a generally steady market today. It was not a one-way market. Minor declines were enough to put some issues at new lows for the year, but on the whole gains had a slight edge over losses.
