'Gag Rule' Killed As House Opens

Action Taken Shortly After Assembly Convened With Unanimous Vote; Ramsay Elected Speaker; Pittman President Pro Tem In Senate

Raleigh, Jan. 5 (AP)—The House killed its controversial gag rule today. Shortly after the 1949 general assembly convened.

The vote was unanimous. The action came in a surprise move by Rep. R. L. Harris of Person, who had just been named chairman of the Rules Committee.

Harris moved that the 1941 rules be accepted as "temporary rules" for operation of the House, excepting rules 77 and 78.

These two rules call for a two-thirds vote to get bills withdrawn from a committee; to approve a minority report; or to remove a bill from the unfavorable calendar.

Prior to 1941 when these two rules—the so-called "Gag Rule"—were adopted, the same motions were called for a simple majority vote.

Shortly before Mr. Craig Ramsay of Rowan was unanimously elected Speaker of the House.

The House was called to order at 12 noon by Secretary of State Thad Eure. Dr. Sidney A. Gates of Salisbury pronounced the invocation, and—following a roll call that showed only Representatives John H. Kerr Jr. of Warren and H. C. Kearney of Franklin absent—the 118 representatives present were sworn in by Associate State Supreme Court Justice W. A. Devin.

Rep. Arch T. Allen of Wake then nominated Ramsay for the speakership. A motion that was seconded by Rep. S. C. Eggers of Watauga led the Republican minority.

Following the unanimous vote, Ramsay was sworn in as Speaker of the House by Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy and handed the gavel of office by Secretary of State Eure.

Mrs. Annie Cooper of Raleigh was elected principal clerk of the House; Raleigh Menger Jr. of Sanford was named House reading clerk, and H. L. Joyner of Northampton was elected House sergeant at arms.

Senator J. C. Pittman of Lee today was elected as president pro tem of the Senate as the 1949 General Assembly convened.

Other officers nominated at the Democratic caucus last night also were elected by the overwhelming Democratic majority.

The Senate received from Governor Cherry the report of the State Education commission which spent nearly two years studying every phase of public education in North Carolina.

The report, which recommended among other things a minimum salary of $2,400 a year and a tremendous program of state aid to counties in building schools, was sent to the education committee.

Also received from the Governor were reports of the commission which studied administration of justice in the state, the commission which studied the problem of State licensing and examining boards, the commission which studied the state's milk laws, and the commission which studied Agricultural fairs.

Membership of the Senate Rules committee also was announced: Senator Joe Blythe of Mecklenburg was named chairman of the committee, and appointed members were Senators: J. C. Eagles, Jr. of Wilson, L. H. Fountain of Edgecombe, Rex Gass of Forsyth, W. W. Hodges of Henderson, Henry A. McKinnon of Robeson, J. D. Meekins, Jr. of Jones, Edwin Pate of Scotland, R. G. Rankin of Gaston, O. L. Richardson of Union, John C. Rodman of Newfort, Roy Rowe of Pender, Gilbert A. Shaw of Cumberland, and R. N. Simms, Jr. of Wake.

Why Justices Disagree

An Explanation Of Divergent Opinions Among Justices Of The Supreme Court; Words And Their Meanings; Determining Factors; The Interpreting Of Laws, You

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—"When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said, "it means just what I choose it to mean—neither more nor less."

"The question is," said Alice, "whether you can make words mean different things."

If a Supreme Court Justice were reading that in through the looking glass, he'd have to nod his head and say:

"Yes, indeed. Words do mean different things, particularly to justices of the United States Supreme Court."

And that's one of the reasons why the nine justices of the court disagree so often among themselves.

In the past three months the court has handed down 27 decisions, and in 19 of them the justices disagreed. And in eight of those 19 times the nine justices divided: five for, four against.

Sometimes, seeing how close a decision is, people say:

"Here are nine justices, all expert in law, and they can't agree on what a law means. How does that happen?"

Maybe the best explanation came long ago from Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes—who dissented from the majority often—when he said "I am not God."

U.S. Moves For Complete End In Holy Land Fight

State Department Reveals Behind-Scenes Activity To Speed Settlement

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—The United States is pressing Israel and the Arab states to bring the Palestine fighting to a complete halt.

First moves disclosed by the State Department were pleas to Israel and Egypt to avoid acts which might spread the conflict. Others are expected to be made when the United Nations Security Council again tackles the Palestine issue at its scheduled Friday session in New York.

Urgent behind-the-scenes American activity to speed a settlement and head off a threatened new international crisis over an Israeli invasion of Egypt were brought officially into the open yesterday. Tel Aviv eased the tension by stating all Israeli troops have now been withdrawn and giving assurances there was no intent to occupy Egyptian territory.

What has taken place in the last five days during a recess of the security council was related by the State Department. Reports had been published that the United States threatened Israel with withdrawal of American recognition and cancellation of a projected $100,000,000 loan.

These were refuted by press officer Michael J. McDermott. He read a formal statement which said:

1. Sir Oliver Franks, the British Ambassador, warned acting secretary Robert A. Lovett last Thursday that unless the Israeli troops withdrew Britain might have to take action under its 1936 treaty with Egypt. This binds both nations to mutual aid in case of attack.

2. The United States already was concerned over possible "grave consequences" from the invasion of Egypt. Therefore James McDonald, American representative at Tel Aviv, was directed to point out dangers of the situation to the Israeli government.

3. Then on Saturday Egyptian naval forces bombarded Tel Aviv and there was an air raid on Jerusalem. Therefore it was decided to tell the Egyptians also that such incidents "can only result in further extending the hostilities."

4. Israel delivered a note yesterday saying its forces were now withdrawn and declaring there never was any intent to occupy Egyptian territory. Egypt has not yet replied.

The State Department made plain that the United States shares Britain's concern that peace in the entire strategic middle East may be involved in the continuing Palestine fighting.

Complicated Love Life Just One Of 'Troubles'

Berlin, Jan. 5 (AP)—Edward J. Lada's complicated love life was only one of his troubles today.

The former paratrooper from Newark, N.J., who crashed the Soviet blockade of Berlin, was charged with seven offenses in a military government court.

He was charged with entering Germany without a permit and crossing the border of the U.S. zone in violation of military government laws. A third count concerned his escape from a military police stockade Dec. 18.

Other charges were illegal possession of U.S. currency, British currency, U.S. military payment certificates and a military identification card.

Under military government regulations the maximum penalties for which he is liable are 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000. He was ordered to stand trial Jan. 14.

The 23-year-old veteran was arrested when he went to the U.S. consulate here in an attempt to legalize his visit to Berlin. He said he had cracked the blockade to see Ruth Rieckl and his two-year-old daughter by her.

Hatcher Resigns

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Governor Cherry today accepted the resignation of Col. H. J. Hatcher as Commander of the State Highway Patrol.

The Governor said that Hatcher submitted his resignation in a letter on Dec. 15 and asked that it become effective on Jan. 6 or as soon thereafter "as I may be relieved."

Governor-elect Kerr Scott will be inaugurated tomorrow—Jan. 6—and Col. Hatcher was a supporter of State Treasurer Chas. M. Johnson in the Democratic primary for Governor.

Hatcher, a native of Morganton, has been Commander of the Highway Patrol since his appointment by Governor Cherry in 1945.

Hatcher, when asked about his future plans, said he had "several things under advisement."

He said his Highway Patrol job was "the highlight of my career." "I am happy to have had part in helping build up the safety program. I have made some mistakes, but they have been learned."

Blizzard Abates In Western Area

Three-Day Storm Paralyzed Western Plains; Many Marooned

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winter season's worst blizzard abated over parts of the western plains today, indicating some relief from the paralyzing effects of the three-day storm.

The Dakotas and western Nebraska still battled the storm. In Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Utah and Idaho the monumental job of digging out of the huge drifts was started.

But as the blizzard subsided, federal weather officials said the storm would blow out of the Dakotas and Nebraska within 24 hours.

Temperatures generally were above the zero mark over the snow and wind swept plains states. Forecasters said no severe cold blasts were in prospect immediately. The citrus belts of California and Arizona had more sub-freezing weather today.

The punishing blow from the raging storm across the plains states left many segments of business and industry staggering. Thousands remained marooned in trains and autos. The Red Cross' mid-west headquarters estimated 8,000 were stranded by the huge snow drifts in parts of Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska.

There were another 2,500 travelers stranded in parts of Utah and Idaho. The Union Pacific Railroad said eight trains in the two states were halted by the heavy, drifting snow. Colder weather hit Utah and Idaho.

Trains also were stalled over the plains of Nebraska, Wyoming and the Dakotas. Snow plows were sent out to clear the blocked tracks. Travel in many areas was virtually impossible because of blocked highways. Planes were grounded.

Schools remained closed in scores of communities and in nearly all rural areas. Many factories were idle and business in some towns was at a standstill. Communications were disrupted and scores of towns and villages were isolated.

Money Gone, He Sues Bank For $50,000 Damages

Newton, N. C., Jan. 5 (AP)—A $50,000 damage suit was on file today against the First National Bank of Catawba County, Carroll G. Temple, Sr., of Hickory, charged in the complaint that the bank was negligent in letting his savings of a lifetime be removed from a lockbox by his 15-year-old son without his permission.

The complaint said that the lock box contained more than $50,000 in money, and several thousand dollars in war bonds.

The complaint declared that the son, Carroll, Jr., "absconded to Florida and dissipated and squandered all the monies except the sum of $6.00, and forged and cashed all the bonds with the exception of one savings bond of the value of $50 as it would mature."

County Hospital Contracts May Be Let Jan. 14

Large Number Of Contractors Expected To Be On Hand For Opening Bids

Contracts for a $1,400,000 Pitt County hospital are expected to be let on Friday, January 14 following the opening of bids on the project at the court house at 2 p.m. that day.

C. Stuart Carr, chairman of the board of trustees of the proposed hospital, said today between 50 and 60 contractors are expected in Greenville that day to attend the opening of the bids on the hospital, and in addition, representatives of the North Carolina Medical Care commission and the U.S. public health service will be present at the meeting. "The hospital trustees will be there and the public is invited to attend the meeting," Carr said.

The 120 bed hospital proposed for Pitt County, the largest so far undertaken in North Carolina under the state-federal aid program, has been estimated to cost $12,000 per bed for a turn-key job, and $14,000 has been secured from the county and state and federal agencies to build and equip the proposed hospital.

"Things look promising for our getting bids within our means," Carr commented, calling attention to contracts let for a 100 bed hospital in Albemarle for a cost of $12,000 per bed, and a 100 bed hospital in Laurinburg at a cost of $11,000 per bed. Both contracts have been let within the last 60 days.

So far the hospital trustees have received bids from 12 general contractors, and numerous bids for the plumbing, heating, and other smaller contracts to be let in connection with the construction of the hospital.

1948 Fire Losses Unusually Heavy

Shows Increase Over 1947; Large Fires Responsible

By CHESTER WALSH

Fire Chief George Gardner, in his report to the Board of Aldermen of fire losses in Greenville during 1948 states that the total damage was $208,729.94, a considerable increase over 1947.

Fire losses here in 1947 totaled only $38,283.07.

Large losers from fire damage in 1948 were Curtis Perkins' store, $48,500; North Side Lumber Company, $55,000, and Airport Inn, $30,100. This total, $133,600, on three fires, is from the year's total fire damage of $208,729.94.

The chief's report of the activities of the fire department in 1948 is as follows:

1948—63 box alarms; 67 telephone alarms; 20 false alarms; 23 out-of-town alarms; 30 lots burned of grass. Total fires during the year—130.

1947—56 box alarms; 78 telephone alarms; 10 false alarms; 23 out-of-town alarms; 14 lots burned of grass. Total fires during the year—134.

Announce Arrest Christmas Seal Money Robber

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Arrest of a postoffice clerk on charges of stealing Christmas Seal Sale money was announced here today by postal authorities.

They said the man had been charged with "abstracting and stealing" mail containing anti-tuberculosis seal sale funds.

U. S. Commissioner R. Beverley Sloan said the clerk was Harold M. Still, 35, a postal employee since 1941.

Postal Inspector E. M. Campbell related how discarded seal sale return envelopes found by a small boy in a creek on the outskirts of the city led to Still's arrest.

Campbell said Still was caught Dec. 30 with 16 letters "on his person," of which six, opened, contained $9, and 10, unopened, held $10, some of it in checks.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 5 (AP)—The 1949 Maid of Cotton will be crowned tonight from 18 finalists.

Two of the finalists—Jeannie Hogan of Ennis, Texas, and Joanne Woodward of Greenville, S. C.—withdrew from the contest yesterday because of illness.

President Asks New Taxes And Additional Authority

Shortcomings

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today the state of the union is good and the people have achieved the greatest prosperity ever—but there remain these "shortcomings":

"We are suffering from excessively high prices. Our production is still not large enough to satisfy our demands. Our minimum wages are far too low.

"Small business is losing ground to growing monopoly. Our farmers still face an uncertain future. And too many of them lack the benefits of our modern civilization.

"Some of our natural resources are still being wasted. We are acutely short of electric power, although the means for developing such power are abundant.

"Five million families are still living in slums and firetraps. Three million families share their homes with others.

"Our health is far behind the progress of medical science. Proper medical care is so expensive that it is out of reach of the great majority of our citizens.

"Our schools, in many localities, are utterly inadequate. Our democratic ideals are often thwarted by prejudice and intolerance."

Shanghai Dead

Shanghai, Jan. 5 (AP)—The cold streets of Shanghai in December yielded 4,727 dead.

Benevolent societies reported 3,879 of them were children. Some were abandoned by parents who could not feed and house them.

The deaths were caused by cold and hunger.

Big Demo Edge In Policy Body

Decide To Take 8-5 Ratio In Foreign Affairs Group

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—A decision by Senate Democrats to take a three-vote edge in the foreign relations committee stirred a storm of Republican protest today. GOP senators called it a threat to the bi-partisan foreign policy.

The Senate Democratic Steering Committee agreed last yesterday to assign eight party members to the important foreign relations unit, and to give the Republicans only five places. In the last Congress, controlled by the GOP, the division was seven Republicans to six Democrats.

In an obvious move to ease the way for President Truman's legislative program, the Democratic leadership also decided on an eight to five division in seven other strategic committees: labor, banking, agriculture, judiciary, rules, commerce and public works.

On the vital appropriations committee there will be thirteen Democrats and eight Republicans. Under the GOP the split was twelve to nine.

The Democrats decided on a seven to six lineup in the six other Senate committees: armed services, expenditures, interior, postoffice and civil service, District of Columbia, and finance.

Maintaining the seven-to-six finance committee ratio puzzled some Republicans who had expected a bigger Democratic edge to help put through Mr. Truman's tax revision program.

The Democrats' three-man margin in eight committees and five in appropriations, all made possible because of their 12-vote majority in the new Senate, will be an important factor in the drive to carry out the party platform.

Bury 54 Dead In Tornado's Wake

Tornado-Swept Arkansas Town Has 120 Homes Ruined

Warren, Ark., Jan. 5 (AP)—This southeast Arkansas lumber mill town of 7,500 turned today to the sorrowful task of burying 54 of its inhabitants who died in Monday's tornado.

The storm here was by far the most disastrous of several which lashed through north Louisiana and Arkansas in Monday's twilight chill.

Four persons were killed elsewhere in the two states bringing the known total of dead to 58.

The three emergency medical stations set up in the wake of the storm reported they had treated 275 injured. This figure did not include the countless injured who were taken to other towns or to their homes for treatment.

One hundred and twenty homes were demolished in the stricken area. 92 other homes suffered major damage, and 150 were damaged in lesser degree. A Red Cross survey showed that 250 families were affected.

Falling temperatures added to the wretchedness of those left homeless by the storm. Aid, however, poured in from all sides.

Royall Asks For Close Study Of National Guard

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Royall today asked a special committee to determine whether the present National Guard and organized reserve setups are "adequate" for national defense needs.

The committee will have 12 members, headed by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Royall said in an announcement that the Army wants to find out what forces would be needed to "implement joint plans for security of the United States."

China Reds Term Peace Pleas Delaying Action

Shanghai, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Communist China news agency today termed Chiang Kai-Shek's peace overtures a "Nationalist delaying action" and said the Reds would fight on "to the finish."

The broadcast was picked up in Nanking by the newspaper Sin Wan Pao. No other source reported hearing the broadcast, the first mention by the Yenan radio of China's peace fever of a few days ago.

No Communist official or organization was quoted by the Red news agency, which, presumably, made the statement on its own.

However, competent sources here and elsewhere took the broadcast to mean that both sides now may be entering into a favorite Chinese pastime—bargaining.

Many view Chiang's original terms in his year-end statement to be the government's first price. The Communists, they say, are reacting according to the best Chinese tradition by showing no interest. They are in a position to do so, for they have the upper hand militarily. If such is the procedure, when Chiang gets down to his last price then a break may come.

Newspapers in Shanghai and Nanking turned the blast of their peace offensive on the government. Seven more public organizations in Shanghai sent messages to Yenan and Nanking urging the Belligerents to come to terms.

The peace clamor has spread generally over the whole country with Nationalist planes reportedly dropping leaflets on Communist troops in North China asking them to stop fighting and talk peace.

Message To Joint Session Of Congress Ranges Far In Recommendations For Future Legislation Involving Controls And Broad Program Of Social Legislation

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Truman today asked the new Democratic Congress for $4,000,000,000 in new taxes, sweeping authority to impose economic controls and a broad program of social legislation.

Mr. Truman ranged far, calling for Taft-Hartley law repeal, aid to farmers, civil rights laws, universal training, broader social security, and federal programs in the fields of education and pre-paid medical insurance, plus 1,000,000 new public housing units in the next seven years.

He made his recommendations in the annual State of the Union message before a joint session of the Senate and House under circumstances vastly different from those of 1948.

Thomas-Collins Vows Spoken In Formal Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony performed in the Ayden Christian Church on Wednesday afternoon, December 22, at 4:30 o'clock Miss Myrtle Ruth Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Collins of Ayden, became the bride of Nathan Edwards Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thomas, of near Farmville, with the Rev. W. H. Brunson officiating, using the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli, interspersed with tall candelabras of cathedral candles.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Virginia Belle Cooper, organist, and Miss Janice Turnage rendered a program of nuptial music, with the vocal selections being "All For You" and "Through the Years."

The ushers were Larry French, Jr., of Cove City, Raymond Smith, of Deep Run, and Thomas Eason, of Farmville, with the Mahlon Tucker Jr., of Greenville.

Bridesmaids were Miss Audrey Gaylor, of Ayden, Miss Jean Thomas, of Farmville, Misses Peggy Tucker and Margaret Hemby, of Greenville. They wore dresses of white tulle, off-the-shoulder effect, styled and made by Madame Barnes, and carried white muffs with horse-hair braid, covered with red poinsettias, showered with red satin ribbons and miniature poinsettias. They also wore white net tiaras.

Miss Vivian Allen, of Greenville, was maid of honor. And wore a Madame Barnes creation of white broadened satin. Off-the-shoulder style, also a white net tiara, and carried a cascade bouquet of red Rothchild lilies; satin leaves edged with silver and tied with red satin ribbon and silver tricotine.

The honorary bridesmaids wore identical dresses of blue and their corsages were of red roses. They were Misses Waleanan Quinerly, Ida Margaret Hart, Mary Worthington and Peggy Burney, all of Grifton, and Mrs. John Taylor, of Kinston.

Miss Mary Johanne Collins, of New York, flower girl, wore a white dress fashioned like the bridesmaids. She carried a miniature white satin muff, similar to the bridesmaids.

R. L. Collins Jr., an only brother, served as junior usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of slipper satin, portrait neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves ending

She carried a bouquet of white Starlight roses, bouvardia, valley lilies, centered with a white orchid, edged with white satin leaves edged with silver and tricotine.

W. B. Thomas, of Wilson, served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Thomas was graduated from Grifton High School and is now attending Atlantic Christian College in Wilson from which she will graduate in June.

The bridegroom graduated from the Maury High School and served two years in the armed forces. He is now engaged in farming.

The bride's mother wore a sequin trimmed blue dress with an orchid corsage.

The groom's mother was dressed in grey and also wore an orchid corsage.

For traveling the bride wore a royal blue dressmaker suit with a matching hat and other accessories in black, with an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. O. C. Stroud Sr. served as bridal director.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collins and presented to the receiving line of Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thomas, Mrs. D. C. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Thomas, Misses Vivian Allen, Jean Thomas, Peggy Tucker, Audrey Gaylor and Margaret Hemby.

Mrs. M. G. Tucker and R. L. Collins invited the guests into the dining room, where Mrs. Leo Venters and Mrs. Gordon Brewer served bridal ices and cakes from a Madeira cloth covered table centered with a centerpiece of Calla lilies, carnations and snapdragons. They were assisted in serving mints and nuts by Misses Waleanan Quinerly, Ida Margaret Hart, Peggy Burney, Mary Worthington, Mesdames John Taylor, L. B. Tucker, R. R. McGlohon, L. M. French, Cary Garris and Scott Cannon.

Mrs. C. T. Jackson presided over the bride's register and Mrs. T. K. Jackson invited guests into the gift room.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Collins Sr.

On Monday evening, December 20, Miss Myrtle Ruth Collins entertained at a three course dinner at her home complimenting her bridesmaids.

Would Supervise
N. C. Milk Supply

Raleigh, Jan. 5 —(AP)— Local health officers of the state plan to back a legislative proposal that the job of supervising the milk supply be assigned to health officials.

At a conference here yesterday, they agreed to support the minority report of the State Milk Commission, which recently completed a study of milk control laws.

The commission, authorized by the 1947 legislature, will send its report to the assembly which convenes today.

The majority report says that present milk laws are adequate and recommends that supervision of milk remain a function of the State Department of Agriculture.

The conference of health officers called by State Health Officer Dr. J. W. Roy Norton to discuss a legislative program, decided to leave the program to a five-man committee to be named.

Split Elections
Over Beer, Wine

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
Opposing wet and dry forces split two elections yesterday on the legal sale of wine and beer in North Carolina. The wets won in Fayetteville but were outvoted in nearby Scotland County.

Fayetteville's vote was authorized after Cumberland County, in which it is situated, outlawed the sale of the beverages last summer.

Repeating the trend of last summer, Fayetteville citizens voted 2,144 to 1,441 for beer and 2,119 to 1,481 for wine.

Unofficial returns from 10 of Scotland County's 11 precincts were reported from Laurinburg last night as: for beer, 804; against 1,325. For wine, 677; against 1,372.

Wet forces claimed another victory in Greensboro yesterday. There city council, disregarding opposition from several church groups, voted to ask the general assembly to authorize an election on ABC stores in Greensboro.

Three Months 1949

A state law requires that all cars of the 1936 model and previous years must report to the Department of Motor Vehicles inspections inspection lanes during January, 1949. All 1937-1938 models must report during February, 1949, and all 1939-1940 models must report during March, 1949.

Walter A. Daid supervisor of this district suggests that motor vehicle owners clip this schedule of dates for future reference. The schedule of the inspection lane the first three months of this year is as follows: Greenville, January 4-14. Bethel, January 17-19. Kinston, January 21-31. Greenville, February 2-11. Ayden, February 14-17. Kinston, February 19-28. Greenville, March 2-14. Farmville, March 15-19. Kinston, March 22-31.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CHILLING STOPS ALL GROWTH

There is something beautiful about a winter landscape, but this beauty is vastly different from the beauty of spring and summer. The trees appear to be dead but they are not dead—the sap has just ceased to flow during the cold winter months. And when the sap is not flowing, there is no sign of life.

The same thing happens in the case of human personality. In a cold, rigid atmosphere the sap does not flow, and all evidences of social life disappear. If you have ever moved into a community a total stranger and had people continue to treat you as a total stranger long after you had taken up your residence, you would know how chilling atmosphere stops the flow of joy and purpose. A household in which husband and wife are cold toward each other is another case in point. The erstwhile friend who, having taken offense at some slight, refuses to forgive, and refuses a return to cordial fellowship, portrays how completely happiness can die within one as a result of chilling.

There can never be happiness in a cold home or in a circle where friends are estranged or in an office where everyone is either hostile or coldly indifferent to everyone else.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

CONTROLLING—Decision of the United States Supreme Court Monday in the closed shop cases, involving validity of laws enacted by state legislatures in Arizona, Nebraska and New Mexico, is regarded around Capitol square as having tremendous influence—perhaps controlling effect—upon proposed attempts to repeal the North Carolina "right to work" or anti-closed shop law. Attorney General Harry McMillan and his entire staff were wearing broad smiles Monday night and Tuesday because of winning the appeal from the high tribunal by McMillan and Assistant Attorney General Ralph Moody last fall, but the entire office force assisted in preparing the brief.

VICTORY—The state attorneys were proud of such conclusive victory. As one member of the staff said, a unanimous decision by the nation's highest court on anything is an unusual event. Lawyers, of course, like to win any case they handle. There is particular satisfaction in winning one of such far-reaching import as this.

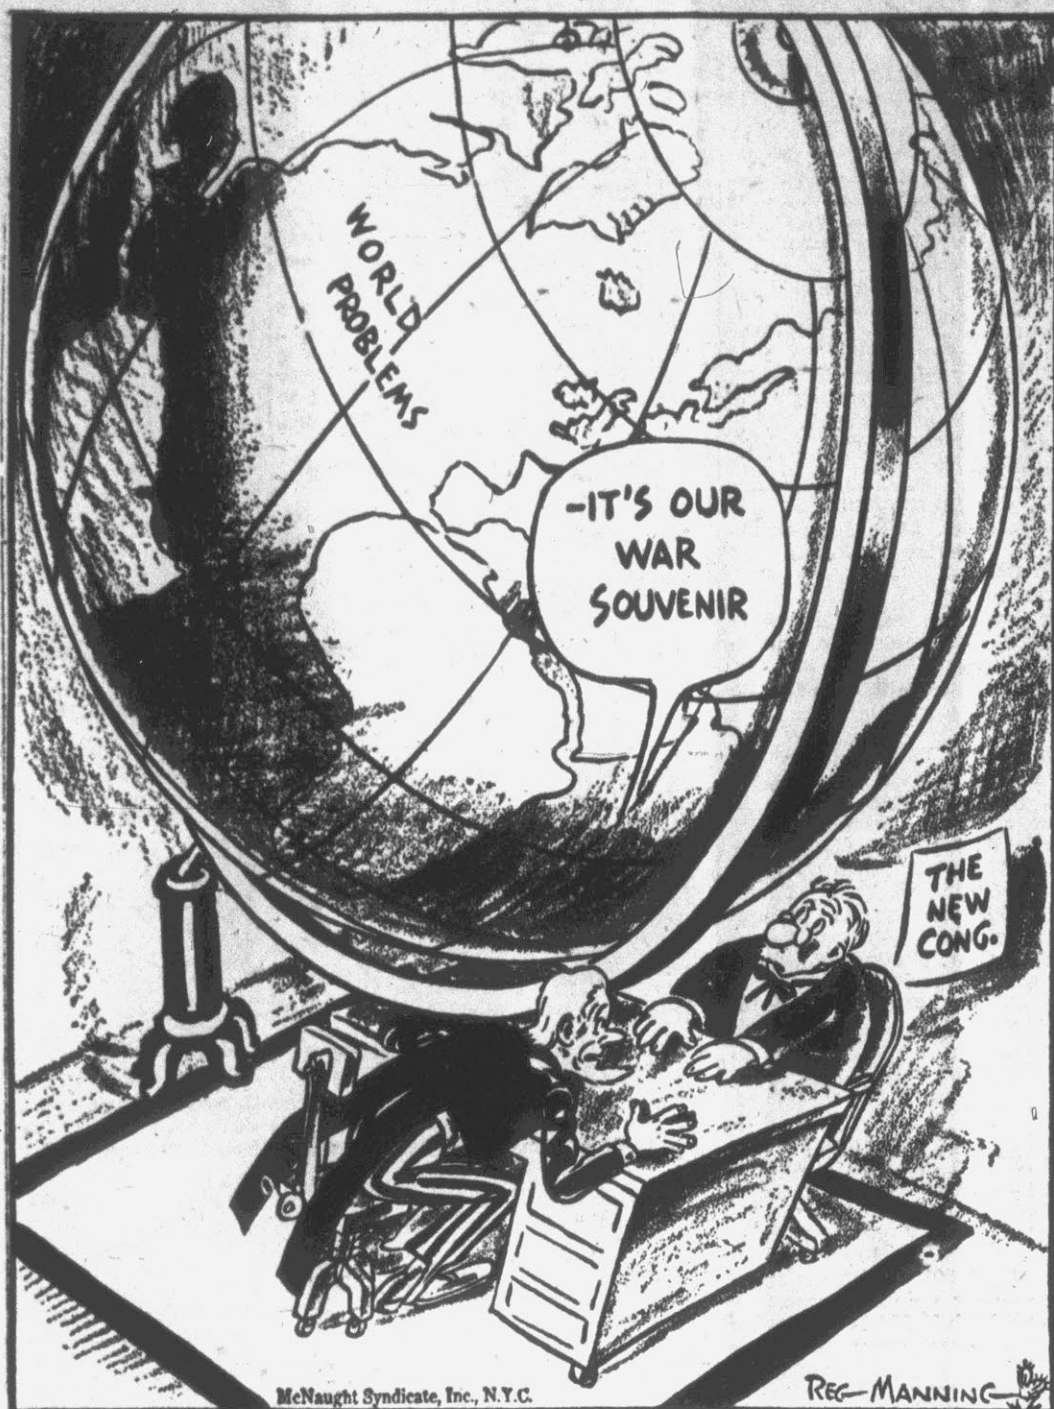

EFFECT—At several offices around the square Tuesday there was discussion of the probable effect of this decision upon the course of legislation in the 1969 general assembly. A few people thought the decision would complicate and make hotter an already hot potato. Majority opinion was that the decision would tend to cool off the potato and make the state legislative job easier. Almost certainly effort will be made to repeal the state law and failing that, to soften it by amendments. Opinion is general that the United States court has lessened the problem; that the state law will not be repealed and that chances of disabling amendments are considerably less than before the opinion was handed down.

WELL—State Hospital (Dix Hill) at Raleigh owns the Raleigh city water reservoir. The city has used it for years under a lease agreement. With title to that much water vested in the hospital, the institution is still spending $1,500 for a deep well. On the surface that doesn't make sense; but reasons back of the project are sound. The new well "will supply water for the swine lot, which is being moved much farther away from the other buildings in the interest of sanitation. And digging a well will cost a good bit less than installing pipe lines to carry the water from existing mains to the new hog lot.

HONOR—North Carolinians have become accustomed to their state officials and employees copping honors in national associations. Latest of record is election of Robert H. Shaw as secretary of the public relations section of the Society of American Foresters. This organization is composed of more than 6,000 members throughout the United States. Shaw is an assistant state forester in charge of public relations for the forestry division in the department of conservation and development.

INDIFFERENT—Capitol reporters who drifted by the utilities commission hearing room this week were impressed by absence of protests in the telephone rate hearing case. Although requests of Southern Bell for increased rates will affect a large part of the state's citizenship, and despite the fact wide publicity had been given to the hearings, less than half a dozen persons appeared to question the proposed new rates. Members of the utilities commission office staff say that is not an unusual occurrence. They noted the inclination of citizens to write letters and issue verbal gripes when they do not count, and then to fail in appearance when all the facts are being officially argued before the commission.

You'll Have To Learn To Live With It

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(P)—My problem, Mr. Anthony, is what is happening to the American home?

What's that, Mr. Anthony? You want me to step a little closer to the microphone? Yes, sir, Mr. Anthony, how's this?

Now, why I am worried about the American home? Yes, sir, I'll be as brief as I can.

You see, Mr. Anthony, the other day I read how some architects were suggesting that living rooms of the future should be centered around the television set rather than the fireplace.

I got to thinking what that would mean. Because the fireplace has been the center of home life ever since the first caveman clashed two flint rocks together—and the first warming spark flew.

Can you pop corn over a television set, Mr. Anthony? Could Abraham Lincoln have read his Bible by its light?

And when shivering visitors come into the American house of the future on a cold day, Mr. Anthony, will mama say:

"Throw another log on the Video, pa, our guests are cold?"

I hate to be old-fashioned about this. But I'm a fireplace fan. And what they're doing to the American home in the last fifty years shouldn't happen to a doghouse.

Sure, year by year it is getting more comfortable—they say. Is it through, really? Is it actually any healthier to live in than the big spacious houses your forefathers built?

Mr. Anthony, I think the answer is no. Space is as important to a family's well-being as an automatic thermostat. And the house of today is so small that when a man comes in and slams his front door the calendar falls off the wall in the kitchen.

Remember the large dining rooms of the past, Mr. Anthony, and how the big families used to feast in them and cheerfully thresh out the day's worries? What happened to them? Now they are building more and more houses without dining rooms. Instead they throw in another bathroom, or just shrink down the house, so you'd think it was a hostel for midgets.

And as for closets, the huge old roomy closets of the past, dare we even remember them? Why, a man today has to call in two neighbors to wedge his overcoat into his new closet.

There was a time, Mr. Anthony, when they spoke of a man's home as his castle. Well, there are three things about a castle that most homes now could use—a turret, a moat, and a drawbridge. Only with these could a man keep away the people who make a beaten path to his door, people trying to sell him things he doesn't need, people who try to turn his home into a museum of mechanical and electrical gadgets.

What ever happened, Mr. Anthony, to the "home, sweet home" that John Howard Payne sang of? Yes, that lovely thatched cottage where birds, singing gayly, came to his call, that home where he said he found "peace of mind dearer than all."

In the average home of today even a canary refuses to sing. Can a canary outchirp a soap opera, can he outtrill a radio jazz band?

Now, what I want to know, Mr. Anthony, is: Can't we do something to keep the brave new world out of what is left of our living room? Home is after all our refuge from the world, not our window to it. If we have to center one room around a television set—and I realize we eventually will—can't we make it another room? I suggest the bathroom, because that certainly would cut down arguments over which program to switch to.

That, Mr. Anthony, is my problem—to preserve peace of mind in the home by putting the television set where a man can take it or leave it alone.

Recollections of his childhood of poverty are found in Henrik Ibsen's great work, Peer Gynt.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By VERN HAUGLAND

(For JANE EADS)

Washington—The Fish and Wildlife Service has abandoned hunters' scorecards as a source of information on what happens to migratory waterfowl. Instead, the agency is going to depend more and more on the banding of birds.

"In spite of the grand publicity support that the newspapers and magazines gave us, duck hunters just wouldn't bother to send scorecards in," says Cecil S. Williams, wildlife research expert. "Only one in a thousand returned a report after the 1947 season. The response was so poor that the figures have little value." Many newspapers and magazines last year contributed space, at the expense of paid advertising, to print shooting score cards which sportsmen were urged to mail to the federal government. Only 1,963 cards were received.

Williams says hundreds of thousands of birds have been banded more this year than ever before. Co-operating with the Service are the Dominion Wildlife Service of Canada; the Wildlife Management Institute at research at Delta, Manitoba and Fredericton, New Brunswick; and a number of private licensed hunters. "Sportsmen can contribute to the welfare of hunting a great deal merely by returning every band they find on the game they kill," Williams says.

"This is especially true for migratory species such as ducks, geese, and doves, whose movements must be known if fair and useful hunting season are to be established. Some hunters keep the bands for souvenirs. If they would only send them to us first, to enable us to record the information, we would return the bands to those who ask to have them back." The emphasis now is on banding during the moulting and rearing season.

Williams says, "A lot of our questions as to migratory routes and habits can be answered sooner that way." Eventually large-scale banding also is planned for the fall migration and on wintering grounds. Already the banding returns give some index as to banding habits. A preliminary analysis of returns in Canada shows, for example, that in Alberta one out of 24 pintails banded was returned—that is, one out of 24 had been killed—as compared with one out of five Canada geese. This year also for the first time an intensive marsh study of hunters is being made. Agents are sent into the marshes to count, from blinds, the number of shots bagged by hunters, the number of ducks bagged and the number crippled but not found.

"The information thus for this year," Williams says, "leads us to believe that at least one duck is crippled for each that is bagged. That fact helps account for the disappearance of large numbers of birds."

The forest industry is the largest primary industry in Canada.

The national parks of Canada had their beginning in 1885 when 10 square miles around the hot mineral springs at Banff, Alberta, were reserved for public use.

Housing Problem For Royal Gems

London—(P)—Even Britain's crown jewels have housing and queuing problems. Only 6,000 of the 20,000 visitors a day at the Tower of London are able to see them. As a result, efforts are being made to move the display to larger quarters. Col. E. H. Carkeet-James, governor of the Tower of London, told reporters: "I hope soon we shall have the use of the dungeons of the White Tower (largest in the Tower of London group) for the display of the crown jewels. There we can spread out a bit and there would be plenty of room."

Coast Guard Lands An Exhausted Pigeon

Chicago—(P)—An exhausted pigeon fluttered down on a water intake crib in Lake Michigan four miles off the Chicago shore. The keeper put through a radio call to the Animal Welfare League. The League got in touch with the Coast Guard. A crash boat plowed the cold, choppy water to the crib, picked up the bushy bird and brought it to dry land. The pigeon—it looked like the homing kind—was taken to league headquarters to rest until it had strength enough to go home.

Bravado Gone As Killer Executed

Columbus, O., Jan. 3.—(P)—Robert Muri Daniels died in the electric chair last night—a far different youth from the cocky gunman who was captured five months ago at Van Wert, O., and accused of six slayings.

The 24-year-old Columbus slayer was pale and visibly shaken as he walked into the death chamber at Ohio penitentiary, leaning heavily on the arm of the Rev. C. V. Lester, prison Catholic chaplain.

Gone was the cockiness and natty dress displayed shortly after his capture July 23 at a roadblock six miles northeast of Van Wert.

His pale face stood out from the drab prison clothing he was wearing last night when he paid with his life for the triple murder of John Niebel, 32, head of the Mansfield Reformatory farm, his wife, Wolanda, and their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

Daniels posed and talked readily for cameramen and reporters when he was captured. He bragged: "Give me credit for the Niebels."

Jurors Need Not Know Technique

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The amount of force necessary to extract a tooth is one thing a juror in Pennsylvania need not know.

The Supreme Court handed down that opinion yesterday in upholding a decision returned from a $10,000 damage suit brought by Marie T. Bierstein, formerly of Camp Hill, Pa., but now a resident of Aberdeen, Md., against Dr. Franklin P. Whitman, Camp Hill dentist.

Miss Bierstein charged Dr. Whitman fractured her jaw while extracting two teeth in 1942.

Justice Stearns in his opinion wrote:

"The degree of force used is an integral part in the technique of extracting teeth. This professional technique is developed only after study and practice under men of experience."

"Negligence may not be inferred by laymen merely because the jaw was found to have been fractured. A jaw could be broken even though there was no lack of care or skill by the dentist."

'Living Fossil' Found In India; Survived Ages

New Delhi, India.—(AP)—A "Living Fossil" has been discovered in the wells of the Hindu holy city of Benares in the form of a tiny, transparent centipede-like shrimp.

Dr. B. N. Chandra, formerly official Director of the Zoological Survey of India, said that its ancestors seemed to have flourished during Mesozoic period of the earth's history, over 100,000,000 years ago.

Other representatives of this ancient group (Phreatopoda: Isopoda) are now confined to Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and the Cape Province of South Africa.

He said its discovery in India lent support to the view about the existence of the Gondwana land when Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, Southern Asia, South Africa and South America formed one big southern land mass.

Swiss Has Built Model Jet Car

Gstaad, Switzerland.—(P)—A Swiss engineer has invented a jet-propelled automobile.

A small-scale experimental model recently achieved speeds up to 35 m. p. h. during test runs on the airfield here. The designer, Hans Berger, of Thun, says his first full-scale experimental car will have a maximum speed of 72 m. p. h.

The first test model is six feet long and three feet wide. Its motive power is equipped entirely by a small jet engine in the rear, which expels gas and air under high pressure and pushes the car forward. The car has no drive shaft, clutch, gears or differential.

It is not known when or where rug making originated.

Bullet-Scarred Booth Where Ayden Man Shot Wife

Arrows point to the bullet holes put in the wall of the Crystal Restaurant yesterday when Joseph Raymond Phillips, after wounding his wife, turned a .22 automatic pistol on himself. Ayden Man Shoots Estranged Wife And Self In Restaurant

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 3.—A 33-year-old man died today and his estranged 19-year-old wife was in Norfolk General hospital after he shot her in a City Hall Avenue restaurant yesterday afternoon and then turned the gun on himself.

Police identified the man as Joseph Raymond Phillips, of Ayden, N. C.

The wife, Martha Mills Phillips, was shot once in the chest. She was reported in fair condition.

She has been living here at 2607 Omar Street.

From her hospital bed she told investigating officers that they had been married for four years, but that three months ago they separated and she came to Norfolk to work as a counter girl in Peoples Drug Store, on East City Hall Avenue at the Monticello Arcade. Her husband previously had threatened to kill her, she said.

The shooting occurred at about 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Phillips said her husband met her at work shortly before then and took her to lunch at the Crystal Restaurant, which is across the street.

She said he pleaded with her to come back to him. When she told him she would not, he started shooting.

A bullet pierced her left breast and tore a hole in the booth behind her.

Detective Capt. C. J. Staylor was walking up City Hall Avenue at the time and heard the shooting. Running to the restaurant, he summoned the police ambulance and called the homicide squad.

Members of the squad were attending an inquest in the Court House at the time, but left immediately.

They are Detective Sgts. Leon Nowitzky, E. M. Tows and L. L. Jones.

They identified the gun as a .32 caliber automatic of foreign make. Witnesses reported almost certainly that four shots were fired. Chief Aviation Metalsmith Lee Lawler, attached to the Navy Shore Patrol, was standing a few feet away when the shooting occurred.

He said that when Phillips drew the gun the girl started to get up. After he fired she ran about 10 feet and fell to the floor, screaming. Lawler started toward the man, and Phillips turned the gun on him.

"I jumped back and pushed a waitress out of the way. Her thin uniform wouldn't have stopped a bullet very well, and I had on a heavy coat," he said later.

Phillips then pointed the gun at himself and pulled the trigger. Two shots missed, but a third went in the right side of his head and came out the left. One bullet penetrated the restaurant wall, went on through the Arcade Hotel lobby and lodged in the far wall.

Patrolmen sent the girl to the hospital, and Captain Staylor had Phillips carried there in a police ambulance.

The waitress who had served the Phillipses Florence Drymon, of 821 Windsor Avenue, said there had seemed to be no argument, certainly no loud talk. The girl was eating a piece of pie, and her husband had ordered only a glass of water.

"I saw him shoot her, and I saw him shoot himself, but I didn't realize until afterward what had happened. The shots weren't very loud," she said.

There were several other patrons in that part of the restaurant at the time.

At the drug store where the girl worked, fellow employees said she was quiet, efficient and generally

Facts Of Negro Clinic

By D. D. Garrett, Sec-Manager

From time to time I am asked questions about the Pitt County Negro Clinic, and with the best of my knowledge I try to answer them the best that I can. From your questions, I have made note of some and I shall note some of them here and give answer to same:

1. Who started the Clinic? (a) Dr. J. A. Battle and Dr. H. B. Kelly.
2. What was the purpose of the Clinic? (a) The purpose was obstetrical.
3. Has the clinic stuck to its purpose? (a) No. Because in some cases it has treated medical cases.
4. How long did the doctors operate the clinic? (a) About 10 months.
5. What was their reason for selling out? (a) They saw the business failing.
6. Why was it failing? (a) Lack of cooperation from the people of Pitt County.
7. Who purchased the clinic? (a) The people of Pitt County.
8. What did they pay for it? (a) $5,495.63.
9. Has that amount been paid in full? (a) No. There is still a balance of $2,505.00.
10. How did you pay off the amount that has been paid, and how do you expect to pay the balance? (a) The amount that has been paid was done through donations and the balance is expected to be handled likewise.

11. If all the indebtedness is paid will the clinic then operate itself? (a) It is estimated that an average of five paying patients per day will operate the clinic. We have six beds installed and room for three more to be installed. So with the right load the clinic will operate itself and if the load is short we will have to resort to other personal donations, organizations and agencies.
12. How is the clinic operated? (a) By a Board of Directors.
13. Who are they? (a) G. M. Jones, president; Mrs. Olga B. Myers vice-president; D. D. Garrett, secretary-manager; Sylvester Wilson, treasurer; R. M. Garrett, chairman of the board; J. H. Boyd, R. E. Johnson, H. B. Sugg, J. W. Ormond, Rev. H. R. Reeves, Dr. H. B. Kelly, Dr. J. A. Battle, Mrs. Hannah Brown, Mrs. Belle M. Atkinson, W. H. Davenson, Nelson Hopkins, George L. Jenkins, Chester Walsh and J. H. Donaldson.

Hint Curbs For Postseason Tilts

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Bowl games that "commercialize" college football teams today drew the ire of the president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

President Karl Lath of the University of Iowa spoke out against some of the bowls, but did not name them, as the NCAA and affiliated groups settled down to the business of their 1948 conventions.

A move to curb the growing tendency toward postseason games is probable when a committee headed by Victor O. Schmidt, Pacific Coast Conference Committee, reports on a survey of the bowls Friday.

Dr. Lath told a news conference he was in favor of "bowl games operated under the same conditions as the Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange bowls," and included the Shrine's East-West charity game in its esame class.

It was generally predicted that nothing much would come of any argument and that the rule, permitting unlimited substitutions would go unchanged.

Arrest Four In Basketball 'Fix'; Player Told All

New York, Jan. 5—(AP)—Four men were under arrest today after a bribery charge today after a college basketball player told authorities they tried to get him to "fix" a game.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan made the arrests last night, following a two-month investigation by New York City detectives, came after David Shapiro of Brooklyn, co-captain of George Washington University's cage squad, had reported the bribe offer to him.

Hogan praised Shapiro, a 25-year-old GI law student who won four college stars in World War II, for his courage and honesty in working with the district attorney's office until the arrests were made.

Charged with violation of a section of the penal law covering bribery of participants in amateur sports and with conspiracy were:

Joseph Aronowitz, 35, a cloth cutter, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Philip Klein, 34, a Linotype operator, also of Brooklyn.

Jack Levy, 40, of Miami, Fla.

William Rivlin, 43, of New York.

Hogan said Shapiro told him that the four men had offered him $1,000 to make certain his team lost to Manhattan College at Madison Square Garden last night by a lopsided score.

Manhattan, an early 7-1-2 point favorite, rose to a 13-point favorite before game time. Shapiro—who, incidentally, was injured Monday while driving from Washington, D. C., to New York—didn't score a point in the game and fouled out on five persons.

Immediately after the game, won by George Washington, 71-63, in a surprise, Shapiro was whisked away to the District Attorney's office for the purpose of identifying the arrested men.

Sandy Saddler To Defend Title Against Pep

New York, Jan. 5—(AP)—Busy Sandy Saddler will defend his world featherweight championship Feb. 11, less than four months after he won it.

His foe in the 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden will be the tough little campaigner from whom he snatched the crown—Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn.

The Twentieth Century Sporting Club completed the match yesterday, Charley Johnston, the champion's manager, and Lou Viscusi, Pep's pilot, signed papers in the office of Harry Markson, the Twentieth's director.

'All-Stars' Meet House Of David Here Thursday

The House of David basketball team, featuring the tallest man in basketball today, will invade the ECTC All-Stars here Thursday night at eight o'clock. A matinee performance will get underway at four in the afternoon.

The boys with the beards who are all-American basketball players, comedians and magicians all rolled into one quintet of talent will tangle with ECTC's own basketball standouts who are ineligible for North State conference play this season.

ECTC's All-Stars have been working out with the varsity under Coach Howard Porter in preparation for the game. The lineup for the locals will be announced later.

Among the outstanding features of the House of David performance will be their famous hidden ball which will be one of the numerous antics of the team, according to reports.

Moose Ludka, a seven foot, three inch giant and the tallest man in basketball today, will be among the House of David players. Ham Hamilton, who has played 1,743 consecutive games and Bobby Roth, the clown of the outfit, will also be starred.

But the ECTC team is out to see what makes this quintet of bearded talent tick and promises to give the bearded magicians a game of it.

Cage Scores Raise Stock Of Southern Conference

By The Associated Press

Impressive victories by North Carolina State and George Washington University had boosted Southern Conference basketball back into the National limelight today (Wednesday).

N. C. State, smarting under the sting of three straight setbacks in the far west, moved as far east as Cleveland last night and walloped highly-rated Canisius, 76-60.

George Washington, already beaten three times and labeled an early season disappointment, spurred in the last half to whip Manhattan in Madison Square Garden, 71-63. The Colonials had been rated 12-point underdogs.

The feats of the Wolfpack and the Colonials all but overshadowed the remarkable doings of slender Chet Giermak, tall William and Mary center, as the Indians routed Towson State Teachers, 94-31, at Williamsburg, Va. Giermak dropped in 18 field goals and one foul to amass 37 points—enough to beat the visiting Teachers singlehanded.

In the only conference game on the night's schedule, Davidson rang up its initial circuit victory with a 52-49 triumph over Maryland's luckless Terps.

Duke overpowered Hanes Hosley, 54-42, for its sixth victory in a row. The Blue Devils thus avenged a 58-57 defeat suffered at the hands of the Hoslers in their season's opener. Wake Forest licked American Enka, an independent team, 65-44.

Only one game is listed tonight for conference teams. Virginia Tech, which hasn't yet won a game in the four outings, goes up against the independent Roanoke Rebels at Roanoke, Va. The Rebels whipped the Techmen 55-44, earlier in the season.

Dick Dickey, the fast-moving N. C. State forward, was the hero as State whammed Canisius, which previously had lost only once in nine games. Dickey whipped through ten field goals and four fouls for 24 points and shot from the floor only 14 times. Warren Cartier contributed 11 points to the Wolfpack assault. State held a narrow 37-35 lead at halftime but pulled away in the final quarter.

Maynard Halthcock was the big gun in George Washington's surprising victory over highly-regarded Manhattan. Halthcock dropped through 18 points. Bill Cantwell and John Moffatt each had 11 points for the Colonials, who led 33-27 at intermission.

Broughton Tops Phantoms, 51-20

Raleigh, Jan. 5—Coach Joe Holliday's Needham Broughton Purple Hurricanes five ran rough-shod over a weak Greenville Green Phantoms basketball club here last night in posting a 51-20 victory. The win was the fifth in a row for the locals, who are undefeated.

The Hurricanes jumped into a quick lead and Coach Bo Farley's Northeastern Conference cagers never were able to catch up to the high-flying Capital City crew. At intermission, the Hurricanes led by 32-6. The visitors, in fact, could muster but one point during the second semester.

Forward Kim Buchanan, with 12 points, and Co-captain John Duncan, with 11, sparked the winners to their easy triumph. Bo Farley Jr., with four points, led the losers.

Six-foot seven-inch Center Bobby Goss and Duncan, a six-foot two-inch operative, dominated backboard play at each end of the court. The visitors never were able to get their attack going.

Wants To Get In Year-End Bowls

Atlantic City, N.J., Jan. 5—(AP)—This city wants to get into the year-end football roundup with a "Salt Water Taffy Bowl" next New Year's Day.

Mayor Joseph Altman called a meeting of 35 civic leaders yesterday to discuss the possibility of an indoor bowl game on about 5,000 tons of soil "planted" in huge Convention Hall.

But the meeting ended without any decision. A majority of those attending, however, suggested a sports carnival, which would include basketball, hockey, track and tennis as well as football.

Bethel Boys Get Narrow Victory

Bethel, Jan. 5—Bethel high school's high flying boys basketball team took its 15th win of the season by topping the All-American Red Heads girls team 41-36 in the high school gym last night.

The Red Heads put on a show of comedy and fun added to expert ability to keep the Bethel squad fighting for the victory until the final moments of the contest. With only five minutes to go, the Bethel team came from behind to clinch the game with five accurate field goals. Gene Love, 6' 4" Red Head led the game's scoring with 12 points, followed by Mack Whitehurst with seven and Earl Keel and Bobby Gene Manning with six.

The Bethel team in gaining its 15th win in 17 starts this season veered away from its regular fast-break style of play to cope with the Red Heads' easy-going wheel-horse system based on their accuracy with long shots.

During the half-time Hazel Walker, six-time winner of the national free-throw championship, rang 20 straight free throws, while two members of the Bethel team could only 15 hits out of 20 tries. Walker rang nine out of 10 free throws from a kneeling position.

The Bethel squad goes to Winterville Friday night for a double-header with the boys and girls teams of Winterville high school.

Junior Varsity Scores 30-20 Win In Raleigh

Raleigh, Jan. 5—(P)—The Greenville High School junior varsity basketball team scored a 30-20 victory over the Broughton junior varsity here last night in a preliminary game to the Broughton-Greenville clash.

Greenville's junior varsity held a halftime lead of 19-10.

Jack Dillingham, Greenville jayvee forward, was high scorer for the night with nine points. Billy Church led the Broughton jayvees with seven points.

Busy Week For Sports Program

Sports loving students of East Carolina Teachers College have a well rounded menu this week with the first course being served Thursday afternoon when the college intramural champions, Boo Boo Butler's Fancy Five basketball team plays the famous House of David quintet at 4 o'clock.

A duplicate performance will get underway at eight Thursday evening with the ECTC All-Stars opposing the bearded basketballers from Florida.

Friday night the sports fans will turn their attention to boxing and wrestling. Seven boxing bouts and two wrestling matches are carded to benefit the Pitt County polio campaign.

The boxing match will be the official elimination tournament for the ECTC boxing team. Winners will represent the school in a match with the Winston-Salem YMCA Saturday night, January 15.

Officials for the tournament will be drawn from Coach Howard Porter's officiating class. Fights will be three rounds each, two minutes to the round with a minute between.

And while the ECTC pugs are engaged in fistcliffs, Coach Howard Porter's Purple Pirates will be swinging into their 1949 basketball schedule with two out of state contests. The Bucs invade the Portsmouth Grid Club Friday night and remain over to play Norfolk's Navy Flyers on Saturday.

The ECTC quint defeated both teams in previous contests.

CORNELL'S BASKETBALL CAPTAIN IS A BRILLIANT ALL AROUND ATHLETE

Cornell Captain ... Pap

Coach Royner Greene, in his third season at Cornell, is very enthusiastic about the fine team spirit of the Big Red basketballers. Coach Greene likes speed and spirit, and "We've lost our tall men says Greene referring to the graduation of Bob Gale, and Big Ed Peterson, "but we are much faster and pass better."

Cornell was off to a slow start mainly because Hillary Chollet, captain and in Ivy League all-star, was slow in switching over from the gridiron to the cage game. Chollet sustained a severe ankle sprain during the football season but recovered in time for the season's finals against Penn. He was the team's leading cage scorer for the 1946-47 season. An old football injury kept him out of action and first half of the 1947-48 season but he managed to score 140 points in the 11 games of the second half.

One of the highlights of the Cornell season, from Chollet's point of view, is the home-and-home series scheduled with Canisius for Hillary will face his brother, Leroy, who captains the Buffalo quintet. They were scholastic stars together at Holy Cross High School in New Orleans and since moving into the collegiate ranks have become keen rivals. Hillary completes his basketball eligibility in basketball this season but, because he does not graduate until February of 1950, has another season of football.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

My Under Feet Ached

Chapter 30

I suddenly stepped over to Parrish and turned back the front of his jacket, and took out his wallet from the inside pocket. I took five hundred dollars of it, put it in my pocket, and dropped the wallet in his lap.

"The fifteen hundred you took from me Parrish," I said quietly.

"When I left Parrish he was more worried than before," I said. "He tried to get in touch with me through Paula. She told him I'd be at the Biltmore around five. He invited her there for a drink, and tried to pump her, figuring I'd told her a thing or two. When I showed up he faked it that he wanted to apologize for Parrish's nutty stunt. By then Parrish wasn't in my thoughts any more. I knew for sure that he was not the one I was after. I gave him a broad hint to curl up and go to sleep some place until a later date. He didn't take the hint. He had added things up and got all these things out of her when she returned. I came in, instead. So his first task was to take care of me.
We were just getting chatty when Zara put her key in the door. I had to pop Parrish because I couldn't be bothered watching two people at the same time. And that, I guess, is that regarding Parrish. Any corrections, or additions?"

"The last I fired at Parrish. He looked at me like a man watching the whole world fall away from him. Then he sighed heavily, and let his chin sag down on his chest.
I looked at Bierman, and grinned.
He was still looking at me, but not grinning.

"Very interesting!" he said dryly.
"All those words, and gestures, to tell me he didn't kill DeFoe or Cardeur."

"No, he didn't," I admitted. "But he tried to kill me!"
"Who did? he bit off."
"Who did what?" I asked pleasantly.

"Stop right there, Barnes!" he warned. "No games today. Who scragged DeFoe and Cardeur?"

"Maurice Cardeur killed Rene DeFoe," I said.
"Why?" Bierman almost shouted.
"To get something DeFoe had,"
I replied.

"And what was it that DeFoe had,
Barnes, if you don't mind?" he bit off word by word.

"The keys to get into a safety deposit box that DeFoe had under the name of Herbert Varney," I told him. "I think he had already got hold of DeFoe's Herbert Varney signature, and could forge it well enough so that there wouldn't be any question at the bank. But he didn't have the two keys. He got those off DeFoe in my office. Right, Goldielocks?"

"I half turned as I shot the last at her. The little slick chick smiled at me with seductive love on her lips, and blazing white-hot hate in her eyes.

"I do not know," she said slowly.
"The talk you make is all insane."
"So somebody else found out and killed Cardeur?" Bierman asked.

"Somebody already knew," I said.
"In fact, I think that somebody had planned to kill him just as soon as he had completed the preliminary

Leaf Marketing Control Subject Of Controversy

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Jan. 5.—The public is just becoming aware of a fight that has been going on behind the scenes for months for control of the tobacco marketing stabilization program.
For the past three seasons the Tobacco Marketing Stabilization Corporation has handled the orderly marketing of leaf tobacco in excess of market demands during the selling season. It has qualified for loans from the Federal Reserve Bank for the purpose of stabilizing the market.
These efforts are being resisted by the producers and processors of tobacco. The producers are now being made by the Production and Marketing Administration to take over the functions heretofore performed by the cooperative.

League Will Ask 'Home Rule' Vote

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—North Carolina municipal officials are going to ask the legislature to offer a "Home Rule" constitutional amendment to voters.
The legislative committee of the League of Municipalities made this a top item on a legislative program which was discussed at a luncheon here yesterday.
J. Ray Shute, Mayor of Monroe and chairman of the committee, said of the "Home Rule" proposal that municipalities want the right to "adopt, amend and revise our own charter." This should carry with it the added "a broad grant of authority" to levy taxes to finance new programs.
The league also will ask the state to return to municipalities the revenue from one cent of the six-cent gasoline tax and a complete revision of Schedule B license taxes.
Shute, city manager Pat Burdette of Asheville and city manager Roy L. Williamson discussed phases of the league program. Herman Wilson, Greensboro city attorney, talked on a proposal for municipal taxation of utilities.

Cases Tried In Police Court

Judge J.W.H. Roberts disposed of the following cases in Police Court Monday:
Lester J. Whitehurst, driving after his operator's license was revoked, $200 and costs.
Benjamin D. Taylor paid $25 for assault with a deadly weapon.
Joseph Daniel, colored, paid $25 for driving without an operator's license.
James D. Hines paid $10 for passing a motor vehicle on a bridge.
J. E. Whitaker, found guilty of reckless driving, appealed.
Richard May, colored, paid $20 for assault on a female.
Joseph D. Williams paid $15 for being drunk and $20 damages for burning mattresses in the City Jail and court costs.
Israel Mills paid $15 for being drunk.

Much Activity In City Last Year

By CHESTER WALSH
Building Inspector George Gardner's report to the Board of Aldermen of building activities in Greenville is interesting.
Building operations in 1948 totaled $1,373,900 for 114 dwellings and 30 commercial buildings.
In 1947, it was $1,464,850 for 111 dwellings and 44 commercial buildings.
In 1946 it was $818,550 for 82 dwellings and 41 commercial buildings.
Total building operations in Greenville for three years—$3,657,000 for 307 dwellings and 115 commercial buildings.
The report does not include buildings erected outside the city limits the building inspector stated.
Incidentally, the state and city laws require all persons planning to erect buildings to submit their plans to the building inspector for approval before work is started.

Calls Attention To New Rulings

Wyatt Highsmith, Pitt county secretary of the Conservation Association, today called farmers' attention to the new rulings of the program which require approval of conservation practices before they are undertaken.
Highsmith explained that under the new rulings, conservation projects and practices in individual farmers have to be approved by the county Conservation Association of office before the project is undertaken by the farmer. If approval is not obtained before the project is begun, he said, farmers will not be paid for the programs undertaken.

Mrs. Laura C. Lewis Died This Morning

Mrs. Laura Clark Lewis died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Briley, 303 Harding Street, at 11 a.m. today after being ill the past two weeks.
Funeral services will be held at Mrs. Briley's home at 3 p.m. Thursday by Rev. R. W. Bradshaw, Methodist minister of Wilson, assisted by Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Shiloh Methodist Churchyard in the Brevard community. The family request that no flowers be sent.
Mrs. Lewis was born February 28, 1879. She was a daughter of Joseph Henry Clark and Dianah Bullock Clark of Conetoe. Her parents died in 1926. She was married to W. C. Lewis of Bethel in 1905. She spent her entire life in Bethel until a few years ago, when due to poor health she made her home with her daughters. She was a member of Shiloh Methodist Church in the Brevard community.
Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. John Adams of Washington, Mrs. Lyman Edwards of Grimesland, Mrs. Johnnie Briley of Greenville, Mrs. Harry Tugwell of Manteo, and Mrs. Lloyd Pate of Kingston; four grandsons, Charles Spencer Brown, U.S. Navy, now stationed at Pearl Harbor; Lyman Lewis Edwards of Oak Ridge, and Bobby and Billy Tugwell of Manteo; a sister, Mrs. Lucy James of Bethel; and four brothers, W. J. and W. K. Clark of Greenville, J. A. Clark of Nichols, Fla., and C. O. Clark of Wilson.

Why Justices . . .

the element in the contemporary climate of opinion to which he is responsive.
And one of the present justices William O. Douglas, thought enough about this problem of dissenting opinion to comment on it in a talk some time ago before the American Bar Association. He said: "Disagreement among judges is as true to the character of democracy as freedom of speech itself."
"Democracy, like religion, is full of sects and schisms. Every political campaign demonstrates it. Every session of the legislature proves it. No man or group of men has a monopoly on truth, wisdom or virtue."
And when a judge is interpreting the law, said Douglas, giving an explanation similar to Lerner's, the meaning he gets out of it is connected with his—"Own life and experience, his personal set of values, his training and education, and the genes of the blood stream of his ancestors."
But Douglas said he has no use for the judge who disregards the Constitution and tries to write his own special wishes into law or tries to weasel-word his way out of a tough decision.

Count 7 Bodies In Wreckage Of Air Force Plane

Colfax, Calif., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Seven men were killed and another was believed missing in the crash of a two-engine Air Force transport plane 10 miles southeast of here last night.
Placer County Coroner Francis E. West said seven bodies were counted in the wreckage.
He said the Air Force investigators from McClellan Field told him an eighth man was believed aboard but they could see only seven bodies.
The plane was flying from Hill Field, Ogden, Utah, to its base at McClellan Field, Sacramento, Calif., when it crashed in this northern California Sierra Nevada foothill area.
Witnesses reported that the plane caught fire and then exploded while flying at about 1,000 feet.

Will Not Act On Ewing's Appeal

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Governor Cherry announced today he will make no move to reduce the 18-20 year prison term given Walter C. Ewing two years ago in the slaying of his wife.
"After careful study I have decided that it would not be in the best interest of the state to reduce at this time the sentence imposed on Wall C. Ewing by the court," the Governor said in a short statement on the matter.

nations. The Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives stated a few days ago "The committee knows x x x that there are communists in government today."
The Red is straining every nerve to gain control of trade unions the world over. It is spreading insidious propaganda through schools. It is overlooking no bet—but it is recommitting the idea that it is committed to a long-range fight.
Because of the nature of this Bolshevik offensive it can be dealt with only as we would handle ordinary crime. We've got to hunt it down and treat it as we would any other gangsterism.
This doesn't mean that we have to refuse all dealings with Russia. While there is no hope of making any deal whereby the whole conflict could be called off, there are things on which the communists might compromise because of self-interest. These relatively minor compromises might delay or even avert another world war.
That's the kind of conflict we are up against.
