Tomorrow's Gardens

By Greenville Garden Club Camellias
Writing in the North Carolina Gardener, official publication of the N.C. Garden Club, Mrs. R. L. McMillan concludes an article on camellias with the following paragraph:

"The camellia is a superb broad-leaf evergreen. Hedges of hardy varieties are magnificent and are used more and more by landscape gardeners. If I could advise every young GI who is planning his dream house, I would recommend setting out a great many small and comparatively inexpensive camellia plants so that they might grow up with the family. Such an enthusiasm is an antidote for many of the ills of the bewildering world in which we find ourselves today."

All of us who have grown even one camellia agree most heartily with all that Mrs. McMillan says and congratulate ourselves that here in Greenville we can grow many varieties which are not hardy even as far as Raleigh.

Senior Class Production Charmed Audience With Tale Of Scotland

With a stage presentation that was radically different from the usual light and depthless comedy-type of senior play the fifteen-member cast of "Annie Laurie," 49 senior production, evoked a memory and an enriching experience upon the audience which filled the Greenville High School auditorium last night.

From the housemaid's first exclamation about witches to the haunting words of the immortal ballad, Annie Laurie and finally to the wedding march, the audience lived with the actors as they sensed the suspense, pain, joy mystery and frustration and lastly the complete happiness of the characters in Wall Spence's romantic drama.

The entire cast of seniors moved the play along without lag or error to present an almost flawless high school production of a difficult play.

As the audience filed out of GHS last evening the effects of the play was obvious: some came out humming Annie Laurie while others sang the praises of the entire cast and director; many said nothing, still feeling the intensity of the drama.

The play is woven about the writing of the ballad, Annie Laurie, and the frustrated love it created in the lives of Sir William Douglas, portrayed by Jack Morgan and "bonnie" Annie Laurie depicted by Jane Langley. Annie's father, the stern overbearing Scot nobleman, was played by Ken Owens, whose role in the play did not endear him to the audience but whose acting was acclaimed by many.

No More CARE

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—CARE, overseas relief distributing agency, has cut off shipment of food and clothing parcels to Hungary.

The agency said yesterday its agreement with the Hungarian communist government had expired, and that efforts to negotiate a new agreement had been unsuccessful.

CARE said "no political considerations" on its own part were involved in the suspension of its services to Hungary, or in the failure to reach a new agreement.

lost his Annie to her only love, Sir Douglas, but Lord Ferguson said in his sincere, audience-appealing manner that "it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

Bettie Anne Young and Sam Fleming's performance as the only two lovers whose love did run smoothly portrayed their roles with ardor and feeling.

Lady Jane Scott played by Joanna Bunch, acted her part as the flower of Scottish nobility with nobility and clearness; the audience was warmed by her counseling and attention of Annie Laurie in her prolonged time of mental anguish.

Dot Whiteley, the shrewd, canny spinster who is the housekeeper, had by general consensus of opinion the most difficult part in the play; the tedious Scottish dialect and the many entrances Dot turned in a commendable performance of this most unique role.

Carl Denton and Louise Batson captured the audience with their characterizations of the stable boy and old lady of the hills, respectively.

Ann Cahoon, as the housemaid portrayed the twittering little girl that believed in witch craft as if she really did. Dot Stauffer, Donald Rose, Alice Jones and Tommy Hanford completed the well-rounded cast and helped to cement the various roles into a single production of high audience appeal.

Juanita Stokes off-stage singing of Annie Laurie held the audience in a stilled sense of awe.

Mrs. Howard Mims veteran senior play director, headed the production staff consisting of Emily Rice, student director; Tommy Hanford, technical director; Howard Proctor, business manager; and Fred Brooks and Robert Mayo, electricians.

'Tip' To Murder Case Said False

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11—(AP)—The latest tip in the two-week-old slaying of J. B. Lattimore, Duke University student from Lumberton, N.C., has turned out to be a dud.

Authorities here said they were convinced that a statement made by a soldier, Raymond J. Thurber, 20, saying he had slain the student was a hoax. Sheriff Flanders Thompson of Lee County quoted the prisoner as admitting the slaying to get out of the Army. He said the soldier would be turned over to military police.

Thurber was picked up in Miami yesterday and brought here. Lattimore's body was discovered in a canal near here on Jan. 30. He was on his way to visit relatives in Sarasota.

Detective Capt. C. W. Potterton of Miami said Thurber told "varying and conflicting stories" of the killing after he and a companion were picked up there.

Sheriff Thompson and State Attorney W. MacSmiley of Bradenton said Thurber told them he stole a car in Miami, picked up the Duke student, killed him for the few articles he had and dumped him in a canal 10 miles south of here.

But officials learned from police in Pensacola that Thurber had been picked up there the morning he said he had killed Lattimore.

Warsaw Speeds Rebuilding Work

Warsaw—(AP)—Poles are proclaiming that Warsaw is half-way reconstructed and they paint a rosy picture for the future. But Polish engineers and architects say it will take until 1955 to completely rebuild what the Nazis demolished in their house to house systematic destruction after the unsuccessful Warsaw insurrection in the fall of 1944.

Poles have worked hard to rebuild their capital and by their own hands have cleared away hundreds of thousands of tons of ruins and rubble. Now reconstruction is being speeded up with the import of large quantities of machinery from Great Britain, Soviet Russia and other countries.

New Relationship For Two Sisters

Lawrenceville, Va., Feb. 11—(AP)—Two Brunswick County sisters now have the added relationship to each other stepmother-and stepdaughter-in-law.

This came about Tuesday when Bobbie Newsome, 41-year-old Rossmore Rapids, N.C., painter, married Miss Odell Finch, 22, of Dundas, near here.

On December 27, 1948, Newsome's father, Thomas W. Newsome, 80, married Miss Louise Finch, 20, sister of Odell.

The elder Newsome accompanied his son here for the wedding. Both ceremonies were performed by W. E. Elmore, Brunswick County court clerk. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leon William Finch. Thomas Newsome was a widower, his son had been married but was divorced.

The younger Newsomes will reside in Rossmore Rapids, as do the "elder" Newsomes.

Ethiopia Levies Road Toll Tax

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia—(AP)—Under an Imperial Proclamation just published in the Official Gazette, a road toll tax will henceforth be levied on users of Ethiopian roads travelling by automobiles, either on pleasure or business.

The new highway toll, known as the "Road Tax Proclamation of 1948" is claimed to be necessary for "better maintenance of those roads that contribute toward the productivity of the land and the benefit of the population."

Toll must henceforth be paid for each 100 kilometers or less of road travelled.

Singapore Backs Chinese Culture

A movement to establish a purely cultural organization to be called "The China Society" is underway. The Society will be open to all races.

Objects of the new society are to encourage study of the Chinese language, literature, history and folklore; art, science, industry, economics and customs. It also aims to promote goodwill among the various racial groups represented in its membership.

Non-Communist Oath Hit By Oklahoma University

Norman, Okla., Feb. 11—(AP)—The University of Oklahoma, from freshmen to president, protested today against a college "non-Communist" oath proposed in the state legislature.

The oath would be required from both students and faculty under a bill passed by the house of representatives and now under consideration by the Senate.

Nine campus organizations, several professors, and 1,500 of the 12,000 students signed a petition yesterday asking the Senate to throw out the measure.

Dr. George L. Cross, University president, also spoke against the bill.

"If laws controlling Communists are to be enacted in Oklahoma, they should be made applicable to all citizens of the state and not just select groups," Cross said.

"No better method could be devised to make martyrs of Communists," The Oklahoma Daily, University newspaper, said in an editorial by Leroy Allen.

Political, religious and social organizations joined in opposing the bill.

The League of Young Democrats powerful both on the campus and in the state party, appointed a committee to seek an open hearing on the bill with the Senate Education Committee. The student senate, an official university group, appointed another committee to find means to stop the bill.

The bill passed the house 102-7 Monday. It would call for a $500 fine and 10 days in jail as maximum punishment for violation.

Bites and Bites

Brisbane—(AP)—In Ipswain, near Brisbane, a cat bit a snake. Then the snake bit the cat. An outsider stepped in and killed the snake.

The cat's owner, Kevin Bailey aged 6, patted his cat in sympathy. The cat bit Kevin on the wrist, and Kevin was taken to a hospital.

Then the cat died as a result of the snake bite.

Clock Industry Revived; Booms

London—(AP)—The newly revived British clock and watch industry is booming.

Output of alarm clocks reached two million last year and the industry expects to double that production this year.

In 1938 Britain imported nearly seven million watch and clock movements. Last year it imported less than 1,500,000 and exported 1,100,000 pounds' worth to 72 countries in the first ten months of the year.

Coat Returned, Freshly Pressed

Reidsville, N. C., Feb. 10—(AP)—Luther Johnson's overcoat was stolen, but he got it back within an hour, freshly pressed.

A few minutes after they received the theft report officers located the garment at a cleaning establishment, Johnny Keezee, Johnson's brother-in-law, pleaded guilty to larceny. He was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Raise Questions As Case Revived

Tokyo, Friday Feb. 11—(AP)—Japanese generally were more interested in learning why the Sorge spy case was revealed at this time than in details of how it worked.

Metropolitan newspapers gave prominent and considerable space to the story of wartime Communist espionage in Japan. But one editor commented:

"The case was closed long ago. Most Japanese knew about it. Why is it being revived now?"

The man on the street raised this same question. Some of those interviewed said they thought Americans were trying to warn the Japanese against Communist activities.

All newspapers turned their staffs loose to locate rare pictures of Richard Sorge, the German Communist who posed as a Nazi and lost his life as a spy. That meant hundreds of reporters and photographers. They found some—and the largest to appear in print was the size of an American half dollar.

Tilden In Jail For New Offense

Los Angeles, Feb. 11—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, one of the greats of sports golden era, sits in a jail cell today for the second time in two years because of morals offenses against boys.

The ex-world tennis champion—now gray—was sentenced yesterday to a year in jail for violating probation in a 1947 morals case involving a 14-year-old boy. Tilden had served seven-and-a-half months at the county honor farm as condition of probation.

The Test Of Communism

Strength FOR THE DAY

LET US REDISCOVER AMERICA
Four hundred and fifty-seven years ago, Christopher Columbus "discovered America." And yet, of course, he didn't discover the greater part of America. He discovered only a few islands. He made other voyages, but he never lived to know that the greater part of the new world consisted of a tremendous continent three thousand miles wide, destined to become, because of its natural resources, the richest area on the whole earth.

This is a good time for us to rediscover America. The basic liberties for which men have given their lives have been crushed out in many countries.

In this fair era of scientific achievement and in the year of the Prince of Peace, 1949, nations are so suspicious of one another that a type of war known as "cold war" is constantly being waged.

What about this beloved country of ours? Two things are to be said, at least. First, it is the God-blessedest country on the earth, and we had better awake to our good fortune. And second, unless we watch sharply, we will lose our liberties and fall under the yoke of dictatorship.

The rediscovery of America in 1949 is as important as the discovery of America in 1492.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
COMMITTEEMAN—Meeting of the state Democratic executive committee for selection of a successor to the late Joe Blythe as national committeeman for North Carolina went off almost exactly as had been predicted. Jonathan Daniels was the only candidate placed in nomination and he was recommended to the national committee, which actually fills the vacancy. Only one dissent was noted on the standing vote after two or three members had voted against making the nomination unanimous. That was by Ed Cranford, Asheboro farm machinery dealer.

APATHETIC—The meeting was apathetic in every respect. Only 69 members showed up in person, and when proxies had been accounted for there were 136 votes out of the 220 total. One old party warhorse shook his head as he left the hall, and said "the term militant Democracy that we used to hear so much doesn't apply now."

VISITORS—Among the visitors crowding the hall for the meeting were one or two recognized Republicans who had come to see how Democrats handle their business affairs. They appeared as well or better pleased with course of events than many of the Democrats present.

DOCILE—The committee had come to do two jobs, as suggested by accredited leadership of the party. These jobs were done and that was all. Resolutions of respect were adopted for Joe Blythe and Jonathan Daniels was chosen to succeed him on the national committee. The matter of filling one or two vacancies on the state committee, occasioned by death or resignation, was passed for the present. Governor Scott had conflicting engagement in a conference at the mansion and could not be present. Former Governor Cherry was on hand as a proxy voter, and got a laugh when he pleaded for support of elected personnel even though the vote was not unanimous. He remembered that some folks voted for him who maybe didn't want to.

G.G.I.A.C.—Those letters don't spell anything. They stand for a new organization which Dr. J. S. Dorton, director of the state fair, heard about a few days ago. He was in a meeting of veterinarians when some subject under discussion was not understood by most of the attendants. Admitting they were confused, some of the vets proposed a new English letter fraternity, "G.G.I.A.C.", which being interpreted means "Great God, Am I Confused." No formal application blanks have been circulated but in offside conversation numerous members of the general assembly have voiced desire to affiliate with the order. They say it expresses their attitude in as few words as it can be stated.

PROOP—Three of the eminent jurists who constitute the supreme court of North Carolina were observed walking down Fayetteville street under one umbrella during one of the February pop-showers we've had lately. A bystander suggested that was proof enough that the justices need the salary increase proposed in pending bills. A judge of any kind, certainly one of the top rankers, should draw enough salary to provide an individual umbrella, remarked the observer.

ADJOURNMENT—There was some humor and a good bit of pathos in the resolution calling for sine die adjournment of the general assembly and the disposition made of it by the speaker. Offered by Representative Burl Harrison of Craven the resolution provides for adjournment on Saturday, March 5—just three weeks from this Saturday—and the 60th calendar day of the session. Speaker Ramsey referred the resolution to the appropriations committee. Implied suggestion was that if the appropriations committee completes its job, the assembly can quit. The committee has no remote chance of finishing in time for early March adjournment. Most members are more or less resigned to the prospect of staying on the job until late April, though a few are striving to get through before that time.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—Once upon a time there was a young smart alec rat called Sharpy. Yes, a real four-legged rat.

One night as Sharpy was nosing around the nursery of the home in which he was a non-paying guest he came upon a strange sight.

A little old man only half-a-foot high sat on a footstool bathed in moonbeams. He was blowing upon a small reed. And the music he made was sweet and sad and wonderful. It was like a night wind blowing softly around the edges of the world. Sharpy listened to the eerie tune and then said:

"You're really out of this world, Mac."

"Of course I am," said the little man complacently. "I'm a Leprechaun—an Irish fairy."

"I heard a baby crying in this crib, and I thought it would put the poor thing to sleep. You see, this is a magic reed. When I blow on it and wish somebody to do something—why, they have to do it."

"Anything?" asked Sharpy.

"Yes, anything," said Mac, the Leprechaun.

Sharpy immediately belted the fairy in the stomach and grabbed the reed. He blew upon it and wished: "Get going, Mac."

The Leprechaun hesitated a second and then floated up a moon-bean and disappeared, his face still surprised.

Sharpy ran down to the basement and told his family their troubles were over. He had a magic reed. "This I gotta see," said his old man, who knew Sharpy was an awful liar.

So they crept into the cook's bedroom. Sharpy piped his tune and wished for her to get up and put some cheese on the kitchen floor. She did. The cat came prowling near. Sharpy blew again and wished: "Stand on your head."

Up went the cat on its head—and stayed there.

"My boy," said Sharpy's father, "I always said you'd be a great rat. I'm proud of you."

Overnight Sharpy's dream of power grew greater.

"Why not," he said, "use this reed to destroy all the enemies of our race? Why should rats have to hide all their lives?"

He decided—to start with—to get rid of all the cats, dogs and people in New York City. Early the next morning he began the great rat crusade.

Sharpy transfixed a taxi driver with his magic music, and commanded the cab. He crawled up on top. As six giant rats held a megaphone before him, he blew upon his reed and thought:

"Cats, dogs and humans—follow me!"

And they did—Out from houses, shops and skyscrapers poured cats, dogs and people, capering together in the streets behind Sharpy. Brokers forsook their ticker tape, bums left the bowery.

The line grew and grew as the parade neared the Battery. All the city's rats came out and jumped in taxis, too. The ride was free, as the dazed driver forgot to turn on the fare meters.

"Atta boy, Sharpy," chortled the rats.

"Blow harder, Sharpy," they yelled. "Some of the people on the side streets are getting away."

And Sharpy blew and blew and blew!

But when the tremendous mass of cats, dogs and people reached the waterfront up spoke a grey, wise old rat:

"Just a minute, Sharpy. What's next?"

"Why, I'm going to tell them all to jump in the water," said Sharpy. "If you get rid of all the people, who will rule the world?" Cautioned the wise old rat. "Why will we have to—the rats. And do you know what that means? It means that in time rats will become tame—like people we'll have to work for a living. Do we want that?"

Sharpy hesitated. But the lust for power was strong in him. He raised the reed to blow again. Instantly the wise old rat snatched the magic instrument from his paws, broke it in half, and threw it on the ground.

That broke the spell. The rats jumped from the cabs and ran for the nearest holes. The cats began to chase the rats. The barking dogs began to chase the cats. The people started to run after their dogs.

And everybody cried: "Who's shoving?"

Moral: Nobody wins in a rat race.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—Weekends at Sandy Springs, their farm in nearby Maryland, have been "life-savers" to Dean Acheson, the new secretary of state, his wife tells me.

"Out there we find quiet, do not see or have to talk to many people, and my husband stores up health and sanity for the work-filled hours ahead," she explained in an interview at their gracious home in old Georgetown here.

Tall, handsome and as distinguished in appearance as her husband, Mrs. Acheson talked unburdened as she tranquilly adjusted a fetching moss green hat on her dark, curly hair and pulled on green gloves exactly matching her costume. She was nevertheless in a hurry, and she finished the interview as we drove in her roadster to the State Department for the swearing of Undersecretary James Webb.

The Georgetown house, built in an early era, glows with warm, soft color, high-lighted with a rosy pink lustre-ware, old silver, rare antiques and oil paintings, mostly Georgetown scenes and flower still-lives done by Mrs. Acheson herself. An artist of some reputation, she has exhibited her paintings many times in Washington and at galleries in New York.

Occasionally Mrs. Acheson paints portraits and for a long time has wanted to do one of the secretary.

"He has so little time to sit, I've never gotten a chance to do it," she said.

Mrs. Acheson, who was born in Detroit, met her affable, sandy-haired, mustachioed husband while she was a student at Wellesley. They have two daughters and a son, all married, and all living in Washington.

The farm is a relaxation and a hobby as well for the Achesons. Both like to work on the place... cutting brush, gardening, shopping trees. "Shame on me," the secretary once remarked, "but I draw my poor wife out there and tell her work on a cross-cut saw is good for a woman." But Mrs. Acheson likes sawing. She says:

"We each take an end and try to saw as close to the ground as possible so we won't leave any stumps. I helped saw two trees in one day cutting them into about 25 pieces to burn in the fireplace. We find it good exercise."

Communist War On Religion Spotlighted By New Assaults

By the Associated Press
A charge by Britain that the Communists are engaged in a concerted assault on religion spotlighted today the unending war behind the Iron Curtain between Church and State—a war which may not yet have reached its peak.

The latest manifestation of this war is in Communist-dominated Bulgaria, about to try 15 Protestant churchmen on the usual charges of treason, spying and black market currency dealings.

But there are rumblings elsewhere in the countries of the Soviet sphere in Eastern Europe. There are ominous portents in Czechoslovakia and signs of increasing restiveness in Poland.

A foreign office spokesman said at a news conference in London: "The Communist governments of Eastern Europe, having eliminated all democratic parties in their countries, now have launched a concerted assault on the churches in order to get a clear run for their Communist ideology."

The religious conflict dates back to the end of the shooting war and the establishment under the watchful eye of the Russians of Communist regimes in the countries in the Soviet orbit. There is a broad gulf between the doctrines of Russian Communism and the tenets of Christian religions.

New fuel probably will be added to the flames Monday when Pope Pius XII, representing the world's Roman Catholics, is expected to give voice to his wrath at the imprisonment by Hungary of Cardinal Mindszenty. The trial of the Hungarian prince primate brought the conflict to a dramatic climax whose echoes resounded throughout the world.

In Czechoslovakia, most recent addition to the chain of Soviet satellites, a new campaign is reported rising against the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church. The controlled Czechoslovak news bureau reported yesterday complaints from Communist action committees that the church takes no action against priests accused and even convicted of anti-state activity.

In Poland, the Bishop of Katowice, Stanislaw Adamski has a used Polish government officials of abolishing religious teaching in some schools of southern Poland. Unconfirmed reports said six to 20 priests were arrested for reading the letter.

Reds Claim Role In Discoveries Of New World

Moscow—(AP)—A recent book by a Russian geographer claims that in the exploration and settlement of America Russia played "no small role."

The book, "From The History of Russian Expeditions In The Pacific Ocean," was written by A. V. Efimov and published by the Military Publishing House of the Ministry of the Armed Forces of the Soviet Union. It claims that "immense areas of northwestern America were discovered, investigated and described by Russian navigators and only by them, and then by right of discovery and settlement Alaska was united to Russia."

The book states that "the role of Russian people—state figures, scholars, travellers, sailors, soldiers—all those who by heavy labor conquered the elements, battling with death, discovered new routes, new lands, the role of those who in the most direct sense discovered America from the West—cannot be exaggerated."

Haven Of Peace

Ogunquit, Me.—(AP)—If you need a minute's peace in a hectic existence, you might join a club here that glorifies that very thing. The "Minute of Peace" Club is going strong—and placidly—in its 15th year as a haven for hurried Ogunquit men.

Wives of the 45 members can't call up their peace-loving spouses because—by design—there's no phone in the clubroom. A large placard, resting in the window, proclaims in triumph: "Men's Club. Minute of Peace. No Telephone Conn."

George Ramsdell, fisherman and lobster dealer, started the club but the wife of a member uttered a phrase which still lives in the organization's name.

Mrs. Burton L. S. McAfee, who had two lively children in the early days of the club often was heard telling them "When you are grown up I may get a chance to have a minute of peace."

One day when her husband left the house their daughter, Anne, five, asked "Where are you going, Daddy—to get a minute of peace?"

McAfee related the incident to fellow clubmembers, and they decided the phrase would suit them perfectly for a name.

It's in the winter season, when this exclusive summer resort has little for men to do, members say, they seem to get "under foot" in their homes and head for the club quarters. There they find peace for as many minutes, or hours, as they care to spend at the club's cribbage and checker tables.

Surveys Of County, City School Systems Started

Philadelphia Has Transit Walkout

Philadelphia, Feb. 11—(AP)—A strike of Transit Workers seeking a fourth round wage increase today snarled commuter facilities for 3,200,000 daily riders in the nation's third largest city.

The walkout of 11,000 Philadelphia Transportation Company employees began one minute after midnight despite continued efforts to reach a settlement.

A conference—called by Company officials and representatives of the CIO-Transport Workers Union after the strike got under way—broke up in the early morning hours but a further meeting was scheduled for today.

No progress was reported by either Union or management, with negotiations deadlocked over a 17-cent spread.

The workers originally demanded a boost of 25 cents an hour but later reduced this to 20 cents. The company's initial offer was two cents, boosted to three cents shortly before the strike deadline.

Workers now average from $1.00 to $1.63 an hour.

The full effect of the transit tie-up on Philadelphia's commuters was not immediately evident. Many who ordinarily use the PTC trolley, subway and bus lines made arrangements to travel to work by train, taxi or in private automobile.

Robinson Earns Kayo In First

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 11—(AP)—Welterweight Champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson made short work of Gene Buffalo, Wilkes-Barre, last night with a knockout at 2:55 of the first round of their scheduled 10-round non-title bout.

Buffalo, who barely laid a glove on the titleholder, went down for the count after Robinson connected with a long left to the chin. It took five minutes to revive the Wilkes-Barre fighter.

Chapel Hill, Feb. 11—(AP)—Surveys of school systems in seven counties and in four towns have been made or are in the process of being made by the Bureau of Educational Research and Services of the University of North Carolina, Dean Guy B. Phillips announced here today.

Conducted by faculty members of the school, a building and reorganization survey has been completed in Anson and Montgomery counties. A similar study was done in Richmond County and in Hamlet with the cooperation of the State Department of Education. The university committee completed the Hamlet study.

The Gates County survey was made in cooperation with Duke University, the committee being composed of Dean Phillips and W. E. Rosenstengel of Carolina and A. M. Proctor of Duke.

An extensive survey was made in Columbus County with a staff of 20 representing various institutions in the state, including the State Department.

Dean Phillips, Dr. Rosenstengel and Dr. A. L. Hurlburt of East Carolina Teachers College are now working on a survey of the Washington city and Beaufort County.

The university staff here has agreed to organize and develop a survey of Johnston County this spring and has also been asked to make a building survey for the Thomasville city unit. The staff will also work with the city school administration in Hickory in making a survey to be a part of the total city-wide planning project.

"The School of Education," Dean Phillips said, "is attempting to make its staff available in discovering the needs and immediate tasks in the various county administrative units requesting help."

Unknown Leads Golf's Famous In Texas Open

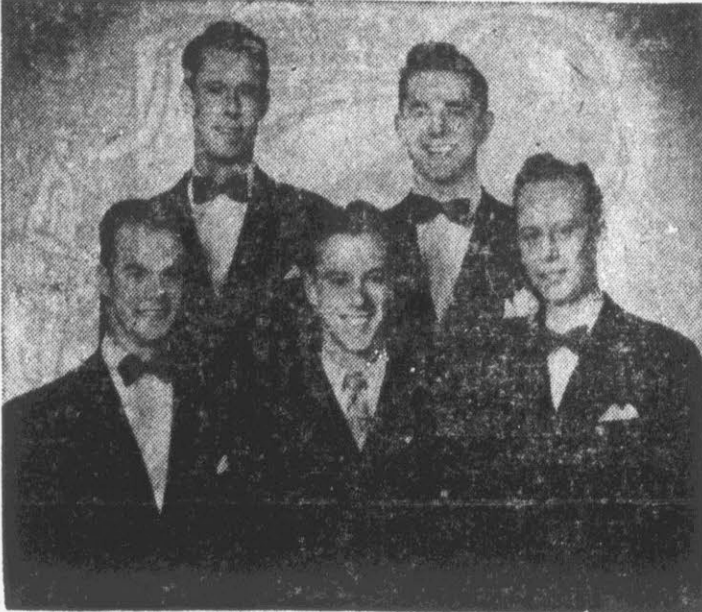

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 11—(AP)—Lanky Dave Douglas, 30-year-old professional with a modicum of experience on the PGA tournament tour, held a one-stroke lead over a bulky field today as the $10,000 Texas Open moved into its second round.

Douglas, who helps his father, theory at Rock Manor public course at Wilmington, Del., outstripped the big names of golf yesterday by shooting a six-under-par 65 over the Fort Sam Houston course's 6,379 yards. He is in his second year on the tour.

Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., the tournament favorite, and Siemman Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., defending champion, were among those in the pack, although Demaret shot even par 71 and Sneed had a 70.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals have only one ten year player apiece on their rosters.

Those taking part in the program were: response to the welcome address, Johnnie Wooten; solo by Hattie E. Savage; clarinet solo, by Garrett Grimes; William E. Myers was at the piano.

High Point Invades Pirates' Den Tonight In Circuit Tilt

Panthers Favored To Win Ninth North State Conference Victory Against Buccaneers; Upset Not Impossible

By EUGENE PRICE

High Point's potent Panthers invade the East Carolina Teachers College gym tonight favored to win their ninth North State Conference victory.

Defeated only twice this season, the High Point aggregation will meet the sixth place Buccaneers in the top half of a doubleheader featuring the ECTC Jayvees in a preliminary contest.

East Carolina, fresh from a 61 to 51 upset over third place West Carolina, will take to the court determined to finish the season undefeated. The Bucs have three remaining contests, the one tonight, Elton Tuesday and Atlantic Christian Saturday.

In their initial clash of the season the Panthers walked off with a one-sided win to hand the ECTC quitters its first loss of the year.

The Howard Porter-coached aggregation from East Carolina will be seeking revenge for that defeat tonight.

And an upset is not impossible either. The Bucs have turned in victories over such powerful teams as Appalachian, West Carolina, Lehigh and by only one point, mighty Catawba.

The Panthers will be bucking one of the strongest advantages the Buccaneers can boast, the advantage of the home court. Only twice this season have the Pirates been defeated at home. Both times it was by one goal.

Boxing Team Will Meet Goldsboro

The East Carolina Teachers College Buccaneers boxers tonight invade the Goldsboro Athletic Club in the second meeting of the season for the two teams.

Ten fighters and Coaches Jim Johnson and Johnny Long will leave East Carolina this afternoon to be matched with the Goldsboro team tonight.

Coach Johnson announced early this week that he was carrying ECTC Co-Captain Redwan David to be matched in a return bout in Goldsboro's Ron Clark David decision of the Golden Gloves lightweight champion in their first meeting.

Paul Hansell, undefeated in four bouts this season will be among the ECTC boys making the trip. The stealthy powerful hitting southpaw has taken four decisions in stiff competition this season.

Ken Stargardt, who himself is writing a new chapter in the history of East Carolina boxing, will be gunning for win number six tonight. Stargardt scored his fifth consecutive win last week by knocking out Elizabeth City's Bobby Owens in 45 seconds of the first round.

Charlie Edwards, Bill Torrans, Cion Smith, Jack Amyette, Harvey Stull, Henry Bruton, Al Lee, Bruce Jones and Marshall Baines will also be matched.

Pitt Tournament Work Under Way

The pairing for the Pitt County basketball tournament have not yet been completed and will not be available before Feb. 22, but much of the preparatory work has been completed.

The tournament will run through the nights of Feb. 28, March 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. No afternoon games are scheduled.

The Wright Gym at ECTC will be the site for the contests, and Holscher, Haynes, Glover and Polite, of ECTC will act referees for the games.

Cups will be given to the winners of both girls and boys teams, together with awards to each player on winning teams and runner-up teams. Good sportsmanship cups will be presented, and awards will be given to players selected for the all-tournament teams.

Armed's Trainer Bets 100-1 His Entry To Lose

Miami, Fla., Feb. 11 — (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Jones says the odds are 100 to 1 that Armed ever will win another stakes race—and has backed up his opinion with cash.

One of the press box demizens who heard the Calumet Farm conditioner express such an opinion about the eight-year-old gelding following that veteran's third comeback attempt Wednesday at Hialeah, offered to take the odds.

Quick as a flash, Jones said "O.K., it's a bet. If Armed wins another stake, you have one hundred dollars coming—and I sure hope you win your bet!"

Jones says Armed emerged from his first outing since the Widener of a year ago all right. But Jimmy bases his opinion on Armed's age and the heavy weights he feels track handicappers would continue to put on his famed charge.

Advice Pays Off

Miami — (AP) — Eldon Nelson, current apprentice sensation at Hialeah, patterns his riding style after ace jockey Ted Atkinson. This was the advice of his contract employer, John Nerud of Woolford Farm, formerly agent for Atkinson.

Phantoms Meet Edenton Cagers At Chowan Gym

Greenville High School will travel to Edenton tonight in next to the last out of town game of its Northeastern Conference season. The Phantoms, third place club in loop standing, will invade the Chowan gymnasium shooting for their seventh win while the local Juniors will be out for win number 12.

In their first game with the Aces Bo Parley's Phantoms scored a 39 to 33 win and the Jayvees found no trouble lifting the scalps of one of the weakest Junior teams in the conference.

Edenton is currently down in the very low part of the Northeastern conference and indications are they will spend the remainder of the season with most of the conference teams on their shoulders.

Coach Parley's boys are up in third place after upsetting the second place Washington Pam Pack boys Wednesday night.

Next week the locals play two games at home. They play host to Roanoke Rapids Tuesday and Tarboro Friday. Their last game of the season will be at New Bern.

Crucial Contest For Blue Devils

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tonight is the night of reckoning, you might say, for Duke's basketball Blue Devils.

The Blue Devils have to win from North Carolina State's Wolfpack — or virtually forget about playing in this year's Southern Conference tournament in March. The tournament will be held in Duke's big indoor stadium.

Duke's present conference record is four wins and five losses. After tonight's game with the Wolfpack at Raleigh, the Blue Devils still must face Wake Forest and North Carolina, both visitors over the Dukes in their first meetings.

There is a pretty fair chance—no remarks, please—that the Blue Devils can turn back the "Hoosier Hotshots" and make their current record all even. In the first game between the clubs, State won by 53-52.

Of course, Wake Forest's Deacons undoubtedly thought they had a fair chance to beat the Pack in their second get-together, too. The Deacons had won the first tilt, 52-49, to snap State's consecutive string of loop triumphs at 27.

The second game score: 82-39—North Carolina State.

Unbeaten Quint Win 17 Straight

New York, Feb. 11 — (AP) — Southwest Missouri, the nation's only unbeaten collegiate basketball team, made it 17 straight last night.

The Pittsburgh (Pa.) Teachers made it close, but at the end their opponents from Springfield, Mo. were on top, 43-41. Curly Cook's long shot from the side in the closing minutes provided the winning margin.

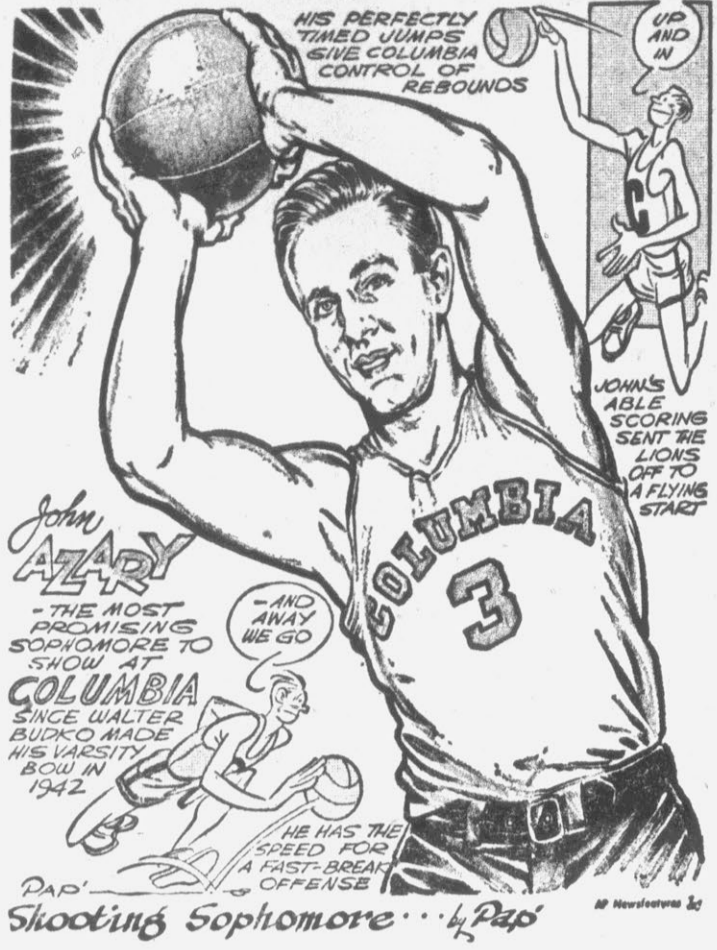

Entrants Falter At Racing Death

Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 11 — (AP) — Stunned by an accident that killed Max Houben, veteran Olympic brakeman, the Belgians withdrew from the world two-man bobsled championships today and left three countries to vie for honors.

The United States, Switzerland and France each will send two teams down the treacherous Mt. Van Hovenberg run this week-end in quest of the world title.

Madison Square Garden boasts a new running track this season. The boards run lengthwise, instead of crosswise, as before.

Sport Slants by Pap

Just when the experts had consigned the Columbia basketball team to the ranks of also-rans after two years of dominating the Ivy League, the Lions turned loose a sophomore sensation who threatens to upset the dope bucket. John Azary, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder, is the newcomer who shapes up as the most promising court performer to enter Columbia since Walter Budko arrived on the campus back in 1942.

Azary gave a great exhibition of shooting when he tallied 23 points against Fordham University. The sophomore sharpshooter caged 10 out of 14 attempts from the field, and made all three free throws from the foul line. He averaged better than 16 points for the first six games and indicated that he could be counted on for double figures in any company. Azary was the leading light of the Columbia frosh who won 10 of their 13 games last season.

For a sophomore, Azary has a lot of poise and savvy. He is the team's leading scorer and chief rebounder. He isn't spectacular in style, but he works with efficiency. He has plenty of speed and fits well into the Lions' fast break attack. On defense, Azary usually draws the all-important assignment of stopping the opponents leading scorer.

Yanks Yell 'Foul' At Veeck Action

New York, Feb. 11 — (AP) — The New York Yankees asked for their turn at bat today in the case of Artie Wilson, a star Negro shortstop.

Wilson signed a Cleveland contract in Puerto Rico yesterday.

Only a week ago the Yanks were so sure they had him sewed up they announced he would join Newark after the formality of signing a contract.

The Yanks quickly yelled "foul" on an informal basis.

Said general manager George Weiss: "Cleveland has acted unethically if not in direct violation of baseball law."

All of which may mean the Yanks are willing to push the point further. Commissioner A. B. Chandler might get into the act if it were pushed far enough.

Wilson was the property of the Birmingham Barons of the Negro American league. He was signed directly by President Bill Veeck of the Indians who flew to Puerto Rico from New York last Wednesday.

Veeck said Tom Hayes, owner of the Birmingham club, had phoned him to say that Wilson's contract was available.

"So we just bought him," Veeck said. "We had been scouting Wilson for a year. I don't know of any possible conflict."

Wilson, himself, said the Yankees had been interested "but everything was cancelled."

Stars In Net Film

Prague — (AP) — Joroslav Drobný Czech star who is confining his sports activity to tennis and forsaking hockey this winter, will star in a documentary tennis film planned by Director Jiri Swirth. Much of the film will be devoted to the three hour match here last summer when Drobný defeated American Frankie Parker in five sets.

Stage Play-Off

Basketball teams of Bethel and Ayden high schools will meet in the East Carolina Teachers College gymnasium in a two-out-of-three series for the privilege of representing Pitt county in the State eliminations.

Both Ayden and Bethel have won eleven games each from other teams within the county but have not played each other to date. The schools are scheduled to play on the nights of Feb. 12, 14 and 17; with the opener, Saturday night, to feature a girls' basketball game at 7:30, and the boys' game starting at 8:30.

Saddler Is Underdog When He Climbs In Ring Tonight

Joe Fulks Sets Scoring Record With 63 Points

Philadelphia, Feb. 11 — (AP) — There were 1,500 people in the Philadelphia Arena last night but only one didn't realize that Joe Fulks was setting a new basketball scoring record—that was Joe himself.

The lanky Kentuckian from Kuttawa chalked up 63 points for a new Basketball Association of America scoring standard as the Philadelphia Warriors whipped the Indianapolis Jets 108-87.

"I knew I was hitting good and that something was going on by the way the crowd kept yelling 'shoot, shoot,'" said Fulks.

"But honest I didn't realize I had a record until Eddie (Coach Eddie Gottlieb) called me over and said to hang back. He told me then I had 59 points.

"I just had one of those nights that every basketball player dreams about. Seems everything I threw went through the hoop."

Jumpin' Joe's points cracked the league record of 48 established by Minneapolis George Mikan Jan. 30 against Washington. His 27 field goals also was a new better than the league record he held jointly with Mikan and Carl Braun of the New York Knickerbockers.

And the 57 shots he took in getting those 27 was another circuit mark. The other nine points came on free throws. He missed five.

Enroute to the individual offensive record, Fulks also broke Braun's mark for on-half. After counting 30 points in the first half, Joe racked up 33 in the second, two more than Braun's standard.

Fulks' great scoring spree gave him 1,196 points in 46 games. Mikan has 1,144 in 41.

Fulks wouldn't admit as much but his teammates insisted he was spurred on by a report that Bob O'Brien, former teammate, had scored 59 points down in Alabama.

Joe Fulks Sets Scoring Record With 63 Points

New York, Feb. 11 — (AP) — Sandy Saddler, a vicious knockout winner over Willie Pep last October, is a surprising underdog in tonight's Madison Square Garden rematch the first defense of his world featherweight title.

The first Garden sellout crowd since Rocky Garziano fought Marty Servo in 1946, more than 18,500 will match Slim Sandy from Harlem try to prove it was no mistake when he flattened Pep in 2:38 of the fourth last Oct. 29. The pick here is Saddler, probably by a knockout, in less than the 15-round limit.

Pep's loyal Connecticut clients are responsible for the sellout with at least 6,000 from Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport coming to town with cash to back their opinions. They can't believe that Pep beaten only once in 135 fights before he met Sandy, was whipped by such a Johnny-come-lately.

Newspaper, radio and television reports to the contrary, they are going heavy on Wee Willie, the pride of Hartford, who was a big 5 to 14 favorite in October. It's likely the ex-champ will go in tonight at 5 to 7 choice although the odds have fluctuated wildly during the last two weeks.

It's the biggest betting fight in years, according to all reports and a new indoor gate receipts record for the 126-pound class probably will be set. The old mark is $71,869 for Pep-Chalky Wright in 1941. The night Willie first won the crown.

At 26, Pep is fighting for his fistic life as a beaten champ. His brilliant record will be obscured by another loss to Sandy, a spindlegged Negro with the left hand punching power of a waterweight. If Pep loses they'll label him "all washed up."

Eight Teams In Conference To Participate; Kingston Top Seeded Quintet; Consolation Game Included

By BERT MOYE

The Independent Northeastern Athletic Conference will stage their second basketball tournament at the Wright gymnasium at East Carolina Teachers College here with all eight teams in the conference participating. The tournament, a three-day affair, will open on Thursday night, February 24, and will end with the finals on Saturday night, February 26.

With the first four-seeded teams of about equal calibre, the tournament is just about anybody's guess. The Kingston Red Devils, winner of last year's tourney held here, is given top seeding on the basis of its present season's record of nine wins and no losses. The Washington Pam Pack with a string of eight wins and two losses is ranked next, followed by Edenton and Greenville.

Four games are on tap opening night's contests starting at six o'clock when Kingston plays Tarboro. At 7:15 Edenton plays New Bern; at 8:30 Washington plays Roanoke Rapids; and the final game of the opening round will see Greenville playing Elizabeth City.

On Friday night will be held the semi-finals which will start at 7:30 with the winner of the Kingston-Tarboro game playing the winner of the Edenton-New Bern game; and at 8:30 will see the winner of the Washington - Roanoke Rapids game playing the winner of the Greenville-Elizabeth City tilt.

The finals which will be played on Saturday night, will be preceded by a consolation game to be played by the losers in the semi-finals play.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners-up, with gold basketballs being given to the players who win the conference championship. Silver basketballs will be given to members of the team in the runner-up spot.

Joe DiMaggio has hit 335 in games in which he has appeared at Fenway Park, while Ted Williams has a 307 mark for contests in Yankee Stadium.

Kovalchick Looks Forward To Resuming His Baseball Career

By PAUL McNICKE

Hotel operator, Army veteran, professional baseball player, and college student is the interesting background of John A. Kovalchick Jr., who was the leading pitcher of the Greenville Greenies last year. For the time being John has forsaken the diamond for the library and the class room and is enrolled as a freshman at ECTC. When spring rolls around again, however, he'll again be using his hand and arm muscles for pitching, not taking notes.

John seems to like talking about his present career, baseball.

"After I was discharged from the army in 1947, I went to a baseball school in Barlow, Fla. Graduating from there, I signed a contract with Greenville of the Coastal Plains League, which brought me here."

John has the proper temperament and disposition required of an athlete. He is slightly nervous, but this is a physical, and not a mental condition.

"Last year," he continued, "I was Greenville's leading pitcher, winning 11 games and losing 8. I was also used as a pinch hitter. I like to hit as much as I like to pitch."

John likes school too. He firmly believes that a college education is an absolute necessity.

"I won't be playing baseball forever," he stated, "and a college degree will help me when I'm ready to hang up my spikes. I would like to finish at ECTC, where I am majoring in business, but if I am sold to another team, I will have to finish college elsewhere."

The young pitcher is a sturdy-looking fellow. His weight varies from about 155 to 160 pounds. A blond, he has a round face and a pleasant, if slightly rugged, expression which reveals both his good nature and his determination to succeed, whether he's on the pitcher's mound or in the classroom.

"I have very little trouble holding my weight down," he added. "My health is pretty good, too. I had a sore arm last year, but went to Florida for treatment, and hope it is all cleared up now."

John is one of the few men in baseball who wear their glasses on the playing field.

"I used to play without them," he

BEGINNING OUR THIRD YEAR in Greenville

Some highly respected citizens have stated that the Dick Williams house was not the house President Washington dined at when he was in Greenville, therefore this fact has never been established fully. However, we will give you a synopsis of other events pertaining to the history of Greenville.

The census of 1800 shows Pitt County had a population of 9,084, which was an increase of 809 or about 10% in 10 years. At that time there were few vehicles of any kind. The roads were bad and often impassible and horses were the means of transportation.

Just to think of our quick service today. . . . A new shipment of Manhattan Shirts arrives in our store in a few hours from New York; and speaking of SHIRTS . . . nearly every adult male Pitt Countian knows the country's best Dress Shirt "Manhattan" sold by Hill's.

We shall continue Monday. Watch for it.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 30
Doctor Newton took his own good time about answering "That's a tough one," he said finally. "It has just about as many answers as there are people to give them. Like you, each man thinks his case is different. In some cases, however, what a person wants involves someone else, and he knows very well he can't have it."

"So he just folds up and quits trying," Minniebelle put in. "Or maybe he doesn't bother to try at all."

"How does he know he can't have it till he does try?" David now assumed a blustering air. "Thinks he can read the other person's mind, eh? Folks are pretty smart nowadays, but not that smart, Doc."

"This is a silly conversation," Betty thought. "All theory and no sense."

But it began to make sense — ghastly sense — when David said in that same blustering manner: "Take you and Betty for instance, Doc. You're in love with each other. You do nothing about it because you think it's no use. Think you're mighty smart. Think you know what goes on in each other's mind. Heck — you're a couple of young fools."

Doc Newton's fingers fumbled, his hand slipped and he pulled the bandage too tight.

"Ouch!" David shouted, drawing his leg away. "You don't have to murder me, do you Doc?"

"Sorry — terribly sorry, Mr. Warren," Newton endeavored to readjust the bandage, but his hand slipped again. So he gave up for the time being and stood by David's chair, his eyes fixed on Betty's in mute appeal. It was almost as if he were saying:

"I didn't put them up to this. Please believe me — I didn't."

"I didn't either," Betty's eyes flashed back.

"How do you know you can't have Betty, Doc?" David was asking. "I know you're in love with her. How do you know she doesn't love you? Have you asked her?"

"No — no, I haven't."

"Don't you want to? Don't you love her? Or did I make a mistake? If I did, then I beg to be excused for sticking my neck out."

Newton's answer was evasive. "Betty's in love with somebody else," he said. "She's engaged. She told me so."

"Fiddlerslicks! I guess I just made a mistake. Should have minded my own business."

Minniebelle came over and laid a hand on her husband's shoulder. "Now don't get excited, dear. It's bad for your leg. It's all my fault anyhow."

She glanced first at Betty, then at the doctor. "Don't blame David," she said in an apologetic tone. "I thought you were in love. In fact I was sure of it — at least I thought I was sure. I told David. I told him it was just a series of misunderstandings that was keeping you apart. I thought if we gave you a start in the right direction, you'd go on from there. I — I didn't mean for him to be so — so abrupt."

It was clear that Minniebelle was on the verge of tears over her husband's clumsiness in handling such a delicate situation. But she did not add the proverbial wifely: "I might have known he would do this to me."

"I don't care," David snapped. "Don't care if I was abrupt. If they're not in love they ought to be. I never saw a couple that suited each other any better. Stubborn as all get-out — the two of them."

"We are in love," said George Newton, taking a step toward Betty. "At least I am."

"Yes, we are in love," she repeated, parroting, meeting him halfway. "At least I am."

"Then why don't you do something about it?"

That was Aunt Minniebelle's voice. Betty thought. Or was it Uncle Dave's? And were they laughing? She couldn't be sure. George Newton's arm had gone around her so quickly, so closely, that the words — and the laughter, if any — were only a confused blur of sound.

"I intend to take care of that department right now," George said in answer to the disembodied question.

"Oh, no!" wailed Betty. "Not here — right in front of Aunt Minniebelle and Uncle Dave!"

He kissed her before he answered. "Why not here, darling?" he said, nuzzling her close. "Look what they've done for us. Don't you think they're entitled to box seats?"

Cold Weather In Wake Windstorm Here Yesterday

An unexpected wind and rainstorm in this area yesterday about 4:30 p.m. resulted in a considerable drop in the temperature. The U.S. Weather Bureau thermometer here dropped during the night to 31 degrees, one below freezing, and it stood at 32 degrees at 8 a.m. today. The cold spell, following summer-time weather, had the populace shivering today. The coldest weather here this winter was in late December, when the mercury dropped to 18 degrees above zero, Mrs. C. E. Maiden, weather observer, said. At this time last year traffic was tied up by a 10 1/2-inch snow that fell on February 10.

The Southerners met at the call of Senator Russell (D-Ga.) to "formulate a policy and program" but took no action.

Russell said they will meet again Monday and will consider then a proposal by Senator Chapman (D-Ky.)

Good Ideas . . .

So does the minister of state, Sardar Patel. And Gandhi's disciples are continuing to spread the teachings of the apostle of non-violence and brotherly love throughout the vast sub-continent for whose independence he was so largely responsible.

You see Gandhi's guiding hand in numerous acts of government, both national and provincial. There is striking evidence of this in the prohibition of alcohol as a beverage in many provinces.

One of the most notable developments came the other day when a meeting of exponents of peace, held at Gandhi's ashram (hermitage) or "sanctuary" at Wardha, decided to hold a world convention at Santiniketan, West Bengal, next December. This is pursuant to an idea advanced by Gandhi himself. He suggested that India should act as host and invite delegates from all parts of the world to discuss ways and means of ensuring international peace on a common spiritual foundation.

Good Ideas just can't be killed.

Humpty-Dumpty . . .

Mr. Hoover in wanting the government remodeled a bit to take it out of the Humpty-Dumpty, clumsy class.

Congress wanted the same thing. That's why it created the commission 16 months ago to investigate the executive branch of the government thoroughly and make recommendations for improving it.

These reports are the recommendations after 16 months of work. The 12-man commission called in about 300 experts in various fields to dig into the executive branch to help them find what was wrong.

This is the biggest going-over the executive branch ever had. It is
