Jollyteers' Meeting

The Jollyteers held their bi-monthly meeting at Regress' barbecue stand on the night of April 13. Since this meeting was pressed for time it was a sort of abbreviated affair, but the club managed to take up some of the business on hand. Donald Rose reported that the club might be given permission to give its dance at the high school on a Saturday night since the gym is filled on Fridays. Walter Wilson was appointed to help Donald look further into the matter.

Arrangements for spending the weekend of April 22 at Morehead were just about completed, with minor details left to be worked out.

A resolution was passed that since the club had been founded for over a month and that anyone who had been interested in joining was already in, that the Jollyteers' membership be limited to 15 members.

A penalty of ten cents to be paid to the treasury by late members was also passed. Final members taken into the club are Tommy Hannaford, Billy Tucker and Robert Mayo.

Junior Woman's Club Bridge Tournament

On the evening of March 25, the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville sponsored a bridge tournament at the Woman's Club. This tournament was held for the purpose of raising money toward the buying of a new refrigerator for the Woman's Club building. The public cordially responded to this benefit and nineteen tables of bridge participated in the tournament.

The Easter motif was beautifully portrayed throughout the room with lovely potted and cut flowers graciously donated by the florists of Greenville. This motif was highlighted by a fashion show of Easter bonnets from Blount-Harvey's. The door prize, won by Mrs. S. L. Daughtridge, was one of these lovely bonnets generously given by Blount-Harvey's. Miss Kitty Collins and Master Donald Burnette represented the spirit of Easter upon the opening of the bonnet revue, and Mrs. H. R. Goodall was a gracious pianist.

Ladies' high score for the evening was won by Mrs. Claude Thigpen, high for the men, by Mr. J. R. Pittman, ladies' low by Miss Lelda Mills and men's low by Mr. Wendell Smiley. Floating prize for the evening a delicious cake baked by Mrs. Vance Perkins, was won by Mrs. Earl Fleming. These, with a high and low for each table, constituted the prizes for the evening. The merchants of Greenville donated all these prizes and the club wishes to express their sincere appreciation for this generosity.

Apple pie a la mode with hot coffee was served by the hostesses and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

Corset Company Sets Moving Day

General offices of the American Corset Company will be moved to Greenville by May 15, and the company's entire production will be coming from the Greenville plant by June 1, Vice President Charles R. Fole announced today.

The company began production here last fall in the building formerly occupied by the Greenville spinners, and has gradually shifted its garment production from its Detroit plant to the Greenville plant.

The local plant now employs 175 people, and by June 1, Fole said, the plant will have to have at least 250 workers. By that date, according to Fole's statement, the over 300 styles of the company's complete line of women's garments will be in production in the Greenville plant. Each of the styles will be produced in up to five colors and six sizes.

The official introduction of American Lady products in Greenville retail stores will be held next week when a company stylist will be at Blount-Harvey department store. Models of garments from the company's three brand names Arist Model, American Lady and Miss Today, will be included in the display.

Mixed spring flowers were artistically arranged throughout the house. A delectable luncheon was served. The table appointments were in keeping with the approaching Easter season.

Mrs. Marshburn gave a very interesting and informative talk on gardening, which was thoroughly appreciated. After the transaction of business, the members enjoyed visiting the novel garden arrangement which Colonel and Mrs. Marshburn are developing.

Plans Being Made For Book Club Day

Plans are being made for the annual Book Club Day to be held Tuesday, May 23, at the Woman's Club, at which time all the book clubs in Greenville meet together. Book Club Day originated in 1940, but was discontinued during the war years being resumed in 1947. This will be the fifth meeting.

This day has always been a red-letter day in Greenville among the book clubs, and the programs have always been most interesting. In 1940 Mrs. Lyman Cotten was the speaker. In 1941 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1942 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1943 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1944 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1945 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1946 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1947 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1948 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker. In 1949 Mrs. J. G. Green was the speaker.

A Lenten Prayer

"The Deep Dark Night of the Soul"
... But him they saw not. Luke 24:24. Read vs. 13-26.

The oldest records have nothing to say about the day after the crucifixion, except that the enemies of Jesus carried their opposition to the very door of the tomb.

The despair of that dark Sabbath is reflected in glimpses into the disciple band early on resurrection morning. Their faces were sad, they talked sorrowfully. All their hope was now in the past. "We trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel." Their disillusionment seems complete.

Over our world of countless crucifixions descends now a despair so profound as to leave small room for trust in anything. This counsel of despair becomes a philosophy of life that warns against all belief as deceptive. Bitterness and cynicism threaten to become a permanent state of mind for many.

The disciples' prayer began when they no longer could see Jesus; it ended when their eyes were opened, and they knew him. The burning heart of hope belongs to those to whom the Resurrection is a fact.

Let Us Pray: Be thou with us, Father, in all things, though we make our bed in hell. Go with us through the valley of the shadow. And cause our doubts and fears to disappear in the light of the risen Christ. Amen.

Motor Vehicles Must Have City License Plates

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Friday, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Willie Godley guilty of operating his automobile without a city license plate, fined him $15 and ordered the defendant to buy a license plate and attach it to his car. During trial of the case it was stated that a city ordinance requires all operators of motor vehicles to pay the $1 license fee and attach tags to their vehicles. Incidentally, the police have been ordered to report all locally owned cars not having city license plates. Police have a list of the numbers of all motor vehicles owned here and they are now doing some "checking on the violators," Police Chief Lester D. Page said.

Jay Gould Haddock, convicted of driving while drunk, was given 90 days, suspended on payment of $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked for a year.

William Barrett, colored, was not guilty of assault on a female.

Opal Waters, young white woman of New Bern, who was charged in a warrant with the larceny of $85 from Mrs. L. B. Nichols, 519 Greene Street, several days ago while on a visit there, was allowed to plead guilty to a charge of trespass. The court fined her $15 after it was testified that Miss Waters had made good Mrs. Nichols' loss.

Charlie Bowen, non-support, $15 and costs and he was ordered to pay $30 a month for support of his family.

Drunk: Grady D. Haddock, $15; Joseph J. Schuster, and disorderly, $15; Martha Barfield, (and disorderly), $15; James Killbrew, colored, prayer for judgment continued.

Harold G. Horn paid $15 for disorderly conduct.

In Police Court last Monday, F. S. Whitchard, C. S. Chauncey and N. H. Cameron each paid $20 for speeding.

Strength FOR THE DAY

EASTER

Easter morning at dawn, a group of weeping, broken-hearted women at the sepulcher of our Lord! Easter afternoon, the risen Lord walked along the road between Jerusalem and Emmaus with two disciples who were not only crushed at they were greeted by the crucifixion, but were greatly baffled as to why, in a God-controlled world, a thing as unjust as the crucifixion should have taken place.

Broken-hearted women and broken-minded men! It was to these two groups that our Lord Jesus spoke words of reassurance on the first Easter day. "Be not afraid," he said. As they walked along the Emmaus road, he opened up to the two disciples the Scriptures until their hearts turned joyfully within them.

To the broken-hearted in every age and to the broken-minded in this chaotic age of ours, the risen Christ still speaks. What he says is the only thing that will turn sorrow into joy. His counsel alone will turn the nations of the world from their insane policies of strife and lead us into the ways of peace.

Let us remember that this Easter season that Christ is risen. He is in the world today, just as he was on that first Easter Sunday. And if we will let him speak to us, he will dry our tears and comfort our hearts. If we heed his counsel as we ponder life's problems, the glory of the resurrection will make life's pathway plain before our feet.

THE GENERAL AND MRS. YBARBO

Yesterday, General Lucius Clay, military governor of the U. S. occupation zone in Germany, suddenly freed a woman convicted of killing her husband.

Mrs. John Ybarbo had been sentenced to 20 years in prison late last year. She was convicted under both German and military law by a U. S. military government district court.

A military government court of appeals threw out the conviction under military government law and reduced the sentence to five years.

In explaining his action, General Clay pointed to extenuating circumstances and conditions under which normal behavior could not be expected. "I do not believe Mrs. Ybarbo to be a vicious person and I am sure that the remorse of conscience will prove punishment enough in the days ahead," he stated.

The general was probably right and merciful in making use of his powers. But it does make one think.

In every slaying there are "extenuating circumstances" of one degree or another. Whether a man kills for money, love, lust, hate or jealousy, there are always basic reasons which motivate the deed. Frequently those causes are deeply hidden, sometimes unrealized by the person who commits the crime.

Mrs. Ybarbo, and possibly society itself, is fortunate that one who sat in judgment did not believe her a criminal but a victim.

Justice and mercy should forever walk hand in hand. No doubt the judges who interpret the law often wish it were simpler to determine the extent of 'circumstances,' willful wrong-doing and truth

No White House Egg Rolling This Year (News Item)

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

While the fate of the pyramid club is hanging fire in Greenville, there might be some of you who have sat on the sidelines and failed to realize what the commotion is all about.

If you are really interested in understanding the operation, draw a pyramid on a piece of paper and two horizontal lines through it. This figure can represent sixteen people by drawing eight symbols on the bottom line, four on the second, two on the third, and one on the tip-top point.

The eight people on the bottom line are new members at each meeting and pay "dues" (one dollar) to whoever happens to be appointed "executive" for the evening. The only other person present at a meeting is the person on the tip-top. He's the host and the relay of the moola to the ladder—to be mentioned later.

So if Joe Blow were a new member tonight, he would go to the house of the tip-top member, have refreshments, pay his "dues," yep a while, and take off. The next night Joe would not go to a meeting, but would send two new members, and his name would go up a step on the same pyramid or on a new one created by a split in the original eight names. The next night his name would go up another notch, and so on.

The reason for the split is that obviously two names cannot be on the top at the same time, so after Joe's name hits the second line there must be a split. And there have been splits all the way up, which explains what happens to the eight names each night. Four of them go to the formation of a new pyramid. Now that you are completely confused, I'll add this fact: beyond the pyramid is a ladder, containing six rungs. Joe finally goes from the top of the pyramid to the bottom of the ladder, and then up the ladder as the process continues. By the time the cycle is complete the top member on the ladder receives about $4,000.

Of course the catch is that not everyone is a super-salesman, not to mention the fact that many people are wary of a proposition that promises to produce thousands of dollars from one. And of course there's the legality angle.

Last night I checked with Chief of Police Page on the latest developments in Greenville. "The case has not been tested," he said, "but I have talked to several lawyers who consider it illegal under the lottery law."

The clubs operate on the same principle as the chain letters that hit top popularity last year. The results then were that the first participants made money, and the ones who joined after the legality scare made nothing.

The pyramid club craze hit Greenville at the same rate as some movies arrive here. Several months ago five-dollar clubs were in progress in New York and Washington. One Greenville lady praised the clubs not for banding. She tells me she has banded between 300 and 400 bats.

She says bat-banding has been going on since 1932 and about 30,000 bats have been tagged. The bands are obtained from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Miss Rogers says you have to be careful putting the band on. You mustn't squeeze it too tightly, because that might cause ulceration of the bat's wing and perhaps its death.

Miss Rogers is a bacteriologist at the Army Medical School in the division researching virus and rickettsial diseases, such as Rocky Mountain spotted fever and epidemic typhus.

From the moment she saw her first bat she began reading everything printed on the subject of bats that she could get her hands on.

"Though some bats—like the vampire bats, found in South America, Mexico and other places—have an unsavory history in legend, the bats in this country are interesting little HARSH—Harsh words were exchanged between the News and Observer and the general assembly Thursday and Friday. The Raleigh morning newspaper's lead editorial Thursday said some very unkind things about the legislature, using at one place the designation "contemptible." Legislators were irate throughout the day and Friday Rep. R. L. Harris of Person read a prepared statement to the house voicing resentment of such language and such attitude from the pen of the editorial office of a man "who has recently been honored by my party." (Jonathan Daniels, editor of the N and O, was named national committeeman three months ago in place of the late Joe Blythe.)

RECORD—The Royster statement was ad libbing and will not be in permanent files. Harris requested his statement be spread upon the journal and when the vote was taken Speaker Ramsey asked to be recorded as voting "aye." Meantime, legislative reporters of the N and O, who are not responsible for editorial policy and are personally popular with members, showed embarrassment. Feuds between general assemblies and the Raleigh morning paper are not unusual. In fact, it would seem strange if a session passed without expression of resentment by some member at editorial comment in the paper. Oldtimers said they could not recall another instance when such harsh words were used as appeared Thursday in the castigation of the assembly for not following advice of the editorial page on the entire Scott "Go Forward" program. Usually the comments both in the paper and on floor of the assembly are phrased in more polite language.

LOBBYISTS—There are all sorts of lobbyists, including some very smart and some very dumb. There was the man who called up his lawyer in a western county last weekend to say he had been asked to contact his senator about a matter and wanted to know the name of the senator from that district. The lawyer replied: "I am the senator and have been on the job since January 8." Then there was the other senator who received some two dozen telegrams from school teachers in his district urging him to support the "foundation plan" for public schools. The telegrams were dated April 13, nearly a full month after the "foundation plan" was completely killed. The school teachers didn't know about that.

Boyle's Column

By MAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—This is a nice Easteride, because men don't have to talk to God alone in a foxhole.

This hasn't been necessary for some four years. In crowded small church or tall cathedral of Christian lands families can worship Jesus in peace.

But many an ex-soldier, looking at the young son kneeling beside him, will wonder:

"Will my boy some day have to—as I did—pray alone at this time in some place of war?"

And he will offer up a small silent prayer of his own that this won't happen. And the prayers will be said in many languages—English, French, Dutch, Russian, German, Italian.

Easter has a peculiar niche in the heart of men in combat. At Christmas thoughts of religion aren't in their minds so much as the memories of their families. The broken packages full of small gifts come and they are homesick to the bone.

But at Easter the story of Christ, His death and rebirth, stirred the doughboy of the second World War deeply. Part of it, perhaps, was tied up also the rebirth of the particular land he was fighting across. He could lie in his muddy foxhole and see the green spears of grass springing from the winter-locked earth.

I don't know how the fighter pilot felt at Easter, climbing a tranquil sky. Probably he felt like the poet-airman who wrote he had the sensation of being almost able to reach out and touch the hand of God.

But I do know how many of the walking soldiers felt. Some came to believe that they understood the Galilean carpenter better than anybody. For the infantryman suffers most in war, and lived on faith. They came closer to him through the kinship of agony.

It isn't true, of course, that there were no Atheists in foxholes. But the Atheist was a particularly lonely man at Easter. His foxhole held only a man with an animal desire to keep on living. But the foxhole next to him held that and something more—A man with faith that if he were killed there was a spiritual life beyond.

I don't know that this made any difference to a German artillery shell. But it made a difference to the two men.

Whenever possible, the front line soldiers were brought back a few thousand yards at Easter, a group at a time, to attend brief religious services. This gave them a respite from rifle and mortar fire. But they were still within enemy bombardment range.

Once I attended one of these services in a clearing in a cork forest in Northern Tunisia. After it was over a grimy infantryman said to me thoughtfully:

"You know this must puzzle God. We come out of the lines to pray to Him. On the other side the Germans must be doing the same thing. Everybody praying for peace.

"But when we're through we go right back into the lines and start trying to kill each other again. Does that make sense to God? It doesn't to me."

Well, this year the problem doesn't exist. And that is the blessing of Easter—1949.

WASHINGTON LETTER.. by Jane Eads

By JANE EADS
Washington—Miss Nancy Rogers saw her first bat when she went poking around a cave in West Virginia over a year ago with fellow members of the National Speleological Society. She admits she has been "batty" about bats ever since.

But first let me tell you about speleologists. They are persons who explore and collect data on caves. There are about 1,000 of them in the United States, with headquarters here, in 1949. They recently held their annual meeting here, and Miss Rogers, young and attractive secretary of the D. C. Grotto of the society, gave a paper on bats and bat

NORTH SIDE LUMBER COMPANY, INC.

Lumber Business Is Rebuilt After Swept By Blaze

By CHESTER WALSH

The North Side Lumber Company, swept by fire a year ago, has been rebuilt on a larger scale and modern machinery and other equipment have been installed. The company, widely known over Eastern Carolina now has one of the best equipped and stocked lumber mills in this section of North Carolina.

The company now is observing its 20th anniversary. N. A. VanNortwick entered the lumber business at Parrale in 1906 as owner of the N. O. VanNortwick Lumber Company. The present company was organized January 1, 1926, starting operations in September of the same year. At that time W. J. Smith of Bethel was vice-president, general manager and treasurer, and W. J. Smith, Jr., was secretary. About 10 years ago Mr. VanNortwick bought all the stock.

N. O. VanNortwick is president now; Dr. W. A. VanNortwick, physician of Jacksonville, Fla., is vice-president, and N. O. VanNortwick Jr., with 20 years' experience in the lumber business, is secretary and treasurer. The company has an average payroll of 50 persons.

In a recent issue of the Southern Lumber Journal, nationally known trade journal, devoted two pages to a story of the interesting and successful history of the North Side Lumber Company.

The new building at the plant, on the Bethel highway, across the river from Greenville, are practically completed. They include a planing mill, 88 by 48 feet, a sawmill 32 by 110, Moore double dry kiln, 3 by 56, with 36,000 feet capacity, and storage bins, 126 by 58 feet. Modern machinery is installed throughout the plant.

The North Side Lumber Company does a general lumber business, logging, milling and planing. It sells all types of building supplies from an armload to material for building a complete home. It operates a cotton gin in a separate building. President VanNortwick owns a boat which he operates at a profit. He and his son, Secretary-Treasurer VanNortwick, take an active part in community affairs and the company lends its influence to the progress of Greenville.

The lumber plant occupies several acres of land near a main highway and railroad facilities. A visitor gets no impression of its vastness, hurry or tension around the North Side Lumber Company's plant. Instead, he is impressed by a calm business like atmosphere, with every effort running like clock-work.

The company's business has expanded to such proportions that it now sells at retail in an area 75 miles each way. Deliveries are made as far away as Elizabeth City on the east, Emporia, Va., on the north, and Jacksonville on the south.

N.C. Peach Crop Said 43 Percent

Raleigh, April 16—(AP)—North Carolina's peach crop as of April 1 was 43 percent of normal, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

The estimate compares with 70 percent of normal conditions at the same time last year.

The extent of damage to peaches from the March freeze was difficult to appraise, the service said in a report yesterday.

It said the reason for wide variations in different localities and even within limited areas. Reports indicated, however, that the large commercial orchards suffered less damage than did non-commercial orchards.

Chapter 26

"Monday morning" Raff's face sagged with disappointment.

"Perhaps the mail hasn't been collected yet," Fenton said hopefully. "In that case it would be in the large wire basket on the main floor."

"Thanks, Dr. Fenton. I'll try to pick it up."

"Well?" Ellen asked as he bounded out. "You look pretty safe to me."

Raff remained silent and started the car immediately.

"Well, for Pete's sake, aren't you going to tell me about Fenton?"

"Same old story. He was looking for a letter that Hubbard had been holding over his head." Briefly he told her the story.

When he finished she said, "My God! He was a vile man! You know, if it weren't for Dr. Bray I'd say let his murderer be. He did a much needed service."

"We can't do that, Ellen. There was Bray. And there was almost."

of the neurologists there, to get their criticisms or opinions."

He turned to pick up the remaining two pieces of paper on the desk. "I guess this is all there was in that big envelope." He glanced at one. This is Fenton's letter all right," he said. "It's from that girl's mother."

"I think, my dear Ellen, we'll hang onto this letter, just in case."

He looked at the second letter in his hand. It was covered with a broad sprawling handwriting. The letter bore the Great Seal of the State of Iowa and was dated some three years previous. It was a letter from Ellen's father. Hubbard had also kept it for possible blackmail material.

Red Sox, Braves Are Deadlocked

Boston, April 15—(AP)—with their five game pre-season intra-city series, which includes a tie, deadlocked the Boston Braves and Red Sox resume activities today at Tom Yawkey's trim Fenway Park.

The National League champions, who suffered a 6-2 setback behind righthand ace Johnny Sain on their own premises Thursday, will attempt to gain the edge with Bill Voisard pitching.

Joe McCarthy planned to open with Lefty Mel Parnell, who probably will be followed by Chuck (Bonus Pitcher) Stobbs.

Greenies Score 9-7 Victory In Smithfield With Big Rally

By BERT MOYE
The Greenville Greensies rallied for two runs in the seventh frame to defeat the Smithfield-Selma Twins of the Tobacco State League 9-7, at Smithfield last night. The game was halted after seven innings of play by mutual agreement of both managers.

In the seventh Pete Gillespie reached first on an error, Joe Pasquale sacrificed him to second, Paul Strausser singled to bring home Gillespie, then made a beautiful steal to second base and when Steve Denier was being thrown out third to first, Strausser raced home from second base during the out. The Greensies took a 5-3 lead at the end of the second frame by scoring two runs in the first frame and three in the second. Three singles and an error figured in the scoring. In the second frame a double, three singles and an error gave the Greensies three more runs. The other two runs in the sixth frame came as the result of a walk single and a double.

The Twins scored three runs in the second frame on two walks, four singles and an error, and then came back in the fifth frame to knot the count at 7-7 with four runs which were made on five walks, a lone single, and two wild pitches. Hugh Everett stayed on the mound for the Greensies and was relieved in the second with one out after yielding three runs, five hits and issuing five walks. Jim Pollard pitched the next three frames, allowing two hits, four runs, struck out four and walked three. Junior Yonn pitched one-third of an inning and allowed no hits and no runs, issuing two free passes to first, Ken Brooks pitched the remainder of the game allowing one hit, no runs, struck out two and walked one.

Score by innings. R. H. E. Greenville 230 002 2-9 14 1 Smithfield 030 040 0-7 8 3 Everett, Pollard (2), Yonn (2), Brooks (6) and Pasquale; Kivest, Sancton (3), Marion (6) and Pickett, Sanders (4).

"Whiskers" Are Coming To Town

No, you're not looking at a baseball team, but at seven players from the famous House of David who will be playing the Greenville Greensies Monday afternoon at 2:30 in Guy Smith Stadium. Local fans are promised a rare treat if the barberless crew plays in the manner which makes the appearance of their basketball team here a howling success.

Track And Swim Titles At Stake In Durham Today

Durham, N. C., April 16—(AP)—High school trackmen and swimmers from North Carolina competed today in the Duke-Durham relays. The relays were booked for Duke Stadium along with the varsity track meet between Duke and William and Mary. Seven high schools have entered the relays—Durham, Charlotte, Fayetteville, Greensboro, Raleigh, Sanford and Florence, S. C. Entered in the swimming meet are Chapel Hill, Greensboro, Raleigh, Charlotte, Tarboro, Wilmington, Fayetteville and High Point. Durham won the relay title last year and Chapel Hill the swim crown.

New Coach And Athletic Head For Guilford

Guilford College, N. C., April 16—(AP)—Guilford's new athletic director and head football coach is Eddie Teague. He succeeds Doc Newton, resigned. Teague has been assistant football coach and in charge of intramurals and physical education for the last two years. For the last several weeks he has been acting director of athletics. Paul Lentz will be Teague's assistant, coaching ends and centers in football and starting basketball practice next November. A third man will be selected. Teague, 28, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina.

'Pyramid' Deal

McAllen, Tex., April 16—(AP)—The McAllen baseball club needs cash. So a group has stolen a chapter from the Pyramid club in hopes of raising the dough. It's working this way: Thirteen citizens have sent out 100 letters. On each letter are the names of five or six persons. Those who receive the letters are asked to telephone those whose names are listed, asking: Would you back a plan to finance the baseball club and how much money would you subscribe? Indications today are that those polled favor backing the club. Plans are to purchase the franchise now owned by Andrew J. Paris so that McAllen will not lose the franchise to another city.

Basketball Loses Big Attraction

New Haven, Conn., April 16—(AP)—Professional basketball lost one of its greatest potential attractions last night when Tony Lavelli decided to concentrate on music.

Yale's all-American cage ace turned down numerous job offers, including one for $11,000 from Syracuse. He was also the target of Boston of the basketball association of America, which had that loops rights to dicker with him. "It was the toughest decision I've ever had to make," said Lavelli, the nation's major college individual scorer last season. He registered 1964 points in 97 games with Yale—a record, and concluded his collegiate career as a member of the East team against the West's ace early this month in New York City. Tony's mind was made up shortly after he sold three of his compositions to the Broadcast Music Corporation of New York—"Cocktail time at dusk," and "Scottish lad and his Lassie," ballads, and "You're the Boppest Bee-Bop," a novelty tune. Up until then, "it was a toss-up between getting paid for playing the best game in the world, or concentrating on music."

Howard Hobson, Yale coach and a National basketball authority, counseled him throughout, said Tony, "and agrees I have made the wiser choice."

Athletics Hold Edge On Phillies

Philadelphia, April 16—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics are one-up today on their hometown National League rivals with still two games to play in the city series. The A's combined three successive hits in a dramatic ninth inning rally to win the opener yesterday 4-3. But the Phillies are out to square accounts today on the Shibe Park diamond. Hank Frazier of North Carolina State competes in a strange combination of track events—the middle distance and the pole vault.

Will Again Trim Derby Hopfuls

Havre De Grace, Md., April 16—(AP)—There'll be some more weeding out of the Kentucky Derby chaff here today in the Chesapeake stakes. Four of the seven 3-year-old colts entered for the $30,000 pot are being tested for worth to run in the Louisville classic. The owners of Capot, Colonel Mike, Swap Out and Taran should know after the Chesapeake if they've got a contender for the 1949 championship. With only three weeks remaining before the first of the triple crown events, the Chesapeake distance is a National conditioner for the Derby. The Chesapeake is a mile and sixteenth, three-sixteenths shorter than the Derby. As the Derby post time draws nearer there's a corresponding narrowing of the prospective starting field. In the past two weeks four highly regarded eligibles have been declared out.

State To Inspect All Out-Of-State Autos

Beginning April 20 all out-of-state and foreign motor vehicles brought into North Carolina for use in the state will have to be inspected by the highway patrol, the local auto license bureau announced today. A spokesman for the local bureau said the ruling has been released by the state department of motor vehicles of Raleigh, and all out-of-state and foreign vehicles must pass inspection before North Carolina license can be issued for them.

Old Miss Gives Highest Honor To Barney Poole

University, Miss., April 16—(AP)—The University of Mississippi has conferred its highest honor on Barney Poole, 1948 All-America football end. His selection for the Old Miss Hall of Fame was announced yesterday by The Mississippian, student paper. Poole began his grid career at Ole Miss in 1942. He was graduated last May. His football performances include stints at West Point and at North Carolina, where he was a V-12 Marine trainee in 1943. He participated in 64 college varsity games, more than any other player in modern times.

New York, April 16—(AP)—The stay at home fan who prefers baseball in his living room to hot dogs at the ball park will get a better break than ever before in major league cities this summer. Home games of each of the 16 teams will be broadcast, many of them on regional networks covering several states. Broadcasts of games away from home will be carried on local teams. And some or all of the home games of 13 teams will be televised.

Columbia's Crew Has Chance To Avenge Swamping

Annapolis, Md., April 16—(AP)—Columbia's crewmen go against Navy today in an effort to avenge a swamping handed them last year by the middies. The Severn River contest will help open the Eastern rowing season. Last year Navy coach Buck Walsh's men went the mile-and-a-half three quarters distance in 9:03.1, skimming in ten lengths ahead of Columbia. Stroking the 18th varsity boat, launched by Walsh will be a 175-pound youngster from Laurel, Del., Jim Bacon. He paced the piebes last year. Capturing Navy's shell will be Coxswain Spike Garland of New York City, the first coxswain to head up the crew in 15 years.

Two Versions . . .

(Continued from page one) living today whose bones would be moldering in alien soil had we insisted on rushing them in when our allies had an obligation to participate and, were willing to send their boys as a fair share of their contribution to the war to the defense of their people and their civilization. Which version is correct? The one in the New York Times, noted for its accuracy, which is the same version our own Associated Press reporters had? Or the version which appeared in the Congressional Record? I called Cannon and asked him. He said he hadn't read the published account quoted above. But he also said he did not know whether that's what he said on the floor. Why? He said he was excited at the time. He said he had gone on the floor with a prepared text. And it's his prepared text which appears in the Congressional Record. Then I asked him if he—as many Congressmen do—altered what the stenographer had taken down on the floor of the House before it could be printed in the Congressional Record. No, he hadn't touched the Congressional Record after he made his speech, he said.

Season Of . . .

(Continued from page one) sion. "om any quarter. The danger of a shooting-war still exists, but it isn't so great as it was—at least it so strikes me. It will be lessened still more if and when the western powers are able to combine Moscow that they definitely do not want war—that they haven't combined for aggressive purposes. Having reached this point I find on looking from my office window that the sun is shining. What more is needed to prove my argument? With that I'm going home and overhaul my fly fish tackle to get ready for the trout season. And I will tell you something more about that. Fishin' is mighty important. If more folks would take time off for fishin' this would be a better world to live in.

Following tonight's game at 7:45 with the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest College, four more games remain on the Greensies' exhibition schedule prior to the opening of the league on next Thursday. At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the local park, the Dunn-Erwin Twins will play the Greensies; on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the House of David team will play at the local park and on Monday night at 7:45 o'clock in Kinston, the Greensies play the Eagles in their new park. The exhibition series will come to an end on Wednesday night when the Greensies again return to Kinston for the fourth in a series of exhibition games between the two clubs. Please note the time of the games scheduled above and make your plans to attend these remaining exhibition games, especially the one Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and the one here Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Can Pappy Williams and his Greenville Greensies stop the 10-game winning streak of Wake Forest's Demon Deacons here tonight at 7:45 o'clock? That is the big $64 question now facing Pappy and his boys. The Deacons on Thursday night defeated Fayetteville, 2-0, and last night in Lumberton won by a 17-0 score. Both are members of the Class D Tobacco State League. The loss for Lumberton was their third against the Deacons this year. Make your plans to attend tonight's game and also you had better be there early as a capacity crowd is anticipated.

A good time will be had by all out at Guy Smith Stadium at two o'clock Monday afternoon when the barberless pill smackers tackle the Greensies in an exhibition tilt. Unlike most novelties, wherein the novelty is the whole show and real worth either absent entirely or only present as an extra measure, these "Bearded Beauties" are clever diamond performers and give spectators at their games a pleasing exhibition of playing.

First Miscue In 43 Games For Duke Baseballer

Durham, April 16—(AP)—One of the greatest defensive streaks in Duke baseball history came to an end yesterday when Jack Hancock, flashy Blue Devil first baseman, was charged with his first error in 43 games. The miscue occurred in the third inning of a contest with the University of South Carolina, which the Blue Devils won, 9-5. A tiny tot as first basemen go, the five foot, nine inch Hancock joined the squad for the first time last season and played regularly at his position in 26 games without making an error. He had added 17 games to the string this season.

A native of Sebring, Fla., and a member of the junior class at Duke Hancock is regarded as one of the finest infielders in the Southern Conference. In addition to his fine defensive play, he hit .314 for the Blue Devils last year.

Lots Of Baseball For College Nines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
College athletes around the state had plenty of baseball to occupy them today but there were still more tennis, golf and track engagements to round out a heavy day of sports schedule. In the former, North Carolina and South Carolina were scheduled for a game at Laurinburg, while Maryland was at Duke. Appalachian was at Western North Carolina Teachers College and Elon at Atlantic Christian in the North State fare.

C. State League. The track card has South Carolina at North Carolina State, Mercer at Davidson and William and Mary at Duke. On the tennis front Presbyterian was at Wake Forest, N. C. State at Washington and Lee Georgia Tech at Duke and Elon at Atlantic Christian. Results in yesterday's action: Baseball. Catawba 14 Atlantic Christian 4. McCrary 11 Davidson 2. Brooklyn, April 16—(AP)—Gill Hodges, a converted catcher, will be the Brooklyn Dodger first baseman this season. Chuck Connors who had a three game whirl at the station, probably will be kept for a while as protection.

Dimaggio's Name Missing From Opening Day Game

Baltimore, April 16—(AP)—The listing "J. Dimaggio, cf" will be missing again from the opening day lineup Tuesday when the New York Yankees start the American League baseball season. Joltin' Joe will be in Baltimore getting X-ray treatments for a troublesome pain in his right heel. The treatments which last about a minute and a quarter daily are to continue at Johns Hopkins Hospital until Tuesday and Dimaggio indicated that his physician might prescribe different treatment after then. Tuesday will mark the seventh opening day game in 11 years that Dimaggio will have missed. In a news conference yesterday, the star centerfielder said he didn't know when he might be able to get back into uniform but he added "I'm very optimistic." He declared that he "never gave a thought" to retiring. Dimaggio's heel was operated on for removal of a bone spur last November and he complained of it during his spring practice. He left the Yankee team Tuesday at Fort Worth, Tex., to fly here for consultation with his physician, Dr. George Bennett. Dimaggio said no further operations on the heel are planned. "I'm very optimistic or else I wouldn't be going through the treatments," the 34-year-old ballplayer declared. "I definitely hope I will be back in the lineup (this season) if the heel responds to treatment." In response to questions, Dimaggio said he hasn't considered becoming a baseball manager because he doesn't plan to retire. He has been mentioned as possible manager of the Yankees when he quits his active career.
