See Passage For Rankin Pension Bill In Some Form

Administration Ready To Fight Multi-Billion Dollar Plan But Fear Worst

Washington, March 22—(AP)—A multi-billion dollar veterans pension bill confronted the house today and Democratic leaders reluctantly predicted its passage—in some form. The big question was: What form? The administration, estimating that the measure called up today by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) would eventually run up a $4,000,000,000 a year bill for the nation's taxpayers, prepared to fight its passage—or at least trim it down.

Some house members were betting on a less comprehensive proposal to limit pensions at this time to veterans of world war I.

Rankin is asking $90 a month pensions for all veterans of world wars I and II as soon as they become 65 years old.

It was the first time in 28 years that a pension bill had come before Congress. The last time was in 1921 when Congress, without a dissenting vote, approved pensions of $90-a-month for veterans of the Spanish-American war.

Even if passed by the house, a new pension bill still would have to pass the senate and, if heavily expensive, eventually run into the risk of a veto by President Truman.

Fountain, March 21—Howard Morgan, 20, of Fountain, received head injuries and was knocked unconscious Thursday night March 17 when the 1946 Ford he was riding in was hit by a transfer truck on the left rear fender while passing through Saratoga.

Morgan was admitted to the Carolina General Hospital of Wilson for medical attention. He regained consciousness Friday morning.

Bulgarian Press Denounces Pact

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 22—(AP)—The Bulgarian press denounced the North Atlantic Alliance today as designed for "imperialistic aggression."

Several newspapers published its text and roundups of utterances in sections of the world where the pact was condemned.

New British Dominion

Rich Southeast Asian Colonies And Protectorates Revealed As Future Dominion; Secrecy Removed; Long-Term Project; Extent Of Project; Its Place In The World

By STANLEY SWINTON

A new British dominion is in the cards for picturesque Southeast Asia. Colonial Undersecretary David Rees-Williams gave the tip-off. It would take a long time, he said in an interview in London, but Britain's rich Southeast Asian colonies and protectorates definitely are slated to become a self-governing dominion.

Later a colonial office spokesman confirmed that was what the British have in mind. He expressed surprise, though, that the minister had taken the lid off hitherto secret plans.

A Southeast Asia dominion probably would encompass 132,692 square miles—roughly the combined area of Michigan and Minnesota. The population would be slightly less than California's—about 6,500,000.

Democrats United For Rent Control

Sectional Differences In Senate Laid Aside For Support Of Measure Extending Curbs; Passage Seen For Tomorrow

Washington, March 22—(AP)—Democratic senators put aside their sectional differences today to rally behind a measure extending federal rent controls.

Both the Southerners who staged a long fight against an anti-filibuster rules change and the party leaders who opposed them joined ranks to support a bill which would continue controls 12 to 15 months.

Despite Republican opposition to some parts of the bill, Chairman Maybank (D-So.) of the Senate Banking Committee told a reporter he was confident the Senate would pass the measure by tomorrow afternoon "at the latest."

The administration is in a hurry because present rent controls expire March 31. Even after Senate passage, rent control differences will have to be worked out with the House.

Opening debate in the Senate yesterday showed strong Republican support for two features of the House bill which the Senate committee eliminates.

Mayors Study Plea For Traffic Funds

Washington, March 22—(AP)—The United States conference of Mayors today considered asking Congress to help relieve the "traffic chaos" of American cities by doubling their usual share of federal highway funds.

Mayor Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator, told the Mayors' annual meeting that the $673,000,000 authorized by Congress since the war for city highways is only "a small fraction" of the amount needed.

Fleming urges the Mayors to develop broad patterns immediately for the fast movement of motor traffic. The existence of such blueprints, he said, soon will be made a condition of federal aid.

There is hope, the FWA administrator added, that Congress will provide "substantial" funds for slum clearance and the redevelopment of city centers.

Such plans should be dovetailed with the highway program, he said, and the cities should move at once to acquire the necessary land.

Awailing action before the conference's resolutions committee, headed by Mayor William E. Kemp of Kansas City, is a demand that Congress earmark "at least 50 per cent" of next year's $450,000,000 highway-aid fund for city use.

Only 25 per cent now is set aside for city routes. An increase would mean that less money would be available in the year starting July 1 for highway between cities and for secondary rural routes.

A resolution calling for extended and strengthened rent control also is before the resolutions committee.

STOLE FROM HOSPITAL

Sometime during Monday night vandals stole six rolls of rubber roofing from the building site of Pitt county's new hospital. Police indicated they have a clue to the identity of a suspect.

Kill Bill On Road And Street Care

Raleigh, March 22—(AP)—The Senate Roads Committee today killed a bill that would have placed the maintenance of all city streets under the State Highway Commission.

The bill, introduced by Senator Claude Currie, was given an unfavorable report by an unanimous voice vote after several proponents and opponents of the measure had expressed their views.

Morgan, N.C., March 22—(AP)—An Australian became an American citizen here yesterday after waiting 42 years. The new American is Frank Alexander Kohler, a carpenter who came to the United States in 1906. He said a series of delays prevented his obtaining citizenship papers.

Soviets Planning Counter Action On Currency Ban

Commandant Of East Berlin Orders Financial Experts Map Retaliation

Berlin, March 22—(AP)—The Russians disclosed last night they are cooking up plans to "meet the situation" presented by the ban on Soviet zone currency in the western sectors of Berlin.

There has been much speculation here that the ban would draw retaliatory action from the Soviets.

Col. Alexander Jeliazov, acting Russian commandant of Berlin, denounced the ban as a step to "deepen the split in Berlin." He asserted it would hurt the people and the economy in the allied zone, and "cannot inflict any serious prejudice" on stability of Soviet zone currency.

In the first official Russian statement on the order, Jeliazov said: "In an endeavor to help the population of Berlin's western sectors, the Soviet military administration does not intend to carry out any measures restricting the use of the mark of the German Bank of Emission (the east mark) by residents of the western sectors in the Soviet occupation zone."

The statement contrasts with actions yesterday of Russian-controlled German police who attempted to stop west Berliners from dumping their Soviet zone marks. These west Berliners went on a buying spree which toppled the value of the already-weak Russian-backed mark.

The dumping started almost as soon as the allied powers announced Sunday that they were outlawing Soviet zone currency on the west side of the border.

Jeliazov said in his statement that instructions were going out "to the financial experts (of his zone) to meet the situation prevailing" under the ban. He gave no clue as to what sort of plan was being hatched by the experts or expected from them.

The allied order had been expected for some time. The west zone mark long has been banned in the Soviet zone. The Russians contend the fight over which currency should be valid for all Germany is a big factor behind their blockade of Berlin.

The western powers predict their ban will help the economy of west Berlin by tying it more closely to the rest of west Germany which, they report, is developing faster than the Soviet zone.

Asks Parliament Endorse Treaty

Copenhagen, Denmark, March 22—(AP)—Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen today asked the Danish Parliament to endorse the government's decision to join the North Atlantic defense pact.

Opening a debate in the lower house (Folketing) the Foreign Minister asked authorization for the government to ratify the treaty after the signing in Washington next month.

Philadelphia, March 22—(AP)—The USS Milwaukee, lend-lease cruiser returned to the U.S. by Russia last week, is described by a Navy expert as the "dirtiest ship" he has ever seen.

Promises Open Hearings On Atlantic Alliance Pact

Washington, March 22—(AP)—The American people today were promised "wide open" public hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations committee on the North Atlantic Security treaty.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said hearings will start soon after the formal signing of the precedent-breaking Alliance on April 4. He predicted they would last at least a week.

Senator George (D-Ga.) a committee member, indicated that they might go on a lot longer. He said the committee should "seek the views of the people" before it acts. No deadlines, he told a reporter, should be permitted "to cut off hearings on this program."

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), another member of the committee, said the committee approval nor the signing of the document at the state department April 4 would finally commit the U. S. to membership. That would have to wait ratification by a two-thirds vote of the senate.

Wary And Skeptical At New 'Be Kind To Congress' Talk

Washington, March 22—(AP)—Southern Democrats were wary and Republicans were openly skeptical today about President Truman's new "be-kind-to-Congress" attitude.

But Democratic leaders like Senator Lucas of Illinois were just as openly pleased that Mr. Truman has decided to try the soft answer that may help turn away legislative wrath from part of his program.

Lucas told a reporter the work of Senators Maybank (D-So.), Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Fulbright (D-Ark) for a rent control bill the administration can take without too much swallowing is "a fine example of the kind of cooperation I hope we're going to have."

The three Southerners were in the forefront of an effort a week ago to scuttle the civil rights part of Mr. Truman's program.

Dixie lawmakers generally didn't like the political implications of their "marriage of convenience" with the Republicans by which they shelved action, at least for a time, on civil rights proposals.

Some of their leaders said privately the Southerners are going to bend over backwards for a while in trying to support the administration's program.

Because they head six of 15 Senate committees and nine of 19 House groups, the Southerners wield influence far beyond the point their mere number justifies.

The Dixie lawmakers made it pretty clear they can go along only partly with the President's observation to the Mayors' Conference yesterday that "basically the Congress and the President are working together."

Generally they expect to support Mr. Truman's proposals to continue rent controls, extend the European recovery program for a year, revise the reciprocal trade program the way he wants it and to provide

Windstorms Hit Scattered Areas

New Orleans, March 22—(AP)—Two persons were killed and about 50 were injured by storms which hit scattered areas of Louisiana and Mississippi yesterday.

Tornadoes and windstorms also ripped through parts of northeast Texas and southwest Arkansas, but no casualties were reported.

Harshest hit in Mississippi was a 100-mile stretch between Jackson and Yazoo City.

In an isolated farm area of Humphreys County, a Negro cabin collapsed, killing a 10-month-old infant and injuring the parents and three other children.

South of Yazoo City a Negro church building, used as a school, was wrecked. Nine students and the teacher were injured. None of them was seriously hurt.

Falling bricks injured 13-year-old H. L. Deason when wind blew in the rear of a school gymnasium at Fair Oaks Springs, near Brookhaven, Miss.

One of the freak performances of the blow in Mississippi was to pick up an automobile in which three Negroes had taken refuge and drop it a quarter of a mile away. The three escaped with minor injuries.

In Louisiana, a tornado injured six persons and wrecked several buildings at Tioga.

Large Air Force Bill Gets Heavy Support In House

Only One Representative Announces Opposition To 70-Group Air Force

Washington, March 22—(AP)—The House lined up today a delayed, but enthusiastic, send-off for a 70-group air force bill.

Only one House member, Rep. Marcantonio (Al-N.Y.) announced he would vote against it. House passage sends it to the Senate.

The bill would do three things: authorize building the air force up to a strength of 70 combat groups, establish an 837,000-man ceiling for the army, and put the air force's manpower limit at 502,000.

Those are the limits set now by the draft law, which expires next year. The navy has permanent statutory authority for its manpower, but those of the army and air force have been set from year to year in appropriation laws.

Marcantonio held up the bill last week when he was blocked in an attempt to force a vote on an anti-discrimination proposal. The New Yorker offered an amendment to provide that the air force could not buy supplies from any firm which discriminated in employment because of race, color or creed.

When this effort failed, Marcantonio demanded that an engrossed copy of the bill be read before the final vote on passing it.

Engrossment of a bill is a special printing that places all adopted amendments in their proper places in the bill, and the process takes several hours. An engrossed copy of this bill could not be obtained in time for a vote Wednesday, so passage was postponed until today.

The bill does not make any appropriations. It would authorize a 70-group air force, but would not provide any money for purchasing the planes. Neither would it vote any money to raise present strengths of the army and air force to the authorized limits.

The air force now operates 50 groups. It is not clear how many will be added. For the fiscal year beginning July 1, President Truman has recommended a force of 68 groups.

Says Blue Mold Menace In Pitt Must Be Met

A sharp warning to tobacco growers in Pitt county was given today by assistant county agent Sam J. Weeks who urged that tobacco plant beds be treated for blue mold regardless of the size of the plants.

Weeks said today blue mold has been reported in all sections of Columbus county, and that reports indicate considerable damage to the young tobacco plants which have not been treated for blue mold.

"The last few days have brought very favorable weather conditions for blue mold attack in Pitt county," he said. It is recommended that farmers begin treating their plant beds with one of the recommended fungicides regardless of the size of the plants.

Breakfast Opens Red Cross Drive

The annual membership drive of the Pitt county chapter of the American Red Cross got under way this morning following a breakfast of some 25 solicitors at the Olde Towne Inn.

John G. Fleming, chairman of the county chapter, and Henry L. Brown, special gifts chairman, were the principal speakers at the breakfast. Fleming said the Pitt county goal for the current drive is $10,000, and urged the people of the county to give generously during the membership campaign.

Churchmen Hunt Key To Deadlock

Delegates Would End Clash Between West, Communism

Evansville, Ill., March 22—(AP)—American protestants today began a search for a way to "break the deadlock between the west and Communism," but which would transcend both social systems.

The 80 delegates of American Protestantism at the meeting of the world council of churches received a proposal that they seek such a break by means of a "responsible society."

Robert S. Bilheimer of New York, general program secretary of the world council in North America, urged that the American churches sponsor a study that would: 1. Define the rights and duties of a responsible society; and 2. Point a way for churches to work in attaining it.

Bilheimer said the proposed study would be made by the federal council of churches "among and by laymen" with funds already available. It would be a worldwide study, the international phases of which would be made by the laity in their respective nations.

"One of the purposes of the study," Bilheimer said in an interview, "would be to encourage the laity to develop a third way between Communism and capitalism."

"We don't mean by that a synthesis, a mixing of the good features of each system, but rather a new concept that would restore to man his dignity, and which would discover the strategy whereby participating churches may seek their goal."

Two Displaced Families Due In Cabarrus County

Concord, N. C., March 22—(AP)—Two displaced families from Europe will be brought to Cabarrus county this year to settle upon a farm.

The plan has been worked out by the Knights of Young America, a local independent civic club dedicated to benevolent work among youths. Two five-member families will arrive in late summer or early fall.

The Rev. Joseph L. Griffin, chaplain of the K. Y. A. says the families will likely come from one of the Baltic states.

The K. Y. A. plans to convert an eight-room house into two four-room apartments. The dwelling dominates a 140-acre farm. The club will stock the farm with tools and stock.

The property was given to the club several years ago by Dr. T. N. Spencer, Concord banker.

Trial Date Set In Polk Murder

Athens, March 22—(AP)—Dispatches from Salonika said today a mother and son will go on trial there April 12, charged with complicity in the murder of George Polk, Columbia Broadcasting System Correspondent.

The defendants are Gregory Staktopoulos and his mother, Anna. Staktopoulos, a journalist, is accused of luring Polk to his death last May in a Greek Communist conspiracy.

Hard Knocks School

We Learned Our Lesson. That Europe's Business Was Our Business. In The School Of Hard Knocks; Atlantic Pact Is Result Of That Knowledge; History Review

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 22—(AP)—The Atlantic pact is the result of lessons learned the brass-knuckle school of world affairs.

Class opened in 1914 with World War I. We thought Europe's business was not our business. We thought we could stay out. We couldn't.

Next class: League of Nations. We skipped this because we hadn't learned world war I's lesson: That what happens in Europe involves us.

Next class: World War II. This was the unforgettable lesson. Hitler taught it: Divide and conquer. We thought we could stay out. We couldn't.

But we didn't get in till he owned most of the continent of Europe, knocking off the democracies one by one. Only Britain and a few neutrals stayed out of his hands. Yet, the democracies were our friends, not Hitler.

If we had learned World War I's lesson, and let Hitler know before he got started that we'd support the democracies, he might not have started.

Next class: United Nations. Having learned now we'd always be nee-deep in Europe's doings, we joined U. N. to keep peace.

Next class: U. N. wasn't working. Russia picked up U. N. where Hitler left off, began gobbling up the nations of eastern Europe.

Next class: We decided to do something about the lesson learned from Hitler—that any strong power, which could pick off one country after another in Europe, could dominate Europe and maybe the world.

So we set up the Truman doctrine. Under the old Roosevelt doctrine we wouldn't let a foreign power get a foothold on this continent lest it endanger us.

Under the Truman doctrine we said the world was smaller now, our frontiers were no longer our own frontiers, that our frontiers henceforth would be any place in the world where we thought danger might start for us.

We began the Truman doctrine by giving help in Greece and Turkey to put a brake on Russia.

Next class: We extended the Truman doctrine. Realizing the democracies in the west, weakened by the

Chicod Juniors Plan Play For March 25

Chicod, Mar. 22.—If you want to be in the swim you'll simply have to follow the crowds that are going to attend the performance of "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane," written by the popular dramatist, Wilbur Brantun. The play is to be presented on March 25, at the Chicod High School auditorium under the auspices of the Junior class.

Pretty Miss Lula Mae Mills has been cast for the part of "Sunbonnet Jane" and everybody agrees that she is an ideal choice for the role. There is nothing highfalutin' about "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane." It abounds in the sort of comedy that everybody loves to see, with a slight touch of sentiment thrown in to give the play added zest.

The cast includes: Jane Jasper, Lula Mae Mills, Miranda Jasper, Mary Frances Porter, Grace Jasper, Shirley Rose Buck, Ollie Dinkler, Doris Arnold, Nola Miller, Janette Mills, Crystal Cluett, Joyce Stocks, Schyler Pell, Max Lewis, Toby Simpkins, Johnny Brown, Jason Gooch, Harold Mills, Douglas Smith, Otis Mills, Marion Marsh, Minnie Mae Mills.

At the half time Mrs. Hattie McGilohon of the Christians was elected "Basketball Queen." She won over Mrs. Thomas Gower by a small majority of votes. Mayor Richard A. Nelson crowned the queen and presented her with gifts as the winner. Proceeds of the game were to be used to beautify church buildings.

A Lenten Prayer

Help From the Sanctuary
... And the Lord added to them day by day those that were saved. Acts 2:47. Read Psalm 94.

Now in the time of breaking nations we are again realizing the importance of the Church as the enduring fellowship of Christ. As empires fall, we hear with a new heart the ancient ritual: "Brethren, the Church is of God, and will endure unto the end of time." We understand why the Fathers taught that none may be saved beyond its pale. The Church is either necessary or it is unnecessary, and the most urgent need today is for the kind of fellowship and communion which is found nowhere outside the Church of Christ.

Here is the home of our spirits; within her walls we have found our most sacred moments. She has sanctified the great events of life—birth, conversion, baptism, communion, marriage, death.

The Church is the body of which Christ is the head. In its compassionate fellowship we love one another because he first loved us. For all our failures, we Christians possess the Church in common and share our lives within it. So is given the pattern society of the Kingdom of God. The nations will rage and the peoples imagine vain things until they find everlasting sanctuary in the amiable tabernacles.

Let Us Pray: Bless thy Church, O Christ, in all the troubled lands. Send her forth, renewed in faith, to minister in thy name healing to the nations and comfort to their peoples. Amen.

Children Take Part Fine Arts Festival

Continuing the valuable work of last year's Art Festival, the Woman's Club, together with the Music Club and the Community Art Center, is again presenting a cross section of the art work of Greenville boys and girls. Such exhibitions immeasurably extend the horizons of art appreciation for both children and the public.

The aims of this work may be simply stated: to see as many kinds and as much of first rate public school artistic expression as we can, not only because of the educational and aesthetic importance of the exhibition of such work, but because our children experience much joy and social satisfaction from seeing their own and their friends' work in the exhibit; it gives them a real part in thinking and working for a better Greenville.

Theatre arts, music and the dance will hold a high place in the program: "the lively arts."

On Thursday, March 21, at 3:30 p. m., in Austin auditorium, a Children's Hour with the Arts will be held. It will include numbers by an orchestra composed of children from all the elementary schools under the direction of Mr. John Arrant; a demonstration of band and orchestra instruments (using the story of Little Red Riding Hood as continuous) by the High School Ensemble by the direction of Mr. John Arrant; numbers by a chorus composed of children of the elementary schools under the direction of Miss Jeanne Hooke; a play; a chalk-talk by Mrs. R. B. Stirling; and an original play involving all the arts by a Training School group.

Then on Friday at 7:30 p. m. at Wright auditorium there will be a presentation of The Dance as an Art. Students from the grammar grades under the direction of Miss Jeanne Hooke and pupils of Marie's School of Dance under the direction of Mrs. Marie Smith Wallace will share honors with students from the ETOC physical education department under Miss Nell Stallings.

There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited.

We realize that the modern American knows all too little about art because it is seldom brought to his attention. Today the United States leads in material power and wealth. We need to encourage the artist of whom we must rely to interpret the spiritual meaning of American life and where better can we start than with our children?

The Woman's Club welcome the interest and backing your presence will give to the big effort our children are making for the Greenville Art Festival.

Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, will demonstrate how micro-waves, the same type of waves employed in radar during the war, can be utilized to carry hundreds of long distance telephone conversations simultaneously without wires. This new kind of long distance transmission, known as a development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, research unit of the Bell Telephone System. It is in use on an experimental basis between New York and Boston.

With an interesting set of demonstration equipment, Mr. Russell will also illustrate some of the peculiar qualities of these very short micro-waves. He will also discuss laboratories which are the result of a long research program to make service better and more economical.

By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the recently organized Kiwanis "Key Club" among outstanding high school students, with Sam Northrop, Jr., as president, is sending four high school Key Club members to the Kiwanis International Convention of Key Club members.

The convention will be held in Washington, D.C., the last three days of this week. The delegates are Carl Denton and Jack Neilson. The alternates are Lymon Ormond, Jr., and Lewis Clark.

N. C. Brooks, a past president of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Brooks will accompany the boys. They will leave here Thursday afternoon.

Convention headquarters will be at the Willard Hotel. The banquet will be held at the Mayflower Hotel. The Wilson and Washington Kiwanis clubs also are sending delegates to the Kiwanis International Key Club Convention.

The Greenville Key Club was organized here last year from among outstanding students at the high school. Supt. of City Schools June H. Rose gave the project his approval, and O. H. Dowd, principal of the high school, is serving as adviser to the young Kiwanians. Dr. Charles O. Reynolds of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty was active with N. C. Brooks in organizing the young students.

Young Artists Earn Favorable Reaction In Music Recital

Two young artists who appeared in a joint recital in the Wright auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College Monday evening pleased an audience of students and music lovers from various towns of this section with a program of violin and piano compositions. Dorothy Powers, American violinist, and Jean Casadesu, pianist, were presented in a concert sponsored by the college entertainment committee.

Mr. Casadesu played with great technical skill and won an enthusiastic response from the audience with selections from the works of Chopin, Brahms, Debussy and Ravel. He was recalled to the stage for a number of encores. Miss Powers showed herself an accomplished violinist and, accompanied by Albert Hirsch at the piano, gave two groups of selections and a number of encores.

After the recital the student social committee of East Carolina gave a reception in the Flanagan building in honor of Miss Powers and Mr. Casadesu. Several hundred students and faculty members were guests.

Strength FOR THE DAY
FOUNDATIONS AND SUPERSTRUCTURES
The chairman of a campaign committee to raise funds for a new hospital was telling the workers why it is not possible to add two more stories to the present building. The foundations, he said, had not been built to stand that strain. Jesus said that the man who hearkened to his words could be likened to a person who built his house upon the rock. Whether it be a moral character or a modern skyscraper, foundations stand out supremely important. The foundations of our houses are not particularly beautiful; in fact so little so that we usually try to cover them up with shrubs. What we are proud of is the superstructure. But the superstructure is possible only because of the foundation, and the house is just as secure as the walls upon which it is built. Many people go to pieces because strong foundations of moral integrity and steadfastness have never been built into the immoral recesses of their souls. They may have very fancy superstructures along the line of intellectual brilliance, social standing, and position, but the foundation is weak. Sometimes heavy burdens come upon us, which test our foundations to the limit. Then we know in the day of testing whether we have built well or ill.

Around Capitol Square
SENATOR—Delay in appointing a United States senator has brought a lot of severe criticism of Governor Scott, including the charge that he is deliberately using the appointment as a trading piece to force his program through the general assembly. None of this criticism has seemed to worry the governor, who reiterates his purpose to take his time about filling the vacancy created more than two weeks ago by the death of Senator Broughton.
MANEUVERING—Observers around the capitol agree that a lot of maneuvering has been going on. They doubt that any definite trades or agreements have been made, or that anybody is consciously using the office for selfish purposes with respect to legislation. On the other hand, it cannot be doubted that actions have been influenced by knowledge of the pending senatorial appointment. Such effect is inevitable under the circumstances. More than 4,000 letters and telegrams have been received endorsing over 50 men and women for the post—including the governor's legislative counsel, at least one member of the assembly, and numerous others having direct contact with legislation.
FLUCTUATING—The governor has kept his own counsel as to who is ahead with endorsements and how he feels about any of them. Offside gossip has made one man at the top one day, another the next, and somebody else later. During the first day or two best chances were accorded Capus Waynick, state chairman and manager of the Scott primary campaign, and William B. Umstead, former senator. A few days later L. P. McLondon and Fred Roster moved up front. During the past weekend the chances of this big four have dropped in popular appraisal. Opinion grows that failure to name one of them promptly means the governor did not ever rate them as high as did the gossippers.
BALLENLINE—The name of L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, apparently has top billing in capitol square talk right now. Some of the volunteer analysts and the name of the governor say Ballentine comes nearer meeting all requirements than anybody mentioned. It must be remembered the governor has stated no requirements; they have been set by the volunteer aid society. They say he can qualify as to personality, ability, geography and politics. Assuming that everybody on the prospect list can qualify as to the first two items, many of them fail to meet geographic and political standards fixed by the governor's aid society.
POLITICAL—Geography takes care of itself, with one possible exception. Residence in Wake county, while putting Ballentine definitely in the east, might prove a handicap since the late Senators Bailey and Broughton both hailed from the same county. Political angles are more significant. Ballentine has proven his fidelity to a forward-looking program for improvement of agriculture and rural life—and this is Governor Scott's main fetish. He has a large personal-political following and would have excellent chance to win in the next election, thus justifying his appointment now. Moving him to the senate would leave the way open for the governor to name Dave Coltrane commissioner of agriculture, thus reverting another faithful without disrupting the policies established by Scott during his twelve year tenure as commissioner during which time Coltrane was his top assistant.

SECONDS—A western legislator who has not been content a Scott supporter any time, predicts Ballentine's appointment by application of the second choice rule. Even if some other candidates outranked him on one of the judging points, the preponderance of first and second places accorded the commissioner of agriculture would make his aggregate score far ahead of any other. Meantime, the only man who can speak with authority on the subject is not speaking at all.

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE
New York.—(AP)—American women should be more charming if they quit acting like men in some ways—and more like men in other ways.
This gratifying discovery isn't my own—although, naturally, I've suspected it for some time. It comes from a beauty expert—Helen Fraser, director of the Barblion school of fashion modeling.
Each week Miss Fraser casts a critical eye on the charms of some 200 hopeful would-be fashion models, of whom perhaps 20 to 25 make the grade.
This pleasant task has led her to the conclusion that too many girls today have developed manly mannerisms, which is awful, instead of a manly inner character, which would be fine, indeed.
"Too much athletics," said Miss Fraser, "has overdeveloped the leg muscles of girls, and they walk like boys. They—how shall I say it?—they positively swagger.
"They throw their hands about in gestures like boys. And they even move their lips like boys when they talk. Something like this."
Miss Fraser, a delicate brunette, then gave a restrained imitation of Jimmy Durante.
Another of her pet peeves is the

WASHINGTON LETTER
Washington—The capital's newest museum, being set up by the Naval Historical Foundation, headed by Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, is to be opened to the public in early 1953.
The museum will display rare and valuable material bearing upon American maritime history and tradition collected by the foundation since its formation in 1926. Much of this material has been stored in Navy Department warehouses at Fort Washington, Md.
Setting for the museum will be the old carriage house attached to the home which Commodore Stephen Decatur built on Lafayette Square near the White House in 1819.
Plans for conversion of the structure to house the museum are being drawn by Mrs. Levene Dickensheets Andrews, wife of the former assistant secretary of the Navy, Mark Edwin Andrews, an architect of note, has contributed her services to the venture, as has Laurence S. Harrison, head of the lighting laboratory of New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art.
Rear Admiral J. A. Furer, retired, representing the Foundation, is coordinating the plans, which call for the most modern in functional equipment, including removable walls which can be set up and taken down like stage sets.
Lt. Comdr. Robert M. Lunny, assistant director of the museum, tells me it will be "constantly alive" with changing exhibitions of various groupings of the many thousands of items—manuscripts, letters, documents, logs of the old timers, clippings and articles on maritime happenings, prints, paintings, photographs, books, models and relics.
"The museum," he says, "will be devoted to everything pertaining to the sea—merchant shipping, foreign trade and yachting as well as to naval, marine, coast guard and other subjects."
Director of the institution, which is to be known as the Truxtun-Decatur Naval Museum, is Lt. Comdr. Edward M. Davis III of Philadelphia, curator of the Navy Department and former director of the Norfolk (Va.) Museum of Arts and Sciences.
The foundation, a private, not official outfit, which is raising funds for the museum and its upkeep, has obtained a 50-year-lease on the carriage house from Mrs. Truxtun Beale, widow of the former minister to Iran and Greece, and owner of Decatur House.

way many girls let cigarettes dangle from their mouths while pawing through their handbags for a lighter.
"I'm afraid I have you men to blame for the fact girls smoke in a masculine way," she said. There was a pause while Miss Fraser put a cigarette between her pretty lips and held it there in a graceful manner until a man in the room rushed over and held up a match.
"I have to say this about men," she went on, "because I love men. I wish women would pick up more of men's virtues—such as tolerance, their lack of pettiness and their friendly attitude. I don't think men are as much on the defensive as women. Women lack self-assurance."
Going in more detail into the beauty faults of the younger generation, Miss Fraser said the habit of carrying shoulder bags and wearing loafers and ballet slippers was giving many girls a top-side figure.
"It is seldom that you run into girls with good posture," she said glumly. "Too many swaybacks. And politeness—There isn't too much of that. The more I see of young girls the more reactionary and Victorian I get.
Then she itemized some common beauty errors by occupational groups. Stenographers—"you have often a serious problem of hip spread here."
Housewives—"That gone-to-seed look."
Waitresses—"They develop tremendous muscles in the arms and legs. And often they eat too much."
Salesgirls—"They do very well, because they are generally fashion and makeup conscious."
Manicurists—"Too much makeup."
Factory workers—"Muscles and hip spread."
Her researches have led her to conclude that the American female figure is becoming taller and wider at the beam.
"We are getting calls now for fashion models with 38-inch hips," she said. "The limit used to be 36 inches."
But she said that the most common figure defect in women is that "they are too small in the bosom compared to the wider of the hips—too much like a salt shaker or a pyramid."
Miss Fraser's own measurements, reading from top to down, are 34, 23, and 34. The middle figure is for her waist.
"I'm too small," she said. But her voice wasn't at all unhappy.

Rescued Victims Leaving Hospital
Maryville, Tenn., March 22—(AP)—The five persons who escaped death in the crash of their plane in the Great Smoky Mountains near here Friday may be able to leave the hospital today. Attendants said their conditions were "good."
Rescue of four of them, after three harrowing days in some of the wildest mountain country in this section of East Tennessee, was accomplished yesterday by helicopter pilot J. N. Newcomb, 28, of Glendale, Calif.
Braving stiff winds, Newcomb made four trips to a hand-hewn landing place to bring out the victims, who were en route to Miami from Detroit when their plane crashed.
Lifted off the snow-covered range were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall, Orville Rich, 38, and James Hardy, 21-year-old pilot who suffered broken leg. The others had less serious hurts. All are residents of Detroit.
Stephen A. Walker, 46, the fifth passenger in the plane, struggled 25 miles over the rugged terrain before he found a telephone and called for help.

Corset Company To Center Its Production Here Says Manager

By WYATT BROWN
Charles Poole, manager of the local branch of the American Lady Corset Company, told the Rotarians last night the company has "found things working out quite well" since their locating in Greenville and expect in the near future to have Greenville as the site of one hundred per cent of their production operations and the general offices. He was talking to the Rotarians about how his company happened to select Greenville.

He said that their company had been in Detroit for sixty-five years. Found the locale not just to their taste. Decided to move. Searched for the best site in the North and in the South. Spent two weeks being shown the whole of North Carolina—east and west. Struck by the spirit and type of people in Carolina particularly in the eastern portion, Greenville was finally selected.

The factors determining selection was that they liked the way the Chamber of Commerce handled things—Charlie Bissette who was president then of the Chamber, and Willard T. Kyzer. "The Chamber of Commerce had a lot to do with our coming here," he said. Other things were the available building for plant and the sewers trained by the National Carbon Company plant.
Mr. Poole told something about operations at their plant. They make up fifty per cent of the company's production in Greenville. They make all types of foundation garments for ladies. Each garment involves nine materials and six operations on sewing machines. Thirty-eight types of sewing machines are used. The entire operation is now done in Greenville. At first cutting was done in Detroit plant.

In speaking of employees Mr. Poole said he was pleased with the way the employees have adapted to their work. One hundred fifty-one are now employed. This is one half of the number they will soon be using.

At this point he mentioned one of the problems which face all manufacturers and which Greenville in view of its limited experience with manufacturers' problems has had little opportunity to realize and that is the matter of employees' recreation. "We have got to keep the employees happy. Recreation and so forth. This is one of the things the town can do or the Chamber of Commerce. We must develop recreation that will take care of people in industry," he said.

Then he told of the company's cooperation with the Detroit public schools in the matter of vocational education. He pledged his company's readiness to cooperate with the Greenville public schools.

In answer to a question about the record of Greenville sewers' production record Mr. Poole replied that they came up to normal production more quickly than average but "do not seem 'money hungry' enough" to do better than that.

William the Conqueror, ruler of England, was a Duke of Normandy and a descendant of Viking tribal chieftains.

Earl Alder New Commander VFW Post In Election

The regular monthly business meeting of the Charles Gray Morgan Post 7032 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was held last Thursday night at the VFW Club House. A large number was present for the election of Post officers for the coming year. A very spirited and competitive interest was shown by the members in the selection of the officers for 1949-50.

Commander Carroll Chauncey presided and disposed of several items of business before beginning the elections. Election was by secret ballot and some positions required three ballots before the issue was settled. Officers elected were as follows: Commander, Earl Alder, senior vice commander, John B. Fleming; Junior Commander, E. J. Wallace, Jr.; Quartermaster, Raymond Smith; Three year trustee, George Johnson; Chaplain, Lester Turnage; Surgeon, Dr. Fred Irons; Advocate, Henry C. Oglesby. Incoming Commander Alder has appointed Leslie Garner as Adjutant and will appoint other officers and committees by the next meeting. Commander Chauncey commended the members for their selection of the new officers and stated that the Post was sure to achieve greater success under the leadership of the new officers. Commander Chauncey also commented on the spirit and interest shown in the election and stated that this interest was an indication of a successful organization.

The Greensboro Post is the third largest Post in North Carolina with a 1948 membership in excess of 350. Commander Chauncey urged all members to make further efforts to obtain new members in order to get the new officers off to flying start for the new year.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the next meeting which will be held on Thursday night, April 7 at the VFW Club. This will be a supper meeting and has been designated as "Carroll Chauncey Night" in honor of the outstanding work done for the past year by the

Bank's Third Hold-Up Attempt Yields No Dividends For Trio

Fembroke, N.C., March 22—(AP)—It's getting harder to rob the Fembroke branch of the Scottish Bank of Lumberton.

The small bank in this Eastern North Carolina Indian settlement has been visited by gunmen on three different occasions. Twice the bandits escaped with bank funds but the third attempt which came yesterday yielded no dividends.

Less than six hours after two gunmen entered the bank at noon yesterday and flashed guns, officers announced the arrest of three Spartanburg, S.C., men who they said planned the job. One of the men was shot down, a bullet hole through his chest.

Now going on! Come in! See it!

The FBI said it arrested the younger Brewington as he neared Spartanburg, S.C., with the high powered automobile they had planned to use as the getaway car.

Special Agent Charles W. Brown, head of the Charlotte FBI office, said the three planned the job and came to Robeson County Sunday night.

Sheriff Willis Britt of Robeson County filled in details from there. He said that Lowry and the elder Brewington went to the bank after robbing a cab driver of $21 and taking his cab. Leroy Brewington awaited them nearby in an automobile which they had rented in Spartanburg Sunday night, he added.

Britt quoted Bank Cashier J. H. Hood as saying that Lowry and James Brewington came into the bank, asked him change for a bill and then Lowry drew a pistol. They were followed in by the guard, Carter, who said he had become suspicious when he saw the two casing the bank in a taxi.

Carter fired point blank, hitting Lowry. Excited employes, meanwhile, were cornering Brewington who was arrested without a struggle by officers, the sheriff reported.

There have been two reports from the Magazine committee. Marian Davis reported from an article on "Hot Glass." It was brought out that this glass can be used for cooking, heating the house, drying clothes, etc., and will not cause injury by burning.

Slugger Sinatra

Palm Springs, Calif., March 22—(AP)—That slugging featherweight, Frank "The Punch" Sinatra, 130, has done it again.

Wife Chief A. G. Kettman disclosed yesterday that the bobby sox idol argued with a guest at a party over the mixing of a drink. Result: the guest, Jack Wintermeyer, was treated at a hospital for a gash on the head.

Kettman said he so far has been unable to get a coherent story on the affair but had pieced together this account:

The crooner and Wintermeyer, occupation unknown, were among 200 guests at a party given by Donald Duncan, parking meter executive. Wintermeyer was mixing drinks early yesterday when Sinatra asked for a particular type of cocktail. That, for reasons unknown, brought on the scuffle.

Later yesterday Wintermeyer, and his lawyer, visited the police station but no complaints were signed. Instead, Kettman got Sinatra and Wintermeyer together for a peace meeting at Duncan's home where they shook hands.

Said Sinatra at the meeting: "It was just one of those things that can happen at any party. We're all friends."

A year or so ago, Sinatra was arrested on a complaint by New York gossip columnist Lee Mortimer after a typical Hollywood night club battle. The case later was settled out of court.

Hard Knocks . . .

war, wouldn't be any match for Russia if she reached out for them, directly or indirectly, we set up the Marshall plan to get them on their feet with goods and money.

Next class: The Communists grabbed off Czechoslovakia. That made a solid wall of Communist countries facing the Western democracies.

Next class: Those democracies, jittery about Russia, got together, formed the western European union, called the Brussels pact.

Purpose: Mutual defense against attack from the east. Taking part: Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg.

On the day the Brussels pact was formed, March 17, 1948, President Truman told Congress:

"This development deserves our full support. I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires."

Three months later, on June 11, 1948, the U. S. Senate gave its blessing to this country's taking part in a defense set up like the Brussels pact.

So, in the summer of 1948 this country started talking with the Brussels pact countries and Canada to extend the pact.

Last Friday the North Atlantic Alliance was announced. Taking part: U. S., Canada, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Norway.

Italy, Portugal, Iceland and Denmark were invited to join. What's the purpose?

To help each other arm; to help each other out in case of attack; and, by setting up the pact, to serve notice on Russia that an attack on one would be an attack on all.

It was hoped this would bring Russia to a dead halt in any ideas it had about gobbling up all Europe.

One thing more: We're not actually part of the pact and won't be until the Senate approves. It's expected to, in a month or so.

This is the point we've reached in the school of hard knocks.

Glamour Queen In Tennis World Is Playing To Win

New York, March 22—(AP)—This is the year in which Gorgeous Gusie expects to convince the tennis world she can be useful as well as ornamental on the courts.
Gorgeous Gusie, as she is known on the tennis circuit, is Gertrude Moran, a 26-year-old sunnanned beauty from Santa Monica, Calif.
Long the unchallenged queen of glamour among the feminine net brigade, Gusie jumped from ninth to fourth in the national rankings in the past year, and is seeded first among the women in the national indoor championships, now under way here.
She turned in her second straight triumph of the tournament yesterday when she beat Helen Germaine of New York, 6-2, 6-1, to enter the quarter-finals.

to a seven to two victory over the Blue nine in an inter-squad contest. Wallace, who turned in a .312 hitting average last season, smashed out his three run-scoring hits in five appearances at the plate.
It was the first scrimmage of the season for the Buccaneers who open a 15-game schedule here against Guilford next Wednesday.
Ten pitchers saw action in the contest with the six Red team hurlers limiting the Blues to five hits. The Reds combed four Blue twirlers for 10 safeties. Credit for the win goes to Pitcher "Bo" McCotter who went the first two innings for the winners, fanning four and yielding one hit.
George Woods was leading hitter for the losers, turning in a triple and a single in three trips. Lou Collier smashed a triple to deep center in one of his two appearances.
Hunter Boyd, leftfielder, and Second Baseman Frank Cerruzi both turned in two hits for three trips for the Blues. Cerruzi stole three bases. Nearly the entire squad saw action in the game.
Coach Jack Boone commented after the game that the team's "pitching is looking better." He was particularly impressed by the mound performances of two rookie hurlers, Fitz Fennell and Winfield Johnson.

Among the other newcomers who made commendable performances yesterday was Haywood Kelley, first sacker, who comes to East Carolina from Campbell where he was for two years captain of the baseball squad.
Hugh Hardee in left field and George Wynn behind the plate also brought favorable comment from Boone, as did Fenner Boyd in left field.

Saddler Learns Comebacks Hard

Newark, N. J., March 22—(AP)—The comeback trail is often a long, hard trip, as former featherweight King Sandy Saddler is beginning to find out.
The clever, lightning-fast boxer ran into something of a detour last night in the person of a game kid from San Jose, Calif., named Felix Ramirez. Sandy took the decision, but had to go all the way to do it.
What looked to be an easy way stop on the climb back to the top had Saddler looking unusually weak and left him with two healthy cuts, one above and one below his left eye.
Ramirez, weighing 131, took everything the ex-Champ could hand out, going the full ten-rounds distance. The underdog, the California fighter had the local Laurel Garden crowd of 2,300 on his side. Saddler weighed 130.
Ramirez was on the floor a total of four times, but only one of them was a legitimate knockdown. Saddler belted him with a hard right to the stomach in the fourth and Ramirez took a nine count. The other times he slipped.
Their immediate aim will be to gain the right to test their attack against the nation's No. 1 collegiate defense in the championship game with Oklahoma A. and M., the western victor, at Seattle, Wash., Saturday night. The Aggies won out last Saturday in Kansas City.
The defending champion Wildcats and the Illini cracked the Garden's

by Pap 'Big If' Viewed In Nat'l Circuit

Clearwater, Fla., March 22—(AP) Eddie Sawyer sees 1949 as "the year of the big if" in the National League with the Philadelphia Phillies prepared to spring a surprise.
As optimistic as a fellow can be who finished sixth last year, Manager Sawyer finds hope in the problems of others. The 37-year-old farm system graduate who took over the job of bossing the big club last July after Ben Chapman was replaced, expects no miracles. He does think improvement is to be expected.
"I honestly expect a rat race in our league," said Sawyer. "Nobody is set for sure. Everybody has a big if."
"For the Cards it's if Kurowski and Marion can play a full season and if Musial can have another year like the last one... if Blackwell can pitch for Cincinnati... if the Giants get pitching... if the kids come through for Brooklyn... if Reiser can come back for Boston."
"We have added power in Bill Nicholson and Eddie Waitkus. Sure, we gave up pitching in Dutch Leonard and Monk Dubiel. But Leonard is going on 40 and Dubiel was a must for Chicago. He was their key man in the deal. Hank Borowy and Russ Meyer who came to us from the Cubs, are going to help."
"We'll do better than a lot of people think."

Old Orchard Returns Sedalia Gets Stakes

Old Orchard, Me.—(AP)—The July 25-30 week of grand circuit racing at the Kite Track here will mark the return of major league harness racing to the oval for the first time since 1946. Some $50,000 in early closing events are scheduled for the week of competition, including a $5,000 event for two-year old trotters.

Sedalia, Mo.—(AP)—The rich Trotting Horse Club of America stakes for two and three year old trotters and pacers have been awarded to the track here, a newcomer to the grand circuit in 1948. The stakes were raced in former years at Milwaukee which has dropped from the major league of harness racing this year.

Walcott going to camp; tries to lose weight
Philadelphia, March 22—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott leaves for Hot Springs, Ark., today to get down near the fighting weight he hopes will carry him to the heavyweight championship of the world.
Jersey Joe wouldn't say but it was pretty evident he was several pounds over his best fighting weight as he prepared to leave by plane with manager Felix Bocchicchio and trainer Jerry Allen.
"You won't know me when I get back," Walcott said with a big grin. "I'm going down there and take the baths for 21 days and then I'll be in condition to start serious training for Ezzard Charles."
Walcott and Charles have a summer engagement at a site to be selected for a fight under the promotion of ex-champion Joe Louis. The National Boxing Association has given its sanction to the first as the producer of Louis' successor.

High-Scoring Illinois And Kentucky Clash For Title

New York, March 22—Kentucky and Illinois, two teams with a tremendous scoring punch, will clash at Madison Square Garden tonight for the Eastern NCAA basketball title.
Their immediate aim will be to gain the right to test their attack against the nation's No. 1 collegiate defense in the championship game with Oklahoma A. and M., the western victor, at Seattle, Wash., Saturday night. The Aggies won out last Saturday in Kansas City.
The defending champion Wildcats and the Illini cracked the Garden's upset jink and scored expected semifinal victories last night before a near-sellout crowd of 18,051.
Kentucky, rebounding from a slump that saw it bow to Chicago Loyola in the National Invitation last week, rolled over Villanova with a record-breaking 85-72 score.
Illinois' big nine champions staged a desperate spurt in the final minutes to turn back Yale, the Ivy League titlist, 71-67.
In triumphing, the two big, poised teams enlarged upon offensive records that rate with the best in the country. Illinois averaged 69.5 points for the season and Kentucky 68.2.

County Boxing Tourney Opens Thursday Night

Fight lovers all over the county looked to the Pitt County Golden Gloves boxing tournament today as over 80 high school boys tapered off pre-fight training and made ready for their debut in the pugilist world.
The boys will square away in the opening round of a three day tournament at East Carolina Teachers College Thursday night and winners will slug it out in the finals Saturday.
Every high school in the county will be represented either by a team or individual fighters, according to Coach Jim Johnson, director of the event. Johnson and members of the East Carolina boxing team last week completed instruction tours to each of the schools where considerable interest was noted.
Coaches, most of them fighters with the ECTC team, have been working with the high school boys for the past month and according to reports enthusiasm is running high. All the boys will be in the novice class but reports from the various schools have it that a number of fighters are "looking very good for the length of time they

Fast Gridders

New York—(AP)—The recent ICAA 60-yard dash had seven T formation half-backs in the race, but it was won by a non-footballer. Horace Smith of Michigan State, Bob Tyler of Dartmouth, Jim Fuchs and Charley Keller of Yale, Bill Brooks of Wesleyan, Bill Powers of Navy and Jim Cain of Army were in the event. Andy Stanfield of Seton Hall won the race, with Smith second.

Two Triplers

New York—(AP)—Two sprinters have won the ICAA 60-yard dash three times. James Daley of Holy Cross turned the trick in 1928-29-30, while Columbia's Ben Johnson led the field in 1935-37-38. Johnson is holder of the meet's dash record of 6.2 seconds with several runners.

Pittsburgh And Athletics Display Best Records In Grapefruit League

New York, March 22—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Athletics sport the best records in the National and American leagues respectively in "Grapefruit" league play.
Manager Billy Meyer's Pirates have won nine games and dropped three for a .750 rating while the Athletics have been working out.
At Winterville, over 20 boys have been working out with Redwan David, undefeated co-captain of the East Carolina pugilists. The Winterville team, which will be featured in an article in the Daily Reflector tomorrow, is expected to boast one of the better squads in the tournament, though indications are that all the teams will be of almost equal calibre. Each team is confident of having at least some winners and reports from the Greenville team say the Phantom boxers are eyeing wins in each class.
Only two of the 18 players on the basketball squad at Santa Clara are from outside of California.
Not one Chicago White Sox pitcher managed to win more games than he lost during the 1947 season.

On Murder's Skirts

By Terry Adler

Chapter 4
The news of Professor Hubbard's death was received on the morning of Thursday, March sixteenth, with more polite attention than emotion. Associate Professor Bray automatically became acting chairman and life went on. Classes were rescheduled, seminars arranged, faculty committees planned, and academic procedure moved at its customary pace.

At nine o'clock that evening Dr. Dennis Rafferty, resident in Surgery, wandered around the hospital. He finally wandered into the hospital library and thought, it's probably a good chance to browse over some of the recent journals.

The library was deserted except for the young medical student who acted as evening librarian, and one other person. This was Norton, chief of the hospital. When Rafferty came in, Norton looked up from the book he was holding. Rafferty could see he was frowning. He went up to him. "Thought you were giving a paper at the meeting in New York, Dr. Norton."

"Oh—yes. Yes, of course I'm going. But something's come up and I'm not leaving until midnight." Norton remained frowning and obviously preoccupied with his own thoughts as he answered Rafferty. Rafferty turned to go, but was stopped by Norton's. "Ah—uh, Rafferty turned expectantly. "Rafferty, if you did a postmortem on a patient and found the symptoms to be marked cyanosis, lack of muscular tonus, moderate edema of the naso-pharyngeal passages, and complete engorgement of the right and left jugulars—what would your guess be as to the cause of death?"

"Well, sir, it certainly sounds like coronary occlusion, probably during sleep if there's no muscle tonus."

"Hmm—just as I had diagnosed it. And yet all that—I don't know." Norton was lost in thought. Rafferty waited.

"Look, Rafferty, if you're not too busy now, would you mind coming down to the autopsy room for a few minutes? Take a look for yourself. I'd like to have your opinion then."

On the way down Norton explained to Rafferty:

"We're doing an autopsy on J. B. Hubbard, head of the Biology Department over at the university. He died in his sleep early this morning. I was called by his housekeeper at about 7 o'clock. He was dead all right, and at the time there was no question in my mind but that it was coronary occlusion."

"Isn't it unusual to be doing an autopsy when death is due to natural causes?" Rafferty asked.

"It certainly is," said Norton as they turned into the long corridor. "But that's one of those insane things. Mrs. Hubbard had been out of town—she got in on the ten o'clock plane this morning. Well, I got a phone call from her about three days ago. What she wanted was to arrange for an autopsy in accordance with Hubbard's expressed wish to have one performed after his death."

"It seems about ten years ago he had had a very advanced case of ulcers. His doctor warned him to give up all strenuous activity or he'd shortly be beyond any help. Well, Hubbard went up to some fisherman's camp and lived with an old Indian guide for three months. The Indian mixed up some raw fish mash for him which he ate every day, and he drank lots of water. He came back feeling perfectly fit, or so Mrs. Hubbard says. Apparently he tried to get some doctors interested in this mash as a cure for ulcers. But of course they just laughed at him. I guess Hubbard thought an autopsy would prove he was right." Here Norton chuckled. "Just like a scientist to fool around with someone else's speciality."

"They reached the autopsy room and the two of them donned smocks, rubber gloves, and masks. Rafferty bent over the body. Above his mask his eyes had a puzzled, concentrating look. He looked up at Norton.

"You say Hubbard was in the Biology Department?"

"Biology, that's right."

"Was he doing any experiments with phosgene?"

"Ha! I knew it. Phosgene!" Norton exclaimed. "The only thing that puzzled me was trying to figure out how he managed to come in contact with the stuff. Of course if they're doing any experiments with it over in Biology, he ought to have known how to handle the gas."

He removed his mask and gloves. "Well, we're all through here, I guess. Let's wash up."

As they left the autopsy room, Norton remarked, "I wonder if there would be anyone over in the Biology Department now. I really ought to check up on this before I turn in the report." He looked at his watch. "It's not quite nine-thirty. I believe I'll call. I'd like to get the report completed before I leave."

"I could call them," Rafferty offered, "and meanwhile you can fill out the report. You haven't much time left if you're really going to make that midnight train."

"That's right; I don't have much time. That would be fine if you'd do that, Rafferty. I'll be up in Surgery, in my office."

Two minutes later Rafferty came into Norton's room. He sat down on the edge of Norton's desk and shook his head sadly.

Norton smiled. "Don't tell me they don't have any tanks of phosgene in that department."

"Not only do they not have any, nor have they ever had any, but—get this, Chief—I talked with the acting head, a chap by the name of Bray—"

"Oh, yes," said Norton, "I know Bray."

"Well," continued Rafferty, "after I'd told him what we found at the autopsy, he said, quite distinctly, 'So he was murdered, after all.'"

Flower Lovers Complain About Stray Canines

Greenville householders and flower lovers are filing complaints with the police department about stray and unowned dogs roaming the streets, night and day, and damaging their flower gardens. Others complain to authorities about dogs turning over garbage receptacles. One citizen, talking at the police station today, said he believes the dog population of Greenville is greater now than ever before. Owned and licensed dogs are regulated by their owners. The dogs, he said, that cause the trouble are the hundreds of stray dogs canines that roam the streets and are a public nuisance.

City's Churches Plan Visitations

Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, announced today that the churches of the city will sponsor a city-wide visitation in homes here beginning next Sunday night and continuing through Wednesday night. The visitation is to stimulate renewed interest in church life, to enlist the interest of church members who are not now active and to contact prospective church members of the various denominations.

Dr. G. Curtis Jones, pastor of Seventh Street Christian Church, Richmond, Va., will direct the visitation meetings. He is a Virginian and was educated at Yale Divinity School. He was pastor of Central Woodward Christian Church in Detroit, Mich., and at one time was associated with Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones in Detroit, who was president of the Federal Council of Christian Churches of America.

Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, will meet Dr. Jones in Rocky Mount Sunday afternoon. The ministers of Greenville will meet with him at 6 p.m. for a period of prayer.

The visitations will get under way Sunday night following a supper meeting at Eighth Street Christian Church at 6:30. Following the supper, teams of two will be assigned homes to visit in the interest of church work, and they are to report back that night.

The second supper meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Monday night at 6:30. The third meeting will be at Memorial Baptist Church Tuesday at 6:30, and the final meeting of the series of visitations will be held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on Wednesday night at 6:30.

Asian authorities believe that is particularly important just now when the tidal wave of Red successes in China threatens to spill over into Indo-China and threatens all Southeast Asia.

The big thing has been to convince the local peoples that Britain isn't handing out political double-talk—that she really plans to free them as soon as possible. The British feel they have largely succeeded in that.
