Vishinsky Takes Molotov's Place

Russia Shakes Up Foreign Ministry Leadership; No Hint As To Possible Future For Molotov And Replaced Foreign Trade Minister Mikoyan

Moscow, March 5—(AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky replaced Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister today in a momentous shift of helmets in international relations.

Russia's second most important official in dealings with the outside world, Foreign Trade Minister A. I. Mikoyan, also was replaced by his deputy, M. A. Menshikov, after 23 years at the job. Until today Vishinsky also had been Molotov's deputy.

These drastic changes—the most important in the Soviet Union since Molotov took over the foreign ministry a decade ago from Maxim Litvinov—were announced by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet in a brief statement which left unanswered a host of questions.

Appearing on the back pages of morning newspapers under the headline, "Announcements," it said: "The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. has freed deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers, Comrade V. M. Molotov from duties as minister of foreign affairs and designated as minister of foreign trade, Comrade M. A. Menshikov."

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. freed deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers, Comrade A. I. Mikoyan, from duties as minister of foreign trade, Comrade M. A. Menshikov.

There was no hint as to what new jobs Molotov and Mikoyan might be taking. It said nothing about their being relieved of their duties as deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers. On the contrary it used those titles in referring to them.

There was no hint as to what significance the changes might portend. Molotov, who will be 59 on March 8, holds the following positions besides being deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers:

Member of the all-powerful Politburo; member of the Council of Ministers, one of the two houses of the Russian Parliament; deputy to the Supreme Soviet of the Russian Soviet Federal Socialist Republic (R.S.F.S.R.), the largest republic in the Soviet Union; and member of the Central Committee of the Communist party.

Mikoyan also holds these other jobs: member of the Politburo, member of the Central Committee of the Communist party, member of the Council of Nationalities, one of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet, and a member of the Supreme Soviet of the R.S.F.S.R.

Molotov, a stalwart in the Communist party from its earliest days, always has been known as a "Stalin man." He was premier from 1930 to 1941 when Stalin took over the post himself in the war emergency.

Molotov headed the Foreign Ministry from May 3, 1939, until now. Throughout, Vishinsky, who is 65, was his right-hand man.

Mikoyan became commissar of foreign trade in 1926 and as such became one of Russia's best known officials abroad. He is 53 and his successor Menshikov is slightly younger.

FOR THE PRESIDENT Morgantown, March 5—(AP)—Morgantown furniture is going into the "Little White House" at Key West, Fla.

Officials of the Henredon Furniture Company here announced this week that trucks have been transporting furniture from here to Key West for the presidential mansion which is being prepared for the nation's first family.

Windber, Pa., March 5—(AP)—It'll be a long time before Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Friday forget the sixth day of the week.

It was a Friday in 1945 when Andrew Friday met his future wife. The Friday's were married on Friday, July 4, 1947.

And then yesterday—that's right—a baby girl was born to the Friday's on Friday.

Whatever may be the exact reason for the sensational release of Vyacheslav Molotov from his position as Soviet Foreign Minister, it strikes me we may take it for granted that it isn't a purely domestic affair.

It has been generally expected that when Stalin got ready to retire, his mantle would fall on Molotov's shoulders. Has Molotov suddenly fallen from grace? It's hard to believe he was, though anything can happen these days.

Russian Action Startles West; Not Much Cheer

Change In Soviet Foreign Leadership Provides Official Speculation

Washington, March 5—(AP)—Startled officials groped today through a mass of speculation—much of it contradictory—for the meaning of Russia's sudden switch in foreign ministers.

The replacement of Vyacheslav Molotov by his sharp-tongued deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, had diplomatic authorities and lawmakers running the whole range of possibilities—from a new and dangerous move in the cold war to a sign that Russia may be planning a "softer" attitude toward the West.

Some said it might be no more than a simple administrative change. The one thing officials could agree on was that only further developments will clarify the situation.

President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson and former Secretary Marshall all withheld comment. So did the two Senate leaders of bipartisan foreign policy—Chairman Connally (D-Tex) and former Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Foreign Relations Committee.

A third member of the committee, Senator Smith (R-N.J.), had this to say: "I don't get very much cheer from the fact that Mr. Vishinsky who has been very difficult, is succeeding Mr. Molotov, who also has been very difficult."

But one authority on relations with Russia who asked that his name be withheld said the change might forecast an easing of tension between the Soviet Union and the West.

Negotiations toward an Atlantic security pact, he said, may have "pushed the Soviets into a clear demonstration that their present policies have failed."

But most lawmakers who would comment took a dimmer view. Rep. Lawrence Smith (R-Wis.), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said, "I'm looking for some drastic move. I wouldn't be surprised to see the Russians go into Helsinki, and Norway also."

Rep. Richards (D-Wisc.), another committee member, foresaw "a stiffening of policy because of the situation that has been created in China and elsewhere." Senator Flanders (R-Vt) and Ferguson (R-Mich) agreed that the move offered no great hope for future world relations.

"In fact," said Ferguson, "it may prove to be a change for the worse. Vishinsky's speeches against the United States have been more inflammatory than Molotov's."

100,000 BLAZE Elkin, N. C., March 5—(AP)—A fire at the Durham Motor Sales Co. here yesterday caused an estimated $100,000 damage.

The blaze destroyed the firm's auto display building and garage, including eight cars and trucks.

Friday's Windber, Pa., March 5—(AP)—It'll be a long time before Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Friday forget the sixth day of the week.

It was a Friday in 1945 when Andrew Friday met his future wife. The Friday's were married on Friday, July 4, 1947.

And then yesterday—that's right—a baby girl was born to the Friday's on Friday.

Whatever may be the exact reason for the sensational release of Vyacheslav Molotov from his position as Soviet Foreign Minister, it strikes me we may take it for granted that it isn't a purely domestic affair.

It has been generally expected that when Stalin got ready to retire, his mantle would fall on Molotov's shoulders. Has Molotov suddenly fallen from grace? It's hard to believe he was, though anything can happen these days.

It wouldn't be surprising to see a shift in Russian foreign policy. There certainly is room for a change of policy in Europe, because the Soviet policy hasn't been paying dividends. Western Europe has been recovering economically under the Marshall plan. And along with that there has been a great strengthening of the defenses against aggression from any quarters.

The morale of the western European Democracies has been moving steadily upward. We get a good indication of that in the projected North Atlantic Alliance, to which Moscow objects bitterly.

Senator Long Aids Filibuster

Louisiana's U. S. Senator Russell Long strikes a speaking pose in the capitol at Washington and prepares to help other southern senators defend the filibuster. In his first senate speech, the young newcomer to the capitol defended filibustering as "one of our most precious heritages."

Dixie Democrats Predict Victory

Upholders of Filibuster Have Administration On The Run; Claim Sufficient Votes To Reverse Possible Barkley Ruling

Washington, March 5—(AP)—Southern Democrats—aided by some Republicans—had the Administration on the run today in its effort to force speedy Senate action on a filibuster-crippling rules change.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) predicted certain Dixie victory in a battle which may—or may not—come up next week over an effort to cut short talk by a debate limiting cloture petition.

Russell told reporters the Southern opponents of President Truman's civil rights program can count on 56 votes to reverse a possible ruling by Vice President Barkley that a gag can be applied to talk about a Senate motion.

The motion involved was offered Monday by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) to bring up the rules change. That change would make it possible for two-thirds of the Senate to halt the kind of filibuster that's going on now.

As evidence that Russell might not be far wrong, Senate leaders moved to rally crumpling Democratic support behind a move that may mean life or death to President Truman's civil rights program.

Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman, called northern and western party members into a huddle before the Senate teed off on its sixth day of filibustering.

McGrath was expected to plead with the group for a solid front in support of the rules change. Lucas wouldn't admit defeat in his efforts to bring up the proposal.

But an Associated Press poll showed 43 senators publicly committed to vote against and only 19 publicly favoring any ruling by Barkley that debate can be gagged now. The 43 are only six less than a majority, if all senators voted.

The administration bill calling for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act probably won't come before either Senate or House within the next month. The Senate is tied up by a filibuster and several other measures have priority over the labor bill. The House is waiting for the Senate to act.

When it does, Senate Republicans said, there will be some changes made. Senator Morse (R-Ore) told reporters: "The Democrats simply haven't got the votes for this bill, and they know it. It will emerge as a Republican bill now."

"The votes are in the Senate to adopt a much better law than this bill," he said. "There are 54 now sitting in the Senate who voted to override the President's veto of the Taft-Hartley bill in 1947."

Democrats weren't doing much talking. Yesterday, resorting to action instead of words, they used their 8-5 majority in the wrangling Senate Labor Committee to vote approval of the bill—without changing a single word or allowing the Republicans to introduce any amendments.

The Republicans charged bitterly that this was "high handed." The Democrats replied that if they hadn't insisted on action the measure might have been discussed forever.

Four Survivors In Crash Of Big Airlift Plane Berlin, March 5—(AP)—The Soviet command post at Langensalz said today there were four survivors from the crash yesterday of an American airlift Skymaster. One man was reported killed.

A spokesman at the command post in the Soviet zone said an American rescue mission from Potsdam had arrived at the scene of the crash with the aid of the four survivors. Unexplained was why the plane was carrying five persons. The usual crew is three.

Police at Langensalz said the four survivors parachuted to safety on the orders of the pilot who continued with the plane. The four-engine craft was bound from Wiesbaden to Berlin when it crashed yesterday, 130 miles northeast of Wiesbaden.

FBI Arrests Two; Charge Stealing Govm't Secrets

Family Bewildered

New York, March 5—(AP)—The mother of Judith Coplon sobbed "I don't believe it, I don't believe it" when she learned today that her daughter had been arrested on charges of conspiring to steal government papers. Reached at her Brooklyn home by telephone, Mrs. Samuel Coplon cried: "What's the matter, what the matter with my daughter? Oh, tell me quick. Oh, God, God, please tell me."

Evacuate Group In Flooded Town

Missouri Valley, Ia., March 5—(AP)—About 1,000 persons have been evacuated from their homes in this west Iowa town flooded by waters of the Boyer river. The population is about 4,000.

Cy Varnes, Harrison county Red Cross chairman, estimated that one-third of the town was flooded. Water stood four feet deep in parts of the business district. It was porch and roof high in the west and south residential sections.

The water plant was flooded. City water had been turned off. William Jones, city clerk helping direct flood rescue activities, said there was a reservoir of 350,000 gallons of good water which he would dig out in limited quantities.

Mayor Maurice M. Kirlin last night declared a state of emergency. Eight persons were overcome by gas while doing early morning flood duty. Four of them suffered monoxide poisoning while pumping out the power sub-station. The other four were overcome by the water while digging out.

Flood rescue work was being directed from the city hall, which was flanked on two sides by water. Evacuees first brought to the city hall had to be moved again early today when the basement flooded.

A disaster center for refugees then was set up in the churches and a hotel.

Field Exercises In State Slated For Army Units

Washington, March 5—(AP)—Army maneuvers under the code name "Tar Heel" are slated for the Fort Bragg-Camp MacKall area in North Carolina this spring.

The army, in announcing the big field exercise, said yesterday it would be staged from April 21 to May 20. Army units, tactical air units of the Continental Air Command, members of the National Guard and organized corps, and the "enemy" forces will participate.

The maneuvers are planned as a sequel to exercise "assembly" staged jointly by the army and air force at Camp Campbell, Ky., last summer.

Cold Wave For Central States

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—Mild temperatures were general over the entire country today but a cold wave headed into parts of the North Central states.

Snow and rapidly falling temperatures were forecast for the Dakotas and Minnesota, ending a brief spell of spring-like weather.

Babson Discusses Wages

Babson Park, Fla., March 4—The cost of living is definitely declining. This especially applies to food supplies, but is also shown by the mark-down sales of clothing, underwear, shoes and other things. Cars of various makes can now be secured at a price that is lower than it was with immediate effect, and it is estimated that before the year is over one may buy any car "off the floor" of a Chevrolet or Ford.

The difficulty in the wage situation is that many labor leaders feel that, in order to hold their jobs, they must get for their members a little more wage increase every year. Of course, they know that this cannot go on forever. They should know that they will hold their jobs better in the end by not asking for an increase in wages than by experiencing a bust.

Attitude Of Big Companies Certain industries are still in a seller's market—that is to say, they can dictate the price. This especially applies to the building industry, the steel industry, and a certain portion of the automobile industry. This means that if they grant an increase that is not warranted by merely raising the prices. Therefore, if any of the labor unions in these industries strike for more wages, and the Government backs labor up the companies will accept the recommendations. This, however, will plainly state that they will be added to the price of goods and passed along to us consumers. This is an entirely new attitude. It may cause labor to now take all they can bring them to their senses.

Russian Member Of UN Staff And Woman Employee In U.S. Government Charged; Arrests Followed Long Suspensions; Caught In Act, With Summaries Of Confidential Security Data

Washington, March 5—(AP)—A Russian member of the United Nations staff and a woman employee of the Department of Justice were arrested in New York last night and charged with stealing American secrets.

Attorney General Tom Clark, announcing the arrest today, identified them as: Judith Coplon, 37, formerly of Brooklyn, N.Y., a Justice Department employee since 1943. Her exact job was not given but officials said it was a minor one.

Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, in New York, U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie announced the suspension of Gubitchev pending outcome of the charges against him. He described the Russian as a construction engineer for the U. N.'s permanent headquarters.

The Justice Department referred to Gubitchev differently, saying he was a "member of the Russian delegation" to the U.N. and third secretary of the U.S.S.R. Secretariat, assigned to the Manhattan office of the U.N.

In either case a question of immunity from arrest might arise. While the United States has not passed an immunity law to protect the U.N. staff against arrest as diplomats generally are protected, it has authorized a U.N. headquarters in New York and recognized it as an international zone.

There have been outrages in Congress against the possibility of subversives getting into this country through the U.N. gate. The arrests were made by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who had followed Miss Coplon to New York yesterday afternoon. She had been under suspicion for some time, the Justice Department said.

When arrested, Miss Coplon carried in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of information abstracted from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The Justice Department announcement, without giving details, implied that the material taken to New York was actually valuable.

It said that as soon as the FBI reported Miss Coplon's "suspected affiliations" the attorney general "instigated against the misuse of restricted information coming into the possession of the department."

Suspicion was first aroused during a federal employe loyalty check, Clark said. An extensive investigation followed.

The FBI under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, found out that clandestine meetings were being held by Miss Coplon and Gubitchev. Yesterday when Miss Coplon left for New York, the FBI agents were alerted by FBI agents.

What appeared to be their appointed meeting place, 193rd Street and Broadway, at 7:23 p.m. For almost two hours they "avoided direct contact, while they employed the numerous techniques used to detect" spotters, the FBI said.

They finally "effected a contact when both dashed aboard a bus near 42nd Street" the report continued.

The arrest was made on Third Avenue between 14th and 15th Streets. Just what type of information she had with her at the time of her arrest was not disclosed, other than that it was from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The charges against the two, filed in New York, were of conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States pertaining to the removal of government records and defrauding the U.S. of the faithful and impartial services of Miss Coplon.

The FBI account paralleled in part the story told by Elizabeth T. Bentley, who acknowledged to a congressional committee last summer that she was a former Russian spy.

The secret documents, the street corner meetings, the Russian contacts, the trips between New York and Washington, all were similar to incidents in the Bentley story.

Miss Bentley appeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee and testified in detail about various government contacts, information she obtained, and persons to whom she delivered it.

DEATH SENTENCE Warsaw, Poland, March 5—(AP)—Fritz Adolf Fischer, wartime gestapo chief for the German general government of Poland, was sentenced to death by a district court today for killing thousands of Jews.

Jewels Taken In Daring Robbery Paris, March 5—(AP)—Mrs. Claire Tylpaldon-Bassian, a native of San Francisco and former silent film actress in Hollywood was set last night by three men and robbed of $25,000 worth of jewels, she reported to police.

Mrs. Tylpaldon-Bassian is secretary of the woman's auxiliary of Paris Post No. 1 American Legion. Her husband is a member of a wealthy Greek family.

Sensational Replacement Of Molotov By Vishinsky May Portend Development Of Great Importance; Is Molotov Shelled? Is Russia Going To Change Policies?

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Whatever may be the exact reason for the sensational release of Vyacheslav Molotov from his position as Soviet Foreign Minister, it strikes me we may take it for granted that it isn't a purely domestic affair. It portends some development of importance to Foreign Nations. There are many guesses as to what is in the wind. Only developments will tell. For Moscow moves in mysterious ways. However, one can see that it might mean a change in Foreign policy—either a hardening or an easing of it. It could be that Molotov, who long has been Stalin's right hand, is being prepared to relieve the Generissimo of some of his duties. It even might be that Molotov himself isn't well, and is having his task eased. The thing most difficult to accept is that the change represents a shelving of Molotov. He is one of the original old bolsheviks, who came up through the revolution. He always has been Foreign Minister, but Premier and member of the all-powerful politburo.

Tax Return Estimate

What It Is, And Who Does What About It; Pay-As-You-Go System; Examples; How To Make Your Estimated Income Tax Return; Last Of Stories Explaining Tax

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 5—(AP)—The idea is to have everyone on a pay-as-you-go system. Those with full tax withheld from them, will have paid in full by the end of 1949.

Those who must make an estimated return and four installment payments should be paid up in full around the year's end, too. If you will make $500 or more this year, and no tax is withheld, you must make an estimated return. (Because that income is so low, you may not owe any tax or have to make any payments. Still, you must make a return.)

If tax is regularly withheld from your pay—but you'll get more than $100 income from which no tax is withheld—you must file a return with the amount you have to make those installment payments.

Generally, employers withhold full tax on their employes' pay up to $4,500, plus $600 for each exemption claimed. Example: Jones, single, will get $5,100 in salary. He doesn't have to file an estimate. Full tax is withheld on the first $4,500 of his pay.

Washington, March 5—(AP)—The estimated tax return. What is it? Who must do something about it? Some people, besides filing their 1948 income tax return by March 15 and paying up any tax owed, must—

Also by March 15 file an estimated tax return—it's called a "declaration of estimated tax"—on their 1949 income and pay on that, too. Who's in this group? Two kinds of people:

1. Those, like landlords and doctors, who won't have any tax at all withheld from their 1949 income.

2. Those, like wage-earners and salaried people, who'll have some tax, but not the full tax for 1949, withheld from their pay.

Because "estimated" means just what it says, the people in the two groups must do this by March 15: 1. Estimate what their 1949 income will be and what the tax on it should be. 2. Then start paying—in four installments—the difference between the tax withheld from them, if any, and the full tax they'll owe for 1949. The other payments are due June 15, Sept. 15, and Jan. 15, 1950.

Church Planning Revival In April

REV. NATHAN BROOKS JR.

The Memorial Baptist Church is planning a revival meeting to begin Sunday, April 3 and run through Sunday, April 10. In this meeting the pastor, Rev. Richard E. Hardaway, will have the assistance of Rev. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., pastor of the Earle Street Baptist church of Greenville, South Carolina.

Nathan Brooks is well known to the people of Greenville as he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Brooks of the city. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College and of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky. After his graduation from the seminary he was pastor of Baptist Church west of the Broadway Baptist Church for a period of some years he was state secretary of the North Carolina Baptist Training Union working out of Raleigh among many of the Baptist churches over the state.

Leaving this work he became pastor for three years of the First Baptist Church of Waynesboro Georgia, and now for nearly four years has been in his present pastorate in Greenville, South Carolina, which is one of the larger churches of that city being situated in a splendid residential section.

Mr. Brooks is much in demand as a speaker to young peoples' conferences and conventions and to students in college. While here he will be the main speaker at a district meeting of the Baptist Training Union in Wilson, N.C., on Saturday April 9 at ten o'clock.

The leader of music and song in the revival will be Mr. Lorenzo Durham of Charlotte, N.C. Mr. Durham is a native of Texas and has had extensive experience in revival work in fourteen states, mostly in the South and Southwest.

The services will be held at 8:00 to 8:40 each morning, so that school children and those going to work may attend; and at 8:00 o'clock each night.

A cordial welcome is extended to the people of Greenville to attend these services.

Scotland Yard Finds Evidence In Identifying 'Vampire Killer'

London, March 5—(AP)—Detectives probed stock, real estate and jewelry deals today trying to clinch the identification of a vampire killer believed to have dissolved six victims in acid and helped himself to their money.

More than 100 investigators in London and nearby counties have taken upward of 40 statements from friends or relatives of the supposed victims—all people who disappeared from a few weeks to three years ago.

Many of these statements mention a well dressed, young looking man who knew how to win friends and whose eyes were described by a witness as holding one "like the eyes of a viper."

This man is known to have sold more than 20,000 pounds ($30,000) worth of property belonging to two families among the missing.

These are the families of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McSwan and their son Donald and Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Henderson.

Detectives also claim evidence that the man in question sold 1,500 pounds ($2,250) worth of war bonds that once belonged to the elder McSwan.

They are trying to learn who sold 1,000 pounds ($1,500) worth of jewelry identified as Mrs. Henderson's. This jewelry—a diamond bracelet and clip and engagement ring—was found in a Sussex shop.

The theory is that the killer shot all his victims and then did away with their corpses in sulphuric-acid baths in parts of London and nearby Sussex County. Scientists are trying to establish that debris from both spots contains human tissue.

There are signs that the murderer drank the blood of at least one of the dead, detectives said.

Scotland Yard is holding a man whose description tallies with that given by many witnesses.

To Talk Control Of Blue Mold

A blue mold control meeting for the farmers of Pitt county will be held at Guy Smith Stadium in Greenville next Thursday, according to an announcement made today by S. J. Weeks, assistant county agent.

Weeks said at the meeting types of equipment, new chemicals for treating blue mold, and methods of treating plant beds will be discussed.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock.

Only Time . . .

(Continued from page one) was in disfavor. Whether these mysterious moves may signal some new tactics in the cold war remains to be seen. In any event, I believe we can say this: Whatever change there may be in Soviet tactics, as I see it, there will be no alteration in the fundamental program of destroying capitalism and creating a Communist world. That goal always has been unchangeable.

That's about as far as we should go in speculation. World leaders are being chary about interpreting the Moscow mystery, pending further developments. They recognize that only a handful of people in the highest Soviet councils can read the Molotov riddle at this juncture.

Kiwanians Charter Key Club In Special Meet

Blazing Car In Ditch Sets Fire

State Highway Patrolman Dick Chadwick said today that a car registered in the name of W. M. Monk, colored, of Bell Arthur and driven by an unknown person, got out of control on the Farmville highway, near Piney Grove Church, early this morning and was wrecked. The car caught fire, and was destroyed and it set fire to woods. The occupants disappeared, he said.

The officer said evidence was that the car ran along the shoulder of the highway 60 feet, plunged into a deep ditch with water in it and then continued in the ditch about 90 feet.

Chadwick said County Fire Warden N. S. (Kid) Tyson, who lives nearby, was notified, and the warden and others put out the woods fire. Authorities are continuing the investigation.

Many Children See 'Peter Pan'

Approximately 800 children from Greenville schools listened in a thrilled silence or applauded and shouted enthusiastically as they saw Barrie's "Peter Pan" yesterday afternoon in a performance by the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina Teachers College. The young people, for whose benefit the performance was given, attend the Training School, the Third Street School, the West Greenville School and St. Raphael's Catholic School. Thirty faculty members and a number of student teachers from the college were also present for the play.

Joyce Corbett of Greenville in the title role of Barrie's fantasy delighted the young audience from her entrance until the final fight with Captain Hook, played by Elmer Williams, Jr. of Washington, and his pirate band. Nana, the dog played by Susie Jones of Halifax, and the big-jawed Crocodile, played by Ralph Rittly of Enfield, were favorites with the young people. The pirate band and a group of Indian braves, who smoked an enormous peace pipe and then cavorted in a spectacular war dance, were perhaps first in popular approval.

Others in the cast who gave first-rate performances were Susan Smith of Goldsboro and James Briley of Robersonville as the children Wendy and John; Virgil Clark of Greenville and Shirley Cowburn of Lumberton as Mr. and Mrs. Darling; and Lola Stephenson of Smithfield as the Indian queen Tiger Lily.

Lighting effects in the play were artistically planned by a committee headed by Hayden Beatty of Hay River. Especially attractive were the dancing lights indicating the presence of the fairy Tinker Bell and the red-purple glow surrounding the pirates in the battle scene. Make-up artists Evelyn Korneagy of Seven Springs, Ophelia Kirven of Sumter, S.C., and Norma Davis of Leaksville and the committee on costumes headed by Audrey Fessior of Lexington did expert work on the production.

Children attending Friday's matinee were especially delighted by an informal reception at the entrance of the Austin building, where they were given an opportunity to meet the cast still costumed for their roles in the play. A few wary youngsters balked at shaking hands with Pirate Captain Hook.

Orders Air Line To Pay For Seat

Tampa, Fla., March 5—(AP)—A federal jury here has ordered national air lines to pay $5,000 to a man it removed from a plane in favor of a regular customer. Albert E. Allsopp of Newark, N. J., told the jury a deputy sheriff was sent to remove him from the plane after he refused to agree to cancel his reservation only a few minutes before takeoff time.

Attlee Applauds Airlift Crew

Berlin, March 5—(AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Clement Attlee made a tour of Berlin's airlift this morning starting with Tempelhof Airfield. He was greeted by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in chief in Germany, and U.S. Ambassador Robert Murphy. Attlee inspected American troops drawn up at the airbase. "You are doing a grand job," Attlee told American airlift crewmen.

Better Control In Sawdust Fire

Peachland, N. C., March 5—(AP)—The great sawdust fire that has had this town's citizenry worried for the last three weeks was under better control today.

Two hose lines from Lane's Creek about 3-4 mile from the huge sawdust pile were pouring 400 gallons of water per minute on the blaze.

Since the first pump started working yesterday at 3 p. m., the fire has been "knocked down" greatly said Capt. Mack Munday, assistant fire chief of Charlotte.

At one of the most important meetings in its history the Kiwanis Club last night, a charter was presented to the recently organized Greenville Kiwanis Key Club, composed of 18 outstanding high school boys who were selected on special merit to become members of the Junior Kiwanis group.

Sam Northrop, Jr., is president; Walter Q. Wilson, vice-president; and Harvey Bradshaw, secretary-treasurer. Dr. John O. Reynolds of the ECTC faculty had charge of the exercises. Past President Nathan C. Brooks, "daddy" of the Key Club plan in Greenville, presented the charter.

George W. Willard, principal of the Wilson high school and advisor to the Key Club there, made an interesting talk outlining the spirit of Kiwanis Key Clubs and presented three officers of the Wilson Key Club.

Francis Joyner, the president, inducted President Northrop; Vice-President Roy Haldford inducted Vice-President Walter Wilson; and Secretary-Treasurer John E. Moore installed Secretary-Treasurer Harvey Bradshaw. They made interesting short speeches, and Greenville President Northrop responded eloquently. President Arthur Tripp, head of the Greenville club, presided. O. E. Dowd, principal of the high school, was named advisor to the Greenville Key Clubbers.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, dean of men at ECTC, recited a brief history of the Key Club's activities and praised Dr. Jenkins for his good work. It was pointed out that two of the youthful Greenville Key Club members had successfully passed a Navy Reserve Officers' Training Corps academic and physical examination and will receive four years' training at the college of their choice.

In addition to the three officers, Greenville Key Club members are Carl B. Denton, McDonald Bland, Rufus W. Stark, John B. Parley, Ruel W. Tysen, Jr., Tommie Lupton, Louis Clark, Dwight Garrett, Tommy Pace, Jack Nelson, Edward M. Foley, H. Lyndon Ormond Jr., Floyd Hendrix, Paul B. Conway and Rodney Fulcher.

The directors and officers last night officially set the date for the Kiwanis Club's annual minstrel for Wednesday and Thursday, April 13-14. Proceeds go to the underprivileged child fund.

Kiwanian Lee Roy Bell had a birthday and donated a nickel for each year of his age.

The Wilson Key Club presented the Greenville Key Club with a check to help it get started. The Greenville Kiwanis Club presented a secretary-treasurer's portfolio and Kiwanian Hugh T. Smith donated the Key Club emblem buttons.

'Host To World' Dies Of Illness

Hollywood, March 5—(AP)—Atwater Kent, host to Hollywood and the world at large, manufacturer and philanthropist, is dead.

The 78-year-old millionaire whose name was once synonymous with radios and later with parties, succumbed yesterday at his 12-acre mountain-top estate, Capo Di Monte, in swank Bel Air. His doctor said death was due to a virus infection complicated by a malignant condition.

Hollywood had known Kent was ailing since last fall when he discontinued social engagements.

Last summer Kent threw a series of lavish parties—one for 1,800 guests—at his showplace home.

He retired 12 years ago and came here after selling the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia. Hollywood wasn't long in meeting him.

He entertained opera and movie stars, society leaders, world known business and financial figures. His guest lists also included many names of little people who were his special friends. During the war he gave two or three parties a week for convalescing service men.

Less publicized but equally important to him were his more than 125 charities.

They were coordinated by the Atwater Kent Foundation, founded in 1919. It gave a museum to Philadelphia, restored the Betsy Ross home, financed broadcasts of the Metropolitan Opera, rewarded electrical engineering graduates and gave scholarships to countless deserving students. The Atwater Kent auditions presented $22,000 annually to young singers.

Students Of Music Department To Join In Sunday Program

Pupils of Elizabeth Drake of the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College will give a recital of music for two pianos Sunday afternoon, March 6, in the Austin auditorium on the campus at 4:00 o'clock. The recital is the first of its type to be offered at the college by the department of music.

Fourteen performers will appear on the program. Selections ranging from Bach and Beethoven numbers to American folk music will be played during the afternoon.

Students who will play will be Cecilia Willoughby, Creswell; Jean Shaver, Ransomville; Rodney Roberts, Greenville; Nina Abernethy, Rocky Mount; Barbara Massey, Pleasant Hill; Mary Wallace Foy, Pollockville; Annette Hughes SWillard; Robert Gaskins, New Bern; Edward Benson, Rocky Mount; William and Donald Adcock, Durham; Marilyn Maxwell, Greenville; and Rupert Browning Logan, W. Va.

Await Reply To Spuds Protest

Washington, March 5—(AP)—Senators from North Carolina and Maine today awaited a reply from the State Department on their protest that Canadian seed potatoes were reaching United States tables illegally.

Sen. Broughton (D-NC) protested in person yesterday. And Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) sent a letter on behalf of the Maine delegation to Secretary of State Acheson.

Prison Sentence Handed Thirteen

Budapest, Hungary, March 5—(AP)—Thirteen persons charged with black market money dealings in connection with the Josef Cardinal Mindszenty case were sentenced today to one to eight year prison terms.

Three of the 13 were Roman Catholic priests. One of these was Msgr. Imre Boka, who served the cardinal as treasurer. He was sentenced to four years in prison and loss of political rights for another five years. He was also fined 1,000 florints. ($8).

(Continued from page one) wage rises or depend upon new labor-saving machinery which is now being installed. Manufacturers ordered such machinery two or more years ago when they anticipated labor's demands, but it is just beginning to be delivered.

Employment Outlook. Statistics show that employment is gradually falling off. This, of course, is an important factor in connection with wages. When an idle man is standing behind an employed man waiting for his job, two things happen. First, the employed man works harder and does a better day's work; and secondly, he is not going to ask for any wage increase. People are spending less money due to the fact that they have been using up their war savings. This causes less demand for goods, which in turn, causes employers to lay off more help. Then the purchasing is still less. Hence, the vicious circle which has been over.

Authorizes Use Idle State Funds

Raleigh, March 5—(AP)—The Council of State, acting under a brand-new law, yesterday authorized immediate investment of $50,000,000 of idle state funds.

The money is now in banks without drawing interest.

State Treasurer Bradton Hodges said the money would be invested in U.S. certificates of indebtedness or Treasury bills maturing within 12 months, at interest averaging 1.2 percent.

Governor Scott said the $50,000,000 investment would raise the total of state money drawing interest to $108,000,000.

He emphasized, however, that the funds are "almost wholly allocated in advisory budget recommendations" and would be spent for state services during the next two years. A measure ratified by the General Assembly yesterday permits the investment of all cash balances not immediately needed.

Hodges also was authorized by the council to invest $248,000 accrued interest on the state's $30,000,000 postwar reserve fund, in short-term securities.

Kiwanis Minstrel

The Greenville Kiwanis Club's annual minstrel for the benefit of the underprivileged child fund will be held at Austin Auditorium at the college Wednesday and Thursday nights, April 13-14. The dates were set at a meeting of the officers and directors last night. Eli Bloom is producer of the show; Marie Smith Wallace is assistant.

Finish Evidence In Treason Trial

Washington, March 5—(AP)—The evidence in the "Axis Sally" treason trial is all in.

Final arguments by prosecuting and defense attorneys will begin Monday and continue into Tuesday. The jury is scheduled to receive the case either late that day or on Wednesday.

Testimony in the six-week-old trial of Mildred E. Gillars, 48, ended yesterday afternoon.

If convicted, Miss Gillars faces a possible death sentence. The minimum penalty for treason is five years in prison.

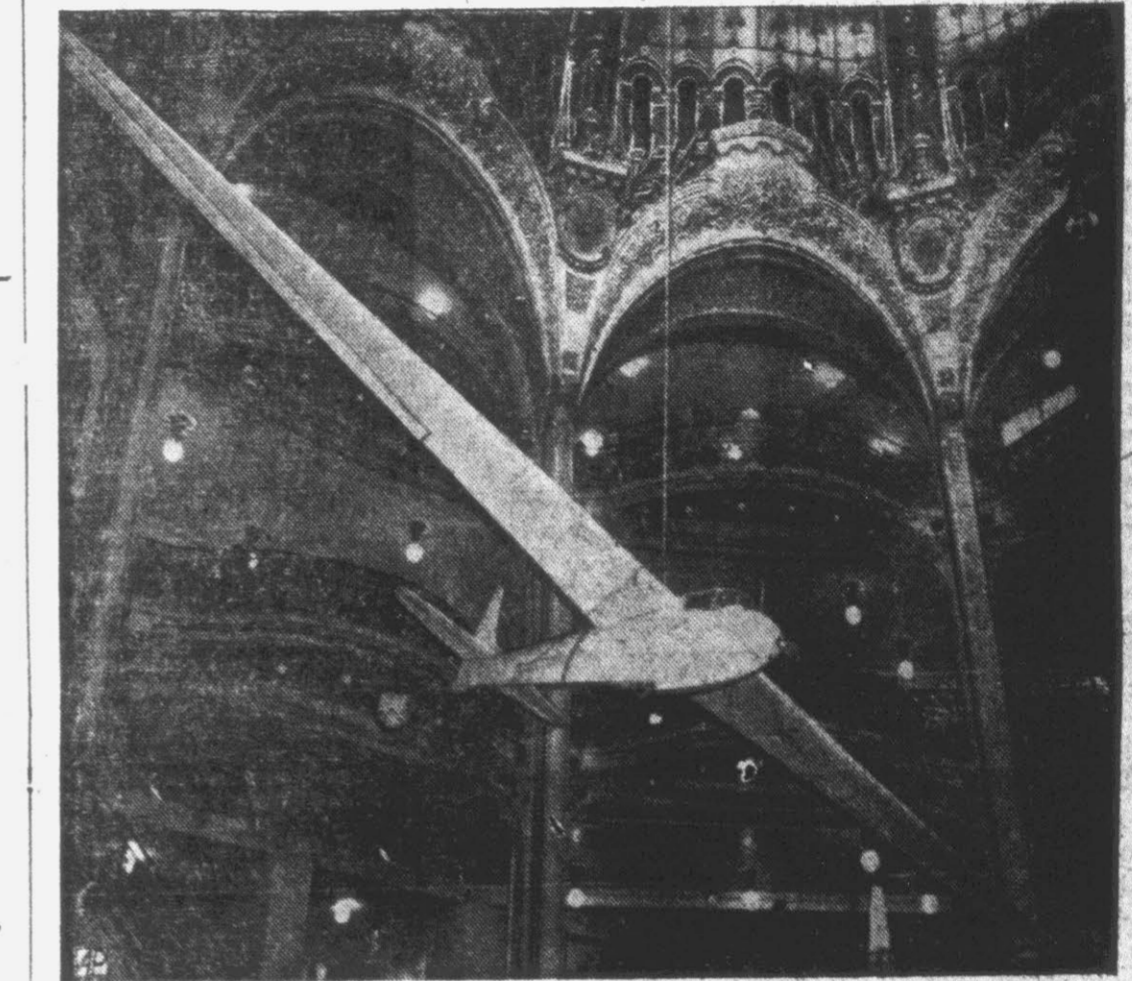

The jury, composed of seven men and five women, will decide whether the Maine-born defendant betrayed America to work for the wartime German radio.

Riding Backwards

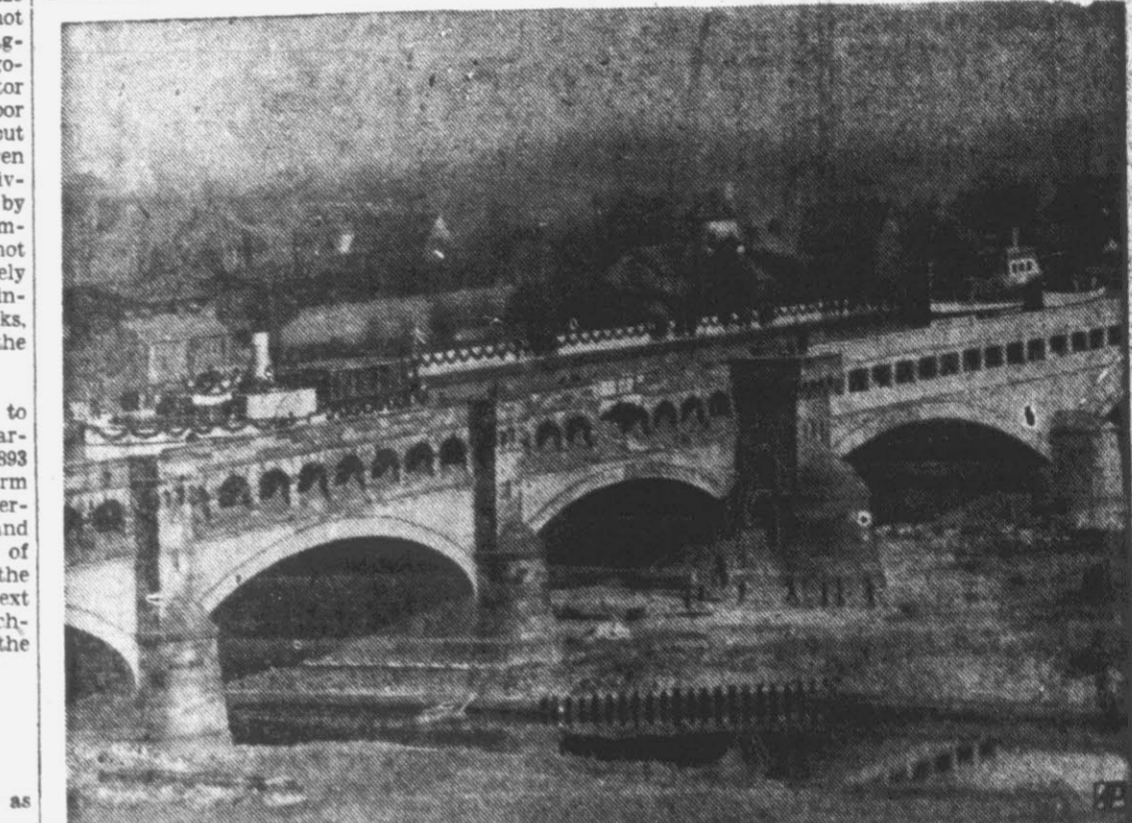

Riding a bicycle backwards in the southern part of the city Thursday about noon resulted in Donald E. Conway, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Kervin Conway, colliding with a truck and receiving painful, but not serious scratches and bruises, a police report states.

Earl P. Smith, driver of the truck, stopped and had the youngster sent to Pitt General Hospital, where he was given first aid and released. Police said no arrest was made.

Strength FOR THE DAY

FACING THE WIND
Lady Asquith, whose autobiography made such an extraordinary sensation in the English-speaking world when it appeared a few years ago, tells of how she met a beggar in the road one day and had an interesting talk with him. Before they separated, she asked him this interesting question: "How do you decide which way to go?" His answer was very significant. "I always go," he replied, "with the wind at my back."

He was a true tramp, a derelict, a drifter, a sinner, a ne'er-do-well. He never faced the wind or anything else in which there was opposition. When the wind blew, he turned his back on it and went the other way. He turned his back on duty, privilege, sacrifice, normal living. What he was interested in was to avoid the effort and discipline which facing the hard things of life would involve.

Airplanes take off against the wind. A kite stays in the air only against the wind. Every man who is worth his salt has some string-duty, faith, affectionate interest in someone else — which holds him against the wind. Only the slacker turns his back to the gale and finds his feeble satisfaction in going the easy way.

SOMETHING LACKING

The Senate Roads committee in the General Assembly favorably reported yesterday a make-shift measure providing for motor vehicle inspection by the State highway patrol.

That same committee rejected a sound proposal for a modified inspection program calling for one inspection annually for motor vehicles, and an inspection lane for each county.

Regardless of the inconveniences auto inspections may have caused some people in North Carolina, it proved to be a positive way of removing from the highways of the state many four-wheel death traps which annually caused high rates of life and property damage.

In the short period of time since the law was killed by the General Assembly, the flow of these menaces to public safety back into the traffic lanes of North Carolina has shown an alarming increase. They have come not only from the junk piles of our own state, but from neighboring states as well.

From the action of the Senate Roads committee, it seems that its members have realized the consequences which may result from the absence of an adequate inspection program, and in a feeble gesture to appease the aroused people of the state have approved a make-shift program which will not amount to a hill of beans.

Apparently the majority of the members of the Senate Roads committee just do not have the intestinal fortitude to rebuff certain high powered pressure groups, even in the interest of public safety.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

We doubt the wisdom of Governor Scott's recent action in appealing to the people of the state to march on Raleigh in the interest of his

America's Most Neglected Patient

"Go Forward" program. This business of marching on Raleigh, we believe, is a dangerous practice and is not the way that necessary legislation should be obtained. The purpose of these gatherings is to bring pressure on the legislators by sheer power of numbers and such a plan could work in reverse and retard progress.

The legislators are elected by the people in the various communities of the state and are sent to Raleigh to represent the wishes and desires of the people who elected them for the best interests of all the people of the state. Most all legislators get back home for the weekends and have the opportunity to find out first-hand what their constituents are thinking about matters before the assembly. We believe this method is far better than having thousands march upon Raleigh to try to frighten the legislators to act for or against certain legislation.

It is possible that some favorable legislation might be accomplished by this mob pressure method but at the same time, should a recession come and money get tight, similar marches on Raleigh could undo all the good that has been accomplished.

Frankly we don't believe that mob pressure on the General Assembly is for the best interests of our state.

Boyle's Column

By GEORGE TUCKER
New York (AP)—Some men left their war in the Pacific, but radio star Lanny Ross brought his back as a souvenir.

What made a hit with the navy in 1943 ought to be good for the public in 1949, he reassured. So he said to Cecil Abel, the Missionary at Kwato, New Guinea: "Cecil, I'd like to have you on my program some time. That is, if we ever get back."

Cecil Abel is a 46-year-old Anglo-Papuan whose idea of running a mission is unorthodox. He doesn't know what denomination he is supposed to be. His idea of saving souls is just teaching the natives to sing hymns on Sunday, and going to church.

"We don't bother about forcing the native beliefs into civilized sweaters and slacks," he said. "I guess you'd say our job is to straighten out their thinking."

So the war passed, and one day not long ago Cecil Abel came to the United States.

"I suppose you could say some of my dearest friends are cannibals," said Cecil. "A Cannibal who doesn't eat you is inexpressibly dear."

"They're still operating?"

"Well, back in the mountains. I remember an old lady they killed in 1940. They offered me a taste. Long pig, they called it. I can tell you, people are mighty good eating."

"Oh, of course, I haven't eaten any myself. But I've eaten lots of Dugong. That's seaweed. A chief once told me there was absolutely no difference in the taste of people and Dugong. Maybe Dugong was a little tenderer."

"As for head hunters—a quick way to make a head hunter mad is to call him Cannibal. They abhor human flesh. They only decapitate you."

The cannibals are sort of looked down on by the head hunters."

The Kwato mission was started 60 years ago by Abel's father, who survived head hunters for 40 years and went home to England, only to be killed in an automobile accident.

"I remember my father holding me up when I was a little lad. He was showing me to the Cannibals and he cried, 'here's the young man who'll head this mission when I'm gone. You wouldn't eat him would you, if you had the chance?'"

A wrinkled old warrior grinned toothlessly and said, "we have the

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—People in the District of Columbia pay about 50 per cent less tax on alcoholic beverages than people in most of the states, a recent study by the Distilled Spirits Institute shows.

The District ranked 11th from the bottom among states in amount of revenue derived per person from distilled spirits and beer in 1947. The per person load was only $3.69.

Officials faced with a prospective $18,000,000 deficit in the coming year's District of Columbia budget plan to up the taxes on the stuff.

They have drafted legislation to double all local liquor fees and taxes. They hope to get Congress to pass a $10,000,000 sales tax to get a "balanced budget."

They point out that the district is severely limited in revenue-raising possibilities. Forty-two percent of the land, they explain, is owned by the federal government and 10 per cent by embassies, churches and the district—all tax exempt. They also say that when income tax time comes around only 154,000 persons out of the population pay any type of direct taxes.

"The district is broke—something has got to be done," they say.

Friends say that Mrs. Walter George, wife of the Democratic senator from Georgia, often warns her husband his speeches are likely to be too long.

The senator argues: "Well, it takes 20 minutes for a speaker to get warmed up."

"And it takes only 15 minutes for an audience to get cold," retorts the little woman.

Rivers beckoned to de Villivrac.
"Will you be good enough to pass the word to the ladies that I would appreciate their presence here at their early convenience?" he requested, and hid a fleeting grin.

They appeared presently, arm in arm. Irene's glance fixed on the French ship, and Rivers saw that she understood.
"Trouble?" she asked.

"Hardly that," Rivers said. "A misunderstanding, which is by way of being corrected. Though they emphasize their threats with a shore battery. Would you like to take a look?"

He handed her the glass. Irene gave an exclamation.

your ears alone."
Rivers led the way to his cabin.
Once the door was closed, his visitor turned with a laugh.
"These whiskers, they itch most infernally," he said, and wrenched them off, to reveal the blandly smiling face of Don Fernando!

Rivers eyed him, more surprised than he cared to confess. The disguise, with a stain of berry juice, was excellent.
"You are a bold man, Don Fernando, to come here in such a fashion," he commented.

"Bold?" Don Fernando repeated.
"Assuredly, to trust myself to so cranky a craft. But how do you mean? As one friend to another, I think I have done excellently."

He looked about, smiling broadly.
"I see that Donna Dolores is with you, and even my sister, looking more bewitching than ever - though she eyed me as such company, it must be most interesting, eh?"

"I find it so," Rivers agreed dryly.
Don Fernando's voice took on a serious tone.

"But you surprise me," he said.
"I expected you to remain in New Orleans, to hold the public eye."

"You may have noticed that de Villivrac is serving in place of Martinez?" Rivers replied caustically.

"No, I had not noticed. Is that significant?"

"I found it so, when Martinez tried to murder me."
"Who murdered you? Murder? The mutinous dog!"

"Was it mutiny?" Rivers queried softly. "He knew that I was not you.
And he assured some of the crew
that he was acting at your orders, Don Fernando."

"Ah! Now I begin to perceive your meaning. But I assure you, it was not at my orders. Are we not agreed to work together, for our mutual profit?"

"Are we? Only last evening, I was being entertained in your stead at the house of the Montforts."

"But, of course, I am much interested in the details of that.
Though I see, as I had counted on, that you were able to uphold the Gonzales tradition. Else you would not be here."

Rivers eyed him in amazement, half believing against his better judgment.

"You fought with Bashan, I suppose?" Don Fernando asked.

"And gave him a taste of steel."
"Ah, well, that is excellent, considering that he is a swordsman of note. But as to this affair of Martinez, now - tell me what happened?"

"I was returning to the Royal when he took a shot at me - in the back. Afterward I heard him assuring his men that I was dead, and at your orders. He was so convincing that they now believe me to really be here."

"So that is it." Don Fernando fingered his chin, scowling. "My friend, let me ask you. Would I be such a fool as to come here, alone, if I had been guilty of such a thing?"

"If you expected to find Martinez in command, you might."

"That is a point," Don Fernando conceded. "But consider, I saw you on the deck, long before I drew near. I could easily have turned about in the dark, had I been troubled with an uneasy conscience."

Ayden Cagers Meet Arthur And Bethel In County Finals

Arthur Girls Score Way Into Play-Off By Trimming Grifton; Ayden Takes Two Wins And Bethel Boys Easily Top Farmville

Last Night's Results (Semi-Finals)
Arthur 42, Grifton 34 (Girls)
Bethel 47, Farmville 32 (Boys)
Ayden 27, Farmville 21 (Girls)
Ayden 43, Winterville 32 (Boys)

Tonight's Games (Finals)
7:30—Arthur vs. Ayden (Girls)
8:45—Bethel vs. Ayden (Boys)

By BERT MOYE

The top-seeded Bethel quint and the second-seeded Ayden quint to the boys' division both advanced to the finals of the Pitt County tournament last night as the Bethel boys defeated the Farmville quint 47 to 32, and the Ayden lads advanced with a win over Winterville 43 to 32. In the girls' division the fourth-seeded Arthur sextette pulled an upset by defeating the top-seeded Grifton lasses, 42 to 34; and the Ayden sextette defeated the Farmville girls, winners of last year's county tournament, 27 to 21.

Arthur 42, Grifton 34 (Girls)
In a game marked by thrill after thrill the fourth-seeded Arthur girls pulled a big upset in the opening game of the semifinals last night as they handed the top-seeded Grifton girls a 42 to 34 defeat.

During the first half of the game the score was tied on five different occasions—2-all, 7-all, 14-all, 16-all and 20-all. The lead changed from one team to another with Grifton having the lead on five different occasions and the Arthur team being in the lead on seven different occasions, however there was not one point difference during the first half, which ended 22 to 21 in favor of the Arthur girls.

In the start of the third period a field goal by Edna Earle Braxton put the Grifton girls out front 23-22, but two field goals and two free throws by Virginia Crawford free of the Arthur team put the Arthur girls in front for the rest of the game, after which they were never headed.

Virginia Crawford led the attack of the Arthur sextette with a total of 26 points for the night. Virginia Moxing with 9 points was second high. Edna Earle Braxton and Nell Mumford got 14 points each to pace the losers.

Bethel 47, Farmville 32 (Boys)
Coach Walter Latham's Bethel Indians had little difficulty advancing to the finals in last night's game as they checked up a 47 to 32 win over the fourth-seeded Farmville quint. Bethel went out in front in the early minutes of play and as the half ended were out front 8 to 3 holding the Farmville quint to three lone points during this first quarter. As the half ended Bethel boys had piled up a 26 to 15 lead; and at the end of the third quarter were out front 36 to 23.

Bill Smith and William Earle House with 11 points each set the pace for the Bethel boys. Albritton and King, with 9 and 8 points respectively, led the losers attack.

Ayden 27, Farmville 21 (Girls)
The Ayden girls downed the Farmville sextette, 27 to 21, in the third game of semifinals play, in a game which was marked by close play throughout. The Ayden girls went out in front in the early minutes of play and led all through the first half. At the end of the first quarter the Ayden lasses were out front 6 to 1; and at the half were leading 11-9.

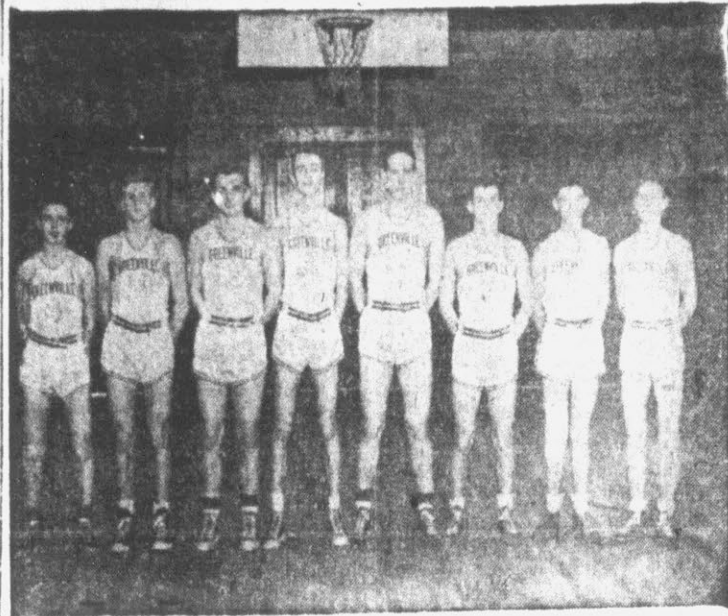

In the start of the third quarter the score became tied at 11-all, but Janice Turnage of Ayden made good on a field goal to put the Ayden girls out front for the rest of the game, after which they were never headed. At the end of the third quarter Ayden was leading 19 to 14.

Janice Turnage with 17 points led the attack of the Ayden girls while her teammate, Helen Joyce Whitehurst accounted for the other 10 points. D. Hathaway with 9 points led the losers.

Ayden 43, Winterville 32 (Boys)
In the final game of semifinals play the Ayden boys defeated the Winterville quint 43 to 32, in a hard fought game. During the first half the lead changed hands several times with Ayden out front three times and the Winterville team out front twice. At the end of the first quarter the Ayden lads were leading 9-7; and at the half ended had a 19-17 advantage.

The Winterville boys managed to knot the count at 21-all in the third

Will Represent ECTC In North State Meeting

Frank Toothman of Ayden and Lawrence Posey of Greenville will represent East Carolina Teachers' College at a meeting of students in colleges of the North State Athletic Conference at Catawba College, Salisbury, March 19. The two East Carolina students were recently appointed as delegates by the legislature of the college Student Government Association.

Catawba College is sponsoring the meeting and arranging details of the program. Creation of a better spirit of sportsmanship in and among colleges of the North State Conference is the purpose of the meeting. All member colleges have been invited to attend.

Toothman and Posey are prominent in student affairs on the East Carolina campus and will probably be candidates for the presidency of the Student Government Association when elections are held on the campus March 18.

Highest Scoring Quints Clash In SEC Semifinals

Louisville, Ky., March 5—(AP)—Kentucky, Tulane, Tennessee and Louisville State, highest scoring semifinalists in the history of Southeastern Conference basketball play, promised some furious action in the showdown of their title scrap today.

It was favored Kentucky against third-seeded Tennessee in the opener of the semi-windup. Second-seeded Tulane faced fourth-seeded Louisiana State in the afterpiece.

Louisiana State, the tourney's comeback king, whipped Vanderbilt in a 60-56 thriller. Tulane survived a record 92-62 scoring duel with Georgia. Tennessee took Mississippi, 4-49. Kentucky coasted over Auburn, 70-39.

period, but a field goal by Billy Jenkins, center, put the Ayden boys out front for the rest of the game. At the end of the third quarter the Ayden boys were leading by a 31 to 28 margin.

Billy Jenkins, center, and Jim McCormick, guard, with 12 and 10 points respectively, led the attack for Ayden. Tom Castelleo accounted for half of Winterville's points by scoring a total of 16 points while Averette with 8 points was second high.

Dolphins Retain Swimming Title

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 5—(AP)—The University of North Carolina Blue Dolphins held the 1949 Southern Conference swimming championship today with four more events still to be run off.

Successfully defending the title they won last year, the Tar Heel swimmers grabbed all six of last night's events on top of Thursday's 1,500-meter freestyle opener.

Going into today's events the scores stood: North Carolina 79, Duke 19, N. C. State 17, V. M. I. and Virginia Tech 5.

Finals to be run off tonight include the 100 yard freestyle, 150 yard individual medley, 440 yard freestyle, and 300 yard Medley relay.

Dick Twining of North Carolina broke the conference 200 yard breaststroke record twice in yesterday's action. He swam it in two minutes, 25.4 seconds in a preliminary heat and 1 second faster in the final. The old record was 2:25.3 set by Bill Kelly of North Carolina in 1945. Kelly is now enrolled at N. C. State.

Promoter Louis May Sign Willie

Havana, March 5—(AP)—Willie Pep, the featherweight king, may become the first current boxing champion to sign with Promoter Joe Louis.

Pep regained the title from Sandy Saddler in New York last month under the sponsorship of the 20th Century Sporting Club. He is not tied up to any promoter currently.

His manager, Lou Viscusi, said he was negotiating with Louis to stage a featherweight title fight in New York this summer.

Want All Teams Play In. Tourney

Durham, N. C., March 5—(AP)—Basketball coaches in the Southern conference want all 16 teams to participate in next year's tournament.

That was the consensus of the coaches attending a meeting during the circuit's 28th annual tournament.

The coaches' sentiment doesn't make it a rule. It's merely a recommendation. Such a move would have to go to the conference basketball committee and then to the main conference body for action.

While there was not much said against the proposition, plenty of arguments were advanced in its favor.

Chief among these was the feeling that expansion of the field from eight to 16 would permit many teams to gain valuable tournament experience which they would not otherwise get.

At a round table discussion the behavior of spectators was discussed. Banks McPadden of Clemson, who has studied the matter for a year at the behest of the organization, said things have improved over last season.

The coaches thought crowd behavior could be further improved and they plan to ask the cooperation of all conference publications and student leaders toward this end.

Big Flying Boat Breaks Records With Passengers

San Francisco, March 5—(AP)—The giant flying boat, Caroline Mars, workhouse of the air, laid claim today to all records for passenger loads.

The Caroline landed here yesterday with 269 persons aboard, the greatest number ever carried in any type of aircraft.

The six crew members and 263 navy men being transferred to this area made the flight from San Diego in two hours and 41 minutes.

The performance topped the previous passenger load record of the dirigible Akron which carried 232 persons on a flight in 1933.

Last month the Caroline set a heavier-than-air craft record by bringing 222 persons up from San Diego. That flight erased the record of 169 persons carried by the German Dornier plane over Lake Constance, Switzerland, in 1929.

Speed Request For Extradition

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 4—(AP)—A New York request for extradition of two accused "Lonely Hearts" swindle slayers was being sped to Michigan today.

Authorities here awaited New York's formal service of papers asking custody of Raymond M. Fernandez, 34, and Martha Beck 29, charged with three murders.

If extradited, the pair may face New York's electric chair for the slaying of middle-aged Mrs. Janet Fay of Albany, N.Y.

Although the word "Yankee" is the most popular national nickname, its origin is debated by scholars.

Hogan Continues His Recovery

El Paso, Tex., March 5—(AP)—Golfier Ben Hogan continued to improve today following a two-hour operation Thursday to halt movement of blood clots to vital parts of his body.

Hogan suffered multiple injuries to the lower part of his body Feb. 2 in an automobile-bus crash. Last Wednesday a blood clot, moving upward from the injured areas, threatened his life. A major vein was tied off to prevent more blood clots from moving upward. It was an abdominal operation.

On To Atlanta

Bell Arthur, March 5—The Bell Arthur Veterans of the Tobacco Belt League left Friday night for Atlanta, Georgia, to enter the American Basketball Congress tournament. They play the Atlanta Rebels Sunday afternoon.

A number of people and business firms helped in sponsoring the trip of the basketball team, among them: Guy V. Smith, Reynolds May, H. L. Hodges, Hoyt A. Minges, J. G. Clark, Flanagan Buggy Co., Edwards Hardware, V. A. Merritt and Sons, Teel Dry Cleaners, Grand Avenue Grocery, Mark Smith, Bruce Strickland, College View Cleaners, Chester Worthington, Hubert Crawford, Mrs. Guy Sutton, and John Lautares.

Those making the Atlanta trip, are: Curtis Nichols, Calvin Warren, John Erwin, Robert Jones, Jr., Louis Colie, Blainey Moyer, Waddell Manning, Mike Kovack, Kenneth Nichols, and Wallace Curganus.

List Nominations For Derby Event

Louisville, Ky., March 5—(AP)—Churchill Downs announced today 113 nominations for the Kentucky Derby's diamond jubilee running May 7.

The list includes most of last year's leading two-year-olds and is headed by J. M. Roebing's Blue Peter, the 1948 juvenile champion. There are four more potential Derby winners than last year, when 109 nominations were filed.

The Derby, America's oldest continuous turf event, is open to three-year-old colts, fillies and geldings. It is run at one mile and a quarter. Col. Matt J. Winn, 87-year-old head of Churchill Downs, said he expects the greatest Derby of them all this time. And he has seen everyone of previous 74 runnings of the colorful event.

"This should prove the greatest in every respect," Winn said, "and the way I see it, the most wide open Derby in years."

The Derby again will feature a purse of $100,000 added money. Its value to the winner will depend upon the number of starters, but usually it ranges between $80,000 and $90,000.

Fans Aware Anything Can Happen At Durham Tonight

Durham, March 5—(AP)—Fans who haven't seen the first days' Southern Conference basketball tournament action are hereby warned to come prepared for anything when North Carolina State meets Gorge Washington tonight for the title.

Just about everything in the books has happened in this 28th annual event.

The topper of them all came in last night's windup when George Washington took a hair-raising 78-74 three overtime period decision from William and Mary.

That unprecedented marathon followed a scorching 49-40 regulation struggle in which N. C. State advanced over arch-rival North Carolina, a team it had humbled by 71 points in two earlier meetings this year.

Records fell in clusters in the George Washington - William and Mary heart-stopper that had 9,000 fans goggle-eyed.

Chet Giermak, the 6-4 Chicago junior, was outstanding in defeat for the Indians. He racked up 38 points for a new tournament record. He made 31 in the regulation time alone to pass the old standard of 28, set nine years ago by North Carolina's George Glamack. He added five in the first two five minute special sessions before a leg injury forced him out with two minutes gone in the third overtime.

The longest tournament game on record was a two-overtime game in which South Carolina edged North Carolina, 34-32, in the 1933 semifinals.

The total of 152 points was a dozen more than the mark set only the day before when North Carolina routed Maryland, 79-61.

George Washington had to stage the toughest sort of a fight to gain its final berth. Trailing by 36-24 at the half, the Colonials were kept alive in the last two minutes when Maynard Heathcock canned two foul shots to tie it at 62-61.

The first overtime ended at 65-all and the second 69-69.

Starting the final overtime George Washington had four of its five starters out on fouls, but the subs came through handsomely.

Golden Gloves Fighter Is Duplicate Of Young Louis

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—A dead pan light heavyweight, reminiscent of Joe Louis' stalking style, set 20,836 tongues wagging today over his terrific punching prowess.

The fistic newcomer, with potential heavyweight championship possibilities, is Westbury Bascom, 20 year old Negro U. S. Mail carrier of East St. Louis, Ill. He exploded his dynamic liden fists in the finals of the 22nd annual Golden Gloves tournament of champions in the Chicago stadium last night to score two technical knockouts.

Bascom first registered a 27 second technical knockout over Denver's highly touted Herb Moore in the semi finals. He came back to stop Piero Jackson, Henderson, Ky. Kentucky State College football player, in the third and final round of their 175-pound championship bout.

Bascom is a duplicate of the Brown Bomber's ringstyle. He punches powerfully and straight with either hand and knows what to do in avoiding his opponent's blows. He had Jackson bleeding and tottering from vicious rights and lefts to the chin and disposed of Moore in championship fashion.

Louis won the golden gloves heavyweight title in 1934 and went on to top the world's championship.

make the bigtime. Even Manager Joe McCarthy thinks so.

Dropo was here last spring. He was a sensation in the exhibitions but it was obvious that he needed more experience.

"I think I'll stick this time," he said. He wasn't bragging—just confident.

"Joe McCarthy took me aside last year," he said. "He told me I was going to Louisville which really owned me anyhow. McCarthy said don't press. Just go down there and have a good year."

"I couldn't get started at Louisville. They had Jerry White, the guy who played first for the Browns. They put him in the outfield because they had orders to keep me on first. After about a month I was barely hitting .200, just couldn't get going. Then I went to Birmingham and hit about .359."

It was exactly 359 and Dropo drove in 102 runs with 163 hits, including 14 homers, as the Baron won the Southern Association playoffs and Dixie World Series.

Law Fixing Stiff Penalty In Sport Bribes Signed As Accused Is Freed

Philadelphia, March 5—(AP)—A bill fixing stiff penalties for bribery in sports events in Pennsylvania was signed into a law a few hours after 33-year-old Morris (Moxie) Fleishman was acquitted of charges of trying to bribe basketball star Joe Fuiks.

Fleishman was indicted under an old law making it a misdemeanor to bribe or attempt to bribe an employee.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt dismissed Fleishman yesterday saying the state failed to show that money was offered to Fuiks, high-scoring star of the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America.

Shortly afterwards at Harrisburg Governor James H. Duff signed the bill that fixes a maximum penalty of three years in jail and a $3,000 fine on any one tampering with a sports participant—whether money changes hands or not.

Fuiks testified that Fleishman made no offer of money but suggested that he throw games. He quoted Fleishman as saying: "Other guys are making money throwing games. Why don't you?"

Rookie Promises Stay With Club

Sarasota, Fla., March 5—(AP)—Natives of this circus-minded city have a new exhibit in Walter Dropo, strapping Boston Red Sox rookie, whose practice wallops are gargantuan, colossal and stupendous.

Fuiks fed on a winter diet of Ringling Brothers' gaudiest adjectives have no trouble finding the right word for Walter, a 6-foot-5-inch first baseman from Moosup, Conn.

"Did you see where that Dropo hit one today?"

That's a sure conversation-stopper in the wooden bleachers at Payne Field. So far, he really is something.

Now Dropo may very well wind up in Louisville or Birmingham when the pitchers start looking that ball—he's been playing ball for only two years. But whether it's this season or next, he's a sure bet to
