Two Convicts On Road Gang Escape

Two Armed Fugitives Take Rural Mail Carrier's Car; Manhunt Starts In Counties Of Eastern North Carolina

Law enforcement officers in more than eight eastern North Carolina counties this afternoon joined in the hunt for two convicts who overpowered a road gang guard in Pitt county shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, and at the point of a gun forced a rural mail carrier from his car which they used to make their escape.

Only meager details of the escape are available, but highway patrol officers and county officers in the area have been alerted and have joined in the hunt.

The escaped convicts were identified by a spokesman at the Pitt county prison camp as Freddie Martin, 28, and Eddie Smith, 49, both white men. According to the report from the local prison farm, the police report, Martin was serving two years for house breaking and larceny, and Smith had been convicted for train robbery and two other robberies. He is now serving time on one 10-year sentence and two 12 1/2-year sentences.

According to reports, the convicts were working on the road near Renton, west of Ayden in Pitt county when they overpowered Guard Sam Bowers and took his guns. First reports of the escape said the two convicts forced Bowers in with the other convicts marched them down the road, until a car to pass on the highway.

When the mail carrier's car approached, the convicts halted the car, and when it stopped, they forced the driver out at the point of a gun. Ayden Postmaster Wilbur C. Ormond identified the mail carrier as Carson Edwards who was delivering mail on Ayden route one.

Edwards was driving a 1949 Chevrolet which had almost a tank full of gas at the time his car was commandeered by the convicts, reports stated.

In a short time after the escape was reported, highway patrolmen in Pitt and surrounding area were alerted and began to converge on the vicinity in which the convicts were believed to be. By 12:30 this afternoon road blocks had been set up by the patrolmen on all the major roads in the Pitt, Greene, Lenoir county area where the convicts were believed to be bottled up.

The police report said the convicts were armed with two pistols and a shotgun, and labeled the fugitives as "very dangerous." Highway patrol headquarters warned its patrolmen to "be careful" in attempting to recapture the prisoners. One of the convicts, Eddie Smith, when last apprehended was quoted by the Henderson police as saying he would never be captured alive again.

According to the prison camp report Smith escaped from prison the first time in 1922 and remained at large until August 31, 1940 when he was recaptured. State police list Smith's birthplace as Greenville.

At 1:15 this afternoon the convicts were still at large and were last reported by patrol headquarters as entering highway 258 from Hoto about half way between Kinston and Snow Hill.

Rebuff Handed Housing Bill In Rules Committee

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Housing bill was rebuffed today by the House Rules Committee. Democratic leaders remained hopeful today of passing the multi-billion dollar housing bill—one of President Truman's major campaign promises.

But a bitter and uncertain battle loomed as the rules committee—under control of a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats—flatly refused to clear the measure for immediate House action.

That caused the Democratic leaders to call off a mass meeting of the party's 261 House members late yesterday. The caucus had been set in an effort to soften some of the housing bill opposition in party ranks.

Rayburn explained, when the Democrats adjourned after a 15-minute session, that since the rules committee had not cleared the measure for immediate action, the leadership decided to postpone the caucus until nearer the time for the House to consider the bill.

Under new procedure the housing bill will come to a House vote July 27, over rules committee opposition—

Will Name Demo Chairman Friday

Raleigh, June 8—(AP)—A new Democratic state executive committee chairman is due to be named today.

Capus Waynick, the retiring chairman, called a meeting of the committee for 5 p.m. to name his successor. Waynick is going to Nicaragua as U.S. ambassador.

Governor Scott has said he will recommend B. Everett Jordan Saxapahaw industrialist, for the chairman's job. The committee traditionally accepts the governor's recommendation.

Warehousemen Vote Added Authority To Board Of Governors Today

Myrtle Beach, S. C., June 8—(AP)—The Bright Belt Warehousemen's Association today voted unanimously to give its board of governors power to fix opening dates for tobacco auction sales on flue-cured markets.

A resolution adopted by the warehousemen at their annual convention also gives the board power to adopt sales regulations.

The resolution instructed the board to announce the market opening dates and sales regulations not later than July 1.

The Association's board of governors thus will assume functions that had been performed the last three years by a 15-member committee composed of five representatives each of buyers, warehousemen and growers.

The board of governors were instructed to consult and confer with farmers and representatives of farm organizations before deciding on the opening date.

The Association is composed of warehousemen from the five states which grow flue-cured tobacco—Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

The warehousemen were told in effect by speakers yesterday that they could either cooperate in fixing opening dates or see the problem turned over to the federal government.

In another resolution the warehousemen urged buying companies "to make every effort to estimate their requirements for the season as to insure their participation in the markets on a regular, stable, and constant basis throughout the entire marketing season in all belts."

The resolution said that during the last few years prices have slumped toward the close of the season "resulting in severe financial loss to those farmers who have tobacco left for sale."

In another resolution adopted, the warehousemen went on record as being opposed to any differential in excise taxes on cigarettes "unless such tax differential represents the complete difference in the retail price of the cigarette taxed at $2.45 per thousand as compared to those taxed at $3.50 per thousand."

The delegates also adopted unanimously a resolution favoring the continuation of the tobacco acreage control program and pledged support of the control program in an election on July 23 in which farmers will vote on the question of continuing crop controls for another three years.

DIP INTO FUND Raleigh, N. C., June 8—(AP)—The Council of state dipped into the contingency and emergency fund yesterday for $321,000. The emergency allocations were given to State agencies and institutions.

A Change In Attitude

A Treaty Such As The Atlantic Pact Was Unthinkable In 1939 When It Might Have Stopped Hitler; Now Taken For Granted; Step-By-Step Revolution

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Nobody pays much attention to a sneeze from a man with pneumonia, and—

In a world that's sick, one of America's most far-reaching steps, the Atlantic pact, is being taken for granted.

So, perhaps better than anything you can point to, the American attitude about the Atlantic pact is a sign of the times.

There was no excitement when all 13 members of the Senate's Foreign Relations committee this week approved our joining the pact.

Everyone knew the committee would bless the pact even before it began 16 days of hearings on April 27.

The hearings were hardly more than a formality, an open forum for anyone who wanted to speak his piece for or against the pact.

The committee's final decision was never in doubt. Now it goes to the full senate for debate because since the pact is a treaty, two-thirds of the Senators must vote for it before we actually join.

Lower Pay Scale May Be Sought From UMW Head

Fight Over Welfare And Pension Fund Also Seen In Closed Session

Bluefield, W. Va., June 8—(AP)—Southern producers may ask John L. Lewis' contract bargaining team today for a lower wage scale than the rest of the soft coal industry.

Operators were expected to add to the proposals they already have put before the United Mine Workers in contract negotiations here. There were indications a bid to bring back the old Southern pay differential might be among the new ones.

A fight over the union's $100,000,000 a year welfare and pension fund also was in prospect in the closed sessions. Under the present contract which runs out July 30, operators pay 20 cents on every ton of coal to support the fund.

President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers Association has hinted the operators may ask an end to the $100-a-month pensions paid for out of the fund, although he hasn't said so flatly.

Moody is on record in favor of a fund to take care of need and distress of employees, but only "when that need and distress results from and occurs during the course of employment in our mines."

UMW negotiators, headed by Secretary-Treasurer John Owens in the absence of Lewis, have not said when they will get around to making their own proposals.

But they are expected to include demands for a bigger welfare fund royalty and a shorter work day.

The operators haven't closed the door on the royalty issue but promise to fight any cut in productive time. In fact, they have asked elimination of the present half-hour paid lunch period.

The SCFA has asked these other changes in any new contract: Elimination of the clause that says miners need work only when "able and willing" and of the provision for memorial shutdowns to mourn mine dead.

They agreed, too, that principles of communism should be taught—but not advocated—in American schools.

Their charge that Communist membership "renders an individual unfit to discharge the duties of a teacher in this country" was described by a National Education Association official as the most outspoken statement on the subject ever made by an education group of nation-wide standing.

Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, Conant and 18 fellow members of an educational policies commission made their observations in a 54-page report on "American Education and International Tensions."

The commission was appointed by the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

Its purpose was to study the teaching changes that might be advisable in view of political tensions that may "keep the world in a state of cold war for years to come."

However, to impose the blackout on the "Voice of America" and the British Broadcasting Corporation programs, the Russians have had to triple the number of stations devoted to the campaign, bringing the total to an estimated 205.

Officials said this has crippled "substantially" Moscow's own domestic programs and has reduced the floor of Soviet propaganda to foreign listeners.

Also, by shifting "Voice" and BBC channels in close to Soviet broadcast frequencies, the Western nations have, in effect, forced the Russians to jam some of their own programs.

The figure, however, was only about two per cent higher than May of last year.

Prominent Educators Want No Communists In Teaching

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Twenty top-flight educators—including General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harvard President James F. Conant—said today Communists should be barred from the teaching profession.

They agreed, too, that principles of communism should be taught—but not advocated—in American schools.

Their charge that Communist membership "renders an individual unfit to discharge the duties of a teacher in this country" was described by a National Education Association official as the most outspoken statement on the subject ever made by an education group of nation-wide standing.

Empathic Language By Senate Foreign Relations Committee Underscores Great Importance Attached To Treaty; Exhibition Of Determination Is Keynote

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, having unanimously approved the much debated North Atlantic pact, advises the Senate to adopt it as the best means of avoiding another world war and warns that failure to ratify "would have disastrous consequences abroad."

Why the emphatic language? What gives this treaty such vast importance? The value of this historic pact lies in the fact that it is a declaration of determination by the twelve signatories. It is an announcement that they stand together as a unit, one for all and all for one.

Big Four Meet Still Deadlocked On Berlin Issue

Acheson Rejects 'Compromise' Fifty-Fifty Voice In Governing City

Paris, June 8—(AP)—The foreign ministers conference faced a continued deadlock today, with Russia demanding a voice equal to that of the combined three Western powers in the control of Berlin.

This proposal for a fifty-fifty voice—actually one power equalling three—was flatly rejected yesterday by Secretary of State Dean Acheson as a device for imposing the will of one occupying power on the other three.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky had proposed, pending the election of a Berlin city government, that the Soviet commander appoint 50 per cent of the personnel of a German commission to run the city and supervise elections.

Vishinsky said this would be "fair and equitable." Acheson said it would not, on the basis of population or any other standard, reminding that West Berlin had two-thirds of the population. He said also that the Soviet-sponsored SED party had received only 19 per cent of the vote in the 1946 election and therefore 26 per cent voice for the Russians in the control of Berlin would be generous.

The Western ministers urged adoption of the American plan to give Berlin's administration the leeway enjoyed by Vienna where the city administration can do as it pleases unless all four of the occupying powers disapprove.

Vishinsky, who spoke two hours against the American proposal, said he wanted to continue his speech today.

The Soviet minister seemed insistent on getting even more controls over local Berlin government and larger veto power within the four-power control organ—Kommantatura—if and when it should be restructured than Russia had in the first place.

The deadlock in the East-West conversations on Berlin was revealed in yesterday's session which was fully reported to the press for the first time since Thursday. In three secret sessions the four delegations had sought to work out a compromise settlement for Berlin.

They tried to end the situation in which Berliners must cope with two city administrations, two police departments and two currencies.

Building In May Goes Over 1948

Baltimore, June 8—(AP)—Construction contracts awarded in the 16 Southern states in May reached a 1949 high of $276,224,000, the Manufacturers Record reported today.

This was 49 per cent above the April total and about seven per cent higher than the previous peak month, January, the trade magazine said.

The figure, however, was only about two per cent higher than May of last year.

Why the emphatic language? What gives this treaty such vast importance? The value of this historic pact lies in the fact that it is a declaration of determination by the twelve signatories. It is an announcement that they stand together as a unit, one for all and all for one.

The amount of military power which they can muster to back the treaty doesn't matter so much as that exhibition of determination. Actually they represent great military power—but the thing that counts most is their decision to use it collectively in defense. That makes strong medicine for peace—a mighty deterrent to war.

Now of course, having tentatively agreed to this treaty, the signatories—America and Canada, with Britain, France and eight other Western European nations—are likely to come a cropper if they don't ratify

County Budget To Be Near $737,000

Sees Failure At Paris As Helping Push Arms Plan

Washington, June 8—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today a breakdown in the Foreign Ministers conference at Paris could speed action on the administration's $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program.

Democratic leaders have set aside the rearmament plan at least until the North Atlantic treaty has been ratified by the senate. One Senator said privately that President Truman is in "complete agreement" with that schedule.

Mr. Truman was said to be in no rush to send the arms program to Congress ahead of treaty ratification legislation. The treaty must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Senate to become binding.

But Connally, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, said failure of the American-British-Russian-French meeting at Paris could change the entire situation. The underlying purpose of the meeting is to find a way for Russia and the other powers to get along together for the benefit of Europe and world peace.

"If Secretary of State Acheson should return and recommend quick action," Connally told a reporter, "it might bring the arms plan up sooner."

The committee's report urging ratification of the treaty made clear that a vote for the treaty will not bind any Senator to vote for the arms plan.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he agreed with the committee on this viewpoint.

"I think I'll vote for the treaty," he told a reporter, "but I am opposed to the arms program."

The Ohioan said he might support some reservations to the treaty, but he is not in favor of making any major changes which would force re-negotiation of the 12-nation pact.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, turned away questions about when the arms program will be submitted or when some Senate action on it may be possible.

The heaviest fire against the pact is expected from Senators Donnell (R-Mo) and Watkins (R-Del.). Both have argued the treaty would permit the President to commit this nation to war without approval by Congress.

The Foreign Relations committee report declared the pact gives the President no powers over the armed forces which he does not already have.

Searchers Continue To Hunt Victims Of Crash

San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 8—(AP)—Searchers used flares this morning to scour murky, shark-ridden waters where a transport plane crashed yesterday. At least 54 of the 81 aboard are believed to have perished.

U.S. B-17 bombers dropped the flares to aid Coast Guard and Navy craft press the pre-dawn search for some 30 persons still missing.

Capt. D. H. Dexter, in charge of the U.S. Coast Guard base here, said he did not believe any more would be found alive. Twenty-five of the 27 saved themselves by swimming to shore.

There were 19 children and six crew members aboard the chartered plane which crashed landed in a rain-storm yesterday, after radioing help it had engine trouble. The ship had just set out for the United States.

By last night 27 survivors and 34 bodies had been fished out of the rocky waters where the plane sank. All the passengers were Puerto Ricans.

Officers Locate 50-Gallon Still And Beer Hoard

Ayden, June 8—(AP)—Officer E. F. Sikes, assisted by Police Chief J. M. Whitehead and Police Officer S. Hamilton, all of Ayden, captured a fifty gallon whiskey still about two miles east of Ayden in the section known as Ayden Swamp.

The still was destroyed by the officers along with approximately 75 gallons of beer.

The operators of the still were not present at the time the still was captured, the officers stated, and no whiskey was found at the still. However, the officers reported finding a good 34-inch pipe wrench at the still, and Police Chief J. M. Whitehead said anyone wishing to claim the wrench may contact the Ayden Police station.

Russians Ahead In Radio Battle

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Russia apparently has won the first major stage in its "radio war" with the United States and Britain. The Soviets have paid a stiff price for the victory.

ECTC Summer Session Enrollment Under Way

East Carolina Teachers College is now registering students for courses given during the first term of the summer session. Students began arriving on the campus Monday and have been busy this week signing up for courses and attending their first classes. Registration will continue through Monday, June 13. No official count of students has yet been made, but according to college authorities the enrollment compares favorably with that of the past several years. All four student dormitories on the campus are being used at present to accommodate the summer school students.

Included among faculty members for the first term is Mrs. Dorothy W. Perkins, teacher of speech and specialist in speech and hearing defects of school children. Mrs. Perkins is head of the speech correction and hearing department of the Do-wagiac city schools in Michigan. A graduate of the University of Michigan and of Iowa State University, she has had ten years of experience in work dealing with the speech handicaps of children. # Only the brave

BY PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 11

He discovered the trap too late to avoid it. One glimpse he had of a strip of blue sky beyond the opening, then came the freezing realization that the trail dropped away to nothingness.

Red squealed in terror and squatted in a desperate effort to stop. His hoofs plowed furrows in the hard ground as his momentum carried him on. With a frightened squeal he went over the edge, and Jeff kicked free of his stirrups and flung himself backwards.

The rock his fingers closed on same loose and he fell, clawing at the hard smooth stone. He did not look down, but he had had a glimpse of that awful depth as they went over and knew that the drop was at least a thousand feet.

He brought up so unexpectedly that he fell to his hands and knees. He had landed on a ledge so narrow that even now his left foot hung over its edge. There was a niche to his right and he threw himself into it and pressed against the hard rock until it hurt. The cold sweat broke out, and he huddled there rigidly without daring to move.

The reason one of those bullets hadn't hit him came to him as clearly as though it were in printed words for him to read. It wasn't poor shooting; it was exceptionally good shooting. They had driven him into the trap much as a wild horse is driven into a blind corral, forcing him on with their rifles, preventing his turning to right or left, careful not to mark him with a bullet. Very careful! A bullet hole would have been evidence of murder; a mangled body at the bottom of a thousand-foot cliff could only be the result of an accident.

He heard voices and movement above him. They seemed very close. "See anything?"

"Naw. Yeah! Yeah! Down there through the trees. Hoss, ain't it?"

"Yeah. Can't see Tyler, but he must be somewhere around there—what's left of him."

"Thought I saw him jump just as he went over."

"He did jump; but it was too late. He went over, all right. Too bad, ain't it?" There was mockery in the voice.

"Yeah. Awful bad. You know there oughta be a sign here at the jumpin'-off place to warn all snoopers like him."

They laughed callously and Jeff heard the crunch of their boots as they moved away from the edge of the cliff.

On his hands and knees he crawled out on the ledge, and now he saw that the edge over which he had fallen was not more than ten feet above his head when he stood erect. Ten feet, but it might just as well have been as many miles, for the rock face was eroded as smooth as glass. There was but one way out and that was by rope. And that meant somebody interested enough in his welfare to lower that rope and then drag him over the edge.

He cupped his hands and shouted more in desperation than in any hope of hearing a reply. Then he got up so suddenly that he nearly lost his balance and fell off the ledge. From the distance had come a faint answer.

He called again at the top of his lungs, and now he distinctly heard the carrying cry, "Jeff!" The pitch and timbre of that voice thrilled him to the toes.

Connie! It couldn't be Connie. He was going batty. Once more he shouted.

Presently he heard the hoofs of her pony above him, then the thud of her booted feet as she hit the hard ground. He saw her hand against the sky as she looked fearfully down at him.

He felt like singing. Instead, he asked as calmly as he could, "Got a rope on your saddle?"

"Yes! Oh, Jeff, be careful! It's—" "I'm all right, Connie. Listen. Tie half a dozen knots in one end about two feet apart. Tie the other end to the horn and be sure the saddle's cinched on tight. Then let the knotted end down to me."

He heard her run back to her pony. There were a few minutes of silence while she worked; then she reappeared at the edge of the cliff and the rope came slithering down. He put his foot on the end.

"Take up the slack with your hands, then lead your pony away from the edge until I stop you."

She obeyed in silence and halted the pony at his call. He put his weight on the rope, raised himself from the ledge, took another handhold and a deep breath and started to climb. Short as was the distance, it seemed an eternity before he pulled himself over the edge and lay for a moment sweating it out. She ran to him and grasped an arm and tried frantically to drag him farther away. He panted that he was all right and staggered to his feet.

Her nerve broke then. "Oh, Jeff, I've been worried sick! I followed you and then lost you, and then I heard shooting, and—and—"

Sobbing hysterically, she threw herself into his arms, her hands clutching at his coat, her head buried against his breast. Jeff tenderly gathered her close and patted her shoulder, while his shining face was turned to the stars. He was thanking God, not for his miraculous escape, but for the memory of this moment that he could carry with him through the years.

Strength FOR THE DAY

AN OLD ALIEN

In this stimulating book, "The American Political Tradition," Richard Hofstadter has a chapter on "The Spoilsman: an Age of Opportunism." He quotes a railroad tycoon of about 75 years ago who wrote one of his political agents and instructed him to go and bribe a judge. "If you have to pay money to have the right thing done," wrote the man to his agent, "it is only just and fair to do it." Hofstadter makes the observation that many men who were building the great industrial empire at that time were so filled with a sense of the magnitude and importance of their tasks that practically anything was justified in getting these tasks accomplished. If a judge had to be bribed or a legislator had to be bought, well and good. The end justified the means.

But does the end ever justify the means from the beginning of time men have been claiming that it does. As we look back over history we see that the worst crimes ever perpetrated against humanity were perpetrated by people who wanted to get good things done by wrong means. Kings, to maintain peace and order murdered in wholesale lots. Leaders of thought and whole rebels who arose with new ideas. Nothing ever justifies any means we may employ unless those means spring from the immutable moral principles upon which the life of the universe is based.

TRANSFER—Authorization of the $200 million bonds for rural roads has made about seven and a half million dollars more available for the state highway system next year. The highway commission Tuesday at its first real business meeting as presently constituted requested the director of the budget to transfer 15 per cent of county road maintenance and betterment funds to the state system. The county maintenance allocation by the general assembly was $16 million and the specific county road betterment allocation was $10 million. The act permits transfer of not more than 15 per cent from one fund to another. On motion of Commissioner J. A. Barnwell the transfer of the full amount from these county funds to the state system was requested. That means the state will get $3,900,000 from this source. At the same time Chief Engineer A. Rogers recommended that all of the general betterment and retirement allocation totaling $3,750,000 be used on state roads, as the county roads will get full benefit of the bond proceeds. Since the Governor is director of the budget, and Governor Scott repeatedly said during the bond election campaign that passage of the issue would make more money available for state roads, there is no doubt the request will be granted.

DOUBLED—This request came in connection with study of the division and county allocations of state road funds for the year beginning July 1. The same action is anticipated when the 1950-51 allocation is made. That will have the effect of giving the state highway system about $15 million for the biennium more than was embodied in the appropriations bill enacted before the bond issue for rural roads was authorized. Chairman Henry Jordan reminded the commissioners that the action was in keeping with statements made by Governor Scott and other advocates of the rural road bonds that their passage would also help the state highway system.

LEARNING—The entire highway commission is new, with exception of the chairman who had four years experience. Several times during the meetings the new men found that things they wanted to do could not be done under the law. The chairman very diplomatically explained that it was necessary in this or that instance to have requests from county or city governing board as basis for action. There was no difficulty but the new men are learning that government business cannot always be handled like private enterprise.

CONFLICT—There was evidence of conflict between the commissioners and the engineering staff in two or three instances involving allocation of money for work in municipalities, erecting highway signs and similar matters. Commissioner George Coble of the sixth division said he wanted it understood nobody else was going to run his division. He said he had to face the

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

If television seems 10 years away from Greenville in your estimation, take note of this statement by Hartwell Campbell, the new manager of Radio Station WGTC:

"If far-sighted planning, ingenuity and courage all backed by your cooperation can do it, we will have television in Greenville in five years or less."

There is no telling how many times in the life of a boy that his parents spruce him up and have him memorize some poem or speech so that he can show off at a party, or in his Sunday school class, or perhaps for his school teacher.

It's a shame that I do not know the name of this particular boy who is the subject of today's tale, but maybe you have had a similar experience that will cause you to understand the circumstances of this one.

In this case the little boy was going to Sunday school. On this particular Sunday all of the members of the class had memorized a line of scripture, and the idea was for each boy to come to the front of the room, recite the line of the scripture he had chosen, put his contribution into the plate, and go back to his seat.

Each boy had been drilled thoroughly so that there was no chance of his making a mistake. The little boy we are talking about had been taught to say as he put in his contribution, "Christ cherishes a cheerful giver."

You know how it is when you've practiced so long for such a little speech; it just seems like the time will never come, the tenseness just grows and grows.

By the time the boy in the next seat got up, our little friend was about to pop from stage fright, suspense and anticipation. You know I wouldn't have spent all of these words writing about this thing if something awful weren't going to happen. It did. The boy right in front of our friend marched up to the collection plate and recited, "Christ cherishes a cheerful giver."

There probably are plenty of little boys who would not have realized that they were in such a pickle; many would have given the same scripture and let the class know that he was sought short.

But our friend was much too clever to be trapped. He began to search in his mind for some profound statement that he had heard his daddy make, not realizing that the statement might not be scripture. The seconds were flying by, and almost anything would be better than using the same line of the scripture that the boy in front of him had used.

Just in time, the perfect quotation, one that he had heard his father use many times, came to him: "A fool and his money are soon parted."

And I thank you.

description of the Japanese people, their customs, their habits and their needs. The greatest need of the Japanese people today is for missionaries and bibles. Mrs. Hassell said. She appealed to the women from the various churches to send all the missionaries and Bibles possible to Japan.

After Mrs. Hassell's talk Mrs. Lee H. Moore led a timely devotional period in which she emphasized the importance of preparing our minds and hearts for the coming of the state convention of the W. C. T. U. to Greenville in November of this year.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick, who is vice president, very graciously presided. She led the group in singing "America" and "Take Time to Be Holy." In conclusion she conducted a brief business session.

Greenies Break Deadlock In Seventh; Take 10-4 Victory

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy Williams' Greenville Greenies broke a 4-4 deadlock in the seventh frame by pounding three Athletic hurlers off the mound during this frame, when they collected two hits, a triple by John Tepedino and a single by Pete Gillespie, aided by five walks and a double steal, which was good for five runs, and went on to smash the Athletics to the tune of 10-4 here last night.

Greenville went out in front by scoring one run in the first frame on singles by Strauss and Mauney aided by an error and then took a 4 to 1 lead in the fifth frame when they tallied three markers on two hits, two walks and an error.

The Athletics scored one run in the fifth frame on two singles and an infield out, and they knotted the count at 4-4 in the sixth when Harvey Davis smashed a 350-foot homer over the right field wall after Wherry had reached base on an error and Gohl was walked.

The Greenies after rallying for five runs in the seventh frame came back in the eighth to score a singleton when Tepedino singled stole second and Pappy Williams brought him home with a timely single.

The four Tarboro hurlers gave up a total of nine hits, walked seven men, had two hit batsmen and made one wild pitch between them. Bob Broughman, the starting hurler, was credited with the loss after pitching six innings in which he allowed six hits and six runs.

John Tepedino with a triple and a single in four trips and Manager Pappy Williams with two singles in four trips led the hitting for the Greenies with the remaining five hits being scattered among as many players.

Junior Yohn went the route for the Greenies and scattered seven hits very effectively. The win for Yohn was his third of the season and his first against the Tarboro Athletics this season.

Harvey Davis, leftfielder of the Athletics, with a homer and a single in four trips to the plate led the visitor's attack.

The Greenies travel over to Tarboro tonight to play a return game with the Athletics and then on Thursday night play the Jays here in the first of a two-game series between the two clubs.

Nineteen Of State's Best In Swim Show

Diving Champion And Eastern N. C. Top Swimming Team Will Be Here Thursday Evening

By I. J. EDWARDS, JR.

Nineteen of North Carolina's most talented swimmers and divers will give a free exhibition at the Greenville municipal swimming pool Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

The diving champion of the Southern collegiate conference, Buddy Crone of Goldsboro, will perform a series of fancy dives from the low and high boards. The No. 3 diver of the conference, Jack Whitchard of Greenville, will join Crone in the exhibition.

This year Crone completed his final season as a member of the powerful Blue Dolphin swimming team of the University of North Carolina. Whitchard is a rising senior at the University, and will be the matron of the Carolina divers next season.

Tarboro Team
The seventeen swimmers who will participate in the exhibition will be members of the Tarboro swimming team, which has led Eastern North Carolina in the field of swimming for the past nine years. Twelve midget boys and girls, ages 10 to 14 will swim in competition with each other in breast stroke back stroke and free style events. Four senior swimmers, Buck Cherry, Bill Hudson, David Bunting, and Bobby Raskin will participate.

The Midgets
Comprising the Tarboro midget teams will be Mayland Smith, Edgar Norfleet, Tony Hornthall, George Mosley, Denon Fountain, Steve Ward, Marshall Youngblood, Myrtle Wilson, Ann Simmons, Billie Adler, Peggy Robertson, and Marilyn Mayo. The Tarboro midgets were favored to win the Carolina AAU meet in Chapel Hill last summer but the event was cancelled because of the polio epidemic.

Friday Noon
Final arrangements are being made for the organization of a swimming team in Greenville. Jack Ameyette a East Carolina Teachers College student from Kinston, will coach the team. Initial try-outs will be Friday at twelve o'clock noon.

CPL Schedule

THURSDAY
Tarboro at Rocky Mount.
R. Rapids at Greenville.
Kinston at Goldsboro.
Wilson at New Bern.
FRIDAY
Rocky Mount at Tarboro.
Greenville at Roanoke Rapids.
Goldsboro at Kinston.
New Bern at Wilson.

Tonight's Games
Greenville at Tarboro
New Bern at Kinston
Goldsboro at Wilson (2)
Rocky Mount at Roanoke Rapids (2)

Sidelights—The loss to Bob Broughman to the Greenies was his second defeat of the season by the Greenies. . . . The win for Yohn was his third of the season, his first against Tarboro; he has suffered two defeats. . . . The win at home last night was number 13 for the Greenies; they have lost ten at home. The win against Tarboro was the third for the Greenies as against four defeats by the Athletics. . . . The Greenies had a total of five stolen bases in last night's game while the Athletics were unsuccessful in this department. . . . Both clubs had eight men stranded on bases.

. . . Sid Varney made his first appearance at the local park last night and even though he did not get a hit he really did hit some mighty wallop which shows that he has hitting power. And did you notice him on the field in every play. . . . Paul Strauss can really cover that centerfield position for the Greenies and really made a whale of a catch of Manager Joe Antolick's ball in the sixth frame last night.

Here and There—Charlie Chute has been given his release by the Greenville ball club. Chute was signed to fill in for Bob Cohen who was injured several weeks ago. Bob has been placed back on the active roster and is expected to start playing very shortly. . . . Monk Whiteheart, hurler with the Goldsboro Bugs last season, has returned to that club. . . . Rip Ryan, UNC shortstop, has reported to the Bugs and saw action in last night's game against Wilson. . . . Former Tarboro hurler Bill Price is setting a hot pace in the Tobacco State League. He defeated Fayetteville Monday night for his ninth win without a defeat. He wears a Clinton uniform.

The ban on broadcasting ball games all over the league has been defeated, according to word coming from President Ray Goodman's office. This means that the broadcasts will continue. A club can ban its own home town station from broadcasting in their park, but other out-of-town stations may come into any other park and cover the game. The directors took action on the matter in a recent league meeting held here at Greenville when four directors voted to do away with broadcasting for a 30-day trial period to see if attendance in the league would not pick up. However, it took a unanimous vote of the directors to change the rule in this case, and when the other four directors cast their vote after conferring with their club directors, the motion was quashed.

Preacher Roe Surprises All (And Self) With Hits

Brooklyn, June 8—(AP)—Preacher Roe, like most pitchers, prefers to talk about his hitting rather than his pitching exploits.

However, the veteran Brooklyn Dodger left-hander seldom has occasion to wax exuberant over his needs with the willow.

Roe astonished everybody in the ball park yesterday against the Chicago Cubs by driving out two singles in four trips to the plate in his 7-1 victory.

The drawing Arkansas Traveler had one for 15 until he faced the Cubs' Dutch Leonard and singled to left in the second inning.

Roe struck out in the fourth but reached first when Catcher Rube Novotney dropped the ball. Roe's second single came in the sixth and the blow sent Leonard to the showers. The Cubs probably figured if Roe could get two hits, they really needed a new pitcher.

The Dodgers had the bases loaded and one run in when Roe stepped up and singled to left center to score two more runs, and clinch the game. He grounded out in his last trip in the seventh.

Roe probably is the worst hitting pitcher in the big time. Excluding yesterday's red letter day, he's collected only 26 hits in 235 times at bat during five complete seasons for a mark of .111.

Two Softball Leagues To Be Formed Here

Bill Dole, Recreation Supervisor for the city of Greenville this summer, announced today that plans were under way for the organization of two soft ball leagues. One league will be for service clubs and will be known as the Civic League the other, The Industrial League. Each team will be sponsored and all games will be played on the 3rd Street school diamond.

Hours Changed

Effective today the playground hours will be from 10 to 12 in the morning and three to seven in the afternoon Monday through Friday. On Saturdays the playgrounds will be open from 9 to 12.

Max Lanier Won't Play Ball With Cards Unless Offer Is Increased

New York, June 8—(AP)—Chunky Max Lanier says he won't pitch again for the St. Louis Cardinals until they pay him what he thinks he's worth.

"And that's a lot more than they've offered," the 33-year-old lefthander told the Associated Press by telephone last night from Drummondville, Que.

"The next move is up to them," he said. "I'm going to stay right here. I'm not mad at anybody. It's just business with me."

Lanier said he talked with Fred Salgh, president of the Cardinals, yesterday for the first time since his sudden reinstatement Sunday night.

"He told me the best offer he could make was $11,500," Lanier said. "That's what I was making when I left the club in 1946. And he told me I'd have to make good to get that. He said there'd be some kind of clause in the contract about my making good. But who's going to say? How can you tell?"

Fountain's Weekend Games Rained Out

Fountain, June 6—Fountain was rained out both games last weekend with Saratoga in the Tobacco Belt League, the games will be played at a later date in Farmville.

Fountain's seasons record is 9 winnings and 4 losses. Fountain was to have played Rocky Mount this weekend. Fountain was to have gone to Rocky Mount Saturday and Rocky Mount to have come to Fountain Sunday.

Plan Spending On Roads, Streets

Raleigh, N.C., June 8—(AP)—The $200,000,000 rural road bond issue will free $3,900,000 for primary roads and through-city streets.
So the State Highway Commission, meeting in regular session for the first time, decided yesterday.
The commissioners voted to ask the governor and Advisory Budget Commission to allow 15 per cent of secondary road funds to be applied to municipal maintenance.
Highway Chairman Henry Jordan explained now that the bond issue has been approved, there will be enough money to give more attention to primary as well as secondary roads. This is in accordance with a promise of Governor Scott that the bond issue would free more money for the primary roads.
The commission's decision applies only to existing highway funds and will become available July 1.

In addition to dancing and eating various games will be on hand for those attending the club.

Bowers was guarding 10 prisoners, and after Smith and Martin left in the mail man's car, the other eight prisoners walked with Bowers to where the rest of the prison squad was working on the road. A spokesman at the local prison camp quoted Bowers as saying none of the eight other prisoners attempted to escape even though he was unarmed while they were returning to the rest of the squad.
Police reports described Smith aged 49, 6 feet tall, weighing 165 pounds and wearing brown clothes. Smith also is reported to have a scar on his neck and a scar on one of his hands. # Germans To Try Ilse Koch Again

Munich, June 8—(AP)—German justice officials reported today they were planning a new trial of Ilse Koch, widow of the former concentration camp.
Her life sentence was commuted to four years imprisonment by American authorities last year and she will be eligible for release from Landsberg Prison by Oct. 18.
The commutation is based on a decision of a reviewing board that there was no evidence she participated in the killing of Buchenwald inmates.
Dr. Hans Walther, department chief of the Bavarian Justice Ministry, said evidence had been found she mistreated and participated in the killing of German camp inmates.
The previous sentence was based on charges of mistreating subjects of the United Nations, he said.

Socialists Talk Control Plans

Blackpool, Eng., June 8—(AP)—Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison served notice today that if the Labor (Socialist) government wins next year's parliamentary election it will impose permanent controls on private industry in Britain.

Police said the salesman became suspicious when the customer presented a $120 government check to pay for a pair of shoes. So he wrapped up a smaller pair, told the customer goodbye, and called police.
Officers found the check had been stolen. They waited in the store until the man returned to exchange the tight shoes—and pinched him.

Chicago, June 8—(AP)—Wheat spurred in a heavy buying movement today, spurred by overnight announcement of an extended government price support program. The bread cereal jumped nearly 9 cents in early dealings and held on to a good part of its gains through the close.
Buying came mainly from local traders who had been short on the market. They were taken by surprise by the new support program. One trader said, "the government pulled another rabbit out of its hat, and the animal promptly began chewing up the shorts."
Wheat closed 3 1/2-5 1/2 higher, July $1.93 1/2-3/4, corn was 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher, July $2.22-2 1/4, oats were 3/4-1 1/4 higher, July 59 1/2-60, rye was 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher, July $1.35 1/2-1.36, soybeans were 1 1/2-3 1/4 higher, July $2.20 1/2-2.21, and lard was 12 to 32 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $11.10-$11.12.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, June 8—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 15 to 80 cents a bale higher today.
Noon prices were 65 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 32.69, Oct. 29.09 and Dec. 28.90.
Increased profit taking and July liquidation depressed cotton futures in late dealings, with the nearby July positions relatively steady.
Futures closed 80 cents a bale higher to $1.10 lower than the previous close.
