Ultimatum Given Leftists Unions To Leave WFTU

CIO Executive Board Allows Five Months To Act Or Face Probable Ouster

Washington, May 19—CIO left wingers have been given five months to break all ties with the Russian Dominated World Federation of Trade Unions and quit defying the CIO leadership.

With that ultimatum the organization's 52-man executive board prepared today to end a fiery three-day meeting, which ran a day over schedule because the arguments lasted so long.

If the left-wing unions don't leave the WFTU, they may be kicked out of the CIO.

President Phillip Murray said the board would declare itself on wages today. Big CIO Unions already have demanded a fourth round of post-war wage raises, without naming a precise figure.

Murray said, too, that the board "more than likely" would adopt a blanket resolution concerning the rebellious CIO minority that has been attacking the National organization.

This resolution was expected to clear the path for decisive action at the next convention starting Oct. 31 at Cleveland—action, that is, against Communist-line leaders who continue to act contrary to CIO policies.

But even without such a resolution, the board and Murray already have made it very plain that the Cleveland convention will be a hot one.

Murray, announced Harry Bridges, left-wing president of the CIO Longshoremen, for "misrepresentation" and other offenses, and has told him his conduct would be brought to the attention of the Cleveland convention.

2. The board by a 39-9 vote formally withdrew the CIO from the world federation of trade unions.

3. Any CIO union or member of the CIO executive board, that continues an "organizational relationship" with the WFTU or any of its agencies will be acting "contrary to CIO policy" and will "undoubtedly" be brought to the attention of the convention.

4. The board recommended that the Cleveland convention revoke the charter of the left-wing farm equipment workers union.

Reason for the action was the refusal of the union to merge with the United Auto Workers, as ordered by the Executive Board.

Search Launched For School Girls

Anderson, S.C., May 19—(AP)—A widespread search was launched today for three missing schoolgirls following the discovery of their wet clothing in a man's car.

J. L. Elgin, 40, of Anderson, was held in county jail for investigation. Police Chief E. I. Burden said the wet clothing of the children was found in his car when police stopped him shortly after midnight.

Burden quoted Elgin as saying he drove the three girls 18 miles on a swimming trip yesterday afternoon, but let them out near their suburban homes last night about 8 o'clock.

Flood Waters In Texas Recede; Oklahoma Hit

Dallas, May 19—(AP)—Flood waters receded at Fort Worth and Dallas today but Texans still couldn't breathe that well-known sigh of relief. Tornadoes that have been breaking out like smallpox were a constant threat.

Fort Worth citizens were moving back into their water ravaged homes and officials evaluated the damage caused by a flash flood that held the city in a paralyzing grip for 24 hours.

The raging Trinity left a toll of nine lives and damage estimated at $4,000,000 at Fort Worth. But it lost its punch when it roared toward Dallas. The river reached a 48-foot crest then subsided rapidly last night. It had been expected to reach 50 feet.

Meanwhile Oklahoma, which had tornadoes two nights in a row, faced serious floods today.

Praries creeks and shallow rivers, overtaken by four days of storm, flooded the western flatlands. In some places they swelled to more than a mile wide.

The Washita River, 50 miles southwest of Oklahoma City, flooded four feet higher than the record of 1933. It swamped Fort Cobb and property damage is already estimated at $1,000,000, and Anadarko was struggling to get emergency power. The flood knocked out power and water facilities.

The Carnegie-Fort Cobb area just a few miles upriver from Anadarko.

Cooley Endorses Road Bond Issue

Smithfield, N.C., May 19—(AP)—Governor Scott's road and school bond program was endorsed by Rep. Harold D. Cooley of Nashville here yesterday at a rally held in the Johnston County courthouse.

The congressman said that he was "glad at this time" to declare his support of the bond program.

Russia Said Modifying Berlin Traffic Controls

Deputy U.S. Military Governor Sees No Reason For Pessimism Yet; Views Actions As Move To Bolster Bargaining Position

Berlin, May 19—(AP)—Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy U.S. military governor, announced today that the Russians are modifying their new restrictions on traffic from west Germany to Berlin.

He said the Soviet military administration informed him freight trucks from west Germany now halted by the Russians at Helmstedt on the inter-zonal frontier will be allowed to proceed to Berlin without written permits from the Soviet zone economic commission.

But, he added, the Russians will demand that any other trucks crossing the frontier bear such permits.

Gen. Hays said the west zone allies would try to get the Russians to drop that demand in further negotiations. He called it "a new restriction and therefore a violation of the four-power agreement in New York for lifting all blockades."

"If we can't settle this difference, then I will send a protest to the Russian military governor, Gen. Vassily Chukov," Hays said.

"But I don't take a pessimistic view. I think the Russians issued the restriction to improve their bargaining position in the talks we have been having with them about an interim agreement between eastern and western Germany."

Hays expressed the opinion that "the Russians did not act in bad faith."

"There is every indication they wish to reach a trade agreement," he continued. "The situation is not (Continued on page twelve)"

Bottling-Up Of Nominations Hit

Lucas Heatedly Asserts Will Ask For Change In Rules

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Democratic Senator Lucas of Illinois said today he will ask the Senate to change its rules "so that no important presidential nomination can be bottled up by a committee."

"I don't think that was intended by the Constitution when it gave the Senate the duty and right to advise and consent on presidential appointments," Lucas told a reporter.

The Senate was the scene of a blistering exchange late yesterday between Lucas and Senator Byrd over the treatment given President Truman's nomination of Mon C. Wallgren, former senator and governor of the state of Washington, to a key defense post.

Byrd voted with six Republicans to table the Wallgren nomination in the Senate Armed Services Committee so it never actually reached a test on the Senate floor. The President finally withdrew the nomination Tuesday.

Mr. Truman reversed earlier plans to fight for confirmation of Wallgren, his intimate friend, to the $14,000-a-year post as chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

It was an attempt by Byrd to explain his personal reasons for his committee vote that touched off the exchange. While Byrd usually is mild speaking, Lucas frequently uses sharply pointed language.

Sensors rushed from cloakrooms and committees to listen. Republicans smiled broadly as the two Democrats shouted at each other.

Acheson To Tell Policy At Paris

Goes Before Senate Foreign Relations Group Today

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson goes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to review the stern policy he expects to follow at Paris in negotiating with Russia on the future of Germany.

He will leave tomorrow for the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

Acheson also scheduled a brief session with a subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee where members predicted he would be questioned about American relations with Franco Spain and with China.

His discussion of the renewal of east-west talks on Germany, opening at Paris next Monday, was expected to follow the line he laid down at a news conference last week.

He declared flatly then that the possibility of reaching agreement on Germany depends on the willingness of Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky to go along with the American-British-French program for creation of a democratic western German government.

Whether the Russians will be in any sense willing to make concessions in their German policy is a question on which American officials say at predictions.

Considerable speculation about Russia's moves in the conference has been stirred up here, however by two events of the past few days.

The first of these was the strong opposition to Soviet policies in the Russian controlled eastern zone of Germany, which was revealed by the elections there last weekend.

The second development which has caused speculation about the future of the Paris meeting was yesterday's imposition of restrictions on truck traffic from the western zone to Berlin.

Woman Is Victim Brutal Attack

Mrs. Beanie Jones, of near Grimesland, is in a critical condition in a Washington hospital, as a result of an attack on her Tuesday night. The crime took place in the western edge of Beaufort county and four white men are reportedly being held in the Washington jail in connection with the crime.

Sheriff William Rumbley today declined to reveal the names of the men or any information in connection with the affair on the grounds that his investigation was incomplete.

In view of the fact that the crime occurred in Beaufort county, Pitt county authorities reported that they had no information at all.

According to available information the woman was taken into the woods, severely beaten, cut and attacked and left in an unconscious condition. Regaining consciousness she was reported to have crawled to the edge of the woods where she was discovered by a farmer enroute to his tobacco beds, and taken to the hospital in Washington.

Speers blamed the high price of cotton and reduced orders. He said the curtailment will go into effect by the end of the week.

The company official, whose headquarters are in Akron, Ohio, was here on a routine inspection trip.

Church Proposes New Seminaries

Oklahoma City, May 19—(AP)—Establishment of two new theological seminaries—one in the east, one in the west—was recommended today to the Southern Baptist Convention.

A committee on theological education reported that the new seminaries and a drive to finance them are necessary to meet a crying need for more pastors.

The convention, its attendance swelled near the 8,000 mark in its second day, will consider the recommendation later.

Urges Sharp Cut In Employees On Federal Payroll

Senator Byrd Calls On Administration To Lop Off 500,000 Workers

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.), pleading anew for economy, today called on the Truman administration to lop 500,000 employees off the federal payroll.

The Virginia lawmaker made his appeal as the Senate got ready to vote on a fresh proposal to trim an appropriation bill five per cent. Previous attempts by an economy group to cut two other money bills by the same percentage have failed.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) offered the reduction amendment to the measure carrying nearly $1,465,000,000 in cash and loan authority for the Agriculture Department.

The proposed five per cent cut would apply to the $723,000,000 cash item in the bill. He said his amendment would save about $36,000,000.

Byrd's call for a sharp slash in the number of civilian employees in the executive branch of the government was in a statement accompanying the regular monthly report of the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures. Byrd is chairman.

"At average civilian pay of more than $3,000 a year, every day we are adding more than $750,000 to the annual federal payroll," Byrd said. He added:

"It appears that the bureaucracy is out of control with respect to personnel, and drastic action is necessary."

The Virginian said the number of civilians employed in the executive branch within the United States has been increasing at the rate of 322 a day for 15 months. He said that at the end of March there was a total of 3,111,297 employees on the rolls in that branch.

"It is my firm conviction," Byrd said, "that civilian employment in the executive branch can be reduced by at least 500,000 without impairment of a single essential function. This still would leave the total at 2,611,297 of the present peak."

Lilienthal Says Non-Communist Affidavit Should Be Required In AEC Fellowships; They Want One Billion Dollars

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) told senators today the president of the National Research Council has agreed that a non-communist affidavit should be required from candidates for atomic fellowships.

He made the statement to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee which is considering the commission's request for $1,000,000,000 in funds for the 12 months beginning next July 1.

The fellowships are awards given to talented students to help them pursue studies in scientific fields. A furor has been stirred in Congress by disclosure that a $1,600 a year fellowship has been given Hans Freistadt, an avowed communist who is a student of nuclear physics at the University of North Carolina.

While the money comes from AEC funds, the actual award of fellowships is made by the National Research Council.

Dr. Detlev Bronk, president of Johns Hopkins University, heads the council. He is in the hearing room when Lilienthal made his statement.

Bronk's decision that non-communist affidavits should be required would be subject to a vote of the full council.

Bronk told reporters that if Congress requires it, the council will withdraw the fellowship granted to Freistadt. The fellowship is to become effective July 1.

Freistadt indicated yesterday in a personal appearance before the joint congressional committee on atomic energy that he feels that the award of the fellowship is a contract.

Shanghai Holds Though Ominous Signs Appearing

Vacating Of Defense Areas Baffles Observers; Bigwigs Are Ready To Run Out

Shanghai, May 19—(AP)—It is drizzly skies with the guns booming in the distance, Shanghai entered another night of siege with ominous indications everywhere.

Encircling Communists were pushing their attack on the Pootung sector along the lower reaches of the Whangpoo River. But it was a movement of government troops into the city from the quiet southwest defense area and a one hour earlier curfew (9 p.m.) that had everybody uneasy.

At the time the Nationalists seemed to be holding their own against the compressing Red army. But the vacating of defense areas notably Hung Jao road, was baffling.

It could mean the Nationalists holding the advantage of interior lines, merely shifting their strength to more vulnerable spots. But the earlier curfew and sundry other reports, including one that the band may be closed to traffic put an aspect to the picture that did not jibe with reported Nationalist victories lately.

Lunghwa airfield, sure to be one of the first targets of any determined Communist drive, seemed to be under attack.

The airfield of Chinese bigwigs were said to be warmed up. It was utterly impossible to confirm this rumor. But if that is true, the jig may be up.

The latest garrison communiqué described Nationalist successes in beating off Red attacks on the Pootung back door from six to eight miles down the river from midtown.

The Reds were reported trying to collect themselves around Lunghwa and Yangshang for another job at the Wootung fortresses.

The Chinese naval commander, Adm. Kwei, said from his flagship off Wootung reflected his determination "to defend greater Shanghai in conjunction with the airforce and infantry to the last."

He said this was the first chance the navy had to show its ability. Always before, he said, it was limited by the narrow waters of the upper Yangtze.

At the same time the Central New Agency disclosed that Gen. Tang En-po, local commander, had visited the Chinese flagship and awarded the navy 20,000 silver dollars for defense work.

Tang told Central News at the northwestern front that he believed Shanghai could be defended, that troop morale was high and that he felt the final victory would be the Nationalists.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
May 19, 1900

The editor is in receipt of a personal letter from H. S. Tripp, who left here some weeks ago for San Francisco to take charge of the business office of his brother in that city. Heber says he likes the west fine and is enjoying himself out there. He says there are yet many signs of the great earthquake that visited San Francisco, but the buildings are being rapidly replaced. Since this year came in, there have been only two white persons to die in town. One of these was an aged lady who had been an invalid a long time and the other was a young man who had pneumonia followed by fever.

Janie Lyster thanking the P. T. A. for the lovely wreath sent by the group was read. Mrs. Joe Moyer then read a beautiful eulogy written by Mrs. Ed Harvey on behalf of the P. T. A. It was decided that this tribute should be sent to the local paper in Miss Lyster's home town. After this a silent prayer was offered as a tribute to our late beloved teacher.

Mrs. Cheatham then announced her committees for the coming year. The attendance prize was won by Miss Stancil's seventh grade.

MISS JANIE LYSERLY
In Memoriam

It is with heavy hearts that the members of the Third Street Parent-Teacher Association sense the loss of Miss Janie Lyster, their friend and co-worker. Miss Lyster was critically ill for several weeks. On the morning of April 12, 1940, the message came that she had died in a hospital near Asheville. Miss Lyster came to Greenville in 1922 to teach in the city schools. Her work as a teacher was best known at the Third Street school, where she taught for many years. It was here that she gave years of faithful service and made an outstanding record as a conscientious teacher. Her spirit of kindness, cheerfulness and thoughtfulness made her a friend to all.

She was a person of keen intellect, charming personality, one who made friends wherever she went, and held their friendship through the years. She represented the highest type of southern womanhood, kindly, generous and loyal. She had a great love for children. The entire community misses Miss Lyster. Her friends are conscious of their loss in being deprived of the fellowship and inspiration of her presence, but we would not call her back. We would say, "Let her works praise her in the gates." It can truly be said that Janie Lyster still lives in the hearts and lives of the children who came under her influence, and in the hearts of her many friends.

"Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my better days,
None knew thee but to love thee,
Nor named thee but to praise."
—Mrs. E. W. Harvey

Mrs. Edwards Gives
Club Program

The Chatham Book Club held its last meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon, May 17, at the home of Mrs. Earl Forbes on Eleventh Street.

Large bowls of exquisite pink roses were used throughout the living room.

After assemblage of guests the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Ruffin, Mrs. Shotwell and Mrs. Bowling, served a delicious strawberry dessert course and coffee.

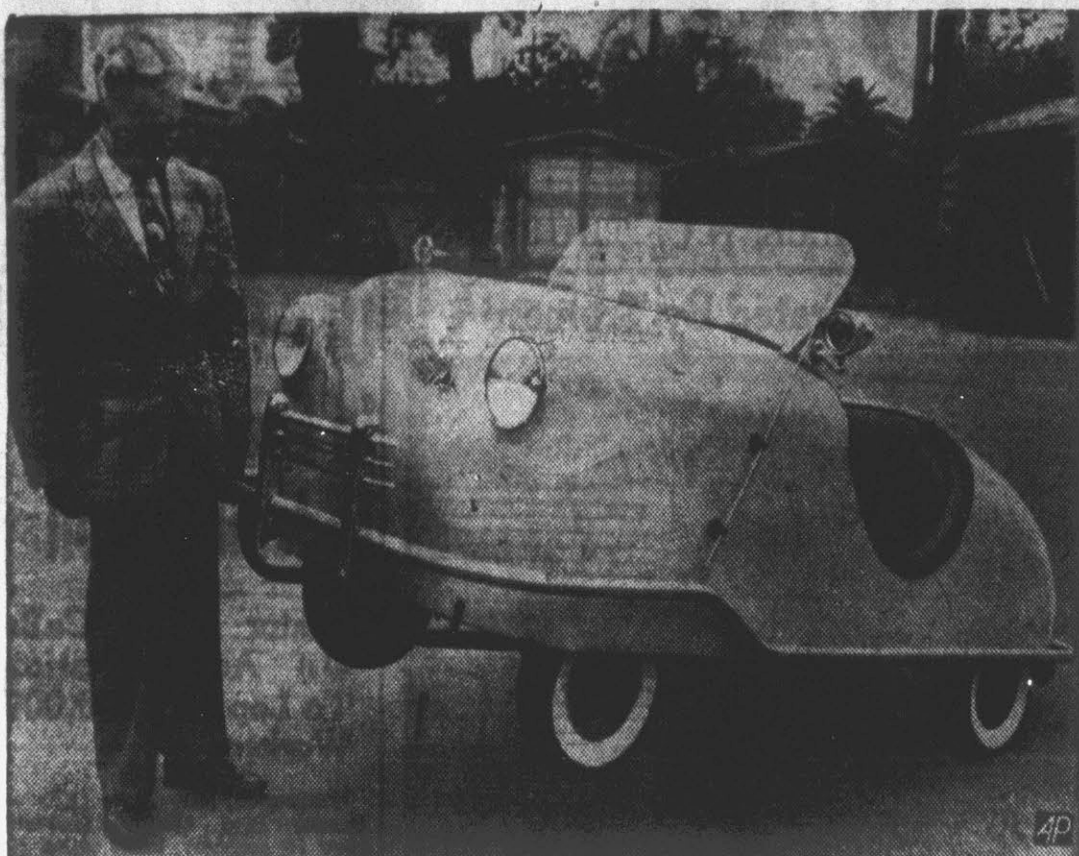

The business session followed, presided over by the president, Mrs. Ruffin. Afterwards the chair was turned over to the new president, Mrs. Bryan Brown. Mrs. Forbes then presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Jack Edwards, who talked on Thomas Wolf, considered by some worthy critics to this date North Carolina's greatest author. He attracted more literary attention in New York last year than any other North Carolina author. The speaker read bits from his frank letters to his mother which pictured him in his early letters as being intolerant and cynical but his later letters showed an about face in character which pictured him with humility and some spiritual discernment. In these letters he revealed a burning desire to make some lasting contribution to American art and also showed an anxiousness for fear there was too little time to accomplish his life's purpose in concision Mrs. Edwards said that his writing has national and universal appeal yet he was a southern writer.

Strength FOR THE DAY

A large copper company in this country has, for a generation, been going deep into the earth to get ore.
A few years ago they discovered five miles from their largest mine,
a mountain of solid copper ore which has been waiting there through the years to be scooped up without any complicated mining procedure and used.

This of course is just another version of the lecture entitled "Acres of Diamonds," which Rurall Conwell gave more than 6000 times to appreciative audiences. It is the story of a man who hunted diamonds all over the world and at last found them on his own property. The copper company delved deep into the earth for ore, and all the time better ore was waiting to be scooped up five miles away.

Riches, indulgence, opportunity for travel, high office—how we long for them and sometimes strive for them; yet the common joys of life which are a thousand times better are right at hand, awaiting our use.
To whom do the beauties of nature belong? The grandeur of the sunset? To the man who can see these things and appreciate them. What is more precious than to love and be loved? These are common joys open to us entirely apart from wealth, station, or ability. These are the rich ores waiting above ground to be used.

IT'S WELL WORTH WHILE

Pitt County citizens early next month will have the opportunity of free X-rays as a part of a campaign to ascertain the prevalence of, and wipe out tuberculosis in North Carolina. Many of the counties in the state have already carried out these mass examinations with the result that much headway is already being made in the campaign against tuberculosis.

When the X-ray units move into Pitt County on June 4 it is to be hoped that every person will avail himself or herself this service made possible through the efforts of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association.

YES AND NO

When we go to the polls
on June 4 to cast our ballot in the road and school bond election our votes will be
"Yes" and "No". We will cast our ballot in favor of the school bonds but not to saddle the state with a Two Hundred Million Road Bond issue.

The plea of those favoring the road bond issue is that the extra gas tax will about take care of the payments without adding additional tax burdens on the state. If an additional one cent gas tax will take care of the funds for our necessary road building program, then why not call the legislature back to Raleigh and have it pass the gas tax measure and forget about the bonds. In this way the money derived from the tax could be spent on the roads as it comes in and we would not be burdened with interest on a huge bond issue. We sympathize with those who do not have good roads in front of their homes and hope that the day will not be too far distant when they can have them but we believe that day will

Spy's Nightmare

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

For a long time the problem of disposing of stray dogs and cats in Greenville has been a pressing
one. Under the present plan Greenville's dog catcher impounds strays, licensed or unlicensed. The dogs are made available to the public for the price of the fine for impounding, $2.50, plus fifty cents a day board for the length of time the dog has been in the pound. Owners have to pay the same fees for redeeming their dogs.

It seems that the present plan is a step in the right direction.
In the past policemen have been requested by individuals to shoot strays, then criticized for doing it.
There is no doubt that the problem has been a headache to city officials for years.

In many cities this big headache is handled by a group of people who have such a great interest in animals that the task of control of strays is a joy to them. The group is one you've heard a great deal about—the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The city dog pounds in many towns are under the direct supervision of the SPCA.

Friday night at eight o'clock the SPCA will be organized and elect officers for a Greenville unit. All interested in the problem are urged to be at the Municipal Building for this meeting. SPCA enthusiasts, interestingly enough, say that animal lovers as well as animal haters should be present to hear the plans of the unit for control of strays. Their reasoning is that the haters are just as interested in having animals under control as the lovers.

With the necessary backing, the SPCA will probably campaign to reduce the fine and board fees of the local pound, making it possible for more Greenville citizens to redeem the dogs. It will be necessary for the SPCA to conduct a membership drive, probably touching each member for one dollar. The unit will attempt to raise adequate funds to have every dog vaccinated before he is released from the pound. It will also provide a humane method of disposing of those not placed.

You can easily see why the city officials will be anxiously watching the response to the Friday night meeting. A strong SPCA unit in Greenville would offer them unlimited help in control of strays.

Those of you who followed the three-day series in this column on alcoholism will be interested in knowing that I received an anonymous telephone call from a person who might have been a member of Alcoholics Anonymous.

The purpose of the call was to let me know that there is a post office box in New Bern available for anyone to write for help from AA.

The person did not have the box number at the time of the call, but offered to call me again and give the number when it is available.
For the benefit of anyone who might be interested, I'll print the number when the person calls again.

Those interested in the subject should also notice the news item in yesterday's Reflector stating that AA's in Morehead City will hold an open meeting June 5th at the old USO Recreation Center. The public is invited to hear three important speakers. All members. This meeting will be similar to the one in Duplin in February, when 600 citizens turned out to hear the AA's tell of their experiences.

And I thank you.

Recently the president of a vegetarian society bought 50 sheet music copies of the song from Frank, said Alex.

Because his advertising budget is low, Alex had to think up an inexpensive way to alert the public.

"I get up at six a. m.," he said,
"and put a box of chalk in my pocket. I go around and chalk up the sign, 'an onion and you,' in the crowded business and shopping areas of the city. Sometimes I sell a friend on the idea of helping me, but most of my friends can't quite figure me out."

The big trouble with his distribution system is that so far the only place people can buy his song is at his father's grocery store.

He has a tie-in deal with his dad.
Customers who buy a 50-cent record get a big onion free. If they buy a pound of onions, they get a sheet music copy for nothing.

"The records aren't selling too badly," smiled Alex. "I've already sold almost 300, which covers about 25 per cent of the investment."

He grinned as he told of one lady customer who bought a record, played it for a radio executive she knew —and asked if he had any suggestions.

"Break it!" said the executive.
"This didn't break Alex's spirit."
"If I had known what I was getting into," he said, "I never would have started. But I won't quit now.

I'm going to keep on forever."
He'll make tin pan alley sorry yet.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—For the men who police the 153 acres on which the capitol building is situated, courtesy and tact are top requirements—more important even than marksmanship and sleuthing. Olin Cavness, janky 44-year-old Arkansan, who is captain of the Capitol police force of some 155 men, says these qualities are more necessary perhaps to his force than to any other police unit in the country.

"We have 435 bosses in the House of Representatives," he told me, "and 46 bosses in the Senate, and everybody who comes to the Capitol and within our jurisdiction is a constituent of one of the bosses. It's like walking a tight rope."

Besides protecting the Capitol, directing traffic on the Capitol grounds and in the adjacent vicinity (a major problem) calming the scores of folks with real or imaginary grips against the government and finding lost children, the police have to be "walking dictionaries."

"Visitors to the Capitol ask millions of questions of the men on the force daily," says Captain Cavness. "Of course we don't know all the answers, but we try to help in every way we can."

Most frequently asked are directions on how to get to the White House, where can one get a gander at the President, why does not Congress meet in one big room instead of part of it meeting in the House and part in the Senate? What really seems to throw the boys is: "What building is this?"

"You'd be surprised how many folks standing in front of the Capitol, gaping up at its dome, ask "What building is this?" Capt Cavness says.

Capt. Cavness, who was born in Bentonville, Ark., and attended Oklahoma City University, was a commercial artist with no police experience whatever before he was brought to Washington to serve as a private on the Capitol police by former Congressman Clyde Ellis (D-Ark.) in 1940. He was a lieutenant in 1947, when the Republicans swept him off the force. He returned as captain last February through the sponsorship of Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.)

The soft-spoken, sandy-haired captain is married and has a 16-year-old daughter. He says he has worked all over the country, in 44 states and in Canada, mostly as a commercial artist, doing "everything that could be done with a brush or pen and ink."

He likes his new job, hardly ever takes a day off... that is, except for an occasional Sunday's fishing.
He says he doesn't "see how people can live and not fish."

Eight Of Ten Chinese Admitted To 'Dying House' Depart In A Coffin

Singapore—(AP)—The door never shuts on a "dying house" in Singapore's Sago Lane.

Once inside a "House of Great Suffering," as the Chinese call the nightmare institution, eight of every ten arrivals go out in a coffin. A joint hospital-mortuary, this product of an ancient superstition and unspeakable housing conditions in Singapore's Chinatown is a home of misery and human despair.

Centuries ago, Chinese legend grew that death in a house lured bad luck to it for all time. Today the chief tenants (sub-letters) of the crowded wooden buildings that hundreds of thousands call homes drive out all who seem at death's door.

There is nothing to stop them from going to a government hospital to die, but the Chinese inherently distrust western institutions with their rules and regulations. There is always Sago Lane, a half dozen or so houses whose doors are ever open and whose rules are very few.

And when a man dies, the same stocky fellow who sat so solidly at the open door waiting to help the ailing one up the ugly steps will appear at his side. Then, this silent fellow will lift the body over his shoulders and carry it downstairs to the waiting morgue. He has done the same for years.

Almost a half century ago, the first dying house was started as the result of lack of decent housing. In 1949, they are even more a tragic necessity. The housing shortage has become more acute.

The British government of this crown colony has sought somehow to lessen the horror of these houses. It has set up a licensing system, ordering daily visits by physicians, a nurse for every four inmates, cleaner premises and the name of "Sick Receiving House."

The dying pay $4.75 for a moment or a month stay. There isn't much profit from the sick room. However, the operator sells the coffins, the wreaths, the flowers, the joss sticks and paper, the candles and the hundreds of other things required for a Chinese funeral. He gets his share of the pay to the corpse-dressers, brass bands, gong and cymbal orchestras, as well as the devil-dispelling lion dances.

Raleigh Crowded With Shriners

Raleigh, N. C., May 19—(AP)—An invading force of 6,000 Shriners from Eastern North Carolina took over the state capital today.

Although the ceremonies marking the Shriners spring ceremonial officially began today, an Oriental pageant lasting more than an hour and a pre-ceremonial dance were held last night in Memorial Auditorium.

The Shriners are members of Sudan Temple. Highlighting today's festivities was a parade estimated to be almost three miles long.

Unable To Verify Tale Of Murder

Atlanta, May 19—(AP)—Police said today they were unable to verify a young woman's story that she watched while Metropolitan Opera Tenor John Garria was shot to death.

The 19-year-old blonde, booked as Alma Johnson, alias Mary Smith, of Richmond, Va., is being held on a charge of suspicion of narcotics. She was taken into custody on an anonymous tip that she knew something about the slaying.

The young woman's story sent Atlanta police to Jacksonville, Fla., and Anderson, S. C., but police in those two cities reported last night that the information given them had brought no new developments in the slaying of the balding tenor.

Chief Herbert Jenkins of the Atlanta police force declined to comment on the woman's story.

The body of the tall operatic singer was found April 21 in a rain-soaked alley a short distance from the terminal railroad station. The opera specialists left the terminal a few hours before the body was found.

Police Reporter Keeler McCartney of the Atlanta Constitution said two Atlanta policemen pieced together the girl's story after talking with her daily since her arrest May 10.

The policemen, Miss Emily Hart and Mrs. Evelyn Langford, told McCartney Miss Johnson related this story:

She met Garria in Charlotte, N. C., almost three years ago. She said Garria was the father of her 18-month-old child. She, another girl and two men came to Atlanta to see the singer. She wanted Garria to contribute to the child's support.

The four met the tenor near the terminal station the night of the slaying. A fight ensued, Garria removed his coat, and one of the men shot the singer.

All Safe When Mental Hospital Dormitory Burns

Knoxville, Tenn., May 19—(AP)—A dormitory at a state mental hospital near here burned last night but all patients in the building were reported evacuated without injury.

Housed in the dormitory at the Eastern State Hospital farm two miles north of here were 151 men patients. The blaze started in the kitchen of the one-story brick building.

L. O. Campbell, supervisor of the men's department, said early today that 91 of the 151 patients had been housed at the main hospital south of here and 35 others also had been accounted for at the farm.

The 25 patients unaccounted for, Campbell said, were believed to be in the immediate vicinity of the burned building.

They're Friends, But Plan Break

Glendale, Calif., May 19—(AP)—Actress June Horne says she will bring action for a divorce from Actor Jackie Cooper "within the next months or two."

Miss Horne, who has been in Chicago where Cooper is appearing in a stage play, said last night, "There's no special hurry about it." "We're still the best of friends," she added. "It's just that we don't have an awful lot in common and Jackie doesn't love me any more."

She said that "Jackie wanted it this way." "We didn't get along and it was silly to keep on trying."

Both gold and iron rings were worn in early times by the Persians and Hindus.

The first modern geography book, in English and written for schools, appeared in 1746. Its author was the British king's geographer.

WANT TO MAKE REALLY FINE CHOP SUEY?

It's easy! Though Chop Suey originated in this country, not in China, the best Chop Suey does use a quick, easy-to-follow Chinese method of cooking. They'd call it a "quick-stir" dish. Like real Chinese foods our American Chop Suey is thrifty and so-o-o-o tasty. Surveys prove it THE most popular dish in Chinese restaurant service.

THRIFTY AND APPETIZING

Our pictured Lotus Bowl of Chop Suey is delicious with bits of pork and veal thinly cut.

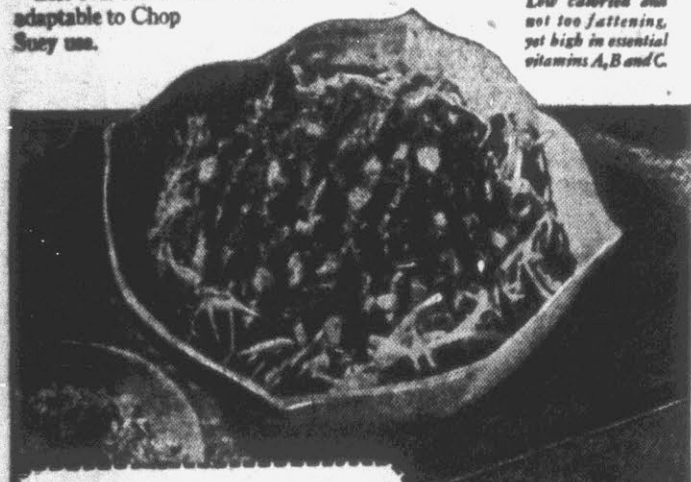

Wilson's pork, veal, chicken, Mor, pork tenderloin, cooked veal or beef heart may be used.

Left-over cooked meat is also adaptable to Chop Suey use.

EASY TO DUPLICATE AT HOME

You will be amazed how easy and quick Chop Suey is to stir up at home, varying the recipe to suit available foods—as do all Chinese cooks. Keep the meat to vegetable ratio and flavoring proportions.

Low caloric and not too fattening, yet high in essential vitamins A, B and C.

CHOP SUEY

Put in a hot frypan in the following order:

3 tablespoons Wilson's Laurel Leaf Brand

1 lb. thinly sliced, lean Wilson's meat

(pork, veal, veal and pork, chicken, Mor,

pork tenderloin, beef or cooked leftover meat—even heart—are all good.)

"Quick-Stir" as the Chinese would say, over moderate heat for 5 to 10 minutes. New stir in:

1 cup sliced onions

1 1/2 cups sliced celery

1 tablespoon Wilson's B-V

1 small tin sliced mushrooms, optional

dissolved in

1 cup water (enough to show up in bottom of fry pan)

1/4 to 1/2 tablespoons Soy Sauce,

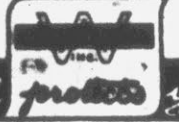

depending on your taste

Stir until thickened and then, if you wish, add:

1 to 3 cups bean sprouts thoroughly rinsed under cold water, optional.

Barely heat through as cooking destroys their crispness. Serve with steaming hot, boiled rice or fried noodles.

Disappearing Volcanic Isle Gone Fourth Time

Honolulu.—(AP)—Falcon island has disappeared, for the fourth time in its recorded history—but a man who ought to know says it will rise again some day, bigger and better than ever. The island is (or was) a small, volcanic member of the Tonga group, 2,600 miles southwest of Hawaii.

A New Zealand navy frigate reported March 3 that it had vanished, leaving only a strong sulphur smell in the vicinity. Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, famous American volcanoologist of the national park service predicts the island will rise again and eventually will grow up to be a considerable piece of land. Right now, he says it is in the process of piling up a lava flow under the sea.

According to the U. S. navy's hydrographic bulletin, Falcon island first appeared as a reef in 1865. It grew into an island, big enough that the British surveyed it. Then, in 1894, it vanished.

Later the same year it reappeared, rose to an altitude of 50 feet, then disappeared again four years later.

In 1900 a shoal discovered at its site. By 1913 the shoal was gone. It came up again in 1927, one mile long. The following year it rose 600 feet and spread out for two miles.

By 1936 it had subsided to an altitude of 200 feet, and was down to 30 feet by 1938. Last March it was entirely gone again.

"It's a continual battle between the volcano and the sea," Dr. Jaggar says. "The volcano gradually builds up, and storms wash it away. In the end, the volcano will win."

Cartwheel Hoard Paid For Auto

Spokane, Wash., May 19.—(AP)—After saving for five years, Charles Hink of Spokane bought a new car with one "heavy payment"—2600 silver dollars, all minted in 1921.

"There's your money," Hink said, pointing to a wooden chest when the dealer drove up with the new car yesterday.

The dealer wrestled the 170-pound box to his car and spent the rest of the afternoon stacking up the "cartwheels."

Hink, a service station operator, started saving silver dollars five years ago.

Girl Convicted

Munich, Germany, May 19.—(AP)—A German girl was convicted today of giving American military government documents to "unauthorized persons for unauthorized purposes."

An American military court sentenced Gertrud Mittenenswei, 24, to 30 months in jail for what the presiding judge said came "very close to espionage for a foreign power."

Miss Mittenenswei said at her trial that she had joined the "Soviet Information Service" while working for the American military government in Bavaria, because of Soviet threats against her parents who live in the Russian zone.

Further Attacks On Tammany Hall

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Tammany Hall, set back by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.'s election punch, faced attack from two new quarters today.

Samuel Seabury, famed investigator and ex-judge who masterminded three winning campaigns for the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, started to rally the old anti-Tammany "Fusion" forces again.

And Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer was reported launching a new drive for a housecleaning in Tammany Hall, which he once called "a gutter club."

Ex-Judge Seabury's move for a rebirth of Fusion was aimed at O'Dwyer as well as at Tammany Hall.

Seabury said yesterday that O'Dwyer's administration is as "flagrantly political and wasteful as any in the city's history."

"If Fusion can be reunited this year," the veteran civic crusader said, "there is a better than even chance of a return to an anti-Tammany city administration."

O'Dwyer, who was supported by Tammany when he ran four years ago but has been feuding with the present leadership, is expected to run for reelection next fall. But he hasn't announced it.

The mayor met yesterday with his friend, Frank J. Sampson, who was driven from Tammany leadership last July when Manhattan Borough President Hugo E. Rogers took over. Sampson announced after the conference that he would be willing to become leader of the Manhattan Democratic organization again.

Some district leaders in the Tammany hall command were reported today to be turning against Rogers.

Tells Milady To Buy Shoes Late

Seattle, May 19.—(AP)—Tell the little woman she should never buy shoes before 3 p.m.
That's the advice of Dr. H. H. Routh, Spokane, Wash., chiropodist who's acting as chairman of Washington State National Foot Week. He warned:

"A woman who buys a pair of shoes at 11 a.m. is bound to find them uncomfortable at 4 p.m."

"The human foot swells during the course of a day and buying shoes late in the day when your feet are slightly larger at least gives you a fighting chance to get the fitting you should have."

'Father Of 1949' Is Log-Splitter

Lock Haven, Pa., May 19.—(AP)—A 79-year-old farmer who splits logs to "blow off steam" today becomes the "American Father of 1949."

William Casper Pete of nearby Beech Creek, who has 18 children and 80 grandchildren, was selected for that honor by the National Father's Day Committee.

The title will be conferred on him during a ceremony at the Lock Haven city hall with news reel cameras recording the event for the National Father's Day banquet at New York June 19.

Peter told reporters he gets up at 5 a.m. every week morning to split logs for a local paper mill.

"A man can't feel worthwhile," he said, "unless he's got a long day's work behind him. I hit the wedge hard because that is a way of blowing off steam."

And, he added, "If you keep your mouth shut, you'll never get into trouble."

Peter's wife died some time ago. All his children and grandchildren live near the family homestead.

American Boys Who Fought In Israel Are On Their Way Home

Tel Aviv, Israel. (AP)—More than half the American boys who came here to serve in the Jewish army have gone back home, or are ready to go back soon.

For the most part, they came here to fight, not to settle. They were Jews who wanted to help their people—and a handful of gentiles who believed in the Israeli cause.

While they were here most of them kept right on being American. They belonged to Mahal clubs of foreign volunteers. Many wore U. S. army discharge buttons on their jackets.

No barrier is being placed in the way of their return.

According to informants at the United States consulate here, those who are staying on, perhaps permanently, in Israel represent three basic groups.

citizenship by voting in Israel's first election.

Although, that is only a small percentage of the total.

Some of them have even left to go home and "face the music" on known indictments or cases against them for illegal export of arms or military equipment from the United States at the time they came to the Jewish state.

Some others, who know or believe there may be indictments against them and perhaps a penalty to pay, "Sure, we're going home. That's our country."

The United States government is taking this view.

There is nothing, really, to prevent an American boy from fighting for a cause overseas, provided he can get there. While he actually is in the service of a foreign army, his American citizenship may be regarded as "suspended"—that is, he cannot claim any special protection or rights under it.

But when he leaves that foreign army, unless he has otherwise contravened his American passport, it is still good.

What is being done here is this: Americans who are coming into the consular offices to make sure their papers are in order for return home are asked to make a statement, substantiated by the Israeli army, that they at no time took any oath of allegiance to any other state.

The Israeli army attests that this is so. At the time it gave its troops an oath of allegiance to Israel, a year ago, Americans who wished were excused from taking it.

But it is different with those Americans who voted in the Israeli election, as perhaps some dozens did. They are Israeli citizens now whether they like it or not. That is the American government view.

It says in an American's passport he is not permitted to vote in foreign elections. Through advertisements in Israeli newspapers and pamphlets to the army before the election, Americans were warned not to vote unless they wanted to lose citizenship.

Everyone here, including foreigners, has an identity card. Everyone who voted had his card stamped by the Israeli elections officials.

Anyone who now turns up at the United States consular offices in Israel with a green U. S. passport to be extended, renewed, visased or stamped, is required to produce an unstamped identity card as proof he did not vote.

If he voted—his passport is collected and the United States state department is advised.

Qualifying Play In Coastal Golf Tourney Begin Friday

Qualifying rounds of the Coastal Golf Association tournament, held in Greenville once every six years, will begin tomorrow at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, and the 18-hole championship round will be played Sunday afternoon.

Between 70 and 80 amateur golfers from six eastern North Carolina towns are expected to gather here for the three day tournament. Golfers from Greenville, New Bern, Smithfield, Kinston, Farmville and Tarboro will enter the three-day event.

The pro-amateur tournament, with an entry of the pro and three leading amateurs from each of the six clubs in the association, will be played tomorrow afternoon with tee-off time set at 1:15.

The Greenville entry in pro-amateur event will consist of Pro Harold Thomas, W. L. Allen, Reynolds May and Ercell Webb.

Players in the CGA tournament will be classed in five flights based on the scores turned in in the qualifying rounds Friday and Saturday. The four low scorers in the qualifying rounds will be placed in the championship flight which is scheduled to tee off at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. The play-offs in flights one through four will begin at intervals during the day.

The Greenville golf team yesterday won the team title in CGA play as it defeated Smithfield 29 to 13 to end the regular season's play.

Coach Knows

Santa Clara, Calif.—(AP)—Head Football Coach Len Casanova of Santa Clara had one of the top punters in the nation last fall on his Brenco eleven in Hall Haynes, and also boasted two top kickers on his freshman team. Brenco officials say this is no accident—Casanova has a 97-yard punt of his own in the record books, a kick he registered in 1923 at Santa Clara.

Reggie Pearson must have gotten satisfaction from the fact that he took the measure of Mal Whitfield Ohio State's Olympic 800 meter champion, in two relay events at the Penn Relays. The gangling, easy going New York University ace was rated a strong contender for a berth on the Olympic team that performed so brilliantly in London last summer, but he missed the boat when he came up to the final trials suffering from a spike wound. Whitfield went on to Olympic glory, while Reggie licked his wounds and waited for another day.

Pearson was one of the outstanding performers at the Penn Relays which saw him anchor the Violet entry to two championships—the mile relay and the sprint medley, to keep his record at the relay carnival unassailed. In six events, over a three year period, Pearson has never been beaten to the tape. As a freshman in 1947, he outsprinted Michigan's Bob Renberg to win the sprint medley and beat Herb McKenley, of Illinois, in the mile relay championship. Last spring, he outsprinted Herb Barten, who was to go on to the Olympic games, to win the r relay.

The NYU ace missed the early outdoor events in the east because he made a flying trip to race in British Guiana. He returned in excellent racing condition and appears to be ready to defend his ICYA 440-yard championship successfully.

Memorial Day Speedway Race Has Heavier Ticket Sales Than Ever

Indianapolis, May 19—(AP)—Ticket sales for the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race have been heavier than ever after a 1948 race that was safer than a trunk highway crossing.

It may be that the crowd of 185,000 (estimated) is less bloodthirsty than some critics have supposed.

Anyway, speedway fatalities have been declining in recent years and that makes for a better contest. Anytime the track is littered with wreckage cars have to hold their positions until it's cleared.

The only serious wreck in the 1948 race occurred when Duane Carter, Santa Monica, Calif., threw a wheel. He wasn't hurt. It was competitive all the way and Mauri Rose was forced to an all-time record 119.813 miles an hour to win.

In the 40 years automobiles have been racing at the two-and-one-half-mile speedway, 39 persons have been killed. Fifteen drivers and mechanics have died in the actual Memorial Day race—only two of them since 1935.

William (Shorty) Cantlon, Indianapolis, was the last driver killed in the race. He hit the southwest wall in 1947, trying to miss a skidding car.

Pickets Parade At Gates Of Big Tobacco Firm

Durham, N. C., May 19—(AP)—Pickets were at entrances to the huge Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company today but there was no immediate indication whether there would be a work stoppage.

The pickets are members of the Durham Building and Construction trades council (AFL) which has been picketing work on a new building since May 12. They contend non-union labor is being used there.

Officials of local 176, Tobacco Workers Union of America (AFL) said last night it would be up to each individual member to determine whether he will respect the picket line. They added that they felt any official action on their part would be a violation of the Taft-Hartley law.

Fourth Year

Bangor, Me., May 19—(P)—The first Salmon—traditionally sent to the White House—was taken from the Bangor Salmon pool yesterday, 48 days after the season opened.

Adolf Fischer of Brewer landed the 10-pounder. This is the 6 fourth year that he has caught the Presidential fish.

Fischer battled an hour for his trophy, which came from the Atlantic ocean up the Penobscot river to the famed pool below the Bangor dam.

'New LaMotta' Is Awaiting Cerdan

Syracuse, N. Y., May 19—(P)—So now we have a "new" Jake LaMotta—and no apparent obstacles to his proposed title bout with middle-weight King Marcel Cerdan at Detroit June 15.

"New" that is, with the slight exception of a minor cut over his right eye, picked up in his victorious fight with Joey De John of Syracuse here last night. The New York veteran knocked out De John in 2:41 of the eighth round in a bout scheduled for 10. La Motta scaled 162 to his opponent's 159 1-2.

Cerdan planned to leave Paris for New York by air today, provided suitable plane accommodations were available.

Jake, flashing some of his best form, gave De John a real going-over, the latter's face being well covered with blood from the fifth round on. He took a terrific pounding all the way, except for a seventh round flurry when he started by making the Bronx bull cover up.

However, Jake took everything De John had and never was in trouble. In the last round, Joey was down twice for nine-counts before his third and final trip to the canvas.

Alexandria Nine Sets Run Record In 34-6 Score

Alexandria, La., May 19—(P)—Alexandria's aces set a run record in the Louisiana evangeline League tonight by beating the hide-off the cellar-dwelling Lafayette bulls 34-6.

What's more, ace batters, seeming to grow tired of the class C game, switched their style at the plate. Several righthanders began hitting lefthanded. Art Visconti and Frank O'Hare got base hits batting "the wrong way."

The previous record was set by the aces 13 years ago when they thrashed the old Lake Charles skippers 27-16.

The aces pounded 32 base hits off three Lafayette hurlers.

Earl Torgeson In Long Operation

Boston, May 19—(P)—Boston Braves' first baseman Earl Torgeson was reported resting comfortably today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he underwent a three hour and a half operation yesterday.

Doctors Joseph Shortell and Roger Doyle removed about 12 inches of tissue from Torgy's thigh and used it to tie together his left shoulder-er which was separated.

The bespectacled Boston first baseman suffered the injury Saturday night when he threw a block at Brooklyn second baseman Jackie Robinson in an ineffective effort to break up a double play.

Charlie Meyrick, Green Bay, Wisc. is the sole holder in the Navy varsity shell this season.

Veeck's Big Boner May Have Been Trading Eddie Robinson

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Bill Veeck, boss of the world champion Cleveland Indians, may be charged with baseball's trading boner of the year if Washington first baseman Edie Robinson keeps up his present pace.

The 29-year-old Senator, who came here in a winter-time deal which sent Mickey Vernon to the Indians, slammed his seventh homer of the season last night—a 328 foot drive over Griffith Stadium's 35-foot right field wall—to give his club a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

Robinson has built up one of the best baseball comeback stories of 1949 in the last three weeks. Soon after the season started, Manager Joe Kuhel bought first baseman Herman Reich from the Indians for $10,000 and put Robinson—then hitting .161—on the trading block.

But the day Kuhel announced Reich's purchase, Robinson rapped out two hits. The next day he paced the surprising Washington attack with four hits in a twin bill at Philadelphia. He opened the Chicago series with a home run.

Robinson, a 22-pounder from Paris, Texas, is now batting .316. He has knocked in 22 runs, scored 17 and has rapped out six doubles and one triple.

Meanwhile Mickey Vernon is hitting around .260 for Veeck's team. Reich went back to Cleveland on waivers nine days ago and Robinson has continued to lead the surging Senators at the bat. Last Tuesday he gave the Nats a 5-4 win over Boston by sending in the tying and winning runs with a solid single in the seventh. Last night, his home overcame a 3-2 deficit.

Kuhel credits the Cleveland out cast with major responsibility for Washington's rise from last place to a tie for third with Philadelphia. The Senators were just one game behind second place Detroit as they went into the rubber game of their 3-game series this afternoon.

Charlie Keller Tops List Of Players Cut For Limit

New York, May 19—(P)—Major league club rosters took on a permanent look today after some last minute scrambling to meet a mid-night deadline on the 25-man limit.

The veteran Charlie Keller of the New York Yankees topped a list of 15 players who were sent down to the minor leagues in the final hours last night. Two others were placed on inactive lists and a third was given his outright release.

Eight of the 16 teams had reached the limit before the final day, which comes annually one month after the season opens.

Keller, who had been a regular outfielder with the Yankees from 1939 until he suffered a spine injury in 1947, was sent to Newark in the International League.

He injured his back in batting practice opening day and has not played an inning this season. The Yankees hope he can return to playing form while working as a coach at Newark.

The St. Louis Cardinals gave up on third baseman Kuroski's right arm and placed him on the disabled list. That puts him out of action for at least 60 days. The ailing arm failed to return to form despite a bone chip operation.

Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis and Chicago in the American League were already down to the player limit as were Boston, Pittsburgh, New York and Chicago in the National League. The Cubs, however,

Greenies Bow To Leafs As Five Homers Feature Tilt

Rocky Mount Makes It Four Straight Over Locals By Taking 8-2 Win; Strausser And Gillespie Hit Circuit Clouts

By BERT MOYE

The Rocky Mount Leafs made it four straight over the Greenies last night in Rocky Mount by taking an 8-2 victory over Manager Pappy Williams and his boys in a game that featured nine extra base hits, including a total of five home runs—two being made by the Greenies and three by the Leafs.

As a matter of fact the two home runs by the Greenies saved them from a shutout and Paul Strausser, who smacked the first pitch of the game over the left field wall in the first frame and Pete Gillespie, who led off the third frame with a homer over the left centerfield wall, were the Greenies that saved the locals from a shutout.

The Leafs came back in the bottom of the first frame to knot the count at one-all when Bill Stanton homered over the left field wall after two men were out, and then came back to knot the count again at 2-2 in the third when Walt McJunkin doubled and came home on Babe Johnson's double for the tying run. This also happened with two men out.

The Leafs got the winning margin in the fourth on two errors, a double by Joe Browning, and outfield flies by Gus Freeman and Frank Gardner.

They came back in the fifth and scored three more runs when Gus Freeman homered over the centerfield wall with two mates aboard and then scored their final tally of the game in the seventh when Bill Stanton connected for his second homer of the night off the offering of Rookie Jim Pollard. This one also went over the leftfield wall.

Vanis Williamson held the Greenies to five hits, three of which came in the first two frames, with Paul Strausser collecting a homer and a

Three Stars Of State Quintet Are Dismissed

Raleigh, May 19—(AP)—Three stellar guards on N. C. State's Southern Conference champion basketball team have been dismissed from school.

Dean E. L. Cloyd said the three—Joe Harand, Bob Garrison, and Ed Bartels—were dismissed for "misconduct."

"They were on probation," Cloyd declared. He declined to reveal what the original offenses consisted of or why they were charged with misconduct.

Bartels, a star of two previous seasons, was dropped from the squad last September for violating training rules.

It could be possible for the three to re-enter State, Cloyd said. He explained that "they'd have to request readmission and then their requests would be considered by the faculty council."

GHS Intramural Softball League Gets Under Way

The Greenville High school intramural softball league got off to a roaring start yesterday with two closely contested games. The Giants, captained by William McLawhorn and Walter Gooch took the first contest from Jimmy Cox's and Joe Sawyer's Yanks 2-0 and the Bulls, led by John Farley and Bobby Fleming, turned back the Orioles 5-2 in the second contest of the afternoon. The Orioles are captained by Walter Perry and Richard Joyner.

Co-Captain McLawhorn hurled four hit balls for his Giants to shut-out the favored Yanks in the league opener. The only two tallies of the game came in the second when Jake Higgs opened the inning with a double to center field. McLawhorn flied out and then Walter Gooch hit a screaming ground ball at the second baseman who let the ball get through him. The well hit pellet rolled up the hill on the west side of the GHS ravine and before it could be retrieved, Higgs had scored and Gooch was headed into third. The throw to nip him at third was wild and Gooch, one of the fastest boys in the loop, scooted home with the second and last tally of the game.

Jake Stanley led the winners at the plate with three singles in four trips. Cox got three of his team's four hits, one of them a triple.

The Bulls pounced on the offerings of pitcher Walter Perry for eight hits and combined them with four Orioles miscues to turn back the charges of Perry and Joyner 5-2 in the second game of the day. The power-laden Bulls opened with three runs in the first inning to clinch the contest. They added one more in the third and another in the fifth to put the game on ice. The Orioles garnered one tally in the third and another in the fourth for their only two tallies of the contest.

Fleming, Carroll, and Haymes, with three hits apiece, were the sparkplugs at the plate for the victors. Wallace Conway rapped out two singles in three trips to lead the Orioles.

The other two teams in the league the Cardinals, captained by Mack Crawford and Billy Tucker, and the Don Juans, led by Sam Northrop and Harvey Ward, met this afternoon in their first game of the season. The Bulls and the Yanks tangled in the other contest of the day.

Here and There—Jim Shrode has been given his release by the Greenville club and has been sent back to the Raleigh Capitals from which club he was sent here on option.

Paul Heider, outfielder, has been sent back to Meridian, Miss. He was sent here on option from that club.

Ben Hayes, Jr., outstanding second sacker of the East Carolina Teachers College nine a couple of years ago has been linked to a Greenville contract. Keith Carraway, who worked out with the Greenies during the spring training has been recalled by the Greenville club to play in the outfield.

Stan Spitzer, a veteran pitcher, of Lakeland, Florida, who worked a part of the year in 1948 with Manager Steve Mizerak in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is joining the Goldsboro Bugs.

At the same time the Bugs announced the release of Merle Frankel and John Scheisser, pitchers. Bob Schumann, pitcher, has been suspended indefinitely. Bill Harderosian, an outfielder, has joined the Bugs. He is on option from Waterbury, Conn.

Mike Pace, outfielder of the Jays, has been given his release. Larry Quarantaro, hard hitting outfielder of the Jays, has been placed on the suspended list. Joseph Monteleone, outfielder and third baseman also a rookie, has been sent to the Jays by the Norfolk club of the Piedmont League.

Well, folks today is the last day in which the clubs in the circuit may carry 19 men. At midnight tonight the roster must read 17 men. This means that the Greenies have got to let two men go by midnight tonight.

Four Hurlers Used By Nats To Clinch Big One-Hitter

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

How about that many Washington club? Now they come up with a one-hitter shared by four different pitchers.

Not content with upsetting the American League with a streak of nine straight victories in the west, they're back home winning ball games in unorthodox fashion.

Monday they beat Boston when a Red Sox baserunner overran second while the tying run was scoring in the ninth. Last night they got a one-hitter from their pitching staff but had to win it the hard way.

This latest victory involved Paul Calvert, Dick Weik, Forrest Thompson and Dick Weller. They served up a total of one hit—a single—yet they needed a three-run homer by Eddie Robinson to top Detroit, 6-3.

Of course, there's a gimmick. Nine bases on balls and three errors made it close. It turned out that the hit—Aaron Robinson's single in the fourth—didn't figure in the scoring.

Calvert, the bespectacled ex-Cuban winter league star, started. He was forced to retire in the seventh because of a blistered finger. Weik came in and walked the first four men he faced. That was all out of Richard Thompson got the side out but Washington trailed 3-2 going to the last of the eighth.

Robinson lifted Marvin Grissom's pitch over the right field fence with two on to give the Senators the lead and Wellerth was able to hold it.

Wellerth pitched the last two innings when Thompson was removed for a pinch-hitter.

Bobby Feller took another beating as the New York Yankees thumped Cleveland's faltering ace, 6-0, behind Vic Raschi's two-hit pitching.

The Yanks, led by Tommy Henrich's two homers, clubbed Feller for 12 of their 13 hits in the seven innings he worked.

The Boston Red Sox, back in their happy hunting ground at Fenway Park, made it two in a row over Chicago, 7-4. Bobby Doerr and Ted Williams hit homers to hand Marino Pieretti his first defeat while Ellis Kinder staggered home with an 11-hitter.

Home runs by Stan Spence, Roy Sievers and Sherm Lollar enabled the St. Louis Browns to win their ninth in 29 starts, downing Philadelphia, 8-6.

Cincinnati continued to upset the National League picture by knocking off the Boston Braves, 13-9, on Grady Hatton's homer with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth.

As the New York Giants bowed to Pittsburgh, 5-3, Boston had a chance to gain the undisputed lead by a victory.

Brooklyn went on a 20-hit spree to thump Chicago, 14-5, with Joe Hatten coasting to his third win, a 10-hitter. Roy Campanella and Duke Snider hit home runs for the Dodgers.

Johnny Mize hit homers Nos. 304 and 305 of his career, passing the idle Joe DiMaggio to take the lead among active major leaguers, but

U. S. Golden Glovers Beat European Team By 5 To 3

Chicago, May 19—(AP)—Europe's top amateur scrappers today prepared to leave for their homelands convinced that winning in the Olympics is one thing, and trying to beat American Golden Glovers is another.

The Americans last night scored a 5 to 3 team victory over the Europeans in the 12th International Golden Gloves before 18,130 sweltering fans in the Chicago Stadium.

Three of Europe's losers were among the five Olympic-seasoned scrappers who tangled with an American squad comprised mainly of midwesterners.

The two top weight classes failed to go the route. In the light-heavy class, the Americans produced the best puncher of the show, Wesbury Bascom, a mail-carrier from East St. Louis, Ill.

Bascom scored a technical knockout over Finland's Harri Siljander in the second round. Siljander, a Helsinki butcher and an Olympic veteran, never had a chance against the ripping punches of Bascom, a stalker reminiscent of Joe Louis.

Another technical knockout came in a lack-luster heavyweight bout when Don Perko of Pueblo, Colo., halted Alejandro Arceche of Spain in the third round.

Europe's best performance was by Bantamweight Giovanni Zuddas, Italian Olympic finalist, who displayed terrific punching power in winning over Jack McCann of Oklahoma City.

Big Shipments Of Liquor To Buyers In 'Dry' Area

Says Roads Are Now Overloaded

Washington—We know how to design and produce good highways but we're careless about keeping them up, says Public Road Commissioner Thomas H. MacDonald. The excessively heavy truck, he adds, is the major maintenance problem.

"We are overloading our highways in their traffic capacity and in their structural capacity," MacDonald said in an interview. "The only way to proper use of the highways is to limit axle and wheel loads."

"Axle loads in excess of 18,000 pounds should not be authorized," he said, "and any revision of laws governing gross weight of vehicles should relate that weight to the number of spacing axles." The 18,000 axle-load limit generally has the support of state highway, motor vehicle manufacturer and user organizations, MacDonald said, and it has been written into the laws of a majority of the states. But he said that movements are under way in many states to ease the restrictions.

"Today the volume of truck traffic is nearly three times as great as it was in 1930 and even more significant is the proportion of trucks that carry heavy loads," MacDonald continued.

The result, he said, has been a gradual increase in damage to pavements.

MacDonald said truck operators insist that highway damage is a technical matter, that engineers must find a remedy, but that "this is true only to the extent that the design of roads fails to provide for loadings within the legal limits."

Irrigation Over 100 Years Old

Washington—(AP)—Modern irrigation as practiced by the Mormon pioneers in Utah began two years before the establishment in 1849 of the U. S. Interior Department. On July 24, 1847, the followers of Brigham Young established an agricultural pattern in the arid West which was to be repeated and improved through the next one hundred years of conservation development.

Many of the century-old Mormon canals or ditches are still used by the prosperous farming communities and suburban areas to the south and southeast of Salt Lake City.

The "Big Ditch," for example, was begun during 1848, the "Big Cottonwood Tanner Ditch" and the "Green Ditch" that same year, the "Walker Ditch" during 1849, and the "Hill Ditch" in 1851.

Polish Capital Is Rising Anew Out Of Ruins

Warsaw's Population Now Is Over 610,000

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—Poland's capital, rising rapidly anew from wartime ruins, is pushing a big new building program this year calling for expenditures of $62,500,000.

Warsaw's population now is over 610,000. The pre-war top was 1,388,000. Despite the acute housing shortage, Poles from all over the land who lived here before the war are continuing to flock back to this city. It is not uncommon to find four or five persons living in a single room.

In Warsaw today, everyone who is physically able to work seems to be working. Poles have a great pride in building their new Warsaw after the Nazis virtually levelled the city and said no Poles would ever live here again—that Warsaw was finished forever.

Polish engineers have estimated that it will be 1965 before the capital is completely rebuilt.

Council Votes Assist To Cupid

Croydon, England—(AP)—Members were of two minds when the Croydon Council debated whether to put more lights in side streets.

Mrs. Ethel Cook said, "If we don't improve our street lighting, we are going to have an influx of young lovers from other adjoining areas which are well lit."

But A. L. Boddington said, "Some of us in our younger days liked shady spots." The council voted against more lights.

Peddler of Dreams

By Peggy Dern

Chapter 24
Tippy gave them all a few very bad hours during the next couple of weeks. But at last the word was that she was definitely on the road to recovery, and from now on it was merely a matter of expert nursing and the little patient herself. At the end of the third week, Susan was told she might take the child home.

"You're going along, Fliss, my girl," said Susan grimly. "You need a rest. Heavens, you've had almost as hard a time as Tippy—really harder—these three weeks. A couple of weeks of rest and relaxation at Casa del Mar will set you up again."

She and Susan were on the beach with the baby one afternoon when a servant summoned Susan to the telephone, with word that the call was very urgent. Susan stood up, dumped the baby into Felicity's arms, and went across the beach and up to the house.

Chalmers Thorpe came down before Susan had returned and looked down at the baby in Felicity's arms with an odd, hungry look in his eyes. The baby knew him and crowded an enthusiastic, if unintelligible, greeting and held up plump little arms.

"You two are very becoming to each other," said Chalmers in a tone that tried hard to be light, as he bent and lifted the baby in his arms, holding him close.

The fat little knees pummeled Chalmers' chest as the baby tried hard to climb up his body, as though he were a tree and the baby a monkey.

"Isn't he a darling?" said Felicity, in the slightly fatuous tone all women use in speaking of a baby. And then daintily she said, "Isn't it a shame he hasn't a father to be crazy about him?"

Chalmers put the baby back in her lap almost roughly and said, "It so happens that he has a father who's very much alive."

"I suppose you know that his lawyers advised Susan two weeks ago that unless she made a cash settlement of one hundred thousand dollars, he would sue for the custody of the child?"

"It's a bluff—he wouldn't dare," said Chalmers grimly.

"He wouldn't if Susan were married again to a man who could help her fight," answered Felicity. "Oh, don't go looking stern and savage with me, Mr. Thorpe. I'm not afraid of you! If you weren't quite so big, I'd shake you until your teeth rattled. Of all the silly, stupid, pride-crazy creatures I ever saw in my life, you're the worst. You're mad about Susan, and she's eating her heart out for you. She needs you so badly—and you go around being stiff and proud!"

Chalmers was furious and made no attempt to disguise the fact. Having gone so far, she reasoned that she might just as well go a little farther. "So you're going to deny her the happiness any woman treasures more than all the money in the world—while you're depriving yourself of her love and of the grand fun of bringing up the baby. Oh, men make me sick! They're so darn stubborn and childish!"

Chalmers looked at those notations in the world would please him quite so much as to turn her down across his knees.

"Go on, Miss Morrie. If you can think of any more insults—" "Oh, I can think of lots of them," Felicity assured him. "But insults get us no place. The only thing is—it seems a rotten trick, to me, for you to deny yourself and Susan the happiness you could so easily have, just because of anything so silly as money."

"You think it would be a small sacrifice of pride—to be known far and wide as a fortune-hunter?" Felicity's eyes widened in honest amazement.

"Oh, is that what's bothering you?" she demanded. "Goodness, I thought—and so does Susan—that you resented the fact that when she couldn't get you she married a couple of other men. And you know that you were to blame for that, don't you?"

Chalmers was startled. Too startled, for the moment, to remember that he was blushing angrily with her.

"I was to blame for her two marriages?" He was outraged at the bare idea.

complete satisfaction on her face; while Felicity stared at her, wide-eyed, appalled.

"There!" said Susan happily. "I guess that will give him something to think about!"

"But, Susan," gasped Felicity, "I thought you were crazy about him—that you wanted to marry him."

"I am crazy about him—and I do want to marry him," said Susan coolly. "I've always meant to, in spite of him—but I heard a bit of what you were saying to him. I don't want a man who has to be whipped to his knees in front of me. After all, men haven't exactly got a monopoly on pride, darling."

(To be continued)

Father Of Twins At Eighty-Two

Batesville, Miss., May 18.—(AP)—W. T. Thompson, 82, is the father of a new set of twin boys.

The boys were born to 41-year-old Mrs. Thompson Saturday. Each weighed five pounds, eight ounces. The Thompsons have three other children, ages two, five and 24.

Mrs. Thompson was 16 and her husband 37 when they were married in 1924.

Start Work On Schools Budget

Raleigh, May 18.—(AP)—The six-member Finance Committee of the State Board of Education starts work today on the public school budget for the next fiscal year.

The committee's work will largely determine the salary scale teachers will receive during the coming school year. However, just what the scale will be won't be known until July, when the Board of Education customarily adopts its budget.

The Greeks and Romans believed that rings had charmed properties.

She Just Forgot

New York, May 19—(AP)—She probably just forgot. That's the opinion of an attorney who investigated the strange case of the fortune of Flora Edmond, one-time vaudeville star.

She died, at 78, last Oct. 3 of malnutrition.

A collection of junk—old trunks, boxes, newspaper clippings—littered her West Side flat.

At the time, it was thought she died virtually penniless, except for some Queens real estate listed in her name.

But little memorandum slips in one of the trunks aroused the curiosity of James E. Doherty, Jr., an attorney who was named executor for her estate.

The slips bore notations such as "N.R. for John" and "N.J. Long B Me."

Finally he decided the notes might represent bank accounts. He sent out mimeographed letters to several hundred banks asking if Flora Edmond ever had an account.

News of deposits began to pour in from banks along the Vaudeville circuit all over the eastern seaboard.

Doherty sent out more letters, inquiring about safe deposit boxes, and listing names used by Miss Edmond on the stage—"Flora Bruce, Flora Kirtan, Florence Bruce, Flora Lamph."

News of more dollars rolled in from points as far west as Chicago.

The total, by yesterday, had reached $110,000.

One notation, "Hud me," led to a $17,000 deposit in the Hudson Trust Company of Hoboken, N.J.

Most of the funds had been deposited many years ago, while Miss Edmond was touring at the height of her career.

In her later years, she apparently had lived in deep poverty, never touching the scattered bank accounts.

Local Chamber Chosen Sponsor

The preliminary conferences will be held in Greenville on May 31 and attended by chamber presidents, executives and chairmen of legislation and national affairs committees.

The second conference, a dinner meeting, will be held at the Woman's Club in Greenville June 14, with an expected attendance of approximately 150 chamber officers, directors and members of legislation and national affairs committees.

Participating in these conferences, which are being held to discuss legislation affecting everyday business, will be approximately 10 chambers of commerce in the area. Prominent and well qualified speakers will lead in the discussions.

Pacific Pact . . .

(Continued from Page One) he touched his mother. Along came Hercules, however, and conquered the Libyan by lifting him up so he couldn't touch earth at all.

Likewise our Uncle Sam might soon find himself hoisted by a Pacific defense pact.

So much for the formal commitment of a defense pact. If America or Britain or any other western power wants to give material aid to an Asiatic country, that's a different story. Such aid wouldn't have strings on it. A defense pact is another thing, especially in a vast theatre of turmoil which might produce calls for help from several points on one.

Refusal to enter a Pacific Alliance doesn't indicate lack of interest in that vital area. On the contrary, Secretary Acheson states that the United States and Britain are keeping in close touch with Chinese developments.

Kyzer Chairman

Announcement was made today by Jasper C. Hutto, executive secretary of the Lumbermen (N.C.) Chamber of Commerce and president of the North Carolina Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives, of the appointment of Willard T. Kyzer, manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, as chairman of the Program Committee for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Association, which will be held in Wilson September 18.

To serve with Chairman Kyzer are John H. Farrell of Wilmington, Robert G. Lowe Jr. of Morehead City, G. C. Meads of Elizabeth City, and John G. Thomas of Wilson, all executives of Chambers of Commerce in their respective cities.

Recommends Fire Protection For Suburban Areas

At the May meeting of the Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, the board adopted the recommendation of its Civic Affairs Committee, of which J. M. Taft is chairman, to urge the Greenville city administration to provide adequate fire protection for the newly annexed sections of the city.

The recommendation will include the construction and equipping of a fire sub-station in west Greenville and the installation of necessary fire alarm boxes in the newly annexed areas. This project has been considered by the city officials during the past year, and the chamber is asking that it be carried out as early as possible.

Comes Once . . .

Can an ex-Congressman do that? Sure. Anyone who's ever served in Congress can walk out on the floor any time he pleases, no matter how long it's been since he was a Congressman himself.

So an ex-Congressman turned lobbyist has a head start on any other lobbyist who can get no nearer the floor than the hall outside.

Says Sabath: "One man who was a Congressman 30 years ago is still coming back here. A lot of ex-members are lobbying."

Sabath says millions of dollars are spent on lobbying every year through salaries for the lobbyists, money for their expenses, publicity they hand out, entertaining they do, and radio time the powerful lobbies can hire.

And these lobbyists—although they seldom would want to claim credit publicly—undoubtedly have a hand in persuading Congressmen to their way of thinking in the laws that are passed.

But if you write a letter to your Congressman, telling him what you think, you're lobbying in a way. And a great many organizations have a

Law Violators Take Rest; Labor In Demand Here

"All was quiet" last night and today in law enforcement circles reports from the sheriff, state highway patrol and police department stated today. Very few arrests have been made here during the past week. Law enforcement officers attribute the present "law-abiding" period to the fact that practically all available laborers are at work.

A reporter cruising in a police car on its tour of routine duty today revealed the marked absence of loafing men, white and colored, in groups here and there about the city.

Farming activities at this time is absorbing an unusually large number of workers. Building operations here and in the county are providing employment for many.

The government unemployment service here reported today that there are fewer persons enrolled there now for unemployment compensation than at the same time last year.

In the meantime, normal summer weather is prevailing and crops on the farms and in gardens are flourishing, reports indicate.

His statement marked at least a measure of progress in efforts to reach some real understanding of the confusing developments. The restrictions had followed such an erratic pattern that nobody really was able to appraise just what maneuver the Russians were up to now.
