COP 'Old Guard' Crushes Rebellion

Way Paved For Re-election Of Taft As Party's Policy Leader; House Republicans Agree To Fight Changes In House Rules; Seek Coalition

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—The Senate's Republican "old guard" today crushed a rebellion by self-styled "liberal" GOP Senators, paving the way for re-election of Senator Taft of Ohio as the party's policy leader.

The rule reported to have been changed as policy leader because he has held the post four years.

Emerging from the post-Senators conference, Taft announced the motion to change the rules had been carried. He said there had been no vote at that time on Taft's direct bid for re-election.

Taft was opposed for the post in advance of the meeting by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. Lodge's candidacy has been sponsored by a group of self-styled "liberals."

Tobey said the insurgent group was able to muster only 13 votes on the first test. He declined to discuss the exact nature of the motion.

There were indications the Republicans might not complete their organization meeting this morning and would continue the conference in the afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—House Republicans decided today to fight Democratic-backed changes in House rules. They hoped to form a coalition with some southern Democrats and President Truman's influence in the new Congress.

The rules change proposed by the Democrats would strip the powers of the rules committee to "bottleneck" legislation.

Administration supporters want it because the rules committee, in the past, has sidetracked some labor and social legislation asked by Mr. Truman.

Bandits Hold Up Pembroke Bank; Escape In Auto

Pembroke, N. C., Jan. 3—(AP)—Two men, one brandishing a revolver, held up the bank of Pembroke today and escaped with an undetermined sum, the Charlotte office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

Special agent Charles W. Brown said that all cash was scooped from drawers of all the tellers.

The two escaped in a 1948 Mercury automobile, he added.

Brown said the armed man entered and held up the bank, while his accomplice kept vigil outside.

The FBI agent said one of the men had been tentatively identified.

'Grandma' To Her Older Relatives

Lawrenceville, Va., Jan. 3—(AP)—Some of her older relatives can call Mrs. Thomas W. Newsome "grandma."

The 20-year-old girl, the former Miss Louise Finch of Broadax, Va., was married here last week to Thomas W. Newsome, 80-year-old widower from Roanoke Rapids, N.C.

Brunswick County Clerk W. E. Emore, who performed the ceremony, called the newly-weds "a fine couple," adding:

"And the groom has grandchildren older than his bride."

January 15 Deadline

Several Million People Who Didn't Have Income Tax Withheld From Their Wages Must File Estimated Income Tax For 1948; Some Things To Remember

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—January 15 is a deadline for several million people who must pay on their "estimated" income tax for 1948.

They're the ones who haven't had the full tax, or any tax, withheld from their 1948 wages or income. In 1948 most people's income was from wages. And most of them had the full 1948 income tax withheld from them.

If there is in that group, don't worry about Jan. 15. You'll make your final return by March 15. But Jan. 15 is the deadline—if it means you—for filing, changing and paying your declaration of estimated tax for 1948.

Here are the people in that group: 1. Those from whose 1948 income no tax was withheld, such as doctors, landlords, servants, farm hands, some farmers, and so on. Last March 15, knowing no tax was to be withheld from their 1948 income, they should have estimated their 1948 income and the tax on it, and, beginning last March 15, they started paying the tax in quarterly installments. Their last quarterly payment is due Jan. 15.

2. Those who had some tax, but not all the tax due, withheld from their wages. They should have been paying, starting last March 15, the

Shanghai Openly Asks Communist Army For Peace

Nationalist Officials Meet To Celebrate 'Efforts Toward Peace'

Nanking, Jan. 3—(AP)—Peace talks, sweeping all China like wildfire, were brought into the open tonight at a dinner given by Gen. Chang Chih-chung, cabinet member, for several hundred educators and public officials.

In Shanghai the city council openly petitioned the Communists for a cease fire order and discussions of peace. The plea went to Yenan, Communist capital, in a radio message. Other Chinese city and provincial governments were asked by the Shanghai council to join in the peace efforts.

While the Nanking officials feasted, some Nationalist generals in North China were believed by many sources to be trying to effect a separate peace agreement with the Communists besieging Peiping and Tientsin.

Associates of General Chang, minister without portfolio, said the dinner was "in celebration of his efforts toward peace."

Chang declined to discuss politics at the dinner but urged his guests to "forget this situation and enjoy the food and drink."

Prof. Ni Sung-yuan of Nanking University said: "We are all here because we want peace."

Seated with Chang was Shao Li-tze, former ambassador to Moscow, who has been linked with Chang in the group which is urging immediate peace in China.

Significantly present at the dinner were a number of Nationalist army officials, including the government military spokesman Gen. Teng Wen-yi, high official of the Government's Central News Agency, and government spokesman Shen Chang-huan.

Spencer Moosa, Associated Press correspondent in Peiping, said that a municipal official there had hinted strongly of an early settlement of the civil war in that region.

Inspection Tour Impresses Royall

Army Secretary Says He Found U. S. Troops In Top Shape

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—Army Secretary Royall returned today from a three-week inspection trip to Europe where he found American troops in "splendid shape."

He told reporters who met him at the National Airport that he was particularly impressed by the 26th Infantry Combat Team, a unit of the First Division, which he inspected at Bamberg, Germany.

"I believe that this outfit is as well trained and is in as good condition of readiness as any of them in the training camps during the war," Royall said.

"The rest of the troops of the First Division in Germany are in the same state of readiness," the secretary said.

He added that he was impressed by the "camaraderie and courage" of the families of military personnel in Germany.

During his trip, which started Dec. 11, Royall was accompanied by Assistant Secretary of the Army Tracy Voorhees. They visited Army Air Force and Navy bases in Turkey, Greece, Trieste, Austria and Germany.

C-of-C Endorses Organization Of Insurance Firm

The Old North State Insurance Company, after receiving authorization from the North Carolina Commissioner of Insurance, has begun again to sell stock in the new insurance company.

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce on September 6, 1948, after fully informing themselves of the plans for organizing the Old North State Insurance Company, unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing and supporting the project.

"This company will be of tremendous importance to the growth and development of this community," Robert Van Iderstine, company president, said. Every policy issued by the Old North State Insurance Company will bear the name of Greenville, and these policies will circulate throughout North Carolina and eventually other states as well.

Cherry, Graham And Scott Talk

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 3—(AP)—Governor Cherry was closeted for more than an hour today with Governor-elect Kerr Scott and Highway Commissioner A. H. Graham.

During his gubernatorial campaign Scott frequently expressed dissatisfaction with some of the highway commissioners but never mentioned Graham by name in any of his criticisms.

It was not learned what was discussed.

States Upheld

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld state laws banning closed shops. Under a closed shop contract, only union workers can be hired. Once on the payroll, they must remain in good standing with the union or lose their jobs.

Today's decision was given in attacks by the American Federation of Labor and others on laws adopted in Arizona, Nebraska and North Carolina. During argument of the case the court was told that similar restrictions have been enacted in 13 other states.

The Taft-Hartley law's anti-closed shop section was not directly involved in today's ruling.

Justice Black wrote two opinions one dealing with the North Carolina and Nebraska laws, the other with the Arizona law. The decision of the court was unanimous, except that in the case of the Arizona law, Justice Murphy noted a dissent.

Mail Ballots For C-of-C Election

Election Of Three Directors For 3-Year Terms Slated

Ballots were mailed today to over 300 members of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce for the election of eight directors for three-year terms beginning February 1. The ballots contain the names of 16 active members of the Chamber of Commerce who were nominated by the nominating committee.

Willard T. Kyzer, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the ballots are to be returned to the office of the secretary in sealed envelopes not later than 6 p.m. on Saturday, January 16.

Retiring directors of the organization are: D. A. Evans, Thomas K. Wilson, C. B. Bissette, L. M. Buchanan, Walter Harrington, R. V. Keel, J. S. Moye and J. E. Kittrell.

The 16 members nominated by the nominating committee for election to the Board of Directors are: Larry Averette, manager, Merit Shoe Company; C. B. Bissette, manager, Bissette's Drug Store; J. T. Cheatham, Jr., manager, Leaf Dept. Greenville Tobacco Co.; D. A. Evans, secretary, Garrie-Evans Lumber Company; Dr. M. P. Hoot, physician, specialist; J. O. Howard, manager, Hub Electric Company; J. Roy Martin, insurance adjuster; J. W. Overton, auditor, Guaranty Bank and Trust Co.; Kenneth Phillips, prop. Hotel Proctor; J. Ed. Ricks, prop. Ricks Service Center; Thomas W. Rivers, partner, H. L. and T. W. Rivers; Jimmy Smith, owner, Jimmy Smith, printer; B. B. Sugg, Jr., partner, Smith & Sugg Warehouse; J. E. Waldrop, sec.-treas., Wagner-Marshburn Motor Co.; David J. Whitehead, III, associate editor of The Daily Reflector; and Hugh C. Winslow, J. E. Winslow Co. and farmer.

Number One Baby Of New Year Is Nine-Pound Boy

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 3—(AP)—America's No. 1 baby under a new nationwide baby name system is Leonard Blake Gunnells of Prattville, Ala., nine-pound boy born New Year's Day.

Son of Oliver Gunnells, 26-year-old tileworker, the infant drew serial number 101-49-00001.

Ralph W. Roberts, state director of vital statistics said the baby got the low number because Alabama ranks first among the states alphabetically. Autauga County is first in Alabama, and Prattville is the only town in Autauga.

Johns Hopkins University Loses Famous President

Baltimore, Jan. 3—(AP)—Three days after the old year, an era quietly ended for one of America's great institutions of higher learning, Johns Hopkins University.

Its president, Dr. Isaiah Bowman—who helped set the boundaries of Europe after the first World War—retired today after a 13-year tenure.

Immediately, Dr. Detlev Bronk, University of Pennsylvania biophysicist and director of the national research council, took over as the sixth Hopkins president.

No special ceremony signalled the change. Hopkins tradition, which Dr. Bowman helped shape, generally frowns on academic pomp.

Dr. Bowman—an internationally known geographer, author, and "in-correctible teacher," as a colleague

Airliner Leads Smaller Plane To Safe Landing

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3—(AP)—A United Airlines transport led a smaller plane to a safe landing last night after an army air force pilot had lost his bearings flying over the mountains of Western Pennsylvania.

The army pilot, Lt. C. E. Ridler, was flying from the Middletown Air base, near Harrisburg, Pa., to his Scott Field base at Belleville, Ill., when he was unable to get his bearings near Pittsburgh.

Lt. Ridler was able to establish radio contact with the Pittsburgh airport, however, and the field tower alerted the transport plane's pilot, K. A. Simko, en route at the time from Chicago to Washington.

Lt. Ridler turned on his landing lights for better identification and Simko turned off all cabin lights in his plane for better visibility.

As the bigger plane was flying at 7,000 feet, Simko spotted a pinpoint of light in the distance "too low for a star and too high for a ground light."

The Pittsburgh tower control operator directed Lt. Ridler to blink his lights and the identification was complete.

Simko, aided by his first officer, J. F. Thomas, got on the same radio frequently as the army pilot and in 45 minutes had guided the smaller craft to within 2,000 feet of the Pittsburgh field.

Warplanes Bomb Jerusalem; Jews Talk Retaliation

Threaten Strike At Cairo If Planes Proven Egyptian; Negev Fight Goes On

Jerusalem, Jan. 3—(AP)—Jerusalem was bombed by unidentified warplanes last night, bringing a new threat of Jewish retaliation against Cairo. There were two raids. At least five persons were injured in the first, when three bombs were dropped on a densely populated Jewish quarter.

Another raid came three hours later. No details were available but two explosions were heard.

An Israeli spokesman said in Tel Aviv that if the bombers proved to be Egyptian, the raid would be sufficient reason for the Jewish air force to strike at Cairo.

A Jewish spokesman said Saturday that if the Egyptians attacked Tel Aviv again, either by sea or air, the Jews would attack the Egyptian capital.

(An Egyptian war ministry communique issued last night in Cairo said Egyptian planes carried out long-range reconnaissance raids over Jewish positions yesterday. He said all planes returned to their bases. The communique said Israeli planes raided Palestine Arab refugee camps and dropped bombs, causing casualties.)

The Egyptian communique also reported a continued "exchange of fire" along Egyptian and Israeli positions in the Negev, desert where renewed fighting has been reported for several weeks.

Jewish authorities in Tel Aviv said there were indications that Egypt had increased air raids against the Jewish civilian population in the 24 hours following the warning of retaliation against Cairo.

The two raids last night kept residents of Jewish Jerusalem in air raid shelters about 25 minutes during each alert. Israeli authorities in the Holy City declined to reveal any official information on the raids.

The bombing was the third suffered by Jerusalem since the start of the current Arab-Jewish war. It was the first time bombs were dropped in one of the city's residential quarters, however.

Cutter Remains Near Drifting Stern Of Vessel

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 3—(AP)—The Coast Guard Cutter Cherokee today remained in the vicinity of the drifting stern of the Argentine tanker Capitan which broke in half December 28 near Capt Hatteras.

The cutter reported the weather was still too rough to get a line aboard the derelict, now considered a menace to navigation.

It was 350 miles southeast of Cape Henry and drifting in a southeasterly direction at a rate of about three knots today, Coast Guard headquarters here reported.

The after end of the Capitan had been in tow of the tug Brant when the towing hawser parted Thursday.

Another victim of the tow trouble, the C-3 type cargo vessel J. W. Andrews was safely anchored at Morehead City, N. C., the Coast guard said.

Queen Mary Held Up By Damage Incurred In Hull

Southampton, Eng., Jan. 3—(AP)—The sailing of the Queen Mary for New York, scheduled for today, has been delayed until tomorrow because of damage done to the giant liner when she ran aground off Cherbourg Saturday.

The Cunard White Star Line announced repairs to the damaged hull were being made from inside the vessel although that part of the ship is under water.

Although the repairs are of a "minor nature," the officials said they couldn't be completed in time for the vessel's scheduled departure with today's noon tide.

Officials said damage to the 81,235-ton vessel was superficial.

January Retail Sales Predicted

New York, Jan. 3—(AP)—Retail sales over the nation will be four per cent greater this month than in January, 1948, "Sales Management" magazine predicted today.

The publication estimated that retail sales this month would total $10,042,000,000, a sharp drop under December's $13,900,000,000.

It said the southwest and mid-west regions would continue to show superior sales performances relative to the rest of the country.

Order Checking Of Car Stickers

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 3—(AP)—The Motor Vehicle Department said today it will patrol the roads to check North Carolina cars without inspection stickers.

Director of the inspection program said drivers caught without a sticker either to an inspection lane or to court. Inspection lanes throughout the state were reported doing a "rushing business" today.

President Expected To Tell Congress U. S. Is 'Winning'

Three Messages By President In Week

Appeal For Higher Taxes, Repeal Of Taft-Hartley Act And Higher Budget Seen As Highlights Of Domestic Program

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—President Truman will tell the Democratic-controlled 81st Congress what he wants of it in three messages within the next week. Administration officials predict Mr. Truman will ask:

Higher taxes, probably on business, to avoid a deficit in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and enactment of less extensive labor-management legislation.

A spending budget of about $43,000,000,000, highest in peacetime. It will reflect higher costs of the "cold war" and a broad social welfare program.

Some tightening of economic controls.

Mr. Truman will deliver his "State of the Union" message to Congress Wednesday. He is expected to tell the lawmakers that they start their deliberations at a time of unprecedented prosperity, income and production.

His economic report goes to Capitol Hill Friday. He is expected to say that inflation still is a hazard despite a four-month skid in food prices and a slight, two-month decline in living costs. Whether Mr. Truman will again ask the strong standby price and ration controls of his old ten-point anti-inflation program is a toss-up.

Mr. Truman is faced with national defense costs totaling nearly $15,000,000,000 the next fiscal year—about 25 per cent higher than this year's. Foreign aid costs will remain high.

These are the major factors which will cause Mr. Truman in his budget message a week from today to ask for a total budget of around $43,000,000,000.

Since Mr. Truman has said repeatedly the nation must show a surplus in times of prosperity to reduce the national debt, a demand for higher taxes is regarded as inevitable.

Corporation rates and upper-bracket incomes are the probably potential sources to be tapped.

There is strong likelihood that Mr. Truman will ask for mandatory allocation powers over scarce materials. These would be designed to assure industry cooperation in the voluntary allocation program. It expires Feb. 28. Extension will be asked.

A top House Democrat reported "Administration approval" of a maneuver to oust Rankin from his committee post.

Rankin, cognizant of the move, told newsmen it was an attempt "to kill the committee."

The maneuver by which Rankin may lose his membership would be engineered without the possibility of a floor fight. It calls for the Democratic members of the House Un-American Activities committee, who act as a committee on committees to assign Democratic committee posts, to overlook Rankin when they fill spots on the un-American Activities committee.

Ways and Means committee members said this will be done by adherence to a new principle that members who serve as chairman of one committee cannot hold membership on another.

Rankin is in line to be chairman of the veterans affairs committee, a post he has held since he would not relinquish it at any cost.

The Administration spokesman who disclosed the plan, emphasized that it was not aimed at Rankin because of his support of J. Strom Thurmond over President Truman in the last election but grew out of Rankin's activities on the committee.

Rankin was active in the recent Congressional spy probe which President Truman called "a Red Herring."

Truman To Point Up Long And Costly Campaign Of Counter-Action Against Russia In Cold War Still Lies Ahead; First Stage Of Long Struggle

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—President Truman is expected to tell Congress Wednesday that the United States is winning the first stage of the struggle with Russia. To that he is expected to add that a long and costly campaign of counter-action still lies ahead.

Despite communist victories in China, the President's top foreign policy advisers regard 1948 as a year of great gains in unifying the western anti-communist nations and building up their economic and military power. But they are equally convinced that only continued development along these lines can make the gains permanent. Hence the plans for military support of western Europe.

Russia's counter-moves during the past year have taken the form of the Berlin blockade, increased communist pressure in Asia and a speedup in efforts to complete the communization of the Soviet's own eastern European satellite countries.

But American experts do not believe the Soviet reaction to strengthening of the west will stop there. There is considerable speculation here that the Soviets may launch a new peace offensive in the new year to try to disarm the west, quiet the continued war fears of western European leaders and thereby weaken the newly found western unity.

Because they believe that will be the case, some of Mr. Truman's own foreign advisers reacted skeptically to his assertions last week that there are in the Kremlin some Soviet leaders who would like to be more friendly with the west. In the present mood of the State Department—and reports are the French and British foreign offices feel the same way—any Russian show of friendship would have to be backed up by powerful proof if it is to convince the President's own advisers.

These officials take the line that the men who rule Russia are fully aware of the danger to their own conquest of the world. That is regarded as the Kremlin's certain long-range strategy.

A false show of friendship, in the view of many State Department officials, seems to be the most dangerous potential weapon in the Soviet arsenal. If the Soviets employed it effectively to try to break down the new western grouping of nations, it might wreck many of the gains of the past year.

The past 12 months have brought a partial disappearance of "neutral" nations in the most critical areas of the cold war. This was caused partly by communist actions in eastern Europe, partly by increasing evidence that the United States is in western Europe to stay until real peace is established.

Couple Married By 5-Year-Old

Long Beach, Calif., Jan. 3—(AP)—A sailor and his bride are honeymooning today after being married by a five-year-old minister.

The preacher, Marjoe Gortner, who was ordained last October by the Old Time Faith Church, performed the rites yesterday. His father said he has been preaching since he was three. He was assisted at the wedding by his two-year-old brother, Pat.

Married were Raymond Miller, 23, attached to the USS St. Paul, and Alma Brown, 21, Long Beach.

Attacks On Religion

Recent Events In Communist Onslaught Is Nothing New; Why Reds Are So Violent Against Religion; Similar To Nazism; Religious People Can't Support Acts

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The new communist onslaught against religion in eastern Europe is a further effort to kill the spirit of independence which always has characterized the peoples of that part of the continent.

This is by no means the first evidence we have had that Moscow isn't finding it easy to subjugate these liberty-loving countries. Unrest has shown itself in virtually all of them—Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Poland; Hungary, Finland, Romania. Even the three little Baltic states which Moscow annexed are reported to be miserable in their servitude.

Russia's latest assault on religion has been directed against Czechoslovakia and Hungary. In the former, leaders of the Protestant churches have been warned "to put their ranks in order with the state." They are accused of having "ties with the Anglo-Saxon world which is against us."

At the same time there has been a fresh blast of abuse against the Roman Catholic Church of Czechoslovakia. The Prague radio has charged that "cardinals and archbishops

"God" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, January 3.

Golden Text: II Samuel 22: 31, 32. "As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all them that trust in him. For who is God, save the Lord? and who is a rock, save our God?"

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all." (I Chronicles 29:11). And from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are his attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love." (Page 275).

Small of Camp Butler.

Attributes Long Life To Rarity Of His Drinking

Sylva, N.C., Jan. 3—(AP)—A 109-year-old former slave attributes his longevity to the fact that he has been drunk only six times in his life. And "Uncle" Taylor Thomas has- tens to explain that those times were when he was a young man. He observed his birthday Saturday.

A native of North Carolina, he now lives in an old smokehouse on the farm of a son, Tice Thomas, near Mountain City, Tenn.

The aged Negro once served as a slave at Creston, then known as North Fork. He was owned by Stephen Thomas and David Worth.

He could not remember what church he joined in his youth. So he was baptized in a mountain creek at the age of 105.

A few years ago he married a second time to a woman now 56.

Demand Official Walk Barefoot

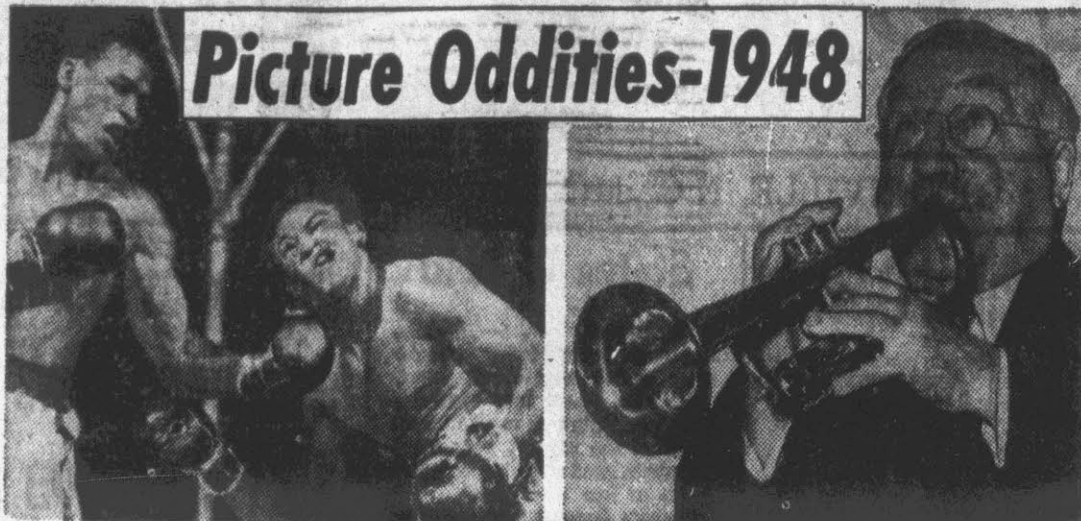

Canton, Jan. 3—(AP)—Professors at National Sun Yat Sen University today demanded that Education Commissioner Chu Siu-chieh walk barefoot through the city for insulting the school.

The commissioner said the university had only a high school's standing with a primary school's equipment.

Chu flatly refused to take the barefoot walk, claiming that he had merely given utterance to public opinion.

Lost $1,000 By Failing Compete

Winston-Salem, Jan. 3—(AP)—Robert M. Doub, farmer, of Tobaccoville, Route 1, learned today

FACING IT—Kid Gavilan obviously doesn't like the idea as Ray Robinson belts him in a New York bout.

AFTERNOON OF A FAWN—A frightened deer raced through a Portland, Me., dime store (above), then crashed through window (left).

BLOWING HIS HORN—James C. Petrillo, musicians' union head, toots the signing of a new television pact.

CLIFF-HANGER—In Los Angeles this diesel locomotive broke across a driveway, then stepped short.

Sign Terms For Spastic Hospital

Goldsboro, Jan. 3—(AP)—The contract for North Carolina's first hospital for spastic cases, to be built near Durham, will be signed today. State Sen. Thomas O'Berry of Goldsboro, chairman of the North Carolina Spastics Board, made the announcement.

Spastics are persons who have lost full control of their muscles. The hospital will be designed to help their return to a normal life. Low bidder for the hospital was the Fowler-Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte. Construction will start in a few weeks, with completion scheduled in eight months, O'Berry said.

The Spastics Hospital will be built half a mile from Duke Hospital, on a 10-acre tract presented to the state by Duke University. It also will be used by Duke and the University of North Carolina as a training hospital for doctors and nurses.

The 1947 legislature appropriated $300,000 for the hospital, and the federal government made $150,000 available. Because of rising building costs, the state made $72,000 more available, making the total cost $522,060.

he had lost $1,000 on a technically it was a decisive technicality however. Doub failed to enter the annual North Carolina corn-growing contest.

The $1,000 first prize has gone to F. L. Albritton of LaGrange, who produced 148.28 bushels on one acre. Doub had this beat a country mile. He grew 180.78 bushels on one acre, measured and tested by S. R. Mitchiner, Forsyth farm agent.

At the turn of the 20th century, ice-hockey was so popular in England it was considered a national past-time.

Heavy Strain Is Felt By British Medical Project

London, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Britain's national health service—the world's biggest experiment in socialized medicine—is undergoing a strain. Health Minister Aneurin Bevan says too many are demanding too much. But he doesn't think now, as he did in October—that the plan may break down because of the exorbitant demands made upon it. All the bills are paid out of general taxation.

To ease the load, the Health Ministry announced today that, beginning Feb. 1, each dentist taking part will be paid only part of anything he earns over 4,800 lbs. ($19,200) a year.

Bevan said a fifth of the dentists in the program are now earning money at that rate. S. Donald Cox, assistant secretary of the British Dental Association, said abuses should be proved before any limit is placed.

"Don't let us become a nation of hypochondriacs," Bevan pleaded in a recent statement. "I ask the public to use their doctors wisely and only when they really need them. Then, before very long, we shall have a health service of which we can be exceedingly proud."

The loudest complaint from many of the doctors under the plan is that they're underpaid and overworked. To that, the ministry replies that the question of the number of patients for each doctor and the question of the fees paid is under review.

John Edwards, parliamentary secretary to the ministry says: "Certainly, there have been many cases where frivolous and unnecessary use of the service has been made. But overall, its working has been smooth and much according to our expectations. This new conception of health care has come to stay."

The national health service started last July 5. It is designed to give the men and women of Britain "free" medical, dental and optical care.

Old Equipment Wasting Power

Birmingham, Eng.—(AP)—Old and inefficient electrical appliances are wasting a lot of Britain's inadequate power supplies. I. A. R. Stedford, chairman of Tube Investments Limited, told a company meeting here. "A tremendous amount of such equipment, including a million electric cookers, has been in service now for 10 or 15 years and by present standards is very inefficient and uneconomical, both in electricity consumption and maintenance and replacement," he said.

Refugees Crack Up Under Strain

Canberra—(AP)—A Canberra physician says many European migrants doing pick-and-shovel work are cracking up under the strain. Dr. Lewis W. Nott, superintendent of the Canberra Community Hospital, told a reporter many migrants—Balt and Poles—are showing signs of heart strain.

"Before they came to Australia they were in professional or other sedentary jobs," he said. "These people, coming from cool climates, are not standing up to laborious work in our heat."

"They would be better in the jobs for which they are trained."

Women In The Church

"Seeds for Peace," a project of the National Council of the State Garden Clubs, has contributed $40,000 worth of seeds, or enough to plant 70,000 gardens, and these have been shipped to Europe and distributed to needy farm families there by Church World Service, the latter organization reports.

Mrs. W. Murdock MacLeod, of Atlanta, Ga., has been named executive secretary of the United Council of Church Women—an organization representing the active women's groups of some eighty-four Protestant churches in the United States—succeeding Mrs. Ruth Mourey Worrell, of Columbus, Ohio, who has retired. Mrs. MacLeod has been prominently identified with the work of church women in Georgia and Tennessee, and has taught school in North and South Carolina. Recently she has been a secretary of women's work in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., in Atlanta. She is a graduate of Winthrop College, S. C., and is the widow of Dr. W. Murdock MacLeod, prominent Presbyterian pastor of Pinehurst, N.C., and Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Worrell was the first executive secretary of the Council, serving from 1942 until this year.

A widening horizon of social and community service on the part of rural women in these post-war years is reported by Miss Marjorie Miller, an executive of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Recently she told a convocation of rural church leaders in San Jose, California: "Organizations of women of town and country churches, which in the past concentrated upon raising funds to pay the minister's salary, keeping the parsonage repaired and furnished, visiting the sick and the shut-ins, have in most cases enlarged their conception of community service to include the promotion of Christian family life, the development of wholesome recreational opportunities, the establishment of hot school lunch programs, the building of better roads, the development of health services, the provision of rural library service, the promotion of farmer's curb markets, and the improvement of local government. . . . They are also studying about world problems, discovering world needs, and getting acquainted with world peoples. They are giving time and money toward the building of a better world."

Strength FOR THE DAY

A FAITHFUL SERVANT
One of the greatest men who ever lived was Louis Pasteur. The opposition and persecution to which he was subjected almost surpasses belief. One would have thought, had he listened to the accusations made against this man by many of his contemporaries, that he was a cheap and stupid charlatan.

The story of how he treated his first patient after his discovery of the microbe cure reveals the man's deep concern for human welfare. He had experienced for a number of years until he was able at last to procure a virus which would make dogs immune to hydrophobia. Then he began to ask why, if he could make dogs immune, could he not make humans immune also.

"I think my hand will tremble when I go on to treat mankind," he wrote. But one day a distracted mother brought into Pasteur's laboratory her little boy suffering from fourteen bites inflicted by a mad dog two days earlier. Pasteur knew that the attempted cure might cost—death for the boy, disgrace and possibly prison for himself, and certainly the end of his work as a scientist. But he took the chance.

After many anxious days the certainty of cure was established. The name of Pasteur rang around the world, as one of the greatest of human benefactors.

He died September 28, 1895, one hand grasping a crucifix and the other resting in that of his loving wife. The crucifix represented the thing he counted of highest value in life—sacred love. His life was based on that faith, and in the power of that faith he passed to his reward.

COUNTY PROTECTION AT CITY EXPENSE

Saturday the Reflector carried an account of prompt and effective action by the Greenville Fire Department in saving a house on a farm about a mile from Falkland. The owner of the house, a Pitt County Commissioner, expressed his appreciation to the members of the department which saved the house from destruction.

Over a period of years the local fire department has been answering fire calls all over Pitt county, and about all the department ever gets for answering these calls is "Thanks" from the owners of the property saved from destruction, and perhaps good will for the department.

On the other hand, however, answering fire calls outside the city limits costs the Greenville fire department thousands of dollars each year, and these costs are paid by the tax payers within the city limits alone. The county pays nothing for the fire protection afforded it by the local department, and in addition the fire protection afforded property owners in Greenville is jeopardized each time a piece of fire equipment leaves the city. This not only applies to Greenville, but to Farmville and other towns in the county which own fire equipment.

It seems the time is long past due when the county should assume a portion of the financial responsibility for the fire protection afforded the people who own property outside town limits, rather than continuing to let the burden lie upon the tax payers in municipalities of the county who are in no way obligated to bear this expense for the county.

In many counties agreements have been worked out between the county and city governments whereby the county government, either by buying equipment or by paying city departments stand-by charges, reimburses the city government for the fire protection given the area outside the city limits. It would be to the advantage of Pitt county as a whole to have such an arrangement worked out between the county commissioners and the individual town governments in the county.

IMPERMANENT—So much gossip right now about the changes which Governor Scott may effect in state government personnel would tend to create the impression that except at beginning of a new administration few changes occur in personnel. While it is true that many faithful officials and efficient employees have had long tenure in their present positions, it is also true that changes have been many and frequent during the past few years. It will be found from checking the records that almost as many reorganization projects have been effectuated by the second general assemblies of past administrations as by the first. Personnel changes are made almost every week.

REVIEW—The state department of agriculture's summarized review of the past year emphasizes the impermanence of tenure in official positions. One year ago there was no intimation that important changes would be made in that department. Yet during the year Commissioner Kerr Scott resigned to run for governor, his long-time assistant, Dave Coltrane, was appointed to fill the vacancy, and L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine was nominated and elected for the next full term as commissioner. The state board of agriculture had four of its ten members to come on the board within the past year, due to death and resignation of former members. A. B. Slagle of Macon County and David Townsend of Robeson were sworn in at the January meeting, replacing Reeves Noland of Haywood, resigned, and Charles F. Cates of Mebane, deceased. In the spring Dr. R. E. Bap of Johnston succeeded to the vacancy caused by death of Lionel Holt of Wayne, and in August Holt Haywood of Forsyth replaced D. J. Lybrook of Davie, resigned. That number of changes on one small board is unusual but not precedent-making. There have been years in which the entire personnel of a commission was changed for reasons other than political reorganization.

ADMINISTRATIVE—Unusual turnover in the agriculture department was not confined to the policymaking board. Several changes occurred among the administrative division heads. Fred E. Miller, director of test farms for the past 27 years, died in February and was succeeded by Cecil Thomas. About the same time C. A. Upchurch, Jr., resigned as head of the publications division and was succeeded by Blackburn Johnson. Dr. I. E. Miles resigned as head of the soil testing division in July and Dr. Fielding Reed was appointed in his place. Less than a month ago Randall Etheridge, for 20 years head of the market division, died and Harry Westcott was appointed as acting chief until newly elected Commissioner Ballentine gets around to making a permanent appointment.

TENURE—The fact that several of the men who died or resigned within the year from top places in the department of agriculture had exceptionally long tenure in their posts, and that no political implications are involved with possible exception of pi. notation (?) of Reeves Noland to the highway commission to replace a resigned member—further emphasizes the fact that there is nothing really permanent about governmental jobs, or any other kind, and that change is not dependent upon the exigencies of politics.

ACCELERATED—Normally the rate of change is accelerated at the turn of the year or of administrations, but it is often true that changes made then have been determined upon months before. And sometimes the new men do not work out and further switching must be made to achieve efficient government. In like manner inauguration of new policies and systems does not always mean progress—but progress cannot come except through change.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Let's open Pandora's box all over again.
Good night!
Oh, Oh—that's wrong.
I mean happy New Year! I mean it really. Welcome—1949!
And why not? Can't you open Pandora's box and figure this way—something's in here good for mankind? Why not give it light? Light hasn't really hurt anybody in our world since—well, since way back last Saturday.
Last Saturday, of course, was the morning after. Is there too, too much to repent about the eve before? So you made a double-dog fool of yourself the last night of 1948? Will you ever have the same chance to do it in front of the same company in the same way again?
Let us hope not. The Lord has his own mysterious way of removing elderly innocent bystanders from the scenes of our recent crimes. Our crimes against sensible society and our own conscience, I mean.
So today you are unique. You face life with a sense of guilt. But there the day stretches ahead of you—bright, fresh and new, and eager to record your repentant scrawl. Nobody in history saw the same day the same way before. Nobody will again.
But as the day wears you are likely to see that other people are back at work too. So, whether you work for them or they work for you, you appreciate that life is pretty much a fellow-hanger against the dark—and you feel that life is going to go on.
Darned, as a matter of fact, if you don't happen to think that you, too, have some importance in your effort to do your bit. You know it isn't probably going to sway mankind—but at least you didn't hide out with a phoney cold. Life gains a thin rosy edge of virtue.
Well, if you have got that far, boss or hired hand, you are already a victim of Pandora's golden modern box. And that is a kind of version of the Golden Rule.
Because, what with modern medical advances people don't pay so much attention to the diseases that La Belle Pandora used to let loose on a refulled word with a reckless hand.
In 1949 people aren't looking for troubles—they have an eye open for blessings. They want hope more than they cry for help.
They are looking for something better rather than something worse. They want to eat high on the hog—and who's there to say there isn't room for everybody to gnaw?
No, sir, it always was a matter of propaganda what came out of Pandora's box. This year let's accept the idea it was good—and good for us all.
There's plenty of everything for everybody. And everything is in your mind.
If I'm wrong, call me a liar in 1950. But as for 1949—it's only here once.
Let's live it—and let Pandora shut the god-darned lid! We won't go this way again. No, none of us.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Senator-elect Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) and the eight women members of Congress are scheduled to get a walloping public tribute from prominent members of their sex when Congress gets under way Jan. 4.

Women's organizations throughout the United States are sponsoring the program—a huge reception at the Hotel Mayflower. Guests will include presidents of local and national organizations with headquarters here, representatives in Congress and their wives, members of the diplomatic corps and the cabinet.

In addition, from New York will come the "Women-for-Public-Office" special, bringing distinguished women leaders, presidents of cooperating national and local women's organizations.

Mrs. Smith and the other women members of Congress will also be honored Jan. 8 by the Women's National Press Club. This will be a banquet—a black-tie affair to which a distinguished list of guests have also been invited.

The Voteless District of Columbia League of Women Voters (voteless is part of the name) is planning a "Congress-in-Action Preview" for late January to help women understand what's in store for the newcomer on what's on Capitol Hill. Mrs. D. A. L. Myers, public relations director for the League, says the preview has become a "must" for the smart Washington hostess because "many a dinner conversation is built around the day's happenings on the hill."

House guests from the states and foreign countries (and there were 3,000,000 visitors in the capital last year) look to the hostess to interpret the daily newspaper accounts, she says. They also wish an explanation of congressional behavior as they view the Congress in action in the committee rooms and from the visitors' galleries.

Polish Jews To Go To Palestine

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—The new state of Israel may get 25,000 or more of the 100,000 Jews in Poland sometime during 1949. Jewish sources here estimate that many want to go to Israel and intend to leave as rapidly as they can fulfill passport and other requirements.

Approximately 5,000 Jews are expected to leave Poland during the winter months. Thousands of others are expected to follow as soon as they can wind up their business affairs in this country. The Polish government consistently has followed a liberal policy in granting passports to Jews desiring to leave this country and who can show they have the facilities and opportunity to go to Palestine.

Emigration, however, often has been slowed down by restrictions on what money and valuables Jews might take with them upon leaving Poland. Jewish authorities have been working with Polish government officials to obtain a relaxation of such restrictions and thereby speed up travel to Palestine.

Ex-Nazi Thinks Third War Can Help Germans

Friedberg, Germany—(AP)—A former high-ranking Nazi who later turned against Hitler believes that Germany would be strengthened through a third World War. He is Dr. Otto Strasser, now living in Canada. In one of the letters he sends regularly to his German friends, Strasser says:

"Even if five of ten million Germans will be killed in a third war, Germany's position will be strengthened after it, because the number of killed Russians, Americans, French and Poles will be far greater."

The 51-year-old politician hopes for an early return to Germany to become the leader of a new German party which has just been founded in this small town of Friedberg in the American zone state of Hesse. The party calls itself "Union of German Youth." One of its principal demands is the re-establishment of a German "Reich."

Big Seven's Bowl Jinx Is Broken By Oklahoma Squad

Line Play Throttled Carolina's Justice And Rodgers; Sooners' Quarterback Is Named Game's Most Valuable Player

New Orleans, Jan. 3 — (AP) — A Big Seven conference jinx that has existed since the loop's organization in 1946 was broken, with considerable authority, Saturday when Oklahoma stopped North Carolina, 14-6, in the Sugar Bowl football game.

Never before had a team from the league earned a triumph in a major bowl. Oklahoma, of course, shipped North Carolina State, 34-14, in the Gator Bowl two years ago. But somehow a triumph in one of the four so-called major bowls always has eluded the teams from the midlands.

Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas have appeared in the Orange Bowl, all without success. Missouri bowed to Fordham in the 1942 Sugar Bowl game and Nebraska dropped the 1941 Rose Bowl decision to Stanford.

This time, however, the Big Seven champions tied the can to the jinx, and to North Carolina. They did it by throttling Carolina's passing attack and fending off its famed one-two punch of Charlie Justice and Hossie Rodgers.

Into the game, they hurled two highly mobile lines which kept the Tar Heels in their own territory most of the time and a hard-hitting split-T offensive which cashed in on two big scoring opportunities. Quarterback Jack Mitchell, who directed the Sooners' attack flawlessly, was named the game's most valuable player by sports writers who covered it.

The Tar Heels completed only eight of the 21 passes they threw. Actually, Oklahoma made more yardage on Carolina passes than did Carolina. The Sooners ran back two pass interceptions a total of 84 yards, two more than the total gained on the eight completed Tar Heel forwards.

"I knew we had 'em in the second quarter," said Buddy Burris, Oklahoma's All-American guard, after the game. "That's when I felt their guards begin to give."

The Sooners coaching staff confirmed that most of the squad felt the game was in the bag at half-time, although Oklahoma led by only one point at that time. Always a strong second half team, Oklahoma never let the Tar Heels within shouting distance of the goal in the last two periods.

Field Goal Was Decisive Margin

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 3 — (AP) — The Gator Bowl football squads—Missouri and Clemson—were en route home today with Clemson in possession of the victor's spoils won on a scoring device almost extinct in college football—the field goal.

Clemson was leading Missouri, 21-16, about halfway through the final quarter. It was fourth down and the South Carolina eleven had nine yards to go from the Missouri 15.

Bobby Gage, Clemson's tailback who calls the signals, said "I was wondering what to do when Fred (Cone, fullback) said 'let's try a field goal.' So, I called for Jack Miller to come out."

Miller booted the ball squarely through the uprights from the 22-yard stripe, giving Clemson a 24-16 lead. Missouri later scored a touchdown and converted the extra point but fell just one point short of victory.

Name Players In Qualifying Play At Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Qualifying rounds got under way today for the $15,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament, which starts Friday over the tricky Riviera Country Club course.

Such names as Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis; Fred Haas Jr., New Orleans, and Eric Monti Santa Monica, Calif., must qualify via 36 holes to join the exempt players in the field of 128 who will tee off in the 72-hole medal event.

Exemptions are based on performance in past Los Angeles opens and some other major tournaments.

Defending Champion Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., will be on hand to seek his fourth Los Angeles Open victory.

Fans Will See 'Cream Of Crop' With Red Heads

Bethel, Jan. 3 — It was "way back in 1936 that C. M. Olson, known as "Ole" Olson, who had just played some 3,000 professional games with his famous original Olson's Terrible Swedes, conceived the idea of organizing the fastest girls' team in the land, strong enough to compete with the best men's clubs under straight men's rules and asking no favor.

The result was the "All American Red Heads."

Several All American selections were secured as talent and they were trained in the difficult "wheel" ball system made famous by the three greatest clubs in pro ball, the "Terrible Swedes," "Globe Trotters," and New York "Celtics."

During World War II, the Red Heads were taken off the roads only to return in 1945 with a basketball show of comedy and fun added to expert player talent.

In nine seasons this team has played 1,581 games against the best men's clubs all over America, Mexico and the Philippine Islands. This is an average schedule played of 175 games per season.

The 1947-48 club was by far the best that ever represented the Red Heads, as they defeated 125 men's clubs and losing to only 77.

The team which will appear in Bethel on Tuesday night at 8:00 is composed of the cream of the crop. Hazel Walker, Peaches Hatcher and Gene Loye (all selected to the "All-Star All-Star Red Heads"); and stubby Winter and Margie Arends, (rating on the "second team" of the All-Time All-Star selections).

In addition, the team has a comparative newcomer in Juanita Coleman, an All-American AAU star who was personally scouted by the management and included for her ability as a pivot ball handler.

Could Have Won Cigar Bowl Tilt

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 3 — (AP) — The Missouri Valley and St. Thomas football teams left for home today each confident it could have won the Cigar Bowl game if it had played its best ball throughout.

St. Thomas Coach Frank Del said:

"Our boys had the jitters at the start, were trying too hard and played their poorest ball of the season that first half. We thought we could have won, but we're quite satisfied with a tie."

The game ended 13-13.

Two years ago Lynn was made manager-coach of the New Haven Ramblers, a Ranger farm club, and did an excellent job. When Frank Boucher needed some help in his multiple chores as manager-coach of the Rangers, it was decided that Lynn was ready for a return trip to the major league.

As a player, Lynn was rugged and at left wing, along with Phil Watson and Bryan Hoxhall, played with one of the Rangers' top scoring lines. At New Haven, Lynn ruled his players with a strong hand, and

A Repeat Story

New Orleans, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Although the 1949 New Year's Day football game was the first Sugar Bowl contest in which the Oklahoma Sooners had played, two members of the team have been here before.

In 1943 Sooner tackle Homer Paone started for Tulsa against Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl; and guard Buddy Burris was a Tulsa sub in the same game.

'Weak In Line' Says Georgian In Explaining Loss

Miami, Fla., Jan. 3 — (AP) — The University of Georgia football team planned to return to Athens, Ga., by train tonight after its unexpected defeat by the Texas Longhorns 41 to 28 in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day.

The Georgia Bulldogs spent a doleful couple of days seeing the sights of Miami before heading for home.

Bulldogs Head Coach Wally Butts had no alibis. "We didn't have it in the line, especially the ends," he said. "We've known it all fall, but Texas was the first team to find it out. I thought we could and should have scored more. But Texas was better than we were x x x."

Notre Dame Head Coach Frank Leahy agreed with Butts. "Those Longhorns had everything it takes to win," he said.

Jack Cloud Led Indians To Win

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 3 — (AP) — While the Delta Bowl heads are talking future plans, you William and Mary fans can be giving a cheer for Jack (Flying) Cloud and the way he observed his 24th birthday Saturday.

For the big, fast all-Southern fullback lighted the spark that fired William and Mary to a 20 to 0 victory over Oklahoma A. and M. in the Delta Bowl here Saturday.

East Beat West, But Kids 'Won'

San Francisco, Jan. 3 — (A) — The East beat the West college football All Stars here Saturday 14-12, but the big winners were the kids in the Shrine Hospital for whom the game was played.

Bill Coffman, general manager of the game, said more than $100,000 was turned over to the hospital for crippled children last year and he was confident "that we'll break that record by turning over an even bigger sum this year."

SCHROEDER WINS CUP

New Orleans, Jan. 1 — (AP) — Ted Schroeder, Davis Cup star from Los Angeles, successfully defended his Sugars Bowl tennis title here yesterday, defeating Earl Cochell of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, for permanent possession of the championship cup.

At least four Toronto players, Third Baseman Willie Jones, Catcher Stan Lopata and Pitchers Emery Church and Lou Posselt, are scheduled to get tryouts with the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League next spring.

Dixie Bowl Game Was Closer Than The Score

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 3 — (AP) — This city's Dixie Bowl game was a lot closer than the score—Baylor 20 Wake Forest 7—indicated.

Twenty thousand chilled fans witnessed a great second half counter-attack by the Wake Forest Deacons who near the end had the Texans grimly hanging on.

The first two periods, however, were all Baylor's, three touchdowns worth.

The Bears took the lead early when star left halfback George Sims intercepted a pass on his 40 and raced to the Wake Forest eight. Fullback Sammy Pierce took it over from there.

The other touchdown came when Fullback Jerry Mangum plunged over from the one-yard line as the second period opened and when end Harold Riley caught a short pass from Ray Painter. Mangum's score claimed a 58-yard drive and Riley's a 66-yarder. Hank Dickerson converted the last two times.

Then came the Deacons' post-intermission relay.

Midway the third period, a Wake Forest punt hit Sims and James Lall recovered on the Bears' 13. Mike Sprock took it over and Bill George converted.

Twice in the final quarter, Wake Forest fought deeply into Baylor territory, the marches going to the 36 and the 15. Pass interceptions lost both opportunities.

The last half offensive gave the losers the better of the statistical battle—17 first downs to 11, and 277 yards gained rushing and passing to 212. The pass interceptions, however, more than balanced things.

ball crossing the final white line, then fumbled. That made the score 13 to 7 for Northwestern.

If the decision had been that Murakowski fumbled before crossing the line, the score would have stayed at 7-7 at the moment and recovery of the loose ball in the end zone by California's Will Lotter would have given the Bears the ball on their own 20-yard line.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Murder Gets Around

BY ROBERT SIDNEY BOWEN

Chapter 28

I hugged the drugstore doorway, and watched Goldlocks trip lightly into a cab that eventually swerved into the curb empty.

Still hugging the store doorway, I watched it drive up the avenue and turn west at the next street. Life was beginning again for me, but I waited until my watch said quarter of ten.

In front of Goldlocks' apartment door I stopped, took a deep breath, and then did a retake. I pushed the bell button and waited, with every nerve I've got twanging like an off-key violin string. No body opened the door.

The ring-chain of keys Maurice Cardou had once owned I had in my hands by then. I selected one I thought would do the trick, and opened the apartment door easy as pie, stepped in quickly, and softly closed it. Then I stood there two, three minutes not moving a single thing except my eyes.

And I moved them in all directions at the same time. But I didn't see a single thing save a hundred things that drew a picture of Goldlocks in my mind right away. Finally I moved slowly toward the foyer and down into the half-sunken living room. I was uneasy, and I guess you could call it a little scared. I felt from the top of my head all the way down to the soles of my shoes that I was not alone in that apartment!

With both myself and my gun ready for anything, I toured Goldlocks' apartment like nobody's business, but nobody jumped me, or shot at me, or even said, "Boo!"

Back in the living room I holstered my gun, dropped myself comfortably on the sofa, and gave myself up to waiting. Just how long I wasn't sure, but I had a feeling that it wouldn't be too long.

Suddenly I heard, or sensed, the swift, sudden, desperate movement. It was like a couple of dozen times in Burma, and China, and in the Philippines. The whisper of death on its way fast. You hear it, or you just sense it.

I didn't twist my head around for a flash look in back of me. Or even start up onto my feet. On the contrary I threw myself over sideways, and twisted the middle part of me over and down, so that I landed on my hands and knees on the floor. By then he had brought down the barrel of his gun. He couldn't stop in time. Neither the gun, nor his forward movement. The gun smacked the sofa cushion halfway down. The forward movement banged him against the back of the sofa. As he sort of cartwheeled I zoomed up. I looked both hands about his gun wrist, pivoted, and twisted my hands at the same time.

The gun fell from his fingers, and his body was draped over my hunched back for about two split seconds. Then, using arm leverage, his arm, I hauled him in a flying arc that ended up with him flat on his back on the floor.

Gordon Parrish was tough, though. Considerably tougher than I would have believed. The average man would have had barely a drop of air left in his lungs, and most certainly he would have had a broken arm, broken at the wrist. But he had air, and he still had two arms.

offer for sale at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, at the Pitt County Courthouse door in the City of Greenville, the property conveyed by said deed of trust, and described as follows:

That certain real property lying and being situated in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, N. C., and located in that portion of the Town of Greenville known as Johnston Heights Addition and situated on the corner of Second Street and Lewis Street and beginning at a stake in the property line of Second Street and running thence with Second Street 94.2 feet to a stake in the property line of Second Street, thence S. 22 W. with the Blount line 55.9 feet to a stake, thence parallel with Second Street 95.2 feet to a stake on the property line of Lewis Street, thence with Lewis Street 55.9 feet to the intersection of Second Street, and being Lot No. 7 in Block "B" in the subdivision of the Johnston Heights Addition of the Willis D. Johnston property, as is shown by map of said division made by T. W. Rivers, C. E., in June 1940, reference to which is made for accurate description, and being the same lot conveyed by Lacy L. Sulton et al. to the said W. D. Cooke, Jr., and wife, Sarah W. Cooke, by deed dated March 15th, 1948.

A ten per cent deposit will be required to show good faith on the part of the successful bidder.

play that way, it was perfectly all right with me. I came out of my chair fast, took the two necessary steps and raked the left side of his face from the temple to the jaw point with the muzzle of my gun. He howled with pain as the little drops of blood oozed through.

"How did you get it?" I repeated, and moved back to my chair.

"The same way you did," he groaned, and put a hand to his face. "It was nothing."

"Where'd you come from just now?" I wanted to know.

He moved his head a little to indicate a big padded chair in the corner.

"Now the sixty-four dollar question," I said. "Just what were you doing, or did you hope to do, in here?"

I thought I knew, or at least could make a close guess. I wanted to hear it from his lips, though. However, I didn't want to be at that exact instant I heard a key being fitted into the apartment front door lock. Parrish heard it too. He stiffened up a little. By then, though, I was moving fast.

I went over to him and brought my gun barrel down across his head. He folded, and rolled off the sofa onto the floor. I gave him a shove with my foot to a position where he wouldn't be seen at once from the foyer. Then, holstering my gun, I walked quickly to the foyer, along the wall against which the door would open. I reached it just in time to slide out of sight as the door opened. The balloon was at long last going up! I hoped!

All set for winter with our BUICK SERVICE SPECIAL

Winter driving is tough on cars (even Buicks). But—let it come rain or snow—your Buick will be ready for any weather if you give it our Winter Service Special.

This is a super-jumbo service bargain! We check over the entire cooling system, clean it and tighten it, ready for anti-freeze. We tune that trusty motor to hum a sweet tune—with special attention to carburetor, distributor, valve and timing adjustments. We put in fresh winter-weight crankcase oil and give the entire car the famous Lubricare treatment, which includes a check of brakes, battery, and several important items. (By golly, we even inspect the muffler for leaks!)

And this work is done by Buick-trained mechanics using only factory-specified methods, tools, parts. They know your car best—why not put it in their hands, this week?

Didn't See Car, Boy In Hospital

Falkland, Jan. 3—James Newton, colored youth of Falkland, son of Robert Newton, was admitted to General Hospital yesterday in critical condition after being run down by an automobile here about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The accident occurred near the city limits of Falkland, in front of R. R. Stokes' home.

According to information obtained by Policeman J. F. Moore, the little colored boy was running across the street when the car struck him. One eye-witness said the little fellow looked only one way before starting to cross the street and that happened to be the wrong way. He suffered two broken ribs and a sprained ankle, besides injuries to his back and head.

Investigating officer Forrest Moore took the boy to the hospital immediately, where he is being treated for his injuries. Attending doctors expressed belief that he may be released in a few days, unless complications set in, or internal injuries have been sustained.

William E. Parker of the King's X Roads community was the owner and driver of the car.

According to all information available, it was purely an unavoidable accident and no charges will be brought.

Knifing Victim Is Badly Slashed

Ayden—Levy Albritton, an Ayden Negro, lingered near death in Pitt General Hospital in Greenville today suffering "multiple stab wounds" in the chest, abdomen and thigh as a result of a cutting affray on an Ayden street about 8:30 this morning.

Hospital physicians said Albritton had been stabbed "12 or 14 times" about the chest, abdomen and thigh and parts of his vital organs could be seen, and were even protruding from the wounds when he was brought to the hospital.

Ayden Police Chief J. M. Whitehurst said Johnny Edwards, Negro, is being held without charge for cutting Albritton after an apparent argument over a woman. Whitehurst said charges will not be made until the outcome of Albritton's condition is determined.

The fight occurred, Whitehurst said, on a street in the Negro section of Ayden near Jenkins. Coal Yard. He said he was told by Edna Shields, the woman over which the fight apparently started, that Albritton and Edwards had a few words in the street, and that the fight started when Albritton hit Edwards with a bottle. Edwards told the same story, Whitehurst said.

Police reported Edwards suffered a knot on the head from the lick with the bottle, but otherwise was uninjured. The broken bottle with which Albritton is said to have hit Edwards is in the possession of the police, Chief Whitehurst said.

Greenville Shrine Club Entertains At Annual Party

The Greenville Shrine club entertained its members, wives and sweethearts at their annual New Year's Eve party and dance at the local armory Friday night.

The building was decorated with pines resembling a forest, and tables in color appropriate to the season were laden with sandwiches, pickles, peanuts and other refreshments.

Master of Ceremonies Tigie Gardner took charge of the floor show and introduced "Greenville famous Rockette" from Marie's School of Dance who presented several numbers. J. R. Tanner and Miss Margaret James sang several selections accompanied at the piano by Miss Christine Smith.

The master of ceremonies expressed appreciation to Paul Davenport, Jr. and Walter Cherry of the decoration committee and to Walter Lee, Paul Scott, Jim Tanner, C. D. Ward, T. Frank Taylor and Jesse Laughinghouse of the arrangements committee.

Among the guests of the club at the celebration was Billy Arthur of Jacksonville, N.C., the smallest member of the Sudan Temple.

Good Prospects Loom For 1949; Farmers Active

By CHESTER WALSH

Now, that the Christmas holidays are over and the Yuletide decorations on the city's streets were being taken down today, and inventories are practically over, Greenville and Pitt County are now getting into full swing to make 1949 a good year. Farmers are busy planning for next season and tobacco beds are being readied for sowing.

The holidays in this section were singularly free of highway accidents. Law enforcement officers here and elsewhere made few arrests, and police reported today that they had made only seven arrests this year. No serious fire occurred during the holidays.

Indications are that there is going to be much more diversified farming in the county than heretofore. There was a minimum of migrations from one farm to another by tenants this year, and that's a good sign, bankers say.

So far, the winter has been mild and temperate, and except for last June, when there was only one-third of an inch of rain when growing crops needed water, the annual rainfall has been within the average, between 50 and 60 inches.

The main topic of conversation on the streets, in the courthouse and bank lobbies, was about the meeting of the General Assembly in Raleigh Wednesday and the inauguration of W. Kerr Scott of Alamance county as governor of the state and "how many houses are going to fall" when the new chief executive announces his appointments later in this week.

Frank Kilpatrick of Ayden and S. O. Worthington of Greenville, who were re-elected to the Lower House of the General Assembly, and Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, who succeeds Senator Arthur B. Corey in the State Senate, were planning to go to Raleigh early in order to participate in the caucuses.

EDWIN S. STRICK AND DIED AT BELLARTUR TOLLY
Edwin S. Strickland of Bellartur died at his home there this morning. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

Attacks On . . .

There are innumerable illustrations of how communism and religion clash, but it would be hard to find a better one than that provided in a statement by U.S. Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall the other day in Berlin. He said that intelligence reports show 3,000,000 persons are held in Russian forced labor camps. These include 9,000,000 Russians, 2,000,000 Germans and 2,000,000 of other nationalities such as Poles and Czechoslovaks.

Do you think anybody who had even a modicum of religious belief could subscribe to such a terrible thing? The answer is "No."

return by March 15.)

But some of the people in the four groups, for one reason or another, may find it best for them to file their return on Form 1040-ES by Jan. 15 and then make their final return on Form 1040 by March 15.

For example: They got a raise during the year and will not know precisely by Jan. 15—because the boss didn't give them a receipt.

Super - Sonic Robot

London, Jan. 3—(AP)—British scientists, after a year of failure, have developed a robot plane faster than the speed of sound—740 miles an hour at low altitudes.

The robot, a $30,000 flying laboratory 11 feet long and weighing 900 pounds, has reached a speed "far above that of sound" in a straight level flight at the Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough, it was learned authoritatively. Tests are continuing.

Throughout its flight it radioed showing the facts—what their total 1948 income was and how much tax was withheld from them.

Here's something else to remember:

Some people who have been making quarterly payments on their 1948 estimated tax, find now they underestimated that tax.

If they've underestimated by more than 20 per cent, they should make the correction and pay in full by Jan. 15, otherwise there's a penalty.

Remember this, too: Some people started making quarterly payments last March 15. Then in the spring Congress cut taxes. Now they find they have a refund due them.

If they file their final 1948 return by Jan. 15 on Form 1040, they'll get their refund from the government faster than if they waited until March 15, when the government is swamped with returns.

The first oriental rug known to history is one called the Spring of Chosroes, which now would be valued at $2,000,000.

New York, Jan. 3—(AP)—A sharp but brief selling flurry swept through the stock market today leaving prices down fractions to more than a point. A few issues were off as much as 3 points. Here and there some stocks resisted the trend and held small gains.

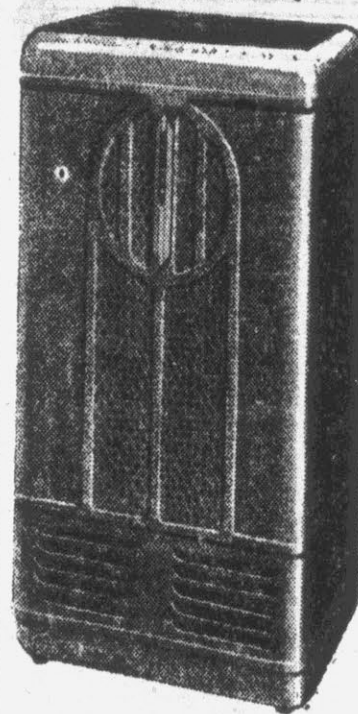

Trading activity centered in the railroad issues with steels and motors taking their share of the selling.
