Western Powers Work For Unity Against Russia

Bevin To See Acheson Today; West Germany Key Problem; New Alliances

Washington, March 31—(AP)—The Western nations began lining up their solid front today as British Foreign Minister Bevin and Secretary of State Acheson scheduled the first of a series of major conferences.

While the main reason for Bevin's visit to this country is the signing of the North Atlantic security treaty Monday, the meetings were expected to cover the whole problem of reinforcing the unity of the West against Russia.

Bevin was due at the State Department at 2:30 p.m. (EST). Diplomatic authorities agreed that by far the most important matters facing Bevin and Acheson—as well as French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—concern Western Germany.

Schuman probably will see Acheson tomorrow and the three foreign ministers will make a determined effort to end policy differences preventing creation of a single German government over the American, British and French occupation zones.

Bevin takes the stand there will be no trouble settling this issue. Other questions which may come up in the discussions, particularly between Bevin and Acheson, include:

(1) The security of the Middle Eastern countries such as Turkey, Greece and Iran; (2) the possibility of forming a Mediterranean defense treaty; and (3) how to block the spread of Communism in Southeast Asia.

On his arrival yesterday, from New York, Bevin said the Atlantic pact, which he and 11 other foreign ministers are to sign, will mean "peace for a long time."

While that has been the view expressed by all the Western foreign ministers, some doubt has been voiced in the United States Senate, which must ratify the treaty before this country becomes a member of the alliance.

In a radio talk last night, Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee suggested that such a pact, together with the proposed rearmament of Europe, might lead Russia to attack "before these armaments are built up."

In such a case, he added, "the pact, instead of being a deterrent to war, might become an incitement to war."

Approve Oleo In Eating Places

Raleigh, March 31—(AP)—The House Agriculture Committee today approved legislation to permit serving of colored oleomargarine in public eating places.

The bill, which already has passed the Senate, also would reduce from $75 to $25 a license levy on oleo wholesalers.

It would allow serving of colored oleo in restaurants provided a public notice is given either on a sign or on the menu and each individual serving is marked.

Missing Banker Sought In South

New York, March 31—(AP)—Search centered around Florida today for a vanished bank executive and $883,669 in missing bank funds.

A chain of letters caused a southward shift in the manhunt for Richard H. Crowe, 41, who disappeared Sunday before the theft of the fortune in cash and bonds was discovered.

Police revealed yesterday that Crowe's wife had received a letter from him postmarked in a Southern City. They declined to identify the city.

Survey Of Landlord Incomes Is Ordered To Fix Rent Increases

Housing Expediter Says Findings Will Determine Extent Of Hikes To Be Allowed Under New Rent Control Law

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Housing Expediter Tamm Woods today ordered a survey of landlord incomes. The findings will determine what rent increases are to be granted under the new control law.

Announcing the order in a statement, Woods declared the 15-month extension is a "considerable strengthening" of the previous law and does not mean "a general rent increase for all tenants."

The new law does require that rent ceilings allow landlords a "fair operating income." The survey is to obtain information for carrying out that part of the law.

Woods said a new regulation will be issued governing rent boosts under the "fair income" clause after the survey is completed. Meantime, rent offices will continue to handle landlord petitions for increases on grounds of hardship.

A spokesman said Woods within the next week or so will also remove the ceilings in about 100 of the 600 rent areas of the country. Woods agreed to do that if Congress gave him power to restore ceilings in case of need.

The idea is that in these 100 or so areas there is not enough housing so that rent ceilings are not necessary. Woods will take them off. But if rents pop way up, Woods will put ceilings back on.

Housing officials said the survey of landlord incomes probably will require several weeks. Until it is completed, no landlord will know whether he qualifies for a rent boost.

Woods said the "fair income" section of the law "leaves it up to the housing expediter to determine what is a fair net operating income." He added:

"If clearly does not involve an administratively unworkable plan of fair return on some valuation, nor does it mean a general rent increase for all tenants."

tain of the filibusters. "I yield," said Douglas, "with a great deal of trepidation, to face one of the subtlest men, and one of the most able field generals I suppose who ever appeared on the floor of the United States Senate; and though my knees are knocking, I am very glad indeed to yield."

Once in a while Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat, gets a little irritated and shows it with a sarcasm he lays on with a heavy hand.

Connally is chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee which soon will begin hearings on the Atlantic pact. He's for it. But Senator Donnell, Missouri Republican, has doubts about it, and this week took a lot of Senate time to say so although the pact wasn't up for debate.

He asked Connally on the Senate floor if he could take part in the hearings, although Donnell is not on the committee.

Merchants Slow Buying Policies; Situation 'Good'

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Merchants, taking a cue from their customers, are going light on buying.

"Very conservative inventory and buying policies" were cited by government officials today as the chief cause of a drop in business loans since Christmas. This drop has outdone anything of the sort in previous post-war years.

These loans are used in large part to finance purchases of stocks of goods. Officials said merchants not only have cut back buying for inventory—lest they get caught in a phase of declining prices—but also have been paying off old loans as fast as possible.

The business loans drop, as measured in federal reserve board reports from member banks in the nation's leading cities, has run unbroken for the last ten weeks. It carried the volume of business loans down $70,000,000 from the December 23 peak.

This drop of more than four per cent in three months is due to lack of demand rather than to newly tightened bank lending policies, officials said. They added that reports reaching here show no sign of unusual calling-in of loans by the banking system.

Buying caution by merchants was rated a "healthy" sign. The official position is that the country would be better off if businessmen guard against building up big inventories. Such heavy stocks of goods might later have to be dumped in price-cutting, something that has accentuated trouble in past "boom and bust" cycles.

The insurance provided against a happening of that kind by the conservative buying policies was described as one way of preventing any "bust."

Nevertheless, these policies clearly were a link in the chain leading to factory layoffs when the buying hold-back, starting with the retail consumer, reached to the manufacturer and brought a slowdown in his operations.

Officials said retailers in general put the brakes on inventory building about the middle of 1948. After Christmas sales proved a sharp disappointment and when subsequent stocks lagged, they began selling stocks of goods without fully replacing them.

Ostrich Family Won't Help Out

Bristol, Eng., March 31—(AP)—The Bristol zoo wants some baby ostriches, but Oliver and Oscar ostrich are against it.

Oliver lays her egg standing up, so the eggs break on the ground. If Oscar is given a suitable ostrich egg, he shirks his duty as an ostrich father and refuses to hatch it.

Keeper George Hunt saw Oliver fluff her feathers the other day. He rushed over and neatly caught a three-pound egg. He hasn't yet persuaded Oscar to sit on it, though.

Churchill Speech Awaited Tonight On World Views

Boston, March 31—(AP)—Winston Churchill tells the world tonight what hope he sees for man in this war-marred century.

The 74-year-old statesman, who spurred battling Britain with his call to "blood, sweat, and tears," will speak on "The 20th Century, Its Promise and Its Realization."

His views are awaited with the urgency that surrounded his "Iron Curtain" speech at Fulton, Mo., March 5, 1946.

Then he lamented the lowering of an "Iron Curtain" across Europe, and called for the fraternal association of the British commonwealth of nations and the United States.

Tonight in his immediate audience of 13,900 at Boston Garden will be some of the ablest thinkers of the western world: statesmen, educators, scientists and philosophers.

They are gathered for a three day mid-century survey, initiated by Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the "Social Implications of Scientific Progress." The occasion is the inauguration Saturday of Tech's tenth president, Dr. James Rhyne Killian, Jr.

Aldermen Called To Special Meet Tuesday Evening

Scheduled To Call City Election In May And Handle Sanitary Rulings

Members of the Greenville board of aldermen were called to a special meeting Tuesday night for the purpose of calling the regular city election in May, and for passing regulations dealing with the city's sanitation.

Mayor J. H. Boyd reported to the aldermen that approximately 95 per cent of the homes in Greenville which were accessible to sewerage lines had connected with the city system and had put in water toilets. The aldermen, in a measure, gave property owners who have not connected with the city sewerage system 15 days to begin installation of water toilets and 60 days to complete the projects. It was indicated by city officials yesterday that legal action will be brought against persons failing to comply with the city sanitation regulations set up by the aldermen.

Under the present form of government, at the city election on May 2, the voters of the city will choose a mayor, five members of the board of aldermen, a city judge and a solicitor. City officials whose terms expire on June 30 are Mayor J. H. Boyd, Judge J. W. H. Roberts, Solicitor E. H. Bloom and Aldermen E. B. Tripp of the first ward, C. A. Bowen of the second ward, W. E. Morton of the third ward, W. H. Smith of the fourth ward, and W. S. Stafford of the fifth ward.

The filing period for candidates for mayor will close 10 days before election day, exclusive of Sundays, and the filing period for candidates for aldermen, judge and solicitor will close five days prior to the election, exclusive of Sundays. J. O. Davis, city clerk, said yesterday.

Stiff Penalty In Rent Gouging

New York, March 31—(AP)—Three rent gougers must pay fines of $5,000 each by April 15 or spend 60 days in jail.

In addition, each has a suspended term of one year in a penitentiary, and sentence on 13 other counts also has been suspended. The penalties were imposed yesterday in Manhattan's first commercial rent gouging prosecution.

Death Blow For 'Home Rule' Bill

Raleigh, N. C., March 31—(AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to give greater "home rule" to municipalities was killed by the joint committee on constitutional amendments today.

The action came after the group adopted a subcommittee report recommending continuation of a commission created by the 1947 assembly to study the problem.

Ohioan Coming To Talk Bonds

Raleigh, N. C., March 31—(AP)—Ohio Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy was scheduled to pay Attorney General Harry McMillan a business visit today.

Duffy wrote McMillan he was coming to get a final understanding of 200 bonds issued by a carpetbagger North Carolina legislature following the Civil war.

Statesmen Gathering

Foreign Ministers Of Eleven Nations Assembling In Washington To Sign Historic Atlantic Alliance; How They Look At It; The Great Men Involved

The Foreign Ministers of eleven nations are assembling in Washington to join U. S. Secretary of State Acheson next Monday in signing history's most notable Alliance of its kind—the Atlantic defense pact.

The broad significance of this momentous treaty was summed up by Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian Premier and Foreign Minister, like this: "I'm convinced that since the end of the war and the organization of the United Nations, the Atlantic pact is the world's most important step toward collective security."

Specifically—to quote the language of Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, member of the Foreign Relations committee—this treaty will make America the "big brother" to other Democratic nations, and will create a moral obligation to resist aggression if there is no peaceful way out. When the United Nations has become a real force, then the pact can be dissolved.

This would seem to epitomize well the viewpoint of Democratic countries. The Russian bloc, of course, charges that the Alliance is a "breeder of war."

President Declares Administration Sought $5 Billion Figure Is Necessary To Run European Recovery Program Effectively

Washington, March 31—(AP)—President Truman insisted today that Congress provide the full $5,500,000,000 sought by the administration for the European recovery program.

The President declared at his news conference that this amount is necessary to run the European recovery program. He said it had been worked out very carefully.

The European recovery program, he said bluntly should not be cut at all.

The President made his observation when he was questioned about efforts of Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Russell (D-Ga.) to cut the amount sought by the administration.

Administration forces in Congress claimed they had enough votes to "break the back" of a Republican-led drive for an ECA cut.

The first real test was due to come—perhaps today—on an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Senator Russell (D-Ga.) to cut the 15-month aid program to $5,037,000,000.

"We'll beat it," Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) told reporters. "And when we beat the Taft amendment, then they know the jig is up. That will break the back of the move to cut the total."

Lucas' confidence was echoed by Senator Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the Foreign Relations committee.

Connally conceded that the vote "will be close." But he said an informal poll indicates the senate will approve the full total by a safe margin.

But both Taft and Russell insisted their amendment had a "good chance."

The Economic Cooperation Administration is seeking $1,150,000,000 for the next three months; $4,387,000,000 for the 12 months following; and $290,000,000 in long-range contract authority.

The pending senate bill would authorize this aid plan but would not provide the actual cash. This must be done by appropriation.

All the signs were that the Taft-Russell amendment would get the strongest support of any of the 37 amendments offered to the ECA bill. Senator Wherry (R-Meb) said he believed the Taft-Russell amendment will pull more votes than his own.

Wherry's amendment would reduce the $5,500,000,000 total to $3,630,000,000—and spread it over 13 months instead of 15 months.

Another amendment, offered by Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), would cut Marshall plan spending to $3,000,000,000.

'Peace' Tour Will Be Without Iron Curtain Stars

New York, March 31—(AP)—Although eastern European delegates have been ordered out of the country, a "world peace" rally plans to go on a cross-country tour without them.

Sponsors said yesterday plans for the tour would not be abandoned, despite a State Department ban against participation by 18 visitors from Russia and neighboring countries.

The sponsoring group, the National Council of Arts, Science and Professions, said the State Department's action would "convince more and more Americans that the Department does not want a truly free exchange of information between the American people and cultural leaders from eastern European countries."

One of the most interesting adherents is Portugal, which is stuck into the side of Spain like a plum in a Christmas pudding.

Obviously for Lisbon to endeavor to settle the Alliance problem without reference to Madrid, would be like trying to touch your nose with your elbow.

Council of Church Women's Conference

On Wednesday, March 23, at 11 noon, 80 women, representing nine of the Greenville Churches and four of the Farnville Churches gathered in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

A delicious covered dish luncheon was served after which Mrs. Dink James, president of the Greenville Council of Church Women, introduced Mrs. C. C. Todd of Rocky Mount, president of the North Carolina Council of Church Women. Mrs. Todd told something of the organization and set up of the N. C. C. W. and stressed the importance of our support and cooperation. She then introduced Mrs. S. T. Cushing of New York, chairman of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the United Council of Church Women, who related interesting things about the N. C. C. W., the purpose of which is:

"To unite church women in their allegiance to their Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ through a program looking to their integration in the total life and work of the church and to the building of a world Christian community."

A round table discussion followed Mrs. Cushing's talk. It was decided that the Greenville Council of Church Women would sponsor May Fellowship day which occurs on May 6. Plans are now being worked out for this occasion.

Hooked Rug Display At Art Festival

An interesting and beautiful feature of the exhibits for the Art Festival is a display of hand hooked rugs made by a group of women in New Bern.

Making hooked rugs is quite a "fad" with a large group of women in New Bern. Mrs. R. L. Daniels is one of the instructors and promoters of the project. The patterns are ordered already stamped—or were in the beginning. Now many of the women are creating their own patterns. All of the materials used is made of old garments and dyed in the various colors needed to work out the intricate designs. The women meet at different homes and "hook" or "dye" all day.

The following have rugs on display in the Woman's Club:

Mrs. P. O. Jarvis, "Nosegay"; Mrs. Edna Daniels, "Flower Garden" and "Gift of Love"; Mrs. M. Diggs, "Shumalite Maid" and "Red and Leaf"; Mrs. J. A. ## A Lenten Prayer

Peace of Mind
... Be not anxious for your life
... Matthew 6:25. Read vs. 25-34.

Reinhold Niebuhr has shown how deeply seated is human anxiety. It roots from the guilt which belongs to us as rebels against the Great Giver. It may take many forms, as we worry over security, reputation, health, or the approvals and disapprovals of others. Or it may hang over us as a cloud to make nights sleepless and days joyless.

So widespread is worry in modern life that it has become one of the most popular subjects of philosophical writing. The large circulation of titles such as "Conquest of Happiness," "Peace of Mind," "You Must Relax," show the general need for something that will free people from anxiety.

Christ goes to the source of it and offers more than relief. If anxiety comes from trusting self rather than the heavenly Father, its banishment is accomplished through trust in God rather than the self. He who tends the lilies and feeds the birds extends his providence over all of human life, knowing our needs better than we ourselves do, and supplying us far beyond our deserts or asking.

Let Us Pray:
Drop thy still dews of quietness,
Till all our strivings cease;
Take from our souls the strain and stress,
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of thy peace.
Amen.

Mrs. Warren Hostess To Atheneum Club

On March 29 Mrs. N. O. Warren graciously entertained the Atheneum Book Club at her home on Eastern Street at a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Warren's house was decorated with apple blossoms, jonquils, iris and other lovely spring flowers. After lunch the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Knott Proctor who called the meeting to order and proceeded with the usual business meeting. With all business dispensed with Mrs. Proctor turned the meeting back to the hostess who presented the speaker, Mrs. J. H. Rose. Mrs. Rose reviewed a most interesting and delightful book, "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Belgians Warned Of Counterfeits

Brussels—(P)—Banks, cafes and shops in Belgium are displaying large posters showing photographs and descriptions of counterfeit 1,000 francs notes now circulating in the country. The posters, issued by the National Bank, show up the faults in the engraving. The public is being asked to learn the faults and report any counterfeits to the authorities. Belgian bank notes of 1,000 francs have a printed warning to the effect that "Counterfeiters will be sentenced to hard labor." This warning has been faithfully reproduced by the forger.

Railroad Boom Is Town Nuisance

Hainault, England—(P)—The city council has voted a protest to the government against the booming noise (you can hear it two miles) which shatters the dawn here daily. The voice comes from a loudspeaker at the central line railroad depot promptly at 5 a. m. It is used by a traffic director to get the locomotives moved out of their sheds in proper order. The council will take it up with the Ministry of Transport, which runs the nationalized railroads.

Saloon Titles Behind Trouble

Becontree, England—(P)—The English like to call their pubs (saloons) by fancy names, like "The Marquis of Queensberry, and the practice sometimes leads to confusion.

India And Soviet Make Two Trades

New Delhi—(P)—Informal talks for a regular trade agreement with Russia have resulted so far only in two barter agreements.

Commerce Minister K. C. Neogy told questioners in the legislative assembly the first agreement resulted in the exchange of 5,000 metric tons of India tea for 40,000 tons of Russian wheat.

The second which would be in this month related to the supply by India of 5,000 tons of raw jute, 5,000 tons of tea and 1,000 tons of castor oil in exchange for 81,000 tons of Russian wheat.

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—Poland's ministry of education expects a 20 percent boost in enrollment of students in colleges and universities during 1949.

The ministry estimated registrations would reach around 100,000, compared with the previous top post-war figure of 80,000.

The rapid reconstruction of educational institutions damaged or destroyed during the war is credited with steadily increasing facilities for expanded student enrollments.

Counts Cost Of Polish Refugees

London—(P)—A government committee recommends that the Polish settlement corps, an outgrowth of Gen. Wladyslaw Anders' Polish Refugee army, be disbanded by the end of next September, when it will be three years old.

The Committee says the corps has cost Britain's three services 110,333,915 pounds ($445,335,660) and handled 114,037 Poles. A count showed it still had 11,015. Of these, 5,837 were officers—old or disabled and hard to place in jobs.

Most of the Poles have balked at going back where they came from, because the Communists are in power there now. Only 8,912 have been repatriated, with 50 waiting to go. Of the others 11,409 have moved on from Britain to other countries 71,563 have taken jobs in this country, 2,066 have turned students and 2,066 have joined the armed forces. The tag ends are expected either to go abroad or to settle in Britain.

Members of the corps have drawn pay by rank, two-thirds to three-quarters of that for the British services. The committee says the aid and disabled should be put on public assistance.

Baronet Behind 'See Britain' Tourist Drive

London—(P)—A British baronet who has spent years in the United States has been given the job of luring dollar-spending American travelers to this dollar-short country.

The British Travel Association named Sir Harold Boulton, 86 to be chief representative of the "Come to Britain" organization in North America.

Until recently he was special U. S. representative of a Canadian hotel and resort group. He worked for the American Crosscoing Company, of Louisville and the Baratz Manufacturing Co of New York before and during World War I. In 1918 he married Louise McGowan of Indianapolis. Britain expects to earn more than $80 million this year from 130,000 visitors from the United States and 20,000 from Canada.

Strength FOR THE DAY

The happy days of youth! But are they happy? There are certain aspects of youth so pleasant and so deep in their delights that they can never be equaled in later years.

But there is another side to the life of youth which adults sometimes forget. Young people are generally ill at ease, restless, unsure of themselves. They are sensitive beyond description. Probably a majority of them feel that older or more experienced people are peering at them, criticizing them, pulling them to pieces in their minds. Then there are disappointments in romance, tensions, inconceivable to middle-aged persons, defeats, frustrations. Also—and this is the most important of all to remember—there are temptations of such overwhelming character that after a lapse of twenty or thirty years, father and mother tend to forget some of the experiences they confronted and the fires through which they frequently had to pass.

Do not envy youth; instead try to understand youth. The boys and girls of this generation are probably having a harder time than youth has experienced in many centuries. They are not to be pitied for their privileges are many; what they need is understanding and love.

THE PEOPLE'S RIGHT TO VOTE

To our way of thinking the bill now before the legislature that would permit the people of Greenville to vote next month on the matter of city manager government and operation of our city, should be passed.

It appears that since the aldermen requested the action by the legislature, some sentiment against the measure has developed, and pressure has been brought upon the legislators to keep the matter from coming to a vote at this time. Some persons evidently have conceived the idea that the bill, if passed by the legislature will automatically put the city manager form of government into effect here.

Under the general law, 25 per cent of the voters can sign a petition for an election on the city manager question and the election must be called. Such a plan is long and tedious and would take two years to get the plan into effect if the people so voted. The bill now before the legislature would by-pass the petition and let the people vote on the matter now.

We are not attempting here to argue the merits of our present system nor the city manager system. We are simply declaring that it is our opinion that the people have a right to vote on how they wish their form of government and we see no harm in letting them make this decision now instead of having to take two years to do so.

We repeat, in fairness to the voters of Greenville, the measure should be enacted by the legislature and the people given the privilege of voting on the issue.

TRIES SLEEP JUICE
Hanover, Germany—(AP)—A German youth blew anesthetics through the keyholes of apartments to make people inside unconscious while he robbed their rooms, the weekly magazine "Der Spiegel" reported.

Around Capitol Square

WASTE—The system which has prevailed for many years of naming large committees with consequent duplication of membership is responsible for a great deal of wasted legislative time. Every day committees have to postpone action on important bills because of absence of members interested and who are tied up with conflicting committee meetings. Another time-waster is the plan, used more frequently this year than ever before, of reopening committee sessions for public hearings at request of persons who failed to attend originally scheduled and held open sessions.

ILLUSTRATION—One instance, a hundred could be cited, illustrates the point. Several weeks ago the house utilities committee held open hearing on the bill requiring municipally owned electric systems serving rural patrons to come under supervision of the state utilities commission. Some 300 people attended, more than a dozen representing farm organizations, individual patrons and municipalities affected. The committee met again Wednesday hoping to act on the bill. Harry Caldwell, president of the State Grange, had asked to be heard and he appeared. After he finished his talk, which was entirely repetition of matter presented before, and committee members had asked the same questions asked at the regular public hearing, several committee members came in late from other meetings. More time was needed to bring them up to date on proceedings. Then a toned down substitute bill was offered, limiting utilities commission authority to new lines into areas already served by another municipality. That's almost no control at all, but the committee didn't have time to vote even on that. It had already run over fifteen minutes into time of another meeting scheduled for the same room. It is now hoped committee action can be reached at another meeting Friday—unless somebody else asked for another public hearing or other committees interfere.

REMEDY—Committee chairmen have it in their power to save a lot of time by requiring proponents and opponents of bills to eliminate duplication in their presentations. The

Boyle's Column

BY HAL BOTLE
New York—(AP)—Anybody in the market for a second-hand education? I would like to trade my education in for a new one, just as you trade in a broken down car for a later model.

Because I sure am not getting the intellectual mileage from my old education that I used to. It has turned out to be a four-cylinder job in an eight-cylinder world.

I grew up in what was supposed to be the most widely educated generation in history. But it appears now that practically everything I learned was wrong. What I was taught was true is now regarded as false.

Today it is hard to believe in anything, because a thing that is accepted as a fact in the morning may be regarded as superstition by evening.

Let us take a simple subject like the human body, something every normal person has. But how shall you take care of this marvelous machine? Well, what they teach you to do today they'll probably tell you to shun tomorrow.

At the time I started in kindergarten the medical profession had ceased recommending long horseback rides as a cure for tuberculosis.

But I was told, on the teacher's word of honor, that a clean tooth never decays. Everybody today knows darn well it will—if it wants to.

The school dentist showed us the right way to brush our teeth—side-ways. A couple of years later we were being taught to use a rotary motion. Now my dentist is in favor of brushing up and down. And I am looking forward to a day, coming fast, when I can avoid all doubt in the matter by taking 'em out and soaking 'em in a glass.

Take spinach. Everybody was sure in the days when I played marbles that spinach was the best source of iron outside the mesabi range. Now practically everybody knows better. People are reduced to eating spinach for pleasure.

Take mold. I was told mold was poisonous. Now if you don't swallow mold three times a day—in the form of penicillin—people get the idea there's nothing wrong with you.

Take water. In my youth I was sternly warned that if I didn't drink two quarts of water a day I'd come down with auto-intoxication, whatever that was. Now if you drink more than a quart you're in danger of drowning internally.

Take bed rest. Remember when they kept you in the hospital for two weeks after an appendectomy? Today they hardly let you stay in the hospital long enough to warm the sheets. Tomorrow they may take your appendix out while you're standing up—during your lunch hour, so you won't have to miss half a day's work.

The benefits of sunshine, fresh air and exercise—faiths of my childhood—have been debunked as overrated. I used to believe people worried and grew thin. No, they worry and grow fat. They used to say, "eat hearty." Now they say that if you do you'll become overweight and won't live as long.

The man who as a boy took sulphur and molasses for spring fever has a son who gulps vitamin pills for anemia and a grandson who is being given thyroid tablets for low-blood pressure.

As a result of all these changes, a man no longer can afford to do anything to his body without running the risk of being out-of-date before his last wonder pill has been digested. About the only safe thing to believe in is the circulation of the blood.

What can you believe? I was taught that Benjamin Franklin was a great model of thrift. Then somebody dug up the records and found he was chronically overdrawn at the bank.

What we need is an education that will stand up long enough for a man to earn enough money to go back to college and get another education.

WASHINGTON LETTER.. by Jane Eads

BY JANE EADS
Washington—The National Woman's Party, which for 27 years has been battling to get an equal rights bill through Congress is at it again—this time with higher hopes for its passage.

The equal rights legislation, which the party says would remove more than 1,000 discriminatory laws against women now existing in the 48 states, was voted out of the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 14, is now up for consideration on the Senate floor.

Miss Anita Pollitzer, national chairman of the party, which is meeting here early in April, says the immediate objective of the group is to see to its speedy acceptance by both houses of Congress.

The equal rights legislation is in the form of an amendment to the Constitution. It was first introduced in 1923 with only one backer in each house. Arthur Capper, former senator from Kansas, sponsored it in the Senate, session after session.

The legislation was introduced in the 81st Congress by Senator Guy M. Gillette, (D-Ia) With 34 senators as co-sponsors, it was read into the record. Rep. Katherine St. George (R-N. Y.) introduced it in the house with the backing of more than 100 members.

Though women have had political equality since the suffrage amendment, they still do not enjoy civil equality, Miss Pollitzer says—"In many states there are still inequalities with respect to property rights, guardianship of children, earnings, marriage and divorce. Some states still refuse women the right to hold political office or to serve on juries."

The National Woman's Party was founded by Miss Alice Paul here in 1913, before passage of the suffrage amendment. Many of its members were pioneers in that movement. Miss Paul is now head of the World Woman's Party, founded a few years ago to "achieve equality for women throughout the world."

The national party will open its three-day convention here in the crypt before the status of early suffrage leaders, Lillie B. Holt, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, in the capitol.

Washington's Number One social leader, Mrs. George Meade, long an ardent feminist and chairman of the party's public relations committee, will welcome delegates coming from all parts of the United States at a huge reception at the swank Sulgrave Club.

Bogs in southeastern Massachusetts normally yield about two thirds of this nation's annual cranberry crop.

Powerful Turbo - Jet Engines Still Pose Unsolved Problems

MOST POWERFUL turbo-jet motor now in production—the J-47, which was used in the F-86 Sabre when it set the world's record for speed.

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
(P) Aviation Reporter
Washington—The turbo-jet engine has more varieties than a pickle-factory.

Around its basic elements—compressor, combustor, turbine and tail-pipe—designers are weaving many combinations in their search for more power with greater efficiency and longer life.

The key to all three appears to be increased resistance to heat, combined with fuels that will release more heat per pound. Present jet engines are limited by temperatures of around 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit at the turbine wheel. If the temperature could be doubled, the power output could be increased about four times.

The most varied element of the jet engine is the compressor, which forces air for burning and cooling into the combustion chamber.

There are two basic types: the centrifugal, which compresses air by throwing it off the rim of the wheel, and the axial, in which air is pushed back through several rows of small propeller blades. These two are combined in a third type known as radial, which uses blades with a sharp twist to force air off their tips.

Sometimes two and occasionally all three types are used in a single compressor design. In addition, the centrifugal compressor is sometimes reversed so that the air flows from the rim toward the shaft, where final compression is obtained on the axial principle.

Combustion chambers also fall into two general classes: the can type, with perhaps 14 separate chambers, and the annular or basket type, which is a single large fire pot. The choice seems to be largely the personal feelings of the designing team.

In turbine wheels the variety is more in materials than in shape. Scientists started with metal alloys, then turned to pottery for greater heat resistance and now work with mixtures of metal and pottery called ceramels.

The thinking behind ceramels is to combine high heat resistance with great strength. Turbine wheels in some small jets whirl as fast as 25,000 times a minute, setting up forces that tend to tear the blades to bits.

The next and likeliest hope for high temperature operation lies in cooling the turbine blades. The Germans did it because they were short of materials for good alloys. Research men, like those at the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics laboratory, believe that relatively small percentages of coolant, such as air or water, flowing through a blade will permit sizeable increases in operating temperatures.

Jet engines mostly have fixed area nozzles, but the trend is toward variable openings. This will permit the pilot to make faster changes in power.

The jet engine must be kept running at 80 per cent or more of its top speed for efficiency. It does not reach its peak speeds rapidly, nor does it slow down quickly. However, a pilot can change his thrust quickly by increasing or decreasing the effectiveness of the exhaust.

Jet engine efficiency rises with both altitude and speed. This is due in part to the fact that in the stratosphere the low pressure means a greater pressure difference between the outside air and the hot gases inside the engine, therefore a greater push away from the open nozzle.

DeNazification In U. S. Zone Is Nearly Complete

Berlin—(P)—The vast deNazification program in the U. S. zone is grinding toward a stop.

Theo E. Hall, the American official in charge of deNazification, says: "We consider that the primary mission of deNazification has been accomplished in the U. S. zone. From May, 1945 Nazis were kept out of office until their cases were disposed of. The majority are now eligible to hold office."

"During this critical three-year period, however, the Land (state) constitutions were written and elections held. This gave the new governments a chance to take root—and the Nazis had no part in their formation."

Hall stressed that "only in the U. S. zone was the implementation of the deNazification program turned over to the Germans."

Each state enacted an identical law which requires every one over 18 years of age in the U. S. zone to register. About 13,000,000 persons in the U. S. zone have registered.

Some 3,500,000 were listed as "incriminated." Of these, 2,500,000 small fry Nazis were granted amnesty without trial. The trials of 924,616 have been completed. The remainder have died. About 25,000 cases remain to be handled. Most of these are "new registrants" that is, persons who have entered Germany recently.

Of the 924,000 Nazis who were tried 22,000 were deprived of their civil rights. Some 103,000 others were placed on probation by the courts. About 473,000 were classed as followers and fined. About 17,000 were freed. The remainder were granted amnesties.

Hall believes that the British, French and Russian deNazification programs leave loopholes for Nazis to return to positions of power in government and industry. Only the U. S. zone made an effort to screen the entire population.

Army Maneuvers Watched By Goggle-Eyed Germans

Langen, Germany—(AP)—Winter maneuvers of America's occupation troops along the Rhine have the Germans goggle-eyed.

Big dun-colored trucks, trundling artillery pieces behind them, ewing through a village and everybody turns out to watch.

Compunct small boys turn such visits into a carnival and worried hausfraus yank them away from curbstone positions.

Sometimes younger men watch the long columns of motorized troops with a quiet bitterness. Memories are still fresh in their minds.

Down narrow village lanes the women hang out of windows to watch U.S. armed might roll into position and it's plain they are impressed.

Watching from a may bridge a fraulein squealed:

"Ach himmel! The guns!" Her companion was busy smiling at a soldier who tossed a quick wink in her direction.

Commanding officers of "Exercise Snowdrop" have impressed upon troops that the German population is not to be inconvenienced in any way. Troops will not trespass, dig foxholes, fire guns, or enter German houses.

And so, as the trucks rumble through town, it becomes a sort of showpiece on wheels for watching Germans.

New Scout Unit Seeking Charter

A Senior Scout unit recently organized in Greenville under the sponsorship of the local Rotary Club has made application for charter from the National Boy Scout office.

Unit Advisor Allen Powell said today the unit at present is composed of eight senior scouts, and that others who wish to join the unit will be considered.

During the weekend of April 9 members of the unit will have a weekend meeting at James Keel's camp on the Pamlico river below Washington. Paul Conway will be in charge of the weekend activities and Floyd Hendrix, Jr. has been appointed temporary guide of the unit.

The Rotary committee appointed for the organization is made up of Leon Roebuck, James Keel and Redskins Duff. Charter members of the recently formed unit are Floyd Hendrix, Jr., Paul Conway, Ralph Smiley, Lewis Howe, James Robertson, B. T. Watson, Troy Wilson, and Milton Foley.

Paratroopers Lost, But Safe In Scout Camp

Laurinburg, N. C., March 31—(AP)—Although the situation was a bit embarrassing, five tough—but lost—paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne division were happy recently when they stumbled into a Boy Scout camp.

The incident occurred while scouts of Laurinburg and Maxton were on a camping trip near Hoffman. The soldiers, hungry and footsore, wandered into camp.

They explained that they were "lost and don't know how to get back to the base" that they had been wandering in the woods for 46 hours and were out of food.

The scouts prepared bacon and beans which the soldiers described as "one of the best meals we ever ate" and tucked their guests in for the night.

National Guard Field Training

Battery "C" 89th Field Artillery battalion will conduct its field training at Fort Jackson, S. C. this summer, during the period from the 14th of August through the 26th. The purpose of this field training period is to enhance the combat efficiency of the individual and the unit by building on the basis of the knowledge acquired during the armory training period and to fit the individual into the program according to the progress they have made in Armory training, or other previous military experience.

There are still some key positions to be filled in the local Battery and wonderful opportunities for any young men and also the veterans. Here are some of the opportunities offered to Guardsmen. He learns in his spare time. Qualified instructors teach him the subjects in which this unit specializes. He will be trained in leadership, how to use his initiative and imagination to meet situations. He will be trained to be a leader, and this will increase his self-confidence, no matter what his occupation may be.

He gets paid for learning in his spare time. Two hours a night, one night a week. National Guardsmen receive the same pay as the regular army.

Veterans can earn even more. They can add longevity and get full credit for prior service in the army, navy, marine corps or coast guard. Also veterans may enlist in the same grade they held during the war. For you men who might be interested in attending some of the most famous military schools in the nation, guardsmen are being chosen to attend West Point and the Air Force University at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., as well as other famous schools.

Many veterans may not be fully aware of the retirement bill now in force. All previous service and also time in the reserve counts toward this retirement. You have to earn a minimum of fifty points a year while in the reserve to be eligible. In the National Guard this is easily accomplished. You get one point for each drill attended, fifteen points a year for being member of the guards and one point for each day of the annual summer encampment so this would automatically take care of your retirement credits. At the age of sixty you will draw a certain amount, based on your rank and length of service, for the rest of your life. This is worth some serious study by you veterans.

Those men interested in joining the local National Guard Unit may apply at the local Armory or telephone any time during the day or contact Capt. James B. Tyndall, Tel. 2381, 506 E. 2nd Street.

Dewey Given Bill To Bar Reds In School System

Albany, N. Y., March 31—(AP)—A bill designed to weed out and bar Communists from jobs in New York's public school system went to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today for expected approval.

The state assembly gave the measure overwhelming final legislative approval last night, over objections of some minority Democrats.

Under terms of the bill, the board of regents must maintain a list of organizations it finds subversive and set rules to prevent members from holding jobs in the public school system.

Another measure sent to Governor Dewey by the Republican-controlled legislature would prohibit use of public buildings by organizations which the U. S. Attorney General lists as subversive.

1,000-Mile Ride To Save Horses

Pensance, England, March 31—(AP)—Six women and two men began a 1,000-mile horseback trek today to protest against the slaughter of horses in meat-rations Britain.

They left Land's End, southern tip of England in Cornwall, for John O'Groats, the northern tip of Scotland.

F. A. H. Maitland, former cavalry officer, is leading the party. He said its object is to "popularize the horse and draw the public attention to the present serious traffic in horseflesh."

Postpone Trial On False Alarms

Greensboro, March 31—(AP)—The trial of 10 high school students charged with pulling false fire alarms has been postponed until April 19.

The case, which involves several popular athletes, was called for trial yesterday. Judge E. Earle Rives ordered the continuance when the prosecution said that charges against the 10 would be amended because of a technicality.

Traffic Deaths In Nation Climb

Chicago, March 31—(AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during the first two months of 1949 totaled 4,400, four per cent more than for the same period in 1948, the National Safety Council said today.

The February toll for the nation was 2,060 or three per cent more on a daily average compared with a year ago.

The council said heavy snows cut western states travel during the two months, reducing the death toll there. But unseasonably mild weather in eastern states increased travel and the number of traffic deaths in that area.

Overweight Said Life Shortener

New York—Overweight tends to shorten life, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, second vice-president and statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. He points out that overweight is the most common serious impairment among adults.

The death rate in adult life is appreciably higher among overweight persons than among persons of average weight, and the degree of excess mortality increases with the amount of overweight. A study based upon insured men who were free of other physical impairments showed that those who were 20% overweight had a mortality about 1 1-3 times the average; those 30 per cent overweight approximately 1 1-2 times the average mortality; and those 50 per cent overweight had a mortality about double the average. The contrast, especially after middle life, is greater if comparison is made with underweight men, whose mortality is even lower than that of average weight men. The flabby pot-bellied overweight has a particularly poor health and longevity record.

"Overweight puts a very real strain on many vital functions of the body," Dr. Dublin says. "This is indicated by the earlier development among overweight persons of diseases of the heart, kidneys, and blood vessels. The mor-

Lighten Income Taxes In Poland

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—The Polish government says it is lightening income tax burdens for workers. Tax exemptions previously were allowed for those earning up to $22.50 per month. The figure now has been raised to $32.50.

Those who earn $50 per month now pay a 5 per cent levy. Salaries or wages over $250 monthly are subjected to a 30 per cent tax.

tality from coronary artery and other degenerative heart conditions among overweight men is more than 1 1-2 times that of average weight men, and from chronic nephritis the mortality is about 1 1-4 times as high.

"Relatively, the most striking penalty for overweight is diabetes. The death rate from this disease among men 25 per cent or more overweight has been found to be 8 times as high as among average weight men, and 13 times as high as among underweights. More than 4 out of 5 diabetics are overweight before their disease begins, and about one out of six is as much as 40 per cent overweight."

Chances Increase That Movies' Oscar To Become Thing Of Past

Hollywood, March 31—(AP)—Chances increased today that the coveted Academy Award "Oscars," symbols of excellence in the motion picture art, soon will become a collector's item.

Five top movie producers have come out flatly with an announcement they are stopping their contributions to the awards.

Robert Montgomery, secretary of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences says without their support, the Oscars are a thing of the past.

The producers, in a joint statement from New York, indicated they are withdrawing financial aid to the awards to remove "any suspicion of company influence."

Montgomery, academy secretary, declared last night: "The academy is not in a financial position to sponsor the awards itself. And since the film companies benefit from the Oscars, it seems only fair that they should help contribute to the presentation ceremony."

Montgomery pointed out that the proposed law to ban handling of poisonous snakes by religious cultists was approved by the senate health committee today.

The bill, which was sponsored by Senator C. A. Peterson of Mitchell, was approved by the committee without debate.

It would prohibit handling of snakes whose venom has not been removed and also would make it illegal to induce other persons to expose themselves to poisonous snakes.

companies exploit to the limit any Academy Award won by their pictures.

The producers stated they will continue "moral support" of awards in general, if based on "democratic selection."

The statement was signed by Nicholas M. Schenck of Loew's (MGM), Barney Balaban of Paramount, Spyros P. Skouras of 20th-Century Fox, Mal Albert Warner of Warner Brothers and Ned Depinet of RKO.

"I don't know what they are talking about," Montgomery said. "The Academy Award process is completely democratic. And the academy itself is as democratic as the Grand Central Station."

The producers said they should not be in a position, as they have in the past, where they can be accused of "subsidizing an artistic and cultural forum."

The producer statement was in reply to charges by Jean Hersholt, academy president, that they were withdrawing support because "voices in the industry" wanted to make commercial pictures, unhampered by artistic standards.

Job For Senator

Washington, March 31—(AP)—It appeared likely today that Senator Graham would be named a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Senator Hoey said.

"That depends on resignation of Senator Wagner from the committee because of illness," Hoey told a newsman yesterday.

Hoey added that the new senator definitely will be assigned to the Post Office Committee, and possibly to the District of Columbia Committee.

Spring Blizzard Hits Nebraskans

Hayes Center, Neb., March 31—(AP)—Howling winds early today shaped drifts from 23 inches of snow dumped on this southwest Nebraska community by a spring snowstorm.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour swept the area last night cutting visibility to zero and halting traffic. Similar conditions were reported farther east at McCook. Early today winds of 33 miles an hour with stronger gusts were reported.

The storm, which began moving into the state Monday night, left 15 inches of snow at North Platte and lesser amounts elsewhere. The Weather Bureau said the storm was making a slow exit and would probably move out of Nebraska before the day was over.

The snow had left some roads blocked, closed schools in at least five towns and brought new threat to cattle which are now in the calving season.

Seats For Circus

New York, March 31—(AP)—Nine-year-old Rose Gelbard stood and stared at the bright circus poster with the laughing clown one day.

That night she wrote a letter. Although Rose, her parents and her brother, Jackie, 4, had arrived in this country only a week before as war refugees, her English was clear.

"Dear Ringling Brothers, I saw a picture with a funny clown and it says there will be a circus. Please, can I come to your circus. In the place I was before I came here to U.S.A., there was never circus or anything for us to laugh. Always we are running from war. My mother saw a circus. My mother says before the war we could see circus monkeys and everything and things to eat but I wasn't born then.

"I would buy a ticket but I am 9. I thought maybe you would have a seat nobody wants and you would write me a letter because I would want that seat so much. If you have no seats I could stand up. I would be glad to stand up just to see your circus. If you have a seat my brother could come. We only need one seat. He is 4.

"Thank you please write to me. Your friend, Rose Gelbard."

Yesterday, Rose received a reply from the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus from its winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla. It said two seats had been reserved for Rose and Jackie for an afternoon performance at the circus at Madison Square Garden April 13.

Rose read the letter over and over again. She laughed and cried. "I once saw a monkey in Antwerp," she said, "but never a circus."

I have enough. I'm not particularly interested in dancing."

But he's not down on social butterflies.

"Live and let live," says the sense talent champ. Dwight is five feet, 11 inches in height, weighs 140 pounds. Taylor used to collect stamps, too, but his interest in mollusks became such that "my stamp collection went to the dogs."

TEEN TALK

Dear Judy

Washington—How do you get to be the "nation's top teen age scientist?"

Dwight W. Taylor, 17 of Altadena, Calif., who won that accolade this year, began it all when he was a 7-year-old kid, walking barefoot along the beach at Balboa.

It was then that Dwight became interested in collecting mollusks (shellfish)—an activity that gradually led to a serious scientific study.

The payoff came when he was awarded a $2800 scholarship in this year's eighth annual (Westinghouse) Science Talent search conducted among high school students all over the country.

An essay on his mollusk researches—particularly studies he made on Nantucket island, off the Massachusetts coast, the past three summers—was one of the chief factors in Taylor's victory.

While vacationing on Nantucket, he collected 120 species of mollusks—including snails, mussels, clams oysters and cuttlefish. Previous to Taylor's explorations only 46 species had been identified there. Mollusks do not include shellfish like crabs and lobsters.

He says he believes that his survey, compared with studies of fossil remains of mollusks in the area, will yield valuable information about climate changes on the island over the centuries.

In his room at home in Altadena, he has a large collection of mollusks of various types—most of them fresh water specimens he picked up in and around California.

He uses various kinds of equipment—ranging from a hammer and chisel for getting a fossilized specimen from a rocky formation to nets and "baited pots" for getting live samples.

Taylor keeps his collection in a couple of big cabinets at his home and—"I've made it very clear (to the rest of the family) that they are to be left alone."

One of his two sisters—Helen, 14—takes a dim view of his passion for studying mollusks.

"She thinks it's very peculiar," laughs Taylor. "She thinks I don't get enough social life. She tries to be a social butterfly—goes to dances and parties a good deal. I go once in a while in the summertime. At school, there's not too much social life. But I think

They Call The Doctor

Denver—(P)—Did you ever have to call a doctor in the dead of night? And then not be able to reach him? That frightening situation isn't worrying Denver residents any more. The town's medical society has established an emergency service to meet that problem and many others.

If a person can't reach his own doctor and needs one immediately he can call the referral center. A registered nurse answers the telephone. If the sick person doesn't need skilled attention for another 30 minutes or so she summons a doctor in the caller's neighborhood. The doctor needs time to dress and drive his car within speed limits to the patient's home.

But if it's an emergency requiring immediate care, the nurse notifies the police surgeon who races at high speed in a siren-blowing ambulance to the scene.

Less dramatic and perhaps more important is giving new residents information about physicians, hospitals and convalescent homes.

Mrs. Lorene Davoren, director of the referral center, has complete information on 450 doctors out of the 625 active members of the Denver Medical Society. Those who are unlisted are mostly doctors who do not deal directly with the public.

The selection of the doctor's name is on a rotation basis. The center has complete information on what doctors will accept night calls and on what nights.

Singapore Gets U. S. Cigarettes

Singapore—(P)—American cigarettes have been barred from Singapore for three years but they're as plentiful as the rains in this Southeast Asia port.

Every so often a stern slap on the wrist is aimed at those who evade regulations and use up valuable United States dollar exchange for purchase of non-vital American cigarettes.

Such a campaign is being pushed these days with all the drive and enthusiasm of a walk in the tropical sun.

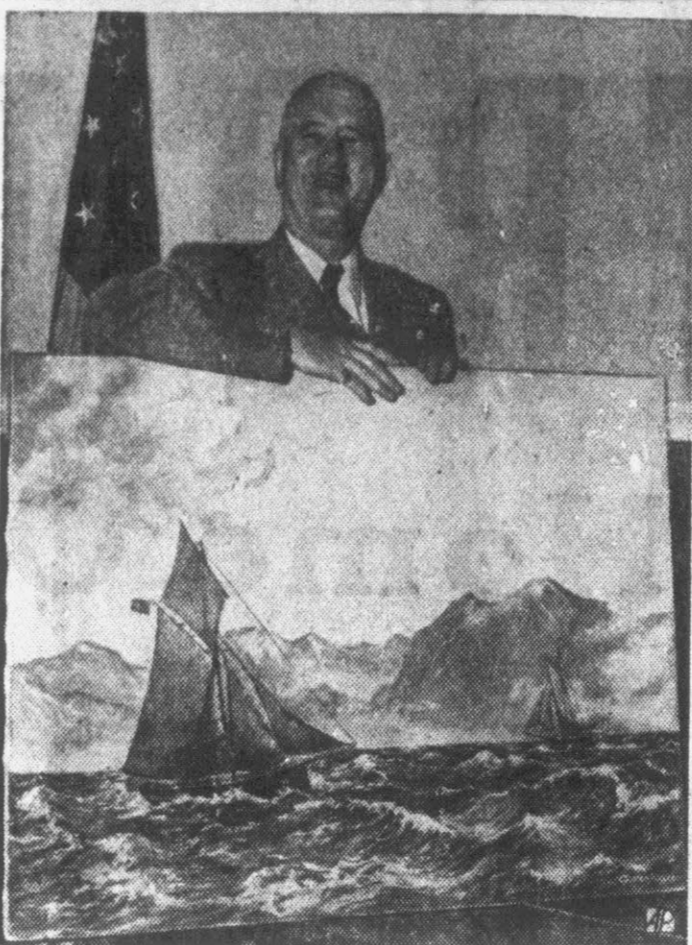

Along with other lands in the British sterling world, Singapore seeks to use its U. S. dollars to buy such essential commodities as chemicals, metals, and the like.

Why then can a smoker stop at any shop and buy all the American cigarettes he wants for the same price (about 30 U. S. cents) as are asked for comparable British brands?

Too strenuous customs endeavors might irritate legitimate importers. "We must strike a sensible balance," explains a British official with a good-natured shrug of his shoulders.

When is it anticipated that the present supplies will become exhausted—as happens when stocks become scarce—prices will begin to cumber? Officially, perhaps in a few months. Unofficially, never.

Incidentally, American cigarettes aren't too sought after in this far-off land. The American colony is small and the British prefer British ones.

Freedom Train Like Paul Revere

Washington—(P)—Rep. McSweney (D-Ohio) sees a strong resemblance between the clikety-clack cadence made by the wheels of the Freedom Train as it rolls throughout America, and the sound made by the galloping hoofs of Paul Revere's horse.

"I feel that this train is, in reality, almost a mechanized Paul Revere, carrying into every Middlesex village and farm the things we want the people of our community to see,"

he told the House during debate on an appropriation to continue the operation of the train, which already has visited many American communities.

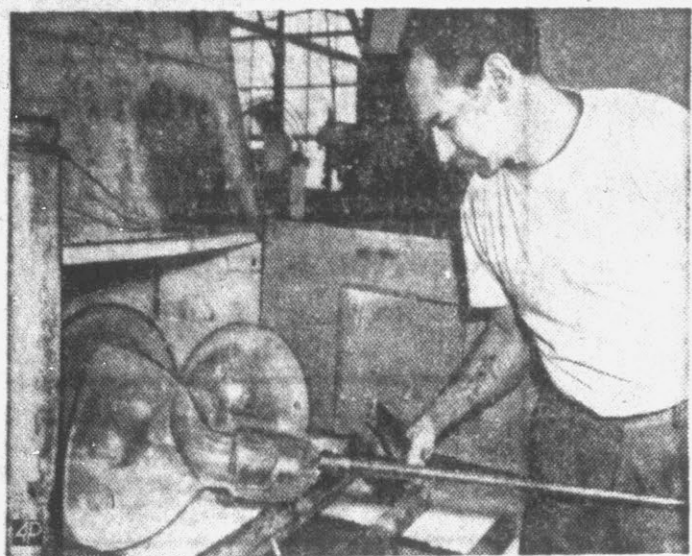

"We are not sending out copies but we are sending out the originals of these great documents (of American history) that fire the imagination not only of our own people but of the people of the world."

"When the New England poet Emerson said: 'By the rude arch that spanned the flood, Their flag to April's breeze unfurled, There once the embattled farmers stood, And fired the shot hear 'round the world'—I am frank to say that the shot could not have reverberated very long unless we have given meaning to that shot. So the great American, Thomas Jefferson, did not fire a shot, but he fired the imagination of the people by giving them the cause for firing that shot in the Declaration of Independence, which gave the cause for our Revolution and gave those patriotic men the reason for going out and dying for that cause of freedom."

New York, March 30—(P)—A group of voluble western European foreign Ministers arrived today aboard the big liner Queen Mary to sign the North Atlantic Pact. A fellow traveler was Russian deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, still saying "no."

Manager Pappy Williams stated after yesterday's practice session at Guy Smith Stadium that while his squad is far from set he has some very encouraging talent in camp, and he hopes to make the best of it before the season opens April 21. The fans will get a chance to see the newcomers in action, beginning Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the East Carolina Pirates play an exhibition game out at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Roanoke Rapids Jays now boast of 12 players who have signed contracts with them for the season. Three of those signed are pitchers of last season who are returning to help the club's cause again. They are Pete King, Jesse Van Hoose and Alton Brown. . . . Johnny Wolfe, who is assistant coach of baseball over at the college this season, has been signed to coach athletics at the Tarboro high school next year, replacing Shot Cox.

The following item was clipped from Bob Weirich's column in the Tarboro Southerner Tuesday: "Going away out on the limb we're going to have a look at the coming baseball season. Everyone is picking Bull Hamons and his New Bern Bears to cop the pennant. We may be wrong, but we'll take the Bears to finish third. In first place we'll put Wilson, in second Tarboro, in fourth Rocky Mount. For the other four places Kinston, Roanoke Rapids, Goldsboro and Greenville in that order. Hope that limb isn't diseased." Note—The Tarboro editor knows just as much about the team as he does about his own club and that is nil, and boy, won't Pappy Williams give him a surprise when the season gets underway on the 21st. Pappy's slogan at the present time is "A First Division Team for Greenville This Year."

Speaking of nicknames, do you know how the sixteen teams of the major league got their monikers—or what they used to be called? Can you identify the Bridgrooms, the Superbas, the Infants, or the Robins. They are all the same team, now known as the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Brooklyn team came to be known as the Trolley Dodgers in 1888, when Brooklyn was overrun by trolley cars. Then, for a while, the married men on the roster outnumbered the single men, and they were called the Bridgrooms. When Ned Hanlon owned the Brooklyn franchise, the Hanlon brothers' stock company name, Superbas, was given to the ball team. Then, in 1910 Chas. H. Eddets made a speech about baseball being in its infancy and the team became the Infants. When Wilbert Robinson managed the team the boys were called Robins. After Robinson, they were the Dodgers again, and lately, the Bums.

The oldest nickname in the majors belongs to the Cincinnati Reds, dating back to 1869. The latest is the Jays. National League entrant of Philadelphia, which has been known as the Phillies or Quakers since 1883. The Athletics was one of three clubs, so designated to distinguish the Philadelphia teams, before the founding of the National League. There was an Athletic team in the National League in the American Association, which operated as a major club up to 1861, and in the American League.

The Boston Braves got their nickname when James E. Gaffney, a Tammany Hall Brave, became club president in 1912. The New York Giants acquired their sobriquet way back in 1886—the players were unusually large.

In 1890, when the Pittsburgh team lost 113 of 136 games, it was dubbed the Innocents. That was short lived, for the owners were so adept in stealing players from other teams that the club became known as the Pirates. The Cleveland team operated as the Spiders, the Wanderers, the Blues, the Naps (for Nap Lajoie) and the Molly Maguires (for John McGuire) before the name of Indians was adopted in 1915.

The color of stockings played an important part in several nicknames. The Boston Red Sox, also known as the Puritans, Plymouth Rocks, Somersets (for Owner Chas. W. Somers) and Speed Boys, became the Red Sox officially in 1907. The Chicago White Sox were the Chicago White Stockings. From White Stockings, Chicago went to Anson's Colts, Orphans, and finally Cubs, as the result of a naming contest.

The St. Louis Cardinals were first Reds and then Maroons before they became Cardinals in 1899, because of their cardinal-trimmed uniforms. The St. Louis Browns entered the American League in 1902 as the Browns. The Detroit Tigers were Wolverines before 1899; the late George Stallings said Tigers came from the players' striped stockings. Fans voted to call the Washington Club the Nationals, but many writers still use the Senators, Nats, or Griffs.

Sports headlines sometimes determine the nicknames. The New York Yankees used to be the Highlanders—since they played on the Washington Heights in New York—but Highlanders was too long to fit comfortably in a headline. So two New York sports writers rechristened them Yankees—often cut nowadays to the even shorter name Yanks.

Michigan State College is the second team in history to win both the ICA4 and the NCAA cross-country championships in the same year. Rhode Island State turned the trick in 1941.

Earle Brucker didn't raise his boy to be a catcher. At least, he did everything to discourage his son from going behind the plate where the father had spent his days as an active player. Brucker wanted Junior to be a ball player, but an outfielder, infielder or even a pitcher. Catching was too tough, and catchers were seldom appreciated for their true worth, said Earle. Being a normal youngster, Earle, Jr., did exactly one, too, if the $30,000 bonus the Athletics paid for his signature means anything.

The senior Brucker is battery coach of the Athletics and in a fine position to tutor his son. That should make him happy but instead he is fretting about putting the youngster on a spot, to say nothing of the spot in which he finds himself. In the first place, Coach Brucker wasn't anxious to have his son sign with the Athletics but he had given his word to Connie Mack that the Philadelphia club would have a chance to match any offer the youngster received.

When Earle, Jr., attracted the eyes of several big league scouts while catching for San Diego State College and flattering offers started pouring in, Dad Brucker reported it all to Manager Mack. When the Yankees boosted the ante to $30,000, he drew a sigh of relief. That would settle the issue, he figured. It did. But not the way he expected, for the Athletics matched the bid and signed the young catcher. Now there is nothing left for Coach Brucker to do but mould his son into a great catcher.

Full Schedule In Sight For N. C. College Athletes

By The Associated Press

Athletic directors at North Carolina Colleges would make top flight train, bus or plane dispatchers.

A glance at today's crowded spring sports schedule will convince you that the men who run college sports must eat, sleep and breathe time-tables as they ready a playing field here, send a team there and attend to a thousand and one other details.

Ten teams continue a busy program on a far-flung front. Baseball games place Duke at Clemson, Wake Forest and Cornell at Lenoir-Rhyne, Guilford at East Carolina Teachers, Davidson at N. C. State and Michigan State at North Carolina.

Tennis matches are booked between Haverford and North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Duke and Florida at Gainesville. The University of North Carolina's Lacrosse team swings into action at Chapel Hill against Delaware.

Wake Forest's golfers dip into Florida on an already successful southern jaunt, meeting Florida at Gainesville, and North Carolina's linksmen are hosts to Haverford.

N. C. State and Wake Forest had to uphold Tar Heel honors in basketball games yesterday. State turned back Washington and Lee, 6-3, behind sophomore righthander. Bob Smith's sharp, six-hit flinging and a two-run homer by Jack McComas.

Wake Forest plastered Cornell, 11-5, at Southern Pines, smashing out 17 hits, including four homers by Kent Rogers, Joe Fulghum, Russ Batchelor and Vic Matney. Vernon Mustian and Moe Bauer authored the win from the pitcher's mound, giving up eight hits.

Frank Gillespie, first baseman and star athlete for Clemson, homered twice as his Tigers ran roughshod over Duke's Devils, 13-3. North Carolina and Michigan State played to a 5-5 tie which was ended by darkness and Davidson lost, 9-4, to the McColl, S. C., semi pro nine.

Cage Coach Is Going To Israel

New York, March 31—(AP)—Nat Holman, basketball coach of the City College of New York, will leave tomorrow for the new state of Israel to help in the development and promotion of the cage sport.

Holman was invited by the Israeli government. He expects to spend three weeks in the country conducting clinics for coaches giving lectures and demonstrations.

Joltin' Joe Goes Through His Workout Okay; May Be Starter

By JACK HAND

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' $90,000 "if," smiled as he peeled off a sock in the clubhouse at Miller Huggins Field. The old toothy grin was back.

"I'm afraid I'll play another year. Every blankety blank inning," he said. "It looks like I'll have to work for my money."

DiMaggio had just passed his first test with flying colors. The tender right heel that threatened to end his great career gave him no trouble in a six-inning chore against Cincinnati. It was his first start.

"The pain is not completely gone," said Joe, "if it (the heel) improves a little more, I'll be very happy."

"After the first workout (March 1) I thought I'd have to hang up. Now I feel like I could play nine. I would have, too, but Casey Stengel said 'Don't overdo it.'"

"Not until I get on base will I know for sure what I can do. But I don't expect any reaction. If it holds up, I'll be in good shape."

DiMaggio, the highest priced player in Yankee history at $90,000 per year, underwent an operation for removal of a spur from his right heel during the winter. Although it appeared completely healed, he overdid it in the first day of training.

After a hurried trip to John Hopkins for observation, DiMaggio was sidelined. Until yesterday he appeared in exhibitions only as a pinch hitter. He had not been too

Deer Hound And Fox Friendly At Windup Of Chase

By CHESTER WALSH

Grover Cleveland Worthington's deer hound, "Rattler," and a gray fox enacted a drama in the woods near Winterville yesterday that elicited the admiration of four fox hunters, Rufus V. Keel, Jimmy Stox, Alton Tripp and Worthington.

"Rattler" and other hounds had been trailing the fox several hours. The hunters, in a car made short cuts to keep up with the dogs. They suddenly became quiet. Alton Tripp found the fox lying on the ground, exhausted, and old "Rattler," the deer hound, lying by old Kenyard, licking the water from his coat received in crossing a stream.

When the other dogs approached, the hunters said, old "Rattler" growled threateningly and would not allow the dogs to attack the exhausted fox. When Stox and Worthington approached, the fox fled and the other dogs caught her and killed her, while old "Rattler," too tired to run again, registered his resentment.

Luck Turns For New York Yanks

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Things were looking up today for the New York Yankees. The ailing Joe DiMaggio has played his first game; a pitcher had gone nine innings and a four-game losing streak was broken.

DiMaggio played six innings against Cincinnati yesterday. Lefty Ed Lopat worked what normally is a full game. He gave way after nine innings to Clarence Marshall who received credit for the victory when the Yanks whipped the Reds, 7-6, in 11 innings.

optimistic.

It remains to be seen what will happen when Joe has to sprint to first base or race to deep center after a long fly. In yesterday's game he made two easy catches, almost without moving, fielded a grounder and went hitless in three trips.

It looks now as if DiMaggio will open the season for the Yankees, barring further misfortune. How far he will be able to go is a matter of debate. He has a terrific personal pride in his accomplishments.

Trout and Sea Mullet Begin Run On Coast

Morehead City, N. C.—Anglers this week trying their luck in local waters have been catching some fair sized trout and the first of this species was reported caught on Saturday. Previously party boatmen reported good catches of set mullet. One or two exploratory trips have been made to the Gulf Stream off Cape Lookout by sportfishermen but to date no dolphin, amberjack or other blue water species have been taken.

Guilford Rallies For Three In Ninth To Defeat Pirates

McCotter Holds Visitors Scoreless For Seven Innings, And Then Roof Fell In; Guilford 4, ECTC 3

By EUGENE PRICE
Guilford College rallied three runs in the top of the ninth inning to defeat the East Carolina Teachers College Pirates four to three in the North States baseball opener played here yesterday afternoon.

The two teams meet again this afternoon at 2:30 in a return game. Guilford's speedballing right hander Bill Kerr will probably do the chunking chore for the visitors and Ab Williams will be on the hill for the Bucs.

Centerfielder Wally Maulsby banged out a two run double in the top of the ninth to put the game on ice for the Quakers. He was tagged out trying to stretch it into a triple.

Losing hurler Bob McCotter held the Guilford nine scoreless throughout the first seven innings while the Bucs jumped to a three to nothing lead.

It was a scoreless ball game until the fifth when B. B. Ricks crossed the plate for the Bucs' first run on an error. In the seventh the locals pushed their lead to three runs when Haywood Kelley, who tripled, scored on Stan Terrill's single and later Bob McCotter doubled and scored on an infield error.

Guilford came to life in the eighth when Ballinger poled a triple and scored on Jones' single.

Then in the fatal ninth inning Jack Chatham led off with a single for the Quakers. Brick Ferrell popped out to center and Billy Powell forced Chatham to second putting two men on base. Bill Stamey and Sam Venuti both followed.

Stamey's singles brought home Powell, while Wally Maulsby doubled to right field sending Stamey and Venuti across the plate with the tying and winning runs. Maulsby was tagged out trying to stretch his hit into a triple. The Bucs threatened to break back into the lead in the home half of the ninth, putting three men aboard on a walk, single and an error but a long drive to right field by Ben Hester was taken in by Jones to end the ball game with three baserunners left stranded.

Left fielder Chatham with three for four spearheaded the Quakers' 11 hit attack. The five Pirate hits were divided among as many batters.

Open Tennis Tourney Plan Draws Amateurs' Refusal

New York, March 31—(AP)—The question of an open tennis tournament popped up again today only to find the attitude of the amateur net fathers unchanged—the answer is a firm "no."

"Our rules forbid play with professionals," said Charles E. Hall, treasurer of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association and head of its sanctioned tournament committee. "We would have nothing to gain from an open meet."

Then he proceeded to paint a bleak picture for any meeting of minds on the subject for a long time to come.

It is likely to be years—if at all, he indicated, before tennis pros and amateurs can match strokes as they do in golf.

The latest to pull this ancient acorn out of the fireplace is Lloyd L. Douglas, director of the Save-A-Child Foundation.

He proposes an open tennis tournament in September with $30,000 in prize money and 32 of the world's leading amateurs and pros competing. Proceeds would be used to help bring D.P. children from Europe.

Hall said he has not been presented formally with Douglas' proposal.

"But," he added, "we have a firm policy on the matter. We aren't interested in open tournaments."

The tennis situation, he said, can in no way be likened to that in golf, in which the amateur and professional groups work in complete harmony.

"We have the organization in tennis. We have the club affiliations. We have the bulk of the playing talent."

"The pros haven't a solid organization. They should just use us for their own means—a good way to get rich purses."

Calumet String Departs Miami

Miami, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Citation and Coaltown were enroute to have de Grace Race Course, Maryland, today along with 22 other Calumet Farm thoroughbreds.

The shipment of race horses left Miami yesterday under the supervision of Calumet Trainer H. A. (Jimmy) Jones and was expected to arrive Friday.

Just before departure, Jones said the future of the stable's two stars—Citation and Coaltown—"depends upon the handicappers."

"Racing needs champions as well as other sports," he said, "and it isn't fair to unnecessarily pile weight on a race horse because he is a champion."

The veteran trainer said he favored limiting top weight in Handicap races to 130 pounds, as is done at some midwestern tracks.

Coaltown won five straight races this winter, including the $50,000 Widener, and twice equalled world speed records.

Jones said Citation, horse of 1948, was "still jogging" and in "serious training." Citation underwent an operation for a "popped osselet" here and did not compete in racing.

O'Brien Smashes Two Backstroke Records in Meet

Newark, N.J., March 31—(AP)—Maureen O'Brien smashed two national backstroke marks in an A.A.U. swimming meet at the Newark Athletic Club pool last night.

Swimming without competition she was clocked in :30.4 at 50 yards and :48.4 at 75 yards. These marks beat the previous records posted for the distances by Gloria Callen, Miss Callen's times were :31.5 and :50.2.

Miss O'Brien failed to make it three new records in a row, however. Her time for the total 100-yard race was three tenths of a second over the 1:07.5 record held by Eleanor Holm Rose.

Joe Gordon Is Ordered To Rest

Tucson, Ariz., March 31—(AP)—Joe (Flash) Gordon, the Cleveland Indians' star second baseman has been ordered to rest a sore throwing arm after examination disclosed strained ligaments.

Johnny Berardino replaced Gordon against the Chicago White Sox yesterday and smashed three singles in four trips as the Tribe beat the Pale Hose 8 to 4. The Tribe will meet the Sox again today.

Army was the only eleven among the 36 in the Eastern International Football Association not to lose a game during 1948. Army was tied by Navy, 21-21.

Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal star who led the majors in batting hit safely in 121 of his 155 games.

First Division

Orlando, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Owner Clark Griffith today predicted his Washington Senators would finish the American League season in first division.

"I don't see four clubs good enough to keep us out of it," he said. The Senators finished seventh last year.

The Senators lost their seventh game in 12 exhibition starts yesterday, 7-4, to the Philadelphia Phils.

Greenville Golf Team Suffers Its First Defeat

Greenville golfers yesterday suffered their first defeat in the Coastal Golf Association play this season as the Smithfield team topped the locals 45 to 33 on the Johnson County course.

Yesterday's loss brought the Greenville team's season total to two wins and one loss, and placed them near the top in the CGA standings. A total of 23 Greenville golfers made the trip to Smithfield yesterday to enter the competition.

Next Wednesday afternoon the local linksmen will be host to the Kingston team at the Greenville Golf and Country Club in the fourth round of the association tournament.

Harold Thomas, pro of the Greenville club, said lunch will be served at the club house for local and visiting golfers at 12:15, and play will begin promptly at 1 o'clock.

Giants Earn Tag 'Unpredictable'

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31—(AP)—The New York Giants appear almost a sure thing to be named the year's most unpredictable major league team.

Trampled 22-9 by the lowly St. Louis Browns on Tuesday, the Polo grounders vented their ire against the pennant-contending Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday to the tune of 11-4. The loss was the first in 11 games for the Pirates and only their fourth in 18 starts during the exhibition season.

Ring Padding Is Argued In Death

San Jose, Calif., March 31—(AP)—Disputed versions of the thickness of the safety padding in a San Jose boxing ring were given officials today as they scheduled a hearing into the fatal prize fight of young Billy Cornwell.

Cornwell, 26 lightweight champion of Iowa, died yesterday morning, 12 hours after being knocked out by Pete (Tote) Martinis of San Francisco in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round main event. Cornwell's head struck the mat after the knockout blow.

Dr. Anthony G. Badami, commission doctor, said death presumably was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Police chief Ray Blackmore, a spectator at the fight, said the ring padding was only about an inch thick, compared with the two inches required by law.

And assistant manager Frank Faulk of the Civic Auditorium said the padding was only one and one-quarter inches thick when it was new, adding: "It is even thinner now. We've been trying to get a softer rubber covering for it."

State athletic commission observers Col. David Gilmore and John Horan asserted they had inspected the ring at 1 p. m. Tuesday, and found the required two inches of padding in place.

$110 IN DIMES
Mt. Carmel trucker, Marle Woods, said he saved the ten cent pieces a year to pull that stunt.

Blind Father Coached His Son To Boxing Title

Hattiesburg, Miss., March 31—(AP)—Ask Jackie Cameron, who won a state high school boxing crown, and he'll get enthusiastic about how his pop's coaching paid off.

His father, W. H. Cameron, taught Jackie just about everything he knows about the punch and jab game.

Yet his father has been blind for 13 years.

Jackie, a Forrest County high school senior, fought his way to state championship in the 155-pound weight in the recent tourney at Bay St. Louis.

His father was at the ringside.

Cameron, blinded when accidentally struck in the face with a sledge hammer, never lost his keen interest in sports.

He put boxing gloves on Jackie at an early age. He attends nearly every football game here, with Jackie calling the plays.

Cameron explains simply, "I believe a boy should be encouraged to take part in sports . . . it teaches him to live clean and play fair."

He says he's working on his eight year-old son, Pete.

"I hope to make a good basketball player out of him," he added.

Colorful Field To Compete In Dixie Badminton Tourney At Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, March 31—Bob Cox, star University of North Carolina football end, and Jim Hayworth, 1948 Tar Heel baseball co-captain will be two of the competitors in the eighth annual Southern Badminton Association championships here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The field also includes a player with only one leg, Donald Kerr, president of the New Orleans, La., badminton club, who toured hospitals and gave exhibitions during the war.

There will be such old timers as Dwight L. Hollowell and Jim Taylor of Atlanta and fine young players such as Allan Hardin of Atlanta, an 18-year-old who previously ranked three nationally in the junior division.

And such old timers among the ladies as Julia Pickens of Charlotte, who won the championship as far back as 1941.

In fact, there are divisions for both men and lady players who admit to 40 years. Seven divisions, in all, with play starting Friday night and the grand finals Sunday afternoon.

For beauty as well as skill there will be such easy-to-look-upon competitors as Frances Burns and Doris Beasley of Chapel Hill.

There will be stars from distant states, Louisiana, Alabama, etc., and plenty of fine home talent. Ed Cloyd of Raleigh and L. S. Shaw of Durham are two of the outstanding North Carolina men players.

It will be a versatile and cosmopolitan field and the show will be both sporting and social.

Two White Sox Players Injured

Tucson, Ariz., March 31—(AP)—Catchers George Yankowski and Joe Tipton have joined the Chicago White Sox casualty list, the former with a wrenched knee and the latter with a bruised wrist.

Manager Jack Onslow hoped to stop the Cleveland Indians with pitchers Matt Surkont and Ernie Groth in the second game of their three-game set here today. Groth formerly was the property of the Indians.

The Sox lost their 11th exhibition game against seven victories yesterday when the Indians scored an 8 to 4 win.

In addition it was stated that oil refining had increased by 21.4 percent in the same period and that natural gas extraction had increased 23.6 percent.

The chairman of the State Planning Commission of the USSR, N. A. Voznesensky, announced in 1948 in connection with the postwar fourth five year plan that during this plan Baku oil output would increase by 50 percent and reach 17,000,000 metric tons in 1950.

Many Cases Are Heard In Superior Court Here

By CHESTER WALSH

In Superior Court Tuesday the grand jury indicted Howard Roebuck and Billy Roberson, white youths, for assault and attempted rape on Miss Frances Davenport, 18, of Greenville. Yesterday she testified that the two men assaulted her on a recent Sunday night while she was riding with them on the front seat of a car on the Washington highway, about five miles from Greenville, and that she escaped from the car while it was in motion. She later swore out a warrant before a magistrate for their arrest.

Roebuck and Roberson, through their attorney, submitted a plea of guilty of assaulting a female, and the court accepted the plea. Judge R. Hunt Parker will pass sentence later.

Morgan Fordham, convicted of driving drunk (second offense), was given six months on the roads, sentence suspended, and he was placed on probation for three years and remain of good behavior.

The grand jury indicted James Eddie Sheppard, colored, for criminally assaulting Lillie Hyman, colored, early in January.

Dallas Pollard, convicted of driving drunk, was given six months, sentence suspended and he was placed on probation for two years and ordered not to drive a motor vehicle for two years.

Other cases disposed of in Superior Court this week include the following:

Hoover Langley, colored, liquor law violation, two cases, 18 months on the roads.

James R. Davenport was not guilty of driving while drunk, but was convicted of reckless driving. He was placed on probation for two years.

George Harrington, abandonment and non-support, was given two years on the roads, sentence sus-ended and he was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay to the court clerk $15 a week for support of his family.

Wesley Turner and William Hales, breaking, entering and larceny, two cases. A nol proe was taken as to Hales. The court gave Turner from five to eight years in State Prison on one charge and from five to eight years on the other charge, sentences to run consecutively.

John Worsley, elderly Negro, charged with larceny of a radio, was up on appeal from Police Court. He was not guilty.

Raymond C. Duffy, elderly Negro who had worked as chef in some northern restaurants, clubs and hotels in his younger days, was given six months on the roads for manufacturing liquor on his premises near the river.

Robert Taylor, convicted of forgery in the sum of $508.47, was given two years on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he pay to the court clerk $15 a week for M. S. Bell until he pays $171.40 and court costs. The court's judgment stated that Taylor had violated a court order in his arrest at Farmville for issuing a worthless check.

Joseph Kirchner was not guilty of non-support. He pleaded guilty to issuing about $500 of worthless checks. Sentence is to be pronounced later.

Haywood Wilson was given six months for forgery, sentence suspended and he was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay to Bostic-Sugg Furniture Company $34.81 and H. L. Hodges and Co. $13.50.

John Wilks, colored, larceny of a cow, 18 months on the roads.

The case of William Henry Boone, trespass and attempted larceny, resulted in a mistrial.

Sunday Fishing Rule Is Stressed

J. O. Teel, district game warden for Pitt county, announced today that game protectors have been notified to enforce the ruling prohibiting net fishing on Sundays.

The law provides, Teel said, that any person fishing with a seine, drag-net or any other kind of net on Sunday shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than 12 months.

Recluse Leaves Wealthy Estate

Akron, O., March 31—(AP)—Miss Frances Louise Butler, 83-year-old recluse who died in a cluttered hotel room here last January, left an estate worth $902,545, an appraisal filed in probate court yesterday disclosed.

Probate Judge Vincent Zurs said he had given administrators until April 9 to file a petition to determine heirs. More than 250 persons have claimed kinship and a share of the estate.

No Bodies Or Survivors Found At Crash Scene

Edgar Springs, Mo., March 31—(AP)—An Air Force C-47 crashed into a farm pond four and a half miles south of here during a storm last night.

Six persons were reported aboard the craft but highway patrolmen at the scene have found no bodies or survivors.

The plane was enroute from Patterson Air base, Ohio, to Tinker Air Base, Okla.

An Air Force spokesman at Scott Air base, Ill., originally said he understood secret documents were aboard the craft but later denied the statement after talking to Patterson Field authorities. The duty officer at Wright Field, O., declared: "We've been told not to give out any information regarding the subject of documents aboard."

Sweet Potato Meet Scheduled Tuesday Night At Bethel

There will be a meeting at the Bethel high school Tuesday night at 8 o'clock for all Pitt County growers interested in the production of sweet potatoes, County Agent S. C. Winchester announced today.

According to Winchester, several Bethel businessmen have made plans to organize a suitable market

Costly Diamond Display April 2

A diamond display value at more than $200,000 is being shown in the window of Best Jewelry store on Evans Street today through Saturday of this week.

The stones in the display include small rough diamonds and polished stones, the largest of which weighs 16.58 carats and in its setting is priced at $29,500.

Besides the diamonds, emeralds and rubies are set in the rings, watches, necklaces and brooches which are being shown.

The valuable collection of stones is being displayed by the local store in connection with national diamond jubilee weeks which are now being observed.

Cuba Plans Tax On All Textiles

Havana, Cuba, March 31—(AP)—The Treasury Ministry reported today that it had approved a decree taxing textiles six cents per dollar. It will apply to textiles imported and to those manufactured in Cuba.

The government decided on the tax measure to build up a fund to help subsidize operation of textile mills in Cuba. Many mills have closed, saying they could not compete with imported textiles, chiefly from the United States.

Statesmen ...

More than that, these sources said the Spanish view was that Spain indirectly was linked to the Atlantic Alliance through her agreements with Portugal. If true, that's a mighty important development. For like it or not, if there should be another big war the Atlantic Alliance would need the adherence of Spain.

By the way, it will be worth while to keep an eye out for a possible change in the attitude of western powers toward Spain. Already there has been a quiet easing of hostility to the Franco government.

Next Monday's gathering of statesmen in Washington will be a colorful one. Among the most striking personalities will be Britain's Ernest Bevin and Italy's aging Count Carlo Sforza.

Both these men are fighters. Sforza, the most blueblood of Nobility, was born with a golden spoon in his mouth and yet fought for Democracy to the limit of risking his life by defying dictator Mussolini and even refused to obey a summons to a conference with a monarch in whose kingly prerogative he didn't believe. His vast fortune was sacrificed to the cause.

Bevin, an agricultural laborer's son in England, went out into the world as a small lad to earn his living the hard way. His life was devoted to the cause of the workers, and he battled his way to the top of British labor ranks as a two-fisted leader of men. Now he represents his Socialist government in the Foreign field.

So each, after his own fashion, has been working for the aims professed by all the nations represented among the treaty signatories—the general welfare of mankind, for which peace is essential.

Cows Going For Diet Of Sawdust

Memphis, Tenn., March 31—(AP)—Science is getting along right well in its effort to convert hay-burning cows to a sawdust diet.

Dr. H. K. Benson, chemist, told the National Farm Chemurgic council today some cows in the west are the Guinea pigs in this experiment.

They developed a liking for a molasses made from yeast and sugar, produced from sawdust. They appear to be thriving on it.

Free Tickets To Kids To See Puppet Show

SCIENTIST DIES

Moscow, March 31—(AP)—The death of N. F. Gamaleya, 90 noted Russian microbiologist was announced today in Izvestia.

Antarctica, which averages 6,000 feet above sea level, is higher above the sea than any other continent.

questions."

After listening to the 36 of them year after year, you begin to form a box-score of your own. Here's mine:

Best speaker—Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat. He's the toughest man in debate on the Senate floor. Watching him organize his ideas is a fine experience. And he shrugs off sarcasm so he can keep a cool head.

Men who look most like old-time senators—Clyde Hoey, North Carolina Democrat, who wears the same kind of outfit every day: blue gray pants, blue-gray cutaway coat with a red carnation and a wing collar; and Connally, who looks a little like an actor or William Jennings Bryan with his hair hanging down over his collar.

Man who wears me out—Donnell. Digging into the meaning of just one word, even if it takes hours, is a great delight for him but not for me. He lugs in loads of dictionaries to define a word.

Men who don't talk unless they have something to say—Douglas and Alken, Vermont Republican. Two thoughtful, intelligent men.

Most restless—I think Russell Long, Louisiana Democrat and son of the late Huey Long, gets the prize for moving around and slapping other senators on the back. He's only 30, brand new in the Senate, but he hops from seat to seat, getting clubby.

which were attacked in congressional hearings as weakening the rent ceiling system were described by Woods as "either of minor importance or they simply represent a new but not necessarily weaker way of dealing with certain problems."

This, he said, applies to the home-rule decontrol provisions.

In this Woods concurred with President Truman. In signing the extension act late yesterday, the President issued a statement calling it "an effective" law, well equipped with enforcement teeth, and a "crushing defeat for the real estate lobby."

N.Y. Cotton

New York, March 31—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 5 to 30 cents a bale higher.

Noon prices were unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower than the previous close. May 22.85, July 21.20 and Oct. 22.42.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Mar. 31—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady to 25 cents higher. Tops of $18.25 at Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Washington; $18.75 at Richmond.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Mar. 31—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 30; eggs steady, A large 43.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, March 31—(AP)—Stock prices tipped downward in the market today. Trading activity contracted sharply after the two days of lush business which accompanied news of a cut in margin requirements to 50 per cent cash from 75 per cent. Losses ranged from fractions to around a point, with most in fractional territory. A handful of issues clung to small gains.
