Forrestal Says U. S. Must Give More To Europe

Asserts Defense Plans In Brussels Pact Will Require Added Equipment

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal says the United States must supply western Europe with "a generous measure of equipment" to support the common defense plans of five nations.

Such aid is necessary to give meaning to the Brussels treaty—signed by Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—Forrestal said last night at the annual dinner of the English-Speaking Union.

Forrestal presumably meant military equipment, but he did not say so specifically.

Recalling that objectives of the Brussels treaty are being developed under direction of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery into plans for concerted action for the common defense of the five nations, Forrestal declared:

"To make these plans meaningful, however, a generous measure of equipment will have to be given to Western Europe, for these people cannot prosper while they live in fear of their lives."

"Just as the United States was the arsenal of democracy so must it become a repository of hope, and by its strength banish from the hearts of its friends anxiety and fear of the future. For the people of Western Europe are yet in need of the brightness of this new world to help guide them out of the darkness."

Forrestal said "it will avail us nothing to nourish trust in their ability to defend themselves," because:

"It is westward—to us—that they look for help and for the substance that will enable them to face the future with assurance—an assurance equal to their courage. By their courage they grant us greater hope that there is still a peaceful destiny for the future of mankind."

Reunion Was Too Much For Chow

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 2—(P)—A reunion with his former master after a separation of three years was too much for Teddy, a 13-year-old chow dog.

Floyd Davis, who owned Teddy before he went to Grand Canyon, Ariz., returned yesterday and paid the dog a visit.

Teddy held out his paw and shook hands as Davis departed. The dog then went back to the yard of his present master, lay down and died.

Cases involving killings and liquor law violations have cluttered the court docket this week.

Communists Lay Claim To Capture Of Suchow

Nationalist Garrison, Marching Southward, Blocked By Heavy Fighting; No Move To Shift Government From Nanking

Nanking, Dec. 2—(AP)—The Chinese Communists laid claim tonight to Suchow, important government base 211 miles northwest of Nanking.

This exposed the rear of three government army groups moving slowly southward in an effort to support other Nationalist armies isolated under Communist attacks in the Suhsien and Pengpu areas ranging down to 100 miles from Nanking.

The Communist broadcast heard in Nanking said Suchow fell at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

A few minutes before the Communist broadcast, the government military spokesman, Gen. Teng Wen-yi, had said all government troops in Suchow—estimated at about 250,000—were concentrated for a march southward. He denied, however, that this meant Suchow had been abandoned.

Claire Chennault's China Air Transport pilots who dropped rice to Suchow had reported Communists within one mile of the city and that refugees were pouring out to the westward.

The Suchow garrison was last reported blocked about 25 miles south of Suchow by strong Communist opposition.

(The Communist broadcast, also heard in San Francisco, added a claim that the 110th Division of the government's trapped 12th Army Group near Suhsien had come over to the Communist side.)

Despite the dire military news, the Chinese government told foreign diplomats it had "no intention

Slow To Answer Chinese Appeals

Officials Admit Dire Need; Point To Delaying Factors

Washington, Dec. 2—(AP)—Top American officials moved slowly today in the face of urgent appeals from the Chinese government for help before it is too late.

Authorities said there is no doubt here that the situation created by Communist advances in China is critical. But they said these two factors work against any speedy American action:

1. Congress—which must authorize any additional aid—will not meet for another month.

2. Military and political conditions in China are considered so unstable that officials believe any program worked out now probably would not apply a month from now.

There are no indications that either the Economic Cooperation Administration or the State Department has yet presented President Truman specific plans for helping Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists in their battle with the Chinese Reds.

China's desire for swift American action was heavily emphasized by Ambassador Wellington Koo in a speech before the China Institute

Federal Spending Portends Deficit

Budget Director Says Higher Taxes May Be Answer

Detroit, Dec. 2—(AP)—Budget Director James E. Webb said today federal spending next fiscal year threatens the government with a deficit unless taxes are raised.

Webb interrupted his work on the budget President Truman will present to Congress next month to address a meeting of state government officials at the ninth biennial General Assembly of the States.

He said in his prepared speech that 1950 spending will top this year's $42,000,000,000, adding:

"This means that under present tax laws we face the possibility of a deficit at a time when a surplus is needed to help curb inflationary pressures, reduce the public debt, and provide a buffer against the unpredictable hazards of a world not yet at peace."

Webb added that "not only the federal government but also many of the states and their subdivisions face deficits."

"It is true high prices and high employment have increased tax yields," he said, "but the rate of this increase appears to be slackening off, whereas the demands for governmental services are still increasing."

Webb attributed the federal government's rising cost outlook chiefly to "almost certain" increased spending for national defense, the European Recovery Program, and interest on the public debt.

Increased outlays there, he said, promise to outweigh reduced costs of veterans programs and tax refunds.

Palestine Arabs Favor Abdullah

London, Dec. 2—(AP)—A group of Palestine Arabs has asked King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan to rule over a proposed union of his kingdom and Arab Palestine, the Trans-Jordanian legation said today.

"Delegates of representatives from three purely Arab Palestine districts—Ramallah, Jerusalem and Hebron—have approached Abdullah and asked him to be their king," a legation spokesman announced.

"There has been no reply from Abdullah."

List Leaf Total For Middle Belt

Raleigh, Dec. 2—(AP)—Pile-cord tobacco sales reached a season total of 156,089,155 pounds on the Middle Belt, according to figures released yesterday.

With only one market, Durham, still operating on the belt, Tuesday's sales amounted to 326,690 pounds for an average of $36.31 per hundred pounds. The season average through Tuesday was $50.12.

Old Belt markets reached a season figure of 251,690,171 pounds sold for an average of $49.23. The Kenbridge, Va., market will close Friday.

Union Members Involved In Raid

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 2—(AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers today said its members conducted a raid yesterday on the Shakespeare Companies, during which seven persons were injured and property burned and damaged.

State Director Thomas Shane of the USW-CIO said reports that the unionists led or took part in the military-type invasion were "lies."

New Mediation Efforts Tried

Paris, Dec. 3—(AP)—Renewed mediation efforts in the Berlin deadlock were underway today.

The committee of neutral financial experts who are to draft a formula for solving the Berlin currency tangle scheduled a meeting within 24 hours of the group's creation by former Security Council President Juan Bramuglia.

Radio Station To Be Sold; Await FCC's Approval

Negotiations Completed; Carolina Broadcasting System Inc. Are Buyers

It was announced today that negotiations with J. J. White, of Greenville, trading as the Greenville Broadcasting company, have been completed for the sale of radio station WGTC and its facilities to the Carolina Broadcasting System, Inc.

Earl McDonald Westbrook of Dunn, president of the new corporation, said in a statement that the management and ownership of the present station will be continued until such time as the transfer of ownership is approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

He said the corporation plans for expansion of present facilities to 1,000 watts day and night service at the earliest possible date. The Carolina Broadcasting System at the present time holds a construction permit to build a 1,000 watt station to serve the Greenville area.

When asked about future network plans, Westbrook said negotiations for affiliation are being conducted with the major radio networks of the country, but no definite statement can be made at this time.

In addition to Westbrook, stockholders in the new company include A. Martwell Campbell, secretary of the corporation, formerly of Greenville, and now associated with radio station WCKB in Dunn and station WHAP in Hopewell, Virginia. Several Greenville businessmen also are stockholders in the new company, but a complete list of the stockholders will not be released until a later date, Westbrook said.

Radio station WGTC, which at present operates with a power of 250 watts, began operation in Greenville on June 6, 1946. A spokesman for the new company said the frequency of the station will be changed when the power of the station is increased.

Westbrook is president of the West Carolina Central Broadcasters, Inc., operators of station WCKB in Dunn and also a prominent businessman of that town.

Brighter Report On Price Trends

Economic Council Study Indicates A 'Flattening Out'

Washington, Dec. 2—(AP)—President Truman's economic advisory council informed him today that there has been a "flattening out" of some prices.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, the chairman, said he called at the White House to give Mr. Truman a report on the group's studies.

Afterward, he told reporters the price situation appears to be brightening. He added:

"They (prices) don't seem to be jumping through the ceiling. The chairman of the advisory council recently was named by Mr. Truman to head a cabinet coordinating committee to plan the anti-inflation program which the administration will submit to the new Congress next month."

Nourse came from Mr. Truman's office carrying a batch of charts and graphs on the price situation. He said he had gone over them with the President.

He said the charts record a "creeping advance" in the rent field, but show "food has had quite a down turn and is now moving down at a somewhat slower rate."

As for clothing, he said "there has been a softening (of prices) on quite a number of clothing items."

Asked whether the current situation added up to a more encouraging picture of the price situation, Nourse replied:

"I think so."

Advices Rating Hangs On Unity

Washington, Dec. 2—(AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) advised the armed services today their financial rating with the new Congress may rest on whether they can show a unification savings dividend.

The veteran lawmaker is slated for a key role in settling the mounting dispute over how much this country will spend on defense next year. He is due to become chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which must give clearance to federal spending requests.

Adjournment?

Paris, Dec. 2—(P)—The United States was reported lobbying today to extend the United Nations Assembly here and avoid a continued session in New York early next year.

Informed sources concerned with the problem of adjourning this assembly said the U. S. delegates are talking with several other delegations in an effort to complete as much work as possible by Dec. 15 or 16.

A meeting of the 14-Nation steering committee tentatively set for this afternoon was postponed indefinitely while the delegations tried to agree on a program.

Several delegations and U. N. leaders, including Dr. Herbert V. Ewart, president of the assembly, were said to favor stopping on Dec. 11 and continuing at a second meeting of this 1948 session in New York in 1949.

Higher Phone Bills In The Works

Rate Hikes Granted, Or Applied For, In 46 States

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—Higher telephone bills are in the works for millions of Americans, many of whom already have had their rates increased.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. says its Bell System subsidiaries have applications pending in 29 states for $240,000,000 a year in rate increases to cover their higher cost of doing business.

These are in addition to $140,000,000 a year in rate boosts already granted since the war in the first general increase in more than 20 years.

Reduced to percentages, company officials term the increases very low in comparison with their own increased costs and with the higher prices of other things the customer buys.

They estimate the increases already in effect at 14 per cent of the total telephone bill of customers for local service and toll calls within their states.

If the pending applications are granted in full, they add, the post-war increase would then average about 23 per cent—or if long distance service is included, about 17 per cent.

Increases now have been granted or applied for in 46 states. The exceptions, Nevada and Delaware, probably will be added to the roll call soon.

Wild West Goes Into Far East

Tokyo, Dec. 2—(AP)—The Wild West has come to the Far East, and with fatal results.

Fact is, American soldiers carrying on the traditions of Tombstone, Dodge City and Wyatt Earp in this Oriental setting are killing each other. The Far East command today put it this way:

"The largest single cause of accidental deaths among occupation personnel is gunshot wounds with a total of 55—many of them in such horseplay as seeing who could draw the fastest."

Ten-Year-Old Boy Is Kept Tied In Home; Institution Can't Help

By CHESTER WALSH

Don Wayne Thorne, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Thorne of Greenville, an epileptic since he had influenza at 17 months of age, must wear a harness his mother made and be tied all the time to prevent him from injuring himself or damaging property. He's a brown-eyed lad with brown hair, and not dangerous, except that he might intentionally harm himself, his mother told a Daily Reflector reporter who was investigating the report that the child was always kept tied in his home.

It is a pitiful case and the lad should be placed in a state institution for protection and possibly an operation to give him some relief

Drama Nears Climax

Life Or Death Stand By Chiang Kai-Shek Before The Gates Of His Capital And What It Means; Battle Could Be Decisive; Chiang Is Determined, Dogged

By DEWITT MCKENZIE

We seem to have reached the climax of one of the great dramas of our time—the life-or-death stand by Chiang Kai-Shek before the gates of his capital in the path of the attacking Bolshevik armies.

The generalissimo's forces are heavily outnumbered—something like two to one—by the Chinese Communists, who are receiving material aid from Russia. Authoritative Chinese quarters say the rebels' ranks are swollen by Japanese prisoners of war and Mongolians provided by Moscow.

The capital city of Nanking, on the bank of the mighty Yangtze, is tense. Despite official denials that government headquarters are to be moved farther south, preparations to meet such an emergency are going forward. However, Nationalist forces are being deployed to meet the expected Red onslaught from the north.

Nanking authorities have been speaking of the recent fierce fighting in this theatre as decisive. One uses that term guardedly for it connotes a finality, but the battle could be decisive.

If so, it might mark the beginning of a new epoch in China's long history. It could spell the end of the present Nationalist regime

Doubts Value Of New 'Agreements'

Hint Post Office Dept. On List Of Future Shakeups

Congressman Says Postal Agency Probable Target Of 'Streamlining'

New York, Dec. 2—(P)—Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) hinted today the post office department is one of the chief targets of the bipartisan commission now studying

Brown, a member of the 12-man commission on organization of the executive branch of the government, told the 53rd annual Congress of American industry sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers:

"Without divulging too much information as to what the commission will recommend, let me suggest that you keep your eyes open for some interesting developments in our greatest federal service agency—the post office department."

He estimated that nearly 3,000 of the nation's top industrial and business men are attending the three-day session which ends tomorrow night with a speech by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Sawyer hinted in Washington Tuesday he might disclose some details of the anti-inflation program President Truman will give to Congress in January.

Former President Herbert Hoover heads the government organization commission that was set up by Congress.

It was Congress' intent, Brown said, to promote economy, efficiency and improve services in the executive branch of the government by:

1. Limiting expenditures.
2. Eliminating duplication and overlapping of services.
3. Consolidating services, activities and functions of similar nature.
4. Abolishing unnecessary services, activities and functions.
5. Defining and limiting executive functions, services and activities.

In addition to naming the Post Office Department, Brown mentioned specifically Federal Corporations, government lending agencies, government statistical agencies and federal participation in educational matters.

Christmas Trees Are Soviet Tool

Berlin, Dec. 2—(AP)—The Russians have a new weapon in the cold war. It's the Christmas tree.

Previously the Western powers could bring in trees by rail. The Russian blockade stops that.

Now the Russians are bringing in 350,000 trees for Berlin. The Communist press is offering the trees to Western Berliners who agree to register in the Russian sector for rationing.

In western Berlin, the elected city assembly, which has declared a state of emergency, called another meeting.

Western allied Liaison officers attached to the city government were withdrawn today from the central city hall.

Col. Frank L. Howley, U. S. Commandant in Berlin, said: "We are going with the legal government. We only stayed there yesterday to witness the illegal act of the Communists of locking out the elected city officials."

From his affliction, a physician advised. His mother's loyalty and devotion to the youngster is outstanding, neighbors said.

The history of the case is appealing. When Don Wayne was 17 months old, and his parents were living on the S. E. Wooten farm near Falkland, he had the flu. He was a normal, well developed child. He never recovered from the illness.

His parents believe that when a physician gave him a hypodermic injection on his neck for the flu that the needle damaged or severed the nerve that controls the vocal cords. He has not spoken since then—just murmurs constantly in a plaintive, sing-song way.

Physicians at Duke Hospital, Durham, who examined the boy in 1940 advised his parents to get him into an institution. Various efforts have been made to enter him at Cawell Training School, but without success.

The Duke physician told Mrs. Thorne, she said, that the influenza had settled in the youngster's brain, and that that organ would gradually deteriorate and that he would become blind.

Don Wayne accepted affection from the reporter and returned it. The only time he appears aggressive is when he gets mad about something and bites his arms. This is a result of an overpowering urge in the lad to say something and he can't do it, his mother said. He is a constant care to her.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorne had six children. One of them, May Dean, when a small child, pulled over a boiling electric coffee pot in the family kitchen, the contents scalding her so severely from head to feet that she died that night. The family lived at Redox in Gates County at that time. The other children are Shirley Ann, 12; Don Wayne, 10; Betty Lou, 8; Wiley McNeil, 4, and Carter Curtis, 2. Mr. Thorne works on a motor grader for the State Highway Department near Greenville.

Efforts are being renewed to enter the afflicted boy in the Cawell Training School at Kinston.

Ten-Fold Increase Noted In Tax Evasion Cases For Legal Action

Chapel Hill, Dec. 2—(AP)—A 10-fold increase was reported today in income tax evasion cases referred to the Justice Department for criminal action.

"In the last seven or eight years," Assistant Attorney General Theron L. Caudle said, "tax evasion has, in a manner of speaking, matured as a crime in its own right."

In an address prepared for the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants the head of the Justice Department's tax division added:

"Not so long ago the total number of criminal tax cases clearing through the tax division was a maximum of perhaps 70 or 80 cases a year. Today the situation is radically different. We expect that at the end of this fiscal year, the criminal section of my division will have cleared 700 cases. Most of the defendants, he said, will be 'reputable citizens—some of them will be outstanding civic leaders.'"

The Assistant Attorney General called attention to the fact that the law provides for prosecuting tax

Supports Entry Of Israel Into United Nations

Paris, Dec. 2—(P)—The United States urged the Security Council today to admit Israel to the United Nations without delay.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, American deputy on the council, said the United States "fully supports" Israel's membership application and will vote for the new state as the 59th member of the U. N.

"Our hope is that the Security Council will shortly approve Israel's application," he added.

The possibility had arisen that Israel's bid for membership, filed Monday on the first anniversary of the U. N. Palestine partition plan, might be delayed until her political future was settled.

Man's Inner Struggle

Man Within Himself Is A Constant Battlefield Say Psychiatrists; Freud's Theory Of The Conscious, Subconscious And Conscious; Nations Affected

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 2—(P)—Those doctors of the troubled mind—psychiatrists—tell us man within himself is like a battlefield.

That battlefield was mapped out long ago by Dr. Sigmund Freud when he listened to the stories of many puzzled and unhappy patients.

From what he learned he shaped a theory which, roughly, goes like this: Every man's mind is divided into three parts—the subconscious, the conscious, and the conscience.

The subconscious—Here lie the deep and primitive desires of a man and his forgotten experiences. It contains his brutal and violent urges, the part of him that wants, wants, wants for him.

Freud said that, like the iceberg, most of the human mind is buried in the subconscious.

The conscious—This is the part of the mind which has learned the rules of society. It's the part which says "yes" or "no" to the urgings and desires of the subconscious mind. It's a break on the subconscious. Like a rider on a horse, it tries to guide the subconscious desires along a bridle path instead of letting it run wild.

The conscience—This is the highest development of

Mrs. Stark Hostess To Chatham Club

Mrs. Rufus Stark entertained the Chatham Book Club at her home on Eastern St. Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 30.

Upon the arrival of the guests, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Beard, served a delicious sweet course with coffee, nuts and minis.

The president presided over a short business meeting. An invitation was extended to the members of the club to see the pictures taken by Dr. Herbert Hadley, which will be shown at the library Thursday night at 7:30.

Following the business Mrs. L. R. Ruffin, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Ruffin who gave an interesting and educational talk on "Furs." Mrs. Ruffin told how the fur business, the oldest industry in America, grew from the days of hunting and trading with the Indians to the many highly scientific fur farms now to be found in the U. S. Some of the animals, such as the chinchilla, have been brought to this country and are now being raised on fur farms.

The furs were prepared for market and sold at auctions to the manufacturers, and most of the fur coats in the United States are made in New York City in an area of five blocks.

After the books were distributed the club adjourned.

The subject for the afternoon was "Unusual Natural Phenomena," which was presented by Mrs. Howard McGinnis in her usual charming manner.

Following the current events which were given by Mrs. D. L. Moore, Mrs. Winslow gave us a very interesting report of a recent automobile trip which she and Mr. Winslow took. They left Greenville going by way of Asheville through the Great Smoky Mountains into the Middle West and into Phoenix, Arizona, and traveling as far south as Mexico, returning home by the Gulf route, having traveled 5,600 miles through 16 states.

Guests for the afternoon were Miss Frances Wahl, Mrs. J. D. Aman and Mrs. Stallings from Smithfield, sister of Mrs. Oakley.

The hostess served a delightful salad course with coffee.

Radio Salute By Army For Nurse Corps Saturday

The United States Army salutes the nursing profession on its radio program, "Voice of the Army," which will be broadcast Saturday 4 Dec. 1948 over radio station WGTN at 10:15 a. m. according to a statement issued today by Capt. Ralph W. Ferrer, commanding officer of the Greenville, Army and Air Force Recruiting station.

This salute to the "Ladies in White" is in connection with the American Nurses Association's celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of nursing. It was just 75 years ago that Linda Richards received her nursing school diploma and thus became the nation's first professional nurse.

"Voice of the Army" will air the story of Linda Richards with Fay Bainter, artist of screen and theatre, as narrator.

Strength FOR THE DAY

SO WHY WASTE OUR TIME

It never pays to waste our time longing for something we cannot have. To do so is to covet. The verb "to covet" comes from a Latin word which means "to desire ardently," but it is closely related to words in other languages which mean "to agitate" and "to boil." Desiring something, therefore, which is not our own and which cannot rightly be our own produces inward agitation and conflict.

The Bible defines covetousness as a sin. The tenth commandment says "thou shalt not covet." Viewed not from the stand- of religion, however, but from the standpoint of plain common sense, this
things that we cannot have is unwise.

Desire for what we do not have has in very often a splendid thing.
It stimulates one's powers, strengthens the will, reinforces one's purpose. But to desire what we cannot rightly have is to involve our inner life in agitation and conflict.
A little reflection on this matter ought to be quite sufficient for the wise.

Boyle's Column

By GEORGE TUCKER
(For HAL BOYLE)

New York—(P)—Every night in the week and sometimes in the afternoon
George Pierce goes to the theater.

Most people pay to get in but George goes in through the back door and he always gets in free.

As backstage doorman of the Empire theater, the oldest playhouse in New York, George Pierce's life is part of a never-ending rendezvous of celebrated characters.

How long has this been going on?
"Say I been here twenty years—say thirty," said George. "Say I was a foundling and was brought up here.
Sometimes it seems that long."

The world of George Pierce is a grab, narrow backstage hallway, built of black brick, as most back-stages are. There is the customary rack holding the actors' mail, the usual fire extinguishers, in their shiny cases, one chair, and a telephone that has been disconnected.

"We used to have a phone back here, but they took the phone out and we have to go to the drug store"
—with just the trace of a grumble.

A bright atom of seventy-puls
"I don't believe in stating precise ages.
Makes it tough if you ever want another job" George Pierce is slightly over five feet high, utterly bald, behind whose horn-rimmed glasses
the merriest of brown eyes twinkle.

"That Nasovye," said George.
"She was a one we always played little games, we did. Like the one with the rug. We had a little strip of rug in the hall. We called her the queen and made the other members of the cast straddle it. Only the queen could walk on the rug."

He pointed to a framed photograph of Lillian Gish.

"Lillian and Burgess Meredith were in the 'Star Wagon.' Lillian had a dog named Melcolin and Burgess had a valet named Melcolin, and everyone, anyone, said Mel-colin, the dog and the valet would come running out."

The number one dressing room today is used by Dorothy Stickney, but many years ago George hung a little frame on the door that said,
"the first lady."

"I remember the day Gertrude Lawrence bounced in. I said, 'Miss Lawrence, there's your dressing room.' She ran over to it, and when she read the sign she cried, 'George, stop pulling my leg! Made me feel real devilish!'"

The responsibilities of a backstage doorman when being interviewed are such that he dare not say anything about this person, or admit a fondness for that one, without causing resentment or hurt to others.

His esteem for Katherine Cornell, however, could not be concealed.
"A mighty fine woman. In the 'Barretts of Wimpole Street' there were a number of English people, and they always wanted tea at 4 o'clock. I used to serve them. Used to make it right here. Funny thing, the English don't like our tea. But Miss Cornell was an angel, bad days and good, rain or shine. She never left the theater on matinee days.
She'd stay in her dressing room until the evening performance. She'd send out for food, have her dinner right in her room, and she always ordered for me."

"The Lunts were like that, too.
They were crazy about stew. The Lunts brought their food from home and I warmed it and prepared it here. There was always a portion for me. Fixing the Lunt's food was a pleasure. Mr. Lunt, being a master cook himself, it was served in person by him."

Plays come and go but the people who have known George Pierce back stage apparently never forget. Opening nights are high pressure, with hundreds of telegrams pouring in, but there are always a few for George—like the one on the recent night when "Life With Mother" opened—which came from Martha's vineyard:
"I am always glad you are there holding the fort, dear George."
It was signed Katherine Cornell.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CLARKE BEACH
(For Jane Eads)

Washington—"You'd be surprised how much time the President of the United States has to spend worrying about the problem of government office space in Washington." So remarked Donald C. Stone, director of administration for the Economic Cooperation Administration, who worked with both President Roosevelt and President Truman on office space problems. He was then an assistant director of the Budget Bureau.

"The top problems for Washington officials today are the loyalty programs and office space," Stone continued. "Space is an old problem here. There's never enough of it in Washington. People who have it cling to it until they are pushed out. You have to be continually shifting various offices, contracting and expanding."

"When a high official has been occupying a good building and a fine office for a long time, sometimes he simply can't be persuaded to move. It hurts his dignity for you even to suggest it. Many a time you have to take it to the President, and he has to review the problem, try to reconcile the official to the change or just order him to vacate."

One of the classic stories about Presidential intervention concerns President Roosevelt. In 1939 he wanted the Budget Bureau—probably a President's handiest and most-used tool—to be moved into the old State, War and Navy Building, just west of the White House.
But the State Department had the building. Diplomats protested that valuable traditions and prestige would be destroyed if they were moved from the hallowed halls.

Finally, to get to the bottom of the matter, Roosevelt announced he was going over to see about it himself. He had them roll him across the street in his wheelchair, and he inspected the enormous pile from top to bottom. He barged into one office after another, asking questions, creating vast consternation.

He sailed into a big file room on the top floor. Are all these files necessary? He asked. Are they current files? The clerks and bureaucrats assured him they were. The President wheeled himself up to a drawer, drew out the first folder in sight and read:
"China. Wild horses. 1905."

The Budget Bureau moves in!
The President announced, wheeling himself out without another word.

Slot Machines Still Illegal In State Says High Court

Raleigh, Dec. 2 —(AP)—A slot machine, no matter how you pay to play it, is a slot machine—and illegal in North Carolina—says the State Supreme Court.

The court ruled to that effect yesterday in finding no error in the conviction of Joe F. Davis and three other Charlotte men for violating slot machine laws in operation of "remote control" devices.

Davis and the others—J. D. Gunter, R. L. Harkey and E. M. Wagley—appealed from a Mecklenburg Superior Court. Davis got a 90-day sentence, suspended on payment of a $100 fine and costs, on a charge of distributing the machines. The others, charged with possessing the machines, were allowed a five-year continuance of prayer for judgment.

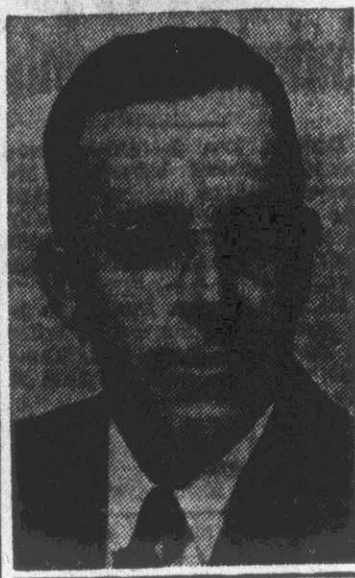

Davis' attorneys contended the state slot machine laws applied only to devices into which the player must put a coin. The "remote control" machines were turned on by a switch some distance away, after the player paid the operator. The coins slots on them were plugged.

Such machines, the court held, are covered by a section of the law which says slot machines are devices which take coins or which may be readily converted to take coins.

Guest Speaker

PROF. D. W. COLVARD

Dr. D. W. Colvard, head of the department of animal industry at State College, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Pitt County State college club at the Red Oak community building Wednesday, December 2 at 8:30 p.m.

The meeting will be the annual Ladies night dinner of the club. W. C. Eagles of Greenville, club president, will preside.

A native of Ashe county, Dr. Colvard was educated at Berea college, the University of Missouri, and Purdue university. Prior to joining the State college staff in 1947, he held a wide range of positions as an educator, livestock farmer, and research scientist in the field of agriculture.

Rocky Mount's Aldermen Found Quietest In Town

Rocky Mount, Dec. 2 —(AP)—About the quietest people in town today were the members of the Board of Aldermen as they prepared for their biweekly meeting amid loud clamors from the citizens against a recently enacted ordinance against noise.

Rocky Mount residents didn't pay much attention to the ordinance when it was first enacted, but they started becoming alarmed when sound systems were shut off at the ball park, amplified Christmas music was banned, a laughing Santa was hushed and the train and bus stations were ordered to cease calling trains and buses—which the latter refused.

Expect Appeal For Continuance

Warrenton, Dec. 2 —(AP)—Attorneys for J. Edward Allen, former Warren county school superintendent, were expected to ask a continuance of an embankment hearing for him in Recorder's Court here today.

Allen was taken to Duke hospital in an unconscious condition Tuesday. Yesterday physicians said he had regained consciousness and his condition was "fair." They added that the nature of his illness had not been determined.

Greenville's Story

PART IV

(Ed's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles by I. J. Edwards, Jr., of Greenville, a student at the University of North Carolina. The articles deal with the history of the city of Greenville from 1774 to 1910, and are based on facts from "Sketches of Pitt County," a book by Henry T. King, published in Raleigh by Edwards and Broughton in 1911.)

Part III in this series was concluded with the fact that the Raleigh-Greenville plank road was built in 1851, and this city held 56 per cent of the stock in the project. The remainder was held by Washington, Wilson and Raleigh, in that order.

In 1858 the Pitt County Court House was completely destroyed by fire, and it was believed that a Tennesseean ignited the fire to destroy a will. He had made a copy of the will, and changed the wording so that he would be entitled to ownership of land mentioned in it. The clerk of the court discovered his crime, and refused to declare the copy true. Therefore, he burned the courthouse to destroy the original.

In 1911 a portion of the first court house ever built in the county was still standing and was being used as a tenant house. It was about three miles east of Greenville on the Washington road, on the land of John Hardee. This site once had prospects of being a town, but the present site was more attractive and 1771 Martinborough, Greenville's first name, was established and the court house was built a few years later.

The first mention of the population of Greenville was in 1860, when the town is said to have had 828 residents. Pitt County's population at that time was 16,440, divided as follows: whites, 7,840; free Negroes, 127; and slaves, 8,473. At that time

Greenville was the only town in the county.

In the presidential election of 1860 Abraham Lincoln was elected, but he received very few votes in North Carolina, and not enough to count in Pitt County. Soon after the election, talk of dissolution of the Union was begun. In Greenville there were strong Union sympathizers, as well as strong secession men. After the beginning of the War Between the States in 1861 Pitt County men were enlisting wherever they could find a unit. Some were so anxious to get to the front that they enlisted in companies already there. January, 1862, found more than 600 Pitt County men enlisted, and more ready to go.

In the book from which the information used in these articles is taken, "Sketches of Pitt County," Author Henry King has detailed descriptions of the parts played in the war by men of Greenville and Pitt County. The accounts are too long and detailed to be mentioned here, but for those particularly interested in this phase of the history of Greenville it would be advisable to read these accounts in King's book. He has done a particularly outstanding job of keeping up with the natives of the county by name and rank.

January 1, 1863, all slaves of the Confederate States were freed by President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, but many in this area remained with their masters, as faithful as ever. Others, however, ran away and entered the Federal lines in New Bern and Washington.

Riceland Rice Griddle Cakes Are Family Favorite

Griddle Cakes Made With Riceland Rice

Doctors say, "Start the day with a good, nourishing breakfast."

That's just the same thing as saying, "Start the day with Riceland Rice griddle cakes for breakfast." Because hot, delicious griddle cakes made with Riceland Rice are better than good—they're wonderful!

Riceland Rice griddle cakes are better than nourishing—they're extra nourishing! That's because Riceland Rice is one of the most nourishing of all foods. It's one of the most easily digested foods, too. Everyone should eat Riceland Rice some way—every day. As a breakfast cereal, vegetable, main dish, salad or dessert. Or in delicious Riceland Rice griddle cakes made this way:

Riceland Rice Griddle Cakes

- 1 cup cooked Riceland Rice
- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 egg, beaten

Add one cup of the milk to the cooked Riceland Rice. (If allowed to stand for at least a couple of hours—overnight is even better for breakfast griddle cakes—the texture will be extra smooth.) Then add salt, sugar, shortening, flour and baking powder, beating in well. Combine the beaten egg with the other cup of milk. Add this to the Riceland Rice and flour mixture.

Bake on a hot greased griddle, hot enough to make a drop of water dance when sprinkled on the griddle. Brown on one side, turn and brown on the other. Serve hot with butter or margarine and have a jug of syrup close by.

This recipe makes about 15 medium-size Riceland Rice griddle cakes. They're tops for breakfast and they make a deliciously different "bread" for other meals, too.

Be sure to use genuine Riceland Rice. It's the perfect cooking rice that's grown in the heart of the Quality Rice Belt of America. Riceland Rice now is sold by most grocers and it's worth making a special effort to get. Look for the Riceland Rice brand name on the package. It's your guarantee of quality and cooking perfection.

Here's the best and easiest way to cook Riceland Rice for all uses:

To Cook Riceland Rice: Put 2 cups of Riceland Rice, 2 teaspoons of salt and 4 cups of cold water in a large saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more, during which time the water will be absorbed, making the rice deliciously tender. Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Always use Riceland Rice for best results.

Riceland Rice Is Easy To Cook! Tender! Fluffy!

To get the best results with this recipe and all rice recipes, be sure to use Riceland Rice. It's the world's most delicious rice—grown in the heart of the quality rice belt of America. Only the choice, perfect-cooking rice grains are packed in Riceland packages.

This quality rice is quick and easy to cook. Riceland Rice cooks deliciously tender with white, fluffy, individual grains.

Most grocers now feature this better-cooking, wonderfully delicious, packaged rice—and at economical prices, too! Riceland Rice costs only one-cent a serving.

The Pastor's Aide Club of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Bryant on Monday night with the president presiding. Remarks were made by the pastor. After refreshments the meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Ella Griffin on East First street Monday night, December 8.

Friends of Mrs. Lula Ellison will be glad to know that she is improving nicely. She is at home on Nash street, convalescing from injuries received in a bus wreck in Washington D. C., while en route to Baltimore, Md., on Thanksgiving morning. It is hoped that she will soon be out again.

All Usher Board No. 1 members of Mt. Calvary Church are urged to attend the business meeting tonight, December 2, at 8 p. m. at the church.

The family of Agnes Elliott Hamby gratefully appreciate your kindness shown during his illness and death.

Murder Gets Around

BY ROBERT SIDNEY BOWEN

Chapter 1

"Oh, come on, Gerry," Paula pleaded. "You look silly behind that desk. Besides, I promised."

"No dice, sweet," I said, and didn't move. "Sam and Dot Rankin are swell people, but the raffish you meet at their cocktail brawls give me pains all over."

"She took a slow deep breath and let the first of the danger flags unfurl in her eyes."

"Nuts!" she said. "You've met some nice people at their parties, and you know it!"

"I shook my head."

"You've got me mixed with some other guy," I said. "I'm your boy friend who works for a living. Remember? But which one of the two thousand guys who almost assassinated Hitler are they entertaining this time?"

"Paula Grant blew a raspberry off her luscious lips, and made a face."

"Okay," I sighed. "You run along and have all kinds of fun. You can tell me all about it at dinner tonight. The Stork, about nine, huh?"

She leaned forward a little, and let one eyebrow go up the way Wallace Reid used to do it in the old silent flick days.

"Your hearing is getting bad, Grandpa," she said, tight-lipped. "I said, I promised, and this gal doesn't break a promise. Which, in passing, is more than can be said."

Blazing Gunfire Ended Arguments

Durham, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A prolonged argument between a 31-year-old waitress and her husband was over today. It ended suddenly in blazing gunfire that took both their lives in a restaurant booth here.

Dr. R. A. Harton, Durham county coroner, said Norman C. Bailey of Durham shot his wife, Kathleen, and then turned his pistol on himself yesterday.

Dr. Harton said relatives of the couple told him they had been "arguing several days."

Miss Ellen Harmon, who worked with Mrs. Bailey, told police that Bailey came to the restaurant as his wife was getting off work. They sat alone in a booth for nearly two hours, she said.

"Then, I saw him get up with the pistol in his hand and tell her, 'Get back in that booth. If you get up I'll shoot you,' police quoted Miss Harmon as saying."

"When she got up he raised the pistol. It was close to her face. She put her hands over her face. I don't think she screamed. Then he shot her—twice before she fell."

Popular Cookery for Spareribs

Ranking in popularity with Barbecued Ribs are Ribs, Chinese, and they can be made from ingredients available in our American stores. Two varieties of these hold outstanding prestige. The one called SWEET-SOUR is high vitamin pork and green pepper with pineapple chunks and a sweet-sour sauce.

The other is ribs for dipping in apricot and mustard sauces. Both are dishes to be remembered and appreciated, even by epicures. This winter, pork is superior with more plentiful corned beef; you will want to serve ribs often and in a variety of ways.

Once you have tasted these ribs you will better understand Pearl Buck's remarks about the wonderful meals she has eaten in China where they have a very keen awareness of food textures and flavors, yet cook in a frugal way that anyone can afford.

RIBS, CHINESE

Cut into three inch lengths and place in a saucepan:

Add: 3 lbs. spare ribs
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup pineapple juice

Gently simmer until meat is tender, about 45 minutes. Then remove ribs and broil to skillet. Continuing simmer until all the water evaporates and the ribs are coated with the sauce. These may be eaten this way using Apricot Sauce and Mustard Sauce as condiments or made into sweet-sour ribs as follows:

SWEET-SOUR RIBS

Cut: 4 large green peppers into 1 1/4 inch squares and bring to boil in water to cover. Drain and put into skillet with:

4 slices of pineapple, cut in 6 pieces, each and 1/4 cup pineapple juice

Heat through, then thicken with the following blended mixture, stirring as you cook:

3 tablespoons cornstarch 1/4 cup sugar and 1/4 cup water
2 teaspoons soy sauce 1/4 cup water

Stir constantly until juice thickens. Serve hot with boiled rice and tea, of course.

DIPPING SAUCES, APRICOT SAUCE—Mix 1/4 cup apricot nectar or juice down to 1/4 cup. Combine with 2 tablespoons sweet pickle juice or vinegar.

MUSTARD SAUCE—Mix 1 tablespoon dry mustard to a smooth paste with water. Serve a small amount of apricot sauce and less mustard on your plate, swirled together. Dip the Ribs, Chinese, into the mixture.

REMEMBER— Always cook meat gently with a low heat. Never let it boil. Low heat tenderizes, high heat toughens.

Creel And Size Limits Retained In Fishing Rules

Raleigh, N.C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Wildlife Resources Commission has decided to continue 1948 creel and size limits in its 1949 game fish regulations.

The commission decided to prohibit night fishing in Western North Carolina streams which are designated trout streams. Fishing will be permitted only from an hour before sunrise to an hour after sunset.

It also will ask the 1949 General Assembly to put the state's non-resident hunting and fishing license fees on a reciprocal basis—that is, authorize the same fee for a visiting hunter that his state would charge a Tar Heel. There would be a floor on the fee under which reciprocity would not go.

Cerdan In Bout

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Marcel Cerdan, world's middleweight champion, squares off with Dave "Golden Boy" Andrews of Lowell, Mass., tonight in the French Moroccan's first American exhibition bout. The match, headlining an armory card, is scheduled for four rounds.

Note To Rocky

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Note to Rocky Graziano: The fighter who ducked didn't turn out too tough for Earl Turner, 154 pounder, of Richmond, Calif.

Turner easily defeated Fred Apostoli, 158-pound former middleweight champ, in 10 rounds last night.

That was the date you failed to keep when you hustled back east and explained you were in a mental mixup about fighting on the West Coast.

Turner went in with enough speed to call the tune most of the way. In the final round he was belting Apostoli around almost as he pleased.

After all, Apostoli hadn't fought since November, 1947, and the layoff showed.

Louis To Start Workouts Today

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis was slated to begin training today for his six-round exhibition boxing bout with Billy Conn in the International Amphitheater on Dec. 10.

Louis is training at Eddie Nichols' gymnasium on Chicago's South Side.

About 100 fight fans watched Conn take his first workout yesterday at the Ringside Gym in the Loop. Since coming back from retirement the Pittsburgh battler has scored nine-round knockouts in two starts.

Harry Mendel and Frank Harmon, promoters, said at least 53 cities in the nation were still asking for Louis to make exhibition appearances. They said Louis had agreed to an appearance in Miami, Fla., Jan. 27 against an opponent to be selected.

A seffout of 12,000 is virtually assured for the Louis-Conn bout here.

Passing Ace Is Studying Offers

Reno, Nev., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Passing ace Stan Heath of the University of Nevada is reserving his decision on a pro football offer by the New York Yankees reported in some quarters as worth $40,000 for two years.

The 21-year-old Menominee Falls, Wis., star confirmed yesterday that the All America Conference club had offered him a "good" job for the next two seasons. Heath didn't disclose the salary.

ANOTHER BOWL
Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Still another post-season football game was added to the South Florida menu today with the "Charity Bowl" contest scheduled here Dec. 8 between the Cherry Point, N.C., Marines and the University of Miami freshmen.

Trainer Andy Lotshaw of the Chicago Bears is serving his 29th season with the National Football League Club.

Television Pumping Cash Into Revived Boxing Game

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Bids for boxing talent are expected to hit a new high with television interests pumping fresh cash into the market.

Columbia Broadcasting System became the first network to buy a piece of a fight club yesterday when they purchased a one-fourth interest in the Tournament of Champions. CBS expects to be televising fights on a Chicago-Boston network by Jan. 15.

The CBS move was part of the reorganization of the Tournament of Champions, organized last April to combat Mike Jacobs' stranglehold on the boxing game. George Kietz, one of the original "seven millionaires" still survives with 25 per cent. He remains president. Music Corporation of America and Allied Syndicates and a public relations firm headed by Dave Charney each holds 25 per cent.

According to the mimeographed blurb distributed to a press conference and luncheon, the new T. of C. proposes to go into all phases of sports on a national and international basis. They even talk of hockey and football franchises and tennis, but right now they are concentrating on boxing.

The new organization expects to tap new and greater revenue from television which will make up for any loss of patronage at the gate. It figures to offer higher guarantees to fighters with the new cash.

Television money is expected to flow freely from two sources:

1. Sponsors who will pay more for TV rights when networks take the shows to added millions of watchers.

2. Movie theaters who will pay on per seat basis as soon as movie screen size television is practical in all parts of the country.

Madison Square Garden fights are televised on an Eastern NBC network every Friday. That will be stretched westward as soon as the cable is ready. The contract between the Madison Square Garden Corporation, 20th Century Sporting Club and the sponsors runs until June 1.

Florida Players Ask Ray Wolf Be Kept As Coach

Gainesville, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The 44 players on the University of Florida's football team have asked that Coach Ray (Bear) Wolf's contract be renewed.

In a letter to chairman J. Thomas Gurney of the board of control, Gator captain Fletcher Groves said, in part:

"It is well known how the players feel about Coach Wolf, for the majority of the squad have played under him for three years. During this period his character, coaching ability and relationships with the squad have been beyond reproach and have never been in question either on or off the playing field. x x x

"It is true that we have had our ups and down but the squad feels that no other coach in the country could have done a better job."

Stan Musial Is Chosen 'Most Valuable Player'

National League's Big Slugger Wins Honor By Wide Margin; Sain And Al Dark Named In Voting

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Stan Musial, the lean St. Louis Cardinal slugger who just missed a clean sweep of every National League batting honor, today was named the circuit's most valuable player by a wide margin.

Batting champion at 376, leader with 135 runs, 230 hits, 131 runs-batted-in, 46 doubles and 18 triples, Musial fell short of a perfect score by one home run in a most remarkable season. He hit 39 out of the park but Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Johnny Mize of New York each smashed 40.

As was the case in the American League where Cleveland's Lou Boudreau was an easy winner, there was little question about Musial's election in the vote conducted by the Baseball Writers Association. The first place vote of a 24-man committee, as announced by Ed Burns of the Chicago Tribune, the retiring president, was 18 for Musial, five for Boston's Johnny Sain and one for Boston's fine rookie, Al

Dark. Actually the award, which also carried with it baseball's official annual Kenesaw Mountain Landis plaque, is decided on a point basis. Each first place ballot counts 14, each second counts nine and so on down to one point for a 10th place vote.

On a point basis, Musial had 3003 for an 80-point margin over Sain who had 223. Dark scored 174. They were the only three with 100 or more points.

Dark, enjoying a brilliant freshman year as shortstop for a pennant winner, hit 222.

Fourth place went to New York's Sid Gordon who played a fine third base all season and drove in 109 runs with his 299 average. Next came St. Louis' prize southpaw pitcher, Harry Brecheen, a 20-game winner.

The longest forward pass ever thrown in a Rose Bowl game was tossed by Johnny Mack Brown to beat Washington for Alabama in 1928. It traveled 59 yards.

The Chicago Bears have won more than 75 percent of the games they have played since they joined the National Football League in 1920.

North Carolina's Basketball Team In Debut Tonight

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southern Conference finds out tonight (Thursday) just what kind of a basketball team the University of North Carolina Tar Heels will put on the floor this season.

For the Tar Heels become the fifth conference team to swing into action in the 1948-1949 campaign. North Carolina enters the League of Nations at Chapel Hill. Carolina Coach Tom Scott has only three letters on the squad, including Sherman Neasman, center; Coy Carson, forward; and Dan Nymczek, guard.

The North Carolina game is the only contest on tonight's program involving a Southern Conference team. Two other loop outfits—William and Mary's Indians and Virginia Tech's Gobblers—made their debuts last night.

William and Mary, paced by Center Chet Giermak and Guard Jerry Bunting, ran over the Langley Field, Va., fliers, 60-29. Giermak, the club's captain, and Bunting each tallied 19 points.

Virginia Tech was beaten, 55-44 by the independent Roanoke Rebels at Roanoke, Va. Tech Coach G. F. (Red) Laird used 16 players in an effort to find the best combination.

Jim Ashburner and Sumner Tilson paced the Gobblers with seven points each.

Friday night's schedule: Clemson at Georgia; Quantico Marines at George Washington; Hanes Hooley at North Carolina State.

Florida Track's Racing Inaugural Is Disappointing

Miami, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—Tropical Park launched Florida's thoroughbred racing season yesterday with a surprising drop in attendance and pari-mutuel betting.

Only 12,079 fans saw William H. Veenneman's Phar Mon win the $5,000 Inaugural handicap by three lengths over Mrs. W. F. Mannagh's Gay Spark.

Wagering on the eight race program was only $461,264, a sharp drop from last year's opening at Gulfstream Park where 13,000 wagered $608,730. Two years ago Tropical inaugurated the season before a crowd of 12,127 who bet $487,000.

Lowest total of home runs ever to lead the American League is seven—record in 1908 and again in 1914.

Longden Leads... Pap

With more than 250 winners to his credit, the veteran Johnny Longden is well on his way toward repeating his victory of 1947 in the race for top-riding honors among the nation's leading jockeys. Last year, Johnny topped the list with a total of 316 winning mounts to post the greatest number of winners by a rider since 1908, when Jockey Vincent Povers booted home 324 winners.

In taking top riding honors for the third time, Longden will match the record of Johnny Adams who led the parade in 1937, 1942 and 1943. Longden headed the list for the first time in 1938. Few riders have been able to remain at the top or very close to it as long as Longden.

"You've got to love horses to get any enjoyment out of racing," says Longden. "I've been riding close to 20 years and I'd still rather ride than eat. I was born and raised on a ranch and riding is second nature to me. The best horse I've ridden? That's easy—Count Fleet, the Kentucky Derby winner. Personally, I like a front-running horse. It's a lot of fun to race a horse over a route, and it takes real skill and experience. I think a boy with average intelligence and ambition can become a successful jockey."

Guardsmen Beat Richlands Quint

Richlands—Bouncing back from a 38 to 23 conference opening setback, the Greenville National Guard basketball team last night smothered the Richlands All-Stars 53 to 30 in a Tobacco Belt contest played on the losers' home hardwood.

Palmer led the way for the Guardsmen by racking up 22 points. C. Williams scored 10 for the winners and J. T. Williams dropped in four field goals.

Richlands was held scoreless throughout the second half as the Guard defenses tightened and they coasted to victory with their first half lead.

Trott was high scorer for the losers with 11 points. Rand followed with 10 and Hall scored seven.

Lineups:
National Guard: F. Allen (22), J. T. Williams (8), Palmer (22), F. Rand (10), Sellers (4), G. Tollerud (10), C. Williams (10), G. Trott (11), Minges (2), G. Hall (6).
Subs: Guard: Jackson (4), Parker, Musselwhite (1), Lautares (1).
Richlands: Cox (2), Frazzelle, Sanders, McMaters.

Police Holding Gun-Totin' Boy For Robbery

Lincolnton, Dec. 2 (AP)—A husky 13-year-old boy was held today on a charge of robbery with firearms.

Sheriff George Rudisill said a 32-30 calibre pistol and $32 in cash taken from Miller Rhyne's grocery store, were found on the 200-pound lad.

Sheriff Rudisill and Police Chief Ben Sigmon recounted these events: The boy strode into the store poked a pistol into Rhyne's side and directed him to "clean out the cash register." Then he forced Rhyne to ride him in his automobile out of town. About three miles out the boy stepped from the car and ran. He was arrested in Gastonia about five hours after the robbery.

Five football teams have had point-a-minute records. They were Phillips, 1922, Missouri Mines, 1914, Georgia Tech, 1918, and Henry Kendall, in 1919 and 1920.

His wins include the $50,000 Argonaut handicap, the $100,000 Hollywood Gold cup and the $75,000 Golden Gate handicap. At Golden Gate track, Albany, Calif., Shannon tied the world marks of 1:47 3-5 in the mile and one-eighth and 1:59 4-5 in the mile and one-quarter.

Stokes Ruritan Club Is Organized

The newly formed Stokes Ruritan Club last night received its charter from a representative of the national Ruritan office, and became the fourth new Ruritan club to be formed in Fitt County this fall under the auspices of the Fictious Ruritan Club.

Egin White, Ruritan district governor, presented the club charter of Harold Watson, president of the Stokes club.

After the dinner in the lunchroom of the Stokes high school, Marvin Grey, executive secretary of Ruritan national, and Noel Lee, president of the Fictious Ruritan Club, made short talks to the approximately 45 members present.

The principal business conducted at the meeting was the election of delegates to the district convention to be held in Rocky Mount December 13, and delegates to the national convention which will be held in Roanoke, Va., on January 13, 14 and 15.

Delegates to the district convention from the Stokes club will be Harold Watson, Richard Barnhill, Charlie James, John Gray and Curtis Taylor. Delegates elected to the national convention are Harold Watson, Curtis Taylor and Hassell Gurganus.

Officers of the Stokes club are Harold Watson, president; John Grey, vice president; Hassell Gurganus, secretary; Jidron Whitehurst, treasurer; C. S. Whitchard, chaplain; Curtis Taylor, sergeant at arms; and Gordon Clark, reporter. Club directors are M. Y. Barnhill, G. W. Roebuck and Jerome Perkins.

Lineman Who Missed Electrocution Was Out For First Time

Richard E. Parker, lineman for the Greenville Utilities Commission who narrowly escaped death by electrocution on a transformer platform on two poles near the Person-Garrett Tobacco Company last Sept. 13, was downtown today and is recovering satisfactorily from his near-tragic experience when he came in contact with a high-voltage wire.

Firemen, with the hook and ladder truck, and plant employees rescued Parker on an extension ladder. He was severely burned and shocked and is making a wonderful recovery, he said. Parker's wife, who is a registered nurse, accompanied him on his first walk downtown today.

Greenville Taxicab Wrecked Near Rocky Mount; Three Hurt

A report from State Highway patrolmen at Rocky Mount yesterday stated that three persons were injured, one seriously, Tuesday night about 9:30 o'clock when a Greenville taxicab overturned on NC 43 eight miles southeast of the city according to a report of the State Highway Patrol.

The driver of the vehicle, Willie Cannon, 18, of Greenville, was the most seriously injured. Patrolman Wayne Cunningham of Tarboro stated. A hospital report indicated that Cannon had not regained consciousness this afternoon and his condition is considered critical. The extent of his injuries was not reported.

James Brock 25, of Route 1, Greenville was also admitted to a local hospital for treatment, but no report on his condition could be obtained from hospital officials.

The third occupant of the car Theodore P. Parker, 38, Atlantic Coast Line engineer of Rocky Mount, was released from the hospital shortly after being treated for minor injuries. Patrolman Cunningham said the driver of the cab lost control of the vehicle. The car turned over about four times, hurling both Cannon and Brock out of the car.

Syracuse University's boxing team will meet eight foes this winter.

TAR RIVER STILL RISING CREST OF FLOOD FRIDAY

This is the second day of December, only 15 days before the winter solstice when winter begins—December 21, and the temperature here today was 65 degrees at 2 p. m., according to Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The lowest temperature last night was 34 degrees, and there was a heavy frost. The mercury stood at 40 degrees at 8 a. m. today.

Tar River is still rising and the stream was at the 12.70 foot level at noon today. The crest of the near-flood is not expected to reach Greenville until Friday afternoon. Owners of live-stock have been warned to get the animals out of the low-grounds.

Markets Reflect China Reverses

Shanghai, Dec. 2—(AP)—The financial market skidded today on rumors that the Central Bank of China was shipping out its gold bullion. Paradoxically, some retail prices also dropped sharply.

(Normally, anything tending to weaken the currency would cause prices to rise. There was no logical explanation from Shanghai, but apparently the stock market weakness put some merchants in need of ready cash, while others sought to sell out to get their goods in more portable form—even the insecure government currency.)

Record Price On Champion Steer

Chicago, Dec. 2—(AP)—The grand champion steer of the International livestock exposition was sold today for an all-time high price of $10.75 a pound. The highest previous price was $10.50 at the 1946 show.

The 1200-pound, estimated, Aberdeen Angus, "Old Gold," which won the grand championship for C. E. Yoder and sons, Muscatine, Ia., was bought by Glenn McCarthy, president of the Shamrock hotel, Houston, Tex.

Patrol Commander Back On His Job After Operation

By CHESTER WALSH

Incidentally, Capt. Lester Jones, commander of State Highway Patrol Troop A, in northeastern counties, who underwent a serious operation at Veterans' Hospital, near Washington, D. C., last September is back in his office at the City Hall a short time each day. He said he is rapidly regaining his health.

About 35 new highway patrolmen were in the patrol offices today being measured for uniforms and assigned equipment. It was a fine group of healthy, sturdy looking men many of them college men and war veterans. "When they pick 'em for the State Highway Patrol, they pick out good ones," Capt. Jones said. "They are given intensive preliminary training, but it's tough on them the first year. If they make good, and many of them do, they have to be good," Jones added.

Evacuees Arrive By Big Planes

Manila, Dec. 2—(AP)—Two big transport planes arrived from China today with dependents of American diplomatic officials in Shanghai and Nanking.

The 39 evacuees included 25 children, ranging in age from two months to upper teens. Another group is expected Monday.

Mrs. Robert H. Soule of Washington, D.C., wife of the U.S. military attaché in Nanking, said there was no panic or confusion in the Chinese capital, "and no tears at the airport when we took off."

Persistent Fog Leaves Britain

London, Dec. 2—(AP)—One of the most persistent fogs in a generation lifted from Britain and most of western Europe today.

For six days the choking murk had tied up British air and sea transport. From the Baltic to Portugal, air traffic had been fouled up since last weekend.

There is about one cent's worth of gold in 1,000 gallons of sea water.

Slow To Answer . . .

Communists . . .

A Foreign Office spokesman said that Jacques Mayrier, French ambassador, had replied in his capacity as dean of the diplomatic corps that the heads of foreign missions had decided to stay in Nanking.

Air reconnaissance reports showed, meanwhile, that the 12th Army Group of more than 100,000 men is compressed by the Reds into a pocket only seven miles in diameter. The shrinking pocket is 130 miles northwest of Nanking.

Drama Nears . . .

(Continued from page one) criticized for not reorganizing his government and inaugurating economic reforms as a prelude to dealing with the Reds. But nobody yet appears to have shown him how he can achieve a wholesale politico-economic reorganization while the war is going full blast, or how he can win the war without first having the politico-economic housecleaning. He probably would be grateful if some of the experts would figure out that one.

Still, Chiang is tough and he is dogged. A source close to him says he is determined to continue the war against the Reds, and if he is beaten in Nanking he will retreat even pulling back as far as Canton in the far south to make a stand.

That's fighting talk, but the fact is the crystal doesn't show the fate of China at this juncture.

Man's Inner . . .

So much for what happens in the mind of man as the psychiatrists see it. But a nation is made up of many men and, therefore, many minds.

Is there any comparison between the battlefield in the man's mind and the battlefield in the collective mind of a nation?

Yes, says Dr. Edward A. Strecker, a psychiatrist at the University of Pennsylvania. In a talk here he said "nations, like individuals have personalities."

The national subconscious, he said, is usually more debased and moves with more power than the subconscious of an average person. And too often the national conscience is weak.

Of the national conscience, Dr. Strecker said: "Almost constantly assailed and mocked by evil propaganda, its faint struggles are very likely to be drowned out by tidal waves from the subconscious." But what of that conscious mind of the nation, that rider on the back of the national subconscious, that part which says "yes" or "no" because of the rules of society in general?

Dr. Strecker said "It must be ready with double-talk expertly camouflaging double action. Even in the face of a nation's dishonor its (conscious mind) must present to other nations a mask of fair dealing and idealism."

He's particularly critical of Russia, saying its conduct is a throwback to primitive conduct. But he says other nations, including our own, are not free from subconscious leaders.

In a democracy that is to survive, Dr. Strecker said, the national conscience must become increasingly stronger.

N.Y. Cotton

Noon prices were 85 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower than the previous close. Dec. 3234, March 3229 and May 3213.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Dec. 2—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady to weaker. Tops of $21.50 at Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson Goldsboro, Washington and Richmond.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Dec. 2—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at mostly 35 with few at 36; eggs steady, A large 65-67.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—A fast early advance in the stock market soon leveled off today but gains were fully held. The advance was a carry-through to an abrupt rise yesterday, one of the best of the year.

Gains today ranged from fractions to more than a point. Support was well distributed through the list, with some of the largest increases scored in the railroad and aircraft sections.

Wall Street, cheered by yesterday's rebound, continued to talk up the possibility of a December rally. Records of the past 10 years indicate that the general level of prices has risen in December more often than it declined.
