Fear Set-Back In Filibuster Fight

Senate Demo Leader Concedes Other Legislation More Important Than Winning Filibuster Fight; Hopes Pinned On Barkley Ruling

Washington, March 10—(AP)—A Senate administration leader said today he would rather drop the anti-filibuster drive than let rent controls expire.

He was Senator Myers (D-Pa.) the deputy senate Democratic leader. Myers' expression was in response to questions from Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) at a session of the Senate banking committee.

Myers had come before the committee to urge extension of rent controls for 27 months beyond March 31 when the present law expires.

Fulbright is one of the Dixie Senators fighting the administration's move to get an anti-filibuster rule adopted by the Senate. The southerners are filibustering to save the right of filibuster.

While Myers said keeping rent control is more important in his view than winning the filibuster fight, he also said the situation does not force a choice at this time. No rent control bill is yet ready for Senate action.

However, Myers' statement pointed out the possibility that the administration will drop its anti-filibuster drive if it can't win in the next few days.

The administration's hopes are pinned heavily on an expected ruling by Vice-President Barkley that a two-third vote can gag Senate debate at any time.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, all but said outright that if this move fails, there is no hope now for early enactment of President Truman's civil rights program.

"If we can't stop this filibuster, we've done all we can do," he said. He said he plans to push the issue to a vote sometime tomorrow but this schedule was subject to last minute changes. Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) was ready to keep the Dixie filibuster going.

Lucas contended that administration forces are gaining in strength—largely through picking up some Republican support they hadn't expected.

"I have never given up hope that we can break the filibuster," he said.

Lucas indicated strongly that even if the Senate supports Barkley's expected ruling on a debate-limiting closure petition to be filed today, efforts to change the Senate rules may be dropped at this time.

That's how the filibuster started—in a southern attempt to block action on a resolution by Senators Hayden (D-Ariz.) and Wherry (R-Neb.) to permit two thirds of those voting to curb debate.

A housing bill is ready for the Senate. The House-approved reciprocal trade agreement act may be ready next week. Rent control expires March 31. All of these have been impeding the Democratic leaders toward a showdown.

Lucas hopes that Barkley will be upheld by a favorable vote tomorrow on the ruling expected from the vice-President were vigorously disputed from the camp of southern Democrats.

A poll made by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) indicated that if all senators voted, 50 would oppose gagging debate now.

On the other hand, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said the Barkley ruling is getting unexpected strength from Republicans.

A closure petition circulated yesterday by Lucas was signed by 17 Democrats and 16 Republicans. Lucas said "three or four" other Senators may sign it later.

Instrument Of Peace

Atlantic Pact Designed To Make Aggressive War Unprofitable; Less Fear Of War; Counter-Action By Communists; Loose Alliance Already Seen By Communists

By DeWITT MacKEE, ZEN

The North Atlantic Alliance, which finally has been approved in draft form by all parties, is generally described as a defensive pact—a back handed way of putting a war more telling fact.

It is designed to be a powerful instrument for the maintenance of peace.

Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, whose country is one of the subscribers to the Alliance, emphasized this point in a speech in Montreal the other day. He said:

"For my part, I am convinced that the surest and most practical way of assuring maintenance of peace is to bring about as soon as possible the union of nations friendly to peace."

So the ideal situation would be for all nations to be so peace-minded that war would be outlawed. However, we haven't reached that happy stage, As St. Laurent doesn't doubt that war is avoidable—and I am sure that if we can avoid it, we can avoid it by making most elementary realism to consider war an impossibility.

Rural Roads Win Initial Test In Report To House

Finance Committee Approves Bond Election And Gasoline Tax Boost

Raleigh, N. C., March 10—(AP)—With a rousing "aye" vote, the House finance committee today gave its approval to Governor Scott's rural roads program.

The committee voted favorable reports to:

1. A bill calling for a statewide election on issuance of $200,000,000 in rural road bonds.

2. A bill to boost the state's gasoline tax from six to seven cents per gallon.

The committee approved an amendment by Rep. J. Frank Hunkins of Yancey which specifies the amount each county would receive of the $200,000,000.

The committee killed an amendment by Rep. E. A. Greene of Hoke which would have made the gasoline tax increase contingent upon approval of the bond issue by the people.

By a voice vote the committee voted down an amendment by Rep. Sam O. Worthington of Pitt to set June 14 as date for the bond election. The bill now provides the election would be held prior to July 1 on a date to be set by Governor Scott.

The bills may come up for consideration by the House tomorrow. Meanwhile, Senator R. Grady Rankin of Gaston, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, said his group probably would defer action on its rural roads measure until after the House has acted.

The Senate measure has been amended to reduce the proposed bond issue to $100,000,000 and to make the tax levy contingent upon approval by the voters of the bond issue.

The House Finance committee also killed a bill which would have given cities a greater share of the highway fund.

Mercury Again To Take A Drop

(By The Associated Press)
Carolina peach growers and farmers generally were saying today, "here we go again," as the forecast indicated winter was returning for a brief engagement.

The weatherman predicted the mercury would dip possibly to sub-freezing levels in sections of both states tonight.

Lows were expected to range between 25 and 30 degrees in the mountains and 30 to 35 in the rest of North Carolina.

New ABC Bill

Raleigh, March 10—(AP)—Any incorporated town in North Carolina would be entitled to vote on establishment of ABC liquor store under a measure tossed into the House hopper today.

The measure, which was introduced by Rep. Burt Harrison of Craven, was referred to the House Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

Hardison's measure would provide that governing boards of the town would call elections upon petition of 15 per cent of the registered and qualified voters.

The measure also would permit elections in any municipality on the closing of ABC stores. Elections under the act could not be held often than once every two years.

Police Announce Confessions By Pair In Daring Train Robbery

Washington, March 10—(AP)—Police reported a confession today from two suspects seized in the daring Martinsburg, W. Va., train robbery.

The two were trapped by police today in a Washington pawnshop near the White House.

One was shot when he drew a pistol.

Police Lieut. John E. Winters, who said the pair confessed, named them as Luman Ramsdell, 23, 1711 Wellington Street, Youngstown, Ohio, and George Llewellyn Ashton, 21, 122 Kenmore Avenue, also of Youngstown.

Winters said policeman Elwood Lomax fired when Ramsdell drew a .45 caliber revolver.

Ramsdell was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach.

The two were captured 15 hours after two young gunmen halted the Baltimore and Ohio's westbound Ambassador train yesterday near Martinsburg, terrorized passengers and escaped with more than $1,000. Ramsdell and his partner were found in the pawnshop by officers searching the area on a tip that two young men resembling the train robbers had got off a bus from the train robbery area.

Police said they took a .38 caliber revolver from Ramsdell, with four exploded shells and one loaded shell. From Ashton they said they took a .45 caliber pistol, also loaded, about five blocks from the White House, soon after the shooting said they found several hundred dollars in the men's pockets, in bills ranging from $1 to $20 denomination. They expressed belief it was part of the train robbery loot.

The detectives said they asked both men directly: "Did you help rob the train in West Virginia last night?"

"Yes," was the answer in both cases, the officers said.

Dr. Thomas G. Edison, physician at the hospital where the wounded man was taken, said a .38 caliber bullet entered Ramsdell's left side at the 10th rib and came out on the right at the 12th rib.

The bullet missed the heart by about two inches, the doctor said.

Danish Minister Plans Confer On Pact Terms

Expected To See Acheson And Other Officials On Visit; Believe Replies Will Result In Entry To Atlantic Group

Washington, March 10—(AP)—Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen traveled here today for first hand information on the North Atlantic security treaty. The answers he gets will help his government decide whether to sign up.

He is expected to confer with Secretary of State Acheson and other American officials in the course of a brief visit. After this, diplomatic authorities believe, Denmark will formally align itself with the Atlantic pact powers.

Danish membership in the alliance is considered highly important. This is so not only because of Denmark's location in Western Europe, but also because that country holds the island of Greenland with its strategic bases guarding North Atlantic sea and air routes.

The status of these bases under the projected Atlantic treaty may be one of the matters which brings Rasmussen here.

The United States still has in Greenland air stations established during the last war. Negotiations regarding their final disposition have been going on with the Danish government for almost two years.

The American government has been anxious to retain the bases which military strategists consider essential to the defense of the Western Hemisphere. Under the new strategy of joint North American-Western European defense the bases gain additional importance because of the need to keep open oceanic transportation routes between the two continents.

This is true of several other island positions also. The republic of Iceland and the Azores, which belong to Portugal, have similar strategic importance.

Authorities here hope that Iceland and Portugal also will become members of the North Atlantic security system.

Listened While Daughter Slain 3,000 Miles Away

New York, March 10—(AP)—Two men and a woman died in a blast of gunfire last night while a mother 3,000 miles away listened by telephone to her daughter's dying screams for mercy.

Police said Emory Holt, 32, apparently suspicious of a love triangle, called his wife's mother in Hollywood, and said:

"I am sorry for what I am going to do."

With the telephone circuit still open, police said, he shot his attractive, brunette wife, Norma, 34, and David Whittaker, 32, an executive in the firm where she worked, then killed himself.

It was a call from the panic-stricken mother, Mrs. Elsie Thomas, that led police to the scene of the triple-shooting in Whittaker's 16th-floor apartment in Terrace, a huge apartment house.

Under the bill, highest increases in postal rates would be for second class mail, which covers newspapers, magazines and other publications.

"I certainly am not willing to see

Mrs. Thomas left Hollywood by plane for New York shortly after the shooting.

Neighbors at her Hollywood home said she told them she had pleaded with Holt not to carry out his threats, but he replied, "It's too late, Mama."

Police said Mrs. Thomas heard her daughter crying and pleading with Holt for mercy, then screams and a series of shots. Silence followed.

Mrs. Holt's body was found on a couch. She was shot in the chest and behind the left ear.

Beside her was Whittaker. He had been shot in the left forearm, right temple and left side.

Holt's body was collapsed over a chair, a bullet hole through his heart. An automatic pistol still was grasped in his left hand, police said, and a box of cartridges was found in his pocket.

Says Postal Rate Hike Will Never Hurt Press

Washington, March 10—(AP)—Chairman Johnston (D-SC) of the Senate Post Office committee said today "postal rates should never penalize the small newspapers."

Johnston said that while he helped introduce a bill to adjust postal rates at the request of Postmaster General Donaldson, he may not support some of its sections.

Under the bill, highest increases in postal rates would be for second class mail, which covers newspapers, magazines and other publications.

Johnston said that while he helped introduce a bill to adjust postal rates at the request of Postmaster General Donaldson, he may not support some of its sections.

smaller daily and weekly newspapers—whose continued existence is essential to the free and independent dissemination of local, state and national news—penalized severely," Johnston said.

"I think that our government should, in part, subsidize the widespread distribution of as many new organs as possible."

Donaldson told a House Postoffice committee this week the issue now is "whether the Post Office department is to be a service agency subsidized by government, or a business operation as recommended by the Hoover Commission."

Johnston said that while he helped introduce a bill to adjust postal rates at the request of Postmaster General Donaldson, he may not support some of its sections.

Spy Indictment Handed Down By Federal Jurors

Four-Count Indictment Returned Against Government Worker And Russian

New York, March 10—(AP)—A federal grand jury today returned a four-count espionage indictment against Judith Coplon, Department of Justice analyst, and Valentin A. Gubitchev, Russian engineer employed by the United Nations.

One count said Miss Coplon delivered to Gubitchev "information relating to the national defense, to wit, documents, writings and notes containing intelligence reports relating to espionage and counter-espionage activities in the United States."

The two were arrested here last Friday night after FBI agents had trailed them through Manhattan streets.

Gubitchev was suspended from his UN post Saturday. Officials of the world organization said he did not have diplomatic immunity although Soviet officials have unsuccessfully sought his release.

The other counts charged that: Miss Coplon and Gubitchev conspired between themselves and with other persons unknown to defraud the United States by obstructing the functions of the Justice Department and FBI and by depriving the government of the "honest, conscientious and faithful services" of Miss Coplon.

Miss Coplon unlawfully possessed documents containing intelligence reports relating to national defense and that she gave such documents to the Russian.

Gubitchev unlawfully attempted to obtain from Miss Coplon reports relating to espionage and counter-espionage activities in the United States.

The conspiracy count listed three meetings—the one last Friday and previous contacts alleged to have occurred Jan. 14 and Feb. 18 in Manhattan.

Flag Presented College In Rites

Ceremony Marks Flag Raising On Campus Of East Carolina

A new American flag was raised at East Carolina Teachers College today. In a dignified ceremony conducted around the flag pole fronting the Austin building, President John D. Messick of the college accepted from Col. T. K. Fountain, commander of Post 39 of the American Legion, a handsome flag presented to East Carolina by the American Legion and the Society of 40 and 8 of Greenville.

Promptly at 12:30 a parade by the college ROTC unit and the East Carolina band moved from the Wright building across the campus and stood in formation in the circular drive facing the Austin building.

"This flag," said Col. Fountain as he presented it to Dr. Messick "stands for the love of humanity and equal opportunity for all. It is not only our flag but the flag of our fathers and our children." Tom Wilson of Greenville represented the 40 and 8 club during the ceremony.

A detail of ROTC students taking part in the flag-raising included Captain Plummer A. Daniel, Washington; Adjutant Virgil Clark Greenville; James C. Boyd, Clinton; Joseph H. Goodson, Greenville; and Kenneth H. Stargardt Richmond, Va. Boyd received the flag from Dr. Messick. It was then raised as the band played the national anthem and spectators stood at attention.

The pirates took over the plane at gunpoint 20 minutes out of Shanghai on a flight to Tsingtao.

Shanghai, March 10—(AP)—Donald Hassig, American pilot, thinks pirates who seized his plane in the air on Jan. 30 did it just for a ride to Tsinan.

Hassig, back here after being held captive in the Communist city, revealed today that one of the six pirates was a woman with a small baby.

The Ingleswood, Calif., pilot for China National Aviation Corp., said the group apparently was unexpected in Tsinan. Earlier reports had said the six pirates were possibly Communist agents. Hassig doubts it.

Soviet Parliament Meets At Moscow

Bowles Joins In Advocating New Reins For Rent

Former OPA Chief Asks Extension To Remove Fear Of Future Evictions

Washington, March 10—(AP)—Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut today asked Congress to extend rent controls 27 months and "remove the gnawing fear of eviction that hangs over millions of American families."

The former OPA chief urged those steps as part of a seven-point program which also calls for triple damages for rent over-charges and criminal penalties for willful and fraudulent representation.

Bowles said those provisions should be substituted for "the cream puff enforcement provisions" of the present law, due to expire March 31.

He set forth his views in a statement prepared for a Senate banking subcommittee which is studying legislation to extend controls.

His testimony came as Democratic leaders in the House—fearing a major defeat on extension of controls—considered a new compromise putting emphasis on "reasonable" profits for landlords.

Bowles told the Senate group that he has noted that there are some "who argue strangely that the only way to clean up the present messy situation is to eliminate rent controls completely." He added:

"Among those who say this, I recognize the same old faces who fought tooth and nail to open the flood gates of inflation just three years ago before this same committee. These gentlemen remain, now and then, reckless and irresponsible."

Bowles said he was speaking in behalf of the people of Connecticut and for Americans for democratic action. He is a member of the ADA National Board.

Federal Housing Expenses Tighten
Waynick said rents will jump 55 to 60 per cent if the law is not continued.

One prominent House Democrat told reporters privately he is "scared" about what might happen to the rent bill.

"It is doubtful" the bill will pass he said, unless an amendment is inserted to give landlords, so far as practicable, "a reasonable return on fair value" of their property.

Woods contended he couldn't administer such a requirement. Setting fair values, on millions of pieces of property, he has said would be too big a job. He contends the present law provides for handling of hardships.

There is no free market to determine the value of the ruble in international exchange. The ruble is worth about 19 cents, however, at present official exchange rates.

(Russia devalued the ruble in December, 1947, decreasing the exchange of most old rubles—10 for one new ruble. The decree left wage and salary rates unchanged, and cut some consumer prices.)

A Lenten Prayer

Foregleanings of Glory

And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh . . . Joel 2:28. Read Isaiah 9:2-7.

The French Christian, Pascal, wrote that humanity may be divided into two classes, those for whom Christ is yet to come, and those for whom he has already come.

For long centuries the prophets looked for "the day of the Lord" and the people dreamed of the coming of the Holy One. Amos proclaimed justice, and Hosea mercy. Isaiah spoke of "the suffering servant" and Ezekiel of "the Son of Man." All the prophets saw that their troubled times were incomplete and the people helpless to save themselves. For them the sustaining hope was that the Christ was yet to come.

But for us he has already come, actually born into the world to live like other men, sharing their hopes and their pains. We still look toward the future when his glory shall fill the earth and his "justice roll down like rivers and his righteousness like a mighty stream." But our faith is not a mere dream of the future; it is grounded upon the fact that the God who made all things gave the world his beloved son in whom "the Word became flesh and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only-begotten of the Father) full of grace and truth."

Let Us Pray: God of the ages, grant that we may in all things show forth the Christ as the light of the world and savior of men. Amen.

Annual Soil Conservation Speech Contest Due Soon

Contestants from eight high schools in Pitt county will compete in the annual soil conservation speaking contest in the Winterville high school auditorium Monday afternoon.

The state-wide contest is sponsored by the North Carolina Bankers association and the prizes for the Pitt county contest will be furnished by the Guaranty Bank and Trust company. A $25 government bond will be awarded the first place winner of the county and cash prizes of $10 and $5 will go to the second and third place contestants. Last year more than 4,444 contestants represented 303 high schools of the state in the contest, and awards to winners totalled more than $6,000.

Regulations for the contest provide the 12 minute talks must be written by students from material distributed from the office of county agents. The subject for this year's contest is "Proper Land Use and Treatment — Its Effects Upon the Economy of North Carolina." Contestants will be judged on content of speech and delivery.

Judges for the Pitt county contest will be Rev. E. G. Cole of Winterville, W. Conner Eagles, soil conservationist, and C. J. Goodmon, assistant county agent.

Girl Scout News

The week of March 12th is the time when Girl Scouts all over the United States join in a nation-wide celebration of the anniversary of Girl Scouting. This March 12th marks the 37th anniversary. It is a custom for the Girl Scouts to make a contribution to the "Juliette Low Friendship Fund" as a gesture of international peace and friendship to all the peoples of the world.

The Greenville Girl Scouts will have a tea at the Scout troop meeting place in the Rotary Club building Friday at 3:30. The troops will give the program; each troop has prepared something special for the occasion. Each girl will make her contribution to the "Friendship Fund" at this tea. This will be one birthday party where the girls hope to make somebody happy by giving instead of receiving. If each Scout will bring just as many pennies as she is years old, it will be a lovely thing to do, and will make the "Fourth Girl Scout Law" a reality. After the Scouts have had their party, they will go to Blount-Harvey's for a surprise. The management of this store will give each registered Girl Scout a souvenir of the 37th anniversary of Girl Scouting. The registered Scouts in the colored troop will have their party at

Complete Draft Of Peace Offer To Chinese Reds

Nanking, March 10 —(AP)— A presidential committee today completed the first draft of its peace proposals to the communists.

The proposals will be submitted to acting President Li Tsung-Jen. Sources close to the committee said the recommendations were couched in general terms. Considerable room was reported left for reorganization of the government upon communist terms through revision of the constitution.

The touchy question of war criminals was dodged for later consideration. The recommendations call for reorganization of communist and government forces into a single national army.

One committeeman described the proposals as a compromise between the 8-point demands of Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung and terms outlined by Chiang Kai-Shek on New Year's Day—before he retired as president.

Political observers are not taking the first draft too seriously. They think it will be revised many times before being submitted to the communists.

Observers expect President Li to nominate Gen. Ho Ying-Chin as premier in the legislative Yuan tomorrow. Premier Sun Fo, who heads the presidential peace committee, resigned with his cabinet Tuesday.

Death Sentence Upheld By Court

Raleigh, N. C., March 10—The death sentence of Roy Cockrell, Nash county tenant farmer convicted of killing his wife, has been upheld by the state Supreme court.

Barring intervention by the Governor, Cockrell is slated to die in the gas chamber here two weeks from tomorrow.

The Supreme Court yesterday found no error in Cockrell's conviction in Nash Superior court last December on a charge of first degree murder.

Mrs. Eva Batts Cockrell was slain with a shotgun last Nov. 2 on the farm of Berry Joyner, her husband's landlord, near Spring Hope. Cockrell said he took his wife to a field of Joyner's to make her repeat admission of intimacy with the landlord. Cockrell carried a shotgun.

When Berry Joyner fled at the suggestion of his son, Arthur Joyner, Cockrell fired and killed his wife. Witnesses testified Cockrell told them after the shooting he had done what he intended to do.

The slayer testified his wife was struck by the shot because Arthur Joyner, who was moving forward with a pitchfork, pulled her between the two men when the shot was fired.

Strength FOR THE DAY

BOOKS AND LIFE
If you were compelled to spend ten years on a desert island and could take only a few books with you, which ones would you choose?
Personally, I of Shakespeare's plays, the Imitation of Christ by Thomas à Kempis, Wordsworth's Poems and some of the writings of John Bunyan.

Looking back over the past fifty years, certain books and pamphlets stand out in my experience as having been especially influential. The Bible, of course, is chief among these. The other book which influenced me most was Sartor Resartus by Thomas Carlyle. The whole course of my thought-life was changed by reading one day an inconsequential religious tract, most of the contents of which I have forgotten but the general effect of which was to turn my thoughts in a new direction. Then between 1905 and 1920 thousands of us were influenced by the editorials and articles of Lyman Abbott, which appeared in the weekly magazine,
"The Outlook."

Every educated person has felt the impact of good books on his mind and life. What were the books which influenced you most?

NO DIFFERENCE

There is a lot of speculation as to the full meaning of the important changes being made in high official Russian circles but to our way of thinking we should not be building up any false hopes that we are any nearer a lasting peace. The goal of Communism (world domination) has not changed regardless of any changes in official personnel and we see little to be joyful about as a result of what is taking place in Russia.

MORE DAIRYING NEEDED

North Carolina last year imported over $5,500,000 worth of milk or about one-fourth of the amount consumed in this state. With the State's natural facilities for dairying there is no reason why our farmers should not be producing all the milk that our people need with some to spare for export into other areas.

More than five million dollars is too much to be sending out of the state for a product that can and should be produced right here at home.

During the past year there has been some increase in milk production in Pitt county but the local supply is still far behind the demand. This situation offers a good field for those of our farmers who wish to diversify their efforts instead of depending entirely on tobacco as a money crop.

Around Capitol Square

ELECTION—Necessity of electing both United States senators next year confronts the state with a unique situation and one which may require legislation at the current session of the general assembly.
For the past fifty years custom has prevailed of selecting one senator from the eastern part of the state and one from the western. There has been no statutory regulation of residence, but by common agreement candidates for the senate presented themselves according to geographic lines, and when the eastern seat was vacant only western candidates offered. The same idea influenced candidates for the eastern seat. In each instance all the people of the state voted and made selection from all the candidates on the list.

That worked all right so long as only one seat was at stake. With vacancies in both, a new problem arises.

OPPOSITIONS—Under present law, every candidate would be running in opposition to every other candidate on the ballot. That frequently happens with respect to local candidates, especially for county commissioner and representation in the general assembly. It has not happened but once in modern times with respect to a statewide office. That was in the 1920 election of supreme court justices.
At that time several candidates were running for two seats on the high court. All of them said they did not desire to replace the incumbent justice, but each sought the vacant seat. Result of that election was a special law applicable to supreme court justices only requiring that candidates specify the seat to which they aspired.

NEW LAW—A similar law with respect to senatorial candidates may be desirable now in view of the unique situation confronting the state. Under its suggested provisions each candidate would designate the senator he sought to succeed, and votes for such candidate would count only for that seat.

EAST-WEST—Legislation of this kind might result in statutory definition of the mooted east-west dividing line. Only legal recognition of such division now is with respect to superior court circuits.
The superior court judges are not involved, since the constitution requires that only one judge may be elected from any judicial district although they are voted upon by the whole state. Whether the suggested law would require designation of the vacancy sought to be filled by candidates filing for the eastern seat or the western seat, or for the seat now held by Senator Joe Doakes or Senator John Doe has not been discussed much. Either provision would suffice.

UNAFFECTED—The early appointment by Governor Scott of a successor to the late Senator Broughton would not be affected by legislation unless the general assembly acts more rapidly than it has on other matters this session and then only if the action clearly defined the east-west boundary and made it binding. Imminent prospect that the governor may name Capus Wynick of High Point to the post has accelerated discussion of the matter. Neither would any appointment by the governor affect, under present law, necessity for all candidates next year to run against all others.

CASES—Reduced to cases and names, the situation is like this:
Senator Clyde Hoy's term expires next year. He is expected to be a candidate to succeed himself. The place lately vacated by Senator Broughton's death will also have to be filled in the 1950 election for the remaining four years of the full term, regardless of who the governor names for the next 21 months.
Under the law as it is now it would be impossible for a candidate to file against Senator Hoy only, or against the governor's appointee only. Everybody who entered the primary and the general election would be against the field. And the law now is that in case of multiple candidates plurality rather than majority in the general election controls. In the primary majority is required. Also under present law it is quite possible for both senators to come from the same county. With both coming up at the same election this possibility is greatly enhanced.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

North Miami, Fla., (AP)—There is a man here who has spent most of his life trying to get inside the heads of wild tigers—to understand them better.

And at least a dozen tigers in the last 34 years have obliged him by trying to get him into their heads—a bite at a time.

"But they were not looking for better understanding," smiled Capt.
Roman Proske Wryly. "They were looking for nourishment."

At 50 Proske, who operates America's only tiger farm, is undoubtedly the most tiger-chased man alive.
There is something about him that brings out the beast in them. And his body today is a pitted patchwork of scars left by the yellow fangs and tremendous claws of the big cats he loves.

Proske breeds and raises tigers and lions at his North Miami road here. He sells them to zoos or trains them for circus acts. For two de-

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Elaine Carrington, who writes three of radio's most popular soap operas, says the start of her success story isn't very romantic. It began like many folk's.
"We were broke," she told me. "The author of 'Pepper Young's Family' and 'Rosemary' was here to organize a series of Friday night square dances for young government workers. She said her story began in New York back in the depression years. On an afternoon in the winter of 1932 she got caught in a rainstorm while trying to peddle a one-act play she had written. The doorway she ducked into was 711 Fifth Avenue. This was the headquarters in those days of the National Broadcasting Company. She noticed the sign on the door, went inside, took an elevator, gave her script to the girl behind the reception desk.

Next day she received a phone call from an NBC official. They had bought the play for $3750. Could she write a serial? What could she write about?

Constitutional Amendments In State Proposed For Assembly

By GIL BILLINGS

Raleigh, March 10—Ten bills to amend the state constitution have been introduced in the house and senate.

Eventual ratification will be determined in the next general election. Article II (Legislative) V (Revenue and Taxation), and VII (Municipal) Corporations would be modified.

The principal amendment would provide "home rule" and more efficient administration of local government. Five new sections would be added to Article VII.

Section 14 would give citizens of municipalities authority to make, amend or replace city charters. The city is now a creation of the state and dependent upon the legislature for modifications.

Cities and towns would be given general powers and certain specific powers in Section 15. Operational control, utilities and services, taxing power, exchange of services and general election regulatory powers would be included.

Full right of self-government would be authorized in new Section 16. Abolishment of state right to tax, or indirectly tax, any municipal government in section 17. And wiping out of authority to pass special local, private, or public-local acts in section 18.

Senator Fountain proposes to amend Article II to safeguard funds of Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System. Use of funds would be confined to retirement, benefits, administrative expenses and refunds.

Senate bill 190 and house bill 666 would provide for extra sessions of the General Assembly upon petition of a majority of the members. Three Worthington bills pertain to the legislative department. House

New Proviso

New York, March 10—(AP)—A new union contract covering 26,000 public utility employees here requires them to state whether they are members of any communist or other subversive organization.

The contract, signed yesterday between the Consolidated Edison System and the CIO Utility Workers of America, also requires any future employees to give the same information.

Both parties termed the provision unprecedented in labor history, and said it is designed to protect essential public services in "times of national emergency."

bill 184 would make rotation of judges a legislative rather than constitutional policy.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court would be given the present governor's authority in assignment of judges.

Another bill would give the legislature power to define the jurisdiction of special judges.

Any person would be permitted to waive indictment in all except capital offense cases, under such regulations as the legislature would provide.

More than one regular superior court judge could be elected in certain districts if needed. This was one of the recommendations of the committee for the improvement of the administration of justice.

House bill 370 would give special approval to county commissioners to levy taxes for special purposes. This would be in excess of the fifteen-cent limitation set out in Art-

Vehicle Inspection Plans Stronger; Seen Reviving

By GIL BILLINGS
Raleigh, March 10—Used out of state cars are scheduled for inspection lanes. Amendment to the roads committee minority report proposes this precaution.

The Ward amendment, which virtually replaces the committee substitute bill calling for inspections by State Highway Patrol, was welcomed in the Senate as a means of "keeping the inspection law alive."

The Rhodes substitute, designed to "take highway patrolmen out of drugstores and put them back on state highways," was headed for defeat. A two-thirds vote would be needed to re-introduce another inspection bill if the legislative were defeated.

It is generally believed that the present bill is better than no bill at all. Roads chairman Ward is confident that a "satisfactory bill" could be drafted before the session closes.

Senator Fountain, whose annual inspection bill was killed in committee, told members of the Senate that constituents "did not mean to completely abolish inspection principle." He also said that the senate would be "signing death warrants for hundreds of people unless a stronger act is passed."

Inspection is still alive, but the "temporary measure"—a parliamentary maneuver which keeps the principle alive—is thought insufficient.

It is highly possible that the assembly will adjourn without strengthening the legislation. However, the many "friends of the inspection law" within both bodies, may come up with a practical, if unpredictable, substitute.

Terms In Prison Given Confessed Bank Robbers

Raleigh, N.C., March 10—(AP)—Three admitted bank robbers were sentenced to prison terms by Judge Den Gilliam in federal court here yesterday.

The trio pleaded guilty to charges of robbing the bank at Aulander last Dec. 30, and their sentences were:

FBI Agent Basil G. Pettit told Judge Gilliam the men took $31,768.65 from the Aulander branch of the Bank of Ahoskie. Of this, $28,939 in cash and assets has been recovered, he added.

Pitt Soil Conservation Practices Reflected In Growth Of Program

A total of 2,291 orders for pasture seed, fertilizer, lime and open ditch drainage has been written this year by the local Agricultural Conservation Association office, according to Wyatt Highsmith, secretary of the Pitt county organization.

The number of purchase orders written for farmers of the county during the first two months of 1949 far exceeds the 1,624 purchase orders which were written by the local office during all of 1948.

"So far this year farmers have carried out conservation practices in Pitt county on which payments from the federal government will amount to approximately $70,000," Highsmith said.

The conservation allotment for Pitt county for 1949 from the U. S. Department of Agriculture is $115,000 compared with $52,000 which was allotted to the county during 1948.

Highsmith estimated 1,000 farmers of the county have participated in the program so far this year compared with the total of 1,200 Pitt county farmers who participated in the conservation program during 1948.

Seven Favorite Ways To Serve Fluffy Riceland Rice

Seven Quick Ways To Serve Riceland Rice

Many good cooks know more than 200 different, delicious ways to serve Riceland Rice.

Delicious Riceland Rice is a favorite ingredient in the better recipes for soups, chili, stews, meat loaves, croquettes, casseroles, jambalayas, chicken dressing, griddle cakes, muffins, salads, puddings, pies, bavarians, custards and countless other dishes.

And, of course, Riceland Rice is the basis of dozens of rice main dishes such as Rice Fiesta, Mexican Rice, Spanish Rice, Flemish Rice and Turkish Rice, to name just a few.

Tender-cooked, fluffy Riceland Rice is wonderfully delicious "as is", served plain, so you can enjoy the steaming, wholesome goodness of the world's most delicious rice itself. Many families serve it that way with every meal, often with one or more of the following additions:

7 Quick Ways To Serve Riceland Rice

- Riceland Rice With Gravy
Whenever you serve meat, make a lot of rich, brown gravy to put over individual servings of hot fluffy Riceland Rice. Meat, rice and gravy just naturally go together.
- Hot, Buttered Riceland Rice
Let a slice of butter or margarine melt down through each individual serving of hot, fluffy Riceland Rice. Mmm! Mmm! What flavor!
- Sugared Riceland Rice
Like it sweet? Then after the butter or margarine has melted through the hot, fluffy Riceland Rice, sprinkle white or brown sugar over the top. Many folks also add a light sprinkling of cinnamon.
- Hot Riceland Rice With Sugar And Cream
For breakfast serve hot, fluffy Riceland Rice with sugar and cream. Riceland Rice can be cooked the day before and heated in a jiffy for a quick, energy-rich breakfast.
- Serve Riceland Rice with sugar and cream for a delicious, nourishing lunch. Wonderful for hungry children after school, too. Wholesome and easily digested.
- Riceland Rice with sugar and cream makes a quick, economical and delicious dinner dessert. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon if desired.
- Hot Riceland Rice With Syrup
Just pour your favorite table syrup (maple, cane or molasses) over individual servings of hot, fluffy Riceland Rice. It's a sweet treat!
- Riceland Rice With Preserves
Top a serving of fluffy Riceland Rice with your favorite preserves or jelly for a with-meal sweet vegetable or a delicious after-meal dessert. Children love it too!
- Riceland Rice With Fruit
For a luxurious breakfast or a tempting lunch or a easy-to-fix dinner dessert, serve Riceland Rice (hot or cold) with sliced fresh or canned fruit. Mix the fruit juices with Riceland Rice and place the fruit on top and around. Your family will want this delicious treat often.
- To Cook Riceland Rice: Put 2 cups of Riceland Rice, 2 teaspoons of salt and 4 cups of cold water in a large saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more, during which time the water will be absorbed, making the rice deliciously tender. Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Always use Riceland Rice for best results.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the Rector Kitchens

"What's for dinner?" How often have you heard it from every member of the family? Yes, and it is quite a natural question, too. Even you have thought it as you made plans for the meal.

Let us help you choose. Ask your favorite food store for a braising cut of round, rump or chuck from Wilson's Certified Beef.

Your family will relish it cooked as a delicious pot roast and you will enjoy great saving on your food budget.

The Perfect Pot Roast of Beef

Choose a Wilson's Certified Beef Pot Roast whether it be of the Round, Rump or Chuck.

For a:

- 1 pound pot roast of beef
- Blend together:
 - 1/2 cup flour
 - 1 teaspoon salt and
 - 1/2 clove garlic, optional
- Turn the meat over and over in the seasoned flour until well coated. Meanwhile SLOWLY heat a heavy kettle over moderate heat. Skillet, Dutch Oven or any heavy pan will do if it has a tight-fitting cover. When the pan is hot, add:
 - 3 tablespoons drippings, Wilson's Bakerite or Laurel Leaf Brand Lard
 - 1/2 cup minced onion and
 - 1/2 clove garlic, optional
- Brown the floured meat deeply and thoroughly on all sides over moderate heat. A thorough browning will not wash right off when liquid is added. Then add:
 - 1 to 2 cups water or tomato juice, adding more only as needed.
- Keeping the water level low in the kettle at all times will make gravy rich. Turn the heat LOW (almost out), cover kettle tightly and cook three to four hours, turning the meat over when half done and, if you like, adding vegetables for the last hour of cooking. Keep heat LOW and give it TIME to reach fork tenderness. To make gravy: skim off excess fat. Thicken if desired, using a flour and water paste (1 tablespoon flour to 1 tablespoon water plus 1 teaspoon Wilson's B-V per cup of liquid). Stir gravy constantly and cook at least five minutes to desired thickness.

Early Spring Tornadoes Sweep Through Six Southern States

Atlanta, March 10—(AP)—Early spring tornadoes cut a crazy pattern through six Southern states yesterday. One Negro school pupil was killed and two score other persons were injured.

Property damage was widespread. The storms fanned out from Deridder in southwest Louisiana, through Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and then hit at Columbus, Ga., and nearby Phenix City, Ala., across the Chattahoochee River.

The United States Weather Bureau forecast colder weather throughout the area. Small craft warnings were ordered up for portions of both the east and west Florida coasts.

The first storm struck about noon at Deridder, where eight Negro homes and a gas filling station were destroyed. There were no injuries reported.

The next blow came at Terry, Miss., about 15 miles south of Jackson. There two rooms of a five-room concrete school were demolished, and 14-year-old Ethel Kendrick was killed. Twenty-three other students were hurt.

Pig Sabotage

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 10—(AP)—Four peasants were sentenced to death today for killing pigs.

A people's court in Osljek, Croatia, condemned them on charges of economic sabotage by feeding poison to 800 pigs on a government-owned model farm. Belgrade newspapers reporting the case said the four called themselves "crusaders" who hoped for Anglo-American intervention in Yugoslav affairs.

Saving Account If Fine Succeeds

Greensboro, N.C., March 10—(AP)—The way was open today for Robert Lee Holman to build up a bank roll under a court sentence.

Judge Allen Gwyn set the course yesterday after the 29-year-old Negro was convicted of illegal possession of whiskey.

The judge sentenced the Negro to 15 months in jail, imposed a $600 fine, then suspended both.

He then directed that the $600 fine become an appearance bond. Holman must pay $5 on it each week. This is to be done for five years. Then, if Holman lives up to the court stipulations to remain gainfully occupied and remain out of trouble, the $600 is his.

"You have probably never received a judgment like this," Judge Gwyn told the defendant.

Will Take Fight On Oleo To Floor

Washington, March 10—(AP)—Oleomargarine forces laid plans today to take to the House floor their battle to free this bread spread of all federal taxes and to prevent any new restrictions on its sale.

The bitter bloc won an initial victory yesterday in the House Agriculture Committee. That committee approved 24 to 3 a bill repealing the oleo taxes but at the same time writing a provision to outlaw the sale of colored oleo in interstate commerce.

This would mean that yellow oleo could not be sold in a state unless it was manufactured there.

The real showdown came earlier in the committee when it rejected 14 to 13 a bill by Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) that would have erased the taxes and permitted interstate sale of yellow oleo.

Poage announced today he would offer his bill in the House as a substitute for the committee-approved measure that was written by Rep. Oranger (D-Utah) and August H. Andersen (R-Wis.). He predicted victory for his bill.

ATE TOO WELL FOR COMFORT—Four wild deer squeezed between the slats of a fence guarding a haystack during the recent storms, ate their fill and then couldn't get back through the fence to freedom. Ranchers near Cokeville, Wyo., released the frightened animals.

TERRIER BECOMES RETRIEVER—Shorty, a terrier in the home of John Casa near Windsor, Canada, brings back to the nest one of the brood of baby chicks she recently adopted. The terrier has yet to injure one of the fuzzy youngsters over which she is playing mother.

Uncle Natchel's FERTILIZER TALK

"One of our neighbor farmers usually puts about 150 pound of Chilean Soda on his oats for top-dressing. Last spring he hauled it to the field in a wagon. Wherever he stop to fill the distributor, some of the Soda spilled on the ground.

"All season long those spots where the wagon done stood look greener and grewed thicker than the rest of the field. The farmer figured that every place he stop must'a got about 300 pound of Soda an acre and made twice as much oats. He told me, 'I should'a parked that wagon all over the field!'"

Kentucky Lands Two Stars On All-American Cage Five

Players From South, East, Midwest And Rocky Mountains Make Up Team; Sharp Contrast With 1948 Quintet

New York, March 10—(AP)—Two players from the South, and one each from the East, Midwest and Rocky Mountains make up the 1949 Associated Press All-American basketball team.

This geographically representative quintet contrasts sharply with the 1948 five which was dominated completely by the Midwest. Last year four cagers from the Midlands were on the first team.

Kentucky's NCAA champions and the nation's No. 1 team, contributed the two players from the South—Alex Groza and Ralph Beard. Ed Macauley, of St. Louis, is the Midwest representative. Tony Lavelli of Yale, represents the East and Vince Boryla, of Denver, the Rocky Mountains.

Beard and Macauley are repeat players from the 1948 team. Kevin O'Shea, of Notre Dame, and Jim McIntyre, of Minnesota, selected on the 1948 first team, only made the third team in this year's voting by 604 sportswriters and broadcasters throughout the nation.

Groza and Lavelli, seniors like Beard and Macauley, each moved up a notch from the 1948 second team.

Boryla, rated a junior, has a wealth of experience. He played one year at Notre Dame before enlisting in the Army. While in service and stationed at Denver he played two years with the Denver (AAU) Nuggets. He was a member of the U.S. Olympic cage team a year ago along with Groza and Beard.

Wah-Wah Jones, another member of the Kentucky team and the U.S. Olympic squad, was named on the second team along with Dwight Edman, of Illinois; Bob Harris of Oklahoma A and M; Bob Cousy of Holy Cross; and Verne Gardner of Utah.

Ernie Vandeweghe, Colgate star topped a third team which also includes Dick Schneitker, of Ohio State; Meyer Skog, of Minnesota; and O'Shea and McIntyre.

Even Working's Fun ... WITH A FARMALL CUB!

A warm spring day and you ride out to the field in your brand-new Farmall Cub tractor... flip a tiny lever with your finger... and down goes the plow! A big, shiny ribbon of soil rolls over... yessir, even working's fun with a Farmall Cub!

A fellow east of town said to me, "My kids are always scraping about who's going to drive the Farmall Cub. How I wish we'd had machines like that when I was a kid. My poor feet sure took a beating!"

Yes, folks, that's what a lot of people are saying since they bought their Farmall Cub... and they know that any time parts or service are needed, I'm always here.

For several seasons, Frank Fox of Seton Hall College has been battling George Guida, Villanova's crack sprinter, in the 600-yard sprint, feature of the big indoor track meets. And then came the annual Knights of Columbus games in Boston with the Prout Memorial 600. As usual Fox and Guida were the leading contenders. In the driving finish that had the spectators on their feet, the judges voted Guida the winner. The spectators roundly booed the decision, feeling certain that Fox had nipped the chunky Villanova ace.

After the prize had been awarded, Guida approached Fox and asked to see the second place silver medal. Before Fox realized what had happened, Guida had switched the medals and run off. It was a fine, gentlemanly gesture on the part of Gentleman George but Fox didn't want to gain a gold medal in this fashion. Since the judges had named Guida the winner, that's the way it would have to stand. He insisted that George return the silver medal and keep the gold one.

Fox is one of the finest quarter milers in the country. His best time for the 440-yard run is 47 seconds. He has turned in many brilliant anchor legs for the Seton Hall relay team but didn't fare too well in individual events until he crashed through to win the 600-yard title in the Intercollegiate indoor championships this winter.

Rating Tests For Officials In High School Girls' Basketball Scheduled

Rating examinations for officials in high school basketball contests for women will be given at East Carolina Teachers College Saturday morning and afternoon of this week, March 12. Nell Stallings of the college health and physical education department will be in charge of the tests.

In an effort to improve athletic contests for women in this area of the state, the college through the efforts of Miss Stallings has staged similar examinations for the past six years. High-school teachers and coaches from various towns and communities of Eastern Carolina have shown interest in the project in previous years and have been present to take the tests.

Saturday morning's examination will be a written test on rules and will be given at 11:30 in the Wright building. Practical tests in refereeing and umpiring will be given Saturday afternoon at 1:30, also in the Wright building.

Those interested in or connected with high-school basketball teams for women are invited to attend the Saturday meetings at East Carolina Teachers College.

Ashburn, Meyer Back In Workout

Clearwater, Fla., March 10—(AP)—Outfielder Richie Ashburn and Pitcher Russ Meyer have reported back for workouts at the Philadelphia Phillies training camp—apparently recovering from their recent injuries.

Both players were hurt Tuesday. Ashburn was hit over the right eye by a ball tossed by Catcher Ken Silvestri while Meyer was struck on the wrist by a wild pitch from the hand of Pitcher Charley Bicknell.

Athletics Show Well In Team Tilt

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 10—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics training camp pitching is good enough for mid-season competition.

In yesterday's intra-squad game, Carl Scheib allowed two hits in three innings and Dick Fowler only one in the same number of frames as Jimmy Dykes newcomers defeated the regulars 3-0. The regular hurlers, Joe Coleman and Phil Marchildon, permitted only two bingles.

Heads-Up Player

Tucson, Ariz., March 10—(AP)—Outfielder Bob Kennedy demonstrated in the Cleveland Indians' first intra-squad game yesterday that he intends to give Allie Clark and Hank Edwards a hard fight for the right field starting spot. Kennedy poled two 400-foot doubles and a single in three times up and his fine throwing arm nipped two runners at the plate and doubled another off first. The game ended in a 5-5 tie.

Turf Followers Hope 'Big Four' To Meet In Race

New York, March 10—(AP)—The chances are strictly against it, but the four greatest money-winning horses of all time—Stymie, Citation Armed and Assault—could conceivably meet up in a race later this year.

All are heading toward the comeback trail this season, although Citation actually was only temporarily taken out of training due to an injury suffered in the Tanforan Handicap last December.

Armed's victory in his third 1949 start over a bunch of cheap opponents Tuesday at Gulfstream Park was his first in more than a year. It showed there is still some life in the eight-year-old gelding.

Stymie, Assault and Armed were retired last season because of various ailments. Citation was fired for an occult in January.

But now their trainers are looking ahead to racing's rich stakes hopeful the great campaigners will regain the form that brought them more money than any four horses in turf history.

Stymie went out after running his total to $911,335. Citation wound up his brilliant three-year-old campaign with total cleanings of $865,150 to take runner-up honors in the all-time cash parade.

Armed's share of Tuesday's purse was a mere $1,650, but it boosted his total to $776,050. Assault is fourth in the list with $626,620.

Citation and Armed, of course come from the same Calumet Farm stable. It is unlikely that the Jones boys, Ben and Jimmy, would enter them in the same race even if both turned up sound as a fiddle.

Assault, now six years old, went out of action the same time as Armed—following the 1948 running of the Widener at Hialeah. Trainer Max Hirsch reported recently Assault was training steadily at the King Ranch in Texas, and would be shipped to Belmont Park early in April.

Spahn Winner In First Holdout

Bradenton, Fla., March 10—(AP)—There isn't much doubt Lefty Warren Spahn was the winner in the first holdout of his career with the Boston Braves.

Spahn, who arrived in camp in yesterday's wee hours, grinned and responded to questions: "Everything was settled my way."

Asked if his contract was the best he ever received, Spahn replied "You'll have to see Mr. Quinn about that." General Manager John Quinn, of course, was non-committal.

Ticketed For Berth

Lakeland, Fla., March 9—(AP)—Young Johnny Groth, the whiz from Buffalo, has the center field job in three outfield combinations being tested by the Detroit Tigers. A 340 hitter in the International League last year, the fast youngster is ticketed for a starting berth with Detroit.

Again Draws Raves

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 9—(AP)—Don Johnson, big righthander who was the sensation of the New York Yankee training camp in 1947, again is drawing raves. Johnson allowed only one hit in three innings intra-squad game yesterday. Two years ago Johnson was labelled as a "sure fire" major leaguer but he faded out after the season opened.

They Don't Mix

Orlando, Fla., March 10—(P)—There'll be no more golf playing for Washington Senators after today says manager Joe Kuhel. He says ballplayers can get too golf-minded during spring training.

The season's first intra-squad game was scheduled today, too. The spotlight is on rookie Len Okerie, who is expected to give Jake Early and Al Evans a run for the catching job.

Eastern Golden Glovers In Final Scraps Tonight

New York, March 10—(AP)—A brand new set of titlists will be crowned tonight in the Eastern Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at Madison Square Garden.

The final bouts, bringing together survivors of more than 100 sectional winners from 13 states, Washington D.C., and Puerto Rico, will determine the lineup for the bouts with the western champions here March 28.

The last two defending champions—big Coley Wallace, heavyweight from New York, and Floyd Morris, rugged middleweight from Pittsburgh—were beaten in last night's surprising semifinals.

Wallace, a dead ringer for former Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and rated a future professional standout, bowed to Robert Baker, a clever Pittsburgh rug cleaner.

Morris was outpointed by Frank Patterson of New York in a close battle.

One of last year's champions is a survivor but he is fighting in the heavier weight class than the one in which he dominated a year ago. That is Johnny Saxton of New York. Johnny won the lightweight crown in 1948. He banged his way into the finals of the welterweight division last night by stopping Norman Hayes in 2:30 of the third round.

Elliott Powers of Washington, D.C., gained many followers by outpointing Charley McCollum of Charlotte, N.C. He meets Roosevelt LaBorde of Hempstead, N.Y., who gained a nod over Felix Mann of Buffalo, N.Y.

New York and Washington, with four men each in the finals, are tied for the lead in the team competition won last year by Pittsburgh. Puerto Rico and Long Island have two representatives each remaining.

One Carolinian Still In Tourney

New York, March 10—(AP)—Only one Carolinian survived last night's pounding in the Eastern Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions and he was entered from Jacksonville, Fla.

Fighting in the 135-pound class Johnny Craven, a native of Charleston, outpointed Pete Cilinski of Washington to enter the finals tonight.

The two other remaining Carolinians, Billy Short of Charlotte and Charles McCollum of Fort Bragg, were eliminated in semi-final bouts last night.

Short, a 112-pounder, was stopped by Eugene Emith of Washington in two minutes, 10 seconds of the second round.

McCollum, a scrappy parashooter who had provided one of the tournament's biggest upsets in an earlier appearance, was outpointed by Elliott Powers of Washington in the 175-pound division.

Durham, N. C., March 10—(P)—North Carolina's leading high school basketball teams today began a three-day program in Duke's indoor gym to determine three state titles.

Teams are competing for three classes—AA, A and B. Two of last year's title holders, High Point in class AA and Hendersonville in A, are defending.

Today's program consisted of four class AA games.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 10—(P)—Everyone at the American Bowling Congress tournament was mum today on the question of Negro membership.

The ABC's 63-man board of directors yesterday recommended rejection of an amendment that would open the congress to all races.

The recommendation will be read to some 700 delegates at the APC one-day convention tomorrow if the delegates follow the board recommendation as they did in the past two years, the amendment will be defeated.

ABC officials said they had no comment on the action by the directors. The Rev. Charles Carow of the Catholic Youth organization of Brooklyn, N. Y., who offered the amendment, also said he had no comment.

NAIB Opens Saturday With Oversized Field In Tourney

New York, March 10—(AP)—The National Invitation Basketball Tournament, which finally let almost everyone into the act, will open here Saturday afternoon with 12 teams, four more than ever before.

The oversized field includes six of the nation's first 10 clubs and three of the five players on the Associated Press All-America first team.

This is the lineup:

Kentucky (29-1), St. Louis (21-3), Utah (24-7), Western Kentucky (26-8), Bradley (25-6), San Francisco (21-6), Bowling Green (21-6), Loyola of Chicago (22-5), City College of New York (17-7), Manhattan (18-7), St. John's of Brooklyn (15-8) and New York University (12-7).

Kentucky, which also is trying for the brass ring on the NCAA merry-go-round, is the No. 1 team in the country. St. Louis is No. 3, Western Kentucky No. 5, Bradley 7, San Francisco 8 and Bowling Green 10.

The All-Americans are Alex Groza and Ralph Beard of Kentucky and Ed Macauley of St. Louis.

The tournament committee gave up yesterday on the problem of trying to pick a second New York team to fill the last spot in the original eight-team bracket. The solution: Let in three more New York clubs (CCNY already had been chosen) and add a pair of deserving out-of-towners, Bowling Green and Loyola.

All four of the New York schools probably will be underdogs in their first games. They have the poorest records of any of the entries.

The pairings:

Upper bracket—Kentucky vs. BYE; CCNY vs. Chicago Loyola; NYU vs. Bradley; Western Kentucky vs. BYE.

Lower bracket—Utah vs. BYE; San Francisco vs. Manhattan; Bowling Green vs. St. John's; St. Louis vs. BYE.

Shortage Of Big Hitters Cramps Senators' Style

Orlando, Fla., March 10—(AP)—Lack of long range hitting power and a thin pitching staff behind Rae Scarborough and Walt Masterson give the Washington Senators a grim outlook for the 1949 baseball season.

Naturally Manager Joe Kuhel is optimistic. He deserves a better fate than another year like 1948 when in his first try as a big league pilot, his team lost 18 straight in September enroute to a seventh-place finish, 40 games back of Cleveland.

"The return of Buddy Lewis, a .300 lifetime hitter, will help us," Kuhel said. "He's in good shape despite his one-year retirement. We're also going to be better off at shortstop with Sam Denton to work with Al Kosar. Ed Killeman and Paul Calvert should give us better relief pitching."

"I honestly think Ed Robinson, our new first baseman, will help us more than Mickey Vernon whom we traded to Cleveland. Eddie is happy to be with us. Knowing he'll get a chance to play every day."

"Joe Haynes is taking it easy, throwing soft after that operation but he thinks he's going to be all right. If he can pitch like he used to our staff will be pretty fair."

Robinson was acquired from Cleveland with Killeman and Haynes in a series of deals by which Vernon and Pitcher Early Wynn went to the Indians. On the surface, it would appear that the Tribe had the better of it. They got Wynn, a regular starter and Vernon, 1946 batting king, for a sore arm pitcher, a reliever and part time first sacker. However, Kuhel thinks he and Owner Clark Griffith did all right in the swap.

With Robinson on first base, the Washington infield is pretty well set. Kosar, a .250 hitter in his rookie year, should be helped by Denton, acquired from the St. Louis Browns last fall. Kosar and Denton formed a first rate double play combination in the minors at Scranton in the Boston Red Sox farm system. Eddie Yost again will be at third.

With Mark Christmas listed as third base coach unless needed as infield insurance, the extra man probably will be Clarence Difiati who played third and outfield at Newark.

Coach Murrell's Eppes high school cagers thrilled spectators Tuesday night with a 38-33 win from Wilson. They hope to hang up their suits after an encounter with Ayden tonight and a return match with Wilson Friday.

The players have taken to the court twenty-two times this season and suffered only four defeats. The high scorers so far are Leroy Hicks, 148, Lee Langley, 128, Hubert Walters, 128, Fred Johnson, 85, and Billy Davis, with 65 points.

Coach Grimes' girls took their second straight win by taking a 31-15 decision from the Wilson girls. Out of twenty games played this season, the Eppes sextette has won eight and tied two. Johnny Lee Cherry, Hattie Savage and Billy Jenkins are high scorers for the girls.

An additional 17 officers also will receive decorations but cannot attend the ceremonies at the Embassy here.

Those to receive the rank of honorary commanders (military division) of the British Empire, in their absence include:

Marine Brig. Gen. Henry D. Lincolt, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Hamline Cagers Slight Favorite In NAIB Play

Kansas City, March 10—(AP)—Hamline University's pled pipers emerged as a slight favorite today to nab title—mainly because of center Verne Minkelsen and forward Hal Haskins.

Minkelsen, a 6-foot 7-inch scoring marvel, and Haskins, 6-2, each is making his third start in a national association of intercollegiate basketball tournament. They will lead the St. Paul, Minn., team against Texas Tech at 10:05 p. m. (EST) in the feature of tonight's four-game quarterfinal card.

Texas Tech, which has plenty of height in its own lineup, advanced to the quarterfinals by beating North Dakota University, 62-57.

Beloit (Wis.) College, Hamline's outstanding rival in the upper bracket, will take on the surprisingly strong Eastern Illinois college, of Charles, quintet, at 8:40 p. m. (EST). The Illinois squad knocked off San Jose (Calif.) State, 81-75, in the second round.

Beloit, which was eliminated in the quarter finals of the past two tournaments, beat the Southwest Missouri State Bears, 66 to 49, as Bon Temps pumped in 25 points.

Regis College of Denver, one of the taller teams in the meet, beat St. Thomas of St. Paul, 53-52 last night and will play the Northwestern Louisiana State Demons of Natchitoches. Northwestern eliminated Brigham Young University, 59-57, yesterday.

The rugged Emporia (Kas.) State Terre Haute, in tonight's final.

Hearings Slated On Fire-Setting

Rockingham, March 10—(AP)—A 26-year-old Hoffman man will be given a hearing next Tuesday on charges of wilfully setting afire Richmond County woods, District Forester J. A. Pippin has reported.

The State Forest Service employee said Dauthan Lathan has admitted setting woods afire last weekend. The defendant was held in the county jail here last night Pippin said.

He added that an investigation is continuing into fires set Saturday and early Sunday.

Long-spined black sea urchins have needle-sharp spines that can easily penetrate human skin, then break off after carying in a painful poison.

Blaik's Coaches Get Choice Jobs But Needs More

West Point, N. Y., March 10—(AP)—If other schools around the country don't quit dipping into the football staff at the U. S. Military Academy for their head coaches, boss man Earl (Red) Blaik is going to have to hire a scout just to help him hunt new assistants.

Blaik isn't complaining, he pointed out today, but it's getting so he has to introduce his players to a bunch of strangers on the Army coaching staff every time he begins practice, spring or fall.

Unlike Knute Rockne, who sent hundreds of his Notre Dame players into the coaching profession, Blaik operates on the post-graduate principle. He develops head coaches among his own assistants.

In the past three years Blaik has watched his assistants depart—with his blessing—to take on head coaching assignments at Baylor, Yale, Purdue, Miami of Florida, Cincinnati and New Hampshire.

The latest vacancy on the Army staff was created this week when backfield coach Clarence Boston quit to become head coach at New Hampshire. Blaik has several candidates in mind for that spot but won't name them until he gets a taker. The list might even include Lieut. Glenn Davis.

However, if the Army should hand Davis a West Point assignment—a possibility not too remote and one which Blaik has announced he would welcome—the former all-America halfback probably would start in a minor capacity rather than as a top assistant to his old coach.

No Fanfare For Wets In Kansas

Topeka, Kas., March 10—(AP)—Kansas recorded its first day as a wet state in 66 years without fanfare.

Prohibition ended yesterday but authorities reported only the normal number of arrests for drunkenness.

"People are taking it as a matter of course," said the Rev. Jack Oliver, Christian Church pastor at Coffeyville. "Those who opposed it still oppose liquor and those who were for it have not changed."

Intoxicants will be sold through privately owned, state-licensed stores. The stores won't be able to open until the governor issues a proclamation legalizing them. He must do so no later than July 1.

Persons who wish to bring liquor into the state for personal use can do so now, but the quantity they may have in their possession is limited to one case.

One comment heard among Kansas drinkers, who consumed an estimated $60,000,000 worth of liquor last year under prohibition, was: "Legal liquor takes half the fun out of drinking it."

Twenty Players On Touring Team

Chapel Hill, March 10—Approximately 20 players, travelling in two groups, will constitute the University of North Carolina baseball squad which will make a four-game Florida tour to open the 1949 baseball season.

The first contingent, accompanied by Coaches Bunn Hearn and Walter Rabb, will leave Wednesday night, March 16, arriving at Gainesville the next morning. Jayvee esville the next morning. Jayvee esville the next morning. Jayvee esville the next morning.

The Florida schedule calls for games with the University of Florida March 18-19 and games with the Jacksonville Naval Air Station March 20-21.

The 1948 "Gas Housers," who won the Big Four, Southern Conference and Southern NCAA championships, have their ranks sadly depleted. Only seven lettermen are back and many of last season's stars, including the entire outfield, are missing.

Among those departed are Pitchers Vinnie D'Lorenzo and Frank Robinson, the top men of the 1948 staff. Also gone is Catcher Emmett Cheek, powerhouse hitter. The fiery co-captains of last season's flaming team, Jim Hamilton and Jim Hayworth, along with Outfielders Jim Kelly, Kenny Black, Frank Jones and Ott Evans, are others who will be missed.

Lettermen on hand are Rip Ryan shortstop; Will Hobbs, first baseman; Andy Transavitch and Sid Varney, catchers, and Tommy Andrew, Dean Cassell and Bub Blair pitchers. Unseasoned but promising graduated Jayvees round out the squad.

Two Defendants Facing Trial On Lottery Charges

Greensboro, March 10 —(AP)—Two men were scheduled to stand trial here today on lottery law charges following the sentencing of 29 other accused on similar counts. Twenty-six of the defendants charged with conspiracy to operate a lottery pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) in municipal-county court yesterday. Three others—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Black of Wilmington and Richard Craig—pleaded guilty.

G. F. Waddell of Route 3, Greensboro, and J. S. Williams of the High Point road were scheduled to face trial following the sentencing of the other defendants.

The court took a nol proes (no prosecution) with leave in the cases against Mr. and Mrs. Henry Proffens, son-in-law and daughter of George Smith.

Robert Allen, SBI agent, and chief prosecution witness, described Smith as the head of the lottery business in the state. Warrants for Smith's arrest on lottery law violations growing out of butter and egg operations are outstanding in Wilmington and Greensboro.

Red Oak News

Mrs. Collins Yelverton, daughter of Mrs. Fred Worthington, Sr., of Winterville was the winner of a hand-made quilt given away last Friday night at the Red Oak Club center. The quilt was of "log cabin" pattern and nearly 1500 names had been embroidered on it by the ladies of the church.

The idea of the quilt originated with Mrs. Nan Barber, one of the oldest members of our church and she with the help of many others turned in $310 on the building fund. We wish to thank all who in any way helped us with the success of this project.

Mrs. Blaney Sumrell of Ayden was the winner of a quilt made during the war, and for various reasons had never been given away. This quilt was made by the Home Demonstration Club.

If only two more of our members had come to Sunday school last Sunday we would have had 100 present. The ladies went about 16 points ahead of the men last Sunday. Come on boys, are you really going to let us beat you this time?

Mr. and Mrs. John Wyatt Tyson and daughter, Mrs. N. S. Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tyson, Alice Lota Edwards and Mrs. Bill Jenkins went to Roanoke Rapids to visit Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tyson and son last Sunday afternoon.

Members of the cast of "The Old-Fashioned Mother," a play which will be given by the Youthful Workers Club, will meet at the club house Wednesday night at 7:30 for their first practice. Please be present. If you would like to help the building fund at Red Oak, why not let Mrs. B. L. Tyson turn in your subscription for the Daily Reflector.

Death's Bright Angel

Chapter 23

"Get a fresh team for the wagon. We'll get there faster that way than by boat. I want lodging for the night for these ladies. And a dozen men to go with me."

"No trouble about either o' those. We're sure going along."

"We're going with you," Irene interrupted. "We intend to be in at the finish, don't we, Donna?"

Rivers waited, his heart thudding painfully, for the answer. But Donna Dolores met his gaze straight-forwardly.

"Of course," she agreed. "We're in this together."

The moon was late in rising, as the wagon lurched and groined over a trail hardly deserving the name of road. Mosquitoes made the night miserable for the load of humanity crammed within the wagon. Ruden drove, making such speed as was possible.

"Just what you got in mind?" he asked finally.

"Well, salvage that twelve-pounder from the wrecked long-boat," Rivers explained. "If we have it set up by daylight, with the ships still in the lake--we'll have a talking-point."

"That 'accounts for the bar'l o' powder we're carryin'," Ruden conceded dubiously. "But a gun like that ain't enough to stop a ship. Like a rooster peckin' at the side of a house."

"Not alone, maybe," Rivers agreed. "But we'll see."

He volunteered no further explanation. It was a long chance, and it would hinge on luck. But it offered a fighting possibility. His spirits lifted at the sight of the dark shadows of the ships on the lake. Don Fernando had taken the precaution to anchor near the middle, so that no boats could slip upon him undetected. Not that there was much to fear, from his point of view. The ships were well manned with men who had served their apprenticeships on the high seas at open piracy.

Near the lake the road ended. The next mile was a weary struggle through a near-moat. The ground was slimy with more than mud, alive with more venomous creatures than the swarming mosquitoes. Since sound would carry far, they were forced to struggle in silence. It was time-consuming. But finally they reached the wrecked long-boat at the fringe of the lake. It had been stripped of all small arms, and only the twelve-pounder was there, too bulky to bother with. A quick inspection satisfied Rivers that it was still usable.

Now began the hardest part of the job. To move it, heavy and cumbersome as it was, it was a nightmare task, twisting and lifting and shoving. Twice it all but bogged in the muck, but once they reached the wagon it was easier. Rivers wondered if Don Fernando had chanced to notice the wrecked boat, if he too might have inquired concerning it. Destiny could hinge on such small details.

As the birds awoke to a full-throated salute to the dawn, they found a solid spot of ground and tugged the cannon into place. Here it was adequately concealed by trees and brush, yet with a clear line of vision out to the lake, to the narrow strip of channel which led toward the river.

He had hoped to find solid shot at the wreck, but there had been none. They had powder, and having foreseen the possibility, Rivers had brought, from near the town, several round stones. One of these fitted fairly well.

"No telling what will happen when we fire it," he warned. "but we'll have to take a chance."

The others were skeptical. Even if it worked, they could see no profit in it. Day was coming fast, and on board both ships was sudden stir of activity. Don Fernando appeared on the quarterdeck of the Lovely Maria, turning to talk to an officer. Rivers stiffened at sight of the other man.

It was Martinez!

Presently Martinez crossed to the Lovely Maria. After the breathless humidity of the night, a breeze ruffled the sluggish waters of the lake, setting the fringing trees gently in motion. Sails began to fill, and with the Lovely Maria in the van, the two vessels got under way.

Beside Rivers, the others waited in sweating impatience. The ships

Give Up Appeal For Better Test

New York, March 9-(AP)-Two white men and two Negroes, sentenced to 30 days on a North Carolina road gang in a "Jim Crow" test case, have decided not to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

This was disclosed here yesterday by Bayard Rustin, one of the Negroes. He is race relations secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

He said he and the others will serve the sentence, beginning March 21, because an appeal of their case might prejudice another case which he said is considered a better test of Southern "Jim Crow" laws.

The company is expected to go in heavily for local and state issues because of Johnson's experience as treasurer and director of local government since the early 1930s.

Question Of How Best To Pay For Schools Argued

Raleigh, March 10—(AP)—The question of how best to pay for better public schools in North Carolina was argued yesterday at a legislative hearing.

Up for hearing before the Joint Appropriations and Education committees was legislation to put into effect the State Education Commission's "minimum foundation" program for schools.

Under the program, the state would assume 85 percent of total school costs. Counties would contribute the remaining 15 percent, each putting up funds according to its ability to pay.

That the state needs improved schools—and needs them urgently—was not argued. All witnesses at the hearing agreed on that point.

But there was sharp division over the question of the new financing plan.

Its proponents said it would bring about equalization of educational opportunity throughout the state and that it would be fair for richer counties to contribute more than poorer ones to achieve such a goal.

Opponents argued that the program would revive state use of the ad valorem tax for school purposes. They said the plan probably would benefit some rural schools, but that it would hurt city schools and those in the more populous and industrialized counties.

Rep. John W. Umstead, Jr., of Orange, sponsor of a House bill to establish the foundation program, said he planned an amendment to the measure to provide that no one county would pay more than four percent of the total to be paid by all the counties.

He said that this would cut somewhat the local contributions that would be required of Gaston, Forsyth, Guilford and Mecklenburg counties.

J. Henry Vaughan of Nashville led opposition to the financing plan.

Police Report . . .

Ramsdell was taken from the emergency room to the X-ray section to determine whether an operation would be necessary.

The first tip that the train robber suspects had backtracked to Washington came from Martinsburg police, who were informed that two suspicious looking men had been questioned by a Leesburg, Va., policeman. The latter, unaware of the train robbery, let the pair go after they explained they had been in an automobile accident.

The Leesburg policeman told Martinsburg authorities the men boarded a bus for Washington.

On arriving in Washington, the driver of the bus reported his two Leesburg passengers had left the bus at 21st and K streets, N. W.

Police patrol cars in that area were alerted immediately.

The crew of one spotted the two men in the pawnshop and began to question them.

Uncertain Basis Noted For School Legislation

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, March 10—Outstanding facts gleaned from the several public hearings on proposals for an enlarged public school program are that everybody wants better schools and nobody has come through with an acceptable method of financing them.

It was frequently stated at the hearing Wednesday afternoon, held in Hugh Morson high school auditorium, that figures in hand with respect to probable amount each county would have to pay under the foundation plan cannot be guaranteed. Spokesmen for county commissioners expressed fear of what these changes might be.

The pending bill refers to, and by implication accepts, the estimates made by the Institute of Statistics at State College. But Dr. W. H. Plemmons, executive secretary of the education commission, told the group they might not be accurate and were subject to change.

Senator Julian Altsbrook, principal sponsor of the companion bills for the foundation plan, offered amendments which would guarantee that no county would have to pay in more than four percent of the total amount required for the counties share under 85-15 percent formula. If that amendment is adopted it will mean less money from the counties as a whole, or a reworking of the entire schedule of allocation. And it will destroy the main purpose of the foundation bill that counties must be able to pay should bear their full share of the education for all counties.

Another point brought out Wednesday which had not been made before is that under the foundation plan school teachers salaries would have to stand all the cut-back in event of decline in state revenue. Since other items are fixed in terms of dollars and cents, the board of education would have authority only to reduce salaries, according to several speakers.

Inspiring . . .

(Continued from page one) dom is necessary for a good society. Few schoolboys are taught any of that, but if they knew the history they might appreciate more the value of liberty.

I wonder how many teachers, at least below the college level, know enough about it themselves to teach it.

For that matter, I wonder how many schools, including colleges put any emphasis at all on teaching the history of political philosophy.

It's in that rich field that American students can obtain a real foundation for understanding the importance of human freedom.

Unless you know the roots behind the slogan, it seems to me it would be easier to hire a phonograph to repeat the slogans.

Communists long ago discarded idea of personal freedom for people. It would have interfered with the complete control they wanted to shape the kind of society they wanted.

Communism here probably would have been far less attractive for some of the Americans who joined it, if they had been grounded in the history of political ideas and the struggle for freedom.

It's been a long, tough struggle, and will continue to be. A would-be Communist who doesn't understand and feel that, may turn to the party out of impatience with the American society as he sees it at this minute.

Instrument Of . . .

Naturally such an alliance, no matter how peacefully designed, must be expected to cause heartburns in eastern Europe. Thus it isn't surprising there should be a report that the powerful Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) might be preparing to launch an alliance to match the North Atlantic pact. A recent report from Poland said a Cominform military conference was to be held about March 15 in Hungary and this has given rise to speculation about a possible alliance.

Recently all the Cominform nations having Communist governments formed an Economic Council for Mutual Aid as a parallel to the Marshall plan. The nations involved were Russia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia—all of the Cominform countries excepting France and Italy, where non-Communist governments are in power, and Yugoslavia, which has been expelled from the Cominform.

At that time some observers predicted that a parallel military organization also would be formed. The Cominform satellites already have mutual-assistance treaties with Moscow. However, these pacts don't have the character of a general alliance. They pledge mutual assistance only in case of war with Germany or a power joined directly or indirectly with Germany.

The question now is whether the Cominform meeting reportedly scheduled for mid-March will form a military bloc to counter the Atlantic Alliance. Still, such a development wouldn't greatly alter the relative positions of the Eastern and western groups.
