Stand Pat Over Defense Of Aid Fund For Europe

Senate Foreign Policy Leaders Of Both Parties Oppose Taft, Russell

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Senate foreign policy leaders of both parties stood pat today against a move by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Russell (D-Ga.) to whack about 10 per cent off the $5,580,000,000 European recovery program.

But Senator George (D-Ga.) threw his powerful weight behind the Taft-Russell proposal with the assertion that unless some cut is made this country may face "a serious financial deficit."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, predicted defeat for the Taft-Russell proposal. But he admitted the vote might be close.

The committee's top Republican, Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) would not comment publicly. He was reported, however, to have told colleagues he was sticking by the full authorization.

Vandenberg has taken the stand that the Economic Cooperation Administration should have elbow room to defend before the Appropriations Committee later the month it says it needs.

If the authorization in the pending bill is cut, ECA would have to stay under that ceiling in its bid for actual funds to carry out its program.

Meanwhile, Senator Malone (R-Nev.) charged that Marshall Plan countries helped by the United States are actually using that aid to "rearm Russia for the third world war."

"The recipient nations are shipping everything from locomotives to jet engines to Russia and Russian satellite countries," Malone said in a speech prepared for delivery as the Senate resumed debate on the authorization bill.

"Those supplies are produced with the raw material and money furnished by the United States through ECA while we are severely restricting our own exports to the Iron Curtain countries."

Malone proposed an amendment to restrict ECA aid to private business loans in Marshall Plan countries repayable in 10 years. He said the loans would be granted on the same basis as Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans are given to firms in this country.

George told a reported he was backing the proposed 10 per cent cut because he thinks prices are leveling off and a dollar of American funds will buy more materials to ship to Europe next fall than was estimated when the ECA budget was made up last November.

Speight Named Pitt Chairman In Cancer Drive

William W. Speight today was appointed chairman of the Pitt County committee of the American Cancer Society to direct the annual fund-raising drive which will open April 1. The announcement was made by E. Y. Floyd, chairman of the North Carolina division of ACS.

Mr. Speight announced that the campaign offices would be opened in Greenville at 105 West Third street, on April first.

A Pitt county native, Speight graduated from the U. N. C. school of law and served on the legal staff in the office of the Attorney General in Raleigh until the war. He served in the navy for four and one-half years, three years of this time being spent with the naval forces in Europe. Since receiving his discharge he has been associated with J. B. James, attorney-at-law, in this city.

Why Moscow Joined

Russia Sent Delegates To 'Peace' Conference In New York For Red Propaganda Purposes; Large Audience At Meeting; Big Influence In New York City Area

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

There seems to be a widespread disposition to make a mystery of why Moscow participated in the much publicized "Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace," held in New York City's Madison Square Garden last week.

But there really is no inexplicable element involved. However, there are some highly intriguing points worth examining in connection with this big meeting which was sponsored by our home-grown "National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions."

To be sure, there was a clash of views in high quarters as to just what the purpose of the meeting was. The sponsor said it was aimed at fostering peace and friendship. A skeptical U. S. State Department bluntly described it as a sounding-board for communist propaganda, a claim hotly denied by the sponsors.

In any event, warm invitations by the sponsors brought delegations from Moscow and from the communist satellite countries. The Russians were headed by Alexander Fadeyev, the novelist, and included Dmitri Shostakovich, Russian com-

Two Twisters Hit Oklahoma Towns; Leave Ruins Behind

Canton, Okla., March 30—(AP)—Oklahoma's spring weather ran berserk today and exploded into tornadoes that ground down two towns and ripped through part of a third. Canton, Longdale and Blackwell were hit.

Two bodies were found in the ruins of Canton and Longdale, and the total known injured in all three communities was 18. Rescue workers said the full casualty list will almost certainly be greater. Property damage was high.

The first tornado started winding up in the farmlands southwest of here ripping open some isolated ranch buildings. It smashed into Canton, a town of 1,200, at 12:25 a.m. (CST) without warning and went right through the home and business sections.

Moments later it crashed into little Longdale, located seven miles northeast of here with 400 people.

Less than three hours later another twister of lighter force struck the south side of Blackwell, population 12,000, and injured six. The Canton area is 75 miles northwest of Oklahoma City, and Blackwell is near the north central border.

"This town looks like it had been ground in a sieve," said the first state patrolman who reached Canton. "It's ripped to bits."

The two dead were 13-year-old Larry Arnold, son of a widowed storekeeper at Longdale, and Charles Storwer, 32, Canton.

Longdale was so badly hit that sheriff's deputies and patrolmen put up road blocks to keep the curious away and speed rescue work.

The Canton twister knocked out lights, power and telephones, and all through the early morning hours rescue work went in the futile light of auto headlights and flashlights.

Two ambulances, themselves almost wrecked in the blast, carried the injured to hospitals in nearby Okemore and Watonga.

Brick buildings as well as frame houses went down in Canton like card-castles. The brick Mormon Church and a brick warehouse were leveled.

"Longdale was almost blown away," said Nova Jean Schicks, 17-year-old telephone operator who manned her switchboard after the tornado.

"It came here with no warning—hardly any rain and hail—just bang!"

First word of the Canton disaster was phoned to the Daily Oklahoman at Oklahoma City by R. H. Burnham publisher of the Canton Record, over the only telephone line left out of the town.

The Associated Press relayed the call to the state highway patrol, the central disaster headquarters for Oklahoma, and aid was ordered to the scene.

DeGaulle Wants Arms For France As Big Defender

Demand U.S. Supply His Nation At Once; Says France Is In Front Line

Paris, March 30—(AP)—General Charles De Gaulle wants the United States to arm France at once as the principal defender of Western Europe under the North Atlantic Pact.

Allied strategy designates the Rhine as the first line of defense against attack from the east, he told a news conference yesterday, but that line will be manned principally by Frenchmen, at least at the beginning if there is a fight.

It would be "a grave mistake" to designate Britain as West Europe's chief defender, the General asserted.

For one thing, he said, another conquest of France and bombardment and enslavement to liberate her, would destroy the country both morally and physically.

He demanded that the United States promptly make definite strategic commitments in the event of attack on West Europe, and stick to a schedule of arms shipments to the French.

Rather cryptically, and without further explanation, De Gaulle hailed the North Atlantic treaty as a stride toward a federation of Europe which might seek cooperation with Russia in unification of the continent, even if that might mean a change in the Russian regime.

He did not explain how he thought such a change might come about.

The General got in a dig at France's middle-road coalition government, suggesting it might be "quite natural" for the United States to hesitate to rearm his country under a regime "incapable of inspiring or directing a defense worthy of the name."

De Gaulle, who led the free French movement during most of world war II, heads the rightist political party, the Rally of the French People (RPF). The RPF elections on the last two Sundays emerged as the country's strongest single party, but a minority in comparison with the three party bloc which makes up Premier Henri Queuille's government.

The General spoke at a time when the western powers were moving to strengthen the framework of the North Atlantic Pact. The Norwegian Parliament by vote of 130 to 13 yesterday authorized its government to join the pact. Only Communists and two labor representatives voted "no." Norway will sign in Washington April 4.

A conference spokesman in New York said a telegram had been sent to Secretary of State Dean Acheson asking him to revoke the order.

The Department has maintained the New York gathering was designed as a sounding board for Communist propaganda—a charge denied by the sponsors.

The Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, sponsors of the tour, hastily reshuffled last night's program. The order banning the Communists was issued less than 13 hours before the rally began.

Ayden Store Robbed During Last Night

Authorities today were investigating the breaking and entering of P. R. Taylor's store in Ayden last night and looting of about $25 in cash. The thief entered the store by breaking open a rear window. Deputy Sheriff Jasper Lee Mills and Detective S. Bowen Dorsey and Ayden Police Chief John Whitehurst are making the investigation.

Sec. Johnson Likely To Clamp Down On Squabble

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Louis Johnson, new defense chief, probably will invoke White House prestige if any of the armed forces challenge his orders to quit quarreling and get going on complete unification.

This must be his only resort in such cases unless and until Congress approves legislation to change the existing service unification law and give the defense secretary specific authority.

Johnson now is clothed with no more legal authority than James Forrestal, the first secretary of defense. But those who know how Johnson usually operates expect him to do something Forrestal consistently declined to do, if there is a showdown between the defense secretary's office and any official of the Air Force, Navy or Army.

Johnson said yesterday there would be no room in the Pentagon for his promise that "there will be no unification." And he followed this up with the further declaration that "there will be no yielding between the three services for headlines, no release of things that are secret."

This was as close as Johnson came to mentioning directly the long controversy between the Air Force and Navy over their respective capabilities to wage air warfare against enemy cities and industries.

Air Force Silent Over Case Against General

Frankfurt, Germany, March 30—(AP)—Charges of an unspecified nature have been preferred against Maj. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell, head-quarters of the U. S. Air Force in Europe announced today.

The announcement said the charges are being investigated to determine whether they warrant a trial by court-martial.

It added the charges concern "acts allegedly committed while Bissell was military and air attaché at the United States embassy in London from May, 1946, to July, 1948."

Officials would not even say what article of war Bissell is accused of violating.

Bissell arrived in Germany yesterday. During the investigation he is being represented by a special

Aldermen Seek Full Backing In Assembly

Wire Pitt Representatives To Withdraw City Election Measure If Unwilling To Support Bill Without Changes

Members of the Greenville Board of Aldermen today sent a telegram to the Pitt County representatives in the General Assembly requesting withdrawal of the full city-manager form of government for Greenville, unless the representatives are willing to support the bill without changes or amendments.

The bill which was sent to the General Assembly by the Board of Aldermen called for a city election in Greenville on the city-manager form of government and rescinding the charter of the Utilities Commission should the citizens vote for the city manager plan.

This bill superseded an earlier measure which was sent to the General Assembly by the Greenville Aldermen asking for a vote on the city manager form of government only and not effecting in any of the city's utilities.

The telegram to the legislators resulted from reports that the legislators had received numbers of telegrams and letters urging that the Utilities Commission be left out of the matter altogether and that the city government plan if voted by the people apply only to other phases of the city administration and operation.

Today's telegram signed by Aldermen C. B. Mayo, W. B. Stafford, C. A. Bowen, J. E. Collins, W. Z. Morton, Heber B. Tripp, J. E. Waldrop, W. H. Smith and L. M. Buchanan stated:

"We, the undersigned members of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greenville, respectfully request that the original bill relating to the city manager form of government be withdrawn. Furthermore, if the second bill is not passed as presented to you that it also be withdrawn."

President Truman was expected to sign, in plenty of time, the "home rule" legislation that continues rent controls for another 15 months.

Just two days before the present controls are set to die at midnight Thursday, Congress late yesterday passed the new compromise bill to the White House by overwhelming votes. Then:

1. Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) said it will mean a "rollback of illegal rents" as well as increased rents on some properties where landlords are not now showing a profit. He said it will put an end to the rent "blackmarket" that Tighe Woods, rent administrator, reported to be growing through the country.

2. House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.) said in his opinion there won't be any big increases in rent for anyone, and most rents probably won't be increased at all.

3. Paul V. Zellers, executive director of the U. S. conference of Mayors, predicted no major city will drop rent controls under the "home rule" provisions of the bill, that allows states or localities to throw off the controls.

Mr. Truman was described by friends who talked to him as "elated" over the legislation, although it falls short of what he asked.

They said he regards it as an administration victory, and is sure to sign it. Rent controls are in force on 14,350,000 dwelling places. Mr. Truman wanted a two-year extension.

The Difference

New York, March 30—(AP)—Harold Davis, labor minister of the British House of Commons, said yesterday there is one difference between England and the United States.

"You have bad politicians and good businessmen," he said as he arrived by plane for a lecture tour.

"Whereas we," he added, "have good politicians and bad businessmen."

Favors Use Of Postwar Reserve In N. C. Budget

Raleigh, N. C., March 30—(AP)—Governor Scott asserted today he favored use of the state's $30,000,000 postwar reserve fund to help balance the state's operating budget during the next two years.

The governor thus took sides in an issue that has raged in the General Assembly for the past week: whether to use the reserve to help counties build schools or to help balance the budget.

At his news conference the governor said he thought the school building program should be submitted to the people "in a clear-cut bond issue."

The reserve fund is not "sacred," the governor stated, and if the legislature is not willing to increase taxes to raise more money, it should be used to make sure that teachers get a $2,300-$3,100 salary scale.

Employment Drop In State Noted

Raleigh, N. C., March 30—(AP)—Employment decreased in 13 North Carolina manufacturing industries during February, showed no change in 16 industries, and increased in four industries, the state department of labor reported today.

Manufacturing industry as a whole reported a fractional employment drop for the sixth consecutive month. C. H. Pritchard, labor department statistician, reported.

DRAFT BOARD MOVES

It was announced today that the Pitt County Selective Service office is being moved from 115 West Fourth Street to the second floor of the Munford building at Five Points.

Chairman Of House Armed Services Committee Criticizes Presidential Economics; Would Run Military Outlay To Over $16 Billions

Washington, March 30—(AP) Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) urged today that Congress boost President Truman's military budget for the year beginning July 1 by $1,589,600,000.

"It seems to be that we already are returning to our historic practice of failing to maintain even an adequate force in time of peace," Vinson declared in a statement for the house appropriations committee.

Vinson is chairman of the house armed services committee.

If the increases he proposes were tacked on to everything Mr. Truman has asked, they would bring the new budget close to $16,500,000,000. However, there seems no prospect that the President's request for $900,000,000 for universal military training will be granted. Also, the total for military housing and pay raises may run less than the combined $830,000,000 asked by the President.

Vinson especially criticized, as being on the short side, a Presidential slash of a joint chiefs of staff request for $161,000,000 to buy 673 new "sky sweeper" anti-aircraft guns. He said these are superior "to any known weapon of their type."

The President recommended $77,000,000 to buy 323 of the guns.

"There is a calculated risk indeed," Vinson commented.

The air force and navy both should have hundreds of millions of dollars more for planes than the President has recommended, the Georgia lawmaker said.

"The army, he added, is using left-over World War II tanks "and our military experts warn us flatly that they cannot stand up to tanks with which the Soviet armies are equipped."

He argued that Congress should be guided by advice of the joint chiefs of staff on military needs of the nation, saying:

"We can ill afford in these troubled days to so blithely ignore the views of the joint chiefs of staff as is proposed in the President's budget."

The joint chiefs of staff recommended a $17,439,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, Vinson said. He called it "the rock bottom minimum they felt the country could provide and yet maintain a reasonable defensive posture in today's world."

However, under budget bureau orders they shaved their figure to $15,022,000,000, the President Truman finally sent to Capitol Hill a $14,765,000,000 budget.

There is "nothing holy or untouchable" about the President's defense budget, Vinson declared.

Russia Changes Commanders For Zone In Germany

Moscow, March 30—(AP)—Army Gen. Vasily I. Chukov, war-time hero of Stalingrad and Lublin, became military governor of the Soviet zone of Germany today, succeeding Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky.

Sokolovsky was promoted principal assistant to the new Minister of Soviet armed forces, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilievsky. Chukov's appointment also was a promotion.

Announcement of the changes, like others in the continuing shakeup of top level Soviet officials, gave no reasons. The people were told of the shifts in a brief broadcast by the Moscow radio and a 59 word item published in the morning newspapers.

New Rent Law Review

An ABC On The New Law Which Controls Rents For Another 15 Months; The Housing Expediter And His Work; New Features In Law; Area Control Officers

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Here's an ABC on the new rent law which keeps controls another 15 months. The present law ends tomorrow, March 31. Once President Truman has signed, the new one goes into effect Friday, April 1, and ends 15 months later, June 30, 1950.

Before examining the new law, remember these things: Tighe Woods, called the housing expediter, is rent control boss in your area. His office is here in Washington.

Under him are 600 area offices around the country with staffs to handle problems in their areas. In those 600 areas are about 800 rent control advisory boards made up of citizens volunteering their time.

They advise Woods, or his aids on whether they think rents should be raised in their territory or rent controls wiped out entirely there.

Woods' office here says that so far about 85 per cent of the recommendations made by these boards have been carried out.

If Woods doesn't do what the boards recommend, they can appeal to a special emergency court of appeals made up of federal judges.

A Lenten Prayer

Praying One Another
Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. Galatians 6:2. Read vs. 1-6.

We are naturally critical of the faults of others and charitable toward our own. When one is found in any misconduct, the world judges quickly, condemns harshly, and excuses reluctantly. But, regarding our own faults, our minds have a thousand tricks of rationalization, and, consciously or unconsciously, we frame excuses.

But the life in Christ is more and more demanding on self, and more and more sympathetic toward the weaknesses of others. More than self-examination, the Christian seeks the critical examination of God. Toward others he judges not lest he be judged. He cultivates something better than tolerance—an active and redemptive understanding of the fallen, that they may be restored.

Thus Christianity is a reversal of human values. The love of Christ which constraineth us places on our hearts the precious burden of all wrongs done by all to all. With Christ we drink the cup whose potion is the sin of the whole world.

Let Us Pray: O thou who didst forgive and not condemn the person taken in sin, grant thy followers a richer measure of thy grace, that they, moved by love, may serve to restore the fallen in the spirit of meekness. Amen.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Interesting Meeting In City

The American Legion Auxiliary held its monthly meeting Monday, March 28, at 3:30 at the Legion home. The president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. H. R. Rogers, presided over the meeting. Report of the secretary, Mrs. Arthur B. Corey, and treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Stafford, were read and approved. A letter was read by the president from Mrs. John Ward saying, due to illness in the family she would be unable to attend the district meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held in Greenville at the Eighth Street Christian Church on Wednesday, March 30, at 10:30 o'clock.

A motion was passed to send gifts of candy to 25 veterans in the hospital at Eastertime.

A report on Americanism was given by Mrs. G. L. Winders. The essay contest prizes were discussed and a motion was passed to give $5.00 to the local winner of the best essay and $3.00 to the runner-up. The state award for the best essay is a twenty volume set of encyclopedia books.

Mrs. W. J. Bundy, membership chairman, reported 106 paid members.

Mrs. Frank Taylor reported flowers sent to the funeral of one returned soldier and cards were sent to all members on the sick list.

A motion was passed to give a prize of $5.00 to the unit having the best attendance at the district meeting, March 30.

Mrs. Jimmie Jenkins introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Dr. H. A. Colman of the history department of East Carolina Teachers College. Dr. Colman's topic was the Atlantic pact. In his discussion Dr. Colman went back to the beginning of Socialism, its founder and leader Karl Marx. How Communism, especially in Russia, has steadily gained ground year by year and nation by nation until there are two centers, the socialist and the capitalist. How Communism by fair means or foul intends to overthrow all other governments and rule the world themselves. The Atlantic pact binds the Western democracies against Communist aggression and tends or hopes to put a curb on Russia. This instructive talk by Dr. Colman was very interesting and enjoyed by all.

At the close of the program a dessert course was served by Mesdames F. A. Bendall, J. B. Kittrell, Roy Coburn, B. McK. Johnson, Howard Moyer, Carl Adams, J. H. Walder, R. L. Humber and C. A. Bowen.

W. Frith Winslow To Give Painting To Local Art Gallery

W. Frith Winslow of Plymouth has given one of his paintings to the local Art Gallery. Mr. Winslow will be in Greenville today and will formally present the painting to the Community Art Center this evening at the opening program of the Art Festival.

Mr. Winslow has often exhibited his work in Greenville and last October held a one man show in the gallery here. He is well recognized in the art circles of the state and in adjoining states. His paintings are so much sought after that he has retired from business and is devoting his entire time to painting. The program this evening will be in the Art Gallery and will be featured by a gallery talk by Lucy Cherry Crisp. As executive secretary of the N. C. State Art Society and director of the State Art Gallery, Miss Crisp had the responsibility of assembling the N. C. Artists' Annual Exhibition; securing the jury to select from the 244 works submitted the 82 that were hung; making arrangements for the purchase awards and the thousand and other things that have to be done to get a big exhibit in place. She will have many interesting things to tell about the paintings in her gallery talk this evening.

Mrs. R. M. Garrett, representing the board of the Community Art Center, will preside at the program. Greetings will be given by L. M. Buchanan, mayor pro-tem, Mrs. J. K. Long, chairman of the Festival Committee, Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, president of the Greenville Woman's Club, and Mrs. R. R. Willmann, president of the Greenville Music Club.

Two Dramas Feature Of Fine Arts Festival Thursday Evening

As one of the highlights of the Fine Arts Festival, a program of two dramas will be given at the Greenville High School on Thursday evening, March 31, at 7:15 p. m. "Gray Bread," a serious portrayal of youth's problem and the wisdom of age, is a one act play directed by Mrs. Howard Mims, dramatic director of the Greenville High School. The cast includes Joanna Bunch, Ann McCrary, Carolyn Clapp and Peggy Barrow.

The second one-act play is "The Junior Prom," directed by Mrs. Junius Rose, director of the Rose School of Speech. This play is a delightful comedy involving youth and proms.

The cast is made up of Virginia Perkins, Peggy Barrow, Carolyn Clapp, Lytle Batchelor, John Farley, Billy Wooten, Bobby Lee and James Crawford.

In conjunction with this program, Mrs. Charles Reynolds will present the awards to the winners of the second annual Creative Writing Contest sponsored by the Greenville Branch of American Association of University Women. Members of the Creative Arts Division of the A.A.U.W. will serve as judges for this contest. All the manuscripts submitted have been stimulated by various courses on literature at the high school. Last year's winners included Billy Brady, Frederick Brooks and Bettie Ann Young.

Everyone is welcome to attend this program and any of the other programs connected with the festival. This program is scheduled so that there will be time to permit the audience to adjourn to the Jarvis Memorial Church for the musical by the Greensboro College Glee Club at 8:30 p. m.

Strength FOR THE DAY

COMMUNISM VS CHRISTIANITY

The spread of communism throughout the world might eventually have an unexpected beneficial effect. It might achieve the revitalization of Christian churches.

For the Christian churches must stand together against communism. All branches of the Church accept certain cardinal points of the Christian faith. They all believe in the sovereignty of God, the saviorhood of Christ, and the power and ministry of the Holy Spirit. Communism, on the other hand, despite the rationalization of some sincere but deluded fellow travelers, denies these basic tenets.

So here is the common enemy of Christian fellowship the world over. In the face of the challenge of communism, all branches of the Christian Church may well afford to stop emphasizing their differences on matters of authority and doctrine—important as these differences are and precious as they are to all different varieties of Christian believers.

But communism has awakened us to the presence in the world of a power which threatens all religious authority and authority in all Christian truth. All branches of the Christian Church must stand together or be overwhelmed separately.

Communism may eventually succeed in doing what church leaders the world over have so far failed to do—it may unite the Church militant.

Around Capitol Square

SPEND IT!—The big spender showed down opposition in the full house of representatives Tuesday by almost the same margin as votes have been in the joint appropriations committee. A test vote on whether to retain as a cushion fund or to spend immediately the post-war $30 million reserve resulted in an 81 to 31 vote to spend it now. The vote came in a surprise move by Frank Taylor of Wayne, chairman of the house appropriations committee, when he offered a resolution calling for keeping the fund as a cushion against probable declining revenue. He was joined in signing the resolution by Dan Edwards of Durham and Lee Whitmore of Henderson.

NUISANCE—Speeches preceding the vote and official comment by members later indicated a three-way division in sentiment. One group, and apparently the largest, thought the money was collected for services and should be put to work rendering services. Another group felt that the fund ought to be preserved to guarantee payment in full of salaries and other commitments by the state in event of declining revenues. A third, perhaps the smallest but with balance of power, really thought the fund ought to be retained as a cushion, but voted to get rid of it on theory that so long as it hung over their heads members of the general assembly would not levy additional taxes to meet expanding needs. In this respect the nuisance value of the reserve fund has been very high. Two or three members switched positions after they heard Wayland Spruill of Bertie compare the reserve fund to a dead horse that attracted vultures, and in explaining his vote against the resolution he said he thought they'd just as well drag the carcass away. Result of the voting surprised nobody; the majority in favor of spending the reserve fund was heavier than most observers had predicted.

FEELING—Some personal feeling was evidenced in this debate and the poor school teachers were paraded through the argument, which at times got off more on the subject of what the fund would be spent for rather than the main question of whether it would be spent at all. The debate started in an atmosphere of tenacity, just following comments by Rep. Jimmie Little of Wake under head of personal privilege. The junior member from Wake took exception to letters sent out on letter heads of the North Carolina Education Association erroneously reporting how he had voted in what was presumed to be an executive session of the appropriations committee.

STRONG—Stronger words are being heard in legislative halls than he used. He said all the information he could get from NCEA sources was they had gotten the information from their friends on the committee. (This is the same committee of which members last week protested leaks and indirectly blamed reporters of them.) Little said that he felt those committee members who had given out information had betrayed their colleagues, and furthermore they had attempted to prove he had lied to his constituents about his vote.

REG-MANNING

PROTEST—Other members had protested in the committee that news of how they voted could only have been obtained from some person present, and they felt such divulgence was not quite on the up and up. All of this tends to prove what reporters have argued for years, that there is no excuse or justification for a so-called executive session and that trained news reporters are much more likely to get the story than committee members who tell it later from memory. There was no roll call on the question about which the information was sent out through unauthorized channels, and those relaying it had only their own memories to guide them.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—John Garfield is a retired juvenile delinquent in search of a meaning—artistic meaning.

In his crowded lifetime this young man has reversed one kind of Hollywood success story. He was a juvenile delinquent BEFORE he became a movie star.

As a tough-talking, tough-acting youngster, he was on his way to becoming a real problem kid. But becoming a real problem kid, Angelo Patri, the famous educator, held things far more exciting than running from cops.

Today society and its delinquencies are more of a problem to Garfield than he ever was to it.

John, born Jules, is a young man who wants to stay successful without becoming a prisoner of success. And he tried to do it by keeping a foot always in two frontways—Hollywood and Broadway. A transcontinental straddle of this kind, naturally, raises the peril that a man will end up by falling on his ear. And Garfield knows it.

At 36 he has appeared in a score or more plays and some 27 motion pictures. Currently he is starring on Broadway in Clifford Odets' "The Big Knife," a play on the high cost of Hollywood success. He has just finished "We Were Strangers," a film in which he portrays a rugged American who joins a band of Cuban rebels in a fight against tyranny.

In his own career he has fought hardest against the tyranny of being typed as a side-of-the-mouth tough guy.

"It's good up to a point to be typed—and bad after that," he said during a luncheon talk in the course of which he had two glasses of milk.

"You tip your mitt to the audience. They know what you're going to do next."

Garfield said that after achieving a measure of financial security, it was a tasteless pleasure to be starred in a production that held no meaning to him.

"I like to find things of the best on path," he said. "Unconventional things—that touch me emotionally." And for that reason he would prefer to play a secondary role in a good picture than star in a bad one.

"I've been eleven years in Hollywood, and I'm grateful," he said. "A lot of the people there have hobbies—yachts or horses, or they grow oranges."

"They become real estate agents. They get involved. I don't want to. I never have owned a house, because I don't want to get tied down. I don't need a hobby. I get all my fun in the theater. And I want to stay flexible. I guess I am just a big ham, but that's where I get my kicks."

It's a risky business in the field of acting, this dropping the bread-and-butter (or cake and champagne) security of a long term movie contract. The freedom of the free lance carries the burden of responsibility in locating the right role—and getting it.

"When you're young you accept all challenges," said Garfield. "When you're older you want guarantees."

"But you know really that there are no guarantees against failure, there is no lasting security. So you face the reality."

"There is no escape from responsibility. But I don't want to be just the richest man in a cemetery—hardly."

WASHINGTON LETTER.. by Jane Eads

Washington—The Capital has lost one of its most colorful ambassadors in the retirement of Julian Caceres.

Only slightly over five feet tall and almost as wide, he was a natural for the nickname "Mr. Five-by-five." Once in a dimly-lit cocktail lounge where the Honduran Ambassador was talking to some of the newsmen, with whom he was a favorite, he got wedged into a smallish armchair and had to be pulled out by the waiters.

Mr. Caceres attended practically all the wartime and post-war international conferences and delighted in bringing high-toned discussions down to earth. At the first UN NRA meeting in Atlantic City he interrupted Dean Acheson at one of the final committee sessions on a point of order. Mr. Acheson, now Secretary of State, was then a U. S. delegate.

"Mr. Acheson," he said, "up here at the title it says: 'United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.' I would like to ask how you can rehabilitate Honduras when it never has been debilitated!" At the State Department's farewell party for Mr. Caceres, Mr. Acheson put in one of his rare social appearances to bid good-bye to his long time friend.

"Vegetable gardeners, planning their 1949 season, may find a stimulus in the satisfaction of a Roman emperor who came to be a gardening fan," says Dr. Victor R. Boswell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Boswell, in charge of the technical work on vegetable breeding and culture, tells a story about Diocletian upon his retirement to his estate on the Dalmatian coast at Salona. A friend wrote begging him to return and resume the government.

To this, Diocletian replied: "Were you but to come to Salona and see the vegetables which I raise in my garden with my own hands, you would no longer talk to me of empire."

Pressure Makes Power In Jet Engines; Several Types Used

HOW JET PLANES WORK—A diagram showing the principle of air intake, compressor and exhaust.

By JAMES I. STREIBIG
AP Aviation Reporter

Washington—If you release the neck of an inflated balloon it scoots wildly about until collapsed. That is jet power in its simplest form. While you held the inflated balloon, the pressure inside was equal at all points. Releasing the neck unbalanced the pressure. The internal forces immediately moved toward a new balance by pushing in the opposite direction.

The escaping air does not push against the outside air. It pushes against the inside of the balloon at a spot exactly opposite the opening. So if you released the balloon in a vacuum it would still scoot around—even faster, in fact, with no air friction to slow it.

But applying the balloon principle in terms of thousands of horsepower maintained over a period of hours involves many complications.

The common jet engine is the turbo-jet used in most new military aircraft. This engine has a single rotating shaft on which are located a compressor and a turbine wheel to turn it. Between them is the combustion chamber. Add the nozzle and tailpipe and you have a jet engine.

It works like this:

Air is drawn into the compressor and forced back under pressure into the combustion chamber. There it is mixed with fuel, which is burned. The hot gases that result expand greatly and are directed against the turbine wheel. The gases then escape through the nozzle. The force exerted against the inside of the engine (contrasted with the lack of pressure at the open nozzle) provides the forward thrust.

About three-fourths of the energy released inside the engine is used to turn the compressor, which accounts for the present high fuel consumption of jets. An automobile engine uses less than half its available energy to run itself. However, present jet engines must swallow about five times as much air as they need to burn the fuel. The excess air is used to cool the engine.

A near relative of the turbo-jet is the turbo-prop. In this engine there are two or more turbine wheels and most of the energy in the escaping gases is put into them. The power thus given the single shaft is geared to a propeller.

There are other jet engine types, less well known, which are limited pretty much to specific uses. These include the athodyd or ram-jet (the simplest of engines) and the pulse-jet or intermittent jet.

The ram-jet is sometimes installed in the tailpipe of a turbo-jet for extra power. Both the ram-jet and the pulse-jet (which was the type used in the German V-1 buzz-bomb) depend on forward motion to compress air in the combustion chamber. They have no rotating parts and cannot start from a standstill. Thus far their use has been limited to missiles launched at high speed.

Mitchum, Leeds End Jail Terms

Los Angeles, March 30—(AP)—Movie Hero Robert Mitchum, who gets his freedom today after a 50-day term in the county jail, has his eye on another career—writing.

The bobby sox idol, about five pounds leaner than when he started his jail term on a conviction of conspiracy to possess marijuana, added, however, he has a few more pictures to make.

But he talked seriously of the writing idea in an interview shortly before his release. "I would like to exploit and express ideas of my own," he said. "I would like to go back to writing. If I had the time and the courage. He paused and added: "And I think I have the courage."

The 31-year-old Mitchum, looking tanned and fit from making cement blocks at the sheriff's honor farm, said he felt no bitterness about serving time. His immediate plans, he said, were for home, food and maybe a drink or two.

Actress Lila Leeds, convicted with Mitchum, also completed her jail term of 90 days today. She told reporters: "I'm going to be a very good girl from now on."

Fatherly Advice

Los Angeles, March 30—(AP)—An ex-congressman was fined $40 for speeding and also heard a famous quotation from the late humorist, Will Rogers.

Traffic Judge Roger Pfaff (also suspended the violator's license for 30 days and then recited this famous Rogers' advice:

"Don't speed. Get up 15 minutes earlier."

The violator who pleaded guilty to driving 55 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone was Will Rogers Jr.

Claims On N.C. Unemployment Fund Still Rising

Raleigh, March 30—(AP)—Claims on the state's unemployment compensation fund are continuing to rise.

During February, about 40,800 workers — more than 90 percent above the number paid a year ago — collected benefits, the Employment Security Commission reported yesterday.

The increase was attributed to reduced employment in the textile, lumber and furniture industries and the season end of tobacco processing.

The commission reported the compensation fund now is about $155,000,000. Employer contributions since the fund was set up in 1937 have totaled $185,712,150. Interest paid by the federal government in this period was $15,388,335. Benefits collected by jobless workers totaled $46,952,567 as of yesterday—nearly $1,300,000 more than the total listed on March 1.

CANNADY SENTENCED
Lillington, March 30—(AP)—Sam P. Cannady, 39-year-old Dunn merchant, was sentenced yesterday to 15 to 25 years in state prison for the slaying of his estranged wife. Cannady said the shooting occurred during a scuffle and was not intentional.

Boy Jailed For Mail Box Theft

Dillon, S. C., March 30—(AP)—An eight-year-old Negro boy is in jail today because he tried to buy a nickel's worth of candy.

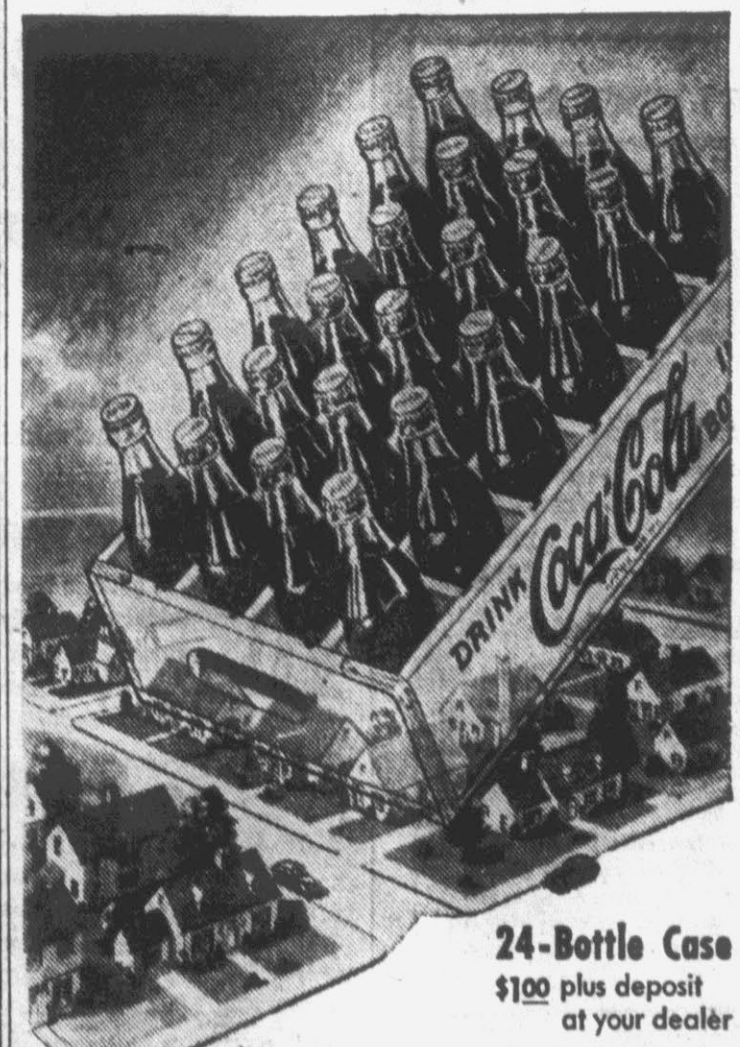

But instead of simply paying cash for it, he offered a store clerk a check.

Officers who held him without charge pending a hearing said the lad told this story:

On his way to school yesterday, he found a post office box key. Going to the post office, he opened a box with the key and found a letter. The letter contained a check.

The check, payable to a Dillon Auto sales firm, was for $1.15.

Better News For Milk Consumers

By The Associated Press

Milk consumers in several North Carolina areas had good news today—the price of milk is coming down.

April 1 was set by dairies in Lexington, Winston-Salem and Greensboro as the effective date of the price reduction. The reduction will see milk prices fall a cent a quart.

Winston-Salem dairies which have announced the cut are Biltmore, Southern Dairies and Farmers Cooperative, heavy cream there also will be reduced three cents per half pint and creamed cottage cheese will be cut two cents per container.

The reduction at Greensboro has been announced by the city's four largest milk distributors.

Coble Dairies at Lexington gave the revised prices as applying to sweet milk, cream buttermilk and chocolate milk, all down to 23 cents; regular buttermilk, down to 16; and golden guernsey, down to 25.

Robeson School Bond Issue Voted

Lumberton, March 30—(AP)—Robeson County residents approved a $3,000,000 school bond issue by almost a three-to-one vote yesterday.

Unofficial, incomplete returns showed 2,303 voters favoring the bonds to 1,002 opposing.

Debating Teams Practice For State Contests

Varsity debaters of the local high school clashed yesterday in a practice contest with teams representing South Edgecombe High of Pinetops.

The speakers from both schools are preparing for participation in the thirty-third annual statewide contest sponsored by the North Carolina Debating Union.

The query for the 1949 debate is: "Resolved, that the United States now be revised into a federal world government."

Under the supervision of Gailor C. Fry, Greenville's negative team composed of Augusta Overton and Brazilian War Minister In U.S.

Miami, Fla., March 30—(AP)—General Canrobert Pereira Da Costa, Brazilian Minister of War, planned to fly to Washington today to meet high government and army officials and inspect military installations.

The General stopped off in Miami yesterday enroute from Brazil. He told reporters he was in the United States at the invitation of War Secretary Kenneth C. Royall.

He said he would welcome a "South Atlantic Pact" similar to the agreement among North Atlantic nations, but at the same time emphasized he favored "a hemisphere system" over the regional plan.

Minor Recession Seen By Babson

Winter Haven, Fla., March 30—(AP)—Economist Roger Babson predicts a minor recession from now until 1953, and offers this advice to business men:

Prepare for competition, buy on a hand-to-mouth basis, keep expenses down, keep out of debt, and store cash.

Babson told a civic club yesterday that the recession will be less severe than the one in the early thirties because there are too many cushions—subsidy pensions, government mortgages, high bank deposits, and rental ceilings.

Ray Sears debated Jackie Lee and Douglas Moore; and Jean Dilda teamed with Bobby Bennett of Pinetops in the contest against the local high school's affirmative speakers, Frederick Brooks, Jr. and Rodney Fulcher.

R. B. Starling presided over the latter debate, and was assisted by two student teachers.

For the state elimination contest, scheduled April 1, Greenville will debate Washington, and Pinetops will be a member of a triangular bracket which includes Four Oaks and Falcon.

Phantoms Win 4-2 Against Edenton With Only 3 Hits

Errors Costly For Visitors; Credit Win To Bobby Flye; Locals Scored Twice In First On No Hits

Greenville High School scored a four to two Northeastern Conference baseball victory over Edenton here yesterday afternoon on three hits.

The Phantoms turned the trick in the opening frame by racking up two game-winning runs on no hits. Edenton catcher Wheeler threw a ball wild at third base allowing Joyner and Farley, both of whom walked, to score for the Greenville team.

Credit for the win went to Bobby Flye who turned in an eight hit mound performance for the local baseballers. Luckless Earl Goodwin was the boy who suffered the loss from the mound where he hurled three hits.

In the third inning the Phantoms scored their third run of the day when Joyner, Jordan and Farley walked, loading the bases and Allgood got an infield hit to score Joyner.

Greenville's final tally came in the eighth. Farley singled to center field and went to third when centerfielder Smith let the ball roll between his legs. Farley scored on Allgood's fly to left field.

Edenton tallied in the fourth when Gray singled, Jack Habit singled and Harrell doubled, scoring Gray. Again in the seventh the Aces scored when Griffen, who had walked, came around on Wheeler's double.

Goodwin, on the mound for the Aces allowed three hits, walked seven and fanned 12. Flye gave up eight safeties, walked six and struck out 11.

Gray was leading hitter for the afternoon with two safeties. Briley bled for the locals.

Score by periods:
Edenton . . . 000 100 100—2-8

DiMaggio Makes His First Start

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, ailing New York Yankee star, is slated to make his first start of the season today when the Yanks entertain the Cincinnati Reds.

DiMaggio will open in centerfield and play from three to five innings, depending on how he feels. The Yanks' $80,000 a year outfielder, is bothered with a sore right heel. The Yanks lost their annual series to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards beat them 3-1, yesterday for their fourth win in the seven game set.

Had Hot Words With Durocher

Phoenix, Ariz., March 30—(AP)—All is serene in the camp of the New York Giants following a flare-up between Rookie Catcher Sal Yvars and Manager Leo Durocher.

Yvars, whose hand was fractured Monday night in a game against the Mexican All-Stars, had words with Durocher after the game. Yesterday he made up with the boss and was restored to good standing.

He will be out of action for about two weeks. The Giants, whipped yesterday, 22-9 by the St. Louis Browns, today take on the Pittsburgh Pirates, who have won 10 straight games.

TO PLAY CUBS

El Paso, Tex., March 30—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns were scheduled to meet the Chicago Cubs today in the first of a ten-game series in Texas. Ned Garver and Red Embree were slated to hurl for the Browns.

Luther Scarborough, former Fort Worth schoolboy basketball star, is captain of the 1949 University of Texas freshman team.

Bull Pen Chores For Diz Trout

Lakeland, Fla., March 30—(P)—Dizy Trout idly soaked his right elbow in a washtub of warm water and talked about relief pitching.

Somehow it seemed strange to think of Diz, the 27-game winner of '44, confining his pitching work to the Detroit bull pen. Trout felt the same way.

"All I know is what I hear," he said with a grin. "Rolfie hasn't said anything to me. As far as we know, all us pitchers are starters."

"Since Art Houtteman got hurt in that auto accident, I don't know anybody who is going to beat me out. Art is coming along fine, incidentally. If he had a pair of pants he'd be out of the hospital."

Trout has an idea he'll be taking a regular turn when the going gets hot. That is, if his elbow doesn't act up again. Diz tore a tendon in the elbow last summer, trying to make a curve break past round Pat Seerey. To get around Pat, a curve has to make like the horseshoe bend on the Pannys.

Change Site For Wightman Tests

New York, March 30—(AP)—Because of a crowded schedule at Forest Hills, the Wightman Cup tennis matches this year will be played at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa.

The dates on which Great Britain's women amateur netters will try to wrest the trophy from the Americans are Sept. 9-10.

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association said the matches were moved from Forest Hills because of the Davis Cup challenge round and the National championships.

Woeful Pitching Costs White Sox Plenty Of Walks

Tucson, Ariz., March 30—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox are letting their opponents win in a walk.

The record books show that the Sox' woeful pitching corps has yielded 93 free base tickets in 17 games, 10 of which the Chicagoans lost. The Sox made their first stop eastward at Tucson today to take on the Cleveland Indians. Yesterday, they ended their California stay by losing 12-7 to Pittsburgh at San Bernardino.

The Sox issued only three walks to the Bucs, but enough hits to make it easy. The Pirates, led by Catcher Clyde McCullough's three-run homer, piled up seven runs in the first inning off Howard Judson.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees is the only active American Leaguer who enters the 1949 season with more than 300 home runs.

Rupp Disturbed By Old-Fashioned Basketball Trend

New York, March 30—(P)—The old Kentucky cage professor, Adolph Rupp, is disturbed over what he terms a "trend to old-fashioned possession basketball."

He wants it headed off. Specifically, he said, he'd like to see a rule in the books forcing a team to make a stab at the basket after a reasonable length of time or give the ball to the other side.

"Basketball is essentially a game of action," he remarked last night as he lolled in his hotel room. "We should do something about stalling tactics which are ruling the sport."

"Understand I have no objection to teams which prefer to play defensive basketball," Rupp said, "but I do think for the sake of the game we need rules which discourage the slow, old-time deliberate style of play."

"I think we need a rule that would limit a team's possession of the ball—that is, without taking a shot—to 30 or 45 seconds."

"That's plenty of time for a club to set up a play. If it doesn't take a shot in that time the ball should be surrendered to the opposition."

Rupp said he favored the rule change made this week aimed at "stalling." The rule makes it mandatory for an official to call a ball when a closely guarded player withholds the ball from play for five seconds without an effort to dribble, pass or shoot.

"That should prevent some stalling," he said, "but not enough. I'd go much further."

Sees Fast Pace In Minor Leagues

Mobile, Ala., March 30—(AP)—The head of the minor leagues says baseball will be played at a faster clip this summer.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said yesterday he based his prediction on the improved showing made by younger players.

"Before the end of the 1949 season, I believe we're going to be seeing as good a brand of baseball as we had before the war," he commented. "Baseball is rapidly catching up."

Trautman is on a swing through various spring training camps. He plans to be back in Columbus, O., tomorrow.

He said the minor leagues will operate with 59 leagues this season, one more than last year.

The number of clubs has reached a record high of 444, he said. "A good many of the smaller leagues which operated with six clubs have expanded to eight clubs this season," he added.

Only three American League clubs—New York, Detroit and Cleveland—have won more games than they lost since the loop was formed in 1901.

Needed: Three Solomons With Nerve, To Judge Boxing Bouts

New York, March 30—(AP)—Ed die Egan, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, thumbed through his files today in search of three "Solomons."

He's going to need three officials with something close to the Biblical monarch's wisdom plus strong sets of nerves to judge Friday's ten round, non-title bout between Lightweight Champion Ike Williams and welter contender Kid Gavilan in Madison Square Garden.

The stir created by Egan's indefinite suspension of two officials following the Jake La Motta-Robert Villapain fray last Friday, has focused attention on the thorny problem that will be handed the three arbiters this week.

They will be asked to decide between battlers with contrasting styles who have fought two of the closest fights in recent years. Williams won the first one in Feb. 1948. The flashy Cuban evened the count last Jan. 28.

All three officials voted for sharp-punching Ike in the initial contest but by as narrow an edge as you can make it, 5-4-1, 5-4-1 and 6-4.

In the return, the busy, wide-swinging Cuban Keed received 5-4-1 verdicts from the two judges to give him the edge although Referee Ruby Goldstein cast his ballot for a 4-4-2 draw.

Goldstein, who ruled for Jersey Joe Walcott in his first try against Joe Louis, also refereed the first Williams-Gavilan bout. If precedent is followed, the popular, competent ex-fighter won't be employed for the "rubber" contest.

The total votes of all officials for the two tussles, adds up to 28 rounds for Williams, 26 for Gavilan and six even.

Besides, Gavilan complained of the decision after the first mix and Williams was peeved over the verdict handed down in the second.

Gavilan draws the loud "arribas" of his Latin followers with his peppery style and flurry punching. Scowling Ike is at his best at close quarters where he employs short, jolting punches to the head and body to weaken his opponent.

Ike, burned up at his loss to Gavilan after being named "fighter of the year," has announced his determination to flatten the Cuban. Gavilan says "maybe I'll do some knocking out myself."

You can bet the three officials who are named the night of the fight will be hoping for one of them to do just that.

Farmville's Middleweight Champ Draws Attention

In every tournament there is at least one personality which commands the universal attention of the sports fans.

The Pitt County Golden Gloves Tournament was no exception. Eighteen-year-old Claude Tyson, Jr. of Farmville who pounded his way to the middleweight championship caught the eye of at least the sports writers present for the three-day tourney.

Tyson, who says he may enter East Carolina Teachers College, won the middleweight Golden Gloves by virtue of a win over Leonard Bullock of Ayden. He fought the last round with one eye almost completely closed by a blow from the Ayden contender.

It was his first venture in gloves boxing though his father, Claude Tyson, was an amateur fighter of note. He says he probably will try his hand in the tournament again next year should the tournament be sponsored.

A heavy set lad with powerful arms and shoulders, Tyson has for three years played varsity quarterback for the Farmville High football team. During the summer months he serves as a lifeguard at the city swimming pool.

His favorite sport, despite his ring success, is football and logically enough, his favorite sports personality is none other than North Carolina's Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice.

Tyson did not state his favorite past time but he touched a brawny hand to a highly discolored left eye, checked on the time, and beat a hasty retreat with a comment about it being almost supper time in Farmville.

Rookie Pitchers Deliver Goods

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30—(P)—St. Louis Cardinal Rookies are still coming through with good pitching performances. Three of them—Cloyd Boyer, Ray Yochim and Clarence Beers—held the New York Yankees to four hits yesterday.

Boyer, 22, has hurled shutout ball in his seven and one third innings, yielding only three hits. The only Yankee run in the Cards' 3-1 victory was off Yochim on a double steal. St. Louis journeys to Sarasota to play the Boston Braves today.

Sixteen Homers In As Many Tilts

Clearwater, Fla., March 30—(P)—In 16 Grapefruit League games so far, the Philadelphia Phillies have blasted out 16 home runs.

Bill Nicholson, outfielder obtained from the Chicago Cubs, leads the parade with four four-base blows. Two each have been hit by Richie Ashburn, Dick Sisler, Andy Seminick and Eddie Waitkus, while Eddie Miller, Del Emis, Gran Hamner and Stan Lopata have each contributed one.

MEET RED SOX
Lakeland, Fla., March 30—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers went to Sarasota today to engage the Boston Red Sox for the first time in the Grapefruit League. Freddie Hutchinson got a pitching assignment.

Hogan To Leave Hospital Today

El Paso, Tex., March 30—(P)—Golfer Ben Hogan, mighty midget of the fairways, has his sights set on Friday.

The Doctor said Hogan, hospitalized here since a traffic crash last Feb. 2, can leave for his Fort Worth home about noon Friday.

Hogan's wife, Valerie, announced the moving plans. She herself has recovered from minor injuries suffered in the crash.

The Hogans were injured in the collision of their car with a bus near Van Horn, Tex.

On Murder's Skirts

By Terry Adler

Chapter 11
 Ellen's eyes widened as she continued her story. "What Dr. Bray told me that night was a story of one of the filthiest low-down tricks ever perpetrated by a human being. It all goes back to what happened a long time ago, about twenty years ago, when Dr. Bray was a high school chemistry teacher in Memphis. His real name, he told me, was David Brooks. He had been married for a few years and they had a son, about a year old at that time. Well, both the boy and his wife had been very ill and they just couldn't see their way to paying all their debts. Dr. Bray, or Brooks, was desperate and finally he hit upon a scheme to make some extra money.

"He rigged up a still in the laboratory and spent evenings and weekends distilling alcohol. It was during Prohibition and so he had no trouble selling the stuff to some of the local politicians." She snorted contemptuously.

"Shortly afterward," she went on, "he found out that the politicians in turn were handing the stuff over to some of the speakeasies which were doing a flourishing business with high school students. Bray drew the line at that. And that's just what he told the politicians who were getting the alcohol from him.

"The next day there was a police raid on his laboratory. Bray was convicted and spent seven years in the penitentiary. In the meantime his son died, and I guess Mrs. Bray almost died, too. But she pulled through.

"Well, while he was in prison Bray took correspondence courses so that he had a pretty good background in biology by the time he was finally paroled. He decided that if he could get a job in some university he and Mrs. Bray could lead the quiet but secure lives they so desperately wanted. He changed his name and came here as a graduate student on an assistantship.

"He must have been a pretty good graduate student, because when he got his doctor's degree he was offered a job as instructor here. He gradually worked himself up until finally, as you already know, five years ago he was appointed head of the department. Things were really rosy for the Brays then. And Jimmy, their second boy, was six years old and growing up to be a husky kid.

"And then, out of the clear sky, the new associate professor, Hubbard, dropped his bombshell. "Professor Hubbard," she continued, "came into Bray's office just about two weeks after he got here and told Bray flatly that he, Hubbard, wanted to be head of the department. He had with him clippings of the Tennessee newspapers of twenty years ago, with pictures of Dr. Bray and the whole story of Bray's conviction and prison sentence. He threatened to give the story to the newspapers here and rehash the whole affair if Bray didn't resign and recommend him for the job.

"Do you think this university would keep him if the story came out? Do you think any university would take him? No, they would not! And Bray realized that. Besides, he was thinking of the effect it would have on his wife and especially on Jimmy. You see, Jimmy didn't know anything of the old story. And so Dr. Bray did the best thing and kept quiet and resigned. And Dr. Hubbard became chairman of the department." She stopped speaking and stared at the sugar bowl.

"But that was five years ago. What happened a week ago Sunday night?" She roused herself.

"Oh, yes. Well, Jimmy has developed a bad cough this winter and his doctor told Dr. Bray he ought to take him to a milder climate. Bray had an offer from Arizona State which would have been an ideal place for them.

"Dr. Hubbard was very dependent on Dr. Bray for the actual running of the department, and as long as Bray stayed and kept quiet he knew he was safe from Hubbard. But this thing with Jimmy was serious, so he decided to have a frank talk with Hubbard, which he did. And Dr. Hubbard refused point-blank. He told Dr. Bray that if Bray left he would make sure that Bray would never get another job in a university. And that was that.

"This happened just before the Sunday night when I surprised Dr. Bray in Hubbard's office. He thought Hubbard might be keeping the clippings somewhere in the files and he was trying to get them."

Her words brought Raff's thoughts back with a jerk. The one thing he had learned was that Bray himself had an excellent motive for murdering Hubbard. But then, who had murdered Bray? Or was it murder after all? From what Ellen had told him he had gotten some insight into Bray's character. He might well have murdered Hubbard himself and then committed suicide. Especially, argued Raff to himself, if Bray had thought the hospital was investigating Hubbard's death. And Bray would have arranged the suicide to look like murder. That way it would seem unlikely that Bray himself had murdered Hubbard, and Bray's family could benefit from his insurance. Yes, the more he thought about it the more plausible this theory seemed.

"Incidentally," he asked, "do you know which insurance company Bray did business with?" She shook her head.

He frowned. "None? Are you sure?" "Absolutely none. I'm sure of that. You see, they were always afraid someone would investigate his previous life."

And there, thought Raff, goes my nice theory knocked straight out the window. "Come on," he said, "We've got to get back to your office."

Cross-Continent Record Claimed

New York, March 30—(AP)—The official report isn't in yet, but for some time now, Joe De Bona claims he has set a new transcontinental air speed record of four hours and 57 minutes.

Flying a P-51 fighter owned by Actor Jimmy Stewart, De Bona landed at La Guardia Field here yesterday after a dash from Burbank, Calif.

The record for the distance has been six hours, seven minutes and five seconds, set by Paul Mantz, Hollywood stunt pilot, in February, 1947.

Fred H. Wilkinson, of the National Aeronautics Association, said the official time of De Bona's flight could not be ascertained until the exact time of departure is obtained from the N.A.A. starter at Burbank. De Bona, of Pacific Palisades, Calif., said he averaged 530 miles an hour on the flight, with the aid of a 55-mile-an-hour tail wind. He said he flew at 30,000 feet most of the time.

SPRING FLOWERS IN BLOOM ATTRACT MUCH INTEREST

Spring flowers and blossoms on trees and shrubs have made a fair-land of the arboretum, east of the Wright building on the college campus. The Japanese cherry and red bud trees and the dogwood there are in full profusion of bloom and attracting many flower lovers. Amelias and other spring flowers in yards and gardens and dogwood trees are in their glory now. Many out-of-town people were her today cruising about the city to enjoy the "city of flowers."

Filmland Wonders If Last Oscar Given Movie Stars

Hollywood, March 30—(AP)—Big talk in the film capital today is: Will there be any more academy awards?

Jean Hersholt asserts that the New York offices of picture companies oppose the awards idea and that the association of motion picture producers will withdraw its support after this year.

At the same time, Hersholt announced his retirement as president of the academy of motion picture arts and sciences, sponsor of the annual "Oscar" presentations. He added he won't remain on the academy board of governors.

"I don't think the academy will go out of existence," said Hersholt, who has served as its president four years. "But unless studios take a more active interest . . . and agree to make financial contributions, the 1948 awards will be the last."

He declared that without the support of the association of motion picture producers, which Eric Johnston heads, "it will be difficult if not impossible for this program to proceed."

Hersholt said he was speaking in answer to an undercurrent of criticism heard in the industry after the awards ceremony last Thursday. And he declared:

"Voices in the industry say they don't want academy standards foisted upon us. They say 'we want to make commercial pictures unhampered by considerations of artistic excellence.'"

The veteran actor said certain producers feel that "too much time and money are wasted trying to make pictures of academy award caliber. They think academy standards are too high."

Hersholt emphasized that the academy, in reality the cultural and educational branch of the industry, will not lower its standards.

GOVERNMENT BUYS BUTTER
Washington, March 30—(AP)—The government is buying butter to bolster prices for the first time since before the war, the Agriculture Department said yesterday.

The department said 25,620 pounds of grade A butter was bought at the support price of 59 cents a pound last week.

Why Moscow . . .

tration of communist influence into the United States. Of course, New York City is the biggest center of that influence in the country, but you find it surprisingly wide-spread, both in cities and country districts.

A significant aspect of the conference was that the Red delegates continued the charge of warmongering against the United States, despite the fact that they were guests in the house of capitalism.

Fadeyev and Shostakovitch spoke their pieces bluntly, so bluntly indeed that at times they brought reproach from the friendly audience.

It is an interesting commentary on the peace conference that Monday President Truman assigned budget experts to work on a big program of supplying arms to western Europe as a bulwark against communism. This program is a follow-up of the North Atlantic defense treaty which Moscow charges represents a war threat.

New Rent . . .

controls off any area in the next 15 months but also can slap them on any area he decontrolled whenever he thinks they're needed.

(New) Apartment hotels in New York and Chicago go back under controls now at the rental they were getting March 1, 1949. Practically all apartment controls previously had been lifted. If you're an owner or tenant of one of them in New York or Chicago and have doubts about your particular case, see your local area rent control office.

Veterans of World War II still have 30 days' preference in buying or renting a newly built place. But—

(New) Such veterans now have 30 days' preference in buying or renting a place newly converted into living quarters.

(New) Trailers and trailer space, which had been decontrolled, are now back under controls for permanent guests.

(New) The housing expediter has been given back his power to control evictions. He can get a court injunction to stop an eviction he thinks is wrong. If you're being put out in a way you think is illegal, see your area rent control office. There are about 15 ways in which a landlord can tell a tenant to move.

(New) The housing expediter can sue a landlord for three times the amount of rent he's overcharged a tenant. (Under the present, expiring law he could sue only for the amount overcharged.) There still are no criminal penalties for doing anything wrong under the law.

(New) The new law does not authorize further 15 per cent "voluntary" increases in rent. And it recontrols any dwelling decontrolled under such leases, at the rent figure contained in such leases.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, March 30—(AP)—An early burst of activity in the stock market, spent itself less than an hour after it started and left prices with only minor changes today.

Gains and losses were thoroughly scrambled. Gains showed a slight edge for a while and even small improvement was enough to lift some issues to the best prices of the year.

Today was the market's first experience with the new margin requirement of 50 per cent cash. The news of the reduction from 75 per cent circulated throughout the country yesterday and sparked one of the largest overall advances in the past year.
