Mine Workers In Meet To Decide On New Demand

John L. Lewis And Top Aides May Set 1949 Labor Bargaining Pattern

Washington, April 25—(AP)—John L. Lewis met with top aides today to frame new soft coal contract demands that may set a 1949 bargaining pattern for other labor unions.

Lewis summoned his United Mine Workers' 2-man policy committee (9:30 a.m. EST) to decide on changes the union wants in the bituminous agreement due to expire June 30.

Coal, like many other industries has drifted into relative economic doldrums after the wartime and postwar booms.

Recognizing this, Lewis is expected to put more accent on requests for shorter working hours and higher miner security benefits than any boost in wages.

This is a trend many labor relations experts have anticipated. CIO President Philip Murray has called his Steelworkers' Union policy committee into session next week at Pittsburgh to set a bargaining policy, too.

Lewis has permitted a fairly clear advance indication of what his demands will be.

Only last week in Pittsburgh Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president, outlined three major aims: a shorter work week, a better sharing of available work among the miners, and some "improvement" in the present 20-cents-a-ton royalty on coal production for the union's welfare fund.

There have been indications that the $100,000,000-a-year fund is being spent on pensions, sickness death and other benefits faster than it is taking in revenues.

And this was even before the recent decision to lower from 62 to 80 the age at which miners can retire at $100 monthly pensions.

Miners now get a basic $14.05 daily wage for an eight-hour day out of the eight hours, however, only 6 1/2 are in productive work, because the miners' contract as of 1947 had worked for one hour travel underground and half-hour lunch period.

There has been speculation Lewis may ask for a seven-hour, or even a six-hour day, at the same $14.05 daily wage—a step designed to combat unemployment now that coal production has lessened. Lewis also wants some plan for balancing production between mines. Some miners now work only a day or two a week, others four or five.

Coal operators served advance notice that any added labor costs now—when they are in hot competition with other fuels for sale—will "price coal right out of the market."

Red Encounters Angry Britons

Plymouth, England, April 25—(AP)—Britain's top communist came to this naval port last night and ran into a menacing crowd of 3,000 that smashed doors, threw chairs, and besieged him in a hall for almost four hours.

Harry Pollitt, secretary-general of the British communist party, caught the full force of Plymouth's wrath at the loss of 43 British sailors aboard four vessels that came under Chinese Red fire in the Yangtze. Three of the craft were registered at this channel city.

The bill says that in carrying out the program "there shall be no discrimination on account of race, creed or color."

Chinese Reds Set Spring Of New Trap In Drive To Coast

Shanghai, April 25—(AP)—Red armies aimed a lightning blow toward the sea at Hankow today hoping to trap 300,000 Nationalist troops below Shanghai.

Other Communist forces, which took Nanking yesterday without effort, were reported just 19 miles from Shanghai. Residents of this, the world's fourth largest city, waited in a steady rain for the Reds. But none had showed up at dusk.

Shanghai seemingly was being bypassed. But none could say for sure. Even military spokesmen admitted they did not know just where the Red armies were.

The feeling grew among Shanghai's 5,000,000 inhabitants that the great Asiatic commercial center would go over to the Communists without a fight, just as Nanking did Sunday morning.

The Communists took their stations before some foreign embassies and all government buildings and utilities in Nanking. No guards were placed before the American embassy, however.

During the afternoon three government planes tried to destroy gasoline and ammunition dumps at the Nanking airport. Communist spokesmen said they overshot their mark and their machinegun bullets injured some Nanking children at play.

A welcome to the Communists by Nanking residents was planned for later.

At the time Nanking fell, the Communist radio at Peiping announced the capture of Taiyuan, Shanxi Province capital and industrial center 600 miles northwest of Nanking. Taiyuan had been under siege for months. The radio said all of the city's 150,000 defenders were wiped out. Pilots who flew over Taiyuan later reported it in flaming ruins.

The speed of the Red drive southward from the Yangtze apparently had thrown a noose around the government defenders. How close the Communists were to Hangchow, big port 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, was obscured by conflicting reports and lack of accurate military information.

Reports persisted that the Reds had taken Kashing, vital rail junction 53 miles southwest of Shanghai. If true, that would mean the last railway escape hatch to Hangchow from the Shanghai area already had been shut. Kashing controls the Shanghai-Hangchow railway.

Shanghai garrison headquarters kept parroting that this city would be defended to the last man. How, when and with what was not apparent.

Tang, Nationalist defense commander of the gigantic Shanghai-Nanking-Hangchow triangle, reportedly had fled Shanghai for the south. So had Premier Ho Ying-chin and other top government officials.

Russian Sees No Need Of Conflict But Denies 'Prejudiced' Descriptions Of Soviet Rule

Paris, April 25—(AP)—V. P. Volgin, vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, told the communist-led "World Congress for Peace" today that capitalism and communism can live peacefully side by side.

Volgin said this in backing up a statement made to the congress Saturday by O. John Rogge, former assistant U. S. Attorney General. Rogge had told the congress that the United States is not threatened by the Soviet Union and the Soviet Union is not threatened by the United States.

"This gives people a different outlook on the prospects for world peace," said Volgin, who heads the Soviet Academy's history and philosophy department. The congress closed here.

Volgin took exception, however, to Rogge's criticisms of the Soviet Union. Rogge drew bog and called Saturday when he said there was insufficient freedom for political minorities in Russia.

"He is talking about something he knows nothing about," Volgin said. "Every unprejudiced person can see in the Soviet Union that exploitation of man by man does not exist."

Like all but a few of the speakers here, Volgin criticized the United States. "Atomic energy," the Russians said, "should be used for peaceful purposes, as is being done in the eastern countries. But everyone knows many millions are being spent in the west on the war potential of atomic energy."

Scott Announces Two Appointees During Weekend

Raleigh, N.C., April 25—(AP)—Governor Scott named a paroles commissioner and a new head of the State Department of Conservation and Development within 24 hours after the Legislature adjourned.

As the lawmakers were breaking up Saturday, Scott announced appointment of Dr. T. G. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Newton, as paroles commissioner.

Yesterday he announced appointment of George R. Ross, principal marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture, as head of conservation and development.

Both men begin their new jobs effective May 1. They fill posts held by staunch supporters of Charles M. Johnson in the gubernatorial campaign.

Ross, who was the governor's liaison man with the Legislature, will succeed R. Bruce Etheridge, 70, head of the conservation department since 1933. Etheridge was appointed by Governor Ehringhaus.

Johnson fills the vacancy created by resignation of Hathaway Cross, who stepped down as paroles commissioner the day Scott assumed office. Cross became commissioner in 1942 when appointed by Governor Broughton.

Ross is a native of Joseph County, and a graduate of N.C. State College, class of 1911. He was director of state test farms, 1929-34, and from 1934 to 1937 was administrator of the Rural Rehabilitation and Loan Administration. In 1938 he was the farm representative on Governor Hoey's Education Commission.

He represented Moore County in the House of Representatives in 1921 and 1923.

Johnson is an experienced psychologist and sociologist and has been active in public affairs. For four years he was professor of psychology and philosophy and dean of men at High Point College. While in High Point he served on the city council and was on the editorial staff of the High Point Enterprise.

At present he is secretary of the N.C. Social Hygiene Society.

Ten Killed When Train Smashes Truck On Track Carthage, Tenn., April 25—(AP)—As a fast freight train ramed a truck crowded with Sunday worshippers at a crossing near here last night, killing 10 persons—nine in the one family—and seriously injuring another.

The truck burst into flames and was dragged some 100 yards down the track before the speeding Tennessee Central Diesel could come to a halt.

All 11 victims were returning from church services to their homes at Hogan's Creek when the accident occurred about eight miles south of here.

John Overstreet reported that he had stopped his car at the crossing to let some passengers out when the truck came up behind him.

"I knew the train was coming," he said. "I tried to wave the truck down, but my father-in-law pulled around me and went on in front of the train."

Bill Calls For Payroll To Provide Medical, Hospital And Dental Care For About 120 Million Persons; Cost Estimated $6 Billions A Year

Washington, April 25—(AP)—Legislation to carry out President Truman's far reaching health program was introduced in Congress today.

The bill calls for payroll-tax insurance to provide medical, hospital and dental care for about 120,000,000 Americans at a sponsor estimated cost of about $6,000,000,000 a year.

The administration measure also would put into effect all the other phases of Mr. Truman's program.

Those include federal grants for medical education, hospital construction, public health services and research. The bill also authorizes an experimental program of federal aid to farmers' health cooperatives.

A sponsor's statement accompanying the bill was signed by Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the Senate labor and public welfare committee; by Senators Murray (D-Mont.), Wagner (D-NY), Capper (D-Fla.), Chaves (D-NM), Taylor (D-Idaho), McGrath (D-R.I.), Humphrey (D-Minn.), and by Reps. Dingell (D-Mich.) and Biemiller (D-Wis.).

Not a single Republican name was on the list of sponsors. Some Republicans—as well as some Democrats—have branded the president's national health insurance program "socialized medicine."

But the sponsors, in their joint statement, retorted that substitute "voluntary" plans backed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and others travel "the sure road to socialized medicine."

Backers of the president's program called their payroll tax plan "a tried and tested Democratic way." They added: "In fact, it is the only way we know how to avoid socialized medicine."

The sponsors of the administration bill made no estimate of the overall cost of the Truman program, nor can one be made on the basis of the bill itself.

In some cases specific appropriations are called for, but in many other cases the bill simply says that whatever sum Congress finds it necessary to carry out its particular plan is "hereby authorized."

The sponsors did estimate the annual cost of the health insurance plan at about $6,000,000,000 a year, most of which would come from a 3 per cent tax on payrolls, split between workers and employers.

Federal aid for construction of hospitals would be doubled under the bill, going from the present $75,000,000 a year to $150,000,000.

A program for training practical nurses would cost $15,000,000 annually, while $10,000,000 of the first year and $15,000,000 each of the next four would be available to farmers' health cooperatives.

A new child life research program would cost $10,000,000 the first year and "the sums necessary" afterwards to carry out the program. Grants and loans totaling $35,000,000 the first year would be authorized to encourage doctors and nurses to settle in rural and other shorter areas.

To push medical education, existing medical schools would get $300 for each student enrolled on the basis of average past enrollment, plus $1,700 for each student above that average.

Dental schools would get $250 and $1,300 on that same basis, while nursing, public health and sanitary engineering schools would get grants in varying amounts.

Atlanta Slaying Baffles Sleuths

Two Arrests In Murder Of Tenor, But No Tie-In Disclosed

Atlanta, April 25—(AP)—Atlanta police, investigating the slaying of Metropolitan Opera tenor John Garcia reported they were just as baffled today as they were Thursday when his body was found.

Two men have been arrested in the case. Neither, however, has been connected definitely with the slaying.

Both arrests resulted from an investigation centering around a 38-caliber Belgian-made automatic pistol—the same caliber as the death bullet.

But the FBI in Washington reported yesterday it was unable to determine whether the fatal bullet was fired from the pistol.

Atlanta Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said the FBI's report leaves the slaying as much a mystery as ever.

The Belgian pistol was found in the possession of a North Carolina murder parolee, Grover (Tojo) Clinton, 44. He was arrested in Plymouth, S. C., Thursday and is being held on a charge of violating the National Firearms Act.

Pulley's half-brother, 26-year-old Wilbert Woodard, was arrested yesterday and jailed at Laurens, S.C. near Clinton. He is being held without charge.

Police said Woodard's name was found scratched on the Belgian pistol and that he admitted it was his.

Hugh Scott Says Party Will Have To Be Smarter Than In '48 If It Expects To Win 1952 Elections

Washington, April 25—(AP)—A Republican leader conceded today his party will have to be "a lot smarter than we were in 1948" if it expects to win the presidency in the 1952 election.

This observation came from chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., as the GOP national committee's executive group met to pass on proposals for regional party conferences next fall.

These conferences were approved yesterday by a 23-member strategy committee. The idea is that the Republicans thus will get grass root opinion on the GOP attitude toward national issues in the forthcoming 1950 congressional elections.

Scott told reporters the executive group, of which he is chairman, will study plans for a Republican centennial celebration in 1954, this will be 100 years after the party started in Ripon, Wis., or in Jackson, Mich., depending on the historian involved.

"It will be a celebration of the 1952 election results if we are a lot smarter than we were in 1948," Scott said.

There have been many statements by members of Congress that the Republicans feel they lost last year's election because they failed to "sell" their political product. In this connection, Scott said the party may hold a public relations conference later in the year to which state GOP publicity men will be invited to study the latest ideas in putting across the party's program.

Brannan Says No Forecast Possible On Farm Program

Washington, April 25—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan again told Congress today that it is not possible to forecast the cost of the administration's proposed new farm program.

He said the difficulty about making estimates is that the cost question is tied so tightly to general business conditions.

Brannan was testifying before the House Agriculture Committee. He outlined the administration's new plan to the committee before the House took its 10-day Easter vacation. The members asked him then to come back after the holiday with figures on the probable cost.

Although he had no cost estimate of his own, Brannan described as "reckless" estimates—some made by Congress members—that the cost might run $3,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 a year.

"If I understand the estimates correctly, all of them assume a severe depression and low farm income," he said. "I confess that I do not assume a depression. On the contrary, the whole proposal is designed to help avoid a depression by maintaining reasonable farm income."

The administration plan would halt the present practice of government buying of surplus perishable products—such as meats, dairy products, fruits and vegetables—for the purpose of keeping up prices to guaranteed levels.

Instead, it would allow prices of these products to drop to levels determined by supply and demand. If the price did not bring the farmer a predetermined return, the government would make up the difference in a payment.

Secret Key Witness In Un-American Check-Up

Washington, April 25—(AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee bundled a key witness in secrecy today in its search for communist agents. It concentrated on the American Slav Congress and CIO-United Electrical Workers Union (UE).

The committee took this turn after releasing over the week-end copies of documents and sworn testimony that the Polish embassy here was used for communist spying.

A committee official said it was necessary to withhold any advance identification of one of three "friendly" witnesses in order to protect him. This witness was said to have turned on the communist party after having once been a card-carrying member.

These are the first hearings the committee has staged since the 81st Congress opened for business under Democratic control in January. They were expected to be opened to the public later on—maybe today, maybe tomorrow. The first phase is expected to put the emphasis on the Slav Congress and allied organizations.

But there will be a build-up for shifting the inquiry later to the UE. The committee called in Judge Pleas F. Gunther of the Common Pleas Court of Pittsburgh to give it a hand in investigating the Slav Congress. Gunther was one of its early leaders but dropped out in 1944 after word began getting around that Reds had infiltrated the organization.

AFL To Attempt Organizing Of Divided Workers

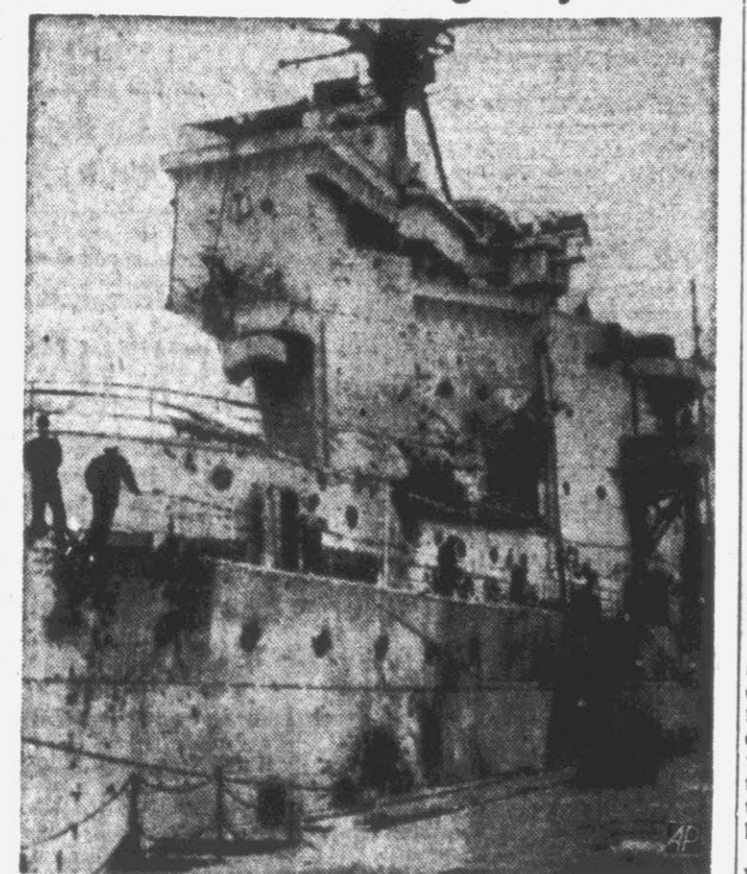

Huntington, W. Va., April 25—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor has decided to try to take advantage of left-right dissension among CIO-organized workers at the war-born Sylvania Electric Products Co.

The AFL Brotherhood of Electrical Workers announced yesterday it has begun an organizing drive at the plant built by the Navy during the war to manufacture secret proximity fuses. The firm still holds a Navy contract for electronic products.

The CIO Electrical Workers Union local at Sylvania has been split wide open since December when a faction which accused National UEW leadership of pursuing extreme leftist policies was voted out of office.

Miss Burton Conducts Study Course At Pactolus School

Miss Genevieve Burton, field secretary of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers, conducted a study course on "Education for Responsible Parenthood" at the Pactolus school Tuesday, April 19. Miss Burton is a graduate of the Jefferson Medical School of Nursing and holds a Master's degree in public health from the University of North Carolina.

The purpose of the study is to help parents in training their children to be emotionally stable individuals.

The first part, which began at 3 o'clock, dealt with many problems which confront parents of children of pre-school and elementary school age.

Two films were shown, entitled "A Feeling of Rejection" and "Emotional Health," which brought out very clearly that parents should see to it that their children grow up in an atmosphere of love and security. At 6 o'clock the group was invited to the lunch room where a delicious plate lunch was served by the P.T.A.

At 7 o'clock the study course was resumed and Miss Burton answered many questions that mothers and teachers are often confronted with and are at a loss to know how to answer. The clinic portion of the program was similar to a round table discussion. Many problems of adolescence were discussed during this period.

The forty-five members of the group were charmed by the friendly natural way in which the instructor answered questions and by her thorough understanding of the subject.

Chloed, West Greenville, Winterville, Belvoir, Pantego, the Training School and Pactolus were represented.

Education for Responsible Parenthood is a project sponsored by several organizations of the state that are interested in developing proper attitudes toward our young people. Among the organizations are the Department of Welfare, the Public Health Department and the N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers. A six weeks' workshop will be offered at the University of North Carolina this summer to thirty-five persons who will be trained in this field for further carrying on the work over the state.

(John 5:24.) And from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is deathless. Life is the original and ultimate of man, never attainable through death, but gained by walking in the pathway of Truth both before and after that which is called death." (Page 487.)

Mrs. Dennis M. Bailey

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the Palmetto Baptist Church near Vanceboro, Miss Cora Lee Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lee Wilson, became the bride of Dennis M. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Bailey of Greenville.

Prior to the ceremony, a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Harry Smith, pianist, and Miss Lena Hughes of New Bern, soloist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a marquise yoke embroidered in seed pearls.

The mother of the bride wore a white suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling the bride wore a navy suit, with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid taken from her bridal bouquet.

After their wedding trip they will be at home in Upper Marlboro, Md., where Mr. Bailey will be on the tobacco market.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE CHRISTIAN LIFE WELL BALANCED

Two of the greatest painters who ever lived were Rembrandt and Rubens. In their greatness they looked at life from two distinctly different standpoints. The painting of Rembrandt revealed a spiritual genius; that of Rubens reveals one who was interested in the mundane and the carnal, even though on a grand scale. Rembrandt's interest was in the soul; Rubens' interest was in the body.

We all have to look at life from two standpoints—the spiritual and the worldly. The trouble with most of us is that we look at life almost exclusively from the worldly standpoint. Jesus recognized this in saying that there was a broad highway which most people traveled, and a narrow pathway entered by a narrow gate which leads to the high life, although there are only a few who choose this way.

When life is well balanced between spirit and things, between the unseen world and the seen, between Rembrandt's outlook and that of Rubens, then we have a well-balanced life. The Greek philosophers advocated the necessity for balance. Christianity has nothing to say about balance but it tries to restore it in a human soul and maintain it by a simple expedient: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness," said Jesus "and all these things shall be added unto you."

Around Capitol Square

HISTORIC—The 1949 general assembly has taken its place in history. Whether the perspective of history rates that place high or low will depend not upon what the assembly itself did, but upon what happens to state and national social-economic conditions during the next few months. Consensus of all except the bitterly narrow and prejudiced in the legislature which ended Saturday night does not and will not ever justify the designation "contemptible" pinned upon it by extreme interpartisans. General opinion as most often expressed during final days of the session and immediately after adjournment is the 1949 vintage was "a good legislature."

KNOWLEDGE—The "word" label is awarded on basis of actual knowledge, on what can be known. Any label less than good is based on opinion as to what might happen. There are some who sincerely believe the general assembly went too far in appropriating $427 million dollars for the next biennium when estimated revenue for that period is fixed at approximately $395 million. There are others who just as sincerely think the appropriations were not large enough because they believe revenue estimates too low and feel that additional taxes should have been levied to justify larger spending for education and social services. With some individual reservations as to relative merit of different items nearly everybody agrees that on basis of actual knowledge as to money in hand and in sight, the assembly went as far as it could go in total spending.

CONTINGENT—In addition to positive commitments the appropriations include several contingent features. Biggest of these is $200 million for rural roads. Next biggest is $25 million for school houses. These two items are subject to vote of the people on bond issues. Then there is further contingent commitment of several million dollars for teacher salaries if revenue holds up and the money is available at end of the fiscal year.

PARADOX—The appropriations bill as finally enacted gives assurance that specific items are minimum unless the budget director has to reduce them later. Contingent items represent maximum potentials. Debate on the measure during its passage through various committees and in open sessions contained paradoxical claims. Those members who most vigorously insisted that revenues justified larger specific guarantees were most bitter in opposing contingency provisions. For that reason it was times difficult to tell which side of the argument certain members were upholding.

DISSATISFIED—There is further paradox in the fact that while nearly everybody agrees the appropriations act is good on basis of actual knowledge, almost nobody is entirely satisfied with it. The big question is whether the potential maximum should have been guaranteed while the economy bloc thinks the contingent allocations hold out false hopes. Furthermore, some ultra-conservative fear the standard of state service has been set so high as to contain the menace of absolute socialism.

HIGH—Whether that fear is justified, and whether obligations assumed by the 1949 general assembly for the state are too big or too little, indisputable fact is the legislature closed appropriated more money, both in actual dollars and in respect to known ability to pay than any of its predecessors. That high level runs the gamut of public education—grammar grades, high schools and colleges; public health—physical and mental; social welfare—including aid to unfortunate and rehabilitation assistance; development of resources—agricultural, industrial, transportation and communication facilities. In none of these areas did the legislature go as far as partisan advocates desired but in the aggregate it went much further than any previous legislature has been willing or able to go.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—At 16, Hildegarde Loretta Sell played the piano in a silent movie house in Milwaukee. She was a plump, earnest, religious German girl, who hoped for something better.

Today, 27 years later, Hildegarde is a sleek internationally known supper club entertainer who has perhaps kissed more bald pates in public than any lady in history. She has dropped the Loretta Sell from her name. But success hasn't made her lose the best qualities of Loretta Sell. She is still earnest, religious—and hoping for something better.

She retains a girlhood characteristic that most artists have who stay at the top in their field, an insatiable desire for self-progress. "I still take piano lessons, because the piano is my life," she said. "I have always wanted to play wonderfully well. Right now I'm doing the classics. I'm learning a concerto. I hope to be able to do it by 1961 with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. They've invited me."

Devoting her spare time for two and a half years to learn a 42-page concerto perfectly doesn't seem like too much struggle to her. Struggle has made her a perfectionist.

Hildegarde became one of the highest-priced supper club and radio entertainers after a dreary and v-paid apprenticeship. She worked in vaudeville, song-plugging, and a girl band. She tramped in London and Paris night spots. The woman who helped work out her successful formula of wit, glamour, sentimentality and special lighting effects—is Anna Sosenko, one of the shrewdest managers in show business.

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The best thing about writing this column is that it offers an excuse for asking a lot of questions that otherwise might be considered none of my business. For example, the construction of the new ice plant on Ninth Street has been a mystery to me ever since the erection of the building started.

Why in the world, I kept asking myself, would anyone build an ice plant when the sale of electric refrigerators continues to rise year after year, and when Governor Scott is pushing a rural electrification program that would bring countless refrigerators into farm homes.

Last night I telephoned V. M. Rawles, manager of the Colonial Ice Company, to find the answers to my questions. It's very simple: For the past four years the supply of ice in Greenville has not met the demand at the peak of the season. Consequently, it has been necessary to import ice from Kingston, Farmville, Camp Butler, Goldsboro, Wilmington, or wherever it might be available in order to meet Greenville's requirements.

The new plant will begin operation in a week or ten days, and will employ eighteen to twenty-three workers. In forty-eight hours it will be able to produce sixty tons of ice, whereas the old one could manufacture only twenty-five. The fate of the present plant is still undecided, but there is a possibility that it will continue to operate. No longer do I wonder why a new ice plant was built here.

Greenville's two products of the class of 1947 at the United States Naval Academy, Bill Lee, Jr. and Sidney Dunn, Jr., Ensigns, USN, came home during the same week. Bill left yesterday for Boston, where he will join the crew of a new ship as a fire control officer. Some of you non-veterans might not realize that fire control means the direction of gun fire, not dousing blazes. The destiny of an Annapolis graduate is determined to some extent by the condition of his eyes. Bill's ambition was to become a pilot, but his eyes were just a little below standard. They are not strong enough for flying, but too strong for the Corps of Civil Engineers, which is the next eye bracket.

Sidney's peepers landed him in OCE, where his first tour of duty was the operation of the utilities commission at the Pensacola, Florida, Naval Base. The plant there is about half the size of Greenville's. May first Sidney will begin a course of study in Civil Engineering at Rensselaer Polytechnical Institute in New York. After one year he will receive a Bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering, and two years later he will be awarded a Master of Science degree.

Bavarian Educator Visits ECTC In School Studies

Kurt Wawrzyniak, Bavarian educator, is increasing his knowledge of the American school system by a visit of several days on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College. Sent to this country last March by the American Military Government in Germany, Mr. Wawrzyniak is making observations in the United States particularly of institutions which train teachers and of the inservice training of teachers. He will return home with information to be used in improving the Bavarian schools.

At home, Mr. Wawrzyniak is Schurdt, or superintendent, of a system of 50 elementary schools. Under him are 7,000 pupils in 50 communities centering around his home of Karlstadt on the Main "But," he said, "there are only 130 teachers. Each has an average of 55 pupils."

Before coming to Greenville, he spent some time at Montclair State Teachers College in New Jersey. Last week he was at Chapel Hill. After leaving East Carolina, he will go to New York, where he will be at Columbia University and later at Queens and Albany.

In North Carolina he attended the State Teachers meeting in Asheville and has visited public schools in Wilmington, Whiteville, Greenville, and Raleigh, and several in Durham County.

"In Bavaria," he said when asked what some of the chief differences between his own and the American system are, "we stress 'knowledge.' Here you have more activities." These, he thinks, make the American school not a place of formal education only but a home for children where they receive training for life in its varied aspects. He is impressed by the cooperation of parents, teachers, and pupils here; and he likes the friendly, informal atmosphere which pervades the classrooms, the school grounds, and the campuses of our educational institutions.

"Your buildings are fine," he said. "Equipment in Bavarian schools, he explained, cannot compare with that in most of those he has seen here. 'There is not one library,' he stated, 'in all my fifty schools, and not one gymnasium nor auditorium.'"

Mr. Wawrzyniak received his training at universities in Bonn, Prague, and Wurzburg. Now a candidate for the doctor's degree, he is making a study of co-education.

Commenting on co-education in American schools, he said that our system could not at present be transplanted to Bavaria. There, he said, custom demands that in elementary school classrooms girls and boys sit in separate parts of the room; in high school there are separate schools; only in universities do men and women receive their education together.

Stormy Weather

During a windstorm here Sunday afternoon the mercury in the local Weather Bureau thermometers took a precipitate drop from 81 degrees shortly after dinner to 58 degrees in less than two hours. Rainfall was slight, only one-one hundredth of an inch being recorded here.

Spraying Houses Against Insects

The Pitt county health department, in conjunction with the city of Greenville, is continuing the DDT to destroy insects which are increasing in numbers with the warm spring weather.

Mayer J. H. Boyd said today persons in the city wishing to have their houses sprayed with DDT should contact J. R. Carrington at the county health department.

When the DDT spraying program is completed, the mayor said, a mosquito eradication program is planned for the city.

Red Oak News

On Wednesday afternoon, the 27th, all who will be asked to assemble at the church for the purpose of setting out plants and any shrubs that can be moved at this time. It matters not what kind of flower plants you have to spare, bring them, because we will not be able to put out any shrubbery and evergreens until next fall, and we want to make our church and club house grounds as attractive as possible this summer. If you have any hen-house fertilizer bring a tow-bag of that. Also bring your hoes and other tools to work with. The crab-apple trees that Mr. Henry Smith and the late Mrs. Smith set out several years ago have been beautiful this spring.

Greenies Lose To Roanoke Rapids Despite Late Rally

Scoring Effort In The Eighth And Ninth Frames Fail To Suffice As Locals Dropped Saturday Game By 8-5

By BERT MOYE
Manager Pappy Williams and his Greenville Greenies lost their second game in a row Saturday night as the Roanoke Rapids rallied for three runs in the seventh frame to gain an 8 to 5 decision. The win was the Jays' second straight.

The Jays scored two runs in the first frame on three walks and a single. Pete King singled to right field. Earl Block walked and Larry Quattararo walked, loading the bases. Then John Bass was walked, forcing in King and reloading the bases. Milt Bolick flew out to left field with Block scoring for the second run.

In the third frame the Jays built up their lead by adding three more runs. Larry Quattararo led off with a double and then John Bass socked a two-run homer over the leftfield wall to bring in Quattararo ahead of him. Shurley Hammack got an infield hit, Dewey Martling singled with Hammack going to third and then when Garland Little uncorked a wild pitch Hammack raced home from third.

After one man was out in the seventh, Dewey Martling was hit by Pitcher Garland Little and he moved to second on Brown's infield out. Mike Pace got a Texas leaguer single to score Martling. He stole second. Pete King and Irvin Block walked, loading the bases. Little then let go with his second wild pitch of the game and Pace scored from third. Quattararo walked, reloading the bases, and when Johnny Bass was walked, Pete King scored.

The Greenies scored their first run in the sixth frame, and up to this time had had but one runner to reach as far as second base. Moe Carter walked, stole second, went to third on Mauney's infield out and came home when Cohen hit to Shortstop Hammack, who erred the ball.

They came back in the eighth frame to score three more runs on two hits, three walks and an error. Moe Carter walked and scored on Mauney's double into right field. Pappy Williams walked and Gillespie got a single, loading the bases. Steve Denier hit a ball to Second Baseman Block and when he bobbed the ball Mauney raced home, with Denier reaching first to load the bases. Carl Anderson then went in to pinch hit for Red Sanders in the eighth and was walked, forcing in Pappy Williams from third base for the final run of the inning.

The Greenies put across their final run of the game in the ninth frame when Moe Carter doubled and later scored on Bob Cohen's single. Jim Lewey and Garland Little shared the mound duties for the Greenies and gave up only eight hits between them. Lewey, who pitched two and one-third frames, allowed five hits, five runs, walked five and struck out one. Little, in five and two-thirds innings, allowed three hits, three runs, walked six and struck out three Jays. He committed two wild pitches. Mike Pace and Dewey Martling with two singles in four trips to the plate led the Jays' attack.

Alton Brown went the entire route for the Jays and gave up nine hits, walking five and striking out six. Moe Carter with a double and a single for three trips to the plate. Willie Mauney with a double and a single in five trips to the plate, and Pete Gillespie with two singles in five trips to the plate led the Greenies' 9-hit attack off Brown.

Tonight's Games
Goldensboro at GREENVILLE
Tarboro at Wilson
Roanoke Rapids at Kinston
New Bern at Rocky Mount

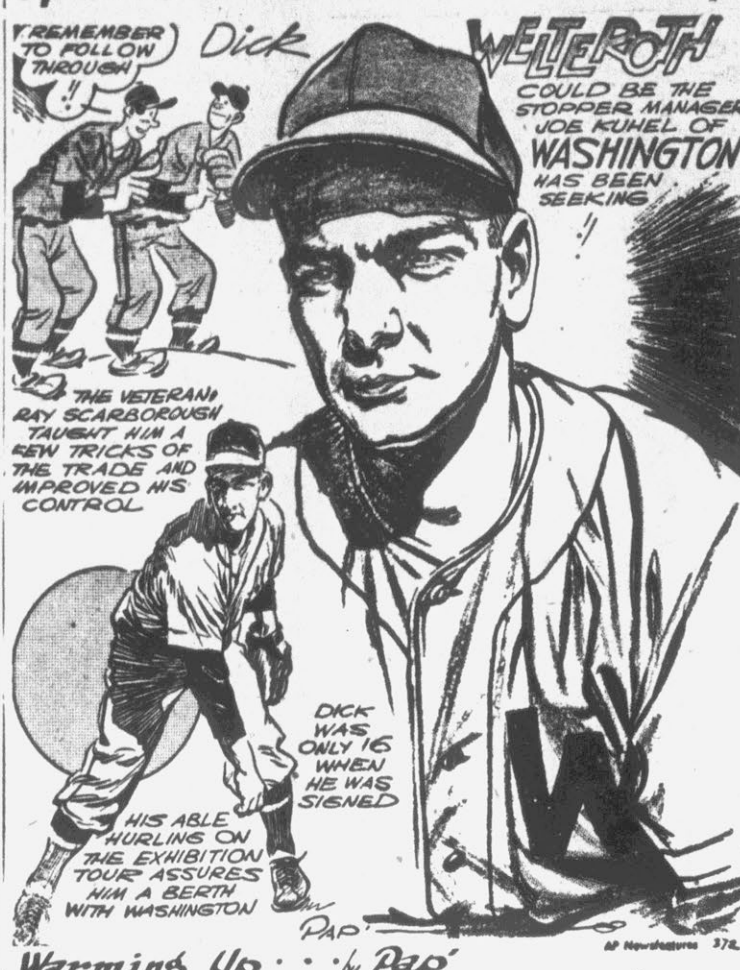

A terrible windstorm that covered the field with a blinding dust and then finally a heavy rain broke up the second game between the Roanoke Rapids Jays and the Greenies here yesterday afternoon. Approximately 1000 fans had gathered to watch the first opening game. So you fans who bought tickets for Sunday's game hold on to them as they will be honored at tonight's game when the Goldensboro Goldbugs come here in the first of a two-game series. The game that was rained out here yesterday afternoon will be played here as a double-header on Friday night, May 5, the next scheduled game between the two clubs at the local park.

Tepedino to Carter to Williams will be the Greenies' new twin-killing combination from now on. It was announced by John Adams, Jr., business manager of the Greenville Athletic Association, Saturday afternoon the purchase of John Tepedino, shortstop, who played the past season with the Kinston Eagles. Tepedino was obtained from the Danville, Va., club of the Carolina League. He is a limited service player and last season led the Coastal Plain League hitters in total number of triples with thirteen to his credit. He reported to Manager Pappy Williams here Sunday morning and will be in the lineup tonight when Goldensboro plays here. Ken Brooks, a limited service pitcher, has been placed on suspended list to make room for Tepedino.

Some fans have been very disappointed at the two losses suffered by the Greenies in their two opening starts. A few have even predicted a cellar finish for Greenville. But the more faithful were willing to give the club a week or ten days to get into full stride and then issue their condemnations or approvals.

Richie Ashburn Follows Advice And Hits His First Out-Of-Park Homer

Philadelphia, April 25 —(AP)—Richie Ashburn has taken his father's advice and is swinging for distance. As a result, the 22-year-old kid who led both major leagues in stolen bases last year won a ball game for the Brooklyn Dodgers for the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday.

The tawney haired speedster stepped up in the seventh inning with a mate aboard, the scored tied 4-4, and slammed a Carl Erskine pitch over the high right field wall of Shibe Park to win the ball game. It was the first Phillies' win over Brooklyn at home in their last eight meetings.

Too, it was the first homer Ashburn ever hit out of a major league ball park. He hit two round trippers last season but both were inside-the-park jobs. Richie hit 333 in 1948 to trail only Stan Musial, National League batting champion, in the final averages.

While the performance was good enough to win Ashburn the Sporting News nomination as "Rookie of the Year," it didn't set too well with Pop Ashburn. So, when the Phillies reported to their Clearwater, Fla., training camp, Pop took Sonny aside and informed him of the facts of baseball life.

"Kid, they don't pay off in this game for bunts and beating out infield hits. You have to drive in runs and hit the long ball. Drop those hands to the end of the bat and pull for the fences. is now reality in the roughest form. The fact that New Bern is definitely the threat in the CPL this year is true. The Bears won their two opening games against the Kinston Eagles and then on Saturday night trounced the Wilson Tobs, 32 to 8, for the worst licking handed a Coastal Plain team since its beginning. In this game Saturday night the Bears got a total of 36 hits and the Tobs threw everything into the game in an effort to halt them in their scoring spree during the last four frames when they put across a total of 30 runs.

Dave Fowler, with the Rocky Mount Leafs last year, was recently sent back from Binghamton, N.Y., of the Eastern League. Dave will report to the Raleigh Caps where he'll probably see duty for the coming season. . . . Harry Helmer, another former Leaf, is still with the New York club, where he is reported to be showing up nicely.

White Sox Far From Being Dead Club; Tied For Second

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hold off on those flowers — the patient is far from dead.

The patient, of course, is the Chicago White Sox, the club that was doomed by the experts to die of loneliness in the dreary confines of the American League basement. Apparently the White Sox have different ideas on the subject. Judging from today's standings, the Sox not only are very much alive but are making some of the other teams roll over and play dead.

The end of the first week of play finds the Sox tied with the Philadelphia Athletics for second place only half a game behind the fast-moving New York Yankees. They have won five and lost only two, all their victories coming in a row. Splendid pitching by Bill Wright and Randy Gumpert yesterday enabled the White Sox to whip the St. Louis Browns twice, 2-1 and 4-0 giving them a sweep of the four-game series. Wright needed the help of some swell relief pitching by Moe Surkont, Rochester draftee and a two-run ninth inning rally by his mates to escape being charged with a 1-0 setback. Surkont who worked the ninth, got the victory. Gumpert's performance was more gilt-edged. He permitted only three singles and allowed no Brownie runner to pass second base. The Athletics continued to fatten up at the expense of Washington pitchers, combing Sid Hudson and two relievers for 12 hits to whip the Senators 8-3. Lou Brissie went the distance for the second time in a row, notching his second triumph on a five hitter.

The Boston Red Sox continued to flounder around, dropping their fourth game in six starts, when the Yankees came from behind to defeat them, 9-4.

Brooklyn's scrappy Dodgers retained their half-game margin in the National League race, splitting a doubleheader with the Phillies in Philadelphia. The Phils won the opener, 7-4, and the Dodgers took the second, 6-5.

The Cincinnati Reds fell into a second place tie with the New York Giants when they divided a twin bill with the Pirates in Pittsburgh. The Reds won the first game, 4-2 in 10 innings with Charley Kress singling home Johnny Wrostek with the winning run. Eddie Bockman drove in all Pittsburgh's runs with a pair of home runs in the Pirates' 3-1 second game victory. Sheldon Jones went all the way scattering seven hits, as the Giants defeated the Boston Braves 6-2. Bobby Thomson provided the winning margin in the first inning with a three-run homer, off Vern Bickford. Joe Garagiola doubled home Enoe Slaughter with the run that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. The blow came in the last half of the ninth with two out.

Peddler of Dreams

By Peggy Dern

Chapter 3

Felicity had had a good many qualms about starting off for Florida in a fourth-hand trailer and a fifth- or sixth-hand car. But she had been so desperate. New York in winter, huddled in a cheap East Side tenement with the children needing heavy clothes, good nourishing food—and then Ellen had come to them, under-nourished, frightened half out of her baby wits by the hobgoblin tales of the old woman to whom her mother had given her, while Deloria, the mother, a burlesque star, followed her arduous profession.

Only the children's need could ever have persuaded Felicity to take the step she took then. She had dressed in her best—which was pretty bad—and she had gone to the Broadway offices of a dean of the theater, Charles Drummond, who was near-ly seventy yet still actively in har-ness. Charles Drummond, who had taken a lovely girl of sixteen and molded her into an idol of Broad-way who, at twenty, had all but broken Drummond's heart by elop-ing with a good-looking juvenile lead in her new show. That girl had been Felicity's mother, Hope Bannister; the good-looking juvenile had been Burton Horne, who was, in Drummond's opinion, a "ham" of a very poor quality.

Drummond's love for Hope had been great enough to make him forgive the blow she had dealt him. For five years he helped her in her bitter fight to lift Burton to her own pinnacle of success. Burton Horne had a profile, an athletic build, a delightful manner, and a smile; but, unfortunately for the adoring Hope's dreams, he had noth-ing else, not even stability of char-acter.

When Felicity was born a year after her marriage, Hope had asked Drummond to be the child's god-father. Drummond had done more; he had transferred a great deal of his love for Hope to her small daugh-ter. That love had been great enough to be spread four years later to Hope's son, Jason. Hope had died when Jason was born, and Drum-mond had never forgiven Burton Horne who, the night of Hope's death, had been drunk in the tawdry apartment of a chorus girl.

Drummond's interest in the chil-dren had provided them with an education. As much as they would accept. He would have done a great deal for them, but he could not conceal his contempt for Burton. Once this had come out in the open, Jason and Felicity had stiffly re-fused to accept any more help from him.

But now the doctor said that Ellen must not spend the winter in New York; that the other children should be out of the chill, dank tenement, away from the cold wa-ter; that they must have good, nourishing food. And Felicity had known there was only one thing to do. She had gone to Charles Drum-mond.

Drummond had listened to her quietly and when she had put a little shabby leather box on the table before him, his hand had shaken a little as he touched it. Inside that box, he knew, there was a jeweled bracelet he himself had given Hope as a memento of her first Broadway success.

"I wouldn't sell it for anything in the world," Felicity told him, her voice shaken. "She loved it, and it's all I've got left of her. But I thought if—well, if you'd lend me a thousand dollars and keep the bracelet as

Philip LaFollette To Be Speaker Here Tuesday

Honorable Philip F. LaFollette, three times the governor of Wisconsin will be the next speaker at the Pitt County Executive Club on the evening of April 26, in the BCTC dining hall at 7:30 p.m.

Philip LaFollette is considered by his friends and supporters as one of the ablest, wisest and most important public forces in Wisconsin today. During the terms he served as governor he made a spectacular record. He received nation-wide attention for his progressive state-manhood and reforms, and he acted with the same straightforwardness which characterized his distinguished father, the late Robert M. LaFollette.

Because of his brilliant interpretation of world affairs and his keen analytical mind, crowds flock to hear him. He has traveled widely in Europe and has addressed important audiences in England, France and Germany.

Mr. LaFollette will be brought to the local club through its affiliation with a national organization which enables the several groups to provide outstanding men and women as speakers.

Reservations for the Executive Club dinner can be made up to ten o'clock tomorrow morning, by contacting J. H. Moye, secretary, at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co.

Cases Tried In Police Court

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Garland T. O'Mary of the Belvoir community guilty of three charges of motor vehicle law violations.

The court gave him six months on the roads for the larceny of a car belonging to Mrs. Julia Alice Stokes of Belvoir, and suspended sentence on payment of $50, costs deducted. It was testified that the car O'Mary was driving turned over about six or seven miles out on the Paoctous highway while officers were chasing it. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Judge Roberts gave O'Mary 12 months on the roads for driving a car after his license was revoked and suspended sentence provided he pay $200 and costs.

The court gave O'Mary three months on the roads for reckless driving and speeding at 80 miles an hour and fined him $20 and costs, this sentence to begin at the expiration of the sentence for driving without a license.

The following cases were disposed of in Police Court last Friday:

William C. Ebron, colored, attempted rape on Ruby Lee Boyd, 15-year-old Negro girl, several nights ago. The girl testified that Ebron followed her and attempted to assault her. The court found probable cause and ordered Ebron held under $1,000 bond for Superior Court.

Jackie Atkinson, colored, paid $15 for having improper license and $15 for not having a city motor vehicle license tag.

Thomas E. Staton, colored, was given 90 days at the county home for not having an operator's license.

Raymond Blount and William Smith, both colored, were each fined $15 or serve 30 days in jail.

Commonwealth . . .

(Continued from page one) change in commonwealth requirements so that South Africa could still be a member if she chose to establish herself as a republic. Such a change would be likely to provide him with fresh ammunition in any campaign for the inauguration of a republic. Commonwealth membership of course carries many economic advantages and invaluable military protection.

The evolution of the commonwealth is an interesting chapter of history. Canada gave it a big fillip back at the time of the formation of the League of Nations after the first World War. She fought a great battle for separate Canadian representation in the league—and won her point. Finally in 1931 the statute of Westminster was born. This provided that "dominions are autonomous communities within the British empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate to one another in their domestic or external affairs though united by a common allegiance to the crown, and freely associated as members of the British commonwealth of nations."

Now the time has come to revise that statute.

Long-Delayed . . .

And, just as no one can say what kind of bill Congress will pass, no one can say what Mr. Truman will do if he doesn't like the bill.

He and his Democrats promised last year that, if they won the election and control of Congress, they'd wipe out the T-H Act which the Republican controlled Congress passed in 1947.

Organized labor, fighting mad at the Republicans for the T-H Act, supported Mr. Truman's campaign and part of his victory, at least, was due to labor's support.
