Raps U.S. 'Imperial-ists' Seeking New War

Rome, Jan. 26—(AP)—Communist leaders of France and Italy told their 5,000,000 followers last night to join in a huge Russian-backed "peace front."

Members of the two largest Red parties outside Russia were ordered to throw "all their force" against "propaganda of hate and calumny" warlike preparations and policies of oppression.

At the same time, western Germany's No. 1 communist, called for "better relations" between the United States and Russia.

These moves were the latest developments in Russia's so-called "peace offensive," plying communists as lovers of peace and their opponents as warlike aggressors.

They followed shortly after Moscow's announcement that the Soviet and her eastern European satellites had been linked in an "economic council of mutual assistance" to counter the European Recovery Program.

But there still has been nothing but talk in the new Russian propaganda line. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has called on the Reds to prove that they mean what they say. There has been no direct response.

While other communist leaders spoke glowingly of peace, a Russian spokesman in Germany told German Reds the U.S. will use German for "cannon fodder" in a new war.

Col. Sergei Tulpanov, chief of the political division of the Soviet military administration in Germany said:

"Certain circles of the American imperialists, who are the instigators of a new war, aim to transform the German people into a tool of their imperialistic policies x x x and make them cannon fodder for the future."

The call for a "peace front" was announced by the Italian communist party after a conference with Marcel Cachin, veteran French communist leader.

A communiqué ordered French and Italian Reds to "fulfill their tasks of fighters of the international front which, under the leadership of the great Soviet Union, is checking the forces of oppression and war."

The communiqué described Cachin as a "peace messenger."

Cachin and Italian communist leader Palmiro Togliatti have spearheaded the recent "peace offensive." Both have made speeches, the latest last Sunday, in which they declared Russia wants peace.

But both also coupled their desire for peace with strong attacks on the United States which they said was preparing for war.

The other development in the Kremlin's drive to convince the non-communist world it can get along with Russia showed up at Frankfurt, Germany, today.

Max Reinmann, western Germany's top communist, called for "better relations" between the United States and Russia.

Under that policy, he told the House of Commons, "we have steadily supported all the resolutions of the Security Council as regards both sides in the Palestine dispute."

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today the labor government is "not going to be deterred an inch" from its policy toward Palestine.

The reason, he said, is that the "old, new plan" president Truman mentioned in his inaugural address doesn't exist in detail.

Now it's up to his lieutenants in the government to draw up such a plan.

This may seem startling: The President confidently mentions a plan which hasn't been worked out.

But, if you remember, that's just the way the Marshall plan for helping Europe started more than a year and a half ago.

The then Secretary of State Marshall made a talk at Harvard June 5, 1947.

In it he suggested vaguely that if the European countries wanted further American help they should figure out a program for getting it.

It was as simple, and loose as that.

To be sure of that, I looked up a piece I wrote on Marshall's plan four days after he made it. And in it I wrote:

Demos In Senate Pledge Speed On Labor Law Death

Leadership Plans
Streamlined Hearings On New Legislation Start Friday

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The Senate Democratic leadership promised today to "travel just as fast as we can all the way" in repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), the party floor leader, gave the fast action pledge.

Streamlined hearings on new labor legislation will get underway Friday morning with Secretary of Labor Tobin the first witness. The hearings, before the Senate Labor Committee, are scheduled to wind up February 10.

Lucas estimated the committee will need 10 days to two weeks after that to get a bill in shape.

"I don't want to be pinned down on a date," Lucas told a reporter, "but you can be sure the bill will be called up quickly for debate once it reaches the Senate floor."

Lucas put the speed-up in motion two days ago when he got the Labor Committee Democrats to block a proposal by Senator Morse (D-Ore.) which called for hearings through March and delivery of a bill to the Senate by April 10. Over sharp Republican protest, the Democratic majority voted instead to cut off hearings 16 days from now.

The motion, pushed through the committee 8 to 5, endorsed a bill by Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and restore the old Wagner Act. The resolution also is designed to limit the scope of the hearings to the Wagner Act "improvements" sought by President Truman.

Republican members of the committee who want to keep the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley measure were waiting today for a signal from Senator Taft (R-Ohio) on the strategy they will follow.

The GOP senators acknowledge that their effort to block repeal won't get very far in the committee. They expect to make their main fight on the floor.

One Republican who favors repeal, Senator Morse of Oregon, said the committee Democrats pulled a boner in inviting a floor scrap. He predicted "another coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans."

Tarboro Stores
Damaged By Fire

Tarboro, N. C., Jan. 26—(AP)—Fire swept through the Gift Shop, Grocery store and the Boykin Grocery store here early today. Assistant fire chief Ike Brown estimated damage at $20,000.

Firemen said they believed the blaze started in an oil stove in the Gift shop. It was brought under control in about an hour.

No Opposition
Seen For Webb

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The Senate is expected to give a thumping vote of confidence tomorrow to James E. Webb as under secretary of State.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, will place Webb's nomination before the Senate. No opposition is expected from either Republicans or Democrats.

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—President Truman's "bold, new plan" for helping backward countries is still vague and shadowy.

"True, there is plenty of talk here about it. And government officials have been asked about it. They're vague, too."

The reason, he said, is that the "old, new plan" president Truman mentioned in his inaugural address doesn't exist in detail.

Now it's up to his lieutenants in the government to draw up such a plan.

This may seem startling: The President confidently mentions a plan which hasn't been worked out.

It was as simple, and loose as that.

To be sure of that, I looked up a piece I wrote on Marshall's plan four days after he made it. And in it I wrote:

"Has anyone in the state department figured out exactly how this European get-together program can be set up?

"This writer inquired at the state department but could get no 'yes' answer. So at this moment Marshall's proposal seems a pretty vague thing."

"It didn't spring suddenly out of his head. There's been talk here for weeks that some organized relief and reconstruction plan for Europe is needed."

"And, it seems, Mr. Truman's 'bold, new plan' didn't spring suddenly out of his head."

In the first place, his inaugural speech was carefully written. And there's been talk here of doing something to help develop countries that need development."

But Europe took Marshall at his word and very shortly after his speech 16 European countries met at Paris to work out the Marshall plan."

Those countries and this government labored at the problem for months and it wasn't until well into 1948 that Congress finally approved it and voted the money to give American help."

Defer Action On Appointment Of Pitt ABC Head

County Officials Await Full Study Of Setup; W. C. Jones
To Stay On Job

Members of the Pitt County Commissioners, the Board of Education and the Health Department in joint session this morning continued Walter C. Jones as temporary chairman of the county ABC board and deferred action on the naming of a permanent chairman and county store manager, pending full study of the entire ABC setup.

Jones, who is a member of the county ABC board, has been acting chairman since the recent death of Chairman Charles O'H. Horne. Jones, already a member of the ABC board, is not a candidate for the position of permanent chairman and county store manager.

The joint boards this morning fixed his total salary at $100 per month during the time of his temporary chairmanship.

Since establishment of the ABC system in this county the board chairman has been acting as county store manager and a warehouse manager has been in charge of both warehouse duties and purchasing. The joint boards this morning gave some study to the advisability of changing the present setup in the interest of more efficient and economical operation. This was one of the reasons why action on the naming of any permanent chairman was deferred.

A special committee composed of R. H. McLawhorn, representing the Board of Education; Snodde M. Edwards, Board of Health, and J. Vance Perkins, Board of County Commissioners, was named to study the present plans of operations and make recommendations for any needed changes and to give study to the applications now on file for the office of chairman and receive such other applications as may be procured. The committee will make its report and recommendations at a later joint meeting of the three boards.

Applications for the office were from Luther H. Moore, O. C. Nobles, I. L. Stocks, John R. Barker, David C. Foster and W. H. Hall.

In view of the possible changes in the setup the three boards took no action today on the applications before it for the wholesale position of chairman and county store manager.

Blizzards Bring
Special Benefits

Western Farmers Suffer Now, But Pay-off Is Coming

Denver, Jan. 26—(AP)—The oceans of snow over the western United States are filled with something besides misery.

The beneficial payoff comes when the icy flakes start melting.

Farmers are the principal sufferers now. They'll be the prime beneficiaries when the snow melts, flows into streams and nourish the far-flung plains.

Federal officials agreed today the heavy snowpack from January's blizzards in the mountains assures adequate irrigation water. And that's the life blood of many of the West's rich farming areas.

Dry land farming may be similarly benefited. However, winds swept some spots clear while drifting the snow against obstructions on the prairies. The snow-barren spots may be lacking in soil moisture when spring comes.

The heavy snows may be the start of nature's defense against what agricultural officials said could be a catastrophe invasion of migratory grasshoppers. The areas swept by the worst storms were also the most vulnerable to the crop-destroying "hoppers. They are in southeastern Montana, eastern Wyoming and Colorado and the western parts of Nebraska and Kansas. Federal officials said the grasshopper threat is the worst since 1940.

Excellent water supplies—which the current storms promise—would insure strong growth of prairie grasses and farm crops. The luxurious growths could withstand the hungry attacks of the migratory "hoppers" without serious damage.

Israeli Election
Stamps Approval
On Government

Tel Aviv, Israel, Jan. 26—(AP)—Israeli voters appeared today to have stamped approval on the many-party government of their eight-month-old state.

With nearly half the vote counted in yesterday's election of the first Hebrew Parliament in history, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's moderate left labor party, Ma'arai, was leading with 35.3 per cent of all votes cast. Twenty-one parties had put up candidates.

The result appeared to guarantee a continuity in the cautious Foreign policy which brought the new nation through its first critical eight months while fighting off Arab league armies and balancing politically between east and west.

Post Office Damaged By Bomb Mailed In Package

Bowling Green Ky., Jan. 26—(AP)—A bomb in a parcel post package exploded in the post office here this morning, injuring three employees, one seriously.

Postal Inspector A. B. Cleveland said William Harry Osborne, 39, a clerk, suffered the loss of both hands and both eyes and was not expected to live.

Less seriously injured were Paul Goodrum, 46, and Ray Crosse, 37, mail carriers.

Cleveland said the package was addressed to Ulysses Jones, 14 Laurel Avenue. There is no such person or address, he added.

Charles Cossey, a brother of Ray carries the Laurel Street route and immediately turned the package back when he recognized that it was not properly addressed. Osborne was examining the parcel, about the size of a woman's compact, when the blast occurred.

Postal inspectors said the package came from an eastern city but they declined to reveal its name.

Two windows in the post office building was shattered by the blast, tables were wrecked and light fixtures broken. The explosion was heard a block or more away.

Deputy Sheriff Oscar Isbell said the remnants of the bomb gave off a small fire.

Postal inspectors, city police and Warren County sheriff's officers immediately began an investigation.

69 Years Old

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—A 69-year-old, influential man whom the Japanese call "Mahkassah" celebrated his birthday today.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of Allied Headquarters, was 69.

But age seems to make little impression on him. His tall, spare figure is as erect as ever, his handshake firm, his blue eyes twinkling.

It is MacArthur's 14th consecutive birthday out of the United States, his fourth in Japan since the end of the war.

It was a quiet day for the general, with business as usual. An aide said there were no special birthday plans. There would be a birthday cake.

Survey Reveals
New Price Drops

Cost Of Staple Food
Items In 13 Cities
Below Last Year

By The Associated Press

The cost of seven staple food items in 13 cities across the nation has dropped an average of 9.1 per cent from the level of a year ago, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Women's cotton house dresses are down an average of 24.5 per cent, and their nylon stockings are 15.3 per cent under the retail prices of a year ago.

The men are paying about 7.5 per cent less for shirts, but men's and women's shoes and men's suits cost about the same as they did in Jan. 1948.

Those are overall figures for the entire list of items in all 13 cities. The residents of San Francisco weren't quite that lucky. The price of food items checked there showed an overall increase of about one-half of one per cent.

And a quart of milk was the only one of the staple food items that was higher priced generally.

The survey was based on the current retail price of these seven staple food items—a loaf of bread, a dozen best grade eggs, a pound of top grade butter, a quart of milk, a pound of pork loin, a pound of leg of lamb and a pound of chopped steak (U. S. No. 1).

Pension Program For Vets Given New Preference

Multi-Billion Dollar
Veterans Pension
Bill Gets Green
Light In Committee

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—A veterans pension proposal with a multi-billion dollar price tag had the right of way today in the House Veterans Affairs committee.

Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) made it the first order of business for tomorrow, with Gen. John Thomas Taylor, National Legislative Commander of the American Legion, as first witness.

The legislation, by estimate of Rankin and the American Legion, affects some 18,000,000 veterans of World Wars I and II.

Its impact upon the National pocketbook has not yet been officially estimated, but veterans administration figures show that there are more than 3,500,000 veterans who would reach the pension age within the next 10 years.

On the basis of the bill's pension provisions, this could mean a possible bill of $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year by 1959—if all those veterans lived to the age of 60.

The bill was introduced by Rankin last week at the request of the American Legion. The Mississippi said it has the approval of other veterans organizations as well.

"I don't think there will be a dozen votes against it in both houses," he told a reporter.

The bill provides both for non-service connected disabilities, and for old age.

On reaching 60, the veteran would receive $30 a month, whether disabled or not. At the age of 65, it would go to $60. That would be in addition to any disability payments he may have been receiving, or would later receive.

Disability rated at 20 per cent would entitle him to $20 additional a month; 40 per cent disability, $40 a month; 60 per cent, $60 a month; total disability, $90 a month.

In cases where a veteran required an attendant because of blindness, or any other disability making him helpless, his pension would be $120 a month.

His disability need not have been incurred in line of service, and he would be eligible if he served 90 days during either of the last two wars.

Wholesale Food
Price Index Low

New York, Jan. 26—(AP)—The Dun and Bradstreet food index this week declared to be $5.91—lowest since the end of OPA price control in October of 1946.

The decline amounted to 1.8 per cent from a week ago, 17.6 from a year ago, and 19.7 per cent from the all-time high of last July 13 when the index was $7.38.

The index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Mississippi Takes Lead In Defense Of Present Debate
Rules

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Southern senators opened a campaign today to save their traditional filibuster weapon.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss.) lined them up to carry the fight before the Senate Rules Committee.

The committee is studying resolutions which would give the Senate the power to shut off debate at any time by a majority or a two-thirds vote.

Stennis was due to take the lead in defense of the present debate rules as the first witness.

"Once we change the rules," Stennis told a reporter prior to the hearing, "it will be the beginning of a breakdown of our traditional institutions."

Stennis said some Republican senators are willing to accept a rule which would cap debate at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members.

"If this is done," Stennis said, "then our constitutional process will lose another safeguard. The gag rule will become a weapon of party politics."

Stennis is one of a group of 17 Southern Democrats who have pledged to fight his proposed rule changes. They argue that the changes are merely the first step in a move to enact anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment legislation.

Surprised Over
Republican Ire

Doughton Answers
GOP 'Steamroller'
Charge

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Irritated surprise was the Democratic reaction today to a Republican charge of using a "steamroller" to drive President Truman's legislative program through Congress.

Rep. Reed of New York, senior house whip and means Republican issued a GOP statement bristling with charges. He said that some business men hesitate to appear against the President's foreign trade bill for fear of "retaliation" by the administration.

"I don't know what the man is talking about," said ways and means chairman Doughton (D-N.C.). "He must not understand what is going on. I'm surprised."

Reed issued the blast as the administration piled testimony before the committee supporting Mr. Truman's proposal to repeal the 1948 GOP tariff act and restore the old reciprocal trade law.

Among those who had testified were:

Charles F. Taft, brother of Senator Taft (R-Ohio). He endorsed the President's call for repeal of the 1948 GOP tariff act.

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, CIO director of education and research who said: "American labor knows that huge American corporations shed crocodile tears over the tale that imports depress American wages, their real purpose is to restrict imports so they can raise prices, to consumers and increase their own large profits."

Walter J. Mason, AFL legislative representative, who said the AFL endorses the reciprocal trade agreements program, but suggested safeguards for labor in some industries competitive with imported goods.

William L. Clayton of Texas former undersecretary of state, who said America must import foreign goods or keep on sending $5,000,000,000 or more abroad a year so other nations can buy American goods.

Scholastic Leader Has Role In Senior Play 'Annie Laurie'

Carl Denton, member of the cast of "Annie Laurie," GHS senior play, portrays the part of a Scottish stable boy on the estate of Maxwellton, scene of the drama. Though Carl may have to spend some effort acquiring that stable-side manner, his record in Greenville high school proves that he has mastered the manner of the capable executive.

These powers of leadership were brought to light in Carl's sophomore year when his classmates elected him vice-president. Attesting their approval of his leadership, the class of '49 elected him to the post of junior class president and the following year re-elected him president of the senior class.

When Carl or "Doc," as he is known by his friends, is not directing some class project, he is busy in the activities of the National Honor Society, traffic committee, chess club and Student Council.

Copping a cherished senior superlative, Carl was voted the best all-around boy in the class of '49.

After living the part of "Sandy," the stable boy, for three rehearsals a week for the last three weeks, Denton offers this observation of his characterization: "I like the part of 'Sandy' because this slow, dim-witted character requires no acting whatsoever on my part. All I have to do is act natural."

Large Audience Attends Recital

George E. Perry, pianist and instructor in music at East Carolina Teachers College, played last night in the Austin auditorium on the campus before a large audience from both the college and the city. The recital was sponsored by the department of music at the college and was the first in a series of programs to be offered this year by faculty members at East Carolina. Perry's recital opened with his own arrangement of the "Air from Suite in D Major" by J. S. Bach and included works by composers from the classic to the modern periods in music. Musicians in the audience commented enthusiastically on Perry's interpretations of numbers by J. S. and E. P. Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, and Gershwin, and those present called the pianist back to the stage for a series of encores.

After the recital Dr. and Mrs. Karl V. Gilbert entertained informally in honor of Mr. Perry at their home on East Eighth Street. Present for the occasion were Dr. and Mrs. John D. Messick, Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Willmann, members of the department of music at the college and a small group of other faculty members.

Tomorrow's Gardens

By Greenville Garden Club

Dogwood planting week, an excellent project sponsored by the Garden club of North Carolina began January 23 and will continue through this week, however planting season for the east lasts until March.

This is our state flower, none lovelier in winter with its bare branches glistening with glowing ruby berries, and in spring its burst of lovely bloom. We need its lightness, grace and beauty on our landscape.

Garden club members will plant many of these trees during this week, won't you do your bit by planting at least one and as many more as you can? Ask your friends and neighbors to do likewise. Let's plant dogwood around our homes, public places, school grounds, church yards, cemeteries and parks and visualize the beauty that will be ours in just a few years.

With its white bloom of spring, its green foliage of summer, its flaming leaves and berries of autumn and early winter. It is always a delight.

Birds are particularly fond of the berries and are an important means of scattering the seeds. What could be lovelier than blue birds sitting among the masses of the lacy blossoms of this famous shrub of the south. No better tree could be planted to entice the birds and add beauty to a bird sanctuary at the same time. The dogwood will thrive in almost any type of soil after becoming established but needs water and mulching during the first year.

Says Hotel Loss Due To Lack Of Fire Sprinklers

Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 26.—(P)—Lack of a sprinkling system has been blamed for the destruction by fire of the Orton hotel here early last Friday.

State fire Marshal Sherwood Brockwell said last night that a sprinkling system, using only 800 gallons of water, would have extinguished the flames. The Wilmington Fire Department estimated it took 2,000,000 gallons to fight the stubborn blaze.

J. R. Mallard, an aged Charlottesville man who was in the hotel, has been missing since the flames leveled the hotel and two nearby buildings.

The word "furlong" originally meant a "furrow long"—the length of the usual acre strip in the medieval manorial system.

Dowd Speaks At NCEA Meeting

Mr. E. O. Dowd was the principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the local NCEA and Class Room Teachers held at the Episcopal parish house on the evening of January 24.

Mr. Dowd gave a most interesting and enlightening report on the findings and recommendations of the Education Commission. This commission was appointed by Governor Cherry in 1947 with the authorization of the General Assembly.

Along with his enthusiastic presentation of material, Mr. Dowd used an interpretative film strip, "Education in North Carolina Today and Tomorrow," sponsored by the United Forces for Education.

The United Forces for Education is made up of the State Board of Education, the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers, the State Grange, the Farm Bureau Federation, the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs and the North Carolina Education Association.

Among the startling facts brought out by Mr. Dowd were the following:

There are 60,000 handicapped children in our public schools for whom no special services are provided.

Some 46 out of each 100 white and some 87 out of each 100 Negroes who enter high school are drop-outs or failures.

In 1942 there were 15,144 teachers with "A" certificates; in 1948 the number had dropped to 13,002. In 1942 there were only five teachers who were emergency teachers without even a high school diploma. Last year this number had increased to 368.

There were also startling figures on the need for school buildings all over the state, the crying need for more teachers, a dramatic comparison of North Carolina with other states in the matter of salary and teacher load. "Crowded class rooms" is one of the constant cries of educators and interested citizens in our state. The average teacher load in Georgia is 24, in Virginia 26, and in North Carolina 33. If the average number of students, based on attendance is 33, the teacher in North Carolina will have from 40 to 60 students enrolled in her group.

The Education Commission is recommending a budget which will remedy these and other deficiencies and weaknesses in our educational system in North Carolina.

As Mr. Dowd said, surely no group should be better informed on the facts here, than the teachers themselves. In order that this report may be adopted by the Legislature, however, it is important that the citizens also be informed on the actual conditions of our schools and of their status as compared to schools in other states.

The teachers planned to do what they can to spread this information, especially in their own communities.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Howard Hims, president of the Class Room Teacher organization of Greenville. Mrs. Luther Herring brought the group up to date on the doings of the Legislature on education problems. The program was arranged by two committees of the organization, Legislative and Teacher Interest headed by Miss Frances Lamb and Miss Estelle Green, respectively. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Miss Jane Hadley, chairman of the Social committee.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—how's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 35¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Chicago, Jan. 26 (AP)—John Donaldson, who observed his 102nd birthday today, says it isn't fair to compare modern age with "way back when."

"Some things were better then," he said, "and some things are better now. It's just good to be alive." Donaldson has been in retirement for only two years. He quit his job as a bookkeeper at a hospital when he reached 100.

Such a situation has prompted these men to organize the Owl's club to sponsor dances and other entertainment in this city from time to time. Of course the success of this club depends on your patronage and in return we promise the best bands in the land. Watch this and other papers for further details.

Strength FOR THE DAY

ARE YOU TOUGH-MINDED?
It has been said of a certain statesman in this country that he has the best mind in his party.
until he makes it up. Rumor has it that once he has made up his mind on an issue, he becomes stubborn and disdainful of the opinions of others.

It's a fine thing to have a tough, independent mind, but like most of life's advantages, it carries within it the seeds of its own dissolution.
The tough-minded person is hard to get along with. Frequently he identifies his judgment with universal moral principle and becomes righteously indignant with anyone who disagrees with him. The cure of the independent thinker is not that he regards himself so often as being right, but that he so seldom accords to his opponents the benefit of the doubt. He hammers the table and talks about moral principle, and everyone else is supposed to be duly chastened and repentant.

PUBLIC FORUM

Discussing problems of interest to this community. In all cases names must accompany any communication.

To the Editor:
As both a native and a resident of this state, I resent these Virginia
"Blue Birds" coming into my state to take advantage of the educational facilities that we have provided, while at the same time they savagely attack those who have provided such institutional facilities. While we welcome students from other states, so long as they can be accommodated without crowding out deserving students from our own state, we do not welcome the sophisticated attitude of the mere student who seems to think that he is ordained of God to come into our state to civilize us and to set us up with the high and exalted educational standards of his own state, which for some reason or other he has left behind to take advantage of those we provide instead. I resent such an attitude just as much as I resent the Yankee who comes down from the frozen regions of the north to thaw out his icy bones under our Southern sun, only once having been limbered up, thereby returns to his region of shadows to spread ghastly and false reports about our fair and sunny Southland. And that doesn't mean that I am blind to any good that there may be in the far off north lands. It does seem to me, however, that if anything needs to be said about needed improvements in our schools, we have plenty of wide-awake natives who are well qualified to say all that needs to be said on such subjects; and it is proper and fitting that it should be left to such natives to give expression to such ideas.

As for the needs of East Carolina Teachers College, I have had ample opportunity to study that situation from the very basement to the attic, over and over again. In so doing I have had ample opportunity to study the student from both a psychological, educational, and moral point of view; and I am NOT convinced with Mr. Allan H. Burnham that the predominant ambition of the masses of the students in that or in any other state-owned and operated educational institution is to get an education. I see at least some who are more interested in breaking up than building up, tearing down window shades, breaking off window screens, smashing window lights, transoms, breaking out door knobs, crashing locks, etc. If the average citizen could look upon the evidence of destruction at the hands of students that I have seen at East Carolina Teachers College day in and day out, he would wonder that we have enough money left in our treasury to keep up even the repairs on what facilities we do have, to say nothing of building and equipping greater.

While I am a great stickler for the doctrine and the principle of the separation of church and state, and believe that this principle precludes the teaching of the Bible and religion as such in state-owned and operated institutions, still my observations have long ago convinced me that the greatest need of our institutions is not a material need.

It is not greater building, much as they are needed; but it is a higher standard of morals. For no sober-minded person can look upon the evidence of immorality which these eyes of mine have beheld on the grounds and in the halls of educational institutions, without being convinced that the crying need in our schools and colleges is for lofty moral standards. Such institutions should be made to realize that their mission is to lift up, and not tear down, the moral fiber of well meaning students who do enter. A state-owned institution is no place for the gambling and unholiness that drags down rather than lift up.
Those in authority should see to it that dives of sin are not permitted where culture should prevail instead.
It is a great indictment against any educational institution when it can be said that a full barrel of whiskey bottles and of other strong drink around one of its auditoriums after a single unholy dance. The people of the state have a right to know these things, as well as a God-given duty to see that no man has grounds for saying that our public schools and colleges are "cess pools of moral pollution," or "nurseries of hell," as has already been charged.

Religion should not be taught as such; but irreligion should be prohibited both in the classrooms and on the grounds and in the halls; and none but those of the highest moral and religious ideals should be allowed to occupy the chairs in any of our state-operated educational institutions. The church people of the land have a right to demand that of those who act as trustees, or else to see that such trustees are replaced with those worthy of the name.

Respectfully submitted,

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE
Bay Minette, Ala.—(P)—Wayfar-ing preachers have saved many souls.
But only one I ever heard of saved a weekly newspaper.
He saved it for a friend or mine, Jimmy Faulkner, publisher of the Baldwin Times. And today when Jimmy talks about the good samaritan to his Sunday school class, the old bible tale has a special meaning to him.
It's quite a story. And Jimmy is quite a story, too. At 30 he was one of the youngest weekly publishers in the country. He was also at 23, as head of the Alabama Press Association, probably the youngest ever to head a state press group. At 24 he was reported the youngest mayor in America.
When the war came along Jimmy was in a position to grab for something easy. But he volunteered as a private in the air force and became a B-26 bomber pilot instructor.
Now at 32 he is a member of the State Democratic Executive committee, and a rising figure in Alabama politics.
Jimmy is a symbol of the new tumult in the south. He thinks the excitement over the race issue is less important to the future welfare of the section than the permanent education and economic improvement of its people—black as well as white. And he thinks conditions are improving rapidly.
When I first knew Jimmy we were roommates together back at the boarding house of Mrs. E. E. Tydings in Columbia, Mo. Jimmy had come to the University of Missouri because it had the oldest and one of the best journalism schools in the land, and his own state at that time had none. Now it does have.
He earned his way by hopping tables and wiping dishes at the boarding house and working in the school library. But when Jimmy had his education he didn't stay away from home—as so many southern boys did. He came back home to the state of his heart.
He was 20 years old. He owed $500 to the University of Missouri and he couldn't find a job. Then he heard the weekly Baldwin County Times was for sale here. His widowed mother volunteered to mortgage her home to raise the down payment. He bought the paper. But it was run down. To improve it more money had to be borrowed.
"I owed more than $12,000 before I was 21," Jimmy recalled. "The mortgages were falling due, and I had no money to tide me over."
It was about this time a traveling preacher drove into town in a battered car to hold a revival. He came into Jimmy's office to ask for a small news story about the revival.
He was tired and his suit had wrinkles.
He even looked hungry, and Jimmy invited him over to his house for breakfast.
That was the only time he saw the preacher. But some weeks later he received a letter from him saying:
"I am impressed with what you are trying to do in your town, and it occurred to me you might need some money."
Recalling the meager appearance of the minister, Jimmy didn't think the man was in a position to help.
But when he answered and said he was in a tight spot, back came a check of $1,000. Later he sent another check for $1,000.
"Without his help I would have lost my newspaper," said Jimmy.
"Yet I met this man only once, and he didn't ask for security of any kind. He was the angel in my life."
Those lean years are past now.
Jimmy repaid the stranger—with interest. But it taught him this life lesson:
"Kindness begets kindness. There is no excuse for being on this earth unless we help our fellow man. And there is no excuse for a newspaper unless it helps to make its community better."
And Jimmy does try to live up to

GHS Quintets Take Sweep In Elizabeth City

Easy Victories Scored By Locals; 34-13; 51-31

Junior Varsity And Regulars Never Threatened By Opponents; Locals Held Control All The Way

Greenville High School annexed both ends of doubleheader over the fellow Jacks and Jayees of Elizabeth City last night in a North-eastern conference affair on the home court of the losers.

The Green Phantoms swept to an easy 51 to 31 victory in the first game after the Pitt County Jayees scored a 34 to 13 win over the Jacks Jayees in the preliminary.

Elizabeth City never threatened the two Bo Farley coached aggregations from Greenville. The Phantoms and Jayees were in complete control all the way.

In the Varsity game Farley set the pace for the winners by scoring 13 points with Northrop and Allgood following with eight and seven points respectively.

Sophomores Billy Pappendick and Jimmy Prescott scored high for the Elizabeth City varsity with eight and seven points. Big Gun Gardner and Anderson, score forward, who has set the pace for the Jacks in previous games this season was held to three points by the dynamic Phantom defense.

Haymes took the scoring initiative for the Greenville Juniors by racking up 12 points. Briley came through with eight. Dunbar and Brown managed five and four respectively for the completely outclassed boys of Elizabeth City.

Bethel Ekes Out 41-40 Win Over Jamesville Team

Bethel High School's boys fought to a 41 to 40 victory over the Jamesville high school cagers last night in the top half of a doubleheader which saw the Jamesville girls outdistance the Bethel lassies 22 to 18 in a preliminary.

The Bethel High boys, scoring their twenty-first win in 24 games, were trailing 19 to 18 at halftime in a game which saw the lead change hands repeatedly. The winners were in the lead five points with two minutes left to play.

But the determined Jamesville boys, who until last night had lost but one game, narrowed the lead to 39-41 by the final whistle. A free throw after the final whistle moved the score to 41-40 with the Bethel quintet still ahead.

W. Z. Worsley paced the winners with 16 points while the floor performance of Earl Keel captured the defensive spotlight. Frank Hemingway, a forward, and William Earl House, a center, scored nine points each for the victors. Bill Smith scored six for the winners and Mac Whitehurst, a guard, was held scoreless.

Billy Brewer and Dorman Gaines, both forwards, shared scoring laurels for the Jamesville quint. Each scored 12 points. Waters with nine, Modlin with four and Hardison with three accounted for the other Jamesville tallies.

In the girls' game, which saw the score knotted nine-all at intermission, Barbara Coltraine led the way for the victorious Jamesville girls with 15 points. Joan Crisp scored 11 for Bethel.

Bethel entertains the Tarboro Tigers in Bethel tonight in a game benefitting the polio fund drive.

Elon Basketball Quint In Cellar Of North State

By The Associated Press
Elon's Christians were all by themselves today in the cellar of the North State conference's basketball campaign.

The Christians tangled last night with Guilford's Quakers in a battle of the losers and came out on the tail end 54-58.

Previously neither team had registered a conference triumph.

Al Johns was Guilford's big man, dominating play under the backboards and hitting for 10 points. Atlantic Christian and Appalachian are tied for fourth place today as a result of Appalachian's 56-46 win over A. C. C. last night at Boone. The Mountaineers jumped to a 28-16 halftime advantage and withstood a late drive by the invaders who outscored them in the second stanza.

Tonight's only game places Atlantic Christian at Lenoir-Rhyne.

McAfee To Join Deacons' Grid Coaching Staff

Wake Forest, N. C., Jan. 26.—(P)—George McAfee, one of the greatest backs ever produced in North Carolina, is returning to the state as part of Coach Peabody Walker's Wake Forest coaching staff.

McAfee, who started at Duke in the late 30's and then went on to become one of the stars of the professional Chicago Bears, will report at Wake Forest with the start of spring practice on Feb. 7.

Coach George Halas of the Bears has referred to McAfee as "the greatest back I've even seen and the best back I've coached."

Charlie Justice Described Okay

Chapel Hill, N. C., Jan. 26.—(P)—The University of North Carolina's all-America halfback, Charlie Justice, was feeling chipper today.

After a completion of a physical examination yesterday, University infirmary officials said he had no serious ailment of any kind. Earlier, he had been bothered by a stomach disorder.

Davidson, N. C., Jan. 26.—(P)—Coach Charlie Jamerson called his Davidson College football team for their first 1949 practice today.

Lead At Stake

The Greenville National Guard's Tobacco Belt league lead will be at stake tonight when they play host to the powerful Richlands All-Stars at the local armory.

A win for Richlands would dump the Guardsmen to second place and the All-Stars would take over the conference lead.

Coach Hopes His Star Forwards Will Be On Deck

Coach Howard Porter counted the days until the Lenoir-Rhyne game today and wondered if his two top performing forwards would be ready to go by Saturday night. And with only four days remaining until the game, the East Carolina Teachers College basketball coach expressed his doubts that Jack Everton and Charlie Bill Boyd would see very much action in the contest.

Everton, the ECTC high scorer for the season, is sidelined with two sprained ankles. He scored seven points against AC last week despite an injury to his right ankle. When he came out of the game however, his other ankle had suffered a sprain.

"He will be on the floor but he certainly won't be in top shape by Saturday night," Porter announced last night.

Moye, the Pirates' shifty, cagey and elusive team captain who shares high scoring honors with Everton, was back in uniform yesterday after being out two weeks with a dislocated toe. But Charlie Bill saw only a light workout and indications are that the boy who has been forced to nurse a sore toe while his team mates suffered three straight defeats, may miss his fourth game in a row.

Coach Porter is hoping the boys will be in top shape for the Appalachian game in Boone February 4.

Game's Proceeds For Polio Drive

Bell Arthur, Jan. 26.—On Friday night the boys and girls' basketball teams of Chocod school will meet the teams from Dover high in a game for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

All proceeds of the contest will be turned over to the Pitt County Infantile Paralysis fund campaign.

Capacity Crowd Expected For 10-Bout Fight Card At College

By EUGENE PRICE

Fight lovers of this section looked to ECTC's Wright auditorium today as the East Carolina pugilists and the boxing team from the Goldsboro Athletic Club prepared for a 10-bout match tonight.

A capacity crowd is expected to invade the auditorium to see the second home scheduled match of the year for the Buccaneers boxers. The Bucs scored a clean sweep over the Winston-Salem team here two weeks ago.

The Goldsboro team, boasting the services of Ron Clark who won the light heavyweight crown in Golden Gloves competition at Raleigh this year, is expected to provide the ECTC pugs with the strongest competition they have faced since they lost 7½ to 1 to Charlotte in the first match of the season.

Though the bout featuring Red-wan David, co-captain of the ECTC squad, against Golden Gloves champ Ron Clark is expected to be one of most interest, local fans are looking to Bob Wheeler, who fought with the ECTC intramural team last season, and his bout with Goldsboro's Carl Miller.

Wheeler, a classy little lightweight, takes the place of former team captain Donald Denney in the ECTC lineup Wednesday night. Denney dropped boxing because of scholastic difficulties, according to Coach Jim Johnson.

Ken Stargardt, who was elected with David as co-captain of the local team after Denney quit, will be after win number four tonight when he faces Eugene Sasser in a 165 pound class bout. The Richmond, Va., freshman, undefeated this year, throws knockout blows with either hand.

Bill Torman is tentatively scheduled to represent ECTC against Lafayette Davis in a 160 pound event.

Henry Bruton, making his first appearance against outside competition, will probably be matched with 145 pound Bill Summerlin. Charlie Edwards will fight Goldsboro's Bill Wooten in another 145 pound classic.

Paul Hansell, a southpaw with two wins and a single loss this year, will take on Hassell Wooten in a welterweight event.

Jack Amyette will wear the purple and gold of ECTC against Dave Strickland and Harvey Stull will fight Eugene Keene.

In the only 125 pound event of the evening Cleo Smith will square off with Jim Alexander.

Bitter Rivals In Contest Tonight

By The Associated Press

Two of the Southern Conference's bitterest rivals, George Washington University and the University of Maryland, collided tonight at College Park, Md., in the circuit basketball headline.

The game not only is the headline, it's the only contest listed on the program for any of the loop's 16 teams.

In-and-out George Washington, possessor of a 4-3 conference record, will be favored, but the Terps, winners in only two out of five family engagements, have proved they can be tough. The Terps held such conference standouts as North Carolina and Davidson to narrow wins, and came within three points of upsetting highly-regarded Georgetown.

If George Washington can win tonight, the Colonials will move up a notch in the conference standings, ousting idle Duke (3-21) and Davidson (3-2) from a tie for sixth place.

North Carolina State's Hoosier hot shots hung up their fourth victory in a row in the only game on last night's program. State, which leads the circuit, took on the Quantico Marines and won, 64-40, before 2,000 spectators at Raleigh.

Chapter 16

Jack had been a gay and charming companion through the carefree weeks, adding the ever-important masculine element to her various activities. At least three evenings a week he would call for her and they would go dancing, usually to Playland where the orchestra was acknowledged to be something quite special and where an air of informality and good fellowship prevailed.

On his free days Jack had taken her for long drives on the Cape. They would take their bathing suits along, because they usually wound up at Alden Beach. They would stop at roadside stands to eat hamburgers or hot dogs, or fried clams that tasted like something out of this world.

It was the middle of August and only a few weeks of the glorious summer season remained. Jack had promised to arrive early so they could have a long day with plenty of time for browsing around.

"I'll be out front honking the horn at eight o'clock sharp," he said. "If you don't want the whole neighborhood alarmed, better be ready."

Well, she was ready, had been ready since a quarter to eight. Ready to run like mad the minute the car entered the driveway, before Jack started blowing that infernal horn. It was now ten o'clock, and still Jack had not come. That was not like Jack Barnes. As a rule he arrived much too soon.

At that moment she heard the sound of an automobile horn outside—three long blows and one short, which was Jack's usual signal, to be repeated at unnecessarily frequent intervals until Betty appeared. Today, however, he did not repeat the signal.

She jumped up from the kitchen chair where she had been waiting, ran out the side door and climbed into the car before she spoke.

"Well," she said, pretending to scold. "I like this. Next time you tell me to be ready at daylight I'll know you mean noon."

"Gee—I'm sorry." He did not look at her, but sat with his face averted. As a rule his broad grin was almost as much in evidence as his fiery red hair. "Couldn't be helped. It was just one of those things. I was detained."

They had to step on it now, if they were to spend any time in Provincetown. He backed the car out of the driveway and stepped hard on the gas, his face still turned away from Betty.

She leaned over and took a good look at him, then her jaw dropped. The left side of Jack Barnes' face, including his eyes, was swollen and bruised, as if from the impact of a heavy fist.

"What on earth's happened?" she exclaimed. "Why, your whole face is a mess!"

Betty was puzzled. In spite of his red hair, Jack Barnes was not a belligerent person. He was not one to engage in a brawl. But she knew very well that the black eye and the bruise on his face were the result of contact with a door. Only a fist, and a very heavy fist, could have done all that damage.

It was not until they were eating lunch in a small roadside on the ocean side of the Cape that he told her. Even then his approach was such that it was some little time before she could see any connection between what he was saying and anything remotely resembling a fight.

"Your little cousin Gertrude should have her bottom spanked," he began. "She's got no business tearing around the Cape and getting into everybody's hair."

"Why pick on Gertrude?" she asked coldly. "She's only a kid. It's summer. She's got a right to have fun. I can't see that she's getting into anybody's hair."

That wasn't quite true, Betty reflected. Of late Gertrude had been causing both Uncle Dave and Aunt Minnie considerable anxiety. On several occasions Gertrude had stayed out quite late and there had been any number of quarrels between the girl and her mother.

School Rates Accredited List For 8th Year In Row

Farmville, Jan. 26.—Sam D. Bundy, principal of the Farmville High School, announced today the Farmville High School has been placed again on the accredited list of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools. Being placed on this accredited list makes the eighth straight year the Farmville High School has received this distinction.

There are about seventy-five high schools in the state which are rated as accredited by the Southern Association and Farmville is among the few high schools in a county system that maintains this rating, for most of the schools accredited by the Southern Association are special charter city schools.

Mr. Bundy stated that the certificate of accreditation was accompanied by a letter from Frank Jenkins, executive secretary, commending the school upon its progress in the past year.

Among the items commended were the addition of a librarian, the addition of public school music and glee club, the addition of band instruction, the introduction of a physical education program and a generally enriched school program.

SELECTED PRESIDENT
At a meeting held Tuesday evening in Raleigh, Dais R. Oldley, truck specialist for the John Flanagan Buggy Company, was elected president of the Ford Truck Specialist Club. This organization is comprised of truck managers representing firms from every Ford dealership in Western North Carolina, including Raleigh and Wilmington.

Superior Court Is Busy Again

By CHESTER WALSH
In Superior Court today, Judge John J. Burney of Wilmington presiding over the one-week criminal term, sentenced Daniel Russell Early, elderly Negro operator of a tourist home on Bonner's Lane, to six months on the roads after a jury had convicted him of operating a bawdy house.

The court suspended sentence on condition that Early pay court costs, vacate the premises within 30 days and not operate in future a similar resort, and that he remain of good behavior for 12 months.

Shortly before the court recessed for lunch today, Judge Burney pronounced sentence on Walter Frank Gray, 20 year old Negro who the jury found guilty of forgery of Jake Vester's name to a $400 check which Gray attempted to cash at the Guaranty bank the day before Christmas Eve. Burney sentenced Gray to two years in state prison suspended sentence, and placed Gray on probation for five years.

In five cases of driving motor vehicles while drunk, tried in Superior Court this week, juries found all of them "not guilty." In one of the cases, five officers testified at the trial that the defendant was drunk. There were 22 cases of driving drunk on the docket for trial. Nearly all of them were up on appeals, some on requests for

Dance Thursday

The annual "March of Dimes" dance for the benefit of the Pitt County Chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation will be held in the Wright building at East Carolina Teachers College Thursday night at 9 o'clock. Bob Lee's orchestra, composed of ECTC musicians, will provide the music. The Greenville Lions Club has charge of selling tickets. Tickets are $1.50 per couple.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, dean at ECTC and chairman for Pitt County, suggested the slogan, "Dance in order that children may walk."

Jury trials.

The Pitt County Grand Jury has returned more than a dozen "true bills." One of them was against Johnny Edwards, Ayden negro logwoodsman, in connection with the knife slaying of Levy Albright, Negro farm worker, in Ayden on January 4.

Case disposed of Tuesday included the following:
Choppy Smoot, colored, pleaded guilty to larceny and receiving stolen goods in three cases. The court gave him six months on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he pay all costs for which the county is liable.

Henry Lee Thomas, colored, was not guilty of breaking, entering and larceny.

Ray Hemby, colored, was not guilty of larceny.

A capias was issued for Jesse Jenkins, colored, charged with breaking, entering and larceny when he was called and failed to answer.

The case of Henry Faircloth charged with fraud, was remanded to the lower court and the defendant is to pay costs in the case before Superior Court.

The jury returned verdicts of not guilty in the cases of Blaney Heath, Joseph Elton Andrews and Norman Russell Everett, who were charged with driving motor vehicles while drunk.

Price Supports Plan Explained

G. T. Scott, state director of the Production and Marketing Administration, has released information concerning the handling of price support programs in a letter to the county and community committees.

Potatoes, both sweet and Irish, are supported on both a loan, purchase and purchase agreement basis, and all operations are handled by county and state committees.

Cotton loans are available on both warehouse and farm-stored cotton. Loans on farm-stored cotton are made upon approval of the county committees. Loans on warehouse-stored cotton are available only when documents are prepared by clerks approved by the county committee.

Contractual services with warehousemen and lending agencies are performed by PMA Commodity Offices.

Tobacco support operations are handled for flue-cured tobacco by the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corporation, Raleigh, N. C. and for other tobacco by other established cooperatives approved by the PMA. Eligibility of producers for loans is determined by compliance with acreage allotments established by county and community committees.

Compliance with county and community committees and certification of eligibility for loan is determined by county committees. The loans are actually made by the warehouseman, who is reimbursed by the cooperative, who in turn is reimbursed by CCC.

The Asiatic bloc either is going to join hands with the Communists or is going to fight them. There can be no half way business with Communism, as the Western world

Not Acclimated

Princeton, Mo., Jan. 26.—(P)—Want to know how to keep sheep from slipping in icy weather? Put socks on them.
Farmer Bill Cox found some of his sheep stranded in a ditch. He put men's work socks on them. They then climbed up the icy slope.
Cox isn't the only Missouri farmer who's been having trouble with livestock during the icy weather. Joe Jenkins reported his bull slid down a long hill—sitting down.
"He came from Arkansas last summer," said Mrs. Jenkins, "and he's not used to all the ice." The bull is in the barn now—and he won't come out.

has found to its cost.

But Communism is the antithesis of nationalism. Nations which embrace the Redism abandon sovereignty and take their orders from Moscow. The satellites of Eastern Europe are a prime example. All of them are tied to Russia, excepting Yugoslavia which kicked over the traces. The Yugoslavs rebelled against Moscow authority because they are nationalists at heart.
It strikes me that if the whole Western world subscribes to the principle of self-determination for all nations we shall have the Asiatic bloc with us in the fight against Communism. If the bloc should swing into the Red camp—then heaven help us.

An Incomplete . . .

"plan" is sure to take many months of work, too.

There's a chance, to be sure, that the "plan" may never be worked out, or, if it is, that Congress won't approve.

That would put Mr. Truman on a spot: of talking to the world about a "plan" that never really became a plan at all.

If all this seems strange, the vague beginning for both the Marshall plan and the "bold, new plan"—it's because:

History is the story of new trying to build a road—or a roadblock. Sometimes they'll try one, sometimes the other. They'll shift, and change, and improvise to fit a purpose or solve a problem.

Since this country doesn't have any long-range, world-wide plan for stopping Communism, sometimes it has to play by ear and do what it thinks necessary at any given time.

Scandinavian Rift Apparent

Stockholm, Jan. 26.—(P)—The Scandinavian military alliance project seemed doomed today.

"Only a miracle can prevent a rift straight through Scandinavia, with Norway joining the Atlantic pact, leaving Sweden in neutral isolation and Denmark at the crossroads," a Stockholm diplomat told.
