Constitution Is Passed By East German Congress

Soviet-Controlled Body Names Eisler As Candidate To German Council

Berlin, May 30—(AP)—The Russian - controlled German Peoples Congress ratified by a show of hands today a sovietized constitution it wants to make the basic law for all Germany. Only one of the 2,000 delegates abstained officially. There was no debate.

The ratification came as the windup of a two-day meeting in the East Berlin Opera House. The constitution of a "German democratic republic" is the Soviet zone's answer to the west German constitution recently adopted at Bonn and ratified by the 11 German states of the three western occupation zones.

Earlier, the congress named Gerhart Eisler, communist leader who fled the United States, to a list of 400 candidates for the Russian-approved German people's council for eastern Germany.

The 52-year-old German - born communist leader is expected to reach here via Poland in a few days. Eisler, who was freed by a British court which refused a United States request for his extradition last week, has not lived in Germany since the Nazi era.

The list drawn up by the communists described the alleged top communist agent as a professor at Leipzig University.

Yesterday, the delegates heard a speaker declare the Berlin railway strike would have flared into a third world war but for the Soviet Union's "love of peace."

The congress began today's session by naming Max Reimann, communist leader now jailed in the British zone, as a delegate to the Paris conference of foreign ministers.

Communist Chairman Wilhelm Pieck said the 22-man delegation might be barred by the western foreign ministers, "but the German people will not be discouraged; they will fight to establish a peaceful democratic German republic and not an American colony."

The delegation, in effect, is entrusted with supporting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's proposals in the Paris talks on Germany's future. Reimann's inclusion in this delegation was regarded by western observers here as a propaganda gesture. Reimann was arrested only yesterday by the British to complete a three months jail term for an anti-allied speech in the Ruhr.

The congress also rammed through approval of a manifesto to the German people embodying Soviet aims in Germany.

The manifesto invites one time members of Hitler's Nazi party to "cooperate" in a national front led by the communists.

The so-called people's constitution was drafted by a committee under Otto Grotewohl. It seeks to perpetuate in Germany an economic and political system similar to those of countries in the Soviet sphere. It includes loosely worded clauses concerning socialization and powers for confiscation of property. It also includes a pledge against censorship but otherwise ignores freedom of the press.

French Cardinal Dies Of Attack

Paris, May 30—(AP)—Emmanuel Celestine Cardinal Suhard, Archbishop of Paris, died early today of a heart attack. He was 75.

The death of the cardinal reduced the membership of the Sacred College of Cardinals to 55.

Cardinal Suhard was born April 5, 1874, in the French village of Bains-Sur-Les Marches. He became a priest in 1898, and was consecrated Bishop of Bayeux and Lixieux in 1928. He was made a cardinal in 1935 and appointed Archbishop of Paris in 1940.

However, they were reconciled when leading medical experts advised the series of operations. Pam's mother is expecting another child next month. (AP Wirephoto).

Ground Is Broken For New School

Exercises Mark Start Of New Negro Elementary School

Ground - breaking exercises for Greenville's new elementary school for Negroes took place this morning with Prof. W. H. Davenport, principal of Eppes High School, turning the first shovel of dirt. The building, to be erected on a 14 acre tract of land in the Cooperfield section of south Greenville, will be the most modern elementary school in the entire Greenville school system.

Those present at this morning's exercises included J. B. James and J. M. Taft, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Greenville school board; J. H. Rose, superintendent of the city schools; Mayor J. H. Boyd, Jr., J. C. Waldrop, Prof. W. H. Davenport, R. F. Eppes, brother of the late Charles M. Eppes for whom the Negro high school is named; Rev. J. A. Nimmo Rev. P. H. Mumford and Dr. J. A. Battle.

The erection of the new school building this year was made possible when the Supreme Court on May 4 ruled that bonds voted by the school district in 1940 were valid and could be sold now without another vote by the people.

Low bids for the construction of the building, accepted by the school board in April totaled $76,519. In addition to eight class rooms the building will contain an auditorium office and lunchroom and kitchen.

Master Spy And Saboteur Dies

London, May 30—(AP)—Capt. Frans von Rintelen, German master spy and saboteur in the United States in the first world war, died today. He was 65.

Von Rintelen, who had been living in England since 1933, collapsed in a subway station, and died later in a hospital.

As a navy lieutenant-commander, Von Rintelen was sent to Washington in 1915, ostensibly in the kaiser's diplomatic service. Actually, he said later, his mission was to prevent American munitions from reaching the allies.

Talk Of Cutting Federal Spending Continues Loud

More Senators Voice Hope For Economy; Some Officials Doubt Real Savings

Washington, May 30 — (AP) — The talk of cutting government spending kept rolling today, with Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate Appropriations Committee saying:

"I think some way can be found to make more cuts."

Senators Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) and McClellan (D-Ark) in separate intervals also expressed hope of economy, but they did not go so far as to say that it would come to pass.

Despite much demand for trimming expenses, Congress has not done much in a way that will stick. McKellar noted there have been some savings, then added: "But they are not enough."

Private predictions came this week - end from administration sources that spending actually will be more in the new fiscal year beginning July 1 than it has been during the year now ending. Further, these officials said spending will continue to increase in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1951.

These officials, who asked not to be quoted by name, said that greater spending is to be expected from increased outlays for such things as farm price supports, the handling of unemployment compensation funds, costs of job placements, ect.

While appropriations are primarily a matter for McKellar's committee, economy proposals are coming up also before the Senate Expenditures Committee headed by McClellan.

President Truman has spending plans for about $42,000,000,000 in the upcoming fiscal year, and McClellan said a preliminary survey indicates that "much of it is untouchable." "Veterans' benefits, interest on the public debt and other governmental obligations fall into this category.

A number of economists say that government revenues, from taxes and other sources, will taper off in the next fiscal year.

That would mean the government would spend more than it takes in or that federal taxes would have to be boosted.

Americans Die In Bolivian Strike

Two Hostages In Mine Violence Said Killed By Strikers

La Paz, Bolivia, May 30—(AP)—Two of seven American engineers seized as hostages by strikers at the Patino tin mines have been reported killed. A third American is missing.

The rioting strikers hurled dynamite bombs at troops sent to the mines. Casualties, mostly among the soldiers, were said to number almost 150.

D. C. Derringer, general manager of the Patino mines in Catavi, said in a telephone interview the dead men were T. H. O'Connor of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash. He said a Bolivion engineer named Vargas also was killed.

O'Connor was reported shot in the neck while at the union's headquarters. Krefting was said to have died of wounds caused when a striker threw a stick of dynamite at the hostages.

Derringer said the three were among 15 hostages seized by the rioting strikers Saturday. The workers broke into the homes of the 15, seized them and took them to union headquarters, where they were reported beaten. The 15 included the seven Americans, one Argentine and seven Bolivians.

Derringer said the missing man is H. T. Peterson of Biwabik, Minn.

He said three men were hospitalized: Wilbur J. Cook of Reno Nev., Pat Green of Wenatchee, Wash., and Floyd W. Erickson of Cyrus, Minn. The other abducted engineers were identified as Richard D. Ellett, who formerly lived at Pullman, Wash., and T. R. Woods-Smith, whose home address was not available.

Holiday Toll

(By the Associated Press)

The Memorial Day week-end was cut short violently for at least 255 of the nation's holiday pleasure seekers.

With the homeward rush still to come, the traffic deaths mounted to 165 before noon today. Fifty-two persons were drowned, and 36 died as the result of miscellaneous accidents.

The National Safety Council has predicted that 215 persons will be killed during the three day week-end, not counting those who will die later of injuries suffered in auto accidents. The council estimated that 30,000,000 automobiles would move on the nation's highways during the period.

Daniels' Trial Opens Shortly After Noon

Defense Makes Motion To Quash Indictment Due To 'Exclusion' Of Negroes From Grand Jury Which Returned True Bill

Two Negro youths of Pitt County went on trial for their lives early this afternoon for the alleged slaying of William Benjamin O'Neal, Greenville taxi driver.

In less than five minutes after the case was called by Solicitor W. J. Bundy, the counsel for the defense made a motion to quash the bill of indictment and to challenge the array and affidavit on grounds that the county officers had conspired for the "systematic exclusion" of Negroes from the grand jury which found a true bill against the defendants, and the venire which was subpoenaed to try the case.

After hearing the motion by defense lawyer Herman L. Taylor, Raleigh Negro, Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford ordered the court recessed until 2:30 this afternoon at which time evidence on the motion was presented.

Shortly after the case was called at 12:40 today, Attorneys Arthur B. Corey and W. W. Speight, who were appointed by Judge R. Hunt Parker as counsel for the defense when the court March 28, asked that they be relieved from the case on grounds that the defendants had secured private counsel. Judge Williams granted the request.

Attorneys who will defend Lloyd Ray Daniels and Bennie Daniels on the charges of first degree murder are Herman L. Taylor of Raleigh and C. J. Gates of Durham, both Negroes.

Taylor said this morning that he and Gates had been contacted by Greenville people and asked to take the case, and that fees were being paid by "friends of the family and neighbors" of the Daniels boys.

Taylor said he and Gates are two of the seven lawyers in North Carolina retained by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, but commented, "The NACP has not entered it (the case) officially nor supplied any money."

Judge Williams ordered the presentation of the evidence on the defense motion to begin at 2:30 this afternoon, and dismissed the jurors until 9:30 tomorrow morning.

The murder for which the youths are being held occurred on the night of February 5 when O'Neal allegedly was hired to transport the two Negroes to their home near Grimesland. O'Neal's body was found on a lonely road near a group of tobacco barns.

The youths were arraigned and pleaded guilty to the murder charges on March 28 at which time Judge R. Hunt Parker ordered the case continued and the defendants be

Greeks Accused Of Raiding Town In Yugoslavia

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, May 30—(AP)—Yugoslavia reported today a Greek Royal Air Force plane has bombed and machinegunned a small village just within its borders, killing three Yugoslav soldiers and wounding four others.

In a formal statement issued through the ministry of information, Marshall Tito's government announced it had lodged a protest with the government in Athens and had served notice that Yugoslavia's armed forces will "take defending measures" against any such future incident.

The statement said that the "new provacation" shows that the Greek Royal government is continuing attacks upon Yugoslavia territory and has "provoked disquiet in the Balkans."

Baccalaureate Sermon Is Given By Dr. H. G. Haney

By CHESTER WALSH

An overflow audience—an appreciative audience—at the Greenville High School last night, was inspired by the impressive program rendered and by Dr. H. G. Haney's eloquent "heart-to-heart message to "the graduates, their parents and others," in which he reminded of "the importance of living" with an aim and a purpose and a wholesome desire "to make that spot in which you live, a better place."

Dr. Haney, "grand cavalier of religion and education," as he is described everywhere he goes, did not deliver a prepared sermon. His message contained "recorded history in education and definite prescription about how to find the best in the world." Carl Denton, president of the Senior Class, presented the speaker.

"Where do you live?" was the challenging question Dr. Haney put to the graduates. He used as his text the call of Jesus to His followers, who asked Him, "Where do you live?" and the Master replied "Come and see."

"The minister said Jesus would not have shown them the lowly stable in which He was born in Nazareth, and where He grew up, but He told them of a new world for them which His coming would provide. Dr. Haney said Jesus lived day by day in greater purpose, dreams, ideals and service to mankind. He told his audience that the Master, too, dreamed of a better world and gave His followers a new vision of it as He taught them to pray: "Thy Kingdom come" and "Thy will be done."

He urged the graduates, "As you go out into the world to build for yourselves a life of service to use the pattern of Jesus' ideals, dreams and visions of a new world."

Dr. Haney closed with these words:

"To every soul there openeth a highway and a low,

Aged U. S. Treasurer Is Killed In Auto Accident

Washington, May 30 — (AP) — William A. Julian, aged treasurer of the United States, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident as he drove to a country club to play a round of golf..

Julian had served in his treasury post for 16 years and during that time had isued $87,000,000,000 worth of currency. His signature appears on U. S. paper money, opposite that of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Various records gave his age at from 78 to 87; friends said the latter was probably most nearly correct. Julian himself never discussed his age.

Death came in a head-on collision with another car on a county road in nearby Bethesda, Md. The two men in the other car were only slightly hurt; no charges were filed in the accident.

Julian was appointed to the job of treasurer by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933.

Mrs. Julian died last March 2. The couple had no children.

Funeral services were set for 1 p.m. EST Wednesday at a Washington funeral home.

Bars Of Secrecy May Limit Case By Hickenlooper

Some Senators Believe Atomic Secrecy Will Hinder Attack On Lilienthal

Washington, May 30—(AP)—Some colleagues said today that secrecy bars may limit attempts of Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) to prove publicly that David E. Lilenthal is guilty of "incredible mismanagement" of atomic affairs.

Hickenlooper has called for public hearings by the senate-house atomic committee, beginning Wednesday. He said he is "prepared to produce the proof" at these hearings that Lilienthal has been lax in his duties and should quit as chairman of the atomic energy commission.

But some Senators said privately they doubt that anything like the full controversy between the Iowa Senator and the AEC chairman can be aired at such hearings because of the necessity of keeping a-bomb secrets intact.

The AEC operates like an iceberg, with most of its mass below the secrecy water-line, so that only those directly involved and the Senate-House committee can be told of what is going on below the surface.

As a former chairman of this committee Hickenlooper had intimate access for two years during the 80th Congress to the commission's inner working.

It is understood that during that time, the Iowa Senator addressed many letters to Lilienthal inquiring about commission decisions and often complaining about some action that had been taken.

These letters, and the answers, remain in the senate-house committee's files. They may be included in the "great mass of material" which Hickenlooper said he wanted to call to the committee's attention.

But most of these communications apparently fall in the secrecy category. While they might be reviewed by the committee, Senators think it hardly likely that many can be brought out into the open for public reading.

Negro Abducted By Georgia Mob

Later Reported Found Dead; Gang Removed Him From Jail

Irwinton, Ga., May 30— (AP) —A young Negro accused of shooting at a white man was taken from jail by a mob here last night. His body was found today at nearby Sandy Creek.

First reports did not disclose the cause of death. The Negro had been arrested after Sheriff George Hatcher reported that he was fired upon at a juke joint where he had gone to quiet a disturbance.

The Negro was Claip Hill 26. Word of his death was received by the Sheriff's wife in a telephone call from Sandy Springs.

Mrs. Hatcher said a group of white men drove up to the jail last night while her husband was absent and demanded the Negro. They took him away.

The sheriff had gone back to the juke joint to get his pistol, which he had lost in the earlier melee with Hill.

Police Chief J. Fountain of nearby McIntyre gave the following account of incidents leading up to Hill's abduction:

Sheriff Hatcher received a call concerning a disturbance at a night spot operated for Negroes. He arrested and put handcuffs on Hill and then felt his gun being removed from his pocket. He turned quickly but the Negro wrestled with him and fired at him.

The law enforcement officer shouted for help, but none of the other Negroes in the establishment came to his rescue at first. Eventually another Negro handed him a gun and the Sheriff marched Hill off to jail.

Mrs. Hatcher said the sheriff was not hit by any bullets. He was bruised about the body and his shirt was torn from his back.

She said the Sheriff had gone back to the place to hunt his gun when the men came and took the Negro.

Arrest Man For Murder Threat

Reuben Cannon Negro, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Jasper L. Mills and Detective S. Bowen Dorsey during the weekend on the charges of being drunk and disorderly in Glenn Wall's Store in the Clay Root community.

The officers quoted Wall as saying that Cannon threatened to go home and get his gun and come back and kill him.

Wall contacted authorities and the officers arrested Cannon on his way back to Wall's store. They said he did not have a gun when apprehended walking along a road.

Cannon was to be given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate I. L. Jenkins some time today.

Workers Return To Ford Plants

Maintenance Crews On Job; Full Production In Two Weeks

Detroit, May 30—(AP)—About 1,200 Ford maintenance workers returned to their jobs today at the conclusion of the CIO United Auto Workers' 24-day strike.

But the Ford Motor Co. estimated it may be two weeks before full production is resumed in all its plants as 168,000 employes are back on the job.

An agreement leaving the main issue in the speed-up dispute to arbitration was reached early Sunday after days of steady negotiations. About 65,000 UAW members employed in the struck Rouge and Lincoln plants ratified it by big margins at meetings later in the day.

Ironically, neither company nor union will know for sometime who actually won the strike that cost Ford and the workers an estimated $77,000,000.

Attempts to select either a single arbitrator or a three-man board will begin tomorrow. But it may be weeks before any decision is handed down on the main issue—allocation of manpower.

Meanwhile, Ford speeded arrangements to get assembly lines rolling again in its big industrial empire.

Maintenance workers at the Lincoln plant started back first.

The rest of Lincoln's 6,000 employes are to be recalled tomorrow, together with 16,000 of the 59,000 workers at the huge Rouge plant.

Detroit plants must supply parts for Ford's other factories, so those outside the city will be shut down longer, until a backlog can be built up.

Moscow Rejects West's Proposal Uniting Germany

Vishinsky Gives Soviet Answer To Foreign Ministers; Rejection Expected

Paris, May 30—(AP)—Russia rejected today the west's proposals for uniting Germany under the Bonn constitution, a French source reported.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky gave Moscow's answer to the joint western project in the seventh meeting of this session of the foreign ministers council.

The proposal was submitted Saturday by U.S. Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman. It invited east Germany to join the federalized regime adopted by the 11 states of the American, British and French occupational zones.

Authoritative sources in the western camp have predicted the Russians eventually would reject the western offer. These sources feel no doubt that pro-western groups will win a free election in all Germany and the Iron Curtain will be pushed back to the Polish and Czechoslovak frontiers.

The Russian foreign minister is expected to shower the west with lengthy interrogation on each phase of the joint American - British - French project submitted to the four-power foreign ministers council Saturday.

Initial Soviet comment, voiced by Tass and Russian publications, criticized the western plan as a breach of the Potsdam agreement, which established the four-power allied control council for Germany. A main criticism was that the plan provides for majority decisions, limiting the veto power.

Vishinsky has proposed the control council be reestablished to supervise a German administrative council representing economic bodies and the eastern and western zones.

The western powers, on the other hand, have proposed that eastern Germany be allowed to join the German government being set up at Bonn. The all-German state would function under an occupation statute approved by the four occupying powers. The veto power would be applicable only in "exceptional" cases.

West German leaders yesterday gave their support to the allied proposal. Meeting at Frankfurt, the ministers president of states in the U.S. ocupational zone unanimously endorsed the plan. They registered opposition to the Soviet proposals.

Western sources said the Russians might accept some western ideas but would offer counter-proposals on others. By the middle of this week, they said, it might be possible to gauge whether some kind of four-power agreement on Germany is possible at this session of the foreign ministers council.

Trio Threatened Dynamite Home; Placed In Jail

Three men, Norman Godley, 32, Jasper Godley, 40, and Dawson Godley, 39, were arrested early today on charges of threatening to dynamite and blow up the home of W. H. Morgan, in the Clarke's Neck community of Pitt county, during the weekend.

Deputy Sheriff Jasper L. Mills and Detectives M. E. Corbett and S. Bowen Dorsey made the arrests. They quoted Morgan as saying that the three men threatened to blow up the house, occupied by himself and wife and six children after he refused their request to transport them somewhere.

The three men were being held in the county jail, pending a hearing sometime today.

Outsiders Unwelcome

Ford Motor Company And Auto Union Are Pretty Big; When They Failed To Agree, Arbitrator Was Brought In; When It Comes To Nations, It's Different

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 30— (AP) —The bigger you are, the less chance there is for an outsider to tell you what to do.

What has just happened in Detroit and what's happening in Paris, are good examples.

The Ford Motor Company and the CIO Auto Workers' Union are pretty big. They had a disagreement and a strike.

They talked for days, couldn't reach an agreement, and finally decided to let an outsider, an arbitrator,, settle the argument for them.

But when you move into the realm of nations, you're dealing with the biggest there is.

And that's the case with the United States, Russia, Britain and France.

The Foreign Ministers of those four countries have been meeting in Paris for a week, talking of working out an agreement on Germany.

So far they've been miles apart, with Russia pitching for what she wants and the other three, standing together, wanting something else.

All four Foreign Ministers, including Russia's Vishinsky, who not long ago was screaming at the west, are being very polite.

In fact, the New York Times even used the word "gentlemanly" to describe the conversations.

But at the rate they're going they may keep on being polite for weeks and wind up nowhere.

If they break up, as they've broken up in the past, at the end of a dead-end street, they just pick up their marbles and go home.

And no outsider, like an arbitrator, can be called in to make a decision for them and tell them what each must do.

They're all too big to let an outsider do their thinking for them, and each has too much at stake.

It's too soon to pass judgment on what's happening in Paris because the meeting only started last Monday and because—

What's happened so far, at least on the part of the Russions, look more like sparkling than anything else.

So far the Russians haven't contributed a new idea about Germany at all. The suggestions they've made for running Germany were either

'Squeeze' In Britain

Great Leveling-Off In Incomes Hits Wealthy Hard; Process Started Before Socialists Took Over; The Conservatives And Recent Gains In Local Elections

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The very considerable Socialist losses to Conservatives in recent county council elections in Britain have given rise to widespread debate as to the reasons for these setbacks to the nation's ruling party.

Thus far no explanation which is widely satisfactory has been evolved, even in England. In general it seems to be agreed that such elections often are governed by purely local conditions and sentiment, and don't necessarily reflect the views of the voters on national matters. That is, the same districts might give an entirely different vote in a national election such as is due next year.

However, there is an observant school which feels the Conservative (Tory, some call it) vote does in considerable degree reflect the opposition of those classes of society which are against the Socialist program of nationalization. Many Conservatives feel (rightly or wrongly) that this program is aimed at the destruction of private initiative and the levelling off of individual incomes.

Be that as may, it's true that incomes in Britain are fast being leveled off, though in all fairness it must be recorded that the leveling off process was going on under Conservative rule long before the Socialists took over. As this column previously has pointed out, the so-called landed-gentry is disappearing rapidly under the very heavy taxation.

Death duties are so terrific that frequently an heir has to sell much of his property in order to meet taxes. When it happens, as I have seen it in England, that property changed hands twice within a year or so because of deaths, then the estate may be virtually wiped out, both ready money and real estate.

British Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps recently stated during a speech in Commons that the number of net incomes over 5,000 pounds stirling ($20,000), after taxation, had dropped from a prewar figure of 11,000 to 250 now. It really is amazing to find that Britain can produce only 250 people with net incomes over $20,000.

A striking example of highly

Sister Crescentia Honored Thursday

Sister Crescentia, principal of Saint Raphael's School, on West Fifth Street, was honored by her many friends on Thursday, May 26, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the taking of her vows.

As a surprise for her, the members of Saint Peter's Parish and the patrons of the school entertained at Saint Raphael's at an informal tea in the afternoon from three until five and at a reception in the evening from eight until ten.

The tea was attended by many dignitaries of the Catholic Church and Sisters of the Order of the Immaculate Heart and of the Order of the Adorers of the Most Precious Blood. Seven communities from Raleigh, Kinston, New Bern and Washington were represented.

In the stately reception hall, guests were welcomed by the Rev. Father Charles Gable of Saint Peter's Catholic Church and presented to the honoree, Sister Crescentia.

Sister Patricia, Sister Anastasia Marie and Sister Jane Francis of Saint Raphael's Convent invited the visitors into the gift room where many treasured mementos of this silver anniversary, sent by friends from far and near, were on display. Among the gifts were a silver crucifix from Rome, a gift from Father Gable; a telegram of congratulations and blessing from His Excellency the Right Reverend Vincent Waters, Bishop of Raleigh, North Carolina; a pair of white altar candles decorated in silver in special dedication to Sister Crescentia, a token from Will and Baumer, candlemakers of Syracuse, New York; a beautifully decorated cake of white and silver with candles from Mrs. A. M. Mosley and other gifts of silver or exquisite handwork from the Sisters of the Convent and other friends.

In the auditorium refreshments were served from an extended table covered with white damask banquet cloth and centered with a lovely arrangement of red roses flanked by silver candlesticks holding burning white candles decorated in red and silver and trays of dainty refreshments. Mrs. A. M. Moseley and Mrs. Henry Gurganus served lime ice punch from cut glass bowls at either end of the table.

During the festivities, Sister Ismelda of Father Paul Memorial School, Kinston, delightfully entertained the gathering with piano selections and to her accompaniment, they enjoyed singing.

At the close of the day, they assembled in the Chapel of the Convent for Benediction which was given by Father Gable; the Reverend Father Adriam, C.P. of Saint Gabriel's Catholic Church, Greenville; and the Reverend Father John Joseph, C.P. of Mother of Mercy Catholic Church, Washington.

At six o'clock the Sisters of Saint Raphael's Convent entertained at dinner the Sisters of the Order of the Most Precious Blood, Kinston, of which Order the Sisters of Saint Raphael's Convent are, also, members.

In the evening the members of Saint Peter's Parish, patrons of the school and other friends attended the reception.

Welcomed by Father Gable, who presented them to Sister Crescentia, they proceeded to the gift room where they were greeted by Sister Jane Francis, Sister Anastasia Marie and Sister Patricia.

The guests were invited into the auditorium where the beautifully appointed table was centered with an elaborate arrangement of white madonna lilies and green and silver laurel leaves, flanked by six three branched silver candelabra and silver trays of delicious cookies, cheese biscuits, salted nuts and candies. Mrs. A. W. Bryan and Mrs. Roy Tripp served lime ice punch. They were assisted by Mesdames Robert Arthur, James Moye, J. M. Barrett, John Saleed and J. Harris.

During the evening four talented artists gave a most enjoyable program of music. Mrs. R. James Jr. of Bethel, in a lovely soprano voice, sang "The Rosary" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." She was accompanied by Mrs. Ray Tyson. Mrs. Margaret James, accompanied by Mrs. Vance Arnold, pleased the audience with singing "Now Is The Hour" and "When Day Is Done."

Mrs. Arnold, a clever radio entertainer, then played popular airs and the guests enjoyed group singing until time to say a reluctant good-night, with heartfelt wishes to Sister Crescentia for many happy returns of the day in the joy of her vocation.

Crochet Hooks Learn New Tricks

Coffee Hour Honors Miss Morton

Mrs. O. L. Joyner, Jr., and Miss Hennie Long were hostesses at a coffee hour on Saturday morning to honor Miss Ann Morton, daughter of Mrs. Claude Gaskins and the late James Shepherd Morton, whose marriage to Mr. Clifton Hugh Edwards, Jr., will take place in July.

Callers were greeted by the hostesses, their honor guest, Mrs. Claude Gaskins and Mrs. C. H. Edwards.

A bridal motif was observed in the appointments in the dining room. The table held a beautiful bowl of all white flowers and a miniature bride.

Mrs. Larry James served iced coffee, with a variety of dainty party accompaniments.

Miss Morton was presented a silver dish as an honor gift.

COMPLETE COURSE IN CARPET LAYING SCHOOL

Allen Holstead VanDyke of Rock Spring Drive, Greenville, has completed a course in the principles and installation mechanics of carpet laying conducted in New York by the Alexander Smith Carpet Company.

Mr. VanDyke is a partner of the VanDkye Furniture Store in Greenville.

The carpet laying school was established early in 1947 to provide specialized training to employees of retail stores in modern workroom techniques.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

On a scholarship given by the Foreign Mission Conference, Miss Irene Singh, Indian Christian, is studying at Syracuse University for an M. A. in journalism. Later Miss Singh will join the staff of the National Christian Council of India, editing its "Christian Home" bulletin. Another editor coming to America on a scholarship is Miss Vimala Rajahmanickam, of the "Treasure Chest."

In an "open letter" to the members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, in which the million and a half women of the churches throughout American Methodism are urged to initiate local action for human rights, and to study the proposed Atlantic Pact and military aid to the nations in that Pact, the Misses Thelma Stevens, Eleanor Neff, and Dorothy Weber, social action secretaries of the national body, say: "You cannot do everything, but you can do something. Your life itself is not simple and unrelated to your neighbor's near or far. The bigotry selfishness, hatred, discrimination, segregation, and war-breeding power machines in the world today are here because too many women and men have said, 'Let George do it!' The job is big and perplexing, but God's power for bringing peace on earth is great when a willing, courageous Christian woman determines to work consistently at the task in her local church and community."

Miss Ruth Myers Taylor, of Waynesboro, Ga., who recently went to Japan in missionary service and is teaching in three schools in Kobe, tells of the growth and value of the Christian church there: "I am sure that there is a great deal in practical Christianity which the Japanese people need and want. They need a religion stripped of gaudy trappings, and free from high sounding but meaningless 'doctrines'; they need a Christianity that works! And here I offer a plea: you, back home, please do all you can to see that Christianity works in America. All types of unfairness, shady deals in government, signs of race prejudice coming from America do not pass unnoticed by these 'new' Christians. Some of them come to me, genuinely puzzled by something they have read in a magazine or heard from different sources. I never hesitate to tell them that 'Americans' and 'Christions' are not synonymous."

Officers Indict Two Negroes For Having Whiskey For Sale

Pitt County ABC officers J. M. Ward, J. L. Taylor, Claude Manning and City Detective W. E. Corbett and S. Bowen Dorsey in making their Saturday night rounds in search of illicit whiskey sellers, indicted Julia Taft, Negro, who lives on Ford street, for having a quantity of illicit liquor for sale. The officers also indicted Johnnie Pettiford, Negro, who lives on Stuts street, for having illicit whiskey on his premises for purpose of sale. Some of the liquor found in this raid was a special variety—white liquor and peaches mixed, officer Ward said. Both defendants were to be tried in Police court today.

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found John Pettiford, colored, guilty of possession of whiskey for sale and gave him six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100, costs deducted. Julia Taft will be tried later.

Racing Death In Pacific Flight

Los Angeles, May 30 —(AP)— A Navy plane is racing death across the Pacific today.

A young mother of two children lay near death in a polio respirator at Los Angeles General Hospital while the Navy sped her husband toward the bedside from faraway Guam.

Mrs. Marion Kopytko, 30, was stricken with infantile paralysis a week ago in her Long Beach, Calif., home. At 10 p.m. PST, Saturday Chief Storekeeper William J. Kopytko, 37, left Guam, 5,000 miles away. He is due to hit the mainland, probably at San Francisco tonight or tomorrow.

Kopykto, who is due for retirement after 20 years naval service next November, has been in the Pacific 16 months. He has never seen his nine-months-old son.

Mrs. Kypytko's sister said that "we just know it will make a big difference in Marion's condition when Bill gets here."

All References To Bribery In Case Stricken

Richmond, Va., May 30—(AP)—Records in the income tax evasion case of W. Clay Counts, of Roanoke, show that all references to "bribery" were stricken from the proceedings on the basis of objections by defense counsel.

Counts was acquitted by a jury in federal district court on Tuesday, but an Associated Press story erroneously mentioned the word "bribes," in reporting the case. One report said:

"What ordinarily would have been a run-of-the-mine income tax case attracted national attention when it was brought out in Counts' first trial last February that he claimed the $15,000 he did not report was paid out to the late Senator Carter Glass in the form of bribes to secure war contracts."

Instead, the records show only that Counts maintained he made certain "political fund" payments. He thought they went to the late Senator Glass or his agents. At the trial, however, his attorney, James E. Palmer, brought out that payments to obtain contracts for fire fighting equipment were made to an imposter and that Senator Glass was entirely innocent.

Convict Third In Killing On Guam

Guam, May 30—(AP)—Sgt Robert W. Burns, 32, Spokane, Wash, today was convicted in the rape-slaying of Ruth Farnsworth and was sentenced to death.

Burns was the third of three Negro soldiers sentenced to die in the young San Francisco woman's killing last December 11.

The trial was in closed session befor an air force court martial.

The sentence is subject to review as are those of the other two Negroes tried previously—Pvt. Calvin Dennis of Frederick, Md., and his half brother, Herhman D. Dennis, Jr., Calvert, and Seguin, Tex.

Raise Number Of Dead In Tragedy

Manila, May 30—(AP)— Belated reports from Cebu today set the number of dead at 44 in the sinking last Wednesday of a coastal boat.

Originally 24 had been reported drowned. Fifty - five survivors reached shore.

The two-masted, motorized craft Providence, was believed to have struck the mast of a sunken Japanese ship off Bogo in northeast Cebu Island.

The names of thoroughbreds must be approved by the Jockey Club.

Court Of Awards Held Sunday For Girl Scouts

JANE ROBERSON

MAGNOLIA DUCKWORTH

SUDIE MAY SPAIN

JANICE ORMOND

Impressive exercises marked the Greenville Girl Scout Court of Awards at Memorial Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Girl Scouts and Brownies marched into the church while Mrs. H. R. Goodall played the "Processional." Rev. Richard E. Hardaway, the pastor, pronounced the benediction. Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, commissioner of the Greenville Girl Scout Council, paid tribute to the Girl Scout leaders and others.

Four Greenville Girl Scouts, Janice Ormond, Sudie May Spain, Jane Roberson and Magnolia Duckworth, were awarded Curved Bars, the highest award in Girl Scouting. The honor is equivalent to the Eagle Scout Badge in Boy Scouting.

Mrs. E. L. Henderson, executive secretary, presided over the meeting.

Attendance of parents and friends of Girl Scouting was gratifying, Mrs. Proctor said.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the awarding of certificates of merit to about a dozen Brownies and Girl Scouts by the Greenville Lions Club for their good work selling Tuberculosis Seals.

Awarding of badges was made by troop leaders to the following girls:

Richmond Voters OK Bond Issues

Rockingham, N. C., May 30—(AP)—Bond issues totaling $2,000,000 were approved by Richmond county voters Saturday.

The vote for a $1,750,000 issue for schools was: 3,266 for and 726 against; and for $250,000 in bonds for a county memorial hospital the vote was: 2,684 for and 621 against.

Shanghai Phone Service Resumed

San Francisco, May 30—(AP)—Overseas telephone services to Communist captured Shanghai was restored unexpectedly this morning.

Fred Hampson, Associated Press bureau chief in Shanghai, said no censorship by the Communist had been started as yet but that he expected it to start in a few days.

Reds Accumulate Debris And Equipment In Victory

Shanghai, May 30—(AP)— Many hundreds of vehicles and guns were destroyed near Woosung fortress during the final evacuation rush of Chinese nationalists.

Roads to the fortress are cluttered with charred wrecks. Red shells may have hit a few. But most were put to the torch by the retreating nationalists, many of whom later were captured.

Many belonged to hanghai civilians. They were sequestered by the nationalists in the last days of their defense of the great city. They were to be returned to their lawful owners, but apparently government troops used them to get away.

Likely the nationalists did not have enough ships to hold the fleeing troops and the equipment.

There is no way of estimating how many nationalist troops escaped the communists. It is now apparent that a small stream of troops left daily in the last weeks of Shanghai's defense.

Some of these troops were trained on Formosa. That indicates the nationalist garrison was reinforced from that island, likely to become the last bastion of nationalist defense.

The communists announced yesterday that "about 100,000" troops surrendered. Th eReds have the reputation of late of being pretty accurate in their war claims.

The communists undoubtedly made a big haul in equipment. As yet they have made no announcement of what they got. They still are tabulating it.

The changeover in a political sense is proceeding. In some departments it has been smooth. In others more difficult.

Most newspapers have been closed or have shut down voluntarily. Some are still publishing without interference.

Highways Jammed By Sightseers

Newton Grove, N. C., May 30—(AP) Highways in this area were jammed yesterday as thousands of Tar Heel motorists came to inspect the scene of Thursday's tornado.

Cpl. William O'Daniel of the State Highway patrol, who was assisted by about 15 other patrolmen in directing the drivers said the traffic was "worse than at any football game I've ever seen in North Carolina."

DEWEY WELCOMED

Berlin, May 30—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York was welcomed to Berlin today by Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy American military governor. Dewey and his wife arrived at Tempelhof airfield from Western Germany in an Army transport plane.

Strength FOR THE DAY

SAY 'THANKS" AND MEAN IT

The fifty-five men who drew up the Constitution of the United States gave us a charter of liberty for which we should always be thankful. Those men were just as imperfect as human beings always are. For the most part they represented the landed aristocracy, and they looked at life through glasses which had been colored by their social experiences.

There has been a widespread attempt by modern historians to discredit these men and to show that they were self-seeking champions of the status quo. This is an unjust criticism. They were men who saw life from the station to which they were born, but they had a deep appreciation of the value of human life as a whole.

Think of what it means to be an American, or a Britisher—to live as heirs of Magna Charta, the Bloodless Revolution, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States. It was unmerited good fortune which has put all of us in this vast area where human rights are first and liberty is guarded with the most jealous zeal.

So when we thank God for blessings, let us not forget to thank Him for these blessings which are the foundations upon which many other blessings rest.

NOT GOOD GOVENMENT, BUSINESS OR SENSE

(High Point Enterprise)

Passage of the $200,000,000 secondary road bond issue—upon which the citizens of North Carolina will vote June 4—is not justified by the facts.

Neither the grandiloquent arguments which have been used to promote the issue, nor the political high pressure which has been applied to force support, nor the shady tactics to which some of the proponents have resorted, can cover up the outstanding fact which stands as a barrir to our espousal of the bonds.

That fact is simply this: North Carolinians have been asked in 1949 to make available two hundred million dollars—by far the greatest amount Tar Heels have ever been asked to borrow — which by the government's own statement cannot be spent efficiently on the rural roads in less than four years, and it might take six.

It would not be either good business or good sense for you to go to the bank tomorrow and endorse a note —even for a son you held in high esteem—for money which he wouldn't need and couldn't use before 1953, '54 or '55. That wouldn't be smart at any time. It would be especially foolish in these times when the economic life of North Carolina is in a state of flux.

Yet that is what Governor Kerr Scott asks us to do—sign him a note, write him a check, for his administration to use over a period of at least four years.

And it is because the request is so preposterous that we don't believe it will be granted.

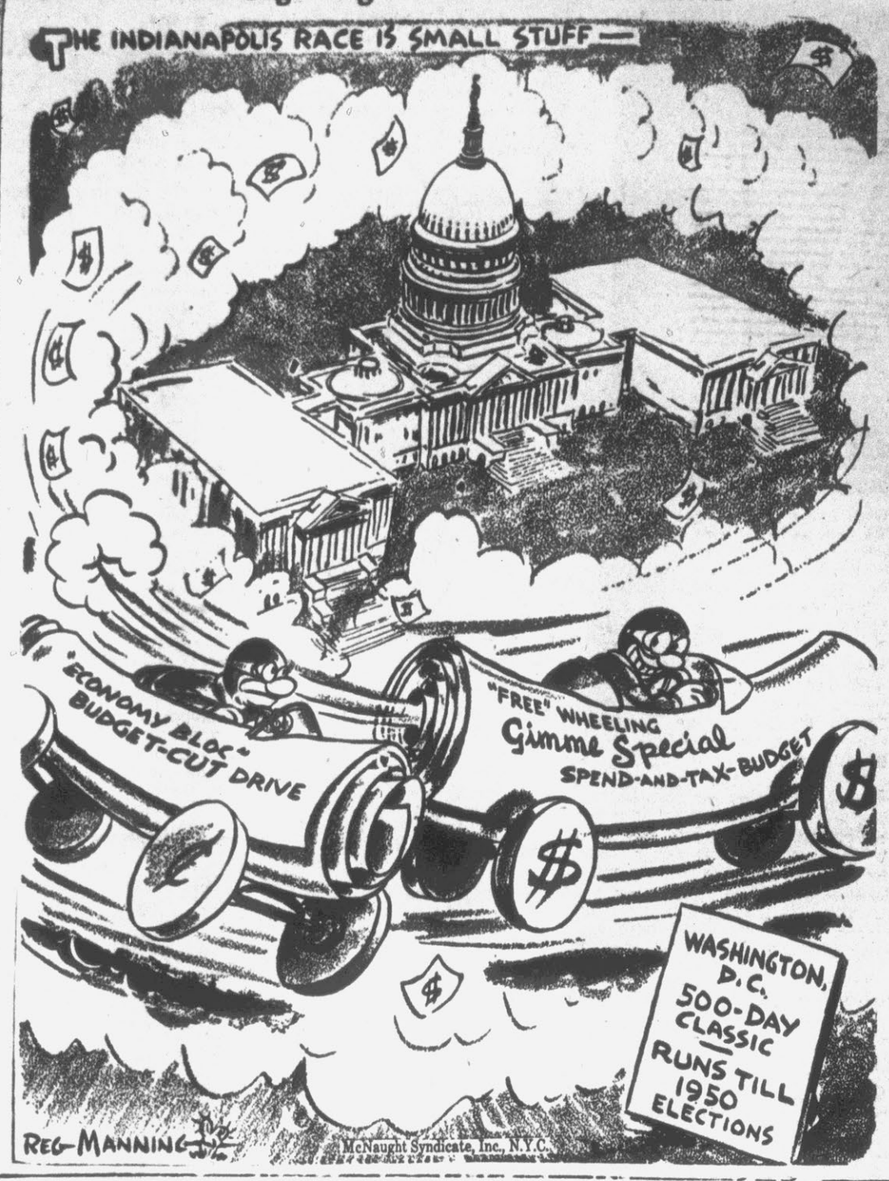

It was our desire to espouse a sound program for the development of the secondary roads of the state, for the surfacing of many dirt roads and the betterment of many other roads not now adequate to the needs of the state and its citizens. We believe that rural road improvement would be helpful not only to those who live on such roads but also to the cities, to business generally, and to industry. We would have gone along with an increase in the gasoline tax; we would have gone along with a $100,000,000 issue—though to vote that amount at one time for secondary roads only seemed rather too steep. But when Governor Scott insisted on a $200,000,000 issue — every cent of it to be spent on the secondary roads only, though he admitted it would take even his crowd at least four years to do it, we began to gag. As much as we would like to support a sound country road program, we cannot support any such economic absurdity as that.

The administration's tactics in promoting the bond issue to date have done nothing to make us like the proposition. Quite the contrary. Though the voters will on June 4 be voting on the combined proposition of a bond issue and an increase in the gasoline tax, the ballot will not mention the tax. That is nothing more or less than deliberate deceit. It's disgusting to see the government of North Carolina stoop to such cheap deception. And we haven't been too happy about the governor's other political tactics in behalf of his bonds—his apparent trade with the big truckers to give them an increased weight in return for their support of his bond bill; or his obvious use of his appointive power to buy support from influential men.

But these things we might have swallowed if the proposition was fundamentally sound. They are just side issues. The big barrier to support of the rural bond issue is that Governor Scott insisted on all or nothing, his way or no way, paved pig paths or no country road improvement at all. He demanded that the people be given only the choice between $200,000,000 in bonds or no bonds. He now asks that the voters endorse a note for all the money he can spend on secondary roads until after two more legislatures have come and gone.

And that just doesn't make sense.

Fighting For The Polls Position

Around Capitol Square

VOTERS — Favorite pasttime around capitol square is speculating on size of the vote to be cast in the bond election Saturday. Estimates range from 200,000 to more than 450,000, with majority opinion holding between 250 and 300 thousand. Opinion also prevails that an extremely light vote of less than 200,000 will defeat the bond issues, and a large vote of more than 350,000 will put them in serious jeopardy. Because most forecasts are for a small vote both sides are making frantic effort to get out as many voters as possible. Charges that the Better Schools and Roads, Inc., group is trying to hold down the total vote are not supported by evidence.

CRITERIA—Experience in several past elections would seem to indicate a vote of less than 300,000 next Saturday. That estimate is based on approximately one-third of the total vote cast for governor last fall and is reached by comparing results of other elections in which no personalities were involved. The general election vote for governor in 1948 was 780,525. On that same day the people passed upon four constitutional amendments with totals ranging from 484,321 down to 420,206.

COMPARISON — Picking other elections within the past 25 years it is found that in 1924 the vote for governor was 480,068, while in the same election proposal to issue bonds for ports development drew only 310,733 votes, and the veterans' loan bonds only 205,276. In 1936 there were 812,982 gubernatorial votes, while three constitutional amendments all dealing with tax increases ranged from 420,865 down to 395,415. In other words, the total votes on these issues were just about half the total for governor. (Incidentally, the ports bonds in 1924, the tax amendments in 1936 and in 1948 were all defeated by substantial margins.)

ATTRACTION—In each of those elections—one, 13 and 25 years ago—there were hotly contested races for president and considerable interest in governor, sheriffs and legislators to attract the vote. If only half the people who were already at the polls bothered to vote for the impersonal issues, it is not likely that more than a third of them would have taken the trouble to go to the voting places without the attraction of personalities.

CAMPAIGN — It is true that a more vigorous campaign has been waged on both sides of the current bond question than in the previous events. There is the added lure of specific benefits hoped to be derived from the bond issues. These factors may bring out a larger vote than the comparative statistics would indicate. Very few observers expect it to exceed 300,000.

MAIL—The "queer" mail arriving every day at the governor's office has elements of comedy and tragedy, humor and pathos. Charles Parker, private secretary, was checking through a two-day accumulation Saturday morning. One correspondent wants the governor to make his town board install a street light near his home. Another advises that "The World's Most Powerful Knowledge" has been offered for sale to the federal government for ten million dollars. That was addressed to the Governor of S. Carolina, Raleigh, S. C. Apparently Raleigh was better known to postal authorities than South Carolina. There was caustic criticism of one of the governor's recent appointments as "feeding the broken down aristocracy that has been kept up by the state for generations." One man, evidently ignorant but sincerely in distress charged the governor with dereliction for not forcing the industrial commission to pay a claim. Others offered the benefit of specially endowed divine wisdom—for a price—to aid the chief executive in his arduous task. A woman notary wrote that her "notorious public will run out next month" and wanted to know how to get it renewed.

With the exception of certain tropical honey wasps, all wasps feed on animal food—usually other insects.

Solution of Saturday's Puzzle

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The earth is a tomb for dead armies.

And very soon indeed it will smallow the last survisors of the American civil war.

Just how many no one knows. Life Magazine, after a nation-wide search, discovered a few unlisted by veterans' organizations or state and federal pension officials. It publishes in its current issue pictures of 30 Union and 38 Confederate survivors.

But before the issue was distributed one of the Union men—William MaGee, 102, of Los Angeles—was dead. Each month or so one here, another there, goes to join his spectral comrades in blue and gray.

It isn't particularly a tribute to Southern hardihood that there are more Confederate veterans alive. The South, drained of manpower, had to take its soldiers younger, including boy volunteers of ten.

It will be a tremendous event in American history when the last of these grizzled veterans passes, and the grisly civil war enters into legend. The earth will then hold in silence all of the 3,000,000 or more men who fought in the famous war of brother against brother.

It was probably history's first billion-dollar war. The price was heavy in terms of blood, but that bill was paid long ago. The bill in terms of dollars is still being paid.

The bill for the four-year fight cost the North alone $3,000,000,000, some 110,000 combat dead and 221,791 lives lost by disease. The North eventually also will have paid out an additional $8,000,000,000 in pension and compensation claims before the federal government officially closes its book on this fratricidal conflict. A year ago the veterans administration still had 16,372 civil war cases on its rolls, mostly dependents of veterans.

What did the war between the states cost the South? Woodrow Wilson, an eminent historian before he became a President, put its battle losses at 133,821 killed and wounded in an army of 900,000, less than half the force the North put into the field. Some 30,152 Confederates died in prison, largely of disease. An equal number of Union soldiers died in Southern prisons.

It is impossible, however, to estimate the monetary cost of the war to the South. Its industries were destroyed, its currency became worthless in rocketing inflation. For years it suffered under occupation by federal troops and Northern carpetbaggers. Defeated Germany had a far milder occupation after two world wars. There was no Marshall Plan for the American South.

Many Southerners feel their region was set back two generations as a result of the lost war and the subsequent military and political occupation. Ask such a man today what that war cost, and he'll say:

"The South is still paying the price."

The bitterness of the men who fought lived on in their sons. But in the grandsons, the great grandsons, and the great great grandsons—the bitterness is dying or is dead.

And the Memorial wreaths today aren't just for the dead of that long ago family fight. They are also for the dead of a reunited family that has fought and won three foreign wars.

The earlier scars are slowly being forgotten. We have deeper scars now to keep us together.

Buy Up Control Of Raleigh Bank

Raleigh, May 28—(AP)—A Raleigh investment banking firm has bought controlling stock in the Raleigh Industrial Bank.

Lloyd E. Canady, head of the investment firm bearing his name announced yesterday he has purchased the stock.

Somebody Told Me . . .

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Every year at this time graduation is in the air. Some students reek with joy because their studying days will soon be over. Others are sad because they realize that their happiest days are coming to an end.

And every year the Baccalaureate sermons are impressive. Last night was no exception; 92 Greenville High School students and a house full of parents and friends were on hand to hear the Rev. H. G. Haney's sermon to the class of 1949.

But last night's sermon was different from all the others in one respect. It had a touching conclusion that showed the real spirit of Americanism. The benediction was given in Spanish by the Rev. Arturo Andrade of the First Christian Church in Aguacalientes, Mexico.

The Rev. Andrade is in Greenville for the graduation of his son, Arturo Cuauhotemoc ("Pete" is his Greenville name), a member of GHS's class of 1949. "Pete" came here two years ago to complete his education in an American school. During his stay he has lived with the Rev. and Mrs. Haney.

Yesterday morning the Rev. Andrade addressed the combined adult department at the Eighth Street Christian Church. "Pete" stood beside his father and translated his Spanish words to English.

Without the translation the address would have been much slower, but still understandable, for the Rev. Andrade can speak English. He studied the language for eight months in Mexico under the direction of American missionaries.

After the sermon last night, the Rev. Andrade was rushed by Pete's teachers, who were anxious to let him know what a good student Pete has been. When introduced to Pete's English teacher, the Rev. said with a laugh, "I don't want to speak any English in front of you."

Pete stood by his father to help him interpret English when necessary. In two years Pete has learned to speak English very fluently.

Last year when he was still in the process of learning American expressions, Pete was playing touch football in the high school ravine one day. Among the other players was Rufus Stark, president of the GHS student body. Rufus is not exactly skinny, and Pete was quite aware of that fact.

Finally his curiosity got the best of him, so Pete asked, "Rrrrrrrufus, how many pounds on you?" It just goes to show you that it might not be necessary to learn idioms when you study a language. Pete certainly got the point across, and at the same time got a big laugh.

Pete's father says Greenville is a paradise. He is very appreciative for all Greenville has done for Pete, and he wants Greenville to know about it. "The culture of the people of Greenville is very good, and it is reflected in my son," he says.

Friday night at the ball game Leftfielder Pete Gillespie whopped the ball over the scoreboard, and the loudspeaker announced, "For hitting the home run Gillespie will be treated to a full-course dinner of his choice at Respess Barbecue Stand."

There was a Greenie fan in the stands who thought Art Mascarella, the pitcher who allowed only three hits that night, deserved as much or more credit than Gillespie, so he stood up and said "Art Mascarella will be treated to a full-course breakfast at my house in the morning."

And I thank you.

Husband Shoots Heiress, Young Couple And Self

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 30 — (AP) — An attractive 30-year-old heiress was shot to death early today by her estranged husband, who also killed a young married couple and then took his own life.

The heiress was Mrs. Frances Peppler, whose father left an estate of $500,000 when he died about ten years ago.

Her body, clad in nightclothes, was found in the driveway of her home in exclusive East Grand Rapids shortly after neighbors heard shots there.

Beside it lay the body of her 47-year-old husband, Richard R. Peppler, who had separated from his wife about a month ago. Near his body was a shotgun, apparently the death weapon.

Dr. Paul Bloxsom, Kent County coroner, said it was a case of murder and suicide.

Inside the house police found the bodies of Richard Sieswerda, 32, an Army veteran who was preparing to take his examination for the Michigan state bar, and his 30-year-old wife, Stella.

The Peppler's 18-month-old daughter, Frances Margaret, lay in her bed unharmed throughout her father's killing spree.

Mrs. Sieswerda was killed in her bed. Her husband's body lay crumpled at the bottom of a stairway at the end of a trail of blood leading from her bedroom.

There was evidence of a terrific struggle in the upper hall and stairway, and a 22-caliber pistol, loaded and cocked, had been dropped at the top of the stairs.

Police Chief Howard Coleman of East Grand Rapids theorized that Sieswerda might have grabbed the pistol after his wife was shot and tried to follow Peppler to the door, dying in the attempt.

As Sieswerda collapsed, officials said, Peppler followed his fleeing wife into the yard and shot her in the back. Then he shot himself through the chest.

A member of the East Grand Rapids force revealed after the shooting that Mrs. Peppler apparently had feared her husband and had asked for police protection. It was believed that the Sieswerda couple might have been staying with her for that purpose.

'Last Supper' Shown In Wax; On Display Here

Showing here for the rest of this week is "The Last Supper," a striking reproduction in wax of Leonardo Da Vinci's renowned painting. The original is in Milan, Italy, where it has been viewed for years by throngs of Europeans and visitors to the continent.

Sponsors of the exhibit here of the celebrated "Last Supper" is the Greenville Lion's club, which will devote the proceeds from the showing to the various activities and charities of this organization according to officials of the club which brought the wax figures to the city. Persons viewing the exhibit, which is on display at Five Points have praised the reproduction of Christ and His Disciples at the last supper of biblical times just prior to Christ's betrayal and crucifixion. Those who have seen the original painting in Milan have compared favorably H. N. Maxey's reproduction in wax. The figures are all life-size and wear the colorful garments of their time.

Only One In World

Mr. Maxey and his son, Edmond Reid Maxey, are from Owensboro, Ky., and spent more than a year in making the reproduction for the exhibit, which was completed in 1941. It has been on the road for two years. The figures were copied from a picture of the original painting, Mr. Maxey said. The exhibit showing here is the only one in the world on tour.

He said that the molding of wax figures is one of the oldest arts in the world, yet, unfortunately, it is becoming a lost art due to department stores, which are replacing the figures with composition and other material. Mr. Maxey likes to work with wax and he tells interesting stories of how a figure is built.

The wax figures now being exhibited here have been on display on the steel pier at Atlantic City where Mr. Maxey and his son have other attractions including wax figures of the presidents of the United States. All are life-size and wear the costumes of the day in which they served the country.

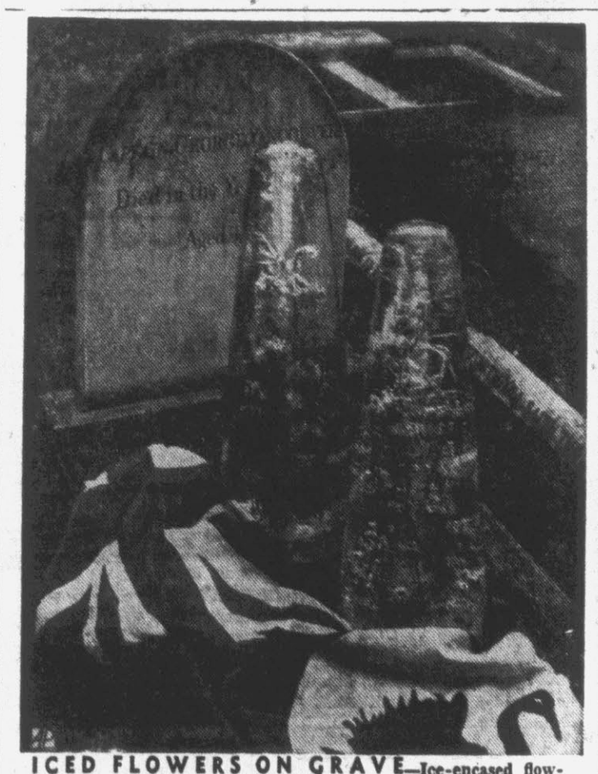

No admission is charged for a view of this exhibit, but each visitor is given an opportunity to leave a contribution as he leaves the especially-built trailer in which the exhibit is shown. The showing will close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening Lion's club officials stated.

Greenies Take 2-1 Setback Despite Acquiring 24 Runs

Defeated Jays Saturday By 12-10 But Drop Doubleheader To New Bern By Scores Of 10-4 And 10-8

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy Williams' Greenville Greenies scored a total of 24 runs in their three weekend games, but despite this fact were able to get only one win out of the three, defeating the Roanoke Rapids Jays over in Roanoke Rapids Saturday night by the close score of 12 to 10; and then coming back home before approximately 2,400 fans yesterday afternoon to drop a doubleheader to the New Bern Bears by the scores of 10 to 4 and 10 to 8.

Saturday's Game

The Greenville Greenies with the aid of nine miscues on the part of the Jays edged a 12 to 10 win over Manager Russ Meers and his boys Saturday night in Roanoke Rapids.

Greenville had a 12 to 5 lead as the game went into the ninth frame but were able to stave off a ninth inning rally by the Jays after they had rallied for five runs.

Greenville scored seven runs in the third frame on two hits, three errors aided by four walks, and the Jays fought back in the third to score three runs when Johnnie Bass homered over the left field wall with two mates aboard.

One run was added in the fifth frame on a walk, error and a hit and two more runs came in the seventh as the result of three hits and one error, and what proved their winning margin came in the eighth on one hit and three errors which gave the Greenies two runs.

Dewey Martling's homer accounted for the Jays' run in the sixth frame, and Milt Bolick's homer accounted for their tally in the seventh frame. The Jays fought back in the ninth for five runs—two short of knotting the count—on five hits, including Milt Bolick's second homer of the game.

Norman Clark, Jim Pollard and Pappy Williams shared the pitching honors with Clark getting the credit for the win. They were pounded for a total of 16 hits which included four homers and six doubles. Milt Bolick with two homers and a single, Al Warshburn with a single and two doubles, Johnnie Bass with a homer, double and a single, and Dewey Martling with a homer, a double and a single led the 16-hit attack off the two Greenie hurlers

Paul Strausser with a double and two singles and Charlie Chute with three singles accounted for half of the hits given up by the three Jays hurlers.

Score by innings:

	R	H	E
Greenville ... 007 010 220	12	12	1
R. Rapids 003 001 105	10	16	9

Clark, Pollard, Williams and Mauney; Rosenburg, Burgstrum, Brown and Martling.

Sunday's Games

The Greenville Greenies dropped a listless game to the New Bern Bears in the first game of the doubleheader by a score of 10 to 4. The game was played as part of a rained out game here on the night of May 10th which was rained out after two full innings had been played.

The Greenies went out in front 4 to 2 after five innings of play, but the Bears came back growling in the next three frames and scored two runs to knot the count at two all in the sixth frame and then came back in the seventh and eighth stanzas and put across three runs in each of the two frames.

The Bears' tying runs came in the sixth frame without benefit of a hit but as the result of two walks, an error, a balk by Pitcher Jim Lewey, and an infield out. Their winning runs came in the seventh when they scored three runs on two doubles, two singles, two walks and a stolen base. Their final three runs in the eighth frame came on three hits and three errors.

Roy Kennedy with three singles in five trips to the plate led the 11-hit attack off Lewey and Manager Pappy Williams, who pitched the final inning of the game.

Greenville collected seven hits off Red Derda, the Bears' hurler, all of which were singles and scattered among as many men.

The Bears came back in the second game to rally for two runs in the top of the ninth and defeat the Greenies 10-8, after they had gone out in front 8 to 3, before the Greenies knotted the count in the eighth frame, scoring five runs on five hits and two walks.

The Bears scored three runs in the initial stanza on a walk, double, two singles and a long outfield fly. They came back in the third and scored four more on one hit, three walks, a sacrifice and an error by Manager Pappy Williams which let in two of the four runs. A singleton was added in the fifth on a walk, infield out and Bill See's single.

Their winning runs in the ninth came when Wheeler reached first on a fielder's choice, Anthony tripled to bring him home and a fly to deep centerfield by Howard allowing Anthony to race home from third.

Manager Pappy Williams' homer over the leftfield wall with Chute aboard accounted for two runs in the second by the Greenies. Tepedino's single and an error by Paden who threw the ball wild trying to put out Gillespie resulted in Tepedino racing home from first.

Johnny Tepedino with four singles in five trips to the plate led the 12-hit attack off Bill See and Ted Weygant, the Bears' hurlers.

Joe Anthony with a triple, double and a single led the nine-hit attack off Junior Yohn and Garland Little, the Greenies' hurlers.

Art Houtteman was still on the critical list at Morrell Hospital in Lakeland, Fla., following the automobile accident which left him with a fractured skull and other injuries and threatened to end his career as a pitcher with the Detroit Tigers. The reporters were pressing Dr. Edgar Watson, Tiger physician, for some word as to how long Houtteman might be on the sidelines. The doctor was reluctant to make any prediction.

"I will say this," he said "Houtteman is one of the finest physical specimens I have ever seen. His youth and general excellent condition are in his favor. The length of the individual recovery period in a case like this is an individual matter. Usually, it takes two months."

On May 10th, two months to the day after the accident and Dr. Watson's statement he examined Houtteman and pronounced him fit enough to don a Tiger uniform and return to action. He assured the young hurler that he should be ready to take his regular turn on the mound before the end of May. Because the Detroit club had high hopes for Houtteman's rapid recovery, his name was not removed from the active player list, so he will be available as soon as he is physically ready to pitch.

New Track Speed Record Possible At Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 30—(AP)—Good racing weather, a pot of about $185,000 and a top quality field added up today to a probably new speed record in the 33rd annual international sweepstakes at Indianapolis Motor speedway.

Eleven of the 33 starters have never before competed in the 500-mile race. Seven others were starting their second grind on the two and one-half miles of brick and asphalt.

In spite of their respect for the youngsters' ability, track officials gave the hot rod and midget specialists a stern lecture yesterday. To emphasize their warnings they rolled out a couple of traveling cranes that will be used to jerk wrecks off the hazardous south turn.

Thirty-nine persons have died at the track—21 drivers, 11 mechanics and seven spectators, Twenty-six men have won one or more "500's" and nine of them have been killed in racing accidents.

Mauri Rose, only former winner in the starting field, will be the first four-time winner if he takes the trophy today. There is no legal betting on the race, but a few downtown gamblers installed the South Bend Engineer as their favorite at 2 1-2 to 1.

After Rose, the choice has Bill Holland, followed by Rex Mays. Duke Nalon, Jimmy Jackson, Johnny Parsons and George Connor in that order.

Parsons, the lone freshman driver among the favorites, set a qualifying record of 132.9 miles an hour for a four cylinder car. The only faster racer in the time trials was Nalon's $75,000 V-8 Novi Mobil special. It held the pole position on Nalon's qualification at 132.939 miles an hour.

Durham Retains N.C. Track Title

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 30—(AP)—Durham high is still supreme in North Carolina scholastic track circles.

The Bulldogs ran off with their fourth straight title here Saturday, piling up 50 1-2 points to 35 1-2 for runnerup Charlotte Central and 21 for High Point, the third place team.

Durham's Bobby Byrd ran a record mile in 4:31.6 while Raleigh's Wesley Ledford set a new 880 mark of 2:01.2.

Sunday Win For Paige May Mean Help For Tribe Staff

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will Satchell Paige, Cleveland's legendary Negro pitcher, prove another life-saver for the world champion Indians?

The ageless righthander indicated he might be a great help to Manager Lou Boudreau's injury-riddled pitching staff when he hurled a brilliant 2-1 11-inning victory yesterday over the Chicago White Sox.

Paige's performance nearly overshadowed the zany goings-on in the National League pennant race which today showed three teams—Brooklyn, New York and Boston—tied for first place, with Cincinnati only one game behind.

The victory of Paige, who is believed to be older than his record book age of 40, marked the first Sunday triumph of the season for Cleveland after eight losses. Chicago won the first game, 4-2.

Paige, who had made only one previous start because of a bothersome stomach, pitched seven-hit ball and struck out seven in registering his first triumph against two defeats.

The Tribe's winning run in the 11th resulted when Manager Boudreau, in a pinch hitting role, singled with the bases loaded.

Randy Gumpert scattered nine hits in the opener to post his fourth victory against three defeats. Bob Feller made his first appearance in nearly two weeks, pitching one and two thirds innings of relief. He allowed no runs and one hit while fanning two.

The top rung in the National League reached the suffocating point as Brooklyn edged out Boston 3-2, and the New ork Giants took a twin bill from the Phillies in Philadelphia, 4-2 and 3-0. All three now own identical 32-16 won and lost records.

Jackie Robinson's single off Warren Spahn with the bases loaded in the seventh drove in the tying and winning runs for Brooklyn.

Bobby Thomson was the big gun in the Giants' double-barrelled triumph. He smashed a two-run homer to break up a 15-inning battle in the opener and collected two singles and a triple in the nightcap as first-time starter Hank Behrman pitched a seven-inning one-hitter for the Giants.

The Reds lost an opportunity to make it a four-way tie for first when the Chicago Cubs whipped them 10-2 after Cincinnati won the first game of their doubleheader 4-1. The Cubs exploded for nine runs in the sixth to rout Herman Wehmeier.

Pittsburgh snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over Harry Brecheen and the Cards in St. Louis. The defeat ended a five-game winning streak for the Redbirds. The Pirates' home run threat, Ralph Kiner, boosted his average up to a league leading .370.

The Cards' Red Schoendienst ended his record 44-game errorless streak in the fourth inning after handling 268 consecutive chances over a two-season span.

The Philadelphia Athletics moved to within four and a half games of the American League leading Yankees, defeating New York, 3-1. The defeat snapped a six-game winning streak from the Bronx Bombers. Rookie Alex Kellner limited the Yanks to six hits for his sixth victory, half of them over New York. A two-run homer by Shortstop Eddie Joost off Bob Porterfield highlighted a three-run fifth inning.

Bespectacled Paul Calvert pitched the Washington Senators to a 10-4 victory over the Red Sox in Boston to drop Joe McCarthy's men into third place.

Detroit swept its three-game series with St. Louis, slamming three Brownie pitchers for 14 hits and a 6-4 victory. A home run by Hoot Evers with a mate aboard in the seventh broke up a 4-4 tie.

AWARDED MONOGRAM

Chapel Hill, May 30— A total of 104 athletes in six sports were awarded monograms at the annual awards night program held here last week. Among them, varsity swimming award to John S. Whichard, of Greenville.

House Of David Team Plays Here

Local baseball fans will have the opportunity of seeing the bearded House of David nine play an exhibition game against the Raleigh Tigers, last year's champions of the Negro American Association.

The game is scheduled for 8 p. m. in Guy Smith Stadium Tuesday night.

House of David teams have long enjoyed great popularity in their appearances in Greenville. In addition to being a group of competent atheletes, their unique appearance has been a drawing card wherever they have played.

Jeers Big-Time Football; Relaxing Of Code Voted

Atlanta, May 30—(AP)—James Lynah was plumb hoarse today from jeering.

He jeered annual football bowl games, He heaped scorn on coaches who shed crocodile tears on the shoulders of wealthy alumnus and the same alumnus who dig down for cash to help pay for football talent.

Lynah was panel chairman of the joint meeting of Southeastern, Southwest and Southern Conference representatives here Saturday. He came over from his Savannah home to defend the sanity code of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The former director of athletics at Cornell lambasted college football as "to big for its britches." Some of the more ardent football sponsors cringed as he warmed to his subject with:

"The rabid and hysterical urge for winning teams and candidates for the obnoxious bowl games have removed the fine old game of football from the realm of sport for sports sake."

The school officials listened patiently, then voted to recommend an amendment to the NCAA sanity code which would permit schools to furnish three free meals daily to athletes during the school year.

The code now prohibits money grants to students solely on their athletic ability. The suggested amendment will be sent to the NCAA for consideration at its January meeting in New York.

Lynah said the sanity code is too liberal as it stands now.

He objected to recruiting and subsidizing football players. Competent coaches, he said, could find good teams of native talent.

Chapter 3

When they had entered Cougar and were passing the stage station, Connie waved thanks and farewell to Jeff and continued to the blacksmith shop.

Connie sprang lightly to the ground. "Lost a wheel halfway to town. I didn't have a wrench, so I couldn't tighten it. Take care of it for me, will you, Lew? It's the right rear."

"Sure. How'd you get the wheel back on?"

"A man came along and helped me. Jeff Tyler. Know him?"

"Jeff? Sure. He's a cowman right down to his hocks and his stock is good. Drove it into the valley himself, too. All white-faces, and a couple of bulls your father'd be proud to own."

Connie said, "He was on his way to town to meet his brother."

"Uh-huh. Brother aims to open a law office and Jeff bought the old feed store and fixed it up for him."

Connie's gaze went to a one-story building across the street. Extending over the sidewalk was a sign which read Glenn Gleason, Attorney-at-Law.

"Gleason! If he's Jeff's brother, shouldn't his name be Tyler?"

"Foster-brother. The Tylers adopted him when he was eight. Jeff was sixteen. They educated him to a fare-you-well."

She got up. "I'll walk to the store and have the order put up. Hurry it along, Lew."

Cougar was wild and woolly, all right. As Connie started for the store she brushed elbows with bearded miners, tinhorn gamblers and demi-clad nesters, and expertly dodged several drunks.

Presently she passed a small neat building with an inconspicuous sign which proclaimed it the Miners and Merchants Bank. Her father had established it. His own risk, in such a lawless community, was great; but Jeb King was a public spirited man, and handling the gold which came from the gulch was a service he felt he owed to his fellow citizens.

The swinging doors of a saloon parted suddenly and a bearded man erupted from within. He glared at her from angry eyes, then switched his gaze to a passing miner.

"You seen Slug Benjamin?"

The man shook his head and the bearded one hurried across the street. She heard him mutter, "The dirty thief robbed me!"

From the far end of the street came a clatter of hoofs and Connie glanced in that direction to see half a dozen horsemen loping into town. She recognized Chuck Gale and his outfit and immediately experienced an uneasy feeling.

As she reached the store steps they pulled up at the rack outside and Chuck slipped to the ground. She had no excuse for avoiding him, so smiled pleasantly and said, "Hello, Chuck. I've got to give my order to Mr. Wolfanger. I'm 'way behind schedule." She smiled again and turned to the steps.

"You seen Slug Benjamin?"

The question halted her and she turned. The bearded miner was addressing his question to still another pedestrian.

The store was fairly well filled so she gave her order to Hank Wolfanger and told him she'd be around for it later, then went outside and started for the blacksmith shop.

She saw the bearded miner crossing the street toward a saloon on its far side.

A man stepped out of the entrance to a tent saloon and the street about him emptied as though he were afflicted with the plague.

The miner broke into a lumbering run. "You low down thief!" he shouted.

There was a flash of flame from the hip of the man on the far side of the street, then a terrifying whe-e-e! so close to Connie's left cheek that she felt the breeze of the bullet in its passage.

Connie felt herself snatched about the waist and thrown violently to the sidewalk, and even as she fell there was another booming shot and she heard again the rush of the slug through the air. Somehow she failed to hear the third shot, and she was dismayed when she saw the bearded miner fall forward on his face and roll to his side.

The marshal grabbed Slug Benjamin, who was protesting that he had shot in self defense.

"Self defense my eye!" roared the marshal. "One of you fellers fetch the doctor for Grubb. Come along, Slug." He started back toward the Town Hall with his prisoner.

Connie sat up and so did the man who had thrown her. Jeff Tyler's face wore the sad and humble expression of a hound dog that has been caught snitching a bone.

"I'm sorry, Miss King," he apologized, "but you were right in line."

"I guess I was excited. Gosh, I feel funny inside," she said.

When she glanced at him again he was intently watching the marshal and his prisoner, who were just passing on their way to the jail. There was a hint of puzzlement in his eyes.

"You know that man, don't you?" she said.

He started, then looked down at her. "No'm; but I've seen him somewhere before and not in Cougar."

"Here comes the stage now. And you'd better call me Connie. After all, we're neighbors."

He flashed that rare smile of his, then stood eagerly waiting as the stage rolled to a stop. The door opened and a young man alighted. Connie saw a fresh-complexioned face, clean shaven, blonde curly hair and neat attire. Then the two were shaking hands.

"Glenn, doggone you! You're looking like a million dollars!"

"Thanks, Jeff. Same to you."

"Connie, shake hands with my brother, Glenn Gleason. Glenn, this is Miss Connie King of the Crown ranch."

Glenn stared for a moment, then swept off his hat and bowed low over the fingers Connie gave him.

"This," he said, "is the nicest thing that could have happened. Your humble servant, Miss King."

Report 7 Dead In Road Accident

Wilmington, N.C., May 28—(AP)—Highway Patrolman J. L. Flowers said that seven persons were reported killed today in a wreck near Shallotte in Brunswick County. He said his office was notified that a bus and two cars collided.

Three patrolmen were immediately dispatched from here.

Flowers said his information was that seven bodies had been counted in the wreckage.

The queen wasps, sole members of communities who survive the winter, lay eggs in the spring which found new nests and form new generations.

Flags And Prayers Mark Day Of Remembrance Over Nation

By the Associated Press

Little American flags waved above the graves of the nation's war dead today—a Memorial Day dedicated to their memory and to the hope that peace may reign supreme.

In proclaiming the day of honor for "our heroic dead," President Truman said this is a fitting occasion when—

"The people of our nation x x x may appeal to Almighty God for help in turning the steps of the world to the paths of permanent peace."

By the Presidential proclamation, the hour beginning at 10 a.m. EST was set aside as a period for uniting in prayer.

At home and overseas, the graves of soldiers, sailors, Marines, airmen and Coast Guardsmen were eacn assigned an American flag. Wreaths and other tributes of flowers were in addition.

Speeches of gratitude for those who gave their lives were mixed with reminders that living Americans owe them the assurance that they did not die in vain.

"The account can be marked 'paid in full,' " said Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, "only when we can guarantee their wives, their sons and daughters a strong America free from the threat of another war. x x x Peace through strength must be our goal."

The other leaders of the military departments spoke similarly in their Memorial Day statements.

Gordon Gray, acting secretary of the army, said that while remembering the sacrifices of those who died for the ideals of America, "we must do everything in our power to further those ideals."

For the navy, Secretary Francis Matthews said: "We have no higher duty today in memory of the dead of our wars x x x than to pledge ourselves anew to keep the navy as always a worthy member with the army and air force of the unified defense team which helps to guarantee our security and the peace of the world."

Secretary of the Air Symington expressed the air force's tribute to those who died, and said honor goes to those who returned to work in peace as in war "to preserve our American heritage."

Bunche Sees No Impossible Bars

Nashville, Tenn., May 30—(AP)—Nothing is impossible for the Negro in America, the United Nations mediator for Palestine said today.

In an address at Fisk University commencement, Dr. Ralph H. Bunche predicted that the Negro will eventually attain complete equality in America.

"We Negroes," he said, "must be great realists. The road over which we must travel is clear, though the prospect may not be pleasant. We suffer crippling disadvantages because of our origin. But we are Americans, in a basically democratic American society x x x.

"While nothing is easy for the Negro in America, neither is anything impossible. Indeed, the entire history of the Negro in this country has been a history of continuous, relentless progress over these barriers.

"Like 'Old Man River,' the Negro keeps 'movin' along,' and if I know my people, the Negro will keep moving resolutely along until his goal of complete and unequivocal equality is attained."

Bunche was awarded the second honorary doctor of laws degree ever conferred by the university. The only other man so honored was Charles H. Houston, Washington attorney.

Fountain Police Charge Youth With Being Peeping Tom

Lonnie Jones, 16-year-old youth of near Fountain was arrested Saturday night about 11 o'clock and charged with trespassing and being a "Peeping Tom" on the premises of James Edwards in Fountain.

When authorities were called, Deputy Jasper L. Mills, and Detectives M. E. Corbett and S. Bowen Dorsey used the bloodhounds from the State Prison camp. The dogs took the trail on Edwards' premises and followed it to Jones' home, about two miles away.

The officers arrested him and locked him up in the Fountain jail

They quoted Jones as saying that he did go by Edwards house, but denied going into the yard.

Truman Labor Bill Slated For Early Senate Action

Washington, May 30—(AP)—Another Democratic Senator who once opposed any changes in the administration's labor bill came out today for a series of amendments.

Senator Withers (D-Ky) a member of the Senate Labor committee, predicted "tough sailing" for the bill of the amendments he has in mind are adopted.

The senate may start debating the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer this week, although the State Department is urging action first on ratification of the Atlantic Treaty.

Foes of the administration labor bill are claiming powerful support for a Republican-written substitute measure. The substitute, offered by GOP Senator Taft (Ohio) Donnell (Mo) and Smith (NJ) would make 28 changes in the Taft-Hartley law but preserve what the sponsors call the basic principles of the law.

The administration bill, on the other hand, would wipe the T-H measure off the books and replace it with a slightly revised version of the old Wagner act.

Compromise talk among some Truman Democrats in the Senate got a big push a month ago after the House shelved the administration measure and nearly passed a bill which would have kept most of the T-H law.

Prior to that development, Withers had joined with the seven other Democrats on the Senate labor committee in approving the administration bill without change. The Democratic majority refused to consider any of the amendments the five Republican members wanted to offer.

Swimming Pool To Open To Public Wednesday 2 p.m.

The municipal swimming pool will be open to the public Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock, and this schedule will continue until Friday, when the pool will be open daily from 9 to 12 o'clock, from 2 to 5 o'clock, and from 7 to 9. Admission fee is 9c for children under 12 years old; others, 15c per hour.

Manager Bill Kittrell said David Jones, Jack Aymette, professional swimmer from Kinston, and James Harvey Ward Jr. will be lifeguards, and "Dot" Wilson will be in charge of the baby pool.

Baccalaureate . . .

A dramatic and appealing feature of the baccalaureate sermon exercises was when Supt. June H. Rose recognized Rev. Dr. Arturo Andrada, pastor of a Disciples of Christ Church, in Agua Calientes Mexico, whose son, Arturo Cuauhdemoc Andrada, has been a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Haney in Greenville several years, while he attended Greenville High School, to graduate with this class, and asked him to pronounce the benediction.

Dr. Andrada felicitated those in the audience with a greeting and declaration that the people of Mexico appreciate the United States. The Mexican minister sai dthe benediction in Spanish. It was fervent. His son graduates with the class Thursday night.

The program included the procesional by the orchestra; a hymn by the congregation; responsive reading; invocation by Rev. Ralph Johnson, pastor of Pentecostal Holiness Church; response by the high school mixed chorus; a solo by Juanita stokes; "Hear My Prayer," by the girls' Glee Club, with Miss Ona Shindler directing; announcements by Supt. Rose; "Thy Word Is the Light" by the mixed chorus; benediction and the choral response.

Marshals were: Tommy Lupton chief; Marie Anne Scheller, Ray Sears, Carolyn Hines, Martha Gilbert, Catherine Smith, Mitchell Saleed, Harvey Bradshaw, Peggy Joyce Barrow and Anne Rae Waters.

Prepare To Deal With Red China

Washington, May 30—(AP)—The Administration is slowly swinging around to a policy of doing business with a Communist China.

A policy of restricted trade like that which governs American economic relations with Communist Eastern Europe is being worked out by the State Department to cover dealings with the Chinese.

This is based on two major restrictions:

1. No loans. What the Chinese buy from the United States they will have to pay for in cash or goods. No American aid supplies go to Communist areas.

2. No strategic materials. Goods which are now barred from trade with Russia and its European satellites because they might have military value are not to be sold to Communist China either.

Along with a trade policy built on these lines, the State Department is intensively studying the Chinese situation and its impact on general American foreign policy toward the Far East.

Officials believe it only a question of time until the Communists take over the whole huge territory of China. At some future point, perhaps several months off but possibly soon, the Communists are expected to proclaim formation of a new Chinese government.

This will raise the question of American recognition, and while no final decision has been made all indications are that this government eventually will recognize the new regime and establish diplomatic relations with it. Already American diplomats are in contact with local Communist authorities in key cities like Tientsin, Peiping and Nanking.

Seared Boy Is More Concerned About His Cow

Vernon, Tex., May 30—(AP)—Donnie Woodard was in a coma most of the time this morning. When he was rational he worried about his pet cow, Old Jersey.

"Don't let anyone else milk her," said the plucky 10-year-old farm boy to his father. 70 per cent of Donnie's body is covered by deep burns.

Doctors have expressed amazement that Donnie survives. They said most patients with so much of their skin burned die within six to twelve hours.

Donnie was weaker today than yesterday, but his fever was down to 100—a drop of one degree from yesterday.

An older brother accidentally threw a bucket of gasoline over Donnie 20 days ago while they were burning weeds.

Begged Mercy; Killed In Street

Atlantic City, N.J., May 30—(AP)—Police held a 43-year-old truck driver today on charges of shooting down and fatally wounding his wife while she knelt in the street begging for mercy.

Mrs. Gertrude Rhoda, 23 — red-haired singer and accordian player billed as "Rusty" Rhoda — died shortly after she was shot Saturday midnight outside an Atlantic City cafe.

Her husband, David Rhoda, told police she had been "downing his character and dunning his employers for money," Assistant Atlantic County Prosecutor David R. Brone said.

Attack Victim Is Said Improving

The condition of Mrs. Ethel Ward Jones, 35-year-old mother of two children, who, allegedly was raped and her body mutilated by four Beaufort county men, about 10 days ago, in woods near the Washington-Williamston highway, was reported to be improved today.

Warrants were served Saturday night on Elton Worthington, a painter A. C. Williams, a mechanic; Jesse Dudley, a sign painter, and James Ward, who live in or near Washington. They are being held in the county jail at Washington pending a preliminary hearing.

Sheriff Rumley quoted a physician at Tayloe hospital as saying that the victim of the mass assault may be released from the hospital this week.

Beaufort County Deputy Sheriffs Claude Selby and Philip Paul arrested the four men after extensive investigation.

Mrs. Jones was found the morning after the assault in a semi-conscious condition after she had crawled from the scenê of the assault to near a highway.

Satellites And Russia Offered Chance To Buy

Toronto, May 30—(AP)—A U. S. cabinet officer gave Russia and her satellites a broad hint today that they can get a chance to buy more of the U. S. goods they want—by changing their ways.

Secretary of commerce Sawyer said "no rigid formula" governs the 15-month-old policy of denying U. S. industrial goods as well as outright military materials to the Soviet bloc, and "the procedure is still flexible."

Admitting frankly that "we are utilizing export control to implement our foreign policy," the U. S. official added:

"It is clear that so far as possible we should, and we wish to, permit the free flow of trade between all parts of Europe and between all parts of Europe and the United States.

Reservists Back Up Unification

Asheville, N. C., May 30—(AP)—North Carolina's reserve officers' association believes in unification of the armed forces in a big way.

A glance at the list of officers elected by the reserve officers in annual session here yesterday shows all major services represented.

'Squeeze' . . .

placed folks being squeezed financially is the case of the famous Earl Mountbatten and his wife. Mountbatten, great grandson of Queen Victoria and thirteenth Viceroy of India, is one of the most notable figures in the British empire.

Recently the Countess Mountbatten asked the House of Lords to let her do what she wishes with the inheritance of 1,400,000 pound $5,600,000) which her grandfather Sir Ernest Cassel, left her. Under his will she can draw only the income from this sum and can't touch the capital. Only the House of Lords can alter the terms of the bequest.

Lady Mountbatten's lawyers explained that because of increased taxation the income of Lord and Lady Mountbatten had been reduced to one-ninth what it was when they were married. The lawyers added:

"This reduction has coincided with an ever increasing range of public duties which have involved them in heavy personal expenditures."

What has happened to the Mountbattens has happened to a host of others whose names aren't recorded in the hall of fame. England is leveling off.

Sight Wreckage Near Airport

Denton, Tex., May 30—The wreckage of a light plane which was caught in a thunder and lighting storm early yesterday was found today 2 1-2 miles Southwest of the Denton Municipal airport.

It was sighted from the air by a Civil Air Patrol search plane. Ground parties immediately set out for the site.

The CPA pilot—Lt. J. R. Odom, Jr., of Dallas—did not report seeing life in the wreckage. He said the plane was completely demolished.

Outsiders . . .

tried in the past and failed or they're outdated.

The Russians certainly want to win the good-will of the Germans but after a week in Paris they haven't offered one idea that would increase their popularity.

For example: They're still talking of getting $10,000,000,000 in reparations from Germany for the war. The west said that's too tough on the Germans.

In the conversations so far the west has looked like a friend of the Germans. The Russians are still talking of inflicting severe penalties on the Germans for the war.

Since it's unlikely the Russians came to the Paris talks without some cards up their sleeves, it's still to early to talk of the outcome.

Modern & Economical

Florence Electric Apartment Ranges save space and time. These new apartment ranges are the best and more popular because they have been tried and tested.

The really modern Electric Range is the new Florence ... with everything you want for clean, fast automatic cooking. Keep out of the kitchen! That's the way to cook today. Think of it ... you can put a roast in the oven, set the dial, forget it ... the oven cuts itself on and off automatically. Automatic cooking is the modern economical way to cook.

THE CAPTAIN'S COMPLIMENTS! THIS SHIP MUST REJOIN THE FLEET, BUT A PLANE WILL ARRIVE SHORTLY TO CARRY YOU BOTH BACK TO THE COAST!

WONDERFUL! THE SOONER WE GET TO SHORE THE SOONER I'LL SEE DAVID AGAIN!

WHILE WE'VE BEEN SAILING, I'VE BEEN PLANNING OUR WEDDING! I CAN BE A JUNE BRIDE! HOW DOES IT SOUND?! ... "MRS. DAVID LIVINGSTONE"!

HE'LL BE THE LUCKIEST DOCTOR IN THE MEDICAL CORPS!

YOU ONLY REMEMBER HIM HALF-CRAZED FROM WOUNDS AND PRIVATION, WITH THAT JUNGLE GROWN BEARD! BUT HE'S AT LEAST AS GOOD LOOKING AS YOU ARE, SCORCHY!

THANKS!... MAYBE YOU SHOULD BORROW THE CAPTAIN'S BINOCULARS!!!

HERE'S THE SKY CHARIOT THAT'S GOING TO TAKE YOU BACK TO SHORE, TO PARTIES, A WEDDING AND LIVING HAPPILY EVER AFTER!

IT CAN'T BE! IT IS! IT'S DAVID!!

TONI! IS THAT YOU!!

YOU DARLING! YOU FLEW OUT FROM SHORE JUST TO WELCOME ME BACK!!

WELL-LL NO, HONEY, I DIDN'T EVEN KNOW YOU WERE ABOARD, BUT WHAT LUCK!!

I WAS AFRAID I WASN'T GOING TO GET A CHANCE TO KISS YOU GOODBYE!

"GOODBYE"?! YOU MEAN "HELLO"!

BUT ... I'VE GOT TO STAY ABOARD, HONEY! I'VE BEEN ORDERED TO MAKE A HOSPITAL INSPECTION TOUR OF SOME ISLAND BASES!

B-BUT, DAVID, DARLING... ...OUR MARRIAGE! ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT ?!?

OUR JOBS AND OUR DUTY ARE BIGGER THAN EITHER OF US, HONEY! IT WON'T BE TOO LONG!!

ASPIRIN, TONI?

NO THANKS, SCORCHY! THAT WON'T HELP WHAT AILS ME!!

DAN, MAY I SPEAK TO YOU-- --ALONE--?

I THINK WE MIGHT ARRANGE THAT IF WAGS WOULD KINDLY LEAVE THE CABIN--!

I DIDN'T MEAN THAT--!-- IT'S JUST THAT I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE IT'S JUST THE THREE OF US, ALONE TOGETHER AGAIN--- IT'S PERFECT!-- KNOW WHAT I MEAN?--

OF COURSE I DO, DICKIE!-- IT'S JUST LIKE THE GOOD OLD DAYS!--

I'M GLAD WE GOT TH' GANG BACK ON LOLANDA STRAIGHTENED OUT AN' SETTLED, BUT NOW I'LL SETTLE FR STRAIGHTENIN' OURSELVES OUT--- ON DECK IN TH' SUN--- WHAT SAY?

GOT A BETTER IDEA--! --STRETCH OUR LEGS OUT ON THAT ISLAND TO PORT--- MAYBE FILL OUR TANKS WITH FRESH WATER!

GOLLY, DAN, LET'S STAKE OUT A CLAIM AS HER DISCOVERERS,--WE'RE TH' FIRST TA SET FOOT HERE, F'R SURE!

THE BLUNDERING FOOLS ARE MAKING A LANDING!-- --- I'LL HAVE TO DESTROY THEM!!!

WHAT TH'--?!

HI, SIR OAKY! HOW D'YA LIKE MY NEW ARMOR?

WELL--IT'S GOT A LOT OF GOOD POINTS...

--BUT I DON'T THINK IT'S VERY, ER--- EFFICIENT!

LET'S FIND OUT!

YOU MEAN YOU WANTA JOUST?

I'LL SAY I DO!

BUT YOU'RE CARRYING TOO MUCH WEIGHT FOR JOUSTING! YOU'LL GET HURT!

YOU'RE THE ONE THAT'LL GET HURT! I'M COMIN' AT YA!

ANOTHER THING--YOU CAN'T SEE MUCH OUTA THAT HELMET!

I CAN SEE GOOD ENOUGH TO MOW YOU DOWN!

HMPH! I WARNED HIM HE'D MISS!...

-- BUT HE WASN'T IN A MOOD TO SPLIT HAIRS!

A SYSTEM OF AIR NAVIGATION, CALLED OMNIRANGE, WILL PERMIT THE PILOT TO KNOW HIS EXACT POSITION ON THE MAP AT ALL TIMES WITHOUT FOLLOWING A BEAM.

WHAT'S THE NAVIGATOR'S REPORT ON OUR POSITION, COPE?

IN TWENTY-FIVE SECONDS WE'LL BE OVER THE THIRD APPLE TREE WEST OF THE POND IN THE LOWER TEN ACRES OF SILAS BROWN'S FARM TWO AND AN EIGHTH MILES SOUTH-SOUTHWEST OF THE TOWN OF WEST BULBUL.

GEORGE! I KNOW YOU'RE AN EXPERT PILOT, BUT YOU'RE NOT IN A PLANE NOW, REMEMBER?
