Fighting Resumes In North China After Long Lull

Communists Begin Pounding Besieged Tientsin And Encircled Gov't Forces

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Communist troops, turning a deaf ear to Nationalist peace pleas, tonight reportedly poured shot and shell into besieged Tientsin in the north and into encircled government armies southwest of Suchow.

The fighting broke a two weeks lull. Peace overtures, including a message from President Chiang Kai-shek at year's end offering to negotiate "if the Communists really are sincere," had flooded the country.

The latest was made by the Peiping City council which voted to ask Communists surrounding that city for terms. The North China commander, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, gave permission for an air drop of the Peiping peace plea. He has been rumored seeking a separate settlement of the North China war.

Nanking sources heard that Red troops commenced shelling Gen. Tu Li-Ming's surrounded armies southwest of Suchow from two sides after vocal bargainers from loudspeakers failed to persuade the Nationalists to surrender.

The independent Nanking people's daily said that Gen. Sun Yuan-Liang commander of the 16th army group under General Tu, had reached the Honan province temporary capital of Hsinyang on Jan. 4 after passing through the Communist lines in disguise. The newspaper said General Sun reported the encircled troops, numbering between 150,000 and 250,000 had eaten all of their horses and other animals and that hundreds of men were deserting General Tu.

This account was in contrast with the statement of government military spokesman Teng Wen-Yi who said General Sun and "some of his men" broke the encirclement and reached Hsinyang.

Clear weather today, despite the bitter cold, enabled planes to resume dropping food and supplies to General Tu. However, most military sources here expected Tu to surrender to the Reds within a few days.

An official government spokesman information director Shen Chang-Huan, said here today that the Communists had "neither formally or informally" replied to Chiang's bid for peace.

Asked if he considered a Red radio transmission which called Chiang's message a "trick to gain time" and official Communist reaction, Shen replied:

"I think that is only the comment of the reported of the Communist New China News agency. We do not deem it a reply either formal or informal."

Etheridge Adds Name To List Of Resignations

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—(AP)—At least four high appointive state officials had resigned today and speculation was high that others would follow soon in the wake of Gov. Kerr Scott's resignation.

The name of R. Bruce Etheridge, director of the Department of Conservation and Development, was added to the list of retiring state officials last night. A source close to Etheridge said the resignation would be effective at the end of the legislative session.

Just how many officials are stepping down could not be determined today as Raleigh dressed itself up for Scott's inauguration. It was no secret, however, that several other officials who supported State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson in last summer's bitter governor's race would follow suit.

Unfinished Business

President Truman Picks Up The New Deal Where It Was Dropped 10 Years Ago And Hands It To Congress; Examination Of His Message; Roosevelt Program

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—President Truman is picking up the New Deal where President Roosevelt dropped it 10 years ago.

With few exceptions, Mr. Truman's message to Congress goes straight back to Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal days and even beyond.

For that reason the most unusual thing about Mr. Truman's message was how little there was new in it.

The New Deal really lasted only five years, from 1933 to 1938. Then it was pretty well abandoned while the country prepared for war.

So Mr. Truman, as an examination of his message will show, apparently, considers the New Deal unfinished business.

Here, item by item, are points in the message:

Pre-paid medical insurance—President Hoover's medical committee in 1932 recommended this.

Bring more people under Social Security—The Social Security program was first set up under Roosevelt in 1935.

Low-rent public housing—Back in the early part of Roosevelt's Presidency the government built low-rent projects and later helped widely without direct building.

Civil Rights program, with a paid employment practices committee (EPC) an anti-lynching law, and an anti-poll tax law—Roosevelt wanted an FEPC. He said the government ought to suppress lynching. Bills to outlaw the poll tax have been in Congress 20 years.

St. Lawrence seaway and power project—Roosevelt wanted this as far back as 1934.

A new government department covering health, education and social security—Roosevelt proposed a social welfare department like that in 1937.

Department of Labor rebuilt and strengthened—Roosevelt asked for this in a special message to Congress in 1938.

Federal aid to education—Roosevelt's Democratic party had this in its platform when he was elected to a fourth term in 1944.

Strengthen our anti-trust laws—Roosevelt asked for this in a special message to Congress in 1938.

Priest supports for farmers—Government price helps to farmers in one way or another, were set up back in 1933.

Rural electrification should be expanded—The government set up the REA in 1935 to get electricity to the country's farms, and at cheap prices. Soil conservation act—Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal Congress in 1935

Cherry Ends Governorship With Many Achievements

Post-War Readjustment Period Highlighted By Record Of Departing Governor; Credited With Political Leadership

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Governor R. Gregg Cherry guided North Carolina in its post-war readjustment period during his administration which ended today.

Cherry took office in 1945 when several hundred thousand Tar Heels were away in the military services, and he kept a firm hand on the state's affairs during the unsettled days that marked the end of war and the transition to a peacetime economy.

During his term, he saw inflation carry state revenues to record-breaking heights, and as governor he laid down a program for handling the vast sums of money that poured into the state's coffers.

During the first legislature of his term, funds were set aside to retire the state's debt.

But Cherry himself lists as the "outstanding achievement of my administration" the improvement of the state's hospital for the insane.

Other accomplishments of the Cherry regime:

1. Increased support of the public schools with teachers' salaries increased by 38 percent.
2. A highway building program which saw the paving of 4,000 miles of road, 80 percent of which were secondary. Total spending on roads during the Cherry regime totaled $181,000,000.
3. A highway safety program calling for doubling of the State Highway Patrol, issuance of automobile drivers' licenses, and mandatory inspection of motor vehicles.

Cherry was a rarity among politicians in that he retained his composure during the controversy over President Truman's civil rights program. The governor had no sympathy with the movement that saw the rise of the States Rights Democratic party and its presidential candidate, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Working quietly, Cherry strove to minimize effects of the Democratic party revolt in North Carolina, and many politically-informed credit him that the States Rightists did not make serious inroads into the Tar Heel Democratic vote. Some even credit Cherry with saving North Carolina's electoral vote for President Truman.

'Socialism' Charged In Truman Proposal

Demo Leaders Shrug Off GOP Attacks And Upcoming Majority Leader In Senate Keynotes Hurry-Up Refrain

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Democratic leaders shrugged off Republican charges of "socialism" today as they opened a drive to rush the hulk of President Truman's tax-welfare-labor program through Congress.

With the idea that the first 100 days are the easiest, Administration lieutenants charted swift action. They intend to have some of the wide range of White House proposals ripening into final form about the time Mr. Truman takes the oath for a full four-year term January 20.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), the upcoming majority leader in the Senate, keynoted the hurry-up refrain. The Senate, Lucas said, "will proceed with all convenient speed."

Republicans saw threats of national bankruptcy in the Truman spending proposals. They blasted the President's idea for government-built steel plants as "socialism." They bemoaned his failure to ask for any savings in government costs.

The GOP will get another crack at this latter subject Monday when Mr. Truman submits to Congress a budget expected to reach $41,900,000,000 for the year beginning July 1.

But general congressional reaction indicated that Mr. Truman stands a good chance of getting many of the things he proposed yesterday in his personally-delivered State of the Union message.

Democratic leaders made it plain they intend to strike while the Truman popularity iron is hot. What troubles might arise as the months go on, no one professed to know.

Israel May Honor UN Cease Fire

Cabinet Meets; Ministers Said Ready To Accept Order

Tel Aviv, Israel, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Security Council order of Dec. 29 for an immediate cease fire in southern Palestine may be honored soon.

The Israeli cabinet met last night. A usually reliable private source said the ministers, whose troops have wound up a three-day invasion strike into Egypt, decided to accept the order.

It was understood the acceptance might be announced today. The timing and other details apparently would be fixed by United Nations truce observers.

Egypt cabled her acceptance to Lake Success Tuesday, subject to a like decision from Israel. Egyptian and Israeli troops have been fighting in the Negev desert and the southern Palestine coastal strip off and on since mid-October.

A government spokesman last night announced the Israeli thrust into Egypt. He said Jewish troops "in hot pursuit of the fleeing enemy," recently knifed to the Egyptian military base of El Arish, on the Mediterranean coast 30 miles below the Palestine frontier. He said they killed or wounded several hundred Egyptians, captured several hundred more or seized or destroyed several planes, field guns, gasoline and other stores. El Arish air fields were reported damaged heavily.

Introduce Bill To Limit Terms In White House

Legislation Limiting the Number of Terms a President of the United States May Serve Was Introduced in a Brief Session of the North Carolina House of Representatives today.

The bill would ratify a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America, already passed by the national House and Senate, which must be ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures before it becomes law. The measure would not allow any person to serve more than two terms of four years each. It also would prevent any person who served more than two years of one term from running for reelection more than once.

Two New State Senators Sworn

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Two new members of the State Senate were sworn in today as the Upper Chamber held a brief session.

The two sworn in were: J. Benton Thomas of Hoke and W. H. Crawford of Jackson.

They were elected in special elections to fill vacancies created by the death of Mrs. E. L. McKee of Jackson and the resignation because of illness of Ryan McBryde of Hoke.

County And City Schools To Benefit If Law Passes

Pitt County and Greenville may receive between $280,000 and $800,000 from the state for school construction if a bill introduced yesterday in the House of the General Assembly becomes law. D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools said today.

A bill introduced in the House yesterday by Representative John W. Unstead of Orange County proposes an emergency capital outlay of $50,000,000 from the state general fund surplus to meet immediate school needs in the state. Thirty-five per cent of the outlay is to be allotted to the counties on a per capita basis and the other 65 per cent is to be allotted to the counties according to the county's tax-paying ability and minimum building needs.

Conley estimated today the Pitt county school system has approximately 13 per cent of the school children and teachers in North Carolina, and that the Greenville city schools have another 3 per cent of the state's school children.

Representative Frank M. Kilpatrick of Pitt County was one of the signers of a second bill introduced by Unstead proposing a minimum salary of $2,400 for state teachers holding "A" certificates.

Over Million Gifts From France To U. S. People

Paris, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A train of 49 box cars loaded with more than 1,000,000 gifts from France to America left Paris today for Le Havre.

The cars will be loaded on the ship "Magellan," and will sail for New York Jan. 13.

U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, at the station to see the train off, hailed it as "a touching expression of Franco-American friendship."

The box cars will go to the District of Columbia. One will stay there and the others will fan out to each of the states, to be turned over to the 48 governors.

Each car bears a bronze plaque reading:

W. Kerr Scott Takes Oath Of Office In Raleigh Today

Scott Presents Progressive Program In Inaugural Talk

By NOEL YANCEY

Raleigh, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Governor Scott laid down a broad, comprehensive, 15-point program for his administration in his inaugural address today.

The governor, who spoke shortly after taking the oath of office, urged a revision in the "harsh" anti-closed shop law passed by the 1947 General Assembly, called for the legislature to approve a state-wide liquor referendum, and recommended a minimum salary of $2,400 a year for A-certificated school teachers.

In the field of labor legislation he also asked for "wage-hour legislation to remove discrimination as between business engaged in interstate commerce and business engaged solely in business within the state."

"I take office with what I believe to be a clear mandate from the people to carry out the pledges I have given," the new governor asserted as he urged the law-makers to cooperate in enacting his program.

Scott again called for a reorganization of the State Utilities Commission, and to maintain efficient state government, he said he would not hesitate to recommend "reorganization or even abolition of time-honored practices."

In calling for a rural road program "to enable every school bus to operate every day of the year," Scott said it may be necessary to "increase the gasoline tax" and to issue bonds.

He said the state's good health program should be pushed "as rapidly as our resources will permit." State hospitals for the mentally-ill should be made "adequate physically and staffed with properly-trained personnel" and old age benefits should be adjusted to meet rising costs of living.

Salaries of state employees should be increased, he said, to meet increased living costs and there should be "an equitable retroactive adjustment."

The sales tax on meals served in restaurants should be eliminated, he recommended.

Permanent improvements at state institutions authorized by the 1947 General Assembly should receive additional funds so they may be completed, but as for additional improvements, "it is my belief that money we invest in better roads and in better schools and in better

New Governors Sworn In By Chief Justice Stacy; Other Officials Take Oath Of Office; Weather Smiles On Inaugural Parade And Watching Crowds

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—William Kerr Scott, the 52-year-old Alamance county dairy farmer and former commissioner of Agriculture, was sworn in today as North Carolina's 90th Governor.

Scott repeated the oath of office in a firm, loud voice as it was administered to him by Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the state Supreme Court.

Solemnly, the 52-year-old Scott promised to carry out his duties as Governor.

He was presented by outgoing Governor R. Gregg Cherry.

Immediately after taking the oath, Scott launched into his inaugural address in which he laid down a 15-point program for his administration.

Other state officials took the oath of office before Scott. They were ranked in the order in which their jobs were created with the new government.

Cherry and Scott rode together in the inaugural ceremony held in Raleigh's Memorial auditorium at the head of a 15-car motorcade.

The procession of automobiles followed a parade of some 3,600, including regular army units, National Guard units, the N. C. State College ROTC regiment and many bands.

The weather which had been threatening after an all-night rain lifted before the parade began and a bright sun shone through the clouds on the marchers and on the huge crowds who lined sidewalks along the line of march.

The 1948 General Assembly, which convened yesterday, gathered in a joint session at the auditorium. Hundreds of just plain citizens also attended the ceremony.

Top man in the gathering of notable—A 62-year-old dairy farmer who wants everybody to keep in mind he is a farmer—Scott came to the Governorship through a rugged, colorful campaign that took him to victory in a field of six, sweeping the Democratic nomination in April.

After he defeated State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson, leader in the first primary, in a slam-bang runoff vote, Scott won a tremendous vote of approval from voters of traditionally Democratic North Carolina in November's general election.

The oath-taking by the new Governor was saved for the last on the program. The other officials, called up by rank according to dates when the offices were created and starting at the bottom of the list:

Insurance commissioner William P. Hodges, Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, Attorney General Harry McMullan, Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde Hodges, Treasurer Brandon P. Erwin, Auditor Henry L. Bridges, Secretary of State Thad Eure, and Lieutenant Governor Pat Taylor.

At that point, tradition called for Taylor to take the gavel of presiding officer and recognize Governor Cherry.

After the dissolving of the joint session, a second march for the paraders was in review before Governors Scott and Cherry and their official party.

The inaugural program also included a luncheon, a reception at the Governor's mansion this evening, and the inaugural ball.

Delivery of his inaugural address was scheduled as Scott's first official act.

Action Delayed

Raleigh, N.C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Final action on a compromise on the controversial "gas rule" was postponed in the House of Representatives today.

The House Rules Committee yesterday decided to recommend to the House rules which would modify that rule.

At today's session, however, Rep. R. L. Harris of Person announced the committee's report was not ready and would be presented tomorrow.

Southerners Will Fight Proposals

Truman's Call For Civil Rights Leaves Them 'Unmoved'

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Southern Democrats served notice today they are ready to fight President Truman's civil rights program in the 81st Congress.

Their leaders said they were unmoved by the President's call for civil rights legislation in his State of the Union message to Congress yesterday.

Mr. Truman's proposals for an anti-poll tax bill, an anti-lynching bill and a Fair Employment Practices Act already are heading for a showdown vote expected soon.

The test of strength will be on a rules change designed to wipe out the Senate's ancient practice of filibustering. This is the practice of killing a bill by non-stop talking.

Southern Democrats have used the filibuster for years to block civil rights legislation—and they say they will fight any move to take this weapon from them.

"The purpose of the rules change," said Senator Ellender (D-La.), "is directed at enacting a civil rights program. That's the sole reason for it. And I'm going to oppose it because of that."

Senator Hill (D-Ala.) said he could go along with Mr. Truman on most of his proposals—but "I can't go along with him on the civil rights issue."

Hill said he will fight any move to end the right of unlimited debate as an abridgment of free speech.

The plant is in Bochum, 30 miles northeast of Dusseldorf.

Early this week a group of workers formed a human wall around a machine and turned back two British officers and some Germans who sought to start the dismantling process.

Has Recipe For A Longer Life

Esher, Eng. Jan. 6.—(P)—Dr. Maurice Ernest, a biologist who has studied longevity for 46 years, said today people ought to live to be 200 years old. He aims to do it. He has 123 years to go.

Five times as many women as men want to live to be 100 or older, he said, arguing that "most men believe in a short life and a merry one."

His recipe for attaining old age is "moderation in everything and a placid temperament."

Bids Opened For Farmville School

No Contracts Let; Bids Well Above Anticipated Sum

Farmville, Jan. 6.—Bids were opened and tabulated, but no contracts were let by the Farmville school board this week for the construction of an 18-room Negro school. Low bids, on the building totaled $181,334, more than 20 per cent above the amount set proposed by the school district for the proposed building.

Members of the school board refused to award a contract for the construction of the building until plans can be revised to bring the construction costs within the $150,000 provided for the school in a bond issue approved on October 18, 1947, or additional funds can be secured for the program. Indications are that the awarding of the contract may be delayed until action is taken on a school construction act bill now pending in the General Assembly.

Superintendent of County Schools D. H. Conley said bonds approved for the building are expected to be sold this month.

Low bids received on the project were: general contract, P. S. West Construction Company, $152,000; electrical, Dick's Electric Service, $5,390; heating, Mashburn Plumbing and Heating, $14,438; plumbing, Mashburn Plumbing and Heating, $8,908.

Leader In The East

Destiny May Have Marked Nehru For Great Things In Asia; Likely To Play Vital Role In World Affairs; An Asiatic Bloc; Opponent Of Imperialism

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

This is to draw your attention to a personality whom every Democratic government should be intensively studying and cultivating: Nehru of India.

You know Jawaharlal Nehru as first citizen and Prime Minister of his vast country with its population of three hundred million. That in itself places him among the outstanding leaders of our time. But destiny seems to have marked him for greater things.

As the signs read Nehru is likely to play a vital role in the molding of world affairs in the immediate critical years. For in his slim, expressive hands may lie the future of much of a teeming Asia which is just beginning to realize its giant strength.

Let's put it another way. Nehru bids fair to acquire leadership of an Asiatic bloc whose friendship the western world must have for the sake of global peace and well-being. The alternative ultimately would be that nightmare of diplomats—an East-West conflict.

Having been educated in England's Harrow and Cambridge University, young Nehru returned to India and took up law. Shortly, however, he became interested in the struggle for independence and joined it whole-heartedly. It was at this time

The Sans Souci Book Club held its first meeting of the New Year Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. L. Hall at her home on West Fourth Street. Fifteen club members were present and three guests Miss Lilah Gault, Miss Marina Thomas of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. E. W. Hellen. Mrs. W. I. Wooten, club president, presided, welcomed members and guests, and in her New Year's message on the "State of the Club," was very complimentary in her remarks on the attendance and participation of the members in 1948 and asked for the same fine club spirit in 1949. The club accepted their quota of tickets to the March of Dimes literary lecture on January 18th. Mrs. F. J. Forbes, chairman of the Program Committee, presented Mrs. George Woodward, program leader for the afternoon, who in turn presented Miss Lilah Gault, associate professor of Home Economics at East Carolina Teachers College as guest speaker.

Miss Gault chose for her subject "Textiles." Putting her group at ease and in a charming and most informal manner told the thrilling story of the history and development of fibers from the time before Christ to the immediate present. Twenty years was consumed in progressing from the mercerizing of cotton fibers to the development of rayon and nylon. Rapid and unbelievable progress has been made in the last ten years. She took her listeners behind the scenes of the big chemical factories such as DuPont and Dow and others and told briefly the chemical analysis of some of the synthetic fibers and passed around samples of the unusual and exciting new textiles being developed from catalis milk, chicken feathers, milk-wed, glass, redwood trees and aluminum foil. After this illuminating and fascinating discussion of fiber products and their derivatives she spoke of the experimental work going on to perfect flame-proofing, water-proofing, methproofing, shrinkage and crease-proofing. She familiarized the group with such new words as ZELAN, BOCONIZE, to add to the word Sanforize. There seems to be no limit to textile research and Miss Gault produced in her listeners the same feeling of wonderment and awe each had felt in hearing the fairy tales of their youth. She concluded her talk with the statement, we have all of this and still there is nothing to surpass the exquisite workmanship and beauty of the handmade arts and crafts. To prove her point she displayed a fragile and delicately beautiful chiffon blouse recently arriving in this country as a gift to her house guest, Miss Thomas, which blouse was made by a French needlewoman—every tuck, every stitch, every tiny seam perfect in its workmanship.

Books were passed and Mrs. Hall assisted by Mrs. Earl Hellen served a delicious supper plate with fruit cake and coffee.

Round Table Meets With Mrs. D. L. Moore

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. D. L. Moore delightfully entertained the Round Table Club, having as additional guests Mesdames H. C. Sugg and E. C. Davis.
The president, Mrs. E. R. Brown, presided over a brief business session, after which the program chairman presented Mrs. W. C. Vincent, leader of the afternoon, who reviewed the book which received this year's Mayflower Award. "The Development of Southern Sectionalism, 1819-1848."

In introducing her subject and discussing the winner of the Mayflower Award, Mrs. Vincent gave comments on several most interesting and instructive clippings concerning writing and living in North Carolina, the recent meetings of the North Carolina Cultural Societies and awards presented by them. One of these annual awards is the Mayflower Cup which goes to the North Carolina author whose book is adjudged the best written in the previous twelve months. Mrs. Vincent advised that on December 3, 1948, Dr. Charles S. Sydnor of Duke University was awarded the Mayflower Cup for the book under discussion, "The Development of Southern Sectionalism, 1819-1848." It is Volume V in a ten volume History of the South, which is being published in connection with the Littlefield Fund for Southern History at the University of Texas. Each volume is being written by an outstanding historian and, so far, only Volumes VIII and V have been published. This award to a book of non-fiction has met with general approval in academic circles. While too few copies have found their way into the hands of the reading public for it to arouse much interest with the people as a whole, it is a thoughtful and significant book, worthy of the award.
News items were given by Mrs. E. E. Rawl and the pronunciation referee's report by Mrs. Milton White. Books were exchanged.
The hostess served a delicious sweet course with coffee.

Mrs. Lee Hostess To Athenium Club

Mrs. W. W. Lee was hostess to the Athenium Book Club on Tuesday at her home. The members and guests were served a two course luncheon at beautifully appointed tables.
Mrs. J. K. Proctor, president, extended New Year's greetings and urged all to attend the program being given by Dick Fisher, a former Greenville educational instructor, on Jan. 18 at East Carolina Teachers College. Mrs. J. J. White reported that her committee had given warmth and cheer to two needy families during the Christmas season and would continue to care for them throughout the year.
Mrs. Lee presented Mr. Robert Lee Humber as guest speaker. Mr. Humber spoke on the "Development of Civilization." He compared civilization with a valuable piece of tapestry that has been woven throughout the centuries, each nation having made a definite contribution. The challenging question was asked, "In years hence, what will historians write up as America's contribution?" We are the custodians and should assume the task of making the world level for all the heritage.
The guests adding much to the pleasure of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Humber, Mrs. J. D. Messick, Mrs. Luther Moore and Mrs. C. H. Richardson of Washington, N.C.

Gay-Hunsucker Vows Spoken In Winterville

Winterville. — Miss Annie Sue Hunsucker of Winterville and Benjamin Franklin Gay of Walstonburg were united in marriage in a candle-light ceremony in the Winterville Baptist Church Sunday, December 26, at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Edward G. Cole, pastor of the bride, officiated in the presence of members of the immediate families.

The wedding music was presented by Mrs. Roy T. Cox, aunt of the bride, organist, and Miss Mamie McLawhorn, soloist. Miss McLawhorn sang "At Dawning" and "Because." During the ceremony "To a Wild Rose" was played softly.

Fred Shackelford, nephew of the groom, and Paul Hunsucker, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The couple entered together, unattended. For her wedding, the bride had chosen a Skipper blue gabardine suit with which she wore navy accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Hunsucker, mother of the bride, wore a wine dress and matching hat and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Katie Shackelford, sister of the groom, wore a black dress, matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip to unannounced points. Upon their return, they will be at home in Walstonburg.

Mrs. Gay is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Hugh Hunsucker and the late Mr. Hunsucker. She graduated from East Carolina Teachers College and for the past several years has taught in the Walstonburg School.

Wildlife Club Will Have Supper Meet Next Tuesday Night

By CHESTER WALSH

Dr. Willis King, chief of the fisheries division of the North Carolina Wildlife Association, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Pitt County Chapter of the association at the Olde Towne Inn next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. President Jesse R. Moye will preside. Dr. King is an interesting speaker, has a fine sense of humor and is one of the state's most ardent supporters of the wildlife and fish conservation plan, Moye said.

Members of the Wildlife Chapter and all hunters and fishermen who are interested in the conservation plan are invited to attend the meeting. The supper will be "dutch" treat at $1.25 per plate. Those who plan to attend should notify Johnny Overton, secretary-treasurer, at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company before noon next Tuesday.

The Pitt County Wildlife Chapter is doing a wonderful work to promote the conservation program. Its officers and members have been especially active in developing between hunters and fishermen a more cordial and understanding agreement with farmers and encouraging hunters and fishermen to respect the farmers' and landowners' rights.

Will Bury Soldier Friday Afternoon

The body of 2d Lt. William T. Dall, 21, who was killed in action in France on August 4, 1944, will arrive in Greenville late Thursday afternoon and will remain at Wilkerson & Sons' Funeral Home until the hour of burial.

Graveside services will be held in the Winterville cemetery Friday at 2:30 p. m. by Dr. H. G. Haney, Christian minister of Greenville.

Lt. Dall was born in Ayden. He spent most of his youth in Greenville, graduating from the high school in 1942. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps in March, 1943, receiving his commission as a pilot in February, 1944, at Pampa Field, Texas. He was sent overseas in June.

Cold Front Will End Brief Spell Mild Weather

By The Associated Press

A cold front moving in from the Northwest is scheduled to end the brief spell of mild but wet weather in North and South Carolina tonight.

Temperatures were expected to drop to subfreezing levels in Western and Central North Carolina and Northwestern South Carolina during the night, and slightly above freezing in the other sections.

However, the forecast also predicted dry weather for both states most of today, tonight and tomorrow.

Low temperatures in North Carolina tonight will range between 25 and 30 degrees in the western and central sections, and 30 to 34 in the extreme eastern part of the state.

ACCIDENT OR DESIGN?
The Chinese have no alphabet. Instead, they inscribe characters which mean words, and these characters are many thousands in number.

The character meaning "righteousness" consists in the picture of a lamb, and beneath it the character meaning "I myself." The lamb above me—that for the Chinese means righteousness.

Was it coincidence or by design that it happened this way? When John the Baptist first looked upon Jesus he said, "Behold the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Basic to Christian belief is the conviction that Christ is the divine sacrifice offered up in our behalf, through whose death we receive life.

Hundreds of years before Christ lived, the Chinese worked out a character meaning "righteousness." Righteousness, they said in effect, is the lamb placed above me. Certainly we say the same, for the only righteousness worth having either for the world at large or for individuals is the righteousness which Christ has conferred. When the Lamb of God is over our lives, then indeed do we have a variety of righteousness worthy of the name.

A PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM FOR A PROGRESSIVE STATE

Governor Kerr Scott today outlined an ambitious and comprehensive program for North Carolina during the next four years under his administration. His program follows almost point for point the objectives set forth in his campaign of the spring primary.

Scott's program, as outlined in his inaugural address, calls for broad improvements in state educational and medical institutions, and a general "betterment of the people" policy to be followed by the administration. The program is one of the most progressive, most down-to-earth programs outlined by a governor in North Carolina in a long time. It will mean much to North Carolina if properly carried out.

From all indications, the program is based on the fundamental needs of most of the people of the state at the present time—better roads, extended utilities, better schools and teachers, better institutions for mentally ill persons, better medical care, wage equalization and better labor-management balances in the state.

Such a program will cost the state a great deal of money, but it will be money well spent if administered with wisdom and foresightedness. The program will be altered in many respects, and toned down at numerous points as it passes through legislative channels, but the policies outlined by Governor Scott demand progress where progress is sorely needed in North Carolina.

vehicles bureau. When the lanes became congested early last fall additional temporary help was employed, which by December amounted to some 60 persons. Anticipating that work would slack up after the rush to meet the year-end deadline, the personnel division of the bureau required curtailment of personnel. This meant that lanes which had seven attendants were reduced to five or six. The division now has about 230 employees, reduced from approximately 300 during December.

LET-UP—The anticipated drop in business did not occur. Many cars which were required under department rules to take the inspection before December 31, 1948, failed to meet the deadline and they are now congesting the lanes. Furthermore, the schedule of inspection for 1949 calls for certain models to be checked during January. As a result, the lanes have been jammed almost as badly this week as they were during the last days of 1948.

CHANGE?—There is considerable sentiment for amending the inspection law so as to require only one inspection a year instead of two. At present the division is operating under the present statute which requires that every motor vehicle be inspected twice during 1949. Car owners are governed by the same law, and many motorists are trying to get their vehicles through the lanes early to avoid the late jam.

This has, somewhat paradoxically, created a jam early in the period. Joe Garrett, assistant commissioner of motor vehicles, said Wednesday if the demand continues many of the temporarily laid-off workers will have to be recalled. Meantime, if the law is changed to one inspection this year the early arrivals will have something to be thankful for.

JAUNT—There is possibility that custom followed by several pre-war legislatures will be revived this year and at least one formal session of the body be held outside of the capital city. Suggestion that the 1949 assembly visit the mountains is gaining some interest. The idea was first mentioned as a gag when a group of members were talking about whether they could take time out from legislative duties to attend the state farm Bureau meeting in Asheville during February.

PRECEDENT—There is precedent for outside meetings. From 1798 until 1897 the general assembly held every official meeting in Raleigh. That year it went to Edenton for a day. In 1839 one day session was held in Charlotte. Prior to that time the assembly had never convened west of Hillsboro. The 1941 assembly went to Elizabeth City for one meeting. During the war no long trips were taken and no sessions held outside the capitol building, although members did make brief inspection tours of Fort Bragg and Chapel Hill. Then in the summer of 1945 the state senate held an informal, unofficial get-together at Hendersonville. But no authoritative session has been held outside the capitol building since 1941, and none has ever been held west of Charlotte.

CRITICISM—The pre-war jaunts of the general assembly attracted considerable criticism. They were also vigorously defended by some leaders who felt that wider knowledge of the state gained by the mass pilgrimage was of value in formulating appropriate legislation. Majority of the legislators have traveled over the state, but a few have never seen the mountains and some have never seen the country east of Raleigh. The idea for a 1949 trip has not begun to crystallize, but a few members are thinking about it.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The fat man finished his meal in the small restaurant, then stood stolidly in line at the cashier's counter to pay his check.

He forked a crumpled $5 from his pocket and tossed it to the woman. She was a skinny, tired woman of middle age—the wife of the restaurant owner.

"Dollar ten," she said in a flat monotone. She counted some bills, and the fat man absentmindedly crumpled them into his paw.

"Night," he said.

"Good night," she answered, leaving off the adjective. It is thus that harassed people unconsciously criticize life.

Outside, the fat man counted the money. With kindling excitement he realized that the woman had given him change for a $20 bill instead of a $5.

"Well, well," he said pleased. He put his hand in his pocket and walked along slowly, fingering the bills and jingling the coins.

"Let's see," he thought, "I can buy three shirts, some socks, some—". He came to a bar and went in. He started to order his usual beer—the beer that explained his belly—and then changed his mind and called for a highball.

He bought a fifteen-cent cigar and strolled over and put a nickel in the juke box. Highball in hand, cigar in mouth, he stood and listened to an old tune about somebody saying he couldn't give somebody anything else but love, baby.

And right in the middle of the fat man's pleasure a face came into his mind—the face of a mousey woman cashier with glaring dyed hair, a weary face too scant of flesh to fill the wrinkles under her eyes.

"Oh, well," he grumbled.

Three minutes later the door of the restaurant opened and in came the fat man. The tables were almost deserted, but there was still a line at the counter.

The fat man stomped over to the cashier, half-angrily, half-defensively, he began:

"You—"

But the cashier said:

"You'll have to go to the end of the line."

"I like that," said the fat man. But he went. When his turn came, he began again:

"I was here a little while ago, and you made a mistake in the change."

The cashier stiffened immediately.

"I'm sorry, you're supposed to counter," she said.

Her husband, who had been stacking cigars in the case, straightened up.

"That's right, Mac," he said. "Once you leave the counter—it's your funeral."

The fat man indignantly slapped the wadded bills and coins on the glass counter.

"What I'm trying to tell you is you gave me change for a $20 instead of a $5."

The husband's face hardened as he turned to his wife.

"How the devil did you do that?" "Honey," she said, and fear came into her eyes.

"How could you mistake a $20 for a $5," said her husband. "It's bad enough to be dumb. Do you have to be blind, too?"

"Honey," she pleaded.

Neither of them paid any attention to the fat man. He hesitated a moment, then went back out the door.

"I wonder what the Good Samaritan would have done if he came to a second guy in a ditch," he brooded. "Would he have helped him, too?"

But he really knew the answer.

Elected Secretary Of Canterbury Clubs

Leslie Homan of Wilmington, student at East Carolina Teachers College, was elected secretary of the Canterbury clubs of the Fourth Province of the Episcopal Church at a meeting held during the Christmas holidays near Chattanooga, Tenn.

The conference brought together student representatives from colleges and universities in a number of Southern states.

Miss Homan, a sophomore at East Carolina, is specializing in English and business education. During the four quarters she has spent at the college, she has been active in student work in St. Paul's Episcopal church of Greenville.

Other students from East Carolina who attended the provincial convention during the holidays are Alexander Livesey, Rocky Mount; Gordon Lindexter, Warrenton; Carl Anderson, Elizabeth City; Charles J. Howard, Wilkesboro; and Margie Gray Dunn, Williamston.

Strength FOR THE DAY

ACCIDENT OR DESIGN?
The Chinese have no alphabet. Instead, they inscribe characters which mean words, and these characters are many thousands in number.

The character meaning "righteousness" consists in the picture of a lamb, and beneath it the character meaning "I myself." The lamb above me—that for the Chinese means righteousness.

Was it coincidence or by design that it happened this way? When John the Baptist first looked upon Jesus he said, "Behold the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Basic to Christian belief is the conviction that Christ is the divine sacrifice offered up in our behalf, through whose death we receive life.

Hundreds of years before Christ lived, the Chinese worked out a character meaning "righteousness." Righteousness, they said in effect, is the lamb placed above me. Certainly we say the same, for the only righteousness worth having either for the world at large or for individuals is the righteousness which Christ has conferred. When the Lamb of God is over our lives, then indeed do we have a variety of righteousness worthy of the name.

that recommendations may be made to the next General Assembly with respect to the advisability of establishing a system of junior colleges with facilities for affording vocational education.

Health—The good health program should be pushed "as rapidly as our resources will permit. I would guard only against any phase of this health program being over-emphasized at the expense of another." The four-year medical school at Chapel Hill "is an integral part of the program, but it cannot fulfill its mission without correlated development of rural hospitals and clinics. x x x"

There is no question as to the need of a dental school and "the proposal to build one deserves serious consideration."

Hospitals for mentally ill "must be made adequate physically and staffed with properly trained personnel. x x x"

State workers—"We should now raise these salaries with a view to compensating for increased living costs with an equitable retro-active adjustment."

Duties of personnel administration should be removed from the Budget Commission and turned over to a new personnel division "under the direction of a specialist in this field."

Welfare—"Our old age benefits should be adjusted in line with living costs and our relief standard generally should be brought up at least to the national average. x x x"

Prisons—"There must be greater emphasis upon returning prisoners to useful places in society, and to this end we should look critically at our system of prison administration and parole and probation."

Public utilities—Rural areas need electric power and telephones and there are sections where "industry is being throttled because it cannot get electric power on terms that will enable it to compete with similar industries elsewhere."

State utilities laws need over-hauling. The "Utilities Commission needs to be reorganized and supplied with the services of experts x x x."

State examining and licensing boards—"We should go slow in creating new boards and scrutinize every such board already in existence where there is the slightest indication that it is serving special privilege and restricting opportunity."

Veterans—"A great many veterans say that 'the best bonus their state can grant them is better government and improved public services that will bring about better living conditions x x x. That, also is my belief.'"

Elections—"Our elections laws are in some respects archaic. x x x the time has come for us to seriously consider the use of mechanical devices x x x in our elections."

Business and industry—"We can increase our attraction to industry by broadening our supply of competent labor through better training schools and communications x x x. Tax structures are important, x x x but even more important x x x is the supply of labor and natural resources."

Local government—"A survey should be made to determine proper taxation fields for state and local government. 'I have suggested the surrender by the state of a limited portion of the tax field; wherein revenue now is derived from business licenses without state supervision. x x x I am recommending also that the road maintenance funds allocated to city streets be doubled.'"

A legislative sub-committee should be set up to study demands for aid of local government.

Federal cooperation—"The state should 'take full advantage' of federal funds for 'our road, school, health and other programs.'"

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin
from the Rector Kitchens

When you want to make a little meat go a long way, try Wilson's pork sausage meat in a Pork Sausage-Noodle Platter. It extends nicely both in link and patty style, because it is the peer of all pork sausage, made from all pure pork—no cereal or water added.

Super Delicious Eating

In Pork Sausage-Noodle Platter one pound of Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage (in handy one-pound rolls . . . links, or Country Style) is extended to serve five with delectable eating. It's a recipe that may be cooked ahead of time (even the day before if you choose).

Low Cost Meals of Merit

You'll note we've cut up some of the links to spread full flavor throughout the tasty mixture and the other sausages are left whole for their appetite and garnish appeal. For stretching your meat dollars with tasty meat flavor, make sausage a breakfast, lunch and dinner habit but be sure it's Wilson's Certified.

Tasty Pork Sausage-Noodle Platter
Heat to a rapid bubbling boil:
1 1/2 qts. water and 1 teaspoon salt
Then stir in:
4 ounces medium width egg noodles
Boil ten minutes. Meanwhile brown in a large skillet with stirring:
2 tablespoons flour
1 lb. Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage links or patties (leave six whole for garnish and cut up the rest). Add:
1 good-sized onion, minced
Stir the meat occasionally as it browns well on all sides. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat. When browned add:
1 can condensed tomato soup, undiluted and
1/4 teaspoon pepper. . . pile the noodles with their cooking liquor.
Simmer (never boil) until cooked down to desired thickness. This takes about one hour and gives the pork the thorough cooking that it needs. If you turn the heat very low (almost out) it can cook unwatched, but for an occasional stirring. Serve hot garnished with the whole browned sausage reserved for that purpose.
Serve with crispy, crunchy hot biscuits 'n' honey, green's salad and a colorful green or yellow vegetable for a low cost meal of real merit.

The Wilson label protects your table.

Pirates Hit The Road For Weekend Tilts In Virginia

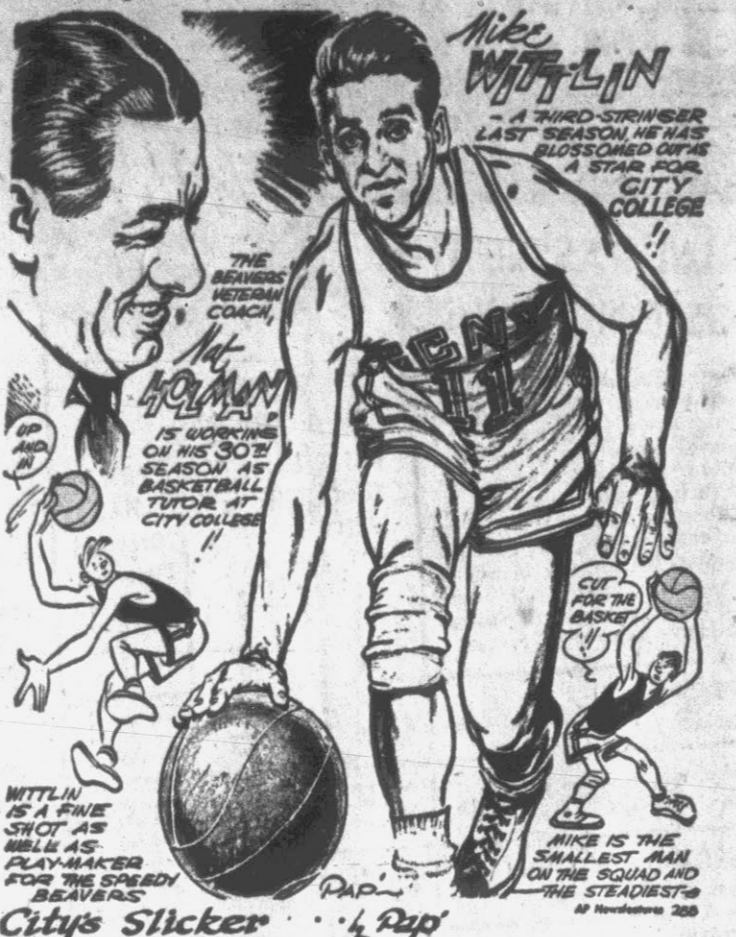

By EUGENE PRICE
Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina Teachers College Pirate basketball team will hit the road for the two-game road trip. Both opponents have already felt the sting of defeat at the hands of Porter's potent Pirates quintet. The game on the docket for the 1949 season will be against the Virginia Tech team on Friday and the University of Lynchburg on Saturday. Though the Pirates have won both previous contests, all followers here predict two tough contests for the Pirates. Both opponents outscored Coach Porter's boys in the second half of each game and in both cases it was the first half advantage which gave the locals victories. One thing Coach Porter and his boys are hoping to have lost is their out-of-town game. Jim. The locals are yet to win a contest on an opponent's court and have not lost one on the ECTC hard wood.

The Bucs are being sent through heavy drills this week in an effort to get in top shape for the two weekend games. They do not play another game on the local court until January 18 when they play host to Catawba's North State Conference team. Catawba defeated the locals in their first meeting.

Philadelphia's Eagles For Sale

Philadelphia, Jan. 6—(AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, who lost $32,000 for Owner Alexis Thompson in winning the National Football League championship last season, are definitely up for sale. Thompson, disclosing this yesterday in New York, said the price tag is no less than $250,000 and no higher than $300,000. General Manager Charles Ewart was authorized to negotiate with prospective buyers.

Sport Slants by Pap

In this, his 30th season as head coach of basket- at City College, Nat Holman had hoped to come up with something special in the way of a court team. But even before the current season got underway it was obvious that the veteran coach would have to settle for a "good" team instead of a "great" one. The Beavers' "big man" Mason Benson, 6-5 suffered a fracture of the ankle in a pre-season scrimmage against Seton Hall and could be of little help the first half of the season. Although seriously missing Benson in the early games, the Beavers still had more height than usual. However, speed again is City's long suit.

The smallest man on the team, 5-10 Mike Wittlin, has blossomed out into a real star. Little Mike who was a third stringer last season, stepped up to take charge of the team on the floor and his able play-making has been a boon to the Beaver. Wittlin handles the ball beautifully and shoots feathery lay-up and long range set shots. Coach Holman is might high on Wittlin and more and more is leaning on the little fellow when games approach the crucial stage. Fast and elusive, Mike is a great spot player. Found for pound Wittlin has developed into one of the finest basketball players in the Metropolitan New York district.

Green Phantoms In Conference Debut Here On Friday Evening

Play Edenton; "In Good Shape," Says Farley; Junior Phantoms Praised By Coach

The 1949 edition on the Greenville High School Phantoms will make their Northeastern conference debut here Friday night when they play the Edenton Aces in the loop curtain raiser. Losers in four non-conference tilts this season, the Phantoms will be, in the opinion of Coach Boley Farley, "an even match for the Edenton boys."

All the losses suffered by the local outfit were to Class AA ball clubs. "We're in good shape for the opener," Farley pointed out last night. He views the game as a tossup. "Last year we had a better record than Edenton but we lost some of our best boys whereas the Chowan club still has its last years team," he explained. Possibly the only Greenville boy who will be hampered by injuries in the conference opener is Jimmy Cox. The flashy guard has an ankle injury and it is problematical whether or not he will start the game. Though he was in doubt as to the possible outcome of the varsity game, Farley is taking an optimistic view of the Greenville-Edenton Javee game which gets underway at 6:30. The Junior Phantoms have broken even in four games with Junior clubs of Class AA teams. The local Jayvees defeated Raleigh and Wilson. The two games they lost were lost in the last few minutes of play after the locals had led throughout. Farley would not predict a win for his Juniors but acknowledged that his boys were "mighty good."

Boxers Prep For Friday's Tourney

The ECTC boxing team, working this week to get ready for the elimination tournament Friday night, is "looking pretty good," according to Coach Jim Johnson who maintains that his boys were just not ready to fight when they lost a match at Charlotte two weeks ago. "We haven't completed the program for the Friday evening yet but I can assure the fans that we'll have some highly good fights," Johnson promised yesterday. Proceeds taken in at the smoker will go toward the Pitt County Folio campaign. Winners in the event will represent ECTC in their match with the Winston-Salem YMCA Saturday night, Jan. 15. Included in the evening program will be two wrestling matches put on by members of Johnson's wrestling class. Johnny Long, professional boxer of note and assisting Johnson with the ECTC team, has been working out with some of the school boxers this week to give them a few pointers he gained in his professional career. Long explained last night that most of the boys will be pretty evenly matched and that "they are anxious to show their wares before the home folks." The complete program will be released in tomorrow's edition of the Daily Reflector.

Judges Paid

Tokyo, Jan. 6—(AP)—Three Japanese jockeys at nearby Urawa Track "fixed" a race yesterday, but the judges paid the penalty. After the race, in which the six horses displayed extraordinary variations from their proved form, about 10,000 wild-eyed spectators mobbed the judges stand, yelling "take." Belligerent bettors blasted the stand with stones, breaking windows and bruising the officials. Battered and trembling, the judges called off the race, ordered bets returned and suspended three of the six jockeys.

T-Of-C Invades New York Area

New York, Jan. 6—(AP)—The Tournament of Champions is moving into New York to challenge the ring promoting supremacy of the twentieth century sporting club. The young T-Of-C, which has been holding its big shows in New Jersey for lack of a suitable New York arena, announced yesterday it has taken a lease on Manhattan Center.

Everybody Joins Ringside Fight Over Decision

Jersey City, N.J., Jan. 6—(AP)—Fighters, seconds, managers and spectators milled in a free-for-all last night at Jersey City Garden when Mike De Cosmo, Elizabeth scored a seventh round TKO over Tony Riccio, Bayonne. The official verdict in the scheduled nine-round bout touched off the melee. Riccio, 148, lunged from his corner to swing at De Cosmo, 144½. Seconds and managers jumped into the ring. A score of spectators joined them. Fights broke out at the ringside. A dozen policemen restored order. No one was injured. Riccio told reporters later that De Cosmo had butted him with his head in the fifth round, opening a severe cut over one eye.

Guardsmen Take Bellarthur team

J. T. Williams and Sellers, two mighty forwards, led the Greenville National Guard basketball team to a 63 to 48 victory last night over underdog Bellarthur. It was the fifth Tobacco Belt Conference win for the Guardsmen who are crowding the Richlands All-Stars for top place in loop standing. The boys from Bellarthur gave the locals a hard fight all the way and it was nip and tuck until late in the game when the Guardsmen began edging further out in front. C. Nichols led the Bellarthur team in scoring with 13 points. J. T. Williams was high scorer of the evening with 21 points for Greenville. Sellers followed with 17. A return game will be played at Bellarthur Friday night.

Stanky To Open Baseball School

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 6—(AP)—Eddie Stanky, Boston Braves second sacker, will open his annual free baseball school here Jan. 19. Stanky, who had a recent operation for removal of bone fragments from his right ankle, said he had delayed plans for his school until he was certain the ankle was mending. He discarded his crutches several days ago, but has been limiting his exercise to short walks. In the past four years, 11 National League baseball managers have either resigned or been fired.

Mathias Named Leading Amateur

New York, Jan. 6—(AP)—Bob Mathias' thrilling victory over the world's greatest all-around athletes in the Deathan event of the Olympic games last summer has won for the Tulare, Calif., youth the 1948 James E. Sullivan trophy as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete. Of 525 sports leaders who participated in the annual poll conducted by the amateur athletic association, 201 voted for the 17-year-old Marvel who outran, outjumped and out threw them all in the trying 10-event classic at London.

Coming JAN. 22 New Chevrolet for 49 Tested and Proved... on the world's toughest Proving Ground

WHEN you see the 1949 Chevrolets, a glance will be enough to tell you they're new—all new—in line and contour, in beauty and style. And when you look inside, and under the hood, and beneath the chassis, you'll see that their newness is not merely in outward appearance, but in design and engineering and construction as well. But, to a lot of people, the 1949 Chevrolet is already old. They know what it will do, and how exceedingly well it will do it—they know all about its performance, its comfort, its power, safety, durability and economy. They are the engineers and technicians of the General Motors Proving Ground—the largest, most completely equipped, outdoor testing laboratory in the automobile world.

Here, before a single new 1949 Chevrolet went into production, experimental models were tested—made to show that they possess, in greater measure than ever, all those qualities on which Chevrolet has built its leadership.

In short, the General Motors Proving Ground tests are your assurance that your new-model Chevrolet has proved its worth through many months and many, many thousands of miles of rough handling.

Soon you will see the new Chevrolet—and when you do, you will see a car not only new, but tried and true.

Murder Gets Along

BY ROBERT SIDNEY BOWEN

Chapter 31
Zara wouldn't answer. She would only smile; really turning it on when she switched her eyes from me to Bierman.
"Goodbye, sweet Maurice!" I mocked her. "But you slipped again. The tide wasn't going out, so it didn't take him down to the Narrows where he'd maybe be picked up but completely unrecognizable. The tide was coming in, and it took Gardeur upstream to Ninety-sixth Street where Lieutenant Bierman's boys fished him out. When you found that out from me you were really in a dither. And when I dropped the name Herbert Varney, you really were stunned. How did I find out about Herbert Varney? That's what you wondered, didn't you? And as you had to say something in front of Barone and Parkus and me, too, you cooked up that one about Parrish being the villain. It stank, baby. Way up to high heaven. So you gave Barone and Parkus the rush because you wanted to work on me. But you couldn't throw any strikes past me, so you threw me out again. This time you really had to do a Garbo and think!"

I gave her a chance to say something. But it was still just the smile, a trifle stiffer. Anyway, the lady didn't want to say anything.
"You came up with the grand idea," I went on. "When murder gets really rolling, it's hard to stop. Gerry Barnes had to join Rene and Maurice. You got Barone to get me to come up to his place. You . . . I paused and nodded my grudging praise.
"You were really good," I said. "I walked right into it with both eyes open, but you closed them very neatly, and pulled down the blackout curtain. It was very neat. I guess you really must have been a big help in the Underground. TNT in a small package. The only thing that went wrong was that I wouldn't die and go away. I either fell, or you pushed me, out of that car on the Seventy-second Street pier, before the wire had been twisted enough. Anyway, here I am. And there you are . . . fresh back from the bank. How's it listen for sound, Goldielocks?"

She was wonderful. My God, the dough she could have made playing life on the safe side of the street. She fairly beamed at me, and clapped her hands with enthusiasm.
"Wonderful, superb!" she cried. "Do you not agree, Lieutenant Bierman? He would write the book. But no! There is but the one very bad mistake!"
"You name it, sister," I challenged.
"But certainly," she bobbed her head, and continued to beam. "That also, I told you in this very room. Maurice was mad with jealousy and came here to punish me. He was a fool. The pepper he throw in my eyes, too. But I know that it is Maurice, even though I cannot see him. I know, you hear? And like I tell you, the lady in the next apartment, she stay with me all the . . ."
As emphasis for my words Gordon Parrish groaned and buried his face in his hands. Goldielocks didn't utter a sound. She just turned whiter, and whiter, and whiter. I held out her WAC bag to Bierman.
"She brought you this from the bank," I said.
He took it, squinting hard at me. (To be continued)

O Lord of life, that each of us might learn From vain today and yesterdays to turn.

Then he pulled the snap flap and lifted it up. When he looked inside his eyes bugged way out, and he almost dropped the bag. "God Almighty!" he gasped hoarsely.

I leaned over for a look, and my eyes bugged out, too. The thing was filled to the brim with diamonds. Hundreds and hundreds of them, all sizes, cut and uncut.

One hundred dollars have been given to the sick, the aged and distressed in the city and the community. The union has given to the local circles with whom they had their sessions an average of $20 each to be used for missions and education as they saw fit. The union consists of eight churches. The president and founder, Mrs. A. B. Taft, and the vice-president, Mrs. Etta Dupree, are planning greater work for 1949. Twenty-four persons were fortunate to have Christmas more enjoyable by financial visits from the Missionary Union during the holidays. By the help of God and our friends who have been so generous we are determined to make this our "banner year."
