40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
July 2, 1909

J. B. Kittrell of Winterville spent today in Greenville.

Louis Dudley was taken to Kingston Friday to undergo an operation for appendicitis. His brother, S. I. Dudley took him.

Misses Emma Hardee, Lillianie, Susie and Ward Moore went to Shelmerdine Friday evening to attend a lawn party.

Mrs. C. T. Mumford left this morning for Raleigh to join the special party for a trip through the west, taking in California and the Alaska-Yukon exposition.

Miss Ann Morton, bride-elect, was honored Friday at 1 o'clock at a luncheon given by Mrs. E. C. Wilkerson and Mrs. Charles Flanagan at the Flanagan home on East Fifth street.

Mixed summer flowers were used to decorate the home and to center the small tables arranged for seating the guests.

The table in the dining room, over which Mrs. Claude Gaskins and Mrs. C. E. Edwards, Sr., presided, was centered with a wedding cake. A smaller wedding cake centered the bride's table.

Mrs. Gaskins and Mrs. Edwards were assisted in serving a buffet luncheon by Miss Ann Wilkerson.

The honor guest was remembered with a gift of silver and a corsage of gardenias.

Retiring President Reports Work For Year By Local Woman's Club

Mrs. J. Vance Perkins, outgoing president of the Greenville Woman's Club, submitted a report of the achievements for the past year. This fine organization has performed outstanding services for Greenville as is evidenced by the report given below. Mrs. Perkins thanked the committee chairmen and each member for making this splendid report possible.

Mrs. Dan E. Vorn Holt, chairman, literature department, helped plan and execute celebration of United Nations Day; sent magazine subscriptions to Camp Lejeune at Christmas; bought a $10.00 Christmas Seal Bond for T.B. Association; took up a collection for the O'Neal Foundation and performed other worthy tasks.

Mrs. B. McKay Johnson, chairman, public health and welfare department, sponsored the cancer drive in Pitt County, raising over $3,900; urged legislation against pollution of North Carolina streams; helped in rehabilitating juvenile delinquents; sponsored and helped the O'Neal Foundation collect $55.

Mrs. G. M. Renfro, chairman, international relations department, collected $1,009.18 for crusade for children, helped sponsor U. N. Day program, Robert Lee Humber speaker; sponsored Mrs. Gordon Maddrey as speaker at program entitled "Club Women Can Help International Relations"; sponsored high school world peace study and speaking course; helped collect and send 103 books to Germany.

Mrs. H. W. Mims, chairman, education department; presented high school principal, O. E. Dowd, at a meeting discussing the report of the education commission; including film strip prepared by N.C.E.A.; club voted to request General Assembly to enact the reports into law; sent a delegation to the education hearing in Raleigh.

Mrs. W. W. Smiley, chairman, youth conservation department, sponsored a bicycle safety campaign reaching over 2000 school children, cooperating with Teen Age Club activities and recreation commission activities.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming, chairman, music department, helped sponsor a program of music and art of the Rococo period at the general meeting, presenting Gladys Reichard, Elizabeth Drake and George Perry at ECTC music faculty; furnished music for 15th annual district meeting; presented two programs of Christmas carols during Christmas show; furnished music for club banquet and for regular meetings.

Mrs. C. E. Oakley, chairman, American Home Department, helped the Home Demonstration Club of Pitt County put on a fashion show of home-made garments; had a program of general meeting during Arts Festival; had charge of program for one general meeting; helped Garden Club with its Christmas show; held a Christmas party for inmates of the County Home; had Valentine card party for members; paid $20 to the general club for piano fund; had a card tournament to raise money for a tea dance for the high school seniors and to purchase educational records to be used in the high school.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, chairman, Garden Club, enrolled 24 new members; sponsored Christmas show; visited two other Garden Clubs; presented Mrs. M. Cockran Cole of Washington, D.C., nationally known flower arranging authority during Arts Festival; had secured approval of a historical marker for Gov. Jarvis to be placed in Greenville and is working to secure approval for installation of a marker for Sallie E. Cotton; raised money through sale of Audubon stationery and calendars; gave much valuable garden information to the public through Mrs. Rivers' articles "Gardens of Tomorrow"; presented series of radio programs under direction of Mrs. Stell; presented program for general club on landscaping the home grounds; urged its members to continue to be on the alert to maintain protection of song birds. Through Garden Club efforts Greenville was made a bird sanctuary.

Mrs. J. E. Long, chairman, art department, helped sponsor program for general meeting on art and mu-

Psalms—Songbook of Bible

GOD PRAISED FOR HIS GOODNESS TO MEN

Scriptures—Psalms 1: 33; 12-15; 67; 100.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE WORLD today is in great need. Food, housing, clothing are scarce; both mental and physical suffering are intense, and lack of liberty in many lands causes tragedy to stalk the earth.

It should not be so. The earth is beautiful and fertile. God made it so. There is room for all His children and food for all, if man would only obey His laws and His Son Jesus' command to "love thy neighbor as thyself."

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn" indeed, as Robert Burns tells us.

The word "psalm" comes from the Greek psalmos, which means a poem sung to the accompaniment of musical instruments. There are many hymns of praise in the psalms, also petitions for help in times of stress, moral reflections on the good life, and songs of serene trust in the Lord and His goodness.

King David is thought to have written 150 psalms. David was called the "sweet psalmist (or singer) of Israel." He loved God and rejoiced in the prosperity he enjoyed, rising from shepherd boy to king. He sinned, repented, was forgiven, suffered and mourned, but, on the whole, his life was a happy one, and he thanked and praised the Lord for it.

In Psalm One, he writes of the blessedness of right living—"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

"But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in His law doth he meditate day and night."
He likens such a man to a tree which is planted "by the rivers of waters," which brings forth fruit in season, and shall not wither, but prosper.

The teacher could impress this lesson on the children by asking them to think of their schoolmates. Who are the pupils who are best liked by students and teachers alike?

MEMORY VERSE
"Serve the Lord with gladness; Come before His presence with singing."—Psalm 100:2.

dominate certain parts of the earth, denying freedom to their fellow men?
The 67th Psalm asks God to be merciful to us—"all nations"—and "Let the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee. Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us."
"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands."
"Serve the Lord with gladness; come before His presence with singing."
"For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations."
Sorrow and privations may come to even a righteous man, but if his trust is in His Maker, he will keep his serenity, knowing that in time all will be well; as the psalmist wrote so many years ago.

Reflector Enters 31st Year Under D. J. Whichard, Jr.

Publisher Says Paper 'Owns' Him After Three Decades

First Connected With Newspaper When Eight Years Old, Reflector's Publisher Reviews Years Of Advancement In Life's Work

Yesterday David J. Whichard, Jr. began his 31st year as publisher of the Daily Reflector, the newspaper which was founded in Greenville as a weekly in January 1882 by the present publisher's father, the late David Jordan Whichard, and uncle, the late Julius R. Whichard.

The 30 years which the present D. J. Whichard has served as publisher of the Reflector, however, do not begin to cover the years during which he has been connected with the paper. His first recollections of newspaper work go back to the time he was eight years old and had the job of distributing the hand type used by the Reflector during the years before and immediately following the turn of the century.

Since that time, with the exception of approximately 20 months in the army during World War I, he has been connected with the Reflector in one capacity or another from copy boy, paper carrier, printer's devil, cub reporter and business manager to owner and publisher.

Bought Reflector in 1919

Since that July 1, 1919 when D. J. Whichard Jr. became solely responsible for the Reflector, the paper has grown from a daily with a circulation of 900 to a paper which prints approximately 5,000 copies six afternoons each week.

"When you have struggled for 30 years as publisher of a country (or small-city, if you prefer) daily newspaper, you don't own the paper for it literally owns you," the publisher commented.

Publisher Whichard recalls many changes which have taken place in the town and paper since he was first old enough to stand on a stool and distribute type into the type cases during the early days when the entire paper was set by hand.

The press installed in the plant about a year and a half ago is the seventh on which he has seen the Reflector printed. Three of these have been installed during the 30 years he has owned the paper; and since he has become publisher, the five member staff of 1919 has increased to 27 members.

Created News Early

Although an announcement of his birth did not appear in a copy of the Reflector, the present publisher was born just a month after the Reflector became a daily paper, on December 10, 1884. "However," he commented, "I did start making news on my arrival, for I was told years later that the late Dr. Bagwell, enroute to his home after the midnight delivery, discovered a fire in the downtown section of the town and stopped to ring the fire-bell."

Prior to 1903 there was no public school in Greenville, and for a year before the Greenville Graded school was opened in September 1903, Mr. Whichard had worked regularly as an office messenger and carrier boy for the Reflector. At the time he was given a paper route, he was so small that he and another boy about the same age took the job together and delivered papers on opposite sides of the streets, but never getting out of each other's sight, he said. At that time there were only three paper routes in town, and he and his companion delivered one-third of the town's papers at the "handsome" salary of five cents each day, or a total of 60 cents a week to divide between them. "Of course," he said, "money would buy more in those days, and if we could sell one extra paper a day for two cents, our one cent profit on the transaction would buy each of us a stick of candy."

First Reporting Job

During his early years in grade school he continued his work on the paper in the afternoons and on Saturdays. His first experience as a reporter was meeting seven of the ten passenger trains which passed through Greenville daily and gathering persons for the paper. In those days two of the trains passed through the town between midnight and day, and a third arrived during the mid-morning school hours, which made it impossible for him to meet them. The other seven trains he met regularly before school, during his lunch hour and after school.

His first contact with politics came when he began to accompany his father to precinct meetings and the county conventions prior to the days of the present primary system of nominating candidates for public office. This was followed by his serving as a page in the House of Representatives of the General Assembly in 1907, the special session of 1908 and the regular session of 1909.

The publisher says he began to feel like a fulfilled newspaperman when he was excused from high school classes part of week in order to cover a murder trial for the Reflector.

After finishing high school in 1913, he took over complete management of the Reflector under the direction of his father, who had been appointed postmaster for Greenville. From the fall of 1914 to the fall of 1917 the present publisher served as assistant postmaster for Greenville and at the same time continued to manage the paper.

A Tough Business

During his early years as a publisher, Whichard found the going tough, for Greenville was a small country town trying to support two afternoon daily newspapers. However the Reflector under the guidance of its publisher managed to weather the depression of the early '30's, and on March 1, 1922 again had the Greenville newspaper field to itself.

Even now with three decades of experience, publishing a newspaper is no bed of roses for the head man of the Reflector, "but," he explains "despite the financial struggles, the many sleepless nights; together with the attendant joys and compensation of trying to do a job well I find myself with a bigger and better paper in a bigger and better Greenville than I ever dreamed of when I bought the Reflector in 1919. And now I have two sons who are beginning to take over some of the duties and responsibilities of the paper."

Asked if he intended to retire as soon as his sons could take over for him, the publisher replied, "I expect to shift the control to these younger, stronger shoulders, just as speedily as possible, but if you mean I'm going to quit altogether, the answer is 'NO,' for the paper has been a part of me too long and the ink is too deep in my blood for me to leave it until I'm carried out."

Great Strides During 30 Years

Comparing the paper when he bought it to its present day status the publisher said 30 years ago the equipment consisted of one linotype machine, a hand-fed press and the usual limited amount of display type of the average country newspaper of that day. The mechanical departments of the Reflector plant today include in their list of machinery four linotype machines, 11 other miscellaneous pieces of typesetting and printing equipment, and a 16 page rotary press. A new linotype machine was installed in the plant last year at the cost of $7,000 and the three other linotype machines were completely rebuilt at a cost of $5,000. During the past two years approximately $40,000 worth of improvements have been added to the Reflector plant.

Recently a photographic department has been added, and initial steps have been taken toward making it possible to do engraving work in the local plant. When this feature is completed, it will make it possible for the paper to print pictures of local events the same day they happen.

Reflector Incorporated

In January of last year Publisher Whichard incorporated the Reflector in order to take in his two sons and other members of the family. The present stockholders in the company in addition to the publisher are Mrs. Virginia S. Whichard, Samuel L. Bridgers, David Jordan Whichard, and John S. Whichard.

The Good Old Days

Although over a period of 30 years any profession may tend toward the same routine from day to day, Publisher Whichard contends each day in his newspaper work brings new excitement and valuable experience. During his years as publisher for example, he has received threats against his life on several occasions and threats of bodily harm on numerous occasions as results of articles which were printed in the Reflector.

Only twice, however, have the threateners showed up in an apparent attempt to carry out the threats, Whichard related. Once when the threatener arrived, a crowd of bystanders prevented a badly harm to the publisher. On another occasion the threatener, a bootlegger who had expressed the intention of shooting the publisher arrived at the appointed time; but Whichard promptly covered his would be assailant with a pistol and the move took the bootlegger by such surprise that he was readily persuaded by a friend who accompanied him, another bootlegger, to be on his way.

"Times have changed a great deal since those days though," the publisher smiled. "We get called a lot of names for things we have to say in the paper, but folks don't seem to be as rough as they used to be."

The elder son, David Whichard graduated with a degree in journalism from the University of North Carolina in June 1948 and for the past year has been actively engaged

Best Things In Life Come By Threes

By ROY HARDEE

The best things in life come in threes—at least that is the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Edwards who are the proud parents of six month old triplet baby girls.

Mrs. Edwards is the former Mary Wheelus of Farmville, North Carolina. The Edwards family is visiting with Mrs. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wheelus of Farmville. The family will be here for a month before they return to their home in Jacksonville, Florida.

When triplets are born it is really something of an event, as the chances of having triplets are very slim—the odds are 8,846 to one, according to the National Vital Statistics Bureau in Washington.

The three beautiful little girls who are causing quite a commotion in Farmville, are named Claudia, Veronica and Rebecca. The triplets were born one month prematurely, on the 19th of last November, in Jacksonville, Fla., at St. Vincent's Hospital. They were the third set of triplets which had been born in the same hospital recently.

At the time of their births, the babies were comparatively small, as their weights varied from three to five pounds each. Because of their size, they were placed in incubators and were kept in them for a month before even one of the triplets was allowed to be taken home. Rebecca came home on December 20, and Veronica arrived there in time for Christmas with the family; Claudia was sent home as a New Year's present to the family. At the time the triplets went home, the older children in the family, Mary Jo, age 10, and Gilbert, age 8, were visiting in North Carolina with their grandparents. It was not known how the other children would react to the presence of three new baby sisters. Mary Jo was thrilled with the babies and took to them readily, while Gilbert, who thinks the world of his new sisters, summed up his feelings with this statement, "It sure looks like there could have been one boy in the crowd."

Changes In More Ways Than One

Triplets can really change the life of an otherwise peaceful household. Until the arrival of the triplets, the house of six rooms had been adequate to meet the needs of the Edwards family, but it was a problem to find out what to do with the new additions. One thing was sure—with the new triplets—there were to be some changes made, in more ways than one. Mrs. Edwards said, "When our first children came we planned to give them a room each and that worked out fine, but with the triplets we had to think of some other arrangements. We hit upon the idea of taking one of the rooms and remodeling it into a nursery for the triplets." Papa Edwards fixed up the room, and it is really one to be proud of, according to all reports. Plans have been made now to add more rooms, for when these young ladies grow up they will need room to themselves.

Many Presents

As is the case with rare events, the triplets were given many gifts by different groups and companies. The Carnation Milk Company is supplying the triplets with milk until they are one year old, and a laundry in Jacksonville, Florida, took care of all the laundry for six months. Recently the triplets were honored at a party given for all the triplets in Jacksonville. There were three sets of them in the town who were born at the same hospital.

Up until the time the babies came to Farmville, they were on a strict schedule and hardly ever broke it, but as is the case with many grandparents, the triplets reportedly are receiving much more attention than they have been used to.

Come feeding time, the triplets have to be fed at once and each one must be served at the same time. When you have trouble with triplets you have it triple. Only the mother and father and the nurse can tell the babies apart, they are so much alike in every way. The babies will be in Farmville with their grandparents for about two more weeks, and so far, more than 70 persons have called to see the babies.

Mr. Edwards accompanied the family here, but returned to see about the "stretching" of their house, as they call it. He is employed by the public relations department of the Pullman Railroad Company in Jacksonville, Florida.

Strength FOR THE DAY

PRAY FOR THE DESTINY OF OUR COUNTRY

Have you ever thought of what great service you could be to your country if every day you would earnestly pray that its destiny may be achieved?

For America has a destiny. Every nation has a destiny. We are God's chosen people, not in the sense that Israel was a chosen people, or in any sense which implies that we are better than any other nation.

This all depends on the character of her people, and Christians everywhere can do nothing more glorious in her service than to pray every day that God will help this country achieve the good which He has destined for her.

IT'S GETTING LATE

Pitt County's X-ray campaign is rapidly nearing its close, and the drive is still well short of the hoped-for goal of 30,000.

There is good reason to hope that the goal can be reached by the closing date of the campaign, Thursday, July 7. Reason for hope, that is, if those who still intend to be X-rayed do not wait until the last day and get caught in the rush.

The tentative goal of 30,000 X-rays in the county was settled upon as being the figure to be met if the county was to be considered well covered by the mobile units.

Nevertheless, it is undoubtedly the concern of these people that the absent ones may well have included a handful that needed the warning that only the X-ray could have given.

If you have not yet been X-rayed, plan on doing so soon. It's better to be safe than sorry.

A NEW FEATURE

With today's edition of the Reflector there appears an illustrated Bible strip and a Sunday school lesson which will be regular weekly features in the Reflector.

These new features comprise another step by the Reflector in seeking to serve the needs of the people of Pitt county.

The Sunday school lesson used each week is based on the copyright outlines produced by the International Council of Religious Education and used by permission. The illustrated Bible strip each week is based on the Sunday school lesson, and is designed to stimulate children's interest in Bible teachings and the Sunday school lesson.

BIG MAN — The Governor of North Carolina, whatever his name is a man of large authority. From time to time it is noted that this state is the only one in which the chief executive does not have veto power over legislation.

APPOINTMENTS — Despite traditional opposition in this state to the "short ballot," the governor of North Carolina is empowered to appoint more top rank state officials than the people elect.

INDIRECT — Besides these direct appointments the governor has two dozen more places such as the state health officers, director of veterans commission, probation commissioner and others.

ELECTIVE — The people of the whole state elect only 38 officials.

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

About the best place for Greenville high school students to find out what their fellow classmates are doing this summer is the Greenville Teen Age Club, located at the old NYA center.

Last night the club put on its first big dance of the "summer season." The "July Jamboree" provided entertainment for approximately 125 people.

The Fourth of July is the occasion for celebrating the signing of the Declaration of Independence, not the signing of your death warrant by driving recklessly or fast.

Finally in my short term as a columnist "Somebody" has told me something. No, maybe I had better be strictly correct and say that I heard someone telling another person something and asked her to tell me also. While we are speaking of clubs I thought it would be a good idea to tell of a new type club—new to me anyway. A Birthday Club. The club is composed of 14 young ladies, so "Somebody" tells me, and works this way. Whenever any member has a birthday the other 13 donate a dollar to a fund which is used to buy presents for the honored one.

To me the most astounding thing about this club is that 14 women would provide even the slightest chance of revealing their age, even to each other. We don't know, but we bet the absolute secrecy of all ages is the one and only provision of the Birthday Club by-law.

It's not often that a town has two dramatic students that are good enough to participate in a summer playhouse. Nevertheless, this is the case with our town. Joanna Bunch and Sam Fleming Jr. are working and studying at the Parkway Playhouse in Burnsville. They will work and study in all phases of dramatic production.

CONTRAST — That means there are 229 officials with authority on state level elected by the people compared with more than 500 appointed by the governor.

ONE MAN — This trend toward one-man rule is even more noticeable in the federal government. On national level the people elect only a president and a vice president. Then there are 96 senators and 438 representatives in the congress. For these 534 all of the multi-thousand federal officials function by authority of executive appointment. It is inevitable that the chief executive with such preponderant control over government personnel should assume the right—never contemplated in the basic constitution—of dictating the course of legislation.

Boyle's Column

New York (AP)—Manhattan snapshots:

Everybody lives by his own brand of logic, and one kind won't necessarily suit another. There is a waitress in a nearby beanyery here who should be in her heyday—life really began at 40. She lives entirely on the tips from patrons, and collects her wages from the boss only once every four years.

Hard luck can't even dent — let alone break—this hack man's falstaff. George, now in his middle years, was a pioneer sidewalk radio interviewer. He served as an army sergeant overseas, and he and his microphone gave belly laughs to scores of thousands of homesick troops on leave in Algiers and Naples. Today this chunky, red-faced Irishman probably knows as many people around town as Jim Farley. The radio spots have been fewer in recent years, and George beats a living out of Broadway by driving a cab.

Recently George started driving his hack on Sundays because he figured he could save $30.

"I really take in only $10," he says. "But if I didn't work, I'd spend $10—so that makes $20. On the other hand, if I didn't work, I'd have to borrow the $10 I'd spend—so, altogether, I'm really saving $80."

There is a middle-aged woman who lives in Greenwich Village and yearns to be an opera singer. She is taking lessons from a merry old rascal whose only training as a voice teacher is the years he spent tuning pianos.

Recently a friend who visited her in the small practice room she rents found her weeping with joy. "The maestro at last told me I had hit one perfect note," sighed the dear lady. Then she began strumming her own accompaniment on the piano, and started singing. Every few moments she would pause, uncurl a small bottle, sniff from it vigorously, then quickly recork it again. "What are you doing?" asked the amazed friend. "Oh, the Maestro told me all the best voices were trained in Italy," she said. "Since I can't afford to go there, he is importing Italian air for me in these bottles. It helps me immensely."

"Why do you keep putting the cork back in?" "The Maestro warned I must use the air sparingly," said the lady complacently. "It's expensive to import. I pay him $1.50 a week for each bottle."

Suggest States Solve Problems

Nags Head, N.C., July 1—(AP)—

Separate sessions for weeklies and dailies today opened the second day of the North Carolina Press Association's 77th annual convention. Publishers attending the convention were slated to tour historical points during the afternoon. Tonight they will attend a preview of "The Lost Colony."

Washington Columnist Thomas L. Stokes Jr. told the association last night that the states had better exercise the rights they now have if they are going to talk about states' rights.

He spoke of the difficulties many governors, elected on state platforms similar to President Truman's national program, are having with their legislatures in trying to put those programs into effect. "Unless the states fix their own houses," Stokes said, "they will lose the rights they have at the present time. Many things are being done in Washington today because the state can't get them done."

Better pay for legislators, he suggested, might result in better men running for office and improve state government. He also talked about the effectiveness of lobbying and suggested state lobby legislation might be valuable.

Bells have always played an important role in the course of human events. They have heralded emperors and kings, and have sounded the victories of great leaders. They have tolled a mourning note for the passing of lives, and have pealed joyously to announce weddings and births.

Our own great Liberty Bell is preserved as a memorial of the day when our country became an independent nation. On this celebrated occasion, notes of freedom, equality, and justice were sounded, notes which echo today in the free life of our citizens.

So that we may continue such blessed living and may preserve the country which guards its existence, we must listen to the ringing of other bells.

Throughout this great land of ours church bells are sounding. These are the GOLDEN BELLS of love, mercy, and kindness. Toward them we must hasten to worship and pray. With them we must sing praises to the Lord, our Maker.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Greenies Trounce Jays By Convincing Margin Of 9-2

Harrison Goes Route As Strausser Leads Hitting Attack With Two Doubles And A Single; Play Roanoke Rapids Here Tonight

After dropping their last two contests, Manager Pappy Williams' Greenies bounced back into the win column last night by trouncing the Roanoke Rapids Jays 9 to 2 over in Roanoke Rapids.

Bobby Harrison went the entire route for the Greenies and scattered six hits effectively while striking out seven Jay batters and walking eight. It was his first win of the season over the Jays. He now has a record of four wins and three losses.

The Jays took the initial lead in last night's contest, which extended almost to the midnight hour on account of rain and smoke, when Bolick singled, stole second, and after Harrison had loaded the bases on two more walks, Bolick stole home in the first inning.

The Greenies knotted the count at one-all in their top of the fourth frame when Yohn walked, stole second and advanced to third on Martling's bad throw to second and then Paul Strausser doubled to bring home Yohn for the tying run.

Strouder and Miami's Gardner Mulloy tackled the Los Angeles pair, Frank Parker and Richard Gonzales, in men's doubles. In the mixed doubles, Miss Brough and Australian John Bromwich are expected to retain their title against the South African team of Eric Sturges and Mrs. Sheila Summers.

Schroeder said he will fly home Sunday and had reached no decision as to whether he'll play in the U. S. championships and the Davis Cup challenge round.

Atlantan Takes Junior Net Win

Davidson, N. C., July 2—(AP)—Allen Morris, big Atlanta redhead, is the new Southern Junior tennis champion. Seeded fifth, he defeated Alan Wickersham of Sylacauga, Ala. in the finals here yesterday, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3. Wickersham was ranked No. 4.

Form held in three other Southern tennis championships decided concurrently at Davidson College. Florida players were the winners.

Chapel Hill Swim Team Is Favored

Chapel Hill, N. C., July 2—(AP)—Chapel Hill swimmers were favored today to win the Carolinas AAU closed tournament.

The University of North Carolina is host. Championships will be run off in 12 events for men and women, and boys and girls.

Raleigh and Tarboro will be host to similar Carolinas AAU meets later in the summer.

Sport Slants By Pap

Sugar Ray Robinson of the dancing feet and flailing fists is the darling of his native Harlem and the despair of numerous fight promoters around the country. The welterweight champion, who is scheduled to defend his 147-pound title against Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium on July 11, has a brilliant record of triumphs in the ring but, unfortunately, all but a few failures to fulfill contracts. Injuries, real and imaginary, or just plain failure to show up on the part of Ray have caused promoters countless sleepless nights. He's been suspended all over the country. Still, he's a great fighter and one of the best attractions in the game today.

Robinson defeated Kid Gavilan last September with ease but that does not mean that the Cuban challenger does not stand a chance of dethroning Sugar Ray. While Robinson has been practically idle, Gavilan has been boxing steadily and improving all the time. His pair of torrid bouts with the lightweight champion, Ike Williams, have helped sharpen his fighting edge.

The increasing difficulty in making 147 pounds will not enhance Robinson's chances of holding Gavilan at bay. Ray's record shows a great number of knockouts, some 58 in about 90 bouts, but comparatively few are of recent vintage. Of late, when he did fight, Robinson has been content to box his way to a decision. Only Jake LaMotta holds a decision over Ray although Jose Basora once held him to a draw. The last time Ray defended his title was about a year ago when he defeated Bernie Docusen in Chicago.

Deacon Catcher To Chicago Cubs

Nashville, N.C., July 2—(AP)—Russ Batchelor, 22-year-old Wake Forest College catcher, has signed with the Chicago Cubs. Scout Tim Murchison made the announcement yesterday.

Batchelor was chosen the most popular player in the National Collegiate Baseball Tournament at Wichita, Kans. Wake Forest lost to the University of Texas for the championship.

Batchelor will go to Des Moines, Iowa, of the Class A Western League. Murchison said the contract called for $4,500 to sign under non-bonus Class A regulations. Batchelor lives in Nashville.

VFW Takes 6-3 Softball Contest

On a damp and soggy field, VFW came out on the long end of a 6-3 score in a well-played softball game yesterday against the American Lady Corset Co. team.

The game was highlighted by Joe Dudley's two-run homer in the first inning.

It was a close game throughout with fine pitching by both Morgan and Dudley.

The American Lady Corset team made four errors while VFW played errorless ball. Tom Rowlette made a number of spectacular plays from third and was the fielding star of the day.

The play of the day went to the Corset's shortstop Robert McClaren, when with the bases loaded he made a beautiful one-handed stab across his body to rob Tom Rowlette of at least a double.

The leading batter for the winners was John Farley with 3 for 4; for the American Lady Corsets, Eugene Ayers, who had a perfect day at bat with 3 for 3.

Storm-Harassed

Ames, Iowa, July 2—(AP)—A storm harassed national intercollegiate golf tournament was expected to produce today the finalists for a delayed 36-hole championship match.

The tournament, its qualifying round temporarily disrupted by thunderstorms last Monday evening, was thrown out of gear again yesterday. The four semi-finalists had barely begun their play when a 45 miles an hour wind and rain storm struck the heavily wooded Iowa state course.

Pay-Off Goes To Putting Experts

Washington, July 2—(AP)—The crowd comes out to see golf's long hitters, but the pay off still goes to the man who can drop those putts.

This was well illustrated here yesterday in the $15,000 Washington Star Open Tournament.

Sam Sneed, the sweet swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was doing some nice driving, as usual.

But though he was long with his drives he was short with his putts. The gallery groaned in sympathy on No. 1. "Git in, you dog," cried West Virginia Sam.

The ball stopped a good foot from the cup.

It was that way all day, and Sneed wound up with a 69, three under par, but still five strokes behind the leader, Al Smith of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Smith, on the other hand, wasn't bothered with a gallery.

When the word got around he was hot as pistol, he began to pick up. "I guess at the end," said Smith, "I must have had about eight in the gallery, one for each stroke under par."

American Netters Assured Of 4 Titles In Wimbledon Tests

London, July 2—(AP)—The Wimbledon tennis championships wind up today with America already assured of four titles and favored to share in another.

Ted Schroeder, the come-from-behind specialist from La Crescenta, Calif., bagged the all-important men's singles crown yesterday in a nerve-tangling five-set battle with Europe's top player, Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

All-American finals are slated today in the women's singles, women's doubles and men's doubles, while one United States player is engaged in the mixed doubles final.

The women's singles pits defending champion Louise Brough of Be-

Something's Happened To Brecheen's Night Hurling

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
What happened to Harry Brecheen's after dark magic?

The wiry little St. Louis Cardinal southpaw was poison at night last season. Under the lights he had a 14-3 mark enroute to his fine 20-7 season.

After winning three night starts this season, he lost his touch. The Cat has failed to finish his last four owl starts. His latest disappointment really hurt.

With a chance to tie the Brooklyn Dodgers for the National League lead by whipping Cincinnati last night, the Red Birds flopped, 10 to 2. Brecheen started, but faded for a pinchhitter in the fourth. St. Louis trailed 3-0 and the lowly Reds had four hits off The Cat who walked five. Normally he passes only one or two in a nine-inning job.

The pasting by Cincinnati, which has been staggering toward the cellar, was the third Card loss in their last five games against second division opposition. For two days in a row they have been unable to take advantage of a Dodger defeat. Ken Raffensberger, the cagy Cincy lefty escaped with his eighth victory despite 12 St. Louis hits.

Labor Counts A Gain Of 17 Votes In Campaigning

Washington, July 1—(AP)—Labor counted a net gain of 17 votes in the Senate today as its harvest for two years of bitter political campaigning against the Taft-Hartley Act.

That was the net change in anti-Taft-Hartley strength between May 13, 1947, when the Senate passed the original law, and yesterday, when it approved a substitute keeping much of Taft-Hartley intact. The 1947 vote was 68 to 25; yesterday's count was 51 to 42.

Yesterday's Senate result showed that labor has convinced four Republicans and three Democrats they must have been wrong when they voted two years ago to put the law on the books.

The Republicans are Senators Aiken of Vermont, Ecton of Montana, Ives of New York and Lodge of Massachusetts. The Democratic converts were Senators Lucas of Illinois, the majority leader, McKellar of Tennessee and Sparkman of Alabama.

Again Ask UAW To Skip Demands

Detroit, July 1—(AP)—For a second time the Ford Motor Co. today asked the CIO United Auto Workers to skip their wage and pension demands for 18 months.

Ford, repeating its wage-freeze proposal, told the union it was "convinced" that the company plan was the "best possible answer to our problem."

There was no immediate reply from the union.

Only seven pitchers in modern major league history have won more than 300 big league games.

Walter Johnson and Denton (Cy) Young are the only major league pitchers in history ever to win more than 400 games.

Boys' League Baseball

Reds vs. Dodgers
The Reds from W. Greenville continued their winning streak with a heavy hitting attack against the Dodgers at Third St. Park yesterday winning by the score of 14 to 2.

With a lineup that consists of five of the league's leading hitters the Reds were able to run roughshod over most of the opposition. Bobby Howell, Gene Hudson and Jimmy Hendrix led the way for the Reds with three hits each. George Siders with two singles and Shorty Harrington with a single and homer were the leaders for the Dodgers.

Cubs vs. Giants
The Training School Giants lost another close one to the Cubs from Third St. yesterday at the Training School by the score of 13 to 10. The Giants outhit the Cubs but errors decided the issue. Milton Harrington, Dick Evans, Roy Martin and Bob Bilbro did the hitting for the Giants. Jimmy Bray led for the Cubs.

Athletics vs. Tigers
The Tigers fought an uphill battle against the Athletics yesterday to tie the score at 11 to 11 but the A's came back with five runs in the top of the last inning that the Tigers could not match and the A's won 16 to 12. Walter Gooch hit his third homer of the season for the A's. Richard Joyner, Milton Foley and Kent Lee got two hits each for the winners. Walter Perry, with a double and two singles and Jimmy Brewer with three singles led for the Tigers.

Schedule for Monday
Athletics vs. Braves, Train. Sch. 9:30 a.m.
Yanks vs. Reds, W. Greenville, 9:30 a.m.
Third St. Orioles vs. Indians, Train. Sch., 2:30 p.m.
Wolves vs. Red Sox, Train. Sch., 2:30 p.m.
Giants vs. Cubs, Third St., 9:30 a.m.

Assault Runs In Stamina Test

New York, July 2—(AP)—Assault hits Heartbreak Highway today as he seeks a second triumph in the Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct.

The classic Brooklyn, a $50,000-added grind of a mile and a quarter, calls for the utmost in a thoroughbred's speed, courage and stamina.

Ten horses were entered in this 61st Brooklyn, which features Aqueduct's getaway program. Two other Kelberg horses—Flying Missile and the grand mare But Why Not—were among them. At least one of that pair is expected to accompany Assault.

Only the brave

Chapter 32

"It sure is wonderful how things turn out," said Jeb King. "I've seen it happen hundreds of times. Nothing but storm clouds and gumbins' thunder and then the sun pops out and everything's bright again."

"The four of them were sitting on the Crown gallery enjoying the moonlight, Jeb and Mrs. King, Connie and Jeff.

Jeb went on. "Yes, sir, it sure is wonderful. To think that Bug Benjamin, or Ben Short, who started the whole trouble fourteen years ago should be the one to wind it up."

"For just about six long seconds," said Jeff grimly, "I thought he wasn't going to start winding in time. He sure paid off for the wrong he did."

"What makes me mad is the thought of the years Jeff and his father spent trying to make something out of Glenn Gleason," put in Connie. "Just as Bug said, you can dress a polecat in silk and sprinkle him with perfume and he's still a polecat."

"It sure was a waste of time and effort," agreed Jeb. "But now that the load's off Jeff's shoulders I figure he'll go places in a hurry."

He knocked the dottle from his pipe and got up.

"Mrs. King, in case you don't know, it's mighty close to midnight. I'm goin' to turn in."

"Gracious! It is really that late?" Mrs. King got up too and Jeb held the door open for her. He turned for a last word.

"Forgot to tell you, Jeff, that the job of marshal's waitin' for you if you want it. But don't make up your mind right off; I might have another proposition to talk over with you. Good night, kids. And Connie—don't forget what I told you."

For a while after they had gone, Connie and Jeff sat in silence; then she moved her chair closer and her hand closed about his strong fingers. The gloom hid the roses in her cheeks.

"Jeff," she whispered, "Dad's really interested in you. He likes you ever so much. But he worries about you, too."

"Worries? About me?"

"Uh-huh. He thinks it's a shame that a fine man like you isn't married."

Jeff laughed uneasily. "Who'd have a homely old cuss like me?"

"You're not homely and you're not old! I think you have the nicest eyes, and when you smile—" She broke off abruptly. "Have you ever tried asking a girl to marry you? Somebody, I mean, that you really love?"

"I never loved but one girl, Connie; and she—she's so far above me—"

"Oh-h-h!" Connie was quite sure of herself now. She crept a little closer to him. "So there has been a woman in your life! Tell me about her, Jeff."

"No, there hasn't been a girl. I mean, there is a girl—Doggone it, Connie; what are you making me say?"

She laughed happily. "I don't exactly know, darling, but it's something I've wanted to hear you say for ages and ages!"

Darling! He looked down at her, a great joy welling up within him. Her head was tilted back and her lips were slightly parted and he read in her eyes all the love and tenderness that was in her heart. With a low cry he gathered her to him.

Mons later they were still on the gallery, but now they occupied Jeb's big chair and she was cuddled in the crook of his arm.

He leaned back and sighed happily. "Connie, what was it your father told you not to forget?"

She laughed delightedly and drew his head down so that she could whisper.

"He said to me this evening, 'Connie, you'll never break that mustang if you wait for him to come up and beg for sugar. You gotta rope him and slap your brand on him before he has a chance to buck out of the loop.'"

He kissed her shining hair.

"Bless his heart, I reckon he was right. Ah, darling, the brand is there; it's been there ever since that first day on the Cougar road. And here's one mustang that never, never will buck out of the loop!"

Elderly Sheriff Plans To Repel Coal Mine Pickets

Jane Law, W.Va. (AP)

—J. Cecil Owens, elderly sheriff of Lewis County, gathered his forces today to repel any attempts to close the only working coal-loading operation in this northern West Virginia mining area.

The sheriff talked 27 carloads of "roving pickets" out of shutting down the Bittern Fuel Company yesterday. The United Mine Workers pickets wanted to force the 200 non-union workers of the company to join their current 10-day vacation.

The caravan left after the pickets told Owens they would return today with five times as many men. Owens said they would be met by himself, two deputies, two state policemen and "all the constables I can round up."

He said that "Lewis County has almost no union mines. If the union does not want to work, that's their business. The men here want to work and we are going to see that they get that right."

"If they dump coal on the highways, we are going to send them to the penitentiary."

When the caravan arrived yesterday, the sheriff, in his 80's, told the pickets he did not want traffic blocked "because those trucks have to go through."

"They called me a yellow dog, but I didn't mind. I told them I didn't want any trouble and we weren't going to have any."

There was no comment from UMW sources.

The word "Viking" means "those who lurk in bays and come out for plunder."

Teaching Of Reading And Testing Programs For Schools Will Be Topic

The teaching of reading and testing programs for schools, especially testing for reading ability and progress, will be the subject of a conference at East Carolina Teachers College next week, according to Dean Leo W. Jenkins, director of the summer school.

The four-day program, scheduled for July 5-7 and July 11, will be directed by Dr. Hazel Taylor, head of the Testing Bureau at the college here. Meetings will be held at the Flanagan building at the college. Public school teachers and others who are interested are invited to attend. No fees will be charged and no credit is offered for the work.

The conference will begin Tuesday, July 5 at 2:00 o'clock with a demonstration of Harvard University reading films and a discussion by Dr. Taylor of the program in remedial reading at East Carolina Teachers College. Reading instruments, including ephthalograph, metronoscope, and telecine will be exhibited and explained Wednesday at 2:00 o'clock. Reading lessons for primary and intermediate groups will be taught by faculty members at the campus Training School and will be offered Thursday morning from 10:00 to 11:00 and again from 11:00 to 12:00. Testing individual students and of groups will be demonstrated Monday, July 11, in the morning from 8:30 to 9:00 and from 11:00 to 12:00 and in the afternoon from 2:00 to 3:30.

The demonstrations at 11:00 Thursday and Monday, are to be given for students of education and administration. Others interested in seeing either the demonstration reading lessons of the demonstration of individual testing or both are asked to attend, if possible, at the earlier hour.

Squirrel Killed By Power Line

Much attention was being attracted today to a power line pole opposite the city hall where a large squirrel had dropped from an overhanging tree and walked along a high tension wire. The animal then started to climb down the pole and came in contact with a metal strap holding a cross bar and was killed by the high current passing through his body.

The animal was killed yesterday and its body is still suspended from the wire and the metal strap, today.

Farmers Warned Of Mild Floods

Raleigh, July 1—(AP)—Farmers were warned today to move livestock from lowlands along two Eastern North Carolina rivers because of expected mild floods.

The U.S. Weather Bureau here said it anticipated no serious floods on the streams — the Neuse and Roanoke rivers.

Meanwhile, one of two highways closed yesterday because of heavy rains had been reopened. US 64 was closed in Martin County for several hours because of high water.

W. H. Rogers, Jr., State Highway engineer, said NC 127 between Jamesville and Washington, N.C., blocked by a washout, would not be opened to traffic until tomorrow.

The Weather Bureau said more than five inches of rain in the Smithfield area pushed the Neuse to 11 feet yesterday, with a crest of 16 feet expected today.

Weatherman Garrett Demotis said Goldsboro could expect 17 feet—three feet above flood stage—by July 5 and that Kinston could expect 15 feet—one foot in flood—on July 7.

The Roanoke was expected to go to 37 feet—six in flood—by Sunday. More than five inches of rain at Scotland Neck will cause a considerable rise there, Demotis said but no serious flood is expected.

M. H. Ayers Funeral To Be Held Sunday

Marvin Ayers, 47, died at his home near Bear Grass early this morning after being ill for the past 10 days. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Rev. Preston Cayton, pastor of the Church Crossroad Christian Church and burial will be in the Rehoboth Holiness Church cemetery near Bear Grass.

Mr. Ayers was born and lived all his life in Martin county and was a farmer. He was a member of Crossroad Christian Church. He was married to Mrs. Lena Horton in 1921, who survives with one stepson, Reubin Thomas Gray of Norfolk, Va.; three step-daughters, Mrs. Lillie Mae Williams of Newport News, Va., Mrs. J. R. Messer and Mrs. Carson Taylor of Rocky Mount; a brother, Lloyd Ayers of Near Bear Grass and a sister, Mrs. Holly Hooten of Portsmouth, Va.

Salton Sea in the Colorado desert was a salt marsh before 1906, when defective irrigation canals turned it into a lake 40 miles long.

Police Kept Busy In Keeping Order

By CHESTER WALSH
Police yesterday arrested Victoria Smith, 23, colored, on a charge of assaulting with a deadly weapon (a knife) Kathleen Foreman, colored, inflicting painful injury.

Kelly Knox, colored, was arrested on charges of being drunk and assaulting with a deadly weapon (a knife) Willie Ross, colored.

Lyman Price, colored, police records show, is charged with assaulting with his fists a female, Laura Elizabeth Hill, colored.

Another police record shows that James Eddie Vines went to a hospital and reported that he had been shot. Investigation by a surgeon revealed that the injury on Vines' head was caused by the butt of a pistol or some other instrument. Vines is charged with disorderly conduct and profane language.

Very few people have any idea of the number of complaints the Greenville police investigate every day and night. If every complaint resulted in a warrant, Judge J.W.H. Roberts and Solicitor Eli Bloom would have to hold court every day but Sunday, it appears.

Police reports show that numerous business men leave doors or windows open nights. The officers, in their regular policing of the city, check doors—front and back—of business places. Another report to police yesterday stated that there was a dead mule in a nearby neighborhood and it included a request for its removal. A housewife reports that a prowler is about her premises. Police check and make a report. A mother sends word that her teen-age daughter had not arrived at home at midnight. Investigation by the officers show that the youngster arrived at home a few minutes ahead of time. And on and on, the complaints go in. The busiest people in Greenville are the police officers.

FBI, SBI, State Highway patrolmen and other law enforcement officers visiting Greenville on business say this city has one of the most efficient police forces in the state, and that goes for Chief Lester D. Page, too, they say.

Plans Divorce Third Husband

Hollywood, July 1—(P)—Actress Jean Parker has filed divorce suit against her third husband, Dr. Kurt Grotter, charging cruelty.

They were married five years ago. Dr. Grotter, a financial adviser to movie studios, followed George MacDonald, New York newspaperman, and radio newscaster Douglas Dawson on Miss Parker's marital list.

Hazel Garris Saw Much On 4-H Washington Trip

Pitt county's outstanding 4-H member, Hazel Garris of Farmville recently returned from the week-long National 4-H camp in Washington, D. C. She was one of four North Carolina representatives at the camp.

During the week's stay in the nation's capital, the Pitt county girl visited many governmental buildings, the various memorials in the city, visited President Truman, posed for a picture with Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and Frank P. Graham, Congressman Herbert Borner, and represented the Southern states on a television broadcast.

The 4-Hers, while in Washington were entertained by various groups taken on a boat trip down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, and honored at concerts by the United States Marine band, Army band, and Navy band.

"One of the things everyone enjoyed most was the International Citizenship party in the Hall of Adventures in the Chamber of

Futile Robbery Attempt Probed

Farmville, July 2—Farmville police and Pitt county officers were called early this morning to investigate the attempted robbery of a service station and living quarters on the Snow Hill highway on the outskirts of Farmville.

Deputy Sheriff L. E. Manning who assisted in the investigation said the robber or robbers apparently tried to enter the service station through two windows. The officer said the screen wire over one window was out, and the screen wire over the other was ripped off.

Officers quoted B. O. Baldree who owns the station as saying he had not found anything missing from the station.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson, Deputy Sheriff L. E. Manning, and Capt. Dorsey of the Greenville police force were called by the Farmville police and took the blood hounds from the state prison farm to Farmville in an effort to trail the intruders.

Manning said the dogs picked up a trail at the filling station and followed it through Farmville to movie studios, followed George MacDonald, New York newspaperman, and radio newscaster Douglas Dawson on Miss Parker's marital list.

VETS GATHERING

Ft. Bragg, N.C., July 1—(AP)—Two hundred overseas veterans will leave tomorrow to attend the 82nd Airborne Association convention in Cleveland Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Bagpipes were used by the ancient Romans. The Emperor Nero played one.

Garbage Service For The Fourth

The Fourth of July holiday weekend will not find the residents of Greenville without garbage service. It was revealed in an announcement by Mayor W. B. Stafford and Street Superintendent C. K. Beatty today.

Although no regular garbage collections will be made in the city on Monday, the officials said, the street department will have a person on duty to receive calls from residents of the city who need their garbage moved that day. Beatty requested persons who wish garbage moved on Monday to telephone 3583.

Mayor Stafford said this morning, "We want the people in Greenville to know that we want to work with them on this garbage situation." The mayor said plans are being worked out to make daily garbage throughout the city, and the new system will be adopted as soon as the plans are complete.

Beginning immediately, he said there will be a city employee on duty until 4:30 each Saturday afternoon to remove garbage from the homes of people who have been missed by the regular collectors. Persons who have extra garbage they wish removed on Saturday afternoons are requested to call 3583 and leave their street addresses, the city officials said.

Constant Fight Over Their Son

Chicago, July 2—(AP)—The main argument at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brantl involved the looks of their year old son, Thomas the mother testified in a divorce action in circuit court yesterday.

Mrs. Brantl, 24-year-old secretary, said since birth of her son, her life has been a continuous quarrel as to whether the boy looked more like his father, also 24, or his mother.

She was granted a divorce by Judge Julius H. Miner.

Sheriff Reports Extra Business

The Pitt county sheriff's office during the year ending June 30 issued a total of 4,551 papers, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said today.

The number of papers issued during the past year is approximately 1,000 more than the number issued the previous year by the department. The sheriff said the number of investigations or arrests made by members of his staff during the past year.

San Antonio is the oldest city in Texas, with its first permanent settlement established in 1718 along with the founding of the mission.

Most Of Nation Sweaters Under Early July Heat

By The Associated Press
The heat was on in full blast over most of the nation today and little relief was expected over the Fourth of July holiday.

Ocean breezes gave the east and west coastal areas pleasant weather, while some cooling weather was reported close to the Great Lakes.

But other parts of the country sweated in the early July heat and humidity. The central and southern states slumped in the hottest weather of the summer season yesterday as the mercury climbed into the 90's over wide areas and hit 100 in some cities. Similar readings were forecast today. The mountain states also were promised continued hot weather.

Although temperatures were pleasant in the northeastern states there was no sign of rain to break the long dry spell.

Clearing The . . .

ports include leads and suspicious and sometimes even the statements of malicious and misinformed people. Even though later and more complete reports exonerate the individuals, the use of particular or selected reports might constitute the grossest injustice, and we all know that a correction never catches up with an accusation.

Maybe that was Clark's way of saying some of those listed in the FBI reports in the Coplon case were innocent. But he didn't say so flatly.

of the fleet, Saratoga signaled over, asking if there was anything Richelieu needed. The French came back with a request for 1,000 brassiers and the American gobs were just about to swim over to see why when a French linguist discovered that's what the French call life-jackets.

Well, that's a page out of the past. Pensance Bay may well be seeing the beginning of a new era in allied naval coordination.

Education For Freedom
Labor circles, left wing groups, and the like, are all telling their story. Whom do industrialists dream to speak for management at conventions, high schools, on the radio, at the Parent-Teachers Association? There are golden opportunities to educate at the grass roots. The busy businessman has too long muffed this chance to educate for opportunities.

Hence, several huge corporations I know have recently set up new Public Relations Departments to try to recoup their positions in this last eleventh hour.

When I graduated from College there was but one automobile for every 9500 people in the United States. Today every five people have an automobile. There, no families had radios. Today 95 per cent of all American families have radios! This was made possible not by promising Security but by promising opportunity. America became great by an ever-present awareness of our spiritual and moral heritage. July fourth celebrates the spiritual belief in the individual and a realization that each of us has not only rights but also has responsibilities.

Higher Taxes Not Needed
All President Truman needs to balance the Federal budget is to assure more freedom and less security—to youth, wage workers and employers. Then initiative will return, employment will increase, stock markets will rise and once again the Federal Government will have a surplus without any tax increases.
