Multi-Billion Dollar Operations Mapped For Farm Price Support; Administration Seeks Prevent Depression On The Farm

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The government is mapping plans to expand its operations in support of farm prices to a multi-billion dollar level. Current market weaknesses are spurring the drive.

The purpose of those operations is to prevent a collapse in farm prices and income such as followed World War I. The Truman Administration has said a depression on the farm would soon spread to the cities.

Working to put his organization in shape for the job ahead, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has been spending much of his time this week conferring with many officials.

Neither Brannan nor his aides have been unduly disturbed by recent sharp setbacks in prices of major farm commodities, including grains, cotton, cattle, hogs, oil seeds, and milk.

In general, these price declines are considered by the department to be adjustments to changing demand and supply conditions. These conditions include improvement in food supplies abroad with prospects of consequent lessening of demand for American products.

Further, there was said to be evidence that domestic consumers are letting up on their buying of higher quality and higher priced foods. More plentiful supplies of automobile, home furnishings, and other manufactured goods were to be providing ever increasing competition for the consumer dollar.

Farm prices as a whole have dropped about 15 per cent from postwar peaks of a year ago. Some products are selling at or below levels at which the government is required by law to support prices. Others still are considerably above support levels, although they have dropped off sharply in recent months.

These declines have necessarily broadened government price-aid operations. A year ago such activities were largely limited to potatoes, citrus and dried fruits.

Now the government is actively engaged in supporting farm prices of wheat, corn, oats, barley, grain sorghums, potatoes, soybeans, flaxseed, cotton, eggs, dried fruits, and peanuts.

Only yesterday it announced plans to include butter. Producer prices of milk and butterfat have fallen sharply in areas where milk is produced for diversion into manufactured products. Officials say it may be necessary to support hog prices before the year is out.

December Wages Disclose Drop

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—Wage and salary payments to Americans declined in December for the first time since early last year, the commerce department reported today.

An immediate result was a rise in unemployment compensation payments.

Both developments were due chiefly to a drop in factory employment, the department said.

Convene To Pick Committeeman

The only candidate placed before the committee so far is Jonathan Daniels, editor of the News and Observer here.

The Word 'Progress'

One Man's Poison And Another Man's Meat; Conflicting Ideas; Governor Dewey's Speech Last Night; His Attitude Toward A Health Program; Silent On 1952

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The word "progress" is one man's poison and another man's meat.

It's a word whose meaning depends upon what the person who uses it has in mind when he says it.

Which is another way of saying Brown's idea of progress may look like radicalism to Jones but like reaction to Smith.

In his Lincoln Day dinner speech last night Governor Thomas E. Dewey said the Republicans are a "liberal and progressive party."

He attacked the Democrats for going, he seems to think, too far, and he attacked some Republicans for not going, he seems to think, far enough.

Denmark To Join Norway In Look At Treaty Terms

Danish Ambassador Ready To Ask Acheson For Details Of Atlantic Alliance

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—Denmark intends to follow Norway in looking into the terms for joining the Atlantic defense alliance, diplomatic officials reported today.

The Danish ambassador, Henrik De Kauffmann, was reported primed to go to the State Department to submit his country's questions as soon as Secretary Acheson gives him an appointment.

De Kauffmann's visit would mark the first time the Danish government has shown any official interest in the possibility of linking its defenses with the American-sponsored security pact.

In the past, the Danish government has supported Sweden's idea that the three Scandinavian countries (Sweden, Norway, Denmark) should form an alliance of their own based on neutrality. This arrangement would have been separate from the defense alliance being negotiated by the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Acheson and his top assistants in the State Department currently are busy assembling facts requested by Norway's visiting foreign minister as a means of guiding his country's decision.

The Norwegian foreign minister, Halvard M. Lange, is continuing here his detailed examination of the Atlantic security alliance.

Government officials meanwhile reported Acheson will grant an appointment to the Danish ambassador, and probably the Swedish envoy too, at his first opportunity.

As far as is known, however, the Swedish diplomat, Eric Boheman, merely wants to explain his country's attitude and not to inquire into the act.

Stadium Fund Is Nearing Goal; 213 More Seats

By CHESTER WALSH

Ed E. Rawl, chairman of the East Carolina Teachers' College Stadium Committee, has reported that $22,884 of the goal of $25,000 being sought to start work on an athletic field, already is in the bank. The committee still needs $2,116.

Public-spirited citizens are donating $10 each for seats, and 213 seats remain to be sold, Rawl said.

Plans are under way at E. C. T. C. to expand the athletic program, especially football, Dr. John D. Messick, the president, said.

Chairman Rawl and Master of Ceremonies Eli Bloom, on a radio program over WGTC Monday night, with E. C. T. C. Kiwanis minstrel and other talent, received by telephone $1,310 in pledges for seats in the proposed football stadium. Those who made pledges should send checks or cash to Treasurer J. Herbert Waldrop at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company.

Russia Continues Back Tito In Austria Claims

London, Feb. 9—(AP)—Russia renewed her support of Yugoslavia's territorial claims on Austria, despite her quarrel with Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito, American sources reported.

Russia restated her view soon after deputies convened here for a third big try at writing the long-delayed Austrian peace treaty.

The conference had been hailed by western diplomats as a place where Russia could match her recent talk with action in settling Europe's problems.

East-West differences on Yugoslavia's claims for 800 square miles of southern Austria have been the principal stumbling block in nearly three years of negotiating for an Austrian treaty.

Meeting in London's historic Lancaster House under the chairmanship of U. S. Deputy Samuel Reber, the Deputies took no decision on the Russian suggestion and adjourned until tomorrow.

The official British observer said the three deputies expressed "grave doubts" whether a hearing of Yugoslavia's claim would serve any useful purpose.

The Yugoslavs have presented their claims in detail during previous conferences.

But Mr. Truman has another point in his program which Dewey didn't mention last night as part of the Republican party's beliefs, and that is national health insurance.

In his speech Dewey didn't make it clear whether he's against the idea of national health insurance in some form.

But, he lambasted the Democrats' idea of a health program. He said: "He's for the American people's security but by that I do not mean supporting half-baked, badly drawn laws or like the Murray-Wagner-Dingell Bill (this is the Democrats' bill) which would reduce our doctors to government servants."

"I propose that, opposing every totalitarian device, we fight ever to

Depression Cost Preview Scorned

Estimate That Big Slump Might Cost $800 Billions Regarded As Making A Case For Managed Economy, More Spending

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—Scoffing Republicans said today an economic expert's estimate that another depression might cost $800,000,000 was just designed to "make out a case for a managed economy" and more spending.

Leon Keyserling, vice chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, offered the figure. He was recalled for more testimony today before the Senate-House Economic Committee (10 a.m. EST).

The $800,000,000, he said yesterday, might be the difference in national income in the next 10 years, depending on whether there is another boom or bust or a "stable rate of growth."

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), a committee member, told a reporter: "I think he is making out a case for a managed economy."

"I think," said Rep. Herter (R-Mass.), "he is getting ready to argue for great public spending to avoid losing $800,000,000—spend billions to save billions."

"It was a very abstruse calculation, one of those theoretical things economists love to indulge in."

Keyserling appeared before the committee to give a build-up to President Truman's economic program. This includes things like more taxes and social security benefits and controls over exports, prices, wages and scarce materials.

"The outlook for 1949 is still bright," Keyserling said, "and by optimism combined with the right course of action we can keep it bright."

Congress already has passed a bill to continue for seven months, until Sept. 30, authority for the government and industry to split up scarce items like steel among the customers needing it.

And the Senate passed yesterday a bill to extend export controls for 28 months. They expire at the end of February. The House expects to act next week.

Congress has shown no great enthusiasm for price or wage controls or higher taxes.

But the Senate Banking Committee has decided to investigate the reasons why prices of some farm and manufactured articles have dropped a lot lately and living costs only a little.

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—Republicans pondered the advice today of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to become the party of "social progress."

Reluctantly draping himself in the robes of elder statesman, the New York governor told the country from a Lincoln Day dinner forum last night that his Truman-defeated party is split wide open.

On one side, he said to the tune of 22 outbursts of applause, are those who want no "paternalism" in government—who would "junk farm price supports, unemployment insurance, old age benefits, slum clearance and other programs."

On the other, he said as he paused to survey a packed banquet room, are those Republicans who want to go beyond the New Deal "as rapidly as possible at almost any cost and regardless of consequences."

His proposal for a winning combination in 1950 and 1952:

Take the middle road; "stop belly-aching about the past," quit trying to "out-promise the Democrats," forget about "turning the clock back" and stand for "social progress in government—where a flourishing, competitive system of private enterprise where every human right is expanded." He suggested that those who are opposed to "liberal and progressive" policies should leave the GOP.

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Boy Scouts of America, 2,200,000 strong, celebrated the 39th birthday of their organization today by making their annual report to the nation.

The report was made at a breakfast attended by Attorney General Tom Clark. Eagle Scout Clark is the way he proudly identified himself, Senators, Representatives and Assorted Government Bigwigs.

It turns out the Scouts have been eager beavers all right.

During the year, for instance, Scouts collected 500,000 pounds of food for the Friendship train, gathered up 781,000,000 pounds of paper, collected 1,905,000 pounds of clothing.

They planted 1,137,000 trees and distributed 5,000,000 pieces of literature. This included everything from posters advertising navy duty, to pamphlets for jaywalkers in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Hostilities Slow In Chinese Fight

No National Peace Seen Yet; Little Resistance To Reds

Nanking, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Chinese war may stay quiet for months.

Just why the cessation of hostilities in continuing can be answered only by the communists in power north of the Yangtze River.

Few observers here expect acting President Li Tsung-jen to arrange a national peace. Neither do they expect an attempt by the communists to cross the Yangtze and drive southward by military force alone.

Admittedly the Reds have defeated Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist armies in the military phase of the war. Dispatches from Chiang's home town of Fenghuang today quoted the generalissimo's close friends as saying he had retired definitely.

He said this was the happiest New Year (Jan. 29) he had spent in 30 years.

There is practically no organized resistance to the Communists south of the Yangtze and very little south of the river.

Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung and his subordinates give every indication that they are content to rest on their laurels for the time being. They are organizing the North China areas they hold.

Meanwhile, two troop transports carrying 1,600 U. S. Marines left Tsingtao yesterday. Some at least are bound for San Diego.

(Departure of the transports Enrico and Renfield to the tune of "California Here I Come" left one battalion billeted aboard ships in the harbor of the communist-surrounded city. There are also 600 Marines aboard ship at Shanghai.)

Wind And Snows Join Forces For Assault On West

Newly-Cleared Highways And Railroads Blocked; Livestock Losses To Climb

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Westerly winds of near 40 miles an hour swirled heavy piles of snow into newly cleared highways and rail lines in the storm-stricken western states today.

The strong winds hampered the huge job of digging out from the latest onslaught of weather's wintry elements. Further damages to property and increased losses of livestock appeared certain from the latest storms which have battered the western plains and Rocky Mountain region for nearly six weeks.

At least five persons lost their lives in the new storms in the Wyoming-Utah-Idaho area.

Nearly 40 passenger and mail trains are stalled in huge snowdrifts in Wyoming, Utah and Idaho. More than 5,000 passengers were stranded. There were 36 passenger and one Army train stalled between Omaha and Denver.

Some of the mail trains in the snowbound area are wrout.

The strong winds blew across the snow-capped areas of Wyoming, Idaho and part of Utah and moved eastward into Nebraska, Montana and the Dakotas today. The U. S. Weather Bureau said winds may diminish during the day in the Rocky Mountain region but "only temporarily."

Most of the blizzard-swept disaster area, however, got one break in the weather — temperatures were not severe. But a below zero belt covered most sections of the North Central states. The mercury was expected to be above freezing in Nebraska and the Dakotas and the Rocky Mountain area.

In Wyoming drifting snow re-blocked more than 2,300 miles of roads which had been opened by Army crews. Airplanes flew supplies of milk and bakery goods to Rawlins and Rock Springs, Wyo., to meet emergency needs of stranded rail passengers.

Stratojet Bombers To Rival Tuesday's Mark

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Air Force is planning a B-47 Stratojet bomber even better than the one which whizzed across the continent yesterday in less than four hours.

There are only two of the Boeing jet craft now. The 62½-ton plane which spanned 2,289 miles at an average speed of 607.2 miles an hour yesterday was the first one built.

Later models—the Air Force has ordered 10—will have better equipment, including engines 25 per cent more powerful.

The Stratojet's three-and-three-quarter-hour hop from Moses Lake (Wash.) Airbase to Andrews Field near here was the fastest ever made across the country, but it was not counted as a record because it did not cover the 2,460-mile official course from Los Angeles to New York.

The record for that course is four hours, 13 minutes at 584 miles an hour, set by a Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star flown by Col. William Council Jan. 26, 1946.

The B-47 was flown by Maj. Russell E. Schiehn, a native of San Francisco, and Maj. Joseph W. Howell of Borden, Ind. Both now are attached to the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

The Air Force termed the flight a routine delivery of the six-engine, swept-wing bomber for a congressional air show next Tuesday.

Program On Music Given Before Club

Mrs. James Worsley entertained the Literature Department at her home last Tuesday February 8. Mrs. C. Wooten was hostess.

The Valentine motif was kept both in the table decorations—large red carnations and white candles—and in the strawberry shortcake and red candy hearts for refreshments.

Mrs. Dan Vornholt welcomed the two guests, Mrs. Moye Dail and Mrs. W. J. Bundy, and then presided over a short business meeting.

Mrs. R. R. Willmann, assisted by Mrs. Moye Dail, then gave an interesting and unusual program on "Music in the History of the Western Church." To make vivid the gradual development of church music throughout the ages—from Greek and Hebrew to modern times—Mrs. Willmann illustrated her talk by playing on a harmonium selections of church music from the various ages and Mrs. Moye Dail sang in her sympathetic and understanding way songs typical of the music of these ages. It was fascinating in this way to watch the development of church music from the ancient Gregorian chant, beautiful, simple, and solemn, through the more complicated but still chaste and pure music of Palestrina; then to the severe militant hymns of Martin Luther; then to the gay, rhythmic and more worldly music of the 18th century; and finally to the sweet and gentle hymns of the 19th century and today. That the church music of each age was greatly influenced and molded by the interests and trends of that particular age was brought out clearly.

Mrs. Willmann concluded with a discussion of the place music should have in a religious service. It should not, she said, aim to show off the skills of the performers, but should fit so harmoniously into the mood of the service that it would become an aid to and a part of the whole emotional and religious experience.

The next meeting of the Literature Department will be on February 22 at the home of Mrs. Paul Ricks.

Joint Hostesses To Wesleyan Guild

On Monday evening Mrs. J. B. Mallison was gracious hostess to the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church, with Mrs. Cora Powell and Miss Elizabeth Norman assisting.

Mrs. R. P. Rogers, president, opened the meeting with prayer and presided over a brief business session. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson. A splendid yearly report was given by the treasurer, Miss Laura Bell.

Following the business session Miss Norman gave a beautiful devotion on prayer. Mrs. Ruth Meeks introduced Mrs. S. B. Underwood Jr., president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, who gave a most inspiring program on "Church Unity, using the thoughts of the Rev. Mr. Joseph Walker, Presbyterian minister.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Karsnak and Miss Betsy Karsnak, served delicious home made cake, pecans and tea.

Called Meeting of Nurses Club

The Greenville Registered Nurses' Club will have a called meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the dining room at Pitt General Hospital. All nurses are urged to be present.

Mrs. Herring Hostess To Service Guild

Monday night Circle No. 1 of the Wesleyan Service Guild met at the home of Mrs. L. W. Herring on Elm Street.

Miss Bernice Powell, president, opened the meeting with prayer. It was announced that the district conference will be held in Rocky Mount on April 9-10. Mrs. Scoville read a letter which she had received from the Spiritual Life Group chairman, Mrs. Davis, urging the Guild to have as one of its goals a Week of Prayer. After some discussion Frances Gross suggested that the group begin its week of prayer on Thursday night, February 17, and Mrs. Scoville invited the group to have its first meeting of the Week of Prayer at her house.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Scoville, who read us an article on "Christian Living," taken from "The Upper Room." Miss Frances Gross then gave us a brief review on "Hawaii."

Just before adjournment delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Misses Bernice Powell and Annie Turner, assisted by Mrs. Herring and Master Buddy Dail.

Rev. Neilson Speaks At Service League

The Service League was privileged to have Rev. J. A. Neilson of the Immanuel Baptist Church as guest speaker at its February meeting which was held Monday morning at the Sheppard Memorial Library.

Mr. Neilson asked the members to think with him about the meaning of "True Greatness" which he had chosen as the topic of his talk. "True greatness is found by serving others rather than by having others serve you," he said, and pointed out George Peabody, Florence Nightingale, Josephine Butler, John Howard and others as examples who lived considering it a privilege to do something for somebody else. He expressed gratification that this same spirit of serving was seen in the Service League.

Mrs. Tyson Bilbro, second vice-president, presided over the business meeting which followed. Prior to reports from the standing committees a test was given on the League's new handbook which was recently issued.

Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, project chairman, reported that at a recent meeting of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association final arrangements were made for bringing the mobile units for mass X-ray to Pitt County the first week in June. She also announced that the Service League had been asked to sponsor the Women's Division of the Red Cross Drive again this year as they have done in the past. Mrs. Tyson Bilbro will serve as chairman and many members responded to her request for the volunteers to serve as captains and lieutenants in the drive.

The Thrift Shop chairman, Mrs. Jesse Moye, told of plans for a rummage sale which the League will have Saturday, Feb. 19, in an effort to raise much needed funds. Mrs. M. P. Hoot will be chairman, with Mrs. Sam Underwood and Mrs. J. B. Cummings assisting her. All members and friends of the League are urged to donate clean and mended discarded clothes to this worthy project.

Reports from other committees revealed that the Laughinghouse Hospital Bed had cared for five patients during January; the Greenville Emergency Charity Fund Committee had assisted three needy persons; the layette committee had provided two layettes; and a pair of crutches from the lending chest had been lent.

Mrs. Joe Moye was appointed to serve as chairman of the committee which will work this month to raise money for the hospital bed fund.

Men of Eighth Street Church Meet

The men of the Eighth Street Christian Church are invited to a barbecue supper at the church on Thursday evening at 6:30. This is a part of the current program of the church in the national program entitled "A Crusade For a Christian World." The male quartet of the church will be on hand for the music. Mr. W. H. Woolard will be in charge, at out-of-town man of entertaining abilities will be present, and the fellowship of the manpower of the church will be harnessed to a great cause. The time: 6:30. The place: the church basement.

Reading Of Mikado Gives Music Club Enjoyable Evening

Members of the Greenville Music Club enjoyed on Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club the unusual experience of reading together the score of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Mikado." The program, which was unrehearsed either by principals or chorus, made an entertaining evening for approximately 50 members.

Donald Blood of Greenville, student at East Carolina Teachers College, acting as narrator, outlined the musical activities of Gilbert and Sullivan, librettist and composer respectively of the gay operetta, and between numbers on the program sketched the plot of "The Mikado."

Dr. Rudolph R. Willmann, chairman of the department of music at the college here, was conductor for the evening. Mrs. Guy V. Smith was accompanist. Soloists were Mrs. Louise Carter, Mrs. Guy L. Jones, Miss Ruth Lambie, James Ray Pittman, J. C. Clifford, Jr., and James L. White. Other members of the club present for the occasion formed a chorus.

A social hour followed the program with the following club members as hosts and hostesses: Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Oppelt, Mrs. Meredith Posey, Mrs. Arnes Settle, James Ray Pittman, Mrs. Howard Bockin, Miss Bessie Brown, Mrs. G. M. Renfro, and Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Whiteley.

Birth Announcement
Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Spain, Jr., announce the birth of a son, David Jatie, on January 31.

Mrs. Spain is the former Vera Belle Mills of Greenville.

Winterville F. H. A.
The Winterville F. H. A. held its regular meeting in the High School library February 4. Amy Cayton, our president, called the meeting to order and Betty Jean Little had charge of devotional. We were led in our club prayer by Ruth Little. The club decided to have a social February 12, and also to send for dishclothes to sell.

The program chairman, Mary Alice Shivers, planned an interesting program for us. Denyse Molawhorn introduced our speaker for the evening, Mrs. E. G. Cole of Winterville who gave us a very interesting talk on "Five Steps to Watch in Our Daily Life." These were: Words, Actions, Thoughts, Companions and Habits.

Constance Vincent, entertainment chairman, also planned an interesting game for us. Six girls from the group volunteered to help her. Two girls were models for two other girls who draped material on the models forming beautiful styles. The two other girls made hats for them from balloons. Each winner was given a prize.

Drinks and cookies were served by the refreshment committee, Jean Weathington, Bessie Brickhouse and Jonnie Mae Smith.

This concluded our program and the meeting was adjourned.

Many Entries In Oratorical Test Here This Week

Between 75 and 100 high school students are expected to enter the fourth annual speech contest sponsored by the Greenville Lions club, Tournament Director R. B. Starling said today.

Several schools including Princeton, W.Va., high school already have entered students in the tournament which this year will be made up of three divisions. Other schools which have confirmed plans for entering four or more speakers in the tournament are Asheville, Kinston, Ayden, Winterville, Greenville, Farmville, Bethel, Belvoir, Williamston, Aurora, Richlands and Youngsville.

Two of the winners of last year's contest, Betsy Cannady of Richlands and Hazel Garris of Farmville, already have registered.

According to Starling, the first division of the tournament will be for students with interscholastic experience in public speaking will be ineligible. Division two, original oratory, will be open to any high school student and any topic may be used. The third division, declamations, is open to all students; and according to the tournament regulations any speech by any author may be delivered in this division.

The tournament will be held at the high school, Starling said, with speaking beginning at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Whedbee Stages Lions' Program

The program for the Lions regular Monday supper meeting featured Charles Whedbee as master of ceremonies playing the part of professor "I Quiz Them."

The Lions were divided into teams and competed for a team prize in the twenty question contest. Billy Byrd's "I-Know-All-The-Answers" team won by identifying the Lions' going after using only two of their available 20 questions. Raymond Duffy's team with ten questions was the second place low score, but there was no second place prize.

R. B. Starling reported the registrations for the high school oratorical contest at the present time are: Asheville students, four; Princeton, W.Va., students, four; Winterville students, and eight Ayden students.

District Deputy Governor Louis Day, and two other Rocky Mount Lions were guests of the club. Professor Marshall Helms of the ECTC faculty was presented as a new member, and Julian Vainwright, a high school junior, was presented as the Junior Lion for February.

President Bert Aycock presided at the meeting and welcomed Frank Brown who has recently returned from Baltimore.

To Present Radio Drama "The Other Wise Man" will be presented tonight over WGTN at 8 o'clock. This is a dramatic production by Claude B. West, Jr., and is also directed by him. It is sponsored by the Wesley Players Religious Drama group of the Methodist Student Center.

Strength FOR THE DAY
MARRIED, OR SORT O' MARRIED

The word "marriage" goes back across the centuries to a Sanskrit word meaning "youth" or "lover." In the childhood of the race, people thought of marriage as something connected only with the morning hours of life's day. Now we know that if the marriage state deepens and matures at it should it become more significant with the passing years.

A recent writer has remarked that two people are not married in the ordinary of an hour; they only begin to be married at that time. The marriage grows and develops with the years as the contracting parties grow and develop. Many people are saying today that marriage as an institution is failing. Marriage is not failing, but many people who enter marriage fail to live up to its requirements. Many young people believe that when they leave the altar, happiness will be guaranteed them for the rest of their lives. The truth is that they will get just as much happiness out of marriage as they create, and they create this happiness by making substantial capital investments in the form of sacrifice, selflessness, thoughtfulness, tenderness, and faith.

With the taking of the vows people begin to be married; they learn how to make their lives one.

YOUR HELP NEEDED

If you would like to contribute to a most worthy cause, the relief of the family of W. B. O'Neal, who was murdered last Saturday night, the opportunity is open to you.

The local auxiliary of the American Legion is heading the drive and will be glad to accept all contributions. Your contributions may be made direct to Mrs. W. B. Barbre, 211 Eastern Street or to the Daily Reflector.

THE DEMOCRATIC WAY

The Greenville Board of Aldermen illustrated its desire to have the people of the city choose the form of municipal government they want by making another effort Monday night to have an election on the city manager form of government.

The Aldermen requested a bill to be presented to the General Assembly giving special permission to the city governing body to call an election on the matter without having the people who support the change go through the long process of getting the petition required under the North Carolina general statute.

It is evident from their action that the Greenville aldermen are interested above all else, in seeing that the people have the opportunity to exercise their democratic right in choosing the form of local government they want. It is gratifying to know that the local Aldermen have not stood in the way of an election as have the governing bodies of some cities whose people have sought a change in the form of municipal government.

Whether the General Assembly approves the enabling act requested by the Greenville aldermen lies not in the hands of the municipal officers, but with the people's representatives in the state legislature.

REC-MANNING

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

UNUSUAL—Staging a statewide broadcast of a press conference by Governor Scott was departure from tradition, but not more than might be expected of the man who has smashed precedents ever since he entered public life a quarter century ago. His rallying call for the people from all over the state to move on Raleigh and put on pressure for the bond road issue was much greater variance from custom and did surprise many observers.

PRESSURE—By the time this is read the road bill hearing will be underway or finished, and the effect of the governor's appeal can be appraised. As of Tuesday afternoon committee chairman were considering plans to move the meeting from the capitol to the city auditorium. That course was followed last season when a similar call by Scott, then commissioner of agriculture, brought some three thousand farmers here to protest increasing the state tax on farmer co-operatives. The tax was not levied, but whether the mass meeting had much influence upon legislative action.

ANTAGONISM—Some legislators have voiced the fear that mass pressure of this kind tends to create antagonism between groups and has long range affect not always for common good. Three thousand people make a big crowd in any meeting place around Raleigh. It is obvious that such a number can easily be assembled to shout for roads, another similar group to shout for school's, another to shout for prohibition, and still other groups for various proposals, and yet they might not represent general state sentiment as accurately as the properly elected members of the general assembly who were chosen by popular vote in every county. One veteran legislator recalled futility of the bonus army march on Washington eighteen years ago as a case in point.

PROPER—Majority of the legislators, while not particularly enjoying the pressure, take the position that such mass movements are proper, that they are exercise of the constitutional guaranty of freedom of assembly and right of petition. The manifestation is usually discounted by experienced legislators, who nevertheless contend that such occasions do help to convey popular opinion to the lawmaker.

CAREFUL—Some call it being wisely careful, some say it is simply subterfuge for delay. Whichever it is, or if the practice has elements of both, the legislature has reached the state of having bills re-referred to committees or held over to later date for action. The senate had three bills on the public calendar Monday night and all were sent back to committees for further study. The house had twelve bills, seven were passed, four were held over to later date, and one was sent back to committee. This procedure necessarily causes delay. At the same time, members cannot vote intelligently on bills they have not read and the holding over often takes less time than prolonged explanation and debate on the floor.

AMENDMENTS—Unusual situation arose in the house when two bills proposing amendments to the state constitution were reported out by the committee on courts and judicial districts, rather than by the committee on constitutional amendments. One providing for defendants to waive formal indictment in some instances was passed by roll call vote of 95 to 2. The other providing for election of more than one judge in a district aroused so much opposition it was re-referred to the committee on constitutional amendment. Later effort to reconsider the passing vote on the first and refer it to the amendments committee lost by standing vote of approximately 75 to 15.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Big changes often start in small ways.

The ordinary man doesn't notice them at first. But gradually he begins unconsciously to add them up. And all at once there flashes into his mind the conviction: "Something's in the wind."

And there does seem to be something in the financial wind. The American post-war hurricane of inflation is slowing down on many fronts. And already fears are rising that the National economy will be caught in the doldrums.

Yes, the signs come in small ways. A week ago a paper cup of carry-out coffee at the drugstore down stairs cost fifteen cents. This week it dropped to twelve cents. The price of a dish of cereal fell from twenty to fifteen.

A few days ago I went to a semi-annual shirt sale at one of Manhattan's men stores. Crowds of men pawed through the shirt stacks in the way only women are supposed to shop for bargains.

A five-cent cigar went on sale here and was front page news.

Columbia University noted a decline in the employment of woman graduates.

A prominent realty broker, looking ahead to a time when the housing shortage would be over, asked a federal law putting a floor on rentals to protect landlords.

These are only a few of many straws showing a shift in the wind. Even more indicative is a return of old-fashioned politeness to the customer, who used to be always right but has been wrong for several years. Shop owners are getting ready to scrimp for business again.

Recently I stopped with a friend to get a tankful of gasoline at a filling station in North Carolina. The attendant not only washed the windshield but checked the tires.

"You got a lot of dirt on the floor board," he said. And he whipped out a whisk broom and rustled out the dust. Then he got some distilled water and filled up the battery.

Little courtesy messages like this should make the average customer feel good again after his years of casual abuse. But instead they seem to disturb him somewhat.

He can read in his newspaper and see that, according to official statistics, the dollar is worth only a penny more than it was at the peak of inflation. That's all the price cuts really amount to up till now. And a penny doesn't make much difference in itself.

The people here who now save a nickel on their morning cereal ought to feel cheered. They've been complaining about the 20-cent price long enough. But somehow it makes them uneasy.

"What's behind it?" They ask. They like prices to go down. Every consumer does. But they have an unspoken fear that if prices go down jobs will be down, too, and nobody wants that.

At heart the American fear is of depression rather than of inflation. This country has had some terrible depressions. It hasn't known, since revolutionary war days, the ravages of rampant inflation on a nation-wide scale—inflation, that is, such as has swept Europe and China.

Americans like to expand, hate to contract. They trust growth, fear decline. Few believe the country will ever toboggan again to the economic depths of the early 1930's. But they distrust a down-slide of any kind, because nobody can always be sure of his brakes.

Who's afraid of a "return to normalcy." Practically everybody.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Many of the folks who come to Washington are like the "man who came to dinner." They stay.

Some members of Congress stay on after their terms expire to practice law on their own. Many serve as consultants to clients and corporations back home. Their experience and contacts on Capitol Hill stand them in good stead.

Often they go into other branches of government. Many others remain as economic advisers or experts on foreign trade.

Many of the familiar faces you see about town are those of former members of Congress—Mrs. William E. Doan, whose husband was Republican Senator from Idaho from 1913 until his death here in 1949; Mrs. Charles L. McNary, widow of the Republican Senator from Oregon; Mrs. Key Pittman, whose husband, Democratic Senator from Nevada, was serving as chairman of the Foreign Relations committee at the time of his death in 1940.

Then there's the very active,

Inspired by true love and written with heart-felt emotion, the immortal ballad, "Annie Laurie," was not created by a professional Scottish song writer, but rather by a young lad who found the ballad as a means to express his deepest feelings toward the lass of his dreams. The young Scot who declared, "And for bonnie Annie Laurie, I'd lay me down and die," was Sir William Douglas, an actual character in Scottish history. Perhaps this ballad has survived the test of time because it was written from the heart of a living man to his only love.

On this slender thread of historical fact, Wall Spence, the playwright, has woven a story of drama and romance cast against a background of suspense, Scottish history, and conflicting clans.

Sir William and Annie Laurie's love is frustrated by Annie's father who harbors an ancestral grudge against the family of Sir William Douglas. Through heartache and separation Annie and William live by their ballad by their "promise true."

Taking the leading roles in the senior production of this romantic drama, Jane Langley and Jack Morgan portray Annie and Sir William with the depth of character and interpretation of veteran stage stars.

Both Jane and Jack have gained much stage experience as members of dramatic clubs. Jane has been a member of the GHS Dramateers for two years and has played roles in two leading productions. She also knows something of the technical end of a play, having served as business manager of another Dramateer production.

Jack Morgan, who moved to Greenville from Elizabeth City, was a member of the Elizabeth City high school dramatics club for two years and served as president for one year.

veteran actor, for he appeared in Paul Green's "Lost Colony" as an Indian dancer and courier.

As for Jane Langley's other extracurricular activities, she has been a member of the traffic committee, SCA, glee club, and Dramateers. "Not only do I enjoy playing Annie Laurie, but I have gained a valuable experience by realizing under what circumstances the ballad Annie Laurie was written," summed up Jane.

Jack Morgan's other interest, besides dramatics, is art. Because of his unusual talent he was elected art editor of the Tau, '48 yearbook. If you have followed the Phantom footballers, you will recognize Jack as a regular member of the backfield for the last two seasons. He is also a member of the GHS Monogram Club.

What happens when Sir William Douglas tells Annie's enraged father: "I love your daughter, Sir Laurie, and no hate between our clans is strong enough to crush it." Does love finally run smoothly for Annie and William? The audience in the GHS auditorium tomorrow evening will find how the love expressed in the ballad Annie Laurie runs for both lad and lass.

Rotarians Hear Meredith Prexy

"Poverty and ignorance go together." Therefore, North Carolina cannot afford ignorance," said Dr. Carlyle Campbell, President of Meredith College, to the Greenville Rotary Club Monday night. Dr. Campbell is a member of the Governor's Education Commission which has just completed an eighteen months study of the school program in North Carolina. The speaker pointed out that our state would grow even poorer if the citizens are to allow our educational program to fall apart. In 1945 North Carolina ranked 35th in education among the forty-eight states. The 1937 legislature gave an approximate 20 per cent increase for education and North Carolina then ranked 33rd. This further decline came about because other states of the union went far beyond what North Carolina did in the last three years. All of our southern neighbors are now far ahead of the great state of North Carolina in the expenditures on her welfare of its boys and girls. The

Buccaneers Ran Wild In Second Half, Racking Up 42 Points; Jayvees Edge Wilmington Team 48-46

By EUGENE PRICE
East Carolina Teachers College swept both ends of a twin bill here last night as Coach Howard Porter's varsity Buccaneers turned in a 61 to 31 North State conference upset over Western Carolina Teachers College and the ECTC Jayvees scored their third consecutive win by turning back Wilmington Junior College 48 to 46.

Western Carolina, held to three field goals in the first half, never threatened the Buccaneer lead. Halftime score stood at a low 19 to 10.

But in the last period the battling Buccaneers ran wild, hitting the basket with 50 per cent of their field goal attempts to rack up 42 more points and avenge the 52 to 50 last minute loss suffered to the boys from the West on Monday night.

Coach Tuck McConnell's cagers connected with but 18 percent of their shots during the evening. The locals made 33 percent of their attempted field goals.

Scoring honors for the Bucs were divided with Charlie Bill Moore, Frank Maennle and Jack Everitt, taking the lead with 17, 12 and 10 points respectively. Fitz Pennell, freshman center, scored eight points for the locals including the final field goal. Outstanding on both defense and offense for the Bucs was ball-hawking Len Bauer. Big Frank Maennle controlled the backboard throughout the evening.

In the preliminary game Phil Brown and Jim Blake set the scoring pace for the Junior Bucs with 20 and 13 points respectively. Lewis scored high for the losers with 13.

Halftime score gave the locals a 24 to 18 advantage but the visitors staged a last half comeback to knit the count and were even in the lead with but a minute to play.

High Point Cagers Inch Up On Leading Catawba

By The Associated Press
High Point has inched a bit nearer the North State conference throne room from which it was recently bounced by Catawba.

Today the Panthers were only one game back of the Salisbury Tribesmen after notching a 59-44 victory over Guilford last night. High Point's conference record is 9-2. Catawba's 10-1. Each has beaten the other once.

The big conference news to come out of last night's shooting was the smashing, 61-31, rout of Western Carolina by East Carolina at Greenville.

The loss left WCTC still in third place, but its 8-4 record was only a half game ahead of Appalachian.

Halftime score: ECTC 19, WCTC 10. Free throws missed: Fountain 2, Rhodes 4, Scruggs 2, Pressley, Carter, Gloyne, Everton 2, Moye, Collie, Fennell 3, Harrison 2, Bauer 2, Maennle 3. Officials: Jones and Odum.

Armed To Make Comeback With Hialeah Entry

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9—(AP)—Armed, the old man of the country's name horses, was scheduled to take the comeback trail at Hialeah today.

Calumet Farm's "Golden Gelding"—world's money-winning leader of the geldings—became a surprise entry for the fifth race, a six furlong overnight dash.

Warren Wright's eight-year-old glamor galloper was assigned top weight of 119 pounds including Jockey Eldon Nelson, one of the current leading apprentices. The race, named the Big Cypress, carries a $3,500 purse and is limited to horses four years old or older.

The race will mark the gelding's first outing since the $50,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Feb. 21.

Kittrell Pleased With Double Win

Greenville's boys league basketball teams eked out victories over the teams from Kennedy Home Saturday afternoon as the local Midgets won 24-21 in the closing seconds of the game, and the Intermediates froze the ball to gain a 24-23 victory.

The one point win of the Greenville Intermediates moved them into first place in league standings a fraction ahead of the Goldsboro Intermediates.

With only one substitute to give the five regular starters rests during the game, the local boys used all their initiative and ball handling ability to out-manuever and out-score a much taller Kennedy Home team. After the half time intermission both teams returned to the court with renewed vigor and the score changed hands several times during the remainder of the game; but neither team was able to gain more than a two-point lead during the second half.

After a Kennedy Home free throw brought the score to 34-33, the Greenville team got control of the ball and froze it for the final 45 seconds of the game.

Leon Moore was high scorer for the local squad with 10 points while Joe Roland and Billy Wooten scored eight each.

Midget Game
The Midget game of the afternoon went into the final minute of play with the score deadlocked at 21-all, but in the last 14 seconds of play Jimmy Chestnut sank a field goal to give the locals a two-point margin, and as the final whistle blew Smith Worthington was fouled by a Kennedy Home player.

Worthington took his free throw after the game had ended and brought the score to 24-21.

Coach Bill Kittrell was pleased with his charges' victory, but added "They made a lot of mistakes and were not as good as I have seen them."

The Greenville Midgets got off to a fast start and led 14 to 8 at halftime, but during the third quarter their lead was nullified by the Kennedy Home team, and the final period got under way with the score 16-16.

Guy Smith again led the Greenville Midgets with seven points and Connie Smith, seeing action for the first time as a starter, scored five points.

The Midget and Intermediate teams travel to Ayden Saturday to meet the boys league teams from Ayden.

Trounce Deacons

By The Associated Press
N.C. State got even with Wake Forest's Deacons in the feature game of last night's heavy card.

The Wolfpack, dumped by the Deacons 52-40 last week after 27 league triumphs in a row, trampled Wake Forest underfoot at Raleigh, 82-39.

Forward Sam Ransino showed the Wolfpack the way with 19 points. State held a 42-18 edge at halftime.

In other games, Davidson whipped Furman, 66-46; Virginia Tech mauled V.M.I., 66-33; and Maryland humbled rapidly-fading South Carolina, 79-48.

In non-conference warfare, Washington and Lee took a thrilling 84-81 overtime verdict over Virginia.

Saddler Says He Will Do His Best

Summit, N. J., Feb. 9—(AP)—Sandy Saddler, razor sharp and vicious in the ring, sat quietly in his Negro's dressing room, peeling off his long blue ring tights and his white T-shirt.

The spindly-legged Negro who is featherweight champion of the world was training for his first defense, against Willie Pep at Madison Square Garden Friday night. He is not a talkative person.

"I'll do my best," he said tritely, "just like last time."

If he does "just like last time" he'll flatten Wee Willie in four rounds.

"Do you feel any different boxing pep as champion than you did in October?" He was asked.

"No" was the answer from reticent Sandy.

"Did you think you were ready for Pep last October?" Another question asked.

"I thought I was ready two years ago," he said, "but Charlie Johnston (his manager) didn't think so. I guess he was right."

Interviewing Sandy is like playing a piano with mittens. It can be done but the easy way is talking to manager Johnston. Charlie can unfurl 10,000 words at the drop of a hat to prove that his "Tiger" is responsible for boxing's recent box office boom.

In 14 Basketball Association of America contests this season the winning team has scored 100 or more points. In five of these games both teams reached the century mark.

Grimesland Wins Double-Header Against Grifton

Grimesland high school took a double win from Grifton Friday night as the Grimesland girls edged out a hard fighting sextet 21-20, and the Grimesland boys had little trouble downing the Grifton boys 48-35.

For the Grimesland girls it was sweet revenge for the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Grifton girls earlier in the season. High scorer in the girls game was Susan Tyer of the winners with 13 points, while Munford scored 10 points and Phillips scored eight for the losers.

In the boys game it was Grimesland all the way as Grifton bowed for the second time this season to Coach Bob Wheeler's charges. After intermission, the Grifton boys tried desperately to overcome their opponents' lead, but at the final whistle, the Grimesland boys enjoyed the 11 point margin.

Munford with 19 points took scoring honors for Grifton, as Everette Jackson with 18 points led the Grimesland attack.

Pat Kennedy, chief official of the Basketball Association of America, lost eight and a half pounds while officiating a Rochester-New York game.

Green Phantoms To Meet Washington Here Tonight

Demaret Joins In Texas Warm-Up

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9—(AP)—Jimmie Demaret apparently doesn't agree with the experts that he's practically a shoo-in winner of the $10,000 Texas Open which begins tomorrow.

The singing Texan who calls Ojai, Calif., home has joined hundreds of other golfers in their warm-ups. Temperatures in the 70's brought out scores of practicing hopefuls yesterday.

Pittsburgh Gets Stevens Signed

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates signed lanky first baseman Eddie Stevens signed his 1949 contract today. He gets a big pay boost, but the amount wasn't disclosed.

The tall Texan, who was 24 this week, connected for 24 homers last year, as well as six triples and 19 doubles. He wound up the season with a .254 average.

Greenville High School's Green Phantoms poised today to repel an invasion by the Washington High School Pam Pack in a Northeastern Conference return game. The local Jayvees will play host to the Pack Juniors at 8:30.

Both games will be played in Wright gymnasium at East Carolina Teachers College.

Washington, by virtue of its second place standing in the Northeastern loop and its previous win over the locals, is favored to take the varsity contest. Coach Bo Parley's boys, however, have been working out in the ECTC gym since Monday to get the "feel" of the court which will be their sole advantage over the Pack.

The Pam Pack has been defeated only by Kingston's conference topping Red Devils. Greenville, meanwhile, has lost four conference contests.

The local Jayvees are expected to extend their win record for the season to 11. They scored over the Washington Jayvees in the initial contest. The locals are undefeated in play with Class A high school Junior basketball teams. They have won two games in competition with Class AA Jayvees.

BEGINNING OUR THIRD YEAR in Greenville

The first two articles in this series of Greenville's history revealed two interesting facts. Greenville's first name was Martinsborough, and President George Washington dined here April 19, 1791. There seems to be some doubt about the location of the house where he dined. It is said the house is still standing, and is known as the Dick Williams house.

There may be some doubt about the house where Washington dined, but when it comes to good clothes for particular men, nobody questions the quality Hill's sell, as their policy and slogan is . . . "Known For Good Clothes." This is a fact.

In our next installment we shall tell you more about the house where Washington dined and the census of Pitt County in 1800, also about the good clothes you can buy at Hill's during 1949 and the kind you know about.

Aussies Loom As Strong Challenge

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Australia, led by the veteran John Bromwich, looms as the strongest challenger to the United States' international tennis supremacy this year.

The Aussies were one of 28 nations drawn yesterday to compete for the Davis Cup, which U.S. stonemasters now have won two years in a row.

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, drew the names from a big bowl in a brief ceremony.

Veck Turns To Bearden, Lemon

Cleveland, Feb. 9—(AP)—Bob Feller's in the fold and President Bill Veck of the Cleveland Indians could concentrate his persuasive powers today on signing the remainder of his pitching staff's big three—Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon.

The good humor with which Rapid Robert took a substantial but undisclosed cut probably encourages the tireless one as he tackles the job of satisfying Lemon and Bearden, neither of whose valuable fingers itched for the pen on the first Veck offer.

During the first half of the Basketball Association of America schedule, the teams in the circuit had a 32 per cent average on shots taken from the floor.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By FAGALY and SHORTEN

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 28
David Warren sat in the living room with his shoes off, letting his hair down for the first time in years. His face was a picture of dejection, for he was alone now and he could tell himself so. Minniebelle and Betty were upstairs getting dressed to meet the ladies who would soon be coming to inform him that he was about to accept the nomination for mayor. At Minniebelle's insistence, he had put on a boiled shirt for the occasion and the collar was too tight.

Everything, in fact, was wrong—just everything. He couldn't even run away from it all, what with his foot in a cast and paining him like the very devil itself. And he couldn't remember a word of the beautiful speech of acceptance which Minniebelle had written and made him memorize.

He would do well to stand up with the aid of a walking stick to greet the committeewomen when they arrived. Minniebelle would be terribly disappointed in him.

Well, he was disappointed in himself, for that matter. He would have to fall, cut a gash in his knee, and break a bone in his foot at a time like this, when his days in the post office were numbered. He could not be postmaster and mayor too—not in this town.

Up until two weeks ago, when the accident occurred, he hadn't missed a single day in the post office for fifteen whole years.

He glanced down at the injured foot which was stretched out on a hassock in front of him. Minniebelle had put a clean white bandage over the cast.

The least he could do for her was to accept the nomination for mayor. Accepting the nomination, of course, was equivalent to being elected, in this town. Everything would be in the bag, so to speak. He wished it were a mailbag.

Meanwhile Minniebelle sat rigidly erect in front of her dressing table, dusting her face lightly with prepared chalk. She did not look happy. Presently she got up and went into Betty's room.

Betty, who was sitting by a window reading a magazine, looked up and smiled, but there was no answering smile from her aunt.

"I see you're ready, dear," said Aunt Minniebelle. "You look very sweet in that brown dress. We might as well go down and sit with your uncle while we wait. I don't like to leave him alone too much—poor dear. Besides, the committee ladies will be coming very soon now and I'm sure he'll want to rehearse his speech of acceptance once more."

Betty started to get up, but when she saw that her aunt had seated herself on the bed, she sat down again. Evidently Aunt Minniebelle had something on her mind and wanted to talk. Aunt Minniebelle did. She hesitated a minute; then she said in a voice that was notable for its lack of poise:

"I don't know what's come over your uncle, Bettina. He's changed a lot lately. It's—er—sort of embarrassing. All of a sudden he wants to be a—er—big shot, as you young people say."

Betty could not keep from smiling, but she said seriously enough, "I thought it was you that wanted him to be a big shot. You were the one that wanted him to be mayor. Even when I first came here you were suggesting it. Remember?"

Minniebelle did not deny it. "Yes," she said, "I remember it very well. But things were different then. I wanted it for—er—Gertrude's sake."

"And you don't want it now?" Betty was sure she knew the answer to her question, but somehow she wanted to hear Aunt Minniebelle say it, if only as confirmation.

"No, I don't want it now. David's tired. He's worked very hard all his life. He's been a good postmaster. I'd like for him to keep on as long as he wants to. And then—"

"And then?" Betty prompted when her aunt paused.

"I'd like for him to have a chance to do some of the things he's always wanted to do," Minniebelle said. "You know, Putter around the house, although he probably will wreck the place, he's so clumsy, bless his heart—work in the garden, and maybe go fishing when he wants to."

There was the sound of a car on the gravelled driveway, so Betty and Minniebelle hurried downstairs. "We'll wait in the living room with your uncle," Minniebelle told her niece, "till the doorbell rings. They'll come in by the front door this time."

French Student Attended Rites

Mlle. Jacqueline Mesiat-Belouze, French exchange student now attending East Carolina Teachers College, had a happy and exciting day in Raleigh yesterday, for she was present in the capital city when the French Gratitude Train arrived, was presented to Governor W. Kerr Scott, and either met or renewed acquaintanceship with other French students now attending North Carolina colleges.

Elaborate ceremonies marked the reception in Raleigh yesterday of the Gratitude Train, sent by the people of France as a token of appreciation to this State for its contributions to the Friendship Food Train sent to France last year. Principal speakers included Governor Scott; Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; Franch Consul Jean Strauss; and the Countess de Fels, chairman of the Paris Committee which organized the Gratitude Train.

In Raleigh yesterday Mlle. Mesiat-Belouze had the pleasure of seeing Mlle. Genevieve Faucher, French student now studying at the University of North Carolina on a fellowship provided by the North Carolina Seeta Kappa Gamma Society. The two young women knew each other when they were students in Algiers. Mlle. Faucher is well-known to many in Greenville and has been a guest of the chapter of the DKG organization here.

William S. Elks Died Grimesland

Mr. William S. (Bill) Elks, 76, died at his home in Grimesland at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Sunday morning and had been critically ill since that time. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Thursday at 3 p.m. by Rev. C. G. Nickens, pastor of the Methodist Church of Grimesland. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Greenville. Members of the Grimesland Masonic Lodge No. 475 will have charge of services at the grave. Members of Shawnee Tribe, No. 62, Improved Order of Red Men, will be honorary pallbearers.

Municipal Band To Practice Tonight At Legion Club

The municipal band, recently organized by the Greenville post of the American Legion, now has 30 members, and the personnel represents every walk of life. Bandmasters from East Carolina Teachers College and the Farmville and Greenville high schools are cooperating in perfecting the organization and directing the band. The musicians practice Wednesday nights at 8 o'clock at the Greenville High School bandroom.

B. B. Sugg Jr. and Tom Rivers have been named co-chairmen with James H. Jenkins, who will leave shortly to attend an army school.

Dollar Day

Tomorrow—"Dollar Day"—will be a holiday for the parking meters in Greenville for the convenience of out-of-town and other shoppers. The Merchants Association requests clerks and others not to park their cars in the shopping districts.

"Stores which have membership in the Merchants Association are offering special values which will merit the confidence of the buying public," Executive Secretary Cora S. Powell said today.

Norway is under heavy pressure from Moscow to stay outside any such alliance. Foreign Minister Lange's chief concern, therefore, is to learn just what military support his country could expect from the alliance if she should join and then should be the object of aggression.

Hog Market

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Feb. 9.—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 25. Eggs steady, A large 46.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 40 cents to $1.30 a bale lower today. Noon prices were 90 cents to $1.25 a bale lower than the previous close. March $1.32, May $1.03 and July 29.86.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A rise in the stock market today contrasted sharply with a fresh in some major commodities. Key stocks showed upward tendencies almost immediately after the opening bell. Demand slowly gained momentum until gains ranged from fractions to more than a point. A handful of shares refused to go along. Turnover was moderately active.

Heavy Sentences For Offenders In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Ollie Lane Batts, colored, guilty of possessing non-tax paid (moonshine) whiskey for the purpose of sale and gave him six months on the roads, sentence to be suspended if he pays $200.
Luther White was not guilty of allowing a person under the influence of liquor or narcotics to operate his motor vehicle.
Maybelle Moore Walker, guilty of driving while drunk, was fined $100 and costs, ordered to pay property damage and her driver's license was ordered revoked for a year.
Louis Smith, colored, was fined $50 for vulgar and profane language and assault on a female.
Snoddy Hardy was fined $20 for speeding and reckless driving.
Clayton L. Howell, colored, larceny of money, was given six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $25 and pay restitution.
William D. Cherry paid $15 for assault with a deadly weapon.
Drunk: W. T. Stancill was not guilty, Willie Bright, $15; Clarence H. Fyfe, colored, $15; Stanley L. Brisco, $15; Frank Bennett, $15.

New Manager Of Greenville Store

Robert F. Thompson, owner of the Bootery, announced today that Charles B. Allen of Greenville has been named manager of the Greenville store.
Mrs. Travis Crawford of the Red Oak section of Pitt County will be assistant manager, Thompson said. Thompson will continue to be general manager of the organization's stores in Greenville and Washington, and will continue to make his home in Greenville.

enlarge the area of human freedom.
So at this point, since Dewey won't go along on his health bill, Mr. Truman may argue that the New York governor is a lot less progressive than Mr. Truman. And plenty of Democrats would agree with him.
Turning his attention to his fellow-Republicans, Dewey said some of them would like to wipe out farm price support, unemployment insurance, old age benefits, slum clearance and other such programs.
Such R-republicans, the governor said, want to go back to the 19th century and he practically invited them to get out of the Republican party.
But those same Republicans may look upon him not as progressive at all but as radical for backing those programs.
So when you start using the word "progress" you sort of pays your money and takes your choice.
