Rural Voters Put Bond Issues Over

Saturday's Election Sees Convincing Margin Of Passage For School And Road Bond Issues; Program Now Only Question Of Time

Raleigh, N.C., June 6—(AP)—Governor Scott's dream of taking the farmer out of the mud has hurdled its last major obstacle. Now it's only a question of time.

Led by the heavy vote of rural North Carolina, Tar Heels voted convincingly Saturday for a $200,000,000 road bond issue in an unprecedented election.

By approving the road bond issue, Tar Heel voters also upped the state's gasoline tax by one cent to seven cents. The increase, which was contingent on the bond vote, will go into effect Jan. 1.

It was the first time that North Carolinians ever voted on a tax measure. This field has traditionally been left in the hands of the legislature.

Saturday's vote also saw a $26,000,000 school bond issue approved by an overwhelming, almost two to one, margin.

An unofficial tabulation of 1,835 of the state's 1,963 precincts showed 219,169 votes for the road bond issue and 172,681 against. The same number of precincts showed 263,248 for the school bond issue and 120,704 against.

Scott said he hopes to have his rural road program in full swing by Jan. 1. However, Tar Heel voters were focused "30 or 40 days" ahead, when, Scott said, he will reveal a "surprise" addition to his precedent shattering forward program.

When pressed for details about the surprise, Scott remained mum. "I've just got something else I want to talk to 'em (the people) about," he declared, to start the speculation mill grinding.

One school of thought jumped to the conclusion that he would call a special session of the legislature in an attempt to put through a statewide good health program. But it was quickly pointed out that the 1949 legislature, which Scott once somewhat jokingly called an "80th Congress," would not necessarily see eye to eye with the governor.

His promise of a surprise also he called to mind the many times he called on telephone and electric companies to "get out to the people." Scott has said he would fully support any attempt of the federal government to put through a telephone authority resembling the Rural Electrification Authority.

In getting more than 400,000 persons to vote, Scott probably waged the hardest non-gubernatorial campaign ever made by a governor.

There was no organized opposition to the school bond issue, but there was against the road bond proposal. Most prominent among the road bond opponents was the petroleum industry, which imported out-of-state publicity men who supplied anti-bond statistics to bond opponents.

Scott made much of the oil lobby's tactics and it gave him a target to strike at in his vigorous campaign. The campaign also saw him realign the state's traditional voting of the east and west being in loggerheads and the Piedmont stepping in with the deciding vote.

In the bond vote, generally speaking, the east and west saw eye to eye against the Piedmont city vote going against the road bonds.

The west, where Scott showed poorest results in his bond drive, went over-whelmingly for his bonds.

With two exceptions, the counties with big cities located within their boundaries voted against the road bond issue. Wake, with Raleigh, and Alamance, with Burlington, tabulated up slightly in favor of the big issue.

Labor Law Fight Starts In Senate

Hot Political Issue Of Truman Program Faces Disapproval

Washington, June 6—(AP)—The Senate starts today a labor law debate key to President Truman's campaign pledge to get rid of the Taft-Hartley Act.

A month ago the House blocked the first big drive in Congress to repeal Mr. Truman's measure.

Now that hot political issue before the Senate, it's there in the form of the Administration's bill to repeal the T-H law and replace it with a slightly modified version of the old Wagner Act.

Again, the odds are all against enactment of the Truman measure, despite its backing by union leaders.

In fact, very few in Congress are talking any more about either (1) outright repeal or (2) keeping the Taft-Hartley law practically intact.

In the Senate, for example, the strongest opposing factions are backing different compromises.

In advance of today's Senate session, key Democrats and Republicans arranged for separate strategy p-o-w's.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee planned to survey the situation preparatory to a meeting of all the GOP senators tomorrow.

Democratic members of the Senate Labor Committee scheduled a huddle to size up the outlook from their party's standpoint.

Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), the committee's chairman and co-sponsor of the Administration bill, is expected to last at least two weeks and it is certain to be stormy.

Another Hopeful Tip Played Out

Raleigh, N. C. June 6—(AP)—Another tip in the hunt for James Diggs, 36-year-old Negro outlaw, played out today, the state bureau of investigation reported.

SBI chief Walter Anderson said a Negro arrested near Smithfield for investigation in the Diggs search had been identified from fingerprints as Henry Alford, wanted in Florence, S. C., where he escaped Sunday, May 29.

Boy Loses Fight Against Death

Vernon, Tex., June 6—(AP)—Donnie Woodward, plucky 10-year-old farm boy who amazed doctors by surviving horrible burns for almost a month, died today.

The young son of a tenant farmer had been hovering between life and death since May 10, when 70 per cent of his body was burned.

For weeks the boy had alternately rallied and then weakened. Only yesterday he had revived enough to talk to his parents.

"The Walking Cash Register"

Two-year-old Bobby Drakeford is called "the walking cash register" by nurses in Grady hospital at Atlanta, Ga. The other day Bobby swallowed a penny in a huff because he wasn't allowed to accompany his daddy to work. X-ray revealed the coin in his stomach, and now they're waiting for nature to eliminate it. But nature, it seems, is taking its time. At Bobby's request, Student Nurse Eleanor Wester from Lakeland, Fla., listens closely to see if she can hear the coin "jingle." (AP Photo.)

New Treasurer?

Washington, June 6—(AP)—President Truman today nominated Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, vivacious Richland, Kansas, banker as the first woman treasurer of the United States.

Mrs. Clark, a 49-year-old divorcee, was supported for the post by Mrs. India Edwards, head of the women's division of the Democratic National committee.

She flew into Washington over the weekend after a hurry-up call from Mrs. Edwards. Her's is the first of several expected nominations to women to high federal offices, including diplomatic posts.

Tobacco Men In Annual Meeting

Myrtle Beach, S. C. June 6—(AP)—The Bright Belt Warehouse Association's annual meeting began today with tobacco warehousemen from five states in attendance.

Fred S. Royster of Henderson, N. C., Association president, and other officers were scheduled to give their reports late in the day.

A meeting of the board of directors of Tobacco Association, Inc. originally scheduled as the first business of the agenda, was reset for tomorrow.

More than 200 warehousemen from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida are attending the convention.

They represent the five five-cured tobacco belts—the Georgia, Florida, border, Eastern North Carolina, middle and old belts.

Before the tobaccoists adjourn Wednesday, they will have decided on two important issues.

One is the setting up of machinery for fixing dates for sales to begin on each of the belts.

The other is to decide on an application by the South Carolina warehouse Association for membership.

Last year the South Carolina warehousemen withdrew from the border belt warehouse association after charging discrimination.

The question of admitting the Palmetto warehousemen probably will come up at tomorrow's meeting of the board of governors. This meeting also will see the election of officers.

Delayed Coal Contract Talks To Resume Today

Bluefield, W. Va., June 6—(AP)—The much delayed contract talks between Southern coal producers and the United Mine Workers were scheduled to resume here today following a week-end recess.

UMW Chief John L. Lewis has not said whether he will return from Washington to head the union team of negotiators in person.

It was considered possible that he may stay in Washington and leave the job—at least for a few days—to Secretary-Treasurer John Owens or some other UMW official. Owens was already on the scene.

Relates Tale Of Helping Russian Spy In Wartime

Washington, June 6—(AP)—A one-armed Buffalo, N.Y., rubber repairman who helped trap a wartime Russian spy testified today that an FBI agent told him the State Department wanted to "appease" the Red operative.

The witness, before the House Un-American Activities Committee, was Joseph J. Franey of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Franey, employed by the Hooker Electro Chemical Co. served as photographer and deliveryman. Mrs. Franey got documents from the Bell Aircraft Company, Buffalo, where she was librarian, and Franey delivered them to the spy.

The Franeys related how they worked with the FBI in feeding information to the Russians under FBI supervision.

The Russian was identified as a Soviet purchasing agent named Andrei Schevchenko.

Franey said Schevchenko instructed them to deliver rolls of 35-millimeter film to him in New York. The Russian supplied a camera and the film, Franey explained, and Franey photographed the documents at his home.

The Russian arranged meetings with Franey by sending picture postcards of the Empire State Building, Franey said. Each card meant Franey was to be in New York the next weekend.

Franey said he objected even more strongly at the second delay, but was told the FBI had instructions from the State Department to "hold up" on the surveillance of Schevchenko. Franey said an FBI agent told him the department wanted to "appease him," referring to the Soviet agent.

Before the committee met, officials connected with it said there were signs that two of the highest officials of the government may have intervened to prevent the arrest and prosecution of the Russian on grounds of diplomatic riot should be avoided.

The five mobile x-ray units stationed in Pitt county took a total of 1,149 x-rays Saturday to start the x-ray drive. Many people stood in the line in the rain to wait their turn to be x-rayed.

The free x-ray service is open to everyone. The project will last through July 7.

Hours for the x-rays are from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

In Greenville a total of 361 x-rays were made, and 788 were taken by the four other units in the county.

Conference Will Discuss Important Nat'l Affairs

Faced with a $6 billion dollar federal budget which must be paid for through taxes, the businessmen of Greenville will have an excellent opportunity to hear a forecast of national legislative aims when they attend the national affairs conference sponsored June 14 at the Greenville Woman's Club by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

L. S. Ficklen, president of the local chamber, said today that a host of subjects will be covered at the conference, ranging from a discussion of labor legislation to the weight of socialized medicine on the local community.

It is expected that more than 150 top businessmen from Greenville and surrounding communities will be on hand to hear the panel of speakers brought here under sponsorship of the local chamber.

The group of well informed speakers will deliver up-to-the-minute information on latest developments of issues before Congress, and will attempt to depict to local businessmen just what they mean to the local communities.

And local businessmen will get their chance to be heard at the meeting. A special roundtable forum session has been planned to permit questions from business men in attendance. During this session it is expected that the limelight will be turned upon the various issues that are of particular local interest.

Two Washington representatives of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will be on hand to discuss these national issues and to point a way for businessmen to have a greater and more effective voice in government.

John Whittlesey, labor-relations expert of the national chamber, will discuss minimum wage and labor legislation. William J. Bird, national affairs advisor of the national chamber, will talk on "Help Yourself to Better Government," and will outline the remainder of the important issues now before Congress.

Mr. Ficklen, chamber president, today requested all businessmen to make plans to attend the meeting, and said that reservations should be made promptly through the Chamber of Commerce.

Atom Secrets Said Given 'Unreliables'

Senator Charges Top Secret Reports Drafted By AEC Member Who Was Once Suspended Because Of Loyalty Check

Washington, June 6—(AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today that the man who drafts top secret atomic reports to congress once was suspended because the FBI questioned his loyalty.

When Hickenlooper tossed this out at a senate-house investigation of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Chairman David E. Lilienthal demanded that the person involved be summoned for testimony.

Hickenlooper told his congressional colleagues that the AEC employee had been hired originally under an "emergency" security clearance on August 8, 1947.

It was not until March, 1948, that an FBI check turned up "serious derogatory information" about the individual, Hickenlooper added.

Hickenlooper said the person involved was furnished with a statement of the charges against him and suspended in April. He was given a hearing in May, the Iowa senator continued, before a board of three AEC employees, including two scientists and a lawyer.

Although 24 persons were mentioned in the 50-page FBI report as giving derogatory information about the suspended person, Hickenlooper said, only two of these were called for testimony and a third was interviewed over the phone.

He said the board called 15 witnesses suggested by the suspended

Anti-Lynch Bill Given Clearance

Washington, June 6—(AP)—An anti-lynching bill was approved today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The measure, introduced by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) was the first civil rights legislation to be approved by a Senate committee at this session of Congress.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) told reporters after a closed meeting of the committee that no roll call vote was taken on the bill.

A similar bill was approved by the committee in the closing days of the last Congress but it was not brought before the Senate for a vote.

The legislation provides a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine or 30 years in prison, or both, for conspiracy to incite, aid or commit a lynching. It would apply to peace officers as well as members of a lynch mob.

It also provides that any officer who willfully fails or refuses to protect persons against lynching can be fined up to $5,000 and imprisoned for five years, or both.

A like penalty is provided for federal officials who willfully refuse or fail to make "all reasonable effort" to capture and prosecute any person who violated other sections of the act.

See Agreement On Report For Atlantic Treaty

Washington, June 6—(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations committee called to meet today, with signs pointing to agreement on how to word a report backing the North Atlantic pact.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said he was confident the committee will be able to work out its differences to produce a "good strong" report. His feeling was shared by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, ranking Republican member of the committee.

The chief problem to reaching unanimous accord has appeared to hinge on an interpretation of what war-making powers if any, the President will have under the treaty.

Senator George (D-On.) said approvingly yesterday the committee report has been rewritten to make clear that the President is given no powers to proceed with the use of American armed forces without the consent of Congress.

Marshall Praised For Relief Plan

Elder Statesman Calls For Approval Of Atlantic Pact

Washington, June 6—(AP)—The United States has pledged Western Europe its entire "strength and resources" to the maintenance of world freedom, peace and democracy.

The solemn assurance came last night from President Truman and a comparatively new elder statesman, General George C. Marshall, architect of the European Recovery Program.

A "black tie" dinner in the Carlton Hotel, a few blocks from the White House, was the setting for an historic dinner at which they spoke.

Spokesman for 16 Marshall Plan countries voiced, too, their thanks for American aid in their hour of great need. The President of the United States assured them that the fight for lasting peace has only just begun.

The occasion was a celebration honoring Marshall, whom the President called one "of the greatest Americans of all time."

A tribune embarrassed by the praise of so many with whom he has labored in the cause of peace, the tall, gray-haired Marshall called in his talk for prompt approval of the North Atlantic pact.

It was the second anniversary of Marshall's historic "remarks" at Harvard University which gave birth to the program under which the United States offered its economic strength to help revive free nations.

Sixth Boy Dies From Injuries In Blazing House

Hazleton, Pa., June 6—(AP)—The fire that wrecked a West Hazleton home killing five young boys claimed a sixth brother today as more than $1,000 poured into a relief fund for their eight remaining children.

Robert Gaizick, seven, died of burns this morning in Hazleton State Hospital.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Gaizick, are still in critical condition. The father is a mine laborer.

Civic and veteran organizations in West Hazleton conducted relief drives in an effort to make it just a little easier for the Gaizick family to recover from the tragedy.

Anniversary Of D-Day

Five Years Ago Today The Allied Forces Were Invading Normandy; Difference Of Opinion On Where To Strike; History Shaped By This Date; Churchill's View

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

This fifth anniversary of D-Day when the battle of Europe was inaugurated with a mighty invasion of Normandy by allied forces, recalls the striking differences of opinion which existed in supreme circles over where the assault should be delivered.

Premier Stalin had been urging an invasion of France by the Western allies to ease pressure on the Russian front. However, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill was chafing at this proposition. He favored an invasion all right, but his mind was set on snatching at what he described in his picturesque language as the "soft underbelly of Europe" meaning in the Mediterranean area.

Churchill presented this view on its military merits, but there were many observers at the time who felt that he might be looking at the situation as much, or more, from the political angle than from the military. The allied invasion of Italy already was under way, and if the Western powers drove up into the Balkans, they would have possession of this strategic territory of Eastern Europe when the war ended.

The implication of such an operation are clear enough. The Western Allies would have come to dominate Southeastern Europe and would have sprung into Central Europe on the left flank of the Russians. This, instead of giving the Moscovites a free hand in all Eastern Europe, the other powers would have been there with their armies when the armistice came.

That course would have meant a complete change in subsequent events. Russia would not have overrun all Eastern Europe, and established a communist empire with its Eastern frontier running through the heart of Europe, from Steettin on the north to the Adriatic on the south.

On that basis there probably wouldn't have been a "cold war." Many of the nations which became unwilling satellites of Moscow would have remained free and would have cast their political lots with the Western democracies. The affairs of Germany and Austria would long ago have been ironed out and they

Economy Doubletalk

Members Of Congress Have Been Talking Long Of Cutting Expenditures, But No Real Savings Sighted Yet; Senators Hew To Old Line; More Expenses Seen

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 6—(AP) Maybe it's my arithmetic that's bad but you can't always make it add up; what members of Congress say and what they do.

Take economy, for instance. Ever since January they've been talking of cutting government expenses. Now it's June. They've not cut yet. I'm beginning to wonder whether they'll cut at all this year.

Nobody's talked more about it than the Senators. But when it came to doing something about it, they voted almost all the way down the line to spend more money than the house. Example:

For the treasury and post office department—house, $3,072,817,903; the Senate $3,113,068,503, or $40,295,690 more.

Women In The Church

Mrs. Douglas Horton (formerly Miss Mildred M. McAfee), who recently resigned as president of Wellesley College, has been elected president of the United Board for Christian Colleges in China, succeeding Dr. Henry Fitzey Van Dusen, president of Union Theological Seminary. The Board is the American administrative agency of some twelve Christian colleges maintained in China by missionary societies of Protestantism.

Miss Norma Bloomquist, American missionary and coordinator of Christian literature for the several Protestant missions in the Republic of Liberia, Africa, is now back in that country after a visit to the United States. While here she arranged for the printing of a literacy primer (Laubach method) in the Kpelle language. She has also helped secure a car and mechanical equipment for literacy materials and for itinerating with instruction through the villages. It is planned that Dr. Laubach's "The Story of Jesus" will be printed in three Liberian languages. While on this continent, Miss Bloomquist visited in Mexico to study several literacy projects of the government and of missions.

A young woman who traces her ancestry to such distinguished early Americans as Jonathan Edwards, Timothy Dwight and Elbridge Gerry has been named a missionary of the Congregational - Christian Church and will become a teacher of English and of Bible at Baika Junior College, Osaka, Japan. She is Miss Cynthia Mixsell Smith, 21-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Smith, of Boston, Mass. Dr. Smith is pastor of the historic Mt. Vernon Congregational Church in Boston. His daughter, born in Seattle, Wash., is a member of the 1948 class at Mt. Holyoke College.

The Salvation Army lassie who is credited with frying the first of the millions of doughnuts provided to American soldiers during World War I has retired after more than forty years of service with the Army. She is Lieut.-Col. Helen Purviance, of Huntington Ind., and New York City. In 1917, while stationed in a small French village, she was unable to find a stove for baking, so hit on the idea of turning out a batch of doughnuts. What followed is in the history books.

Woman's Club Has Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Greenville Woman's Club met on Friday, June 3, for a luncheon, business meeting and program at the Woman's Club building at 1 p. m. Featured on the program was an address by Miss Louise Batson, winner of the annual oratorical contest on World Peace sponsored by the club.

Invocation given by Mrs. Dink Little and the reading of the woman's hymn by an assembly accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Fleming at the piano.

Mrs. J. Vance Perkins presided at the business meeting following the luncheon. An announcement was made for Mrs. B. McK. Johnson, chairman of the Pitt county cancer drive, that $3,697.80 had been raised in the 1948-49 drive and that an information center for cancer had been installed in the Stallworth Insurance building.

Mrs. Perkins announced the beginning of the mass chest X-ray project for Saturday, June 4 and urged Woman's Club members to publicize the fact and urge all citizens to submit to the x-ray.

At the close of a talk in which she thanked all committee chairman, officers and club members for their work during the past year, Mrs. Perkins presented the club with a brass flower holder for the mantle. Following the presentation, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore asked for a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Perkins for her splendid leadership during the past two years. Mrs. N. C. Brooks then presented Mrs. Perkins with a gift from the executive board of the club and expressed appreciation for her leadership.

A humorous skit was presented by members of the Junior Women's club with Mesdames E. K. Allen, Hollowell, Shipley, Pleace, Oakley, Burnett and others taking part.

A brief installation service for incoming officers was conducted by Mrs. Perkins at the close of which

Only Three Of Fourteen Who Escaped Prison Now At Large

Moundsville, W. Va., June 6—(AP)—Only three of the 14 hardened convicts who saved their way out of the West Virginia state penitentiary Friday were still at large today.

Police from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio were pressing the search for the trio—Gerald Nolan, 19, and Eddie Starcher, 28, both under 10-year sentences, and Denver Vannest, 35, who was serving 25 years.

The 11 other inmates were recaptured within 60 hours after the spectacular, pre-dawn break from the old, thick-walled prison. Three of them, all life termers, were reapprehended in Ohio yesterday by a county marshal and his cousin.

Marshal James Bailey and his cousin Chalmers E. Tate "who just comes along to help out when I need him" spotted the escaped prisoners near Cadiz, O., as they drove off in a stolen car.

Marshal Bailey said he and Tate hopped on his motorcycle and chased the car for six miles until it ran off the dirt road into a fence.

When the three life termers started running through a marshy area, Bailey said he drew his .38 revolver and fired, felling 36-year-old Otto Neff.

Tate, meanwhile, cornered 33-year-old Stanley Sheftic. The third prisoner, 36-year-old John Valyko, then surrendered when a carload of volunteer aides arrived on the scene.

Neff was taken to a Wheeling, W. Va., hospital. Doctors said his condition is critical.

Sheftic and Valyko were being held in the Cadiz jail. They have refused to be taken back to West Virginia and Warden Orel J. Skeen of the Moundsville penitentiary said he is taking action to have them extradited.

The other eight prisoners, all of whom were recaptured Saturday, are back in the West Virginia prison.

One of them, Mike Ables, 34-year-old lifer, is in the prison hospital with a minor gunshot wound in the shoulder inflicted when he was taken by police in eastern Ohio.

The other seven are beginning new stretches on solitary confinement.

Harnett Drys Planning Drive

Lillington, June 6—(AP)—Harnett County dry forces met today in the Methodist Church here to map plans for a drive urging a county-wide liquor store election.

Petitions for such an election were circulated in churches throughout the county yesterday.

The drys have until June 22 to secure a county ABC vote. Otherwise, under the law, Dunn citizens can hold a municipal election on the issue.

Drys feel that prospects for liquor stores are more favorable in Dunn than in the county as a whole.

Lewis And Union Must Pay Fines

Washington, June 6—(AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the contempt of court conviction of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers for failure to call off a strike last year.

The court ordered the UMW chief and the union to pay fines totaling $1,420,000. The fines were imposed by Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough on April 20, 1948.

The fine against Lewis amounted to $200,000. The union fine was $1,400,000.

Goldsborough imposed the fines because Lewis refused to carry out a court order to halt a strike over miners' pensions.

It was the second contempt finding against Lewis and the union.

In 1948 Goldsborough fined the union $3,500,000 and Lewis $10,000 for contempt. On an appeal to the Supreme Court, the union's fine was cut to $700,000. Lewis' penalty was left unchanged. In the second contempt action, Goldsborough doubled both fines.

Atlanta, June 6—(AP)—Buddy Fowlkes, Georgia Tech star, is the first contestant in the history of the Southeastern AAU track meet to win four first places in the event.

Fowlkes almost staged a one man show here Saturday night by breaking two records and scoring 20 of Georgia Tech's 62 1/2 points as the Yellow Jackets successfully defended their title in the 20th annual meet.

Fowlkes set new records in the low hurdles and 220-yard dash. He also won the 100-yard dash and broad jump.

Ends Connection With Reds To Help His Union

New York, June 6—(AP)—Max Perlow, secretary-treasurer of the United Furniture Workers of America (CIO) says he has resigned from membership in the communist party in order to aid his union.

Perlow said yesterday he resigned from the party to become eligible to sign a non-communist affidavit under the Taft-Hartley law.

Affidavits by officers are required under the law before the union can qualify to use the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board.

Perlow's statement was released as a transcript of remarks he made at a meeting of the union's executive board on May 27—declared he still keeps the beliefs he had as a communist member.

Senator Defends Leader in AEC

Baltimore, June 6—(AP)—Charges of inefficiency in the Atomic Energy Commission are not justified at this time, Senator Tydings (D-Md) said yesterday.

In a radio address, the senator said the current congressional inquiry into the conduct of the U. S. atomic energy program "has not gone far enough to have proved the allegations" that AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal and the commission have been inefficient.

"These are only charges," he added.

Nor has it been proved that atomic energy material has actually been lost or stolen as has been charged, Tydings stated. "I believe that most of the discrepancies alleged will be found to be matters of bookkeeping rather than loss of the material itself," he said.

The joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee is investigating charges of mismanagement brought against Lilienthal by Senator Eilenkooper (R-Ia).

Oppose Position By Hoover Group

Strength FOR THE DAY

BE PATIENT

Parents have sometimes misadvised their children and tried to turn them from careers of holy living and great usefulness. The father of St. Francis of Assisi was violent in his anger against his son when the young man turned from a life of piety to become a religious ascetic. At the trial in which the father of Francis attempted to bring his son back under his authority, Francis stripped of his clothes in the courtroom, laid them at his father's feet and declared that henceforth he belonged no longer to an earthly father but to a heavenly. Admiral Penn disinherited his son William for joining the Quakers.

Yet how conclusively has history proved that the parents in both of these cases were wrong and the children were right. The young folks had visions which the blind eyes of middle-age could not see. We may grow impatient today at many of our young people—and of them we should grow impatient—but we should also remember that it is young people who see visions, that it is the sons and daughters who prophesy. The future is with them, for better or worse. Let us love them and try to understand them. "Love never faileth," and understanding, persisted in, leads us at last into the ways of light and gladness.

Around Capitol Square

CHURCHES—The number of new church buildings under construction or just completed in North Carolina constitutes one of the surprising features of travel along the highways. So far as can be learned nobody has counted them and there are no dependable statistics. John Hemmer, state photographer who has taken more pictures of more things in more places in this state during the past five years than any other person, commented the other day on the new churches. Most gratifying feature is that the new churches are handsome structures, lending elegance and dignity to their communities, whether in cities or far out in the country. This condition, Hemmer thinks means that in times of relative prosperity Tar Heels are not forgetting their religious obligations.

PASTURES—Another noticeable improvement is the increased acreage in good pastures and the better quality of cattle feeding on the grasses. Neither the church building nor pasture improvement is confined to any one section. They are statewide. Along with them have come more adequate barns and fences, better kept premises and other indications of local pride. Bill Sharpe, director of the state news-advertising division, noted especially the improved pastures and recalled a favorite observation of an uncle who was a successful farmer. "Any place you see half a dozen or more good cows," said the old gentleman, "you see the home of a good farmer." Most church yards and cemeteries are well kept. Many private burying grounds in sight of the main highways, however, show evidence of neglect. The average traveler would be surprised if he were to keep count of how many of these small private burying grounds can be seen in a day's drive.

MATERIALS—Every conceivable type of building material is being used, with cinder blocks apparently gaining in popularity as the timber supply decreases. Along the coast wood and brick are favorites, while in the mountains native stone is popular. A down easter was asked why so many wooden buildings were not painted and looked weather-beaten. His answer was that the pioneers built their houses of heart pine which did not need paint as a preservative and with so much rosin they would not take paint if applied. The custom had become accepted and now many new buildings of less hardy material are not painted either.

PIES—Unless some calamity befalls there will be an excellent crop of blackberry pies in North Carolina this year. From the banks of the inland waterway to the crest of the Great Smoky Mountains, mixed in with other blossoms serving no purpose except to brighten the landscape, are literally millions of blooming briars, giving promise of luscious blackberries within a few weeks.

GOOD EATS—Speaking of blackberry pie in the offing calls to mind a variety of good eats. Just to make the reader hungry here's what was served, without printed menu or special order, for dinner at Black Bear Inn in Ashe county one night last week: Baker grapefruit, tomato and cabbage salad, a generous slab of fried country ham with red gravy, french fried chicken, two pieces of fried chicken with rice and brown gravy, creamed asparagus, snap beans, hot rolls with butter and strawberry jam coffee and ice cream pie. (Is it surprising that Sharpe, Hemmer and Nisbet did not sleep much that night?)

WHILES—America is on wheels and a lot of them roll toward and through North Carolina. Between the Asheville Post Office and Occoquy river bridge in Cherokee, and between ten and twelve o'clock last Thursday morning, were met 73 out of state cars. They came from 26 states, the District of Columbia and Ontario, Canada, Florida and Tennessee plates led with Illinois and Ohio coming not too far behind in total number. Several Texas plates were noted and one each from California and Massachusetts.

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Ordinarily newspaper accounts of weddings are strictly routine. A current exception to this rule, however, is the wedding of Aly Khan and Rita Hayworth. If you can hear (it's not necessary to know how to read) you realize that Aly is an Indian prince and heir to one of the biggest fortunes in the world, and Rita is Hollywood's fiery redhead (brown at the roots) whose chief claim to fame is that she looks sexy. The press had a field day covering the wedding, and it was even guilty of starting violent rumors in the form of warm-up stories. The word got out that Aly gave Rita a 32-karat ring as big as a belt buckle. It turned out to be "only" 12 karats.

Other rumors: Fifty turtles, each bearing a lighted candle on his back, would paddle around the swimming pool at Aly's seaside villa during the reception. A submarine would surface near the 30-room villa, and a name band would crawl out to play "Here Comes the Bride."

After writing weddings in the same rut for so long the press probably had a right to go haywire, particularly when such colorful characters were involved. Since I have never covered a wedding there has been no opportunity for me to get in that rut. Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock I was on hand to see Jessie Mae Cayton and John Saleed get hitched. Perhaps I'm starting out in a rut by giving a man's point of view of a wedding, ignoring what women notice most.

At ten minutes to four when I arrived at St. Peter's Catholic Church the crowd had already overflowed and almost twenty people were outside of the church. Determined not to miss a trick, I balanced myself on the iron rail beside the front entrance. Try as I might, I couldn't help noticing that the bridesmaid's shoes matched their dresses perfectly. From my front-entrance perch I could see the expressions of the members of the wedding party as they made their entrances for the ceremony. Some were perfectly natural; others looked scared to death.

When it was all over the beaming couple came out of the church with that let-us-have-it attitude. The crowd let the rice fly. Fifteen minutes later at the reception John still had the wedding rice in his hair. Photographer Roy Hardee was snapping pictures at top speed, and John was the beamingest man in town. At this point there were two important factors to be looked into: who was there, and the food. The socializing and the food were both top-notch.

Now you women are no doubt wondering how a person can go to a wedding and reception and see so little. Here's one man who wonders how you women remember every little detail well enough to discuss weddings weeks after they are over. And I thank you.

no one country should. Here, where we hurt our friends, it is good to know that some remember and forgive.

We Americans who fought to drive the German from this town will never forget. If we helped tear you apart, and Lord knows we did, we also know you belong to us in your ruins exactly as we belong to you in our strength. We are as helpless—big and powerful as we are—as you are helpless. Our courage is our common salvation.

We can rebuild St. Lo and the world—you and who helped beat both to pieces, only insofar as we believe in each other. Only through mutual faith can we reassemble the scattered stones of our time and make a living monument to man—the inheritor of hate but also the only possible architect of order in our world.

Damaged Ship Gets Under Way After Collision In Fog

Lewes, Del., June 6—(AP)—The 7,600-ton cargo vessel Exmouth moved slowly toward Jersey City today for repair of a gaping hole ripped in the ship's side in a collision with the Greek freighter Hellenic Beach.

Two of the Exmouth's crew members were injured in the pre-dawn crash in fog off the Delaware coast yesterday.

Meanwhile, the Hellenic Beach—owned by Hellenic Lines, Ltd., with offices in New York—docked at a Brooklyn shipyard late yesterday afternoon. Company officials declined to discuss immediately, the extent of damage to the Greek ship.

The captain of the Exmouth—owned by American export lines—sent out an SOS after the collision just off Overfalls Lighthouse at the entrance to Delaware Bay. The skipper informed the first coast guard boat to reach the scene that his ship had a 10-foot hole torn in the side.

The Exmouth's captain said his ship would be able to make Jersey City with help, despite some shipped water. The vessel got underway today after remaining off the Delaware coast to await the lifting of a heavy fog.

The identity of the Hellenic Beach remained a mystery for 15 hours after the collision until that ship's owners reported it had been in a collision and was ordered to return to port.

The two injured seamen were taken to Beebe Hospital at Lewes.

Doctors at the hospital said the men told them they were in the Exmouth's messroom at the time of the crash and "never knew what hit them."

Supper Big Loss From Cloudburst

Whiteville, N.C., June 6—(AP)—The town of Bolton, 35 miles east of Whiteville, today counted a heavy toll in property damage from Saturday's cloudburst. Water flooded fields and homes and covered the highway for several hours.

Bolton residents estimated the rainfall at from eight to 10 inches. One man said a large washing tub was within an inch of full when the rain ceased.

There is no stream in the vicinity and the water rose only as the heavy rain fell.

The water rose to five feet in one mercantile establishment situated in a low area.

Damage to tobacco, corn and other products could not be estimated immediately. There was some water damage in homes.

The water receded after the rain ceased and at no time was the highway impassable.

Because of the alkaline content of ashes, tools and containers used to handle ashes in big power plants must be made of metals which resist corrosion.

Homer In Overtime Frame Gives Kinston 6-5 Victory

By BERT MOYE

Ray Rosenwinkle's homer over the left centerfield fence in the eighth frame to bring in Hepler ahead of him, gave the Kinston Eagles a 6-5 victory over the Greensies yesterday afternoon at Kinston to halt their winning streak at four games.

The game was slated as a seven-inning affair and the first of a double-header but the second game was postponed because of lateness of starting time.

This was the only game played by the Greensies during the week-end as the game between the New Bern Bears and the Greensies was rained out Saturday night.

Rosenwinkle's blow was struck off Merwyn Frankel, who entered the game at the start of the eighth replacing Art Mascarella who was taken out by Manager Pappy Williams for a pinch-hitter.

The Kinston Eagles took a 2-0 lead after three innings of play by scoring singletons in the first and second frames. In the first, Taffet reached first on an error, Lopovicy singled, Romankowski walked leading the bases and then Hepler was out short to first with Taffet racing home. In the second frame Collins walked and came home on Osofsky's double.

The Greensies came back to score in the fourth frame when Mauney and Varney singled and Pappy Williams singled to bring home Mauney.

The Greensies took a 4 to 2 lead in the top of the fifth frame by scoring three tallies on a single by Denier, walk to Strausser and Tepedino, Mauney's double aided by an error.

Greenville came back to add another run in the eighth as the game set pitcher: Frankel.

The Eagles came back in the bottom half to push across their two runs for their margin of victory.

Art Mascarella started on the mound for the Greensies and pitched the first seven frames in which he allowed four hits, four runs walked four and struck out two. Frankel relieved him in the eighth and pitched to only three batters in which he allowed two hits, one of them being Rosenwinkle's homer. The Eagles' six hits were scattered among as many players.

Al Osofsky went the route for the Eagles and gained his sixth straight win of the season. He has suffered no defeats. He held the Greensies to nine hits, well scattered, struck out six and walked four.

Willie Mauney with a double and two singles and Sid Varney with two singles led the Greensies' nine-hit attack off Osofsky.

The Kinston Eagles and the Greensies will play a return game here at Guy Smith Stadium tonight with 7:45 game time.

Your columnist has been asked several times regarding the ruling covering rained out games and tied games. That is, from the standpoint of where play is resumed etc.

Here is a quotation from Article VIII of the league by-laws which should clear the matter up for you fans:

"All rained out or tied games shall be played at the next meeting of the same clubs on the same grounds as a double-header, and if same clubs do not meet again on same grounds said games shall be cancelled. However, the clubs who are playing night ball during the 1949 season shall be permitted to play in case of a double-header one game in the afternoon and one at night.

"In the event a game is suspended because of rain, before a regulation has been played, and the game is called, then the next time two clubs meet on the same grounds, play will be resumed at the point it was interrupted, and the game played to completion before the regularly scheduled game."

There is an explanation of the rule that five full innings must be played before the game is officially appears to be in conflict with the popular conception of four and one-half inning rule. If the home team is at bat, or coming up to bat in the bottom of the fifth it can elect not to bat. However, if the visitors do not finish their turn at bat

Golfers Gather For Nat'l Open; Starts Thursday

Chicago, June 6—(AP)—The big and little guys of golf began to gather today for the 49th National Open tournament which promises tidy scoring and a long-shooting winner at Medinah Country Club, Thursday through Saturday.

The game's man-of-the-hour Samuel Jackson Snead, was due to arrive by plane for his practice licks on Medinah's par 71 No. 3 course which has other sharp-shooters scratching their heads.

The approximate 7,000-yard layout is a nightmare for the golfer who can't boom his tee shots far and on a string.

Most of the standout journeymen already on the scene predict that a 280 score, four under-par for the 72-hole open distance will be championship shooting.

Snead, off his Masters-PGA slam is a logical favorite, but the clubhouse chatter doesn't go that way as the field of 162 pros and amateurs assembled.

For instance, Jimmy Demaret thinks Byron Nelson is the guy to beat. "He knows this course like a book," said Demaret, "and don't think the old master is at all rusty."

There are others who believe Demaret, driving beautifully in his Medinah warm-ups, can whip long-hammering Snead at his own game and match the cagey approaches of Nelson.

Snead never has fared well at Medinah and the new Sam, a precision putter this season, also has unpleasant memories of the terrific pressure that comes with this biggest of all golf shows.

There was that 30-inch putt he blew to give the 1947 Open to Lew Worsham at the St. Louis Country Club. Snead also was a runner-up in the 1937 Open, losing by two strokes to Ralph Guldahl at Oakland Hills Country Club in Detroit.

Then there was Snead's eight-stroke blowup on the 72nd hole of the 1939 Open which gave him a 286 aggregate, two taps from the winning total.

Ted Kleinbans, ex-major league pitcher, is coaching Syracuse University's nine for the third season.

There were 25 home runs hit with the bases filled in the American League in 1948, an increase of 10 over the previous season.

In the fifth the game reverts to the last full inning which would be four. Therefore no ball game.

The same rule applies to games halted before regulation time by lightning system failure as does the one to rained out games—play resumed at point where stopped.

Tied games start from the first.

Mixed Reaction To Chandler's Reinstatement Of Ball Players

Washington, June 6—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler's abrupt reinstatement of the Mexican League jumpers was received with mixed reaction last night and this morning.

Chandler, extended an offer late yesterday to major and minor league players who skipped to Jorge Pasquel's outlawed Mexican League three years ago to reinstate them in organized baseball if they so desire.

They had been barred by the commissioner in 1946 for five years after accepting large bonuses and salaries to play below the border. Many of them now are playing on Canadian teams since Pasquel stopped offering the huge inducements. Chandler said the players need only apply to the president of their respective leagues — Ford Frick of the National League and Will Harbridge of the American League.

Minor League Boss George M. Trautman said late last night he will reinstate "the four or five players" who went to Mexico.

The various owners and managers who may help themselves to a pennant with a reinstated Mexican leaguer were naturally delighted with the move. Those who stand to gain nothing had nothing to say.

The players who were reached expressed extreme delight over the action. However, it was learned that the three players who now have suits pending in New York's federal district court for damages suffered by Chandler's suspension order plan to continue their actions.

Former New York Giant outfielder Danny Gardella is suing organized baseball for $250,000 and two former St. Louis Cardinal pitchers—Max Lanier and Fred Martin—are suing for $2,500,000 from the Cards. Both suits are based on the legality of baseball's "famed" reserve clause. This clause in effect makes the player the property of his club until he is released or traded.

Chandler, in a formal statement said his action was taken at this time "because, after three years, it seems a fair thing to do, and because the threat of compulsion by court action now has been removed by recent unanimous decision of the circuit court of appeals in the Martin and Lanier and Gardella cases."

The court recently refused to order the players reinstated.

Chandler also said he had declined earlier petitions for reinstatement in fairness to players who had remained with their clubs.

Veek Threatens Drastic Action To Bolster Tribe

Cleveland, June 6—(AP)—An angry Bill Veek threatened to take drastic action to pull his world champion Cleveland Indians out of their slump.

"This has gone far enough and here is where I will take over," the usually affable prexy said. "We won't take this lying down."

Veek was obviously upset over the club's twin loss to Philadelphia yesterday. It tumbled the Tribesmen back into seventh place and was their fourth Sunday double header defeat of the season.

Although he would not indicate what steps he contemplates, Veek said he had "several hunches" when queried about trades there are still 10 days before the major league trading deadline.

The colorful Tribe president made it clear though, at manager Lou Boudreau's position is not involved. Veek has never made a secret of the fact he considers Boudreau a far better player than a manager. After the Indians won the American League pennant and World Series last year, however, it was believed the pilot's position was secure for some time to come.

So far this season the fussy-haired president has kept pretty much in the background. During the club's recent road trip in which it dropped 10 of 13 games, Veek flew east to take a look for himself and to talk with Boudreau. But he had little to say afterward.

Big Seven Wins Over Southwest Track Entries

Kansas City, Kansas, June 6—(AP)—A well balanced team, plus unusual performances by sophomore competitors, gave the big seven its first victory in the annual track and field meet with the Southern Conference.

The big seven won the third meet between the two leagues, 80 to 51, Saturday night, setting three new records and allowing the visitors only four firsts in the fifteen events.

Pat Bowers, of Kansas, and Bill McGuire, of Missouri, first year big seven varsity men, set new dual records in the half-mile and mile runs, respectively. Bowers, a strong legged Chicago lad, broke his 11th meet record of 1949 with 1:52.2 for the 880.

Chapter 9
 By the time Saturday arrived, Jeff had partaken of enough antidotes to restore him to something near his normal outlook on life. He had firmly convinced himself that Connie was never intended for old and homely he. He had even succeeded in persuading himself to believe that a marriage between Connie and Glenn would be the best thing in the world that could happen.

Due to the excitement over the killing of Sam Tolson, he had neglected to purchase his supplies on his previous visit to Cougar, so he rode to town late Saturday afternoon.

As he entered the store, a lively discussion which had been under way came to an abrupt halt. Jeff glanced about him. Besides Hank Wolfgang, the owner, he saw Chuck Gale and two of his men, a cowboy from the Crown, a miner named Benson, and Bud Snyder, the undertaker.

Jeff moved over to the counter. "I interrupt something?" he inquired.

"Yeah, you did." It was Chuck Gale who answered, and his voice was flat and cold. He went on as Jeff turned slowly to face him. "Bud was wonderin'—and he got us to wonderin', too—how come there were powder burns around the

It was pitch dark when they reached the trail to Jeff's homestead on the north side of the valley. Here they said good night and Glenn continued toward Cougar. Jeff walked Red along the dark trail. Red bore him through the blackness to the southwest corner of his little spread, but instead of stopping for Jeff to open the gate he kept right on. Jeff reined in, remembering distinctly that he had closed the gate after him that morning. He got down and started back on foot, tripped over some wire and went down.

He swore worriedly and struck a match. By its light he saw that the whole section of fence was swifly returned to Red and rode swiftly to the house for a lantern. The fear that had been welling up within him was justified. Not only was his fence down, but every one of his twenty precious Herefords was gone!

Johnston City Ill. —(AP)—The Rev. R. E. Wainston refused to stop preaching because of a bad head sent him to bed.

The 64-year-old pastor, confined to his bed for 30 days because of a heart ailment, answered the church bell with his usual sermon. A public address system was installed from his bed to the Johnston City Christian Church.

"It's our own idea," said Mrs. Wainston. "We own the public address system and a couple of men around town fixed it up."

Lloyd Ray told the court he bought a bus ticket and returned home that afternoon. He testified that following his arrest Sunday night, he was put in an automobile and told by former highway patrolman S. G. Gibbs that if he did not confess to the slaying of O'Neal he would never see his mother again. He testified that the automobile in which they were riding stopped near a wood and the officer threatened him again. He denied making another alleged confession in Williamston the following Tuesday.

He testified he is 16 years and has never attended school.

Bennie Daniels, the other defendant in the case, testified he had no knowledge of the murder of O'Neal, and denied getting into a taxi on February 5. In his testimony he corroborated the happenings of February 5 as given from the witness stand by Lloyd Ray Daniels.

After coming to Greenville Sunday afternoon, he said, he went into the woods and stayed until dark before going home.

He testified that after his arrest he was taken to Williamston where he was questioned by officers. He stated that while in Williamston an officer slapped him on the jaw. He said he and Lloyd Ray were read something by the officers in Williamston and told it would be used against them in court, and they refused to sign it. He testified that he told the officers he could not write when they asked him to sign the paper.

Green, Negro youth, who was called to the stand testified that he fought with Lloyd Ray Daniels in Bonner's Lane in Greenville Saturday night, and that Lloyd Ray bit him on the cheek. Green also testified that his nose began bleeding during the fight. He said he did not cut Lloyd Ray Daniels, and that he did not see any blood on him.

Tom Elks, who lives on the Washington road, testified that he saw Bennie Daniels and Lloyd Ray Daniels Saturday night, February 5, about 8 o'clock on the Washington highway near the Holiness church about one and one-half miles from Greenville.

Charlie Hardie, Negro man who has lived on the Avon farm for about 25 years, said on the night of February 5 he saw Lloyd Ray Daniels stop in front of his home about 10:30. He testified he was sitting in front of a house across the highway from where the dirt road leads to where the murder was committed. He stated he saw a taxi go into the road, followed a few min-

Summer Weather

Rainfall in the Greenville area Saturday and Sunday totaled about three-quarters of an inch, the local U. S. Weather Bureau reported today.

The highest temperature Sunday was 83 degrees. The mercury dropped to 68 during last night. The Weather Bureau thermometer registered 73 degrees at 8 a. m. today. It was 85 at 11 a. m. and rising.

he says Congress ought to stay in session till it finds some way of cutting government expenses.

In the midst of the increasing talk about economy, the house late last week approved a pension bill for war veterans.

The fact that veterans are very numerous and can be a big factor in elections may have had nothing to do with the house's decision to give them a pension.

But if this house approved pension bill becomes law—it can't unless the senate also approves—government experts figure it will cost the government $65 billion over the next 50 years.

But on the same day the house okayed the pension bill, it's rules committee—which has large control over what the house can vote on—hesitated about letting the housing bill come to a vote. This involves more billions.

Meanwhile, house members are still toying with the idea of giving themselves $3,000 a year extra for more clerks and $500 additional for things like telephone calls and telegrams.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, June 6—(AP)—A declining stock market gathered speed on the way down today. Losses of fractions to around 3 points put the general price level at the lowest since May, 1947.

Turnover was at the rate of around 1,400,000 shares for the full session, which would be one of the fastest days in recent weeks.

half between the dinner and today's scheduled secret session of the Big Four council gave Vishinsky an opportunity to contact Moscow and come up with any compromise the Kremlin might have up its sleeve.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, speaking at a war memorial service yesterday, said the foreign ministers' face "several weeks of hard work" in trying to reach some settlement.

Schuman added it was certain the Big Four would not have met "if they did not have the will to reach a peaceful settlement."

Officials acquainted with what has been happening at the secret talks said today they thought the discussions were approaching a climax although they agreed it would be "premature" to expect an immediate settlement on Berlin.

Rainfall in the Greenville area Saturday and Sunday totaled about three-quarters of an inch, the local U. S. Weather Bureau reported today.

The highest temperature Sunday was 83 degrees. The mercury dropped to 68 during last night. The Weather Bureau thermometer registered 73 degrees at 8 a. m. today. It was 85 at 11 a. m. and rising.

he says Congress ought to stay in session till it finds some way of cutting government expenses.

In the midst of the increasing talk about economy, the house late last week approved a pension bill for war veterans.

The fact that veterans are very numerous and can be a big factor in elections may have had nothing to do with the house's decision to give them a pension.

But if this house approved pension bill becomes law—it can't unless the senate also approves—government experts figure it will cost the government $65 billion over the next 50 years.

But on the same day the house okayed the pension bill, it's rules committee—which has large control over what the house can vote on—hesitated about letting the housing bill come to a vote. This involves more billions.

Meanwhile, house members are still toying with the idea of giving themselves $3,000 a year extra for more clerks and $500 additional for things like telephone calls and telegrams.

Had all this happened, the United Nations might have been able to function efficiently, instead of being hamstrung by the strife between the Soviet bloc and the democracies. We should have been far closer to the "one world" ideal than we are now.

Did Churchill have something of this sort in mind when he argued for making the attack on the "soft underbelly"? It would be interesting to hear from him on that point. We don't pretend to read his mind.

In any event, he was overruled. The allied decision was to make the assault through Normandy. This daring undertaking—the greatest of its kind in history—was carried to victorious conclusion.

Our homage to the gallant forces who performed this feat! Was it only five years ago that they landed on the shore of Normandy? It seems a lifetime.

That suggestion is considered ridiculous by Senator Bridges, New Hampshire Republican and one of the leaders of the economy talk, but
