Tobacco Market In Europe Growing

J. Con Lanier Says Trend Definitely Toward American Grown Leaf In Study Of Prospects In Eight European Countries

J. CON LANIER

J. Con Lanier of Greenville, general counsel and executive secretary of Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association of the United States, returned Tuesday from a six-week "good will tour" of seven European countries during which time he studied the prospects for American tobacco in Europe.

During the trip to Europe, Lanier conferred with approximately 50 dealers and manufacturers in England, France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Germany and held conferences with high government officials in reference to the trends in tobacco consumption in the various countries.

"In every country I visited," Lanier said, "I found that the trend is definitely toward American grown leaf tobacco. In several countries the consumer preference is the American blended cigarette similar to the popular brands in this country."

"In other countries, namely England and Holland, the smoker preference is for straight Virginia type cigarette which is 100 per cent pure cured tobacco."

As for the immediate outlook for the 1949 tobacco crop in eastern North Carolina and the United States in general, Lanier predicts firm price levels with an average closely corresponding to the 1948 acreage.

"Practically all the money (used for European purchases) is Marshall Plan money," he explained, "but I predict strong demand for American tobacco and not much change in price average. I believe any drop in price will come in the low grades, and that the smoking grades will be substantially as last year. Every emphasis should be placed upon the production of high quality tobacco."

Commenting on the general outlook for increased exports of American tobacco to Europe, Lanier stated:

"The American-British zone of Germany with more than 40 million people offers a vast potential market for our tobacco if and when the country gets on its feet economically."

"All the facts point to a tremendous future market in Europe and England for American grown tobacco, limited only by the ability to pay for it. No country in the world has yet been able to duplicate the aroma and smoking qualities of American tobacco. In Germany where formerly cigarettes were made of Oriental tobaccos, there is a marked preference for American type cigarettes."

"In my opinion these countries are making marked strides toward economic recovery. The farmers are tilling the soil which produces the wealth and basis for economic recovery."

During his trip to Europe, Lanier traveled on ships, trains, autos and planes. "All trains and hotels of Europe are crowded. Food is plentiful, but relatively high in price. The attitude in every country is very

Famed Belgian Writer Passes

Paris, May 6.—(AP)—Count Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian author of "The Blue Bird" and other works, died in Nice today, the French press agency reported. He was 86.

Maeterlinck's works are noted for their fanciful beauty. Among the most famous are "Pelléas et Mélisande," made into an opera by the French composer Claude Debussy; "The Blue Bird," "The Life of the Ant," and "The Life of the Bee."

Maeterlinck was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1911.

An Outsider Did It

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, Neither Democrat Nor Republican, Bailed The Truman Administration Out Of A Bad Jam On A Labor Bill; He Knows The Rules

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—It was an outsider who bailed the Truman administration out of a bad jam.

He is Rep. Vito Marcantonio, neither a Democrat nor a Republican. He is the only member in Congress from the American Labor party of New York.

He bailed out the Trumanites when they were on the edge of a great defeat.

Short, dark, 46, and a lawyer with a fast mind, Marcantonio always votes on the side of labor. In this he is in tune with President Truman although he is a bitter fighter against Presidential moves in the cold war with Russia.

He is a shrewd master of parliamentary tricks and knows the rules of the house by heart.

Without equipment, even though he starts alone, he's snarled up the house again and again to block doings he didn't like.

In knowing the rules, he probably has no rival on the floor of the house unless it's Rep. John Rankin, Mississippi Democrat.

In stature Marcantonio and Rankin are similar: They're about the smallest men in the house. And both are aggressive. They're heard from plenty, and mostly on the opposite sides of any argument.

No two men in the house stand further apart in their thinking on practically everything—race and foreign affairs, for instance—yet, they're very chummy, at least while they're sitting at their benches on the house floor.

This probably comes from a deep respect for each other's ability and they speak well of each other to newsmen. When Marcantonio gives his word, safe.

On Tuesday around 7 p. m. Marcantonio was very much present when it came time to vote on a new labor bill.

The Truman Democrats had wanted to wipe out the Taft-Hartley labor act and replace it with a bill to labor's liking.

But the Southern Democrats and Republicans had teamed up to push along a bill that kept much of the Taft-Hartley act, although changing it a bit.

Board Appoints Clark To City Utilities Body

Discussion Of Sanitary Conditions And Routine Matters Before Aldermen

The appointment of a new member to the Utilities commission, a discussion of the city's sanitary conditions, and routine business took up the major portion of the monthly meeting of the Greenville board of aldermen last night.

John G. Clark was unanimously appointed to the city Utilities commission to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. H. Blount at the expiration of his term of office two months ago.

Following a report by city sanitary commissioner J. C. Waldrop and discussion by members of the board of aldermen, the body passed a motion rescinding an action taken at the last meeting in which certain outdoor privies on property owned by Mrs. B. W. Moseley were accepted as in compliance with the city sanitary regulations.

During the discussion Alderman W. S. Stafford, mayor elect of Greenville, said he visited Negro residential sections in the city Wednesday, and told the board, "Frankly gentlemen, I didn't even realize the conditions existed like they do in Greenville."

T. I. Wagner, J. S. Moye and Miss Irene Hester appeared before the board to submit a proposed budget for the city's portion of the operation of Sheppard Memorial library.

Upon the recommendation of Police Chief Lester D. Page, the aldermen amended the city dog ordinance to lower the fines on dogs picked.

Mother's Day Party Monday

The annual Mother's Day party sponsored by the Daily Reflector and the Pitt Theatre for mothers of Pitt county over 55 years old will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Pitt Theatre.

L. W. Herring, owner of the AA taxi company, will furnish free transportation to the party for any mother in Greenville, and corsages will be presented to the mothers by the Greenville Floral company, and a cake made by Morton's bakery will be presented to the oldest mother at the party.

The movie for the party will be "Adventure in Baltimore" starring Robert Young and Shirley Temple.

All mothers 55 years old or older are cordially invited to attend the show in their honor, sponsors of the party said.

The coupon below, properly filled out and presented at the box office, will be a free admission pass for all mothers of the required age.

Heat Scorches East As Snow Falls On Wyoming

By The Associated Press
A heat wave blistered most of the Eastern half of the country again today but parts of Wyoming and Colorado shivered in wintry weather.

Snow fell in Southern Wyoming and Eastern Colorado. Temperatures dropped in some sections of the snow belt to below freezing. Snow drifted along U. S. highway 30 for 60 miles east of Rock Springs, Wyo., to Wamsutter, stalling nearly 300 cars and trucks last night. Crews brought out snow plows to clear the drifted roads.

Colorado Springs reported a wet snow and the mercury at 33. At Cheyenne, Wyo., rain mixed with snow fell in near freezing weather.

Some parts of the Midwest hot belt got some relief today from the 90-degree temperatures which have hit the area for the past four days. A mass of cool air from the western states moved into the central part of the country today, reaching Wisconsin, central Iowa, Southern Kansas and Northwestern Oklahoma. General showers and thunderstorms were reported near the cold air front.

Governor Scott To Visit, Speak At ECTC May 11

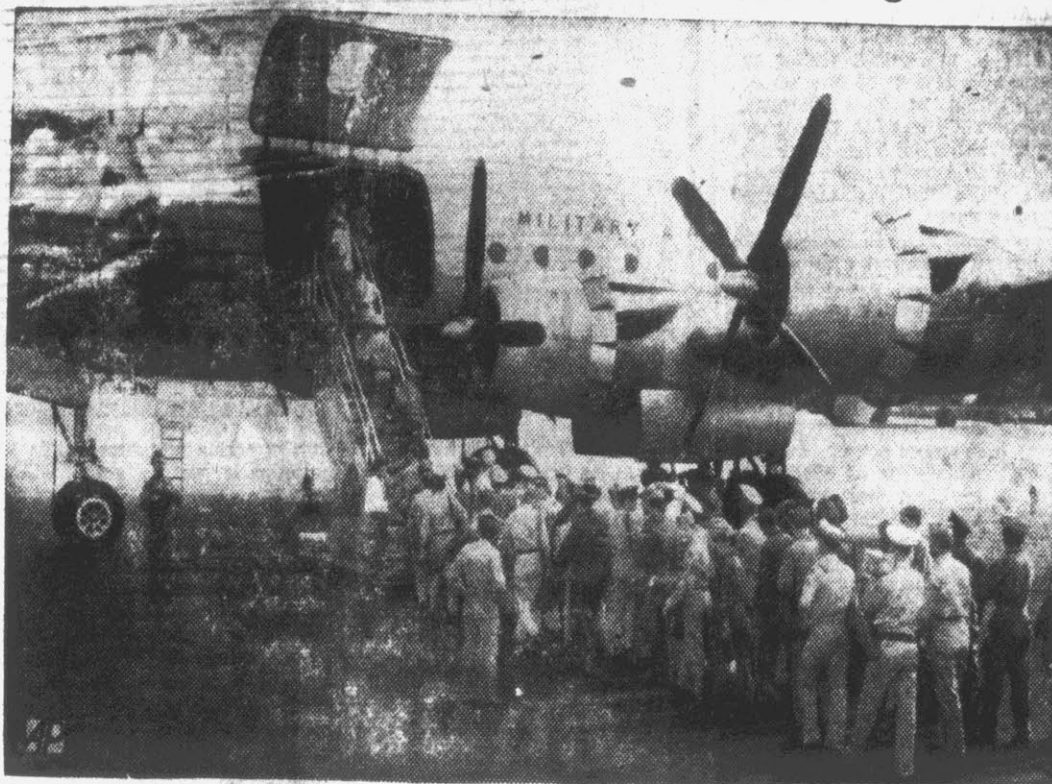

Governor W. Kerr Scott will be a visitor on the East Carolina Teachers College campus next Wednesday morning and will deliver an address to students and faculty members.

Dr. John D. Messick has just announced that the Governor has accepted an invitation to speak at the college.

Governor Scott will talk at eleven o'clock in the morning in the auditorium of the Austin building. Class work will be discontinued during the address so that all students and staff members of the college will have an opportunity to be present to welcome the distinguished visitor to the campus and to hear his speech.

No topic for Governor Scott's talk has been announced, but it is understood that he will survey recent work of the North Carolina legislature.

Record Passenger Load For Atlantic Flight

Red Army Attack On Shanghai Appears To Be Rolling At Last

Shanghai, May 6.—(AP)—The big Chinese communist push for Shanghai may be on.

The garrison today said strong communist attacks rolled up on the southwest and northwest. It said the one on the southwest was being held, and the Reds on the northwest were beaten back.

The Reds knifed deeper into central and southeast China meanwhile. There was little indication of fighting on either of these two fronts.

(This appeared to be a hint that the two lancing operations into nationalist China's vitals were virtually unopposed.)

The attacks on the Shanghai front broke a lull that began when the communists by-passed the city, seized Hangchow on the southwest, and left Shanghai isolated except by sea.

The communists said several thousand communist troops were attacking Kashing, 50 miles southwest on the railway to Hangchow. One attack was launched from the south at a point near the city's airport.

The communists were already in the Southeast mountains to which they were driven by Chiang Kai-Shek in 1927. From there they began in the 1930's their famous trek to bleak Yenan in North China.

A second came west of Kashing. A third hit Nationalist positions around Changchih, about 9 miles to the north.

The garrison's communique said that simultaneously 5,000 Red troops struck at Taichang, 37 miles northwest of Shanghai. It asserted that the attackers withdrew after a two-hour fight, leaving 200 dead and wounded on the battlefield.

Meanwhile the newspaper Sin Wan Pao said Pukien province officials were worried as Red vanguards moved into the mountains about 20 miles from the northern border of this southeast province.

Pukien province is opposite Formosa, island province converted into a Nationalist fortress.

The newspaper said reinforcements had been sent to positions around Chungking. The town is near the northern Pukien border 315 miles southwest of Shanghai.

President Will Have To Modify Labor Bill Stand

Congressional Reaction Indicates Truman Must Accept Compromises If He Wants Taft-Hartley Law Repealed Now

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Congressional reaction indicated today that President Truman will have to accept some compromises if he wants the Taft-Hartley labor law repealed this year.

The president made it plain at his news conference yesterday that he intends to fight to put new labor legislation on the books.

He noted in this connection, that his administration runs four years. He hinted at the later possibility of a "whistle stop" campaign to carry his ideas to the country. Asked about one now, he said it is too early to say. He added that he would let the newsmen know in plenty of time to pack their trunks.

But Mr. Truman's call on Democrats to support the party platform—which pledged repeal of the Republican sponsored Taft-Hartley act—brought no cheers from Capitol Hill. Democratic leaders ducked comment.

The president said he liked the original repealer, offered by Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich.) of the House labor committee.

The House rejected that measure before it turned down a compromise sponsored by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) which was less pleasing to labor leaders—and before it had shelved a bill by Rep. Wood (D-Ga.) which would have kept most of the T-H act intact.

Mr. Truman summed up those actions as an administration victory.

By providing for the largest per pupil allotments to the poorest of states, it is intended to more nearly equalize educational opportunities throughout the nation.

An almost identical bill passed by the Senate last year was piggybacked by a House committee.

In the Senate last night eight Democrats, Senator Byrd (Va.), Connally (Tex.) and O'Connor (Md.) voted with 12 Republicans against the bill. Thirty-six Democrats and 22 Republicans voted for it.

The differences among Republicans over this type of legislation was pointed out in the closing debate, as the bill was attacked by Senators Wherry (R-Nebr.), Bridges (R-NH) and Ecton (R-Mont.).

Wherry, the GOP floor leader, said it is a socialistic program, comparable to the long range housing bill recently passed by the Senate. He saw it as a step toward federal control of education.

The United Transport Service Employees' Tobacco Workers Division, CIO, filed the petition for an election. Subsequently the UTW sought to intervene and obtain a place on the ballot. The petitioning union objected, charging that UTW was acting in behalf of the food, tobacco and agricultural and allied workers union, CIO, usually referred to as FTA. The NLRB held that FTA was attempting to evade the non-Communist affidavit requirement to obtain bargaining rights for 1,225 retraining workers.

Officials of the United Tobacco Workers had filed the non-Communist oaths required for obtaining NLRB procedures. FTA officers had refused to sign them. The FTA is headed by Donald Henderson, who recently returned from a so-called peace conference in Paris.

A hearing developed that a lawyer made two free trips from Washington to North Carolina to help the new union, which was without funds. But the NLRB majority said "it

House Receives School Aid Bill

Federal Aid To Education Measure Approved In Senate

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—The Senate delivered a $300,000,000 federal aid to education bill to the House today for the second year in a row.

The measure swept through the Senate last night by a vote of 56 to 15 after all efforts to amend it were beaten down.

It would authorize $300,000,000 to be appropriated annually to help the states pay teacher salaries and other school operating expenses. Many schools have lost teachers to better paying employers, an argument advanced by the bill's supporters.

Embarrassing Issue Expected In Paris

Fourth Round Of Pay Hikes Lead By Steel Union

Other Big CIO Unions Going To Follow; Many Demands Face Industry

Pittsburgh, May 6.—(AP)—Phillip Murray's United Steelworkers are taking the lead in demanding a fourth-round pay boost.

And some of Murray's other big CIO unions are going to follow the leader.

John L. Lewis, president of the unaffiliated United Mine Workers, also wants more benefits for his half million soft coal diggers.

That's the picture in industrial America today—the "Big Four" of industry—steel, auto, coal and electrical workers—want more money now and a guarantee of security in the future.

The CIO United Steelworkers wage policy committee ended a 3-day huddle of top strategists yesterday by asking not only for an unspecified wage hike but a pension program and health and welfare benefits for 1,115,000 members.

Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, would not estimate the total cost of his union's demands to the steel industry. He did estimate, however, the insurance program would cost 8.4 cents per man per hour.

The CIO leader has been in favor of pensions for his members, along with other social security benefits. He's become more insistent on pensions since John Lewis obtained them for his UMW members.

The UMW finances its $100-a-month pensions out of a health and welfare fund financed entirely by a 20-cent-a-ton royalty payments by coal operators. There's every indication Lewis will ask the operators to up the royalty payments in the contract expiring June 30. And a source close to the bushy browed UMW chief says Lewis probably is planning to ask for a shorter work week—at the same rate of pay as at present.

Throughout Murray's CIO union empire, there's more and more talk about social security for union members. There's talk, too, about wage hikes but the emphasis seems to be on pensions and welfare plans.

Murray is optimistic about the forthcoming negotiations. "I believe the employers will approach these matters as we will—in a very constructive mood." The veteran labor leader told a news conference. "The wage figure is still in process of formulation."

There are, however, some notable differences from the situation that existed when the blockade was imposed by the Soviets last summer.

The eastern and western positions appear to have become more frozen than they previously were and the three western powers have achieved virtually complete understanding on what they want in Germany. Russia faces the need to deal not with three separate nations having their own differences, but with three nations consolidated, so far as Germany is concerned, into a single bloc.

The occupation troop issue is considered explosive for several reasons. If the Russians propose withdrawal and the west rejects it outright, German communists will have a trump propaganda card to play in their struggle for leadership throughout Germany. They would charge that the west wanted to keep the German people subject to their conquerors while Russia wanted to restore their freedom.

Soviet Proposal To Withdraw All Occupation Troops In Germany Will Provide West With New Headache In Writing Agreements

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Russia's expected proposal to withdraw all occupation troops from Germany is regarded here as one of the most difficult issues that the western powers will have to meet at the Big Four ministers' conference in Paris late this month.

Indications are that the United States, Britain and France are yet to decide exactly how they will deal with the proposition if the Russians put it forward. There is no present evidence that they will accept any such demand.

State Department experts are now working intensively on this and other problems expected to arise at the Paris meeting, which opens on May 23. On most if not all these other problems the unified American, British, French position is determined.

Plans already are under way for creation of a western German government, thus far developed against Russian opposition. Those plans will form the basis of western proposals for a government for all Germans.

Economic and political unification of the Soviet and western areas is an objective of the western powers. In working toward this they will insist that the Soviets agree to take down the barriers which now restrict communications between the two areas.

The western nations also are determined that the unification of all Germany must permit true personal freedom and democratic political institutions for the entire nation. This large order would mean a radical change in the system prevailing under the Russians.

President Truman summed up the general state of affairs to a news conference yesterday in commenting on the new agreement for ending the Berlin blockade. He remarked that he is happy the four nations can now take up their negotiations where they left off about 10 months ago. He implied that this is in his view the real meaning of the Berlin agreement.

There are, however, some notable differences from the situation that existed when the blockade was imposed by the Soviets last summer.

C. B. Bisette Goes For Training Cruise

Charles B. Bisette, manager of Bisette's Drug store in Greenville, left today for New Orleans where he will have two weeks training duty with the navy.

A lieutenant in the naval reserve, Bisette is the first member of the recently organized Greenville naval reserve unit to be assigned to a training cruise. Several other members of the unit have made applications for training cruises this summer.

Junior Woman's Club Holds Meeting

The Junior Woman's Club of Greenville held its regular business meeting Wednesday night, May 4th, at 8:00 p. m. in the Woman's Club building with a good attendance.

The meeting was opened by the reading of the collect after which the roll was called and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Reports from all standing committees and departments were given. Interesting letters from foreign women had been received by several of the club members and were read as follows: Mrs. R. W. Shiplett and Mrs. H. M. Swayne read letters from Mrs. Kiyosi Ikegawa, Osaka-Ju, Japan, and Mrs. Earl Alder read a letter from Miss Ines M. Muller, Buenos Aires, Argentina, which Mrs. Clay Burnette had received. These letters are most interesting to our club because these foreign ladies show such an enthusiastic interest about the Junior Woman's Club projects and our American way of living.

The highlight of our meeting was the reports Mrs. Johnston Dees and Mrs. Earl Alder gave on the Woman's Club convention held in Goldsboro April 19, 20 and 21. Both ladies gave very interesting and detailed reports on the convention.

We are very pleased and proud of our recognized accomplishments at the convention. The Greenville Junior Woman's Club was awarded the $10.00 Fleda Jackson Award for our Watson Memorial project, and also, a certificate of merit in our International Relations Department.

These awards being won over statewide competition makes us justly proud. Mrs. Dees attended the convention as an honored guest. She alternated for our president, Mrs. E. K. Allen, who was unable to attend because of illness. Mrs. Alder was our elected delegate.

After our business session was closed we were served delicious refreshments of lemon tarts and hot coffee by our hostesses for the evening, Mesdames Dot Taylor, Helen Christopher and Maria Worley. We were delighted to have with us for the evening Mrs. J. B. Spilman, our senior advisor.

Flutist To Present Graduating Recital At College Monday

Donald Adcock of Durham, flutist, will be presented by the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College in a graduating recital Monday evening, May 9, at 8 o'clock in the Austin auditorium on the campus.

Mr. Adcock, a senior at East Carolina, is specializing in music. He is a member of the college band and the East Carolina orchestra, which is made up of musicians from various localities in this section. During the time he has been at East Carolina he has appeared on numerous programs on the campus and before the Greenville Music Club and other civic organizations.

Assisting him next Monday evening will be Mary Wallace Foy of Pollockville, soprano, who is a sophomore at the college. Mrs. Margaret Gilbert of Greenville will accompany Mr. Adcock.

On the program for the evening will be two groups of selections by Mr. Adcock. These will include

College Athletics Plans Get Impetus At Banquet

By CHESTER WALSH

Wonderful impetus was given to the sports and general athletic program at East Carolina Teachers College last night, when the ECTC Veterans Club was host at a banquet in honor of Chairman Ed E. Rawl's Stadium Fund Committee, and Football Coach Bill Dole of Fayetteville, who is the new coach at the college here.

The atmosphere was vibrant with a thrilling spirit of "Let's go and make a name for ECTC in sports, and the happiest man there was popular President John D. Messick," a prominent member of the committee said during the "get-together" meeting. Mrs. Messick was with him.

The ECTC Veterans Club banquet was in celebration of the great step forward the college is taking in football and other athletics. It was a tribute to Chairman Rawl and his committee members for raising more than $25,000 by public subscription for the Stadium Building Fund, and it was an appreciation of President Messick's announcement that the General Assembly had "matched" the stadium fund with a $25,000 appropriation. Jack Hedgepeth presented President Ed Casey of the ECTC Veterans Club, who presided over the program like a "veteran."

Coach Bill Dole of the Fayetteville high school, who takes over as football coach at ECTC this year, was given an ovation when he was presented. His record in football is outstanding. He has a magnetic personality, knows his football, like young people, and made a warm place for himself in the hearts of the nearly 100 persons at the banquet. He outlined his policy and reviewed some interesting formations of his Fayetteville High football squad with some motion pictures, and concluded his talk with a declaration, "I believe Greenville is a great town; ECTC is a great college with a promising future, and I hope we can win football games for you."

Chairman Ed Rawl made an eloquent appeal to keep up the good work of developing the college, stressed the importance of sports, paid fine tribute to his committee men who secured the $27,000 for the stadium fund, and presented the committeemen. Their wives and sweethearts were with them.

The committee: Dr. Carl Adams, J. Herbert Waldrop, treasurer; Chester Walsh, publicity director; J. S. Ficklen, N. C. Brooks, Joseph S. Moye, L. M. Buchanan, Charles E. Blair, James Ray Pittman, Phil Goodson, J. Key Brown, Ed Waldrop, M. K. Blount, Alton Johnson, Lewis Tebeau, Godfrey Oakley, Louis Stuart Ficklen, Arthur Tripp, John G. Clark, W. H. Woolard, Jr., H. H. Duncan, Kenneth Phillips, F. Badger Johnson, Col. Owen Marshburn, J. Hicks Corey.

Special recognition was given Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of physical education and athletics; Baseball Coach Jack Boone and Basketball Coach Howard Porter, and others and their wives.

Past President of the ECTC Veterans Club Keith Kilpatrick led the singing of "America." Frank Casey entertained with selections on his accordion.

Kilpatrick, in behalf of the Veterans Club, presented a gold emblem as a token of appreciation for his cooperation in producing the Veterans Club minstrel shows the past three years.

In addition to President Ed Casey, other officers of the Veterans Club are Raymond Grady, vice president; Ruth Bostian, secretary and treasurer. Bill Loyd substituted for Secretary Ruth Bostian, who was seriously injured while diving at Shady Banks, on Pamlico River, last Sunday and now is a patient at Duke Hospital, Durham.

Music Club Reviews Its First Year

The Greenville Music Club will culminate a year and a half of musical activity with an organ recital by George Perry of the ECTC music faculty on Sunday evening at 8:15 at the Immanuel Baptist Church. Mr. Perry, a member of the American Guild of Organists, will play a varied and interesting program and the public is cordially invited to attend. At 7:30 p.m. the same evening, members of the Greenville Music Club will meet in the Immanuel Baptist Church for a brief business meeting and installation of new officers.

During the 1948-49 season a program-meeting has been held each month. Miss Gladys Reichard of the ECTC music faculty presented a program of art songs accompanied by Elizabeth Drake; Mrs. Eleanor Toll devoted an evening to the discussion and performance of the F minor Sonata by Brahms; and Dr. and Mrs. Karl Gilbert and Mr. H. L. Carter presented a program of music by contemporary American composers. A Christmas dinner-program was held in December using as a theme "Christmas Music from Many Lands" in which the Christmas customs and music of France, Germany and England were told in narration and song. The menu carried out the general theme by including Christmas dishes typical of those three countries. Dr. Robert Lee Humber was narrator for the occasion and many soloists and ensemble singers from among the club membership performed.

Excerpts from the Gilbert and Sullivan opera "The Mikado" were performed by the entire club membership with R. R. Willmann as conductor, Mrs. G. V. Smith as accompanist and Donald Blood as narrator. In March a program entitled Music and the Dance was given by pupils of the Marie Smith Wallace school of dance and by students of Miss Nell Stallings of the ECTC Physical Education department. Mrs. Charles A. White acted as narrator telling in a concise and interesting manner the history and development of each dance as it was presented.

In April, on Palm Sunday evening, members of the Greenville Music Club and choir members from four local churches formed a chorus and presented the sacred cantata "Olivet to Calvary" by J. M. Maunier, with Edwin A. Parkinson directing and Mrs. Eleanor Toll accompanying. The cantata was presented at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and the entire service was broadcast over Station WGTC. Thirty-five chorus members and soloists participated in the cantata. James Ray Pittman, Mrs. Moye Dail and Mr. Edwin Parkinson made all plans and arrangements for the occasion. The performance was open to the public.

The Greenville Music Club presents a regular broadcast of fine music each Sunday evening from 6:00 to 6:30 over Station WGTC. Members of the club serve as narrators for each program and select and arrange the material and music used. The broadcast will be continued indefinitely at the regular Sunday evening hour. The series has been under the general direction of Mrs. J. K. Long. After May 8, the series will be under the direction of Charles A. White.

Elect President Of Alumni Group

Mrs. DuBose Bullard of Wilson was elected president of the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College in recent balloting conducted by mail through the Alumni Office of the college. Mrs. Ruth Carner, alumni secretary, has just announced results. Other candidates for the presidency were Mrs. Estelle McCles Komerka of Ayden and Burlington and James W. Butler of Goldsboro.

In the race for the vice presidency Ella Moore of Rocky Mount won over Mrs. R. A. Martin of Raleigh. Ruth White, assistant dean of women at East Carolina Teachers College, was chosen as treasurer. Her opponent was Mrs. Thornton Meeks of Greenville.

George Crawley of Aurelian Springs, now president of the East Carolina Alumni Association, will install the newly elected officers at a business meeting held at the college on Alumni Day, May 14. New officers will serve for two years.

Mrs. Bullard was graduated from the college in 1935. As a student she specialized in home economics. Later she received the master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia University, and taught for nine years.

Dance Revue

By CHESTER WALSH

Marie's School of the Dance, in a revue at Austin auditorium at the college last night, made a distinct hit. An appreciative audience saw the show and liked it. The revue, including tap, toe, acrobatic and ballroom dancing, will be presented again tonight. The Junior Woman's Club is sponsoring the shows for the benefit of the Dr. T. M. Watson memorial children's wing at Pitt General Hospital. Christine Smith was accompanied for the dance numbers. Marie Smith Wallace produced the show.

More than 100 children participated in the sparkling numbers. They wore more than 400 costumes. The lighting effects, handled by Leon Jackson, contributed much to the terpsichorean pageant.

All seats are reserved. Tickets will be on sale at the door tonight.

Club and its director, Miss Ona Shindler, a sum of $25.00 was donated by the Greenville Music Club for publication of the Glee Club picture in the high school annual. The Music Club was also one of the sponsoring organizations of the Annual Community Arts Festival, donating money for prizes, assisting in printing and distribution of general booklets and programs, arranging and presenting musical programs and furnishing a member on the general steering committee for the festival.

A program of music for hospitalized veterans in the Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune was given by Miss Gladys Reichard and James L. White, both of the ECTC faculty, and by Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, local pianist and teacher.

The Greenville Music Club, in the half year of its existence before the 1948-49 season, enjoyed programs by Elizabeth Drake, pianist, Dan E. Vornholt, tenor, Louise Carter, soprano, Karl V. Gilbert, violinist, and Margaret Gilbert, pianist, William and Donald Adecock, music students from ECTC, and David Gilbert, local high school musician. A program of sacred music under the direction of Mrs. Moye Dail was presented in the Eighth Street Christian Church. Works performed at these programs included chamber music, art songs, piano solos, operatic arias and sacred choral numbers. A program of contemporary North Carolina compositions was presented as a part of the Community Arts Festival.

Other soloists participating in the 1948-49 programs were: Louise Carter, soprano, Mrs. Helen Dail, soprano, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, soprano, James Ray Pittman, tenor, James L. White, tenor, John Clifford, Jr., bass, Ruth Lambie, contralto, Mrs. Guy Jones, soprano, Mrs. J. A. Kars-

Two Commencement Speakers For ECTC Program Announced

Speakers for commencement exercises at East Carolina Teachers College have been announced by President John D. Messick. Dr. John Dale Russell, director of the Division of Higher Education of the U. S. Office of Education since 1946, will deliver the address to graduates on Monday morning, May 16. Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, president of Lynchburg College in Virginia since 1936 and president-elect of the College of the Bible in Lexington, Ky., will preach the commencement sermon on Sunday morning, May 15, and will speak at YWCA and YMCA services Sunday evening.

Dr. Russell, a native of Indiana, has had a distinguished career as an educator. Between 1922-1931 he taught at the University of Indiana, the University of Kentucky, and Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, and served as director of research for the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction and as assistant director of surveys of Methodist Educational Institutions.

In 1931 he went to the University of Chicago, with which he was connected until 1945 as professor, secretary of the department of education, and dean of students. During 1944-46 he was secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In 1946 he began his duties in the Division of Higher Education. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa, honorary fraternities.

Dr. Montgomery, who is a minister of the Disciples of Christ, has preached for churches in Virginia, Tennessee, and Connecticut, and in Chicago. He has been an active leader in his church and has served as vice president of the International Convention, president of the Board of Higher Education, member of the Chaplaincy Endowment Commission, and in other capacities, in interdenominational work. He has also held various important offices and committee memberships. He will become president of the College of the Bible on July 1.

Dr. Riley is the author of two works on the education of ministers nak, soprano, and J. L. Oppelt, tenor.

Five of the regular programs of the Greenville Music Club have been open to the public, and the regular radio broadcasts are presented for the enjoyment of the general public. In the spring of 1948 the talented young organist, Austin C. Lovelace of Greensboro, was sponsored by the Greenville Music Club in an organ recital of American compositions during National Music Week. This concert was also open to the public and was held in Immanuel Baptist Church.

At the close of the 1948-49 season, members of the Greenville Music Club wish to express thanks to the local churches, their congregations and pastors, Station WGTC, the Daily Reflector and the Woman's Club for their courtesy and cooperation in facilitating the presenting of its various programs.

Gillette Retained As Director Of Ports Authority

Raleigh, N. C., May 6.—(P)—The Ports authority yesterday reelected Col. George W. Gillette of Wilmington as its executive director.

The board, meeting after five new members were sworn in, adopted a resolution asking the council of state to issue $7,500,000 in bonds for ports improvements. The bond issue was authorized by the general assembly.

The board elected E. G. Myers of Gastonia as chairman, Nello L. Teer of Durham vice chairman, W. O. Huske of Fayetteville secretary and treasurer, Henry Vann of Clinton as assistant secretary and treasurer. Myers, Teer and Avery Thompson of Hillsboro were named to the executive committee.

Strength For The Day

FOCAL POINTS OF MALICE

Prejudice is one of the most devastating of the world's vices. The word means prejudging, or judging before one has all the facts. It is bad enough to judge one's fellows under any circumstances, but to judge before one has reviewed all the facts involved in the case may be a mistake of tragic proportions.
Someone has said that prejudice is being down on what you are not up on. The more we know about an issue, the more judicious will our attitude probably be. The more we know about a person, the less likely we are to hate that person.
The people against whom we nurse the deepest animosities are usually public characters whom we have never even seen.

We are told that in certain sections of southeastern Europe, people on one side of a river, or one side of a mountain, have for generations carried on the bloodiest kind of strife against people living on the other side of the river or mountain. There are many who believe that we can never have a world organization because of these little pockets of entrenched prejudice. But what a crime it would be to forego any such attempt.
The way to have world organization is to have a world filled with men of good will. And the way to do this is vigorously to go after the focal points of infection from which hate and prejudice flow.

A WISE CHOICE

The nomination by President Truman of Capus Waynick, of Raleigh and High Point, as Ambassador to Nicaragua is a wise choice.
As we have known him as an editor, public official and citizen, he possesses all the qualifications for the office.
He is indeed a diplomat and we believe his assignment to Nicaragua will accomplish much in the way of even greater friendship between our country and our neighbors to the south of us.

WE DON'T LIKE THE PRESSURE

The high pressure tactics
in behalf of the campaign for the passage of the $200-000,000 road bond issue in the coming June 4 election, might in the end defeat Governor Scott's hope for success of the proposal.

The governor has just appointed a new set of district highway commissioners and the first act of these commissioners has been to request endorsement of the Scott program by each of the county boards of commissioners. The writer was present when this matter was brought up in one meeting of commissioners in another county in this district last Monday.

The commissioners each expressed themselves as not being sure whether they favored the program but that they expressed fear that should they turn down this request of the highway commissioner, it might cause their county to be discriminated against in the way of future road programs. As a result of the discussion the commissioners as an official body voted endorsement of the program for the record, but each reserved the individual right to vote or work against the proposals if he saw fit to do so.

Girl Describes Drowning Of Boy In Drainage Ditch

Joliet, Ill., May 6—(AP)—A 13-year-old girl, in a statement to a deputy sheriff last night, told how she drowned a seven year old boy in a drainage ditch last Saturday.

"I had thought of killing this particular boy many times," the girl, Diane Allen, was quoted by the deputy as saying. "I decided to do it that day (Saturday)."

Diane, an eighth grade pupil brought to jail from her home in Oak Law, a Chicago suburb, after Deputy Roy Doerfler said she admitted drowning the boy, Charles Johnson.

Doerfler said Diane first told him she knew nothing of Charles' death. But as he started to leave her home, he said she told him "I did it," and started crying.

"I had nothing against him," the deputy quoted the brown-haired girl as saying. "We'd bicker and fight some time, but it didn't mean anything."

Doerfler said Diane, in a statement to him and James Clark, special investigator, told them she knotted her scarf around the Johnson boy's mouth and then I told him I was going to drown him. He struggled some but I held him face
down in the water until he didn't struggle anymore. When I got up,
the body turned over face up."

The boy's face was found last
Sunday in eight inches of water in

Girl Describes Drowning Of Boy In Drainage Ditch

Joliet, Ill., May 6—(AP)—A 13-year-old girl, in a statement to a deputy sheriff last night, told how she drowned a seven year old boy in a drainage ditch last Saturday.

"I had thought of killing this particular boy many times," the girl, Diane Allen, was quoted by the deputy as saying. "I decided to do it that day (Saturday)."

Diane, an eighth grade pupil brought to jail from her home in Oak Law, a Chicago suburb, after Deputy Roy Doerfler said she admitted drowning the boy, Charles Johnson.

Doerfler said Diane first told him she knew nothing of Charles' death. But as he started to leave her home, he said she told him "I did it," and started crying.

"I had nothing against him," the deputy quoted the brown-haired girl as saying. "We'd bicker and fight some time, but it didn't mean anything."

Doerfler said Diane, in a statement to him and James Clark, special investigator, told them she knotted her scarf around the Johnson boy's mouth and then I told him I was going to drown him. He struggled some but I held him face
down in the water until he didn't struggle anymore. When I got up,
the body turned over face up."

The boy's face was found last
Sunday in eight inches of water in

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The only fair thing to do is to tell you to skip this thing today if you are not interested in dogs.
There are dog catchers in places other than the funny papers; in fact, Greenville has one.
He drives a Dodge truck with a caged-in loading platform; the door of the truck is clearly labeled, "Dog Catcher, City of Greenville."

Here's the deal: If Dog Catcher
Jones finds a dog running loose, licensed or unlicensed, he puts the mutt in the clink, which is located near the Greenwood Cemetery. It costs the owner five bucks to get his dog out, and unclaimed dogs are sold or otherwise disposed of.

For the benefit of a contrast,
let me tell you about the dog problem as it arose and was solved
in Chapel Hill last summer.
Chapel Hill had been very fortunate in having only two polo cases, and health officials were determined to keep the count as low as possible.

The stray dogs were labeled as possible carriers of the disease, so action was taken to dispose of all strays in the town. The plan caused a mild riot among the student body of the University of North Carolina. Immediately posters went up all over the campus reading something like this: "Save Our Mutt! Come to the mass meeting at Memorial Hall Tonight! We must act now, Dog Lovers!"

At the mass meeting, student leaders expressed the necessity of acting to halt the plans of the health officials. Many students volunteered to pay for licenses for the strays, others offered to adopt them. One fact was agreed upon:
UNC would not be the same without the stray dogs on the campus.
The ruling of the health officials was modified.

In order to get the proper picture it is necessary to know the type of dogs the students were fighting for. Actually, they are so spoiled from excess attention that some of them were not worth saving. If they are in a good mood, a stroke on the head will result in a very slight wag of the tail.
Otherwise, ice cream or hamburger is necessary to create any noticeable enthusiasm.

Spilling dogs at the Hill is nothing new. A UNC mutt (now deceased) by the name of Dan has probably had more written about him than Choo Choo himself.

Practically every time Dan's mood changed a feature story in the student newspaper was forthcoming. A University graduate once recognized Dan in South Carolina, realized that he had strayed quite a way from home,
and flew him back to the Hill.

If anyone ever lived like a King, it was Dan. Of course he changed masters on the average of once a week, but each of his "owners" wanted to keep him so much that he tried his best to make things desirable for Dan.
But none succeeded, and Dan went from master to master.

The Greenville plan for eliminating the stray dog seems to be a well organized one. It looks as if they are done for, and it's their own fault for not playing their cards right.

If they had conducted a friendship campaign on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College
they would no doubt have had a powerful lobby to fight for a modified ruling. Too bad that it's too late now.

The Greenville stray dog is rapidly going out of the picture.
You should be thankful that while he was here he wasn't much up on his feet. It's pretty disheartening to be ignored by a dog, and it has been done!

And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By MAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Sh-h-h-h-h-h-h!
Quiet, please. Quiet!
Frithee, let no bird call. Don't make a sound. This is National Noise Abatement Week.

Now is the time for all good men to creep about their tasks on little cat feet. Anybody who makes an unnecessary sound in the next seven days is certainly no 100 per cent American. Americans cooperate. The signal for Anti-Noise Week was given by a strong, silent man in Albany—
Gov. Tom E. Dewey. He didn't make a speech about it. That wouldn't have been right.

No. The governor issued a muffled statement instead. He said excessive noises were "one of the hidden drawbacks of our civilization." And he urged the citizenry to organize noise abatement groups.

Presumably, just to set an example, the discussion meetings of such groups are conducted by semaphore.
Anti-Noise Week started off with a bang. Both Congress and the United Nations were in session, thinking out loud as usual.

In the sports world perhaps the outstanding observer of Noise Abatement Week has been Leo Durocher of the New York Giants. Known in exuberant moments as "The Lip,"
For days he has rivaled the clam.
But what he has been saying must be a mouthful. Maybe a choked mouthful.

There is some uncertainty in the public mind as to how to celebrate Noise Abatement Week. This arises naturally from the widespread confusion over just what noise is—and what it isn't.

Noise basically can be defined as a sound made by someone else that annoys you. The trouble is that if you try to shut the other fellow up you are likely to get into an argument. Then you both make strange sounds that become noise to a third party.

The only person who can avoid noise is a hermit who lives in the woods and can read without moving his lips. But sometimes even a hermit can't escape from his own noise. He finds he is talking to himself just when he wants to sit still and think.
He gets in the bad habit of being quiet out loud.

One of the difficulties of Noise Abatement Week this year is that it is running into some pretty stiff competition. This also happens to be National Boys and Girls Week,
National Family Week, American
Camp Week, and National Baby
Week.

Yes, and your favorite cafeteria feel free to serve any old noisy soup
it wants because it is National Restaurant Week. And anybody who wants to grind a knife sharp has a right to. For it is National Cutlery Week.

It is even impossible to have quiet around the house. Sure enough, it's Spring Cleaning Week, too.
You can't even beat your dog for howling at night. This is Be Kind To Animals Week.

Of course, there is some precedent for having Anti-Noise Week now. It was in this period four years ago that the biggest noise in history abated—the Second World War in Europe.

If you're disillusioned about Anti-Noise Week, there is small comfort ahead. You might just as well put on your earmuffs, stuff your mouth with raisins, and crawl into the refrigerator.
That's the only way to be in style next week.

For it's National Hearing Week, and National Raisin Week—and they merge into National Frozen Food Week.

Oh, yes, it's National Golf Week.
And, yes again, it is also National Packaging Week.

Do you ever feel like you're in a package?

Washington—Just plain Americans whose ancestors came over on later

Capital following the annual invasion of numerous patriotic organizations whose members claim their forebears arrived on the Mayflower about 85 members. One of the members, by the way, is descended from Lord Nathaniel Truman, who was given authority by royal charter to establish a manor in southern Maryland. But this National Truman, members say, was not an ancestor of Harry Truman.

Other groups, each claiming to out-ancestor the other, included
the Order of the Crown and the National Society of Americans of Royal Descent. Members of the first have to prove descent from a crowned head of Europe. The second is made up of persons who can establish "without a doubt," their connection with the royal houses of Eu-

One of the largest, albeit most exclusive groups was the Society of the Daughters of the Barons of Runnymede. Its 675 members boast "proven" lineal descent from 16 of the 24 barons who 733 years ago gathered on the meadows of Run-

John to sign Magna Charta. An ultra-exclusive committee of the society claims its members' forebears were knights of the Bath, or knights or ladies of the Garter.

Palomar's Giant Eye To Be Better Than Expected

Pasadena, Calif., May 6—(AP)—Palomar's "big eye"—already the apple of astronomers' eyes—is going to be even better than expected after a final polishing.

That is the opinion of Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, chief stargazer at the observatory atop Mount Palomar. The lens of the 200-inch telescope will be polished again this month for the last time it is hoped—to remove about 20-millionth of an inch thickness from an 18-inch spot on the mirror's outer edge.

The job will take six months. With a 10 per cent improvement expected from the final grind, Dr. Hubble predicts that it may be possible to photograph stars 100 million light years farther away than the big telescope-camera actually was designed to reach. It was designed to see one billion light years into space—twice the range of the 100-inch Mt. Wilson telescope, heretofore the world's largest.

While first photographs with the "big eye" last February were somewhat fogged by a film of oil and dust on the mirror's aluminized surface, results were so good that Dr. Hubble was able to say:

"It seems unlikely that further significant gains can be expected

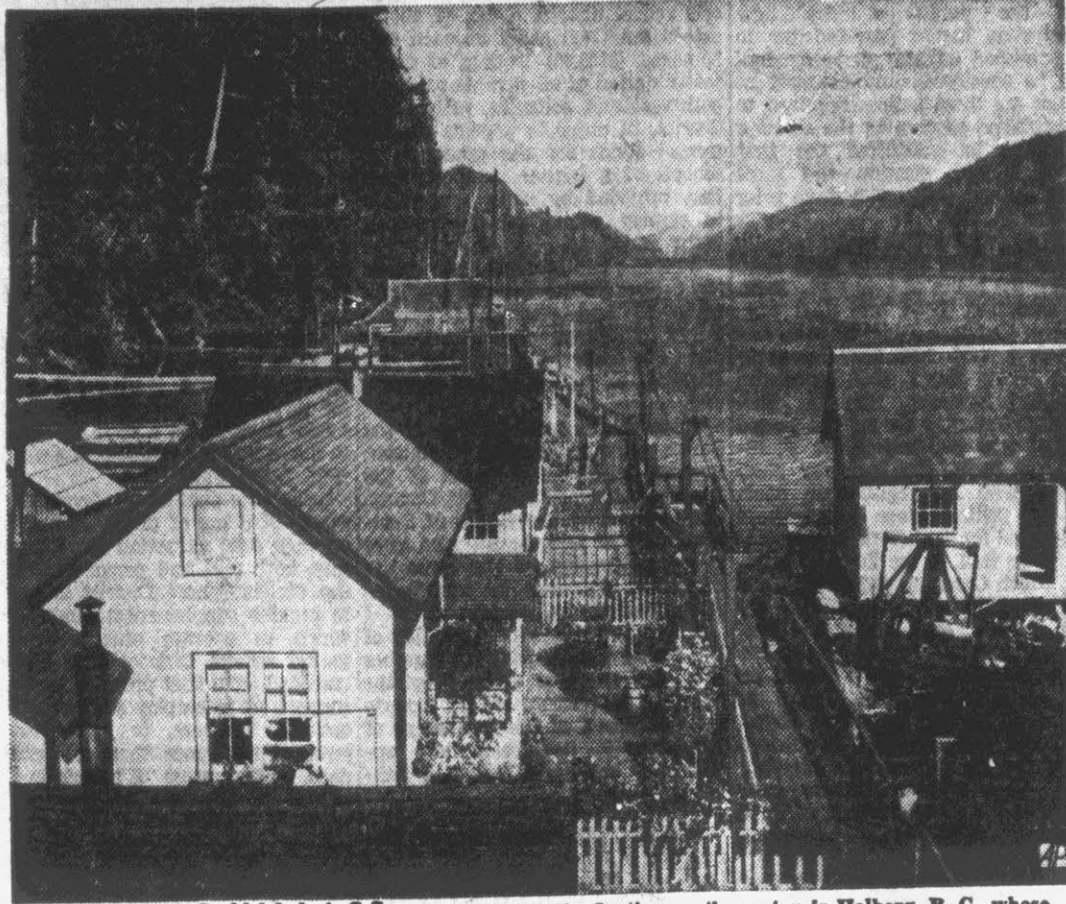

'Blue Boy' Will Have Operation

Goldboro, N. C., May 6—(AP)—Little Graham Langston, Wayne's seven-year-old "Blue Boy" will be operated on Saturday morning. Dr. S. R. McPheters, Wayne health director, said he received that message from Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore today.

Johns Hopkins doctors have said the boy's case is not "typical" and that changes of his surviving the operation are none too good. They also said he has but a short time to live unless his malformed heart is repaired.

He is at Johns Hopkins through the generosity of the public which contributed over $3,800 for his trip there.

National Home Demonstration Week May 1 - 7

During the week of May 1-7 more than three million rural women are taking part in celebrating of National Home Demonstration Week. Each of these women have made some improvements in their home making method. Home Demonstration Week will highlight their achievements.

The spread of information in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico was made possible because about a half million volunteer local leaders took special training from their home agents or specialists and then passed on the information to their neighbors. During this time recognition is also given to them for their contribution to the improvement of home and family life.

May 1-7 rural women will plan their strategy for the coming year to get more women working on the problems of improving their own homes and working together to make the community and the nation a place where good homes thrive. They believe that today's home does build tomorrow's world.

Complaints In Women's Prison To Be Heard And Investigated

Raleigh, N. C., May 6—(P)—Inmates of women's prison here, who yesterday demanded and got assurance that their complaints would be heard, had a new superintendent today.

Appointment of Mrs. Maude Riggs Jimison as head of the prison was announced yesterday several hours after the prisoners got the new state prisons director to come out and talk to them.

Director J. Brice Moore assured the women, who had refused to go to work after breakfast until he heard their grievances, that he and Governor Scott would have complaints investigated.

There was no direct connection between the "strike" and Mrs. Jimison's appointment. It had been expected for some time that she would get the post, and the announcement had awaited the swearing-in of Moore.

Spokesmen for 116 white and 172 Negro women prisoners told Moore they wanted to know if Dr. T. C. Johnson, the state's new parole commissioner, intends to resume the granting of paroles to worthy prisoners. (Since Governor Scott took office he has granted only 12 paroles.)

The women's other requests included more recreation and cancellation of compulsory attendance at church services.

Moore said that recent changes in the prison system's top jobs apparently had the women "more confused than anything else."

"We believe their reaction was natural under the circumstances," he added.

Moore, along with the new warden of Central prison, Joseph P. Crawford, took the oath of office yesterday before Secretary of State Thad Eure.

Mrs. Jimison's appointment was announced immediately afterward by Dr. Henry W. Jordan, chairman of the State Highway Commission. The new women's superintendent, the widow of Thomas Jimison of Charlotte, was educated at Mary Baldwin Seminary and also studied law.

After six years as a school teacher and four years with social service agencies in Charlotte, she was an investigator for the State Paroles commission and superintendent of a farm colony for women at Kingston.

Prior to her new appointment she was connected with the state hospital at Camp Butner.

Cary Middlecoff Leads Field In Second Round

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 6—(AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff led a professional field of 20 into the second round of the $10,000 Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament today.

The Memphis, Tenn., dentist, carded a four-under-par 66 yesterday to take the early lead. Tied for second were Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., and Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, with 68.

Three 99's were turned in by Joe Kirkwood, Jr., of Hollywood, Calif., Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Nl.

The pros are playing 18 holes daily over the 6,396-yard "old white" course at the Greenbrier Hotel to complete their 72-hole race for medalist honors. Tomorrow and Sunday they'll share the course with the amateurs for the second annual 36-hole Greenbrier pro-amateur tournament.

Church Burners Get Long Terms

Clinton, N. C., May 6—(P)—Two men convicted of burning a church here under prison sentences today.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle in Sampson Superior court yesterday sentenced O. C. Butler, 21, to serve eight to 10 years and Raymond Melvin, Butler's middle-aged friend, 12 to 15 years.

The two were convicted of burning the 80-year-old Mill Creek Baptist church near Roseboro on the night of April 16.

Butler said he fired the church at the request of Melvin, who, Butler said, told him he didn't want his family to attend it.

Big Race Track Razed By Blaze

Inglewood, Calif., May 6—(AP)—Hollywood Park, one of America's most lavish race tracks, was razed by a $5,000,000 fire early today but some 600 thoroughbred horses were spared.

The fire started in the swank clubhouse of the multi-million dollar plant and leaped, within minutes, through the grandstand and Turf Club.

One fireman was seriously injured as all available Inglewood equipment plus some from Los Angeles vainly fought the wind-swept blaze.

Some three hours after the blaze was first reported it was under control. At one time, embers and sparks from the eight-story high grandstand shot upwards of 1,000 feet and swirled in a gentle wind.

The stands were a total loss but the valuable horses on hand for the coming meeting were saved because of the stable's location a half-mile from the main racing oval.

Raleigh To Play Richmond Here Saturday Night

The Raleigh Tigers and Richmond Giants will play the first Negro American Association contest here Saturday night at Guy Smith Stadium.

Raleigh, 1948 league champions, copped two exhibition games here during the spring training against Asheville and New Orleans.

Richmond, third place team in the second half race last season, boasts a veteran club and during their month's spring training in Georgia and Florida accounted for 12 wins in 16 games, including three of a five game series with the Miami Giants of the International league of Cuba.

Nine Trainers Get Suspension

Charles Town, W. Va., May 6—(P)—Nine trainers have been ruled off West Virginia race tracks for six months on charges of stimulating horses.

The Charles Town Jockey club announced this yesterday as the first portion of the season here ended.

It said disclosure of the suspension had been postponed until the end of the race meeting at Charles Town by request of federal narcotics officials.

A New HAYING SYSTEM

... Fewer Men ... More Hay ... and Rolled Bales

These three Allis-Chalmers machines mechanize your hay harvest from start to finish. You don't even need a pitchfork. You get better quality hay, and use a smaller crew.

FRONT-MOUNTED MOWER

Always in easy view of the operator. Better control for mowing around obstructions. Fast hydraulic lift. Unmatched stability, particularly on hillsides. Hydraulically controlled sickle bar.

TRACTOR RAKE

Really engineered for tractor power. Power-driven, has two forward reel speeds and one reverse for tedding—shift easily as shifting your car. Castored, rubber-tired, front wheel makes it easy to lay clean, straight windrows, without pitching or roping. Ball and roller bearings throughout.

ROTO-BALER

ROTO-BALER makes weather-resistant, rolled bales—fast. Saves more leaves. Rolled bales can be fed with less waste, whole or unrolled. You can stack more tons of hay in a given area. They don't break apart when handled rough. Twine-wrapped—safe for livestock.

Yohn Tosses Three-Hitter As Greenies Top Jays 4-1

Locals Score In First And Tally Three Times In Third To Sew Up Game; Cohen, With Three Singles, Sparks Attack

By BERT MOYE

Lefty Junior Yohn registered his first win of the current season last night in Roanoke Rapids by turning in a neat three-hitter as the Greenville Greenies topped the Jays by the score of 4-1.

The three hits allowed by Yohn were scattered among as many players and two of them were infield hits. He struck out a total of nine men and only one free pass was issued by the lefthander. That free pass was issued in the first frame to DeBoma who tried to steal second on Catcher Mauney but was caught.

Greenville went out in front in the first frame by scoring one run and then staged a three-run rally in the third to sew up the game. In the third, Bob Cohen led off with a single, stole second, Manager Pappy Williams singled to bring home Cohen. Willie Mauney singled. Pete Gillespie laid down a perfect sacrifice, advancing the runners, and then Steve Denier singled into centerfield to bring home Williams and Mauney.

The only run of the Jays, which was of the unearned variety, came in the fourth frame. Mike Pace got a scratch hit and advanced to third on an error by Yohn when Quarataro hit to him and Yohn made a bad throw to Pappy Williams at first. John Bass then hit to shortstop, forcing Quarataro at second, with Pace scoring on the infield out.

Duke Maas went the route for the Jays and gave up only seven hits, four of which came in the Greenville third inning. He walked seven men and struck out eight. Bob Cohen with three singles in five trips to the plate led the seventh-inning attack off the Jays hurler.

2 Triple Plays

Clarksville, Tenn., May 6—(AP)—Billy Herman Jr. set what is believed to be a world's record for organized baseball here tonight when he started his second triple play in two consecutive games.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was among the crowd of 1428 here for the local opening of the Kitty League, said it was the only such performance he could remember.

North State Net Tourney Starts

Elon College, N.C., May 6—(AP)—The second annual North State Conference tennis tournament opened here today with a field of 14 netmen from seven schools.

Bill Winstead of Elon was seeded number one with Henry Maddux of High Point seeded second. In the doubles contention, top ranking went to Neal Maddux and Joe Melvin of High Point, which has won 26 consecutive victories.

There will be no defending champion in this year's tourney, the first since 1947. Dexter Moser of Lenoir Rhyne won the title that year.

Represented in the tourney with two men each are Elon, Appalachian, Catawba, Lenoir Rhyne, High Point, Guilford and East Carolina Teachers. Atlantic Christian and Western Carolina Teachers did not field tennis teams this spring.

Winstead and Maddux drew byes in today's opening round as did the top seeded pair in the doubles division.

Greenville Golf Team Keeps Lead

Greenville golfers held their lead in Coastal Golf Association play Wednesday as they downed the Kinston team 70 to 58 on the Lenoir county course.

With only two matches remaining on this season's card in association play, Wednesday's win assures the Greenville team of at least a tie for first place in the association standings even if they win no more matches.

Medalist for Wednesday's match was Reynolds May of Greenville with a 74. Other low scorers for the local team were Dee Larkins, W. L. Ellis, Errel Webb, and Dr. M. B. Massey with 77's; John Proctor, 78; Seth Hooker, 79; and Dr. W. M. B. Brown 80.

Low scorers for Kinston were Cecil Wooten and Roscoe Baker with 75's.

Harold Thomas, pro at the Greenville golf and country club, said the Coastal Golf Association tournament will be held at the local course May 21 and 22 with between 60 and 85 golfers of eastern North Carolina towns competing for the top honors.

Gehring Added To Hall Of Fame

New York, May 6—(AP)—Charles Gehring, the brilliant second baseman of the Detroit Tigers in the '20s and '30s, is the newest addition to baseball's hall of fame.

The infielder, who spent 18 active seasons with the Tigers, became the 56th man to gain a place in the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y.

He received 159 of 187 votes in a poll by the baseball writers association of America. A total of 140 was necessary.

Sidelights:—Many fans have asked your columnist whether or not Junior Yohn had a sore arm. That question can now be answered best by the Roanoke Rapids Jays following last night's game over there when Yohn pitched a neat three-hitter with two of the hits being of the infield variety. . . . Steve Denier got one hit in two trips to the plate but that blow was good for two runs in the third frame. . . . Yohn walked only one Jay last night during the contest. . . . Greenville was successful on five stolen bases. The Jays being unsuccessful in this field. . . . Greenville had 10 men stranded on the bases while the Jays had only three. . . . Willie Mauney switched from the outfield to catcher last night and really did a bang-up job behind the plate. . . . Paul Strausser played his first full game with the Greenies last night holding down Willie Mauney's position in leftfield. . . . Three perfect sacrifices were made by the Greenies last night. . . . The Greenies moved up a notch in the standings with last night's win.

The hardest schedule to face any club in the Coastal Plain Leagues gets under way for the Greenville club tonight when they play the first of a series of seven doubleheaders within the next 10 games, to make a total of 17 games to be played by the Greenies within that period. According to the league rules the first game will be a seven-inning affair with the second game a nine-inning ball game. The game with Roanoke Rapids here will be started at the point where it was rained out—that is the Jays will start with a man on second base as a result of a double which came just before the rain descended on April 24th. Tonight's first game will get under way promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Make your plans to be there with the opening pitch and stay through the two games. It will be great fun to all except the scorer.

Carl Scheib, who won all four starts against the Senators last season, made it five straight April 22 when the Athletics' righthand shut out the Nats, 2-0, on four hits, while making his season's debut for the A's.

Cal Abrams, Dodger outfielder blanked in 11 previous trips to the plate, got his first major league hit—a single—on his twelfth try in the fourth inning against Robin Roberts of the Phillies, at Shibe Park, April 23.

When the White Sox recorded their fifth victory of the season April 24, they were almost a month ahead of their 1948 victory pace. The Chicago Hose did not register their fifth triumph last year until May 21.

Sports Slants

By Pap

The conversation on the Yankee bench centered around Randy Gumpert, the big right-handed hurler of the Chicago White Sox. Randy had turned in his second nine-inning performance of the current season, and it was a dandy. He had shut out the St. Louis Browns, allowing only three hits. The Yankees, his former teammates, were greatly impressed.

Gumpert was sold to the White Sox late last July when the Yankees decided to give up on him and make room for another pitcher on their roster. Before the war, Randy was a fine prospect in the Yankee farm system. He had a record of ten triumphs and five losses with Newark before he went off to war in 1942 and remained in uniform throughout 1943, '44 and '45. He returned to baseball in 1946 and won eleven games for the Yankees. The following year he won only four games. Last spring he was of little help to the New York club so it was no great surprise that he was sold in July.

Randy was a bright young prospect in 1936 when the Athletics signed him on the strength of a brilliant pitching record in Monaca (Pa.) high school. He spent the 1936 season with the Athletics and then bounced around the minor leagues for the next six seasons. Gumpert is a powerful young giant, and he boasts a goodly share of pitching talent. At 31, he appears to have found himself with the White Sox.

Adams Warns Greenville Fans That Local Team Has Rugged Road Ahead

"The Greenville baseball club has a heavy schedule for the next 10 days, playing seven double-headers, made necessary by rained out games at the start of the season. The extra games are going to impose an unusually heavy task on the pitchers and other members of the club," John H. Adams, business manager of the club, said today.

"We will be lucky to win one third of these games and other clubs playing double-headers will face the same heavy task. Adams recalled the many games rained out in the early part of the season, and said, "When we get the double-header games behind us and settle down to routine schedule, we believe we have a club that is going to stay up there in the first division. We can hold our own with 'Pappy' Williams managing the club and using his trusty old ulow."

First of all, we want to win ball games, but we have got to take care of our pitching staff. Fans needn't be surprised in some games to see

Yanks Upset Dopesters By Fast Start; Hold Good Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR

Only a couple of weeks ago almost anybody could have given you half a dozen gilt-edge reasons why the New York Yankees would be lucky to finish in first division.

Even today most of the reasons would look legitimate: Joe DiMaggio out indefinitely; Charlie Keller sidelined; Bob Porterfield hurt; a patched up infield; a shortage of good rookies.

So what happened?
The Yanks jumped away to their fastest start in ages. They have won 13 of their first 16 games. That gives them a three game edge over

Cleveland and a six-game bulge over Boston. And, as most every prophet told you, those are the clubs that are supposed to fight it out for the pennant.

The high-octane get-away is faster, so far, than the high-flying Yankee clubs of 1928 and 1939, which won 40 of their first 50 and then coasted home with the flag. At Chicago yesterday the White Sox took down their portable home run fence but the Yanks got a legitimate circuit clout out of reliable Tommy Henrich and whipped the Sox, 7-5.

Allie Reynolds wobbled to his second victory, although he was lifted in favor of Joe Page at the seventh. It was Fireman Joe's eighth appearance in 16 games. The Yanks got 12 hits off an assortment of three Chicago pitchers, with starter Billy Pierce taking the loss.

In other American League action yesterday Cleveland whipped Boston, 7-3, as Bobby Feller won his first game; Detroit edged Philadelphia, 6-5; and Washington handed St. Louis its sixth straight loss, 5-3, in a night game.

Feller gave up six hits, including homers by Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr, but he said the shoulder pain that sidelined him after two innings on opening day was gone.

A two-run homer by Catcher Aaron Robinson, in the fifth inning produced the runs Detroit needed to down the Athletics. Ted Gray, who was relieved by Dan Trout during a Philadelphia uprising in the seventh, was the winner. His first success of the year. Joe Coleman went all the way for the A's for his third loss against two victories.

Three singles and a couple of Brownie errors enabled Washington to come from behind in the eighth inning to nip St. Louis. It was Mickey Haefer's first triumph of the year. Clyde Vollmer drove in three of the Washington runs with a homer and a single.

Home runs decided all three of the National League contests. The New York Giants edged Pittsburgh, 3-2, in 10 innings; St. Louis bested Philadelphia, 3-2, and Brooklyn squeezed by Cincinnati, 7-5.

Johnny Mize parked one of Murry Dickson's slants in the upper right field stands at the Polo Grounds for the 300th home run of his major league career to win the Giants' game.

Ron Northey picked the ninth inning of a 2-2 game at Philadelphia to hit his first home run of the year for the Cardinals. The poke broke the Phillies' six game winning streak and gave George Munger his first victory. The Philadelphia runs came on homers by Andy Seminick and Bill Nicholson. Hank Borowy was the loser.

Four of the 16 hits in the Cincinnati-Brooklyn home run derby went all the way, but the one that made the final difference was poked by Teddors' Billy Cox with two on in the eighth inning. Gil Hodges got the other Brooklyn round tripper and Virgil Stallcup and Hank Sauer homered for Cincinnati.

The Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves weren't scheduled.

New York, May 6—(AP)—Mike Jacobs is out and Joe Louis, the man he made champion, is the new heir to the boxing promoter throne.

Uncle Mike's retirement yesterday, after 12 years as boxing boss, clears the way for a new combination, including Louis' International Boxing Club of Chicago, to dominate the sport on a nationwide basis.

Radio cash is said to be involved in the deal by which Jacobs sold his 20th Century Sporting Club's promotional rights to a new, unnamed corporation.

It is understood that the National Broadcasting Company, moving to combat Columbia's part-ownership of the rival Tournament of Champions, soon will announce a tie-up with the new corporation. A $750,000 television contract is reported involved.

This new corporation will control boxing in Madison Square Garden where Jacobs was held forth for years. Harry Markson, managing director of the 20th, probably will continue as boxing director. New Irish, executive vice president of the Garden, will take an increasingly active role. Frank Albertani will remain as publicity director, but there probably will be a shakeup in the match making department.

The extent of the alliance between this New York corporation and the Louis group is still vague. John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden president, said it will be "very close."

"I don't know just how close," he added, "whether on a corporate basis or a close mutual understanding."

It is the impression here that the New York group will run the customary "routine" Garden shows, while acting as co-promoters with the I.B.C. on major promotions, such as title bouts. There probably will be some sort of a lend-lease arrangement between the two on fighters' contracts.

A four-pound shad on a hook with a worm in Tar River and that several days later he caught a two-pound buck shad with a hook and line near the boat landing. "Capt" Johnny Murphy, retired river boat pilot, reported the hook-and-line feat of the Greenville fisherman.

The 1949 National collegiate boxing tournament at Michigan State was the twelfth since 1932.

These prices feature "Extras" that aren't!

If you're price-conscious these days as you shop for new cars, you've probably made a big discovery.

It's important to find out what the price includes—particularly in the normal "spread" between list and delivered prices.

Take these Buick prices given here. All of them, as the panel tells you, cover such universally wanted accessories as radio and antenna, heater and defroster, windshield washers and built-in back-up lights.

These are individually itemized on your bill of sale. Not itemized, but still included in your Buick when you get it, are many things that classify as extra-cost items on many other cars.

For instance, Foamtex seat cushions are an extra value on Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS that cost you nothing extra. You get direction signals, rear wheel shields, a flexible steering wheel, an air cleaner, an oil filter, a clock—all included in the basic list price. On all ROADMASTERS, these prices even cover Dynaflo Drive as standard equipment, not an extra-cost item.

Included also, of course, are such Buick extra values as Fireball power, which you get nowhere else—all-coil springing, almost an exclusive—the widest rims in the industry—and that very special and desirable solid Buick feel.

So—check the "extras" when you price today's cars. Check the "deal" too, and make sure it's as fair and aboveboard as the Buick sales policy.

We're pretty sure what your conclusion will be when you see what stepped-up production is doing to deliveries. You'll decide "Buick's the buy!"—and get your order in.

Chapter 13

With the children scrubbed within an inch of their lives and all clad in their bright new bathing suits, Garrett and Felicity loaded them into Garrett's car and turned towards the Fleming place.

"I declare," said Ma Green at the entrance to the camp, where she was supervising the trimming of the "Turk's cap" hedge, "if you ain't the very picture of a family group!
Mighty nice-looking family you've got there, Mr. Forbes."

"Thank you," said Garrett gravely, his eyes twinkling a little. "The wife and I like 'em."

Felicity told her startled heart
to stop its nonsense and said gaily,
"We might as well—we're stuck with 'em."

Susan was waiting for them when Garrett parked the car. She greeted them gaily, almost affectionately, and led the way down to the beach, saying to Garrett warmly, "I'm so glad you could come. I hope you won't be too bored."

"There's no danger of that," he assured her so firmly that Felicity set her teeth and warned her heart to behave itself.

A stiffly starched, almost trilingly competent looking trained nurse had the small Allan in charge.
Two men in dark blue trousers and shirts that looked a little like uniforms were lounging a little to one side.

Allan, a sunburned, husky scrap in his absurd blue sun-suit, squealed with delight at the sight of Tippy, and Susan said, "Why, I do believe he remembers her."

"Sure he does," said Tippy com-posedly, holding out her hands to the baby, who squealed again. "On account of he's a very swell baby and we liked each other a lot—"

Susan turned and called to the two bodyguards, who came forward immediately.

"Jim and Charlie, these are the Horne children," said Susan. "They are to play on the beach any time they like, and you are to teach them to swim."

"Sure, Mrs. Fleming," said the taller of the two young men, and grinned down at the eager children.
Jim and Charlie took the children away for their first swimming lessons, while Susan, Felicity and Garrett sat down in low-slung beach chairs and Susan proffered cigarettes. When Felicity refused, Susan's brows went up just a little and Felicity smiled.

"It's not that I disapprove. It's just that it's an item of expense
I can avoid, and when I find one that's available—I let it drop," said Felicity, cheerfully frank about the matter.

"Oh," said Susan as though startled at an expense so small should be worth the bother of avoiding.
There was a cheerful hail from the road and the man whom Felicity and Garrett remembered seeing the morning Tippy kidnapped the baby came towards them.

"Oh, it's Chal—he wasn't sure he could make it. I'm so glad he could," said Susan happily, and greeted the man with a look in her eyes that made Felicity stare a little. "Chal-

dear, you remember Miss Morne
and Mr. Forbes. Chalmers Thorpe, Felicity and Garrett."

"The good-looking man chuckled.
"I do, indeed." He shook hands with Garrett, adding, "It's nice to see you again."

"It's darned decent of you to think so," admitted Garrett almost grimly. "I still get cold shivers when I think of that day."

"She's quite a youngster, that Tippy," said Chalmers. "And quite a person, I should say."

"You don't know the half of it,"
said Garrett with deep conviction, and told them the story of his attempt at punishing her.

"The more I hear of Tippy, the more I like her," Susan said suddenly. "I've a marvelous idea—let me adopt her."

Felicity caught her breath and stared at Susan, speechless.
Garrett looked startled.

Chalmers said quickly in a tone of protest, "Oh, Sue—wait a minute—"

"I really mean it," said Susan.
"Allan needs another child to grow up with. He's going to be a selfish little beast of an only child—"

"But it's not outside the bounds of reason, my dear, that you will some day present him with a little brother or sister—"

Felicity was startled at the dark look that winged its way across Susan's face before she said, through her teeth, "I shall never marry again—never!"

There was an uncomfortable moment of silence which Felicity broke by saying, "It's nice of you, Mrs.
Fleming—"

"I'm not 'Mrs. Fleming' to you, Felicity. I'm Susan—remember?"
"Then—it's nice of you, Susan,
but I couldn't agree—"

Garrett said quickly: "If Mrs.
Fleming—"

"Susan!" she interrupted him.
Garrett nodded and went on, "I

WATCH FOR ALL TRAFFIC!

Susan really wants to adopt Tippy.
Fleming, you can hardly stand in the child's way."

"But, Gary—he couldn't! Denny would break his heart!"

"I'll take Denny, too. After all, twins ought to be a lot of fun. And the baby adores Tippy and will easily get accustomed to Denny," said Susan eagerly.

Pitt Entries Bring Home Prizes In Fat Stock Show

Five Pitt county 4-H boys and two Pitt county farmers came home with more than $300 in prize money and returns for selling some of their prize-winning stock at the Rocky Mount fat stock show.

Robert Thomas of the Belvoir 4-H club entered a calf which was one of a pen of six calves from which the Grand champion and Reserve champion of the show were chosen. Thomas' entry placed second in the middle weight class where it won a prize of $10 and after the show was sold for $2.5 per pound. Thomas received $293.12 for his 905 pound entry.

Joseph Hathaway of Belvoir won first place and $10 in prize money for his entry of three hogs, and third place and a prize of $3 for his single hog entry. Charles Hagan of Belvoir received fourth place and a $5 prize for his entry of three hogs. Milton Spain of Belvoir received third place and $6 in prize money for his pen of three hogs, and Jimmy Singleton of Grimesland received second place and $7 in prize money for his entry of a pen of three hogs.

In the farmers swine class, C. H. Carraway of Farmville won second place for a pen of three hogs, and second and third places for two additional single hog entries. His prize money totaled $14.

Entries of Joe Moye, Jr., of Farmville placed in both the light and heavy weight hog divisions.

Friendly Rivals

Detroit, May 6—(AP)—Detroit and its suburban rival, Highland Park, are having fun.

Highland Park has put up boundary signs saying: "You are now entering the city of lower taxes."

Detroit's city council yesterday approved a resolution for putting up some signs of its own.

One will say: "You are now leaving Detroit where life is worth living."

And another will announce: "You are again in friendly and dynamic Detroit."

Trapped Miners Are Found Dead

Girardville, Pa., May 6—(AP)—Four miners were found dead today after rescue workers battled 48 hours to reach them in an anthracite shaft filled with smoke and fumes from an underground fire.

The four bodies were discovered 600 feet below the surface, close together in a tunnel running off the main shaft.

Deputy Coroner John Cook said apparently they died shortly after the fire broke out last Tuesday night in the No. 5 Colliery of the Gilberton Coal Company.

Joseph Kupulis, who led the five-man rescue crew which found the bodies, said there were indications the four men had walked up a sloping tunnel from the mine's 800-foot level and then collapsed.

The bodies were some distance from the nearest compressed air line, Kupulis said. Earlier, rescuers had attached three compressors to the shaft's air lines, hoping the trapped men would open a valve and obtain life-giving oxygen.

A sudden drop in the air pressure yesterday led rescuers to hold out some hope the men were alive and had reached a valve. The reduced pressure, however, apparently was caused by an airline leak or some other failure.

722 Drunks Lost Driving License

Raleigh, May 6—(AP)—Of some 1,200 motorists who lost their driving licenses during April, 722 were for drunken driving, the Motor Vehicle Department reported today.

The total number of suspensions and revocations showed a drop of 681 as compared with the same month last year, and revocations for drunken driving were down from 909 in the month last year.

The Princess Goes A-Swimming

These three pictures show Great Britain's Princess Margaret Rose after she went swimming on the rocky beach during her visit to the Island of Capri off the coast of Italy. The scene is on the "Sara-cen's Towers" estate of Mrs. George Cerio of Newport, R. I. Top: The princess is assisted by her gentleman-in-waiting, Maj. Thomas C. Harvey, over the rocks to the water's edge. Center: She is helped in a small boat by Maj. Harvey and a boatman (right). Bottom: Seated in the boat, Princess Margaret lends a hand to Lady Mary Harvey as the lady-in-waiting steps into the boat with the assistance of her husband, Maj. Harvey. (AP Wirephotos).

European Council Opens In Summer

London, May 6—(AP)—The council of Europe, forerunner of a hoped-for parliament of United Europe, will get under way this summer.

A permanent commission will meet in Paris Wednesday to arrange for the council's first meeting. This will be held in the French city of Strasbourg, which has been already chosen as the council's headquarters, probably in August.

Ten countries yesterday signed a statute setting up the council. The members are Britain, France, Italy, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. Greece and Turkey are expected to be admitted later.

The council has issued a 3,500-word statute setting forth its organizational plans. It includes:

1. A committee of the 10 foreign ministers to make policy recommendations to member governments.
2. A consultative assembly of 87 delegates, representing member states, who can make recommendations to the committee of 10.
3. A secretariat for running the day to day work of the council.

The statute also set forth voting rules which give every member a veto when voting on important matters. On procedural matters there would be no votes.

The council will have no authority to enforce such recommendations as it may make to member nations.

Owen J. Roberts Says Pact Delay Will Be Damaging

Washington, May 6—(AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts said today that delay in approving the Atlantic Pact will encourage Russia "and damage our prestige throughout the world."

Roberts gave his views in a statement prepared for the senate foreign relations committee, which is holding hearings on ratification of the 12-nation defense alliance.

"The general feeling among committee-men is that while the German prospect is more hopeful because of the agreement to lift the blockade of Berlin there is yet no real assurance of future peace with Russia," Roberts emphasized this view by saying:

"The truth is that whenever the Democracies have been afraid to acknowledge the fundamental division between dictatorship and democracy, the delay has permitted the dictators to pick off the democracies one by one, just as Hitler did."

The United States produces three times as much steel as Canada but the ratio is expected to change in the near future when ore discovered in Labrador is mined.

smashing blow to labor and to the Truman Democrats' campaign promises to pass a bill labor wanted.

Just then Marcantonio stood up. Maybe some Trumanite would have stood up and done the same thing if Marcantonio hadn't acted.

But, anyway, it was Marcantonio who waved his arms for attention, got it, and said:

Before the final vote, he wanted an "engrossed copy of the bill" on which the house was going to vote.

Nobody in the house needed to see a copy of the bill. Everyone knew what he was voting on, including Marcantonio. But—

Under the rules, which Marcantonio knows so well, when any member asks for an engrossed copy of a bill no vote can be taken on that bill until the copy has been made by the Government printer and presented to the house.

The point is that an "engrossed copy" takes hours to print. It was already 7 p. m. so the final vote couldn't be taken that night. The engrossed copy would not be ready before the next day's session of the house.

Couldn't the other house members have voted down Marcantonio's request? No. That's one of the rules of the house. So the house went home for the night.

This gave the Trumanites and labor union leaders a chance to try to swing over to their side some of the Congressmen who had voted against them. Whether they did that is not known. But—

Next day the house came back and voted 212 to 209 to shelve the bill the Trumanites didn't want.

The Airlift . . .

engaged in the Berlin airlift.

The Hump airlift did a great job with scanty equipment but naturally it wasn't on the scale of the Berlin lift. Now, thanks to the Russian blockade, the allies have had an unparalleled experience which might have taken years to acquire otherwise.

However, we have gained all the knowledge we need for the time being, thanks. We don't want any further experience.

So we trust British Foreign Secretary Bevin is justified in his hope that the forthcoming meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers on the German question will be the basis for a lasting settlement. Hope is a grand thing, though there's a difference between hope and expectation.

appreciative toward America, and I was very cordially received in every instance as a representative of American Leaf Tobacco Exporters, and shown every courtesy."

The great devastation caused by the war still is evident in many of the cities of Europe, Lanier said. "In war areas such as Bremen, Hamburg, Rotterdam and London, the destruction is unbelievable. In Bremen there are areas as large as a square mile where not a building remains habitable."

The trip to Europe was the first made by Lanier since 30 years ago when he served as a lieutenant in the American Expeditionary Force during World War I, and during the recent trip he took time off to visit the areas where he fought during that war. "I found the same fox hole I first occupied when we took over the front lines at St. Mihael in Northern France," he said. "I also visited the American cemetery in Theucourt where some of the men who served in my company are buried."

Lanier left for Europe on March 3 aboard the liner Washington, and made the return voyage on the famous British liner the Queen Mary.

As general counsel and executive secretary of the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association and Tobacco Association of the United States, Lanier maintains the executive offices of the organizations in Greenville.

But even his supporters said privately that if it was a victory, it had a hollow sound.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who wants to keep the major features of the T-H act intact, said he thinks the Lesinski bill—or its Senate counterpart offered by Senators Thomas (D-Utah)—"doesn't stand a single chance."

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) commented: "The president is totally and

Police In Berlin Keep Blockade

Berlin, May 6—(AP)—German police enforced the Russian blockade inside Berlin with gunfire today—six days before the barriers are due to be lifted.

A wild fusillade from German guards on the east Berlin boundary failed to halt an automobile racing into the American sector under cover of darkness.

West Berlin police reported they had been unable to discover whether the driver had been wounded or where the car went after escaping from the Russian sector.

Hog Market

Raleigh, May 6—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady. Tops of $17 at Kinston, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson Goldsboro and Washington; Richmond steady at $17.75.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, May 6—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady to weaker, mostly 27, few 26 to 28; eggs steady, A large 61.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, May 6—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 10 to 20 cents a bale higher today.

Noon prices were 5 to 25 cents a bale higher than the previous close. May 33.80, July 32.82 and October 29.21.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale to 5 cents lower than the previous close.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 6—(AP)—A strong short covering movement sent May wheat up more than 3 cents at times on the board of trade today, imparting a firm tone to other cereals. May contracts also moved sharply higher at Minneapolis and Kansas City. A report that the government did not intend to sell any of its wheat, plus a higher government bid for wheat in store at Gulf of Mexico ports, supported the upturn in the May delivery.

Wheat closed 3-3/4 higher, May $2.23 1/2-2.25, corn was 1-1/8 higher, May $1.33 1/2-1.34, oats were 1/4 higher, May 67 1/2-68, rye was 1/4-1/2 higher, May $2.28, soybeans were 1 1/4-2 1/4 higher, May $2.30-2.30 1/4, and lard was 3 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $31.67.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York May 6—(AP)—The stock market went into a dragging decline today. A wide variety of key issues showed losses of fractions to more than a point, with some touching new lows for 1949. Turnover was at the rate of around 750,000 shares for the full session.
