Senate T-H Law Foes Said United

Opponents Claim Ability To Knock Out Emergency Injunction Power; Unifying Factor In New Plant-Seizure Plan By Lucas

Washington, June 24—(AP)—Senators fighting against the Taft-Hartley Act claimed today that they are unified at last and will knock out its emergency injunction power.

Whether or not their claim proved correct, it was clear that the Senate's parliamentary situation had changed drastically.

A vote on the crucial question was unlikely today and may not come until Tuesday.

The unifying factor was an unexpected move yesterday by Senator Lucas of Illinois, the leader of the Senate Democrats.

He introduced a new "plant seizure" proposal which he told reporters President Truman "would obviously approve."

Two other proposals for government seizure of plants to delay "national emergency" strikes had already been voted down by the Senate.

Lucas introduced his plan in such a way as to make injunctions the big issue. He put the proposal in the form of an amendment to an "injunction-or-seizure" proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

The Lucas amendment would simply remove the Taft injunction authority and leave in the seizure part. Taft was caught by surprise, as he later acknowledged to reporters. But he fought back hard and swiftly.

He staved off a vote yesterday. Then, with his support, Senator Holland (D-Fla.) and three other senators—Hoy (D-N.C.), Bricker (R-Ohio), and Schoepfel (R-Kans.)—introduced a new 60-day injunction proposal, with seizure taken out completely. This was offered under such parliamentary conditions as to be voted on before the Lucas amendment.

Thus the issue was narrowing down in the Senate's battle over strikes imperilling the national health or safety. The big choice now is between the Holland and Lucas amendments. The decision will be close.

Lucas told reporters: "What happens here may determine the whole course of the labor bill."

The Senate is debating the Administration bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. Four compromise amendments have already been adopted, making the bill look a little more like Taft-Hartley. Taft wants to go further and write into the bill a long list of important Taft-Hartley features.

Lucas told reporters his amendment was the only way "we could unite all our forces," adding: "I believe we have a very good opportunity to defeat the Holland amendment and carry mine."

Suffering Over, Recovery Near; Dies In Accident

Mt. Pleasant, Pa., June 24—(P)—Ten-year-old Catherine Tully died in an automobile accident shortly after doctors said her years of suffering were over.

Mary Catherine had suffered from a bone disease for years. She looked forward to the day when surgeons would tell her she would walk without crutches.

Yesterday, while in Pittsburgh for an examination, the surgeons told her she was on the way to recovery. On the way home the car in which Mary Catherine was riding hit a concrete abutment. She died without regaining consciousness.

Russian Difficulties

John Foster Dulles, Student Of Russian Affairs, Indicates Intense Struggle May Be Shaping Up Within Soviet And Satellites; The Evidence; Religious Fight

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

John Foster Dulles says "events may be shaping up to a new and intense struggle" within the Soviet Union and the satellite countries. He adds that "Soviet leadership is having to contend with problems in the satellite countries where there is steadily growing revolt against the extreme intolerance of Soviet Communism."

Speaking of Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland, Dulles declares that the people of these countries "will not willingly accept rigorous conformity to a pattern of life made for them in Moscow."

I quote Mr. Dulles because he long has been a student of Soviet Russian affairs, and has exceptional opportunities to secure information. He is a member of the United States delegation to the United Nations, is Republican adviser on Foreign policy to Secretary of State Acheson, and attended the big four Foreign Ministers Council meeting just concluded in Paris.

Weeks Says 1946 Tobacco Surplus Sold At No Loss

Cooperative Stabilization Corporation Lists No Net Gains To Date

Raleigh, N. C., June 24—(P)—The Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation has sold "without any loss" the 66,000,000 pounds of tobacco taken under loan from the 1946 crop, members were told today.

In his report to the annual membership meeting, Manager-Secretary L. T. Weeks said that since it started operations in August 1946, stabilization has taken 404,000,000 pounds of tobacco.

It has on hand about 20,000,000 of the 232,000,000 pounds taken from the 1947 crop and about 80,000,000 of the 106,000,000 pounds taken from the 1948 crop, he added.

Weeks said that stabilization avoided a loss on the 1946 crop despite many obstacles, including a drop in support prices in 1947 which meant prices on some grades of the loan tobacco had to be readjusted.

There were no net gains on the 1946 crop, he reported, which means there will be no distribution of gains to the members.

But, he said, "if we are able to sell the remaining 20,000,000 pounds of the 1947 crop tobacco on anywhere as near a favorable basis as we have sold the 212,000,000 pounds that have been sold there will be a net gain distribution to be made on the 1947 crop."

B. L. Pike of Raleigh, stabilization treasurer, reported that more than 328,000 flue-cured growers in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia and Florida have paid in common stock membership, at $5 per grower, about $1,640,000. About 280 preferred stockholders, he said have paid in $28,000.

He added that 82 per cent of this total has been invested and already has earned $31,000 in interest. Cash on hand as of April 30, Pike reported, totaled $192,000, with $1,415,000 invested in federal government securities, and $221,000 in land, building, office equipment and other assets. Liabilities against the stockholders' funds on April 30 were $61,704,000, leaving a net investment of $1,704,000, he said.

Carl T. Hicks of Walstonburg, stabilization president presented a general review of the organization's activities. Stabilization members can let the corporation take their tobacco under loan when it sells for less than one bid above support prices.

Protestants Get In Czech Fight

By the Associated Press

Protestants in Czechoslovakia—a minority group—were reported to be rallying behind the Roman Catholic Church's struggle for existence in that communist state.

The Protestants, now numbering 1,000,000 adherents, have been a traditional foe of Roman Catholicism in Czechoslovakia since the time of John Huss.

A Western Protestant clergyman visiting in Prague said "We are next and we are lost if the Catholics succumb to state subjugation." There was no official Protestant pronouncement on the issue.

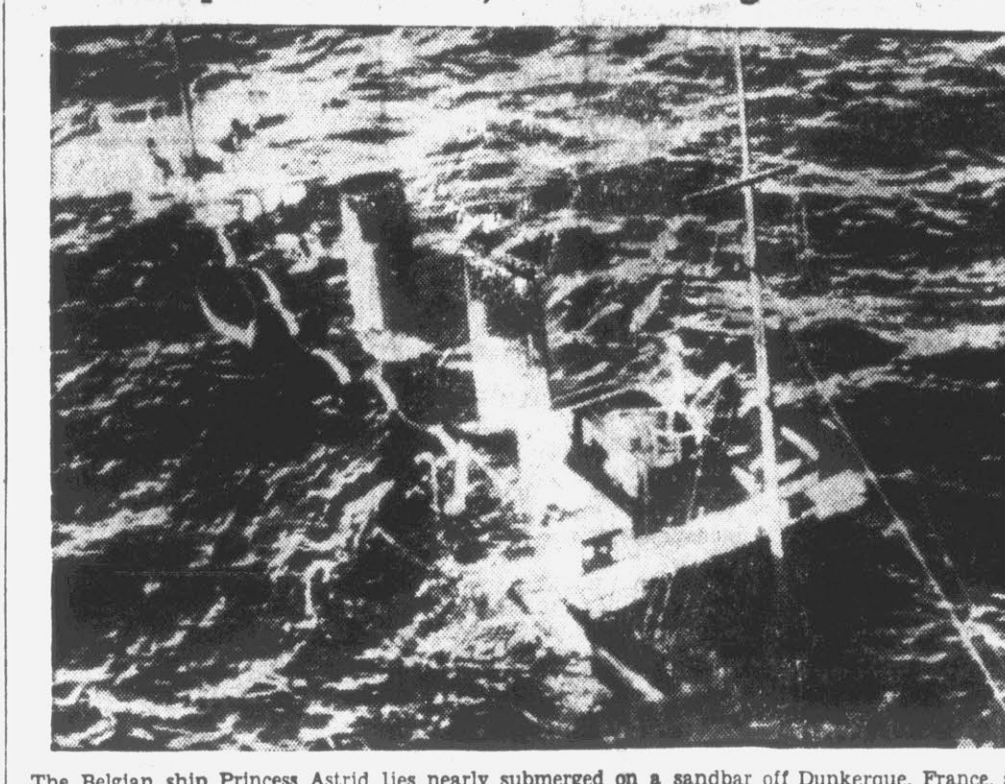

FUTURE FIRE ALARM

Hendersonville, N. C., June 24—(P)—A pearly sky great clouds of smoke as he passed Justus Pharmacy on main street late Wednesday night. He jerked a fire alarm signal. Trucks sirened up. Everybody looked a bit sheepish. The folks in the drug store had just fogged it with fly spray.

Ship Strikes Mine, Sinks In English Channel

The Belgian ship Princess Astrid lies nearly submerged on a sandbar off Dunkerque, France, after striking a floating mine adrift since World War II. The mine exploded and ripped a hole in the ship. Five Belgian seamen were trapped in the engine room by escaping steam and went down with the vessel. Aboard were 415 passengers but all were rescued. Twenty were injured. The ship was in regular service on the English Channel between France and Dover, England. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Urges Postmasters Be Out Of Politics

President Asks Legislation Authorizing Postmaster General To Appoint All Postmasters; Wants New Postal Rates

Washington, June 24—(AP)—President Truman today recommended legislation aimed at removing postmaster appointments from politics.

In a special message to Congress he urged enactment of a law to authorize the Postmaster General to appoint all postmasters subject only to provisions of the Civil Service and Classification acts.

This would mean that the time-honored custom of the President appointing first, second and third class postmasters would be abandoned. Senate confirmation of the presidential choices likewise would no longer be a part of the routine.

Postmasters theoretically have been under the Civil Service system for some time. But legislators frequently have had a hand in picking one of the first three passing the examination and, furthermore, the Senate for years has had final say on confirmation. Fourth class postmasters are appointed by the Postmaster General and do not have to be confirmed. These are for the smaller offices.

The new legislation requested by Mr. Truman is in line with a recommendation of the government reorganization commission headed by former President Hoover.

To put the $600,000,000 Postoffice Department on a more efficient and businesslike basis, the President urged anew that postal rates be brought in line with increased costs of operations. He predicted a deficit for the fiscal year 1950 starting July 1, on the basis of current rates, or more than $400,000,000. This, he said, would result primarily from carrying a volume of business "below cost."

Byrnes Ready To Talk Anything Except Politics

Charleston, S.C., June 24—(AP)—James F. Byrnes is willing to talk on any subject but one—politics.

A reporter went to the summer home of the former Secretary of State as the Isle of Palms yesterday to ask him if he's going to run for governor of South Carolina. "I just won't talk politics with anybody," was Byrnes' comment.

He had the same attitude when a long distance call from a Spartanburg newspaper located him yesterday afternoon. "I have no comment to make at all," the former New Dealer said when asked about his future political intentions.

At least three South Carolina newspapers have published reports that a movement is afoot to have Byrnes seek the post in 1950.

Navy Guards Keep Secret Of Fire From Policemen

Washington, June 24—(AP)—A top-secret naval building always under heavy guard today was the center of a three-alarm fire that also threatened a row of large munitions warehouses.

The fire was reported under control at 3 a. m. (EST). One man familiar with the Navy installation said if the flames had spread to the warehouses just a few feet away "the entire southeastern part of Washington would have blown up."

The area is considered so secret that shore patrolmen with drawn revolvers kept even Washington police, including the chief of police from entering. They said heavy damage was inevitable.

Time Running Out For Coal Operators' Talks

Bluefield, W. Va., June 24—(AP)—Time was running out today on hard-pressed Southern soft coal operators, who went home for the weekend with nothing to show for another week of contract bargaining with John L. Lewis' union.

The month-old conference here actually was in joint session for only a half hour yesterday. Negotiators for the Southern Coal Producers Association spent the rest of the day in a secret caucus trying to decide what their next move will be. As to what went on in yesterday's long, hush-hush caucus, SCA President Joseph E. Moody said only that the operators "reexamined all matters before this conference" and that they were more or less starting from scratch again on contract proposals.

Housing Victory Margin Boosted

Washington, June 24—(P)—Amid signs they had overestimated the strength of a southern revolt, Democratic leaders today boosted the margin by which they expect the House to pass a trimmed-down housing bill.

Rep. Priest of Tennessee, the assistant Democratic floor leader, said after counting noses that the measure will sail through the house with 40 to 50 votes to spare.

Up to yesterday, administration forces had counted on no better than a 30-vote edge, with much depending on how Southern Democrats voted.

The house begins balloting on amendments today, after a long and bitter debate. The final showdown on the bill probably will not occur until next week.

Priest, whose job it is to keep a running check on how votes are stacking up, told reporters "a minimum of 30 and probably more" Republicans will vote for the bill, even though the house GOP policy committee has taken a firm stand against it.

The Republican opposition kept up a running battle against the legislation yesterday with more shouts that it is a drift to "Socialism" and "economic slavery" and would imperil the financial position of the government.

Bell Arthur Has 470 X-Ray Total

For the first time since the x-ray drive started in Pitt County the unit stationed at Five Points in Greenville failed to lead the other four units in the number of pictures taken daily.

Yesterday, Unit No. 2, stationed at Bell Arthur, jumped into the daily lead with 470 x-rays being reported while the unit at Five Points made 310 pictures. The total for the county yesterday was 1,305.

The official total of x-rays for the drive through Thursday stood at 17,349.

Bus Overtakes And 34 Injured

Baltimore, June 24—(AP)—At least 34 persons were injured today when a New York-Washington Greyhound bus overturned on U.S. Route 40 east of here.

No deaths were reported. A spokesman at Johns Hopkins Hospital said at least 15 persons were receiving treatment in the accident room there, but that none appeared to be seriously injured.

Hint Resentment At Pressure For Arms Aid Action

Senators Say Administration Asking Too Much, Too Fast At Present

Washington, June 24—(AP)—Some resentment smoldered in the Senate today against the State Department's pressure for action on a $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program.

Certain Senate leaders said privately the administration is asking for too much too fast—without regard to the political "timing" of the requests.

There has been talk that President Truman will send the arms aid plan to Congress before the Senate has given its approval to the North Atlantic treaty.

Secretary of State Acheson has told Congress the arms program must be approved at this session to maintain the United States' "firm policy" against Russia.

The Senate leaders who spoke to a reporter said they feel this action will tend to put too much emphasis on the arms plan—and thus lend weight to the arguments of treaty critics who say the pact is nothing more than another military alliance.

One senator put it this way: "The real value of the treaty is that it marshals the vast military industrial and spiritual power of the United States against aggression. The value of that cannot be calculated in dollars."

"But the administration comes along and puts the emphasis on a measly figure of $1,000,000,000. It's absurd to shift the emphasis to the equipment which will be distributed among 11 pact nations. The arms program is being given an importance completely out of relation to its value."

Senate leaders had planned earlier to get the pact ratified by a two-thirds vote of the Senate—and then take up the arms program.

By moving in this fashion, they felt the treaty would escape the opposition which has built up against the two issues may become so intermingled that greater opposition will be aroused against the treaty.

The pact must be approved only by the Senate—but the arms plan must get majority approval in both houses of Congress.

X-Ray Campaign Ends On July 7

Persons To Haxe X-Rays Re-Taken Urged Act Promptly

A spokesman for the X-ray campaign which is being carried on in Pitt County today urged persons who have received cards to have X-rays retaken to do so before the units leave the county on July 7.

It was stated that approximately 350 persons have been sent cards to have X-rays retaken, and about 100 have reported for additional X-rays.

It was emphasized by the county health department this morning that a card to have an X-ray retaken does not mean that the first X-ray revealed any indication that the person had tuberculosis. The spokesman for the X-ray units said the additional X-ray is necessary because mechanical difficulty at the time the first X-ray was taken caused the picture to be no good.

After the X-rays have been checked, if the doctors find an indication of the disease, a letter, not a card, is sent to the person asking that he report for another X-ray.

Tourists Spent $200 Millions In State Last Year

Chapel Hill, June 24—(AP)—Tourist expenditures in North Carolina last year were estimated today at $200,000,000.

I. N. Parrish, manager of the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce, made the estimate in a talk to the Southeastern Institute for Commercial Organization Executives.

Parrish estimated tourist expenditures for the year in the Southeastern states at $1,750,000,000. Florida, he said, topped the list with $700,000,000. He estimated that North Carolina and Mississippi were second with $200,000,000 each. Parrish placed tourist expenditures nationally at $9,000,000,000.

Acheson Stresses Reds On Defensive

Premier Passes

Athens, June 24—(P)—Themistokles Sophoulis, Premier of Greece, died today. He was 88 years old. Death occurred at his summer residence at 4:15 p. m. Although he had been ill and was near death last fall, his death at this time was unexpected.

Sophoulis, a key figure in Greek politics for a half century, had been Premier since Sept. 7, 1947, despite the turmoil of Greek politics occasioned by the civil war with the Communist guerrillas.

The venerable leader of the liberal party had been an important cog in the Truman doctrine, under which the aid of the United States went to Greece in her civil war and to Turkey, under the shadow of the Russian Bear.

Coplon Screams Case Is Frame-Up

Cross-Examination Ends On Note Of Hysterical Outburst

Washington, June 24—(AP)—Judith Coplon screamed "I've been framed" over and over today at the end of cross-examination in her espionage trial.

When Prosecutor John M. Kelley, Jr., finally said "That's all," Miss Coplon remained seated on the witness stand. Then for nearly ten minutes she shouted that she had been "entrapped" and "framed."

"This case is so smelly that it smells to high heaven," she cried in hysterical tones. Earlier, in another emotional outburst, she had shouted that "I'm not a communist and I've never been a communist."

When she shouted there was "this conspiracy to frame me" she named those she said had taken part. She leaned forward in the witness chair, and obviously directed her remarks primarily at Kelley and Raymond Wearty, another prosecutor who used to call her "Judy" when she worked for him in the Justice Department.

"I don't understand this case case," she screamed. "I am innocent. I will always say that I'm innocent and that I am being framed."

She said that she did not know whether Valentine A. Gubitchev the Russian with whom she was arrested, was in the "conspiracy" but she screamed that Gubitchev had left her to make a phone call only ten minutes before the FBI seized them.

Kelley finally managed to ask her how many persons participated in the "frame-up."

She said that she did not know but shouted that she was certain that Wearty and H. P. Shapiro, a Justice Department attorney with whom she had admitted holding all-night trysts, were among them.

Governor Due To Get Elevator

Raleigh, June 24—(AP)—The new look for the governor's mansion will include an elevator.

A number of companies have been asked to submit informal proposals for installing a two-passenger elevator, George Cherry, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said yesterday.

Such an installation will cost about $8,500, Cherry estimated. He said the elevator was requested by Governor Scott.

Step-By-Step Action

Just As The Government Has Been Patched Together Over Its Whole History, The Job Of Streamlining It Must Be Done In Pieces; Effort Is Now Planned

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 24—(P)—Streamlining the government would be easy to explain, and understand, if the job could all be done at one crack by the President or Congress. It doesn't work like that. It's a kind of step by step job, taking a lot of time, stabbing in many directions—although now an effort is being made to follow a general plan.

Just as the government itself has been pieced and patched together over its whole history, so the job of trying to streamline it a bit must be done in pieces.

Secretary Of State Emphasizes West Must Keep Advantage By Moving Ahead With Measures Already In Effect Or Proposed

Washington, June 24—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson is convinced that Soviet Russia is now on the defensive in "the struggle for the soul of Europe"—and must be kept that way.

He said yesterday the Paris meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers showed that Russia does not dare follow the example of the West by relaxing its grip in occupied Germany.

Acheson's prescription for keeping the advantage is to drive ahead steadily with the measures already in effect or proposed—Marshall Plan aid, the North Atlantic treaty, and the Administration's arms-for-Europe program.

Two days following his return from Paris, the secretary detailed at a news conference his thoughts on "where we go from here."

First he denounced the attacks of the Communist-led regime in Czechoslovakia on Archbishop Josef Beran as a violation of the "rights of conscience and the decencies of civilization."

Then Acheson launched into an off-the-cuff analysis of the Paris meeting, which the State Department later authorized for direct quotation.

The Big Four conference, Acheson said, served—like the gauge on a steam boiler—to measure the pressures between Russia and the West.

"I think that the recording of this conference is that the position of the West has grown steadily, greatly, in strength and that the position of the Soviet Union in regard to the struggle for the soul of Europe has changed from the offensive to the defensive," he said.

"The significance of this is very important in explaining why no agreement was possible about Germany."

"Being on the defensive, the Soviet Union was forced to take, or did take at any rate, the attitude that it would not relax its hold in any way whatever upon any area which it controlled in Germany. It would not relax its hold on the eastern zone of Germany or on the eastern sector of Berlin."

By contrast, Acheson said, the aim of the West has been to return self-government as quickly as possible, under a system guaranteeing basic human freedoms and containing the necessary safeguards for European and world security.

"The Soviet Union was totally unable to accept that position because that meant relaxing their hold upon what they had," Acheson declared. "This meant that they could no longer carry on this Sovietization, this domination of the life of Germany which they controlled."

"To do so they would have to give, as we have given, the Germans a large voice in the conduct of their own affairs. That the Soviets were apparently afraid to do. They knew that if they did that, they would no longer be able to control what they now hold in Germany," Acheson added.

"We are going forward with our program without any hesitation of any sort. Not the slightest delay has been introduced into our program in any way whatever, and the program is in better shape today than it ever was before."

The secretary described the working arrangement which was reached on Germany as a "very modest document" but of some note because it "relaxes the tension" built up by the Berlin blockade.

And—Congress is considering a bill now to further unify the armed services. The Senate has passed it, but there's no assurance the House will. So nothing may come of this one year.

This bill would give Secretary of Defense Johnson almost complete control over the three branches of the armed forces, Army, Navy and Air Force.

Congress in 1947 passed a law unifying the armed services. But that law allows the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to go directly to the President over the head of their immediate boss, the Secretary of Defense.

The present unification bill would end that. So, Congress has to decide whether it will do a tighter job of unification than it did in 1947.

The freedom of those three secretaries to go over the defense secretary's head was one of the major problems of James V. Forrestal, who jumped to his death from the Naval hospital after resigning the job in the spring. He backed the bill now in Congress.

Last Monday Mr. Truman offered seven reorganization plans to Congress. If the lawmakers don't object he can go through with them. (Much of the reorganization job.) (Continued on page eight) the Kate Oakley, Charles Rumley, Jr., and Billy Gardner are spending the week at Mars Hill attending the W. C. T. U. encampment.

Washington, N. C.—Miss Vera Pearl Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams of Williamston, and James Beverly Congleton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Congleton of Stokes, were married Sunday, June 19, at 5 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. W. B. Harrington officiated, assisted by the Rev. Wistar Hamilton.

A program of nuptial music was given by Mr. Leon Brown Fleming Jr. of Greenville, organist, and Miss Ann Taylor and Miss Beatrice Taylor of Chocowinity, soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette and chantilly lace over white taffeta. The light-fitting bodice was fashioned with a deep yoke which was outlined with the lace and a ruffle of marquisette. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. The full skirt was trimmed with the lace and deep ruffles of marquisette which extended into a cathedral train. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and crystal beads. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Harry Peele of Williamston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a dress of pink organdy over pink taffeta fashioned with a boat neckline, small puffed sleeves, a fitted bodice and a full circular skirt. Her headdress was a ruffled bandeau of matching organdy. Miss Willie Mae Cherry of Washington was maid of honor and wore an orchid dress identical to that of the matron of honor. They both carried bouquets of mixed summer flowers with contrasting ribbons.

Mrs. Grace Brewer of Jameville, Mrs. Bertha Brown of Gateville, Miss Virginia Congleton of Stokes, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Maggie Williams of Williamston, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They wore dresses of aqua and yellow organdy made identical to those of the matron and maid of honor. They also carried bouquets of mixed flowers with contrasting ribbons.

The bridegroom was attended by his father, Mr. J. B. Congleton, as best man. The ushers were J. R. Williams of Williamston, Gordon L. Clark, William Cherry and Archie Reed Tyson of Stokes.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride, wore an orchid dress with lace insertion in the bodice and skirt with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Congleton, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of blue crepe with lace bodice and sleeves and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the teachers in Chocowinity. The house was decorated throughout with ivy and white gladioli. Guests were greeted

Christian Church Announcements
Miss Allison Hearne will sing a special number at the morning service Sunday in the Eighth Street Christian church and the pastor will speak on the theme "Religious Awakenings." There are many different stimuli to which different persons respond religiously and this would lead the Apostle Paul to say that he was willing to become all things to all men to win some of them.

The adult conference of the Christian churches in North Carolina will be held this week at Catawba college in Salisbury, N. C., and the following persons will represent the Eighth Street church: Miss Novella Exum, Mrs. D. M. Nichols, and Dr. and Mrs. Haney. The local pastor will teach a class in personal religious living.

June 30 is the close of the national missionary year of the Disciples of Christ and all the treasurers and secretaries of the various organizations are urged to get their full reports in before that date.

Last Rites Sunday For Sgt. L. F. Jones

Funeral rites for S-Sgt. Linwood P. Jones, 35, son of Mrs. Ernest Jones, 212 Manhattan Avenue, and the late Ernest Jones, who was killed in action over Germany on February 26, 1943, will be conducted at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson & Sons Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. John W. Hardy of St. John's Episcopal Church, Wilmington, with interment in Greenwood Cemetery. The late Sgt. Jones was a member of the American Legion and will present full military honors at the grave. S-Sgt. Jones, a native of Lenou County, came to Greenville with his family to live in 1917, and attended the Greenville City Schools. He was employed for some time by the National Biscuit Company in Greenville and Bristol, Tenn., and also worked in New York and Newport News, Va., before entering service in April, 1942. He was sent overseas in September, 1942, and was a member of the 8th Air Force. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Greenville.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by a sister, Miss Virginia D. Jones, and a brother, Royce Jones, all of Greenville.

Mrs. John A. Ward, Of Williamston, New Auxiliary President

At the closing session of the 1949 American Legion Auxiliary convention held in Raleigh, June 21, Mrs. John A. Ward of Williamston was installed as department president of the 12,000 member organization in the state, after having been unanimously elected by the delegates in the Virginia Dare ball room of the Sir Walter hotel.

Other representatives from the first area elected to department offices were: Mrs. James R. Worsley, Greenville, First Area vice-president, and Mrs. N. L. Alcocke, Rocky Mount, department chaplain. The Fifth District, of which the Greenville unit of the Auxiliary is a member, was awarded the Mrs. George A. Isley Cup for the greatest membership increase during 1948. Mrs. W. C. Harris of Greenville won a prize for her excellent work in National Security. The Greenville unit was also presented a Certificate of Honorable Mention for outstanding rehabilitation work at the Veterans Administration hospital in Fayetteville during the year.

Mrs. H. R. Rogers, Mrs. Arthur B. Corey, Mrs. James R. Worsley, Mrs. T. Frank Taylor and Mrs. G. L.

Nationwide Need For More Roads

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, June 24—North Carolina is by no means alone in need for highway improvement and secondary road construction. Based on a survey of fifteen states (none of which are in the south) the American Public Works Association estimates it will take 47 billion dollars within the next ten years to bring the public road systems in the United States up to date.

Emphasizing the fact that construction is by no means all the cost of a road, the association notes that highway maintenance expense increased from 33 millions in 1921 to more than 1100 millions in 1948. Effects of heavy trucks on maintenance cost is illustrated by the estimate that during that same period the ration of trucks to passenger cars went up from one truck to 7.3 cars, to one truck and bus for 4.5 passenger cars.

Car owners will bear the brunt of highway improvement costs, according to the APWA analysis. Gasoline and license plate taxes are the chief source of highway revenue. Efforts in some states to obtain more road money from other sources did not prove very successful. A number of states increased the gasoline tax levy this year, and highway bond issues were authorized in others.

So far as the report shows, no state other than North Carolina authorized a bond issue or a tax levy specifically for rural roads. Large part of the state spending elsewhere is on primary highway systems with local communities having responsibility for county roads.

Proclamation

Whereas, the City of Greenville, and the public generally, realizes that the health of the community in which we live is of most vital importance to everyone in the prevention of suffering, loss of working days and medical expense, and

Whereas, we realize that flies and insects are carriers of deadly disease germs and with the full knowledge that with the cooperation and help of all of our citizens they can, to a great extent, be eliminated. In our city, the Junior Woman's Club, a splendid group of our fine young women, are organized and are putting forth every possible effort to better the health of our community and have generously agreed to sponsor and carry through a Fly Eradication Program.

Now, therefore, I, J. H. Boyd Jr., Mayor of the City of Greenville, do hereby proclaim the week beginning Monday, June 27th, as Fly Eradication Week.

I urge every citizen to cooperate in this matter by spraying screen doors and windows with an effective

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE OBJECT OF PRUNING
The man who is planting shrubs about our house keeps telling us that if we want the shrubs to be broad and therefore luxurious in growth, we must slip them.
This clipping, or pruning process is quite a science. Nothing is gained by merely using the pruning shears vigorously. There is a right way and a wrong way. A pruned shrub, and some of the most skillful gardeners have been experimenting all their lives on how to get the best results through this means.

How many lives we observe that have grown in an unbalanced fashion. Other lives have been pruned, clipped, by a series of sorrowful, tragic, humiliating circumstances, which kept them from growing tall in influence and position but made them broad in their sympathies and luxuriant in every fine quality of heart and mind. Business failure, the denial of personal ambition, loss of health—these things are hard to take, but the very fact that they cut back our lives sometimes makes life deeper and richer as a result.

And of course, this is especially true when the hand of the Great Husbandman loses the pruning. Thus do we learn that God appoints us to many hard things, but He does it all that in the discouraging experience of being cut back in our growth, we may find a deeper, a richer, and a greater significance in life.

WILD LIFE — Announcement by Governor Scott's office this week of four new members of the wild life resources commission may alleviate some of the griping among sportsmen, but even the most optimistic observers do not expect it will entirely relieve it. During the five months since terms of replaced members expired there has been a great deal of bickering among hunters and fishermen over personnel and policies of the commission. Under these circumstances as well as because of the established Scott policy of not reappointing incumbents, it was not surprising that all appointees are new.

TURMOIL — For several years prior to the 1945 legislature there had been effort to divorce game and inland fish administration from the department of conservation and development "to get it out of politics." The 1947 session granted the divorce and established the wild life resources commission with a staggered term board of nine members. Original appointments were three each for two, four and six years, with all replacements for six years. It was contended this arrangement would give permanence to the commission and would eliminate politics. However, the political friction has been more marked during the past two years than at any time under the C&D department.

QUALIFICATIONS — The act sets out that each member shall be an experienced hunter, fisherman, farmer, or biologist, who shall be generally informed on wildlife conservation and restoration problems. The act also sets up the districts from which the members shall be named, and fixes expiration date of terms as the fourth Tuesday in January. Because of difficulty in satisfying sportsmen generally, the current year's appointments were delayed more than five months.

APPOINTEES — The full six-year term appointments are: C. L. Woodhouse, of Grandy, a business man and farmer, succeeding Joseph R. Winslow of Robersonville in the first district; Robert Sadler, of Bayboro, an ice plant operator, succeeding Thomas J. White of Kinston in the second district; G. E. Beal of Red Oak, a tobacco warehouseman, succeeding S. B. Coley of Raleigh in the third district. Ernest McGougan of Lumber Bridge was named to the fourth district place vacated by Harry Green of Raeford when he became a member of the legislature in January, and for a term expiring January 1951.

PLEASED — Typical of the attitude of many sportsmen, especially city people who hunt and fish in the country, was the expression of Raleigh business man long interested in conserving wild life resources. Asked what he thought of the new appointees he replied that "any change will be an improvement."
NOT INTERESTED — Although the state board of agriculture devoted the entire afternoon Wednesday to discussion of legalizing ten ounce milk containers, no decision was reached. That might have been due to the fact that among the 40-odd persons present, representing producers and distributors of milk, not one person spoke for the consumers. Absence of any consumer spokesman, despite wide publicity given the meeting, was attributed to two factors. Lack of any consumer organization, while producers and distributors are well organized and in difference to size of container so long as the appropriate quantity of wholesome milk is in it. The discussion developed into a contest between producers and distributors over the effect on their profit, while chief responsibility of the board is best interest of the public. In this instance the public apparently is not greatly interested.

New York — (AP)—Capt. Bob Anderson isn't worried about his own team.

But he is worried about the caliber of the enemy ball team that will trot into the Polo Grounds against his outfit the night of July 26th. And, of course, he's fretting already about the attendance.
"Last year we drew only about 9,000," he said indignantly. "What do they think we play in—Wheeler's? This year we're hoping for 30,000."
The game is one of the most unusual sports events in New York. It'll be the 17th annual baseball contest between Amputee War veterans, sponsored by the national Amputation foundation.

"We're trying to raise $100,000 for an Amputee information and research center here," said Anderson. "But the main thing is to get the public out so we can show them an Amputee can do anything they can."
Bob, 26, lost his left arm to a German artillery shell in France in 1945. He is shortstop and captain of the arm Amputee team. The rival team is made up of leg amputees.
"And these leg amps getting cocky," he said. "They're going around town laying 2-to-1 bets against us."
"We beat them 4 to 1 last season, but they do have a terrific team this year. It'll be a close game."
"All the players on both teams are vets from the second World War. The first world war vets are getting paunchy and slowing up. We want to keep the game fast. And these leg amps are really fast, too. They say their pitcher, Bert Shepard, can still run a hundred yards in around 12 seconds."

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The fascinating tobacco business takes Greenville's citizens on trips to Europe to visit the companies to which they sell tobacco. Five Greenville tobacco men have traveled abroad recently: J. C. Lanier, Charles Howard Jr., Louis Stuart Ficklen, C. Stuart Carr, and Jim Ficklen Jr.
"Stu" Ficklen arranged his trip to Europe so that he could attend the International Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting in Brussels, Belgium. Last night at the Greenville JC meeting Ficklen reported the happenings of the convention to the organization.
Since only 36 of the 48 states were represented at the convention, Greenville has reason to be proud of her delegate. Approximately 200 delegates from America attended.

Because of the size of the meeting, the group was broken down into committees for the discussion of topics relative to the activities of Junior Chambers. The last day was spent reporting the conclusions of the committee discussions.
"Stu" says that one of the most impressive speeches of the convention was made by a young JC from Austria, probably 21 or 22. The delegate explained that in Austria the citizens are not allowed to have an ordinary organization of the JC's because of the lack of freedom of speech. He said their organization is comprised of interested citizens who meet unofficially.
The youngster impressed the delegates of the convention with the importance of the task of helping Austria get back on her feet.
Three countries, New Zealand, Canada and the Philippines, still run a hundred yards in around 12 seconds."

Shepard, a former big leaguer, is now player-manager with the Waterbury, Conn., Timers in the Colonial League. Several other amputees are semi-pro players.
Like many another amputee young Anderson is angry at what he believes is senseless job discrimination against men who have lost arms or legs in war or industrial accidents.
"It's harder for everybody to get a job today—and that doesn't make it any easier for the amps," he said.

"Employers take an application from an amp and say, 'we'll let you know.' But usually they don't. When they see he has a physical disability, they forget him quick."
It isn't a personal problem with Bob. When he was discharged from the army, he wanted to go into the trucking business. But because he had no experience the banks refused to lend him the necessary capital.
Bob started a small retail egg route and saved enough to buy a truck. Now he has four trucks, four employees and a $12,000 a year income.

"Most people think it's a disadvantage to lose an arm," he said. "I think it's an asset. It teaches you to use your head instead of your brain. And I don't regret a minute I spent in the army. It made me grow up fast."
"I can do as much work as any man still—load and unload 1,200 cases in a day. But little by little I'm getting away from the hard work. I'm getting to be a white collar truckman."

Anderson has a goal beyond his trucking business. He wants to build up enough capital to help other amputees utilize their courage and resourcefulness.
"I'd like to start them in small businesses on a share-alike basis," he grinned.
"Of course, it's just a dream now—but I don't know of any safer way to invest money than by backing a guy who won't let a handicap stop him."

Greenies Turn Back Rocky Mount By 10-5 Score For Fourth Straight Win

Mauney's Relief Hurling Highlights Game As Locals Garner Impressive Twelve Hits

By BERT MOYE

The Greenville Greenies turned back the Rocky Mount Leafs for the fifth straight time here last night with a 10 to 5 win. It was the fourth straight win in a row for the Greenies.

Highlighting the game was the relief hurling of Frank Mauney, who pitched his first pro game, who went in to relieve Starter Bobby Harrison in the first frame with one man away, held the Leafs to two hits, two runs, both of the unearned variety, and also struck out nine men and issued six free passes to first base. Mauney, who started in the second game of the double-header in Kinston the previous night, came back to show fans that he had the stuff that makes a good ball player and his wide sweeping curves were working to a perfection against the Leafs last night.

The Rocky Mount Leafs jumped on Bobby Harrison for two walks, a single and a double to take a three-run lead in the first frame. The Greenies came back in the bottom of the first to score one run on John Tepedino's double, a wild pitch and Willie Mauney's single to bring him home.

The Greenies went out in front for keeps in the second frame when they shoved across three markers. Pete Gillespie walked, Steve Denier doubled, Paul Strausser was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases, and then John Tepedino smashed a triple into deep right field to clear the bases.

The Greenies piled up their lead in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames by scoring a singleton in each of these frames. Two walks and two singles gave the Greenies a run in the fourth; three singles and an error gave them one in the fifth frame; and a walk, stolen base and two errors gave them a run in the sixth.

The Greenies came back in the eighth inning to score three more tallies on two walks, a stolen base, Varney's single and Pete Gillespie's Sidelights—Greenie won their fifth game against the Leafs last night, they have lost four. Willie Mauney was really backing up brother Frank last night as he ran against the wall to catch a long fly off the bat of Bill Stanton, which looked a hit for extra bases at the start. Paul Strausser also came in for some pretty fielding in the centerfield berth. Frank Mauney really did a swell relief job and those two runs off him in the eighth frame were both unearned.

Fans also got thrill after thrill from the fine work of John Tepedino at shortstop. Despite two errors, he made some great plays during the contest. As a matter of fact the Greenies are all playing ball and have won their last 12 out of sixteen games. A win tonight will put them in third place spot in CPL standings. They are now four games ahead of the Eagles as the Eagles split their twin bill with the Wilson Tobs last night with the Tobs taking the second game 5 to 3. It was erroneously reported in this column a couple of days ago that Jim Pollard had been given his release. Pollard has been sent by the Greenville club to the semi-pro Beaufort County league before going out in the professional ball. He is currently pitching for Bath and Wednesday night won his first contest with a five-hitter against the Pantego-Beckwith team. Manager Pappy Williams is suffering with a pulled muscle and the doctor has ordered a few days rest for him.

o-o-o

Several fans have asked your columnist why Frank Mauney did not get credit for the win over Kinston in the second game of the double-header Wednesday night. From Section 5, of the 1949 Edition of the Manual for Official Scorers and League Statisticians, we find: "Do not always give the first pitcher credit for a game won, even if the score is in his favor, unless he has pitched at least five innings. If, however, he is taken out because of his team having secured a commanding and winning lead in a few innings, or is forced to retire through an injury or illness, when his team has a commanding lead then he is entitled to be credited with the victory."

Boys' League Baseball

Athletics vs. Tigers

The Third St. Tigers continued their winning streak yesterday morning at Third St. Park, conquering the Athletics in a close game by the score of 8 to 6. The Tigers were outbut but three costly errors ruined the A's chances of winning. The A's scored four times in the last two innings but failed to overcome the big lead the Tigers had built up in the first part of the game. Walter Perry was the only Tiger to hit safely twice, getting a homer and single. John Sideris, Richard Joyner and Sydney Briley got two hits each for the A's.

Cubs vs. Giants

The Training School Giants lost another close one to the Cubs from Third St. by the score of 16 to 15. The losers rallied for seven runs in the last two innings and had the tying run on base when the last man was retired. Deanie Roebuck with a triple and two singles, Harris Northrop with a single, double and triple, Arnold with a single and two doubles and Bray with three singles were the leading hitters for the Cubs. The leading hitters for the Giants were Bob Bilbro with three singles, Milt Harrington with a triple and homer, Lucian Bryan with two singles, Dick Evans with a double and single.

Wolves vs. Red Sox

The Red Sox lost their second game in a row to the red hot Wolves of W. Greenville yesterday by the score of 18 to 2. Billy Dunn, the leading pitcher in the league, had the usually hard hitting Sox eating out of his hand. He allowed only seven hits and was never in danger. Whitely Pollard of the Wolves got a double and two singles to continue as one of the league's top hitters. Key Norris got three singles and J. Barnhill, also of the Wolves, got two singles. Ike Riddick and Smith with two hits each were the leaders for the Sox.

Reds vs. Dodgers

The Reds from W. Greenville broke the league scoring record yesterday as they defeated the Dodgers 30 to 2. Bob Howell held the Dodgers to two hits while his teammates were having a field day at bat. Gene Hudson, Jimmy Hendrix, Catlette and Dunn all got four hits apiece for the Reds. One of Hudson's was good for the circuit, Pat Sawyer for the Reds got three hits. Joseph and Ippok got the Dodgers' hits.

Monday's Game
Sunbeam Bread vs. Carolina Sales

Carolina Sales served notice last night that they are a team to be feared as they waltzed to an easy 22-2 victory over Carolina Dairy.

The victors had their biggest inning in the seventh when they scored nine runs. Mosier had things his own way last night, holding the dairy to four hits, while his own teammate Jimmy Cox was the hitting star of the game with a home run and a triple, both coming with the bases loaded.

Syndicate Said Forming To Make Offer For Cleveland

Cleveland, June 24—(AP)—Brewer George Creadon and a group of businessmen want to buy the world champion Cleveland Indians for $2,000,000, the Plain Dealer reported today.

Creadon is president of the Standard Brewing Co. here. Sports Editor Gordon Cobblecick wrote that Creadon is forming a syndicate that will make the offer "in the near future."

That, the paper said, would cover the franchise, players and real estate of the Cleveland baseball club.

Of the group named by the paper as prospective purchasers, only W. O. Mashburn, Jr., a Coca Cola executive in Cincinnati, could be reached.

Mashburn asserted at his home that he traveled to Cleveland two or three times a week but that he had heard nothing about such a deal.

But Tribe President Bill Veck the man who brought his flamboy-

Last Chance

Wichita, Kas., June 24—(AP)—The Southern California Trojans remained in the running for the National Collegiate (NCAA) baseball championship by defeating St. Johns of Brooklyn 12-4 in a ragged game last night.

Dick Fidler, Trojan right-hander, pitched three hit ball, as the 1948 champions won their first victory in the double elimination tournament.

In the first game the Texas Longhorns advanced to the finals by beating Wake Forest, 8 to 1.

Texas defeated St. Johns 7-1 last night and is the only undefeated team in the meet.

Zaharias Loses In Quarterfinals

Oklahoma City, June 24—(AP)—Amateur Polly Riley, a smiling five-foot Texan, stood in the way of three topflight professionals in their bid for the Women's Western Open golf title here today.

Polly brushed aside the usually unconquerable Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias in yesterday's quarterfinal duel, 3-1 to win a semifinal berth. Her opponent today will be professional Betty Jameson, San Antonio who won the Western in 1942.

Assault Begins Comeback Bid

New York, June 24—(AP)—Robert J. Kleberg's Assault, fourth largest money-winning thoroughbred in history, launches a comeback attempt today at Aqueduct.

Out of competition since February of 1948, when he ran fifth in Hialeah Park's Odener Handicap and suffered injuries, the 146 triple crown winner is entered against four rivals in the fifth race, a $4,000 seven furlong overnight dash. The others named are Spats, Michigan 3rd, Trumpeter and Gay Song.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model—styled and executed by Buick—is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid—a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet—a really stunning creation inside as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis—which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Only the brave

BY PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 25
Jeff opened his eyes and blinked. He pushed himself to an elbow, only to fall back with a groan of pain. His head was splitting. Then memory returned and he groaned again; and the agony this time was mental rather than physical.

Glenn! Glenn, the boy he had sworn by the memory of his dead mother to guard and cherish and help, had stolen the gold. Glenn, not Slug, had doped the coffee. It was Glenn who had followed them, knowing approximately where they would camp and in what condition he would find them.

Jeff rolled over, getting his hands beneath him. He started to push himself erect only to be arrested by a sudden appalling thought. The one who had stolen the gold had ridden the horse with the broken calk. And the man who rode that horse had killed John Stover!

Shakily he got to his feet and went over to where Glenn's horse had stood. He struck a match and by its light examined the prints in the soft earth. They were quite distinct and perfect in every detail. There was no broken calk.

He felt an instant great relief. Glenn was not a murderer; no matter what else he had done, he had not killed. A new theory began to form in his mind. Glenn and Slug had worked together in the gold theft; Glenn had planned it and had left its execution to the bolder and more experienced Slug. Glenn had doped the coffee, but Slug had made off with the wagon while they slept. He had dumped the box in the creek, ditched the wagon, then gone on to the rocky flat where Glenn had met him. Assured by Slug that the gold was safe, Glenn had circled to the Cougar trail and himself had awakened Jeff and called his attention to the theft. That had all been completely.

This was the only logical explanation that Jeff could find, and although it absolved Glenn of the greater crime of murder, the bitter fact remained that the boy he had helped rear and support and for whom he had made so many uncomplaining sacrifices had repaid his trust and confidences by this stab in the back.

Jeff walked over to the box and picked up the hackaw blade Glenn had dropped. He turned it over in his hands. Glenn had driven Glenn to this; greed and, indirectly, love. He wanted wealth; he was proud and did not want to go to Connie empty handed.

Connie! How would this hit her? If she loved Glenn as the boy had given Jeff reason to believe, it would break her heart.

"Get 'em up, you!"
Jeff stiffened. The voice came from behind him, and in an instant he knew he hadn't a chance. His gun was lying somewhere on the ground. He dropped the blade and slowly raised his hands. He heard the tramp of approaching feet, then a hand felt his empty holster, and ran lightly over the rest of him in search of weapons.

He felt steel on his wrists. The handcuffs snapped shut with a click. "Now turn around and let's have a look at you."
Jeff turned and looked into his face.

Bill was so startled that he took a backward step.
"So you're the bird that swiped the gold! By jacks, I said it was an inside job. Hey, Ed! Hurry down here and see what I got!"
Ed Wade returned leading Jeff's horse. "Holy cow!" he cried. "The boss, Jeff Tyler."
"And now," said Jeff coldly, "since you've had your little joke, you might unlock these cuffs and give me back my gun."

It didn't work.
"I might," answered Bill grimly, "after you've explained the meaning of all this."
"It's plain enough, isn't it? I had a hunch the box had been cached in the creek and—" He broke off abruptly, recognizing the trap into which he had almost walked.
Bill picked him up. "And so you waded into the creek and fished it out. And you did it without gettin' wet. Or did you use a fishin' pole?"
Jeff didn't answer, and Bill went on: "And after you fished it out you just couldn't believe it was the same box, and even if it was still loaded you couldn't be sure the gold was still in it. So you got a hackaw blade that you just happened to have along and sawed it open. That's lulu, that is! Try tellin' it to twelve good men and true. . . . Get on your horse."

Bill picked up his hat and slapped it on his head, then helped him into the saddle. Jeff attempted no further explanation. He couldn't clear himself without telling the whole truth, and that would hurt both Glenn and Connie.

Their arrival at camp created a stir. Men awoke at Bill's shout and gathered to hear his story. Their eyes, fixed on Jeff, reflected first surprise and then contempt. This is one thing, disloyalty another: theft combined with disloyalty is lower than the low. Jeb King came and looked hard into Jeff's eyes.

"Tell me it ain't so, Jeff. Tell me if you can."
Jeff said nothing and Jeb turned away. He seemed suddenly weary. "Hitch up the team," he told Jake Wheeler. "You and the guards go after the gold. Take it on to Briscoe. . . . Get what rest you can, boys; we'll break camp and start for home come dawn."

It was late in the afternoon when Jeff rode into Cougar with Bill Frothingham and Ed Wade. Word of their coming had preceded them. A crowd met them at the end of Main Street and followed them along the sidewalks to the jail. Threats of lynching were openly made.

"I don't like this, Bill," said Ed Wade as they ascended the stairs to the second floor. "We better swear in some special deputies."
They put Jeff into the cell which was once occupied by Slug Benjamin, and he made one request before they left him.

"Get word to Glenn Gleason that I must talk with him."
"I'll think it over," said Frothingham coldly. "Rememberin' what happened when he called on Slug I ain't so sure I want him here."
Jeff went over and sat down on the iron bunk.

Many Farmers Gather At Research Farm Thursday

Approximately 1,400 farmers from nine eastern North Carolina counties gathered yesterday at the Lowe Coastal Plains Tobacco Research farm in Pitt county for the annual field day at the farm.

The farmers attended morning and afternoon meetings during which they had an opportunity to observe disease resistant tobacco variety tests, proper barn ventilation and insulation, and better curing methods.

In addition to the nearly 200 Pitt county farmers who were present at the meeting, farmers attended from Martin, Nash, Pamlico, Onslow, Sampson, Craven, Beaufort and Lenoir counties.

Dr. J. H. Hilton, director of the North Carolina Experiment stations, and Dr. E. L. Moore, in charge of the breeding program for disease resistant tobacco, discussed the development of disease resistant varieties of tobacco, and exhibited samples of black shank and Granville wilt resistant strains which were grown on the research farm under field conditions.

R. R. Bennett, extension tobacco specialist of State College, and R. M. Richie, agricultural engineer discussed with the farmers tobacco barn construction, insulation, ventilation and curing. The speakers emphasized the necessity of tightening barns and proper ventilation for fuel conservation.

S. N. Hawks, Jr., assistant tobacco specialist from the State College extension service, discussed the relative merits of the different tobacco varieties grown in this area, and showed the group 16 varieties of tobacco which are being grown in a test on the research farm.

Guy L. Jones, manager of the local research farm, had charge of preparing for the annual field day at the farm. In addition to the tobacco the farmers were shown the crops on the addition acres of the farm which are cultivated under recommended practices of the state extension service.

Wants Showdown On Condon Case

Washington, June 24 — (AP) — Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) said today he is going to force a showdown in the House Un-American Activities committee on a hearing for Dr. Edward U. Condon.

Nixon told reporters he will demand at the next committee meeting that members vote on summoning the director of the U.S. Bureau of Standards. When a meeting will be held is uncertain.

SHOT CRASHES WINDOW COTANCHE STREET HOME

Mrs. Ben Kinlon, 1216 Cotanche street, reported to police that some unknown person shot out a window glass at her home about 9:30 a.m. today. Police are investigating.

It's A Joke

London, June 24 — (AP) — What kind of a joke gives a preacher a real belly laugh?

This one made clergymen, including the Archbishop of Canterbury, guffaw for three full minutes today after it was told to the annual Church of England assembly of clergymen and laymen:

A woman bought a drinking bowl for her dog. The clerk asked if she wanted the word "dog" painted on it.

"No, thanks," said the woman. "My husband doesn't drink water and the dog can't read."

Higher Polio Case Rate Noted As Season Begins

Washington, June 24 — (AP) — The polio season, just starting, has turned up 36 per cent more cases across the country than last year.

If the rate is maintained, 1949 could approach the peak of 30,000 cases reached in 1916. Better reporting and diagnosis of the disease account for part of the 1949 rise.

Except for a limited area in Texas, the Public Health Service reported today, there are no local concentrations or sudden climbs which suggest possible infantile paralysis epidemics.

But the number of cases reported 2,309 up to this week, is high enough to warrant "every precaution" during the summer vacation season, a Health Service spokesman said.

This advice was offered for vacationers and weekend holiday travelers:

Don't get overtired.

Don't plunge into cold water when overheated; avoid sudden chill.

Watch the resort town's newspapers. If they report polio, take extra care about getting in crowds, washing hands, swimming in polluted water.

Inspect tourist cabins and camp sites for too-numerous flies.

Use care if traveling in polio areas in the polio season; September is the peak month.

Keep your general health as good as possible.

Nationwide, 278 cases of poliomyelitis were reported last week compared with 253 a year ago.

The week's biggest increases were in Texas, 106 new cases as against 94 the previous week; California, 23 as against 12; and Oklahoma, 29 as against 22. One other state has more than 10—Arkansas, with 14 new cases.

Not So Hot

A year ago today the temperature was eight degrees hotter than today, the record shows.

The Weather Bureau here today reported that the highest temperature recorded in the Greenville area yesterday was 90 degrees during the afternoon, a drop of four degrees from the previous day, when the mercury hovered about the 94-degree mark. Lowest temperature recorded during last night was 73 degrees. At 8 a.m. today it was 77 and at noon the thermometer stood at 80 degrees. The sky was partly cloudy during the forenoon and light breezes were blowing. Light showers fell here late last night and early this morning.

Today one year ago—June 24, 1948—the temperature stood at 98 degrees during the afternoon, a record mark, Mrs. C. E. Maiden, observer here for the U.S. Weather Bureau, said.

Cost Of Living Index Had Slight Drop Last Month

Washington, June 24 — (AP) — The cost of living rose slightly downward during the month ended May 15.

The Bureau of Labor statistics said today its index declined three-tenths of one per cent for the month.

In mid-April the index had advanced slightly, one-tenth of one per cent, over mid-March. Officials said actually there had been no really substantial change for the past two months in the consumers price index covering large cities.

Fluctuations have been wider however, between the individual cities, than in the national average. Prices of all major groups except rent were a little lower than the month ended April 15, the report said.

Complete Probe Of Night Riders By Justice Dept.

Washington, June 24 — (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark today ordered a full field investigation by the Justice department into recent night rider violence in Alabama.

The announcement said that members of the Ku Klux Klan were "purported" to be involved.

At the same time a Congressional committee ordered public hearings on Alabama floggings. Some Southern representatives warned Congress to keep hands off.

Rep. Battle (D-Ala.) in whose Birmingham district the floggings by white-robed mobs occurred, told the house "any federal exploitation" would "deter rather than expedite justice."

"Lawless elements," Battle said, "thrive on outside interference."

Driver Burned By Hot Asphalt

Ernest Elks of Grimesland, truck driver for the Brown Paving Company, was painfully injured about 10:30 a.m. today when his truck loaded with hot asphalt, turned over and burned him about the back, arm and leg. He was taken to Pitt General Hospital.

A spokesman for the Brown Paving Company quoted Elks as saying that a car driven by a woman crowded a curve on the Grimesland highway and that in dodging the car his truck went out of control, turned over, spilling the hot asphalt on his body.

Named As Trustee

Raleigh, June 24 — (AP) — Governor Scott has named George Sockwell, Gibsonville farmer, to the board of trustees of A. and T. College. He succeeds W. R. Vaughn of Henderson for a term running to January, 1955.

Armed Pair Held For Investigating Kidnap Charges

St. Paul, Va., June 24 — (AP) — note covertly dropped from an automobile led today to the investigation of a paroled murderer and an ex-convict on possible kidnap charges.

State police and local Southwest Virginia authorities snagged the armed pair after a chase last night through this hilly coal mining country. A threat of resistance dissolved as heavily armed police ringed the car that was overtaken near Norton, Va.

In the car were William Bearden 24, and James Bearden, 29. With them was the woman who dropped the note claiming she had been kidnapped Sunday at Houston, Texas—blonde Barbara Gail Lamarr, 24.

Police Chief Walter D. Neely said the men were being held for investigation on the kidnap accusation. "But they are wanted, all right," he added.

He said William Bearden had served time in a Florida prison and the other was out on parole from a life sentence for a murder conviction in South Carolina.

The woman was being detained as a witness, the chief said.

Lieutenant C. W. Blue said State Trooper J. W. Williams of St. Paul stopped the trio's car about 7 p.m. (EST) for a routine inspection. Williams okayed the car. As it drove away, however, the woman dropped a note addressed to the sheriff at Meridan, Miss., Blue said.

The note said the woman was being held as a hostage, and accused the men of being wanted in Atlanta, Ga., Texas, and Mississippi, Blue said.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, June 24 — (AP) — (NCDA) — Fryers and broilers steady at 24; eggs steady, A large 51.

Hog Market

Raleigh, June 24 — (AP) — (NCDA) — Hog prices mostly stronger. Tops of $20.25 at Kinston, Tarboro, Washington, Greenville, Goldsboro, Washington; $20.50 at Rocky Mount; Richmond slightly stronger at $20.75.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 24 — (AP) — Buying which came mainly from the Southwest lifted wheat more than 2 cents at times on the board of trade today. Despite the strength the market was not very active. Other grains also moved higher. Soybeans moved up briskly in late dealings. A Lake steamer carrying 119,000 bushels of soybeans cleared here for Toronto. Rye gained a couple of cents and trade reports said Norway had purchased around 200,000 bushels of Canadian rye so far this week.

Wheat closed 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher July $1.99 1/2-3/4, corn was 1 to 1 1/4

N.Y. Cotton

COTTON...MM
New York, June 24 — (AP) — Cotton futures opened 20 cents a bale lower to 20 cents higher.

Noon prices were 15 to 45 cents a bale higher than the previous close. July 33.06, Oct. 29.37 and Dec. 27.14 futures weakened in late dealings today on increased liquidation in nearby July which unsettled the balance of the market. Prices rallied from the lowest levels near the close on short covering.

Futures closed 65 cents a bale lower to 75 cents higher than the previous close.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, June 24 — (AP) — The stock market warmed its way forward today in slow trading.

The advance didn't amount to much but it was at least a small step up in a recovery move that started about ten days after the market had cracked to a 4 1/2-year low.

Gains ranged from fractions to around a point. A good handful of minus signs dotted the list. A number of stocks failed to make any appearance on the ticker tape.

Turnover dropped to a rate of only 550,000 shares or so for the full session, which would make the day one of the slowest in recent years.
