Economy-Minded Forces Revising Scott's Program

Upper Chamber Drastically Changes Rural Roads Plan; School Cut Seen

Raleigh, N. C., March 26—(AP)—Economy-minded forces in the state senate appeared to be in the driver's seat as the general assembly completed its 12th week of deliberations today.

During the week, the upper chamber drastically revised Governor Scott's rural roads program, and there was ever indication the economy forces would work to slash proposed appropriations for the public schools when the spending bill for the 1949-51 biennium comes up for senate consideration.

The senate rebuffed both the administration and the house when it voted Thursday to make a one-cent gasoline tax increase contingent upon approval by the people of a $300,000,000 rural road bond issue.

By votes of 27-17 and 29-17, the upper chamber defeated two house-approved measures providing for the road bond referendum and a separate gas tax boost. Governor Scott has often expressed his desire for having the tax increase left apart from the bond issue bill.

The house finance and joint appropriations committee squared off against each other as the money groups swallowed up—but for different purposes—the state's postwar reserve fund.

The tug-of-war between the two committees developed Thursday. The house finance group voted to use $30,000,000 from the fund for aiding counties to build schools and the joint appropriations committee OK'd an amendment freezing the same amount for use in filling the gap between proposed appropriations and anticipated revenues.

Prospects of heated debate over appropriations became a certainty when the two chairmen of the joint appropriations committee served notice they could not support the biennial appropriations measure in its entirety when it is given floor consideration.

The appropriations bill on which committee deliberation was completed this week calls for expenditure of about $418,000,000 in the two-year period, or about $209,000,000 over advisory budget commission recommendations.

Even with the use of the $30,000,000 reserve fund and some projected surpluses, the bill appropriates about $4,000,000 more than is now expected to be available.

The appropriations chairman, and other members of the economy group, emphasized that they could not support the bill because they do not believe in "deficit spending" and feel the budget should be kept at the level of anticipated revenue.

Claims Books Of Federal Agency Out Of Balance

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Senator Williams (R-Del.) said today the books of the government agency which supports farm prices "are off $350,000,000 out of balance" and he wants to know why.

Williams drew an angry protest from Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois last night when he tried to get unanimous approval for immediate delivery to the Senate of the Commodity Credit Corporation's records.

Lucas declared that Williams was making a "speech only for the purpose of smearing that corporation and for the purpose of getting his name in the headlines."

"I say that it's unfair," he shouted. "I say that it's the wrong procedure. I say it is political and nothing else."

Spitzbergen Gossip

Soviet Propagandists Already Denouncing Atlantic Pact, But Will Kremlin Stop With Only Talk? One Diplomat Thinks Not; Seizure Of Spitzbergen Feared

By SIGRID ARNE

Just what Moscow will do in answer to the North Atlantic pact is the subject of a good deal of waxy watching here where the pact is due to be signed.

Soviet propagandists already are busy at work denouncing the pact as a "war pact" and a "new unholy alliance" threatening the safety of the Soviet Union and its satellites.

But diplomatic gossip here wonders whether that will be enough for the Kremlin masters.

One of Europe's most seasoned diplomats thinks not. He is an exile, living in Washington now, and can't be identified because his family is still living behind the iron curtain.

He told this reporter that he expects Russia to take some action to bring Spitzbergen under the Red flag. He was in London during World War II and remembers the ripple that ran through London's diplomatic row when the Russians announced they would be willing to occupy Spitzbergen to keep that big group of Arctic islands out of German hands.

At that time the final decision was to leave the islands under the joint protection of the Norwegians

Administration Losing Top Military Men In Key Posts

Washington, March 26—(AP)—The Truman administration is now virtually stripped of the military men who once played important roles in the nation's foreign policy.

President Truman apparently did not plan it that way, despite the often severe criticism leveled at him during his first term for the "military influence" which some columnists and lawmakers saw in U.S. foreign affairs.

It has been a series of resignations, most of which he accepted reluctantly, which has substantially changed the character of Mr. Truman's team of advisors on international matters.

The latest came yesterday when Admiral William D. Leahy, 73, retired as a member of the President's

White House staff and Gen. Walter Bedell Smith quit one of the nation's most important diplomatic assignments, that of ambassador to Moscow.

Leahy, who during the war was U.S. envoy to Vichy France, was Mr. Truman's chief of staff. In the early days of the administration, he reportedly played a large part in developing this nation's "tough" policy toward Russia.

The resignations started in January when the ailing Gen. George C. Marshall quit as Secretary of State and was replaced by Dean Acheson, an attorney and former State Department official.

At the same time Robert A. Lovett was succeeded as undersecretary by Budget Director James E

Webb. Lovett was wartime assistant Secretary of War for Air.

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal's resignation is effective at the end of this month. He is credited by insiders with having been deeply concerned with the development of foreign policy—as well as strictly military affairs.

Forrestal will be replaced by Louis Johnson, an attorney and former commander of the American Legion, who is expected to concentrate on military matters, except where they directly affect foreign policy.

The charge in this country that the President was relying too heavily on men with military backgrounds was more than matched by a barrage of propaganda from Moscow.

The Russians denounced alike those who advocated American rearmament and those who in any other way contributed to the development of a firm policy toward the Soviet Union and its efforts to spread communism over the world.

Actually the basis for that policy was worked out to a considerable extent by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

It was while Byrnes was secretary that the United States became convinced that lack of Soviet cooperation left this country alone in the choice to strengthen the non-communist world, particularly the areas threatened by Russian expansion.

Village Destroyed

McAlester, Okla., March 26—(AP)—A pre-dawn tornado destroyed the village of Crowder, 15 miles north of here, early today.

First reports said at least three persons were killed but highway patrolmen who searched ruined buildings had found no bodies three hours later.

Approximately 20 injured persons were brought to McAlester hospitals.

Only a few stone buildings were left standing in the little community after the tornado ripped through it at 4:15 a.m., CST.

Crowder's population is officially listed at 378.

All telephone and power lines to the community were down.

In Oklahoma City, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co. said it had reports the village of Canadian four miles north of Crowder, also was hit.

The Red Cross sent emergency teams to the area, and the McAlester unit of the Oklahoma National Guard was called upon to help.

Poison Deaths

New York, March 26—(AP)—Police searched back alleys and lodging houses along the Bowery today for possible alcohol-poisoning victims after a wave of eight deaths.

At least four of the victims were reported to have died of drink called "smoke," a deadly mixture of wood alcohol and water. Autopsies were to be performed today.

Searching Arctic For Air Victims

Edmonton, Alta., March 26—(AP)—Search planes today scoured the barren Arctic waste for a U.S. Air Force plane that crash-landed on the ice of Barrow Strait, 350 miles north of the magnetic pole.

The seven men reported aboard the crashed plane, a C-53 Fairchild Packet, are understood to be safe and uninjured. They have been in touch with rescue points by radio. The plane's exact position is not known.

Rescue officials at Goose Bay, Labrador, reported receiving a radio message last night that the men were unhurt when the plane made a successful belly-landing. The message said the men had plenty of equipment and supplies.

The plane was forced down on a 1,100-mile flight north from Frobiisher Bay to Resolute Bay.

First word of the Fairchild's predicament came Thursday night when a radio message said the plane was going to crash-land because it was lost and had only an hour's fuel left. No further word was received here last night.

Several bases are operated by American personnel in northern Canada. U.S. aircraft help to supply these bases.

Officers at the Greenville, S.C. Air Force base said the plane left there several days ago with a four-man crew. Its mission was not revealed.

Britain To Tighten Up War Materials Export

London, March 26—(AP)—Britain is moving to tighten up on the shipments of potential war materials to countries behind the iron curtain.

Official sources disclosed last night a list of commodities having possible military value is being drawn for addition to the list of articles already forbidden for export to Communist-dominated countries.

The informant said the new restrictions will be based on a confidential schedule of goods and materials which the United States feels should not be allowed to reach areas in the Soviet orbit. They said Washington has sent these schedules to the 19 countries which receive American assistance under the European recovery program.

Two of the American schedules asked for bans on the shipment to iron curtain countries of arms, munitions, radar equipment, atom bomb materials, or anything which might be used in the manufacture of jet engines and certain precision instruments, the sources said.

A third schedule, which they said is the basis for the proposed new restrictions, is much more far reaching. They declined to disclose its contents or to state whether British-Britain has agreed to ban everything it mentions.

They said several western countries, especially Sweden, have objected to some sections of the American schedules. One official said complete compliance would affect Britain's trade with eastern Europe "seriously."

The new restrictions probably will affect British trade agreements with Russia, Poland and Yugoslavia. A similar trade pact between Britain and Russia expired recently, but trade continues under its terms while negotiations for a new agreement are in progress.

Will Press For Quick Action On Gillars' Appeal

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Axis Sally's attorney said today he will press for quick action on her appeal from a treason conviction and a long prison term.

The Attorney, James J. Laughlin, told a reporter he will ask the U. S. Court of Appeals to hear arguments in May. Ordinarily, he said, arguments would not be heard before October or November.

After denying a motion for a new trial, federal Judge Edward M. Curran yesterday sentenced Mildred E. Gillars, 48, to serve 10 to 30 years in prison. He also imposed a $10,000 fine. A treason conviction also means loss of citizenship.

Set Peace Talks

Nanking, March 26—(AP)—Chinese Communists named peace delegates today and set April 1 for the start of negotiations to end the civil war.

The government, meanwhile, launched an eleventh-hour drive for Nationalist unity to bolster its position before the peace conference begins.

The conference will be at Peiping, new capital of all Communist China in everything but official name.

Revised Rankin Pension Measure To Be Proposed

Much Of New Bill Consists Of Amendments Tacked To Defeated Measure

Washington, March 26—(AP)—A still dizzy House was back on the veterans pension merry-go-round today.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) stepped back to the controls yesterday to introduce a limited pension bill for veterans of World War I.

Only Thursday, after the House broke his multi-billion dollar pension bill for all World War I and II servicemen, a disappointed Rankin had said no pension legislation could pass at this session.

But just a day later he bounced back with his new proposal, introduced, he said, "by request." He said the American Legion and "many members" of the House Veterans Committee, of which he is chairman, has urged the new bill.

Of its prospects, Rankin declared: "I'm making no predictions." Before his first bill got to the House he had confidently forecast its passage by an overwhelming majority.

Rankin told the House he hoped to have his new bill up for consideration "in a short time."

Whereas the Mississippi's first bill provided $90 a month pensions at age 65 to all 18,800,000 World War I and II veterans, the second is considerably less inclusive and probably less costly.

It is limited to the approximately 3,500,000 veterans of World War I and provides for pensions of $72 a fall 65, for vets whose income falls below a certain point. It also prohibits "pyramiding" of benefits from other sources, and confines pensions to honorably discharged veterans.

Most of these provisions were tacked onto Rankin's first bill during the battering it took on the House floor.

Rankin said he thought the changes would "greatly reduce the cost" from the tentative figure of $125,000,000 set on the old bill.

The move brought mixed reaction from those who fought him earlier this week.

Lucas Asks Fast Foreign Aid Vote

Wants Senate To Act Monday; Amendments Anticipated

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Majority leader Lucas (Ill) today urged the senate to stick to business and pass the new $5,580,000,000 Foreign aid program Monday.

But Republican floor leader Wherry (R-Nebr) predicted that the bill will not be passed before Wednesday. He told reporters Republicans have a lot of amendments they want to offer.

Lucas promised a long session Monday in an effort to wind up debate on the bill to carry on the European recovery program through June 30, 1950. He said the Senate could do it if Senators would quit talking about "extraneous" matters.

While he mentioned no names, the obvious reference was to a three-hour speech yesterday by Senator Donnell on the north Atlantic pact which will not come before the senate until after its scheduled signing here April 4.

The administration's foreign aid program bumped into a counterproposal by Senator Capehart (R-Ind) yesterday.

Capehart proposed to cut the authorization to $3,000,000,000 he said this amount would be ample, along with $2,000,000,000 in unshipped authorizations from the present act.

The Indiana Senator, who voted against foreign aid last year, labelled the program a "European finance plan" instead of a recovery program he said it was time the nation paid more attention to its own economy day much better beets can be purchased in cans and for less money. Why anyone buys stale beets from the stores when they can get truly "fresh" beets in a can! The development of the canning and freezing industry is another factor in the situation.

Having spent every summer of my life, excepting during World War I, in Gloucester, I know something about fish. Of course, the finest fish is what we, ourselves, catch, and fry by the side of the stream. Then only an hour elapses from the time the trout is in the water until it is in our stomach! Otherwise, I much prefer frozen or canned fish. It truly is "fresher" than any thing you can get at a fish market. When I buy whole fish at a store, it is two or three days older than when I buy it frozen or in cans. Some fish like sardines, which are sealed near shore will be in cans within a few hours from the time they are caught. What price the fisherman gets, however, is a small factor in the retail price. This is dependent upon labor costs, transportation costs, and

Federal Agents Reportedly Holding 'Peace' Meet Trio

Agree To 15-Month Control Extension

Senate-House Conferees Settle On Another Major Compromise For Rent Control Measure; 'Home Rule' Feature Okayed

Washington, March 26—(AP)—The Senate-House conferees today agreed on a flat, 15-month extension of federal rent controls.

The compromise rent bill provides for "home rule" decontrol at any time, however.

The conferees agreed last night on a provision which lets states, cities, towns and villages get rid of rent curbs if the state governor approves.

The conferees are seeking to iron out differences between rent control bills passed by the House and Senate. They may not yet reached an agreement on what to do about rent increases. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) called that "the toughest nut of all" to crack.

The present rent law expires next Thursday, March 31. The House passed a bill to continue controls 15 months, through June 30, 1950.

The Senate measure called for a 12-to-15 month continuance.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) said the Senate conferees agreed to adopt the House provision because the House group yielded yesterday and took the Senate's version of "home rule" decontrol.

Maybank said he expected the conferees either will knock out the rent increase provisions of both the House and Senate bills, or decide to put them both in the final version.

An Associated Press survey indicated there would be no general rush by local communities to get rid of controls under such a law.

Few officials spoke out for immediate junking of the curbs, although in Boise, Idaho, Mayor Potter P. Howard said: "I believe we have enough housing, so there's no further necessity for rent controls in Boise."

Taft Pledges Support On Housing, School Bills

Says Clique Is Behind Reversals

Scott Claims Group Trying To Kill 'Go Forward' Program

Opposition groups are deliberately "muddying waters to confuse" the people on the administration's major programs, Governor Scott declared yesterday.

Without naming names, the governor told his news conference an opposition clique is "trying to kill" his road, school building and teacher pay raise program.

He labeled Senate action on his rural roads program bill a clear attempt "to hinder or kill the bond bill." The governor was referring to the Senate's lumping into one vote an election on a $200,000,000 rural road bond issue and a one cent increase in the gasoline tax.

The governor wants the Legislature itself to boost the gas tax with the people deciding only the question of issuing $200,000,000 in rural road bonds.

The governor also commented on legislative developments which saw two legislative committees vote to use the state's $30,000,000 postwar reserve fund for different purposes.

Blaze Destroys Sawdust Mill

New Bern, N. C., March 26—(AP)—A new sawdust dehydrator plant and a sawdust mill owned by the Dunn Lumber company were completely destroyed by fire early this morning at Bayboro, Pamlico county seat, and Mayor T. B. Woodard of Bayboro estimated the damage at $50,000 or more. The buildings were insured.

The blaze is believed to have started in the tower of the dehydrator plant about 6 a. m. and it spread rapidly to the adjoining mill. Firemen from New Bern raced 18 miles to the Pamlico capital but were unable to halt the fire, which had already devoured most of the two buildings, before they were totally destroyed.

Begin Defense In Coltraine Trial

Williamston, N.C., March 26—(AP)—The defense was scheduled to begin its testimony in the trial of John R. Coltraine on a charge of murder.

Judge Chester Morris promised a night session tonight if necessary as the trial entered its third day in Martin Superior Court.

Coltraine is accused of slaying W. Thomas Roberson, a neighbor, last Jan. 26.

But Senator Thinks Most Of Republicans Will Oppose Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Republican help was promised the administration today by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) in passing housing aid to education and school health bills.

But Taft, who heads the Senate GOP policy committee, told a reporter he thinks most of the Republicans will line up against the reciprocal trade agreements program.

Senate administration leaders are understood to have decided on new housing legislation as the next item in President Truman's program to be passed upon after the senate disposes of the $5,580,000,000 European recovery authorization bill next week.

Before that, however, the senate must consider a deficiency appropriation bill carrying a controversial fund for a TVA steam plant. That and other issues may involve a couple of days of argument.

Taft and Chairman Maybank (D-SC) agreed that there should be little difficulty in getting the senate to OK a measure calling for construction of up to $10,000,000 housing units over a six-year period.

"We are going to give the administration some help on this," Taft said, adding with a grin: "It seems they're about to get around to passing the Taft program for housing, aid to education and school health."

Jail Executive; Larceny Charged

Congress Now Ready To Take Up Taft-Hartley Substitute; May Be Many Months Before Action Completed; Hearing Both Sides Of Argument; Present Outlook

Washington, March 26—(AP)—After many weeks of getting ready, Congress now has cleared the decks to pass a new labor law.

It may be months before that is done. Neither house nor senate is yet ready to begin the big debate on what the law should be.

Three Canadians To Be Questioned On Legality Of Their Entrance Into Country; U. S. Speaker Jeered; Pickets Jam Street

New York, March 26—(AP)—The arrest of three Canadians by federal agents at a session of the tension-charged "world peace" conference was reported today as the parley's keynote session began.

Immigration officials were said to have taken the trio into custody last night at a conference banquet in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. They were to be questioned about the legality of their entrance into the country.

The three were named as Barker Fairley, vice president of the Canadian Council of American-Soviet Friendship, his wife, Margaret, a member of the Cultural Committee of the Canadian Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party, and John Goss, actor and theater director.

Conference officials said only Goss is a delegate and that he was not disturbed at the dais last night where he sat as an honored guest.

A dozen pickets were on hand at Carnegie Hall as the morning session began. Catholic War Veterans officials, leading the opposition to the meeting, said more than 5,000 pickets eventually would demonstrate.

A U.S. magazine editor told the banquet last night Americans "do not want peace at any price."

Boos, hisses and jeers greeted him at half dozen points in his speech, but there was no major interruption. Americans do not seem to be worried, man Goss said, but they feel that the needs of peace best can be served "by a supreme supporting effort behind the United Nations, giving it the form and substance of world law."

Outside, surging back and forth and praying and chanting in the drizzle, was a police-estimated throng of 3,000 persons of mixed religious and racial background.

With placards and shouts they protested the conference, the full title of which is the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace.

Generally, the pickets were loud but orderly. There was one fist-fight and some noisy arguments.

Yesterday, at one point, pickets melted in prayer outside the Waldorf on Park Avenue.

One picket wore a monocle. His woman companion had on a mini coat. Seven crippled war veterans wheeled their chairs back and forth in the line for about 15 minutes.

Crowds of curious lined Park Avenue to watch. Police said there were 9,000 spectators on hand at one time.

The picketing was scheduled to continue off and on during the life of the conference, which ends Sunday. The pickets dispersed shortly after 11 p.m. (EST) last night.

A counter-rally was to be held today a few blocks away by Americans for Intellectual Freedom, a group opposed to the Waldorf conference.

Opponents of the peace conference charged that it is dominated by pro-Communist delegates. This repeatedly was denied by the conference chairman, Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard University astronomer.

Dr. Shapley told the conference at the opening dinner that "we come here x x x with humility and to ask the simple and ageless question: 'How can men live in peace?'"

But America's secretary of state, Dean Acheson, has called the meeting "a sounding board for Communist propaganda."

There were delegates from Soviet Russia and most of the nations behind the iron curtain. The conference also has about 500 American artists, writers, educators and clergymen as sponsors.

as in the case of any Congressional committee, is—

To hear both sides of the argument on a bill, decide what it thinks is right or wrong, re-write the bill if necessary and then send up to the full house and senate for a vote the kind of bill it thinks should be voted into law.

So the witnesses paraded before the labor committees to give their opinions on whether:

The Taft-Hartley act was good or bad, should be toughened, or softened, or wiped out completely and replaced by the old Wagner act; or whether some parts of Taft-Hartley should be kept in the law and added to the old Wagner act, making it a brand new act; or whether the bill prepared by Mr. Truman's advisors should be law.

Since Congress has a majority in Congress, Democrats on both the house and senate labor committee had a controlling voice in what would be done.

And—when the hearings were over and all the witnesses had finished their arguments, the Democratic ma-

Mrs. Stark Gives Club Program

The Chatham Book Club met Tuesday, March 22, at the home of Mrs. Frank Bendall, with Mrs. Rivers Goodall, Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Guy Jones and Miss Jones as guests. Amid a setting of gay spring flowers, Mrs. Bendall and Mrs. Bowling assisted the hostess in serving a delicious salad course with coffee.

At the business session the following officers were elected for next year: Mrs. Bryan Brown, president; Mrs. Will Moore, vice-president; Mrs. Shelley Beard, secretary; Mrs. Con Lanier as treasurer.

The club voted to give its regular support to the Red Cross and cancer drives.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. W. Stark. Using "Tidewater Virginia" as her topic, Mrs. Stark in her able and charming way took her listeners through the part of Virginia known as the Tidewater.

Along the shores of the Potomac and James Rivers we visited many famous shrines and showplaces, so vividly described. Mrs. Stark gave the history of this section from the first English settlement in 1607 to the present day.

Books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Visit Children's Art Fair On Monday

Parents and friends are invited and urged to visit the Children's Art Fair which will be held in West Greenville, Third Street and the Training Schools on Monday, March 28. Each of the schools will have interesting displays of drawings and paintings in different mediums, crafts of various kinds, creative writing and other artistic productions. Most of the materials exhibited are an outgrowth of their school work.

Judges will visit the Children's Art Fair on Tuesday, March 29, and select some of the best materials for exhibit and final competition at the Woman's Club during the Fine Arts Festival on March 30-April 3.

Let us show our interest in the development of the arts in Greenville by visiting the schools Monday and giving encouragement to those of the younger generation who are striving to express themselves in an artistic manner.

Mrs. Clark's sixth grade of the Training School is extending an invitation to everyone to be present at their creative program on the Fine Arts on Monday, March 28, at 2:00 p. m. in the auditorium of the Training School.

F. W. R. Auxiliary
The Woman's Auxiliary of the Free Will Baptist Church will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church.

A Lenten Prayer

Great Peace Have They
And the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. Revelation 22:2. Read Isaiah 2:1-5.

Though in the world, those in the fellowship are not of the world. They have meat to eat that the world knows not of; though caught in the toils of life, they are given peace of mind through communion with Christ. As far as is possible they live peaceably with all men. They will harbor no ill will toward others, and when others are offended with them, they will leave their gifts upon the altar and make all haste to win them back.

Further, Christians are called to the ministry of reconciliation to classes, races and nations. Violence and slaughter desecrating the earth are the obscene fruits of man's collective sin. We have seen words of prejudice, ignorance and fear; we have reaped national catastrophe. A vast penitence must come over all the earth, and a forgiveness as complete, that the tree of life may grow from the soil of death. And the leaves of that tree are for the healing of the nations.

In the fellowship of Christ, what a variety of gifts, graces and callings is dedicated to his ministry of peace! Some are prophets, some teachers, some apostles; and all their service ranks the same, with God. How beautiful upon the mountains are their feet!

Let Us Pray: May the peace which passeth understanding keep pure our hearts and minds, and may the talents thou hast given us be used for the blessing of all mankind, in Jesus' name. Amen.

Christian Church Members
You are most solemnly urged to be present for the morning service tomorrow which is to be observed by our people everywhere as a Commitment Service. Just preceding a campaign to enlist new members we may well have a rededication of the old members. That is the purpose of the service tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Every member should renew his vows at this time.

Frenchwoman At College Studying Vocational Training For Homeland

Mlle. Christiane Cossus, Frenchwoman now studying home economics programs in American colleges and universities, has been guest on the campus at East Carolina Teachers College this week. So that she may return to France and aid the French government in instituting an expanded program of vocational training in home economics, she has been studying and making observations in this country since last November. East Carolina is the only Southern college to be visited by Mlle. Cossus during her visit to this country.

On the East Carolina campus, Mlle. Cossus was in a somewhat familiar environment, for in her native Paris she is a member of the faculty of the Ecole Normale Nationale, a teachers college. There her work includes the training of teachers of home economics for vocational schools in France. As a guest at the home management department at East Carolina and as a visitor and observer in the department, she has had an opportunity to see what work is now being done in a Southern college to train young women for homemaking and vocations.

"My job," she said, "is to help plan for French schools a program of vocational training which will enable women to earn a living." The French, she explained, have little money since the close of the last war, and trained women workers are needed for many jobs. "I am interested," she said, "in a practical program that will enable girls to support themselves."

Mlle. Cossus came to this country on a fellowship provided by the Milbank Foundation, a scientific organization, and she has worked here with various government agencies in New York State. She has studied at Cornell and has visited in various colleges and universities in the East and North.

An attractive woman with red hair, an intelligent and animated expression, and the characteristic gestures of the French, she glows with enthusiasm when she speaks of her work, especially its practical aspects. There are many differences, she explained, between French and American programs of home economics education. "Here," she said, "there is more of everything—more teachers, more pupils, more equipment." "But," she explained proudly, "the quality of instruction in France is very high. It is as good as here."

In addition to her study of the home economics program on the East Carolina campus, Mlle. Cossus visited schools at Bethel and Tarboro, where she saw typical departments of the schools of the state.

After leaving Greenville, Mlle. Cossus will visit Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park and discuss her work with the former First Lady.

During her visit to Greenville, Mlle. Cossus has been the guest of Mrs. Adelaide Blount and other members of the department of home economics at the college. On last Thursday she was honor guest at a luncheon in the Flanagan building at which faculty members of the college were given an opportunity to meet the distinguished visitor.

After leaving Greenville, Mlle. Cossus will visit Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park and discuss her work with the former First Lady.

A.A.U.W. Studies Education Report

Education in N.C. today and tomorrow, a study of the needs, as well as the present conditions in education in North Carolina, was the subject of the program of the Education Committee of the American Association of University Women at the March meeting. Mrs. Allen Hurlbut, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Dr. Lucille Turner and Miss Frances Wahl presented brief sections of the report of the commission in a very interesting way.

During the short business session, reports on the bridge tournament and the play, "Peter Pan" were given. The branch voted to establish a fund to help some local college students go to a foreign country to study.

Mlle. Christiane Cossus, a French woman who is in the U.S. studying vocational home economics, was a guest at the meeting.

Miss Emma Hooper and Miss Nell Stallings will be delegates of the local branch at the state meeting of A.A.U.W. in Raleigh April 26-30.

Hostess To Contract Club

Grifton.—Mrs. Richard A. Nelson entertained members of the Thursday contract club at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. R. Harvey, on Wednesday night at an enjoyable supper session. Colorful spring flowers decorated the rooms in which the guests were entertained. On arrival a delectable barbeque supper was served in the dining room where a center arrangement of quince in a crystal bowl flanked by lighted candles made a pretty setting.

Announce Plans For Oratorical Contest In April

The Greenville Woman's Club announced plans today for their third annual Peace Oratorical contest for Greenville high school. The topic for 1949 is "What Is the Responsibility of the United States in World Affairs?" A gold medal will be awarded the winner of the final contest which is scheduled for the Greenville high school assembly on April 22.

Mrs. George Renfro, contest chairman for the Woman's Club, sent a five dollar fee to the Extension Division of the University of North Carolina and registered Greenville for the oratorical contest. Twenty study bulletins and the gold medal were furnished by the Extension Division.

The rules require that each orator write his own speech and all quoted material must be duly acknowledged. However, the speakers are entitled to oral assistance in preparation of the speech, and practicing the delivery.

Alfred Salsed, now a freshman at Duke University, was the first winner, and the 1948 winner was Augusta Overton, a Greenville high school sophomore.

In Song Recital

Gladys B. Reichard, mezzo soprano, instructor of voice at East Carolina Teachers College, will give a song recital Monday evening, March 28, at 8:15 o'clock in the Austin auditorium. The department of music at the college is sponsoring the program and extends an invitation to the public to hear Miss Reichard.

The program for the evening is made up of four groups of songs and includes the works of such composers as Handel, Beethoven, Grieg, Ambrose Thomas and modern writers of song literature. Elizabeth Drake, pianist, will be Miss Reichard's accompanist, and Dr. Karl V. Gilbert will play a violin obligato for one of the numbers.

Mrs. Karl W. Broome, of Hickory, N.C., state department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, will speak at the fifth district meeting to be held in Greenville at the Eighth Street Christian Church on Wednesday, March 30, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Entertain At Bridge And Supper Party

Grifton.—Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bisette entertained at bridge and supper on Tuesday night at their home here for members of their contract club and invited players for three tables. Decorations of flowering almond, quince were used to decorate the rooms in which the guests were received. As the supper concluded cards were passed and spirited progressions ensued. The highest scores were made by Mrs. Thurman Williams and Mr. Cecil Cobb among the club members and Mrs. Robert Newborn among the visitors. Other players were Mr. Williams, Mrs. Cobb, Mr. Newborn, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Newborn, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Josh Worthington.

Observe "Doctors' Day" Day Next Wednesday

Next Wednesday, March 30, is "Doctors' Day," and the occasion is observed on a nation-wide scale with varied programs and exercises. The Women's Auxiliary of the Pitt County Medical Society has a custom of presenting bouquets of flowers to members of the medical fraternity each year. Mrs. S. M. Crisp is president of the Auxiliary.

Qualify For Honor Roll

The office of the registrar at Peace College in Raleigh announced the names of 30 students who made the honor roll for the second quarter just ended. An average grade of 90 is necessary to qualify for the academic honor. The list included Miss Lois Waldrop of Greenville and Miss Doris Yelverton of Fountain.

Mt. Pleasant News

The adult Bible class held its regular monthly meeting March 27 with 19 members present. The president, Mr. F. A. McLamb, presided. It was decided to have the class meeting for March 12th to be clean up day for the church yard. There were 12 people out which really improved the yard after taking up a lot of stumps. Mr. H. B. Randolph used his tractor in pulling up the stumps and leveling the ground.

Mr. M. B. Madden will be guest speaker at the Mt. Pleasant Christian church the first Sunday in April. He has been a missionary in Japan and Korea for 54 years. He will be on tour of North Carolina for three weeks.

The Ladies Aid held its regular monthly meeting with 24 members present and two visitors. The president, Mrs. J. L. Harris, presided. The public is cordially invited to come and hear Mr. Madden.

Kiwanians Hear Interesting Talk

By CHESTER WALSH
"Ours is a nation of home owners and it is a patriotic nation, and this is what has helped to make America great," declared E. D. Kuykendall, Jr., of Winston-Salem, executive vice-president of the North Carolina Building and Loan League, at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night.

Kuykendall, a former state director of the Federal Housing Administration, impressively described the operations of building and loan associations and enumerated their value in the communities they serve. He emphasized the point that whenever there is a leveling off of prices and business conditions building and loan associations will find themselves in substantially excellent condition.

Judge Dink James, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, had charge of the program, and A. C. Tadlock, secretary-treasurer, were at the meeting. Heber Forbes, president, and Bill Lee, secretary-treasurer of the Home Building and Loan Association, were special guests. Kiwanis President Arthur Tripp presided.

In presenting the speaker of the evening, Judge James said that the building and loan associations financed 75 per cent of the homes built in the Greenville area.

Bill Bloom reported regular returns for the Kiwanis minstrel show for underprivileged children on April 13-14. J. Hicks Corey, ticket sales chairman, reported excellent sales, and J. Bryan Brown of the advertising and publicity committee reported splendid results.

Arthur Tripp and Jesse R. Moye II were elected delegates to the Kiwanis International Convention at Atlantic City this summer. Glenn Scott and Milo Smith were named alternates.

M. K. Blount, Rev. Leonard W. Topping and J. Archie Rogers had birthdays and donated a nickel for each year of their age. Dr. John O. Reynolds of the college faculty reported that four members of the Greenville Key Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, are attending the Key Club Convention in Washington, D.C.

Students Attend Music Contests

School boys and girls from fourteen counties in the southeastern section of North Carolina are spending the day on the campus at East Carolina Teachers College and participating in events of the annual music contest sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

Approximately 150 public-school pupils are present for the event. They come from the counties of Bladen, Brunswick, Carteret, Columbus, Craven, Duplin, Jones, Leon, New Hanover, Onslow, Pamlico, Pender, Sampson and Wayne.

Contests arranged for the day include performances by rhythm bands, trumpeters, pianists and vocalists. Headquarters for the contest are the auditorium and the music studios of the Austin building.

Fannie K. Lewis of Scotland Neck is director of the program for the day. Dr. Rudolph F. Willmann and Elizabeth Drake of the East Carolina department of music and other members of the college music staff are assisting in carrying out the events of the contest.

Announce County Winners In 4-H Dairy Contest

Cornelia Randolph and Julia Stokes, members of the Belvoir 4-H Club, won out in the County 4-H Team Demonstration Contest with their demonstration on making ice cream, titled "America's Favorite."

Janice Atkinson, Farmville 4-H Club member, won first in the individual demonstration contest with her demonstration on milk shakes, titled "Dressing-up Milk."

These girls will represent Pitt County in the Northeastern District contest in June, competing with other girls from 20 counties.

These two demonstrations were given as the program at the regular meeting of the Pitt County Council of 4-H Clubs held on Friday night, Hazel Harris, vice-president of the council, presided.

The adult Bible class held its regular monthly meeting March 27 with 19 members present. The president, Mr. F. A. McLamb, presided. It was decided to have the class meeting for March 12th to be clean up day for the church yard. There were 12 people out which really improved the yard after taking up a lot of stumps. Mr. H. B. Randolph used his tractor in pulling up the stumps and leveling the ground.

Mr. M. B. Madden will be guest speaker at the Mt. Pleasant Christian church the first Sunday in April. He has been a missionary in Japan and Korea for 54 years. He will be on tour of North Carolina for three weeks.

Bishop Visiting City On Sunday

The Most Reverend Vincent S. Waters, D.D., Bishop of Raleigh, will visit Greenville for the purpose of conferring the Sacrament of Confirmation. On Sunday morning, March 27, His Excellency will visit Grifton, where he will offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and confirm a class at the conclusion of the Mass.

A public reception will be held in his honor on Saturday evening in the auditorium of St. Raphael's School at eight o'clock. The public is invited.

The Most Reverend Vincent S. Waters, D.D., was installed as the third Bishop of Raleigh on June 8, 1945.

A native of Roanoke, Va., Bishop Waters was educated at St. Charles College in Maryland, Belmont Abbey College, Belmont, and the North American College at Rome, Italy.

Prior to his appointment as bishop, he was a priest of the Diocese of Richmond, and there engaged successively as a parish priest, secretary and Chancellor to the Bishop of Richmond, and director of the Virginia Missionary Fathers.

The Diocese of Raleigh, which comprises 99 of North Carolina's 100 counties, has 91 parishes under the administration of the bishop. Included also are 43 parochial schools, one orphanage and four hospitals under the administration of the church.

Charley Blair Is New Ruler Elks

By CHESTER WALSH
Greenville Lodge No. 1645, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at its recent meeting, unanimously elected Charles E. Blair, manager of Blount-Harvey's Store, as exalted ruler, succeeding J. Alvin Bunting. New officers will be installed at the next meeting, April 6.

Other officers unanimously elected are Jesse R. Moye II, esteemed leading knight; Jack Barrett, esteemed loyal knight; W. Erskine Duff, esteemed leading knight; P. W. Picklesimer, secretary; David Proctor, treasurer, and I. S. Fleming, tiller. Other officials are to be appointed by the new exalted ruler. Judge Albion Dunn was named trustee. J. Alvin Bunting and Charles E. Blair were named representatives to the Grand Lodge.

Chairman Bill White announced the following results on the recent Elks essay contest among school children: The topic was, "Why Democracy Works." Fifty dollars in cash prizes were offered. Winners were Ariene Joyner of Ayden, first; Barbara Ann Little of Ayden, second; among county school students, Augusta Overton of Greenville, first prize. Only one contestant entered from Greenville school. The committee plans to present the Ayden high school with an American flag and staff.

The Boy's Camp Committee announced that the Greenville lodge will send 12 worthy boys to the Elks Summer Camp near Hendersonville this summer.

The Greenville Elks Lodge, organized shortly before World War II started, now has about 200 members.

THIRD STREET SCHOOL NEWS

The second grade has been studying birds. A few weeks ago we invited the other grades to see our colored picture show about birds. This week a mocking bird sang right under our window. The robins ate crumbs that we threw out. The blue jays have built a nest in a bush right next to one of our windows. We are sure the birds are thanking us for the Christmas tree we surrounded just like a canary bird and sang for about five minutes.

The boys and girls walked over to John F. Edwards' house to see the bird's nest in an iron pipe.

The second grade is painting and drawing flowers. We have daffodils, narcissus, oxalis, pansies, cowslips, African violets, pear blossoms, peach blossoms, snowdrops and japonicas to study.

Charles Overton brought us lots of jonquils. Shirley Bullock brought some violets. Mrs. Hadley brought some flowers from her garden.

Catharine Ratcliffe's grandmother sent us an orange amaryllis in a pot a few weeks ago. It had four large flowers on it. They were shaped like Easter lilies. The flowers died but we have kept it because these flowers make seeds. It is almost time to get out the seeds. We may do that about Tuesday.

We are going to learn a lovely spring song about the amaryllis.

Earl Stocks brought his large kite to school and we went back of the school and watched it sail high in the sky.

We are planning to have lots of kites at school and sail them at one time the next windy day. Mrs. Hadley says we can send messages to kites. We have a nice poem about a kite.

Fifteen green birds have finished their reading book, "More Friends and Neighbors," and are learning to read better aloud. It is their speech lesson. They are reading now in "Round About."

Many children are planning to see the dentist Saturday. Some have already been. "Little Jack" was a fine puppet show. Little Jack taught us a lot about our teeth.

Doug Bullock brought some records to school. We played like we were beating the drum, blowing the horns, ringing the bells, whistling the music. It was lots of fun.

Oscar Stoneham brought a little green crocheted cup and saucer. It has a small glass in it so we put small flowers in it. It made a fine arrangement to study. Oscar's mother made it for his teacher.

Spitzbergen . . .

Much more importantly, it is within fairly easy bomber range of important European cities.

From Spitzbergen it is roughly 1,200 miles to Leningrad, and something like 1,600 miles to Moscow. Those distances could be important, if the North Atlantic powers held the Spitzbergen air bases and wanted to remind the Kremlin that they would follow on any further Russian aggression.

Spitzbergen in Russian hands would make the North Atlantic powers feel unsafe. Russian planes, based there, would be within equally easy striking distance of that famous, deep-water home of the British Fleet, Scapa Flow, an island-locked harbor just north of Scotland.

Further, planes from Spitzbergen could swing down over some of the major European cities that will be within the Western safety orbit, once the pact is signed by the eight partners now in the picture: the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Norway.

For that reason any proposal regarding Spitzbergen coming out of the Kremlin is expected to bring about a quick closing of the ranks among the Western partners.

Cases Tried In Police Court

The following cases were tried in Police Court last Monday:
Non-support: Pete E. Hasberry, colored, $15 and costs and ordered to pay $15 a week for support of his wife.
Traffic violation: Harry D. Watson, $15.
Marjorie Dupree, colored, was not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.
Assault on a female: Allan Moore, colored, (and trespass), six months at the county home; Albert Kornegay, colored, $20; John Parker, colored, 30 days, suspended on payment of $20; Tyler W. Sutton, colored, $15.
Hugh A. Tucker, colored, was not guilty of trespass.
Investments For Farmers
Often the farmers have asked me to recommend some investment for their loose money. When prices were low, I have suggested either the American Can Company, or General Foods which leads in the freezing industry and has a valuable distributing system. I also like merchandising stocks, especially those of established "5 and 10" cent stores, and the good grocery chains.
To my friends in Florida, who have never controlled their surplus crops, I am tempted to say "Sell your groves and re-invest at the right time in the United Fruit Co. This concern is now doing with bananas what you do with oranges and grapefruit. It raises, packs, ships, transports and distributes bananas and one can control the cost and price."

Babson . . .

I believe in small sustenance farms as insurance for people whose income is not dependent upon the land. But cannot recommend a small farm as a business. Farming, ranching and fruit growing is becoming "big business" whether we like it or not. The present owners of small units will sell out or combine with larger units. Agriculture is going on a factory basis the same as the manufacture of shoes, shirts and bread.

Small Merchant Opportunity

There always will be an opportunity for the small merchant who will live over or near his store and open up before the big stores and get rich or become a country-club member, but he can be free from labor worries and many other headaches. Hence, I am much interested in the small businessmen's association, which my friend Ernest Gaunt is fathering. This organization is not blaming either the growers or the retailers, but rather the railroads and the labor unions.

Give Wheel Chair To Invalid Negro Woman In City

By CHESTER WALSH
The Bachelor Benedict Club, Negro civic and social club composed of representative citizens, today expressed appreciation to white and colored persons who contributed funds and assisted the club in providing an invalid's wheel chair for Fannie Mae Hunter, 37-year-old Negro woman who suffered an paralysis about 10 years ago which paralyzed her hands and feet and seriously impaired her eyesight. She has been bed-ridden ever since. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Claudine Hunter, 903 Contentines Street. The Welfare Department contributes to their support and neighbors and friends help some.

The Bachelor Benedict Club presented the wheel chair to the invalid woman Thursday. Now her mother can roll her out into the health-giving rays of sunshine on the porch. Mrs. Hunter and her daughter were profuse in their thanks to the Bachelor Benedict Club and others who provided the chair for her comfort and enjoyment.

Some time ago members of the Bachelor Benedict Club, wrote an article for the Daily Reflector telling of the woman's plight and the public response was generous.

Eppes Students To Play Part In Fine Arts Show

A unique development in art work is to be found at the Eppes school. A group of students meets after school hours three or four evenings a week with Mrs. Travis Allen, the seventh grade teacher. Mrs. Allen teaches her regular classes all day too; but she finds her devotion to these young experimenters in art amply rewarded in the splendid work they are producing. Happy pride and the joy of accomplishment shine from her eyes as she talks of "feeling for color," "experimentation with various materials," of how "this boy always leans to warm browns" and another "wants always to draw faces, but is never satisfied that he has caught what he wanted"; always she gives a personal slant on the study she is showing you. While she is busy, some of the other children quietly and courteously take out and put away the work as it is reviewed.

This little art class makes a contribution on the aesthetic side of life from and to a group of our population that has a real feeling for art. The project was made possible by the vision and prompt action of our superintendent of schools, Mr. J. H. Rose, who, realizing Mrs. Allen's aptitude and the children's joy in their work, made space available for a little "art workshop" on one side of Mrs. Allen's classroom.

Some of the work will be displayed in the entrance hall of the Woman's Club during the Fine Arts Festival.

At 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 2nd, an outdoor band concert will be held on the lawn of the Agriculture Building. Mr. R. H. Lewis will conduct the Eppes High School Band in the following program:

I. Mutual March—Harold Bennett; Summit March, Harold Bennett; Blue Moon Waltz, M. H. Ribble.

II. Americans, We—Filmore; Neptune Overture, R. B. Eisenberg.

III. J. H. Rose March—R. H. Lewis; Intermission Riff, Kenton (arr. R. H. Lewis).

At 8 p.m. Saturday at the Woman's Club Mrs. W. H. Davenport will again direct the Eppes Chorus, a beautiful, sincere and dignified offering that many look forward to. The program follows:

The Green Cathedral—Carl Hahn Indian Dawn—J. S. Zamesnik (The Girls' Glee Club) Ezekiel Saw de Wheel—Deet (Boys' Glee Club)

Solo—"Because"—Guy d'Hardelot (Mitchel L. Hines)

Solo—"Where'er You Walk"—Handel (Doris Lynch)

Jesu, Priceless, Treasure—J. S. Bach

Were You There?—Burligh (Mixed Glee Club)

Accompanist: William E. Myers

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE SET OF THE SAILS The earliest sailing ships were completely at the mercy of the wind. If a mariner wanted to go east, he was forced to wait for a wind which would blow his ship in almost exactly that direction. To go south, he must wait a north wind. Later, men learned that by shifting sails to different angles, they could make a north wind take their ships not only south, but west or east, and even north-west or north-east. It was the same wind—but the sailors had learned how to make the best of it. Some of us are as helpless in our daily lives as were the early mariners. We feel completely controlled by outside circumstances—our jobs, our education, the place we live, the amount of money we have. We would like, perhaps, to live better, richer, fuller lives, but we are driven in the same old direction by existing conditions. Perhaps we cannot change the conditions, but we can make the best of them, instead of letting them run us. That same old job can be new and interesting—if we bring into it a new interest. The same town with the same people can be an exciting place in which to live if we make it such. As a familiar poem says, "It is not the gates, but the set of the sails" which determines our direction in life.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET DIVIDED—The much talked about "school bloc" in the general assembly is threatened with rift over the use of the post-war reserve fund of $9 million dollars plus accrued interest—amounting to a total of about $2 million. Whether there is truth in the accusation by Rep. Robert Kiser that proposal emanating from the house finance committee to use this fund for school buildings was deliberately designed to split the school forces, there is no doubt that the split is imminent. It is almost unanimously conceded the 30-odd millions will be devoted to public schools. The house finance committee would use it for school buildings; the joint appropriations committee has earmarked it for further increase in teacher salaries. SPEEDY UP—Action of the two committees came almost simultaneously Thursday afternoon. Motion made Friday morning to put the finance committee's substitute bill on the calendar brought on an hour-long debate. When the vote was finally taken only one voice was heard against the proposal, although during the hour a dozen or more members had spoken against it. Result of this vote is to place the issue of using the fund for school buildings on consideration Tuesday. This action by-passes the appropriations committee, but it was conceded the committee would give unfavorable report and the issue would have to be fought out on the floor anyway. Legislative leaders agreed Friday's action saved a lot of time, although on the surface it wasted an hour or more. PRIORITY—Report of the joint appropriations committee on the budget bill is expected Monday night or Tuesday. This bill includes use of the $9 million reserve for school teacher salaries. Which item will be considered first, it does not make much difference. Debate on either proposal will involve arguments for and against the other. RARE—The budget appropriations bill will be in unusual position. For the first time in many years, chairmen of the respective committees and many members gave notice they could not support the bill on the floors of the general assembly. As adopted by majority joint committee vote of the measure carries appropriations of some $8 million more than anticipated revenue for the next two years as provided in the revenue act which has already been enacted into law. OSE—The vote was not close. The committee, but opinion is it will be very close in the house and that the senate will give a good opinion against the bill as written. Membership is about equal on appropriations and finance committees. Observers figure that 75% of the house members on the appropriations will go along with the big spending bill, but that an equal number of finance members will oppose it. That would mean close voting in the house. Well more than a majority of the senators on the appropriations committee question wisdom of many items in the bill, and the senators on the finance committee oppose its enactment by a large margin. CONFERENCE—Legislative leaders agree the bill will ultimately have to go to a conference committee. There is wide divergence of opinion as to final outcome. Personal feeling has entered into some committee debates, and partisans of both sides have become stubborn. Oldtime observers see prospect of deadlock that might delay adjournment for several weeks. Some of those who are less partisan and have not been involved in personalities have said the whole situation is unfortunate and unnecessary. Since most of the squabbling has been about matters of relatively little importance in relation to the overall legislative picture. Much of the debate, not only on the appropriations bill but on other controversial issues, has been over one or two words.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE New York—(AP)—Nobody in the boxing game today can lay a glove on battling Jack Golomb, age 56, weight 125. But many a ring champion in the last 38 years—from flyweight to heavyweight—has crumbled and gone down from the crashing impact of Golomb's own flying jacks. A few: Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Barney Ross, Max Baer, Henry Armstrong, Gene Tunney, Primo Carnera, and—yes, even Joe Louis. This would give Golomb the mightiest record in ring history except for the fact that in none of these memorable fights was Jack's own fists in his gloves. He merely made the gloves and sold them. Long ago the little Latvian immigrant decided that, for him at least, there was more money in people's fists than on his own. Golomb reached this decision as a 90-pound kid after fighting four times as an amateur. "I had a fifty-fifty record," he said. "I win two, lost two." But today he claims 95 per cent of all modern champions have trained or fought with his gloves. And he built up a $1,000,000-a-year sports equipment business from a $5 investment. He got the $5 from his father in 1910. "I was a ring-crazy kid down on the East side," he said. "I was supposed to be working for my father, who sold tailor trimming supplies. But I spent most of my time repairing boxing gloves for fighters in the neighborhood. One day the father came to him and said: "Jacob, the only way a man can learn the value of a dollar is to go into business for himself. Here is $5. Go into business for yourself." The boy did. He haunted gyms, gave his early gloves away to get promising boxers to use them. "They were tough and rugged in those days," he said. "They were not soft like many fighters today. A boxer was proud of a cauliflower ear—it was the badge of his profession. The glove was little more than a piece of leather over his knuckles. The training bag was a sailor's duffie bag filled with sawdust." Golomb pioneered or helped develop many of the safeguards now used to protect boxers—such as the headguard, rubber teeth protector, face mask, plastic four-proof cup protector and modern training glove. "The trouble at first was in getting them to use 'em," he said. "Many oldtime fighters thought they were slazy." The grandmotherly-mitten type of forty years ago has graduated to an intricate tool requiring 25 operations to manufacture. It is stuffed with goat, lamb, horse or hog hair and contains 12 different pieces of leather. Jack says fighters now are particular about their gloves, and many want them made to order. "Camera had to be a special job because of the size of his hands," he recalled. "Tunney had a brittle hand. We had to build him a special training glove with a rubber sponge across the knuckles. Joe Louis has a longer thumb on his right hand than on his left, so each glove had to be different." Golomb thinks present-day fighters get hurt because they don't take their training as seriously as the oldtimers. Jack Dempsey is his own hero and in his opinion the best heavyweight of all time. "Dempsey used to harden his hands before every fight by soaking them in slaughterhouse brine," he said. "He used to wash his face in it, even, to toughen himself against cuts." A fighter today would want cologne in the brine. Ancient Greeks counted days from sunset to sunset; Romans from midnight to midnight, and Babylonians from sunrise to sunrise.

Chapter 3

"I was wondering whether you would remember our previous meeting," Raff said in a low tone.

She laughed somewhat ruefully and stepped into her shoes.

"Rest assured, I'm not apt to forget it for a long time."

"Oh!" He looked at her inquiringly. "I am sorry. It didn't occur to me that the situation was really a serious one."

"Well, it really wasn't."

"Then it was a secret sorority ritual?"

"Oh, no, that wasn't it at all." He glanced casually around the room but watched her carefully out of the corner of his eyes.

"What was it—just a lovers' quarrel?" he asked.

Her laugh rang out merrily. "Good heavens, no!"

She reached into a pocket of her dark green skirt and brought out a pack of cigarettes.

"Now that we're no longer enemies you may have a cigarette."

He took the proffered cigarette.

"Thank you. That's what I call being really friendly." He struck a match and held it to her cigarette. There was a clean, soap and water odor about her. Certainly not the type to be mixed up in a murder.

"Tell me, how that we're no longer enemies," he said, "what was it all about?"

"It was really nothing," she protested. "I was just being silly."

He sighed. "Call it that. What puzzles me is why you want to make yourself out a woman of deep mystery."

"I'm really not very mysterious. There's my name on the door, 'Ellen Carter,' and I'm the secretary of the department. Which reminds me—is there anything I can do for you, Mr. Raftery?"

"Raftery, Dennis Raftery. I'm a surgeon at the University Hospital."

Ellen bowed deeply. "We are honored, Dr. Raftery."

Raff laughed in spite of himself. "Score one. I guess I asked for that."

"Seriously, can I help you any?"

"I have an appointment with Dr. Bray. I knocked at his door but there was no answer. If he has no objection, Miss Carter, I'd like to wait here."

At the mention of Bray's name Ellen took on an apprehensive look. "Of course there's no objection to your waiting here. But, Dr. Raftery, would you mind not saying anything—Well, put it this way. It would cause no end of embarrassment if you were to mention our previous meeting to Dr. Bray. Especially—there was a chuckle in her voice—"your theory of a lovers' quarrel. Honestly, it wasn't that, and if you say anything about it he is going to be terribly disturbed."

"I'm afraid I don't understand. What connection does Dr. Bray have with that?"

"Oh—well, maybe you didn't see him. It was Dr. Bray I was trying to avoid that night."

Raff was perplexed. Why was she making this damaging admission? Either she was innocently naive, or she was downright clever.

"I see," he said thoughtfully. "Well, I think I can promise you that I won't mention a word of it to Dr. Bray."

of events.

It is just three years ago today that the U.N. Security Council first met in the United States and took up Iranian charges against the Soviet Union. Two months later Soviet troops, which had been in Iran as part of a war-time occupation by the Allies, withdrew from the country.

A closing of the Russian consulate in Iran would follow much the same pattern as the Soviet Union adopted last year as a reprisal move in the Lomakin-Tsarenkine case. Moscow closed its consulate in New York and San Francisco, and asked the United States to close its consulate at Vladivostok.

Another Rift In Russia And Iran

Lake Success, March 25—(AP)—Informed sources reported today the Soviet government has decided tentatively to close its three consulates in neighboring Iran, which has been under frequent verbal attack by Moscow. There still is a chance the situation will be ironed out without closing of the consulates, it was said.

The three Russian consulates in Iran are at Tabriz, Meshed, and Ahwaz. The Russians are said to have asked the Iranians to close their consulate in Baku, Russia.

Strict censorship at Tehran has prevented any transmission abroad of the facts. The version reported here is that there has been no break in diplomatic relations and that the two countries are retaining their embassies in Moscow and Tehran, respectively.

Iranians accredited to the United Nations disclaimed any knowledge of the indebtedness thereby assumed, the undersigned, Trustee, will offer for sale, and sell to the highest bidder, for cash, before the courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, on Saturday, April 16, 1949 between the hours of 10:00 o'clock noon and 1:00 o'clock p.m., that certain lot or parcel of land situated, lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, described as follows:

Being Lot No. 1 in Block "D" of Rock Spring Sub-Division as shown on map of record in Map Book No. 8 Page 141 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, beginning at a point on the West Rock Spring Road 84.3 feet northwardly from the point of intersection of the west property line of West Rock Spring Road, and the north property line of Edgewood Circle, and running thence N. 86 W. with the south line of Lot No. 2 in Block "D", 150 feet to an alley; thence with said alley S. 32 W. and parallel with Rock Spring Road 74 feet to a point in the curved property line of Edgewood Circle; thence with the curved property line of Edgewood Circle eastwardly 126 feet to the point of tangency with a circle circumscribed at the corner with a radius of 25 feet; thence following the curvature of the Circle having a radius of 25 feet, 39.3 feet to the point of tangency with the west property line of Rock Spring Road; thence with the west line of Rock Spring Road N. 33 E. 89.3 feet to the beginning, being the same property conveyed to the Robert Van Iderstine and wife by deed of record in Pitt County Registry in Book P-25 page 639.

This property will be sold subject to a deed of trust to Security Life and Trust Company, recorded in Pitt County Registry in Book K-34 page 431.

A ten per cent. (10%) deposit will be required of the successful bidder. This the 10th day of March 1949.

Pitt Golden Glove Tournament Finals Slated Tonight

Greenville Team Boasts Six Preliminary Wins via TKO's

Semi-Finals Display Hard-Fought Matches; Castello To Be In Finals After Thinking He Lost Decision

The Greenville Giants boxing team scored their sixth technical knockout in two nights last night when three local pugilists sent opponents out via the TKO route in the semi-finals of the Pitt County Golden Gloves.

Coch Paul Hansell's charges, losers in but two bouts since the tournament began, go into the finals tonight looking like the team to beat. All six of the Greenville wins have been by TKO.

The championship fights get under way tonight at 7:45 with 10 scraps on the evening card. Golden Gloves for winners and silver gloves for runners-up will be awarded as well as presentations to the most outstanding boxer, the winning team, its coach and the most popular fighter.

Bill Odum, a 125 pound aggressive lad, scored Greenville's first win of the evening last night when he sent Belvoir's J. C. Hammill out in one minute, 10 seconds of the second round. Odum floored the game Belvoir boy in the first round and duplicated the performance in the second, whereupon the fight was stopped. Tonight, Odum will tangle in the finals with Belvoir's Leroy Morris who dethroned Mack James of Arthur last night.

The shortest bout of the evening was tall Billy Tilghman's first round TKO over Winterville's John French. Coach Redwan David threw in the towel after 35 seconds of the logical conclusion. This would enable the runners to take more than one base in case of interference.

The baseball rules shall have approved rulings similar to the football code which would help clarify unusual situations that might arise.

The rule which deals with the penalty if a coach assists a man at third base, was amended to read "coaches at third or first" who physically assist the base runner leaving or returning to the bag. This is for 1949.

It was urged that any differences in interpretation of rules such as the ruling on players falling into dugouts after making catches expelled from the first game of a double-header being allowed to play in the second game—be eliminated.

It was voted to make more uniform the rules concerning the fraternization of players and their conversing with spectators before and during the game, with such fraternization forbidden.

Plays which deal with catcher's interference and the penalties imposed was also recommended changed. At present the ball is dead and the runner cannot advance more than the base he is going to. It was suggested that the rule be so changed that the play will proceed to its first when it was apparent that Tilghman was the superior fighter. Tilghman will meet Bobby Fulford of Farmville in the junior welterweight finals tonight.

Wallace Conway scored Greenville's third consecutive technical knockout of the Friday night card when he beat Leroy White of Bethel into submission in 30 seconds of the second. White was downed in the first and twice in the second and second Donald Denney threw in the towel ending the fight at that point. Tonight Conway will fight George Ross, a powerful punching senior middleweight from Grimsland. Ross dethroned Winterville's John Riggs in three rounds of heavy hitting, aggressive fighting last night.

Thomas Castello, a southpaw boxer from Winterville who went home last night thinking he had lost by a bad decision, will go into the finals tonight.

Tournament Director Jim Johnson announced late last night that a mistake had been made when the decision of the judges was read. The decision was awarded to Wesley Manning of Belvoir at the end of the three rounds. Later, however, the mistake was discovered and Johnson said Castello would meet Ayden's Willie Manning in the finals tonight.

In the opening fight last night little Billy McRoy of Grimsland outpointed Aaron Price of Belvoir in a junior middleweight classic. McRoy meets Leland Evans of Winterville in the final tonight.

Floyd Langley, a midweight counter puncher from Belvoir who handles himself like a veteran, defeated Winterville's Pete Avery in a three round decision to win the chance to meet Gilmer Craft of Ayden in the finals. Craft came from behind to beat Jimmy Manning of Winterville with powerful blows to the head in the third round last night.

In a very close match Bobby Manning of Bethel defeated J. D. Mayo of Winterville. Manning will tangle with Linwood Rhodes of Arthur in a flyweight bout for the championship tonight. Rhodes won by referee's decision over Dean Wingate of Winterville after the judges called their fight last night a draw.

Arthur's Charles Sutton will meet Greenville's Bill Nobles in a bantam weight classic tonight. Sutton, a power puncher with lot of reach, dethroned Grimsland's Floyd Kite last night.

Two of the best looking fighters in the tournament will meet for the lightweight championship. Howard Hathaway of Belvoir whose powerful blows to the head repeatedly staggered but failed to drop Elbert Stokes of Grimsland, will tangle with calm Norman Pollard of Belvoir. Pollard TKO'ed Leighton Jones of Winterville last night.

'We Wuz Robbed' Say Frenchmen In Filing Popular Protest Over Bout

New York, March 26—(AP)—Three fighting mad Frenchmen gave out with a galle version of "we wuz robbed" today and they had a lot of people on their side. Among them apparently is Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, who promised he would investigate the wierd official voting which gave Jake La Motta, the 2 to 1 favorite, a split decision victory over Robert Villemain of France last night.

Obviously angered at the two to one vote in favor of the rusting iron man from the Bronx, Eagan said immediately after the 12-round Madison Square Garden contest that "the commission will look into the matter."

He will have an official protest laid on his desk as soon as Villemain's co-managers, Jean Bretonnel and George Kanter can get around to it.

"They gave the decision to the actor and not the fighter," Bretonnel said as he tried to soothe the disappointed little Villemain.

A crowd of 11,491 fans hooted and hollered after the decision was announced. The fans gave the crestfallen, 24-year-old Frenchman a tremendous ovation, booted La Motta lustily and kept on jeering through the four-rounder that followed the main go.

Bevens Expected Back With Yanks

San Diego, Calif., March 26—(AP)—Indications are that the Chicago White Sox will turn back Pitcher Floyd (Bill) Bevens to the New York Yankees.

The big right hander is on trial from the Yanks. He did not accompany the team here but stayed at the Pasadena camp.

Bevens is still having trouble with his arm which went lame following his almost no-hitter in the 1947 World Series. During spring training with the Sox he seemed to be making some progress but he finally admitted to Manager Jack Onslow the arm was giving him trouble.

Richest Race

New York—(AP)—The Little Brown Jug, premier pacing classic for three-year-olds, raced annually at Delaware, O., will be worth more than $50,000 in 1949 for the first time in the four-year history of the event. Fifty-six horses are eligible for the race on Sept. 22.

'Nothing Doing'

'Ole man weather wasted little time in gumming up the Northeastern conference baseball schedule which was to have opened yesterday. Kinston's Red Devils were to have played the Greenville High School Phantoms here yesterday afternoon. But Mr. Rainy Weather said "Nothing doing."

Sports story for today, Rain. Game postponed. "30."

Tennis Team To Meet Michigan

East Carolina Teachers College's tennis team will meet the Michigan State 11 tters here Monday afternoon in the first of five intercollegiate matches scheduled for the local team.

Three of last year's top netters are expected to hold regular positions on the squad this season. The seeded netters for this year's court team has not yet been announced by Coach Jim Johnson.

Keith Hudson, last season's No. 2 man, is expected to fill the number one slot left vacant by Wayne Harris. John Heath, seeded third last season, will probably take over the number two spot and much improved Bob Williams will take care of the third seeding.

The fourth, fifth and sixth spots will be filled from the top notch crew from last year's second team. Bill Hales heads this list along with Art Holland, "Toddy" Thompson, Gorrell Bass and last year's campus tournament winner, Paul Hansell. Pairings for the doubles team has not yet been made.

Boston Scared By Hurt Thumb

Sarasota, Fla., March 26—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox are recovering today from a scare following an accident to the left thumb of slug-dump shortstop Vern (Junior) Stephens.

The stocky socker was struck by a throw from Billy Hitchcock during yesterday's varsity fielding drill and was rushed immediately for x-rays. But they showed no broken bones. He is expected to be back after a day or two's rest.

Denies Reports Of Rojek Trade

Hollywood, Calif., March 26—(AP) Manager Billy Meyer of the Pittsburgh Pirates is busy denying reports the club is planning to trade Shortstop Stan Rojek.

"I think we have succeeded in putting together a good infield," said Meyer, "and it is built around Rojek and Danny Murtaugh."

Clyde Scores

Austin, Tex.—(AP)—Clyde Littlefield, Texas' successful track coach, is one of the few—perhaps the only—Southwest Conference athletes to be the leading scorer in three sports during one school year. In 1915-16 he led football scorers with 68 points, the basketballers with 87 in six games and was high point man in track with 11.

Two Darkhorses In Grand Nat'l

Aintree, England, March 26—(AP)—Two American darkhorses make their bid today to bag the Grand National Steeplechase, which hasn't gone to a Yank since Battership won in 198.

Caddie II and Replica, owned by cousins in the millionaire Mellon clan, carried the United States hopes in the 108rd running of the famous test of stamina and horsemanship over four and a half miles and 30 neckbusting hedges. Post time was 12:15 a.m. (EST).

A crowd of 300,000 or more was expected to watch the 43 horses take the jumps of the tough Aintree Course in good weather. This world's richest steeplechase pays a top purse of $37,868.

To most of the thousands at Aintree and the millions of Britons listening by radio, the American horses were just fillers in the field. The eyes were on Cromwell, the hot favorite to carry his lanky nobleman owner, Lord Midmay in first.

Bookmakers backed Cromwell at 6 to 1 in the final London callover of odds last night. They made Caddie II and Replica 100 to 1, along with 16 other horses.

Gonzales Makes Final Bid For Indoor Net Title

New York, March 26—(AP)—Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of Los Angeles made his final bid to add the National Indoor Tennis championship to a collection that already includes the U.S. Outdoor crown today against the defending titleholder, Billy Talbert of New York.

The two top-seeded favorites advanced to the finals of the 46th annual indoor tournament last night, giving the sponsors a natural between the indoor and outdoor titleholders for their championship tussle, just the way they planned it.

Talbert was never better than last night when he flattened Fred Kovalski of Detroit, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, without dropping his service once.

Gonzales had more of a struggle. He had to come from behind to dump former champion Don McNeill of New York, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

Alvin Dark Is Lighter, Faster

Bradenton, Fla., March 26—(AP) Here's news for National League teams that were plagued by the speedy base running of the Boston Braves' Al Dark last season.

"I'm down to 175 and hope to be three pounds lighter by the time the season opens," Dark says. "I know that shedding a little weight will make me faster."

Dark weighed 184 last season when he was one of the top major league rookies. Although his base-stealing record was not outstanding, his speed enabled him to stretch many hits for extra bases.

No Fear In Hearts Of Oklahoma Aggies Approaching Zero Hour

Seattle, March 26—(AP)—There was no fear today in the hearts of the Oklahoma Aggies as they approached the zero hour in 1949 basketball.

Tonight at 8 or thereabouts they meet the Wildcats of Kentucky, rated one of the all-time greats among the elite teams of the collegiate hoop sport.

They try at 10 or thereabouts to lift the National Collegiate Athletic Association crown from the Wildcats and thereby take back home to Oklahoma—for the third time—the top prize of the court game.

These men of Oklahoma A. and M. and Kentucky will scramble for the title after the champions of the big nine and the Pacific coast wind up a squabble for third and fourth places. With a sellout crowd jamming the University of Washington pavilion beyond its 12,000 seating capacity, Illinois and Oregon State will open the year's climax session at 8 p. m. (PST).

After the preliminary between the Eastern and Western regional runners-up, the Aggies and the Wildcats will be given 15 minutes to warm up before the whistle blows to start the Major attraction.

So great is the basketball fever in this hoop-mad city that fans were offering sports writers two-figure greenery for their passes to the practice sessions. Tickets to the double bill itself were being "scalped" downtown for $30 to $40 yesterday, with the price going up by the minute.

All tickets available at the regular price of $9.50 per copy were gobbled up six weeks ago.

Coaches Hank Iba and Adolph Rupp pronounced their teams ready and eager for action. Neither was cocksure; both were confident.

"This is a great bunch of boys," Iba said of his Aggies. "No stars, but all fine players. They feel ready anxious to meet the team they know in the nation's regard. They remember the Sugar Bowl game two years ago when almost the same teams met and the score was 37 for the Aggies, 31 for Kentucky."

Rupp, who worked his Wildcats on the pavilion court from 7 to 9 last night, used another word to describe the feeling of Kentucky: "determined."

"These men, who played in the Olympics and came here as defending champions, are determined not to bow as the nation's second best basketball quintet," Rupp said.
