Stadium Project Goal Is Achieved

Rawl Announces $25,730 Now In Bank With Over $700 In Collectable Pledges; Approximately 1,500 People Contributed

The drive for $25,000 to build the first section of a football stadium at East Carolina Teachers College has gone over its goal by $730, Committee Chairman Ed E. Rawl announced today.

The stadium fund committee which set about in November to raise money to build the stadium for the college now has in the bank $25,730, Rawl stated, and in addition there are collectable pledges totaling $750 which are yet to be deposited in the bank. Rawl said when these pledges are deposited the total stadium fund will amount to $26,480.

Approximately 1,500 people contributed to the stadium fund during the drive, Rawl said. The records of the committee show that 227 business firms made contributions to the fund, and the remaining amount for the project came from individuals who contributed the price of one or more seats in the stadium.

Rawl said this morning, "I wish to express my deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to the members of the stadium committee for their fine work and support during this drive, to radio station WGTC, and the Daily Reflector for the great help they gave in raising this money, and to all the people who contributed so generously of their time, effort and money to make this drive a success. The East Carolina Teachers College and to all of Pitt County and Eastern North Carolina as well."

The order for lighting facilities for the stadium was placed last week, and the order for the seats is now in the process of being placed, officials said.

"There are still many things needed for the stadium and this program at the college," Rawl said, "and we hope that people will continue to send in contributions for the ECTC Educational Foundation even though this particular stadium drive is over."

Registration Of Autos Hits High

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 14—(AP)—A total of 60,730 new cars and 28,610 new trucks were registered in North Carolina during 1948, the Motor Vehicle Department reported today.

The total compared with 57,654 new cars and 23,337 new trucks registered in 1947.

The department reported that 5,518 new cars and 2,184 trucks were registered during December compared with 6,793 cars and 2,781 trucks in December 1947.

Refuse Review In General's Case

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review the conviction of Bennett E. Meyers, retired Air Force major general, on a charge that he persuaded another man to lie under oath.

Meyers has been in jail here since March 15, 1948, serving a sentence of 18 months to five years. A district court jury convicted him of inducing Blierot H. Lamare to testify falsely before a Senate war investigating subcommittee.

Knowing About Russia

It's To Our Advantage To Know The Language And What Is Going On Inside The Soviet Sphere; Getting The Real Facts; 'Ostrich' Tendency Is Disappearing

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The Russian writer David Zaslavsky says in the Moscow Literary Gazette that it is impossible to be genuinely educated without knowledge of the Russian language.

Zaslavsky claims that the "countries of free democracy" (meaning Moscow's satellites) are learning the tongue, and that even Soviet enemies are studying it. He adds that "The Voice of America" (the U.S. official broadcast) lies in Russian.

Well, I'm afraid we can't take it for granted that there is a widespread thirst for Russian in America merely because "The Voice of America" employs it in some broadcasts. However, it certainly is to be hoped Russian isn't being neglected in this country.

After all, we should be more than stupid if we didn't acquaint ourselves so far as possible with the nation which has declared that our form of government and our way of life and our religion must be destroyed.

Should a hot war grow out of the present cold war (which Heaven forbid), we should look mighty sick if we didn't have plenty of citizens

Drawn-Out Fight Indicated Over Labor Bill Terms

Taft-Hartley Act Is Likely To Be In Force When Union Contracts Expire

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The labor law struggle in Congress enters a new phase today. There are signs that the struggle will last until May and possibly June.

This means the Taft-Hartley Act will likely stay on the books in its present form—with its closed shop ban, 80-day emergency strike injunctions, and all the rest—beyond the annual spring-time expiration date of hundreds of labor-management contracts. Among these are steel industry contracts.

Today's new phase is the second instalment of hearings before the Senate Labor Committee. The original plan was to end them last Thursday.

From now until Feb. 23, the committee will hear more than 30 industry and labor witnesses, who will defend and attack Taft-Hartley provisions.

These will be "stop-watch" hearings—an unusual procedure. By agreement, the Democrat and Republican sides will divide the questioning time equally. Up to now, the five Republican members have questioned the witnesses much more extensively than the eight Democrats.

The Democrats want speed in getting the Thomas bill to the floor of the Senate for debate. Introduced by Committee Chairman Elbert Thomas (D Utah), it was prepared by the Truman Administration and okayed by the President.

It calls for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and re-enactment of the Wagner Act of 1935 with several additions which Mr. Truman proposed.

Senate debate probably will begin some time in March and last quite a while, maybe three or four weeks. The House may have its own debate in the meantime, or wait until the Senate comes up with a bill. Democratic strategy seems to be uncertain on this.

But in any case, a Senate-House conference committee will likely write the final version of the bill, and that may take a few more weeks.

A good bet is that this final version will be somewhere between the Thomas bill and the Taft-Hartley law, with both sides compromising.

Labor leaders are still expressing confidence that the Taft-Hartley law will be repealed. But privately some of them are worried and glum over the delays.

Significantly, the AFL said in its monthly magazine, issued today, that if the outcome is to be "in accord with the emphatic mandate of the people, as expressed at the polls last November, organized labor and all other friends of liberty and justice will have to stay on the alert."

Rumor Frightens Australia Over U.S. Departure

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 14—(AP)—Australia has just had a scare. A published suggestion that the United States might pull out of Japan caused it.

A U.S. Army spokesman in Washington denied the report, said it had no foundation at all. Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall said in Honolulu he knew of no plan to reduce American strength in Japan.

But Australians apparently never had thought of the possibility that the United States might pull out of Japan and the mere hint of it was enough to give them goose flesh. They haven't quite recovered yet.

Almost every newspaper in Australia had an editorial today on Australia's defense position. Not one had a word of cheer for the readers.

Remembered Vow Beyond Death

Carthage, N. C., Feb. 14—(AP)—The will of Joseph Townsend of nearby Pine Bluff, followed the marriage vows.

In making his will 14 years ago, Townsend wrote:

"When I married my wife, Mable Alken Townsend, I vowed at the altar x x x with all my worldly goods I thus endow."

"And such is my will and testament x x x"

Angry Mobs Burn, Kill, Over 'Invasion' Program

Quito, Ecuador, Feb. 14—(AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and at least 15 injured by enraged mobs retaliating against an every-realistic broadcast of a fictional "invasion from Mars" Saturday.

This city of 175,000 was in complete turmoil as a result of the panic caused by the broadcast and the army was called out to quell the raging mobs. Troops used tanks and tear gas on the angry citizens.

The building housing Ecuador's principal newspaper was completely wrecked, along with its equipment and the radio station in it which made the broadcast. Damage was put at $350,000.

The government appointed the minister of defense, art and drama editors and arrested 10 other persons.

The Saturday night broadcast was based on H. G. Wells' fantastic novel, "The War of Worlds."

Radio Quito interrupted a musical program to announce "an urgent piece of news."

Then followed bulletins of the enemy approaching the city in the shape of a cloud, slaying residents and wiping out towns. Actors impersonating a government minister and the mayor begged the populace to be calm and for the men to fight.

The announcer said that from a high point he could see a monster engulfed in fire and some approaching the city.

That was the climax. Hysterical crowds poured out into the streets. Program directors, discovering the panic they had caused, then revealed it was all in fun—it was only a story.

But when the mobs, many in their night clothes, found they'd been fooled they took bloody vengeance.

Vets' Pensions Still Come High

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The U. S. is still paying pensions for wars of a century ago.

Veterans, their dependents or dependent parents from World War I back to the Mexican war received a total of $6,494,232.236 in various benefits during the fiscal year ending last June 30, the veterans administration said today.

This amount is roughly one billion less than the all-time high of the previous fiscal year.

Dire Prophet

Newark, N. J., Feb. 14—(AP)—The man who ought to know—the pawnbroker—says things are going to get worse before they get better.

Things are so bad, pawn merchant Benjamin T. Greenfield said yesterday, one man even tried to get money on his pet poodle.

"Well dressed people are pawning valuables," Greenfield said. "They're unemployed now, and high prices have sapped the last of their savings."

Anticipating that things will get worse before they get better, pawn shops are offering 25 to 50 per cent less now than a month ago, Greenfield said.

"We've got to look ahead five months or a year, and the outlook isn't so bright."

EYES ON TREND

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Tobin said today the unemployment situation should be "closely watched" so measures can be taken to head off a recession should one begin to threaten.

Suspensions Grow Over Soviet Aim

Idea Revived That Moscow Moving Toward Absorption Of Bloc States Into An Expanded Soviet Union In Future

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Eastern European assaults on churchmen have stirred American suspicions that Moscow may be getting ready to discard the "Peoples Democracy" system in Soviet satellites.

They also have revived the idea that Russia is moving toward absorbing the Soviet bloc states into an expanded Soviet Union.

Top authorities on relations with the communist world said today the trend appears to be in these directions, although it is too early to be sure either will come about. Officials are virtually unanimous, however, on one point: Under pressure from Moscow the process of Sovietizing the satellites into the Soviet mold has now been speeded up.

Authorities read this meaning into Hungary's trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and defiance of American displeasure, the indictment of fifteen churchmen in Bulgaria, and the current purges in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

A by-product of the Mindszenty trial was the case of Selden Chapin U.S. minister to Hungary. Hungary charged that Chapin was involved with the cardinals in his alleged offenses, and asked the diplomat's removal. The U.S., disputing this, called Chapin home "for consultation." The U.S. expelled a Hungarian legation aide in retaliation for the forcing out of two U.S. representatives from Budapest.

The Mindszenty case, the Bulgarian, Polish and Czechoslovakian developments all are taken here to support the conclusion that the Soviet bloc is determined to crush the last remaining opposition quickly so as to present a solid front against the western world.

The satellite "Peoples Democracies" permit a continued existence of some opposition political parties, while the communists have a free rein in putting their totalitarian system into effect. The course of recent developments has been in the direction of one-party states like Russia.

What has taken place in Bulgaria in the last two months is expected by officials to set the pattern for the other communist-run countries. In Bulgaria the communists and socialists combined forces to form an overwhelming dominant workers party which is communist in all but the label.

Poland likewise is in the process of combining socialists with the communists. The one step remaining is to outlaw all parties but the communist.

Indicates Sweden Would Join Pact

Source Says Nation Fearful Of Offending Soviet Russia

Stockholm, Feb. 14—(AP)—A Swedish source in direct touch with Scandinavian defense planning made clear today that Sweden fears an eventual East-West war and wants to participate in the North Atlantic Pact without risking offense to Russia by signing it.

In the course of a conference with 14 touring American newsmen, this source gave the following picture:

The Swedes would like to standardize arms with the United States. They want raw materials from the United States to increase arms output and thus supply Norway and Denmark with a large part of their military needs.

They want to consult with Western military experts on cooperation in defense.

They expect Western nations to come to their aid quickly if Scandinavia should become a battleground.

If an attack should be aimed directly at Scandinavia, Sweden expects to be able to resist for several weeks or months. If war should begin in some other quarter of the world, she does not contemplate immediate entrance into the conflict.

Swedish thought has been revolutionized however by sudden abandonment of the country's 135-year tradition of neutrality. Sweden has virtually no hope of remaining neutral in any third world war.

Lincoln, Union Counties Vote Out Beer-Wine

By The Associated Press

Voters have dried up two more North Carolina counties.

Lincoln and Union outlawed legal sale of beer and wine in referendums Saturday. Under law, dealers within the counties will be legally bone dry because they had prohibited whiskey sales.

The unofficial tally showed Lincoln went dry by better than a 12-1 majority and Union by more than 4-1. In round numbers, the totals were: Lincoln, against 5,500, for 425; Union, against 5,000, for 1,100.

500-Mile Range For Rockets To Be Built In '49

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The United States will build guided missiles this year with ranges up to 500 miles. Scientists and military authorities confidently expect to push that range on up to 5,000 miles.

General Muir S. Fairchild, air force vice chief of staff, told the House Arms Service committee today that:

"Our program has proceeded to a point where a flight test range of far greater length than any now in existence is an absolute necessity. Missiles with ranges up to 500 miles will be ready for testing during 1949, without a range of sufficient length on which to fly them."

Order Argument Over Tidelands

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The Supreme Court today ordered argument on whether it should let the Justice Department file suits seeking to establish federal control over submerged oil lands off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana.

Attorney General Clark has asked the high court for permission to bring the suits against the two states as original actions—that is without first holding trials in lower courts.

List Stock Loss In Blizzard Area

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The agricultural department reported today that blizzards have killed 81,000 cattle and calves and 97,000 sheep and lambs in four western states.

These losses were in South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado. The figures are up to February 1.

The losses represent about two per cent of the number of cattle in those states on January 1, and a little over five per cent of the number of sheep.

Asks Estimate On Re-Arming Allies

Anti-Filibuster Group May Gain Votes In Senate

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) called on the Administration today for an estimate on the cost of helping friendly European nations re-arm.

Vandenberg told reporters he thinks the Senate will want to know before it passes on the $5,500,000 European recovery authorization how much the proposed arms aid outlay may be.

The authorization bill now is before Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees.

Unofficial estimates have ranged from $1,000,000 to 2,000,000,000 for the military assistance plan. But Vandenberg said he had seen nothing official.

"I believe we should have some approximate estimate of the cost of this proposed military assistance before we take the economic bill to the floor," he said.

The military assistance proposal is expected to follow submission to the Senate of the proposed North Atlantic Security Alliance.

Vandenberg and chairman Connally of the Senate Foreign Relations committee may look over revised drafts of the projected treaty this week.

Vandenberg's call for estimates of military cost apparently was based on the knowledge that some of his colleagues are planning to fight both the proposed treaty and military aid.

There were reports that fears of this opposition had something to do with President Truman's recall of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to temporary active duty as his chief military adviser.

Some lawmakers said they expect Eisenhower to give active support in appearances on Capitol Hill to the treaty and to tell of the need of helping western Europe re-arm.

Republicans gave notice over the week-end that the ban is down for criticism of such foreign policy ventures.

At Charleston, W. Va., Senator Malone (R-W.Va.) who voted against the Marshall plan authorization last year, said there just isn't any bipartisan foreign policy.

Earlier in the week, Vandenberg had declared the bipartisan policy must be kept alive to unite this country against "Communist conquest."

Malone proposed the Marshall plan and the lumped International trade organization into what he called "a dangerous program designed to divide the wealth and earning power of this country with the low wage living standard Asiatic and European countries."

Senator Schoepel (R-Kas) protested in a New York speech that this country has been plunged into the cold war with Russia "because we were bound by private agreements, undisclosed to the American people, at Tehran, at Yalta and at Potsdam."

Blizzards Bring More Misery To Western States

Six North Dakota Counties Added To Disaster Area; More Snowfighters

By The Associated Press

The misery-dealing great plains blizzards had opened up a broad new front in North Dakota today with the worst 24 hours of weather the west has had in two weeks.

Six North Dakota counties were added to the disaster area as a result of weekend storms which stalled relief and rescue operations in some parts of Nebraska and reduced them by 50 percent in others.

A minor tornado damaged a few buildings at Edna, in southeastern Kansas, and at Alvarado, Tex., strong winds lifted some residences from foundations and scattered them over a wide area. There were no fatalities at either place, but damage at Alvarado was estimated at $50,000.

In southern California, temperatures sank deep into sub-freezing levels again, necessitating more orchard heating. Minimum readings of 24 degrees were expected today in some sections of the citrus fruit region.

The 500 passengers of three trains stalled for several days at Rawlins and Hanna, Wyo., were rescued and taken to Cheyenne in buses.

The new North Dakota emergency area embraces six southwestern counties. Additional snow fighting equipment was moved into the 7,500 square miles area today from other sections where the need for it was less acute. The Red Cross has begun a survey of urgent need with the use of six ski planes. Farmers and ranchers were reported in need of food and fuel.

Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick sent a staff of officers to open headquarters for the rescue work at Fort Lincoln in Bismarck and ordered 24-hour duty at the post.

Two crews have been dispatched on 50-mile snow-removal drives, one toward Mott in Hettinger County, the other from Belldell to Bowman. Prospects were that weather conditions would not be favorable for the work.

General Pick said that the storm in some parts of Nebraska was the worst in the relentless series since Feb. 2.

Fredy Dona Caciuchi, a sophomore, is engaged to be married next September to Frederick Valentine of Rosendale.

Pope Talks To Special Meeting Of Cardinals

Vatican City, Feb. 14—(AP)—Pope Pius XII declared today that when a civil government contradicts divine and human rights "bishops and the faithful themselves are bound by their conscience to resist unjust laws."

Addressing a secret and extraordinary consistory of the college of cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church on the case of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the pontiff asked prayers to the end that:

"x x x those who rashly trample upon the liberty of the church and the rights of human conscience may at length understand that no civil society can endure when religion has been suppressed and God, as it were, driven into exile."

The pope said "Our soul is crushed with most bitter grief" by the trial and condemnation of the Hungarian primate.

It was a speech phrased in sorrow rather than anger.

"Let us all pray to God fervently," the pope said, "that those who suffer persecution, imprisonment and hardship, may be consoled with the necessary help of divine grace" x x x that those who rashly tram-

Moscow Told Of 'Unemployment'

Moscow, Feb. 14—(AP)—Moscow newspapers continued today their consistent reporting of the growth of unemployment in the United States. Such items have been running for two weeks now and from here the impression is that things are getting bad in the United States.

Today's items concerned the Nickel Plate Railroad which was reported to have laid off over 1,000 workers because of "a decrease in business" and a New York dispatch saying 100,000 railway workers are out of jobs at present.

Heart Disease Today

Ailment Kills More People Than Any Other Disease; Causes Unknown; Story Behind The Drive To Raise $5 Millions; American Heart Association And Its Work

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The trouble with heart disease is that doctors don't know what causes it. Yet, it kills more people than any other ailment. Last year it killed 625,000 people. It will kill as many this year.

In an effort to help find the cause, the American Heart Association today begins a one-week campaign to raise $5,000,000 for 1949.

There are three main kinds of heart disease: The kind that comes from rheumatic fever; high blood pressure; and hardening of the arteries.

"Right now about 7,000,000 people are walking around with some form of heart disease."

Some know it. Some won't know it till they're taken to a hospital and checked over, or until they have an attack.

This will tell a little of the story behind the drive to raise the $5,000,000.

The American Heart Association was founded in 1924 by a group of doctors. It was entirely a professional organization which distributed scientific information on the heart among doctors.

And it was supported by doctors. But last year the Association decided to widen its work by getting help from the public and doing more work in the heart field.

So last year it made its first campaign for public help and raised about $2,500,000. This year it wants double that sum.

The American Heart Association (the parent body, has 40 local branches; in big cities, or state-wide, or even regionally, as in the case of the New England Heart Association.

All 40, and the parent body, are taking part in the campaign to raise funds. How will the money be spent? This way:

1. To support research. That is, giving money to centers, or in helping support doctors, doing research in the cause and treatment of heart disease.
2. In educating the public and doctors about heart disease by getting information to them.
3. In helping get better treatment for heart cases all over the country, as in hospital equipment and room and other aids.

At the home of her parents in South Greenville, from 9 to 12 Friday evening, Miss Susie Warren entertained a number of friends at a birthday party. The guests were met at the door by the hostess and given a cordial welcome, and during the evening an elegant salad course was served. The contest of the evening was answering questions with one word ending with the letters i-c-e. The winner of the prize, a box of stationery, was Tom Dupree.

Attention P. T. A. Members and Other Interested Persons
Miss Genevieve Burton, field secretary for the N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers will give a course in Education for Responsible Parenthood at the Pactolus school on April 19 from 2 until 9 with intermission. Miss Burton is well qualified in this field having had nursing education and a course in Education for Responsible Parenthood at the University of North Carolina and is a forceful speaker.

Special permission has been obtained from the state office for P. T. A.'s sure of having representation at this lecture course to report it for this year's study course. This is due to the fact that the Pactolus school will not be completed in time to hold the meeting before reports go in March 15.

Let us take advantage of this opportunity to learn how to create the right attitudes toward sex among our children.

Those planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. J. Paul Davenport, Pactolus, N. C., who is parent education chairman.

Supper will be served to all visitors at a very nominal price and an opportunity will be given to go over our modern new building.

Women In The Church

Miss Akilla Zaid, an Algerian Christian, who recently was awarded the degree of master of religious education by Scarritt College, is completing training in agriculture and home economics at Cornell University. She will return soon to Algeria, North Africa, to teach in El Maten Girls School of the Methodist Church.

Martin Luther's idea that he should feed good soup to an undernourished friend while he was also praying for his return to good health, is demonstrated dramatically by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the South Ashland (Kentucky) Methodist Church, which in 1948 organized a "Pray and Work for Peace" group. At each meeting they prayed for world peace, then set to work and made some 75 quilts to send to Europe through the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief as a demonstration of their willingness to serve less fortunate brothers and sisters. "This is a way to promote goodwill and brotherhood," says Mrs. J. C. Hager, the Society's leader.

There is a new emphasis in Christian education that promises to be revolutionary, believes Dr. John B. Ketcham, of the International Council of Religious Education, Chicago, Ill. This emphasis holds that educational programs must frankly face the fact that the family is the greatest educational influence in the religious shaping of life. "Nowhere else may religion be taught so easily and with such abiding results as in the home," says Dr. Ketcham. "Parents teach religion by what they say and do and are. The home is still the most influential teacher but its teaching is too seldom definitely and effectively Christian. In all too many cases today the home has virtually abdicated as a purposeful Christian teacher. Most of the responsibility has been shifted to the church. But the Sunday school was never intended to supersede the home as a teacher of religion. The best church school cannot take over the whole job of Christian teaching. It can supplement the home; but Christian nurture is a shared task of home and church. Christian parents must become the chief teachers of religion. It means that we will have to take a new look at our education program to see whether education for family life can assume an equal place with education for church and church school leadership."

Mourners Clash Near Cemetery

Manila, Feb. 14—(AP)—Two funeral processions approached the same cemetery at the same time today. Pallbearers laid aside their burdens and pitched into a wild fist fight over the right of way. After two were injured, the cemetery watchman broke up the melee by firing into the air. The pallbearers scattered. When mourners rounded them up the corteges moved on.

Courthouse Work To Be Completed In About 10 Days

Repairs and alterations on the Pitt county courthouse, one of the most imposing buildings in the state, will be completed in about 10 days, a county official said today. The improvements were ordered by a grand jury. Cost of the work is approximately $115,000, considerably more than the building cost a quarter of a century ago. The courtroom ceiling was lowered to improve acoustics. Offices were remodelled, the interior was re-

Painted, windows and doors were weather-stripped and a stove was installed in the boiler to economize on fuel. Seventy-two tons of clay tile was removed from the roof and replaced with copper sheeting. A feature of the alterations was installation of rest rooms for women jurors. The first term of criminal court to be held in the building will be March 28, when Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford will preside.

In the Middle Ages almost every town had its own standards of weights and measures—and there were variations between those of one trade or guild and another.

West Virginia's Students Win Greenville Speech Tournament

Greenville, Feb. 14—A team from Princeton, W. Va., High School was winner of two first places in the Greenville Lions' Club speech tournament at the high school here Saturday. Kinston High School won second place. A team of nine National Forensic League members from Lee Edwards' High School, Asheville, was a close third, with two seconds and a third place.

Lula Mayo and Betty Sue Harris of Greenville scored in the novice contest and dramatic declamations to place Greenville in fourth place followed by Youngsville, Ayden, Farmville, Winterville and Richlands followed R. B. Stirling of the high school faculty and contest chairman of the Lions' Club, was assisted in the judging by two student teachers, Noah Toler and Jack Kimbrell.

Sixty-five boys and girls, representing 13 schools, Asheville, Aurora, Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Greenville, Kinston, Princeton, W. Va., Richlands, West Edwards, Winterville and Youngsville participated in the three divisions beginners, experienced and declamation.

Winners are listed in order of their standings:

Beginners' division—Joan McGuffin, Kinston; Jack Johnston, Asheville; Elliott Dixon, Ayden; Lula Mayo, Greenville; Betsy Costello Winterville and Gordon Taylor, Richlands, tied; Elizabeth Proctor, West Edgecombe; Felix Labaki, Wilson and Marie Williams, Youngsville, tied; and Linwood Cayton, Aurora.

Experienced division—John McClaugherty, Princeton, W. Va.; Tom Sanders, Asheville; Wiley Mitchell, Youngsville; Jeanne Kinn, Kinston; Hazel Garis, Farmville; Betsy Coady, Richlands; Margaret Manning, Bethel; Clara Lou Dall, Ayden; Augusta Overton, Greenville; Anita Moore, Wilson; Claudia Proctor, West Edgecombe; Mae Hollowell, Aurora.

Declamation division—Bobby Holroyd, Princeton, W. Va.; Katherine Armistead, Kinston; Bettie Sue Harris, Greenville; Marian Gibbs, Asheville; C. R. Beale, Youngsville; Sue Jackson, Ayden; Volney Bryan Richlands; Malpas Bradbury, Wilson; Joyce Wetherington, Aurora; Rebecca McLawhorn, Winterville.

Summarizing the contests, Princeton, W. Va., entered a four-student team in the Greenville Lions' Club's "speech tournament" and emerged as winners of first places in two of the three divisions of the contest. Princeton's John McClaugherty, champion orator of Tennessee and West Virginia, won top honor and a cash prize in original oratory for experienced speakers. In the declamation contest McClaugherty's teammate, Bobby Holroyd, won first place. By winning two first positions, Princeton became the second "double first place" winner in the history of Lions' International's "speech tournament."

R. B. Stirling said, Youngsville scored first places in two divisions last year.

Kinston took second place school honors by placing first in the novice division of original oratory, fourth in the experienced division and second in declamations. Jean McGuffin's tribute to Abraham Lincoln on his birthday won Kinston's first place rank.

The nine National Forensic League members from Lee Edwards' High School, Asheville, was a close third, with two seconds and a third place.

Lula Mayo and Betty Sue Harris of Greenville scored in the novice contest and dramatic declamations to place Greenville in fourth place followed by Youngsville, Ayden, Farmville, Winterville and Richlands.

In a pre-tournament practice Friday night, 36 high school boys and girls made in three rounds, 106 speeches. During Saturday's contests 176 speaking turns ran the total oratorical and declamatory appearances to 282 for the two-day tournament. Debaters from Asheville, Princeton, W. Va., and Greenville used the in-between time to practice the national topic, "Resolved, That the United Nations now be revised into a World Federal Government." Princeton won the debate. Asheville and Greenville each won one. Dr. James L. Opeit's classes served as chairman and judges for the elimination rounds Saturday morning. Members of East Carolina Teachers College and high school faculties and members of the Lions' Club served as judges in the elimination contests Friday night.

Mrs. Woodward Died Here Early Sunday

Mrs. Rosalind Woodward, 71, wife of George J. Woodward, died at 4:15 o'clock Sunday morning. She had suffered a heart attack Friday night and had been critically ill since that time.

Funeral services were conducted at the Memorial Baptist Church at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the pastor, Rev. R. E. Hardaway. Burial was in Cherry Hill Cemetery. The body was taken the church one hour prior to the time of service.

Mrs. Woodward, daughter of the late Charles D. and Annie Johnson Rountree, spent nearly all of her life in Greenville. She attended the Woman's College of Virginia, now known as West Hampton, in Richmond, Va. She had been an active member of the Memorial Baptist Church for many years.

Surviving are her husband; a son, Charles K. Woodward of Asheville; three grandchildren; and a half-sister, Mrs. R. J. Cobb of Greenville.

Bobby Brady Guest On Yacht Cruising Florida Waters

Bobby Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brady, owner of the Double "N" restaurant on the Bethel highway, who was stricken with polio last summer and remained in an "iron lung" for some time at a Raleigh hospital, today is out on the Atlantic Ocean, off Daytona Beach, Florida, fishing for sailfish with a party of North Carolinians. Young Brady, popular ECTC student, is a guest of Greenville Kiwanian J. D. Hice. The party is on a cabin cruiser owned by "Kim" Saunders of Washington. The boat left Morehead about a week ago to make the journey by way of the Inland Waterway. In addition to Pilot Saunders, Hice, Brady, J. Alvin Bunting, and a New Englander whose name could not be learned is aboard and on his way to a southern Florida port to pick up his yacht.

Mormon Quartet To Give Concerts Here

The Centennial Quartet, composed of Hugh Erwin, Serge Huff, director, Bernard Tanner, Robert Owens and Kenneth Noble, of the Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints (Mormon), will present a series of concerts in this section this week. The quartet will sing at the Maury High School Wednesday, February 16, at 1 p.m. and at the Red Men's Hall in Greenville that night at 7:30. On Thursday they will sing at Bell Arthur High School at 9 a.m.; at Belvoir High School at 1 p.m., and at Willow Green Baptist Church that night at 7 o'clock. The Centennial Quartet is making a tour of Virginia and North Carolina.

Summer Weather Is Continuing Here; 75 Degrees Sunday

Summer weather continues to prevail in the Greenville area. The temperature here Sunday was 75 degrees and the lowest recorded at the local Weather Bureau during last night was 49 degrees. At this time last year, following the big snow of February 10, extremely cold weather prevailed. Weather Bureau records show.

Alleged Shoplifter Arrested; Wanted In Several Cities

Rocky Mount police Saturday arrested Mervin Paul Ehrenfeld, 38, address unknown, on several charges of working a film-flam game in Wilson, Greenville and other Eastern Carolina cities. Ehrenfeld is charged with working a unique shoplifting trick at a Greenville drug store. Authorities say the method is to enter a store with packages, look over merchandise, then ask a clerk for something else, and that while the clerk is gone, to shoplift an article and when the clerk returns say it was bought several days ago and he wants to return it and get his money back. The trick worked here in Wilson and Rocky Mount, police said.

Strength FOR THE DAY

PATTERNS OF BEHAVIOR

Is it ever too late to mend? Psychologists have been telling us that real transformations of character cannot be expected after middle life. To be sure, moral character is almost invariably created or the possibility of it destroyed by the time the person reaches twenty-five. But the experience of ministers and other religious leaders has been that sometimes people seventy years old or more experience basic transformations of outlook and behavior pattern.

We recall that Tolstol underwent a profound Christian conversion when he was about fifty. Recently a group of ministers were exchanging experiences and two of these men spoke of profound conversions which had occurred in their churches, the persons experiencing this transformation of life being in both cases past seventy.

It never pays to wait, feeling that one can make his peace with God as death draws near. Sometimes death comes very quickly, and one has no time to think about anything, and especially not things of eternal significance. But elderly people who feel that they have not yet got hold of life should not be discouraged. Lives are sometimes completely made over, under the power of religious faith, long after the possibility of such transforming change is apparently past. It is never too late.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET DIVISION—Statement by L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, before the joint appropriations committee that this is the "year of division" has created considerable interest. Ballentine says his statement is a little more than just a play on words, although he might agree that it is also the "year of decision." His point is that division or distribution of the tax burden on the one hand and the allocation of public funds on the other made this year set the pattern for several years to come.

PROPORTIONATE—Although stated in different words that apparently is the attitude of other departmental and institutional heads. That is why they are concerned now as much or more with proportion of the total appropriations as with actual dollars and cents. The state board of education, for example, while asking for more dollars than had been recommended for public education, emphasized the fact that schools now are getting smaller percentage of total state appropriations than at any time since 1933. The state board of agriculture asked that it be given equal and proportionate consideration with other departments, institutions and agencies.

COMPLEX—On its face that would seem to be a reasonable position. Analysis raises some questions. If all state services now in effect are to be blanketed on existing proportionate share in total appropriations, that means no new services can be taken on and none now effective can be curtailed or dropped, no matter how changing conditions might affect needs. The steady march of progress might necessitate the state embarking on new fields of service or retiring from some in which it now operates. One year education might be paramount; another year health, or welfare or agricultural development might take precedence. So, some discretion must be left with the general assembly on proportionate allocations.

CHILDREN—"You may think the schools are crowded, but they will be much worse in the years just ahead," wrote R. L. Harris, representative of Person County, in a personal letter addressed to each member of the general assembly a few days ago. The tremendous increase in birthrate over the entire nation—and North Carolina is ahead of national average—is given as reason for expecting a flood of youngsters at the schoolhouse doors within a few years. Fact is, children are being born faster than the states are making provision for them in school.

BIRTHRATES—For several years before the war, Harris discovers, the national birthrate was 18 births per 1000 population. It was lower during the depression years. Starting with 1941 the rate went up to approximately 21 per 1000, and hovered around that figure until the men began coming home from the wars. The rate in 1946 was 23 per 1000 and in 1947 it was 26.2 per 1000. Figures are not available for last

NORTH CAROLINA—Our own state may be far behind in some things but has consistently been near the top in birthrates. In 1947, for instance, the Tar Heel birthrate was 29.9, compared with the national average of 26.2 per 1000 population. State figures for 1948 are not complete, but estimates give a birthrate of about 29.7 for last year. It is estimated that the number of school children will increase almost fifty per cent within the next eight or nine years.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE New York. (AP)—Sam Spiegel is a man of ten tongues—nine living and one dead.

This enables him to say "yes" in nine more languages than the average Hollywood figure. It should be a positive guarantee of success in films. But Spiegel likes to say "no." This, perhaps, explains why he is an "independent producer." Spiegel, known professionally as S. P. Eagle, is an international cinema adventurer. At 46, he has written, directed or produced films in Germany, Austria, England, France, Mexico and the United States.

Viennese-born and educated, Spiegel is a man of many talents and tastes, including a well-trained palate for wine. He sometimes entertains friends by tasting and identifying a wide variety of wines while blindfolded. "But to tell the Vintage—Ah, that is another matter," murmured the producer. "In Paris there are writers who can taste two wines and tell you the year each was made." Spiegel, a chunky, congenial man with a long sense of time and art, hopes to achieve this perfection, too. He keeps in training.

In the matter of languages, Spiegel knows his way around in English, German, French, Spanish, Polish, Russian, Czech, Italian and Palestinian Hebrew. But Latin, the dead language, is his first love. And the tributes he pays it would bring tears of joy to many an American high school Latin teacher. "For my study of old Latin I have been grateful all my life," said Spiegel. "It has an enormous discipline—a discipline that once you learn you can use afterward in anything. Today many film writers go off on a tangent. They lack the rigid discipline of thought that Latin teaches. I advise any young script writer to read the Gallic Wars of Caesar. Then he will know how to write with discipline."

But Spiegel thinks that, in other ways, Hollywood would do well to shuck off some of the discipline of the past. He is in town now hawking his latest production, "We Were Strangers," directed by young John Huston and partly filmed in Cuba. It deals with a revolution there. "It is based on Thomas Jefferson's phrase that resistance to Tyrants is obedience to God," said Spiegel, "and we hope it is a step away from the conventional pattern."

Spiegel thinks the answer to Hollywood's boxoffice trouble is to avoid Trite, Hackneyed themes. "The reason people over 30 go so seldom to the movies," he said, "is because we don't give them adult pictures."

"After a certain age people want a grain of thought with their entertainment. They don't like Betty Grable's legs or the boy-meets-girl theme all the time. "When you go to see a picture today you usually know after the first reel exactly what is going to happen. That is wrong." But the film that Spiegel himself wants most to make, he said, is a love story—the immortal "Cyrano De Bergerac."

"Only film can do it justice," he said. "And before I die I'll make it." He would now except for a small matter—raising $3,000,000 independent producers don't have that kind of change in their pockets.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS Washington—Since the Federal Works Agency (FWA) sprouted the noble idea of paying folding money "to encourage creative thinking and submission of practical suggestions from all its employees," it has saved itself some $$$.

For instance, Thomas C. Mercer, a laborer for FWA's Public Building Administration (PBA) suggested that flexible metal coupling connections be installed at the ends of the hose on portable vacuum cleaners. Cleaning offices in the Pentagon, he found the hose was always breaking at these points delaying his work. He applied the metal connections to the hose of his machine and has not had a break in more than 17 months. Ordinary hose, FWA says, lasts from nine to 12 months, and PBA has a yearly breakage of 350 hose lengths, costing $9,030. Mr. Mercer received $150 for his idea.

Then Herschel E. Dishner, a PBA operating engineer, came forth with an idea. The air-conditioning system in the Department of Justice building is one of his major responsibilities. He was awarded $130 for suggesting certain mechanical adjustments to reduce the vibration that caused leakage in the building's air-conditioning system. Mr. Mercer's ideas have been adopted and will save the government an estimated $3,600 annually in tube replacement and refrigeration leakage. And, says FWA, his suggestions can be applied with no added expense.

Pelix L. Hartman, a principal electrician for Federal Works Agency, used to toss burned-out fluorescent light tubes into a barrel and run to safety before they crashed into smithereens. When his boss warned him that this method was dangerous he started breaking them under water in a sink but got splashed. He tried to do the trick in a burlap bag, suffered a lot of minor scratches from flying splinters. He fooled around with all sorts of ideas until he finally found he could do good riddance with safety and ease by using a tube crusher which he rigged up. It's made of metal and is something like a covered trough, 14 inches long, four feet deep and 12 inches wide. Tubes are inserted and broken into small pieces by tongs fastened to either side of the lid when the lid is closed. Maj. Gen Philip B. Fleming, FWA administrator, gave Mr. Hartman $250 for his suggestion. He said "the estimated value of the tube crusher cannot be determined in dollars and cents."

Chamber To Hear James E. Gheen

The Chamber of Commerce directors at the first meeting of the fiscal year Friday announced that James E. Gheen, nationally known public relations councillor and former newspaperman, will be the speaker at the trade body's annual banquet to be held at East Carolina Teachers College March 15. President Louis Stuart Picklen will preside. This will be the first annual dinner meeting of the chamber since 1943. John B. Webb Jr., chairman, Charles R. McBrayer, Kenneth Phillips and Hugh C. Winslow compose the arrangements committee.

The Chamber of Commerce is to be incorporated.

The directors and executive committee voted to approve the plan for the trade body to participate in the North Carolina congressional dinner, an annual event sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C., during its annual meeting. Guests at the fellowship dinner will include the North Carolina congressional delegation, their assistants, the state's two senators and other North Carolinians in high positions in the federal government.

To Speak Here

Harold Elde, who took part in the Gold Rush era of Alaska, will be the next speaker at the Pitt County Executive Club Thursday evening according to J. H. Moye the local secretary.

As a rough and ready prospector Elde will tell with humor and skill, his experiences in panning for gold and in wrestling a livelihood from the wastes of the North. His story is one of peril, hardship, triumph, courage and resourcefulness.

Because of his 25 years of exploration in our "last great frontier" Elde is the best informed man on our foremost military outpost and is taking an active part in its present development.

Red Oak News

There will be an old-fashioned "quilting-bee" at the community building all day Wednesday, Feb. 16. All the ladies of the community who can are invited to help with this quilt which contains the names of nearly fifteen hundred people who contributed to our recent building program. Dinner will be prepared in the club kitchen on our gas range and all ladies are asked to carry something to cook. On that same date the men are invited to come and help saw down two large pine trees that are on the back of the church lot and which the church has donated to remodel the stage and dressing rooms in the club building. They will be hauled to the Aron Case mill which is right next to the church. All men and especially the younger men are asked to come and help with this work.

A committee composed of Rev. Lawrence Tyson as chairman and Mrs. Lawrence Tyson, Mrs. Travis Crawford, Mrs. and Mrs. Johnnie Cassick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beddard and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson met at "Woodside" last evening and discussed matters of a program which the Youthful Workers Club will sponsor. It was definitely decided to present an old favorite play, "An Old-Fashioned Mother," sometime in the early spring. The books have been ordered and as soon as they arrive the cast will be selected. The Youthful Workers Club is an organization of the younger group of both the Red Oak and Piney Grove churches and already they have done many nice things for both churches.

Last Saturday night Mesdames Lillian Jenkins, Odell Evans and Inez Haddock entertained at a Valentine party for the members of the primary and junior departments of Red Oak Sunday school. A large number were present and they enjoyed many games, stunts, songs and contests.

A Valentine motif was used to decorate the tables and delicious refreshments were served. The little folks had a wonderful time and they expressed themselves as wanting to have another party real soon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson attended the "Mother and Daughter, Father and Son" banquet at the Winterville Baptist Church last Thursday evening. They also attended a birthday party in Bethel Friday night and a party for the G. H. Seniors at the Woman's Club Saturday night.

Pirates Meet Last Place Elon Quint Here Tuesday

By EUGENE PRICE
 West Carolina Teachers College's Buccaneer basketball team will meet last place Elon here tomorrow night in the last game of the regular season.

In sixth place by virtue of their wins over High Point and WCTC last week, the Buccaneers will be fighting to overtake fifth place Lenoir-Rhyne, which is but one game ahead in conference standing.

For the Pirates it will be their final game before they meet Atlantic Christian's Bulldogs here Saturday night in the traditional battle for the Bo-Hunk Bucket.

Elon, grappling to gain a place in the North State tournament, is currently dwelling in the cellar of the nine team loop with one win and 11 losses. Guilford is slightly ahead with one win and nine losses.

East Carolina, in view of their initial 49 to 48 win over the Christians and their conference record to date, will be favored over the visitors.

Willie Hoppe Has Longest Run As Billiard Champ

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, who has held some type of a world's billiard title for 43 consecutive years to become sports' longest reigning champion, has tucked away his fifth three-cushion crown.

The 61-year-old Hoppe successfully defended his world's three-cushion diadem last night by downing Joe Chamaco of Mexico City 50-43 in 57 innings. It was his sixth win without defeat in the three-day round Robin tourney.

Chamaco gave the "old Master" a run for it, however. He fashioned a run of 10 highest in the meet, to take the lead 17-15 in the 12th inning. From that point Chamaco led until Hoppe, trailing 38-31, scored runs of 1, 2, and 3 in succession to get back into the game. A few frames later Hoppe scored seven more points for a 43-41 margin.

Levinsky Buried At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 14—(AP)—Barney Levinsky, who held the world's light heavyweight title under the ring name Battling Levinsky 33 years ago, was buried yesterday.

Levinsky died Saturday at the age of 89 after an automobile accident aggravated a previous illness.

During his 19 year ring career, he fought 569 bouts, winning the light heavyweight crown in 1916 from Jack Dillon. He lost the title four years later to France's Georges Carpentier.

Ivan Parke, now trainer for the Fred W. Hooper stable, rode the first Hialeah winner 24 years ago. Parke brought home a horse named Braedalline in the first race on opening day, Jan. 15, 1926.

Sailing Classic

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14—(AP)—More than one hundred yachtsmen checked gear and loaded supplies today in preparation for the 184 nautical mile Miami Nassau race, starting at noon tomorrow.

Twenty-four sailing craft are entered in the 11th annual racing classic, held under the auspices of the Southern Racing Conference.

The event is limited to craft of 30 feet or longer.

Defending champion is Alfonso Gomez Amena of Havana, Cuba. His trim 51-foot cutter Cielon finished the deep water race in a corrected time of 23 hours, 42 minutes and 11 seconds last year.

Catawba Certain To Retain Lead

By the Associated Press
 Catawba's Indians were certain today of being the No. 1 outfit in the North State Conference's basketball tournament.

The Indians, overtaking a fast starting High Point quintet during mid-season, insured themselves of first seeding in the annual conference-for-all Saturday. They did it by squeaking past Lenoir Rhyne, 65-64, that night.

The tournament will begin in Elkin Feb. 24 with eight of the loop's nine teams competing. The biggest question mark is whether it will be Elon or Guilford, both with non-impressive records, on the sidelines.

Action this week will determine the ratings that all teams except Catawba will carry into the tournament. High Point and Appalachian are currently tied for second spot. Western Carolina is fourth, Lenoir Rhyne fifth, East Carolina sixth, Atlantic Christian seventh and Guilford eighth.

Only two games are on tonight's slate. Lenoir Rhyne is at Atlantic Christian in a conference battle and Western Carolina meets non-conference Carson-Newman in Tennessee.

Teague Award To Asheville Pair

High Point, N.C., Feb. 14—(AP)—The Teague Awards for the outstanding Carolinas amateur athletes of the year go to Charlie Justice, football star, and Nancy Kerkl Lees, Olympic swimmer.

The University of North Carolina All-America player and the girl who conquered polo will get the awards at a banquet here.

Their selections were announced Saturday after balloting by Carolinas sports writers. Both are from Asheville.

Midgets Bow To Ayden; Win For Intermediates

Greenville Intermediate boys basketball team topped Ayden Intermediates 29 to 18 and the local Midgets lost to Ayden Midgets 18 to 10 in boys League games in Ayden Saturday afternoon.

For the Greenville Intermediates it was win number seven of the season and put the team in a tie with the Goldsboro Intermediates for the league lead. Each team has lost one game, and will meet here Saturday afternoon in a game to decide the league first place and possibly the league championship.

In Saturday's game the Greenville team grabbed the lead early in the first period and the Ayden boys were never able to catch up. Leaders for the Greenville team were Leon Moore with 13 points and Joe Roland with 19 points.

In a non-conference game last Wednesday, the local Intermediates defeated the Jayvees of Farmville high school 38 to 31.

Midget Game
 Ayden Midgets got revenge for a defeat earlier in the season by downing the Greenville Midgets 18 to 10 in a low scoring basketball game. For the Greenville team it was the third loss of the season against four wins.

The Ayden Midgets were much improved over the team which met the Greenville Mites in the first meeting of the season of the two teams, and the Ayden boys lost no time in taking control of the court.

Kemp Edwards lead the Ayden scoring with eight points, and Smith Worthington singlehandedly kept the Greenville Midgets in the ball game by personally accounting for eight of his team's 10 points.

Starters for Greenville were Fletcher Murray and Charlie White at forwards, Sellers Crisp at center, and George Sideris and Connie Singleton at guards.

By BERT MOYE
 Coach Walter Latham's Bethel Indians defeated Coach Stuart's Ayden quint, 54 to 28, in the first of a series of three games, the winner of which is to represent Pitt County in the State Class B eliminations, at the Wright gymnasium at East Carolina Teachers College Saturday night before more than a thousand rabid fans.

Paced by Bill Smith, Bethel's forward, who scored 25 of his teammates' points, the Indians had little trouble in getting the win. Bethel went out in front in the early minutes of the first period on a free throw by Billy House, after Ayden had knotted the count at two-all and went on to go out in front at the end of the first quarter the Ayden boys were unable to connect for a field goal, making all three of their points on free tosses.

In the second period the Bethel lads held the Ayden lads to four points while they racked up 10 more, and the final period saw the winners running wild as they tallied sixteen points. During the entire game the Ayden boys made only four field goals with 20 of their points coming on free throws.

Bill Smith, Bethel forward, with 11 field goals and three free tosses, good for 25 points, led the winners. Frank Hemingway and Billy House with 11 and 9 points, respectively were runners-up.

Jim McCormick, Ayden guard connected with two field goals and six free tosses, good for 10 points, to lead the losers.

Girls' Game
 In a preliminary game the Ayden girls, who at the present time are sporting a 9 to 2 margin in the win and loss column in county play, had little trouble with the Bethel lassies, as they tramped them to the tune of 33 to 25.

The Ayden lassies, led by Helen Joyce Whitehurst, with a total of 21 points, led all through the game and were never threatened. As the half ended the Ayden team was leading by a 21 to 7 score. Mary Ella Moore with 14 points, was high scorer for the losers.

Cervi, player-coach of the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball League, never went to college. Shortly after being graduated from Buffalo's East High, Cervi turned to semi-pro baseball and basketball. In 1937, playing against Les Harrison's independent team from Rochester, Cervi so impressed the owner of the Royals that he was signed to a contract.

When Harrison's club joined the National loop for the 1945-46 season, Cervi teamed with Bill Holzman, George Giamack, Bobby Davies and Fuzzy Levane to give Rochester its first championship in the pro sport.

Al was an all-league selection the past two seasons and his aggressive maneuvering on the court, his brilliant defensive play, and his startling speed earned him his nickname, "The Digger."

Cervi was signed to a long-term contract as player-coach of Syracuse by Dan Blason, club vice-president, when Rochester jumped the National Basketball League to join the Basketball Association of America. Since taking over, Cervi has had the Nationals in either first or second place in the league's eastern division. In addition, player Cervi has been keeping pace with coach Cervi and averaging a dozen points per game.

National Hockey League games during the first half of the season saw 120 players participate, seven less than last campaign.

Independents To Play Cage Team Here Tonight

The Greenville Luckshots open their home schedule tonight when they meet Belvoir High School's basketball team in the local gym at 7:30 p.m.

The Luckshots, an independent team operating out of GHS, will be out for their initial win after dropping the opener to the strong Snow Hill quint.

Coach Steve Moss will probably field a team composed of "Big" Bland at the center position. Operating out of the forward slots will be Bill Jordan and "Speedy" Sideris. Tossing the ball in from the guard positions will be Walter Perry and Dickey Gray.

Depth in the team is not lacking as Raby Edwards and Doug Allan will see plenty of action at forward with Carl "Cecl" Denton taking over at guard.

Not much is known about the strength of the Belvoir team except that they are a well organized five. Experts predict a close game all the way.

This Is Hockey?

Indianapolis—(AP)—When the Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League recently scored 23 goals in two consecutive games, they established a new League scoring record for a pair of contests. The old record for scoring in two straight games was 22 goals set by Providence last season.

Newcomer Takes Texas Open Play

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 14—(AP)—Golf's touring crack shots moved on to Houston today with a comparative newcomer to their ranks—tall Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del.—leading the way as winner of the $10,000 Texas Open.

Douglas, playing his second year on the tournament trail, shot 22 under par for 72 holes to win $2,000 final money with a total of 268. His final round was a blistering 65 over Erackenridge Park's 6,400-yard par 71 course yesterday.

It edged out Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by a stroke. Sneed wound up with a five-under par 66 and a 72-hole total of 269.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who didn't play here and who was the leading money-winner of the year until yesterday, will rejoin the tour at Houston after laying off a week.

Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., replaced Mangrum in the cash parade when he tied for fifth place in the Texas Open with E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, each with a 273. Demaret won $650, making his total for the year $5,862.50. Mangrum has bagged $5,755. In third place is the injured Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who had won $3,823.33 before an auto accident two weeks ago temporarily took him out of golf.

Zale Decides To Try Again For Title Comeback

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—Tony Zale says he wants another crack at Marcel Gerdan, the Frenchman who took away his middleweight championship—and he's likely to get it this summer.

The tournament of champions, disclosing Zale's decision to exercise his return-bout option, announced the Title fight may be staged in Chicago.

However, several other cities are under consideration, matchmakers Chick Bogad added.

The T-of-C hasn't access to a big outdoor park in New York since the Polo grounds and Yankee Stadium are tied up by the rival Twentieth Century Sporting club.

The T-of-C put on the first Zale Gerdan bout in Jersey City last Sept. 21. The Frenchman gave the Gary, Ind., steel worker a shellacking and won the title by a 12th round knock-out.

BEGINNING OUR THIRD

YEAR in Greenville

Hill's has always made a special issue in all its stores to feature quality, and extend every courtesy to their customers, believing that good dependable merchandise dispensed with everyday courtesy are the foundation of any business. Greenville grew because its citizens had faith in it. Hill's will grow, because our customers have faith in us.

Wednesday, we told you about the main transportation being horses during the Eighteen Hundred period. It was not unusual to see a family of four mounted on one horse. Almost every woman could spin, weave, knit, sew, cut and make all the wearing apparel for the household. There was little money in circulation and in order to exchange goods, farmers drove their hogs and cattle to markets in Virginia. Axles were put in hogsheads of tobacco and shafts were attached to them so they could be rolled to market. Today Greenville is fast becoming the trading center of Eastern North Carolina, and Hill's can be counted on as a staunch supporter to that end.

Chapter 2
A voice bellowed from the shore, commanding his attackers to desist. There stood a tall man in a dark cloak, with the lady who had been the cause of it all standing close beside him.

Obedience was instant, as with a pack of curs shrinking before the whip. The lady properly grateful, had fled and brought aid in turn. And timely enough. At such odds hope had been scant.

But succor was a two-edged sword. Once they discovered who he was, he could expect only a more subtle, less pleasant death. Rivers debated, briefly, whether or not to continue to fight.

Yet with a choice of now or later, postponement meant a chance. Rivers splashed to the shore and out. To his surprise, he found the office at water's edge, giving him a hand.

"If you will be so good as to come with me, sir," he suggested. Dismissing the others, he turned, leading the way to that ancient house which Rivers had seen before. The lady had vanished.

They came to a great room lit by tall candles, and here the officer turned to favor him with a closer scrutiny. Rivers saw him start with surprise. But it spoke well for his coolness that he did not immediately shout for the guards. Then, eyeing him in turn, it was Rivers' turn to be surprised.

It was almost as though he gazed into a mirror. Here was the same night-black hair and eyes in a face saturnine and strangely handsome. They were both tall men, both close of an age. It was bewildering.

Rivers was first to recover. He bowed elaborately, mockery and a touch of arrogance in his voice. "When the gods jest," he said. "They do a good job of it."

"So it would seem." Even their voices were curiously alike. "But I am lucky, tonight. It is a good sign, when I sought a sign. You are that Frenchman for whom everyone has been searching the town."

"You have sharp eyes, Senator." Rivers hid himself to a chair. His host colored.

"Your pardon," he interjected. "I should have asked you to be seated, but I was—surprised."

"Fortune, sir, is a fickle thing," quipped Rivers. "Two weeks ago I was enjoying my ease and a measure of prosperity on board an American ship. A combination of storm and pirates—Spanish pirates—changed that. But thanks to my ability to speak your tongue, I fooled that cut-throat crew till I was near enough the shores of Florida to swim for it. Since then there's been a game of hide and seek between us."

Strangely, neither his words nor attitude seemed to disturb this other man.

"Pirates," the Spaniard repeated, and pulled at his chin. "I wouldn't doubt your word. Plenty find it a profitable business—some even call it by patriotic names. Maybe you'll know that you've been branded a pirate yourself, and sought as such?"

"Maybe I have. It wouldn't be surprising.

"And there might be some truth in the charge—eh?"

Rivers shrugged. His host smiled suddenly.

"My name," he said, "is Gonzales—Fernando Gonzales."

"A good enough name, as Spanish names go," Rivers conceded. "My own is Jean Rivers."

"And you hate the French?"

"What would you, under that crowing cock of a Bonaparte?"

"Aren't the Spanish as well?"

"Aren't the puppets of Napoleon? And birds of a feather?"

Gonzales nodded vigorously.

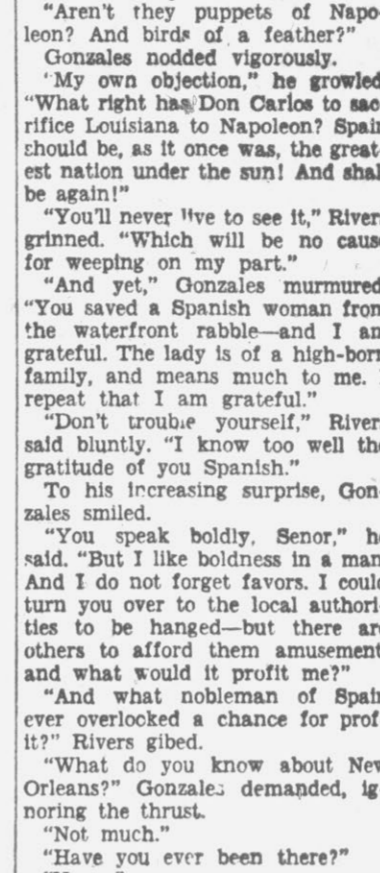

"My own objection," he growled. "What right has Don Carlos to sacrifice Louisiana to Napoleon? Spain should be, as it once was, the greatest nation under the sun! And shall be again!"

"You'll never live to see it," Rivers grinned. "Which will be no cause for weeping on my part."

"And yet," Gonzales murmured. "You saved a Spanish woman from the waterfront rabble—and I am grateful. The lady is of a high-born family and means much to me. I repeat that I am grateful."

"Don't trouble yourself," Rivers said bluntly. "I know too well the gratitude of you Spanish."

Taxi Strike Threat For 'Groggy' Philadelphians

Philadelphia, Feb. 14—(AP)—Three hundred independent cab drivers voted at a meeting last night to join the yellow walkout—an action that would leave the city's commuters with no transportation other than trains, improvised truck service and private automobiles.

The transit workers are seeking a 20 cent hourly wage increase. The company has offered three cents. The workers now average from $1.09 to $1.63.

The Yellow Cab drivers are asking 50 per cent of gross receipts or a guaranteed $1.20 an hour, rather than the present 45 per cent of receipts.

An ancient measurement was a "cubit," meaning the length between the elbow to the tip of the middle finger.

Governor Barely Escapes Wreck

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 14—(AP)—Governor G. Mennen Williams, his wife, Nancy, and seven other persons had a narrow escape last night when their C-47 National Guard plane skidded into a row of parked planes as it landed here.

The big plane, which went out of control as it hit an icy spot, skidded several hundred feet and came to rest less than 200 feet from a hangar.

A more serious accident was averted when two of the light planes became wedged under the C-47 on its erratic course and served to slow it down.

Governor Williams, who was returning from a winter sports carnival at Grayling, Mich., was shaken up as were the other plane occupants, but none required medical aid.

The pilot was Lieut. Col. Donald W. Armstrong of Detroit, commander of the Michigan National Guard Air Wing.

Greenville Serves Fliers As Beacon For Night Flying

By CHESTER WALSH

From Tommy Sellers' Stinson "station wagon" plane, a four-place ship, air-conditioned and as comfortable as a Pullman car, flying over the city last night, "Illuminated Greenville" presented a panorama of lace and tapestry from a 1,000-foot level.

Tar River, winding its way from "up Tarboro way" and to the Pamlico and then to the sea, was a ribbon of brilliance from the air. Sparkling lights on Evans Street and Dickinson Avenue reflected an extensive diadem.

A feature of the flight was the view of the churches with open doors to shed light, as the congregations were leaving. The brilliance of the illumination from the Flanagan Buggy Company, the theaters, and some of the stores is a wonderful advertisement for Greenville to passing planes in the night, and there are many of them—some passenger planes, many of them army, navy and marine ships. The college is the typical landmark of Greenville for fliers—at night or in the day. The planes at the airport are taking up many passengers at night while the moon is full or waning.

F. A. Jones, ETC student and flying instructor at the airfield at night and on Sundays, and an employe of Blackwood's store in the afternoon, was the pilot. His passengers were his wife Mrs. Chester Walsh and a newspaper reporter.

Tommy Sellers is making arrangements for having David Richman III, managing editor of the Daily Reflector, do some aerial photography over the "City on the Tar."

Promise Help To Potato Growers

Washington, N.C., Feb. 14—(AP)—Two Tar Heel congressmen have promised to try to help Irish potato growers get higher support prices this year.

Several hundred growers meeting here Saturday got that assurance from Congressmen Herbert C. Bonner and Graham A. Barden.

The two lawmakers said they would look into the support price situation as soon as they got back to Washington.

Bonner said they would try to write into farm legislation some directive as to an acreage allotment goal for the 1950 crop.

Other speakers were Harry Westcott, head of the State Department of Agriculture's Markets Division; John Broome, manager of the State Potato Marketing Agreement Committee; Tom Scott, state director of production and marketing; and Dr. J. H. Hilton, director of Extension at N.C. State College.

government and on our own press for our information.

Washington is steadily and increasingly giving the inside facts to the public.

American correspondents who are working behind the Iron Curtain also are doing a grand job of objective reporting. Naturally they are up against a tough censorship but daily they are adding to our knowledge of how Bolshevism works and our information about the lives of the peoples who are under Red Moscow's rule.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Feb. 14—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices stronger. Tops of $18 at Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro and Washington.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Feb. 14—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers slightly stronger at mostly 26 with few at 25; eggs weaker, A large 43.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 70 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower.

Noon prices were unchanged to 55 cents a bale higher than the previous close, March 32.12, May 31.90 and July 30.78.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—A recovery movement took hold of the stock market today halting last week's fall. Prices gained fractions up to a point or more after a steady start which could best be described as hesitant.

Almost everything as pointed up. Utilities showed a mixed picture, however, with American Telephone and Telegraph on the downside.

All Was Quiet In Police Circles; Quiet Weekend Here

All was quiet in police circles in Greenville during the weekend.

Chief Lester D. Page said today Police Court Judge J. W. H. Roberts had only three cases for trial in his court today. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the weekend was the quietest in a long time. State highway patrolmen had nothing important to report.

CANTATA REHEARSAL

Members of the cast of "From Olivet to Calvary," an Easter cantata to be presented at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on Palm Sunday, April 10, at 8 o'clock, will hold the first rehearsal at the Methodist Church Tuesday night at 7:30. It is sponsored by the Greenville Music Club.

American Legion To Meet Tuesday Night

Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, will hold its monthly upper meeting at the Legion Home, 557 Evans Street, Tuesday night, February 15, at 7:30. Commander T. K. Fountain will preside. Adjutant Jack Wallace reminds that the Legion Home now serves meals daily from 12 to 2 and from 5 to 10 p.m. and caters to private parties and banquets.

The first successful platform scales, to weigh heavy, massive objects, were produced in 1830 at St Johnsburry, Vt.

Heart Disease . . .

4. Helping out, perhaps, with higher pay for people handling heart cases, like nurses.

Of the money contributed in the campaign, 70 per cent will go to the local branches and 30 per cent to the parent organization, the American Heart Association.

The parent and the branches will use the money where it sees fit in the ways pointed out above.

How do you give money in the campaign? You can do it in one of two ways:

1. Send it to your local Heart Association. The full name of the local association will vary from city to city and state to state.
2. Or, send it directly to the American Heart Association, Box 500, New York, N. Y.

Whether the money goes to the local association or to the American Heart Association in New York, people there said, it will be distributed finally as mentioned above: 70 per cent to the local branches, 30 per cent to the parent association.

Knowing About . . .

ed by an instructor who is a Red sympathizer. There is the danger that it may be advocated to the students, whereas Washington has condemned it as subversive and as aimed at the overthrow of our government by force.

Still, my observation has been that Red sympathizers always will find ways of getting their propaganda across in the class rooms even where discussions of communism is taboo. Many educators feel that the best way to combat this sly spreading of Red propaganda among students is to come out with the real facts.

But where are we to get the real facts, in view of the Iron Curtain? Naturally we aren't going to get them from sources controlled by Moscow. I think the answer is that we must depend mainly on our own
