Former Garrison Of Suchow Said To Be Encircled

Reds Boast Nanking-Bound Armies Surrounded; Annihilation Promised

Nanking, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Chinese Communist radio reported tonight that Red forces had completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the Nationalist former Suchow garrison in the developing battle for Nanking.

The garrison, comprising some 110,000 combat troops in the 16th, 15th and Second army groups, abandoned Suchow last Wednesday in an effort to reach the trapped government 12th army group in the Suhsien sector, about 45 miles to the south.

If the Communist claim is true, it means that only the government troops on the new Hwai River defense line enjoy freedom of movement in the region. The line was set up recently 100 miles northeast of Nanking, but is manned by relatively inferior troops.

The Red broadcast boasted that 20,000 government troops had been "annihilated," and added: "If these troops refuse to surrender very soon, they will be entirely wiped out before long."

The Suchow garrison has been delayed in its southward march by Communists between 10 and 25 miles of the captured city. A government military spokesman said the three army groups were westward, headed south again and were now about 35 miles southwest of Suchow.

But it was known that some 125,000 Communists under Gen. Chen Yi were massing across their path. The Red radio broadcast implied that other Communist forces had descended upon the Nationalist armies from the north and west.

The broadcast said those encircled also included civilian personnel of the Kowmintang (government) party and Suchow city officials.

Foreign military observers said the Suchow troops—largest government force in all East China—must break through the Reds or face probable annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the area, the Communists, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government is regarded as hinging on developments between 100 and 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

Blaze Threatens Florence, S. C.

Florence, S. C., Dec. 6 (AP)—Fire broke out in the heart of Florence's business section today. Preliminary estimates were that a quarter-million dollars damage would be wrought.

Firemen battled to confine the flames to the three-story building of the Rainwater Furniture Company on North Dargan street.

All of Florence's fire fighting equipment and personnel answered the first call shortly after 10 a. m. They were augmented by trucks from Darlington and Marion.

Rough Treatment Is Seen For Truman Farm Plans

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Two major parts of the Truman administration's farm program appears to be in for rough treatment by a veteran Senate Democrat.

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, who will become chairman of the Senate agriculture committee in January, has served notice that: 1. He wants flat and high price guarantees to farmers for their products, instead of a flexible schedule.

2. He doesn't want any international wheat agreements along the lines of the one justly plugged by President Truman in the last Congress.

"There are a lot of people who merely want to get the cheapest bread and meat possible," Thomas told a reporter over the weekend. "They have not thought these things through. If low prices and depression hit our farm areas then the whole nation will suffer again as it always has in the past."

The last Congress passed a long range farm act. Under it the support price (what the farmers are guaranteed by the government of five basic commodities—wheat, corn and cotton) would be set at 90 per cent of the market price. The support price would be set at 90 per cent of the market price.

There was no radio around to pick up the blast of Joshua's Seven Horns at Jericho — norocrates' last conversations with his friends ... nor Pericles talking to the Athenians ... nor Lincoln giving his Gettysburg address.

But Columbia records has just come out with an album called "I Can Hear It Now" — that covers what the radio picked up in the 13 years from 1932 to 1945. The five records take 45 minutes to play.

The first one begins with a voice saying "These are the sounds of days that are past ..."

The last record ends with the same voice saying "... or do we walk through midnight toward the dawn without knowing it?"

President Reports Greek Campaign 'Bogged Down'

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—President Truman said today the drive to crush Greece's Communist-backed guerrillas has bogged down.

He told Congress the American-aided Greek army itself was partly to blame for failing to make a "determined effort" against the remaining rebels after a series of victories last summer.

As a result Mr. Truman said Greek morale has sagged and an earlier "encouraging prospect" for eliminating the guerrillas failed to materialize despite the delivery of more than $170,000,000 worth of American arms and supplies.

"A military stalemate has ensued which has prolonged the struggle," the Chief Executive said in a letter transmitting a new report to Congress on the two-year, $625,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program.

In Turkey, by contrast, the report declared that American aid is showing definite results. It said "significant progress" has been made toward increasing the fire power and efficiency of the Turkish army to enable it to continue to resist Communist pressures, and added:

"The Turkish people have taken advantage of their opportunity. Turkey is today working hard to derive maximum benefit from United States supplies and training."

The report covered operations of the two aid programs through the three months ended September 30. Its sober references to the situation in Greece contrasted with Mr. Truman's statement in the preceding quarterly report that the Greek aid enterprise was a "conspicuous success."

The latest report estimated some 22,000 guerrillas were still trying to "spread ruin and demoralization" in an attempt to prepare the way for ultimate Communist domination of Greece.

The number was put at around 15,000 when Congress voted the first aid funds 18 months ago.

Today's report forecast rejection of an Athens plan for American support of a plan to expand the Greek army. There was no direct reference to the proposal—reported to call for hiking the present authorized strength of 168,500 to possibly 260,000—but the report said:

"So far as number of troops, supplies and equipment are concerned, U.S. authorities are confident that the Greek army, navy and air forces possess the capability of restoring internal security in Greece in the face of a guerrilla movement of the present proportions."

The appeals were filed on behalf of General Kenji Dohihara and Koki Hirota, former premier of Japan. The appeals challenged legality of trials conducted by the International military tribunal at Tokyo.

After the appeals were filed here last Monday, General MacArthur announced that execution of the sentences given Dohihara and Hirota and of five other condemned Japanese warmakers would be deferred pending Supreme Court action. None of the five others filed appeals. Among them is wartime Premier Hideki Tojo.

Dohihara was a Japanese undercover expert in China and Manchuria. Chinese called him "The Bird of Evil Omen." Hirota was a career man who attended a pre-war Harbor conference of former premiers at which war plans were made.

Jackson said he had refrained from participating in earlier similar appeals filed by Germans convicted in the war trials. He said that he did this to avoid embarrassment for the U.S. since he had served as chief U.S. prosecutor at the trials of the top Nazis.

He said that in the case of the two Japanese, the court split 4-4, so that he had the deciding vote.

Asked officials for resignation Governor-Elect Returns From 2-Week Florida Vacation

Raleigh, Dec. 6 (AP)—Capitol Hill, which wanted to hear some answers from Governor-elect Kerr Scott, had plenty of them to talk about today.

The outspoken Scott, just back at his home near Haw River last night from a two-week Florida vacation, made the answers without hesitation.

1. Yes, he did write Chief Highway Engineer W. Vance Baise and ask him to resign.

2. Yes, he did ask Charles Z. Flack, chief clerk of the State Utilities Commission to resign.

3. No, he had not requested any other resignations around Capitol Hill.

4. He did not attend meetings of the Advisory Budget Commission here Nov. 22-24 because he didn't think it necessary to do so.

5. His inauguration date? He thought it had been announced—Jan. 6.

Questions about Scott had flown around Capitol Hill for two weeks while he vacationed at an undisclosed spot.

Scott said he asked Baise's resignation because he wanted to "make a change" in the engineering department of the State Highway Commission and "I thought I was doing the courteous thing to give Baise notice."

He asked Flack to resign, he went on, because "I had an agreement with Charlie in the campaign and he broke it."

"I thought if I couldn't trust him on that I couldn't trust him on anything else," Scott added.

He said Flack, "because of our friendship," agreed in last spring's Democratic primary campaign to be neutral "although he was to vote for the opposition." Flack "lined up his county (Rutherford) against me," Scott asserted.

Condemned Japs Granted Hearing By High Tribunal

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Supreme Court by a 5-4 vote today granted a hearing to two Japanese wartime officials convicted as war criminals and sentenced to be hanged.

The court's action was made known in an opinion by Justice Jackson. He said he had agreed with Justices Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge that the two Japanese should have a high court hearing.

That meant a contrary view was held by Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Frankfurter and Burton.

The appeals were filed on behalf of General Kenji Dohihara and Koki Hirota, former premier of Japan. The appeals challenged legality of trials conducted by the International military tribunal at Tokyo.

After the appeals were filed here last Monday, General MacArthur announced that execution of the sentences given Dohihara and Hirota and of five other condemned Japanese warmakers would be deferred pending Supreme Court action. Transport Plane Crash Survivors Found In Sea

Johnston Island, Dec. 6 (AP)—A navy search plane radioed early today it was circling the survivors of a C-54 transport forced down in the mid-Pacific Sunday with 87 men aboard.

The search plane, a privateer, messaged that it could maintain its vigil "about three and a half hours." It did not report how many survivors were at the scene.

Engine trouble forced the big transport to ditch at a point about 1,000 miles southwest of Honolulu, and about 340 miles southwest of this tiny island—a mere speck of refueling stop in the broad Pacific.

The C-54 was one of a flight of five en route from Oahu to Spokane, Wash. It carried a crew of seven and 80 passengers.

Col Thomas L. Wiper, Johnston Island commander who flew near the scene, reported he had seen signals from the water after the pilot of an air force search plane had spotted the survivors and dropped a boat.

The air force pilot radioed first word that some survivors had been spotted.

"Sighted flames," came the radio message from the search plane. "Dropped boat. Boat landed about 100 yards from survivors. Don't know whether they saw it or not."

The pilot, Capt. Allen H. Stotts of the Higham field air rescue unit, messaged also that his gas supply was running low. He started back for his tiny island base which other planes were ordered to the scene immediately.

(In Honolulu, the Pacific Air command said a navy privateer reported sighting flares on "the water about 20 miles from where Stotts had dropped a boat. The air force said it was possible it was a second group of survivors.)

Munich, Germany, Dec. 6 (AP)—German war brides are going to the United States via an "airbridge" from Munich.

Two commercial skymaster transports started the run yesterday with 94 brides and their children.

More than 3000 brides, their families and sponsors hope to fly to the U. S. to beat the Dec. 28 deadline under an alien act.

Confirm Finding Of New Comet

Tokyo, Dec. 6 (AP)—Tokyo University observatory announced today it had confirmed the discovery of a new comet by Minou Honda, Japanese astronomer.

The observatory reported sighting the comet this morning—moving westward in Constellation Hydra at 13 hours longitude and 24 degrees, 20 minutes south latitude.

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Officials of the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., reported today that the "general condition" of Rep. Bulwinkle (D-NC) is improving.

Electors Upheld

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to order Alabama's presidential electors to cast their ballots for President Truman.

The electors have pledged themselves to vote for Governor J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, the States' Rights candidate for President.

The Supreme Court rejected the requests by Governor James E. Folsom of Alabama and by three Alabama judges that it issue an injunction prohibiting the electors from voting for any persons except "the duly nominated candidates of the Democratic party" for President and Vice President.

Blockaded Berlin Protests Soviet Policy With Votes

Berlin, Dec. 6 (AP)—A final count showed today blockaded Berliners slapped the Communists with 1,300,000 votes, each one a protest against Soviet occupation policies.

The central election bureau said 96.3 per cent of the eligible voters cast valid ballots yesterday in the three western sectors for the regularly scheduled city elections, which the Communists boycotted.

The vote swept the Social party into power in the western part of the city. Like the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats, who ran second and third, the Socialists are anti-Communist.

The final results: Social Democrats (Socialist) — 558,100 (64.5 per cent). Christian Democrats (Conservative) — 258,498 (19.4 per cent). Liberal Democrats (Conservative) — 214,224 (16.1 per cent).

In all, 1,586,090 Germans were eligible to vote in the constitutionally prescribed election in the three sectors, under American, British and French control. The vote was refused to conduct or tooting in their sector. In voting, Western Berliners defied a city of Communist officials.

Western Berliners, who had been urged to support the Soviet of Communist bloc, refused to do so. The vote was a local election. It was a barometer of the support of Soviet of Communist bloc.

The 96.3 per cent figure of eligible voters who cast ballots was doubt significant. Even if all non-voters were Communists—which is no likely—they could not have pulled more than 13.8 per cent of the total. In 1946 the Communists polled 11 per cent of the vote.

The Soviet military command has forbidden the election in its sector of Berlin.

German Communists had refused to be on the ballot and threatened revenge against all who dared vote. German leaders of all three anti-Soviet parties united in calling the election a plebiscite for freedom versus Kremlin-style dictatorship. The Russians called it an election for "chaos and famine."

The Social Democrats, who demand socialization of Germany along the lines followed by the Labour Party in England, scored possibly the greatest victory in the 90-year history of their party.

They emerged with an absolute majority which gives them working control of the next city and borough governments under Western Allied auspices.

The Socialists claimed the election showed at least half the Berliners who voted Communist in 1946 had gone over to the Social Democratic party.

Offer 'Proof' Of Red Activities In Spy Ring

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee is handing a grand jury today what it calls definite and shocking proof a Red spy network operated in the State Department before the war.

At the request of the Justice Department, the committee sent one of its investigators, William A. Wheeler, to New York. His mission: to turn over copies of secret papers to a grand jury which has been investigating Communists and espionage for nearly a year and a half.

These are papers which the committee says a member of the Communist underground in the State Department turned over to another member of the outside for relay to Russian agents.

The outside man was Whitaker Chambers, now a Time magazine editor who admits he was a courier for the Communist underground in Washington before he broke with the Reds in 1938.

The committee is hanging on to another set of copies of the documents, for use when it starts its own spy hearings going again tomorrow—but perhaps behind closed doors.

The prints were made from microfilm obtained by subpoena from Chambers last week. At the time Chambers had them cached in a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Chambers has said these particular documents never reached the Russians because he got them while he was in the process of splitting with the Reds.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the House committee, has said the hearings starting tomorrow will establish who fed the papers to Chambers from the State Department.

The committee regards those hearings as so important that it enlisted the help of the Coast Guard and the Navy to bring one of its members back from a ship at sea.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) was en route to Panama aboard the S.S. Panama Coast Guard plane flew from St. Petersburg, Fla., to a dramatic rendezvous at Aikins Island, south of Jamaica.

Nixon transferred to the plane and it flew the 478 miles to Miami. There he boarded a Navy transport for the hop to Washington.

Will Push Israel's UN Membership U. S. Delegates To Seek Admission Before Week's End

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—American sources say United States delegates will try to push through Israel's admission to the United Nations before the assembly adjourns this weekend.

The assembly cannot act, however, unless the Security Council approves the application, and there is no clear majority apparent in the council for Israel's admission.

The council's membership committee taken up Israel's bid for the admission today. U. S. sources said the Americans are committed to Israel membership and are prepared to press the issue in the council and in its membership committee.

Membership applications must receive seven of the Security Council's 11 votes. They then must get a two-thirds majority in the assembly.

Also in doubt is the fate of the British-American plan for creating a three-nation union in the Holy Land in Palestine. Russian-Arab opposition plus the short time left for debate did little to brighten its future.

The question of the commission is slated to come before the assembly by at least Thursday. The watered-down resolution was approved Saturday by a vote of 25 to 21 in the assembly's political committee.

Asks For Proof That North Korea Has Free Gov't

Paris, Dec. 6 (AP)—Russia was challenged in the United Nations today to show proof that the "people's republic" she set up in Northern Korea is a free government.

Peter Fraser, Prime Minister of New Zealand, thumped the table as he declared in U. N. political committee debate.

"If there is a free government in North Korea, produce it."

Communists Lose Former Supporters In Final Count Of City Election; 86.4 Per Cent Of Voters Went To Polls; Results Are 'Barometer'

Voices Of The Past

An Album Of Recordings Brings Into The Home Voices Of Great Personages From The Years 1932-1945; Events In History; Priceless Collection For Future

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—If you were lucky enough to be around when the words were spoken, and had a recording machine handy, what voices of history would you want to put on wax for the future?

There was no radio around to pick up the blast of Joshua's Seven Horns at Jericho — norocrates' last conversations with his friends ... nor Pericles talking to the Athenians ... nor Lincoln giving his Gettysburg address.

But Columbia records has just come out with an album called "I Can Hear It Now" — that covers what the radio picked up in the 13 years from 1932 to 1945. The five records take 45 minutes to play.

The first one begins with a voice saying "These are the sounds of days that are past ..."

The last record ends with the same voice saying "... or do we walk through midnight toward the dawn without knowing it?"

The voice is that of Edward R. Murrow. He cuts in from time to time to pull his pieces together.

But all the other voices are those of the men who helped make history between the depths of the great depression and the end of World War II, or had something to

Pirates 'Ready And Willing' For Tonight's Cage Clash

Porter Promises Good Game; Bucs Hot In Workout

A night of hardwood thrills is promised at East Carolina Teachers College tonight as the Purple Pirates of the school open their season against the Portsmouth Gridiron Club and Boo Boo Butler's Easy Aces engage the Portsmouth All-Stars in a preliminary event getting underway at six-thirty.

The feature event of the evening will be the clash between Coach Porter's Bucs and the Grid club cagers starting at eight o'clock and expected to draw a capacity crowd to ECTC's Wright building.

Coach Porter announced last night that the boys were ready for the tilt, though they may be hampered slightly by minor injuries. Len Bauer and Frank Mastine, listed on the probable starting lineup released by Porter, both have minor ailments. Mastine has a boil on the leg and Bauer has a blistered foot. "But they both looked all right today," Porter announced yesterday.

In their final workout before the opener the Pirates "looked pretty warm," according to Porter. The first team racked up 24 points in eight minutes of play against the reserves.

"We don't know how strong Portsmouth is but we'll guarantee a good ball game," the ECTC coach said. "We can make it interesting with any team in the country," he declared. The Porter coached aggregation played the N. C. State Wolfpack to a 70 to 43 score in a scrimmage two weeks ago.

The Bucs boast two very outstanding forwards who are expected to give any opponent this season a hard way to go. Charlie Bill Moyer, whose slowness and accuracy make him a constant threat, and six foot, four inch Jack Everton, who scored the points against State, promise to lead the Pirate scoring parade. Both boys are juniors but Moyer is playing his fourth year with the Pirate quints.

In the preliminary game, the Aces ECTC intramural quintet, will play a team of ECTC students from Portsmouth. The All-Stars were only recently organized. Butler's team has a record of three wins and one loss. The intramural game is expected to attract a number of student fans as well as some townfolk who want to see a doubleheader.

Same Old Story As Citation Has An Easy Victory

San Bruno, Calif., Dec. 4—(AP)—It was more of the same old story for Citation in a $5,000 tinsup sprint at Tanforan.

The Calumet Farm comet scooted yesterday to his 18th victory out of 28 starts this year, doing the six-furlong shore in 1:12 on a muddy track.

He ran away from his four foes to win his western debut by a length and a half.

The victory worth $3,100 and running his total to $467,570, only confirmed his previous status as the heavy favorite for the $50,000 Tanforan Handicap next Saturday.

The three-year-old son of Bill La paid only $2.20 to win and $2.10 to place.

Truman And Russia

Another thing in which the Southern Democrats can be of no help is in connection with Stalin's attitude. He is the greatest factor in the business outlook especially in view of defense spending, foreign loans and the European Recovery Program. Truman can be a modifier of circumstances to some extent. He cannot be the master of destiny whatever his ability. This foreign situation will be further complicated by the political activities of the Veterans of World War I and World War II which activities were largely forgotten in the recent campaign.

President Truman has fighting ability, political judgment and vigorous health. It is also said that he is "honest"; but I do not understand how an honest man is also intelligent could make the promises he did in his campaign speeches. He, moreover, appears to lack judgment in recruiting men of outstanding ability and tends to "go off half-cocked" and spring surprises which may be very dangerous. I doubt if he also fairly balances loyalty to friends against loyalty to the nation as a whole.

The Real Truth

The real truth is that Mr. Truman doesn't know what he is going to do any more than you read this article. The forecasts which columnists and commentators make is so much wasted time. Mr. Truman will try to carry out most of his promises, but he does not know which ones he will be able to fulfill. No one else knows. Hence, the only sure thing that readers can depend upon is that we have two years of great uncertainty ahead. Whether for good or evil, I must refer you to Mr. Stalin's inner thoughts, not necessarily to what he says. All of this means that readers should use 1949 for getting out of debt, storing

Snead's Nerves Tested In Miami Open After Layoff

Miami, Fla., Dec. 4—(AP)—Slammin' Sammy Snead, with a better grip on his nerves and those 'puttin' jitters," will open his winter campaign in the $10,000 Miami Open Dec. 9-12.

The Hot Springs, Va., professional golfer, dividing his time between a dish of chocolate ice cream and a game of checkers, said in an interview that his layoff from competitive golf this fall has "done me a lot of good."

"I don't say that those puttin' jitters are all gone. I haven't put them to the test yet. But I do know that I'm a lot calmer than I used to be."

His last competitive game was at Pinehurst, N.C., Nov. 2 when he trailed little Tony Panna for second money. Before that, he played in the Tam O'Shanter in Chicago last August and before that the Masters at Augusta, Ga., in April.

"I've been shooting better golf lately," he drawled.

"When you stay away from golf it works two ways: good and bad. The good is that your nerves get settled down and the bad is that you get out of practice."

"But I think I'm in pretty good shape now. I'll tell you more about that after the tournament next week."

Asked how he thought he would stack up against the 100 or so entering the tournament, he said:

"They tell me of Ben Hogan isn't going to be in the (Miami) Open this year. That sort of opens things up, doesn't it?"

Wyatt Highsmith, who has functioned perfectly in providing programs during the year, was in charge. He called on four members to recite the most interesting experiences in their activities. Army Gesture

Baltimore, Dec. 4—(AP)—Navy's 21-21 tie with Army last Saturday drew mountains of praise from the football world, but the most stirring tribute of all has been paid by the Army team itself.

The winning team traditionally receives the football in use at the final gun. In case of a tie, a coin is tossed to decide the owner.

Army won the toss after last week's deadlock, but last night Navy Coach George Sauer disclosed his co-captains, Scott Emerson and Pete Williams, had received a letter from Army Captain Bill Yeoman.

Yeoman said he was forwarding the pigskin to the Naval Academy.

"We won (it) by chance," said the letter. "You get the football."

Optimist Bowl Has Tied Game For Second Year

Asheville, N.C., Dec. 4—(AP)—The annual Optimist Bowl football game here yesterday ended in a tie for the second straight year.

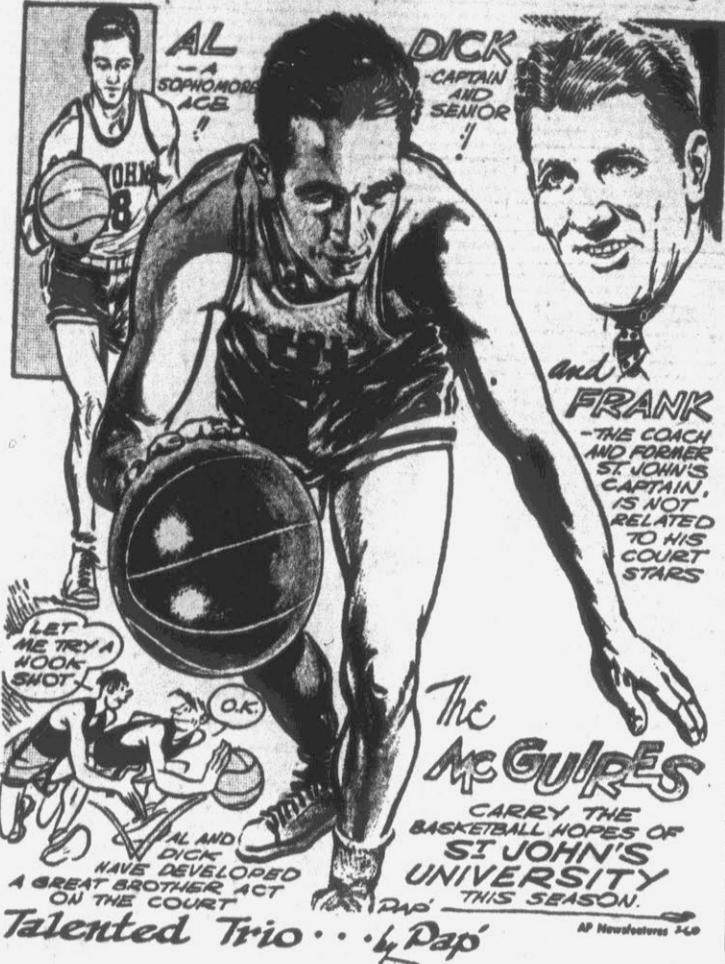

Eastern and Western All-Star squads battled to a 6-6 deadlock in the first half before guest of honor Charlie Justice and 3,000 other fans. A year ago the score was 0-0.

Frank Alexander of Murphy ran 27 yards for the West tally in the first period. Marion's Bill Stanley tied the count for the East with a 23-yard scoring jaunt in the third quarter.

The fans gave Justice a halftime ovation as he marched out on the muddy field.

First football uniforms were sleeveless jackets of canvas, laced in front and drawn tight to fit the body. Navy first used them in 1879.

This is the season in which the McGuire's take complete charge of the basketball situation at St. John's University. Frank McGuire is moving into his second season as head coach of the Redmen. Dick McGuire (no relation) is winding up a brilliant career which found him picked for All-Metropolitan honors in his three previous campaigns with St. John's. Now comes a third McGuire, Dick's younger brother, Al.

Only a sophomore, Al McGuire has already won a starting berth on the varsity. Nineteen years old and weighing a brawny 185 pounds, he stretches two inches over the six-foot mark and can out-jump most of six-six players. Al bids fair to outshine even the brilliant record of his older, talented brother. First of all, Al is a scorer, something Dick has never been. Dick contends himself with play-making, despite the pleading of Coach McGuire, his teammates and even members of his immediate family that he take his share of the shots rather than pass off to a teammate.

In brother Al, Dick will have a teammate worthy of his own court talents. In the past, Dick has too often been so far ahead of his mates in setting up plays that his best efforts were wasted. The youngest and newest of the McGuires can go right along with Dick—as fast and as far as he wishes. And it all adds up to a colorful and successful season for the Redmen.

LaMotta Takes Close Decision

New York, Dec. 4—(AP)—Tommy Yarosz has a lot of new friends today after his close losing effort to Jake LaMotta and the Bronx Bull still has a Jan. 7 Madison Square Garden date with Robert Villainain of France.

That about sums up the implications of last night's Garden brawl in which LaMotta won a tight unanimous decision over the rangy Yarosz from Monaca, Pa., in a 10-rounder.

Referee Garry Ebbs and Judge Jack Gordon saw it 5-4 for LaMotta with one even and Judge Jack O'Sullivan thought LaMotta a lopsided 7-3 winner. Many newspapermen at ringside gave Yarosz an edge in an even fight but none disputed the decision violently.

LaMotta carried the heavier guns. He dropped Tommy for no count with a left hook in the very first round. Throughout the battle, fought in spurts and starts, he carried a severe body attack to the Pennsylvania. When he switched to the lead he opened cuts around both of Yarosz's eyes.

It wasn't all LaMotta by a long shot. Yarosz, a dancing master, was in there flicking with his left jab

'Lend Lease' Of Athletic Talent

New York, Dec. 3—(AP)—The United States and Europe are planning a sort of "lend lease" program calling for the exchange of athletic visits.

Under the setup, America's leading amateur stars make a tour of continental centers and Europe's best do their stunts in the U. S.

Encouragement of the exchange was discussed by the Amateur Athletic Union's foreign relations committee last night.

Blocking Trophy For Bob Bowlby

Clinton, S.C., Dec. 4—(AP)—Bob Bowlby of N. C. State College is the 1948 champion of the Southern Conference.

Coaches of the conference voted him the honor and he will receive the William P. Jacobs Memorial Trophy at a banquet in Durham, N.C., on Monday night.

and scoring consistently with an overhead right. He won the last five of the 10-rounder and hit Jake 10 times without a return in the fifth round, when Jake stuck out his granite jaw and invited action. He did the same thing in the eighth.

Boston's Alvin Dark Is Chosen Rookie Of Year

App's Mentor Is Awarded Honors

Greensboro, Dec. 4—(AP)—Edward C. Duggins, who in his second year at the helm led Appalachian State Teachers to the North State Conference championship, was announced today as the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association's coach of the year among smaller Southern college football teams.

Duggins, who served variously at Milligan and Tampa University before taking over the head job at Appalachian when Fucile Stewart left for Maryland, has had two brilliant seasons.

A year ago his team won nine of 10 games, losing only to Stateville, perennial conference champion.

This season the Apps swept eight of nine regular season games, a 14-1 tie with Lenoir Rhyne being the only blot on the regular record. They whipped Catawba in their march to the conference title. This year they had a Thanksgiving Day appearance in the Tennessee Burley Bowl, where they lost to West Chester, Pa., Teachers, 7-2.

Top-Flight Cars In Stock Races Slated Sunday

Wilson, Dec. 4—Tomorrow will be the big day for Carolina Stock Car racing fans, when a top flight field of cars will appear at the Wilson Fairgrounds with the first event scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m.

The American Legion, Robert B. Anderson, Post 13, the co-promoters, have made all necessary arrangements to handle the huge crowd expected. The program will consist of three 12 lap qualifying heats. These heats will be reverse starts with the fast cars starting from the rear, making it necessary to get around the slower cars to win.

The final of forty laps will be a conventional start, the pole position going to the car with the fastest time trial. As eighty percent of the prize money is distributed in this event, this will be the one all the drivers will be gunning for.

Southern Circuit Cagers Involved In Six Contests

App's Mentor Is Awarded Honors

New York, Dec. 4—(AP)—Alvin Dark, the Boston Braves' talented young shortstop, today was named rookie of the year for 1948 by the Baseball Writers Association.

The 25-year-old freshman who hit .324 for the pennant-winning Braves won by a comfortable margin. Dark received 27 of the 48 votes by the same writers' committees who selected the most valuable player in each major league.

Gene Bearden, southpaw pitching star of Cleveland's World Series triumph, was second. He polled eight votes. However, all balloting was done during the last week of the season and thus did not take into consideration World Series performances. In the regular season he won 17 and lost seven.

Bearden, of course, flashed brightest at the very end of the year. After defeating the Boston Red Sox in the tie playoff game to decide the pennant, he shut out the Braves in the third Series game. Then he came back in a relief role to save the day for Bob Lemon in the sixth game when the Tribe won the Series.

Third honors went to Richie Ashburn, the Philadelphia Phils' two-headed speedster. He had seven votes. Ashburn, a "sleeper" in the rookie crop was on the Toronto season opener. He justified Harry Walker, the 1947 National League batting champ, out of a job and hit .330, second only to Stan Musial, the champ.

Ashburn broke a bone in his hand in August and missed the last two months of the season. If it hadn't been for that he might have been even more outstanding. However, he was one of the real "finds" of the year, jumping from Class A to the majors without trouble.

Top Ranking For Gardner Mulloy

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 3—(AP)—Just as it was figured all the time Gardner Mulloy of Miami is the South's top ranking mens tennis player.

The Southern Lawn Tennis Association gave him that ranking yesterday. The No. 2 spot went to Jack Tuero of New Orleans.

The top woman player is Doris Hart of Miami and a fellow towns-woman, Maria Barnett, was given the No. 2 spot.

West Flagler Kennel Club led all dog racing tracks in Florida in 1948 with an attendance of 474,751.

Island Welcome For Texas Team

Honolulu, Dec. 3—(AP)—The powerful Texas Colleges of Mines eleven arrived by plane late last night for the El Paso Collegians' football tussle tomorrow with the University of Hawaii.

It was the first mainland college team to come to the islands this season. Hawaii students thronged the airport and staged an impromptu show of hula dancing and singing that lasted more than an hour.

After the 24-hour flight, Miner Coach Jack Curtice grinned at the receptionists and declared: "I never saw anything like it in my life."

Grimesland High School News Friday morning the Grimesland Future Farmers of America gave an illustration of parliamentary procedure in their high school auditorium. The eighth grade through the senior class were invited to come in the hope of educating them on that matter and to improve their class room clubs.

Friday night the boys and girls teams of Grimesland played Aurora's two spirited teams in Grimesland's high school gymnasium. Although the home teams lost they played the best games in their history. The crowd was extra large and when the games were over they all said they got their money's worth and that Grimesland played extra well although they lost. The scores were 27-14 girls, and 42-34 boys. —Jimmy Dunn, reporter

Christian Science Service "God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, December 6.

Golden Text: Isaiah 45:18. "Thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it; he is I, am the Lord; and there is none else."

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "I am the Lord, and there is none else."

"I have commanded" (Isaiah 45:18). And from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God created all things and made all persons."

Mrs. Marlowe Honors Miss Hunsucker

Walstonburg. — Complimenting Miss Annie Sue Hunsucker, whose marriage will take place this month, Mrs. W. A. Marlowe entertained at her home Wednesday night.

Three tables of bridge and two of rummy were in play.

The bride-elect's place was marked by a corsage and miniature corsages marked the other places. Mrs. Earl Lang won high score bridge prize and Mrs. Ray West, Jr., was given low. Miss Florabelle Garner was the winner of high prize in rummy. A drawing for table prizes was held.

Coca colas and nuts were passed during play. Later the guests were invited into the dining room. The table was centered with candelabra holding eggplants filled with white chrysanthemums. White decorations were used on the buffet. Mrs. Carl T. Hicks, seated at one end of the table, served the green and white bridal loes. Decorated cakes were served by Miss Lillian Corbett.

Nuts and mints were passed. Pink and white flowers were used in the living room and leaves and fall flowers decorated the den.

The bride-elect received crystal from the hostess.

Tea Honors New Members Of Club

Members of the Greenville Woman's Club met Friday, December 3, for a program of art and music. A tea honoring new members of the club was held at 3 o'clock, followed by the business meeting and program.

Mrs. J. K. Long, art chairman, and Mrs. J. L. Fleming, music chairman, were in charge of the program which dealt with art and music of the Rocco Period. Introductory remarks concerning art and music of that period were given by Mrs. Long who then introduced as guest artists of the afternoon Miss Dora Clot, chairman of the art department at ECTC, Miss Gladys Reichard, contralto, Miss Elizabeth Drake, pianist, and Mr. George Perry, pianist, all of the ECTC music faculty.

Miss Clot showed slides of paintings by such artists as Watteau, Boucher, Lancret, Chardin, and others. Explanations about certain characteristics of the Rocco Period as exemplified by the painters were given by Miss Clot who also pointed out the relationships between art and the political and economic situation of that period. Miss Gladys Reichard explained some of the outstanding characteristics of vocal music of the Rocco Period and sang the art Divinites du Styx from Gluck's opera "Alceste," followed by a selection from the Impressionistic period "Dune Prison," by Reynaldo Hahn. She was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Drake. Compositions by Couperin, Rameau, Boccherini and Debussy were played by George Perry, who also spoke briefly about the prevailing techniques of composition of that time and about the use of the harpsichord.

The following new members were honored at the tea preceding the program: Mesdames J. A. Nelson, George Clapp, Herman Nobles, Ed Batchelor, Alton Barrett, Owen Marshburn, S. M. Spruill, Bob Thompson, C. M. Jones, J. G. Riddick, E. L. Baker, C. A. Scruggs, Elmo Savage, W. S. Krausnik, W. D. Brown, T. G. Basnight, Sr., J. G. Lautares, Lloyd Mills, J. C. Clifford, M. N. Posey, W. W. Howell and Miss Lella Higgs.

Mrs. J. A. Watson and Mrs. Closs Hearne presided at the tea table which was attractively decorated in the Christmas motif. Delicious refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mesdames W. J. Stiel, J. A. Watson, J. L. Winstead, E. L. Willard, Wiley Brown, Gus Forbes, K. T. Futrell, L. J. Edwards, C. W. Davis, Closs Hearne, Roy Martin, Cammie Moore, Howard G. Forter, Robert Scheller, Andrew Moore, J. W. Tetterton and J. H. Moyer. Mrs. J. Vance Perkins presided at the business meeting. Announcements were made by departmental chairmen. Of special interest to club members and their friends was the announcement of the Annual Christmas Show given by members of the Garden Club to be held on Friday and Saturday, December 10 and 11, at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Latham Speaks Before Book Club

Bethel.—On Wednesday afternoon the Book Exchange Book Club met with Mrs. Cecl Whitehurst.

After a brief business discussion, presided over by Mrs. R. E. James Jr., the president the meeting was turned over to Mrs. R. R. Whitehurst, program chairman. Mrs. Whitehurst introduced our guest speaker, Mrs. W. C. Latham. Mrs. Latham, in her usual efficient manner, gave a very interesting review of an article written about Emily Post—how she became interested in writing and how she handled embarrassing situations. The review was most amusing and enjoyable. Mrs. Whitehurst, assisted by Mrs. W. T. Whitehurst, served a sweet course with Coca-Cola.

Diabetics Assured Fewer Shots Of New Insulin Mix

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—A new insulin combination that eliminates hundreds of injections a year per diabetic patient was announced today by a Northwestern University medical specialist.

Dr. Arthur R. Colwell, associate professor of medicine at Northwestern and president of the Chicago Diabetes Association, said the preparation has been used successfully for six years on more than 500 severe diabetics.

The medicine is a two-to-one preparation of standard insulin and protamine insulin (insulin mixed with a simple protein which slows the absorption of insulin from injection sites.) The preparation is called simply, "2:1 mixture."

Dr. Colwell said the combination provides smoother balance and gentler action than insulin alone. Ninety per cent of his patients require only one injection a day of the combination. "The most severe sufferers required two divided doses a day."

Although protamine insulin used alone is adequate for mild diabetics, Dr. Colwell said, it has certain faults in other cases. During the night, while away from food, severe sufferers sometimes suffered unconsciousness and convulsions. Dur-

Remember Deed Of Nazi Captain

Mill Valley, Calif., Dec. 6—(AP)—A Christmas package of coffee, tobacco and a pipe will be sent to a former German submarine commander by two grateful Americans.

Otto V. Bulew of Hanover was in command of a submarine which sank the steamship West Notus 300 miles off Cape Hatteras on June 1, 1942. The two Americans, Francis Sherlock of Portland, Ore., and Fred Ritzenthaler of Mill Valley, were aboard the ship.

During the sinking, Bulew directed the rescue of Sherlock, who was wounded, and turned him over to the lifeboat crew of Ritzenthaler. Bulew also saw to it that seven other Americans were saved from a sinking lifeboat.

Bulew recently asked Sherlock to write his son about the sinking. "I want my son to know that I did not shoot at men in open lifeboats," Bulew wrote.

Sherlock passed the word to Ritzenthaler. Both wrote Bulew and made plans for the package.

Hialeah Fixture

Miami—(AP)—Jim Fitzsimmons, dean of American horse trainers, enjoys the distinction of having stable horses in the same barn at Hialeah every winter since the rebuilding of the track in 1931.

During the day, action of the insulin was inadequate to carry normal food intake. Like other insulin products, 2:1 can be injected by the patient himself.

Women In The Church

For the past eight years there has been in existence in Grace Methodist Church, Blue Island, Ill., a "Dime-a-Month Club" which gives its funds to the American Mission to Lepers to be used for the helping of men, women and children afflicted with leprosy. There were thirteen charter members; today there are 125 members regularly sharing in giving. Recently the official board of the Church, of which the Rev. T. Harry Kelly is pastor, dedicated a window in the new church edifice to the American Mission to Lepers and in honor of the Club. Miss Ethel Marie Klein was the founder and is still the leading spirit in the organization.

Under the auspices of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, and with the support of the Phelps Stokes Fund (American) and of committees in London and in Africa, Dr. J. Merle Davis, noted anthropologist, is making a study of the effects of modern world contacts upon family life and native marriage laws and customs in central and south Africa. Many missionary societies are assisting, as are also certain governments in colonial Africa. It is hoped that the studies may give administrators and African bodies the data for stabilizing the life of the native family.

Dr. John H. Reiser, executive of Agricultural Missions, Inc., following a recent visit to Africa, is urging American churches to send greatly increased numbers of missionaries to that land, and to send especially men and women prepared to help the African found and perpetuate Christian homes as the people emerge from ancient tribal organization. "Unless we have Christian homes," he says, "we are not going to have a Christian church nor a Christian community. The problem of Christianizing the home in Africa and other parts of the world (including the U.S.A.) is one of the major problems before the church today. We must have personnel trained for this special work missionaries who have grown up in Christian homes, but who also have had training in the skills and technique necessary for this work."

Several Protestant mission boards are planning to add workers in this special field to their African forces. Boxer Tippy Larkin borrowed his name from an amateur fighter he once admired.

Smog Refugee Is Back For Keeps

Wrightsville Beach, Dec. 6—(AP)—One of the two score victims of a stifling smoke and fog pall in Donora, Pa., who recently spent a week's expense-paid vacation here has come back as a permanent resident.

Samuel Salverino, 45, drove into town from Donora yesterday and told Police Chief W. R. Wiggs he liked this resort so much he plans to settle permanently and go into business.

Infant Thwarted Theft Of Auto

San Francisco, Dec. 6—(AP)—Her 13-month-old daughter thwarted the theft of Mrs. Maxine Baker's car.

The thief telephoned police yesterday he was leaving a car he stole in nearby San Bruno without knowing the baby was in it. "Would the cops hurry down to Eighth and Mission streets? The baby is crying," he said.

Quick-Thinking Boy Saved Baby

Kannapolis, Dec. 6—(AP)—Two-year-old Celia Ann Holshouser of West Kannapolis is alive today, thanks to the quick action of a 14-year-old boy.

The youth, Cloyd Owensby, jumped into a burning parked car and carried the child to safety. The boy was riding by in another car with companions when he was attracted by the smoke. The child's quilt had caught fire from an undetermined cause, fire department officials reported.

Annual Legion Convention Set

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 6—(AP)—The 1948 State convention of the American Legion will be held here June 20-21.

The executive committee of the state's legion department set the dates at a meeting here Saturday. The committee chose High Point for the annual post officers' conference. It will be held Feb. 5-7.

River Still Rising

Tar River was still rising in the Greenville area today and the gauge registered a 15.71 foot level, Mrs. C. E. Maiden, observer here for the Weather Bureau, U. S. Department of Commerce reported. The crest of the flood is expected here about Thursday.

Tar River has to rise to about the 29 foot level to flood the Bethel Greenville highway, it is understood. Highest temperature here Sunday was 67 degrees. The mercury stood at 57 at 8 a. m. today. The sun was shining at noon.

The sun enters the winter solstice December 21, and that's the day winter begins.

Methodists Plan New Foundation To Aid Colleges

Winston-Salem, N. C., Dec. 6—(AP)—Methodist leaders planned today to incorporate the Methodist College foundation of North Carolina. It will seek to raise $10,000,000 to help state colleges and Universities which are supported by the denomination.

The foundation was formed at a meeting here last Saturday. James A. Gray of Winston-Salem, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company executive, was named chairman of the foundation. Gurney P. Hood of Raleigh, state banking commissioner, was elected treasurer.

The foundation's by laws give the board of trustees power to administer all endowment and trust funds and to direct the distribution to the five "participating institutions." They are Duke University and High Point, Greensboro, Brevard and Louisburg colleges.

Triplets Died Before Mother Had Seen Them

Charlotte, Dec. 6—(AP)—Girl triplets had died two days after they were born prematurely to the young wife of a Belmont textile worker.

Mrs. Lewis H. Wilson, 19, the mother, had never seen them alive. They were born last Thursday, and placed in individual tent incubators at Mercy Hospital here. They died Saturday.

Verna Louise Wilson weighed two pounds, 10 ounces at birth; Vera Marie Wilson two pounds and five ounces; Vivian Carroll Wilson two pounds and seven and a half ounces. Their total weight thus was seven pounds, six and a half ounces, or just a little more than most single new babies. The Wilsons have a 18-month old son.

Army Offering Added Careers To New Recruits

Careers in newspaper, radio, and television work are now being offered young high school graduates between 18 and 25 years of age by the United States Army, according to a statement issued today by Capt. Ferrese commanding officer of the local army and air force recruiting station.

Young men enlisted under this program will be given a six months course in Public Information subjects after they have completed their basic training. The course will be given at the Armed Forces Information School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. Upon completion of school, the enlistees will be placed on temporary duty for a period of 90 days with some accredited newspaper, radio station or television studio for on-the-job training. After completing the training with the civilian organization these men will return to Carlisle Barracks for a further orientation course of two weeks.

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—A new French program threatened today to snag carefully-laid British-American plans for boosting production in Germany's Ruhr industries.

Duke Professor Awarded Cup For Historical Book

Raleigh, Dec. 4—(AP)—A professor of history at Duke University, Dr. Charles S. Sydnor, yesterday was pronounced winner of the Mayflower Cup for 1948.

The award is presented annually by the State Literary and Historical Association to the resident author who has produced the best book during the preceding 12 months.

Sydnor's work is volume five of a 10-volume history of the South. Each volume being written by a different historian. His work is entitled "The Development of Southern Sectionalism, 1819-1848," and was one of 26 books considered for the award.

Sight Returning After 18 Years

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 4—(AP)—Herb Osburn, 63, says that in the last three weeks he has begun to regain the sight he lost 18 years ago and is discovering this is an amazing colorful world.

"The thing I notice most is the loudness of the colors," Osburn said yesterday in his small general store in suburban Loves Park. "The clothing is amazing—checks. The clothing is amazing—checks."

BETTER HEALTH FOR BETTER LIVING

The last three decades have brought many changes in matters pertaining to health. The normal span of life has been increased materially. Consider diabetes, for example. Diabetes was first recognized about the time of Moses, or 300 years before the birth of King Tut. Yet, it was not until 1922 that a specific remedy was discovered. Today, through the use of insulin and a balanced diet, the diabetic can reasonably expect to live about as long as anybody. Your physician will promptly recognize the symptoms of diabetes. He knows all about the treatment. And remember this, all advertised cures for diabetes are questionable. Don't be victimized by the swindlers.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CONCERNING REWARDS
We are sometimes inclined to desire about divine providence and to say that it is arbitrary and harsh.
We can be sure, however, that when God takes something from us, He always puts something better in its place. For every material loss there is some richer spiritual gain.

The eagle roughens the nest and pushes the young eagle out, that it may learn how to use its wings; and God often pushes us out of narrow comfort into ultimate wider space and larger liberty. His calls are upward to broader service, freer life, and larger joy.

Great calls to duty are always accompanied by great promises. God does not ask us to serve Him for nothing while the devil is offering us big pay. Men must have great rewards to spur them on to high action. It was the lure of great riches which hung like a glittering star over the East that beckoned Columbus from the horizon of an unknown sea. Jesus endured the cross for the joy that was set before Him.

We are not to serve God for pay, but it always happens that when we are loyal to Him, life becomes for us more abundant. Said the psalmist, "The judgments of the Lord are true . . . and ' keeping of His commandments is great reward."
Said Jesus, "Great is your reward in heaven."

Around Capitol Square

RUMORS—Capitol square in Raleigh is a fertile source of rumor and quasi-political gossip, without benefit of fact; but it isn't a circumstance to what goes on around Capitol Hill in Washington. An occasional visitor to the national capitol soon learns that if he wants to find most of what isn't true about North Carolina he must spend a few hours among the Carolinians in Washington.

FACTS?—For instance, your reporter learned during one day (last Thursday) browsing around congressional office and the press club that:

1. R. Gregg Cherry, retiring governor of North Carolina, has been offered and accepted a very important post in the next administration.
(Cherry said Saturday he hadn't heard about it, but the job would have to be a mighty good one to interest him.)

2. Senator-elect J. M. Broughton has had an awful hard time completing his office staff. He was supposed to have had everything all fixed for Charles Flack, chief clerk of the utilities commission, to become his administrative assistant, when for some unknown reason he and Flack had a fight, rumor being it was a genuine fistfight, and so that deal was off. (Senator Broughton could not be contacted, but Flack said he was glad to hear his Washington friends had not forgotten him, and the report was very interesting.)

3. Governor-elect Kerr Scott has a mess on his hands, because the organization that conducted his primary campaign and followed through the general election has been shot all to pieces by internal friction and personal jealousy. So since the new governor was going to fire everybody now in appointive official position, and since his most faithful supporters are torn apart, he will wind up with a bunch of in-competents to help him during his administration as governor.

RALEIGH—Some of these rumors had been heard around Raleigh, along with others of perhaps as great significance. There may be some grain of truth in all of them, but undoubtedly the grapevine news system had distorted them out of proportion to real fact or value.

DISCORD—It is no secret that there has been disaffection in the inner circles of the Scott camp.
There was friction and jealousy among the primary campaign headquarters staff, but it was successfully kept from public knowledge.
Since the November election it has been more noticeable. In many respects the situations in national and state circles are similar. In both cases the successful candidate is so much an individualist he finds it hard to work along organizational lines.

ORGANIZATION—President Truman and Governor Scott have not been modest about claiming they won personal victories in the elections. The claims are justified by the facts. But party leaders recognize that presidents and governors come and go, while the party itself is a continuing entity. Some

The Chinese Wall (Built On Sand)

individuals are scrapping for position and seeking to capitalize on developing situations for personal gain. Other party leaders are looking ahead to 1952 and beyond and are fearful of trends toward individual power. This attitude is only slightly less selfish than the other, because the incumbent party leaders are trying to hold on to such prestige as they have.

APPOINTMENTS—Most of the trouble stems from the expected large number of changes in appointive personnel. This is true in Washington and Raleigh, but more people hereabouts are concerned with the state level. There is marked resentment that Scott is not taking into his confidence many of the people who feel they have earned the right to be consulted, not only for personal services during the campaign but in interest of continuing party harmony.

Boyle's Column

By GEORGE TUCKER
(For HAL BOYLE)

New York—(P)—Ha... you got a grudge against cats? You'd better get rid of it.
It indicates a lack of discrimination that will forever bar you from the company of eat Pops, Kings, Philosophers, Writers, Composers and leaders of men who have loved these charming creatures down through the centuries.

The Chinese are very blunt about it. They say people who dislike cats are really rats in another incarnation.

I wouldn't go that far, but I do recommend that you familiarize yourself with the influence cats have exercised on the lives of great men and women.

Mohammed had a cat. It's name was Muezza. The French poet Loti wrote that he never really understood Mohammed's compassion and greatness until he understood his relationship to this animal. Often the cat went to sleep on his robes.
Mohammed always called for scissors to cut away the hem or the sleeve or whatever part of the robe the cat had chosen, rather than disturb him.

Edgar Allen Poe, Lafcadio Hearn,
Pope Leo XII, Henry James, Thomas Hardy and Samuel Butler were celebrated cat lovers.

Pope Leo often presented kittens to his friends and once gave a great black and red cat to Chateaubriand, who bragged in print, "he was born in the Vatican—he is called Micio and he is nicknamed the Pope's cat."

Antonio Sacchini, the Italian composer, wrote operas with his feline cats sitting on his shoulder, and Henry James, the writer, worked the same way.

It is worth noting that the Bible fails to mention cats a single time.
The Bible castigates dogs, mentioning them 44 times and always with contempt. This must cause some frustration in dog lovers who accept every word of the scriptures as literal.

The British writer Mitchell Joseph, who has written several marvelous books about cats, suggests that failure of biblical author's to mention cats is due probably to reluctance to say anything favorable about the Egyptians, enslavers of the Jews, who had defied cats.

Joseph tells of a cat that once lived at St. Paul's Cathedral in London. She would drag her property over and under pews, and sometimes sat with the choir during services.
Gautier, Baudelaire, Zola, Byron and Dumas were others who openly delighted in the company of cats.
The great Samuel Butler always claimed that the test of literary excellence was not whether a man could write an inscription but whether he could name a kitten.

As for myself, I have always lived with cats and never intend to be without them. It does not pain me when they kill birds, for I am pleased when they catch mice, and I would not be so consistent as to praise the one and chastise the other.

Cats are patrician and feminine.
They are without doubt the cleanest animal alive. They have great curiosity, but they are never jealous and seldom demonstrative—although there are moments when they fairly go into ecstasies of affection.

More unfortunate even than people who fail to understand cats are purists who claim for cats virtue to the exclu ion of all other animals.
I have in mind those who regard the honest tail-wagging of dogs as a vulgar manifestation of affection.
This is ridiculous. There ought to be room in the human heart for both.

Syracuse and Columbia began their football rivalry in 1901.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
For JANE EADS
Washington—The smallest of the smallest of the capital city's 745 parks is a triangular grass plot only 80 square feet in area.

It is situated in an old and heavily-traveled section of the city, but few Washingtonians know that it is a park. It has no identification signs although it is designated "Reservation 220" on maps of the National Capital Parks office. It is on Delaware Avenue at the intersection of First and P Streets, S. W. Two trees stand on its 802 acre compared with thousands of trees on the 1,743 acres of Rock Creek Park.

The little park was one of the original areas donated for streets in the capital city. These original areas were unusually wide and permitted circles and triangles to be established at intersections—in some cases sizeable parks.

Reservation 220 probably will always remain the smallest of the city's parks. Congress passed a law in 1938 which provides that no area less than 250 square feet between sidewalk lines should thereafter be included in the park system.

There are 425 triangle parks in the city, some serving as effective sites for statues. Since statues always are being erected in the capital, it is advantageous to have a triangle handy.
The 745 reservations in the capital's park system contain about 12, 500 acres of land in the District of Columbia and its environs. The park system was established way back in July 1790 and has been under continuous federal control for more than a century and a half.

In addition to the street areas donated by the original owners, President Washington acquired 17 reservations by purchase. Among these were the Mall, the Capital Grounds and the White House grounds or "President's Park."

Greenville's Story

PART VI
 (Ed's note: This is the sixth in a series of articles by I. J. Edwards, Jr., of Greenville, a student at the University of North Carolina. The articles deal with the history of the city of Greenville from 1774 to 1916, and are based on facts from "Sketches of Pitt County," a book by Henry T. King, published in Raleigh by Edwards and Broughton in 1911.)

The beginning of Greenville's tobacco market in 1891 was mentioned at the conclusion of the fifth article in this series, and since the market is Greenville's greatest asset, it is appropriate to mention now one of Greenville's greatest enemies throughout its early history. That enemy is fire. Saturday night, February 15, 1896, the explosion of a lamp started a $100,000 fire that resulted in the total loss of all the buildings on both sides of Main Street between Third and Fourth Streets, except the old Dancy buildings, and the Cherrys' and Brown and Hookers' stores.

Three years later Greenville had another $100,000 fire, destroying all buildings on the east side of Main Street as far as what was then the James Long store, and on the west side all were burned as far as the Bank of Greenville. The fire reportedly was started in an upper room over Cheek's bar.

Many citizens today take the fire departments in America's cities for granted, but reading the history of almost any community will reveal the extreme loss caused by fires in the early years. It is impossible to determine today how much property is saved by a modern and alert fire department. History certainly proves what can happen when a community is not prepared for fire.

Whereas Greenville was hurt by the fire of 1896, it was aided in July of that year by the installation of its first telephones. W. S. Atkins and D. E. House were the owners of Greenville's first system, which started with less than one hundred telephones. The system was bought in 1900 by the Carolina and Virginia Telephone Company, and facilities were increased to include more town and country lines.

At the turn of the twentieth century the census revealed that Greenville had a population of 2,565. The summer of the next year the first Institute for Teachers ever held in North Carolina took place in Winterville. It was held for the benefit of the teachers of Pitt and Greene counties, and 177 teachers attended. The year 1901 marked the beginning of Rural Free Delivery in Pitt County; 1902 brought the appointment of Harry Skinner to the office of District Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina; and in 1903 Greenville voted a graded school tax and the school was opened in November of that year.

The Norfolk and Southern Railroad, running from Raleigh to Washington, by Greenville, was completed in 1907, and its first passengers went to the State Fair to hear William Jennings Bryan speak. During the summer of the next year the old wooden bridge across the Tar River was replaced by a steel one, which cost nearly $50,000.

What To Do For A Cold

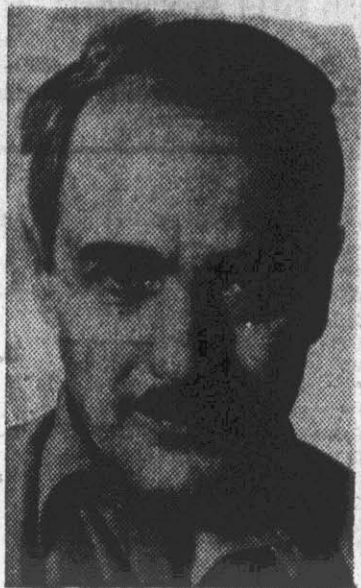

As the first sign of a cold, you should obey three simple rules:

1. Keep warm and get as much rest as possible.
2. Drink lots of water and fruit juices.
3. Take a CALOTAB.

Calotabs are a thorough dependable laxative, intestinal antiseptic and diuretic. They clean out your entire intestinal tract and flush your kidneys, thereby ridding your system of poisonous toxins. They help nature throw off a cold.

Remember! At the first sign of a cold — REST — LIQUIDS — CALOTABS. It's so simple. Follow label directions.

Lecturer Here

Earl Hanson, former special representative of the United States Government's Foreign Economic Administration in Liberia, will be the next guest speaker for the Pitt County Executive's Club. Mr. Hanson will address the club on the subject "American Frontiers in the Deepest Jungle."

Previous lecturers of this nature have been held locally at 7:30, but starting with Mr. Hanson's appearance here on December 7, these talks will begin at seven o'clock.

In addition to his engineering activities, Mr. Hanson is a writer of considerable experience, having published numerous books and many articles in Harpers World's Work, Geographical Review, and other national magazines of note.

Proposes 'Tenth Year Rest Plan' For Teacher

Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina Teachers College suggests in the "American School Board Journal" for November a plan permitting teachers to enjoy a year's leave of absence each tenth year of service.

Dr. Jenkins' article, entitled "A Tenth-Year Rest Plan for Teachers," proposes a self-supporting plan for a year of travel, study, or rest. He points out that it can be financed by the teachers themselves and cites various advantages to the recipients and to the schools granting the leaves.

"The entire expense necessary for this year's leave," says Dean Jenkins is to be borne by the recipient of the leave based on a ten-year financing plan. It is to be the teacher's responsibility to defray the expense for hiring a substitute teacher to fill the vacancy thus created at the prevailing substitute's salary scale. There should be as near as possible ten equal yearly payments which in turn should be returned to the teacher in ten equal monthly payments.

During the leave, Dean Jenkins proposes, the teacher would receive his regular salary from the school board.

Among advantages of the plan, Dean Jenkins says, are the professional growth of the teacher on leave, the organization in the school of a corps of capable, efficient substitute teachers, and the opportunity for the beginning teacher to gain experience in a school where supervision and organization are superior.

Memorial Service At Elks' Lodge

By CHESTER WALSH
 First District Congressman Herbert C. Bonner of Washington delivered the address at memorial exercises for deceased members of Greenville Elks' Lodge No. 1645 Sunday afternoon. Judge Albion Dunn, a past exalted ruler, presided.

Those honored were Roy Barrett, N. O. Warren, J. B. Lane, Jr., John Flanagan, I. W. Netherland, L. B. Garris and Dall Laughinghouse, Jr.

The lodge was organized in July 1942 and now has more than 200 members. J. Alvin Euning is exalted ruler; Charles E. Blair, esteemed loyal knight; Jesse R. Moyer, Jr., esteemed lecturing knight; P. W. Picklesimer, secretary; David Proctor treasurer; Bruce Baker, tiler; Joseph Dresbach, inner guard; Dr. K. L. Quiggins, esquire, and Chester Walsh chaplain.

Congressman Bonner said, in part: "Our departed brothers, whom we honor today silently minister to the lofty ideals of Elksdom. In the larger fellowship of the spirit, into which their souls have passed, they are finding, no doubt, that the theme of brotherhood is a pure trade mark of God's eternal reign. That which they sought to follow in this life has now become for them an immortal reality. It is well that we, as we think of them today, to remember this idea of brotherhood, fostering it to the best of our ability. Our brothers' faults are written in the sands of time, their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory," the speaker said in conclusion.

Police Court

Judge Jimmy Roberts disposed of the following cases in Police court last Friday.

Drunk: Raymond F. Heath, $20; Walter H. Moore, $15; Shelov Lewis $15.

Driving drunk: Luther White, jury trial granted.

Assault on a female: John W. Williams was not guilty and the prosecuting witness was taxed with the costs; Alonza Hardy paid $15.

Speeding: William A. Mason, $20; Mrs. E. E. Rawl $20.

J. F. Randolph paid $5 for cracking a red light.

Mail Early

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—Unless you mail your Christmas packages right now they probably will arrive after the holiday.

Postmaster General Donaldson said in a statement last night: "This year's Christmas mail added to the present everyday record volume has created the most acute mail congestion and transportation problem in the entire history of the postal service."

"Only by the immediate mailing of Christmas parcels can the senders be assured that their gifts will arrive prior to Christmas."

Pirates Lead Off Cage Season With 36-26 Win Over Visitors

The East Carolina Teachers College Pirates pried the lid off their 1943-44 basketball season here Saturday night by turning back a Portsmouth Gridiron club quintet 36 to 26.

Towering Jack Everton paved the way for the Pirates' season opening victory. The big Columbia, N.C., forward sank eight field goals and two free throws to account for half of the total ECTC score. He scored 13 points in the first half.

ECTC's superior height was one of the determining factors of the game. The Portsmouth club never broke into the lead. The Pirates ran up a score of 29 to 9 by halftime.

Coach Howard Porter played his entire ECTC squad, using his reserves for most of the second half.

It was in the second period that the visitors changed defensive tactics and began a commendable but futile uphill fight to gain the lead. The margin racked up by the Bucs was too great and the Porter-coached aggregation coasted to victory on their first half advantage.

Playing highly commendable ball in the ECTC opener was Virginia-born Len Bauer the boy Porter feared might not be able to play because of a blistered foot.

Aubrey Sweet set the scoring pace for the losers by racking up 10 points.

In a preliminary game Boo Boo Butler's Fancy Five smothered a Portsmouth All-Star aggregation to the tune of 44 to 22 with Bob Williams scoring 14 points to lead the way. High scorer for the losers was John Britt with six. Smith scored five for the losers.

Other high scorers for the winners were Johnson with 10 and Moye and

Lee Savold Gets 'Crucial' Fight

London, Dec. 6—(AP)—Lee Savold, the ex-bartender from Minnesota, and Bruce Woodcock, the British heavyweight champion, fight a crucial 10 rounds tonight for a possible shot at Joe Louis and his world title.

At 9 a.m. (EST) they weighed in at Promoter Jack Solomons' gymnasium.

Seven hours later they will step into the ring in Harringay Arena before a capacity crowd of 10,000. Opinion varies as to what will happen then.

Though bettors weren't very active, the story was that some would give you 11-10 against Savold and others 5-4 against Woodcock.

Going on record in this morning's newspapers, five London sports writers picked Savold to win. Two were non-committal. Three picked Woodcock.

Both gladiators seemed confident as they landed in town from training camps last night, and both were eager for a lucrative Louis bout. Promoters have indicated tonight's winner or the Joe Baki-Ezzard Charles winner in New York Friday may be the Brown Bomber's next championship foe.

Savold, at 32, is five years older than the Britisher, and in 14 years in the ring has had three times as many pro fights. Both scale around 191 pounds.

Sport Slants by Pap

For three years the Cleveland Browns have dominated the All-American Conference, that being the entire span of the pre league's existence. Back in October of 1947 the Los Angeles Dons defeated Cleveland 13-10 and the Yankees later the same season played the Browns even 28-28. Since then no club in the Conference has been able to stop the power-packed perennial winner of the championship.

In addition to having just about the best coach in the business of pro football—Paul Brown—Cleveland boasts the conference leading ground gainer, Marion Motley, and the leading forward pass combination in Otto Graham and Mac Speedie. Trying to stop that offensive com-

Followers Want Louis To Retire

Chicago, Dec. 6—(AP)—His fans, about "two or three to one," want Joe Louis to retire as undefeated heavyweight champion. But the Brown Bomber will put his title on the line next summer if a suitable opponent is found and if a half-million dollar purse is guaranteed him.

Louis, in training for his six-round exhibition against Billy Conn here Friday night, seems pretty uncertain about who can be classed as a suitable opponent. But on the subject of money he is quite specific.

Explains Joe: "I could fight exhibitions for two more years if I wanted. You get more money fighting exhibitions. In a big fight, it cost about $60,000 just for training, and then you've got to pay your manager."

"This way all you pay is your trainer. If they get a boy that's going to draw some money, I'll

Expect Vote On Michigan State

Chicago, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Big Nine is expected to vote on Michigan State's long-standing membership bid at the conference's winter meeting here this weekend.

At least one Big Nine president, J. L. Morrill of Minnesota, is reported as favoring Michigan State's quest for the spot vacated in the former "Big Ten" conference when the University of Chicago dropped out several years ago.

Some folks encourage him to keep on fighting, Louis said, but "the real older type, the serious type, people 55 and 60, don't want me to fight."

"They say what an honor it is to retire undefeated. In all the letters I get, about two or three to one want me to retire."

New Honors For App's Big Back

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 6—(AP)—New honors have come to the Appalachian State Teachers College football team, champions of the North State conference.

Herman Bryson, their star back, yesterday was announced as the choice of the Southern conference sports writers association for the No. 1 player of the year in smaller southern colleges.

Bags Big Buck

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 6—(AP)—Robert Roscar, 25-year-old Pottsville army veteran, believes he has shot the heavyweight king of the Pennsylvania deer hunting season.

Roscar bagged the animal Saturday. The deer weighed 211 pounds dressed and estimates on the animal's total weight on the hoof ranged up to 250 pounds. An average deer in Pennsylvania weighs about 170 pounds undressed.

It took Roscar and the five other members of his hunting party six hours to tote the deer six miles to their car. So old its fur had turned greyish, the deer had 22-point antlers.

The beam of the antlers was 26 inches and each of the main antlers extended 34 inches from the base of the skull to the outermost point.

Athletes Killed In Bus Accident

Grants Pass, Ore., Dec. 6—(AP)—Two high school athletes were killed and 25 other members and coaches of the Grants Pass football team were injured when a bus overturned and burned near here last night.

The squad was within five miles of home and a rousing welcome planned for their winning of the state football championship the day previous at Portland.

Survivors said the chartered bus was enveloped in flames and that they escaped by smashing the windows.

Murder Gets Around

Chapter 4

At seven o'clock the next morning the alarm clock reached way down into my sleep and pulled handfuls of red hot coals up into through the top of my head. I opened my eyes and then closed them quickly before my eyeballs could pop and go rolling across the floor of my bedroom. For perhaps three or four years I lay there under the sheets waiting for blessed death to take it all away. But the fates were unkind and I went on living.

Somehow I got out of bed, and got into the bathroom to brush my teeth, and follow it with half a dozen glasses of cold water. Way, way behind all the ringing bells in my head I remembered meeting Dot and Sam at the Stork. By mutual silent agreement none of us said a word about the screw cocktail party. Instead, the four of us grimly concentrated on forgetting it with fun and fix. I said goodnight to Paula at her apartment door about five. But I couldn't remember coming to my place. I must have, though, because there I was, and with all the hangovers the world rolled into one, and stuffed inside my one and only poor head!

Turning on the shower and stripping was more or less automatic. In back of my thoughts about last night was something else. But I couldn't pin it down in my scrambled brain and take a look. It came, though, when the needle points of icy water hit me. To be sure, to be sure! I had a business appointment with a guy at ten o'clock. But then I also remembered who the guy was, and what I had done to him. So I finished my shower, toweled myself nice and rosy, put my pajamas on again, and crawled back into bed!

At ten-fifteen I came out of it the second time, and was most happy to note, and feel, that I was well on the way toward becoming a new man. In fact, I felt so good I even toyed with the idea of climbing on the wagon for a couple of weeks or so. My decision by the time I was dressed, and in the breakfast room on the lobby floor, was to consider the subject again at a later date.

My bootblack gave me the usual cheery greeting in the lobby of the building where my office is located, and I gave him my shoes with my feet in them one at a time, and a bright shiny two-bit piece. Then I took the elevator up to my floor. At the door of my office I stopped, stuck my key in the lock, and then stopped again. My office door was unlocked; something I make sure sure it isn't every time I leave it.

In the two seconds I stood there I decided that the charwoman had slipped for once. Then I took my key out, turned the knob and pushed open the door. I closed the door, took two steps, and really stopped short. Sitting in my desk chair and staring straight at me was Pretty Boy Rene DeFoe. For a second I couldn't get the words out.

"How did you get in here?" they finally came with a rush.

He didn't answer. He didn't move. He didn't even blink. He just sat stiff, staring at me. And then I got a good look at that stare. I went ice cold all over, and my skin crawled in leaps and bounds. My stomach tied itself in knots, and the breakfast I had had didn't want to stand for that sort of thing. I walked slowly forward, like I was barefoot and the rug was made of broken glass. At the front edge of my desk I stopped.

It was no gray dream, and no poor taste gag, either. Rene DeFoe was as dead as you can get on this planet.

There were some papers on my desk blotter in front of him, but I didn't give them any attention at first. I stepped around the side of the desk, and it was then I saw how he had been made dead. He had been garrotted with a length of fine steel wire. The wire was sunk deep into his neck, twisted over a couple of times at the back, and the two ends drawn down taut and fastened to the bottom of the chair seat. That way he couldn't fall forward, or to either side. He could only sit there stiff, and staring out of dead eyes at whoever came through the office door. Both arms hung at his sides, and on the rug under the right hand was a fountain pen that didn't belong to me.

I let it stay right where it was, stopped looking at him, and took a look at the papers on the desk. The first one I looked at was a check made out to me for a thousand dollars, and signed by DeFoe. The other paper was an unfinished note to me . . . on my stationery . . . that read:

Dear Mr. Barnes:

I have waited but you have not arrived also. Perhaps the little affair yesterday? I assure you it is nothing. As I explained I need your services on that most important matter. I do more so today so I leave you this check as the beginning payment. I beg of you to telephone me at once at . . .

The letter ended there. That is, the writing of the words did, but there was a wavy line of ink down the rest of the sheet, and diagonally down my desk blotter. From there there was an ink scribble on my polished desk to the rear edge. Of course, it was then the wire had circled his neck and been twisted tight. No doubt he had tried to put up a struggle, but it had been no dice. Believe me, when you garrote a person, and particularly with fine steel wire, said person doesn't stand a chance. From the very first instant to the last. Not to boast, I've done it, and seen it done. But strictly under war conditions, of course!

Well, there he was in my desk chair. A very stone dead guy who had wanted to become a client of mine, despite the "little affair" he had considered as nothing. I looked at the check again, and was tempted to pick it up. I didn't. Instead I looked up quickly as my office door opened. What I saw was even more startling, I guess, because the man who came inside was none other than Lieutenant Frank Bierman, of Homicide!

Donora Is Again Covered By Smog

Donora, Pa., Dec. 6—(AP)—This western Pennsylvania milltown—where 20 persons died during a smothering fog a month ago—was covered by smog again over the weekend but authorities said apparently no one suffered any serious effects.

Charles Stacey, president of the Board of Health, said yesterday that the board had received a few complaints from persons affected by the three-day fog.

"They were all asthama victims and were not affected seriously," Stacey said. "Otherwise everything is all right."

Meanwhile, investigators were still attempting to determine the cause of the October disaster. At that time a heavy black fog blanketed the Donora area for five straight days, during which 18 persons died and a number were made ill. A 20th victim died later.

The fog this weekend was described as much lighter, clearing at times.

Negro Farmer Was Victim Pickpocket

George King, negro farmer of the Haddock's Crossroads community reported to Police Chief Lester D. Page Saturday afternoon that he had lost his wallet containing about $190.

Police quoted King as saying that his pocket was picked while he was on Albemarle Avenue, in front of the Paradise Cafe, Saturday shortly after noon. The wallet was recovered, but the money was missing.

Police are continuing their investigation.

LANDMARK BACK IN PLACE AT BEST'S JEWELRY STORE

Santa Claus received a warm welcome when he arrived in Greenville to greet the youngsters in the Christmas parade. Growups enjoyed the coming of the "merry old fellow" who spreads good cheer during the Yuletide. Greenville people and those who visit the city regularly are again enjoying the privilege of walking along Evans street and knowing what the time is. The big luminous clock in front of the Best Jewelry Company's store is back in operation, clicking off the time, and it is a great convenience, many people were heard to say.

THESE DOGS AND CHICKENS CAUSE A LOT OF TROUBLE

Complaints received by the police department over the weekend included charges that chickens running at large were eating collard plants in a householder's garden on East 13th street. Another complaint was that prowling dogs in the Hillsdale community were damaging flower gardens and otherwise being nuisances. People who live on Forbes street complained about dogs running at large and being a neighborhood nuisance.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Harris Northrop, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Northrop, 503 West Fifth street, underwent an operation on his nose at Pitt General Hospital this morning.

Kills Fox With Axe

Willie Dixon, who lives in the Fleming's Crossroads community across Tar River, and works for Sam Fleming, did with an axe the other day what it takes fox hunters to do in a day, with the use of dogs and horses. He killed a full grown gray fox in his back yard with one swing of the lethal weapon and then buried the animal. Dixon said he thought dogs had been running the fox and that it had taken cover in his yard.

Playing Tonight Voices Of The . . .

(Continued from page one) civilization and the safety of the Superfortress Enola Gay before it set out from Tinian Island with the first atomic bomb dropped on mankind, and the Japanese surrender. This is not a full list of the events and voices on the records but together they make a stirring story. Murrow worked with Fred W. Friendly in putting the album together. They say they worked for two years and have so much material left over they may put more albums, on D-Day, the New Deal Munich.

This Columbia album will be a priceless collection for the future as anything of its kind would be. But the only ones who speak in it are the big-name people. What's missing is the nobodies, the everyday people.

They're the ones the well-known people are really talking about, they're the ones mostly deeply involved in all the album says. They're the ones who lived through the depression, raised children, hunted jobs, got sick at the thought of war, then fought the war.

Some places there must be some record in their own voices of what they thought, felt and wanted—brief interviews in a studio, comment picked up by sidewalk radios, forum discussions.

If there is, it might help the millions of nobodies in the future get a little strength from the strength of the nobodies of the past.

Outcasts . . .

(Continued from page one) and have been compelled to wear dirty clothes. Now the new India, working under leadership of such men as Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister, is undertaking to frame a new bill of rights. By the way, Nehru is a Mashmiri Brahmin, highest of all the Hindu castes. A Brahmin is supposed to be defiled if even the shadow of an Untouchable falls across him. But Nehru is a humanitarian—a disciple of the saintly Gandhi.

Blockaded . . .

(Continued from page one) Eastern Berlin reflected Russian chagrin at the huge election turnout. "Mass arrests in the west" was the headline in a Communist trade union newspaper regarding a report that 70 Communists had been detained by police for attempting to stir up trouble at polling stations.
