Former Employee Of State Dept. Held In Germany

One-Time Embassy Worker Accused Of Collaboration With Nazis In War

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A former State Department employe accused of treasonous wartime collaboration with the Nazis has been re-arrested in Germany on orders from the U. S. Department of Justice.

U. S. Army officials disclosed today that Herbert John Burman, 32, a native of Hohen, had been arrested here in mid-December. The provost marshal said he is held in an army prison here.

The arrest was the second for Burman, who worked in the American embassy in Berlin for 20 years as a clerk and economic statistician.

He was first seized soon after the war and accused of making wartime radio broadcasts for the Nazis. After 19 months in prison he was released in December, 1946, on instructions from the Justice Department, which originally ordered him held.

Since his release he has been living in Germany under orders to report regularly to army intelligence officers.

At the same time he was freed in 1946, the Justice Department also turned loose Mildred Gillars and Donald Day, two other Americans accused of broadcasting for Hitler. The Gillars woman since has been re-arrested and charged with treason in the United States. She was charged with being "Axis Sally" who broadcast Nazi propaganda to American troops during the war.

Army officials said Burman reportedly broadcast over the Nazi radio during the war under the alias "Joseph Scanlon Burman." His broadcasts known as "Station Debut" and "The Voice of Free Americans" were heard widely in the United States.

Army records showed Burman became a clerk in the American embassy after serving in the U. S. army of occupation after World War I.

In Washington, the Justice Department said Burman refused to be repatriated at the start of the last war and took a job with the German short wave radio. The department said it planned to fly him back to the United States later this month, when a treason charge will be lodged against him and he presented to a grand jury at his point of landing in this country.

Would Institute New Cabinet Job

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said today he plans to introduce a bill to create a new cabinet post in the field of social welfare.

Disputes Sayng

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Who said lightning never strikes twice in the same place? Certainly not the staff of FM station KMGM.

Lightning bolts struck the station's coldwater canyon tower three times last night—all in a space of 20 minutes.

The damage: a brief interruption in broadcasting, a burned out telephone line and Chief Engineer Rex Morrow's jittery nerves.

Past, Present, Future

The Seriousness Of Our Struggle With Russia Startlingly Reflected In Huge Amounts Proposed By President To Carry On Cold War; Look At The Picture

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—You get a startling view of the deadly struggle with Russia in President Truman's figures. He gave them, ice-cold, to Congress this week; the cost of paying the government's expenses another year.

He asked for almost $42 billion and more than half of it, about $22 1/2 billion, is for national defense and foreign aid.

Lift the edges of those figures look behind them, and you can see a picture: past, present and future.

Past—After the war there was an enormous need in this country for everything from new trolley cars to new teachers.

Economists called it the pent-up demand from the war. It was big enough to keep years.

In time—if we had nothing else to worry about, such as communism—supply would catch up with demand.

Then would come the very serious problem of leveling off, of trying to keep people employed and the country from sliding into depression.

This leveling off—if there had been nothing else to worry about—might have gotten under way about 1948 and given us a chance to try to get back to normal. But—

The leveling off didn't have a chance to start. Communism had become a threat to all Europe and to us.

So we had to start pouring money, resources, and manpower into national defense and foreign aid.

Our military effort alone diverted between one million and two-and-a-half million workers from the civilian labor force.

And the bill for national defense and foreign aid for the year now ending came to about $19 billion.

That brings us up to the present—

For the coming year Mr. Truman is asking about $22 1/2 billion for national defense and foreign aid. Without that, government costs would be about $21 billion.

The difference there undoubtedly would have meant a big savings in taxes for you. But there's something else:

About 10 per cent of what we produce here is going into national defense or foreign aid.

All this is keeping the country from reaching a natural level, the leveling off period mentioned above.

And that's delaying the answer to the critical question: how will

Overtime Job

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—While on his way to work Fireman George C. Mayer, yesterday, saw smoke curling from a third-floor apartment in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Ida Thompson, 36, appeared at a window, a small son under each arm.

Mayer stationed himself under the window, ordered Mrs. Thompson to drop the boys one at a time. He caught them.

Then he organized onlookers into a life net and locked arms, and had Mrs. Thompson jump into that. She landed, burned about the face and body, unharmed by the fall.

Mayer went to a fire box, and turned in an alarm. When fire crews arrived Fireman Mayer continued on his way to work.

Southern Solons In Strategy Talk

Discuss Tactics To Defeat Move To End Filibusters

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Southern Democratic Senators held a strategy meeting today on how to fight any move to kill the filibuster—their chief weapon in battling civil rights legislation.

They met at the call of Senator Russell (D-Ga.) who was spokesman for the Southern bloc in its fight against federal laws dealing with race discrimination.

There were almost a score of Southerners at the meeting, including Senator McKellar (Tenn.), President pro-tem of the Senate. The meeting was in the office of Senator Byrd (Va.).

Several resolutions have been introduced in the Senate which are designed to kill the filibuster. The Democratic leadership, with Republican backing, is talking of bringing one up soon.

A filibuster is continuous debate to prevent a vote. At present, the Senate may shut off debate on a bill by two-thirds vote of its members. But there are no restrictions on how long a group of Senators may talk on a motion or other matters of business.

One resolution proposes to change the Senate's rules so that debate could be pagged at any time by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Another would let it be done by a simple majority vote.

Senator Ellender (D-La.) has said he will start a filibuster against any of these resolutions and talk "until there is no breath left in me."

Pitt Delinquent Tax Cases Total 103 Says Joyner

J. D. Joyner, Pitt county tax collector, said today 103 delinquent tax cases were involved in suits filed in the past several months by the county for the collection of back taxes.

Joyner said the suits involved approximately $5,000 in taxes owed the county up to 1939. Some of the cases dated back as far as 1927 he said.

The work on the delinquent taxes began last May, and suits have been filed at intervals since the time. Joyner said work on delinquent taxes from 1939 to the present time will be started in the near future.

Crech Petition Being Prepared

Smithfield, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Petitions are being circulated in Johnston county asking Governor Scott to commute the death sentence of James R. Crech, convicted of murdering his wife.

Crech, one of the county's wealthiest men, is scheduled to die Jan. 28. The state Supreme Court last Friday upheld a lower court decision convicting Crech.

The Pitt County court house, one of the most imposing edifices in the state, has had a "face-lifting" and extensive remodeling inside, and is to be "massaged" with sand-blasting machines to clean the exterior brick and stone work. Cost of the work will be about $90,000, F. D. Chamble, superintendent of construction, said the work will be completed early next month.

Judge Henry Stevens of Warsaw, presiding over a term of Superior Court last summer, announced from the bench that three grand juries had recommended improvements on the building; that the Board of County Commissioners had ignored the orders, and that "when I come back to Greenville again and something has not been done about the improvements, I am going to indict the county commissioners."

The county officials, for just no time and the contract for improvements was given to V. P. Loftis Company, Charlotte contractors in August. Work was started in September.

The court room ceiling was dropped and acoustic tile was installed. A new lighting system is a feature. A rest room for women jurors was installed. The floors were covered with asphalt tile. New seats are to be installed in the court room. There are four vaults in the basement and rest rooms for white and colored people were installed.

Ninety-two tons of red tile was removed from the roof of the building and replaced with copper sheeting. The cornices on the building, galvanized iron that had rotted, is being replaced with copper cornices.

Feature of improvements at the Pitt county courthouse are weather stripping of windows and doors by C. L. Lupton Company, Greenville concern, and installation of a coal stoker on the boiler and these improvements are expected to considerably reduce the cost of heating the building.

Nineteen were taken to Leesburg Hospital, two of them seriously hurt. One crew member at first was reported missing, but the Florida highway patrol later said it understood he had been found.

The derailment was the second in two days for the Seaboard Airline Railroad's Pullman train. Twenty persons were hurt when another Florida Blossom jumped the track at Milford, Va., Monday.

Dead Man's Ride

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 12.—(AP)—An automobile with a dead man at the wheel plunged through a fence and came to a halt in St. Mary's Cemetery today.

Dead on the front seat of the automobile was William J. Short, 73, public schools music supervisor. A doctor said he died of a heart attack while driving to the job he has held 39 years.

Winter Leaves Southland But West Chilled By Blast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter continued to play favorites today. It slapped the Far West, the Pacific Northwest, West Texas and the Panhandle with chilling snows, sleet and cold. And it caressed the South with balmy breezes that brought flowers into bloom.

Snow—the fourth straight day of it—was predicted for sometime sunny Southern California. However, the forecast was that it wouldn't be so cold in the orange and lemon growing belt—a minimum of 28 in comparison with the frosty 19 of early Monday.

Most of the snow melted from Los Angeles' downtown area but there was eight inches in Orange County's Silverado Canyon. Sheets of ice and sleet gripped much of West Texas and the Panhandle and large sections of Eastern New Mexico also were coated. The ice—four inches thick—knocked out telephone lines and closed all roads in the Amarillo area.

Schools were shut down and bus schedules canceled. Power and telephone lines by the hundred were downed in West Texas and two deaths attributed to the weather were reported there.

Prolonged cold brought a new problem to the Pacific Northwest—a power shortage. The long freeze cut the flow of water in ice-clogged streams and rivers, reducing the water supply needed for power generators.

A voluntary brown-out went into effect in Oregon for outdoor lighting to conserve electricity.

Slight Increase In Leaf Quota For Pitt In 1949

On Friday afternoon Mrs. T. E. Hooker very charmingly entertained a number of friends. After being served with punch by Miss Vernessa Smith all were invited in the parlor where Mrs. J. W. Higgs and Mrs. W. L. Hall delighted those present with an instrumental and vocal solo. The object of the meeting remained a secret until just at this time when Mrs. Hooker announced that a musical club for Greenville had been thought of by several of the ladies. After some discussion the club was organized to be known as the Friday afternoon Musical Club. After being served with delicious refreshments, all left for home having spent a most delightful afternoon.

A bowl of pink snapdragons was flanked by pink tapers and flowers in harmonizing colors in an epergne. Mrs. White served a beautifully molded salad from one end of the table and Mrs. James presided over the silver coffee service. Guests helped themselves to minced ham sandwiches, potato chips, orange cake, cheese wagers and cookies placed on the buffet.

Dan Vornholt, accompanied by Mrs. Karl V. Gilbert, both of the E. C. T. C. music faculty, sang two of John Jacob Niles' folk songs, "I Wonder as I Wander" and "Hills of Home."

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Vornholt, Miss Janie Lyerly, Mrs. A. M. Moseley, Mrs. Owen M. Marshall, Mrs. J. D. Messick, Mrs. W. W. Howell, Mrs. Hurlbert, Mrs. W. Smiley, Mrs. I. Willman, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Leo Jenkins, all of Greenville, and Mrs. Frank Davis, Jr., of Farmville.

Service League Holds First Meeting Of New Year

The Service League meeting on Monday morning was opened by the president, Mrs. James T. Little, with an appropriate prayer and a few well chosen remarks to usher in this new year of 1949. She concluded her brief talk with the wish that all members would strive to live by this motto: "We cannot always get help, but we can always give help."

Mrs. Little expressed the sorrow and great loss felt by the Service League at the passing of Mrs. T. A. Person who had served so faithfully and enthusiastically as a member of the League's Advisory Council. In remembrance of her a moment of silence was observed.

Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, projects chairman, displayed the recently made chart on which a record of the number of hours each member gives to volunteer service will be tabulated and which at the end of the year will help determine the recipient of the service cup.

The placement chairman, Mrs. E. D. Williford, signed up members to work at the Thrift Shop and hospital for the second half of the fiscal year. Mrs. Jesse Moye, chairman of the Thrift Shop, told of the urgent need for discarded clothes, especially children's clothes, and urged that anyone having donations to make please contact her.

In the absence of the finance chairman her report was read, which showed a nice sum had been made from the Ellington shelf and the sale of cook books. Mrs. K. B. Pace was appointed to serve as chairman of the group to work in January.

The League's representative on the Recreation Commission, Mrs. Walker Harrington, said that six teen-age dances had been given in the fall and that during the Christmas holidays in addition to four dances being given the Teen-Age Club had been opened from 2 to 5 each afternoon and 7 to 10 each night.

The layette chairman, Mrs. David Evans, reported that three calls for layettes were answered during December and appealed to the Thrift Shop workers to spend all their spare time while at the shop serving.

In the past month the Greenville Emergency Charity Fund Committee was again busy. They provided pajamas for a woman tubercular patient, assisted in sending a male tubercular patient to a sanatorium, bought needed drugs for a sick baby, warmly clothed two small colored children and furnished Christmas to a family.

The Laughinghouse Hospital Bed chairman reported that three patients had occupied the bed in December and that two patients are at present being cared for in Pitt General Hospital. She expressed appreciation for a donation from Mrs. D. M. Clark to the hospital fund. At this time the corresponding secretary read a letter from Dr. C. Fred Irons, who on behalf of the Pitt County Medical Association, thanked the League for the immeasurable services rendered by the Laughinghouse hospital bed; the Greenville Emergency Charity fund and the layette committee.

Mrs. Little thanked Mrs. Joe Moye and Mrs. Dick Evans for their untiring efforts in the TB Seal Sale and announced that representatives would attend a meeting later in the week to make final arrangements for bringing a TB mobile unit to Pitt County.

As the result of a recommendation from the executive board a motion was made and carried that the members of the advisory council be increased from 6 to 8. Mrs. R. C. Stokes and Mrs. K. B. Pace were appointed to submit names at the next meeting.

Prior to adjournment the new handbooks were distributed and members were advised to study them well in preparation for an exam which will be given at the February meeting.

Doris Rowland Becomes Bride Of Oscar C. Cody

In an impressive candlelight ceremony, Miss Doris Lee Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Rowland, of this city, became the bride of Oscar C. Cody, Jr., son of Mrs. Marie Baker and the late O. C. Cody, Sr., of Louisville, Ky., in a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, January 9th in the Eighth Street Christian Church. Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the bride, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue satin dress with black accessories. She carried a prayer book topped with white roses. Miss Helen Rowland, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor. She wore a steel gray satin dress with black accessories. Her corsage was red roses.

Marshall Fields of Goldsboro, friend of the groom, acted as best man. Ushers were Paul McNickle and John Kovachick, of this city.

The bride's mother wore a gray spring suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Greenville High School and was employed by Cozart's Auto Supply.

Shortly after the ceremony the couple left for Louisville, Ky., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Humber Speaks To Club Members

The Literature Department met Tuesday, January 11th at the home of Mrs. W. H. Woolard for its first meeting after the holidays. The rooms were filled to overflowing. Bertha Parker and Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale were assisting hostesses.

Delicate Spring flowers, forsythia, Japanese quince, about the rooms gave a hint of Spring soon to come. In the dining room Mrs. Woolard poured coffee and served delicious angel food cake with whipped cream and home parched peanuts.

A short business meeting followed. Everyone signed a card to be presented to Mrs. J. H. B. Moore with a rose bush to be planted in memory of her husband. Tickets for the Dick Walsler lecture, An Evening With North Carolina Literature were sold by Mrs. W. W. Smiley and the members were urged to purchase them whether or not they could attend, for the funds are to go to the March of Dimes Campaign.

Mrs. Robert Lee Humber gave an interesting and enlightening program on The Influence of The French Literary Salons of the 16th and 17 Centuries on French Life And Customs. The audience thoroughly enjoyed her talk and gained a better understanding of French manners and customs - especially French interest and skill in good conversation. Many questions were asked, especially about the enviable position in society the French woman of culture holds.

The next meeting of the Literature Department will be on Jan. 25 at the home of Mrs. J. W. Tetterton. Mrs. Dan Vornholt will talk on The New York Theater Today.

One new member, Mrs. Frank Taylor, was welcomed to our rapidly expanding group. Among the guests present were: Mrs. J. E. Phelps, Mrs. J. Ludlow Williams, Mrs. J. Herbert Waldrop, Mrs. Richard E. Hardaway.

Parking Meters In New Places Keeps Down Complaints

Removal of parking meters from various downtown sections of Greenville and transfer of them to West Dickinson Avenue appears to have met with popular public approval. It was indicated today at the City Hall. Parking places in the downtown sections of Greenville were hard to find before the parking meters were installed about two years ago. The city installed about 350 of the penny and nickel collecting machines and they have paid a substantial profit, city records show. The Board of Aldermen, responding to a request of the Merchants' Association, changed the location of the meters, and the present arrangement appears to be more satisfactory, a Merchants Association official said today.

Pactolus School Building Be Ready Early In April

Good progress is now being made on the new 13-room, semi-fireproof school building at Pactolus, County Supt. of Education Don H. Conley said today. The old building was destroyed by fire of unknown origin in September, 1947. The seventh and eighth grades and high school classes are being taught at the old NYA center building in Greenville. Other grades are being taught in the community building and at the teacherage in Pactolus. The new building will have numerous improvements for the convenience of the teachers and students, the superintendent said.

Strength FOR THE DAY

TRIMMING NEVER PAYS
No one appreciates honesty and strength of character more than do people who lack these things themselves. Even the most careless liver or the man most flagrant in his disregard of moral principle has a sneaking admiration for the people who live their lives on a basis different than that upon which he lives his.

Charles II was number one scold of English history, yet to him the young William Penn, who addressed him as "Friend Charles" and spoke to him seriously about his life, was one of his best and best friends whom he loved the best. And Thomas Ken, who publicly rebuked the king for the way he carried on with Nellie Gwynne, was the clergyman whom Charles insisted on making a bishop against the advice of his counselors and the man whom he called to shrieve his soul as he lay on his death bed.

Don't make the mistake of believing that you commend yourself to worldly people by being like them. They will have no respect for you if you are not better than they. The only way to call forth anyone's respect is to be your natural self, and the finer the quality of your soul, the more will people be conscious of this and appreciate it.

No one admires a trimmer, and least of all do people admire the man who trips his principles to suit his surroundings.

Around Capitol Square

TOWN MEETING—The town of Washington Park residential suburb of the city of Washington in Beaufort County, proposes a really democratic system of electing municipal officers. Under the plan, a bill prepared for introduction Wednesday by Senator John C. Rodman the present method of nominating and electing town officials will be superseded by an old-fashioned "Town Meeting," of which at least four weeks advance notice must be given. Decision as to number and duties of the officers, nomination of candidates and secret ballot election will all be effected at the biennial meeting in May.

SIGNIFICANT—Population of Washington Park is between 300 and 400 people, with perhaps half that number of qualified participants in the Town Meeting. Included in this number are Lindsay C. Warren, comptroller general of the United States; Congressman Herb Bonner; Attorney General Harry McMillan of North Carolina; Senator Rodman and others of state or national note. Type of the citizenship as well as the fact that George Denny, originator of the popular radio feature, "Town Meeting of the Air," is a native of the community lends significance to the movement to revert to pure democracy, and makes of it more than a purely local story.

RETIREMENT—Another local bill, introduced in the house Tuesday by Representative Tom Cooper of New Hanover extending coverage of the Wilmington municipal retirement plan, has implications of more than local interest. Cooper's bill would blanket under the Wilmington city retirement plan all persons who have been in employ of the city for 30 years prior to ratification of the local act in 1943, regardless of whether they were then employed by the city. Its actual effect, according to Wilmington folks, would be to afford retirement benefits for city employees who quit their jobs to work for shipyards at war time wages, and did not return to city employment.

GENERAL—Although this is purely a local bill, it follows almost to absurdity the general policy of extending retirement benefits to many persons of questionable qualification. It is recalled that every legislature since the teacher and state employee retirement plan was enacted in 1911 has extended coverage. First break came in 1943 when school teachers who had served in public schools for 20 years or more but had already retired before enactment of the original act and had reached 65 years of age, were taken in as if they were still teaching. Succeeding legislature liberalized provisions of the act, so that in many respects it became a straight out pension rather than participating retirement benefits. If the Cooper bill for Wilmington becomes law it will set precedent for action in other communities as well as having influence on extension of coverage by the state-wide act.

SCHOOL—Thad Eure, secretary of state since 1936 after previous service as member and principal clerk of the house of representatives, will again conduct a school in parliamentary procedure for new and old members of the general assembly. He began the practice about ten years ago and his "classes" each morning just before the house convenes have attracted much interest and praise. Representative Woodard of Northampton offered the resolution requesting Mr. Eure to conduct the school this year.

TEACHERS—Just a few minutes Tuesday the resolution was adopted. Mrs. Annie Cooper, veteran principal clerk of the house, had conducted a class of her own. Under suspension of rules at request of Speaker Kerr Craige Ramsay, Mrs. Cooper introduced to the house membership the working staff of her office and explained to new members how they can obtain information about procedure and whereabouts of pending bills.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—Old people are growing more important.

Every year there are more of them. Every year from now on there will be still more.

For despite its long foolishness the human race is living longer. The population is growing up—chronologically if not morally and intellectually.

And that fact in itself makes elderly people more important—in many ways.

It makes them more important economically. The day is about gone when poor old work-worn grandpappy must observe to himself mournfully: "The only real friendly smile I get anymore is from the undertaker."

Other business men are going to have smiles for grandpa and grandma from now on. Because of the old folks, more and more, are financially independent. Fewer bank failures, the growth of social security, the enlargement of industrial pension plans—these things are enabling millions of men and women to retire with some semblance of a nest egg.

So old people are in themselves a tremendous market for people with things to sell.

And the old folks are going to have more influence with politicians. They will become a tremendous pressure group for themselves. They will probably ask and get from the government more of what they want. And, in a Democracy, that seems fair enough. Does anyone doubt that, if school children could vote, there would be more and better school buildings?

Old people also are getting more important to the medical profession. Having cut the birth mortality pretty much to a minimum, the doctors now find that diphtheria and whooping cough are taking less of their time than hardening of the arteries and that ancient misery—"my rheumatism."

Many physicians are specializing in the new science of gerontology—the study of old age.

And they have found that it isn't enough for old people merely to be of some economic importance to others. They have to be made to feel still important to themselves.

And that's a problem. Their pride and self-confidence suffers a terrific blow when they realize they have passed the peak of their powers. As Dr. Martin Gumpert told the gerontological society here last week, the self-realization of again is "perhaps the most profound shock of our lifespan—next to dying."

For when a woman looks into the mirror and sees her beauty fading, when a man no longer can go up the stairs two at a time—each knock in his secret heart that he has begun to die. And he begins to be afraid. For all healthy life distrusts death.

This fear begins earlier than most people realize. And it affects them in ways they would be reluctant to admit.

The fear often sets in during middle age, which is only a corridor of uncertain length between youth and old age. It explains why many men make the accumulation of money an unreasonable passion. They try to replace the security of dwindling health and physical strength with financial security—an impossibility.

This fear of being old, whether it starts at 35 or 65, causes many people to go through a kind of troubled second adolescence. Both men and women do foolish things they afterward regret.

They take what they call "a last fling" at life. A friend of mine, who handles binational affairs for many people, has a name for this period.

"I call it forty-year fever," he said. "And it's the devil of a thing to go through. It destroys a lot of people."

It is then that the man or woman, fearful of the common fate of mankind, most needs the props of home, friendship and religion. For once the threshold of old age is crossed, most people don't find it too bad. Sociological surveys show that old people often complain of loneliness. But if asked whether they are happy, the majority say—"yes!"

Since there are going to be more and more old people in the world, why not prepare them for it? They can be educated in a way to lessen the shock and to emphasize the serene pleasures in life.

Universities ought to offer a post-graduate course in how to grow old gracefully.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—More people are getting married today than at any time since 1890, when first statistics on marriages were compiled. The proportion of the adult population who said "I do" in 1947 was the largest on record. These and other facts about family life are presented by Dr. Paul G. Glick of the U. S. Bureau of Census in the January issue of the American Journal of Sociology.

"We know, for instance, that in many respects our families are better housed than they were before the recent war, but that in other respects the housing situation has deteriorated," Dr. Glick continues. "We can document the greatly increased participation of married women in the labor force since 1940, the large-scale movement of families away from farms and to the West, the unusually rapid increase in the number of non-white families outside the South, the spectacular marriage and divorce boom, the exceptionally sharp rise in the number of births and the continued reductions in mortality rates."

Dr. Glick explains that the facts were arrived at by using the 1940 census as a "benchmark" with which to compare the findings of surveys that have been made during the years since that time.

The high level of employment, according to Dr. Glick, has been one of the most important factors contributing to recent changes in family life. However, he explains, the fact that recent marriage rates have been high is better known than the reasons for the boom.

"On the basis of long-time trends" he says, "we could have expected somewhat less than 1,400,000 marriages per year since 1940. However, there were about 3,000,000 more marriages than the expected number from 1940 through 1947."

One might figure this increase was due to the war, but Dr. Glick points out that the greatest marriage boom was in 1946, the first full post-war year, when there were 2,300,000 marriages, or nearly a million more than normal. Remarriages of an unusually large number of divorced persons might account for a minor part of this excess, Dr. Glick says.

The "expected" number of divorces per year since 1940 was between 250,000 and 300,000, but as in the case of marriages most occurred in 1946. There were 615,000 divorces that year—more than twice the normal number. Considering the entire period from 1940 to 1947, he says we find there were approximately a million more divorces than usual. Farmers and non-whites did not contribute so much as others to the

Suspect Held In 'Black Dahlia' Murder Mystery

Los Angeles, Jan. 11—(AP)—A bellhop who the police say knows minute details of the mutilation killing two years ago of the "Black Dahlia," Elisabeth Short, was held incommunicado today as a suspect. Booked on suspicion of murder he gave his name as Leslie Dillon 27, alias Jack Sands, J. P. Dillon and other names. He is a former sailor and intermittent Los Angeles resident.

Police Chief C. B. Horrall, who announced the arrest, said Dillon knows numerous details of the killing and mutilation "which could be known only to a person with direct knowledge of the murder itself."

Dillon denied killing or even knowing Miss Short, 22, a waitress with many boy friends and known as the "Black Dahlia" because of her fondness for sheer black clothing.

Michigan State is the second college team in history to win the National AAU cross-country championship—Indiana won the event in 1936.

Carolians Rap Cut In Hospitals

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—Aroused Carolinians in the areas affected believe that preliminary spending in planning for four veterans' hospitals is sufficient reason for reconsidering government cancellations of the projects.

Protests against cancellations in Charlotte and Salisbury, N. C. and Greenville, S. C., have been pouring in since Monday. It was then that the Veterans' Administration announced that three proposed hospitals and an addition at Columbia would not be built. There were 20 other cancellations throughout the country.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., will be out of town until next week. Senator Hoey (D-NC) said he planned to confer with other Carolina Congressmen about the projects, and talk with Gray upon his return.

Senator Broughton (D-NC) said he would join Reps. Doughton (D-NC) and Jones (D-NC) and citizens from their districts "to make certain there are sound reasons behind the cancellations and if possible to overcome the objections" to completing the hospitals.

Salisbury citizens told Rep. Doughton that their city had spent about $400,000 in extending pipes to the site of the proposed hospital. They said the American Legion had spent an additional $30,000 in connection with acquiring the site.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) said he would do everything possible to see that the hospitals were built as planned.

N. C. Tax Agent To Probe Claim

Hickory, N. C., Jan. 12—(AP)—The State Internal Revenue Department wants to talk with a Hickory man who claims his son squandered his life's savings.

Early Barkley, an agent for the Revenue Department, said yesterday he would ask for an inventory of the $50,000 which Carroll G. Temple Sr. claims was taken from his bank box.

Temple filed a civil action against the First National Bank of Hickory recently, alleging that the bank permitted his 15-year-old son to enter the cash box without his father's permission.

Barkley said Internal Revenue records showed that Temple paid no tax on intangible property for the years 1945, 1946, and 1947—the period Temple says the sum was in the bank. Barkley explained that state law provides that cash and bonds, other than government bonds, are subject to the intangible property tax.

Temple asserted the boy spent all except $56 of the sum on a trip to Florida.

Judge Williams Hard On Drunk Auto Drivers

When Judge Clawson Williams of Sanford convicts a criminal from Superior Court here January 24 he will be confronted by a heavy docket which contains 21 cases in which defendants are charged with driving motor vehicles while drunk. Many of these cases were appealed from lower courts; some of them are up on request for jury trial. The Lee county jurist is one of the strictest judges on the Superior Court bench about driving drunk.

His idea about safety on the highways is to rigidly enforce the laws and he does this with precision and good effect, attorneys here and elsewhere say. Fifth Judicial District Solicitor Dick Bundy indicated the other day that he intends to clear the criminal docket of a lot of cases that have cluttered the books for a long time.

The most important case on the calendar for trial at the January criminal term is that of Johnny Edwards, Ayden Negro logwoodsman, who is charged with the murder of Levy Albritton, Ayden Negro, in Ayden, on January 3. Testimony at a coroner's inquest was that Edwards used his knife in self-defense when Albritton attacked him with a bottle. Ayden Police Chief J. M. Whitehurst testified that after Albritton dropped in the street from loss of blood, Edwards moved him to the sidewalk to prevent a vehicle from running over him.

Jayvees Take Fourth Win Of Season; Phantom Varsity Suffers First Conference Loss

Greenville High School split a doubleheader with Kinston here last night with the local Jayvees scoring a 27 to 21 win and the Phantom varsity bowing to the tune of 46 to 32.

It was the first conference loss for the Bo Farley-coached varsity. It was their fifth loss of the season, but four of the setbacks were suffered to class AA teams.

For the local Jayvees last night's win was number four.

It was towering center Hodges who supplied the scoring spark of the Orange High School Red Devils. Hodges came through with 22 points to almost single-handedly whip the Phantoms.

Ward and Farley scored high for Greenville with 14 and 10 points respectively.

Kinston led all the way, holding a 13 to 3 advantage at the first quarter war were out in front 19 to 13 at intermission. Third quarter score was 24 to 19.

Greenville's Juniors scored six points and bottled the visiting Jayvees up with a single point in the opening quarter of the preliminary game. Kinston fought back in the second period but still trailed 11 to 8 at half-time. The locals edged further ahead in the third period to lead 18 to 12.

Sid Briley and Aman paced the locals with eight and seven points each. Farley and Haynes scored five.

For Kinston Davis and Aldridge took high-scoring honors with five each.

Red Sox Acquire Shelby Player

Boston, Jan. 12—(AP)—Tom Wright, 25-year-old Shelby, N.C. professional baseball player, has been signed by the Boston Red Sox.

Wright, who played in the outfield for Louisville in the American Association last season, compiled a .307 average with the Triple-A Colonels.

Sport Slants by Pap

Ed Macauley may have been born to play basketball but hard work and endless hours of practice made him the outstanding player of the collegiate ranks, which he is today. The brilliant 6-foot-8 star of the St. Louis University Billikens was given unusual height by nature and he has done everything possible to utilize it.

Macauley's development has been as obvious as it has been amazing. As a sophomore, Easy Ed was weak on the left handed shot. He practiced and practiced that particular shot until he developed one of the finest in the collegiate ranks. The one-handed push shot stumped him for a while as a junior, but not for long. Practice made him a master of that one.

There are many times when Easy Ed appears to be taking things so easy that it looks as if he is loafing on the job. His deliberation is purposeful. He knows what he is doing every second of the way as he appears to lag behind the play. You won't see him taking it easy on defense, however. Easy Ed takes charge of the backboards with the skill of a born retriever. He times his jump perfectly and takes advantage of every inch his outstretched hands can offer. And for all his height, Macauley moves with the easy grace of a natural athlete. He is a real 48-minute player despite his slim, frail-looking lines.

Tight Contests in North State

The North State Conference served up another double dose of its patented hair-raising basketball last night. Both games in the circuit were decided by two-point margins in typical North State rip-roaring finishes.

Western Carolina Teachers replaced Appalachian as the No. 2 team back of unbeaten High Point, rallying for a last-minute 59-57 victory at Cullowhee.

Two long baskets in the final 25 seconds gave Atlantic Christian a 33-36 edge at Guilford as the Wilson team won its second two-point game in as many nights.

In raising its conference record to 3-1 while dropping Appalachian to 3-2 WCTC made up a four-point deficit in the last four minutes. From 51-all the teams swapped points in machine gun fashion until the count was 57-57 with three seconds to go. Then a Bob McGinn pass to Guard Artis Carter produced the winning basket. McGinn's 18 points led all scorers.

Paul Glazer and Jim Brown hit on mid-court shots with 25 seconds to go for Atlantic Christian's win over Guilford, which has dropped three conference games by a total of seven points.

Guilford led at the half, 21-19. Glazer and the losers' Chatham led the scorers with nine points each.

Goodmon Is Re-elected Coastal Plain President

Interested

Ray H. Goodmon, president of the Coastal Plain league, told a Reflector representative last night that he is "definitely considering" the offer from the Class B Carolina League to become president of that circuit.

Brodie Hood of Burlington attended the Coastal Plain League meeting last night in Goldsboro to contact Goodmon on the matter and find out whether he would be interested in the job. Goodmon indicated he would continue to serve as head of the Coastal Plain League.

Wolfpack Shows Still Has Wallop

The folks who had been wondering whether North Carolina State's Hoosier Hotshots still "had it" weren't wondering any more today. The Hotshots have. Anyone Southern Conference way, anybody's satisfaction last night when they locked horns with one of their most promising loop rivals, Davidson's Wildcats. Playing without their star forward, Dick Dickey, the Hotshots still won by 17 points—64 to 47, while conference coaches shuddered.

N.C. State had lost five of its last six games before moving back into conference circles. What a lot of people overlooked, though, was the fact that the Wolfpack had tangled with some of the nation's best opposition on that disastrous invasion of the west and east.

The State victory over Davidson probably was the most significant occurrence on last night's conference cage program. But it was not the most remarkable, by a long shot.

Tall Chester Giermak provided the co-sensation of the night by pumping in 45 points as William and Mary, the conference leader with three wins and no losses, overwhelmed Baltimore University 96-28.

The other eye-raiser was Virginia Tech's 56-46 win over Duke at Blacksburg, Va. The Techmen hadn't been able to win a single game before George Sampson, their star center, led them to the convincing victory over the Blue Devils, generally regarded as a threat to N.C. State's conference title. Sampson scored 20 points.

League Adopts 140-Game Schedule For 1949 Season; Player-Limit Classification On 8-4-3 Basis Is Voted

Ray H. Goodmon of Williamston was re-elected president of the Coastal Plain Class D baseball league for a three year term last night at the annual circuit meeting held in the Community building in Goldsboro.

C. Frank Walker, president of the Rocky Mount club, was elected league vice president for a one year term, and Edna R. Barnhill was elected secretary of the league for another three year term.

Representing the Greenville club at the meeting were W. Z. Morton president; Guy V. Smith, vice president, and John Adams, Jr., secretary-treasurer and business manager.

The Coastal Plain League rejected a proposal from A. T. Moore, president of the Tobacco State League that the winning teams in the two leagues meet in a post season playoff after the regular league play-offs. In rejecting the proposal league members pointed out that the regular 140-game schedule plus the regular league play-offs is believed to be "enough."

At a meeting of the league directors last fall at the close of the 1948 season, a player limit of 15 was set up on an 8-4-3 basis. (Eight rookies, four limited service men and three veterans). During last night's meeting George Earnhart, president of the Tarboro club, moved a 6-6-3 player classification by adopted by the league for the 1949 season. A. W. Fleming, president of the Wilson club, led the discussion in favor of the 6-6-3 basis, and pointed out that rookies are becoming harder to obtain because of the draft. On a roll call vote the motion was defeated by a four to three vote. Wilson, Rocky Mount and New Bern voted for the 6-6-3 set-up.

A motion by W. Z. Morton, president of the Greenville club to adopt the 8-4-3 basis was accepted on a six to two roll call vote. Wilson and Rocky Mount voted against the motion.

A 140 game schedule for the league was adopted for the 1949 season, opening April 21, and closing day on September 5, Labor Day. The schedule will be released on January 20.

Midgets, Intermediates Scored Easy Victories

Greenville's Midget and Intermediate basketball teams scored a double triumph over Ayden teams to get off to a flying start in their conference play. The Midgets won 30-20 and the Intermediates won 32-26.

The Greenville Midgets turned on the steam after the Ayden boys took an early lead, and the locals went ahead and never relinquished the 12-5 half-time margin.

Coach Bill Kittrell began building his '49 Greenville team around new comers, having lost all the first string members of his '48 team which recorded eight wins and two losses during the season. "This year's team is rather green," Kittrell commented, "and we'll be lucky to win half of the games. It all depends on the boys and how much they want to win."

Kittrell said members of the Midget squad who are showing marked improvement include Fletcher Murray, a forward who saw a small amount of action last year. Charlie White, center for the Greenville Mites, led the scoring in the Ayden contest, even though this is his first year on the squad. Other members of the squad pointed out by Kittrell were Guy Smith, Jr. who was runner-up in scoring in the Ayden game with six points. Jimmy Cheatham, Smith Worthington, George Sideris, Sellers Criz, Gene Duffin, Ronald Duffin, John Brooks, Topsy Smoot and Billy Arnold.

Intermediate Game

The Greenville Intermediates romped practically as they pleased in the early minutes of play against the Ayden Intermediates, and racked up 11 points before allowing the Ayden boys to score. Hal Edwards sparked the Greenville offense with 18 points to his credit followed by Billy Wooten with five points.

As the game wore on, however the Ayden players settled down and used their zone defense to slow the Greenville offense practically to a stand-still while they began to find the basket with their own shots. By half-time Ayden had cut the Greenville lead to 17-10, and during the second half matched their opponents point for point with one marker to spare.

High scorer for the Ayden team was Mac Whitehurst with six points.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 4
Mrs. Warren, an older and plump-er version of her daughter, sat at her desk in the living room, her back accommodately turned. She was studying a paper which she was to deliver before the City Improvement Club the following day and had not heard Gertrude come down the steps.

Gertrude stood in the doorway, her face averted, putting on her raincoat and scarf. She was tempted to slip out of the house, take the new car, and go on to the station. But she knew that would be foolhardy. Mother would throw a fit, might even make a scene right in front of Cousin Betty.

"I'm going, Mother," Gertrude said tentatively. As she spoke she arranged her scarf so as to shield her painted face.

"Going where, dear?" Mrs. Warren said absently, her eyes still fixed on the paper.

"To the station to meet Betty, of course," Gertrude hesitated briefly, then plunged ahead. "I know it's raining pretty hard, Mom, but the old jalopy does look terrible and—"

She stopped, took a deep breath, and started again. This rebellion business was harder than she'd realized. "What I'm trying to say is, I'm sure Dad won't mind if I—"

There—she had said it! In her perturbation she loosened her grip on the scarf and it had fallen to her shoulders. She was too confused to retrieve it.

"I don't know what you're talking about, Gertrude," Mrs. Warren folded the club paper very carefully and put it into the desk drawer. "Don't be ridiculous, dear. You know very well you're not taking the new car out in this weather. You aren't even going out yourself. Besides, your father has already gone to the station in the old car."

"Gone?" wailed Gertrude. "But, Mother, he knew I intended going. Why didn't he call me? Oh, he can't do this to me!" Her eyes filled with tears and she stamped her foot in rage.

"Gertrude! Stop it! Stop it, I say! I won't have you going into tantrums like this," Mrs. Warren gasped. She had looked up and seen her daughter for the first time since the girl had come downstairs. "What in the world have you done to yourself?" she asked when she'd recovered her voice.

Gertrude, although taken aback by this new development, tried to bluff it out. "I—I don't know what you're talking about, Mother."

"I'm surprised at you, Gertrude," Mrs. Warren was saying in the accusing voice her daughter knew so well.

"I should think," Mrs. Warren went on, "you'd have more pride. Now go right upstairs and wash that dreadful stuff off your face. Take your hair down too. And get that frightful polish off your nails. They look like claws. What will your cousin think? Now run along, child," she added in a kinder voice.

Gertrude made no move to obey. Instead, she made another feeble attempt to bluff it out.

Liquor Vote Prospects Appear To Be Very Slim

Raleigh, Jan. 12—Contrary to advance predictions there appears small chance for the current legislature to authorize a statewide vote on liquor.

Almost certainly if such referendum is called it will present the issue in different form from that proposed in previous abortive efforts to get a state vote. It will be in, use or draw; not heads we win, tails you lose. In other words the ballot will present three alternatives—all dry, all wet, or local option as at present. Previous bills have sought to present the matter in only two phases—all dry or local option.

(Terms wet and dry are used in their generally accepted, though perhaps erroneous meaning, of legal prohibition.) Opponents of the present local option system have not been willing to provide opportunity for advocates of the system to have any statewide voice on the subject.

Several members of the current assembly insist they are not willing now to let ABC counties have a vote on putting liquor in all areas of the state, although insisting that non-ABC counties shall have the right to vote it out where it now is legalized. This position is taken in face of Governor Scott's inaugural request for submission of the ques-

Growth Of North Carolina Urban Centers Explained

Rapid growth of urban centers in North Carolina from about 1870 to the present was stressed by Dr. Paul Murray of the social studies department of East Carolina Teachers College in a talk before the Faculty Lecture Club of the college held Tuesday evening.

Dr. Murray pointed out trends toward urbanization in three periods of the history of the state and indicated reasons why towns and cities have grown rapidly since the Civil War.

North Carolina, settled by people who were not urban-minded, stated Dr. Murray, developed few towns in the period before the Revolution and most of these were located in the east. Commercial enterprises centering around the coast and the shifting of political centers explain the growth of most early North Carolina towns, he said.

Urbanizing influences in the century between 1770 and 1870 were the increase and improvement of transportation facilities and the beginning of manufacturing enterprises in the state, influences, which, according to Dr. Murray, grew in importance after 1870. He emphasized the effects upon the economy of the state and the growth of towns and cities of the building of railroads and the establishment of manufacturing units in such industries as cotton, tobacco, lumber, and turpentine.

Urbanization has been rapid since 1870, said Dr. Murray. New patterns of population growth, he explained, followed the Civil War. A revolution in transportation broke up the old east-west system and resulted in the northeast-southwest system still dominant in the east and the growth of new trade centers. Technological changes, including the introduction of steam power, chemical fertilizer, and new types of machinery, were also, he stated, important influences toward the rapid development of towns and cities.

After pointing out several types of urban centers existing in present-day North Carolina, Dr. Murray closed his talk with an analysis of conditions which he said indicate that North Carolina is less well-balanced economically than has sometimes been assumed.

A membership meeting of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 8 p. m. on January 21, President Charles B. Bisette announced yesterday.

In a letter sent to all members of the local Chamber of Commerce, Bisette said the business of the meeting will be to act on recommendations of the Executive committee for changes in the organization's constitution and by-laws. Projects for the program of work for the fiscal year beginning February 1 will also be discussed.

Bisette in his letter urged all members of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce to suggest projects which will assist in the promotion of the growth of the community, and welfare of its citizens as a whole.

The meeting will be held in the court room on the third floor of the municipal building.

Kiwanians Hold Directors' Meet

The Greenville Kiwanis Club's officers and directors, at the first monthly business meeting of the year, with President Arthur Tripp presiding at a supper meeting at Nelson Hopkins' Tavern on the Tar, in the Principality of Bruce, last night, with V. A. Merritt as host, started off the new year with a bang.

Reports of last year's activities, under President Brooks' administration, indicated that 1948 was one of the club's best years.

President Tripp indicated that he expected the committee chairman to function efficiently and make monthly reports to the secretary. The report of the Underprivileged Child Committee was gratifying, and special thanks was given to the physicians in the club.

Dr. Leo Jenkins reported on the progress of the Kiwanis Key Club, Sam Northrop, Jr., president, composed of 18 high school boys, and the directors and officers said they are going to support the program.

El Bloom outlined plans for the next Kiwanis minstrel, to be held in April.

Officers and directors felicitated Past President Brooks on the fine letter of tribute he received from Carolinas Kiwanis District Governor Gene Coltrane of Brevard for his exceptional efficiency as head of the Greenville Kiwanis Club in 1948.

President Tripp outlined the 1949 objectives and the directors and committee chairman pledged him their support.

In addition to President Tripp, Past President Brooks and Vice President Tige Gardner, those present were: El Bloom, Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., W. H. Woolard, Dr. Melvin P. Hoot, Wyatt Highsmith and Hunter Keck, and J. Bryan Brown, J. Archie Rogers, Ed Williford, and V. A. Merritt, the host at the supper; David Evans, Dr. Leo Jenkins of the college, H. T. Smith, Dr. J. M. Barrett and Chester Walsh, public relations chairman.

Dog Ordinance Will Be Enforced; Must Have License Tags

Dick Stokes III, who has charge of the municipal dog pound, relayed this message about dogs taken up in the city:

"In accordance with an ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen in September, pertaining to dogs running at large within the city limits of Greenville will be picked up by the dog catcher and impounded in the animal shelter located on the Bethel highway. In order that a person reclaim his dog it will be necessary that he go to the police department and pay the required fine. He will be given a receipt which will be used as a release. Upon receipt of this memorandum, he is free to present this paper to the dog-catcher, pay the board bill which has been incurred and reclaim the dog.

"Another section of the ordinance requires that each dog owner have a license tag for his dog which shall be displayed at all times. This tag is to be attached to the dog's collar. These licenses are obtainable at the police department and it is requested that all dog owners get these tags immediately in order that the program to carry out the new ordinance might get under way more quickly.

"There are also six pups in the dog pound that need good homes. Anyone desiring to own a nice pet may stop by the Greenville Animal Shelter or dial 282.

"All dogs in the pound will be cared for for a period of six days and then will be disposed of. Unclaimed dogs will be offered for sale before their disposition."

President In No Hurry To Clarify His Farm Plans

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—The Truman Administration appeared today to be in no hurry to clarify its position on how far the government should go in supporting future farm prices.

This matter is a top-flight question in Congress and in many farming areas. Some farm groups want a continuation of present high wartime prices.

Others, fearing such supports would lead to overproduction and surpluses, want a system of flexible supports which would allow high floors under prices in times of shortages and lower ones in times of oversupply.

In three separate messages to the new 81st Congress, President Truman re-endorsed price supports, but did not say whether he favored a flexible system or more rigid floors patterned after those now in effect. In a special message to the Republican-controlled 80th Congress he urged flexible supports.

Little further enlightenment as to the Administration's views could be obtained at the Agriculture Department. Aides said the Administration may not speak on the issue until Congressional committees call Secretary of Agriculture Brannan before them to testify on farm legislation.

Such testimony could be weeks, if not several months away.

servers figure that when these public do discover just what has happened, they may turn against their governments.

It may well be that Moscow is counting on this contingency. Should such a situation develop it might give Communism a strong foothold in the Middle East. Certainly that's a possibility which is worrying Britain, and it would be a heavy blow to the anti-Communist West as a whole.

The Middle East forms a great land barrier between the Orient and the Western world. It is a mighty defense for the Suez Canal and the whole eastern Mediterranean area. It contains great quantities of oil—the essential of any war machine—in which not only Britain but America is vitally interested.

And from the standpoint of military strategy, the Middle East provides air-bases which the Western Allies must hold in the event of another world war.

Those bases would afford protection for the Mediterranean bases from which heavy bombers would be able to reach far—very far!
