U.S. Gets Draft Of Defense Pact In Alliance Plans

West European Group Proposes 50-Year Agreement With U.S., Canada

London, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A British government source said today the western European alliance has presented to the United States its draft of a proposed defense agreement with the United States and Canada.

Discussion of the terms is expected to begin in Washington late this week, the informant said. Diplomatic officials said the document, as now drafted, was a "working paper" subject to revision in Washington talks.

(Officials in Washington said the alliance's move came about a month behind schedule and it is unlikely a treaty can be completed in time for formal submission to the Senate in January.)

Exact details of the document have not been discussed. For the past month representatives of the western European alliance countries of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have been working on a plan in secret meetings here.

Informants said the pact is expected to call for a pledge of mutual assistance without definite commitment to go to war in case of attack on any member.

Diplomatic officials said the document also would repledge adherence of participating countries to the principles of the United Nations and establish the groundwork for close cooperation in planning common defense.

The western European countries are expected to urge alliance with the U.S. and Canada for a 50-year period. This may meet some opposition from the U.S. which has suggested in informal talks a period of 10 to 15 years with a review later on the question of extension.

One of the major problems likely to emerge in the Washington talks is the question of how far the door should be left ajar for admission of other nations.

Some military officials have contended that western defenses cannot be carried without solid bases in Scandinavia and Southern Europe.

Files Notice Of Profit Checks On Corporations

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) served notice on a "few giant corporations" today he aims to put double check-reins on their profits—higher taxes and federal price and ration curbs.

"I don't want to re-enact OPA," he told reporters, "but I do want to control the present regimentation of prices and rationing of products by concentrated private interests."

O'Mahoney did not single out any corporation by name but he said those dealing in basic commodities, such as steel, "are in a position to fix their own prices and distribution." In this way, he said, most items needed by the average family are subject to a corporate rationing system.

Mobile Postal Service Begins

Charlotte, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Asheville-Charlotte highway post office today began regular service. The converted 40-passenger bus was exactly on schedule this morning as it rolled into the rear of the post office at 11:25 a. m. It left Asheville at 5:15 a. m. with a load of mail for Charlotte and towns between here and the mountain city.

Prejudice Is Failing

Some Recent Events Which Show Growth Of Appreciation For A Man As A Man In Spite Of His Color; Tolerance Not Yet Widespread; How It Is Growing

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Here are some events of the past few weeks which show in the present college generation some growth of appreciation for a man as a man in spite of his color:

Levi Jackson, a Negro, was elected captain of the Yale football team.

Frank S. Jones, a Negro, was chosen student manager of the Harvard football team.

Thomas W. Gibbs, a Negro, was pledged a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Amherst College over the protest of the national fraternity. The Amherst chapter was suspended by the national organization before Gibbs was initiated.

Economy Stressed In Defense Costs

Presidential Advisors Carry Campaign Against High Military Costs Into Pentagon; Warning Of Repercussions

Washington, Nov. 28.—Unless grave new threats develop overseas, administration officials appear resolved to hold military spending to the $15,000,000,000 limit set by President Truman.

Otherwise, they have been warned, the nation may be plunged into a greater inflationary whirlpool.

Two top civilian advisors to the President, it was learned today, have carried this campaign against high defense costs right into military headquarters at the Pentagon. Their talks were delivered to a seminar of leading citizens early this month but were not then publicly reported.

Chairman Edwin C. Nourse of the President's council of economic advisors warned that if the military budget rises to a level of 18 or 20 billions, there are bound to be important repercussions on the economy.

Mr. Truman said last month that the armed forces had requested $23,000,000,000 for the 1950 fiscal year starting July 1.

Norse told the Pentagon group: "If we project a substantially larger scale military spending program for rearming ourselves and perhaps western Europe and some other countries, it is clear that new forces of inflation would be unleashed."

Nourse said this development likely would require: 1. Price control "of quite extensive scope."

2. Either higher taxes or inflationary deficit spending by the government.

3. Allocations and other type controls over scarce materials.

4. Manpower controls to meet shortages in industries where more labor already is needed.

Budget director James E. Webb, it was learned, also stressed some of the same points to the Pentagon group, with emphasis on possible disruption of sound government fiscal policy.

In this Pentagon talk, said Nourse, "those who are entrusted with our Foreign Relations must be wise as serpents and harmless as doves so that the need for military effort shall be held or reduced to the lowest possible point."

He urged the men "entrusted with the military effort" to "direct every dollar to the point of greatest effectiveness, and force every dollar based on traditional practice, corporate pride, or dispensable ceremony."

Chinese Reds Again Threatening Nanking

Nanking, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The critical battle for Central China appeared today to be shifting from Suchow to the very approaches of this Chinese capital.

It was learned reliably that the estimated 200,000 Nationalist troops at Suchow, defense bastion for Nanking, have been ordered to withdraw southward to engage the main Chinese Communist forces.

The outcome of the entire battle for Nanking may depend on the ability of the Suchow garrison to make the withdrawal. The Reds are concentrating in the areas of Suzhen and Pengpu, rail cities on Nanking's approaches.

There has been no indication that the withdrawal order is being carried out—as yet—although it was made several days ago. Suchow still is getting supplies by planes, which are taking out wounded.

The battle for Suchow has raged three weeks. Its abandonment would indicate that the government regards as more critical the developing struggle in the 211 miles between here and Suchow. Earlier reports from the fronts indicated that the Communists have left secondary troops to engage Nationalists within the Suchow perimeter.

The main Red strength of nearly 500,000 troops was reported heading south toward Pengpu, 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

The Communists already hold Suzhen, 45 miles south of Suchow. An estimated 140,000 government troops—regarded as inferior to those at Suchow—oppose the Reds at Suzhen.

Farther southward, and mostly in the Pengpu area, are another 50,000 Nationalists.

If the estimates of the opposing sides are about correct, the urgency of withdrawing Suchow's defenders to help government forces to the south appears clear. The Reds seem to hold more than a 2 to 1 numerical advantage over the government on the road to Nanking).

Japs File Plea With High Court

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Two wartime Japanese leaders, condemned to hang as war criminals, asked the United States Supreme court today to save their lives.

East Coast Dock Area Again Busy As Walkout Ends

New York Waterfront Hums And Long Labor Peace Predicted By Joseph Ryan

New York, Nov. 28.—(AP)—East Coast docks hummed with activity today after a paralyzing 18-day strike of longshoremen.

New York's waterfront returned to the familiar clatter of pier trucks and escalators yesterday as 2,900 men reported for Sunday work following settlement of the strike.

And a union chief said all 45,000 longshoremen and 20,000 clerks and handlers would be working today in ports from Maine to Virginia.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, also predicted "peace along the waterfront for a long time to come."

There were new prospects of peace on the strike-bound Pacific Coast also.

CIO longshoremen in the three major West Coast ports have approved a proposed new contract following its endorsement Saturday by the Waterfront Employers Association.

About 2,700 longshoremen voted yesterday in Los Angeles to end the 89-day-old maritime strike. The day before San Francisco Bay area longshoremen and more than 1,200 in Seattle took similar action. There still were several wrinkles to be ironed out, however, before West Coast shipping could come to life.

As the shipping blockade was lifted along a 700-mile stretch of the Atlantic Coast, the picture in the hard-hit Port of New York was made even brighter by settlement of a week-long strike of 3,000 of the city's truckmen in a pay dispute.

The Atlantic Coast longshoremen strike, which had paralyzed shipping and slowed down many dependent industries, came to an end when the IILA dockers voted nine-to-one on Saturday to accept a peace formula.

The men won several benefits, including a 13-cent increase in the day-shift straight-time pay to $1.84 an hour and an increase of 19 1/2 cents in the night and head-end overtime rate to $2.25 an hour. The IILA also demanded a 25-cent increase of 25 and 27 1/2 cents.

Orders Drop Off For Furniture

New York, Nov. 28.—(AP)—New furniture orders in October dropped 8 per cent from September, Feldman & Feldman, certified public accountants, reported today.

This reversed the usual pattern. In former years October topped September. The furniture industry accounts also reported cancellations amounted to 14 per cent of new orders booked, compared with the average 6 or 7 per cent.

Highway Deaths Lead N.C. Toll

By The Associated Press

At least 10 persons died by violence in North Carolina over the weekend. Highway deaths were dangerous by rain took the greatest toll.

An empty tanker hit a bridge abutment near Concord and the two occupants burned to death when the car took fire. They were identified as Guy Brown, of Concord, the driver, and John A. Beaver, 33, a Davidson policeman. The tanker, owned by the Carolina Oil Company, was en route from Concord to Wilmington.

Experts Propose Junking All Of Taft-Hartley Law

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—President Truman and his labor lieutenants begin this week to shape the labor policy of his new administration.

Chief item, because of the Truman campaign pledges, is repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and writing a new labor law.

Setting the stage for that today, a team of labor department attorneys was ready with a report to Mr. Truman on what should go into his "state of the union" message to the new Congress in January.

The lawyers, skilled at industrial relations and drafting of laws, were selected by Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin to draw up the recommendations.

They will propose that Mr. Truman appeal to the new Democratic-controlled House and Senate to junk the Taft-Hartley act—opposed by labor leaders—and substitute a compromise which would merge some features of the 1947 law and the Wagner act of 1935.

The labor department advisers also will suggest that the President offer a specific compromise bill to Congress to accompany the Taft-Hartley repeal measure.

This may not be popular with the AFL and CIO, whose conventions demanded outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and restoration of the Wagner act. Both big labor groups showed they were willing to proceed with "reasonable" changes after the Wagner act is re-enacted but they want that as the starting point.

Israel Applies For Entry Into UN; Approval Lively

Paris, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Israel applied formally today for membership in the United Nations.

Britain, which has been lukewarm to the new state carved from Palestine, "will in no circumstance make use of its privileged vote to bar the admission to the United Nations of any state which secures an unqualified majority of seven votes in the Security Council."

Sir Alexander Cadogan told the U. N. second political committee. Britain is expected to abstain.

Benjamin V. Cohen, U. S. delegate, told the committee France, China, the U. S. and Britain agreed on the principle of not vetoing membership. Russia, which has used 12 vetoes to block applications, has indicated support for Israel.

The Jewish state applied for a world vote exactly a year after the U. N. General Assembly voted to split Palestine between the Jews and Arabs.

The first U. N. political committee was debating a Russian and Polish resolution calling for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Palestine. Mahmoud Bey Fawzi of Egypt declared troops of Arab countries in Palestine "are the least foreign of all."

He said the Russian delegate "didn't say a word about the hordes coming from central Europe and more especially eastern Europe."

Israeli sources said they are confident Israel will receive the necessary seven of the 11 votes on the Security Council and the needed two-thirds majority in the general assembly. There are six Arab members which bitterly oppose Israel's entry.

The committee voted 22 to 16 to take up this provision contained in the Polish and Russian resolutions. The United States and Britain joined Russia in voting for the proposal, six nations abstained from the vote.

The vote came after the political committee began what may be the final debate on Palestine at the present general assembly. It took up the plan prepared by a working group for discussions of the various resolutions and amendments that have been offered on the Holy Land.

Prime Minister Peter Franks of New Zealand urged the committee to act quickly.

"The world is tired of hearing debates on this problem," he said. "It's time to get down to business."

The Israeli application first goes from Lie to the 11-nation Security Council. Seven affirmative votes are needed for approval before the application can go to the Assembly for action.

Any of the big five—the U. S., France, Russia, Britain and China—could veto the application in the Security Council but none now is expected to do so.

Russia and the United States both support Israel's claim to U. N. membership.

Push Production In West Germany

Berlin, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A military government economist said today western Germany has increased production to three quarters of normal and will be self supporting by 1952, with the end of ERP assistance.

The economist, Phillips Hawkins, Deputy Economic advisor to the military governor, said production in the western zones had increased from 36 per cent of normal before currency reform last summer to 73.4 per cent of normal now.

His statements were made to a group of correspondents brought from Paris where they had been covering the United Nations assembly.

Steel production now is at the rate of 7,000,000 tons a year compared with half that amount four months ago. Coal production has reached 326,000 tons a month, an increase from 220,000 tons before currency reform was undertaken.

In contrast, Hawkins said the Soviet zone production had fallen 50 per cent of what it was before currency reform. This was due, he said, to the blockade which the Russians imposed June 23. Now the Russian zone is suffering acute shortage of coal and other materials needed to keep their zone's factories going.

The counter blockade imposed by the western powers not only hurt the Russian zone's industry but left much coal in the western zone which would have been allocated to the East.

Tar River Rising

Rainfall in the Greenville area during November, up to 8 a. m. today totaled 10.32 inches, Mrs. C. E. Maiden observer here for the U. S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau reported today. This is four times more than the average November precipitation.

The highest temperature reported here Sunday was 53 degrees, lowest, 45 degrees.

Tar River at Greenville is steadily rising as a result of up-state and local rains. The river was at the 10:52 level Sunday, and at noon today it was at the 11:52-foot level, and steadily rising, an official report said. The normal river level here is about six feet.

Madame Chiang's Trip Gets Little Official Note

Fountain Starts Sanitation Drive

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek's arrival here this week is expected to touch off a fresh drive to get the United States to underwrite China's war against its Communist foe.

Authoritative informants said today that as the Chinese President's wife she will be shown "every courtesy" but they made clear privately they have little sympathy with Madame Chiang's unofficial mission.

This attitude has been openly shown in the hands-off policy the State Department has tried to follow as far as possible in dealing with her trip in announcing Saturday night that she would travel here in a U.S. naval transport plane that department emphasized that this was made "at her request."

There was no expression of welcome and no official word on arrangements which might be made to expedite her mission after the scheduled arrival Wednesday.

The fact is, Madame Chiang's trip dramatizes a dilemma in which the Chinese crisis.

On the one hand, according to responsible informants, they wish to avoid any word or action which might embarrass the Chiang government in its struggle with the Communists. And they are hopeful some way may be found by which the United States can help to prevent a Communist conquest of all China.

On the other hand, the Administration leaders appear to have lost confidence in Chiang's ability to reorganize his military and political strength so as to halt the Communist tide and eventually reverse it.

Feeling thus, they apparently consider it impossible for the United States to underwrite Chiang's war with an all-out aid program which would involve an estimated expenditure of several billions of dollars over the next few years.

Some authorities speculate, moreover, that if the United States became deeply involved in the Orient struggle it might eventually be confronted with a decision on whether to send American troops to fight there.

Mayor J. H. Boyd Jr., who has been ill several weeks, is recuperating satisfactorily at his home, 123 West Seventh Street.

Bramuglia Sends New 'Solution' To Four Powers

Paris, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia said today he had sent to the Big Four powers his newest formula for settling the Berlin blockade crisis.

Argentine sources said the plan covers three points:

1. Bramuglia, as November president of the Security Council, would appoint an expert commission to study the Berlin currency issue.

2. The Security Council would recommend lifting the Berlin blockade, its full implementation to coincide with the introduction of the Soviet mark as the German city's sole currency in accord with the commission's findings.

3. An explanatory communication by Bramuglia on behalf of the six smaller powers on the council, which are pressing for the compromise.

Last Rites For Woman Senator

Sylvia, N. C., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Funeral services were held in the Sylvia Methodist church today for Mrs. Gertrude McKee, clubwoman, educator, and first woman to serve in the North Carolina Senate.

She died of a heart attack at her home here Saturday night.

Mrs. McKee was a Senator from Jackson county in the legislative sessions of 1931, 1937 and 1943, and was elected for a fourth term last Nov. 2.

Many Areas Hit By Bad Weather

Chicago, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The elements hit the nation in various forms yesterday. Floods and high winds struck the south. Rain and snow plagued many areas.

At least five persons were killed in automobile accidents attributed to the weather. Another was missing.

Parents Pay In Cherub's Faulty Economic Program

New York, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Ronnie Sue Moskowitz, an angelic-looking four-year-old with big brown eyes, has her own share-the-wealth plan.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moskowitz, are the victims. A couple of months ago, Mama caught the little blonde peeling 5¢ bills from daddy's bankroll and tossing them out a window of their Brooklyn apartment.

Grateful passersby pocketed eight of them before mama put an economy program into effect.

Last Saturday, Ronnie threw two diamond rings, valued at $1,500, into the garbage because "mama wasn't wearing them."

To make matters worse, the maid dumped the garbage into the incinerator.

Daddy, proprietor of several stores, signed his hands in an unsuccessful attempt to fish the rings out of the incinerator. Then he went to a night club with his wife and friends to "celebrate" his 25th birthday anniversary.

Yesterday, two policemen poked around in the ashes and recovered the rings. Daddy said he would take them to a jeweler to learn the amount of damage.

Business Is Still Good In Spite Of Few Weak Signs

Leaders See Portents Of Possible Danger In Mixed Business Trends

New York, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Business as a whole is still good despite signs of weakness in several important directions, an Associated Press survey of strategic regions showed today.

Business leaders studied anxiously such straws in the economic wind as these:

(1) A decline in department store sales.

(2) Scattered shutdowns or layoffs in some companies.

(3) Easing agricultural prices.

(4) Some business expansion plans either cancelled or postponed.

(5) An uneasy inertia in textiles and other soft goods.

The question was: Are these real danger signals this time? Or are they false alarms, like the one which early in 1947 and again at the beginning of this year caused recession worries?

A check of the business pulse in six regional areas of the nation showed a mixed trend. Layoffs, for example, were becoming more frequent in New England and the Middle Atlantic states—but employment was still swinging upward in the Southwest. Prices were easing in the South, but still edging higher in the Midwest.

In the Southeast, employment showed increases over last year in all categories except transportation industries like shipbuilding. Greatest increases were in paper and chemicals and their allied industries.

A general expansion of business was underway across the Southeast. September construction contracts topped those of the previous September by 18 per cent. Home building declined in the Atlanta area last month but 1,765 homes were started during the first 10 months of this year as against 7,000 during the whole of 1947.

However, some retail merchants questioned over the 1947 trend, which was somewhat better than the first two weeks of November. Food stores topped those of the previous September by 18 per cent. Home building declined in the Atlanta area last month but 1,765 homes were started during the first 10 months of this year as against 7,000 during the whole of 1947.

Agricultural cash receipts for the first nine months of 1948 in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas totaled over $2,021,000,000, or $125,000,000 higher than for the same period last year.

Dealer Admits 'Friends First' In Selling Cars

Washington, Nov. 28.—(AP)—One of the nation's largest Chevrolet dealers admitted to Congressional investigators today that his "very personal friends and very good customers" get new cars more quickly than other people. So do Congress members, he said.

But Benjamin Ourisman, President of two District of Columbia, Chevrolet agencies, insisted his firms follow waiting lists "as far as is humanly possible."

Ourisman was the first witness as a House subcommittee headed by Rep. Macey (R-NY) resumed public hearings today on the sales policies of capital area automobile firms.

He said his salesmen do not give preference to prospective buyers who have used cars to trade in.

FIRE DAMAGED DWELLING

Fire originating from a stove in the kitchen of the dwelling, 1300 Clark street, about noon, gutted the kitchen and damaged other parts of the house, firemen reported. The alarm came from box 221. Johnny Price, colored, occupied the house. Mrs. Travis Hooker owned it.

Some Strange Ideas

Talk About One World; Two Old Allies Like England And America Have Some Strange Ideas About Each Other; Peoples Should Get Better Acquainted

By DeWITT MCKENNER

The British Colonial Office tells us that 3 per cent of Britons think the United States still is one of the colonies.

I never heard that one before, but am not surprised. Having lived in England many years I encountered some extraordinary notions about my native land and its people.

For one thing the average Briton has no idea of the vast expanse of America. Because he is able to move about his snug little island so easily he is utterly flabbergasted to learn that it is more than a short ride by train from New York to Chicago, or to the West Coast, for that matter.

Many folks believe that savage Indians still rove the Plains near Chicago. They also think (perhaps due to our motion picture westerns) that the "Wild West" is full of two-gun men who shoot from the hip. Gangsterism is a predominant feature of our life, they believe.

Quite apart from these strange beliefs, the British also find many oddities in our characteristics and habits. They want to know, for example, why Americans talk through their noses (as, of course, some of us do) quite overlooking the fact that the people in some parts of Britain also have a nasal twang. Our designation of a "lift" as an "elevator" passes understanding.

Our idea of drinking cold water for breakfast is utterly revolting. I was having the morning meal one time with my good friend Sir Philip Gibbs, the noted author, and he suffered in silence for some time while I sipped my water. Finally, he exploded:

"Mac, I wish you wouldn't drink that filthy, cold stuff for breakfast. It makes me positively ill."

However, we are wandering from our subject, which has to do with England's mistaken ideas about America. It's all too true that there is widespread misunderstanding and this is due to lack of public interest. England is pretty much self-contained in this particular.

Of course it is equally true that America has some strange ideas about Britain, though my observation is that we know vastly more about England than she does about us. Apropos of this, Lord Halifax made a neat quip in a recent speech before the English-speaking Union in Britain. He said "The people in the United States are almost as pleased to see that Princess Elizabeth

Christian Science Service
"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Allas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, Nov. 28.

Golden Text: Isaiah 59: 19. "When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him."

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "If there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a sign or a wonder, Thou shalt not hearken to the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: Ye shall walk after the Lord your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and obey his voice, and ye shall serve him, and cleave unto him" (Deuteronomy 13: 1, 3, 4). And from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism, hypnotism, spiritualism, theosophy, agnosticism, pantheism, and infidelity are antagonistic to true beings, and fatal to its demonstration" (page 123).

Funeral services will be conducted at 8 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. H. G. Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, and Rev. R. W. Bradshaw, Methodist minister of Wilson. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Tilghman, son of Mrs. Mary P. Tilghman of Greenville, and the late John W. Tilghman, was a native of Martin County. He had lived in Washington before coming to Greenville a number of years ago. He was associated with the Texas Company for about 18 years and was a member of Eighth Street

Christian Church. Surviving are his mother; three brothers, Ernest L. Tilghman of the home and J. Harvey and Sam Tilghman of Norfolk; a sister, Mrs. Jessie T. Everett of Norfolk; and five nieces and nephews.

Predecessors of modern, British restaurants were coffee houses and taverns, which had a daily "ordinary"—a dinner or supper served at a common table and generally for a fixed price.

Entertain White Shrine Officers

The officers of Greenville White Shrine were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fenner Corbett on Friday evening, Nov. 26, with Mr. and Mrs. Milos Branch assisting. The president, Mrs. Carrie Mumford, conducted a short business session.

A social hour, with games directed by Mrs. T. I. Moore and Mrs. J. B. Jackson, followed. Prizes were won by Mrs. Kelly Rowe and T. I. Moore. A delicious salad course was served by the hostess.

Christmas Bazaar This Week

The annual Christmas Bazaar of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Thursday and Friday in the Parish House on East Fourth Street. Some of the finest hand-work to be offered for sale in this section of the state will fill the booths at the Bazaar.

Those who are seeking finer gifts for children, infants, and babies will find a wide selection from which to choose in the hand-embroidered articles in this booth. Attractive dolls, delicately dressed, will also be offered, along with complete hand-made wardrobes.

Rummy, Dumplings, Ginger-bread Animals, Bean Bags and other stuffed dolls and toys will be a delight to those who are seeking Aprons for "dress-up," and aprons for work will be found at the Apron Booth.

The booth containing the preserves, relishes, jellies, cakes, and candies will undoubtedly be a stopping place for all who visit the Bazaar. The household and kitchen booth will contain many practical and useful articles.

A Garden booth will supply Christmas decorations as well as potted plants and the like, and the "White Elephant" table may have that very special article you have been seeking for some time.

With the assistance of almost every woman in the church, the various booth chairmen have been working throughout the year in making and accumulating the many gifts to be offered.

Recreation Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the City Recreation Commission will meet tonight at the public library at 7:45. Subjects of vital interest to all members will be discussed and it is hoped for a full attendance.

St. Raphael's P. T. A. to Meet

There will be a P. T. A. meeting at St. Raphael's school Wednesday, December 1, at 2:30. There will be a program and refreshments. All members are urged to attend.

MODERN SPIRITUAL COMPLACENCY

A magazine has recently taken a glib inquiry into the religious views of what they consider a cross section of American society. They find that practically everybody believes in God, disbelieves in hell, and expects to go to heaven. The over-all picture is that of spiritual complacency. There is almost a complete absence of a sense of guilt for any moral evil on the part of the American people. No doubt this condition arises from a number of causes. First of all, there has been very little religious education in the home in the past 25 years. The preachers have often toned down the Biblical message of final judgment and have preached that everyone who is good-natured and kindly will pass the pearly gates. Again, many ancient evils have been rechristened as smart modern customs. Most influential of all, we have passed through two world wars, and the moral and spiritual life of the world has been blasted to rubble just as many of the cities have been. It is interesting to note that no generation has really got hold of itself spiritually until it has begun to beat its breast and to realize a profound sense of guilt.

Around Capitol Square

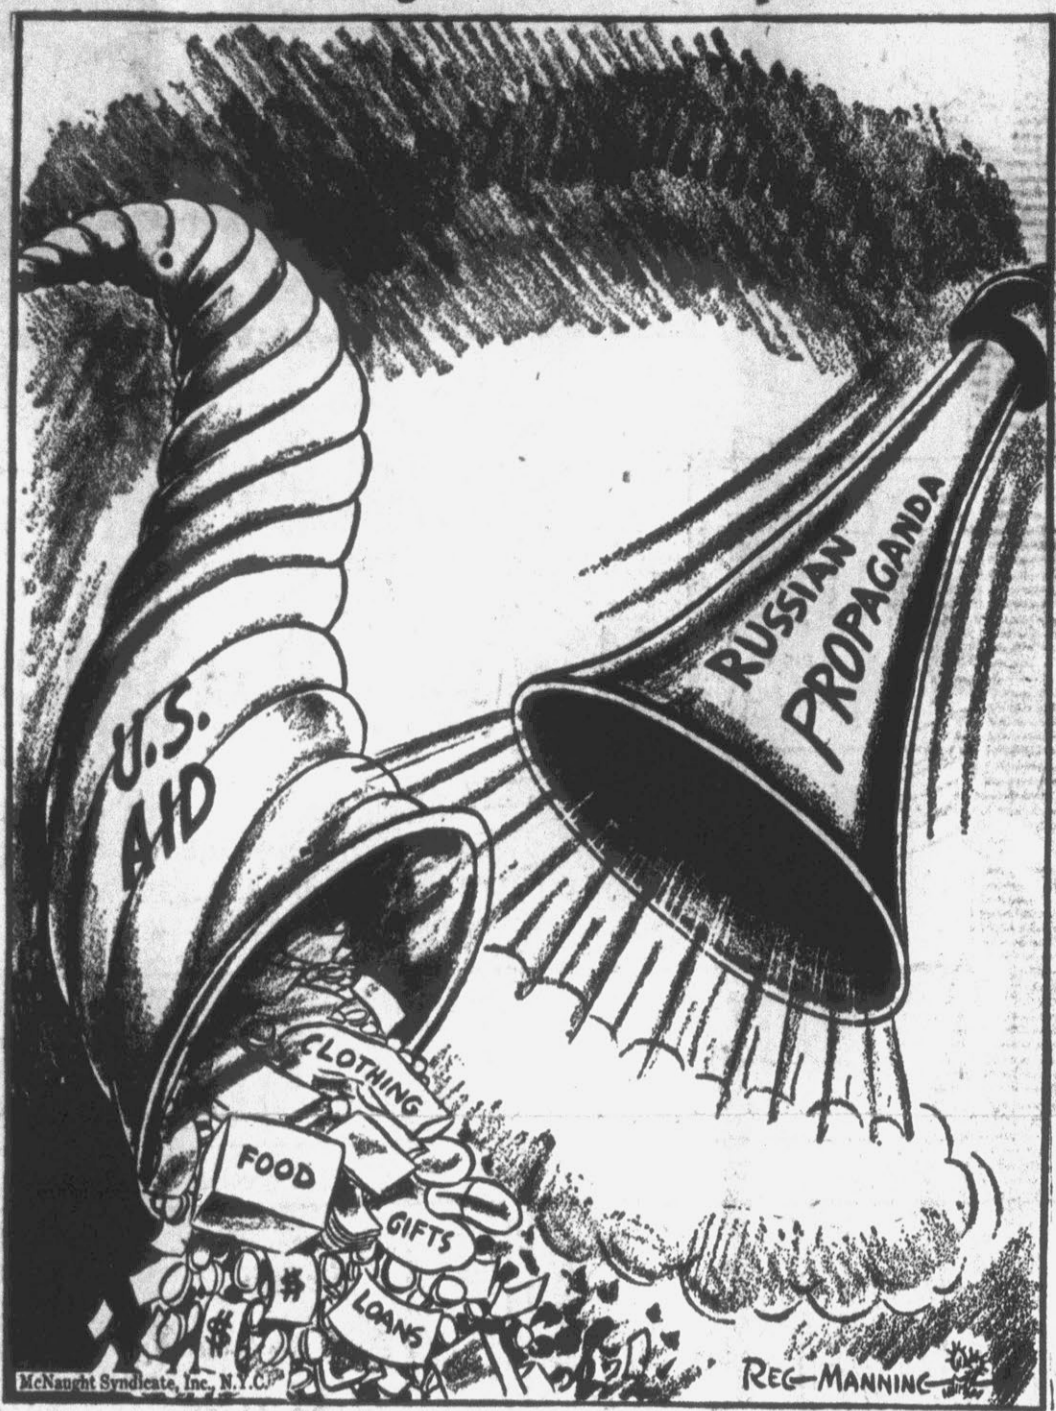

By LYNN NISBET

"CONSULTED"—Statements often made last week that Governor-elect Kerr Scott did not participate in preparation of the advisory budget recommendations to the general assembly, and that L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, was not consulted about the budget for that department, have been charged as inaccurate. There seems to be different meanings attached to the words "participation" and "consultation." FACTS—Fact is Scott sat with the budget commission during the period of public hearings, but was not present while the real job of translating department requests into recommendations was handled. He did provide some suggestions for consideration of the commission. Ballentine accepted invitation to attend a meeting of the board of agriculture when division heads presented their needs for the next biennium but was not in on the main job of trimming and adjusting these several requests for compilation of the budget commission. IMPORTANT—Obviously, final preparation of items to be presented to the commission is the most important part of budget making for the departments. Just as obviously, the final report to the general assembly is the most important part of the budget commission's work. Preliminary visits to institutions and public hearings are means of gathering information upon which to base the final recommendations. So, while it may be slightly inaccurate to say Scott and Ballentine did not have part in budget proceedings, it is true that neither was on hand when executive consideration was given the assembled facts and when final budget amounts were determined.

FAULT—Maybe this wasn't the particular fault or any individual but is inherent in the system which requires outgoing officials to prepare the budget for the incoming administration. Some observers think there should be statutory requirement for the new officials to participate in budget activities, instead of the existing courtesy arrangement. SUGGESTIONS—After all the bother last week about Kerr Scott being "left" and about his "running out on the budget commission" it has been learned that he did not ignore the budget. Although he was not present in person, and none of his officials would tell anything of his whereabouts—if they knew—the governor-elect DID send a memorandum to the budget commission suggesting how he would like to have some items handled.

SECRET—This information did not leak until well after the budget group had recessed its executive session. If it had been known earlier much of the criticism directed at Governor-elect Scott would have been alleviated. If not avoided entirely, fact that it did not get out is perhaps tribute to the way budget commission members respect the obligation of secrecy concerning their executive meetings. It is common knowledge around conditions are among the very few things that just can't be found out until they are presented to the legislature. DEFINITIONS—We come back to definitions of words. All last week members of the advisory budget commission and others were critical of Scott for not "participating" and giving benefit of his counsel at their meetings. It now appears he did participate, at least to the extent of expressing his ideas on major items. There remains some resentment for that he did not advise Governor Cherry or other members of the budget group he would not be present in person, as he had led them to expect he would be. The fact he did send a memorandum belies the accusation he ignored the budget-makers. Kerr Scott just does things differently from a lot of other folks.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—Once upon a time there was born a two-headed little boy. The parents were quite startled at first. Even dismayed. But their kind neighbors all made a big fuss over the baby, saying things like: "Yes, sir, you've really got something there." "Well, two heads are better than one." So the parents became quite proud of their unusual offspring. They named one head Homer, and the other Horace. Homer-Horace grew up to be a strong rugged boy—the envy and despair of classmates. Horace was a dreamy intellectual, who by the age of 12 had read practically every book ever written. Horace was the active outdoor type, played in the school band, was a star in mathematics and quarterback and captain of the football team. They graduated at the top of their class—what Horace didn't know, Homer did—and everybody predicted a brilliant future. But landing a job proved more difficult than they expected. It seemed the business world had no place for a man with two heads, even though Homer-Horace offered to work for one salary. Over and over they got the same depressing answer: "What we're looking for, boys, is a man with four hands—instead of two heads." For a time they teamed up in a "before and after" demonstration of a hair tonic in a department store window. Homer mussed up his hair and posed as "before." Horace, whose hair was neatly combed, represented "after." In a single week sales of the tonic dropped to zero. Homer-Horace was fired. "I'm sorry, you all," said the manager. "But our customers are getting the idea that if they use that hair tonic they'll grow an extra head." At home Homer-Horace became quite a financial problem to their parents. Their double appetite made the family food bills ruinous. "Sometimes," sighed the father, "I almost wish that boy had been born with one head." One day Homer-Horace passed a radio theater just as the crowd was filling in to watch a giveaway quiz show. Wary from their job quest, they slipped in, too, hoping for a chance to rest their feet. But the announcer spotted them at once. "Come up on the stage and get on the program," he whispered. "A glass of beer has a better head on it than most of the folks here this afternoon." A moment later, despite minor cries of "unfair, unfair" by some lady contestants, Homer-Horace were on the air. "Who composed Gray's 'Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard?'" asked the master of ceremonies. "Thomas Gray," snapped Horace. The audience broke into a storm of amazed applause. "How many men are there in a male quartet?" said the M.C. "Four!" barked Homer, the mathematical wizard. Again the audience handclapped its surprise wonder. The rest is history. Homer-Horace became the overnight sensation of the giveaways. They won contest after contest. No one could quit them down. Their father opened an agency to sell all the new cars, refrigerators and washing machines that Homer-Horace gained as prizes. Wealth flowed into their humble cottage, and their dear old mother was half-strangled in mink coats. "And to think," she cooed her husband happily, "when Homer-Horace was born, you wanted to sue the stork!" Moral: Today you never can be sure what'll get you ahead in the world—particularly in radio.

Gold can be extracted from the sea, but the cost is greater than the value of the metal. Renoir, one of the great French painters, was the son of a tailor and was apprenticed to a porcelain manufacturer when 13 years of age.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By BILL ROSS (for Jane Eads)

Washington — Dr. George A. Schwegmann wants to fix it so you can "read" current and classic best-sellers merely by listening to them at your convenience. As Director of the Division of the Blind for the Library of Congress, he heads a vast "talking book" program now benefiting many of the 230,000 sightless adults in the United States.

But Mr. Schwegmann is plugging for the day when talking books will be available to the sighted—as well as the blind—through regular public libraries and book stores. At latest count, 37,382 blind readers were registered for the free talking book service. Costs are borne by federal appropriations.

The talking book is not a new-fangled postwar gadget. Basically it is an electric phonograph. The first ones were distributed in 1934 under the old WPA, but the program didn't really get rolling until after V-J Day. Improved models now are being produced by a private concern here. They are designed expressly for operation by the sightless. The machines play special 12-inch discs, 15 minutes on each side.

Recordings of current books—and oldies much in demand—take most of the year-to-year cash of the project. Nearly 1,450 titles are now available. But one book is far above all others in popularity. It is the Bible. Recorded, it takes up 169 discs and 36 hours. Twelve to 18 discs comprise the average book. Records are loaned for two weeks. The special phonographs are placed with "readers" on a free, life-time loan. Some 5,000 new machines have been distributed in the past 12 months. Another 7,500 will be in use by year's end.

Under Dr. Schwegmann's watchful eye, a 10-year program is under way to add 7,500 machines annually if finances permit. He estimates 75,000 phonographs could supply all the nation's blind who desire to read by listening. The doctor declares that little censorship is exerted in selection of books to be recorded for the blind. "All we ask is that the books be popular and in good taste," he said. Dr. Schwegmann took over the reins of the project last summer from Dr. Xenophon P. Smith, who sparked the postwar awakening of the program.

Last year the Division of the Blind used $974,000 of the taxpayers' money — including talking books, braille books, and other projects. And Congressmen agree that it will probably get its appropriation next year without any whoopee-doo.

Psychiatrist To Study Boy Killers

Clayton, Mich., Nov. 28—(AP)—A quiet, stoop-shouldered, 10-year-old third grader and two of his playmates will be examined by a psychiatrist Wednesday in an effort to find out why they shot and killed an elderly woodchopper.

Probate Judge Frank Libcke said he would take the three children to the Central Michigan Children's Clinic of the James Decker Munson Hospital at Traverse City.

The boys are Richard Damer, 13; his brother, Harry, 10, and Robert Mack, 12, all of nearby Vanderbilt.

The victim was Arthur King, 66, also of Vanderbilt.

Harry has admitted firing the bullet that killed King Nov. 18, according to State Trooper Glen Tanner and Otsego County Prosecutor Paul Kenny.

The other two boys admitted shooting at King several times but insisted they missed, Tanner and Kenny said.

Burley Tobacco Auctions Begin

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 29—(AP)—Tobacco auctioneers went into action in the eight-state Burley tobacco belt today as the 1946 crop, estimated to be the fourth largest ever grown, went on sale.

Fifty markets, 27 of them in Kentucky, were ready to start auctions at 9 a. m. local time. Sales during the first week will be held five hours daily with an hour's noon recess. Sales will be conducted five days a week, Monday through Friday, and will be held four hours daily, starting at 10 a. m. beginning the second week.

Officers Arrest Two Women On Liquor Charges

ABC Officers J. M. Ward, J. L. Taylor and Claude Manning, while making their usual wide range rounds during the weekend, arrested two colored women for alleged violations of the liquor laws.

The officers, while searching the premises of Della Wilson, colored, of the Stick Road section of Paulsboro Township Saturday, found one gallon of moonshine whiskey hidden under her house, arrested her and confiscated the booze.

Saturday afternoon the same officers, assisted by Winterville Police Chief Jim Buck, arrested Lucille Waller, colored of Winterville while she was in the act of trying to destroy half a gallon of moonshine whiskey in her house, they said.

Both defendants will be tried before Judge Dink James in County Court Tuesday.

Police Investigate Series Of Robberies

Police are investigating a series of attempted robberies of stores and offices here during the week-end.

Reports were made to the department that robbers broke into the Imperial Tobacco Company's plant and stole a revolver; that they broke a glass to unlock a door at the place formerly occupied by the Lane Packing Company in the Greene street side of the Young Building, and carried away a half a bag of peanuts from the Dixie Warehouse.

FIFTEEN YELLOW PILLS

A recent development in medical research is said definitely to cure malaria, long a scourge in certain sections of the country. These small pills a day for five days and symptoms disappear. It is also claimed that four pills a week during the malarial season will serve to prevent the malarial. All of the fruits of medical research are available to you through your family physician. He should be your sanctuary in case of illness, your protection against the wiles and artifices of the unprincipled peddler of nostrums.

Will Fight Boost In Tobacco Quota

Raleigh, Nov. 22 —(AP)— North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation leaders are going to work against any increase in the announced 1949 quota for flue-cured tobacco.

A resolution adopted at a meeting here Saturday expressed opposition to any further boost in the new acreage quota, which the U.S. Department of Agriculture has tentatively announced will be five percent higher than in 1948.

Farm Bureau officers were instructed to "use their influence accordingly and to carefully evaluate existing conditions prior to the final determination of quotas for the 1949 crop."

In other resolutions, the more than 77 Federation leaders present urged:
1. Support of all basic commodities at 90 percent of parity.
2. Changing from June to April the time at which farmers can begin moving corn through government channels, as a means of encouraging production.

Officer Arrests Man In The Act Taking Chickens

By CHESTER WALSH
Police arrested Clarence Atkinson, 35-year-old Negro, employed at a nearby service station, Saturday morning between 5:30 and 6 o'clock and charged him with the larceny of dressed chickens from a storage house in the rear of the A and P Grocery Store on Dickinson Avenue near the railroad. The investigating officer testified in Police Court today that he watched Atkinson put the chickens in a box and arrested him as he started to leave. Police had had numerous complaints of theft of chickens from the storage house.

In Police Court today, Judge Jimmy Roberts gave Atkinson two years on the roads, sentence suspended, and placed him on probation for five years, and he was ordered to pay $25 on court costs and $106 to the Seafood Company of Raleigh. Numerous persons testified to Atkinson's good character and pleaded with the court to give him another chance. "The Crutchfieldian jurist compiled in his Solomon-like manner, and court officials, officers and the courtroom spectators approved," an observer in the courtroom remarked pleasantly.

Students Voiced Opinions On Key Legislative Issues

The second annual Student Congress, sponsored by the Greenville High School chapter of the National Forensic League, adjourned after its two-day sessions at the City Hall here Saturday. Luncheon was served the legislators and others at the Airport Inn.

At the luncheon, Frederick Brooks, president of the Greenville High School Chapter of the National Forensic League, and Gertrude Earl, president of the Johnson City (Tenn.) chapter, were recognized. They made interesting and eloquent after-dinner speeches.

Stella Starting, first grade pupil in the Greenville schools, entertained at the luncheon with a song and dance act with Joyce Lee Jackson, first grade pupil in the Winterville school.

Robert E. Starting, Greenville High School faculty adviser for the National Forensic Club, commended the temporary legislators on the success of the Congress.

The 30 Senators and 43 House members passed six laws and adopted one resolution before departing from the city to return to the six North Carolina and one Tennessee towns which sent legislators here to "practice" the lawmaking business.

Two Greenville students, Fredrick Brooks in the Senate and Sam Northrop in the House, were elected by secret ballot as the outstanding chairmen. Gertrude Earl, Johnson City, Tenn., was voted the best speaker in the Senate. Voting the first honor for debate on the House floor resulted in a three-way tie including Betty Breeden of Johnson City, and Billy Tucker and Ray Sears of Greenville.

Legislation was enacted to abolish poll tax requirements for voting, to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee, to provide relief for the Navajo Indians, to aid weak nations in Central and South America, to widen the Panama Canal, and to lower the voting age to 18.

One resolution was adopted unanimously, favoring the immediate establishment of a police force for the United Nations.

A bill establishing a federal housing program passed the Senate, but was defeated by one vote in the House.

A Senate resolution favoring the establishment of a world government likewise failed in the House. Legislation providing television for Congress was defeated two to one.

National Forensic League Advisers Lucy Ethel Price of Johnson City in the House of Representatives, and Robert E. Starting of Greenville in the Senate, served as parliamentarians for the legislative sessions.

Women In The Church

In a ceremony at the National Cathedral of Mount Saint Alban, in Washington, D.C., led by Bishop Angus Dun and Dean John W. Suter, girls representing the Young Women's Christian Associations of the 48 states and of Hawaii, recently presented donations of $163,938 for the use of YWCA's in thirty foreign lands, most of them crippled by war conditions. The YWCA is now organized in sixty-five nations.

The United Council of Church Women—representing some eighty of the largest groups of Protestant women in the United States, and with a total membership in excess of 25,000,000—at its recent biennial meeting in Milwaukee, Wis., voted a number of resolutions calling for action in the social and political fields, and urging local women's organizations to work toward the goals of the resolutions. One said that racial discrimination and segregation within the armed services are inimical to the democratic way of life: "We, therefore, call upon the Federal government to establish a non-segregated and non-discriminatory pattern in all federally-administered establishments in our country and in the territories." Another resolution favored the International Bill of Rights now under discussion in the UN, urged all women to familiarize themselves with its contents, and called for guarding of "respect for human personality" and no letting down of the right of the accused to have counsel, to confront the witnesses against him, to present his own witnesses, and to have a jury trial. A third resolution urged church women to work for federal and state aid to provide adequate schooling for all, but urged also: no federal control of education, no racial discrimination in educational facilities, and continued separation of church and state.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, of Rochester, N.Y., well-known Protestant Episcopal churchwoman and leader in social welfare movements, has been re-elected president of the United Council of Church Women for a period of two years. Assisting her are seven vice-presidents: Mrs. David D. Jones, Greensboro, N.C.; Mrs. John M. Hanna, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. David Jorgensen, of Altadena, Calif.; Mrs. Charles Gilkey, Yarmouth, Mass.; Mrs. J. Quinter Miller, New York City; Mrs. A. H. Sterne, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Wilson Compton, Pullman, Wash. Miss Gertrude Vint, New York City, is treasurer; Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson, Louisville, Ky., recording secretary.

Cadets And Middies Call Deadlock Mutual Triumph

Philadelphia, Nov. 29—(AP)—Football's equivalent of the hot stove league will have a new one to chew on this winter when the talk turns to Army-Navy games.

The old timers who speak reverently of Navy's 6-4 squeeze in '33 or Army's 40-5 romp in '35 will have to move over for the youngsters who thrilled to the 21-21 deadlock of '48.

Saturday's battle here before 102,581 persons in Municipal Stadium was that kind of game—full of intense excitement, gentlemanly fury and spectacular football.

Both teams went home to victory celebrations. At Annapolis yesterday 2,000 Midshipment chanted "We beat Army." The victory bell that's reserved for Navy victories over the Cadets was pounded lustily by the Middies.

The "victory wagon" met the Army team at the West Point station, just as it would have if the Cadets had come out on top as expected. It was a conquerors' welcome.

Downtrodden Navy showed from the kickoff that it thought it had at least an even chance against Earl Blak's unbeaten platoons.

The Middies marched 88 yards to score the second time they got the ball. The Cadets didn't make a first down in the first quarter. Army ran the show in the second period, tying the score at 7-7, then hurrying back to gain a 14-7 halftime advantage.

Both touchdowns were set up on beautiful passes by Arnold Galliffa to Dave Parrish.

Navy came back the length of the field with Bill Hawkins going over to tie the score. Hawkins, playing with a taped up arm and shoulder, later bucked over for the final tying touchdown to climax a 50-yard crunch-crunch drive that gained four yards at a clip.

Navy settled for the tie. There were only seconds to play when the Middies got the ball the last time. They played it safe, rather than gamble for the 60 yards it would have taken to score.

So it wound up 21-21. Just as it did in 1926 in Chicago. The tie went down as the only blemish on Army's sixth unbeaten season and the only success on Navy's first full-length season without a victory.

Low Andreas, Syracuse athletic director and basketball coach, is starting his 24th cage season this winter.

Syracuse University's football center during the 1948 season—Leon Cohen—wears size 14 shoes.

Clemson Mentor Gathers Honors

Clemson, S. C., Nov. 29—(AP)—If invitations continue to pile up on Frank Howard's desk, the Clemson football coach is going to need a secretary.

The balding Howard, who has piloted his Tigers along an unbeaten, untied trail thus far, added two important dates to his schedule of appointments last week-end.

First, he accepted an invitation for Clemson to play Missouri in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl, New Year's Day.

Then, Sunday's mail brought along another bid. He was invited to Durham, N. C., where next Monday he'll be acclaimed as the Southern Conference's "Coach of the Year."

Howard, the slow talking gentleman from the cotton fields of Alabama, was an easy winner for the honor in a poll of 37 members of the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association.

The boys who beat the typewriters Saturday after Saturday took one look at Clemson's unimpressive 1947 record and then glanced at 1948 when Howard, with almost the same material, built his Tigers into one of the nation's powers.

Big Scorer

New York, Nov. 29—(AP)—Fred Wendt of Texas Mines scored 42 points—six touchdowns and six extra points—Thanksgiving day, but wound up second to Ted Scoma of Sul Ross (Tex.) State in the season's national football scoring race.

Scoma, who ended his season a week ago, was high man in the country with 144 points in 16 games. Wendt finished with 124 points in nine games.

Lee Oma Meets Gomez Tonight

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 29—(AP)—Lee Oma of Detroit meets Tommy Gomez of Tampa tonight in a 10-round important for both heavyweights.

Both are trying comebacks, Oma after being knocked out by England's Bruce Woodcock and Gomez after being upset by Alfredo Lagay.

Oma is expected to weigh about 195, a 10-pound edge over Gomez. Oma also has a slight edge in height and reach.

Orange Bowl To Clarify Picture

Miami, Fla., Nov. 29—(AP)—The Orange Bowl picture was slightly blurred today but it appeared to be Georgia vs. Texas for the 15th annual New Year's Day classic.

Official announcement of the University of Georgia's opponent for the colorful grid spectacle was to be made this afternoon.

But the University of Texas Longhorns runners-up in the Southwestern Conference, appeared to be the Bulldogs' match.

Orange Bowl Chairman Will M. Preston said yesterday that "several teams are under consideration."

One fact was certain. Georgia will not face another Southeastern Conference team. Coach Wally Butts is reported to have put his foot down against playing a team from the same conference in which they are now champions.

Removes Blame From Football In Death Of Player

Wilmington, N.C., Nov. 29—(AP)—Coroner Gordon Doran says the death of Robert L. Shew, 18, of nearby Winter Park, who collapsed during a high school football game here last Friday, was not a football fatality.

Doran declared an autopsy showed a heart attack was the cause. He added the boy's condition could not have been diagnosed easily before the start of the season and death did not result from physical contact in the game. "There is no evidence of negligence on the part of the (New Hanover) High School," the coroner ruled.

Shew played for the junior varsity against Tabor City High School. The game was called off after he collapsed in the first quarter.

Grid Award For App's Star Back

Greensboro, Nov. 29—(AP)—For Herman Bryson it will be the climax of a great season and for his coaches and team mates it will be a personal vindication tomorrow night when he receives the High Point American Business Club's annual award as the most outstanding player in the North State Conference.

For two years, Appalachia coaches and players said, "Watch Bryson!" but somehow the former Children's Home star never did hit his stride. He played good ball good enough to be a regular. But his coaches and teammates knew he could do better.

And this year, as a junior, the compactly built halfback blossomed forth. It might be unfair to other members of the team to say he carried Appalachian to the North State Conference championship, breaking Catawba's long-held monopoly, and to an undefeated season of eight victories and one tie; plus a bid to the Burley Bowl.

Unbeaten 82nd Considers Game

Fort Bragg, N.C., Nov. 29—(AP)—The unbeaten 82nd Airborne Division All-Americans have closed their regular season with a 9-0 record and are in the mood for post-season activity.

They whipped the Fort Benning Doughboys at Georgia Saturday, 14-0, to wind up the campaign.

A game next month with the Quantico Marines for the eastern service title is being considered.

But there is no denying that as a member of an offensive-minded team, he was the offensive star.

His mates knew he was going to do it, too, from the second scrimmage play of the season. It was on that play against Guilford that Herman went through right tackle for 51 yards and a touchdown which broke Quaker hearts.

And Bryson continued to break the backs of opponents the rest of the year. He scored against every foe except Lenoir-Rhyne—and that was the 14-14 tie for the only blemish upon Appalachian's record.

Quail Season In 3 Counties Cut

Raleigh, Nov. 29—The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission has announced that an emergency condition in Ashe, Alleghany, and Watauga Counties has made necessary a reduction of the number of days in the quail season in that area from the present forty-six day period to ten days, according to Clyde F. Patton, executive director of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission.

In these three counties the quail season opened on November 25 and will close on December 6 instead of January 10, as provided for in the 1948-49 hunting regulations.

Quail populations in those counties are low due to a very poor breeding season and other factors this year.

Louis And Conn Ready To Train

Chicago, Nov. 29—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and ring-rusty Billy Conn will begin Chicago training this week for their six-round exhibition at the Amphitheater Dec. 10.

Louis was scheduled to arrive tomorrow but will not start drilling at Eddie Nichols gym on the far South Side until Thursday. Conn, the comeback-trying Pittsburgh Irishman, arrives Wednesday and will begin working out at Ringside gym in the heart of the Loop.

Lee Spears Tops Scoring In North State Football

By the Associated Press

Catawba's Lee Spears has retained his North State Conference football scoring title, but only after the hottest race in circuit history.

He edged Appalachian's Herman Bryson, 104 points to 102. Both went scoreless as their clubs dropped their final games Thanksgiving Day.

Bryson led in touchdowns, 17-13, but 26 points after gave Spears his advantage. A year ago he needed only 66 points to take the crown.

Both far outdistanced the rest of the field. Tied for third with 48 points were a pair of Bills—Catawba's Speacht and High Point's Loyd.

Fishing Rules Set December 1

Raleigh, Nov. 29—The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission has set December 1 as the date for the annual meeting of set next year's fishing regulation, according to C. P. Patton, Executive Director.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a. m. in the Hall of the House of Representatives. This meeting, as are all others, will be open to the public, and the Commission is inviting interested sportsmen to attend to express their views in regard to next year's fishing regulations.

ARMCHAIR QUARTERBACKS

There are three million and seven hundred thousand people living in North Carolina. If you want to make them mad just stop them from being armchair quarterbacks. The individual's right to express his own opinion and to determine his own action, within the limits of decency, is a proud Tar Heelia heritage.

Listen in on any gathering of friends and you will see what we mean by "armchair quarterbacks." Their conversation probably will include football. Ah, how different the scores would have been if only the "armchair quarterbacks" had called the signals. But it's all in wholesome fun and part of North Carolina life.

Or, by chance, the discussion may get around to how the participating counties and communities should best spend their share of the more than $7,000,000 collected each year in taxes on beer by the state of North Carolina. Some favor using these funds to keep local taxes at a minimum. Others favor spending the beer tax funds for improved schools, better health facilities and more adequate police and fire protection.

But it makes no difference what the topic. North Carolinians uphold the individual's right to express openly his own opinion and to determine his own action, within the limits of decency. Let's keep it that way.

Justice Again Is Top Scorer For Southern Loop

Richmond, Va., Nov. 29—(AP)—Charlie Justice moved out in front again today in the Southern conference individual scoring scramble.

The North Carolina tailback had 66 points after scoring twice last week in the Tar Heels' 34-12 victory over Virginia.

Only six points behind Justice was Ray Mathews, Clemson tailback, who had shoved 10 touchdowns across. Mathews still has an opportunity to catch the Carolina Choo-choo in the point-making derby. For Saturday, Clemson goes to the Citadel and may go on a scoring rampage against the weak Bulldogs.

In third place in the touchdown-making was Bill Gregus, Wake Forest halfback, with 54 points. Bob Cox, North Carolina end, had three touchdowns and 33 extra points for 54.

Four conference teams had signed for post-season Bowl appearances New Year's afternoon.

The Bowl picture as far as Southern conference clubs were concerned:

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La.—North Carolina vs Oklahoma.

Dixie Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.—William and Mary vs Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Clemson vs Missouri.

Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala.—Wake Forest vs Baylor.

Bowl Scores On Choosing Teams

New Orleans, Nov. 29—(AP)—The Sugar Bowl has scored again on its freedom from commitment to any bowl or section.

The match between North Carolina and Oklahoma, the highest ranking eligible teams, shows what can happen when the sponsors of the post-season classic may go anywhere they wish to pick their contestants.

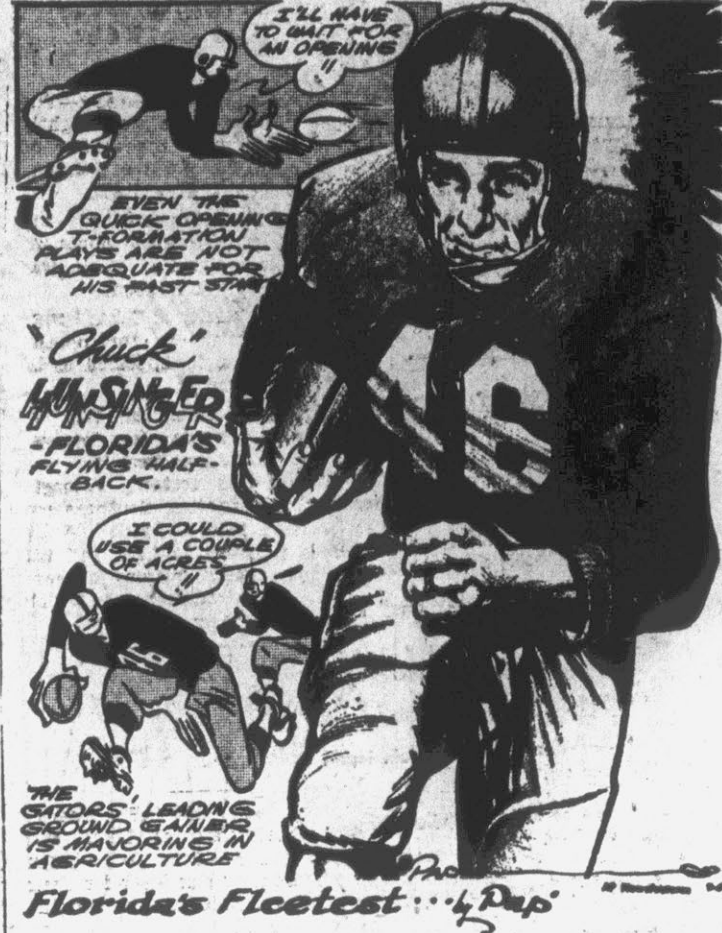

It's the fourth time the local people have passed up the Southeastern Conference in 15 years of operation. Each time they come back with the top game of the New Year's program in terms of national ratings.

North Carolina was No. 4 in last week's poll by the Associated Press. Oklahoma was No. 6. The Rose Bowl, with fifth-place California and seventh-ranked Northwestern, is the only other affair pairing two city's in the first ten.

There will surely be some hard feelings in the Southeastern Conference because the Sugar Bowlers passed up three good and eager teams—Georgia, Mississippi and Tulane. But none of those rated among the first ten.

Detroit Lion quarterback Clyde LeFlore, in three seasons of college football at Tulsa, scored in all but one of the 27 games played by the Golden Hurricanes.

Sport Slants by Pap

Chuck Hunsinger took a Georgia punt on his own 36-yard line and returned it all the way for a touchdown in the fourth quarter of the Florida-Georgia football game at Jacksonville, Fla. It was easily the most spectacular play of the exciting game, and Georgia Coach Wally Butts was quick to give the speedy Hunsinger his due. "Hunsinger is the finest runner Georgia has played against this season," said Butts, "and that includes Charlie Justice of North Carolina."

Florida's own head football coach Ray Wolf, rates Hunsinger the fastest starting back he has ever seen. After some 20 years as a double wing-back player and coach, Wolf turned to the T formation in 1947 spring

SMU And Oregon In Cotton Bowl

Dallas, Nov. 29—(AP)—The Cotton Bowl has come up with Southern Methodist and Oregon for its Jan. 1 football classic and officials say they figure they have a top attraction.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist says he knows darn well Oregon will be a tough outfit for his team to handle. But moanin' Matty is going to put the shoe on the other foot this time.

"In this one we're going to do the pointing," Bell declared, thinking back over a 10-game schedule when the teams with the worst records gave his Mustangs more trouble than a one-armed paper hanger would have with a convex ceiling.

Oregon, which finished undefeated in the Pacific conference race, was voted out of the Rose Bowl in

Navy Sparkplug In Shrine Game

Miami, Fla., Nov. 29—(AP)—"Pistol Pete" Williams, who sparked the Navy to a 21-21 tie with Army Saturday, has agreed to play in the Shrine charity football game here Christmas night. It was announced today.

Williams, who comes from Miami and was high school star here, is captain of the Navy football team.

Predicts Defeat In Oleo Tax Feud

Washington, Nov. 29—(AP)—Any renewal of the butter-margarine feud in the new Congress "will result in a victory for the butter side of the argument," Senator Wiley (R-Wis) said today.

He told a reporter that despite Democratic control of the Senate and House any fight to eliminate Federal taxes on margarine "will fail."

Rep. Cooley (D-NC) slated to become chairman of the House Agriculture committee—has a different view, however. He told a reporter in a separate interview:

"If you recall, the pledge to eliminate oleomargarine taxes is a Democratic plank in a Democratic platform. It seems to me that that is one platform pledge we will be able to redeem."

Cooley said the expected change in the House agriculture committee membership "indicates a repeal bill will have a favorable report by the committee."

The House committee in the last session refused to approve such a bill. As a result, a discharge petition was signed by a majority of the House membership to force the issue to the floor.

The House then passed the measure, but a last-minute jam prevented Senate consideration.

Crux of the fight is the 10-cent-a-pound tax on oleomargarine colored yellow. Lesser issues are the one quarter-cent-a-pound tax on uncolored margarine and various taxes on retailers and wholesalers.

Detroit, Denver, Hammond and Waterloo are the four new teams in the National pro-basketball league this season.

favor of California, which also was undefeated but won less games than did the Webfoots. Saturday, Oregon got permission from its conference to play in the Cotton Bowl.

Kept Cool While Bandits Worked

Orangeburg, S. C., Nov. 29—(AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Islar, the manager of the Orangeburg bus station, knows almost everybody in town. She thought a friend on a hunting trip was kidding when she felt a gun in her back yesterday.

"You don't mean this is a hold-up," laughed the 53-year-old widow formerly from Hickory, N. C., as she reached around toward the sawed-off shotgun.

The unshaven, white gunman wasn't laughing. He said only one word: "Yes."

Mrs. Islar kept her presence of mind. She announced to the 11 waiting bus patrons "All they want is money. Keep quiet and no one will be hurt."

The patrons watched in silence as the gunman and a companion took $150 from the bus station cash drawer, and $51 from a cash box for the lunch stand.

One of the waiting passengers, Linn Westbury of Roseville, also kept as calm as Mrs. Islar. The robbers took his wallet. But he had transferred the money to his pocket while the two robbers were busy at the cash drawer.

Hearing Stated For J. E. Allen

Warrenton, Nov. 29 (AP)—J. Edward Allen, former Warren County School superintendent, is scheduled for a hearing in Recorder's Court here Thursday on charges of embezzlement and forgery.

Deputy Sheriff R. D. Chewing said he served warrants on Allen Saturday charging him with embezzling $29,572.85 in county funds and forging 126 checks.

Allen posted $15,000 bond, Chewing reported.

The new warrants were sworn out by Special Agent James W. Powell of the State Bureau of Investigation. They resulted from an audit of books of the County Board of Education.

Allen already is under indictment on charges of embezzling $24,327.75 in state school funds, false pretense and forgery (32 counts). He gave $15,000 bond shortly after the Warren grand jury returned true bills against him in September.

Buyers Return To Leaf Marts

Raleigh, Nov. 29 (AP)—Buyers returned to North Carolina's flue-cured tobacco warehouses today following a long Thanksgiving week-end holiday.

The season is over on the Eastern North Carolina Belt and on the Middle Belt Friday. Sales will continue on the Old Belt for an undetermined period.

Volume and sales prices continued to decline last week on all three belts.

Circus Goes Into Winter Quarters

Miami, Fla., Nov. 29 (AP)—Bingling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus headed for winter headquarters in Sarasota today after winding up a successful seven-month season with a four-day engagement in Miami.

The final 200-mile run to Sarasota will bring to 19,513 the total miles the "greatest show on earth" traveled during the season.

Behind are 214 exhibition days during which 417 performers were given to more than 5,000,000 spectators.

Roland Butler, head press representative, called it a "terrific season."

Meteors are twice as numerous from July to January as from January to July.

License Plates

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 29 (AP)—That essential accessory for motor vehicles—state license plates for 1949—will go on sale Wednesday here and in 63 branch offices throughout the state.

Landon C. Rosser, state motor vehicles commissioner, estimated that probably 1,000,000 pairs of the black-on-orange plates will be sold during the next 12 months. Registrations in the state this year already total 955,000, he said.

He urged motorists to hold their registration cards, which have been mailed out, for convenience in buying new tags. He also reminded them that these cards must be shown when vehicles are presented for mechanical inspection next year.

Yachting Party Saved From Sea

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 29 (AP)—Six members of a yachting party were rescued yesterday from a dinghy four miles off the New Jersey coast after their 73-foot, $125,000 craft was swept by fire.

Among the rescued was Henry C. Fowkes, 58-year-old retired Pittsburgh Steel executive, owner of the yacht, the Tennessee. The vessel, wrecked by explosions and flames, sank after it was towed inshore by the Coast Guard.

Fowkes was found by Coast Guard craft in the small dinghy with his fiancée, Mrs. Edith C. Forrest, 36, of Rye, N. Y., who held her small dog. Four other men were alongside in the frigid water of the Atlantic ocean, clinging to the dinghy for support.

Fowkes said the fire first was detected in the stack and rapidly spread through partitions.

A Coast Guard lookout at the Atlantic City station reported spotting the smoke almost at the same time a radio distress call was received from the yacht.

Fowkes and his fiancée were forced into the dinghy by the heat of the flames. Others aboard jumped into the water.

All were treated at Atlantic City hospital later for exposure and released.

Fog Causes New Delay In Sailing Of Luxury Liner

Southampton, England, Nov. 29 (AP)—Fog today caused the sixth postponement of the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth's departure for New York.

The giant ship has been idling here since Nov. 17 because of the United States' dockworkers' strike and now because of weather. All Western Europe is blanketed in thick fog.

Sixteen hundred passengers, most of whom have been on board since a week ago Saturday received the news of the delay with resignation.

Visibility was less than 150 yards when Captain G. M. Ford announced the postponement. The next high tide on which the liner can get away will be at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Thirty Czechs Accused Of Plot To Kill Premier

Ostrava (Ostrava), Czechoslovakia, Nov. 27 (AP)—Thirty people are under arrest in this Moravian city today, accused of being in on a futile plot to assassinate Premier Antonin Zapotocky during a trip here last September.

The correspondent of the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta said an argument in the group over how best to kill the premier led to disclosures which resulted in the arrests. Three members of the Ostrava police force were said to have been in the plot with a businessman, a factory official, laborers and students.

A gardener named Miroslav Pistek was sentenced last month to serve six years for plotting to kill Zapotocky. He was arrested with 12 other persons at Bruenn (Brno), the capital of Moravia.

Refugee Vessels Sent To China

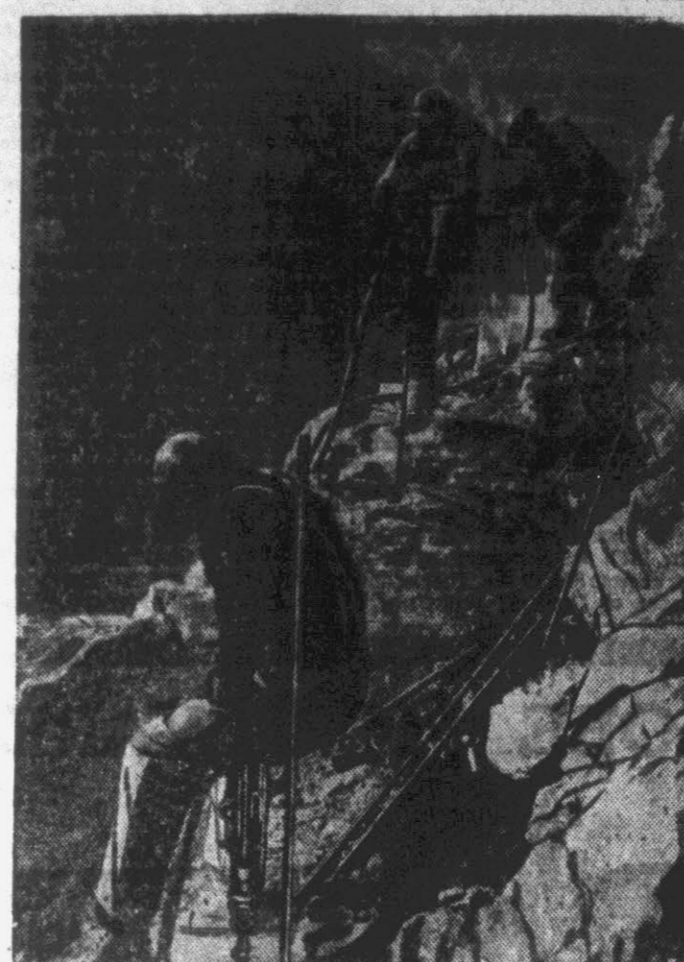

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 27 (AP)—The International Refugee Organization today ordered two ships to proceed from Melbourne to China to begin the evacuation of an estimated 13,000 refugees under IRO care there.

The two ships, the Castel Bianca and the Wooster Victory, can carry 1,700 persons. Only persons who have immigration visas to countries of resettlement will be moved from China. Most of the refugees under IRO care there are Europeans.

Chapter 28
Pat came running in answer to her call. He blinked at sight of the vast patient sitting up. She grinned at him.

"Pile pillows behind me, Pat. I'm sitting up. I'm too weak in the legs to stand, but there's nothin' wrong with my sitting apparatus."

Mrs. Monahan, safely braced with pillows, beamed at having won her first step.

Lottie groaned. "You shouldn't be sitting up. The doctor said so."

"Since when do doctors know anything? He just wants to keep me sick so he can wheedle more money out o' me. And that he does. Pat, take the worried look off your face. And put on a clean shirt. They're comin' to take pictures of us, what for I don't know except that I do know I won't have me picture made lying on me back like a sick cow. Now don't start saying no because it has to be. It's for Rosalie. Lottie, do you happen to know what good our mugs can possibly do Rosalie?"

"Rosalie is going to Hollywood." The fat woman blinked. "And what will she do way out there?" Lottie gasped at such abysmal ignorance. "Make pictures, of course. She's going to be in pictures. We'll be able to see her in pictures."

Pat made a contemptuous gesture. "I don't believe it. She wouldn't stoop to nothin' like that. Not our Rosalie."

"Stoop!" Lottie felt strangled. "Everybody would give a right arm to be in just one picture for one minute. It—It's fame."

"I wouldn't give nothing," cried Pat.

"Nor I," piped up Tufty, anxious to get close to Pat.

Pat caught him up again and rode him down the hall out of the sphere of such feminine nonsense.

Joe came in quietly. He looked very tall and straight in his uniform. Lottie was startled at the sight of him, then caught his hand eagerly.

"Did you hear, Joe? Rosalie is going to Hollywood. She's going to be in pictures."

His mother clapped her fat hands. "We won't give her up. We'll keep her here with us. We won't let her go to Hollywood. She'll be lonesome out there. She won't know anybody."

"I'd give half my life to be a star in Hollywood for one day," said Lottie.

She turned away lest she say more. It was all so ridiculous. She started to look out the window and have a sigh but there was no chance. A taxi had just stopped in front of the door and Rosalie was being handed out by a tall, handsome man. Another car rolled up and several men with cameras poured out of it. Lottie stood fascinated but shouted over her shoulder:

"Rosalie's here. And the camera men."

Joe came and stood by her side watching. A crowd was collecting. Rosalie posed, smiling, clinging to Wayne's arm. Then suddenly the house was full of them. Rosalie came up to Joe and kissed him lightly. A bulb flashed. Rosalie's laugh ripped out.

"Isn't it awful of us to descend on you like this with cameras?" Joe smiled faintly. "They don't want any pictures of me now."

"Sure we do," cried a camera man. "Pick her up in your arms and carry her like you did that night the rowdies egged her."

Rosalie held out her arms. "You must do it, Joe. I must have publicity, it seems. Don't say anything yet, Wayne. I'll have three days on the train to explain."

Joe swept her up in his arms and stood facing the clicking camera. It was a handsome shot, the kind the men knew their papers liked. They liked this Rosalie and this handsome young Smokey Joe who was making a name for himself.

In the bedroom Mrs. Monahan sat with glowing face and was snapped alone with Joe, with Pat, with Rosalie. She was so excited she could hardly talk. Fame had pushed into her house.

Everyone began to crowd out of the flat, the newspapermen in the best of humor. Rosalie was finally able to lead Wayne up to Pat and Mrs. Monahan. She introduced him gaily.

"Remember the grand party you gave me when I was going out to marry Wayne? Well, here he is."

The fat woman gave her hand with dignity. "You love her, don't you?"

"I do."

"Will you promise you'll do your best not to let her marry that rascal who had a naked woman in his room?"

Lottie gasped. "Mother! Such language!"

"Mr. Kahler knows what I mean." "Indeed I do, Mrs. Monahan. I'm going to try my best to marry her myself. Will that be better?"

"I think it would. But you'll forgive me for hopin' still that it's my Joe she should marry and be happy with."

Joe seemed to appear from nowhere. He was grave, quiet.

"Please don't say any more, Mom. None of us have any right to point any fingers at Mr. Hall. He gave Rosalie her chance. He made her a success. He's sending her to Hollywood with Wayne now because he trusts her. He deserves something, too." He turned and took her hand.

"Goodbye, Rosie. I wish you grand success both in pictures and as the wife of the map who turned you into a star."

Her voice was very quiet. "I'm not a star yet. Suppose I fall?"

"You won't fall. You'll climb as high as you want to climb."

He turned and vanished as silently as he had appeared. Wayne drew a deep breath. "Ready to go, Rosalie? Trains don't wait."

She patted his cheek. "Wait in the taxi. I'll be out in a minute." (To be continued)

WHAT IS AN EXTENSION TELEPHONE?

An extension telephone is an extra telephone instrument attached to your present line. It can be placed in your home or place of business. Since the telephone instruments are again available we are happy to announce that EXTENSION TELEPHONE SERVICE IS AVAILABLE AGAIN.

Main telephone service however is still on the "hard-to-get" list because production of the central office equipment and lead covered cable needed to extend our present facilities, is slow and delivery dates uncertain. We shall continue however to install main telephones where we have the necessary outside facilities and central office equipment.

Social Security Benefits Offer Plan For Expanding

Washington, Nov. 28—(AP)—Proposals for a broadened social security program—being submitted to the White House today—reportedly would bring soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines under the civilian old age pension system.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing had the proposals drafted. They might cost $1,000,000,000 if approved by Congress.

Among other things, Ewing asks a sharp boost in the amount of pensions and survivors' benefits paid under the system.

Mr. Truman is known to support at least 50 percent increase. Ewing was reported by an FSA spokesman to believe that even a greater increase in the pension might get White House endorsement.

The present $39.90 pension for an old couple, Ewing was quoted as saying, amounts to "slow starvation."

Upwards of 20,000,000 new earners would be brought under social security protection, the spokesman said, in addition to the 35,000,000 now covered, if the FSA proposals are adopted.

Farm workers domestic help, the self-employed, employees of the federal, state and local governments, and workers in hospitals and other institutions not now protected would be embraced.

The proposal to include the 1,400,000 or more members of the armed services was urged in Ewing's annual report to the President several months ago.

Servicemen were not originally covered because it was deemed that the armed forces' own retirement systems were adequate. Growth of the "civilian army" concept, in which great numbers of men shift between military and civilian employment, has changed the picture, Ewing said.

Periods of military service interrupt the accumulation of benefit rights in private employment. That would not be true if the armed forces were brought under social security protection. It is proposed also to tie other federal retirement systems in with the social security program.

East Fourth Street Impassable During Rain For Walkers

East Fourth Street, between the high school and Holly Street, is practically impassable to pedestrians when it rains, numerous reports to the paper indicate. The sidewalks on both sides of the street are "canals" when it rains. Water flows down the hill in the gutters in such a wide stream that a pedestrian cannot step out to the roadway in the path of speeding motor vehicles.

On the Episcopal Church property overhanging pine limbs, steeped in water, brush the pedestrian as he passes. In the valley, the briars, sandspurs, and other vegetation spread over the sidewalks, the briars tearing women's stockings and the overhanging vegetation spraying them with accumulated rain.

It's a bad spot, people who live beyond and have to walk to work, said.

When it was raining, water on the sidewalks was over ankle-deep, various citizens, especially women, reported.

The robin is still caught for food on Continental Europe.

Talk about one world! What hope, when even two old allies like America and Britain don't know each other!

It strikes this column that it's about time we inaugurated some more international educational courses so that we can get acquainted. Many of the misunderstandings among nations are due to ignorance or to false ideas about the other fellow.

3. By individual states. The states themselves can try—and many have—in their own way to solve the problem which makes some of their citizens second class citizens because of their race, color or religious beliefs.

4. By the U. S. Supreme Court. For example, through decisions which:

Strengthen Negroes' voting rights; forbid forcing Negroes to hide in the back of buses crossing state lines; outlaw real estate deals in which owners agree not to sell a home to a Negro or a Jew.

5. By the federal government—the President or Congress—issuing orders or passing laws which knock down discrimination.

Contractor Makes Progress On Courthouse Alterations

It is understood that V. P. Loftis Company, Charlotte contractor, doing the altering and remodeling and repairing of the Pitt County courthouse, will complete the work by the latter part of January. Extensive improvements for convenience have been made on the imposing building. The roof of the courtroom was lowered as a "drop ceiling" to improve the acoustics. Superior and county courts, in the meantime, hold their sessions at the City Hall.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 29—(AP)—The stock market today moved along quietly. A few selected industrial issues pushed up around a point, and here and there some others lost about the same amount, but for the most part the price changes were in small fractions with a number of leaders unchanged.

Steels, oils and motors at one time were on the higher side, but the slight gains in some cases were turned into similar sized losses as the session progressed.
