Despite Critics, Graham Expected To Assume Seat

Administration Supporters Loudest In Approval Of Senate Appointee

Washington, March 24—(AP)—Despite some sharp criticism, Dr. Frank P. Graham seems certain to take his seat as the nation's newest senator next week with little or no opposition.
Yesterday's official Senate record contained these extremes about the North Carolina university president, who was named by Gov. Kerr Scott to fill the vacancy created this month by the death of Senator Melville Broughton:

"He is a little bit soft on Communist front organizations."
"He is as loyal as any American who walks this earth" and "one of the most Christ-like men I have ever met."

His term would run only until 1950.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who frequently stands alone among the 22 Dixie senators, told a reporter that "if we continue to gain in the South as fast as we have in the past 12 months we may have a Southern Democratic group known as Progressives."

He pointed to the election of Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) as another example.

Kefauver also was happy at Graham's appointment. "I think it's a good appointment," he said. "I think he's a fine man."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), floor leader for the bloc of Dixie senators who have been fighting civil rights, said Graham is an able man.

But he added that as a "believer in state's rights I cannot refrain from expressing my surprise — if press reports are true—that the governor of the state would feel compelled to clear with the chairman of the national committee on the appointment."

Senator McGrath (D-R.I.), national party chairman, flatly denied that, although he said North Carolina Democratic officials had offered to consult him.

Graham's colleague, Senator Hoey (D-NC), predicted that Graham will be unchallenged despite the flurry yesterday.

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) touched it off by telling the Senate that the congressional atomic energy committee should make a full investigation of reports that a security officer and loyalty review board had refused to clear Graham for top secret atomic information.

Truman 'Pleased' At Selection Of Graham For Post

Raleigh, N.C., March 24—(AP)—Governor Scott has received word that President Truman "pleased" with the appointment of Dr. Frank Graham to the U.S. Senate.
The governor told a news conference late yesterday that he talked with Dr. John Steelman, executive assistant to the President, yesterday morning.
Stelman told the governor that "he talked with the President x x x and the President indicated he was pleased," Scott added.

The governor said he had not consulted with the President or with national Democratic officials prior to his decision to name the president of the University of North Carolina to the Senate vacancy. It was by the death of Senator J. M. Broughton.

Polish Social Freeze

Americans and Britishers Given Cold Shoulder In Poland; Outgrowth Of Strained International Situation; Ridiculous Extent; Doggedly Follow Stalin Line

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw—The social "freeze" is on in Poland. Both Americans and Britishers are getting the brush-off from the Poles.

Poles not only are not coming to parties, cocktail affairs and other social events organized by members of the American and British colonies. Many times they don't even trouble to answer "R.S.V.P." invitations.

The answer to anything the government doesn't want to talk about is: "We don't know anything about it. We never heard of it." That is the reply of the government's official spokesman to any inquiries about the social "cold war."

Those of the American embassy who like to entertain complain that it is not a question of setting a date and inviting Polish friends. If the American host hopes to attract a Polish guest the procedure is to telephone the Pole and ask him to set the date.

The government's official spokesman says, however, that no Pole is required to get official clearance to attend any Anglo-American affair. Nevertheless, the brush-off goes on.

Give Govm't 'Go Ahead' For Plan To Arm Allies

Washington, March 24—(AP)—Top economic officials have told the Administration it can go ahead with plans to ask Congress for up to $2,000,000,000 to rearm friendly countries.
The National Resources Board and other key government agencies reported after a careful study of all factors, officials disclosed today, that an arms program of that scope would not upset the nation's economy.

The study found that the United States possesses enough resources, manpower and industrial capacity to undertake such a rearmament of Europe without resorting to government controls such as rationing and allocations—and without causing any further inflation.

The American weapons would go to the foreign nations participating in the North Atlantic alliance, plus Greece, Turkey and Iran.

Officials said the cost study now is being revised to take into account continuing price drops in the United States, which are expected to increase the "margin of safety" noted in the earlier conclusion.

Assistant Secretary of State Ernest Gross currently is drawing up a foreign military aid program calling for Congress to appropriate from $1,250,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 for the North Atlantic countries for the year starting July 1.

About $500,000,000 more would be set aside for Greece, Turkey and Iran and any other friendly country whose security was believed essential to the United States.

Western European diplomats are reported to have suggested that any American rearmament program should last at least three years to assure security under the North Atlantic pact.

Says Pact Can Prevent War, Or Bring One On

Philadelphia, March 24—(AP)—John Foster Dulles says the North Atlantic Pact can halt war forever—or be the immediate cause of a third world conflict.
Dulles told the closing session of the 3rd annual Philadelphia Bulletin Forum last night "the pact is defensive" but—"Unless we are very careful Soviet leaders might jump to the conclusion that the pact is, in fact, offensive."

"If so," Dulles warned, "it might bring on the war which it is designed to prevent."

Dulles is U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

"Peace is not won merely by being right," Dulles insisted.

"If the Atlantic Pact is to promote peace the member states ought to conduct themselves, by word and deed, so that those in the Kremlin will see that the pact is an honest attempt to integrate and invigorate a free society within its natural limits. x x x

"Let us rule out ambiguous acts and loose words that could make the pact a cause of war."

Home-Rule Bill To Be Studied

Raleigh, N. C., March 24—(AP)—A bill calling for a constitutional amendment to give municipalities more home rule was turned over to a senate and house subcommittee today.

This action was taken after the joint committee on constitutional amendments heard an explanation of the measure from George Franklin, counsel for the league of municipalities.

The eight-man subcommittee was instructed to study the bill and make its report back to the joint committee by next Wednesday.

Demos In Senate Accept Terms Of New Rent Curbs

Leaders Oppose 'Home Rule' Proviso But Concede Measure 'Pretty Good'

Washington, March 24—(AP)—Democratic leaders today called the Senate-approved bill to extend rent controls 12 to 15 months "a pretty good job." However, they didn't like a provision allowing "home rule" to control any time.

The Senate passed the bill last night, 68 to 10. It permits some rent increases up to 10 per cent.

Senate action sent the bill back to the House, which already has approved a measure to continue rent controls 15 months beyond March 31, when the present rent law expires.

The House bill differs in several respects from the Senate's, so conferees from the two branches of Congress have to work out a compromise before the legislation can go to the White House.

The Senate-House conference group plans to get together tomorrow.

Twenty-three Republicans joined 45 Democrats in ramming the Senate bill through. All the 10 votes against it were cast by Republicans.

Administration leaders succeeded in battling down most amendments they contended would cripple rent control. But they came out on the short end of a couple of counts, too.

In one case, the Democrats defeated President Truman in large numbers. That was on an amendment by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) to continue rent controls three years as Mr. Truman asked.

That proposal was swamped, 75 to 19. Among others, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), the majority leader, voted against it. So did 38 other Democrats and 34 Republicans. The 10 votes for the amendment were all by Democrats.

The Senate bill also allows states to remove controls whenever the legislature passed a law calling for that, and the governor approved. Individual states also could take over the control program if the governor certified that his state had an adequate rent law.

Rankin Measure Killed By House

Washington, March 24—(AP)—By a one vote margin, the house today shelved the Rankin veterans' pension bill.

A roll-call vote of 208 to 207 sent the measure back to the veterans committee for further study.

It is possible for the veterans committee to write a new bill and send it back to the house at a later date.

But chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) told the house the vote to recommit meant that the bill is dead.

"That kills this legislation for this Congress," Rankin said.

Rankin's bill already had been so amended that it bore little resemblance to his original proposal for $90 a month pensions at age 65 to all World War I and World War II veterans.

The vote to throw it back to committee climaxed series of maneuvers on the floor.

Rep. Teague (D-Tex.) made the motion to send it back.

The roll call vote was first announced as 209 to 208 against the bill.

Puts Priority On Economic Project

Connally Asserts Economic Recovery Of Europe Is Basic Policy; Military Program Delegated To Back-Seat

Washington, March 24—(AP)—Europe's economic recovery has the right-of-way over any military program to support the proposed North Atlantic security pact, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today.

"I should like to make it clear," Connally told the Senate, "the basic policy of the United States government is to accord economic recovery a clear priority."

The veteran chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee opened debate on the $5,580,000,000 program to aid Western Europe in the next 15 months. Some senators have suggested chopping from $1,000,000,000 to $2,280,000,000 from the total.

But Connally urged his colleagues to approve the authorization bill in full. It puts a limit on the amount to be spent by the Economic Cooperation Administration, but it does not provide the actual cash. This would be done by appropriation.

Connally said the question has been raised whether "the contemplated military assistance program will interfere with the execution of the recovery program by the diversion of European manpower and materials for defense purposes."

While no definite answer can be given at this time, Connally said, "the military assistance program should, in fact, have a beneficial effect on economic recovery by strengthening the feeling of confidence and security."

Unofficial estimates are that an arms program for members of the Atlantic pact will cost about $1,000,000,000—possibly more—in the first year. The treaty is scheduled to be signed April 4 by the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Belgium, the Netherlands, France, Luxembourg, Denmark and Norway.

Connally praised the achievements of ECA in the past year. But even though progress has been great, he said, Europe has not yet achieved recovery and still needs American dollars.

But he said that by June, 1952, Europe must be "independent of extraordinary American aid."

"We do not expect to continue this program beyond that time," Connally said. He added that next year's aid program will be cut "considerably below" the first year's program, which was $5,055,000,000.

He took note of some earlier talk of cutting funds for Britain, commenting:

"We must conclude that any substantial cut in dollar aid to Britain would be a tragic mistake. It would seriously retard British and European recovery. The estimated British requirements for dollar aid next year already represent a 24 per cent cut over last year, compared with a 15 per cent reduction for ERP countries as a whole."

West German State Foes Gain Strength

Frankfurt, Germany, March 24—(AP)—The plan to create a western German state has bumped into increasingly powerful opposition.

Informed observers now give the idea no better than a 50-50 chance of being worked out. This dark outlook has taken root only in the last few weeks.

The Communists have been opposing right along to any western German government. It would leave out their eastern zone of Germany and minimize Communist influence in the west.

In this opposition they have found some strange allies, acting with different motives but the same end aim: no west German state.

This opposition includes the strong Socialist party in western Germany, the French military government and a new German Nationalist movement which aims at a United Germany.

The outcome of the dispute is important.

If the present German constitutional assembly at Bonn fails to adopt a constitution for western Germany, American and British policy—which calls for setting up such a state—must undergo a complete change.

Old Man River Breaks Levee; Families Fleeing

Baton Rouge, La., March 24—(AP)—The Mississippi river broke through a levee today and sent residents fleeing from their homes.

The break occurred about 4:10 a. m. (EST) about three miles north of Port Allen, across the river from Baton Rouge.

Within three hours the water had moved three miles in from the river. Highway 190 was covered to a depth of three feet.

Sheriff's deputies and volunteers patrolled the roads, knocking on doors and urging residents to leave their homes. The Red Cross set up a reception center in Port Allen to care for refugees.

The break occurred at a large bend beside the Wilkinson sugar plantation. The river washes directly against the levee at that point.

The break came as a complete surprise, as the river stage had not been considered dangerous. Deputy Sheriff H. L. Oncal, Jr., said the water was "just high enough to come through the break."

Port Allen is a town of about 3,500. The area being flooded is occupied almost entirely by sugar plantations. It is sparsely populated.

Lewis' Aides Say Shutdown To End On Planned Date

District Presidents Say No Move To Extend Walkout Is Contemplated

Pittsburgh, March 24—(AP)—Two of John L. Lewis' field lieutenants said today the two-week coal mine shutdown will end on schedule Monday.

Although Lewis kept a stern alliance at his home in Virginia, two district presidents of the United Mine Workers predicted there would be no move to extend the work stoppage beyond the March 28 deadline.

Outside the union, many feared Lewis' rebuff by the U. S. Senate this week might prolong the walkout.

Lewis had announced the walkout was a protest against the nomination of Dr. James Boyd as U. S. Bureau of Mines director. The work stoppage was eight days old when the Senate confirmed Dr. Boyd's appointment Tuesday by a thumping 50-11 vote.

Lewis said also the shutdown was a memorial for the 51,000 miners killed and injured since 1900.

John P. Busarello, president of UMW District 3, which governs about 27,000 mine-members in western Pennsylvania, said:

"It is my judgment that the original instructions will be carried out.

"We went out on the 14th and we'll be back on the 28th."

Fred Guillot, secretary-treasurer of District 5, flatly declared:

"They'll be at work, definitely, except maybe a few who'll be sick or something."

At Clearfield, Pa., James Mark, president of UMW District 2, with a membership of about 40,000, likewise predicted the walkout would end according to plan.

But he lamented the forfeited salaries and feared the miners would be unable to "make up any lost wages after the holiday ends."

Now will the coal industry be able quickly to recapture its lost production from the two weeks of idleness. After a walkout last year the nation's coal stockpile was laboriously rebuilt.

When the memorial period began 10 days ago, the U.S. had a record 70 million tons of coal above ground, 40 per cent better than the normal 50 million tons. The miners' memorial, experts calculate, will have eaten the reserve back down just about to normal, by the time the pits are opened Monday.

Few believe the coal operators will be able to rebuild their stricken stocks in the two short months before annual contract negotiations begin.

Only Danger Is Psychological Asserts Sawyer

New York, March 24—(AP)—There doesn't seem to be much danger of a depression—if people keep their heads—says Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Production thus far this year is ahead of the same period last year, he told a news conference yesterday although it has slackened somewhat since December.

Sawyer said "the possible danger is psychological — the businessmen, businessmen and investors may tend to swing from over-optimism to pessimism."

the parties, separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

It means they agree to help themselves and one another prepare. Since we're best able to help, most of the helping depends on us.

To do that, President Truman is expected to ask Congress for $1,000,000,000 or more. He may get some strong opposition on the grounds that we're spending too much money already.

Yes, in case of Russian attack, the European countries would be our first line of defense. They'd have to stand the brunt till we swung into action. That would be priceless help to us.

Unless we give plenty of help, our allies may wonder what meaning the pact has anyway and whether we can be depended on at all.

What to do if an attack comes—Article 3 is the other key section. It says that if one of the pact allies is attacked, the others, singly and

Two Vital Sections

Last Of A Series Of Four Articles On The Atlantic Pact; How Nations Expect To Prepare For Attack, And What They'll Do If Attack Comes; One Loophole

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 24—(AP)—The Atlantic Pact has two key sections. This story explains them, for you'll hear about them from Congress.

This country—with Canada, Britain, France, Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands—wrote the pact as a defense against Russia.

Their reason: If they're ready for attack, they may not be attacked at all; but if attacked, they'll be ready.

But—unless the Senate approves, we can't take part in the pact at all. It's expected to, probably in a few weeks.

Before the Senate says all right, the two key sections mentioned above will draw the heaviest examination and argument.

They are: How to prepare against an attack and what to do if the attack comes. Take them one at a time.

How to prepare against attack—There are 14 articles in the 1,040-word pact, and article 3, one of the keys, says:

Training School Becomes Interested In Newberry Awards

This week at the Training School we started an exhibit of books that have won the John Newberry medal. This medal is named in honor of John Newberry who in the middle of the eighteenth century published the first story books designed for children. This award is selected by the children's librarians section of the American Library Association and is given annually for the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children. The first award was made in 1922.

A survey has been made throughout the fifth, sixth and seventh grades of our school to find out how many of these books have been read. We found that "Smoky the Cowhorse" has been read more than any other of the Newberry award books. "Oodlie Woodlawn," "The Voyages of Doctor Doolittle," and "Strawberry Girl" come next in popularity. We also found that some of these books have not been read this year. Practically all of them are in circulation now. To help to create interest in her grade, Mrs. Egan is giving a prize to the child who reads most of the Newberry awards.

Bookmarks with a list of Newberry winners have been ordered so that the children can check off the books as they read them. We hope that each child will read as many as possible of these outstanding contributions to children's literature. —Peggy Everett, Sixth Grade.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

Wonder what they are going to do with the South Pole, now that Shackleton is reported to have found it.

The news coming from Washington is that congress will make a determined effort to reduce public expenditures to such a figure as will be within government receipts. About the best place to begin reduction is the pension list.

A Lenten Prayer

Fruits Born of the Spirit
By their fruits ye shall know them. . . . Matthew 7:16. Read chap. 9:35-10:1.

It is vastly important to know that we are not saved by good works, but that those who are saved produce good works. To know this difference is to come to the center of Christianity. The just shall live by faith and not by works. All our efforts to do well apart from faith in the gift of God are doomed to failure. The world will not be re-made by improvement societies. But faith without works is dead; by our fruits we are known. When we receive the gift of grace through faith, our lives are changed ethically and morally. And, serving our fellow men, we find increased fellowship with Christ.

The fruits born of the spirit are love, joy, peace; patience toward others, kindness, benevolence; good faith, meekness, self-restraint. The disciples were sent out to cast out devils, heal diseases, cleanse lepers, and restore the dead. Were our faith greater, we, in fellowship with Christ, would drive the swine of greed, lust and strife from every area of modern living.

Let Us Pray: Grant us, our Lord, a renewed sense of vocation, that all that we may do may be done to the honor and glory of thyself. In gratitude toward thee may we minister to those who are weaker than we. May we feed the hungry, visit the prisoners, clothe the naked in the Master's name, and share more fully in his fellowship of service to mankind. In his name we ask it. Amen.

'Pinocchio' To Entertain Here Early In April

"A girl who whittled an idea into industry" is the way one metropolitan newspaper recently described Dorothy Zaconick, director of Suzari Marionettes. This is the company whose rollicking version of "Pinocchio" is to be presented by the Greenville Service League to the people of Greenville on Monday and Tuesday April 4 and 5 at Austin Auditorium.

Miss Zaconick has already had a spectacular career in the art of puppetry, which is quite a feat for a young artist. The explanation is that Miss Zaconick became interested in puppets at a very early age, and made her first marionette when she was only four.

"Since then, everything I studied, was learned with just one purpose in mind," says Miss Zaconick. "That was to make use of it in the puppet theatre. And it's remarkable how much you have to know. Music, dancing, acting, sculpture and wood-carving, designing, costuming, the technical side of theatrical work—all these and many more skills enter into the making of a puppet show."

"Pinocchio" will be presented at Austin auditorium at the college on Monday and Tuesday, April 4 and 5. The matinee Monday will be at 2 p. m. Night performance, 8:15. The matinee Tuesday will be at 1:30 p. m. Monday's matinee is for Greenville school children. Tuesday's matinee is for county school children. The public is invited.

Converted Carbon Plant Plans To Begin Production On April 4

The Greenville plant of National Carbon Company, located at 14th and Colaniche Streets, is scheduled to begin production April 4. A. W. Bryan, plant manager, announced today.

Between 75 and 100 people will be employed in the newly equipped, modern plant which will produce practically all the "Eveready" pen-light batteries.

The local plant has been in operation since 1945, during which time "Krene" plastic items were produced. Conversion of the plant to pen-light battery manufacture was begun some months ago, and installation of the new equipment is practically complete.

The battery plant at Greenville is the only one of its kind in Eastern North Carolina, and will afford the city more diversity of manufacture and better employment stabilization. Steady employment opportunity seems assured, since little seasonal variation in production is anticipated, Bryan said.

Invite Russians To Inspect Major U. S. Factories

New York, March 24—(AP)—Russian delegates to a "world peace" conference today were invited to inspect major American factories as opponents of the conference perfected plans to picket the weekend series of meetings.

The invitation to tour this country's industrial areas was extended to the Soviet group by the National Association of Manufacturers. Routed through Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin, the invitation expressed belief that such tours would further world peace as the peoples of the world come to know how one another work and live.

There was no indication from Soviet sources as to whether the Russians would accept.

In a separate letter to Dmitri Shostakovich, famed composer and leader of the Russian delegation, President Wallace F. Bennett of the NAM said he hoped Panyushkin would approve the tour.

"We hope sincerely that the ambassador's approval will be forthcoming speedily," Bennett wrote, "and that you and your companions will be able to take advantage of this opportunity to see American men and women at work and prospering under our system of free individual enterprise."

Sponsors of the controversial "world peace" parley which opens tomorrow charged the State Department with "deliberately misrepresenting the conference in the eyes of the American people" as protests against it mounted.

The State Department has claimed the international meeting will be devoted to communist-inspired attacks on U.S. foreign policy. It is to be held in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Several Catholic and anti-communist groups are marshaling forces to oppose the three-day conference. Picketing, pamphleteering and street demonstrations by massed thousands are planned.

As delegates from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia arrived yesterday, sponsors again protested the State Department's refusal to admit some 17 delegates from western Europe and South America.

The ban against French, Italian and four of five British delegates was called an "attempts" to suppress the truth that intellectual leaders of all political persuasions support the conference.

Two Men Killed In Hotel Blaze

Waverly, Tenn., March 24—(AP)—Two men were killed when fire swept through the Dixieland hotel here early today.

One was killed in a leap from the second floor of the two-story frame structure, and the other was found dead in his room from smoke and fumes, Deputy Sheriff Grady Gray said.

Some 20 occupants escaped from the blazing structure without injury.

The deputy identified the dead as G. B. Reed of Goodlettsville, a small town near Nashville, and Antiel Lewis of Memphis.

MISS LIZZIE ENTWISTLE DIED

Mrs. Lizzie Ayres Entwistle died at the home of her aunt, Miss Polly Norris and Miss Dolly Norris this morning about 9 o'clock. She had been ill several years. Funeral arrangements were incomplete, awaiting arrival of relatives.

Kitchen Court

Paul, Minn., March 24—(AP)—Exhibit 'A' was the cake baked by the defense attorney in the disputed oven, and the judge who ate it said "I feel fine—no indigestion."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finck sued a local furniture company for $128—the price of the stove which, said Mrs. Finck, "baked on the outside and not on the inside."

For the defense, Attorney Stanley J. Mosis asked Judge Royden S. Dane to move court temporarily to Mrs. Finck's kitchen. There Mosis turned out the cake. Judge Dane sampled it, thought things over and decided yesterday "It wasn't the best cake I've eaten, but—"

He ordered the furniture company to replace the oven door, repair the burners and make the stove satisfactory to Mrs. Finck.

UNC Glee Club To Appear Here

A program ranging from the church music of the sixteenth century to the dissonance and rhythmic drive of compositions by America's young musicians will be presented by the men's glee club of the music department of the University of North Carolina on Friday, April 6th in Wright Auditorium, on the campus of East Carolina Teacher's College.

Included in the early music to be performed will be a canon selected from the first choral music composed in America. "When Jesus Wept," by William Billings, appeared in 1770 the year of Beethoven's birth. Paul Revere did the engraving work for the publication.

Other early music will be Giovanni Gabrieli's Jubilate Deo, an antiphonal composition for chorus and solo quartet, and Diffusa Est Gratia by Manno.

Modern choruses to be performed will be William Schuman's very dissonant musical setting of Geoffrey Chaucer's Ballade of Good Advice, a whimsical song of three hats by John Tasker Howard, and Greenville Banquet's Requiem, based on Robert Louis Stevenson's famous poem.

The glee club will sing folk songs from Russia, Italy and Scotland. The familiar Kentucky folk ballad, "Down in the Valley" or "Birmingham Jail" will also be performed.

The concert will be concluded with the famous Prisoner's Chorus from Beethoven's opera Fidelio, and the finale to Part II of Berlioz's Damnation of Faust.

Churchill To See President Today

New York, March 24—(AP)—Winston Churchill, in this country for an 11-day visit, had a dinner date with President Truman in Washington today.

He and Mrs. Churchill will be guests of the Trumans at a formal dinner.

Appearing in the pink of condition, the 74-year-old wartime prime minister of Great Britain arrived here yesterday on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Wife Can Sue; Husband Can't

Raleigh, N.C., March 24—(AP)—A wife may sue a husband for auto injuries, but he can't sue her, the State Supreme Court said yesterday.

In an unusual case, the decision was in a suit brought by G. B. Sholtens against Elizabeth Sholtens in Nash County. Both are Florida residents. The wreck occurred near Enfield.

Under the present law, the high court held, a wife may sue her husband in such cases, but the husband cannot bring suit against his wife.

Maybe, said the court, the law should be changed, "but this court does not make the law."

Strength FOR THE DAY WHAT'S THE HURRY? One trouble with us Americans is that we hurry too much. Hurrying is good sometimes, when it is necessary, and when we know where we are going. But very often we hurry just to "save time," and it is not easy to know what becomes of this time after we have "saved" it. Even worse, we occasionally hurry so fast that we completely miss our original destination in our haste.

Of course, speed is often important and valuable; the fire engine, the ambulance, and the telegram all enhance our security and convenience. But the scars left on our society by excessive speed are painfully visible. Thousands are killed each year in automobile accidents. Other thousands for whom the pace of life has become too swift crowd our mental hospitals.

These are the striking tragedies; most of us, in more commonplace fashion, will die in either auto accidents or asylums. Still we rob ourselves of beauty and joy by rushing through life. The cyclist sees more of the scenery than the motorist, and hikes more than the cyclist. Ten people around us might prove to be interesting, responsive, exciting—if we took time to know them.

Why not try it? Just for a month, slow down and look around. You will find that you have reached the same destination anyway, and how much more you will have enjoyed the trip!

Around Capitol Square

AMAZEMENT—The office dictionary gives as one definition of amazement "perplexity arising from sudden surprise." This is almost exact description of capitol square attitude on the appointment of Dr. Frank Graham to the United States senate. The only people who had not surprised were those who had reached determination not to be surprised at anything. The dramatic setting chosen by the governor for the announcement was in keeping with his previously shown instinct for the dramatic and unusual. Very few men would have chosen a social dinner of literary personnel, held for the purpose of honoring scholastic achievement, as the vehicle for conveying the most important political news of the year.

DELIBERATIVE—Although the announcement came unexpectedly, Governor Scott told newsmen he had given the matter very careful thought. He disclosed that the careful had been offered to Graham several days before, that the university president had declined it, and had to be persuaded to accept. The conclusive persuasion came Sunday night at a conference of the governor, the new appointee, chancellors of the three units and the controller of the greater university. Evidence now is that delay, for which the governor was severely criticized, was not due to his own inability to make a selection but to Frank Graham's reluctance in severing his connection with the university. Apparently the governor's mind had been fully made up before a great many of the endorsement letters, telegrams and endorsements were received in behalf of other aspirants. The new appointee evidenced continuing reluctance even after accepting the proffer, and atmosphere around the Graham home in Chapel Hill after the dinner was more like a funeral than a celebration.

REASONING—In subsequent informal conversation Governor Scott outlined the reasoning which led to his choice. First was the world recognized ability and sincere liberalism of the new senator. Next was the thought that while Dr. Graham had many years more of usefulness at the university, he had reached the top and could go no farther in that field. Then came the political angles. The governor felt that Dr. Graham's appointment would please more and offend fewer people among those who supported him last year and have been advocating other candidates for the senate. DIVERSE—Immediate reaction around the capitol was as diverse as possible. There was sincere approval of the selection, based on belief that Senator Graham will soon become a force for progress in national circles, and will prove to be a great senator. The other extreme was belief that he will line up with elements contrary to the state's traditional ideas, and that his incumbency will mean a vote with the ultra-liberals and will in practical effect cancel the state's voice in the senate by "killing" Senator Hoey's vote on most economic issues. Comment was frequently heard that a change in the university presidency will be for the better; and just as frequent comment was that the university has suffered irreparable loss. These contrasting views emphasize a long recognized fact, that Frank Graham is a very forceful personality. It's hard to find middle positions with respect to him. There is either vigorous support or violent opposition for his policies. So his appointment to the senate has been approved and criticized largely along these lines.

FUTURE—Predictions about permanent effect of this week's developments are as hazardous as were advance guesses about the senatorial appointment. There is the material of a new president for the university. Then there is the primary of 1950 coming up. Majority opinion among legislators and capitol visitors Wednesday was that there will be a hotly contested campaign for the nomination to fill the remaining four years of the senatorial term. There were rumors that several men had conferred as to which of them would enter the field. Almost unanimous belief is William Umstead will be in the race against Graham and that Capus Waynick, who had a lot of support for the current appointment, will challenge Clyde Hoey for the full term western senate berth. These candidates are regarded as "naturals" in the developing contest between management and labor for supremacy in state and nation.

Boyle's Column

New York—(AP)—The poor man's philosopher says: Life, for every man, has three grindstones. They chafe him more as he grows older, less sure of himself and less innocent. They rub him deeper as he turns to the patterns of an unhappy past to guide him toward what he hopes is a failed future. The three grindstones of life, common to all men, are those of duty, doubt and desire: 1. A man's growing sense of responsibility as he takes over the duties of maturity. WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS Washington — Youngsters are brighter today than they used to be. They learn faster too. Yet, says Col Homer B. Millard, little has been done to provide adequate educational facilities to keep abreast with them. He says there is too much "wasted time" in the academic years, too many interruptions in daily classroom work.

Colonel Millard is establishing a new school in the national capital which will do away with this wasted time and will enable the student to complete the entire high school course of study within a two calendar year period instead of the usual four years. His new school, which will have an enrollment of some 75 boys, is a successor to Millard's "a school for West Point." This preparatory school started in 1925, itself built a nationwide reputation based upon a unique method of instruction. This was best exemplified, the colonel says, by the fact that 93 per cent of its students successfully passed the rugged entrance exams to the military academy. Graduates of this school included sons of Generals Eisenhower, Arnold and Doolittle as well as of other famous dads.

Colonel Millard tells me the advantages of his new school are four fold: 1. It takes the youngster at a time of his greatest mental ability, utilizes his full time, and by so doing enables him to save 50 percent of his secondary educational time. 2. By being properly prepared, the boy is able then to enter schools of higher learning at 16 or 17 and have two or three years of college behind him before he would be called in case of a national emergency. 3. "This would work to the advantage of both the student and the college," he says. "Had this system been in vogue prior to World War II, the army student training program, which cost us millions, would have been unnecessary. The advantages to the colleges, which this past year dismissed approximately 33 per cent of their students due to the scholastic inability, would be incalculable." By his system it would be possible to save two years of the student's educational life and thus save two years for his productive life.

The school will be conducted six days a week in five-month periods. All classes are in the morning. Afternoons are spent in gym or on the athletic ground. The school will be highly selective in admission of students. "Whereas in our school system we have been teaching to the lower third bracket," Colonel Millard says, "in this school we will teach to the important upper two-thirds, which have in the past been neglected. Tests will eliminate the lower third before they ever start."

Test Hinted For Navy Fighters Against B-36... Eight Miles Up

Washington, March 24—(AP)—Could Navy fighters shoot down the B-36 bomber in the stratosphere—where the air force says jets can't touch it?

The air force may make tests to find out. Navy fighters are built to different standards than land-based planes.

The air force has made no secret of its belief that the B-36, operating unescorted at 40,000 feet and higher, is a virtually unsinkable" as far as present type fighters are concerned. But—

1. The "invulnerability" story ignores the possibility of radical tactics—such as mid-air ramming, used by Russian pilots in both world wars—and radical equipment such as guided or target-seeking missiles and air-borne cannon with proximity-fused shells.

2. The B-36 never has bucked

Biggest Splash

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 24 (AP)—Collegiate swimming makes its biggest splash in Dixie history here today. The 26th annual national collegiate athletic association championships will be decided in a three-day program opening tonight.

Forty seven teams from coast to coast, a record entry, are represented in this first southern staging of the meet.

Defending champion Michigan is expected to meet its sternest competition from Ohio State Iowa and Yale. Yale has the biggest representation of any contestant—26 men.

A dozen events will be decided, beginning with the running of the 1,500 meter freestyle final tonight.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the Rector Kitchens

Perhaps the most popular food in America is the much glorified, publicized HAMBURGER. Maybe you prefer to grill it with cheese or vary the flavor with condiments. But still it's nutritious meat 'n' bread, economical, quick, and easy to prepare.

What Makes Hamburgers Good?????????

Quality Beef is essential in making savory, luscious hamburgers. Ask for Wilson's Certified Beef (chuck or round), ground with 2 or 3 ounces of suet per pound. THE FAT ADDS JUICY TENDERNESS AND FLAVOR and DOES AN AUTOMATIC BASTING JOB DURING THE COOKING.

Hamburgers may be pan-fried, grilled (best for very thin ones) or broiled. We'll take ours broiled. During broiling the fat drips away instead of hardening and toughening the outer layer of meat with its excessive heat. You'll find broiled burgers juicy, nicely browned and never greasy. For an extra tender touch try the optional sour cream ingredient (see recipe). Wilson's B-V meat extract adds such rich flavor, it practically makes steak out of hamburgers! Ummmmmmmm, how your family will smack their lips!

Hamburgers De Luxe

Blend together thoroughly but lightly:

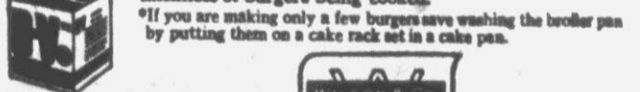

1 lb. Wilson's Certified Beef hamburger

1 tablespoon Wilson's B-V dissolved in 1/4 cup sour cream or evaporated milk or 1/4 cup tomato juice or milk

1/4 teaspoon pepper and no salt (B-V has that)

To make uniformly fine-shaped patties measure out 1/4 cup of meat mixture and roll to a nice ball. Place between two squares of wax paper and press to a large flat patty that won't look lost in the bun—see picture. Place on broiler rack* and insert in pre-heated broiler (medium heat) placing 2 to 3 inches below heat. Broil about five minutes. Turn and brown second side only if needed. This will depend on thickness of burgers being cooked.

*If you are making only a few burgers save washing the broiler pan by putting them on a cake rack set in a cake pan.

navy fighters, either jet or propeller.

3. The air force has no interceptor fighter in service and so doesn't know what a plane built for the job can do.

Here is the story on B-36 interception:

Several hundred tests have been made using jet fighters, principally the F-80 shooting star. These have shown (1) that the jet planes tested require about 28 minutes to climb to altitudes, (2) that their engines have only about one-fourth sea-level power when eight miles up, while piston engines can draw nearly full power, and (3) in the thin air their small wings give them less maneuverability than the big bomber.

Navy planes are built to use less than 500 feet of deck instead of mile-long runways. They are powered for quick climb, and navy jets have auxiliary boosters known as afterburners that give them a double push in emergencies. The air force isn't using these yet but will have them on later model fighters.

The navy's outstanding propeller fighter, the F-4U Corsair, is reported to have run away from the F180 at 40,000 feet and over. It is expected that the navy's newest jet fighters, the F2H Banshee and the F7U Cutlass, will do at least as well. Both are two-engine fighters.

The Banshee is rated unofficially at 630 miles an hour at 30,000 feet, or 25 MPH faster than the F-80 at sea-level, where a jet has peak power. The Cutlass is still faster. Both navy planes are reported to have a much faster rate of climb than air force jets. They are understood to be able to get to 40,000 feet in about one-third the time it takes an F-80.

Earn No Runs In Twenty Innings

Lakeland, Fla., March 24—(AP)—After 20 innings without a run the Detroit Tigers are making some changes.

Manager Red Rolfe now is going to try an outfield of Hoot Evers, Vic Wertz and Johnny Groth. In ten exhibition games Dick Wakefield and Pat Mullin are hitting respectively .185 and .148.

Rookie Groth has been the only consistent hitter among the fly shaggers.

EASING RATIONS
Stockholm, March 24—(AP)—Sweden abolished rationing of butter and other fats today, after more than eight years. Meat in restaurants also goes off the ration list, but remains on coupons in the stores.

Diameters of planets range from 3,000 miles, in the case of Mercury, to 88,000 miles in the case of Jupiter.

Dear Judy

Girls are forever getting beauty and grooming tips from the boys. People quote the young men at great length as to their opinions on the girls' fashions, bobby-sox hairdos—and there was a time they spouted high and lustily on the subject of sloppy sweaters and dungarees.

Nobody ever seems to care what the girls think about the boys, though. A consensus by a group of girls, however, is that the boys could use a shot of beauty in the arm. Such things as dirty fingernails or nails that have been chewed down to the quick incur the girls' wrath more than anything else. No excuse, they say, for not taking advantage of soap and water.

Unkept shoes and dirty hair also give them the shivers. One girl says, "I wouldn't care if the guy showed up with patched pants—that's legitimate; but if he doesn't bother to scrub himself, comb his hair and shine his shoes, he can find a date elsewhere."

Sisters often take the brunt of big brothers' carelessness, especially when big brother insists on dating in Sis' crowd. Then Sis must keep after him day night and even shine his shoes and manure his nails to keep the family's shining armor unblemished.

So get busy, brothers. It'll be easier to cinch that date by making a clean front . . . it'll be easier on Sis, too.

Students of Normandy High school were thrilled to hear and interview Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt recently. Joy Bridgett, interviewing her for their "Courier," asked her if she believed "the United Nations without a strong power of enforcement could ensure world peace." Mrs. Roosevelt answered "No, and as it is now, it can't have force."

Mrs. Roosevelt says Joy went on to explain: "One problem to face would be the kind of force. This is especially true of the atomic energy question." Joy asked "Well, tying in with that, do you believe in a world government such as the United World Federalists propose?" Mrs. Roosevelt replied: "No, because it was hard enough to get the United Nations Charter . . . I do believe, however that you should go on working for and thinking about world government."

Define Jurisdiction of State Highway Patrol

By GIL BILLINGS
 Raleigh, March 24.—Legislation introduced by Pass of Clay limiting the jurisdiction of highway patrolmen is receiving avid attention in the highway department and committee meetings.
 The bill would confine the authority of patrolmen strictly to enforcement of rules and regulations respecting travel and use of vehicles on the highways. Laws for protection of both vehicles and pedestrians on highways would come under the responsibility of the highway department.
 Orders to highway patrolmen issued late last year specify that the responsibilities of the state officers embrace enforcement of laws pertaining to travel and use of vehicles, protection of pedestrians and safety vehicle measures.
 The patrolmen are authorized to serve warrants relative to travel and use of vehicles, and crimes of violence. They are also charged with responsibility of making arrests for crimes committed in their presence.
 The Pass bill is a measure to discourage cooperation among city, county and state police—in which undue advantage has been taken of authority, original jurisdiction has been assumed by unauthorized officers and laxity indicated in primary responsibilities.
 Action on the bill has been postponed temporarily in order to allow more adequate study of both the bill and the department recommendations. Because of departmental opposition, based on sound testimony, the bill will probably have a difficult time getting out of committee.

Death Plunge

Yosemite, Calif., March 24.—(P)—The death plunge of two Stanford students down a 620-foot ledge at Yosemite was disclosed last night with the discovery of their snow-covered bodies.
 Their battered condition led investigators to conclude they had fallen at least 400 feet. They had attempted to climb the ledge linked by 100 feet of rope, a length considered by veterans as too great for such a risky ascent up wet, snow-whitened rocks.
 Cards in clothing identified the two as Peter B. Yeasell, 18, and Kenneth Allen Haines, 19, both of Fresno.

Women In The Church

Here's another week for your calendar . . . It's National Young Women's Christian Association Week, from April 24 through April 30. Church women of every community are being urged to visit their "YW" during this week, see the activities that are carried on for local women and girls, and relate themselves also to the worldwide services of the "YW" in 69 nations. "The YWCA is your window to the world" is the week's slogan. There are 3,000,000 members of the "YW" in more than 1,000 branches.
 Miss Jane Doolittle, Presbyterian missionary promoting the "Iran Bethel Project" in Teheran, Iran reports that a home has been purchased for the growing community service center which now operates a library, sewing classes, health clinic, nursery school, and Bible classes for the city. The center has grown out of the needs of young women who formerly attended the Christian school maintained by the mission.
 "The city of Manila is taking on a new look," reports Miss Roxy Lefforge, missionary in that Philippine Islands city. "We no longer live in a ghost community. The Harris Memorial School has moved into the newly reconstructed Wilson Hall. Everywhere new buildings are going up, ruins are being torn down, and old buildings are having their faces lifted. The sea wall is almost whole again. The streets are being repaired and beautified. People are waiting for the first signs of the 'phoenix' which is expected to arise from the ashes of the old Central Student Church."

Riceland Rice Always Should Be Served With Fish Try Baked Salmon and Celeried Riceland Rice

It's no problem to serve delicious, nourishing meals on meatless days (or any time, for that matter) when you remember that fish and Riceland Rice are a perfect combination. Fish and Riceland Rice naturally belong together, both from the standpoint of taste and balanced diet.

Like fish, Riceland Rice grows in water. The famous rice lands of America are flooded to produce the perfect growing conditions for Riceland Rice, the world's most delicious rice. Only the perfect-cooking rice grains are packaged under the famous Riceland brand name. So be sure to use genuine Riceland Rice always. Here's one of the 200 different delicious ways to serve it.

Baked Salmon And Celeried Riceland Rice

4 pounds fresh salmon (more or less according to the number of persons to be served). Salt and pepper to taste.

Flour

5 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 large onion, minced

1 clove of garlic, if desired

1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

1/2 cups tomato juice

Select a shining fresh salmon or a choice piece thereof. Be sure it is perfectly scaled, cleaned, washed and wiped dry. Rub with salt and pepper. Dredge with flour. Place in a well greased shallow pan.

Bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees, then add all the other ingredients and cook about thirty minutes in a 350 degree oven, basting frequently.

Put on a hot platter, thin sauce in the pan with water or cream and thicken with a little flour mixed with cold water. Stir and cook until the right thickness. Pour around the salmon. Garnish with cucumber or lemon slices and parsley and serve with celeried Riceland Rice.

Celeried Riceland Rice
To Cook Riceland Rice: Put 1 cup of Riceland Rice, 1 teaspoon of salt and 2 cups of cold water in a large saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more, during which time the water will be absorbed, making the rice deliciously tender. Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Always use Riceland Rice for best results.

To three cups of cooked Riceland Rice, add 2 cups of cooked diced celery. Season with salt, pepper and butter or margarine. Toss lightly with a fork to blend seasonings but not mash. Serve around baked salmon.

Riceland Rice Is Easy To Cook! Tender! Fluffy!

To get the best results with this recipe and all rice recipes, be sure to use Riceland Rice. It's the world's most delicious rice—grown in the heart of the quality rice belt of America. Only the choice, perfect-cooking rice grains are packed in Riceland packages.

This quality rice is quick and easy to cook. Riceland Rice cooks deliciously tender with white, fluffy, individual grains.

Most grocers now feature this better-cooking, wonderfully-delicious, packaged rice—and at economical prices, too! Riceland Rice costs only one-cent a serving.

Death Sentence For Wife Slayer

Lillington, N.C., March 24—(AP)—Convicted of stabbing his pregnant wife to death, a 29-year-old Erwin textile worker was under death sentence today.

Judge W.H.S. Burgwyn sentenced Tom Wood Jr. to die May 6. The defense served notice of appeal, automatically delaying the execution.

Wood was convicted last night by a Harnett Superior Court jury which deliberated an hour and 25 minutes.

Two Duke University psychiatrists earlier testified that Wood was "hopelessly insane."

Drs. Leslie Hohman and George A. Silvar said Wood related the killing to them in the county jail. They quoted him as saying: "Ruby asked me to kiss her one more time and throw that knife in the bushes. But I told her I didn't want to throw it in the bushes."

The prosecution charged that Wood stabbed his wife 48 times and rolled her body into a creek last December.

Polish Officers Told To Be Good Marxists

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—Polish army officers have been told they must be devout believers in Marxist-Leninist principles. Furthermore, they have been ordered to use all "propaganda devices" to sell that doctrine to all men under their command.

Col. Leon Grosfeld, writing in the Polish army newspaper "Polska Zbrojna," said:

"Our officers must come to realize that to work on the broadening of his mental horizon, to definitely shape his outlook upon life, that to study Marxism-Leninism is not something remote from the army and having no connection with it.

"He must realize that the better he has mastered Marxism-Leninism the more rapid will be his progress along the path of military excellence, the better will he perform his professional duties, the better will he serve his country."

Mouse Warbles Just Like Bird

Grayville, Ill.—(AP)—The sounds with a musical quality prompted Mr. and Mrs. James Giroi to peek into their utility room. Possibly a wren had got into the room somehow, they thought.

What they saw so astonished them that they called over a neighbor, Mrs. Mildred Wimsatt. They swear that a mouse was warbling and tweeting with all the gusto of a bird.

Volkswagens Hit Production Peak

Brunswick, Germany—(AP)—Production of Volkswagens (people's cars) at the factory near here reached the record figure of 2,600 in February, the British military government announces.

In addition 1,500 of the little cars, formerly used by the army, are being reconditioned for sale on the German market.

Big Fish Goes On Exhibition

Waynesville, March 23—(AP)—Max Rogers' big fish is on tour. The 33-inch, 14-pound trout caught near here by the Waynesville electrician currently is showing in Atlanta, Ga. It's been on exhibit there several days at a sports goods store. Next it's to be exhibited at a Knoxville, Tenn., store. After that it will be mounted. Old timers say it is the biggest mountain trout ever caught in this section.

Stage Set For Boxing Tourney With Some 50 Entries Ready

The stage was set today for the greatest invasion of boxers ever to hit East Carolina Teachers College as some 50 Pitt County high school boys weighed in for the first county boxing tournament.

A capacity crowd is expected to jam ECTC's Wright auditorium to witness the first round of the three day event which is sponsored by the East Carolina Physical Education department.

Final pairings were made this afternoon when the boxers weighed in and took physical examinations, but a list was not available at press time today.

And with the opening bell just hours away the young fighters looked in top shape for the event. It will be the first ring appearance for all the boys.

For the past month and a half the teams have been hard at work perfecting the fundamentals and getting in shape. Yesterday they wound up with a light workout.

The first fight will get under way promptly at eight o'clock. On Saturday, after the finals, winners will be awarded golden gloves and runner-ups will receive silver gloves. Awards will also be made for the outstanding boxer, the most popular fighter, the winning team and the coach of the winning team.

Enough Pitchers For Billy Meyer

San Bernardino, Calif., March 24 — Rain which knocked out the Pittsburgh Pirates' exhibition game yesterday gave manager Billy Meyer a chance to look over his pitching staff and find it good.

Dimaggio's Condition Has Stengel Really Concerned

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24 — How about Joe Dimaggio? The doubtful condition of the Yankee clipper is the most disturbing note of the spring training season.

There is no definite assurance that Dimag, hobbled by a tender right heel following an off season operation, will be able to open the American league schedule. In fact, there is no positive word that he will play at all.

Nobody knows. The doctors are optimistic. Dimag wants to believe them. But he knows the heel still sends jabbing pains through his body when he tries to run.

It is feared the spur is growing back on the heel. Then again, what appears to be growth, may be only cartilage.

Dimaggio sets his own training pace. So far he has appeared in exhibitions as a pinch hitter only. If he gets a hit, a runner takes his place. The Yanks are taking no chances with their $90,000-a-year men now," he gloated. "Murry Dickson, Bob Chesnes, Elmer Riddle, Vic Lombardi and Bill Werle are being counted on the first five. And don't forget a guy named Rip Sewell had the best won-lost record in the league last year."

Three members of the All-American Conference Champion Cleveland Browns—Lou Gross, Dante Lavelli and Dean Sensenbaur—are finishing their college education at Ohio State.

"I'm not going to tell Joe when to play," said manager Casey Stengel. "He's the only one that really knows the story about his heel. When he wants to play, he'll tell me. I only hope he will be in there opening day."

"I don't think we'll be very good without him," he added sadly. Casey knows the Yanks can't win without Dimag.

Winterville Has 11 Ring Entries

Eleven Winterville boxers will be among the near 50 boys weighing in for the Pitt County Golden Gloves tournament tonight and Redwan David, coach of the Winterville ringsters, said last night that every one of his boys would be "hard to beat."

David, who went undefeated with the East Carolina boxing team this season, was satisfied that his boys would make a good showing in the tournament tonight.

"My boys have tried hard and shown a lot of enthusiasm," the Fayetteville fighter said last night. "They have come along nicely. I think they'll go a long way in the tournament."

The Winterville team has entries running from 85 pound Leland Evans to 160 pound John Riggs Jr.

The rest of the Winterville roster includes: Thomas Castello, 155; Hubert Stox, 155; John Finch, 148; Leighton Jones, 135; Dean Wingate, 115; Jerry Hancock, 115; J. D. Mayo, 110; Pete Avery, 96; and Jimmy Manning, 90.

Hughson Again Pitching Right

Sarasota, Fla., March 24 —(AP)—Baseball observers in this area are beginning to like the Boston Red Sox pitching Tex Hughson went for five innings yesterday, gave two hits and walked none.

Even Bucky Walters, a great pitcher and now manager of the Cincinnati Reds, said Texas, useless last season, "again looks like a pitcher instead of a thrower."

Catcher Birdie Tebbetts said Texas was as fast in the fifth as in the first inning.

Have you been out to Guy Smith Stadium the past three mornings to watch Manager Pappy Williams put his pitchers and catchers through their daily workouts? If you haven't make your plans to be sure and go in the morning, because Pappy is really putting his boys through their daily drills in preparation for the opening of the season.

Thirteen pitching hopefuls and five catchers are holding daily workouts for places on the team this season. The remaining prospective players of the 1949 Greenies are scheduled to start workouts here next Monday, the date heavy training activity will commence in earnest.

Around the Circuit:—Steve Mizerak, who is to head the Goldsboro Bugs this season, has arrived in Goldsboro to assume his duties and will start holding workouts Monday. . . . The Goldsboro team has a working agreement with Sumter, South Carolina, which in turn has an agreement with the New York Yankees. . . . The Rocky Mount Leafs will begin their spring training Sunday with Pepper Martin, their new manager, in charge. . . . The Tarboro Tars of the Coastal Plain have become a class "D" farm club of the Philadelphia Athletics of the American League. The Connie Mack team will take over the Tars, lock, stock and barrel. . . . Russ Morrow is the new manager of the Wilson Tobs, and reports from there state they have 32 player signatures on the dotted line. . . . John Pavlich, rated as one of the best catchers in the league last year with Roanoke Rapids, is a holdout. . . . Rumor has it that Stu Martin, last year's Jay manager, will play third base for the Rocky Mount Leafs. . . . Chuck Ehlman, former Wilson Tobs catcher, is in spring training with the Atlanta Crackers. He will play with the Cracker farm club at Pensacola, Fla., which is being managed this year by Bill Herring. . . . The Tobs have two Pittmans on its mound staff this year from the same family. Harvey Pittman, brother of Tobs regular, Fred Pittman, will be in spring training here this season. . . . Turkey Tyson, the Elm City mule trader, is with Raleigh and is training at Titusville, Fla. . . . Jack Hussey, another ex-Bug star, is looking good in Buffalo's spring practice. It is reported. . . . The Kinston Eagles, under Manager Steve Collins, will

Promising Young Players Sought By Pappy Williams

By CHESTER WALSH

"It's baseball practice now and it's going to be baseball all the way in Greenville until next September," an official of the Greenville Baseball Club said yesterday, while a group of fans and others were "hobnobbing" with Fred (Pappy) Williams, new manager of the Greenies, who came to town at the weekend and started practice at the ball park with a dozen young promising pitchers and four catchers. Williams had several good offers from clubs during the winter, he said, "but when I played ball here with Kingston and Rocky Mount last season I took a liking to the Greenville fans and decided that I wanted to play here."

"Pappy" Williams, first and third baseman, who has always batted over 300, and made friends with the fans and ball players, won a pennant as manager for the Grand Forks (North Dakota) club in 1940, the first pennant that club had ever won in the Northern League. He was with the American League Cleveland Indians, under Lou Boudreau, one season as first baseman and utility right-hand pinch hitter, and made good, the records show. Williams, a friendly and congenial type of athlete, made a good impression here at the first of the week, talking with baseball officials and fans, when he said, "I like young people. I like to see them get along and succeed. In this group of young players we have lined up for the Greenies I believe we are going to find some baseball talent that will please the Greenville fans. Some of the best ball players had their start here in Greenville, and I hope, with the backing of the club officials and fans, that we can produce some sparkling players after the season opens in April and carry the club along in the first division."

The Greenville baseball manager was dubbed with his nickname, "Pappy," when he was a kid in school and it has stuck with him. He is a native of Meridian, Miss. He played ball with the Columbus and Cleveland (Miss.) clubs, and batted over 300. He played in the Eastern League, and it was there that he met Sam McLaughorn, Pitt County pitcher, and later signed up with the Kingston club in the Coastal Plain League. His bat was deadly poison to opposing pitchers while playing for Kingston, and his old willow did a lot of damage when he joined the Rocky Mount club toward the end of the season. His batting average last season was 364. John Adams, business manager of the Greenville Club, stated, "Pappy" Williams was popular all over the Coastal Plain League circuit last year; he never had trouble with umpires, and some of the best recommendations he had for the position of manager of the Greenville club came from umpires. That's a record, baseball fans here said.

The pitchers and catchers are working out at Guy Smith Stadium daily, starting at 10:30 a.m. Under the rules, the club will have eight rookies, three class men and four limited service men. The first exhibition game will be played here with New Bern on April 4. The season opens April 21, with the Greenies playing at Tarboro. Tarboro comes to Greenville the next day.

Bert Moye, veteran sports writer as usual will handle the baseball games in Greenville this season. He also will be the official scorer for the club.

open their spring drills on Friday when a total of 22 men will report for tryouts for the Eagles' team. Included in the list are Charlie Timm, Amy Porrell, Joe Easten, pitchers, Manager Collins at second, and Homer Laudermilk, catcher, all holdovers from last season. . . . The directors of the Tarboro baseball club in a recent meeting re-elected George Earnhart president of the association. Rudy Davis was elected secretary-treasurer. . . . The Athletics, however, who will operate the franchise, have their own officers and the Tarboro association will serve only as a co-operative group during the 1949 Coastal Plain League season. . . . Bull Hamons, manager of the New Bern Bears, has moved his family there. . . . The pitchers and catchers will start their workouts Friday and the rest of the Bears are slated to drift in the following week before the full practice sessions begin April 1. . . . Kater Park, the home park of the Bears, has recently been repainted and advertising signs are now being put up. . . . Val Gonzalez, former Jays first baseman, will play with Binghamton club of the Eastern League this season. . . . The Tarboro Tars will take their training in Moultrie, Georgia. They will remain there until almost time for the league season to get underway on April 21. Eddie Durand, business manager, says that the club, like all the rest, is having little trouble in securing rookies. In fact Durand has announced no players except rookies, 23 in number, and expresses doubt as to just what the situation will be concerning veterans and limited service players.

Chicago Chosen For Title Match

Chicago, March 24 —(AP)—Joe Louis, in his new role as boxing promoter, has picked Chicago for the Edward Charles-Jarvey Joe Walcott heavyweight scrap for the Brown bomber's vacated title.

It was in Chicago's Comiskey Park that Louis lifted the heavyweight crown from Jim Braddock in 1937 and it may be in the same ball park next June that the proposed 15-round match between Charles and Walcott takes place. The date might be June 22, the night Louis won the championship in the White Sox park nearly 12 years ago. The date and site will be announced later.

The Charles-Walcott bout would be for the National Boxing Association's version of the heavyweight championship. New York, one of the two states not a member of the N.B.A., has suggested an "alternation" tournament for Louis' title and will not recognize the Charles-Walcott winner as champion. Massachusetts is the other non-N.B.A. state.

Louis announced the Charles-Walcott affair yesterday with his partners in the new International Boxing club. They are Arthur Wirtz and James D. Norris, Chicago Stadium and Detroit Olympia executives. The new combine will appear Monday before the Illinois Athletic Commission, and request a license.

The retired heavyweight champion said Chicago was picked as the site "after carefully considering substantial offers from Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Cincinnati." He said Sam Becker, Cincinnati promoter, offered to guarantee a $500,000 gate.

Two Week Delay For Gardella In His Plea For Reinstatement In Baseball

New York, March 24 —(AP)—It will be at least two weeks before Danny Gardella will get an answer on his plea for baseball reinstatement but an earlier showdown is expected for two other banned former major leaguers, Max Lanier and Fred Martin.

Federal Judge Edward A. Conger said he probably would rule next week on the temporary injunction asked by Lanier and Martin, two ex-St. Louis Cardinal pitchers who are suing baseball for $2,500,000.

The former Cardinal players and Gardella, the onetime New York Giant outfielder who is suing for $300,000, have asked that their playing rights be returned pending settlement of the cases.

Judge Conger reserved decision in the Gardella case yesterday, declaring he would act after lawyers for both side had filed their briefs April 6.

The players, among nearly a score who were banished for five years for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946, are suing the game on the grounds that their suspensions have denied them a chance to earn a livelihood.

All-Star Contest For Basketball

Chicago, March 24 —(AP)—The basketball association of America has agreed to send its champion against the college all-stars in the annual Chicago stadium game sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American.

The 1949 game is tentatively set for the last week in October.

In nine previous all-star games the collegiate aces faced the winner of a spring "world" professional tourney, also sponsored by the Herald-American. The professional meet has been dropped this year. The newspaper disclosed today.

Five professional tourney champions were members of the national basketball league, a bitter rival of the B. A. A.

The all-star game has averaged more than 19,000 in attendance since its inception. Last year a record-breaking crowd of 20,553 saw the Minneapolis Lakers, then of the National league, defeat the all-stars.

The Lakers, sparked by high-scoring George Mikan, now are B. A. A. members.

The Yankees, notorious as fence busters, haven't been belting the ball with much gusto in recent exhibition games.

Johnny Lindell's double in the second inning against Washington yesterday was the first extra-base play in four games for the one time Bronx bomber.

Josh Devore of the New York Giants stole four bases in one inning in a 1912 game.

On Murder's Skirts

By Terry Adler

Chapter

Raff left Norton filling out the report and went on his way to his own room to get a coat. He had offered to drive Norton to the station and the two were to have a drink before the train pulled out. Just as he was about to get into the elevator that would take him down to the staff house, he heard his name paged over the loudspeaker system.

"Dr. Rafferty—Dr. Dennis Rafferty," came the singing voice.

Raff went over to a nearby phone. "Rafferty speaking."

"A man's voice came through, hurried, excited.

Raff frowned. "Yes," he answered. "About half past two, you say? Yes, that's quite likely. I'm afraid not tonight. How about tomorrow morning about 9 o'clock? No, I think I'd like to come over there. That's quite all right. Thanks for calling." He hung up and continued on his way to his room.

Ten minutes later he brought his car up to the main entrance where Norton was waiting. Norton got into the car and settled back on the seat. A weary sigh escaped him.

"I certainly could use a drink, Rafferty."

"Maybe you'd better have more than one, Chief."

Norton looked at him inquiringly. "I had a call from Bray a few minutes ago. He seemed pretty excited. Wants to know whether it was possible for Hubbard to have received the dose of phosgene at about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon and yet show no symptoms at the time."

"Why, of course. That's exactly right," Norton's voice showed surprise. "Edema after phosgene administration doesn't occur until some twelve to fourteen hours later. And Hubbard died between two A. M. and six A. M. this morning."

"That's just what I told Bray—and he became even more excited. He said he knew just how and when Hubbard got the dose. Also, he had a pretty good idea as to who was responsible and that it was no accident."

"Oh dear," was all Norton could say.

"He wanted to come up to see me tonight but I told him I'd be over there in the morning. I've decided I'd better take a look to see just what is going on over there. If there's no need for any publicity, so much the better. That was all right with Bray, too. He seems to be pretty sure he'll have some proof in the morning."

They reached the station and Raff parked the car.

"I brought along the university catalogue," Raff explained. "I'd like to look over the people on the staff there in the Bio Department. Thought you could give me the low-down on some of the ones you know about."

They went into the station and Norton checked his bags. Then they went through the swinging door marked "Cocktails" and sat down at a small table. A waiter took their orders and the two men settled back to look at the catalogue. Raff thumbed through the pages.

"Let me see—Art, Architecture, Botany—whoo—here it is—Biology," He showed the page to Norton.

"Not a very large staff," said Norton; "one professor, one associate professor, and one instructor. And say, look at this, Raff. Emil Verek, M.D., animal surgeon. Surely that's not Verek from Prague?"

Raff said, "I don't know. I had heard that Verek escaped to England, but I thought he was in England."

"Let's look him up in the index," Norton rapidly thumbed through

"Well, what do you know!" he said. "Verek, Emil, Ph.D. Berlin 1920, M.D. Prague 1924. Queer that we haven't heard anything from him—and in the same town, too."

Raff said, "Doesn't it strike you that there is something fishy going on in that department? How about starting at the top? What do you know about the late Jasper B. Hubbard, professor and chairman of the department?"

"Well, Hubbard came to the department about five years ago, when old Barker died. And—wait a minute. I remember now. Bray was associate professor at the time and was made chairman. Hubbard came here from Midwestern U. and had an excellent record there. Well, after about a month, Bray resigned from the chairmanship, saying that he was in poor health and that he couldn't take on the extra duties involved in being head of a department. He recommended that Hubbard take his place. I was a member of the board of trustees at the time and we really were in a spot. The school year had already begun and it was really tough to find a new head. So we simply took Bray's recommendation. And apparently Hubbard did a pretty good job. At least I've never heard anything to the contrary."

"Wonder what that illness was that became so distressingly apparent to Bray after one month as chairman," said Raff.

"Never did find out. Bray has always looked very fit to me."

"Well, so much for Hubbard. Anything more you know about Bray?"

"Not a thing except that he's been here since 1935. He did his graduate work here and then stayed on. He was pretty old when he started his graduate work, about thirty-five I'd say. The Brays keep pretty much to themselves."

Uncle Natchel's FERTILIZER TALK

Farmers in our section always puts mixed fertilizers under their cotton and side-dresses with natchel Chilean soda. Three years ago, they couldn't get no soda and had to leave off the side-dress. That year for the first time we had plenty of rust.

Next year, we got our soda again and done like we always done before. And we didn't get no rust at all! Somebody say the soda in natchel nitrate acts jes like potash on rust. Maybe that's how come we got rust when we didn't get to use no soda.

Russia 'Afraid' To Let People Compare Conditions Says Report

Washington, March 24—(AP)—The state department said today Russia is afraid to let its people get a true idea of American freedoms and living standards.

For that reason, it said in a strongly worded public report, Russians are shut off from outside contacts whereby they could draw comparisons with the way things are at home.

The report told the failure of post-war American efforts to arrange with Moscow for exchanges of students, scientists and publications. It concluded:

"The Soviet government fears a free interchange of ideas because of a realization that 30 years of Communism have failed to provide the patient Soviet people with a living standard anywhere approxiimating that enjoyed by the workers in the United States."

It declared that the Russians have been deprived by the Soviet regime of freedom of thought and action, "which once experienced through contact with American people or American books will make them ill-content with their life in the Soviet Union."

The report bristled with denunciations of Moscow "evasions," "suspensions," and "spy phobias." It was published on the eve of the opening tomorrow in New York of a "cultural and scientific conference for world peace." The U. S. granted entry permits to 21 delegates from Russia and Communist-run Eastern European countries.

Explaining that "notable Communist propagandists" were granted visas because of the American policy of free exchange of ideas, the state department said that "the Soviet government has never permitted within its borders an international meeting representing a wide range of political views."

The report disclosed that Prof. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer who heads the sponsors of the New York conference, submitted invitations to several Soviet scientists to visit Harvard, Chicago, Princeton and other American Universities. Moscow rebuffed or ignored scores of such invitations over the past several years and the state department said that Shapley's bid "as yet has not borne any fruit."

Peace Delegates Named By China

Nanking, March 24—(AP)—Nationalist China's cabinet named a peace delegation today. But Red troop movements indicated the Communists may be leading a pistol to hold at the conference table.

Wen-Yi warned, after the peace delegates were announced, that Communist troops were being deployed toward the Yangtze river. The heaviest movement seemed to be centered seven miles from Anking, Anhwei province capital, 140 miles outwest of Nanking.

Predict Boost In Tobacco Planting

Raleigh, March 24—(AP)—Tar heel farmers who planted 604,000 acres of tobacco last year will plant 634,000 this year.

The five percent increase was predicted yesterday by Ray B. Converse, statistician for the Federal State Crop Reporting Service.

The 10-year acreage average for the period ending in 1947 is 663,140. Middle and Old Belt producers are planning to set 245,000 acres in tobacco, this year, an increase of five percent over 1948's harvested acreage.

Growers in the Eastern Belt reported intentions to increase acreage from 290,000 last year to 304,000. A six percent increase in Border Belt acreage was indicated and burley acreage is expected to be three percent greater than last year.

Trains Collide, Crewman Killed

Jesup, Ga., March 24—(AP)—A passenger train and a freight train collided head-on today, killing one crewman. Several others were hurt, one so badly that he may die.

Three coaches of the Atlantic Coast Line passengers were derailed, but passengers received only minor injuries. The train was enroute from Montgomery, Ala., to Savannah, Ga.

The trains crashed in a heavy fog about 7:30 p.m., two miles west of Jesup in southeast Georgia.

Approve School Bond Election

Raleigh, N. C., March 24—(AP)—Legislation calling for an election on issuance of $50,000,000 in bonds to aid counties build schools was approved by the House Education committee today.

The committee first amended a provision under which each county in the state would have received $500,000 for building and repairing school buildings.

Another Bill To Fill Senate Seat

Raleigh, N. C., March 24—(AP)—Another bill to take from the Governor power to fill vacancies in the U. S. Senate was introduced in the Senate today.

GREENSBORO MAN SPEAKER AT KIWANIS MEETING
Judge Dink James, who has charge of the program at the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting Friday evening at 6:30, will present E. D. Kuykendall Jr. of Greensboro, executive vice-president of the North Carolina Building and Loan League and a former director of the Federal Housing Administration, as the speaker of the evening. President Arthur Tripp will preside.

Two Vital . . .

Jointly, will give it such help as each "deems necessary, including the use of armed force."

That part about what each "deems necessary" is a loophole for any ally which wanted to use it. In case one ally was attacked, another could say it didn't "deem" it necessary to go to war to help out.

This pact can't say outright that we'll go to war if an ally is attacked. Only Congress can put us into war—formally—by declaring war.

(But from the moment the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor we were at war, although Congress didn't declare it till the next day.)

Then how can our allies—since the pact makes no outright promise we'll go to war with them—feel they can trust us to help out in a pinch?

They must feel pretty sure—after their long talks with Acheson and the expected Senate approval of the alliances that we couldn't let them down, or they wouldn't sign the pact.

This is pretty shadowy ground

Spring Arrives

The Weather Bureau reports that the lowest temperature here during the past week was 36 degrees last Sunday morning. The highest temperature recorded during the period was 82 degrees Wednesday afternoon. The official thermometer registered 58 degrees at 8 a.m. today.

Rainfall for this year was 8.11 inches. Rainfall during March was 2.86 inches.

here. But that's the way it is. That's the way it will stay—unless an attack comes.

West German . . .

change.

What may happen, one group thinks, is creation of the proposed western state will be stalled while all parties wait for something to happen.

A Communist-led people's council for eastern Germany last Saturday approved a constitution for the Soviet zone of Germany. This must be ratified by a people's congress.

The people's council, apparently for propaganda effect, appealed to the western German leaders to meet them next month in an "all-German unity conference." This appeal has met with a cold reception.

Polish Social . . .

sary official business is conducted in a suspicious, chilly atmosphere.

The social "cold war" obviously is an outgrowth of the strained international situation. No one doubts for a moment that all this would be changed if Generalissimo Stalin were to announce that permanent peace is here and relations with the United States were just dandy.

Americans once were the most popular foreigners in Poland. Today, they seem to be about as well-liked as flies in soup.

motion.

But on a recount, it developed that the tabulators had erred on the first count.

There were no vote switches on the recapitulation.

Rep. McCormac (D-Mass.) presiding in the absence from the city of speaker Rayburn, ordered the recount on his own initiative.

The house sat in tense silence as the names of each member and the way they voted were called out by clerks. It was so quiet the automatic counter used by the clerks could be heard clicking.

It was the closest vote on a major bill in the house since late in 1941 when, by a one-vote margin, a bill to continue the draft law was passed.
