Peiping Salutes Conquerors With Usual Turn Out

Reds Get Same Ovation Given Japs, Americans, Nationalist Armies

Peiping, Feb. 3—(AP)—Old Peiping gave its communist conquerors a rousing welcome today as only this oft-conquered city can.

In turn the communists showed the mostly thousands a thing of the most miles of captured American made vehicles.

Long columns of civilians shouted themselves hoarse. The rousing welcome parade—as they did for the Japanese when they conquered Peiping, the Americans when they arrived, the Chinese Nationalists when they got back, and the border of ancient Mongols and Tartars who preceded them here by centuries.

Each parading group had its own cheer leader. Student cavorted in the simple communist dance—two steps forward and one back accompanied by a swaying motion of the body. Hep-cats taught by the American Marines at the end of the war with Japan had no trouble with the new step.

Civilian paraders included those with gay costumes and painted faces.

The only thing that marred the celebration was a cold wind whipping dust down from the Gobi Desert. It was red dust.

The procession of communist captured vehicles included American made jeeps, ambulances, weapons carriers, signal and command cars and trucks.

Most of the motor drawn artillery and anti-aircraft weapons were of Japanese make. The communists got them from the Russians who took them as war booty in Manchuria.

The motor hauled section of the parade passed through the legation quarter in front of the American Netherlands, Soviet and French embassy compounds.

Foreigners, including Americans watched the parade unmolested, although they excited a good deal of curiosity from communist troops.

Radio Program Nets $750 For Stadium Fund

Ed E. Rawl, chairman of the ECTO Football Stadium Committee; Eli Bloom, master of ceremonies, and Dr. John D. Messick president of the college, on a radio program last night, received pledges of $750 from Greenville citizens, to increase the amount already collected on the $25,000 fund to $27,750. Only $2,724.48 is now needed to reach the goal, Chairman Rawl said.

There are still 272 more seats in the football stadium to be taken. Public-spirited citizens are donating $10 for seats to help the college to expand its athletic program.

Participating on the radio program for the stadium fund were: The Harmonizers, James Ray Pittman, Ralph and Cliff Sullivan and Pat McLawhorn, with Mrs. Glenn Scott as accompanist; Chester Walsh, pianist; J. Herbert Waldrop, treasurer of the fund; Charles Whedee, Bob Mays, Leon Jackson, Fred Curt, Dr. John D. Messick, Jack Hedgepeth and Linwood Kilpatrick, and others.

Those who made pledges for seats are requested to send their donations to Treasurer J. Herbert Waldrop at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company.

Stalin Gave Obvious Answers To Questions Asked Him; No Real Commitments; Took Opportunity For Publicity, But Accomplished Nothing By His Statements

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—Joseph Stalin's answer in the past few days to questions about war, peace and meeting President Truman—has about as unsentimental as saying he's against it.

Is he against war? Yes. Is he for peace? Yes. He could hardly be expected to say opposite. He gave the obvious answers to the questions asked him.

The only unusual thing about what he said was the way in which he chose to say it.

He could have called in the American and other western Ambassadors, who have their Embassies in Moscow for dealing with Russia, and told them what he had on his mind. Instead, he by-passed them and piped out to the world a few statements in the form of answers to questions sent him by a newsmen, Kingsbury Smith of the International News Service.

Newsmen in Moscow constantly send questions to Stalin in the Kremlin. And, for the most part, they're ignored. This time he chose to answer Smith's questions, which were harmless. Why?

No one can answer precisely, since no one can read his mind. But he knew whatever he said, no matter

Truman Labor Bill Is Endorsed By CIO; Solons Debate Powers

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—The CIO today endorsed the Truman labor bill. Meanwhile, there was furious new debate in Congress over whether the measure would enable the government to block critical strikes.

Said CIO General Counsel Arthur Goldberg: "It appears that the bill offers the only practicable method of obtaining speedy Taft-Hartley repeal and re-enactment of the substantive provisions of the Wagner Act."

That was in a statement prepared for the Senate Labor Committee. It was the first official endorsement of the bill by a big labor organization. But Goldberg said the CIO would make "some constructive suggestions to clarify" certain provisions. Attorney General Clark touched off the new row over whether the government could obtain court orders to prevent "national emergency strikes if the Taft-Hartley 80-day injunction provision is junked."

The administration measure would substitute a 30-day cooling off procedure. There is no provision in the bill for court orders or any other legal step to enforce presidential requests that workers stay on the job while emergency boards try to settle disputes.

Last night, Clark sent the Senate labor unit a letter saying that the President has "inherent powers" which are "exceedingly great" and that "in appropriate circumstances" he could use them to obtain strike-breaking injunctions.

Clark's opinion, read at a rousing, boisterous evening session of the committee, was sharply disputed by the Republican members.

Secretary of Labor Tobin was on the witness stand when Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), the committee chairman, suddenly pulled Clark's communication from a folder. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had been denouncing Tobin's attack on the Taft-Hartley injunction provision.

After listening to Clark's letter Taft snapped: "I disagree with the Attorney General and I think he is certainly wrong. I don't know of any inherent right of the President to get an injunction. If you want to do that you ought to say so in so many words. You ought to say it in clear law."

Tobin himself testified on Monday that under the Truman bill, the government would depend on "the powerful force of public opinion" to enforce presidential stay-at-work appeals.

Tobin said he had not seen the Attorney General's letter before.

UNC Is Awarded Ackland Estate

Court Of Appeals Gives Ruling On Disputed $1,500,000

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—A U. S. Court of Appeals ruling today gave the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill a bequest of about $1,500,000 from the estate of an 84-year-old man who died here in 1940.

The ruling was another step in several years of litigation over who should receive the money originally left by William Hayes Ackland to Duke University at Durham, N. C. Duke, however, declined.

The Appellate court reversed a 1947 decision by district court Judge Alexander Holtzoff who held that Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., named with the University of North Carolina as an alternate beneficiary, should receive the money.

Under terms of a 1938 will made by Ackland, leaving the bequest to Duke, the University benefitting was to erect a memorial on its campus to house Ackland's art and literary treasures.

The rest of the bequest was to be placed in trust for preservation of the museum and development of art. After Duke turned it down, the Court of Appeals ruled in 1943 that in line with the 1939 will and an earlier one in 1936, either the University of North Carolina or Rollins should benefit.

Plans for the project were announced here yesterday after receipt of a message from U. S. Maritime Commission officials in Washington.

The drydock would be used to condition surplus merchant ships in the commission's large reserve fleet storage basin here. There are 426 vessels in the lay-up basin.

An official said that the only drawback to plans for bringing the drydock here is a vague possibility that Congress might not appropriate funds.

Giant Floating Dry-Dock To Be At Wilmington

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 3—(AP)—A big $4,000,000 floating drydock is expected to be towed to Wilmington from the Pacific coast.

Plans for the project were announced here yesterday after receipt of a message from U. S. Maritime Commission officials in Washington.

Krug Sees Chance For St. Lawrence Seaway

New York, Feb. 3—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Krug says prospects are favorable for congressional action this year on a federal power project for New York State and New England based on development of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway.

He said he had not seen the Attorney General's letter before.

Krug urged creation of a federal power authority covering the entire northeastern section of the nation and based on development of the St. Lawrence river project.

He said such a regional authority "would be as favorable from the viewpoint of cost as the Tennessee Valley Authority."

"At least a majority" of Congress favors public power development, Krug declared.

Predicting creation of a New England federal power authority, he said that to get a power authority that means anything, you must tie in a whole region."

Krug said that in traditionally conservative states, such as Vermont and Massachusetts, legislation is pending for creation of state power authorities.

Recently, he said, textile industries have left New England because of power shortages and have moved south.

Head-On Crash By Two Bombers

Shreveport, La., Feb. 3—(AP)—Two air force men were killed and five others parachuted to safety when two B-25 bombers collided aloft about five miles southeast of Shreveport yesterday.

One plane exploded. The other plunged to the ground. The collision occurred about 2:20 p. m. (GST).

Captain Boon, pilot-instructor in the plane that exploded, said that as he attempted to dive under the approaching plane, the latter also dived.

Supreme Court

London, Feb. 3—(AP)—Winston Churchill proposed today a Supreme Court of Europe to defend the U. N. declaration of human rights.

"These aspirations, shared by hundreds of millions of men in Europe, cannot be achieved without the action of government," the former Prime Minister said.

"There must be a European Supreme Court to which branches in the declaration of human rights, so majestically proclaimed at Paris by powers great and small, can be referred, and by which human rights can be defended."

In a foreign office statement to the press, Egypt expressed regret at recognition "while the Palestine question is still under discussion, armistice talks have not yet been concluded, and the United Nations conciliation commission has not yet started its work."

(Israel has been given either full or partial recognition by 34 nations, including the United States, Soviet Russia, Britain, and France.)

"Recognition coming in such circumstances" the Egyptian statement said, "can only be interpreted as support of Zionism and Zionism's continued aggression against Arab rights."

The Arab world, the statement concluded, "shall remember this attitude."

House-To-House Drive Tomorrow For Polio Fund

Members of the National Honor Society and the Key Club of Greenville high school will stage a house-to-house canvass throughout the city tomorrow afternoon to aid the county March of Dimes drive.

Betty Ann Young, president of the local honor society and Sam Northrop, president of the Key Club, said permission has been granted for some 30 high school students to be excused from their classes tomorrow afternoon to canvass the town. The purpose of the canvass, they said, is to give additional people in Greenville an opportunity to contribute to the Pitt County polio fund.

According to the students' plan, the residential sections of the city have been mapped off into areas, and students assigned to specific areas to be sure the city is well covered. High school officials said the students will begin their door-bell-ringing chores shortly after 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Had Hives When Around Husband

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 3—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Grodt, 52, who said she broke out in hives when she was around her husband for an evening, was granted a divorce yesterday from John Grodt, 61, in an uncontested hearing in district court.

Mrs. Grodt told Judge K. Murrow she couldn't continue to live with Grodt because it made her nervous to be around him.

College Buildings Named For Them

Dr. Ronald J. Slay and E. G. Flanagan, who were friends of East Carolina Teachers College for many years and for whom buildings on the college campus were recently named by action of the Board of Trustees, are shown above.

Slay, new dormitory for men now under construction on the campus, was named by student request in honor of Dr. Slay. He was chairman of the science department at the college for 22 years and was East Carolina's first dean of instruction. Dr. Slay died last year in New York.

The Flanagan building, formerly known as the Classroom building, is named for the late E. G. Flanagan of Greenville. He was chairman of the building committee of the Board of Trustees when plans for the building were drawn up and construction was begun.

Southern Solons Voice Confidence

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—Southern Senators said today they are confident the Administration will not try to force quick action in Congress on anti-filibuster and pro-civil rights legislation.

There are no signs, they said privately, that Democratic leaders are ready to risk the threat of a Senate filibuster which could tie Congress in a legislative knot.

It is understood, they said, that party leaders want to get part of President Truman's program into law before making any move to bring up the hotly-contested filibuster question or anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment bills.

The Southerners are ready to filibuster against any of these proposals.

Meanwhile, a top House Republican who would not be quoted by name predicted to reporters that none of the President's civil rights proposals will become law with the possible exception of an anti-lynch bill. This Republican said he agreed in the main with a compromise advanced by Rep Hays (D-Ark) which would remove most of the coercive features from the Administration's plan and attack the discrimination problem more on a voluntary basis.

Senate Republicans, however, are pressing for immediate action to kill the filibuster—the old method of talking a measure to death before it gets to a vote.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) said he is ready to ask the Senate now to take anti-filibuster proposals out of the rules committee. He wants to bring them directly to the Senate floor for a vote.

The rules committee voted 7 to 5 yesterday to delay action on these proposals until next Wednesday.

Treason Trial Of Cardinal Starts

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 3—(AP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty acknowledged in court today that he wrote a letter offering to work for peace between the Communist-dominated government and the Roman Catholic Church, if his trial were put off.

The prime, first Roman Catholic Cardinal ever to be tried by a civil court, is accused of treason, spying and black market dealings. At the outset the court rejected his request to separate his case from that of six others similarly charged, and the proceedings began with one of the other defendants in the dock.

The 66-year-old prelate wore the unadorned robes of a simple priest as he was led before the five-judge Hungarian People's court. There was no visible change in his appearance despite almost 40 days in jail. He showed no signs of having been beaten or drugged, as charged abroad and he did not appear to have lost weight.

The Cardinal and six other defendants are charged with plotting against the present government, plotting to restore the Hapsburg Monarchy, espionage and dealing in black market currencies.

Disagreement On Atomic Report

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—Lawmakers took a guarded look today at "one of the hottest documents" ever assembled on atomic energy while they debated whether more atomic information should be made public.

The "hottest" label was pinned on the Atomic Energy Commission's top-secret quarterly report by Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal. The Senate-House committee on atomic energy went behind closed doors to discuss it.

At the joint committee's open hearing yesterday, Senator McMahon (D-Conn), the group's chairman, wound up in wide disagreement with several other senators over whether the public should be offered a closer view of America's atomic progress.

McMahon started off by suggesting to Lilienthal that the commission should make known the size of the nation's stockpile of atomic weapons. McMahon said he would like to "get everything out in the open that I can."

But two other committee members said there's too much out in the open now. They called instead for censorship of the Atomic Commission's reports by top U. S. intelligence officials.

Drop For General Fund Collections In January

Raleigh, N.C., Feb. 3—(AP)—A $1,069,544 drop in general fund collections knocked the state's revenue last month $146,171 below that for January of last year.

General fund collections for the month were $9,335,071, down 10.28 percent from the January 1948 figure.

Overall collections were $19,377,033, compared with $19,523,204 for the previous January. The overall drop was 7.5 per cent.

Collections for the fiscal year which started last July 1 still topped those for the same period of the previous fiscal year.

The general fund decrease last month was offset by an increase in the state's collections. These totaled $9,833,414, compared with $9,026,075 in January 1948. The gain was $807,066 or 8.94 percent.

A decline of $1,033,164 in income tax collections accounted for almost all the drop in general fund revenue last month. Collections from this source were $2,615,046, compared with $3,648,210 in January of last year.

Sales tax revenue rose. It totaled $4,685,934 last month, compared with $4,590,330.

Total revenue in all funds for the seven months of this fiscal year was $97,801,952 compared with $89,826,356 for the corresponding period in the previous fiscal year. The gain is $7,975,596, or 8.84 percent.

Maneuver By Stalin

'Peace Talk' Offer Evinces Declaration Of American Policy; A Propaganda Game; Acheson's Edict; Sum Substance Is That America Will Not Appease Reds

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Premier Stalin's second unofficial bid for a "peace" talk with President Truman (in Communist territory) has met sharp rejection.

However, the maneuver has evoked a clear-cut declaration of American policy which should clear the air.

The Stalin overtures, both made in the form of answers to questions by an American newsmen, set tongues racing around the globe. That was a natural reaction in a world which is sick of strife.

When the generalissimo makes a statement it receives universal attention. He is one of the most powerful leaders of history. He is the dictator who speaks with final authority not only for the Soviet Union but for the whole Red bloc of satellites.

So the general public of non-Communist countries were eager to learn what Stalin had in mind. The immediate reaction in Western capitals and among close observers was that the generalissimo was engaged in a propaganda game. As this column has previously pointed out, they figured he was making a peace offensive to lull the Western world into a feeling of security and so soften the increasingly effective drive against the Reds.

In short it looked as though the Bolshevik chief was decidedly worried. This idea was strengthened when Stalin came through with his second unofficial bid.

It is an interesting sidelight that the premier specified Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia as the meeting place. He did this on the ground that his doctors wouldn't permit him to travel so far afield as Washington.

The second bid has brought a double-barreled reaction in Washington. One is from the White House and the other is from America's new secretary of state, Dean Acheson. Both were clear cut and concise.

President Truman is willing to see Stalin in Washington, but has no intention of going abroad for a meeting. That's that.

Acheson in a press conference declared in substance that Stalin had raised no real issue for Soviet-American settlement. Said he: "You will notice that the purpose of the meeting has to do with arrangements x x x for issuing a declaration which is already the

U.S. Refuses To Deal With Stalin

Washington, Feb. 3—(AP)—The United States served notice on the world today that it will allow no Russian "peace maneuver" to disrupt the growing unity of the non-communist western powers.

That was the real significance seen by diplomatic officials here in Secretary of State Acheson's rejection of Premier Stalin's latest declaration of his willingness to hold a meeting with President Truman.

American diplomats abroad in western as well as eastern Europe were expected to make the most of this new and detailed statement of Washington's determination not to make any direct side deals with the Soviet Union at the possible expense of other nations.

The government's official "Voice of America" radio broadcast was beaming Acheson's 2,500 word statement of the United States position all over the world.

President Truman had an opportunity to enter the picture during the day. He scheduled his usual weekly news conference (4 p. m. EST) and it was expected that he would probably endorse fully all that Acheson had said.

The Secretary of State turned thumbs down on Stalin's latest peace maneuver at a news conference late yesterday.

He did it in such a way as indirectly to accuse Stalin of playing international politics with his statement last Sunday. That Stalin statement expressed a willingness to meet Mr. Truman for the purpose of considering a Soviet-American "pact of peace."

The question won't be decided, he said, "whether other nations want us to do or not to do."

He added that Norway will have to make "further investigations" before making it its mind on whether it wants an invitation to join in discussions of a proposed Atlantic alliance of Western powers.

Lange put in a sharp attack, too, on Norwegian Communists, who, he said, were giving wrong information about Norway's politics to Moscow.

His discussion before Parliament today followed an exchange of notes between the Russian and Norwegian governments on the Atlantic pact last weekend.

The Soviet branded the proposal an aggressive maneuver, especially by the United States and Britain. She noted that Russia and Norway have a common boundary and wanted to know if Norway planned on granting military bases on her soil to foreign powers.

Norway replied firmly she intends looking into the possibility of tying up with the Atlantic alliance, noting that she is a maritime nation bordering on the Atlantic. She said she would not grant bases to foreign powers unless she is attacked or threatened with aggression.

Parliament Told Own Interests Will Decide Future Steps

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 3—(AP)—Foreign Minister Halvard Lange told Parliament today that Norway's own interests would be the deciding factor on any step she takes about joining a defense alliance.

The question won't be decided, he said, "whether other nations want us to do or not to do."

He added that Norway will have to make "further investigations" before making it its mind on whether it wants an invitation to join in discussions of a proposed Atlantic alliance of Western powers.

Mrs. Arthur Hostess To Clio Book Club

On Tuesday afternoon, February 1st, Mrs. R. B. Arthur was hostess to the members of the Clio Book Club. Her home was attractively decorated with spring shrubs and flowers. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Garrett Stanfield, Mrs. Bedford Stanfield and Mrs. Hart. Mrs. Clara Moyer Shackell presided over the business session. At this time a committee was appointed to pack and mail the books which the club members had collected to send to Germany. Tickets were sold to the bridge tournament which the A.A.U.W. is sponsoring on Monday night, February 7th, in order to finance scholarships for students wishing to attend college. An invitation to attend the meeting of the Women's Club on Friday afternoon, February 4th, at which time Mr. O. E. Dowd will discuss the Findings and Recommendations of the Education Commission, was extended to the club members.

After the business session, Mrs. Shackell turned the meeting over to the hostess. Mrs. Arthur delightfully entertained the club by acting as master of ceremonies for a clever and instructive quiz program. All the club members gayly participated and prizes were given to those members who answered the questions correctly first.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, and Mrs. R. G. Lang served a delicious sweet course with coffee and nuts. Books were exchanged.

Mr. Perry Presents Program Before Club

Mrs. J. D. Messick was hostess to the members of The Round Table on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Fifth Street. Her home was lovely with beautiful arrangements of spring flowers including pansies and red camellias.

The club voted to contribute at least 100 books toward the drive for books to be sent to Germany.

Mrs. W. C. Vincent graciously offered to collect, pack and mail these books.

Announcements included an invitation to the Woman's Club meeting on Friday and an invitation to a bridge tournament sponsored by the A.A.U.W. on the evening of February 7.

Special tribute was paid the late Mrs. T. A. Person, charter member of the club, in a very effective memorial service led by Mrs. J. E. Winslow and Mrs. C. T. Mumford.

Mrs. Messick, in charge of the program, presented Mr. George Perry, professor of music at ECTC. Mr.

The Chatham Book club met with Mrs. Carl L. Adams at her home on East Fifth street Tuesday afternoon, February 1. The living room was attractively decorated with Japanese quince and African violets.

On arrival the club members were served a delicious frozen dessert course with coffee and nuts by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. E. R. Conway.

In the absence of the president of the club, Mrs. A. C. Kuffin, Mrs. Adams presided. She extended welcoming greetings to the guests, Mrs. W. E. Marshall, Mrs. James Phelps and Mrs. John Wooten.

Following a short business session, Mrs. Adams introduced Mrs. R. E. Willmann and Mrs. Moyer Dail, who gave the program. Mrs. Willmann traced the development of music in the Christian Church from the earliest beginning to the present. The congregational song in England and America, ritual and chant in the Catholic Church, the development of Lutheran hymnody, and music in the Anglican Church were discussed.

Mrs. Dail sang examples from the various periods during this discussion and included a solo, "Hear My Cry," by the contemporary American composer, Harold Vincent Milligan. Mrs. Willmann, versed in all phases of the art of music, was able to give her listeners a graphic idea of what took place during these periods. The members of the Chatham Book club feel that the program provided by these two artists was of unusual merit in both instruction and entertainment.

Farmers Ahead Disking Land

Unusually mild weather in January enabled farmers in this section to make considerable progress preparing the land for spring planting. Stalk cutting and disking the land is further advanced than at this time last year, Assistant Farm Agent Sam J. Weeks said today.

Rye and other winter cover crops made an unusually good stand this year. Some farmers are practicing terracing or contour plowing of their fields in hilly places with good results, and this will do much to prevent soil erosion, Weeks said. He also warned farmers that a state law requires landowners planning to burn brush to notify adjoining landowners.

Talks On Recent Education Trend

Members of the Future Teachers of America at East Carolina Teachers College heard Tuesday evening a discussion of "Recent Trends in Education" by Deaf Leo W. Jenkins of the college and, in a short ceremony, placed a new seal on their charter to indicate that the organization has been active on the campus here for the past eleven years.

Mae Sheppard of Wilmington, president of the organization, announced to members that the East Carolina chapter won this year a place on the national organization's victory honor roll for having increased its enrollment by ten percent.

Dr. Jenkins pointed to the large enrollment in colleges and universities as one of the major trends in education at present. The demands of industry for educated personnel, he said, have been influential in increasing the number of students in institutions of higher learning.

In answer to the question "Will society be able to use all of its college graduates?" Dr. Jenkins stated that indications are that industry will absorb them and that the colleges are not training too many people.

"Higher education," he said, "must satisfy the needs of society." State-supported schools, he added, must justify themselves by their services to the public. A broadening of the idea of service in schools, he stated, is shown by the introduction of many valuable extra-curricula activities, a new emphasis on counseling and vocational guidance, and the maintenance of placement offices to help graduates find suitable employment.

GHS Senior Play "Annie Laurie"

Ken Owens, last year's co-star in the Dramatics class Chapel Hill contest winning play, depicts Sir Robert Laurie, the father, with his heart hardened towards love, in Wall Spence's romantic drama, "Annie Laurie," to be presented by G. H. S. Seniors February 10.

As his foremost cohort and obstacle to the lovers, Dot Whiteley, editor-in-chief of the annual, plays the part of Ramsey, hard-boiled Scotch housekeeper.

Although these two students have a common meeting ground in the Senior play, their other activities are decidedly contrasting.

Ken is one of those boys who make the music at G. H. S. dances possible. They are termed Electrical Engineers. Ken has further displayed his engineering interest by be-

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives kidney relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Strangely as it may seem, this mechanically minded senior is a great lover of music. He holds the piano position in the GHS ensemble, and one of his hobbies is playing the pipe organ.

Dot luckily doesn't have that problem, but during most of play practice she has had to carry a double responsibility with her editorship of the annual. Dot also is a member of the National Honor Society, a marshal, a student council alternate and a member of the traffic committee.

With a trace of Scottish accent, Dot said, "I enjoy the play very much, but I just can't lose my temper as I should."

Leadership Training School

Through the combined efforts of the Christian Churches in Pitt county, a leadership training school will be held in the Eighth Street Christian Church. This school is scheduled to begin Sunday, February 6, at 4 p. m. with a continuing session at 7:30 p. m. each night through Wednesday, February 9.

The purposes of this training school are as follows:

To guide and instruct Sunday school teachers, youth directors and church administrators.

To guide and instruct the missionary and general adult work of the church.

To work toward reaching each local crusade goal in trained leadership.

Courses are to be offered in six fields so that each person within the church may find a group of interest.

The courses to be offered and the instructor of each is as follows:

Beginner-Primary—Mrs. Warren Birnbaum.

Intermediate—Mr. Z. B. T. Cox.

Senior Young People—Mr. Thomas Inabinett.

Mission Study—Mrs. H. H. Settle.

Adult and Administrative—Dr. H. G. Haney.

Guest Speaker For Service

Mr. Ethridge G. ... will be guest speaker at the First Presbyterian Church of this city on Friday evening, Feb. 4, at 8:00 p.m.

A former moderator of the Synod of Virginia and at present associate director of the Presbyterian Program of Progress in the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Ethridge is one of the leading laymen of his denomination.

According to Rev. Leonard Topping, pastor of the local church, Mr. Ethridge will address this congregation on "The Presbyterian Program of Progress, A Five Year Plan of Advance," aimed to double the denomination's membership and also its income.

Mr. Ethridge is scheduled to speak at a number of points throughout Eastern Carolina during the month of February.

The public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Ethridge speak at this service.

JESSICA TANDY, distinguished dramatic actress, stars in "The World We Make," to be broadcast this week on the radio series, GREAT SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS, sponsored by families of The Protestant Episcopal Church and the Episcopal Actors' Guild.

The program will be heard tonight over Station WGTC at 8:00 p.m.

ers College will present "Peter Pan." Sir James M. Barrie's beloved classic for children, in a series of five performances from March 7 to 9. Three special matinees will be given for school children of Greenville and Pitt County.

The play is one of a series of dramas for young people given annually by the players with the idea of providing suitable entertainment for boys and girls. Last year more than 2,500 children of the city and county attended a series of one-act plays presented on the campus and at the Eppe School for Negroes in Greenville. As in the past, the Greenville Chapter of the American Association of University Women and other civic groups will aid the college players in carrying out their program.

Joyce Corbett of Greenville will head the cast as "Peter Pan." Susan Smith, Goldsboro, and James Briley, Robersonville, will have the parts of Wendy and John, two children who go adventuring with Peter in Never-Never Land.

Others having important parts in the cast include Shirley Cowburn, Lumberton; Virgil Clark, Greenville; Betsy Sue Stafford, Bule's Creek; Carrie Mae Smith, Seven Springs; Elmer Williams, Washington; Lola Stephenson, Willow Springs; William Skarren, Beaufort; and Ralph Rives, Enfield.

Dr. Lucile H. Charles, director of speech and drama at East Carolina, will direct the play Donald Blood, Greenville, will be student director and will be assisted by Geraldine Weathers, Shelby, and Muriel Showell, Greenville.

SAUERKRAUT WITH WILSON'S CERTIFIED Frankfurters... Sounds good! And it is good! It's a famous team to serve for good eating, easy cooking and better health. In it, there are vitamins for growth and strength, minerals for blood, teeth and bones and many other important health factors. Yet it's the perfect dish for the budget.

It's a Health Team
Cooks of all nations are fond of this team and have their favorite variations. To preserve the sauerkraut tang just heat it through. For a milder flavor let the kraut cook longer. Of course, Wilson's Certified Frankfurters are already cooked so merely heat them through at low temperature.

Modern dietitians recommend teaming Kraut not only with Frankfurters but with meats such as spare-ribs, pig knuckles, fried liver, veal, left-over meats, turkey, goose and duck and also with Beef, Pork and canned meats, like Wilson's MOR Beef, Lamb, Veal and Pork.

WILSON'S CERTIFIED FRANKS AND KRAUT with popular variations

In a 3 qt. size kettle, place:
1 qt. (a No. 2 1/4 tin) of sauerkraut, drained
1 tart apple, sliced
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons drippings (from Certified pork sausage, bacon or Clear Brook butter)
1 1/4 cups water or tomato juice + enough water to barely cover Kraut.

Cook uncovered for 5 to 30 minutes. Then add:
1 lb. Wilson's Certified Frankfurters, cut apart
Cook for ten minutes more (never once letting it boil). Drain off liquor and serve it as a cocktail (hot or cold), plain or combined with an equal amount of tomato juice. Serve Franks and Kraut hot to five.

VARIATIONS: Some cooks like to add a scattering (say a teaspoonful) of caraway or celery seeds. Others prefer a dash of cloves, minced onion or green pepper (1/4 to 1/2 cup). When these are used, they should be cooked soft with the drippings before adding. Some add 1 ground raw potato to the kraut. This thickens the juice slightly and softens the kraut flavor.

Strength FOR THE DAY

HAPPINESS HAS TO BE WON
What is the worst thing in the world that one can teach a child?
The worst thing one can teach a child is that the child has a right to expect that life will be easy on him. If he gets this idea into his mind early enough, he will make himself the affliction of all those who have to be associated with him in the decades which follow. In his whole life is centered about the conviction that the pathway must always be kept smooth before his feet he will bedevil wife and children quarrel with his associates, and worst of all be continually on the outs with himself.

Life is a struggle, and let us never delude ourselves with any false teaching to the contrary. Above all let us not ruin the lives of children by indoctrinating them with the idea that continuous happiness is their right. The Declaration of Independence put the matter gently when it said that among men's unalienable rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The Declaration does not guarantee happiness, it guarantees men the right to pursue happiness, and this is a quite different matter.

Nobody can give us happiness. We have to go through birth agonies to achieve it.

IN THE INTEREST OF PROGRESS

It has been announced by Greenville Alderman J. Edmund Waldrop that he will present a motion to the Board of Aldermen tonight calling for a city election to decide whether Greenville will change from the mayor-aldermanic form of government to the city-manager form of government.

In advance of the Board of Aldermen meeting tonight, we wish to voice our approval of the city manager plan of government for Greenville, in view of the fact that Greenville has grown to the stage that management of its affairs is too complicated and too important to rest entirely upon the shoulders of part time officials.

The change to the city-manager form of government by Greenville would in no way take authority from the Board of Aldermen, because that body would continue to act as a board of directors for the city government, with the city manager to carry out the wishes of the aldermen and see that the city operations are performed efficiently and economically.

The affairs of Greenville now come under the head of big business, and as such should be under the direction of a capable, trained expert who is able to devote all his time and energies to its fiscal affairs. Directing the operation and coordination of the various departments of city government is a full-time job which can be most efficiently executed by a man who has thoroughly studied municipal management.

We believe the city aldermen will be acting in the best interest of Greenville if tonight they make provisions for a city referendum on the city-manager form of government.

WASHINGTON LETTER
By JANE EADS

Washington—Handsome, sprightly-minded Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse (D-Conn.) and small, chic, European-educated Mrs. Katherine St. George (R-N. Y.) are both entering their second term in Congress.

Mrs. Woodhouse, whose service was interrupted for two years when she was defeated for reelection in 1946, was a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee of the 79th Congress. She is expected to serve on this committee in the 81st. Her special interests are housing and consumer legislation, and she is backing a bill for "equal pay for equal work for any minority group."

Mrs. Woodhouse served as executive director of the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee until the spring of 1948, when she was sent on a special mission to Europe to confer with military government officials on policies and programs to develop democratic leadership among organized groups of German women.

Mrs. St. George, a resident of swank Tuxedo, N.Y., was a member of the Post Office and Civil Service committee in the 80th Congress and worked on the loyalty and government employe retirement bills. She introduced a bill to give sick leave pay and vacations with pay to small city postmasters and a large number of other government employes. The bill was signed by President Truman.

Around Capitol Square
By LYNN NISBET

SURPRISE—Appointment of George Coble to be highway commissioner for the sixth division was the first surprise move by Governor Scott since he took office just four weeks ago. Scott proclivities for doing the unexpected in non-orthodox manner are familiar to Tar Heels. There was no surprise at the naming of Dr. Henry Jordan as highway chairman to succeed A. H. Graham, or at making W. H. Rogers engineer in place of Vance Baise. But until the deed was done and announced none of the Capitol observers, not even Dr. Jordan himself, suspected that a new division commissioner would be named.

SPECULATION—Experience has proven futility of trying to forecast Scott's actions. Nonetheless, Capitol square observers are trying to read into this week's developments some indication of future course. George Coble, big dairy products operator, has been frequently mentioned as probable highway chairman for the full term beginning May 1. Dr. Jordan had been rated a sure bet—and only Cherry appointee on the commission—for continuing in the sixth division berth. Now the question is whether Coble and Jordan will swap jobs in May, whether they will continue in the posts assigned them Tuesday, or whether both will go out and entirely new men come in.

PROGRAM—One thing does seem certain. The newly named chairman and the new division commissioner will devote the next three months to effectuating the Scott road program, basis of which is improvement of rural roads to be financed by a $200,000,000 bond issue and an additional one cent a gallon gasoline tax. This was made clear by transfer of Bill Snider, for the past year private secretary to Governor Cherry and special assistant to Governor Scott, to handle public relations for the highway department. Retiring Chairman Graham and the other nine division commissioners do not see eye to eye with Governor Scott on this program. The Jordan-Coble Snider combination assures the Governor of considerable help in carrying the ball toward his desired goal of every school bus route in the state paved.

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—There's a fellow missing from the contemporary scene.

But there's some doubt if very many people miss him much. The fellow I'm talking about is the big ha-ha man of yesterday—the practical joker.

Whatever became of him? Down what lost manhole has time drained him—the fellow who believed in "anything for a laugh?" Whatever became of his bag of state tricks?

You remember him? He was the fellow who called you on the phone and said, "hold the line a minute," exactly 60 seconds later he'd ask sweetly, "well, did you catch anything?" Then he'd bang the receiver in your outraged ear.

Yes, he was some prankster—the practical joker. At the office he'd leave a faded summons from the boss in your typewriter. He'd have his girl friend write a mash letter to your home signed "with all my love, Molly." He was the fellow who anonymously advised 30 different life insurance salesmen you wanted to buy a policy. And he saw that they all called on you at the same hour.

In the old days he carried a loaded cigar in his pocket. He also had some kitchen matches to give you the hotfoot. If a bum asked him for a coin to buy a cup of coffee, the practical joker always managed to have a Canadian dime ready to drop into his hand. When he threw a party, he slipped you a glass with a hole near the top—the drink dripped all over your new suit.

What a card! What a character! There was nothing that was too much trouble for the old-fashioned practical joker. He worked harder to win a horse laugh than an ordinary man would to earn a pension.

One joker even went to the trouble of building an upside down hanger room in his house. When a guest became intoxicated and passed out, the poor fellow was dragged into this room and draped around a chandelier sticking up from the floor. A rug, tables and chairs had been pasted to the ceiling overhead. Imagine the plight of the startled guest when he woke up, head throbbing, and looked up. Picture his pitiful attempts to get "down" from the chandelier to the floor "above."

Well, somewhere along the way that kind of nonsense went out. There was no widespread rebellion among the victims of the practical jokers. But somehow his jokes, by and large, just quit being funny.

The loaded cigar and the hotfoot became obsolete. People still like to laugh. But today they want to laugh together more than they want to laugh at each other.

The trouble with the practical joker was that he usually put somebody on the pan. And a generation that has weathered a major depression and two world wars probably just got tired of seeing anybody on the pan. It ceased to be funny.

Life became too practical for impractical practical jokes.

Here and there a fellow still gets a fire alarm bell off just to watch the firemen get some exercise. But he does, nobody laughs. The gentleman who essays a practical joke is likely to be rewarded with a punch

Farmville, Feb. 3.—The three-day invitational Coastal basketball tournament, sponsored by the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce, got off to a flying start last night in the Farmville High School gymnasium, as approximately 500 persons witnessed four games of thrilling basketball in the opening rounds of play, in which both boys and girls teams are represented.

In the opening game of the tourney the Farmville girls eliminated the Statesburg sextet 33 to 28. During the first quarter of the game the score was tied on two occasions and at the end of the quarter Statesburg had a 6-5 lead. In the second quarter they tied up again at 7-all but two free throws by Ruth Hathaway of Farmville put the Farmville lassies out in front for the remainder of the game with the half ending 20-13 in favor of Farmville. Ruth Hathaway and Joyce Morgan set the pace for the winners by scoring 12 points each. Janice Eason got 12 points for the losers.

Farmville Again
 In the second game of the evening between the Maury and Farmville boys' teams, the Farmville lads followed the girls' pattern by taking a one-sided win over the Maury lads, 52-31. The first quarter was a nip and tuck affair with Maury leading Farmville 8 to 7, however Farmville went out in front in the opening seconds of the second period when Russell of Farmville made a field goal and from then on it was Farmville all the way. Farmville led at the half time period 20 to 13. Frank Durree, Farmville's center led the attack for the winners with a total of 18 points. McLawhorn Bowen and B. Murphy each got 9 points to lead the losers.

Snow Hill Wins
 One of the closest games of the tourney was pulled off in the third game of the evening when the Snow Hill girls eked out 22 to 21 win over the Maury lassies. Incidentally, the Snow Hill girls' team is coached by Larry James, Jr., of Greenville. A free throw in the final second of the game by Dixie Cunningham gave the Snow Hill girls their win after the count had been tied up at 21-21 just a few seconds before. At the end of the half time play the score was knotted at 7-7 and during the game the score shifted from one side to the other. Nancy Davis led the Greene County lassies with a total of 14 points. Sue Wood with 8 points led the losers.

Walstonburg Wins
 In the final game of the evening the Walstonburg boys defeated the Statesburg boys by the score of 42 to 40, to end the first round of play. The Walstonburg boys led at the half way mark 26 to 21 and then during the first few minutes of the third quarter built up a nine point lead which the boys from Statesburg were unable to overcome before the whistle blew. Walstonburg went ahead during the second quarter and stayed ahead the remainder of the game. A free throw by Corbett put the Walstonburg boys ahead for keeps. Corbett with 13 points and Diddy with 12 points set the pace for the winners. W. Skinner with 14 points and D. Grimsey with 12 points led the losers.

Farmville Splits With Winterville

Farmville, Feb. 3.—The Farmville Red Devils hit a snag here Tuesday night when Winterville downed the locals 39-33 after a terrific fight. Castellioe with 17 points was high for the victors. The loss was Farmville's fourth in conference play.

Led by Castellioe, Winterville was ahead at the end of the first period by 10-7. At the half they held a 22-15 lead. Russell and King, dropping in long one-handers from the side started the locals on the comeback trail but it wasn't enough.

Albritton was high scorer for Farmville with nine. Farmville's girls' team defeated Winterville's sextet 33-19. The locals led throughout the contest except for a brief 1-point margin early in the first period.

Joyce Morgan's 19 points led the way for Farmville, and the breakthrough of the Winterville offense by the local guards quickly blotted all chances of a victory by the visitors. Langston, with 11, was high for the losers.

Says Basketball Nearing Era Of Defensive Play

Stillwater, Okla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Hank Iba, Oklahoma A&M's masterful basketball coach, believes the time is near when millions will go for defense.

Iba points out there already is a swing back from the wild-scoring, offensive play of the past few years, which had been hailed as what the fans wanted.

"It seems to me fans now want basketball that is planned. Of course, they don't want to see anybody standing around holding the ball but we've never had any complaints from fans about our defensive game."

The Aztecs currently are the nation's best defensive club and are rated No. 3 in the nation. They have won 12 of their 14 games this season—and are the only team in the nation to beat mighty St. Louis.

Green Phantoms Play Washington

The Greenville High School Phantoms, who lost their third game of the 1949 Northeastern Conference season here Tuesday night, will journey to Washington, N.C., tonight where they will engage the second place Pam Pack. The local Jayvees, so far undefeated by a Northeastern Conference Junior team, will be featured in a preliminary game.

Coach Bo Farley's boys were dumped into fourth place by the New Bern Bears in a game here Tuesday. Both teams were deadlocked for third place.

The Pack looks only to the conference leading Kingston Red Devils, will be favored to take the locals.

The Phantoms were run through final workouts this afternoon and will leave for Washington Friday afternoon.

Brothers Buy Up Stock In Browns

St. Louis, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Two brothers—Bill and Charlie DeWitt—bought controlling interest in the St. Louis Browns yesterday, ending more than a year of rumors on the team's status. The club will remain at St. Louis.

The DeWitts—who were born in North St. Louis—have purchased 56 per cent of the stock owned by Richard C. Muckerman. Added to two per cent they already held, they now have 58 per cent in the American League baseball club.

Bill DeWitt said "as long as we have anything to say about them the Browns will stay in St. Louis."

He also said there would be no personnel changes. Zack Taylor will remain as manager.

The sale includes the Browns, five minor league clubs owned outright by the Browns and two ball parks—Sportsman's Park at St. Louis and a new ball park at San Antonio, Tex.

No official sale price was announced, but it is believed that they paid about $1,000,000 for Muckerman's stock.

Bill DeWitt added: "There are no associates in this thing with us. It's Charlie and myself."

Talk Plans For Third Meeting

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Plans for a third fight between Lightweight Champion Ike Williams and Contender Enrique Bolanos of Mexico were to be discussed at a meeting of managers today.

Efforts are being made to stage the battle in Los Angeles for the benefit of the Costello Youth Foundation, with Comedians Lou Costello and Bud Abbott promoting.

Long Lay-Off Is Facing King Ben

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tiny Ben Hogan, who fought illness and fatigue along golf's weary tournament trail for more than a decade without being knocked from his pedestal, even won out over a bus. But it will be a long time before he's his same fighting self again.

The golf world heard today that little Ben, seriously injured yesterday in a traffic accident, would probably play once more, but some other golfer will be king of the links in the closing year.

The little guy, who was National Open and National PGA champion, leading money winner and golfer of the year in 1948, suffered a fractured pelvis, broken collar bone, possible fracture of a rib and other injuries yet to be determined, when his car crashed with a Greyhound bus near Van Horn, Tex.

The bantam of the links had to wait two hours for medical aid. An ambulance dashed 152 miles from Van Horn to El Paso to bring Hogan to a hospital here, where five hours later a bulletin said Ben would make it but would be out of competition on the links for a long, long time.

Rex Mays Signs Speedway Entry

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Rex Mays, one of the most heavy-footed drivers in the history of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, has been signed to drive in the 1949 500-mile race a powerful Novi piston special in which Ralph Hepburn rode to his death last year.

Mays, the Glendale, Calif., veteran will be driving a twin to the car which Duke Nalon of Sherman Oaks, Calif., piloted to third place in the 1948 race. Nalon will be back at the wheel of the same mount in the 33rd running of the speedway classic May 30.

Only four times during the 1948 season did Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal slugging star, who led the majors in hitting, get two games or more without a hit.

Wolfpack Meets Match In Wake Forest Quintet

By the Associated Press

North Carolina State's two-year of unrivaled emminence in the Southern Conference was at an end today.

The Wolfpack, which had close calls recently against Duke and George Washington, finally met their match last night in the Wake Forest Deacons while in quest of their 28th straight circuit victory.

But if anyone had any delusions that State still wasn't the team to lick for the conference championship, he was dead wrong. Despite the inevitable defeat, the Wolfpack still led the loop today with a 7-1 record, considerably better than runnerup South Carolina's 3-1 mark.

And the conference would have to wait until tomorrow (Friday) night, when South Carolina tangles with strong George Washington, to find out whether the Gamecocks were real threats to the crown N.C. State has worn two years in a row.

Wake Forest's triumph last night was appropriate enough. The Deacons had been the last team to whip the Wolfpack before State's sensational streak started in 1947.

Buck Geary, ace forward, was the fellow who showed the Deacons how last night. Geary meshed 17 points while Wake Forest kept a narrow margin almost the whole distance.

But the honor of dropping in the decisive basket went to John Chippay, a newcomer to the Deacons squad. Chippay's field goal with a minute to play, after the Wolfpack

Grifton Divides Games Against Wheat Swamp

Grifton, Feb. 3.—Grifton and Wheat Swamp exchanged basketball victories here Tuesday night.

The local girls posted a slight victory of three points defeating them 31 to 28. With Phillips leading with 12 points, McLawhorn followed with 7, Mumford with 5, Braxton 4, Adams 2, Buck 1. Jones Haynes and Barfield with the assistance of Stancill and Jackson did the guarding. Merritt led with 18 points for Wheat Swamp.

Wheat Swamp defeated Grifton boys 45 to 35. Ewell, Mumford, and Wade led with 10, 9, and 8 points respectively. Barfield led Wheat Swamp with 20 points.

had knotted the count at 48-48, was all Wake Forest needed to win. The final score was 52-40.

Wake Forest, before dropping State, had had an unimpressive conference record. The Deacons looked sharp in defeating George Washington and Duke but dropped decisions to Clemson, North Carolina, South Carolina and William and Mary.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 23
He wanted very much to be fair with Millicent, to do the right thing. He had loved her deeply in the beginning; marriage, to him, had been a sacred thing. How was he to know that this wasn't just another one of her selfish whims? Millicent was spoiled and selfish, and too rich for her own good. A sick patient meant nothing to her if she wanted to go dancing.

He flushed, annoyed with himself. Why did he feel impelled to defend Carrolton to this scatter-brain whom he had once fancied himself in love with? Why didn't she go on back to Boston where she belonged? What was the point in discussing a reconciliation that couldn't possibly work out? Millicent, turning the conversation back to where she wanted it, said "I'm sure you have a very nice restaurant in this darling town. Some nice, cozy place where we can sit as long as we want to and talk."

She paused, but only to get her breath and a new start. "I'll admit I haven't been able to find such a place. I've been eating at the hotel and—well, I don't want to hurt your feelings, dear, but the service is ghastly. Something should be done about it. But I'm sure you must have a nice restaurant. It's probably in somebody's house. We really should patronize it, now that you live here. Right, dear?"

"Yes, we have a restaurant." There was an edge to George's voice. "It's not in anybody's house. It's right on the main street just like everything else. Across from the hotel. Can't see how you missed it."

"Oh, that. I thought it was a pool room. Sorry, dear, I didn't mean to belittle. I'm sure it's quite roomy and charming on the inside."

"It's adequate. Most people in Carrolton eat at home, as they should. And don't ask where the orchestra and the dance floor. There's only a juke box and no space for dancing. People go there to eat. Sounds odd, doesn't it? But that's what restaurants are for."

As he spoke he put on his topcoat and picked up his hat. "Ready, Millicent?" He did not add, "Come on; let's get it over with," although he wanted to.

Police Stopped 'One-Man Riot'

By CHESTER WALSH

Greenville police today described George Raymond Whitfield, 33-year-old Negro, as a "one-man riot" at the Plaza Theater on Albemarle Avenue last night about 9 o'clock.

They have him charged with trespassing at the theater and assault on John Warner, the manager; assaulting Policeman George Crawford and using vulgar and profane language and disorderly conduct, and resisting Policeman Norman Little, Whitfield, who has a police record in Scotland Neck, will be tried before Judge J.W.H. Roberts in Police Court Friday morning, police said.

Ask Revision Of Closed-Shop Law

Raleigh, Feb. 3—(AP)—Tar Heel labor leaders have asked the General Assembly to kill or modify the state's anti-closed shop law.

They have sent two-page mimeographed letters to the legislators which declared that the state does not need such legislation and that it was passed in 1947 because the legislature got false information.

"The present law in North Carolina is more drastic and restrictive than the National Taft-Hartley Act, which seems sure to be repealed," says the letter, signed by six union leaders.

Revision of the anti-closed shop act, which he termed "harsh," was recommended by Governor Scott in his inaugural address.

Labor leaders say the letter is aimed at correcting information given by enemies of organized labor when the law was under consideration.

"So far as we know, no legislator at the 1947 session stated he believed the law was necessary to meet any condition that existed or had existed in North Carolina," the letter says.

Mr. Corbin, son of the late John and Mary Banks Corbin, was born in Beaufort County. As a small boy he moved with his family to Tarboro. He had lived in Tarboro and in Wilson prior to coming to Greenville to live in 1932. He was engaged as a livestock salesman and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Beulah P. Corbin; a son, Ashley H. Corbin of the home; a daughter, Mrs. H. R. Henley of Whiteville; and a granddaughter, Martha Sue Henley.

Active pallbearers will be W. H. Dail, Jr., Frank Savage, Dr. T. G. Basnight, William Gairney, Charles McBryer, John Webb, Alton Barrett, and Robert Thompson.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at Eastern North Carolina Sanatorium following almost two years illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon by Rev. Leonard Topping, pastor.

Horace H. Corbin, 58, died at 3:35 o'clock this morning at Eastern North Carolina Sanatorium following almost two years illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon by Rev. Leonard Topping, pastor.

Discuss Plans Revive Annual Farm Census

Two agricultural statisticians Olaf Wakefield and Earl Finch, from the Federal and State Crop Reporting Service, Raleigh, were in Greenville yesterday in conference with agricultural and business representatives at the Agricultural Buildings, in connection with restoring the annual farm census, which was stopped in 1947.

The officials are on a tour of meetings at 25 or 30 places in North Carolina to ascertain if the interests involve desire restoration of the annual farm census instead of the five-year census, Willard T. Kyster, manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, said.

ment which is now available may be put to its best use. It was emphasized that the district wardens are County Warden Tyson's representatives in the various communities of the county.

A fish stew, prepared by District Ranger Davis, was enjoyed. Among those present were R. W. Tyson; Brown Hodges of Grifton; J. T. Dupree of Belvoir, and Vance Perkins of Greenville, members of the County Board of Commissioners; Jimmie Edwards of Stokes; Alton Moore of Fourteen, Wilbur Harris of Arden, and W. A. Lee of Pateville, district wardens, and Marvin Ormond, tractor mechanic for Pitt and Beaufort counties, and Mr. Stancil of Belvoir. It was generally agreed that the meeting would result in a better fire control program for the county.

Approximately 150 people gathered at the Red Oak community building last night where the Red Oak Home demonstration club entertained at a delightful supper for their husbands, members of the Red Oaks home demonstration club and their husbands, and other guests.

Mrs. Fenner Allen of the Red Oak club said words of welcome to the guests of the club, to which R. B. Starling made the response for the members of the Red Banks club and their husbands.

Judge Dink James of Greenville, principal speaker of the evening entertained the group with anecdotes of his experience as a judge in Pitt county, and went on to explain the workings of the county court, and the place it fills in the judicial system of the state. Mrs. R. B. Starling, president of the county council introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Dink James and Miss Agnes Fullilove of Greenville sang two selections, "By the Bend of the River" and "Little Old Garden", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. B. L. Tyson.

Mrs. B. L. Tyson presided at the meeting and following the talk by Judge James, led the group in singing several familiar songs, and then rendered some selections on her accordion.

The secretary further laid down this edict: The United States won't discuss with Russia or any other country alone any issues which involve other nations as well. He added that the President isn't interested in meeting Stalin for the purpose of issuing a declaration of "peace" because the U.S.A. already is pledged to peace in the United Nations charter.

Acheson also pointed to Stalin's statement that Russia "naturally" would cooperate with America in reducing arms, and said this had been a U.N. problem for three years. A solution of this and of the control of atomic energy had been frustrated by the Russian veto.

This sum and substance of all this is that America isn't compromising with Bolshevism. We are not going to appease Bolshevism. Indeed, quite apart from this current exchange, it is quite apparent that the Western nations are determined to fight Communist aggression to the bitter finish.

(The Russians have long bitterly opposed creation by the western allies of a government in western Germany. Last year Stalin said he wanted it postponed.)

Question: Would Stalin be willing to meet with President Truman at a "mutually agreeable" place to talk peace?

Answer: Yes. (It was perfectly safe for Stalin to say "yes" to that one. He wasn't committing himself to anything. Since "mutually agreeable" means both men would have to agree on a place, Stalin really hadn't said anything.)

(Informed of this statement of Stalin's, Mr. Truman took the stand he made known repeatedly before: He'd be glad to see Stalin in Washington but no place else.)

So Smith sent one more question to Stalin: Would he be willing to go to Washington to see Mr. Truman? Answer: No. He said he'd meet the President behind the Iron Curtain. He said, because of his health, he couldn't travel to Washington. But he thanked Mr. Truman for his invitation.

(Mr. Truman hasn't said any time recently he had invited Stalin to Washington. He did invite him twice, in 1945 and in 1946, but it is not known he has invited him since.)

So the score stands: No hits, no runs, no errors.
