

Offer Terms For Lifting Blockade

Moscow Press Says Meeting Of Foreign Ministers First Step To End Siege Of Berlin; Diplomats Warn Against Over-Optimism

Moscow, April 26 (AP)—Moscow press published today the terms under which the Soviet Union offers to lift the blockade of Berlin.

BULLETIN Washington, April 26 (AP)—The United States said today "the way appears clear" for lifting the Berlin blockade provided the Russian terms actually are those published by Moscow.

A statement distributed by Tass the official news agency, said that if an agreement can be reached on a date for a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, then:

1. The Russians will lift their communications ban, provided the west ends its counter-blockade of eastern Germany;

2. The Berlin currency question which hampered the four-power talks in Moscow last summer, can be discussed by the four powers after the communications restrictions are lifted.

3. The entire German question should come up for review by the four foreign ministers.

Some foreign diplomats here said this offer was the first sign in months that some agreement might be possible between the east and the west, but they warned against either hasty optimism or undue pessimism. One diplomat said the Soviet statement "holds a promise" which was worthy of consideration by the United States, Britain and France.

The Soviet statement comes closer than in any previous overtures to meeting the west's demand—that the blockade be lifted first before any four-power talks can be held on the future of Germany as a whole. The offer was made public only a few hours after the announcement by the west in Germany that difficulties barring the way to a west German government had been cleared away. Russia vehemently opposes a separate west German state.

It would appear here, from the terms of the offer, that a unified Berlin currency is no longer a prime condition for the lifting of communications restrictions in Germany's first step. If this is true, it represents a step forward from the point where the four-power discussions broke down last summer.

All newspapers this morning published the Tass statement prominently but made no editorial comment, as if waiting for western reaction.

It seemed significant, however, that the newspapers carried the new May Day slogans bidding for peace with the west. In the government newspaper, put in this way:

"Far beyond the boundaries of our country there penetrates and finds warm reaction in the hearts of millions of workers that flaming May Day slogan: 'Friendship of the peoples of the Soviet Union, the United States and England is the best guarantee of a firm peace. Halt the brotherly alliance of the peoples of England, the United States and the Soviet Union in their struggle for peace.'"

The senator, Michele Giua, a Socialist, was admitted to the U.S. by the Immigration authorities at La Guardia Field.

Wallace, Giua and three other Europeans are scheduled to make a 15-city tour speaking for peace, starting here tomorrow night.

The State Department has refused entry visas for two other Europeans who were invited to go on the tour.

Immigration authorities made no comment on the delay in letting Giua enter.

The agents asked him many questions, Giua said, including one about the relationship of the Italian Socialist and Communist parties.

Old Civil Rights Issue Raised In Federal Aid Bills

Federal Aid For Education And School Health Programs Before Senate

Washington, April 26 (AP)—The civil rights issue bobbed up again today in Senate work on bills providing federal aid for education and school health programs.

Both bills were given right of way in the Senate, with the school health measure coming first, after a House-passed appropriation bill for the Labor Department and federal security agency has been taken care of.

The health measure would permit the federal government to give the states $35,000,000 a year to help finance medical and dental examinations and other health care for all school children.

Federal grants of $300,000,000 a year would be authorized for teaching salaries and other school operating expenses under the education-aid bill, which was introduced by a bi-partisan group of 14 senators.

The civil rights issue was brought into the education bill by announcement of Senator Lodge (R-Mass) that he will offer an amendment that would bar aid to public schools not open to pupils regardless of race, color or creed.

Senator Taft of Ohio, the Senate Republican policy chief and a sponsor of the bill, said he would oppose Lodge's amendment. "It would kill the bill," he told a reporter.

Also lined up against it were Senators Ebert Thomas (D-Utah) chairman of the committee which brought the bill before the Senate, and Senator Hill (D-Aia), one of the authors.

Hill predicted the amendment would be defeated. Lodge said he was "not the slightest idea" of how much support it will get.

An anti-segregation and anti-discrimination amendment to the long-range public housing bill passed by the Senate last week was rejected. Civil rights supporters said it was not the place to deal with the subject.

As the education bill is written the federal grants will be made on the basis of each state's annual income and the number of its school children. Allotments would vary from $5 to slightly over $29 per pupil, with the poorest states receiving the highest allotments.

Cheaper Cost Of Foreign Relief

Washington, April 26 (AP)—President Truman today informed Congress that price declines will make it possible to finance the European aid program for $157,800,000 less than Congress has authorized. The President made that statement in a formal request to Congress "speedily appropriate" $5,272,200,000 for the economic recovery administration for use until June 30, 1950.

Wallace 'Peace' Envoys Protest U. S. Welcome

New York, April 26 (AP)—An Italian senator, who came here for a speaking tour with Henry A. Wallace, says his detention by Immigration officials for more than three hours last night was "an insult to my country."

The senator, Michele Giua, a Socialist, was admitted to the U.S. by the Immigration authorities at La Guardia Field.

Wallace, Giua and three other Europeans are scheduled to make a 15-city tour speaking for peace, starting here tomorrow night.

The State Department has refused entry visas for two other Europeans who were invited to go on the tour.

Immigration authorities made no comment on the delay in letting Giua enter.

New Mail Route To Be Effective Beginning May 1

Sections Previously Outside City Mail Carrier Routes To Get Service

More than 875 homes and business establishments in the outlying sections of Greenville which previously have been outside the city mail carrier routes will be served daily by city carriers beginning May 1, Postmaster J. Knott Proctor announced today.

Two new mounted carrier routes which are being installed by the local postal service will cover more than 34 miles within the city limits with daily home mail delivery service. Portions of this territory have been included in the rural route services and other parts have had no home delivery service in the past, Proctor said.

The additional routes for the city were authorized by the federal Post Office department in May 1948, but lack of equipment made it impossible for the service to begin sooner.

Persons living along the new routes will have to erect rural delivery type mail boxes in front of their homes, Proctor said, so the mounted carrier can put mail in the boxes from his car. Each box should have printed on it the person's name and house address to insure correct delivery of mail, the postmaster said.

Included in routes are Hillsdale the Bama, Meadowbrook, the section near the ball park, east Tenth Street extension, and Fifth streets within the city limits which previously have not been served by the regular city routes.

One delivery daily will be made on each of the new routes, Proctor said.

Seventeen Race For City Posts

Filing Period Closes; Registration Ends Saturday

The filing period for candidates in the coming city election closed yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock with 17 candidates in the running for positions in the Greenville government.

J. H. Boyd and W. S. Stafford are in a two-way race for mayor of Greenville, while Judge J. W. H. Roberts and Solicitor Eli Bloom are unopposed for their respective positions in the city recorder's court.

Boyd is seeking re-election to the mayor's office for the third term and Stafford is seeking election to the office after serving an unexpired term on the board of aldermen to which he was appointed from the fifth ward.

In the aldermanic race, an even dozen candidates are competing for the five positions on the city's governing board which will become vacant when the present terms expire July 1. A three-way race has developed in both the first and fifth wards, while the other three wards have two candidates each seeking the position of alderman.

The candidates for the board of aldermen are listed below by wards: First ward—H. B. Tripp, William E. Utley and N. C. Brooks. Second ward—R. E. Rogers and D. D. Garrett. Third ward—Yank Howell and W. Z. Morton. Fourth ward—W. M. Pollard and W. H. Smith. Fifth ward—Dal Cox, Jesse Boyd and James S. Jenkins.

The registration period for voters in the May 2 election closes Saturday afternoon, and all city offices will be closed on election day next Monday.

The two had been invited to the United States by Wallace, Progressive party leader.

Behind The Quarrels If You Lift The Lid On Arguments Over A Government Health Program You'll Find It's Concerned With How Far Should Government Money And Controls Go

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 26 (AP)—Lift the lid on the argument over a government health program and you find this:

It is not an argument over whether the government should interest itself in health. There is a government health program now.

The problem is how far should such a program, backed with government money and some government control, be allowed to go.

This will give you an idea of how deep the government already is involved—in a limited way—in helping the nation's health:

1. It is giving states up to $75,000,000 to help them build hospitals; it gives states money to strengthen their public health services; it gives states money for crippled and child care and to help crippled children; it is spending money on research in cancer, dental, mental, heart and venereal diseases.

2. In addition, 184 million veterans are eligible for care in government hospitals; every veteran with a service-connected disability is entitled to complete care for that disability at home or in a government hospital; there are 26 govern-

Figures In Polish Spy Probe

Gen. Izador Rudolf Modelski (top), former Polish embassy official, displays some of the documents he supplied as evidence for the House Un-American Activities Committee, which Saturday night made the documents public along with his testimony under oath that the Polish embassy in Washington has been a nest for spies. Modelski said he believes that Dr. Ignace Zlotowski (lower left) of Poland, an atomic scientist who served on the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission, ran a network trying to get atomic secrets. Modelski also testified that when he was named military attaché at the embassy he received written orders to set up espionage units, and two sets of those orders were signed by Marshal Mical Zymierski (lower right), Polish minister of national defense. Priority Placed On French Arms

Biggest Share Of U.S. Military Aid Said Going To France

Washington, April 26 (AP)—France was reported in line today for the biggest share of the proposed American military aid program for Western Europe.

Diplomatic officials who reported this said France would get top priority because of its highly strategic location and because its 10 divisions of troops are in sore need of equipment.

The Administration plans to ask Congress for $1,130,000,000 to rearm its 11 Atlantic pact allies during the next year. An additional $320,000,000 will be requested to bolster the defenses of other "friendly countries."

Britain stands second and Italy third, officials indicated, among the nations tentatively due to get American arms, equipment and raw materials under the program.

The allied strategic plan is to build up the French army and air force as rapidly as possible because it would be the major obstacle to any Russian invasion of Western Europe.

Top government officials said some details of the military assistance program are so confidential that not even Congress, which must appropriate the money, will be told about them—a statement which drew prompt fire from Capitol Hill.

These "top secret" matters include how much each country will get in American arms; the types and amounts of weapons to be supplied; and the exact status of their armed forces.

Endurance Plane Ends Six Weeks Constant Flying

Fullerton Calif., April 26 (AP)—Two tired fliers came out of the sky today after remaining aloft so long they've probably forgotten how to walk.

Bill Barris and Dick Riedel plan to land their Sunkist Lady at 11:44 a. m. P. S. T. just six weeks to the minute after taking off from here on their fourth quest for a world endurance flight record.

"We're so tired we don't talk to each other any more," Barris reported between yawns as the last long hours droned by.

They fully expect to need walking lessons. Forced down after 568 hours in their third try, they required several days to acquire their "band legs." And this time they've been up nearly twice as long.

Pitt Hospital Is Given Allocation

Charlotte, April 26 (AP)—Duke Endowment trustees today appropriated $87,900 for 26 Carolina hospitals whose applications for assistance were incomplete when the board met last month.

This raised to 136 the number of Carolina hospitals assisted in free care for patients during 1948.

Among hospitals receiving allocations was the "Pitt" general hospital in Greenville, $1,643.

Sullivan Quits

Washington, April 26 (AP)—Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan resigned today in protest against scrapping the $5,000-ton super aircraft carrier.

Sullivan is known to have submitted his resignation in a talk with the President yesterday.

His action, which had been expected, is based on his belief that the navy was not being given proper consideration in defense policy.

Secretary of Defense Johnson's order Saturday to stop work on the $189,000,000 carrier was just one of a series of incidents against which Sullivan is protesting, associates said.

German State Is Seen By Summer

Final Obstacles To Anti-Communist Republic Overcome

Frankfurt, Germany, April 26 (AP)—An anti-communist federal republic of western Germany is due to come into being this summer.

The west German state, forged from the three allied occupation zones, will have a population second only to the Soviet Union on the European continent. More than 46,000,000 people live within its borders.

The final obstacles to formation of a German republic free of military government were overcome in a momentous six-hour conference last night between west German political leaders and the three western military governors.

The announcement was made at a news conference by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor.

Clay set the target date for the birth of the republic as July 15—four months after the date set last year by the western allies.

The accord ignores Russia, although nearly one-third of pre-war Germany is occupied by the Soviet Union.

The republic will be made up of the individual German states in the American, British and French occupation zones.

Western German leaders, while going along with the allies in formation of the republic, insist they want to see all Germany united eventually.

They theorize hopefully that a prosperous west German state will prove a magnet to Germans in the Soviet zone and will kill any Russian hopes of establishing a popular communist regime.

Bakery Wrecked In Big Explosion

Shelby, April 26 (AP)—An explosion today wrecked the Waldensian Bakery on South Lafayette street and injured one baker.

J. C. Moore, one of seven men in the two-story brick building, was taken to a hospital suffering burns and shock.

Buck Shytle said that Moore, after a first, muffled explosion, ran between a wall and an oven unit to turn off gas. Then, said Shytle, came a big explosion that blew down a wall and wrecked the whole bake shop.

U. S. Navy Warships Leave Shanghai As Reds Advance

Senator Irate Over Communist Invasion

Connally Says State Dept. Protest On Entry Of Envoy's Home Should Be "Rammed Down Throats" Of Reds

Washington, April 26 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today a State Department protest should be "rammed down the throats" of Chinese Communists who invaded the American ambassador's home in Nanking.

"It's a serious affront," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter. "They've got to learn to respect United States rights and property."

The State Department ordered the U. S. embassy to lodge a vigorous protest with Communist leaders yesterday, soon after it was reported that armed Communist troops had forced their way into the building and routed Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart out of bed.

But there was some question whether the Communists would take such a protest seriously.

"I think the State Department should make representations and ram them down their throats," Connally said angrily.

News dispatches and a report from the embassy said the troops, after pushing into the building, inspected the second floor and questioned members of the staff.

While they did not harm anyone or molest the property, they reportedly told a servant that Stuart was not to leave the embassy compound in which he lived. That raised some fears here that the Communists might intend to keep the 72-year-old ambassador a prisoner.

"I think we've got to take a firm stand on this," Connally said.

Although Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) took much the same position, other senators viewed the incident with less concern.

Some—like Senator Knowland (R-Calif.)—felt Stuart should have left Nanking, commented: "It wouldn't go to war over this thing." It was "regrettable," he said, but perhaps to be expected in a combat zone.

June 4 Selected For Bond Voting

Date Decided Today At Meeting Called By Governor Scott

Raleigh, April 26 (AP)—An election on issuing $200,000,000 in secondary road bonds and $25,000,000 in bonds for building schools will be held June 4.

The date was decided at a meeting here today of more than 200 persons called by Governor Scott to plan an aggressive campaign for the bond election.

The governor, who has the power to fix the date of the election, said that he would follow recommendations of the group.

Those attending the meeting voted to form a North Carolina committee for schools and roads, and decided that it should continue to function after the road and school bond elections are held.

A steering committee were John Harder of Greensboro, Dr. I. G. Greer of Chapel Hill, former state Senator Wade Barber of Pittsboro State Democratic Chairman Capus Wayne, and State Senator B. C. Brock of Davis, a Republican.

Steam-Roller Attack

No Sooner Than Atlantic Pact Was Signed, Chinese Communists Confront West With New Threat By Opening Heavy Offensive; The Sovietizing Of All China

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The steam-roller offensive of the powerful Red armies of China has created a fresh major crisis in the now-not-so-cold-war of the isms.

The Western powers had scarcely finished signing the Atlantic pact, to halt the Communist drive across Europe, when Chinese Chieftain Mao Tse-tung forced the line of the mighty Yangtze. Thus almost overnight the West was confronted with another threat.

The weight of the attack had been shifted from the front defenses to those in the rear.

True the new thrust in the Orient is much farther away than was the drive across Europe. The present danger is less imminent, and in that sense the situation is perhaps not so critical. Time now is with the West, just as it suddenly has turned against the Nationalist forces of China.

It's idle to speculate on how much time may be involved in the Chinese conflict. We know that the Communist resources, both military and economic, are great, while the Nationalist government's resources are terribly weak.

The Nationalists' most powerful defense against the Red forces from the north—the Yangtze—has been smashed. Their capital of Nanking has been occupied by the enemy—a shocking blow to the morale of the nation. A million and a half Red troops are ready for the drive southward through China.

What other estimate can be made than that the Nationalist situation is desperate? However, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is said to have planned a defense by zones as the Reds advance. Many of those zones with their troops are in the hands of war lords and, if they remain loyal to Chiang, the Nationalist defense might give the Communists a surprise.

What we can see clearly enough is that Sovietizing of China, world's most populous nation, would give Communism a powerful base from which to work on all Asia. Neighboring India would be the next great nation to come under pressure, and it might be that she would provide a barrier which Communism couldn't surmount. British Ships Also P. II Out Of Artillery Range; No Resistance In City To Advancing Communists; Evidence Of Panic Grows

Shanghai, April 26 (AP)—The U. S. Navy pulled its heavy ships out of Shanghai today to avoid involvement in China's civil war. Communist armies slowly closed in on this great city and spurred their offensive southward.

The British followed the American lead and withdrew warships of their Shanghai force. Movement of the ships into the Yangtze estuary will put them out of artillery range when the Reds arrive in the world's fourth largest city.

When the communists would come no one knew. But Shanghai appeared ready to receive them without resistance. Most of the city's 5,000,000 inhabitants expect the Reds to walk in and take over as they did the nationalist capital at Nanking.

No one seemed to know how far away the communists were. Neither did anyone appear to know the whereabouts of nationalist forces that had retreated south from Nanking and the others that were to defend Shanghai.

The Shanghai garrison command banned publication of all war news except what it put out. Since it was impossible to get anything from headquarters, there was virtually no news in Shanghai newspapers.

Meanwhile Shanghai, which had taken the situation with relative calm, was beginning to show evidence of panic. Shanghai's commerce seemed grinding to a halt. The securities exchange was open but there was little business. Many offices failed to open. The money market was so chaotic as to be meaningless. The U. S. dollar fetched 700,000 gold yuan. The price of Chinese silver dollar soared until it cost $10 to buy six of them.

Reports that the Reds were closing were none too reliable.

Possibly the communists camped near the outlet of the city, but the only indication which seemed definite was that the Reds had taken Wush and were there in full strength.

The flagship Eldorado of Vice Adm. Oscar Badger, commander of U. S. naval forces in the western Pacific, moved from the No. 1 buoy on Shanghai's famed "battleship row" at 11 a. m. It was followed down the muddy Whangpoo river by the troopship Chilton carrying one battalion of Marines.

The British heavy cruiser London, shelled by communist shore guns on the Yangtze above Shanghai last week, also moved out. So did the destroyer Constance.

Withdrawal of the American and British naval craft came less than 24 hours after the communist radio demanded that the "aggressive military forces" of the two "imperialist" nations get out of China.

The American move was prompted to avoid any possibility of incidents such as befell four British ships on the Yangtze.

It is known that the U.S. has two cruisers and several destroyers of its western Pacific fleet in the East China Sea around the mouth of the Yangtze. These warships, normally based at Tsingtao, could be used should any emergency develop.

He and his pugnacious gang of males are causing no end of alarm for pilots at the municipal airport here.

Not only do they chase the airplanes. They actually try now and then to pick a fight with the whirling propellers.

Disturbed pilots have asked the aid of the State Conservation Department, declaring the chickens a "hazard to aerial navigation."

There might be a very good reason for all of this daredevilry by Pete and the boys, however. It seems to do things to a prairie chicken, too. For evidently the brave deserve the fair.

Sad to say, however, some have carried it too far. On occasion a chicken has flown head-on into a plane and been killed.

When the males aren't fooling around the airplanes, they do their spring mating dance on a gravel strip beside a runway.

The females sit coyly to one side. All this endearment touches the heart, and the airport people have no desire to offend.

So they are asking the conservation men—in the interests of romance and prairie chicken longevity—to set up a feeding station which would entice Pete and the others from danger.

Louise Batson Is Oratory Winner

Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, president of the Greenville Woman's Club, awarded a gold medal to Louise Batson in the third annual Peace Oratorical contest Friday morning in a regular school assembly at 8:50 a.m.

Milton Saleed, second place, and Teresa Saleed, third place, were recognized with cash prizes given by the Woman's Club. Other contestants were Steve Moss and John Humber.

This year's topic required each contestant to discuss the "responsibility of the United States in world affairs." Mrs. Perkins congratulated the speakers on their well delivered and original orations since it was evident each student had given much thought and preparation to this timely subject. R. B. Starling assisted the students in practicing of the delivery and preparation of speeches and Mrs. George Renfro, International Relations chairman, registered the high school for the oratorical contest with the Extension Division of the University of North Carolina who furnish the study material and a gold medal.

Judges of this year's contest were Rev. J. A. Russell, Frank Wooten and Mrs. Dan Vornholt.

BETTE EMOTES — Bette Davis, screen and radio star, appears in this candid study made during a rehearsal for a broadcast in N. Y. She was heard later in Arch Oboler's "The Word."

Catching Shad With Hook And Line In Tar River Waters

By CHESTER WALSH
Shad are running up the upper reaches of Tar River and in the Greenville area. Netting of the finny tribe is limited to downstream, above the tideline.

Fishing with a hook and line for shad is something of an innovation in Tar river around here, but shad are biting at the hooks in this area. "Capt" Johnny Murphy, retired pilot of a passenger and freight boat on the Tar and Pamlico rivers in the old days, in the early 1900s, reported today that S. T. Hicks of Greenville caught a four-pound shad half a mile below the city, on a perch hook, with a worm for bait several days ago. "Capt" Johnny Murphy, whose varacity is never doubted, said today that the same fisherman in Tar River caught a two-pound buck shad in the river near the boat landing (foot of Cotanche street) yesterday.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. George Smith

Funeral services for Mrs. Eva Smith, 66, wife of George Smith who died in a Norfolk Virginia hospital early Sunday morning following several weeks illness, were conducted at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Haddock, near Chapman's Cross Roads, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. D. J. Little, Pentecostal Holiness minister of Farmville, and burial was in the Smith cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Smith was born and reared in the Clay Root community of Pitt County. She had lived most of her married life in Beaufort until she moved to Norfolk with her family several years ago.

Surviving are her husband George Smith of Calico Cross Roads; a son, Curney C. Smith of Norfolk; two grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. W. A. Haddock of near Chapman's Cross Roads; and three brothers, Arthur A. Smith of Tarboro, and H. C. and M. K. Smith of Clay Root community.

Toothpicks of gold and silver were widely used by the Romans, who also brushed their teeth with a substance known as "dentifricium."

Air ROTC Unit Given Inspection

The Air Reserve Officers Training Corps unit of East Carolina Teachers College, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel W. D. Brown, was given its first annual formal federal inspection here last week-end.

The inspection party was made up of Colonel Byron R. Switzer, professor of military science at the University of North Carolina, and Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Smith, coordinator of Air Reserve Officer Training Corps units of the Fourteenth Air Force, located at Orlando, Florida.

The ROTC unit passed in formal review before the reviewing stand and were then inspected individually in ranks by the visiting officers. The inspecting party attended cadet classes and viewed the officer candidates from the classroom.

The inspectors expressed approval of conditions in the unit here. They commended especially the manner in which the unit has made itself a part of life on the college campus and in the city of Greenville.

The enrollment of the AROTC unit at East Carolina is expected to be doubled in the fall of 1949 and the officer personnel to be increased to five officers.

Lions Hold Meet Monday Evening At Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Greenville Lions Club was held Monday evening, April 25, at 7 o'clock at the Woman's Club. Lion H. B. Williams, vice-president, presided in the absence of Lion President Aycock.

Lion Herbert Carter, director of the ECTC band, presented a very entertaining program. Miss Mary Wallace Foy, popular vocalist of ECTC, sang several numbers accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Karl Gilbert.

Donald Adcock, who will present his senior recital next week, rendered two selections on the flute. The instrumental trio composed of Mrs. Karl Gilbert, pianist, Donald Adcock, flutist, and William Adcock, clarinetist, accompanied Miss Foy in a vocal number that was also very well received.

Guests of the evening were Judge Clawson Williams of Sanford and Ken Owens of Greenville.

Strength FOR THE DAY

NO OUTLET TO LIFE Why is the Great Salt Lake in Utah brackish? Is it because of unusual chemical deposits in the adjacent territory? Not at all; it is because the lake has no outlet. As long as water can flow into a lake and flow out again, the water remains clear and sweet.

The relationship of all this to human life is apparent. The life which has no outlet becomes brackish. It is interesting to recall that the word "brackish" is derived from a word which means not only "salty" but "bitter." Observe the person whose life has no outlet; whose thoughts begin and end in himself; whose actions are never stirred by any emotion of generosity. You will find in such a person a brackish, bitter nature indeed. When health and energy flow into a life, and cheerfulness, generosity and good works flow out of that life, the result is a well-balanced mind and a sweet spirit.

Around Capitol Square

SMILES - There were more smiles around Capitol square Monday than had been seen in a long time. The general assembly had adjourned and there was no longer the suspense of wondering what the lawmakers might further do about salaries and reorganization in state government.

WORKING - Capitol square folks were also working harder Monday than for a long time. It was cleanup day. Senate and house chambers were being cleared of left-over papers and trash; typewriters were being returned to the various offices from which they had been borrowed, and from top to bottom members of office staffs were changing files and procedure back to "peacetime" routine.

THOROUGH - In some offices the cleaning up was more thorough than in others, because next Monday will bring new bosses. There will be a new director of conservation and development, a new commissioner of agriculture, a new industrial commissioner and two additional utilities commissioners scheduled to take over Monday.

APPOINTMENTS - Governor Scott is rapidly catching up with his appointment list. The unexpectedly long session of the legislature delayed some appointments and subjected the governor to criticism for failure to act earlier.

SURPRISES - Governor Scott has made several surprise appointments but they have been generally approved. Outstanding in this list was selection of Dr. Frank P. Graham to be United States senator next year.

tutional trustee groups for years. PREDICTED - While other selections announced by the governor in recent days did not have the element of surprise, only two or three had been predicted by Capitol observers. It was expected that Judge Fred Hunter would be reappointed to utilities, that Dr. T. C. Johnson would go to the parole office, and that George Ross would become director of conservation and development.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE New York - There is a new all-America male on the scene. Have you noticed him? He isn't exactly the kind of man his father was. And certainly he isn't the woman his mother was.

His spare time he spent at a saloon arguing about the government. He didn't talk much at home, because what was there for him and the old lady to talk about? He was interested in sports, business and politics. Mama was interested in raising the kids and running the manor.

Somebody Told Me...

There is no doubt that the grown-ups in every community should pay more attention to the activities of the youngsters, and at times the older citizens may benefit from the examples set by younger citizens. This chain of thought was produced by the assembly program at Greenville High School yesterday morning, when candidates for offices of next year's Student Government were ballyhooped by their campaign managers.

Somebody Told Me...

As always, the Greenville High School students produced a real show yesterday. If the newsreels have convinced you that spectacular demonstrations are confined to the national Democratic and Republican conventions, you should take in the GHS campaign program next year. The auditorium was plastered with vote-for streamers, and at the end of every speech the band would sound off or circulars would fly from the balcony.

The speakers at GHS have learned early that the best way to demand attention is to produce an occasional laugh along with serious campaign promises and the elaboration of the qualities of the candidates. The house was brought down by Pete Andrade, a senior from Mexico. From the floor Pete spilled sixty seconds of rapid-fire Spanish with two understandable words at the end: Peggy Barrow. Peggy is a candidate for Vice President of the student body.

had done wrong. Anu papa didn't fret about the children overmuch. After all, there were a lot of them around. In those days parents weren't supposed to worry much about the kids anyway. The kids were expected to grow up and start worrying about taking care of their parents.

The modern husband is a real All-America male. There has been no husband like him in history. And the American woman is the envy of the women of every other country in the world - for having him. Daddy takes an interest in everything about the house now. He insists on going with mama to the store to pick out the drapes and furniture. And don't try to tell him he doesn't know the difference between fuchsia and hepplewhite. He does.

Israel Facing Tough Decision On Policy In East-West Split

Tel Aviv, April 26—(AP)—Tough little Israel, still in the swaddling clothes of infant statehood, is facing her first fullgrown world problem—and doesn't like it.

That problem is how to stay neutral in the cold war between East and West, or which side to pick.

Israel would not like to have to choose. She would rather steer a neutral middle course, at least for the immediate future years in which she must absorb immigrants at a rate proportionally 20 times faster than the United States ever attempted.

But the new Jew of Israel is realistic. He doubts that his state would be allowed neutrality. He hopes, at least, however, that the hour of decision can be postponed. Yet that hour seems already near to striking.

The issue is expected here to come to its first hard moment of choice when, now that the North Atlantic pact is signed, attention turns to firm proposals for a Mediterranean pact.

Italy probably would be in such an alliance, as bridging member between the North Atlantic and Mediterranean pact nations. Greece likely would be in; Turkey almost certainly; Egypt possible.

And Israel, the little state with the big army at the doorway to the oil wealth, the battlefields and the air bases of the Middle East, could hardly escape invitation to make her choice.

Most people here think they know what that choice would be—though they all wish the need for choice would not come. They point out that the Communist vote in Israel's first election was less than five per cent.

But there will be hidden factors in the ultimate decision of more far-reaching importance than the division of voters between Communist and non-Communist parties. That is only the surface.

Two such factors are the American dollar—and the Eastern European Jewish immigrant.

In the government here, both factors are being kept in mind. Israel must have dollar credits for her essential imports; dollars with which to develop her own industry; dollars to help finance a nation not expected in the near future to be fully self-supporting.

Russia is not offering financial assistance. But she has cut off the stream of Jewish immigrants from almost all Eastern Europe. (None ever was allowed to come from Russia itself.) When or whether this immigration is allowed to resume probably will depend on what Moscow thinks of Israel's future international position.

There is a third factor—Britain. This state, which still smarts under its experiences under the mandate and views with alarm every British move in the Middle East, can be expected to regard with caution any Other nationally known figures to attend as special guests and bring greetings will be Jonathan Daniels, adviser to President Truman; Congressman Herbert C. Bonner, General Franklin Hart, Commanding Officer of Camp Lejeune, General Allen H. Turnage, a native son, and Dr. J. D. Messick, President of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville.

All of these distinguished guests will join in the dedicatory tribute to the progressive citizenship of Western North Carolina, which will have a living memorial in the form of the Chapter House of the Major May Chapter. And the Farmville community, filled with the holiday spirit of excitement, expectancy and hospitality awaits the dawning of April 29, prepared to usher in another day that will mark one of the momentous occasions of its history.

Proclaimed Holiday

In proclaiming April 29 as a holiday here, Mayor J. W. Joyner stated: "In the belief that the Daughters of the American Revolution is one of the most honorable organizations of women in the country and is apparently doing more in genealogical and pioneer history research and in the establishment and preservation of worthy memorials, thus strengthening our national life and promoting Americanism and American citizenship: "And as evidence of the interest, appreciation and cooperative spirit felt by the people in this community in the dedication of its Chapter House by the Major Benjamin May Chapter and the Homecoming Day scheduled for Friday, April 29, 1949, I do hereby proclaim that day as a holiday and do endorse the blanket invitation extended the community to share with this patriotic and community-minded group in the privilege afforded them by a program designed to honor our progressive citizenship and for their edification and recreation."

Program of the Day

The Homecoming Day celebration with its theme, "This Land of Ours—Its Soil, Its Homes, Its Churches, Its Schools and Its People," will be held in the Farmville gymnasium beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, with an address of welcome by Mayor J. W. Joyner. Devotional exercises at all events will be conducted by local ministers. Participating in the musical program will be Dr. George Perry, Dean of Music at ETC, Greenville, and Miss Drake in a piano ensemble number; Mrs. Bernice B. Turnage, soloist, with Mrs. Archie W. McLean, of Charlotte, as accompanist; the Farmville school band, of which Newton C. Moonhour is director, and the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Alma Whitley and with Mrs. Hayward Smith as accompanist. The Scottish Dance of Victory will be danced by students of Flora MacDonald College, directed by Miss Bateman.

At noon, a basket lunch will be served in one of the warehouses. In the afternoon, the unveiling exercises will take place at the Chapter House with Mrs. O'Byrne, President General, delivering the dedication address. An open house event will be held afterwards.

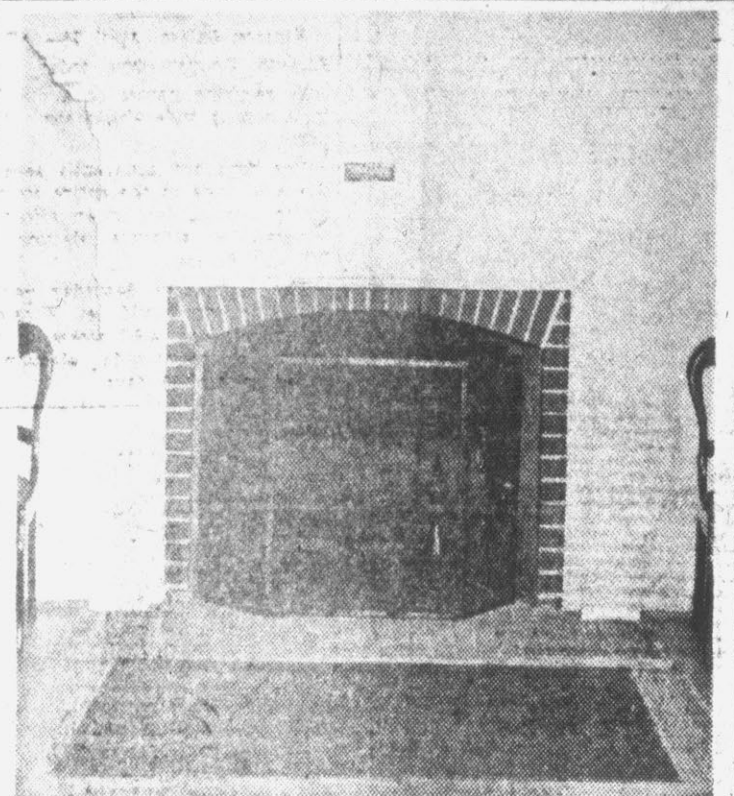

In the evening, from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clock, a Dedication Ball will be held in the school gymnasium with music furnished for the occasion by Herb Gupton's orchestra from Raleigh.

An open invitation to this community to share in the dedication and homecoming day event was extended in the last issue of the Farmville Enterprise by the Regent, Mrs. T. C. Turnage, and the Corresponding Secretary, Miss Helen Smith. This invitation pointed out the true purpose of the celebration: "one to be enjoyed together; an opportunity to renew family ties and greet old friends; a time of adventure for the soul." It also expressed the gratitude of the Chapter to all who have had a part in this achievement.

Invitations have been sent to Chapters throughout the State during the past week and replies indicate a large attendance. The day will offer a full program of enjoyment, recreation, edification and pleasure for all.

Dream Comes True

On February 23, 1926, when that small group of patriotic women met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Monk, Sr., and consummated the organization of the Major Benjamin May Chapter, D.A.R., the dream of a Chapter House was born in the mind of its organizing Regent, Mrs. T. C. Turnage, who has, by her zeal and perseverance and with the help of the chapter members and interested friends, experienced the splendid take an active interest in the welfare of the community and its permanent development.

Rare Furnishings

The marker for the main entrance of the Chapter House bears the inscription: "This is a Shrine Door dedicated to the memory of Louise Mose 1900-1943. Crossing the Uplands of Time, Skirting the Borders of Night, Scaling the Face of the Peak of Dreams, she has entered the Kingdom of Light. Here was a Guest toward the Morning Star. Now, as one of the Heavenly Host she would say, 'God Bless All Who Pass This Portal!'"

The interior of the two story building has a chaste beauty and the atmosphere of the shrine and sanctuary it was destined to become from the first. At one end of the spacious drawing room on the first floor is the original 150-year-old chandelier, donated by the late Aaron Turnage, Sr., and his wife Carrie Speight Turnage, from the General Moses Turnage homestead and at the other end of the room is the mantle in exact reproduction given by Mrs. Kenneth N. Gilpin in honor of her father, the late Senator Laurence Davis Tyson. The imported crystal chandelier here was given by Mrs. J. O. Pollard in commemoration of the Pioneer Mothers of America.

Four of the windows were given as memorials: the first, to honor the late William Hawkins Monk and wife Emma Cox Monk, the late Theodore L. Turnage and wife Emily Turnage Monk; by their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Monk, Sr.; the second, by the family of the late Dr. Francis Marion Davis; the third, by Dr. E. Bruce Beasley to honor his wife, Mrs. Louise Ferebee Beasley; the fourth by Samuel T. White to honor his wife, Mrs. Helen Ferebee White; the drop leaf mahogany table was a memorial gift by grandchildren of the late John A. and Lovie Clark Smith, including three sisters Misses Helen, Hulda and Christine Smith, members of the Chapter; a mirror in gold leaf was given by Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti in memory of her sister, the late Mrs. B. Streeter Sheppard; a pair of five branch silver candelabra by Mrs. D. R. Morgan in memory of her late husband, Daniel Ralph Morgan; a grandfather clock by Dr. D. S. Morrill, in memory of his sister, the late Miss Venetta P. Morrill; a silver service tray by Roberts Jewelry Co., emerald set by Mrs. J. S. Esdies, of Wilson; colonial library table, Mrs. C. M. Park; of McGehee City, given in honor of Mrs. J. S. Esdies, of Wilson; book on Heraldry by Miss Nan-

I, Sue May DeVisconti Sheppard, Hollon Joyce Smith, Marcellus Smit, Sallie May Staunton, John T. Thorne, Henry Calhoun Turnage, Theodore Carlyle Turnage, Sr., Benjamin Hawkins Tyson, Grigg Thompson Tyson, Capt. Charles A. White, Robert Williams, M. D., Willis R. Williams, Col. Samuel Vines. From such names as these, Carolina's greatness springs. Their generations shall stand as a wall of fire around this much loved state."

These names, memorialized for all time on the citizenship plaque were among incorporators of the town, professional men, organizers and operators of the business interests and agricultural industry, with a majority having had an intimate touch with developments of this section of North Carolina in the earlier days.

Veterans' Plaque

Though one has to go to the history books for information regarding heroes of the Revolutionary and other wars engaged in by the United States in the years that have followed, fresh in the minds of all are recollections of those who entered the armed services of the nation in World Wars I and II and of their courage and devotion to duty which have never been surpassed.

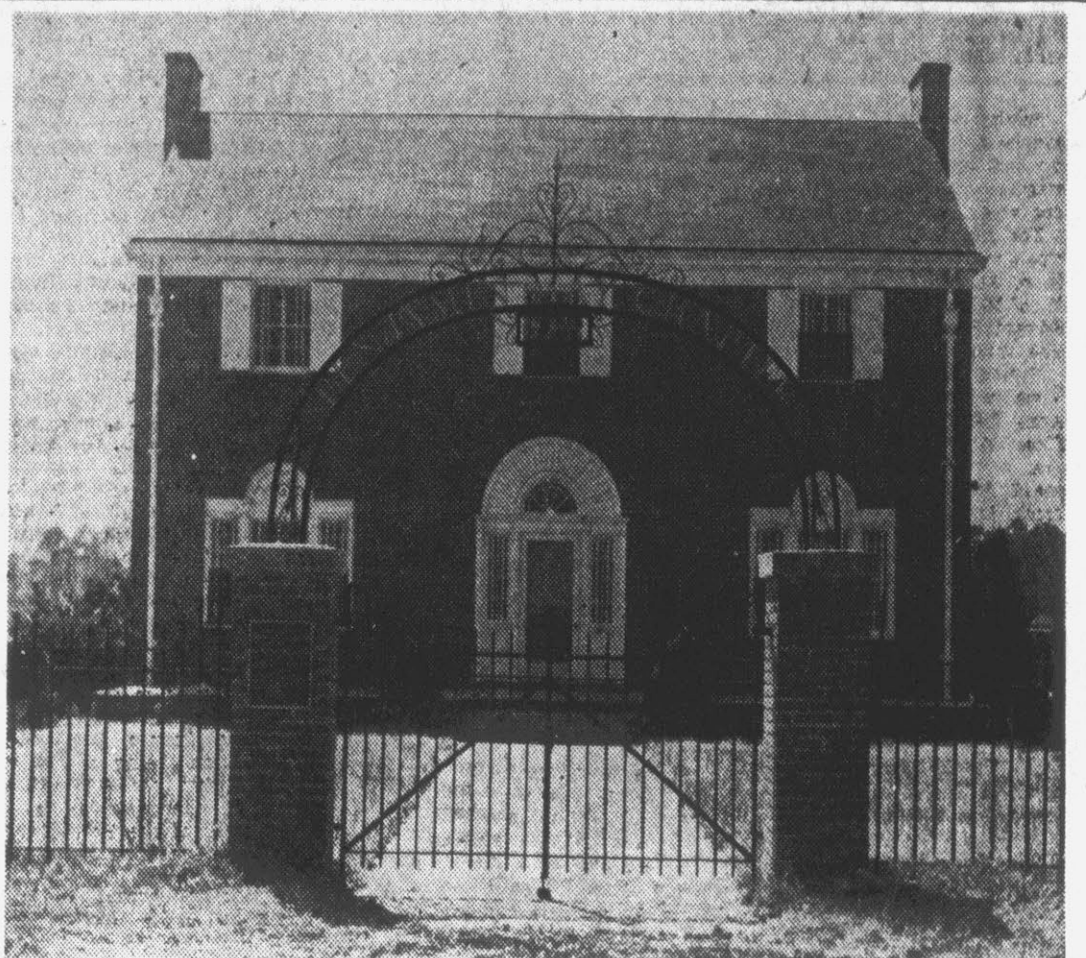

Thus it was that the local chapter, recognizing the sacrifices and deeds of valor of all patriots, has marked the gateways of the chapter house grounds with plaque reading, "These gateways are gratefully dedicated to the veterans of all wars of the United States of America. Go put your creeds into deeds, their, shining like stars, bid us advance for humanity."

It has been said that the D.A.R. looks backwards too often, but not by those who know its program of endeavor. It is necessary to hold the torch of progress so high that sufficient light may be thrown on achievements as well as the path ahead. And the Daughters of the American Revolution look ahead far ahead, and while memorializing those worthy of emulation in the past, are ever planning for the future citizenship of this country.

Family Gang Is Under Indictment

Baltimore, April 26—(AP)—Five members of a family gang are under indictment today on charges of staging two Baltimore bank holdups which netted over $34,000. The grand jury indicted as principals in the holdups Roy L. Mann, 28, of Sabraton, W. Va.; Carl Close, 31, of Mount Olive, Pa.; and James Edward Bennett, 23, of Latrobe, Pa. The three are brothers-in-law. Named as accessories were the wives of Bennett and Close, Mrs. Anna Bennett, 24, and Mrs. Mary Close, 22.

A trio of armed bandits robbed the Union Trust Company's Wallbrook Branch of $31,708 on February 15 and the Occident Federal Savings and Loan Association of $2,886 on January 28.

An indictment also was returned against Bennett charging him with assaulting the manager of the branch bank.

Bennett and Close were captured and are being held by federal agents in Tennessee along with Joseph William Moran, 24, of Pittsburgh and Audrey Fay Lynn, a 22-year-old Tennessee, who were picked up with Close, Bennett, Close and Moran have been charged with a $5,400 bank holdup in Follansbee, W. Va.

Maryland officials say they have assurances from the Justice Department that Bennett and Close will be brought here for trial.

Had Bullet In His Head 43 Years

Bakersville, April 26—(AP)—Thomas Burleson, 65, of Clarrissa today exhibited a bullet which he said dropped out after remaining in his ear 43 years.

Burleson said he was shot in the jaw in 1906 and that the bullet was deflected upward through the roof of his mouth, and lodged beneath an eye, presumably in a sinus. He said the wound healed without the bullet being removed. Recently, he continued, the pellet dropped into the back of his mouth through a nasal passage. Burleson said the .38 caliber bullet had given him little trouble in the 43 years.

Pearl-essence, made of scales of small fish, is sometimes mixed with molten glass to achieve decorative glass ornaments. It is also used in some nail polishes.

Deep Freeze Frog

Angels Camp, Calif., April 26—(AP)—Betting was running 5 to 3 today that a frozen frog named Lazarus won't go to the post in the Calaveras county jumping frog contest.

Lazarus was chipped out of a Yosemite glacier by Dr. D. L. Albasio and entered in the famed jump next month. He's still frozen stiff in a chunk of ice stored in Dr. Albasio's refrigerator.

Using all available data about the glacier, the doctor computed Lazarus went into a deep freeze about 1,200 years ago—give or take a few centuries.

Actress Loses In Court Fight On Kidnap Charges

Los Angeles, April 26—(AP)—Red-headed Madge Meredith, 27, former screen actress, has lost her fight for freedom.

She is in the county jail today, awaiting transfer to the state women's prison at Tehachapi to serve a five-year to life sentence for the kidnap-beating of her former manager, Nick Gianacis.

She and three men were convicted December 11, 1947, of luring Gianacis and his bodyguard, Verne Davis, into a lonely canyon and beating them. The three are Albert Tucker, Damon Klimberg and James A. Hatfield. Tucker received a five-year to life term and the others 30 days each.

The abduction stemmed from a dispute between Miss Meredith and Gianacis over ownership of a mansion.

She had been at liberty under $15,000 bond pending appeal.

to answer the starter's gun. But how long can a frog take that sort of thing? People recalled stories of frogs hopping briskly about after being confined for years in stone walls or wells. Scientists, however, took a dim view. They predicted Lazarus would be found dead rather than a mackerel.

Undaunted, Dr. Albasio contends Lazarus is just dormant and will snap out of it itching for some leg-work.

He had no answer for this one: If Lazarus couldn't jump far enough to elude a glacier 1,200 years ago, how could he win a jumping contest against modern-day frogs?

that all persons registering to vote shall be registered according to Wards in which they reside and that all tickets to be voted shall contain the names of properly registered candidates which shall be supplied by the Clerk of the City of Greenville; that all qualified voters within the City of Greenville will be allowed to register and vote if eligible under the State Laws governing County Primaries, said qualifications being one year residence within the State and four months residence within the Ward. By order of the Board of Aldermen at call meeting held March 28, 1948.

Drys In Forsyth Ready Petition

Winston-Salem, April 26—(AP)—Forsyth County drys today were busy securing names on a petition for a county-wide whisky store election.

The drys are apparently seeking the ABC vote in the entire county, which now is dry, in an effort to forestall a separate election in Winston-Salem.

The legislature Saturday passed a bill which would let Winston-Salem vote on ABC stores in the event no county-wide election is called within 60 days.

Greenies Romp To 23-1 Landslide Against Goldsboro

Harrison Gives Up Only One Hit

Gillespie And Mauney Hit Homers For Locals As Pappy Williams' Team Collects Eighteen Hits Off Four Goldsboro Hurlers

The Greenville Greenies trampled the Goldsboro Bucs, 23-1, here last night for their first league win as Rookie Bobby Harrison, the Newton, Miss., lad, pitched one-hit ball in his first pro game, that being an infield hit by Manager Steve Miserak of the Bucs in the third frame.

With the exception of the third frame, he did not give anything that even resembled a hit. Although he walked nine men and got himself in several holes during the contest, he came through in grand style in the pinches and during the contest struck out seven men.

The locals put across two runs in the first frame which was more than enough for a win, when Tepedino walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch, Pappy Williams singled to bring him home and Willie Mauney doubled into left field to bring home Williams. The Greenies during the next five frames scored a total of 20 runs—five in the second on two walks, two errors, hit batter and Tepedino's double; five in the fourth on single, walk, error, Pappy Williams' double and Pete Gillespie's homer over the leftfield wall; five more in the fifth on three singles, walk and Bob Cohen's triple; and five more in the sixth on two and three singles, double and a homer, and Pitcher Bobby Harrison with three singles led the attack for the Greenies.

Record Showing At Pinehurst By Grace Lenczyk

Pinehurst, April 26—(AP)—Grace Lenczyk has mastered the back nine on Pinehurst's No. 2 championship course.

A year ago the Hartford, Conn. girl, who was to go on to the National championship, unfurled a brilliant outgoing 34 on qualifying day in the North and South Amateur golf tournament, then staggered home with a 45.

Today, she entered match play with a stalling 70 to her credit on the record books. And she did it by clipping 13 strokes off her back nine score of 12 months ago.

The 21-year-old Stetson University junior put together nine of 32 yesterday to lead a field of 77 into the match competition that began with the low 16 meeting in the championship division.

Her record performances eclipsed the standard set only a year ago when Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, scored a 72 to win the medal.

Sidelights.—The outstanding sidelight in last night's game was the one-hit pitching performance of Bobby Harrison. That boy really had the stuff on the ball and pitched one of the prettiest games seen on the local diamond in a long long time. . . . John Tepedino, making his first appearance for the Greenies last night in shortstop position, really showed fans that he knew how to handle that position. In his four official trips to the plate he collected a double and a single and drove in two of the Greenies' runs. He handled a total of seven chances with only one miscue. . . . Goldsboro had 10 men stranded on bases and the Greenies had only five. . . . The Greenies executed the only double play of the game, that coming in the eighth frame—Carter to Tepedino to Williams. . . . Official paid attendance at the opening game was 1,701.

Walter Olchasky, rookie infielder from South River, N.J., has been given his release by Manager Pappy Williams. Lennie Rogers, rookie catcher of the Jays, has been traded to the Suffolk Goobers of the Virginia League.

Ever try sitting between two radio announcers with both of them going at the same time over two different stations and both talking about the same thing and not always agreeing on what they saw taking place? This observer did last night and had a hard time keeping up with the game visually for trying to keep up with it by what the radio men were saying. Jack Lee, the announcer from Goldsboro, was heard to say that Harrison's leg was hurt when he was running the bases—nothing was wrong with that arm of his, though.

Big Field Due For Penn Relays

Philadelphia, April 26—(AP)—The largest number of track and field entries in the history of the Penn Relay Carnival will be on hand for the opening gun Friday.

Approximately 3,500 athletes from 519 colleges, prep, high, junior high and elementary schools are expected to take part in the 84 events scheduled for the 56th running of the carnival at Penn's Franklin Field Friday and Saturday.

PETE HAS SHOWN FLAMES OF HIS OLD FORM AT THE PLATE AND COULD HELP BOSTON IF HE ESCAPES INJURY

One could hardly blame Pete Reiser for being happy at the news that he had been traded to the Boston Braves. It isn't that Pistol Pete had anything against the Flatbush Faithful. Nothing personal, that is. But ever since that day in 1940, along about mid-season, when he broke into the Dodger line-up for the first time, Reiser had been plagued with a series of injuries. In the first game, Pete pulled a muscle trying to beat out an infield drive and sat on the sidelines until Cookie Lavagetto came down with a case of appendicitis.

The next season, his first full year as a Dodger, Pete thumped the ball at a 343 clip to lead the National League batters. He seemed headed for the baseball heights, but each time he was ready to produce Fate stepped in and the next thing Pete knew he was in the hospital. His daring fielding only paid off in horrible batterings against the outfield walls of Ebbets Field. His determination to go all out on every play left him bruised and broken, just when he should have been arriving at his peak.

The change of scenery and uniform may mean a change of luck for Luckless Pete. At 29, Reiser may regain a measure of his early effectiveness and prove helpful to the Braves. A solid, healthy Reiser could fit into the line-up of any team in the league. It would be nice to see him salvage something from the wreckage of what should have been a brilliant baseball career.

Plenty Of Drive Is Keeping Weak Yanks In Loop Lead

New York, April 26—(AP)—How are the Yankees doing it without Dimaggio, Keller, Stirrweiss and Porterfield?

Manager Casey Stengel had the answer today: "It's tight pitching, plenty of drive and that rookie, Jerry Coleman," he said.

The New York Yankees, figured out of the American League pennant race after a plague of injuries hit key performers, are riding on top of the circuit with six victories in seven starts. They are best hot "I still think we'll finish one-two-three," the gray-thatched Yankee pilot added. "Those fellows seem to realize they have a lot of slack to make up and they're out there giving everything every minute."

"These early games have been a wonderful example of collective play." Stengel had particular praise for Coleman, the 24-year-old newcomer from Newark who is covering the infield like a tarpaulin and bringing back memories of the Yanks' Frankie Crosetti.

"Coleman has come through marvelously," he said. "He's shown us he can fill in at both shortstop and second base and play either position like a veteran."

The youngster from San Francisco is now filling in for Stirrweiss at second base. Although only a .25-hitter at Newark, he has shown a potency at the plate this spring.

Next-Best Mark In Airlift Loads

Berlin, April 25—(AP)—The allied airlift flew 8,831 tons of supplies in 1,011 flights into Berlin in the past 24 hours, its second best mark. Air Force officials announced today. The peak of the airlift operation was reached Easter weekend with nearly 13,000 tons flown into the Soviet-blockaded city in 24 hours. The previous second high day was April 18, with 8,923 tons.

Half-A-Million

New York—(AP)—More than half a million dollars in purses were distributed during the first two weeks of racing at Jamaica. A minimum purse level of $3,500 was maintained and a daily average of $9,500 for the eight-rac card was offered.

Is Rip Sewell Slipping? He Let Cubs Score Two Runs Yesterday

By Joe Reichler

Associated Press Sports Writer
Truett (Rip) Sewell, the old Cub killer from way back, is showing signs of "slipping" at last.

The 40-year-old "blooper" expert of the Pittsburgh Pirates actually allowed the Cubs two runs last night in pitching the Bucs to an 8-2 victory over his "cousins" from the Windy City. If Of Rip doesn't watch out, those big, bad Bucs are liable to win a game from him before the season is over.

Sewell was tapped for 10 hits, but was effective in the clutches to register his second straight triumph over the Cubs this year, and his ninth against only one loss over a two-season stretch. He shut out the Cubs 1-0 in the season's opener last week.

Sewell's lifetime record against the Bruins is phenomenal. He has whipped them 35 times in 54 decisions for better than 25 percent of his overall 139 triumphs. No other big league pitcher can boast such mastery over a rival club.

Were it not for the Cubs, Sewell might have called it a career two years ago. After a poor 1947 season, the veteran righthander from Decatur, Ala., retired to become a pitching coach with the Bucs. But after beating the Cubs in an exhibition game, he decided to give it another try. So in 1948 he shut out the Cubs in the season's opener and went on to whip them seven out of eight times.

The victory put the Pirates into a three-way tie for second place with Brooklyn and Boston, and a half-game behind the National League pace—setting New York Giants. The Cubs dropped into seventh place.

The Giants continued their winning ways, defeating the Phillies in Philadelphia, 6-3, for their fourth straight victory. Clint Hartung allowed nine hits in registering his second triumph.

Bill Voiselle, tall Braves' righthander, knocked the Dodgers out of first place and into a triple tie for second by shutting out Brooklyn, 3-0. Jim Russell drove in Boston's first two runs with a third inning single and Earl Torgeson homered in the fifth.

It was a big day for New York and Boston for the Yankees and Red Sox in the American League also won. The Bronx Bombers, aided by a pair of costly miscues by Philadelphia shortstop Eddie Joost, nipped the Athletics, 3-2, at the Yankee Stadium to increase their league lead to a full game over Chicago's White Sox. Vic Raschi, who shut out Washington last week, yielded six hits, the same number the Yankees got off loser Joe Coleman.

Mel Parnell, young Red Sox southpaw (hung up his second successive shutout success, with a 2-6 triumph over the Washington Senators. He allowed only seven hits to the Nats who have now lost seven in a row since winning the season's opener.

The St. Louis Cardinals routed their old jinx, Ken Raffensberger, with a four run blast in the second inning and went on to whip the Cincinnati Reds, 9-3, in a night game in St. Louis.

Gardella Suit To Be Heard May 16

New York, April 26—(AP)—Danny Gardella's long-pending $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball is scheduled to come up for trial May 16.

The case was temporarily cleared for bringing the case before a jury yesterday when baseball filed its answer to the suit in federal court.

The game's leaders asked for dismissal of the suit on the grounds that baseball is not engaged in interstate commerce and thus is out of federal court jurisdiction.

Racing Heads To Meet On May 16

New York, April 26—(AP)—The National Association of State Racing Commissioners will meet here May 16-19 to tackle a series of problems.

One of the big questions coming before the body is that of legalized off-course betting. Special committees will report on proposals to license bookmakers.

Other matters to be discussed include pari-mutuel taxation, stipulation and drugging of horses and uniform rules for all racing states.

Win 67 Tennis Matches In Row

Philadelphia, April 26—(AP)—William & Mary College of Williamsburg, Va., is co-holder of the national collegiate tennis record of 67 consecutive team victories.

The W.&M. team defeated Penn here yesterday, 9-0, to win number 67 and tie North Carolina University for the national record winning streak.

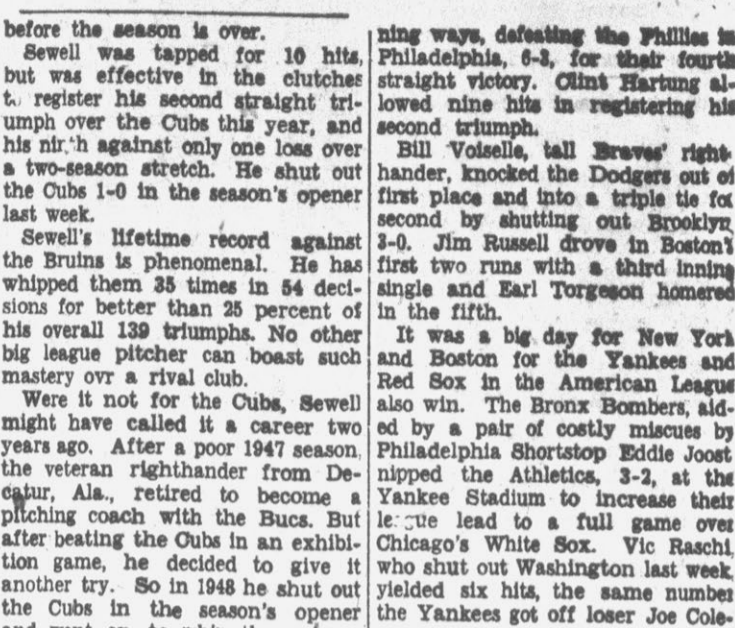

Belloise Fighting Again In Paris

Paris, April 26—(AP)—Steve Belloise probably will take another fight here within the next month, following his eight round technical knockout of Jean Stock, France's 160-pound champion.

Belloise apparently is starting from the top and working his way down. His next opponent will be Laurent Daubuille, and the fight may be staged sometime next month.

"He is the toughest fighter I've ever met," said Belloise, of stock after the referee stopped the scheduled 10-rounder in 2:20 of the eighth stanza last night in the Palais Des Sports.

Peddler of Dreams

By Peggy Dern

Chapter 4
There was a measure of excitement the next morning when they came to the first country road that swung away from the highway. It had been agreed before the start that Felicity was to lead the way and that Garrett would leave the choice of roads entirely to her.

The country through which they drove was beautiful, but the two trailers made heavy going of the narrow, winding road, and they had traveled a considerable distance before they saw a farmhouse ahead.

A woman appeared around the corner of the house, wiping her hands on her faded gingham apron. Felicity got out of her car and went up the walk aim and boyish in her navy-blue slacks and white shirt, its collar open at the throat, the sunlight glinting on her bare head.

"We have some books and magazines," she explained. "We'd like to exchange them for farm produce, if you have any you'd like to dispose of."

The woman stared, her sun-browned face a picture of startled amazement. "Books? Magazines? Well, I don't reckon—" she began.

"Come down to the trailer and look at them. If you find something you like, we can arrange about the produce," suggested Felicity eagerly.

"Well, now, I've always wanted to see inside one o' them things," the woman admitted frankly. Felicity was waiting with the side door of his trailer open. The woman stepped inside and looked about her, as curious as a child. She marveled at the efficiency of the sleeping arrangements, the tiny stove, the ice-box; and, as she caught sight of the rows of books arranged on shelves across one whole side of the trailer, her eyes brightened and a hollower look came in them. She put out a work-roughened hand and touched a bright cover here and there.

Her hand lingered on a book. She drew it out, glanced at it, lost herself in it for a moment or two. Then the bright colors of a magazine jacket caught her eye and she lingered over that. Suddenly she looked at Felicity and Garrett with something very like defiance in her eyes.

"It ain't as if I didn't do all the work of canning and preservin' and pickin'," she said, as though she had a right to the eggs and butter and dard them to deny it. "And I got milk, on account o' me raising the chickens and doin' all the milkin'."

In the end she went back up the path, her arms laden with books and magazines; and a little later she and Felicity and Garrett with something very like defiance in her eyes.

"It ain't as if I didn't do all the work of canning and preservin' and pickin'," she said, as though she had a right to the eggs and butter and dard them to deny it. "And I got milk, on account o' me raising the chickens and doin' all the milkin'."

"It ain't as if I didn't do all the work of canning and preservin' and pickin'," she said, as though she had a right to the eggs and butter and dard them to deny it. "And I got milk, on account o' me raising the chickens and doin' all the milkin'."

In the end she went back up the path, her arms laden with books and magazines; and a little later she and Felicity and Garrett with something very like defiance in her eyes.

"It ain't as if I didn't do all the work of canning and preservin' and pickin'," she said, as though she had a right to the eggs and butter and dard them to deny it. "And I got milk, on account o' me raising the chickens and doin' all the milkin'."

Felicity came back down the path, carrying jars of canned vegetables and fruits, a basket of apples and eggs, a jar of milk and a pound of delicious-looking butter wrapped in oiled paper.

That afternoon, after being sharply rebuffed at a couple of places and ordered roughly to move on, they came to another ancient farmhouse where the pretty, bright-eyed daughter of the house welcomed them, and where once more they did a good stroke of business. The farmer, pleased with his pretty daughter's eagerness, readily agreed to permit them to camp for the night in the woods-lot a quarter of a mile from the house, and there Felicity cooked supper.

"It would be silly for you to do your own cooking, when we have plenty here for all of us," Felicity argued with Garrett.

The children adored him, and Garrett seemed to expand in their presence. After Jason and Felicity had put the others to bed, Garrett, Jason and Felicity sat on the steps in the moonlight and talked.

"See here, Felicity," Garrett said suddenly, "you folks are pretty crowded here. There are two bunks in my trailer, and obviously I can use only one. If I'm going to eat with you, why can't I share my trailer? Jay, why don't you move your traps over to my place, and we'll all be a lot more comfortable. And my car's a sedan with a lot of seat-space going to waste. Let the children ride with me in the daytime."

Felicity stared at him. "You are fond of children, aren't you?" she marveled frankly.

"Oh, I was cut out for a family man," he assured her. "Just a natural born pater familias, that's me!" Felicity watched him go a little later, helping Jason move his rather scanty belongings to the other trailer. And she admitted that it was very nice, indeed, being partners with "Vett" Forbes.

She got up finally, gave herself a little shake and went back into the trailer. She drew the curtains that shut off the sleeping space from the front of the trailer where the small dining table stood. She sat down, brought out a battered briefcase, drew out of it a great sheaf of manuscript, half a dozen neatly sharpened pencils and went happily to work.

This was Felicity's secret, known not even to the children. She had been at some pains to conceal it even from Jason. Having Jason share Garrett's trailer was going to make things easier in a lot of ways. Jason would be more comfortable, the family would be less crowded—and Felicity would be able to work more easily at her play. For that was Felicity's secret: she was writing a play! Writing it gave her a great deal of pleasure. Her busy days were speeded up by her thoughts about the play; by hearing bright, effective bits of dialogue as she washed dishes, mended small clothes, washed and ironed; achieving certain important stage effects. Being so deeply a child of the theater, it was not at all surprising that she should find release and pleasure in writing a play!

Last Symbol Of Foreign Leadership In China Ends

By TOM PAMBERT
 Shanghai, April 26—(AP)—The No. 1 buoy on the Whangpoo river off Shanghai's famed bund is empty. For years it has been the symbol of foreign leadership in this country. The nation with a warship tied to that buoy was the No. 1 foreign nation to all Chinese. Years ago the British held the buoy. Then the Japanese grabbed it during World War II. At the end of the war an American ship was kept tied up there. The last American ship left the buoy a few hours ago. It was the Eldorado, flagship of Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of American naval forces in the western Pacific. The flagship pulled down stream out of possible gun range of the communists. No sooner had it moved than

One Way Out

Rome, April 26—(AP)—Salvatore Guigliano, Sicily's two-gun badman, gave the government 72 hours today to answer his challenge to a duel. The outlaw, who claims dozens of notches on his pistols, recently offered to take on 10 of the government's best shots—one by one. In a message to a Palermo newspaper he called the government a bunch of cowards for ignoring his challenge. If they don't reply in three days, he said, he and his boys will open an all-out attack against police. Guigliano offered the government one out. Give him and his hand an amnesty, he said, and they will lay down their guns.

Chinese coolies began rooting through the abandoned dockside naval station to see if anything of value had been left behind. Formerly they would not have dared such a bold thing. Hospital Corpsman Richard Baltzer of Beatrice, Neb., watching the Eldorado prepare to leave, pointed ruefully at a YMCA sign on the dock. As the Eldorado sailed, the sign came into the view of all. It said: "A hearty welcome awaits you in Shanghai."

Like No. 1 buoy, the sign tonight had lost all significance. Members of the Teachers Playhouse at East Carolina Teachers College celebrated Monday afternoon the 100th performance of their radio program "Once Upon a Time." The radio series of stories for children is given five times each week over the facilities of WGTC, local radio station. The staff of "Once Upon a Time," other members of the college dramatic organization, and a number of guests enjoyed a tea and cake-cutting held in the Green room, headquarters of the Teachers Playhouse in the Austin building. Among those present to congratulate the players on their series of radio programs for children were Dean Leo W. Jenkins; Dr. Lucile Turner, chairman of the English Department; Mrs. Susie Webb of the alumni office; Miss Louise Greer, professor of English; Miss Mary H. Greene, director of the college news bureau; Carl Conner, editor of the student newspaper; John Pournaras, editor of the college annual; Raz Autry, president of the Student Government Association; Hush Fox, treasurer of the Student Government Association; and Chester Walsh. Dr. Lucile Charles, director of speech and drama at the college, and several of the guests present made short talks commending the players for their work. The staff of "Once Upon a Time" is made up of Virgil Clark of Greenville, student director; Shirley Cowburn of Lumberton; Mildred Oakes of Hookerton; Geraldine Weathers of Shelby; and Claude B. West, Jr., of Greenville.

Roxy Theatre Corp. Fined For Violation Of Housing Act

In federal court in Washington yesterday Judge Don Gillam fined the Roxy Theatre corporation of Greenville $100 for violation of the federal housing act. Roxy L. Tripp of Greenville and the theatre corporation were indicted on charges of having erected a building on Albemarle Avenue in Greenville during the period when all construction was under federal control without having obtained a housing expediter's permit. The case against Tripp was dismissed by the court, and the Roxy Theatre corporation, through its attorney, pled nolo contendere to the charge and was fined $100.

KIWANIS OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS ENTERTAINED

Dr. Melvin P. Hoot was host at a supper meeting at the American Legion Home last night to the officers and guests of the Greenville Kiwanis Club. Vice-President Fige Gardner presided for President Arthur Tripp. It is an old Kiwanis custom for an officer or a director of the Kiwanis Club to entertain at his home or elsewhere at supper at the monthly business meeting. W. H. Woolard will be host at the next meeting.

ELKS LODGE TO INDUCT NEW MEMBERS TONIGHT

Greenville Lodge No. 1645, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will induct a group of new members at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock. Charles E. Blair, exalted ruler, will officiate. Supper will be served to members of the lodge at 6:30.

Both were found guilty of violating an article of martial law.

ACC Sponsoring High School Day In Wilson May 4

Wilson, April 26—Atlantic Christian College is sponsoring a High School Senior Day on Wednesday, May 4. The seniors of Pitt county are among those who have been invited. Principals and class sponsors especially are invited to attend with the seniors.

Registration will begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. There will be demonstrations of the various college activities and other features of college life. Rev. James Carmack Opens Revival At Immanuel Church

Rev. James C. Carmack Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Smithfield, who is conducting a week's revival at Immanuel Baptist Church, preached an eloquent sermon last night on "Good News." Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of the church, invites the public to attend the services each evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Moye Dall, minister of music, is leading the singing. Mrs. Howard Bodkin is organist. The Junior Choir is participating in the song services at the meetings.

Behind The . . .

 So Mr. Truman wants the people to have health insurance through a tax on payrolls, just as they pay for their Social Security benefits. Who'd be covered? Employees, and the self-employed, and their dependents, pretty completely. How big a tax? Three per cent on a payroll, with 1 1/2 per cent on the worker, 1 1/2 per cent on the employer, on salaries up to $4,800. Example: Jones makes $10,000. He'd be taxed only up to $4,800. It would be $1.38 a week for him and his family. The boss would pay an equal sum. If Jones made only $2,000 a year his tax would be 87 cents a week on him and the same on his employer. The self-employed would pay the full three per cent. The government would also contribute. Doctors wouldn't have to take part if they didn't want to. They could choose their own patients. Patients could choose their doctors. Mr. Truman and his supporters say the program could be carried out with a minimum of government interference. They argue this kind of compulsory insurance is the only way to

Corn was 1/4 to 1 cent higher, May $1.34 1/2-3/4. Oats were 1/4 to 3/8 higher, May 66 1/2-3/4. Rye was 1 1/4 cent higher, May $1.27 1/2. Soybeans were 2 1/4 to 3 cents high-
