

Truman Repeats Wants Action On Whole Program

President Shelves Cross-Country Tour To Take Issues Before People

Washington, June 2—(AP)—President Truman repeated today that any "must" list for Congress should include his whole program. He also told a news conference he will stay in Washington without any extended vacation as long as Congress remains in session and perhaps longer.

He said the idea of a train trip across the country to take the issues to the people is on the shelf now, for use if necessary. He once talked of such a tour.

The President, in response to questions, agreed such a trip might not be necessary. It is definitely not in the works for October or November, he told another questioner.

How about next year? He smiled and said next year will take care of itself.

Asked if he and party leaders have added any more "musts" to the legislative agenda, the President replied the must list includes the recommendations in his three main messages to the state of the union, the budget and economic.

When a reporter said Congress is showing no sign of carrying out most of his program, the President admonished that no such conclusion can be reached until Congress has finished its work.

On other questions the President said he: Opposes any Export-Import Bank loan to Spain for purchase of American cotton and tobacco. He did not elaborate.

Has several women under consideration for diplomatic posts but is not ready to make any choices. Suppresses the question whether Curtis Calder, utilities executive, will be named secretary of the army in still open.

Will decide when the question reaches him whether to accept or reject any compromise bill on state or federal control of tide lands. House Speaker Rayburn has been working on such a proposal.

Will be unable to attend the Democratic party's farm conference at Des Moines June 19-21. Would not comment on Britain's release of Gerhart Eisler.

Report Chinese Leave Tsingtao To Red Forces

Nanking, June 2—(AP)—Several official sources said today Chinese nationalist army and navy forces were abandoning Tsingtao. The German built port was the last government holdout in North China. Only yesterday Chinese government news reports claimed a great "victory" there.

These same sources said the United States Navy definitely had abandoned Tsingtao as a base for the Western Pacific Fleet. A Shanghai U.S. Navy source said he had been out of touch with Tsingtao but that the report likely was true.

Tsingtao has been isolated on land by the communists for months.

Questions Loyalty Checks For 3,280

Hickenlooper Says Many Given Access To Secret Data Without Full Investigation; Guard Said To Have Police Record

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Capitol Hill's atomic investigation today brought stories (1) that 3,280 persons got access to secret data or work without full loyalty investigations, and (2) a guard in the missing uranium case had a police record.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), fierce critic of the Atomic Energy Commission, produced the figures on the number of persons cleared on atomic secrets without a full FBI check first on their loyalty. AEO Chairman David Lilienthal did not dispute the figures, but argued vigorously that the AEO was justified in granting these "emergency clearances."

Rep. Eiston (R-Ohio) extracted the story of the guard from Carroll Wilson, the commission's general manager, by a series of questions concerning a "hypothetical case."

Eiston asked Wilson to suppose a guard had been arrested in his past for grand larceny, didn't reveal this to the AEO, was put in charge of a vault containing uranium, and then something disappeared from the safe.

"You are referring to a situation at the Argonne National Laboratory," Wilson broke in. "We are submitting a whole report to the committee this afternoon."

Runaways Injured In Wreck On Highway

Young Trio Hitchhiking To Florida In Car As It Left Highway And Rolled Over; One Said Seriously Hurt

By CHESTER WALSH A car driven by Gene Ferdinand Kourta, 21-year-old Marine from Cherry Point, got out of control on the New-Bern-Greenville highway shortly after last midnight, left the highway and landed upside down between two trees, pinning one of the occupants beneath it and seriously injuring the driver.

Two other occupants escaped with minor injuries. The car was wrecked, a state highway patrolman said. He quoted the driver as saying that an oncoming car's bright lights blinded him.

Jack Little, 15-year-old runaway student from a Baltimore school, was pinned beneath the overturned car. His head resting against the base of a tree. He received a fractured skull and other injuries. He was partly conscious when rescued.

State Highway Patrol Cpl. John Laws said the Greenville Fire Department's rescue truck and a White Chevrolet Company wrecker and patrolmen and others rescued the prostrate youth.

The firemen, using equipment from the emergency truck, cut down one of the trees wedging the overturned car while a cable from the wrecker pulled on it. Patrolmen and firemen and others lifted the car by hand from over the injured boy and probably saved his life as the wrecker pulled it away.

Two other occupants, William J. (Continued on page twelve)

Coplon, Attorney Seeks Disclosure Of Evidence

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Judith Coplon's attorney promised today to fight for full courtroom disclosure of the papers found in Miss Coplon's purse the day she was arrested on espionage charges. The demand came from Defense cards out of his various suit pockets in such orderly fashion that he must have memorized where each card was.

He looks at each card, reads off the name of some official who worked for the AEC and quit or shifted jobs within the AEC, asks Lilienthal if he knew that man, what he thought of him.

Hickenlooper says these many shifts and changes all add up to bad management in the AEC. Lilienthal says it's not easy to get or keep qualified people.

He says "men find it very discouraging to have to spend as much time explaining what they have been doing, as they do in getting things done."

Act 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 40, etc: No one can predict how many acts there will be, how many days this will go on, or where it will end.

It's up to Hickenlooper to prove the charges he's made against Lilienthal. The latter has challenged him. This much seems certain: If Hickenlooper tries to prove bad management by showing mistakes

Economy-Minded Solons Silent On Vet Pension Bills

Applaud Committee Action In Lopping Funds But Mum On House Action

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Senators trying to get some steam behind an economy drive had little to say today about a veterans pension bill overwhelmingly approved by the House.

Instead the senators applauded action of their Appropriations Committee in whacking off nearly $13,000,000 cash from operating funds voted by the House for the State and Justice Departments.

The Senate Expenditures Committee, too, recalled Budget Bureau officials for testimony on plans to llop off from one to more than three billion dollars from President Truman's spending plans.

By a 365 to 27 roll call vote, the House quickly stamped approval yesterday on a $72-a-month pension to be given World War I and II veterans when they become 65 years old.

Budget officials estimate the pension measure—which drafts in to written law present pension regulations after liberalizing them—will require $65,000,000 over the next 30 years.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois told a reporter the pension measure is not on the Senate's legislative schedule now.

Lucas said the bill probably will go to the Senate Finance Committee which normally handles such matters. Its fate there is uncertain.

House To Decide Refugees' Quota Expected To Send Measure To Senate By Nightfall

Washington, June 2—(AP)—The House was called on today to decide whether more of Europe's stateless persons should be allowed to make their homes in the United States.

It expected to pass and send to the Senate by nightfall a bill to boost the recent displaced persons quota from 205,000 to 339,000.

This isn't as many as the administration wants, but in the eyes of some House Democrats and Republicans it is too many.

A "must" bill on the administration program, the legislation not only would raise the quotas in the 1948 act but would remove some of the restrictions which President Truman has criticized.

The President originally asked that 400,000 European refugees be allowed to come to the United States.

Heading the fight against the proposed increases are Reps. Gossett (D-Tex.), Bryson (D-SC), and Tackett (D-Ark.). All are members of the Judiciary Committee—which wrote the bill. They joined in a minority report calling the new proposal "a snare and a delusion" and "legislation born of false and misleading propaganda."

Chairman Celler (D-NY) indicated that he would be willing to compromise and allow 350,000 or 375,000 entrants.

There is no major difference of opinion over spreading out the entrants over a three-year period ending June 30, 1951.

Sheriff Hunts Clues In Killing

Sheriff George Hatcher of Wilkinson county, Georgia, (left), questions Tom Carswell who was in a cell with Caleb Hill, Jr., when the 28-year-old Negro was taken from jail at Irwinton, Ga., by two men and shot to death. Carswell said the men were strangers and he could not identify them. Hill had been lodged in jail after shooting at the sheriff following his arrest for a disturbance in a night spot at Irwinton. Seven Jurors, Including One Woman, Accepted For Duty

A total of seven jurors, six white men and one white woman, had been accepted by both the state and defense counsels in the trial of Lloyd Ray Daniels and Bennie Daniels when the court recessed for dinner at 1:15 today.

The trial of the two Negro youths, charged with first degree murder of a white taxi driver, went into its fourth day this morning as Judge Clawson L. Williams ordered members of a special venire of 150 examined in an effort to assemble a jury to hear the case.

Four jurors were selected yesterday before the regular 36-man panel drawn for this term of court was exhausted. Judge Williams ordered the special venire called, and 86 of the 150 persons whose names were drawn yesterday afternoon were summoned for court this morning.

The three jurors selected so far from the special venire are Mrs. C. L. Davenport, P. A. Taylor, and W. J. Harris. Jurors selected yesterday from the regular panel were Fred J. Broadwell, Alton Baker, J. J. Rasberry, and Poe Melton, Jr.

Travel Far And Long For Court

Officers Go Over 500 Miles To Summon New Venire

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson estimated today he and his deputies traveled approximately 500 miles in Pitt county between 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 3 o'clock this morning to issue summonses to members of the special venire called for the Daniels' case now being heard in Pitt Superior Court.

Summons were issued to 86 of the 150 persons whose names were drawn yesterday afternoon on a special venire ordered by Judge Clawson L. Williams. Judge Williams called for the special venire after only four jurors were accepted out of the regular panel of 36 men called for the murder trial. Of the 86 who were summoned last night 21 were women.

Although the four jury members accepted yesterday were not impaneled, Judge Williams ordered them put in the custody of an officer until the complete jury which will hear the case is dismissed. The judge excused the other 32 members of the regular panel who were not accepted for jury duty yesterday afternoon.

As the trial of Lloyd Ray Daniels and Bennie Daniels, Negro teenagers who are charged with the first degree murder of a white taxi driver, went into its fourth day, the examination of the special venire was being conducted in an effort to secure a jury to hear the case.

N. C. Industrial Increase Highest In Southland

Raleigh, June 2—(AP)—The increase in North Carolina's industrial establishments from 1939 to 1947 was the largest of any Southern state, the Department of Conservation and Development reported today.

The increase in this state of 2,162 new plants during that period was determined to be the largest in an analysis of the 1947 census of manufactures made by the Division of Commerce and Industry. Paul Kelly, assistant director of the N.C. Department of Conservation and Development, released the report.

The recent census, Kelly reported shows that North Carolina—with 5,320 manufacturing establishments—continues to occupy top position among all of nearby states in the total number of operating industrial plants.

Coal Contract Session With Lewis Is Resumed

Bluefield, W.Va., June 2—(AP)—The Southern Coal Producers Association today resumed contract talks with John L. Lewis with almost as much bargaining strength as ever.

Lewis had forced a week's delay in the start of negotiations, challenging the association's right to represent enough Southern operators to comply with the SCPA's own by-laws.

But Joseph E. Moody came back to the conferences today claiming to represent at least 100 million tons of soft coal production per year. The association was formed in 1941 to bargain for the Southern operators. Its by-laws required that any contract negotiated by its officers should be ratified by two-thirds of the board of directors.

That meant that nine of the board's 14 members should ratify any agreement which Lewis and Moody conceivably could negotiate.

Lewis took advantage of some defections last week to call for a one-week delay in the bargaining talks. He said the SCPA needed the time either to pull itself together or fall to pieces completely.

But Moody, fighting to get the contract talks started well in advance of the expiration of the 1948 agreement June 30, refused to admit

Chambers Called On To Tell Story In Trial Of Hiss

Admissability Of Spy Activities Doubted; May Prove 'Second Crime'

New York, June 2—(AP)—Whittaker Chambers, who claims Alger Hiss once aided a Soviet spy ring was recalled to the witness stand today to try to back up the government's perjury charges against the former State Department official.

Just how far the court will permit Chambers' testimony to range into the field of espionage was in doubt.

As attorneys sparred yesterday over whether spy activities are relevant to the perjury charge, Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman commented:

"I have grave doubts as to the admissability of such testimony." He said the question "is one of the most important points in the case."

Both the defense and prosecution said they would submit written arguments on the subject.

It was Chambers' story of a Soviet spy network, told to a congressional committee and later to a federal grand jury here, that led to the perjury charges against the 44-year-old Hiss.

Hiss is accused of lying when he denied before the grand jury that he ever turned over State Department secrets to Chambers, who styles himself a former Communist courier for the spy ring.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy contended that the alleged espionage and perjury charges are "inextricably bound up together."

"Is it not a simple rule of law that if, in proving one case, other crimes are proved, that is just unfortunate?" he asked.

"I assume from the tenor of your arguments," the judge said, "that the change will be made that Mr. Hiss was a Communist."

"That is correct," said Murphy. "I also assume x x x," the judge said, "that Mr. Chambers will testify that he met Mr. Hiss as a result of those activities."

Murphy said that was correct. "I am afraid we will get away from the real issue," Judge Kaufman said. "What you are intending to do, Mr. Murphy, is to supply a motive, not for the perjury which is the charge here, but for the espionage charge with which we are not concerned here."

The judge delayed a ruling.

Tot Is Credited Possible Saving Life Of Mother

Baltimore, June 2—(AP)—A four-year-old girl was credited today with possibly saving lives of herself and her mother who was trying too hard to reduce.

Mrs. Catherine Mulligan, 26, had lost 50 pounds recently by taking pills. Yesterday she took twice the recommended dose and fainted in her kitchen.

She fell alongside the gas stove on which she opened a burner but didn't have time to light.

Mrs. Mulligan's four-year-old daughter, Kitty, heard the fall and ran to the kitchen. Seeing her mother on the floor she began to scream and alertly began bathing her mother's face with a wet cloth.

Neighbors heard the child's screams and rushed to investigate. They called police and an ambulance, which took Mrs. Mulligan to a hospital where she was treated for shock.

"REDUCTIONS" Washington, June 2—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH), one of the leaders of the current economy drive, branded as "ridiculous" today a suggestion that Congressmen take a 5 per cent pay cut to help cut government costs.

Optimism Over Peace President Truman and Former Prime Minister Churchill Agree That Outlook For World Is Promising; Reason For Their Optimism; Still A Conflict Of Ideas

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

President Truman says he believes "We are closer to world peace now than at any time in the past three years."

Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill declares he has the growing hope "that we may avert forever the horrible vision of a third world war."

What justification is there for such optimism in view of the continued clashes between the Russians and the western democracies in Europe, and the sweeping victories of the Moscow-inspired communists in China? Has the gift of prophesy deserted these two distinguished statesmen?

I don't believe either of them has lost his cunning. There are plenty of signs that the dangers of World War have receded greatly in recent weeks. The chief reason is that the communist drive westward across Europe has been stopped by the power of the democracies' counter-offensive. Not only has it been stopped but it has very largely spent its force and is without the snags for recovery.

So much for Europe, which has represented the greatest immediate threat to the western world. But what of China, which houses close to a quarter of the world's population and is possessed of vast natural resources? Is there no danger in that situation?

China certainly does present grave dangers, but at this stage they are more ideological than military. It is quite in the cards that Russia, even though dominating that vast country politically, would find it a while elephant.

This is so because China, while potentially a great power, is backward and undeveloped. From the military aspect she not only wouldn't be any great asset to Russia, but on the contrary would involve heavy expenditures for development. Progress calls for mountainous efforts and great sums of money.

Putting China on her feet isn't a matter of years. It involves decades.

So at this juncture neither Europe nor the Orient hold threats of another world war in anything like the near future. Perhaps as Churchill

Ask Deportation Of Mrs. Eisler

New York, June 2—(AP)—Deportation of Mrs. Gerhart Eisler has been recommended by an immigration inspector, and her counsel sought today to get her freed from Ellis Island on bail pending departure.

Exit from the United States is exactly what the communist leader's wife desires. But she wants to go in her own way—voluntarily.

Attorney General Tom Clark says she can't do that.

Drama Of Atomic Age

Hickenlooper And Lilienthal Square Off Over Management Of Atomic Program; The Two Strategies Of Offense And Defense; Long Inquiry

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 2—(AP)—The time: The atomic age. The place: A huge room. The play: The first great indoor drama of the atom open to the public.

The scene: Blazing lights, whirling cameras, tense senators and congressmen, newsmen scribbling furiously, hundreds of the curious public neck-craning in the jam-packed room.

The stars: Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican, and David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission, facing each other stonily across a shining mahogany table.

The plot: Hickenlooper says Lilienthal "mismanaged" the nation's atom program, is unfit to run it. Lilienthal, "damn mad," denounces Hickenlooper for "snearing," says in effect: "prove what you say."

Prologue: Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat and chairman of the congressional committee hearing the case, says: "There'll be a 'fair opportunity . . . to throw a searchlight on the facts.'"

Curtain rises on act 1: Tipped Hickenlooper sets out to prove what he's said, fetches little cards out of his various suit pockets in such orderly fashion that he must have memorized where each card was.

He looks at each card, reads off the name of some official who worked for the AEC and quit or shifted jobs within the AEC, asks Lilienthal if he knew that man, what he thought of him.

Hickenlooper says these many shifts and changes all add up to bad management in the AEC. Lilienthal says it's not easy to get or keep qualified people.

He says "men find it very discouraging to have to spend as much time explaining what they have been doing, as they do in getting things done."

Act 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 40, etc: No one can predict how many acts there will be, how many days this will go on, or where it will end.

It's up to Hickenlooper to prove the charges he's made against Lilienthal. The latter has challenged him. This much seems certain: If Hickenlooper tries to prove bad management by showing mistakes

Survey of Reading At Training School

Some of us have been interested in finding out which books in the library of the Training School have been read most this year. We did some research to see how many titles each book of fiction had been more of the classics had been read some times than any other books. "Robinson Crusoe," "Treasure Island," "Little Women," and "Tom Sawyer" were the most popular. Our survey showed that the boys and girls like to read interesting biographies by authors like Augusta Stevenson, Mason and Monsell. Stories about Kit Carson, William Penn, and Dolly Madison were widely read.

Everybody from the first through the seventh grades likes to read animal stories, especially those about dogs and horses. "Lad, a Dog" by Terhune was the most popular book about dogs this year, while "Black Beauty" and "Smoky the Cowhorse" were winners in the horse race. Among the most popular books of fiction dealing with everyday people, "Adopted Jane," "The Good Master," and "Caddis Woodlawn" ranked high in the number of times read.

Mystery stories and books about sports would have been more popular if we had had more of them in the library. Those that we had were always in demand. From this report you probably will think that we are all book worms, but our spare time is so filled with other things to do that we don't have the time to read as many books as we would like to read. Dinah Porter and Virginia Smith, Seventh Grade.

Hedrick said the drop will result if farmers harvest the acreage indicated on March 1, and if yields per acre are near the average of recent years.

Lila Leeds Goes To Court Again In Traffic Case

Beverly Hills, Calif., June 2—(AP)—Lila Leeds, recently released with Robert Mitchum from jail after serving 60-day terms on marijuana conspiracy charges, was in court again. And Justice of the Peace Henry Draeger yesterday:

Sentenced her to 45 days in jail, suspended, as a result of a Sunset Boulevard traffic accident in a borrowed car.

Placed her on probation 18 months subject to loss of her freedom if she violates a traffic law during that time.

Ordered her to pay for damages to another car struck in the accident. Fined her $100.

Suspended her driver's license for 30 days.

Leaf Production Expected To Be Under 1948 Crop

Raleigh, N. C., June 2—(AP)—Tobacco farmers in this state are expected to produce less flue-cured tobacco this year than in 1948, W. F. Hedrick, state tobacco marketing specialist, reported yesterday. The drop in the flue-cured crop probably will occur despite an increase in acreage, Hedrick said. He explained that the yields per acre this year are not likely to equal last year's "exceptionally high yields" of

Nurses Welcome 'Fussy' Patient

Vernon, Tex., June 2 —(AP)—Donnie Woodard fussed at his nurses last night and they loved him for it. It meant he might have won his fight for life.

Last night was extremely critical for the ten-year-old farm boy burned over 70 per cent of his body. It was the last phase of a period doctors said could be a turning point in his grim, 22-day battle to survive third-degree burns.

"He's just as fine as could possibly be expected," said a hospital attendant shortly before midnight "He's fussing at his nurses—and that's a good indication he's feeling pretty good."

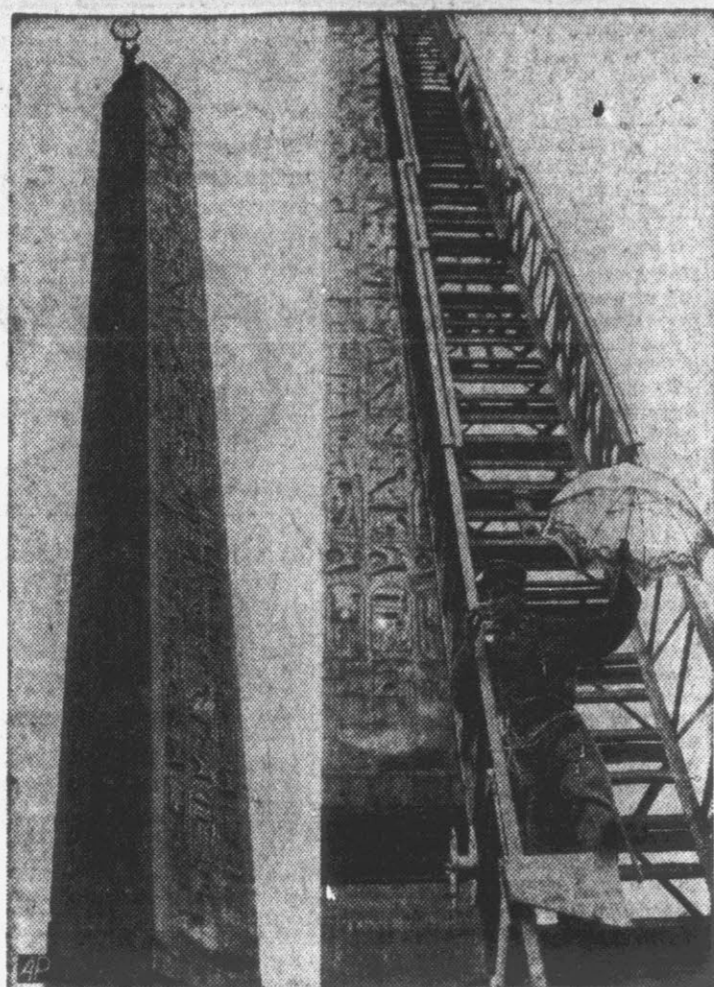

At one period yesterday Donnie sank fast. A quick blood transfusion snapped him out of the sinking spell and he seemed to improve.

The lad was burned on May 10 when an older brother accidentally threw a bucket of burning gasoline on him while the two were burning weeds.

Local Florists Meet, Organize

The majority of the florists in Greenville met at the home of Mrs. Marie B. Cox, of Cox Floral Service, Tuesday night to organize what will be known as "The Greenville Association of Allied Florists." The main object of this organization is to secure good will and cooperation among the florists, and to be able to serve you, our public, better and with fairer prices. Our slogan is: "Service, Fair Prices, and Cooperation."

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Marie B. Cox, of Cox Floral Service; first vice-president, W. Herman Nobles, of Nobles Florist; second vice-president, Graham Jefferson, of Simpson's Flowers; secretary, Vernon Tyson, of Tyson Flower Shop; treasurer, Mrs. Caleb C. Hunsycuit, of Greenville Floral Co.; and publicity chairman, Mrs. Graham Jefferson, of Simpson's Flowers. These officers will be installed at the next meeting.

Scott Predicts 3-2 Margin For Bonds Election

Wilmington, June 1—(AP)—Governor Scott said here today that the road and school bond issue will carry the state by a three to two margin and warned that Eastern counties stand to gain by developing the back country so that people can get to town to trade.

The state, he said, went to bat for the Ports Authority bill, and now it is time for New Hanover and adjoining counties to come to the aid of the state at large.

Birmingham, Ala., has a water way to the coastal port of Mobile.

Norfolk Outlaw Still At Large

Hamlet, June 2 —(AP)—James Diggs, 36-year-old Norfolk, Va., Negro wanted for the wounding of a Hamlet policeman, still was at large today with a price on his head and tagged as an outlaw.

Search efforts that turned to the Bennettsville, S.C., area yesterday proved fruitless. Early today there were no new leads on the whereabouts of the alleged triple killer who also is wanted in Norfolk on charges of slaying his wife and two children.

A widespread search has been pressed for Diggs since Tuesday morning. An alert for his arrest went out over a three-state area after he shot Rex A. Howell, 29 patrolman, in the mouth as the officer attempted to arrest him on the Norfolk charges.

Howell, unable to speak because of his wound, pencilled a note from his Hamlet hospital bed identifying Diggs as his assailant.

Magistrate proceedings outlawed the Negro, which in effect means he may be shot on sight if he fails to surrender when ordered. A $250 reward has been offered for his apprehension.

Claims Poll Tax Passing In South

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — The poll tax, long lynching, "is on its way out" in the South, Rep. Bryson (D-NC) told a House Administration subcommittee today.

But, Bryson added, the matter of eliminating the poll tax is one for the states alone to decide and is not a field for federal government intervention.

The committee is considering bills to prohibit imposition of poll taxes as a requisite for voting in elections for federal officers.

"By no stretch of the imagination," Bryson said, "can the poll tax in South Carolina be regarded as a deterrent to voting" because its payment is not required as a requisite to voting in primary elections.

Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) also opposed the bills on the ground they constituted an intrusion by the federal government into a field reserved by the Constitution to the states alone.

Alabama was the 36th state to join the union.

Strength FOR THE DAY

CITY OF TWELVE GATES
In his magnificent vision of things to come, Saint John in the Book of Revelation gives us a picture of the heavenly city, the consummation toward which the whole creation moves.

One of the most striking statements he makes is that this city has twelve gates. We wonder why there are twelve, or in fact why there is more than one. Practically every branch of the Christian Church insists that it alone points out the inevitable pathway of truth. So why the twelve gates to the Holy City? They all seem to lead right to the feet of God, and certainly we can imagine that on some distant day they all will be opened and that men will stream from all points to enter the twelve gates.

To hold such a position is not to maintain that all religions are equal, or that one religious interpretation is just as good as another. The Bible undoubtedly teaches us that no individual or any group of individuals has ever been able to comprehend the whole of divine truth. "We know in part and we prophesy in part, but when that which is perfect is come (when the twelve gates will be thrown open), then that which is in part shall be done away."

Let us rejoice in the pathway over which we proceed, but let us not regard with enmity those who walk along other pathways.

AN IMPORTANT DAY

Saturday is an important day for every voter of Pitt County and we urge you as a citizen and voter to do your duty by going to the polls to vote for or against the proposed bond issues.

There has been much discussion pro and con on both the school and road bond issues and by this time you must have given some serious thought to the matter.

Frankly we are in favor of the school bond issue because we feel that it is badly needed to aid our counties to more adequately provide school facilities for the children. On the other hand we are opposed to the road bond issue because we feel that with the money already in prospect, our highway department will have all the funds it can wisely spend during the next four years.

But whether or not you agree with us, we urge you to go to the polls and vote your convictions. Too often voters remain away from the polls with the result that a minority of our people are left to take final action on matters that affect all the people.

Voting is not only a privilege, but it is a solemn duty of citizenship, and we urge you not to shirk that duty Saturday June 4.

GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The first man who ever said that newspaper editorials would go over better in cartoon form than as a mass of print was laughed right out of the office in which he was trying to sell the idea. But you know only too well that one picture is worth at least ten thousand words.

No doubt "Blondie" is the first thing you read on this page, and to one Reg Manning's political cartoon comes second. It takes an awful lot of reading (mostly dull) to get the same information Reg gives in one picture.

At one time Wife Rachel and I were seeing four political cartoons daily, and we agreed the Reg was the best of the lot. And at 44 he has quite a few cartoons left in his ingenious head.

Originally the Manning cartoons were a feature of one newspaper, the Arizona Republic of Phoenix, but at the last counting they appeared in 85 leading dailies in the United States, plus 27 in Canada, and one in Italy.

Manning maintains his studios in Arizona—one in the Phoenix Republic and Gazette building, where he works the "day shift," and a second in his home, where he operates the "evening shift."

Reg's downtown office is lined with magazines and reference books, indexed back to 1899, files about them is not in hand. Greenville is in very fortunate, perhaps unique, position in this respect. Location of East Carolina Teachers College on adjacent campus to the Greenville high school makes available a number of certified teachers for part time duty. So the problem of filling in for absent regulars which is very difficult in some communities, is no problem at all for Greenville. And because of the system established there some years ago the matter of payment for substitutes is much simpler and more satisfactory than in most places. There are obvious advantages in maintaining absolute uniformity and equality for every school district, but there are also advantages in those districts which are more progressive moving ahead and proving feasibility of other practices which later may become statewide of clippings, pictures of almost every important world figure in various poses, and even one of his pretty secretary.

In 1919 Reg plunged into what he thought would be his life career, commercial art, which he soon found out was neither commercial nor art as far as he was concerned.

His first stab at cartooning consisted of a weekly full page of local current events for his newspaper, but he always had political cartooning in the back of his head. In fact, when his home was burned in 1919 a ten-year accumulation of political cartoons went up in flames.

Before Manning could sell his idea it was necessary to invent an argument with his editor. The editor maintained that in order to be a successful editorial artist a vast education of economics, civics and other branches of higher learning was necessary. Manning said that just plain horse sense and a lively pen would do the trick.

Reg said that if he could understand his own cartoons, anybody could, so he would have no trouble keeping them simple. There is no doubt that his success has come because of that one aim of his—to keep 'em simple.

And I thank you.

the highest castle as surely as it does the poorest workman in the lowest hovel. War and famine, these have been always with us, too, twin nightmares that ruin our long dream of peace and plenty.

The earth, our wonderland, renews its beauty. We aspire and pass, never to walk the same old path in the same old way again. But why should this fact be a ticket to despair?

I know of a millionaire who is deathly afraid of Communism and the atom bomb. He built himself a subterranean shelter and stocked it with food enough to last him and his family for years. Is that security? If it is, he doesn't feel it.

I know of a woman who also was afraid of the atom bomb. Figuring that New York would be a primary target in the event of another war, she bought a house in New Mexico. Then she learned it was near Los Alamos, a capital of American atom bomb secrets.

She moved back and bought a home in Long Island. No sooner was she settled in it than she discovered that in nearby Brookhaven was another government atomic power laboratory.

So she came to this conclusion: "To hell with the atom bomb. It is part of our living, so I'll face it." And she has. She hasn't found security. But she has found a finer formula: that you can't meet life by running away from it.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
Washington—The Society of Navy Sponsors, prominent ladies who have cracked bottles over the prow of new naval vessels, met in the Capitol and had tea with Mrs. Truman at Blair House.

There were some 200 women in the group, including Mrs. R. N. Somerville, of Cleveland, Miss., who founded the society back in 1907. She was then Miss Keith Fraser, daughter of a Tennessee senator, and a young Washington junior leaguer.

Also in town for the event were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who christened the aircraft carrier Yorktown; Miss Margaret Truman, who christened the battleship Missouri, and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who sponsored the Coolidge.

The society got started when Miss Fraser and Miss Mary Campbell of Washington got Navy Secretary Metcalf to help them round up all the women who had previously christened ships and incorporated them. The drive for members was given added impetus when President Theodore Roosevelt promised to throw a White House party for the group. White House parties have been on the agenda, ever since.

A young lady from Portsmouth, N. H., whose name none of the Society's members seems to know, was the first woman to christen a navy vessel. She sponsored the USS Concord back in 1828. Women have blessed many types of warships under many different circumstances since then—with a bottle of mineral water during prohibition, by unleashing beves of doves, with a bottle of liquid air as was done with the first aircraft carriers.

Mrs. Harry Benham, niece of Mrs. James Heim, Mrs. Truman's social secretary, christened the cruiser Benham, in New York harbor during a blackout in February 1942. Fortunately for Mrs. Benham a powerful spotlight flashed on the ship's prow just as she was ready to aim.

The custom of releasing beves of doves in sending a ship down the ways originated in Japan but was introduced here by Mrs. Henry W. B. Glover, then Miss Edith Gleborne, when she let loose three doves at the christening of the Chicago in 1885. Mrs. Herbert Hoover, christening the air cruiser Akron, let forth a flock of white pigeons.

Historic Church At Edenton Is Guffed By Fire

Edenton, N. C., June 2 (AP)—Historic St. Paul's Episcopal Church built here in 1836, was gutted by fire shortly after noon yesterday, the blaze of undetermined origin starting in the eaves of the church and spreading so rapidly that firemen and hundreds of townspeople were unable to halt the flames.

Only the brick walls remain standing. The altar, pews and some of the oak paneling which was removed when workmen began renovation of the church two weeks ago was saved.

The fire alarm was turned in by the wife of the fire chief who lives next door to the church. She saw the blaze and went to investigate and found a Negro workman carrying a bucket of water to put on the fire. By the time the three fire trucks had arrived, the fire fed by dry timbers and fanned by a brisk wind, had gained such headway that the firemen were unable to halt the flames.

The church was incorporated in 1701 and was first used as a worship house in 1760. Members of the church will meet Friday night to plan for rebuilding the church.

Fourteen Hurt In Midwest; Areas Hit By Twisters

Chicago, June 2 (AP)—Fourteen persons were injured and several farm homes were destroyed yesterday as tornadoes skipped over areas in four Midwest states.

The small twisters hit rural areas of southwestern Iowa, northwestern Missouri, northeastern Kansas and southeastern Nebraska. Eleven persons in the vicinity of Tarkio, Mo., were injured, while the twister which hit near Essex, Ia., injured a family of three.

The tornadic winds followed thunderstorms over Midwest states yesterday. The shower activity today was in parts of Iowa, northwest Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin.

Most of the country had fair weather and mild temperatures today. The country's top mark yesterday was 106 at Presidio, Tex.

Love Triangle In Plane Explosion

Manila, June 2 (AP)—A love triangle may have caused the mysterious explosion of a C-47 transport plane that killed 13 persons last month.

National Bureau of Investigation agents said they have information a woman and her lover had a time bomb placed aboard the plane to kill her husband.

Dispatches from Daei in South Luzon said the bureau was assembling the facts today.

The plane, a Philippine Air Lines transport, blew up in the air on May 7 after taking off from Daei for Manila.

Student Pilot Is Victim In Wreck

Hendersonville, June 2 (AP)—Ed Bridges, a 38-year-old student pilot of Kings Mountain, was found dead in the wreckage of his light plane atop Sugar Loaf Mountain last night.

Bridges, an automobile parts wholesaler, had been missing since Tuesday. A widespread air-land search was organized yesterday and the wreckage of the plane was sighted from the air.

Bridges, returning from Indianapolis alone, took off from the Hendersonville airport and was headed for Shelby where his brother, Paul Bridges, operates an airport.

Resignation By William Hodges

Raleigh, June 3—(AP)—State Commissioner of Insurance William P. Hodges handed in his resignation yesterday to Governor Scott.

Hodges, who has held the post seven years, asked the governor to make the resignation effective June 15. However, Scott said "I asked him not to make it any earlier than July 1."

Hodges would not divulge his plans, but it is understood he has accepted a job in Washington at a better salary.

As insurance commissioner, Hodges receives $7,500 a year. In 1953 the commissioner's salary will go up to $9,000.

Governor Scott will name Hodges' successor. Whoever is named will have to go up for reelection for the remainder of Hodges' term in the 1950 general election. Hodges' four years term runs to Jan. 1, 1953.

Hodges, 42, came under fire several months back when he permitted private insurance companies to raise their fire insurance rates on public schools 25 per cent without holding a public hearing.

His action was instrumental in the legislature passing an act enabling the state to become its own insurer of public schools. The State Board of Education expects to have its insurance division operating by the first of next month.

Hodges has been with the Department of Insurance since 1936 when he entered the office as chief deputy to the commissioner. When Commissioner Dan C. Boney died in September, 1942, Hodges was appointed by Governor Broughton to succeed him. He was reelected in 1944 and 1948.

Would-Be Suicide Changed His Mind In Middle Of Jump

Melbourne—(AP)—Sidney Charles Dyer, tired of life, dived from his Melbourne hotel window, 40 feet above the street. In the air he made a snap decision to live some more. Today he is still alive.

Dyer told police that when he felt himself falling through space, he wanted to keep on living. "I twisted in air and back-somersaulted on to a shop veranda next to the hotel," he said.

The fall knocked him unconscious, but he suffered only bruises. Dyer, 35, is an artist.

The turkey is the only native American representative of the pheasant family and once roamed wild over much of North America.

Claim Victory

London, June 1—(AP)—Greek guerrillas claimed a "major victory" today in the Grammos mountains.

The guerrillas radio said as a result of 11 hours fighting which ended near dawn Monday the key position of Patamata was captured, with 291 government troops killed and 177 taken prisoner.

Hero's Welcome

Berlin, June 3—(AP)—Communist fugitive Gerhart Eisler received a hero's welcome today in Soviet-occupied Leipzig, the Russian-licensed news agency Adn said.

The agency said he was greeted by Mayor Max Optes at a rally in the Old Market Square. The mayor described Eisler as "an upright fighter for peace, justice and freedom." Delegates to a communist-dominated Free German Youth Congress cheered.

Eisler will become a professor at Leipzig University. According to Adn, "the German students at Leipzig had most ardently awaited Eisler." The university is a center of communist influence in German education."

Order Returning In Bolivia Riots

La Paz, Bolivia, June 2—(AP)—Order appeared to be returning slowly today to riot-torn Bolivia, but her rich tin mines remained shut and sympathy strikes continued to spread.

Officials at the Patino mines said 40 persons were killed and 83 injured in the four days of bloody rioting which followed the mine strikes, called to protest "government pressure" on Bolivia's labor unions.

Violence abated yesterday as reports were received that the army had the situation under control.

Spreading sympathy strikes kept the situation unsettled.

Yesterday an estimated 8,000 organized factory workers walked off their jobs in La Paz. Later reports said the walkout had only been a partial success, however.

Prefers To Keep Second Spouse

New York, June 1—(AP)—Anthony Martino, once on a list of war dead, was quoted today as saying he prefers to stay with his blonde, wartime mate, rather than return to his legal wife.

Both his wife, who bore him two children before he entered the Army, and his blonde wartime sweetheart, who bore him a son after he mysteriously returned from overseas, have bid for his affection.

More Adults Are Victims Of Polio

New York, June 1—(AP)—The trend toward a higher proportion of poliomyelitis cases among adults continued during last year's widespread epidemic, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported today.

A survey based on cases from 22 states and the district of Columbia showed 17.8 per cent of 15,151 persons stricken in those areas were over 20 years of age. Basil O'Connor, President of the Foundation, said.

TIME TO USE COMMON SENSE

(Editorial From The Daily Reflector May 26)

Governor Scott is making much ado about the petroleum industry openly opposing his proposed $200,000,000 road bond issue on which the citizens of the state will vote June 4; and as a retaliation he is suggesting legislation that would place official state controls over the oil companies.

We have no brief for the oil companies and do not think it is up to us to fight their battles for them, but on the matter of voting the proposed bonds, we do not think the real issue should be covered up by a campaign of prejudice against those who feel it their right to oppose the matter.

If this type of campaign is to be the basis upon which the people are to decide the issue, we believe it would be well for them to investigate and consider the sources of the funds that are being spent in behalf of Governor Scott's proposal.

It is common talk that the major part of the funds for carrying on the campaign for the bond issue is coming from the road contractors in this state. It is further said that their participation in the campaign was at the insistence of Governor Scott who made clear that if the road builders did not "kick in" for the campaign the state would purchase its own machinery and do the road work itself if the bond issue carried.

All this indicates a political campaign rather than considering the merits of the proposed bond issue, and our people should want no part in it.

We hope that every one of our rural residents will consider the matter carefully rather than being stampeded into voting for something that in the end is going to bring them disappointment.

As we have said before in this column, we are not opposed to progress and we want to see every rural road in the state paved just as quickly as possible, but we do feel, after careful study, that under the huge bond issue plan only a small portion of the roads will be paved, and the rest of the rural residents will be left in the mud permanently.

If you are in doubt as to this matter, the best plan is to vote against it. If the bond plan is worthy we will have another chance at it in two years and not too much time will be lost. On the other hand, if it is bad, and we vote it now, the harm will be done and it will be too late to be sorry.

Ford And UAW Begin Delayed Contract Talks

Detroit, June 2—(AP)—The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers entered upon their strike-delayed 1949 contract talks today. Their negotiations, a little more than two weeks late in starting by the union's time-table, cover Ford's 106,000 production workers.

Many of the latter are still idle with Ford as yet unprepared to bring its whole working force back to the job after the union's 24-day speed-up strike.

However, Ford expects to be going full tilt again within a week or so.

The new contract talks will dwell on the UAW's proposals for company-financed $100-a-month pensions, health and life insurance programs, and an unspecified wage increase.

Volunteers Aid Indian Police

Volunteers, who generally are commanded by police officers, are given semi-military training. They are called upon in times of emergency when police strength is found to be inadequate.

The corps is open to members of all religious communities and political groups.

To Make A Fine Wilson Fryer Even Finer

Inexperienced beginner cooks can triumph right from the start when the chicken-frying is CERTIFIED or Farm Fresh for top quality by the Wilson experts. After thawing as directed on the carton, coat with flour blended with measured seasonings, then fry in a half inch of hot lard or shortening at a LOW, SLOW HEAT, taking care to avoid crowding in the skillet. Cook golden crisp until the pinkish tinge is gone even from the meatiest areas and clear in to the bone. You'll find this de luxe fried chicken is perfection in eating for American appetites the year 'round. In fact nothing's better.

Fried Chicken To Make Eyes Shine and Mouths Water

For frying, choose a superior chicken of select size and quality—one that is plump, young and tender. We took a whole marketing course to learn how to do this, but we know an easier, surer way—just let that Wilson Certified or Farm Fresh label protect your table and you'll HAVE de luxe chicken.

TENDER CRISP FRIED CHICKEN EVERY TIME

These are directed on carton and separate into pieces for frying:

- 1 Wilson's Certified or Farm Fresh chicken
- Simmer the giblets, heart and neck until tender in seasoned water to cover. Meanwhile shake 2 or 3 pieces of chicken at a time in a paper bag with the measured flour plus seasonings—using per pound of chicken to be fried:
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1 teaspoon paprika, for rich color in browning
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Save any leftover flour for gravy. Heat up a large, heavy skillet, adding fat to a depth of 1/2 inch. In a 9-inch skillet this will take:
 - 1/2 cup of Wilson's Laurel Leaf Brand Lard or Bake-Rite®
- When fat is sizzling but not smoking hot, brown the floured pieces slowly over LOW heat being careful to leave room for the hot fat to cook up on the sides of the meat. Use two skillets rather than crowd. Start the larger meaty pieces cooking first. They will take 25 to 30 minutes, while the smaller pieces will cook in 20 minutes and the raw liver and summered, drained giblets® take about 5 minutes.
- Some cooks prefer to use part Wilson's Clearbrook Butter with the fat—use 1/4 to 1/2. The butter adds flavor while the shortening insures crispness. Other cooks like the addition of a bag leaf and a pinch of curry powder to the fat for aroma and flavor.
- Soak the giblets and neck may be cut up into the gravy.

England Studies Population Hike; Tight Little Isle Getting Tighter

London—(AP)—Move over, grandpa. This "tight little isle" is getting more crowded every year.

And it's mostly the old folks who are taking up the space. The "65 and over" group make up 10.5 per cent of the population, as compared with only 7.4 per cent in 1921.

Government officials say the trend seem to be toward a population boost of about one million every five years. The total population of the United Kingdom—which takes in England, Wales, Scotland and northern Ireland—is estimated to have been 50,033,000 as of June, 1948 the latest figure available.

Officials say the population increased by over a million since 1944, by the million since 1939, by six million since 1921, and by about 40 million—or over 300 per cent—since 1800.

"Though the birth rate rose sharply after 1941, many births were postponed until after the war. To them, the high rates of the postwar years are largely due. Until the war disturbance has died away, it will be impossible to form any opinion as to the likely future trend of the birth rate," an official statement says.

It also says migration is not a major factor in the population trend in the United Kingdom.

An Eventful Day Even For O'Brien

Hollywood, June 2—(AP)—A lot happened to Margaret O'Brien one day, even for a movie star.

This is what happened yesterday: 1. Her mother announced that she would try to annul her marriage to orchestra leader Don Sylvio, the marriage that made the 12-year-old Margaret very unhappy.

2. Margaret stepped out of her $3,000-a-week job at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by mutual agreement.

3. She had an offer to play "Peter Pan" on Broadway.

Mrs. Gladys O'Brien Sylvio said that Margaret is "very happy about the annulment I am planning to ask but I do want to make it clear she had nothing—absolutely nothing—to do with it."

She added she had never lived with Sylvio as man and wife since the wedding last Feb. 22 in Palm Beach, Fla.

Sylvio disavowed. "An annulment?" he said. "why that's ridiculous. There was no fraud in our marriage and the marriage was consummated x x x as late as last Monday night."

As to Margaret's role in the annulment plan, Sylvio commented: "If I could discuss that it would

No More Spuds

No more orders will be taken for Irish potatoes to be used for livestock feed, it was announced today by Wyatt Highsmith, head of the Pitt County Production Marketing Administration office.

A telegram received from G. T. Scott, state PMA director, yesterday afternoon informed the local office that no additional orders for the potatoes are to be taken. Pitt County farmers during the past three weeks have ordered a total of 72 carloads of the surplus potatoes at the price of one cent per bag.

make quite a story, believe me. If Gladys insists on filing the suit I'll issue a statement that should be interesting reading."

Margaret cried and clenched her fists throughout the wedding and refused to kiss her new stepfather for the benefit of photographers.

The rites had been postponed several times previously, reportedly because of the child star's rantings.

Greenies Take 12-1 Victory To Humble Goldsboro Club

Locals Get Big Assist in 17 Walks; Added Seven Precious Hits To Give Yohn One-Sided Pitching Triumph

By BERT MOYE
Manager Pappy Williams' Greenville Greenies took advantage of 17 walks issued by two Goldsboro hurlers here last night and collected seven hits which converted into a dozen runs to defeat the Goldbugs 12 to 1 for the fourth time this season.

The Greenies scored two runs in the second inning, enough to win the game without a base hit. Three walks, two sacrifices, and a hit batsman accounted for the tallies.

In the third and fourth frames the Greenies scored four runs in each stanza with the help of only three singles. However, during these two frames the Greenies received nine free passes to first, were aided by two wild pitches, and two stolen bases and two errors. Their final tally of the game came in the eighth on two singles and a double steal.

The Bugs were saved from a shut-out by scoring a lone tally in the sixth frame when they bunched together three of their total six hits to produce the tally.

Junior Yohn went the route for the Greenies and scattered six hits effectively and only got into hot water during the seventh frame when the Bugs bunched their three hits for a tally. He issued only two free passes to first and struck out a total of seven men. Chuck Sedor with two singles in four trips to the plate was the only Bug able to gather in more than one hit for the visitors.

Stan Spitzer started on the mound for the Bugs and was yanked in the fourth frame after allowing four hits, nine runs, nine walks and striking out one. He was credited with the loss, his third of the season as against one win. Cy Boxer finished the game and allowed three runs, walked 8, and struck out four Greenies.

Steve Denier with two singles in four trips to the plate was the only Greenie able to garner more than one hit off the offerings of Spitzer and Boxer.

The Greenies travel to Goldsboro tonight to play a return game with the Bugs and then on Friday night will meet the New Bern Bears here in the first of a two-game series between the two clubs.

Red Webb Stars In Relief Chore

New York, June 2—(AP)—Sam (Red) Webb has joined Dave Koslo as a likely candidate to crash the New York Giants' mound "big four" of Larry Jansen, Sheldon Jones, Clint Hartung and Monte Kennedy.

The bespectacled rookie right-hander, a starter during his 2-year minor league apprenticeship came up with a glittering relief chore yesterday against Chicago.

The Tacoma Park, Md., citizen granted only two singles in seven and one-third innings and received credit for the Giant's 11-5 triumph. In addition to his excellent pitching, Webb started a three run Giant rally with a single and helped keep alive a game-winning seven-run seventh inning uprising with another one-bagger.

The 24-year-old recruit came up to the Giants at the tail-end of the 1948 season after winning 18 games for Jersey City of the International League.

Webb made his first major league start against the Cubs in a night game at the Polo grounds on Sept. 21. He had the Cubs blanked 1-0 going into the ninth when Andy Patko ruined his bid with a three-run homer.

Sugar Ray Puts Crown On Line Against Gavilan

Philadelphia, June 2—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, possessor of one of the ring's greatest records, puts his welterweight crown on the line for the first time in a year at Philadelphia's Municipal stadium July 11.

The 147-pound champion and Cuba's Kid Gavilan yesterday fixed their signatures to a contract calling for 15 rounds or less under the promotion of the Philadelphia arena Inc.

A title engagement had been sought between Robinson and Gavilan ever since the champion nosed out the scrapping Cuban in a 10-round non-title affair in New York last summer.

Elsewhere on this page is carried a story on the CPL directors' meeting held here yesterday in which action was taken by the directors to try and boost attendance and steps were taken to abolish the broadcasting of baseball games in the league parks for a 30-day period to see if the trouble lay in the radio broadcasts. However, this does not seem to be the proper solution to the question by your columnist. The fans do not like the league as well since they cut the classifications down and reduced the number of class men and limited service men. There are too many rookie players on each club to give the fans the kind of baseball they want, and so instead of helping the league as the league directors claimed they would be doing, they have definitely hurt it. Even the winning clubs have found interest to be lower than it should be, and it can be laid in the laps of the league directors. A return to more liberal classifications should take place next winter if they want to bring attendance back up to where it should be.

Mourn Loss Of California Star

Berkeley, Calif., June 2—(AP)—They're hanging black crepe here today for Jack Jensen.

Some 40 or 50 Berkeley stores are decorating in black because the football and baseball star won't be playing with University of California any more. He had another year of eligibility but is now wearing the uniform of the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast baseball league.

Tonight's Games

Greenville at Goldsboro
Kinston at Roanoke Rapids
Rocky Mount at New Bern
Wilson at Tarboro

Sideights:—Greenville's win over the Bugs was their fourth this season as against three losses. . . . The win was the eleventh game at home the Greenies have won this season; eight contests have been won away from home, while nine have been lost at home and thirteen away from home thus far. . . . The Greenies had a total of 14 men stranded on bases in last night's contest, the bugs had 7. . . . The win put the Greenies in full possession of fifth place and two full games behind the fourth place Kinston Eagles. . . . Yohn now has a record of two wins and two losses thus far this season, having lost to New Bern and Wilson and winning from Roanoke Rapids and Goldsboro.

Garland Little, who at the present time has a record of one win and four reverses, has been given his release by the Greenville Baseball Club. Little was with the club last season and developed a sore arm and did not see much action. He was one of the hold-overs from last year's team. With the release of Little only two men from last year's squad are now with the Greenies—Bob Cohen and Junior Yohn.

The Yankees and Bob Feller of Cleveland can start all over again. After the Bombers' 10-0 win in Yankee Stadium, 6-0, May 18, Rapid Robert stood all square with them during his career—23 wins and 23 losses.

Montia Kennedy of the Giants, in letting the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 5 to 0 shut-out May 20, became the first pitcher to stop the Rhinelanders without an extra-base blow in a game this season.

La Motta's Iron Jaw Has Cerdan Camp Concerned

Loch Sheldrake, N. Y., June 2—(AP)—Jake La Motta's inviting cast iron jaw is one of the things the boys in Marcel Cerdan's camp are worrying about today.

They're not taking the Bronx Bull lightly up here in the Catskill Mountain camp of the middle-weight champion.

"La Motta never thought he'd ever get a shot at a title," said Sammy Richman, one of Cerdan's American representatives. "Now that he's getting his chance at last he's going to be mighty tough."

The swarthy, dark-haired Frenchman is taking no chances. He already is a half pound under the division's weight limit of 160 for his first defense of the crown he tore from the battered brow of Tony Zale in Jersey City last September.

Cerdan and the Bronx challenger are slated to go 15 rounds in Detroit's Briggs Stadium, June 15.

And the Casablanca cloutier is getting ready to go the distance. He's got 13 days to go and is almost ready to answer the bell now.

"La Motta is wide open all right," said Jo Longman, Cerdan's Parisian manager, "but he's very strong. Marcel is going to be groomed to go all the way. He always is."

"With La Motta so easy to hit the temptation to fire away is going to be very powerful," Longman said. "It's going to be a question of pace. La Motta gives you so many openings that Marcel will have to be careful not to exhaust himself punching at that iron chin La Motta has won a lot of fights by letting the other fellow tire himself out."

Marcel who understands English better than he can speak it, nodded in agreement.

CPL Directors Talk Player Problems And Broadcasting

By BERT MOYE
A called meeting of the club directors, managers and umpires of the Coastal Plain League was held here yesterday afternoon in the Greenville Municipal Building with President Ray H. Goodman presiding.

The meeting was called by the league president in an effort to bring about more harmony among the various teams in the league and the umpires, and to do away with profanity among ball players on the field and in the dugouts.

Prior to the start of the meeting, the club directors went into executive session, and discussed at length the attendance situation. Believing that the broadcasting of the games is hurting attendance, the league directors took a vote to decide whether to prohibit broadcasting of games for a 30-day trial period to see whether or not the broadcasting of the games hurt the attendance.

The rule as it now stands allows a visiting radio station to enter the park and broadcast games back home, and gives authority to the local club to prohibit broadcast of local games to the local radio station.

After much argument the directors took a vote to do away with broadcasting in its entirety by the various radio stations, and four directors voted in favor of abolishing broadcasting games altogether.

Bruce Woodcock And Freddie Mills Fight Tonight; Savold Is Big Prize

London, June 2—(AP)—Bruce Woodcock and Freddie Mills meet in a 15-round bout tonight which should reveal just what Britain has to offer as a candidate for the vacant world heavyweight crown.

The winner is slated to fight Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J. here Sept. 6 in what promoter Jack Solomons is advertising as a bout for the world light-heavy title from Gus Lesnevick of Cliffside, N. J., last July 28.

Woodcock's European, British and Empire heavyweight titles also are at stake tonight but they rate only secondary importance.

Mills, should he win, will have almost as many titles as the house of Lords. The 29-year-old veteran of carnival boxing rings already holds four—the world, European, British and Empire light-heavy crowns. None of his titles can be lost tonight as both fighters are appearing as heavyweights.

A sellout crowd of 46,000 fans, paying from $2 to $42, are to see the bout in White City Stadium. This is the site where Mills lifted the world light-heavy title from Gus Lesnevick of Cliffside, N. J., last July 28.

Woodcock since September has defeated Savold and his fellow American, Lee Ova, as well as South African Johnny Ralph.

Both Mills and Woodcock said they are ready and full of confidence.

and the other four directors did not vote, stating that they would prefer to go home and talk with their respective directors before making any decision.

President Ray Goodman gave the four directors until June 11 to cast their vote and should the vote be unanimous, the broadcasting of Coastal Plain League games by the respective broadcasting stations will be suspended for a 30-day trial. If this proves to be the cause of decrease in attendance in the league then it will be banned for the rest of the season. If the vote is not unanimous, then broadcasting will be permitted the same as it is now.

President Goodman in the meeting following the executive session, told the league president that the time had come when profanity on the field had to come to a halt. He disclosed that his desk was piled high with letters from indignant fans who objected to the strong language being used by the players and said that the players are now "cussing" each other as well as the umpires.

He stated that in the past three days 10 players had been thrown out of Coastal Plain League games for using profanity on the field and in the dugouts. "I'm going to stop it once and for all right here and now," Goodman declared.

President Goodman announced that he had started his purge by giving New Bern Manager Bull

Famous Names In Nat'l Celebrity Golf Tournament

Washington, June 2—(AP)—You don't have to be a golfer to get into the tournament opening here next Saturday—just be somebody famous.

While some of the nation's best golf players will be on hand, on the whole the list of entries for this third annual National Celebrities Tournament for charity reads like a who's who of stage, screen, sports, radio and politics.

The entries will be divided into four divisions for the two-day meet at the Army-Navy Country Club: the official Washington, the open championship, the women's championship and the grand championship.

Squaring away in the latter division will be Hollywood's most famed golfing rivals—Bob Hope and Bing Crosby. Jane Russell will be on hand to help Bob and Bing along.

Musial Emerging From Hit Famine

New York, June 2—(AP)—National League moundsman take heed—and also cover. Stan Musial has emerged from his weeks' hit famine.

The information comes right from the horse's mouth—from Stan the man himself. The star slugger of the St. Louis Cardinals is so certain that he has whipped the slump that he predicted yesterday he not only would join the 300 hitters soon but would be battling for the league lead before too long.

Farm Leaders Present United Front In Appeal to Vote "FOR" Better Schools and Roads

Big Oil's fight to mislead the farmers of North Carolina was smashed to bits this week. Four of the State's leading farm organizations united in an appeal to vote "FOR" Better Schools and Roads on Saturday, June 4th.

Here is what they say:

"North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation is solidly behind Governor Kerr Scott's School and Road Bond issues."
"Delegates representing 78,000 farm families at our annual meeting went on record unanimously in favor of the road bond issue, and re-affirmed their strong support of better schools."
"Furthermore, we are in favor of the additional one-cent per gallon gasoline tax to help pay for the road bonds."
A. C. EDWARDS, President
R. FLAKE SHAW, Executive Vice President
North Carolina Farm Bureau

"June 4th is a red letter day in the history of North Carolina. Let's do our part and give Governor Scott the tools he needs to speed his 'Go Forward Program.' "Unless those of us who believe in a better standard of living for the farm people and those living in the rural section not only vote but use our influence to get our friends and neighbors to do likewise and vote in favor of the bond issue, those selfish interests who are fighting Better Schools and Roads will win the battle and North Carolina will settle back and start on a downward trend."
M. G. MANN, General Manager
Farmers Cooperative Exchange

"Poor school buildings endanger the health and welfare of our children. A poor highway system costs business men, farmers, the State, and in fact our entire citizenship, a tremendous sum each year in high transportation costs, in loss of markets, and employment in unnecessary delay."
"The adoption of the bond program will mean that definite improvement will be made to the school buildings of the State, that there will be greater opportunities for developing a rural industry program, and a higher standard of living and more security for all our people."
HARRY B. CALDWELL, Master
North Carolina State Grange

These two Bond Issues offer us in North Carolina a chance to develop our greatest resource—our boys and girls. Roads, combined with school buildings, will mean developing probably the best citizenry in the South. Good Roads and Good Schools, available for the rural people of North Carolina, will mean more to the development of the people of this State than any step that can be undertaken."
JAMES G. K. McCLURE, President
Farmers Federation

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Only the brave

BY PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 6
 Marshal John Stover noticed the absence of the guard as soon as he climbed the stairs the next morning. Inside the cell, a quick examination showed him that Pete was dead, and sagged Glenn Gleason and quickly took him loose.

Glenn sputtered and coughed, groaning with pain when he tried to flex his muscles. "The dirty rat," he grated.

"What happened?"
 Glenn told him, angrily and pro-fanely.

"Well, I reckon this settles Slug Benjamin's hash."
 Stover went out the back way to take a look at the stable and Glenn walked to his office. Stover found footprints in the alley. He was following them when he met Glenn on his way back, angry and shaken.

"The skunk took my horse and saddle and enough grub to last a week," he complained.

"Let's have a look at the tracks from your stable."
 They found the prints left by Slug and the horse easily enough.
 Stover followed the prints grimly along the alley, past a shed to the range beyond, and then to a trail which angled up into the hills.

A posse was soon formed and rode off toward the trail which Slug had taken, but Glenn did not accompany them. He crossed to Mike Pacheco's saloon and ordered a drink.

When it was served he said softly,
 "The goose still hangs high, Mike."
 Pacheco answered calmly. "The goose, she sees cook."
 "You mean Slug didn't leave anything for me?"

Filed with sudden anger, Glenn returned to his living quarters and flung himself on the cot. He awoke to find Jeff shaking him and Connie looking at him anxiously.

"Taking a little nap," he explained.
 "What sleep I got last night was induced by Slug and wasn't very satisfying."
 "Get any money out of him?"

 "You two sit out here and get acquainted," Glenn said. "I'm going to help Connie and her mother with

"Sorry we can't spend the after-

 King, "but we're havin' a special

Mr. and Mrs. King left immediately after dinner, and Glenn sent Jeff out to the gallery with the announcement that Connie and he would wash the dishes. Jeff sat there quietly, listening to the conversation and laughter which drifted out from the kitchen.

Ridgeway's
OPTICIANS
 At 5 Points, Greenville, N. C.

He heard the soft thud of hoofs and glanced to his right to see a horseman round the corner. He recognized Chuck Gale.
 "Howdy, Gale. Light and come up."
 "Where's Connie?"
 "Inside. She'll be out in a minute."
 Chuck slid from the saddle, but before he could mount the low steps Glenn and Connie appeared in the doorway. She was clinging to Glenn's hand and had evidently drawn him after her.

Gale had halted and was eyeing
 the two steadily, and under his cold stare Connie's cheeks flushed and she hastily dropped Glenn's hand.
 "I suppose you know Jeff Tyler," she said. "This is Mr. Glenn Gleason, our new attorney."
 Chuck's hard gaze remained fixed on Glenn. "So you're Glenn Gleason, huh? The feller that let Slug Benjamin get away."
 Glenn stepped to the edge of the gallery. "Are you insinuating—?"
 "Seems to me you could give even Slug a right smart tussle."
 Glenn gave a cry of anger and leaped from the gallery.

Gale ducked beneath a blow and sprang inside Glenn's guard. Automatically Glenn fell into a clinch;
 but Gale's arms went about him and his right knee came up in a vicious thrust that caught Glenn in the groin.

A look of agony crossed Glenn's face and the strength seemed to leave him and Gale, bending over, struck him deliberately on the jaw.
 Glenn toppled over, his body doubled in pain.

Before Connie could do more than utter an angry reproach, Jeff sprang from the gallery. Instantly Gale leaped out of his reach and whipped out his gun.

"Hold it, Tyler! Keep out of this."
 Jeff halted, his hands going up;
 but Connie came running down the steps crying indignantly. "Chuck Gale, you coward! Put down that gun."
 Jeff saw Chuck's gaze flicker in her direction, and in that instant sprang forward. His hands fastened on Chuck's wrist and he gave a savage twist and saw the weapon drop.

"Now," he panted, "it's you and me, Mister Gale."
 There was no science to their fighting. Toe to toe they stood, slugging, and in the end it was Gale who went down. His arms were still moving weakly when he fell.

Connie and Jeff ran over to kneel beside Glenn.
 "I'm all right," he said gruffly, and struggled to his feet. Jeff helped him to the gallery.
 Chuck stirred and pushed himself to an elbow and got unsteadily to his feet. Jeff picked up the gun and walked to where he stood.
 "Here's your forty-four," he said.
 "And there's your horse," added
 Connie shortly. "Please don't come back."

Gale walked to his horse and slowly mounted. His stare went from Connie to Glenn and then to Jeff. It lingered there.
 "I reckon I won't forget this," he said at last. His gaze flicked back to Glenn. "As for you, when you see Slug Benjamin again, give him my regards."

'Lottery King' Goes To Court; Seeks Post Bond

Greensboro, June 2—(AP)—Francis Duval (George) Smith, alleged kingpin of the vast butter and eggs lottery in North Carolina, appeared briefly in municipal-court here this morning seeking permission to post a bond which would allow him temporary freedom until he faces trial. Solicitor E. D. Kuykendall, Sr., recommended to Judge E. Earle Rives that not less than $25,000—cash or securities—be required for Greensboro warrants.

Fayetteville police earlier indicated that $1,100 bond would be sufficient on their two charges—assault with deadly weapon and improper license. Judge Rives near noon was awaiting word from Wilmington as to the bond authorities there wished on a count of conspiracy to operate a lottery held in Wilmington against Smith.

The Greensboro court alleges that Smith conspired to operate lottery markets in jurisdiction of this court.

Bond on the three cities' charges was expected to be posted near noon—after Judge Rives had heard from Wilmington authorities and decided on the aggregate amount.

Additionally, Smith was served last night with a summons in which the North Carolina Department of Revenue seeks more than $632,000 allegedly due the state.

Smith was returned to Greensboro at 12:45 a. m. today. He has been wanted here since December 29, 1948.

Optimism . . .

chill says, it may be averted forever. But this doesn't mean the struggle between communism and democracy is drawing to a close. It will continue, but along ideological lines rather than as a "shooting war"—at least so long as the allies keep themselves militarily strong as a preventive.

It therefore remains to be seen whether the democracies are as good with ideas as they are with guns. For the conflict will be won or lost with ideas. General Dwight D. Eisenhower pinned that down yesterday in his first commencement address as president of Columbia University. Said he:

"In the years ahead of you graduates, the fundamental struggle of our time may be decided—between those who would further apply to our daily lives the concept of individual freedom and equality; and those who would subordinate the individual to the dictates of the state."

In this war of ideologies the democracies must lay down programs which are concrete and practical. No matter how much one may dislike communism, it does have a concrete program. The average citizen wants something into which he can get his teeth.

German Strikers Vote On Tie-Up

Berlin, June 2—(AP)—A strong "no" trend was evident today in voting by 12,000 anti-Communist workers on whether to end the paralyzing Berlin railway strike.

Some officials of the allied-sponsored Ugo railway union predicted at least 90 per cent of its membership would favor continuing the 13-day walkout.

By midday, half of the strikers had cast ballots in the referendum and the atmosphere at polling stations was almost solidly against accepting the Soviet-controlled Reichsbahn's terms.

Union leaders frankly contended the strike should be prolonged until "final victory."

The Reichsbahn has offered to pay West Berlin workers 60 per cent of their wages in highly valued West marks, instead of the 100 per cent they demanded.

It refused to recognize Ugo and deals only with the Communist trade union federation of East Berlin.

Police Training School To Close Friday Night

The police training school, held on stated nights during the past 10 days at the City Hall, will close after Friday night's session, Police Chief Lester D. Page stated today.

The training school is sponsored by Greenville and Washington police, and all law enforcement officers were invited to attend.

At the first class of instruction, Fifth Judicial District Solicitor William J. Bundy and City Recorder's Court Judge J. W. H. Roberts spoke on the laws of arrest, searches and seizures and courtroom behavior. FBI Agent Lyon conducted the next class on practical problems of arrest, defensive and disarming tactics. FBI Agent Gibson conducted the class on homicide investigations, and he taught the classes on Tuesday and Thursday nights on collection and preservation of evidence, and scientific aids in law enforcement.

FBI Agent Lee will conduct the final class at the City Hall Friday night at 7 o'clock. His subject will be the care and use of firearms.

Intensive Search Fails Turn Up Clue In Shooting

Detroit, June 2—(AP)—"Well-heeled" conspirators, says Victor Reuther, tried to kill him and his brother Walter.

But whose purposes they were serving he doesn't know.

From a hospital bed Reuther yesterday gave his ideas in his first police and press interviews since he was shot at his home the night of May 24.

The results, however, were evidently of little material help in the week-old investigation.

Police today meanwhile went on with a widespread hoodlum and gambler roundup in hopes of uncovering a worthwhile tip or clue.

From the crowded jails scores of men, including big and small-time gamblers and other police characters, had been released after questioning or on court writs.

Kiwansians Endorse X-Ray Program In Pitt County Area

The Greenville Kiwanis Club at a recent meeting endorsed the State Board of Health's program of free X-ray examinations for Pitt county persons 15 years old and over. The mobile units making the X-rays will start the program at Five Points in Greenville Saturday, June 4. The hours are from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except Sundays and Mondays. The X-ray units will be in this county through July 7.

Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church who spoke at the Kiwanis meeting said taking the pictures requires about 20 minutes and there is no undressing. Persons found to have symptoms of tuberculosis will be notified by personal letter to seek medical advice. Those X-rayed and have no symptoms will be notified by post-cards, it was explained.

Western representatives at the Foreign Ministers conference—spearheaded by U. S. Secretary of State Acheson—insisted firmly on modification of the old rule that all decisions of the Kommandatura must be unanimous agreement. This rule, in effect, armed each of the four members with veto power.

Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman urged that unanimity be required only for major issues. They proposed that majority rule be adopted for secondary decisions.

Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky insisted that the Kommandatura retain unanimity rule. At yesterday's meeting, however, ac-

Kept Secret Of Expected Death

Tucson, Ariz., June 2—(AP)—A 13-year-old girl died of leukemia yesterday without knowing she was fatally ill.

Newspapers, radio stations, magazines and friends cooperated in keeping the news of her illness a secret.

The child, Barbara Willis, suspected she was very ill after learning her craving for watermelon was an indication of the advanced stage of the blood disease. She told her mother, "I'm going to die."

The Arizona Daily Star published a special edition after Mrs. Willis went to the editorial rooms and asked: "Can't you print a story that will make Barbara happy?"

The newspaper did. The main edition of the Star April 26 said that the girl only had a few days to live. But the paper was made over for Barbara's benefit and a story substituted which said she was getting better.

That edition was given to Barbara and she gleefully clipped the story to show to friends.

Protest Service Retail Stores Are Competitors

Washington, June 2—(AP)—Merchants from Virginia, South Carolina and Illinois protested today that Army and Navy retail stores are competing unfairly with them.

They testified before a House Armed Services subcommittee which is investigating the operations of post exchanges, ships' service stores and commissaries. The armed forces do a total retail business of more than $300,000,000 a year.

George Ames, representing Portsmouth, Va., grocers, asked that the services' grocery stores, called commissaries, be required to charge the same prices as civilian stores in their areas. He said they do not pay local or federal taxes, and hence are to some extent supported by the merchants with whom they are competing.

Judge Excuses Speeding Driver

Durham, N. C., June 2—(AP)—Judge A. R. Wilson ruled in recorder's court today that speeding up is the only way of "getting past" long lines of traffic, and acquitted an automobile driver clocked by police at 50 miles an hour while passing a line of traffic on a hill here.

The defendant, Timothy Davis, 33, Negro, was charged with speeding. Police said he has been arrested on several previous occasions on traffic violation charges.
