See Stabilization For Farm Prices

Agriculture Department Says Strong New Economic Forces Will Possibly Strengthen Declining Markets; Cites Evidence

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—An Agriculture Department spokesman predicted today that "strong new economic forces" soon will stabilize, if not strengthen, declining farm prices.

In fact, he said the markets showed evidence of that yesterday when a ten-day break in major grain prices came to a halt.

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—President Truman called anew today for standby power to control prices and wages.

The need, Mr. Truman told a news conference, is just as great as it was when he asked for the authority in his state of the Union message Jan. 4.

This official said Secretary of Agriculture Brannan gave strong support to the markets yesterday by (a) ordering an inquiry into speculative testimony of the secretary of agriculture, Brannan.

Applying before the Senate Agriculture Committee, Brannan blamed "speculative influences" for the break in market prices.

He ordered the Agriculture Department to get "full information" on an commodity transaction for the first three days of this week, to see if speculation caused sharp drops in grain and cotton.

Despite a series of reports on the nation's economy during the past few days which have disturbed some people, Brannan said he saw no sign of a general slump.

They and Young were critical of the way the government has handled foreign aid buying and farm price support programs.

"The farm outlook is not too good," Young told a reporter after the hearings yesterday. "We seem to be getting back to the same policies as in 1930-40, when we imported or bought elsewhere more farm products than we exported."

Price-strengthening forces, he said, were the department spokesman, who asked not to be identified, included:

1. Speedy action by Congress on future farm price-support legislation, which would give farmers some idea of what prices to expect after this year.

2. New Marshall Plan commitments and appropriations which will give farmers and buyers a better picture of future export requirements.

3. Action by the department to strengthen its machinery for supporting farm prices, which officials concede now has definite weaknesses.

4. New farm purchases by processors, distributors, exporters and foreign buying agencies which he said have stayed out of the market to await the end of the downturn.

Prison for Five; Two To Die, For Gandhi's Murder

Accused 'Brains' Of Plot Acquitted By Indian Court; No Mercy For Killer

New Delhi, Feb. 10—(AP)—Narayan Godse and Narayan Apte, editor and publisher of a small Poona newspaper, today were sentenced to die on the gallows for the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

Five of the eight defendants were given life sentences. The aged politician, V. D. Savarkar, who had been described by the prosecution as the brains of the plot against Gandhi's life, was acquitted.

D. R. Badge, a ninth man arrested in the plot, turned state's evidence and was released at the end of the proceedings.

The sentences for the slaying of the 78-year-old Hindu spiritual and political leader on Jan. 30, 1948 were pronounced in the heavily guarded courthouse of Delhi's old red fort by special judge Atma Charan at the conclusion of an eight-month trial.

The defendants came into the crowded courtroom laughing and joking. When led from the room after the sentences were pronounced they began shouting, with Godse's voice sounding above the others, "we will conquer Pakistan. Long live Hindustan." Then they broke into loud laughter.

Godse, who was seized on the prayer grounds of Birla Mansion here the moment of the assassination with a smoking pistol in his hands, was found guilty of five subsidiary charges besides the actual killing of Gandhi. Before reaching the pronouncement of the sentence on the main charge, the judge sentenced him to a total of 19 years imprisonment.

During his trial Godse confessed he killed Gandhi "purely for the benefit of humanity" and asked for death.

"I do not desire any mercy be shown to me," he said in a long statement.

He said he "respected Gandhi's saintliness" but disagreed with his policies of love and tolerance for Moslems. These policies, he said "brought ruin to millions of Hindus."

Truman Favors Keeping Secret

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—The number of atomic bombs the United States has should be kept secret, President Truman said today.

A reporter told the President at his news conference that Chairman Lillenthal of the Atomic Energy Commission had suggested that this country should tell the world how many atomic bombs it has.

Mr. Truman denied that Lillenthal had made any such suggestion and said that he, personally, is emphatically not in favor of that.

President Truman announced the appointment at a news conference.

The post is newly-created. Jessup's principal duty will be to attend international meetings as the official United States representative.

Traditions Of Ulster

Six Counties Of Northern Ireland Today Vote On Joining Fortunes With Rest Of Island; One Time Defiance Still Exists; Issues Involved; Bitter Feelings

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

It was back about 1930 that I stood in the private office of Prime Minister Lord Craigavon of Northern Ireland (Ulster) and heard him issue this (Ulster) to the "Irish Free State" (now Eire): "Union with Southern Ireland? Never! Never! Never! And when I am gone, there will be other leaders of the same mind to carry on."

Craigavon, a huge man who towered well above six feet, was leaning against the marble mantel over the fireplace as we talked about the bitter and often bloody strife between the two sections of the Emerald Isle. He became so wrought up as he belittled this edict that he repeatedly slammed a fist as big as a ham into the palm of his other hand by way of emphasis.

That "Never! Never! Never!" comes echoing down to me today for Northern Ireland is holding a general election in which the greatest issue is the question of whether she should unite with Eire or remain a part of the United Kingdom under the king.

Lord Craigavon is dead, but he predicted truly when he said other leaders would carry on the policy of separation. It would be an astonishing thing if "Ulster" voted at long last to join fortunes with her sister state to the south. This is particularly true in view of Eire's recent action in severing the last tie which bound her to England.

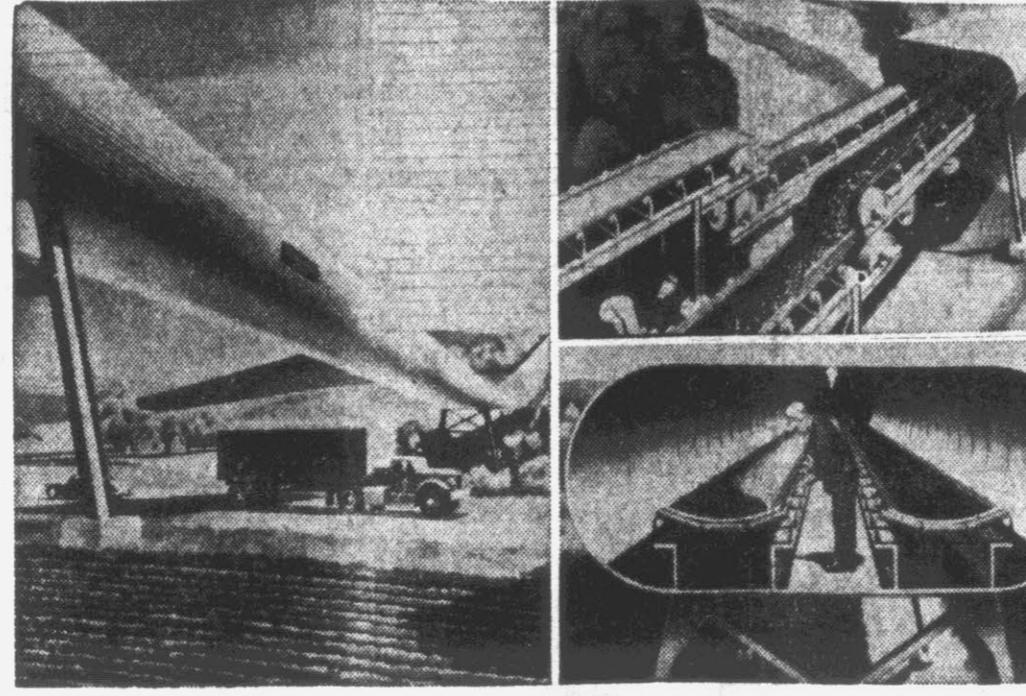

Eire, of course, long has been eager for a merger. As a matter of fact former Prime Minister Eamon De Valera of Eire recently toured England in support of a united Ireland. Moreover, the leaders of all political parties in Eire sponsored the raising of money to assist northern Irish candidates favoring union. Naturally that hasn't improved the temper of northern Irish folks who oppose union.

The fight between northern and southern Ireland runs back for generations. Its basis is mainly religious, racial and economic. Unhappy religion is a potent factor in the minds of many. A majority of the populace of northern Ireland is Protestants and most of the folks of Eire are Catholics.

However, the economic issue also looms large. Ulster long has been

103-Mile Cargo Belt Conveyor System Planned

Here are artist's sketches showing the exterior and interior of the proposed cargo belt conveyor system planned for construction on steel towers across Ohio from Lake Erie to the Ohio river. The newly formed Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., is promoting the project. The 103-mile main line of the $210,000,000 system would be a two-way belt from Lorain, O., to terminal near East Liverpool, O. It would haul coal north, and iron ore south. Spur lines would serve Cleveland and Youngstown. At left is sketch of the lines extending across the countryside. Right: Cutaway sketches show how system would operate. At top is a transfer point at which cargoes would be relayed from one belt to another. The belt doubles back to provide "twin track" shown at bottom in metal gallery atop steel supports. Officials Expect New Clash With Reds On Treason Trial

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—American officials foresaw today a new clash between Russia and the western powers growing out of the treason trial and conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty in communist Hungary.

Authorities predicted the clash will come when the United States and other western nations try to call Hungary to account for its actions against the cardinal. Whether the scene is the United Nations or otherwise, they expect Russia to immediately spring to the defense of its satellite state.

Such a course has been foreshadowed by the consistent support given the Hungarian regime by the radio and other propaganda agencies of Moscow.

Further, authorities here assert that the cardinal's conviction and life sentence, while highly dramatic because of his position as Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, is by no means to be treated as an isolated instance. They regard it rather as the latest outstanding example of a wave of oppression which has been sweeping over the Russian border countries in Europe for more than two years.

The House late yesterday adopted a resolution urging that the U.S. Communist deputy premier, told him he could not dissolve the Catholic party until after the trial unless he put the blame on the cardinal.

The government statement said the customs officer, Dr. Gal, and "his accomplices" have been detained.

Ask Inquiry Of Training Guard

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 10—(AP)—A joint military affairs committee today was asked to investigate officers of the 120th infantry, North Carolina National Guard, to determine whether or not they gave proper training at last summer's encampment.

Lt. Eugene Morris of Thomasville, an officer in the regiment, asked the committee to investigate after several company commanders told the legislators that the camp was wasted because men had to be kept on kitchen police or cleaning barracks all the time to meet endless inspections.

Gets Fresh Milk The 'Hard' Way

Reno, Nev., Feb. 10—(AP)—It took a little ingenuity, but eight-year-old Lynda Campion had her fresh milk today.

Lynda lives on top 8,100-foot Peavine Mountain, where her daddy James Campion, operated the transmitter for radio station KWRN-FM. The family is snowbound.

Parachuting fresh milk offered a problem so the Reno Civil Air Patrol quick-froze 12 quarts, packed it and took off.

The milk came down like a ton of bricks," reported Campion, "but we're thawing it out and it tastes fine."

Bulwinkle Back In Hospital Care

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—Rep. Bulwinkle of North Carolina was back in Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., today.

Bulwinkle was placed on the "serious" list by the hospital, which he re-entered yesterday. He entered the hospital about two months ago suffering a back ailment. He had returned to his Washington apartment only last week.

Hungarians Expel U.S. Vice Consul

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 10—(AP)—The government announced today it had expelled Robin Steussy, vice consul and third secretary of the United States legation, whom it charged with spying and smuggling men out of Hungary.

The announcement made a similar charge against Stephen A. Koczak, an American legation attache, who was expelled before the trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and left the country a week ago.

"They smuggled men, using cars and having bribed Dr. Tibor Gal, an officer of the customs," the statement said. "x x x They smuggled out Istvan Barankovics and others."

Barankovics was the leader of the Democratic Peoples' (Catholic) party, who reached Vienna six days ago.

(Barankovics fled Communist-dominated Hungary after dissolving the opposition Catholic party in spite of what he termed government threats of severe reprisals. He said on arriving in Vienna that he had been told by a person high in the government the price for dissolving the party would be a declaration that it was done because of the Vatican's actions in the Mindszenty case. He said Matyas Rakosi, the Communist deputy premier, told him he could not dissolve the Catholic party until after the trial unless he put the blame on the cardinal.)

The government statement said the customs officer, Dr. Gal, and "his accomplices" have been detained.

Rad Screen Is Studied By Body

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—Plans to throw a protective widely spaced radar screen around the United States, with outposts at sea and around the world, came today before a congressional committee.

Rep. Durham (D-NC) called a public hearing on bills to give the Air Force full responsibility for shielding the nation from a sneak air attack.

The bills are sponsored jointly by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee and Durham, head of a subcommittee which will conduct the hearings.

"If radar protection is any good at all, and we think it is, the country should have all the protection it can get," Durham told reporters. "We don't want any domestic Pearl Harbor."

"And this time there will be no question about whose job it is. The legislation would give the job squarely to the Air Force."

The pending bills would not make any money available. They would only authorize building of the screen if the money for it is voted by Congress later.

Protective radar stations would be spotted around the continental United States to guard strategic air approaches, Vinson said. They would be worked in with Air Force defense plans so as to give interceptor squadrons the greatest possible flexibility of action.

Food, Fuel Shortages In Snow-Bound Area Critical

By the Associated Press

Food and fuel shortages became critical in some communities in the snow-locked western states today as weary rescue crews battled new wind and snow storms.

Human suffering mounted. Emergency measures were stepped up to rescue hundreds reported isolated—some for weeks.

Rail lines and highways over a four-state area were blocked by huge snow drifts, leaving thousands of persons stranded. Twenty-nine passenger trains, carrying some 6,000 travelers, were stalled.

Conditions in Wyoming were reported to be the most critical since the first blizzard struck the state Jan. 2. Eleven Union Pacific passenger trains are stalled in the state. Ten others were snowbound in Utah; five in Nebraska, and three in Idaho.

Fresh gales born in the Gulf of Alaska roared out of the Pacific Northwest last night, hitting north central Idaho and moving into northern Utah and Wyoming. The strong winds, blowing the mountainous piles of snow over newly cleared highways and rail lines, were expected to extend into Nebraska and the Dakotas by tonight. The area has been hit by severe wind storms since Sunday.

Ground transportation was virtually halted in several parts of the blizzard belt but most aerial operations continued. Food supplies were flown to stranded rail passengers at Green River, Rock Springs and Casper, Wyo. At Medicine Bow, Wyo., the storm was so intense yesterday that the National Guard Weasels—built for snow operations—were called. The Army and Red Cross halted Sinclair, Wyo., on the "critical" list.

Declares Jail To Make Mitchum 'Bigger Star'

Los Angeles, Feb. 10—(AP)—Two months in jail will make Robert Mitchum, idol of the bobby soxers, a bigger star than ever, so says one of his bosses.

The handsome movie hero and actress Lila Leeds—a cute blonde—were sentenced yesterday to 60 days in the county lockup on charges of conspiring to possess marijuana.

David O'Selmick, head of Seismick Studio, which with RKA, has Mitchum under contract, declared: "Bob will come out of his trouble a finer man, and will go on to an even greater success than he enjoyed prior to this unfortunate situation."

The producer added "Millions of fans have demonstrated their eagerness that he should have a second chance."

When he was arrested with three others in a narcotics raid on a secluded Laurel Canyon cottage last Sept. 1, Mitchum feared he was washed up in movies. However, soon afterwards, Variety magazine reported that one of his films, "Number One and the Stranger," was "number one at the boxoffice."

RKO Studio is halting production of Mitchum's latest picture, "The Big Steal," until the star goes out of jail. He may be released in 30 days for good behavior.

Two Hearings On Liquor Election

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 10—(AP)—Two hearings on the question of a statewide liquor referendum were set today by the Senate and house committees on propositions and grievances.

Chairman of the two groups announced that proponents of a statewide liquor vote would be heard next Thursday, opponents the following Tuesday.

School Boys Hurt In Auto Accident

A car driven by Jasper Hopkins, Negro janitor at the Bell Arthur school, collided with two boys yesterday while backing out of the school grounds. The two boys, identified as Kenneth Robinson, age 6; and Burney Rivenbark, age 7; were injured and taken to Pitt General hospital for treatment. Rivenbark was treated for abrasions and was released from the hospital, but Robinson is still confined to the hospital.

Authorities said the driver of the car stopped and gave assistance to the injured youths.

Soviet's Fabulous Spy Ring Said Possibly Active 'Now'

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—A $4,000,000,000 in new taxes. In addition he advocated new social security programs which George said amounted to an increase of $2,882,000,000 in payroll levies.

George said in a statement such an increase at this time "might be the contributing factor to a business recession." He added:

"If so we might lose more revenue than we could possibly gain through a tax increase. Whatever method is employed, the weight of nearly $7,000,000,000 additional taxes upon the American economy will itself be definitely deflationary."

In telling of his five percent reduction proposal, he estimated that it could be applied to about $30,000,000,000, or almost three-fourths of President Truman's budget for the year beginning July 1. The remainder, he said, represents fixed charges and can not be reduced.

The finance chairman said he didn't think a five percent cut could be applied across the board to the $30,000,000,000, but reductions could be adjusted to average out that way. Analyzing the whole budget-tax question, he contended that a heavy increase in federal taxes "cannot be safely imposed without adequate advance notice."

Reports A-Bomb Is Golf-Ball Size

Los Angeles, Feb. 10—(AP)—An Air Force officer says the atomic bomb is the size of a golf ball and is equal to 5,400,000 pounds of TNT.

Lt. Col. William R. Stark, member of a five-man team from the "Industrial College of the Armed Forces," told industrial leaders yesterday.

"The atomic bomb, the size of one golf ball, would be the equivalent of 270 ten-ton TNT bombs, the damage of such a bomb comes from three sources—blast, flash heat and radioactivity."

He said the atomic bomb's blast is no different from other bombs, except in force but added:

"The flash heat can inflict burns at the distance of three miles."

He said radioactivity was responsible for ten per cent of the deaths in Japan and "many deaths ascribed to shock and burns would have occurred from radioactivity anyhow."

The lieutenant-colonel spoke at a two weeks course on economic mobilization.

Miners Propose National Labor Law Let Lapse

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers boldly suggested today that the nation go without any labor relations law for a while it said that in the meantime unions, management and government could together shape new legislation to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

The miners' union took its stand in a formal statement to the Senate Labor Committee. It called for immediate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, which it said had proved to be "the first ugly savage thrust of fascism in America."

The International Typographical Union (AFL) also called today for quick repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. It said retaining the act "would spell the doom of the free American trade union movement."

Thinks Spy Ring Started 'Story'

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—The army, reporting today on a Soviet spy ring which operated in wartime Japan, said one of the ring's leaders may have started the story that the Chinese Communists "were really not Communists at all."

What's more, the report said, there are "high American officials" who have heard that story repeated so often they "find it difficult to believe any other."

Soviet Spies In Japan

Most Startling Story Of Our Times; Open Question Whether Spy Ring Existed Or Exists In U. S.; How It Operated In Japan; Effort Behind Activities

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—Today the papers are full of the story of the Soviet spy ring which worked with such success in Japan.

Compared with this, the Soviet spy ring smashed in Canada and the alleged Soviet spy ring here look like peanut politics.

It is the most startling spy story of our times, and perhaps of any time.

The Japanese finally discovered the ring and crushed it during the war. And now the American army in Japan has just released the story.

It revolves around two men, the leaders of the ring, and both Communists:

Richard Sorge, a German, and Ozaki Hozuma, a Japanese. Both were newspapermen. And both were hanged by the Japanese.

Sorge, posing as a Nazi, was an adviser to the German Ambassador in Tokyo. He couldn't have been much closer to secrets.

And Ozaki Hozuma, posing as a loyal Japanese, was an adviser to the Japanese cabinet. That, too, was the best place for secrets.

Both men were helped by a ring of Japanese Communists or Communist-sympathizers, gathering information about Japan for the use and benefit of Soviet Russia. But why did they work against their homeland?

It's getting to be a familiar story. These Japanese Communists gave pretty much the same reasons as the Canadian Communists when they were caught.

The driving reason in both spy cases, as the army report from Tokyo points out, was a "fanatical faith in the perfection of life and intention in the Soviet Unions."

The Japanese, like the Canadians, weren't working for money. They worked for something they believed in: Communism.

And they believed whatever was good for Soviet Russia was good for what they hoped for: World Communism.

But when you read through the whole Canadian spy case evidence and the $2,000-word army report on the Japanese spy case, one thing stands out:

The tremendous time and effort the Russian Communists put into

Clever Espionage Network In Pre-War Japan Reported By Army Together With Warning That It May Be At Work In World Capitals

Washington, Feb. 10—(AP)—The Army warned today that remnants of a fabulous Russian spy ring that operated in Japan with perhaps the greatest daring and success in history may be at work in world capitals "at this very moment."

There is that fleeting hint at a present-day menace in the story of an espionage network so bold it slipped from the Japanese cabinet and German embassy in Tokyo secrets that helped change the course of the war.

And there is another hint in a suggestion that the operator who tapped out coded messages on a secret radio might now be busy in some other country.

The Army snipped out parts of a 32,000-word report on the ring that Gen. Douglas MacArthur sent over from Tokyo. It gave "security reasons."

Some members of the House Un-American Activities Committee are interested.

The now-it-can-be-told parts of the report unfold an amazing tale centering around:

Richard Sorge, a German communist and master spy.

Ozaki Hozuma, his second in command and a Japanese traitor.

Agnes Smedley, American author accused of still being a Soviet spy. She denies it.

Sorge was on intimate terms with German Ambassador Ott, Ozaki with Japanese Premier Kono. And from these "perfect," unsuspecting sources they extracted information of "incalculable" value:

A month ahead of time, the ring sounded an alarm that Germany would attack Russia.

It supplied the vital assurance that Japan would not pounce on Russia. So the Soviets felt safe in pulling troops from Siberia and rushing them across a continent to beat back the Nazi onslaught on Moscow.

Mrs. Ralph Carson, Mrs. Alton Clapp, Mrs. Carrie Ruth White and Mr. R. S. Ethridge were shoppers in Richmond this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Andrews and Joe were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Andrews of Greenville.

Mrs. W. E. Andrews and Mrs. J. T. Martin were shoppers in Rocky Mount Tuesday.

Daisy Griffith, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Griffith of Ayden, was the guest of little Peggy Highsmith last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Whitley and Madge of Vanceboro and Mr. R. B. Whitley were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whitley Sunday.

Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle, president of the North Carolina branch of The King's Daughters and Sons of Durham, N. C., was the guest of the Patient Circle Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Bowen, with Miss Estelle Greene and Miss Bess Lowe assisting hostesses.

Mrs. W. M. Scales used as a devotional the Indian interpretation of the Twenty Third Psalm or called "The Rope of Love."

"The Great Father above is a Shepherd Chief.
I am His, and with Him I want not.
He throws out to me a rope and the name of the rope is Love"

Mrs. Scales, speaking with sincerity and enthusiasm, told of the Indian work, saying, "There is a challenge for the betterment of a needy race who have no way of helping themselves, but to help and lead another race we must understand them and be tolerant. Because of disease, due to ignorance and neglect, one half of the Indians die before reaching the age of five years. The King's Daughters and Sons are helping the Indians with the supervision of Miss Lydia Chestnut, a King's Daughter who is a descendant of James Penimore Cooper, the author of Indian novels.

Mrs. Clara Moye Shatell, the president, introduced Mrs. Rochelle who congratulated the Patient Circle on their Christmas report of giving much to many families in uncomfortable circumstances. She suggested the aim for the year might be "one new member for every old" and expressed the hope that a large delegation for the local Circle attend the state convention to be held in Wilmington May 3 and 4.

During the social hour refreshments were served, carrying out the Valentine theme of ice cream, cookies and nuts and there was further enjoyment of Mrs. Rochelle and her friendly suggestions to our group and news of the other Circles of our state.

Scalamandre Textile Exhibit Shown In Art Gallery At Greenville Library

An unusually beautiful exhibit of Scalamandre Textiles opened at the Art Gallery at Sheppard Memorial Library on Wednesday afternoon, February 2. A large number of art lovers gathered at the opening to hear a gallery talk by Miss Lella Higgs who mentioned interesting facts about the Scalamandre family and its tradition of fine craftsmanship, and traced the various types of textile designs through various periods in history to the present.

In the crafts and professions related to them. Franco Scalamandre arrived in America in 1924, and after a period of time, undertook to weave silk of a quality that had been made in Europe for centuries. His modest beginning with a single loom has expanded to a mill in Long Island City, N. Y., housing 200 men powered looms that weave damasks, brocatelles, lampshades and brocades, taffetas and twills. Franco Scalamandre also operates his own dyeing plant and a printing establishment where textiles are printed either by the silk screen process or from engraved metal rollers.

"The recreation of Colonial Williamsburg interested Mr. Scalamandre in restoration work" said Miss Higgs. Reproduction of the various silk textiles used in such interiors as the Governor's Palace, Raleigh Tavern and Wythe House in Virginia's colonial capital for expert knowledge of period designs, silk yarns and dyes of the period, and even necessitated his ramping his 50 inch looms to 22 inches before weaving the reproductions.

Broadly speaking said Miss Higgs, "The Scalamandre textiles are grouped into Reproductions, Adaptations and Original Creations. All

Dowd Reports On North Carolina Education Study

Approximately eighty members of the Greenville Woman's Club heard O. E. Dowd, principal of the Greenville High School, give an illustrated lecture and report on the findings and recommendations of the North Carolina Education Commission at the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon.

The lecture was sponsored jointly by the Education Chairman, Mrs. O. Ward Mims and the Citizenship chairman, Mrs. J. R. Worsley who introduced the speaker.
Dowd said, the North Carolina Education Commission Report is the result of two years of study by fifteen study and advisory committees of about twenty members each who studied every phase of North Carolina public education.

One of the most important items in the commission's report, Dowd pointed out, concerns teacher load. North Carolina teachers have the highest teacher load in the nation with an average of thirty-three students per teacher. He explained the average number of thirty three means that there are thousands of teachers with as many as forty and forty five students and hundreds with as many as fifty and fifty five students. In comparison, South Carolina has an average of only twenty four students; Georgia twenty four and Tennessee, around twenty five. The national average is around twenty four students per teacher. "North Carolina is depriving her children of adequate instruction in permitting such overloading of teachers," the speaker asserted.

Dowd said findings of the commission show: Many school plants are not adequate, are poorly planned, cheaply constructed and obsolete. Classes are sometimes held in dark basement rooms, storage rooms and temporary shacks.

In the state some forty six out of each one hundred white and some show the true craftsman's knowledge or abstract and historic design, principles involved in creation of beauty and the craftsman's ability to translate that beauty through certain mediums."

Miss Higgs pointed out certain characteristics of contemporary design in the exhibit some being simple, geometric patterns and some being imaginative creating inspired smoke, a tavern sign, paper clips, or other everyday sights. Another point emphasized by Miss Higgs was the fact that Mr. Scalamandre is a craftsman rather than a manufacturer. Old methods had to be improved but scientific application in a machine age had to be most skillful in order that the beauty and individuality of the design be preserved and the individuality of the designer as an unhurried craftsman be retained.

The various civilizations were characterized by certain distinctive designs, according to Miss Higgs. Primitive Man used the zig zag line, lozenges and checked patterns. During the late Bronze Age, the spiral and circle were evident. The use of geometric are developed through the ages, and was quite evident in Egyptian designs. Assyrians and Babylonians preferred borders of rosettes, stripes and broken lines. Celts excelled in intricate scrolls. Fret design seemed to be a design present at all times. Floral forms in design appeared to have been favorite textile motifs through the ages.

fifty seven out of each one hundred Negroes who enter high school are drop-outs or failures. The commission report indicates that a student's chances of graduation are better in a large school than in a small school. It is felt by the commission that a greater number of larger high schools offering a broader course of study and more adequate services suited to the needs of the students would help to cut the rate of drop-outs and failures.

North Carolina has been steadily losing qualified teachers, the chief causes of which seems to be overloaded classes and insufficient salary.

Five necessities for a minimum foundation program are listed by the commission:

1. A competent teacher interested in the child as a person.
2. A safe, sanitary, comfortable and attractive school home.
3. Safe, dependable, and comfortable transportation to and from school.
4. School experiences which will develop those skills, attitudes, and understandings that both the child and society need.
5. Personal guidance and opportunities to develop such special interests and abilities as he may have in music, art, mechanics, etc.

Strength FOR THE DAY

TRAIN THEM NOW
A few Sundays ago as we stood in church during the singing of a hymn, we observed a mother in the gallery with a child on each side. It was amazing that these children both under ten, were able to read the words of the hymn with apparent ease—in fact seemed quite familiar with them and were evidently taking great satisfaction in the whole church service. It struck us that there was a parent preparing two children to get the most out of life. She was going about it in the right way. She was establishing within them a sense of values which would condition all their thinking and acting in future years.

GOOD EXAMPLE OF POLICE WORK

A lot of credit is due to law enforcing officers in and around Pitt County for their speedy arrest of two men who have confessed to the slaying of William O'Neal. Totally absent in the case were the colorful sleuthing, atmosphere and excitement found in detective story magazines. On the surface, it was pretty much of a routine job for the authorities . . . and it's this "routine" feature that draws attention.

For in spite of the "Who-runnits," it is the modern systematized police work that brings results. Close teamwork and clear thinking are as much a part of the system as fingerprinting and radio communication.

There was wisdom too, in keeping the prisoners out of town. The action averted any possibility of unwelcome and unwarranted behavior of hot-heads.

PUBLIC FORUM

Discussing problems of interest to this community. In all cases names must accompany any communication.

Wednesday afternoons beginning February 9. In tonight's paper four of the stores of Greenville announced that they would not close on Wednesday afternoons. Is this the way the merchants of Greenville cooperate? If so, I am glad the public has had an opportunity to see and know, and to know the stores that do not cooperate. I feel that the stores that refuse to abide by the ruling of the majority are very undemocratic and should not be allowed to remain a member of the Merchants Association, and should not be granted services of any kind by the Merchants Association.

There! I've said it and I'm glad!
Sincerely,
S. J. OLLIFFE

To the Editor:
To follow up the case mentioned by Professor Rose in last night's paper I wish to state that Ben O'Neal's parents lived in the Arthur community before I finished school. They were considered reliable and thrifty farmers. After locating in Greenville for several years I was the family physician; probably was present when Ben was born.

Any services that can be rendered from this office at this time to the mother and wife will be gratis.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
ROADS—Attendance and demonstration at the hearing on the two hundred million dollar road bond issue is any criterion, the people of North Carolina really want more and better roads. Estimates of attendance varies widely but there were a lot of people, mostly men, from the farms, in Raleigh Wednesday afternoon. Most of them came to lend support to the program, some admittedly came along for the ride and the show.

UNPRECEDENTED—A goodly number confessed they came not so much to support the road bonds as to support their governor. Governor Scott broadcast a radio appeal Monday evening for the people to come to the popular force back of the proposal. It was rumored that he also called his primary campaign county managers and personally urged them to bring as large delegations as possible from their respective bailiwicks. Governor Scott's office said no such call had gone out from there, and none had been authorized. When the story got around legislative circles, some thought the move might defeat its purpose. In that it tended to discount the spontaneity of support which would have inhered in a completely voluntary assemblage. Whatever motive brought them, fact is people jammed the capitol hours before committee meeting time.

MUDHOLE—Among the visitors was E. B. Jeffress, former chairman of the highway commission. When friends asked what brought him to the capitol city, he replied that he just came to attend the "mudhole convention." Governor Scott, like several predecessors, often refers to the bad roads as imposing a mud tax on the country people of the state. Unlike other executives, with probable exception of Governor Cherry, Scott seems determined to do something about reducing this tax on state economy.

COURTESIES—So many distinguished visitors thronged the lobbies and galleries of the house Wednesday that Speaker Ramsay adopted a new policy for extending courtesies. The guests were here for the road bond hearing and for the Democratic executive committee meeting. In order to save time—and it saved a lot—the speaker suggested that instead of members asking from the floor to have courtesies extended to their constituents, they should send to the desk a list of names which would be read and entered in the records.

SELLING—Best job of selling an idea to the general assembly so far this session is credited to sponsors of ports development. Two or three weeks ago the proposition to appropriate seven and a half million dollars for the project was accorded slim chance of adoption. Now it is accorded almost certain passage. Significant fact is all the "lobbying" for this idea has been conducted quietly and without evidence of high pressure tactics. The item still must hurdle the appropriations committee and the full assembly, but the number of signatures on the companion senate and house bills as well as evident sentiment among the non-signing membership justifies prediction they will have relatively smooth sailing from here out.

LIBRARIES—Bills reported favorably by the house library committee are designed to facilitate local support for public libraries. Most significant were companion bills enactment of which would constitute public libraries, both as to buildings and equipment, as necessary public expense for which tax money can be appropriated. Another would increase from five cents to ten cents the maximum tax which might be voted for library services. The committee pledged its support to the request for additional state aid for libraries.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—The third most anonymous man in America is John Smith—and John Smith.
The only man more anonymous than him are those two classic buddies of the spencerian penmanship books—John Doe and Richard Roe. Remember your business school texts? "Pay to the order of John Doe, fifty dollars, signed Richard Roe." Or else it was "pay to the order of Richard Roe, one hundred dollars, signed John Doe."

So far as I have been able to find out that all these two philanthropists ever did—just write worthless checks back and forth to each other.
But John Smith—there's a man of a different fiber. Yes, any John Smith.
America owes much more, by and large, to its John Smiths than to its John Does and Richard Roes, who just exchange bills of lading, receipts, bank drafts and I. O. U.'s in the nation's schoolbooks.

For the John Smiths have fought the nation's battles. The John Smiths helped clean the wilderness, tame the land and the plow. And above all, the John Smiths have been in the forefront of every great reform movement in America.

This family tradition began at Jamestown in 1607 when the first sturdy John Smith told the gentleman adventurers of the first Virginia colony:
"Work or Starve."
His ultimatum didn't succeed in making either work or starvation popular in this country. But it did prove that John Smith wasn't afraid to try to do the right thing.

And the family has been like that ever since. The Smiths have been in there pitching every minute, attempting to set the world straight.

Now another John Smith is in the field, tilting his lance at one of mankind's oldest woes.

This member of the clan is John L. Smith, a state representative in the Ohio legislature. What is this John Smith's target for today, tomorrow and forever? His target is the obsolete legal language in which the people's laws are written.
Smith has announced he will introduce a resolution asking that bills be written "in precise, everyday English so as to be easily understood." He says the way bills are written now they stump experts. He says sometimes even the legislators don't know what they are voting on.
What a crusade! Farewell to the "Whereas" and the "wherefore!" Goodbye to the "Be it resolved!" welcome to the American language.
They say ignorance of the law is no excuse. But how about the members of the U. S. Supreme Court who drop a close 5 to 4 decision? If Smith wins his fight, perhaps all nine Judges will be able to agree on what Congress really means when it passes a law.

Hundreds Of Carolinians Call For Big Road Program

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The legislature had the word of hundreds of Tar Heels today that they want a chance to pass on Governor Scott's rural road plans.

A call from the Governor to the people to speak out for good roads brought some 1,200 of them here yesterday for a hearing before the joint roads committee on the Scott proposal for an election on a $200,000,000 road bond issue.

So large was the turnout that the committee had to transfer the proceedings from the state capitol to Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium.

They left no doubt about how they felt about the Governor and his road proposals.

They chorused boos at one of the two witnesses who spoke against a bond issue and filled the auditorium with skeptical remarks about what the other said.

There were 39 witnesses heard by the committee.

Mussel Menace

Melbourne (AP) There was a storm in Melbourne's Port Phillip Bay, and 4,700 tons of mussels were washed on to the beach.

The Melbourne City Council had to assign seven tractors with mechanical shovels to clear them. The tractors had to work quickly to remove the mussels before they rotted. In places, they were two feet deep.

First speaker was Harry Caldwell of Greensboro, state grange master, who said the assembly could not "do less than the recommendations of Governor Scott."

Then came representatives of motor clubs, trucking concerns, dairies—and individuals—with approval of the bond election.

John Sprunt Hill, Durham industrialist, was the first opponent. He declared he favored secondary road construction but said the state didn't need a bond issue to build all the roads it needs.

Boos interrupted him.

A. H. Graham, who stepped down two weeks ago as Highway Chairman, also spoke against a bond issue.

Defending his road-building record, Graham said that 5,000 miles of paved roads had been added to the state's system, mostly during the past two and a half years. The "greatest emphasis," he added, was placed on secondary roads. "To get the state out of the mud."

The state will have $280,000,000 to spend on roads the next four years, he went on, and the state should undertake no bond issue when "revenue is at its highest peak" in history.

He called the bond proposal a "false doctrine."

Senior Play Tonight G.H.S. Auditorium

Tonight in the GHS auditorium the senior class of Greenville High School will present the annual senior play, "Annie Laurie," a three-act romantic drama. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. This is the first time in several years that a senior class has attempted to stage a play of such dramatic intensity.

The play, written by Wall Spence, is centered about the writing of the famous ballad, Annie Laurie, and the frustrated love it created in the lives of Annie Laurie and her lover, Sir William Douglas.

The leading roles are portrayed by Jane Langley, as Annie Laurie, and Jack Morgan, as Sir William Douglas.

Playing the role of the stern Scottish father is Ken Owens; Bette Anne Young plays Jeanie, Annie Laurie's cousin and close confidant. Other outstanding parts are taken by Sam Northrop, Joanna Bunch, Sam Fleming, Dot Whiteley, Carl Denton, Ann Cahoon, Tommy Hannaford, Dot Stauffer, Alice Jones, Louise Batson and Donald Rose complete the cast.

The play, directed by Mrs. Howard Mims, has been in rehearsal for six weeks.

Senior Play Tonight G.H.S. Auditorium

Behind any successful stage production there must be a stellar technical staff. The technical cast of "Annie Laurie," GHS senior play, is no exception.

Headed by Emily Rice and Tommy Hannaford, as student director and technical director, respectively, this staff has been at work for six weeks in preparing the technical details that must be worked out before opening night.

Though from the onlooker's point of view, the job of student director seems tedious, Emily Rice says "It's a lot of fun, but I'm glad I'm not the director. Mrs. Howard Mims." Emily has been a cheerleader, a member of the glee club, an SCA alternate and the double trio.

Under Tommy Hannaford, technical director, the backstage cast has been responsible for scenery, lighting, sound and the thousands of other details that crop up during a production the size of "Annie Laurie."

Howard Proctor, senior class treasurer, is serving as business manager for the play; Bobby Fleming has charge of the ticket sale.

Various committee chairmen of the play: Barbara Larkins, costumes; William McLawhorn, stage; Fred Brooks and Robert Mayo, electrician and sound effects men; Ruel Tyson Jr., publicity; Virginia Speight, programs; and Eleanor Norris, properties.

The entire senior class has been helping in the ticket sale.

Mrs. Howard Mims, GHS dramatics and foreign language teacher, has charge of the entire production, both dramatic and technical.

"The FLOUR the Best Cooks Use"

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the Rector Kitchens

There is more of the BETTER BEEF in our markets than there has been for some time. The time for eating Roast Beef is NOW.

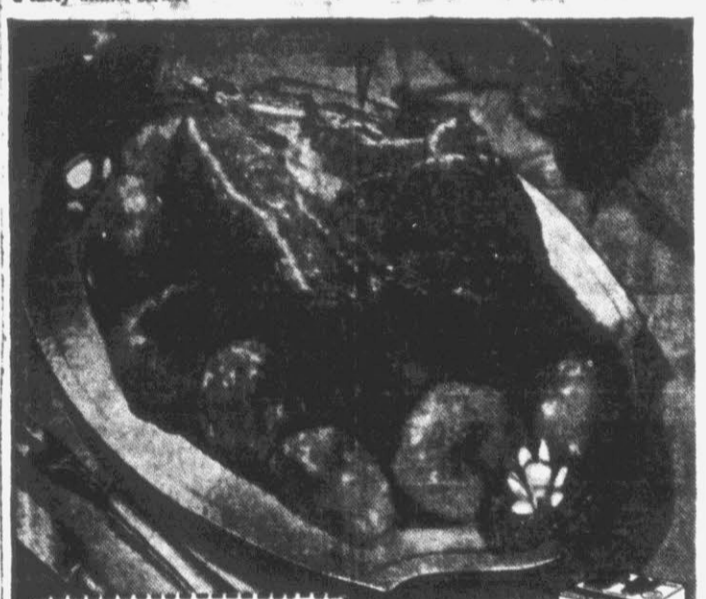

The rich, high quality of Wilson's Certified Choice Beef, the smoothness of its texture with the fat marbled through the lean, means the finest in flavor and truly the best in good eating.

Prove it to yourself—ask your meat dealer today for a Rib Roast from Wilson's Certified Choice Beef.

A Full Week of Stellar Menus

Here is how you can be thrifty. Don't shun the 7th and 8th ribs, they often sell more cheaply and are good. Have the butcher cut off the SHORT RIBS for Braising or Barbecuing. They are delicious! Then have a royal roast itself, made from the tender heart of the rib.

A policy of Plenty-More-in-the-Kitchen is fine but it won't help you save, though it will afford good eating and fine nutrition. Roast at LOW TEMPERATURE rather than HIGH and you'll get 8 more servings from every three ribs (a full inch more of roasted meat). For still further savings, make the leftovers into a tasty dinner series.

RIB ROAST OF BEEF

Have the Short Ribs cut off and saved into serving lengths. Leave the bone in roast. Insert a meat thermometer (if you have one) to the very center of the meat. If you do not have a meat thermometer then use the "minute-per-pound" table. Place the meat fat side up in shallow pan. Sprinkle outside with salt and pepper. Put into a heated, slow oven (300° F.). Let cook uncovered and no water added. Time according to following table.

Degree of Doneness	Thermometer in Meat	Minutes per Pound
RARE	140° F.	18 to 20 minutes
MEDIUM	160° F.	22 to 25 minutes
WELL-DONE	170° F.	27 to 30 minutes

Serve piping hot with pan liquor and natural juices stepping up their flavor with B-V added to your taste.

*Rolled Roast requires 10 to 15 minutes more time per pound.

The Wilson label protects your table.

Pam Pack Bows To Locals; Varsity, Jayvees Triumph

Green Phantoms Eke Slim 22-21 Victory As Jayvees Rip Way To 54-14 Decision

Greenville High School scored a double win here last night over the Washington High Pam Pack and Jayvees in the second meeting of the traditional rivals. The Green Phantoms eked out a narrow 22 to 21 victory after the Jayvees ripped to a 53 to 14 decision.

The varsity game, strictly a defensive affair, was a close fight all the way. Washington, second place team in Northeastern standing, led seven to four at the first quarter and was leading by a 12 to 11 count at intermission. The score was knotted 15-all as the game entered the final period.

It was the second loss of the year for the favored Pam Pack, which bopped the locals 49 to 29 in their initial clash.

Washington was held to four field goals last night.

Jimmy Cox, a dynamic guard who played a commendable game on both offense and defense, was high scorer for the Phantoms. He came through with seven points. Fleming, Sawyer and Farley all got four points each.

Homes scored high for the losers with eight points.

The Jayvee game was hardly a contest. With Briley and Dillingham taking the lead the little Phantoms roared to a 15 to 3 lead in the first quarter and were way out in front 26 to 6 at halftime.

The Bo Farley boys did not let up on their barrage until the final whistle.

Briley led the way with 13 points while Dillingham scored 13 and Haymes accounted for eight. Darley scored six.

Browning with five points was high scorer for the losers.

The locals invade the Edenton court Friday night.

Ted Williams May Get Highest Pay

Boston, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Now that all of his co-magnates have played their highest baseball salary cards it can be taken for granted that Red Sox Owner Tom Yawkey will trump them by giving Ted Williams around $100,000 for 1949.

From his usual winter fishing haunts in the Florida Everglades, Williams has let it become known that he is about to sign up for "slight increase."

Ted boasts that he never has had any financial disputes with Yawkey and, since he collected about $80,000 last season, it seems safe to predict his new terms will be higher than the $90,000 Dan Topping granted Yankee Joe DiMaggio and the reported $75,000 Bill Vecek promised Cleveland hero Lou Bourdeau.

Bonus clauses have played a minor part in previous Williams contracts and he indicates they continue unimportant as far as he and the Red Sox are concerned.

But even if Ted does become the first $100,000 straight salaried player in baseball history, it always will be a conjecturable matter. Both he and Yawkey agree that player salaries should remain secrets.

Duke Drops Last Big Chance For Entry In Tourney

By the Associated Press

It looked more and more today as if the Southern Conference Basketball Tournament beginning March 3 would have to get along without an entry from the host team, Duke University.

Duke, which hasn't missed a conference championship since the event began in 1929, lost its best remaining chance to make the tournament grade last night by dropping a hair-raising 51-49 verdict to George Washington's Colonials.

If the Dukes don't make it, they'll have been one-pointed and two-pointed out of contention. Admittedly one of the 16-club circuit's abler quintets, the Blue Devils to date have lost five loop engagements against four winners. Three of their losing efforts have been exceedingly close. N.C. State's defending conference champs beat the Blue Devils by one point, Wake Forest by two, and George Washington by two.

Duke has played all of the loop's stronger outfits and three of these—N.C. State, Wake Forest, and North Carolina—still will have to be beaten if the Blue Devils hope to land a tournament berth.

Duke has been conference champion five times since 1938. Under the tutelage of Gerry Gerard, the Blue Devils have been tournament finalists five out of the last six years and have won two titles. With much the same team as they have this year, the Devils reached the finals of last year's tourney only to lose to N.C. State, 58-50, in the final round.

The bad news last night for Duke was good news, however, for George Washington, which all but assured itself of a tournament berth by winning the close decision in Washington. The Colonials' league record now stands at 7-4.

Pirates Play Strongest Foe Here Friday Night

East Carolina Teachers College faces the strongest foes of its remaining North State conference season schedule here Friday night when the battling Buccaneers play host to mighty High Point.

The Panthers, who are currently engaged in a fight to the finish struggle with Catawba Indians for the North State championship, will be waving a record of eight wins and two losses when they invade the Bucs Friday.

One of the High Point wins was scored over ECTC in the locals' second game of the season. But the Pirates, who have lost but two games on the home court (both by a two point margin) are expected to give the High Point aggregation a fight for its money in this week's engagement.

The local quintet scored a stunning 61 to 31 upset over third place Western Carolina here Tuesday night and lost to the Catamounts by only two points in a game Monday.

Once by the High Point game the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh have any other teams in the National more ten year veteran players than Baseball League—five apiece.

No Arguments In One Household Over Baseball

Mobile, Ala. Feb. 10.—(AP)—You could get an argument on pennant chances of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves in Flatbush, Boston or almost anywhere—but not in one Mobile household.

The subject just isn't discussed in the home of the Braves' Eddie Stanky and father-in-law Milton Stock. Stock is a newly appointed coach for the Dodgers.

"We decided that the best way to avoid any argument over the point was just never to discuss it," Stock said.

Mrs. Stanky also is strictly neutral. To queries as to what she thought of the Braves' and Dodgers' chances next summer, she smilingly replied:

"We don't discuss the subject around here."

Brooklyn is the only team in the National League without a single ten year playing veteran.

North State Idle All Around Loop

Greensboro, N. C. Feb. 10.—(AP)—North State conference basketball clubs are idle all around the circuit tonight.

The mid-week rest comes on the heels of scant two-game action last night which saw Lenoir-Rhyne defeat Elon, 69-51, while Catawba was dropping its contest with Newberry, 67-52.

Bids For Fight At Philadelphia

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Johnny Atell, matchmaker for the Philadelphia Arena, said last night he is attempting to arrange a Joe Louis heavyweight title fight to be held at the Philadelphia municipal stadium next summer.

Atell said the bout, if plans can be completed, would be sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer charities.

Palmetto State Colleges Seek North State Tie-In

Clinton, S. C. Feb. 10.—(AP)—Five colleges formed the South Carolina Collegiate Conference in a closed session here yesterday.

At the same time, representatives of the member colleges—Wofford College of Charleston, Erskine Presbyterian and Newberry—passed a resolution favoring consolidation with the nine-school North State Conference of North Carolina. The resolution authorized the calling of a meeting with the North Carolina officials to discuss this.

Dr. C. C. Norton, Wofford College dean of men who was named president of the new organization said he favored consolidating with the North State group as quickly as possible.

He said he would write North State officials asking for a meeting of his group with them at their next regular session, scheduled for May.

Walter L. Johnson, Presbyterian College athletic director, and vice-president of the new conference said the members were enthusiastic over the idea of consolidation with the North Carolina group.

Johnson added he believed it would be the best undertaking possible for the smaller schools in both states.

Indications have been that most North State colleges would be in

Zale Has But 5 Days To Decide

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Tony Zale, key to the middleweight middle, has until Feb. 15 to decide if he wants to try to recapture his title from Champion Marcel Cerdan. If he says "yes," he gets the match which probably will be held in Chicago.

Wires and registered letters to Zale from the Tournament of Champions, who hold a contract for Marcel's first two defenses, have brought no response, according to the T. of C.

Despite this official silence, there is a general impression around the fight mob that Tony will decide to take one more whack at the crown he held so long. Contracts, signed before their September match at Jersey City give Zale first chance at the Frenchman if he wants it.

After the Jersey City fight, Sept. 21, when Zale collapsed on the ropes and sagged to the floor at the end of the 11th round, Abe Greene told Zale's managers Sam Pian and Art Winch, he had enough confidence in them to know they would do the best thing about Tony. Since then Zale has been quoted as saying he wanted to continue fighting and his managers have said they tried to discourage him.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

HER SECRET STAR
By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 29

"They're coming, dear," Minniebelle told her husband, unnecessarily. "Feel all right?"

"Fine!" boomed David. "Just fine! Matter of fact, I never felt better in my life." He was sure he had never felt worse.

"That's splendid," said his wife, and picked up a typewritten sheet which lay on a table nearby. "We've got a few minutes. Feel up to rehearsing your speech?"

David nodded vigorously, too vigorously.

"All right then. I'll hold the paper and prompt you if you forget, though I'm sure you won't. You spoke it beautifully last night."

"I'll try," David croaked, feeling himself beginning to weaken. He opened his lips to speak, but for the life of him he could not utter a memorized word. His mind seemed to have drawn a complete blank insofar as the speech was concerned.

"Holy Moses!" he stammered, abashed. "I can't even remember how the thing starts."

Minniebelle laid the paper back on the table and stared at her husband as if she thought he had suddenly been bereft of his senses. Betty, however, did not hesitate an instant. This was the opening she'd been hoping for.

"You don't have to remember, Uncle Dave," she said. "I know it's none of my business and I'm speaking out of turn, but you don't want to be mayor. Not really. You know very well you hate the thought of it. You just think Aunt Minniebelle wants you to be."

David glanced appealingly at his wife. "It wasn't me that said that, honeybunch. It was Betty."

"Yes, it was me, Betty," said Betty. "But I'll still say you don't want to be Mr. Mayor and Aunt Minniebelle doesn't want to be Mrs. Mayor. She told me so just a few minutes ago. Said she was embarrassed because you wanted to be

THE FARMALL C WILL BE THERE, ALL THE WAY!

Grains, grasses, field row crops, vegetables—whatever is planted in this mellow, weed-free seed bed, the new Farmall C Tractor with Touch-Control will be on the job all the way. The Farmall C is shown here with the McCormick-Deering No. 10-A Disk Harrow.

For the Farmall C delivers practical 5-way power: (1) at the drawbar, for pulling trail-behind machines; (2) at its mounting pads, for pushing forward-mounted implements; (3) at the belt pulley; (4) at the power take-off; (5) at the Touch-Control power arms for raising, lowering and regulating mounted implements by hydraulic power. All at surprisingly low operating cost!

Available for the Farmall C is a full line of matched, quick-change implement units. New and simple in design, each low-cost implement mounts on the tractor to form a compact operating unit. Rear-mounted implements, likewise, are quick-change.

Implements for the Farmall C are under the complete, 2-way hydraulic control of the Farmall Touch-Control. The Farmall C pulls one 16-inch or two 12-inch bottoms; cultivates two rows of wide-planted crops. Ask for full information.

Rap 'Ultimatum' On Tito Claims

London, Feb. 10—(AP)—Russia accused the western powers today of issuing an "ultimatum" in rejecting Yugoslav claims to a slice of southern Austria.

American and British sources said Soviet Ambassador George N. Zarubin made the charge at the reconvened big four conference on an Austrian independence treaty.

An informant reported American and British deputies Samuel Reber and James Marjorbanks said they would be glad to hear Yugoslavia's claims on other matters, provided the territorial demand is dropped.

The Yugoslav claim for 800 square miles of Southern Austrian territory is backed by the Russians, despite a family squabble with Yugoslavia's Premier Marshal Tito. It

House Warming

The Greenville Post of the American Legion had a house warming of its new two-story club house on Evans street, next to the Elks' Club Tuesday night and yesterday. Col. T. K. Fountain post commander, was master of ceremonies. The club is ideally equipped, with coffee room and grill, and extensive recreational facilities.

was raised again at the conference of big four Foreign Ministers' deputies which opened yesterday.

Reber, supported by French and British deputies, denied the western stand was an ultimatum, an American informant said. He added, however, that Reber made it clear he will continue to oppose any change in Austria's pre-1938 frontiers.

At the same time Reber reiterated that it would be a waste of time to head Yugoslav officials again unless they had dropped their territorial demands on Austria.

The Yugoslav claim the disputed territory is populated mainly by Slovians. They also are demanding $150,000,000 in war reparations from Austria.

Daniels Chosen To Fill Shoes Of Joe L. Blythe

Raleigh, N.C., Feb. 10—(AP)—Jonathan Daniels of Raleigh has been chosen as North Carolina's new Democratic national committeeman.

He was picked last night at a special meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee to succeed the late State Senator Joe L. Blythe of Charlotte. He was the only candidate placed in nomination.

Only one dissenting vote was recorded when Chairman Capus Waynick called for a standing vote. Daniels was opposed by E. D. Cranford of Asheboro, who blocked a move to make the selection unanimous.

The committee passed a resolution of tribute to Senator Blythe and expressed "deep personal loss" in his death.

Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, served in wartime as assistant director of the Office of Civilian Defense in Washington, as an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, and for short periods as press secretary to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

Daniels' selection will be subject to the formality of approval by the Democratic National Committee.

Snow Anniversary

At this time—just one year ago, Feb. 10—Greenville and the section was blanketed with 10 1/2 inches of snow. The storm started in the morning of Feb. 9th and continued until the next day. Nearly all traffic was stopped for several days and rural mail carriers were unable to make deliveries.

In contrast to the wintry weather of this day a year ago the temperature today was high in the 60s at noon.

Pitt Motor Company Opens New Place On Bethel Highway

The Pitt Motor Company, Inc., has announced its formal opening Friday, February 11, at 502 North Greene, (Bethel Highway, just beyond the bridge). The company is agent in this territory for Kaiser-Frazer automobiles and Federal trucks. Its announcement states that there will be on display Friday and thereafter the Kaiser-Frazer cars and Federal trucks, and that the mechanics employed are all factory trained. The Pitt Motor Company will carry a full line of parts and accessories.

O. H. Cox, a veteran automobile dealer and wide' known over Eastern Carolina, is president; G. H. Cox Jr. is vice president, and Elmer Cox is secretary-treasurer and general manager.

President Cox is a former resident of Greenville and is well known. He was deputy clerk of the Superior Court from 1914 to 1918. When he left here he established an automobile business in Robersonville and was there for 10 years. Since then he has been in business in Washington.

'Dollar Day' Was Important Event

Pedestrian traffic on the sidewalks of Greenville was difficult this morning—"Dollar Day"—sponsored by the Merchants Association. Many of the stores were crowded with shoppers, and people on the streets were carrying packages. Mayor J. H. Boyd declared a holiday on parking meters for the benefit of local and out-of-town shoppers. Parking space was available.

A visit to a dozen or more stores during the forenoon rush gave an inquiring reporter the impression that shoppers were here in numbers. Cars parked in the shopping district bore signs of nearly a score of Eastern Carolina towns.

Police Report Discloses Work

By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville police department in its report for January activities submitted by Chief Lester D. Page showed that during January 145 arrests were made, 61 of them white, 84 colored. The city police answered 245 calls, made 170 investigations, received and investigated 201 complaints, and found 28 doors of business places open at night. They investigated 18 traffic accidents. Thirty-seven of the arrests were drunks; 12 for assault; 11 for driving motor vehicles without a license; 11 for reckless driving, 9 for speeding, and 2 for assault with a deadly weapon.

Chief Page's report to the aldermen shows that Greenville police cooperated with sheriff's and other officers in the county in investigating store robberies at Fountain Ayden, Pactolus, Bethel, and Falkland. The report also shows that the Greenville Identification Bureau finger-printed and photographed 37 persons for the city and county.

Traditions Of . . .

one of the richest parts of the Emerald Isle because of its success in agriculture, linen manufacture and shipbuilding. Many Ulsterites feel that union with the south would mean they would have to carry excessive taxation, since numerous parts of Eire are not so prosperous. Then, of course, the six counties of Ulster were settled largely by Scots and English. Folks of Eire who trace their lineage back to the days of the Irish kings don't look upon these later arrivals as "belonging" to the land of the Shamrock.

Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke of northern Ireland recently summed the position up from his viewpoint as his state approached today's historic election. He said she was in danger because of Eire's decision to cut its last constitutional ties with Britain. He added:

"We have now on our southern border a foreign nation. It has always been their policy by one means or another to dominate our territory and to force us out of the United Kingdom.

"Today we fight to defend our very existence and the heritage of our Ulster children."

Soviet Spies . . .

both spy rings; the thoroughness; the amazing attention to the very small details.

And that, of course, brings up the big question:

If Russia went to all this trouble to have spy rings working in Canada and Japan, what kind of spy ring did it—or does it—have operating in this country?

In spite of all the publicity the house un-American activities committee got, and the federal grand jury investigation in New York, the U. S. government still hasn't proved in court there has been any spying here.

Yet, it seems absurd to think the Russians would fail to set up a ring here, either before the war, during it, or now.

If they did do that, then such a ring here was more successful in one way than the ones in Canada and Japan, for they were uncovered and proven to have existed.

At his trial Ozaki Hozumi told how he went about spying. He just used his friends. He didn't go around with a flashlight at night, rooting through secret papers in a dark room.

His friends were in high places. He didn't ask "specific leading questions." He liked people, and people liked him. And he talked with them, and he listened. Particularly, he listened.

City Planning For Safety Bicyclists

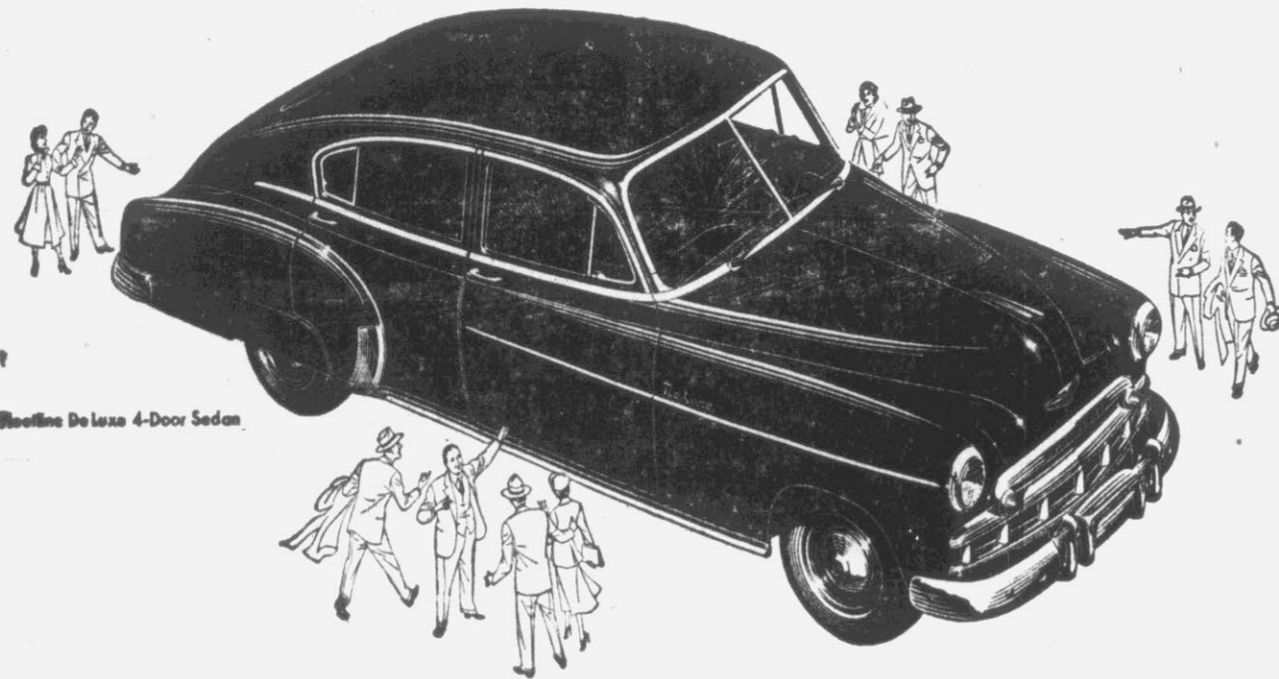

Greenville Police Chief Lester D. Page today praised school authorities for their cooperation in promoting safety in traffic. Speaking at several schools yesterday Chief Page said he was amply rewarded for his explanation of how boys and girls can avoid accidents while riding bicycles. The police department, in line with "Safety Month in Driving," observed during February, is issuing license tags to bicyclists. All bicycles used in the city must be licensed.
