'Five-Percenter' Target Of Probe

Hoyer Says Senate Committee To Look Into Alleged Fees Being Paid For Help In Getting Government Contracts; Names 'Counselor'

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Chairman Hoyer (D-N.C.) of the Senate investigating committee announced an inquiry today into the report of a $10,000 fee paid for help in getting government contracts.

Hoyer said the investigation will be based on "articles in the New York Herald Tribune concerning a 'Washington five per center'."

Hoyer quoted the newspaper as reporting that Paul Grindle, a Massachusetts businessman, said he paid the $10,000 to James V. Hunt, "management counselor." He identified Hunt as a former lieutenant colonel in the Army Quartermaster Corps and later an employee of the War Assets Administration.

Hoyer said William E. Rogers, chief attorney for the investigating group, will "make a complete investigation of all the facts."

"It should be clearly understood that the committee has been asked to make this investigation in no sense a pre-judgment of any of the issues involved," Hoyer added in a statement.

After the staff inquiry has been completed, Hoyer said, the subcommittee "will determine then what course should be followed in the public interest."

The Herald Tribune in a copy-righted story said Hunt had told Grindle of close friendship and influence with top-level officials here including: Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to President Truman; Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson; Maj. Gen. Herman Friedman, army quartermaster general; Jess Larson, former WAA administrator; John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, and others.

Grindle was identified as president of the C. W. Laing Woodworking Corporation of Framingham, Mass.

Almost simultaneously with Hoyer's statement, Secretary of Defense Johnson announced an investigation into the question whether anyone had obtained "percentage" contracts with the national military establishment.

The secretary did not immediately go into any detail, but associates quoted him as saying "I don't even know the fellow."

At the offices of J. V. Hunt and Co. here, a secretary said Colonel Hunt had cancelled plans to leave for Cambridge, Mass., today to attend the Harvard graduation of a son. The secretary said Hunt wanted to confer with a lawyer before making any comment.

The secretary said the attorney was arriving from out of town in late afternoon. She said Hunt "may have something to say" after talking with the lawyer, whose name she declined to give.

Larson was the first of the present and former officials named to comment today.

The former War Assets administrator, now Federal Works Administrator, told a mid-morning news conference that Hunt's activities should be fully investigated. A War Assets administration spokesman said they would be.

Larson declared: "I categorically deny that James V. Hunt had anything to do whatsoever with my appointment as War Assets administrator."

Hunt, according to the published report, told one of his clients that he had helped Larson secure his appointment as chief of the agency charged with disposing of billions of dollars in war surplus material.

"At no time did he ever talk with me about becoming War Assets administrator," Larson said at the news conference.

The month-old Big Four foreign ministers' council meeting in Paris finally has ground to a weary close, having recorded some achievement, although it has done little to make the halls of the pink palace echo with satisfaction.

Small wonder that an American spokesman wasn't optimistic in evaluating the results. One of the conference's chief accomplishments, as I see it, has been to emphasize again the conflict between the two blocs—western democracy and totalitarian bolshevism. It's difficult to find common ground on vital issues.

The principal object of the conference—to establish economic and political unity for Germany—hasn't got far. The best that could be done by the four statesmen—Vishinsky of Russia, Bevin of Britain, Schuman of France and Acheson of America—was to agree on a "modus vivendi" under which dismembered Germany will continue to be administered by the opposing blocs.

An American spokesman said of this that "it didn't solve anything. It merely stated guiding principles."

Under this agreement the big four would reopen and encourage trade between east and west Germany. The Russians promise not to impose blockade conditions on Berlin again. At face value that looks good, but its real value depends on whether it can be made to work.

The establishment of political and economic unity of Germany is essential to the rehabilitation and peace of Europe. However, this very importance of the Reich has made it the object of a tug of war between west and east. There is no guarantee that this tug of war will cease.

The council announced agreement in principle on an Austrian independence treaty. This has been hanging fire largely because of two issues—Moscow's reparations demands from the little country, and Yugoslavia's claim of territory from the Austrian province of Carinthia. Russia has been supporting this claim.

The council agreed that Austria's frontiers will remain what they were on January 1, 1938, which means that Yugoslavia's claim has been thrown out. Russia is expected to withdraw her support to that claim. Yugoslavia will get reparations but may "seize, retain or liquidate Austrian property" in Yugoslav territory. Austria will pay Russia $150,000,000 in reparations.

That's what has been agreed to in principle. It remains to be seen whether it will be what ultimately is signed, sealed and delivered. Agreements in principle have had an uncomfortable habit of

Byrnes' Warning Puts New Brake On Welfare Bills

Stiffened Resistance From Opponents Of Truman Program Seen In Congress

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Gleeful Republicans and sober Democrats agreed today that former Secretary of State Byrnes' warning against a "welfare state" has put a fresh drag on social legislation in Congress.

GOP lawmakers were openly joyous at the plea for a cut in government spending and social programs sounded by the ex-senator from South Carolina.

With a couple of exceptions, Democrats had little to say publicly. But off the record, they left no doubt Byrnes had made tougher their job of pushing some of President Truman's legislation through Congress.

They also said that stiffened resistance from opponents of the program may make the present session of Congress last longer. Some had hoped to adjourn by the end of July.

Byrnes, who played a key role in the New Deal as an administration leader, spoke at Lexington, Va., last Saturday at the bicentennial celebration of Washington and Lee University.

He said that if some of the welfare legislation now before Congress should be adopted, "there is a danger that the individual—whether a farmer, manufacturer, lawyer or doctor—will soon be an economic galley slave pulling an oar in the galley of the state."

In both the Senate and House yesterday, Republican jubilation bubbled over. With a happy grin, Senator Bridges (R-NH) referred to Byrnes as "that great strategist."

He added that Byrnes now is taking the blinders off the American people, and I hope the Congress will be impressed."

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb) told the House Byrnes is to be congratulated. It doesn't take a genius, he added, to see that the government is too large.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), one of the few Democrats who would comment openly, told a reporter that Byrnes' speech obviously "fortified those who oppose" the president's social welfare program.

But at the same time, he added, "for those of us who are supporting the program it will serve as a warning to intensify our efforts."

He said it will help bring into "sharper focus" the whole conflict over the president's requests for social legislation. These include public housing, federal aid to education, expanded social security and a higher minimum wage.

So far none of these proposals has passed Congress, although housing and education bills have been approved by the Senate.

Church-State Tensions Grow In Czech Arrests

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 21.—(AP)—Church-state tensions mounted today as the Communist government reported seizing Roman Catholic opponents in Moravia.

Churchmen reported numerous clergy and prominent laymen arrested in that province, southeast of Prague near the Austrian and Hungarian border junction.

One source reported, without confirmation, that Archbishop Josef Matocha of Olomouc, second city of Moravia, had been placed under a police watch like that maintained for the past five days over Archbishop Josef Beran.

Reports of the arrests followed a hectic weekend which saw a pastoral letter from Beran read in churches throughout the country denouncing the separatist Catholic action group sponsored by the government.

The Moravian arrests were made, church sources said, to crack resistance of loyal Catholics to the separatist group. They said those arrested, whose number could not be estimated, had refused to sign pledges of allegiance to the new organization.

The supreme secret congregation of the holy office declared that voluntary membership in the organization would automatically bring excommunication to those joining. It further pronounced the excommunication of "the authors and promoters of it." By implication this affects President Klement Gottwald and other official sponsors.

Count Cost Of Floods In West

Raleigh, N.C., June 21.—(AP)—Floods in western North Carolina counties last week raised highway damage of $87,000 to $92,000, the Highway Commission reported today.

A report compiled by J. C. Walker of Asheville, 10th Division engineer, said 50 bridges and three foot bridges were washed out.

The report set damage on county roads at $75,000 to $80,000 and damage on state roads at $12,000.

Johnson Reveals Modernizing Of Carriers Ahead

Project Said Answer To Charges Of Plot To Sink The Navy's Air Arm

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, with President Truman's approval, today proposed the modernization of two aircraft carriers at a total cost of $80,000,000.

Johnson made the announcement in departing from a prepared address to the 114 members of the graduating class of the National War College. President Truman presented the diplomas.

In his prepared speech, Johnson referred to the Soviet Union as "conspiratorial" and "despotic." He said it is because of Russia that the United States must maintain a strong military machine.

Johnson said too much trust for defense should not be placed on mere possession of the atomic bomb. He described the modernization of the two carriers as an answer to those who assert that by the recent cancellation of the navy's supercarrier there was a conspiracy "either to sink the navy's air arm or to reduce the navy to a second class role."

He said the saving from the cancellation would permit the modernization of two carriers within the present budget.

He added these two carriers when improved would increase to eight the total number of vessels capable of launching the heavier types of postwar aircraft.

"Within a few short years," Johnson said, "we may witness the end of this era of atomic secrecy—an era whose end will be signalled by the explosion of some other nation's bomb."

From that day on, our advantage in strategic bombing will rest not in monopoly possession of the atom bomb but in our superior stockpile, our production capacity, and in the effectiveness and quantity of aircraft required to deliver those bombs.

But, Johnson added, while "air power has given a promise of speedier end to conflict," it has, by no means placed other services in a subordinate position.

The decision on which service to emphasize at any given time, he said, rests with the joint chiefs of staff, whom "I shall not knowingly repudiate x x x unless convinced their views are in conflict with other considerations beyond their province."

On the subject of inter-service rivalry, Johnson declared: "To those who contend that each service must be the sole arbiter of its own needs, I would reply that this nation can no longer tolerate the autonomous conduct of any service."

"The unaided conduct of its affairs by any single service is an open invitation to spendthrift defense. And the waste of our resources in spendthrift defense is an invitation to disaster."

Report Mystery Submarine Seen Off Florida

Miami, Fla., June 21.—(AP)—The Coast Guard said today an unidentified submarine had been reported off the South Florida coast.

Three navy privateers from the hurricane-hunting squadron in Miami searched an area roughly off Cocoa and Melbourne during the night without finding a trace of the craft.

Then the Coast Guard said the case had been listed as "classified" and that no further information could be obtained here.

Comdr. O. D. Weed, said Coast Guard headquarters in Washington restricted the case on orders from the navy.

Comdr. Leonard Culjaj, executive officer of Navy patrol squadron VP 23, said his planes were turning in hourly radio reports that "all's well."

See Death Of Textbook Probe

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—A projected congressional probe of school books appeared today to have backfired into a House Un-American Activities committee wastebasket.

Republican committee members denounced it yesterday and Democrats followed through today with a prediction that the committee will drop it like a hot potato.

Local Temperatures Range Up In Nineties

Greenville sweltered in its third day of summer heat today with the temperature ranging in the nineties.

Last Sunday's thermometer reading of 94 was the highest for Greenville so far this summer. At 11:30 a. m., today the temperature had already reached 90 and was still rising, according to a report from Mrs. C. E. Maiden, official weather bureau observer.

British Freighter Struck By Bomb

Chinese Nationalist Warplanes Aaid Shanghai; Oil Warehouse Destroyed; Shippers Cancel Scheduled Calls

Shanghai, June 21.—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist planes today damaged the British freighter Anchises, injuring four crewmen. The war planes also fired a Shell Oil Company warehouse.

Three fighter-bombers staged the raid. It was the second attack on Shanghai in 24 hours.

The 8,000 ton Blue Funnel Lines Anchises was beached.

In the bomb-started fire at the Shell warehouse, 20,000 tons of kerosene and other petroleum products were destroyed.

The raid resulted in the diversion of several foreign ships from this port, normally one of the world's busiest. All foreign shipping is likely to stop immediately.

A Nationalist blockade was announced yesterday. It was to begin on June 26. Communist ports from Foochow, south of here, 1,200 miles northward into Manchuria were named.

The Anchises was hit (about $ a. m. local time) just after she turned from the Yangtze into the Whang-poo River.

Capt. J. E. Watson said a bomb struck her first. Then the same plane or another turned and strafed the Anchises.

Watson said there was no question in his mind that the attack was directed at the ship. He said the British flag was plainly visible.

The bomb exploded on the port side between the engine room and the number four hold. The vessel developed a quick list. She will be unable to proceed without repairs, the captain said.

The raid lasted about 30 minutes. Within minutes of the time the Anchises was hit today, shippers, already worried over the impending blockade, began cancelling ships due to call here.

The American President Lines General Gordon reached Woosung at the confluence of the Yangtze and Whangpoo. But she turned around and headed for Hong Kong, the British colony to the south. Four other American President Lines vessels marked Shanghai off their ports of call.

Meanwhile an American embassy spokesman in Nanking denied that U. S. Minister Lewis Clark had been instructed to leave Canton for Redhead Nanking. It had been reported Clark would head up the American staff while Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart returned to Washington.

But Smith emphasized he doesn't believe the Soviets have the know-how to make the delicate machinery needed for remote control handling of atomic materials necessary for production of any large number of bombs. He noted in this connection that the Russians can't even make watches yet.

As a "wild guess," he added that it might take the Soviets 10 years or more to produce the powerful type of bombs this country has stockpiled.

Smith's call for backing of the Administration's $1,130,000,000 program to rearm Europe found support from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1948 GOP presidential nominee.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the States Rights presidential nominee last year, told a reporter Smith ought to know what he is talking about, adding: "I'm for anything that will preserve the peace."

Smith told the governors the Russians think they can outwit the United States in the cold war.

Urging full "follow through" on the Marshall Plan for economic aid to Europe, Smith said, in effect, that if Congress cuts funds for the program it will be taken abroad as a "sign of vacillation or indecision on our part" that would discourage Western Europe.

Unanimous Vote On Minimum Pay

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—A Senate labor subcommittee voted unanimously today for a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour. It decided against trying to extend coverage of the wage-hour law to 5,000,000 additional workers.

The seven-man subcommittee, headed by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), constitutes a majority of the 13-man Senate Labor Committee. So presumably today's agreement means the full committee is certain to recommend wage-boosting legislation to the Senate.

Babich Whisked Off To Prison

Milwaukee, June 21.—(AP)—Nineteen-year-old Milton Babich was whisked off to Waupun prison last night just 45 minutes after a jury labeled him the murderer of his wife's kid sister.

His bride, Kathleen, who is expecting a baby in mid-July, screamed out "lies, lies—the police are telling lies," as the jury announced its verdict: guilty of murder in the first degree.

Envoy To Soviet Says Russia May Soon Test Bomb

Favorable Reaction By Governors To Plea For Support Foreign Policies

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 21.—(AP)—Told that Russia soon may be testing an atomic bomb, many of the nation's governors appeared ready today to back the Administration's arms program for Western Europe.

Although no official governors' conference action may be forthcoming, general reaction was favorable to an appeal by Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith for support of a program of arms and full-weight economic aid for Western democracies opposing Communism.

It was Smith, former ambassador to Moscow, who told the governors assembled here for their 41st annual meeting that he thinks the Russians have solved the problem of atomic fission.

He told a banquet crowd of more than 400 persons in what was announced as an off-the-record session that the Russians soon may test a bomb.

But Smith emphasized he doesn't believe the Soviets have the know-how to make the delicate machinery needed for remote control handling of atomic materials necessary for production of any large number of bombs. He noted in this connection that the Russians can't even make watches yet.

As a "wild guess," he added that it might take the Soviets 10 years or more to produce the powerful type of bombs this country has stockpiled.

An official ground breaking ceremony was held this morning for the construction of the home of the family of the late William Benjamin O'Neal, local taxi cab driver who was killed last February 5.

The home is being constructed through the efforts of the O'Neal Foundation which was organized after the death of O'Neal.

Funds for the project were raised through the contributions of the citizens of the community and elsewhere.

Members of the foundation all of whom have been active in the organization, present at the ceremonies this morning were: Mayor J. H. Boyd, C. B. West, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Mrs. R. C. Three School Districts OK Special Tax Levies

Three Pitt County school districts recently voted special tax levies ranging up to 15 cents for supplements for their schools. The districts were Grifton, Stokes and Winterville. The elections were held under a special act of the last legislature that would permit districts to vote supplements to provide additional teachers or other facilities not furnished by the state.

The Grifton district set a record in this county by voting unanimously for a special tax not to exceed 15 cents to supply another teacher. The vote was 206 for the issue and none against.

The Stokes district voted 121 for and 14 against a 10 cents levy to supplement its present facilities while Winterville voted 84 for and four against a five cents levy for a librarian.

County Superintendent D. H. Conley, in making the announcement, congratulated each of the districts on the overwhelming votes in favor of bettering their schools.

Paris Talks End In General Accord

Acheson Warmly Greeted On His Return To U. S.

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson returned today from the big four Foreign Ministers conference at Paris. He got a personal welcome home from President Truman.

Vice President Barkley and other notables were with Mr. Truman at the airport when Acheson's plane landed after the trans-Atlantic flight.

When Acheson stepped from the plane, he waved his hat and Mr. Truman called, "Hello, Dean."

There was an outbreak of applause from Cabinet members, top state department officials and army, Navy and Air Force leaders who had assembled with the President.

The President and the Secretary of State shook hands.

Later the President was asked how he greeted Acheson, and he replied, "I said congratulations, Mr. Secretary."

"You think he did a good job, don't you?" A reporter asked.

"He did an excellent job," the President said.

The Secretary of State and his chief then climbed into a White House automobile and drove away to the President's office.

To reporters, Mr. Truman explained: "The Secretary is going to my office to report to me. I'll have a report for you later in the day."

Acheson said that he had no arrival statement to make to reporters.

Actually the four-week Paris session had gone about the way the Secretary of State had thought it would when he left Washington May 30.

Australian Coal Strike Bringing Real Hardships

Sydney, Australia, June 21.—(AP)—A virtual shutdown of industry because of dwindling coal supplies put 200,000 men and women out of work today in Sydney and Newcastle. But worse news was in store for Australians.

The nation's 23,500 coal miners have threatened a general walkout next Monday if their demands for a 35-hour week and a wage increase of 30 shillings ($4.86) are not met.

There are more men out of work here today than in the days of the pre-war depression. Australian labor leaders permit no real stockpile of coal. Industry is left on almost a day-to-day basis. Storms have delayed arrivals of coastal coal carriers. Now most factories are closed. Shops and offices are lit by oil lamps or not at all.

Gov't Reorganizing
The First Of Several Stories On President Truman's Plans For Overhauling The Government; Seven Plans; What Has Happened And What Lies In The Future

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—President Truman now has sent seven plans to Congress for overhauling, or reorganizing, the government.

He did that yesterday. And they are important, although they are only the first in a series of plans he will offer, some this year, some next year.

Since the story of reorganizing the government is complicated, here is an ABC on what happened and what lies ahead. There are three main points:

The study and recommendations made by the Hoover Commission; the reorganization act passed by Congress; the plans to be offered by Mr. Truman.

This government, with 1,100,000 employees, is the biggest business in the world but is less efficient than many, maybe most, businesses.

It has grown as the population grew and the needs of the people increased. Bureaus, agencies and commissions shoot off in all directions.

Since President Taft first tried it in 1912, a number of attempts have been made to put the government's house in order. None was thorough. Two years ago Congress decided to do a real job of it. It created a 13-man commission, headed by former President Hoover.

This was non-political. The commission was composed of

Miss Jennie Congleton Directing Portsmouth Wesley House Center

By Irma Koff
Portsmouth, Va., June 21.—One of the finest pieces of character building work is being accomplished in Portsmouth by Miss Jennie Congleton, head resident of Wesley Community Center on Henry Street.

This settlement house, which was established in Portsmouth in 1937, is directed and supervised by the Methodist Mission Board of Portsmouth. Miss Congleton explained that most of the support of the center comes through the Methodist Women's Missionary Work. She also pointed out that although the settlement house is a Christian organization, the doors are open to children of all faiths.

At the present time, 115 boys and girls are enrolled at the center with the age varying from kindergarten to Girl Scouts. The kindergarten group is for children of four and five years of age. Six and seven year old children are enrolled in the primary group. Miss Congleton also has a Happy Boys Group for children of seven, eight and nine years old and the Jolly Girls, who meet in the evening. In addition, the center has a Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scout troops. The kindergarten groups meet four days a week while all other groups meet only once a week.

Two large rooms, complete with books and a piano, are used for character building activities, including handicrafts, story-telling and singing. Because the space is limited there are no facilities nor equipment for athletic activities.

Miss Congleton, who has been in Portsmouth for the past two years, is appointed to her position by the Mission Board and her official title is deaconess under the Women's Division of the General Board of Methodist Church. Each year she is re-appointed by the Mission Board to continue on her present job or is sent to another city where her work is needed.

The program at Wesley Community Center is handled mainly by Miss Congleton. In addition to the activities conducted at the center, which closed last Monday, Miss Congleton visits the homes of all enrolled, bring cheer and comfort to the sick and shut-ins. She claims that one of her biggest jobs is planning the handwork of all the groups enrolled at the center. She is aided in her work by a part-time worker in the kindergarten group, Mrs. Lotie Rogers, and a few volunteer workers from the Methodist Church.

A native of Greenville, N.C., Miss Congleton had business college training. After 14 years in the business world, she turned to her present missionary work, which she has been doing for the past 28 years.

She received her missionary work training at Scarritt Bible and Training School in Kansas City, Mo., and after graduation went to Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn., for three years of special training. Following the custom of her profession, she returns to Scarritt College once out of every seven years for one year of study.

Miss Congleton's missionary work has taken her into six states in the union. She admits she has been always interested in missionary work which was the decisive factor in choosing this field instead of continuing a business career. For 10 years she worked in Texas with Mexican children.

Miss Congleton said the most gratifying part of her job is helping minority groups find their place in society and in helping society into accepting them.

Although she has little time for hobbies, Miss Congleton is very interested in weaving.

The director emphasized the fact that she was particularly grateful for the cooperation of the community in furthering her work.

Strength FOR THE DAY

DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

A young man addressing a religious convention recently brought down the house with the statement that many people pray the following prayer: "Lord, I am willing to do whatever thou wouldst have me do, but thou knowest I work best in an advisory capacity."

Have you ever noticed the fellow who, when three or four men are grunting and sweating as they move a piano, tags along behind carrying the piano stool? There are many people who love committee meetings. As long as plans are being discussed or moral questions are in the delightful realm of the abstract these people are on hand, taking a prominent part in the proceedings. But when questions suddenly become concrete, when plans mean ringing doorbells and climbing stairs, signing checks or jumping in and doing a hard piece of physical work, these people are on the list of absentees.

It is easy to advise people about their problems; it takes self-effacement and sacrifice to get down where they lie and help them solve their problems. We can do a lot of weeping at the movies over imaginary tragedies, and five minutes after we leave the theater we can step right over a tragic situation in someone's life which is calling strictly for help.

Jesus said, "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

Around Capitol Square

BIRTHDAY—Many of those who attended the birthday party at Camp Butner state hospital Saturday were amazed at what they saw. Immediate cause of surprise was physical appearance of the hospital buildings and grounds as contrasted with the abandoned and desolate appearance two years ago. First steps toward converting the army hospital into a modern institution for mental patients were taken early in May of 1947. (That is, first work on actual physical renovation. For many months before the hospital board and other state officials had been working out details of transferring title to the property from federal to state government.) On June 16, 1947, the first contingent of patients arrived from the Camp Sutton unit at Monroe. That original 100 patients has grown into a population of more than 1400.

MODERN—The hospital buildings and equipment are modern, but they have lost the harsh newness through well designed plantings of shrubs and shrubbery. Though most of the technical equipment acquired from the army was not designed for mental treatments, the surgical, dental and medical instruments were easily adaptable to state needs. For that reason the Butner unit has been made more progress in curative treatment than the older members of the hospital system.

PICNIC—Even more striking than appearance of the buildings and grounds was the attitude and manner of the patients. Dr. J. W. Murdoch hospital superintendent adopted from the state a policy of not locking up patients, except where it was absolutely necessary. So more than a thousand of them attended the picnic Saturday and it required very close observation to determine who "belonged" and who were guests. For that matter, visitors at other times have commented on the demeanor of patients in the cafeteria. One observer commented a few months ago that the Butner cafeteria line was just like any other cafeteria, except that the people were a little more courteous to each other.

BOARD—Dr. David Young, general superintendent of state hospitals, said a meeting of the board of control would probably be called early in July. At that time three new members at large and three re-appointed district members will be sworn in for four year terms. Acquisition of Camp Butner and appropriations of nearly $20 million for permanent improvements by the two last legislatures put the hospital system in position to go forward in service. The present board has been highly commended for the work. The job isn't finished and the board will have many problems in the future. They will consist chiefly of utilization to best advantage rather than acquisition of facilities and money.

O-O-O

CONVENTIONS—The state association of county commissioners is meeting this week at Blowing Rock. The first week in July clerks of court will convene at Winston-Salem. During the next 30 days there will be numerous other local official groups gathering for state meetings, as well as dozens of non-governmental associations. Since most of these officials have direct relationship with one or more state offices the top state men have a busy season ahead. One or two conventions a year can be fun, but attending one or two a week can get to be real work. State Auditor Henry Bridges was checking his schedule the other day, trying to fit in appearance with the court clerks at Winston-Salem and the centennial celebration at Boone all in three days. He found it could be done only by a lot of hard traveling and short visits. His situation is not different from other state department heads, all of whom are in demand for luncheon speeches as well as for these convention programs.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York, June 21.—(AP)—Memories of Europe revisited:

There was an old German selling flowers in front of the press camp in Frankfurt. He held a rose in his mouth while making change for a customer.

"Ten years ago," said someone, "they took the bit in their teeth. Now look—it's flowers."

How to lose friends and alienate allies department:

It happened after midnight at the Savoy in London. It was one of those international gatherings at which people would rather say something brittle and clever than something true.

They were deep in Scotch and their own frustrations, and talking about things they didn't know—just to get in the knife blade and hurt each other.

"You wouldn't have had an air force without our Rolls Royce engine," said the Englishman. "You Americans are the greatest warmongers in the world."

"No, you British are," said an American.

"Who are the greatest warmongers—us or the Americans?" asked the Englishman, turning to a friend.

"The Americans, of course," murmured his friend.

"You're just mad," said the American.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The merchant goes to his place of business every morning, takes his place behind his sales counter, and perhaps is completely fascinated with his job of selling his wares. While this concerns him, most of us are more interested in occupations that are out of the ordinary because they offer adventure, excitement, and possibly danger.

Typical of the occupations that attract our attention is one currently in progress around Greenville: crop dusting by airplane. A representative of the crop dusting concern contacts the farmers and explains the advantages of having their crops dusted by air in order to kill insects, thereby increasing the yield. Some farmers, already aware of the advantages of the method, go to the representative in order to make an appointment.

The appointments made, the representative then plans the schedule with the pilot of the dusting plane. They agree to meet at a designated farm, where the representative on the ground points out the fields to be dusted to the pilot. At times the pilot will drop in low over a field, cut his engine, and yell a question to his co-workers on the ground. Just in time to avoid a crash, he'll gun the engine and pull up.

Dick Oleson, 26, a native of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, is now engaged in dusting tobacco crops in this area. For four years Dick flew Corsairs in the Marine Corps, gunning for a larger species of insects. Dick's ground guide is Sidney Johnson.

One of the most interesting aspects of this occupation is the time element. In order to spray the leaves when the dew is right Sidney and Dick start at 4:30 in the morning. When Sidney told me this alarming news I asked him how Dick manages to see his pointing out the fields in the early-morning darkness. When Sid said that it's light at 4:30 these days, I replied that I've probably the only reader I have who didn't know that.

In order to do an effective job of dusting Dick flies just over the tops of the tobacco plants. He says that if his engine should knock out he would have ample momentum left to pull up far enough to land in the tree tops. But Dick admits that his job is dangerous. Handling the poison that he distributes is quite hazardous, he says. Flying along hopping fences, scattered trees, and tipping a wing to miss a tobacco barn isn't dangerous—just handling the poison.

After Sidney had told me all about his job he urged me to come out in the morning to see Dick in operation, said he'd pick me up at 4:15. I admitted that I would like to see the dusting, but replied, "No thank you."

We stood in a churchyard there one Sunday recently—a group of former war correspondents—before a bronze bust erected to the memory of Maj. Thomas Howie, the "Major of St. Lo."

Howie had wanted to be the first man into the town. After he fell in action, troops of the 29th Infantry division carried out his wish. They took his flag-draped body along with the interred task force, and laid it in honor by the church.

As we stood there reminiscing an eerie wail split the air—the scream of an air raid siren. Instinctively we started to duck for a ditch. Then, sleepily, we realized the siren was only signalling the noon hour.

But as long as it sounds—and the monument to Major Howie stands—the people of St. Lo will remember the war every day.

There is one French town above all others that symbolizes the war to hundreds of thousands of American troops. It is St. Lo, where Hitler's western wall in Normandy was finally breached.

So badly was the town battered from ground and air that there was talk of leaving it, ruined and empty, as an eternal monument of the war—and the price of war.

But the people of St. Lo wanted to come home, and they did. Helped by American generosity, they have made an astonishing recovery. Most of the rubble has been cleared. En-

Many crosses bear the name of the soldier beneath. Many say simply: "Unknown German."

The cemetery was left under French care. And the French, with a stern but honest hospitality, have passed on this responsibility to nature. They didn't invite the Germans in—and they see no reason for honoring those who stayed.

Weeds, thistles, nettles, grass and daisies spring from the sunken graves and wave above the crosses. Here and there a poppy blows in scarlet surprise.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—The grave of Pushmataha, famed Choctaw Indian chief from Mississippi, is still being cared for at Congressional Cemetery here by Congressional Order—after 125 years.

Every year the civil functions appropriations bill carries one line authorizing the Army Quartermasters Corps to take care of the grave of Pushmataha, who fought with Andrew Jackson against the British in the Battle of New Orleans and with Sam Houston in the Battle of Horseshoe Bend.

Known affectionately to Jackson as "Push," the Indian chieftain came to Washington in 1824 on a visit, became ill and died. About his last words to Jackson, then a Tennessee senator, were: "When I am gone, let the big guns be fired over me."

The Indian, who held the rank of General, was buried in Congressional Cemetery with full military honors and Congress entrusted the Quartermaster Corps with the upkeep of the grave. The Quartermaster Corps reports that about all that is involved is mowing the grass now and then. This doesn't cost much, it adds.

One story goes that Pushmataha was responsible for the slang expression "O.K." He is said to have ended conversations with Jackson with the Indian phrase "al hoka," meaning something like "that's me." Jackson is said to have lifted the expression, shortening it to "hoka" or "O.K."

The Department of Agriculture has a release out on "Faster Bed-making." It's the result of a survey made by Marianne Muse of the Vermont Experiment Station, who interviewed 183 experienced Vermont homemakers. Miss Muse found that the "once-around-the-bed" method—making up one side completely, then making up the other side—could save considerable time and also result in a good job. However, the Department of Agriculture points out, "Miss Muse believes there is no one best way for every woman to make beds. Much depends on the type of bed, the kind and amount of bedding, the skill and speed of the worker. But many women can do a more efficient job by studying and trying out different methods."

According to the Book of Knowledge the word clock is a fairly new addition to the English language, coming from the French word cloche, which referred to the bells which marked the hours of devotion and work in monasteries.

Washington—The grave of Pushmataha, famed Choctaw Indian chief from Mississippi, is still being cared for at Congressional Cemetery here by Congressional Order—after 125 years.

Every year the civil functions appropriations bill carries one line authorizing the Army Quartermasters Corps to take care of the grave of Pushmataha, who fought with Andrew Jackson against the British in the Battle of New Orleans and with Sam Houston in the Battle of Horseshoe Bend.

Known affectionately to Jackson as "Push," the Indian chieftain came to Washington in 1824 on a visit, became ill and died. About his last words to Jackson, then a Tennessee senator, were: "When I am gone, let the big guns be fired over me."

The Indian, who held the rank of General, was buried in Congressional Cemetery with full military honors and Congress entrusted the Quartermaster Corps with the upkeep of the grave. The Quartermaster Corps reports that about all that is involved is mowing the grass now and then. This doesn't cost much, it adds.

One story goes that Pushmataha was responsible for the slang expression "O.K." He is said to have ended conversations with Jackson with the Indian phrase "al hoka," meaning something like "that's me." Jackson is said to have lifted the expression, shortening it to "hoka" or "O.K."

The Department of Agriculture has a release out on "Faster Bed-making." It's the result of a survey made by Marianne Muse of the Vermont Experiment Station, who interviewed 183 experienced Vermont homemakers. Miss Muse found that the "once-around-the-bed" method—making up one side completely, then making up the other side—could save considerable time and also result in a good job. However, the Department of Agriculture points out, "Miss Muse believes there is no one best way for every woman to make beds. Much depends on the type of bed, the kind and amount of bedding, the skill and speed of the worker. But many women can do a more efficient job by studying and trying out different methods."

According to the Book of Knowledge the word clock is a fairly new addition to the English language, coming from the French word cloche, which referred to the bells which marked the hours of devotion and work in monasteries.

Worthington Stresses Growth Of All Govm't Cost And Indebtedness

By WYATT BROWN

The greater interference in private business of government and the growth of bonded indebtedness of all political divisions and subdivisions were pointed out last night to the Rotarians by Pitt County Legislative Representative Sam O. Worthington. He declared that this called for everyone to stop and think and not listen to public speakers for a while.

At the outset Worthington called attention to the fact that of the $133,000,000 income of the general fund, over one hundred million comes from income and sales taxes. Already the tax burden is such that in the opinion of the speaker, "we are allowed to keep what we keep." There is a constant need for more money by governments which necessitates higher taxes yet—the government takes what it wants and leaves the rest for the taxpayer.

What with the U. S. financing the world and the waste in government spending, it is costing so much that private business can hardly keep going.

Commenting on the bonded indebtedness of the State, Worthington said he observed all political units, large and small, selling bonds now at the end of a boom period. "The bonded debt will be greater than ever before in the history of the state. I do not see any excuse for it. It will make the tax rate so high, we will not have enough left to get along on. The growing bonded debt will burden us for years to come. Some day there will be a pay day," he warned in conclusion.

Following the set remarks, there were some questions and comments about the state's bond picture.

Guests of the club were Tommie Pace, Charles Pace and Knott Proctor, Jr. Bill Page of Kinston was a visiting Rotarian. Badger Johnson sounded the tocsin to get more softball players to rally to the Rotary colors. Tonight at the Third Street School there will be a game between the Rotarians and Kiwanians.

Ernest Willard, club president, presided. Dr. Howard McGinnis, chairman of the Program Committee, had charge of the program.

Pay Plenty For Jazz Recordings

Frankfurt, Germany—(AP)—Believe it or not, a new American-made jazz record may cost you the legal equivalent of 50 to 60 dollars on the musical black-market in post war Germany. The acute shortage of discs and the lively demand from German devotees make the price high.

How do American jazz records, so highly rated by German youth, get across the ocean in a soldier's trunk? Real jazz is quite new to German youngsters. It still has a doubtful reputation with the older generation.

The roots for this attitude go back to Hitler's "Third Reich." It was propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels who told the people that jazz is something "decadent and degenerate."

Towards the end of the war the Nazis were forced to make some concessions. The people had become more and more tired the longer the war dragged on. Especially the soldiers were fed up with German folk songs and Beethoven's "Eroica," which the Nazis made the prelude to almost every political rally.

As a result, some light dance music that had little or nothing to do with American jazz was permitted. Dancing itself was banned. "Liberation" in music took place after the war. Hot clubs were formed and jam sessions held, often organized by American soldiers. Other means of popularizing jazz were American films and radio stations.

Church Conducts Drive-In Service

Rising Sun, Ind.—(AP)—The Rising Sun Baptist church collapsed in April while being repaired. So the congregation arranged for drive-in services each Sunday evening during the summer in the town park.

The first service was attended by about 200 persons who sat in their parked cars while the Rev. Louis L. Day conducted services with a refreshment stand as a pulpit.

"Now we are all in church," he told his parishioners. "Let us respect it as if we were in one of the world's most costly cathedrals."

"Let there be no smoking for the next hour and if you have a chew of tobacco in your mouth please suck it on a stump somewhere. Nothing will disturb it, not even a busy road. After the service is over you can go back and get it."

Deadline Nears On Auto Offer

Raleigh, N. C. There's a new car in the future for some North Carolina veterans—but only if they hurry.

Those veterans who lost a foot or leg, or the use of same, as a result of service in World War II, have until June 30, 1949 to apply for a government-donated automobile. J. M. Caldwell, director of the N. C. Veterans Commission, announced today.

In the same breath Caldwell told veterans in this state to "Waste no time in applying for the car if they are eligible," since the Veterans Administration must have the claim "on file" before the deadline date of June 30, 1949.

Some Birds Like Traveling Nests

Chicago—(AP)—You'll never find some birds tied down to a humdrum life in an old tree. They prefer traveling nests.

Austin L. Rand, curator of birds at the Chicago Natural History Museum, reports:

"Tree swallows nest on ferryboats that ply between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Prescott, Ontario, across the St. Lawrence river where it is more than a mile wide. The nests are tucked into suitable openings on the ferries, and the frequent trips back and forth and the docking at different piers do not seem to disturb the birds. They gather their nesting material of feathers and straws and leaves from either shore, and when the young are being fed, insects may be gathered on the Canadian or U. S. shore, depending on where the ferryboat is docked."

So much for the wave riding international set. There are others who like to gad on land, Rand says:

"Barn swallows have been noted nesting on railway trains that run across the two mile portage between Atlin Lake and Carcross on Lake Marsh in Yukon Territory. In the summer the train makes the trip almost daily, and for many years a pair, or succession of pairs, has made its nest and raised its young in one of the open baggage cars. Members of the train crew have taken an interest in the birds and put up a cigar box for a safe place for their nest. Here the family seems to prosper, undisturbed by people, baggage and clatter of the train."

Greenland was first settled in the 10th century.

Judge Has Problem What To Do With Huge Fortune

Baltimore, June 21.—(AP)—A judge today had the problem of what to do with $5,790,000 earned by the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions.

The question: Shall it be distributed now to one group of heirs or turned back to the estate to earn more money for all.

The Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Baltimore, named trustee by the Winston-Salem tobacco king before he died in 1918, went to court to find the answer.

Judge Joseph Sherbow heard testimony and will make the decision shortly.

The point at issue arose under the will of Mrs. J. Edward Johnston, who previously was married to Reynolds and bore him four children. She left a $6,000,000 estate of her own when she died in 1924, three days after giving birth to J. Edward Johnston, Jr.

Safe deposit and other Reynolds heirs believe the earnings should be lumped into the trusts.

Mrs. Johnston's three surviving Reynolds children and J. Edward Johnston, Jr., argue that they should be given the earnings right now and as follows:

Johnston, 26, and a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y., $2,538,000.

Richard J. Reynolds, 43, $773,925.

Mrs. Mary R. Reynolds, 40, $1,358,800.

Princess Weds Texan In Germany

Hechingen, Germany, June 21.—(AP)—Blonde Princess Cecile of Hohenzollern, granddaughter of Germany's last kaiser, and Clyde Harris of Amarillo, Texas, were married this morning.

The royal Hohenzollern flag of black and white, with a black eagle, flew in the bright sunshine over the 1,000-year-old castle Hohenzollern as the couple, both 31, exchanged their vows.

The who's who of German royalty attended the ceremony.

Harris, an interior decorator, will take his royal bride from this great castle to an apartment in Amarillo.

Famous Herd Is Up For Auction

Winston-Salem, N.C., June 21.—(AP)—A famous herd of dairy cattle went on the auction block today. They were 260 head of red Polls, an English breed of hornless cattle.

The herd was the property of the late S. Clay Williams, a Reynolds Tobacco Company executive. The sale was at Win-Mock Farms, the estate on the Yadkin River in Davie County formerly owned by the Williams family.

Missing Child Found Drowned

Dillon, S. C., June 21.—(AP)—The body of Johnny Shafer, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shafer, was found today in the Little Pee Dee river.

The boy disappeared last night from the summer home of his wealthy parents. His nude body was found about a mile down stream about 8 a. m. today.

Mrs. Shafer, sitting on the bank while the search progressed, became hysterical as one of the approaching boatmen cried out:

"We've got him. He's dead."

The little fellow was found by Lawrence Furr and Lawrence Bloom who were among several hundred who searched the river and dense swamp for the lad.

A possibility that the boy had been kidnapped was being studied by sheriff Dixon Lee while the searchers were removing the body from the murky waters. There were no marks of violence.

The child was last seen in the yard at 7:05 p. m. He was missed 10 minutes later and a wide search was started. Bloodhounds were brought from Columbia.

Johnny had slipped off his only clothing—a pair of trunks—before he was missed.

He evidently fell into the river and was swept downstream. The little body came to rest in a small cove.

The kidnap theory was discarded.

Town's Hero

Flint, Mich., June 21.—(AP)—Bongo, a ringtailed monkey, is a hero in town here.

When a second floor fire broke out in the Joseph Potvin home, Bongo was rescued by his master. But he wouldn't stay rescued, Potvin said.

As soon as he was free outside, Bongo dashed back into the house, though clearly outdistanced, re-entered in pursuit. He met Bongo sliding down the baluster, in his arms his prized possession, a black cloth lamb.

W. F. Veasey, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mayo, Miss Willie Mae Cherry, Miss Sue Henderson, Paul Taylor and Irvin Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes presented Miss Williams and Mr. Congleton a knife and fork in their chosen pattern of silver and lovely figurines.

Mrs. Tillie B. Smith assisted the hostess in serving.

Merchants Back Rest Room Plans

Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association last night unanimously endorsed the proposal to reopen a public rest room in the city and urged that the city and county administrations furnish the necessary funds to provide the project.

The local Business and Professional Women's Club has agreed to look after and operate the rest room if the funds are provided for the same.

The directors also heard a report from V. C. Fleming Jr. on plans for the Farmers Day to be held in Greenville, probably early in September. Fleming reported that the plans would include a parade, outstanding speaker, pie-eating, husband calling, hog-calling contests, greasy pole climbing, county beauty contest, square and round dances and other features.

In view of the numerous solicitations being carried on almost daily in the city in the name of charity, the board went on record as favoring the reference of all such pleas to the Service League committee that administers the Community Chest Emergency Fund.

Reports on the recent meeting of the North Carolina Merchants Association in Charlotte were made by L. S. Garris and Mrs. Cora Powell.

Chairman Larry Averette reported activities of the Trade Promotion Committee and stated that his committee would cooperate in every way with the Farmers Day committee.

Bridal Couple Honored At Dinner

Miss Vera Williams and Beverly Congleton, whose wedding was solemnized in the First Baptist church of Washington, N. C., on June 19, were honored by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barnes at their home in Chocowinity on June 15.

The living room was arranged with beautiful white and pastel floral designs.

Emphasizing the bridal motif all white was used in the dining room. The central table covered with handsome cutwork linen cloth, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white gladioli and lace fern. White tapers and white floral arrangements were used on the buffet and elsewhere in the room.

The bridal motif was carried out in the attractive place cards.

Miss Williams was presented an all white corsage.

A two course dinner was served to the following guests: Miss Williams and Mr. Congleton, the bride and bridegroom-elect, Mr. and Mrs.

Young Lukemia Victim Gives Up

Laurel, Miss., June 21—(P)—Eight-year-old Billy Anderson, stricken by lukemia, watched quietly during the burial services of his sister Betty Joyce, also a victim of the blood destroying disease.

Then he said to his mother: "I don't want to go to New Orleans for treatment again. It didn't do Betty Joyce any good and it won't me, either."

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glaze Anderson, took the children to specialists in New Orleans three weeks ago.

The specialists said neither child could live long. Billy's case of lukemia was more advanced than Betty Joyce's.

The five-year-old girl died Saturday and was buried yesterday. Billy, older and stronger, still withstands the ravages of the disease, but without hope.

The Andersons have a third child—Rose Marie, nine months old.

Tobs Edge Locals In Hit-Happy Game With Crucial Kinston Series On Tap

Wilson Takes 11-10 Win As Greenies Use Five Hurlers; Varney Bats In Six Runs; Kinston Here Tonight

By BERT MOYE

The Wilson Tobs squared their two-game series with Pappy Williams and his boys over in Wilson last night as they edged out an 11-10 win over the Greenies.

The Tobs rallied for two runs in the seventh frame on four walks and a timely single by Al Rehm for their margin of victory after trailing by a 10-9 score at this point.

The Tobs jumped on starting pitcher Junior Yohn for four runs in the first frame when they collected five hits which included a three-run homer by Manager Ross Morrow and another by Emmett Check, Dingler and Roberts by Dickens.

The Greenies trailed until the third frame when they went out in front by scoring five runs on two hits. Clark Gardner led off with a single. Sugs forced Gardner at second for the first out. Strauss and Tepedino were walked to load the bases. Mauney was walked, forcing in Sugs, and then Sid Varney slammed a homer over the left centerfield wall to clear the bases.

Four more runs were added in the fourth frame when Sugs, Strauss and Tepedino walked to load the bases. Willie Mauney singled, bringing in Sugs and Strauss, and Sid Varney came through with a two-bagger to bring in Tepedino and Mauney.

The final tally of the Greenies came in the fifth frame when Pete Gillespie singled, stole second, and Bob Cohen doubled to bring him home.

The Tobs scored one run in the fourth on two singles and a double and then came back in the fifth to score four more runs on a double, single, two walks and Emmett Check's second homer of the evening with two mates aboard.

Manager Pappy Williams used five Greenie hurlers in last night's affair, but none of the hurlers seemed to be effective. Yohn, who pitched to only seven men in two-thirds of an inning, allowed five hits and four runs. Raymond Sugs, who pitched two and one-third frames, allowed six hits and four runs. Bob allowed six hits and four runs. Bob allowed six hits and four runs.

The Tobs used a total of four hurlers, who gave up ten hits, walked nine men and struck out six Greenies.

The Greenies open a crucial series with the Kinston Eagles here tonight in the first of a three-game series. On Wednesday night they journey over to Kinston to play the Eagles a twin bill. Don Purdy is expected to be the starting hurler for the Greenies in tonight's game.

Rocky Graziano Returns To Ring In Bout Tonight

Wilmington, Del., June 21—(AP)—Rocky Graziano returns to the fight warfared tonight after an absence of a year with his sights set on a shot at the middleweight crown he once held.

The one-time boss of the 160 pounders takes on Buffalo's Bobby Claus at Wilmington's ball park. The bout is slated for 10 rounds but if the product of New York's Lower East Side is the Rocky of old it'll probably be over long before the scheduled time.

It'll be Graziano's first competitive appearance in the ring since Tony Zale took back the middleweight title June 10, 1948. Rocky had won the title a year previous from Zale.

Robinson Leads National Hitting

New York, June 21—(AP)—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, seeking to become the first right-handed hitting National League batting champion since 1942, enjoys a commanding 11-point edge over his nearest rival.

The Dodger infielder tacked nine points to his mark during the past week to increase his average to a lofty .358—including games through Sunday. Trailing the Dodger star is infielder Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals. Red is moving along at .347 gait.

Twelve times Walter Johnson led the American League pitchers in total strikeouts.

Boys' League Baseball

Dodgers vs. Reds

W. Greenville's Reds continued their winning streak at the expense of the Dodgers from Third St. yesterday morning at the W. Greenville field, winning by the score of 15-4. Hard hitting coupled with the wildness of the Dodger pitchers made the game easy for the Reds.

Gene Hudson with a double and triple and Tommy Smith with two singles were the leaders for the Reds. Harrington, for the Dodgers, led his team with three singles. Tigers vs. Athletics

Scoring six times in the final inning after the A's had knotted the count in the sixth inning enabled the Tigers to win over the A's yesterday morning at Third St. Park. The A's came from behind to tie the score at eight all in the sixth but then the Tigers rattled base hits all over the field in the final inning to win. Walter Perry, Billy Tishman, Larry Flye, Bobby Williams and Storcham were the leaders for the Tigers. Virgilus Haymes was the only man for the A's to hit safely twice.

Wolves vs. Red Sox

The Red Sox went down to defeat for the first time this year yesterday at the Training School. The Wolves of West Greenville gave them a good "thrashing" by the score of 11-4. The Sox were held to four hits by Whitey Pollard. Taft, Williams and Gardner with singles and Clark Nobles with a triple were the hitters for the Sox. Wingate with three singles was the leader for the winners.

Giants vs. Cubs

The Cubs of Third St. had a big third inning yesterday when they scored eleven times and then coasted to an easy victory over the Giants from the Training School. The Giants had trouble with their pitchers; the chukkers were wild and when they did get the ball over the plate, the Cubs slammed out base hits. John Laws with four for four, Larry Flye with three for four, and Johnson, Bray and Northrop with two each were the leaders for the Cubs. Edwards, Dick Evans, Bob Bilbro, Arthur and Dunn got the hits for the Giants.

Cards vs. Indians

The Cards won over the Indians in the final game of the day by the score of 8 to 5. The winners scored four runs in the first inning and were never headed. Harold Edwards with a double and single and Nobles with two singles were the leading hitters for the Cards. Duff, Johnson, Dunn, Conley, Griffith and Conway were the hitters for the Indians. W. L. Allen Jr. of the Indians came up with the fielding gem of the day when he snagged what appeared to be a sure hit and threw the runner out at first.

Schedule for Wednesday

Athletics vs. Braves, Training School, 9:30 a.m.
Yanks vs. Reds, West Greenville, 9:30 a.m.
Cards vs. Wolves, West Greenville, 2:30 p.m.
Red Sox vs. Indians, Training School, 2:30 p.m.

Relief Expert

Philadelphia—(AP)—Jim Konstanty of the Phillies turned in one of the season's finest relief jobs when he hurled scoreless ball during the last nine innings of the Phillies 4-3 eighteen victory over the Pirates. He gave seven hits and walked two for his first win of the season.

Sunbeam Downs VFW In Softball Opening Contest

Today's Game

Rotary vs. Kiwanis

In a well-played game last evening at Third Street diamond, Sunbeam Bread defeated the V.F.W. team by the score of 7-2. A good sized crowd witnessed the game, which was highlighted by some sparkling catches by Leftfielder Clark of the V.F.W. team and a home run in the first inning by Heidreich of Sunbeam Bread.

Around the Circuit:—Harry Soufas is now acting manager of the Kinston Eagles and Manager Steve Collins, knocked out with a bad back, has been placed on the disabled list. . . . Soufas got his first win last night after suffering two defeats. . . . Pitcher Joe Hines, a LaGrange boy, who played early in the season for the Eagles, has been signed up again. . . . The Bugs have signed a veteran pitcher, Steve Adams, and a new catcher, Earl Norton, lately of Kinston. Adams is from Bridgeport, Conn. . . . The Jays have two rookie first basemen working out with the club. One of them is Billy Batton, sent there by the Raleigh Club in the Carolina League. The other is a fellow by the name of Carter. . . . George Hemple has been released by the Tarboro Athletics and Elwood Graham, the Temple University outfielder, has been signed. . . . Luis Olmo, former Wilson Tob outfielder, is reporting to the Brooklyn Dodgers for more major league campaigning. Olmo, who was playing with the Pastors Club in Venezuela, has been awarded his release by the Venezuelan baseball commission in order that he may return to the Dodgers. He will join the team Saturday. . . . Danny Gardella, another former Tob outfielder, says he will not try to return to the New York Giants, and will continue to play semi-pro ball in Canada.

The Dodgers upped by five runs the season's major league scoring record by one club in a game when they tallied 20 times against Cincinnati June 12 with a ten-run inning accounting for most of the damage.

Unable to win a game in 15 relief and starting roles, Dick Starr of the Browns on June 9 made his initial victory of the season, the first shut-out suffered by the Red Sox since August 25, 1948, with an 11 to 0 score.

First amateur to win the U. S. Open golf title was Francis Quimet who, at the age of 20 captured the crown in 1913.

Sidelights:—Really believe what Pappy Williams told your writer the other day. "When we go out on the field to play we are out to win that particular game and let the next day's game take care of itself." He used a total of five hurlers in last night's tilt with Lewey being credited with the loss. The other Greenie pitchers who didn't see action in last night's game were Don Purdy and Norman Clark; Don Purdy is expected to take the mound here tonight against Kinston. My guess is that Sam McLawhorn will be on the mound for the Eagles.

. . . Last night was the 20th loss the Greenies have suffered away from home; they have won 11.

Odds Shrink On Eve Of Fight Heavyweights Evenly Matched

Chicago, June 21—(AP)—For the first time since Joe Louis cornered the heavyweight boxing market 12 years ago and whipped all comers, a real even-Stephen contest for the title has shaped up in the Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott scrap tomorrow night.

Although the bout has been dubbed the "slim pickins'" heavyweight championship, it sincerely presents two fired-up contestants who are not afraid of each other and appear evenly matched.

Louis, before he retired and tossed up his crown for the Charles-Walcott winner, always was an overwhelming favorite who usually carried through right on schedule in cut-and-dried fashion.

About the nearest he came to being dismantled was by Walcott in December of 1947. Jersey Joe floored him and carried the attack through 15 rounds only to lose a decision which still is mighty controversial.

Walcott, the 35-year-old family man from Camden, N.J., and 27-year-old Charles, unmarried Cincinnati slugger who has lost only four times in eight years, are expected to enter the ring at odds of about 6-5, take your pick.

A definite swing to Walcott has been reported with the present odds dropping from 7-5 to 13-10 for Ezzard.

Charles' youth is being upheld by his backers as his most decisive edge. Those who favor Walcott like his weight advantage of 195 pounds to Ezzard's 180.

Walcott's only fighting in the last year has been done in exhibitions. Charles has been busy leaving the light-heavy ranks which he dominated to knockout such 200-pounders as Joe Baksi and Johnny Haynes.

The big question seems to be whether the aging Walcott, who has diligently done 300 miles of road work and nearly 130 rounds of sparring in preparing for his third crack at the heavyweight bauble, has enough gas to last 15 rounds in case there is no earlier kayo.

St. Andrews, Scotland, June 21—(AP)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, former British amateur champion, and Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., winner of the masters title in 1948, head a small American delegation that will seek the British open golf championship next month.

The tournament will be played July 4-8 over the Royal St. George's Sandwich course. A field of 245 will compete.

Other American entries, besides Stranahan and Harmon, are: Vic Ghersi of Deal, N. J., and Johnny Bulla of Vernon, Pa., touring professionals; Bob Sweeny, British amateur winner in 1937; Capt. Ed King, with the U. S. army in Germany; Willie Hunter of Los Angeles; Art Clark of Huntington, W. Va.

Bobby Locke of South Africa probably will be the pre-tournament favorite in the absence of Henry Cotton, the defending titlist who didn't enter.

Unlucky In Brooklyn

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Johnny Hopp couldn't buy a hit as a Brooklyn Dodger. After the Pirates dealt him to Brooklyn for Marvin Rakley, Hopp played eight games and went hitless in 15 trips to the plate. When the teams switched players, Hopp blasted out four hits, including three doubles, in his first 10 at bats upon returning to the Pirates.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Chapter 22
Noon came. At one side of the trail between Cougar and Briscoe stood the wagon. Behind it, out of the traces but still wearing their harness, the two horses munched oats from a box on the lowered tailgate. A little distance away a fire burned in a horseshoe of flat stones and on the fire was a steaming coffee pot. Beside the fire stood an iron kettle containing beans and bacon.

Jeff went to the basket and distributed plates and cups and knives. Forks were luxuries which had been deliberately left behind. "Help yourselves to the beans," boys," he invited. "Jake, how about carving the bread for us."

His four companions helped themselves to the beans and bread and squatted on the ground, their plates on their laps. Their rifles were within reach, and their six-guns were belted about their waists.

"Shore is good bread," said Wilks. "Jake, that woman of yore knows how to cook, and that ain't no mistake. Ain't got a sister, has she, that's heart-whole and fancy free?"

"She has," answered Jake. "Name's Matilda. Six feet high and can throw a yearlin' steer with one hand."

Wilks shook his head. "Sounds right masculine to me. She'd never be able to bake bread like this. Rustle the coffee, Jeff; it shore smells good."

They ate with the gusto of healthy men, shoveling the beans and bacon with their knives and washing it down with the hot coffee. "You shore know how to make java," Deem complimented Jeff.

"How about another shot?" Again the coffee made the rounds; then Jeff went to the water keg on the wagon, refilled the pot, and from the bag in the basket threw in a couple handfuls of coffee. They talked casually while they ate, about the murders of Sam Tolson and John Stover, and finally about the attempt to rob Hank Wolfanger. At their prompting Jeff gave them a first-hand account of the latter affair.

He sat erect and vigilant as he talked, his eyes flitting about the horizon. This was his responsibility and he was taking no chances. They finished the dried-apple pie and voted it the best they had eaten, and by the time the pies had vanished the coffee was boiling again.

"One more cup," said Wilks, "and then we'd better be hoppin' along." Jeff refilled the cups and set the pot beside the fire. He sat down on the ground and sipped thoughtfully, conversation lagged.

"Ho, hum!" yawned Wilks, and stretched out on his back. Jeff was watching the trail. Suppose, he was thinking, a rider came over that distant ridge. It was too far for recognition. He knew just what he would do. His horse stood close beside him; he'd warn the boys, mount up and ride to intercept the stranger.

He yawned and blinked his eyes. Never thought he'd feel sleepy on a job like this. Must be the hot coffee and the heat from the fire.

Suppose a bunch of them bobbed suddenly into sight. The boys would make for the wagon while he rode.

ing him. Everything was blurred, but through the haze he recognized Glenn.

"Wh—wh—?" he said thickly. "The wagon—the gold—where is it?"

Jeff staggered to his feet, Glenn supporting him. His vision cleared a bit and he looked about him. Wilks was still snoring. Deem was on his face, Wheeler still lay on his side. Todd Stone's body had sagged at the waist and he was sleeping with his head in his lap. Just a few seconds—

Seconds! Jeff glanced at the sun: it was close to the western horizon. They had slept the afternoon away! Suddenly wide awake, he sent his gaze toward the place where the wagon had been. Then he swore a wild, bitter, understanding oath. The wagon with its precious cargo was gone!

Tobacco Curing Starts In Pitt

By CHESTER WALSH

Firing of tobacco barns in the Pitt County area is expected to get into full swing within the next week or ten days, farmers in town today predicted. Curing of the bright leaf tobacco started several days ago. Farmers report that seasons have been favorable and that rains have been timely and of the soil-saturating type.

Rainfall in this area this year has been about the same as last year in volume, but this year the showers were light and prevailed over an extended area. Last year they were spotted. When tobacco was transplanted rains favored the quick rooting of plants and they got away to a good start.

Cool nights retarded growth somewhat, but when the plants in the field started growing and spreading their leaves across the rows farmers smiled hopefully for an abundant harvest.

Today, S. T. Porter Sr. reported to the Daily Reflector that Bibbel Porter, on the M. K. Porter farm, better known as the old W. H. Porter farm, near Community Chapel, was putting in a 16- by 20-foot barn of tobacco today.

The plants, Oxford No. 1, a black shank resistant type, were set out in the field the third week in April. Porter said the first pulling of the crop will net from 100 to 125 sticks per acre.

Gov't . . .

Mr. Truman. For example:

First, he must offer his reorganization plans to Congress. (He offered the seven plans yesterday after signing the act into law.)

Then he must wait 60 days to see what Congress thinks. If Congress doesn't act within 60 days to kill the plan, Mr. Truman can go ahead with it.

A plan can be killed in one of two ways:

1. A full majority vote of either house could do it. In the Senate, with 66 members, 49 would have to vote against the plan. In the House, a majority of the 435 members would be 218.

2. If Congress quits for the year within the 60 days after Mr. Truman has offered a plan, that kills it for the year. He will have to wait until the next year before offering another.

Under the reorganization act, Mr. Truman can abolish or shift agencies created by Congress. But he cannot interfere with or take away any of the powers that belong to Congress. For example:

Congress decides what taxes shall be. The internal revenue bureau collects the taxes. Mr. Truman cannot suddenly tell the bureau that from now on it will decide tax rates, not Congress.

Mr. Truman was able to offer the seven plans yesterday as soon as he signed the reorganization act because he had them ready. They had been prepared by his own staff, not the Hoover Commission.

But—they closely followed the Hoover commission recommendations, although not all the Hoover recommendations were covered.

Later plans to be offered by Mr. Truman this year and in 1950 will cover more of the Hoover recommendations. It's a long-range job.

Congratulated For Safety Record

Carolina Trailways' driver P. L. Smith, left, is being congratulated above by John H. Thomas, N.C. Operating manager for this bus company, for having operated his coach for 12 consecutive years without a chargeable accident. Smith was high man for this year when 58 safety awards were presented to drivers by Carolina Trailways at its quarterly safety meetings completed last week. Smith has been driving buses since 1932 and is now driving daily between Raleigh and Charlotte, N.C.

Otis O. Barnes, Safety Director of Carolina Trailways, reports that 105 drivers of this company hold master certificates for 5 years or more of driving without accident. This represents 38 per cent of all drivers employed by the company. One can tell by the background that the theme of this safety series was "Courtesy is Good Business."

Seek Speed-Up On Reorganizing

Washington, June 21—(P)—Congressional leaders today sought a way of approving President Truman's seven new plans to reorganize government agencies without keeping Congress in session until August 20.

Under the reorganization law passed last week, the proposals Mr. Truman submitted yesterday normally would not become effective until they had been before Congress 60 days without being rejected by either house.

New York, June 21—(AP)—The stock market just barely maintained headway today after an opening rally failed to take hold.

Business dropped abruptly following the morning buying rush. Turnover was at the rate of around 800,000 shares for the full session.
