Sympathy Only On Britain's Plight

Congress Generally Cool To Announcement Of Dwindling Reserves; Acheson Displays Tendency To Discount Situation; No Extra U. S. Help Seen

Washington, July 7—(AP)—Great Britain seemed likely today to get American sympathy—and not much else—in her newest financial plight.

Members of Congress generally reacted coolly to the announcement that Britain is down to her last $1,842,000,000 in gold and dollars.

In diplomatic circles, Secretary of State Acheson displayed a tendency to discount the British situation somewhat.

He said that, like an individual whose income drops, Britain was cutting her purchases. He added this was an unfortunate temporary necessity, however, and not a permanent solution.

Unless Congress changes the figure, England will get $920,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid this year. That was taken into account by Sir Stafford Cripps, finance minister in announcing drastic cuts in buying from the United States and other dollar areas.

Democrats and Republicans joined in saying that beyond the Marshall Plan aid the British had better not count on additional U. S. help.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told a reporter he thinks most of the members of his party will regard the $920,000,000 as the limit of aid.

"The British have a planned economy and it just hasn't worked," he said. "They'll have to work out their problem for themselves by changing their system or doing something else. We can't be expected to give them any more help than we already have."

London reported today that Cripps' call for an all-out "dollar crisis" rally by the British people fell with a dull thud.

First reaction by the nation's newspapers showed hardly a spark of response.

Those which support the Tory opposition to the Labor government labeled it "the same old stuff."

Even independent and Liberal editorial writers complained that the chancellor had done little or nothing to clear the economic air with his statement in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The newspapers generally said this simply means another dose of austerity and belt tightening with no sign of a way out.

The man in the street greeted the Cripps talk with apathy.

Among working folk who rode the buses and subways this morning there was little discussion of it.

There was no visible sign of the scolding area is down to its last $1,842,000,000 in gold and dollars which have been declining steadily.

The drive will close today and the five units will go into another county to start a drive. One unit will stay in Pitt county to take x-rays which will have to be re-taken, because of defective film or bad x-rays. This unit will start operations when all the reports of the x-rays have been given out through the mail.

All people who receive a report that their x-ray is unsatisfactory should go to the spare unit which will be located in Greenville and have a new x-ray made, said officials at the Pitt county health department.

A spare unit is working in Winterville today in an effort to retake some 300 x-rays which were found to be bad, due to defective film.

The 27,275 x-rays taken so far is still short of the set goal of 30,000 which was first set up by the Pitt county health office.

Dr. T. G. Barnight, acting Pitt county health officer, said that he would be "well pleased with a drive total of 27,000 or better."

Perjury Trial Of Alger Hiss Goes Into Final Hours

Jury Expected To Get Case By Late Afternoon; Summations Under Way

New York, July 7—(AP)—The perjury trial of Alger Hiss moved into its final session today after the defense branded the key accusations a lie-packed political plot.

A jury of 10 men and two women was expected to get the case by late afternoon, after the defense and government wind up their summations and the judge delivers his charge.

The defense gets its turn first—after charging yesterday in a fiery summary to the jury that Whittaker Chambers, Hiss' chief accuser, was playing politics in calling Hiss a Communist.

While a packed and tense courtroom hung on every word, defense counsel Lloyd F. Straker paced back and forth before the jury box for three and a half hours, hammering away at the government's case.

Then, with Straker's summation still an hour away from completion, court adjourned overnight.

Straker charged that the rotund Chambers, a self-confessed Red spy courier, concocted a plot against Hiss during the 1948 Presidential campaign, hoping to turn it to his own advantage.

Chambers first called Hiss a Communist before the house un-American activities committee last August, when the Presidential campaign was in full swing.

Straker pointed out that all signs at that time pointed to a Republican victory, and "he (Chambers) chose what he thought was the strongest side."

Hiss, with his wife, Priscilla, by his side, listened attentively through the long speech. Occasionally, the couple would smile as Straker scored a point.

The government's tall, lean prosecutor, assistant U. S. Attorney T. F. Murphy, gives his summation to the jury after Straker finishes today.

The defense lawyer pounded away in his speech on the prosecutor's statement early in the trial that "if you don't believe Chambers, then we have no case."

Chambers' accusations were what brought Hiss to trial.

Shannon, Ireland, July 7—(AP)—Fifty four passengers on a Trans-Atlantic plane forced to turn back when a developed engine trouble 600 miles out of Shannon, breathed a sigh of relief today when the plane arrived back here.

"I can swim," said comedian Danny Kaye, one of those aboard, "but not 600 miles."

TALKS S. C. VISIT Washington, July 7—(AP)—President Truman said today he hopes to visit South Carolina soon but he didn't say when.

Japan's approach to a state of emergency is another sign that the cold war is warming up in Asia.

If there is a pattern to this seeming shift of pressure eastward from Europe, this is it.

Chinese Communist victories last winter seriously upset the balance of the world's most numerous people going under Communist control.

Things were not going too well in Europe anyway. So Russia agreed to a Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Paris to calm Europe down a bit. There has been no such effect in east Asia.

Early in the Paris meeting, Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky brought up the matter of a peace settlement for Japan. Mindful that China would soon be a Communist power, he said the Big Four of the Asiatic war—China, the U.S.A., the U.S.S.R. and Britain—should write it soon.

The Western powers stuck to their position—all 11 nations that helped beat Japan should help write the peace.

Firemen Rescue Girl On Brink Of Potomac Falls

Firemen use ladders and ropes to rescue Martha Trem, marooned on a rock she grasped as she was being swept over falls in the Potomac river near Great Falls, Va. On a holiday outing, she apparently slipped and fell into the river just above the falls. She got hold of the rock and hung on until firemen finally reached her with extension ladders. Convict 'Treed' By Bloodhound

Only One Of Six Pitt Prison Camp Escapees At Large

By CHESTER WALSH "Frank," a veteran bloodhound at the State Prison Camp near Greenville, "treed" an escaped convict yesterday in woods between Vanceboro and Grifton, and prison authorities apprehended William Coward, 32, of Belhaven, who is serving time for driving drunk and hit-and-run driving. Harvey Fillinghame, in charge of the bloodhound, told Capt. Paul Crawford, prison superintendent, that the dog "treed" Coward in dense woods and that he surrendered quietly.

Coward and two other prisoners were working on a dirt road near Renston, between Greenville and Ayden, Tuesday afternoon when they disappeared in the bushes.

The other two were Edward (Dynamite) Stephens, 27, who shortly after his escape hitchhiked a ride back to the prison and surrendered, and Albert Hager, 40, serving time for robbery.

Hager was still at large today, prison authorities stated.

In the meantime, three other prisoners who drove away from the prison camp in a guard's car Tuesday, abandoned the car, stole another, then abandoned it, and commandeered a third car, are back in prison "doing penance" for their violation of prison rules. They are Lawrence Mitchell, 26, Elwood White, 22, and Woodrow Jackson.

State Highway Patrol Cpl. John Laws and other patrolmen blocked a 10-mile area of roads and highways in the area, and within 15 minutes the patrolmen had apprehended all three of the fleeing prisoners and recovered the three automobiles.

The three convicts who experienced a short period of liberty have three warrants against them for the larceny of automobiles, one warrant in Pitt County and two in Martin County.

There may have been a similar deadlock at Paris over Korea. Whether Korea came up or not, President Truman proposed a "little Marshall plan" to help the American-sponsored southern half of Korea keep its head above water. To make sure this would go through, the Southern Koreans decided this was the time to drive the Northern Koreans out of the Ongjin peninsula. They still are fighting them there, in a small war that could get big at any time.

Late in the Paris conference there was an unconfirmed report that former Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had been given the special job of coordinating Communist movements in Asia. This was never confirmed, but Vishinsky's proposal for a Japanese peace and subsequent developments all look as if some coordinating hand has been at work.

Senator Dulles

New York, July 7—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today appointed John Foster Dulles, his veteran Foreign Affairs adviser, to the United States Senate as successor to Robert F. Wagner.

Dulles will serve an interim term until Dec. 1. A Senator will be elected at a special election Nov. 8 to serve for the balance of Wagner's term from Dec. 1 1949 to Dec. 31 1950.

Dewey said it was "unlikely" that Dulles would run in the Nov. 8 special election as the Republican nominee.

Aldermen Slated To Talk Finances

Planning Spending Program Topic Of Tonight's Meeting

During this morning and this afternoon Mayor Stafford held meetings with the committees on the various city departments, during which each department made a report to the mayor on the activities and the anticipated needs for the next fiscal year. The mayor said he will give an overall report to the aldermen tonight.

Although Stafford said he would like to withhold any statement on possible changes in the city's personnel or department budgets until after tonight's aldermen's meeting, the mayor did express the opinion that there "will be some adjustments made among the personnel, but just where, I'm not prepared to say."

Reliable sources close to the city officials have reported for the past week that a cut in the personnel of the city police force is being considered by the aldermen.

"We want to give the city better service than it has had, and we want to get a dollar's value for each dollar spent," Stafford stated this afternoon. "We are going to conserve where we can and still operate efficiently."

Welfare Office Reports Work Of Past 10 Months

Reports from the Pitt county welfare department during the past ten months show that the office spent over $142,000 in caring for the aged people in Pitt county. Over 7,825 aged received aid in the county from the local welfare office during the ten-month period.

Over 1,705 blind people in the county received aid during that period and more than $23,000 was spent on aid for the blind.

The old-age relief and aid to the blind are two of the largest users of money spent by the welfare office, but the general relief program takes much money also. More than $60,000 was spent for general relief work during the ten-month period.

Patrolman Makes Arrest In Fight

Own Gun Is Used Against Him Fighting Wanted Man

Bethel, July 7—Highway Patrolman D. E. Perry narrowly escaped serious injury and possibly death here early last night when a man he was attempting to arrest took his gun and fired at him in a tussle.

The bullets went wide of their mark, however, and the patrolman suffered only a torn shirt and scratches. The man he arrested was identified as James Brown, alias Roosevelt Brown, a 35 year old Negro man of Conetoe wanted for larceny of a pick-up truck in Wilson.

Patrolman Perry said he spotted Brown in Bethel about 7:45 last night, driving a 1938 Chevrolet which had been reported stolen from Enfield. When he attempted to arrest Brown, Perry said, the man jumped from the car, ran across a vacant lot and hid behind a hedge row. Perry said he followed and jumped the hedge row, and Brown tackled him and took his gun from his holster as the two fell.

In the ensuing struggle, Perry related, he managed to keep Brown from pointing the gun toward him and held the man until Jesse Lassiter, a white man, and Charles Jenkins, a Negro man who had heard the gun shot, came to his aid. Perry said he was holding Brown, and that as Lassiter and Jenkins twisted the gun from Brown's hand it fired again.

The three men put Brown in the patrolman's car and took him to Pitt county jail in Greenville.

The highway patrolman this morning expressed his grateful appreciation for the two men who came to his aid.

Cpl. John Laws of the highway patrol district headquarters in Greenville said this morning that Brown, who is being held in Pitt county jail, told officers he had been convicted of theft of an automobile in Rocky Mount and sentenced to two and one-half years. Perry quoted the prisoner as saying he had been on the roads so many times he had lost count.

Truman Says World Slowly Moving Toward Real Peace

British Move Blow To Tobacco States

Cooley Says Action Distressing But No Surprise; Larger Purchases by Stabilization Corporation Seen For Crop

Washington, July 7—(AP)—The British cut in dollar purchases was viewed today by men from tobacco-producing areas as a distinct blow. Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the house agriculture committee called the British action "a blow to American tobacco." But he added "I do not favor either quick or drastic action by Congress in curtailing money to Great Britain under the European recovery program."

Cooley commented that Britain normally is America's best tobacco customer.

He said Britain's announcement that it must guard its reserve of gold and dollars was "distressing but no surprise."

"If our ECA officials believe the British are making a sincere effort to restore their economy, but pressure of things beyond their control has caused them to cut foreign purchases, I don't believe her sails should be trimmed too quickly," he observed. "This should not affect ECA appropriations."

Cooley said that as recently as ten days ago he and government tobacco experts had discussed with British officials the possibilities of tobacco purchases.

"To cut their dollar buying naturally will cut their tobacco buying," explained Cooley, who himself is a tobacco grower. "It's unfortunate for our American farmer."

Tobacco sources in Washington said that British plans earlier in the year were to buy about 180,000,000 pounds of American tobacco in the year which started July 1. This would have included all American

Leaf Disease In Pitt Decreases

Less Damage To Crop This Season Than For Last Year

Tobacco diseases are less severe and have caused less damage to the leaf crop in Pitt county so far this season than last year, Assistant County Agent S. J. Weeks said today.

He attributed the decrease in disease damage to the tobacco crop to two principal reasons: (1) weather conditions prior to this time have not been favorable for the spread of black shank disease, (2) wide use of black shank resistant Oxford one variety of tobacco in Pitt county has cut disease damage in infested fields.

Weeks stated there have been "some new outbreaks" of Granville wilt in Pitt county tobacco fields but these have been relatively few compared with the new black shank outbreaks. Plant lice also caused some damage in various sections of the county during the past several weeks, the tobacco specialist said but most of the lice have disappeared from the Pitt county fields following the hot weather of last week.

Commenting on the Oxford one variety of black shank resistant tobacco, Weeks said farmers generally are satisfied with the yield the variety is producing. "I haven't talked with a farmer in the past two weeks who planted Oxford one and doesn't like it," he said.

Federal Housing Role

The Program In Brief; Cities And Counties Will Own The Houses; Govmt. Will Have Some Control Over Money Used; A 40-Year Project; Earlier Attempt

Washington, July 7—(AP)—This is the government's new public housing program. To start, building 810,000 decent, low-rent housing units in the next six years for low-income families living now in slums or run-down homes.

Once a family's income improves beyond a certain point, it must get out of public housing and find a private dwelling.

This makes room for a lower-income family. Over many years many people can be helped that way. That's the idea behind the program.

This government's main role in all this is helping—with money—cities and communities build the public housing.

The government itself won't own or run the housing. The cities and communities will do that.

How much will all this cost the government? Congress says no more than $12,320,000,000 spread over 40 years. It can't be spent all at one time.

At Same Time, Says No Steps Can Be Yet Taken Toward Disarmament; Labor Bill Fight Left To Party Leadership; Denies Service 'Dictatorship'

Washington, July 7—(AP)—President Truman said today that the world is moving slowly and gradually toward peace.

At the same time, he said no steps can be taken looking to disarmament until there is agreement under which the United Nations will have firm control.

He said peace was the keynote of nearly every address he has made since he took office April 12, 1945.

Mr. Truman's remarks at a news conference were prompted by the prediction of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that, after the Senate ratifies the Atlantic pact, President Truman will lead a new crusade for world peace.

The President promised to keep up the crusade he has been making. He said that he had left up to the Democratic leadership in Congress the decision whether to continue the fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act at this session.

The President said he is still interested in making the fight for repeal—one of his campaign pledges.

He said he discussed with congressional leaders earlier in the week whether to take up labor legislation.

He has passed a question whether a bill acceptable to the Administration can go through.

The Democratic leaders, the President went on, are considering whether to take up the measure in the House and they will make the determination of it.

As to whether he would like them to continue the fight, he said he certainly would.

He would not comment on whether he would accept a compromise along the lines of the Sims bill.

The Sims measure was a compromise backed by Administration forces in the House in an effort to save some features of the Administration's T-H repealer. It made some concessions to forces which went to retain most of the present law.

The President declared it was perfectly absurd to say that the Administration's bill on unification of the armed forces would make a virtual dictator of the secretary of defense.

Mr. Truman told the news conference that as long as the constitution makes the President the commander-in-chief, such a thing could not happen.

A reporter had told him that Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee had raised the dictators argument against the bill advocated by Secretary Johnson.

Mr. Truman said he intended to speak his opinions freely about the 1950 election in Missouri.

But, he added, he may not take in the steaming heat immediately. Meanwhile, crop losses in the drought-stricken northeastern states mounted daily and no heavy rains were forecast.

Deaths attributed to the hot weather mounted to at least 153.

Cool air fanned out over the dry stricken areas of New England and New York state yesterday and rain fell in some parts of the eastern states.

New York City got its heaviest wetting in weeks—a half inch rainfall. That was more than fell in the Metropolis during the entire month of June. The mercury was a pleasant 81 yesterday and dropped to 71 early today. Scattered showers brought relief to other parts of New York state.

New Jersey, where crops have suffered millions of dollars damage from 45 days of drought, also got some rain, but not enough to help the wilting crops.

Crop losses in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut are running between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, farm experts said. They said they may total $30,000,000 if there is no rain within a week.

Humidity was high and temperatures were in the upper 80's and 90's over the hot zone yesterday. Highest readings were hit 104 at Salina and 103 at Wichita, Kansas where October 30 near the record for July 98 equaled the 1911 record for July 98. Crops in some parts of Maryland were reported in "critical condition" due to the hot-rainless weather.

Matthews-James Vows Spoken

Miss Edna Ruth James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Russell James of Bethel, and Edward Eason Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Matthews of Robersonville were married in a candlelight ceremony on June 25, in Bethel Methodist church. The Rev. William M. Howard, Jr., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. W. R. Hunnicutt, organist and Miss Ann Whitehurst, soloist.

The bride wore a street length white dotted swiss dress with fitted bodice, and full skirt with white accessories. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and showered with white sweet peas and satin streamers.

The mother of the bride wore a printed silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a printed silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip. They are now at home in Bethel.

Mrs. Matthews is a graduate of Bethel high school. Mr. Matthews is employed with Shugar Department store in Tarboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Entertain At Cake Cutting

Immediately following the rehearsal of the Creek-Kilpatrick wedding on Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Taylor and Miss Henrietta Taylor entertained the bride and bride-groom, bridal party and out-of-town guests at a cake cutting receiving at their residence in Ayden.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Bouquets of bright flowers in gaily colored containers were used on the broad porch.

The guests were greeted at the door leading into the spacious hall by the hostesses, host and honoree.

The hallway arch was lovely with its tasteful decorations of graceful sprays of southern smilax. A massive arrangement of pink and white gladioli and greenery was used on a marble top table just below the archway.

Gladioli of deep pink sladed out to pale pink were used on occasional tables. Pale blue hydrangeas, pink gladioli and fern arranged in large containers of floor standard design offered an inviting approach into the living rooms which were decorated in pink and blue. The mantels were unusually lovely with trailing smilax and fern interspersed with white tapers.

The dining room was tastefully decorated using all white flowers and greenery. The table, covered with handsome imported maderia and lace cloth was centered with a gorgeous bouquet of gardenias, fever few, white gladioli and fern. Epergnettes of burning white tapers, gardenias, fever few and fern set in heavy antique three-branched silver candelabras finished the artistic arrangement.

On one end of the table reposed the beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake surmounted by miniature bride and bride-groom standing under the archway of flowers and wedding bells.

The dining room was magnolia leaves and holding a center decoration of white magnolias. Mixed white flowers encircled by smilax, graced the side tables. Lighted white candles afforded soft illumination throughout the room.

After the bride and bridegroom-elect cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. Frank Kilpatrick, mother of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Robert Creech, mother of the bridegroom, poured lime frappe. Young Misses Merle Ruggles Gooding and Henrietta Taylor, charming in their floor length gowns, paced decorated green and white mints and salted pecans.

Many varied and beautiful arrangements of blue, pink, orange and white flowers were used to decorate the music room, where guests were entertained. Instrumental musical selections were played throughout the evening by Miss Virginia Belle Cooper.

Approximately thirty-five guests attended the delightful affair.

Hostesses At Coca-Cola Party

Mrs. H. L. Ormond and Miss Dot Ormond entertained with a coca cola party at their home honoring Mrs. Ford McGowan (a recent bride, and Miss Ann Morton, bride-elect of Mr. Clifton Hugh Edwards, Jr.

The honorees were presented corsages by their hostesses.

Throughout the home mixed summer flowers were used. A color scheme of pink predominated in the dining room where Mrs. Claude Gaskins and Mrs. C. H. Edwards served dainty refreshments to twenty guests.

Federal Aid For S. C. Falling Off

Charleston, S. C., July 7—(AP)—South Carolina received less federal aid money in fiscal 1948 than six other Southern states, the Department of Commerce district office here reported.

The Palmetto State collected $18,953,000, a seven per cent increase over the previous year. This was the lowest percentage boost for the seven states, the average hike being 22 per cent.

The amounts received by the other states and the percentage increase were reported yesterday as:

Davidson Asks Rent Decontrol

Raleigh, N.C., July 7—(AP)—A Davidson County delegation visited Governor Scott yesterday and asked him to lift rent controls in their county.

In leaving the governor's office, the delegation said Scott has promised them to "issue the necessary orders" to take controls off rental property in Davidson County.

The Davidson group was the first to ask the governor to make a decontrol recommendation. If its wishes are met, Davidson will become the first county in North Carolina to remove rent controls under legislation recently passed by Congress.

Suspect Influence 'Sold' For Promises Of Parole

Raleigh, N.C., July 7—(AP)—The state's Paroles Commission declared yesterday "there is a widespread suspicion" that certain lawyers "seek to sell their influence in the matter of paroles."

Dr. Talmage Johnson, recently appointed to the paroles post by Governor Scott, made the statement in what he termed a "frank speech" to the Lake County Bar Association.

"I have personally interviewed a large number of prisoners and have read letters from many more," Johnson said. "Now I know that the word of a prisoner may not always be taken at its face value."

"But many prisoners and friends of prisoners declare that certain lawyers solicit parole cases, give positive promises of paroles by designated dates, provided they are paid what appears to be rather exorbitant fees, and demand additional fees for continuing their efforts in behalf of prisoners for whom favorable action is, on the basis of the record, quite remote."

Dr. Johnson said that "in at least a few cases letters signed by these attorneys bear out such claims."

He made it clear, however, that "as the new commissioner of paroles in North Carolina, I covet the cooperation of practicing attorneys and their assistance in making our state parole system the most effective one in this country."

"Poor Richard's Almanack," the most famous of such Colonial publications, made Benjamin Franklin a rich man.

Mrs. James Thomas Hubbard

Hubbard-Williams
Miss Evelyn Williams, daughter of Mrs. Lillie Cox Williams and the late Mr. Williams of Greenville, became the bride of James Thomas Hubbard of Chester, S.C., in a candlelight ceremony solemnized at the Eighth Street Christian Church on Saturday, June 18, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the bride, presided at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Rudolph Willmann, church organist, and Mrs. Joseph Lupton, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Lupton sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

Miss Williams, given in marriage by her brother, Elmer Williams, wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with a round yoke of chantilly lace, basque waist attached to a full skirt, extending in a circular train, and sleeves ending in callia lily points over the wrists. Her veil of bridal illusion, edged with chantilly lace, was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a purple orchid, showered on a white prayer book.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Carey Joyner, as matron-of-honor. She wore a gown of white taffeta, fashioned similar to the bride's gown, with matching mitts and a headdress of white net. She carried a bouquet of pink and blue daisies, tied with matching streamers.

J. B. McDowell of Chester, S.C., was best man. Ushers were Carey Joyner and Stanley Hathaway of Greenville.

Mrs. Williams chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of black crepe with black and white accessories with a corsage of red roses.

Following the wedding, the mother of the bride entertained at a reception at the home of Mrs. Carey Joyner for the wedding guests.

After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. For travel the bride wore a dress of Navy with matching accessories and the orchid lifted from her prayer book. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 313 East Tenth Street.

Mrs. Hubbard is a graduate of Chicod High School and is now employed as bookkeeper at Home Builders Supply Co.

Mr. Hubbard attended Chester High School and the University of S. C. He is employed as manager of Efrid's Dept. Store, Greenville.

TASTY MEAT WITH POTATO SALAD

Strength FOR THE DAY
THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT
Mr. Kimball, the Sunday School teacher who led the boy Dwight L. Moody to Christ, said in later years, I can truly say . . . that I have seen few persons whose minds were spiritually darker than when he (Moody) came to my Sabbath School class, or one who seemed more unlikely ever to become a Christian of clear, decided views of gospel truth; still less, to fill any sphere of extended public usefulness.

When, a few months later, Moody sought membership in the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church in Boston, the committee which examined him on his fitness to join the church concluded that he was not sufficiently instructed in religious matters to enable them to accept him. His case was therefore referred to three members of the committee who were delegated to instruct him as needed. It was not until a year later that the committee regarded him as having attained sufficient knowledge to justify his acceptance into church membership.

Think of it. Here was a boy who when he grew into manhood, was to become the foremost religious figure America produced in the 19th century. Yet when he was eighteen he was religiously so illiterate that his application for church membership was deferred a year until he had learned enough to justify his acceptance by church authorities.

THE STALLERS
For more than two years now the people of Pitt county have been asking the county commissioners to purchase adequate fire-fighting equipment to be used in the rural areas of the county.

dollars of property owned by Pitt county farmers goes up in smoke and blazes each year. The time is long overdue when some sort of fire protection should be given the people in rural areas. The money they save in reduced insurance rates alone will more than pay for the equipment over a short span of years.

The commissioners have stalled on this one matter long enough, and the people of the county are now clamoring for the protection they deserve. Now that the spending for the new fiscal year is being mapped out, the commissioners should plan for the procurement of fire fighting equipment to be used in the county—or tell the people out-right that they have no intentions of heeding their call for fire protection.

Somebody Told Me . . .

If you have seen a 1940 model red Ford with the number "32" on the front doors in big letters running around Greenville, and wondered what it was, then wonder no longer. The hottest hot rod in these parts, Alton Haddock, took up where Henry left off and modified number "32" for racing. Won 28 races, then built a lighter and faster car in order to win more races.

When he isn't busy working on his racing cars Alton runs a garage eight miles from Greenville on the New Bern highway. But a great deal of his time is taken up rebuilding his racing cars in order to eke out a few more miles per hour.

Alton's first association with stock car races was in Langhorne, Pennsylvania; Trenton, New Jersey, and Williams Grove, Pennsylvania. In those towns he served for nine years as mechanics for drivers—the key man in case of a breakdown. A good racing mechanic can mend minor ailments in time to keep his driver in the race.

Two years ago Alton started driving number "32." Since then he has won 31 races—28 with "32" and three with his recently-completed 1939 model Ford coupe, which is faster than the old standby. Alton has copped top prize money, usually about $150, from races in Suffolk, Virginia; Newport News, Virginia; Ahsokie, Virginia Beach; and Washington, N.C. His poorest showing in races in this area was a fourth place.

Last January Alton entered the biggest stock car race in this part of the country at Daytona Beach, Florida. He started in 40th place of the 80-car race, and at the 150-mile mark of the 200-mile distance he was in sixth place. At that point his fan belt broke, but in spite of the delay he finished 25th. First place would have owners knew they could not qualify under the strict 1940 amendments to the beer laws. Literally hundreds of untidy outlets have cleaned up painted, and installed adequate sanitary facilities.

As of today, retail beer permits have been granted to 5,600 outlets—1,800 less than the peak number of beer outlets in the state during the license year ending last May 1.

There has been a pronounced improvement—yes, but there will be much more. The malt beverage division literally has just begun to work at its enforcement job.

enforcement officers—did whatever enforcement they saw necessary in the routine checks. The inspectors had a tremendous job to meet the July 1 deadline set by the General Assembly. Many said it could not be done, but they did it by working day and night seven days a week. In the future, our job will be 95 per cent enforcement, and we intend to enforce the beer laws right up to the hilt.

Beer dealers who want to stay in business will be smart if they lean over backward not only to avoid breaking the beer laws but to avoid any suspicion that they are breaking the laws. Any beer dealers who take the law for a joke—who think they can wiggle or buy their way out as they have in the past—have a very, very rude awakening coming to them. The Brewing Industry is whole heartedly behind the enforcement program.

We plan to give particular attention to retailers who obtained or through legal pressure instigated solely to thwart the law. Such retailers are first on our purge list, and it's just a matter of time until they are forced out of the beer business.

A man wrote in today that some bad eggs still were doing business in his town. A great many such characters are still in the beer business throughout the state. The answer is simply that we could not make the beer business lily-white overnight. It takes time. But we don't intend to take too much time. When the Division came into being on May 1, it had no office, no personnel, no office equipment, no money, no stamps, no anything needed to go into business.

On a half-mile track stock cars average 60 mph; on a three-quarter mile banked track 90 mph; and on a straight-away 130 to 140 mph. Is stock car racing dangerous? Alton says he recently saw three drivers taken away from the track in ambulances. In order to participate in the races the drivers join the National Association of Stock Car Racing, Incorporated, pay $20 a year dues, plus $1.50 per race for track fee and hospitalization. In case of injury, the insurance pays the bill up to $500.

Converting a car for racing involves installation of a quick-change rear end, making it possible to change the gear ratio to fit the condition of the particular race track. Alton rebuilds the motors of his racers, puts in heavy duty radiators, springs, shock absorbers, distributor parts, and a modified carburetor. Additional beams were welded in the cab to add to the support. The conversion costs about $1,000, and racing fuel costs 76 cents a gallon. Does that prize money look big, or does operation costs look bigger?

Alton's next race will be Sunday at Virginia Beach. His new racer is designed especially for operation on a dirt track, and cannot be driven on the highway. Therefore, he has to tow the '39 model with his reliable number "32."

Never let it be said that we don't have a rod in these here parts. And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(P)—Are you a highbrow or a lowbrow?
This is the biggest question today in salons and saloons of Manhattan. Nobody inquires any more whether you're in society's blue book. No one except maybe a visiting Congressman asks whether you are or ever have been a member of the Communist party. And who cares now whether you belong to the National Association of Manufacturers or pay dues to the glass workers union? Echo answers: "Not a soul!"

The controversy was started some weeks ago by a light-hearted article in Life Magazine. It classified the "brow level" of people by their tastes in food, furniture, clothing, drinks and literature.

Do you like stravinsky with your meals or a light white wine? That tabs you, Mac. Did you buy a new black posture chair for the living room, lady, or did you come home with an overstuffed sofa on your back, you old lowbrow, you? Either way, sister, we know what you are.

Ya-a-y, Ya-a-y, highbrow, middle brow, lowbrow! Why, it's got the whole town going culture crazy. Here in the middle of a heat wave some men would drop dead of sunstroke rather than change from their tweeds into seersucker. Tweeds, don'tcha know—and you'd better know—are highbrow.

Office receptionists still read Faith Baldwin—but they wrap the book in a dust jacket from the latest novel by Jean Paul Sartre. He's a genuine 24-karat French highbrow existentialist, he is. He must be, or why would he be so cynical?

The bartender draws a foamy glass of beer, and whispers, "would you mind taking it in the back room? They say it's a lowbrow drink—and the boss wants to keep this a classy joint."

The cop on the beat hauls in a drunk, and the sergeant says, "throw him in with the other bums." "But this man says he drinks nothing but an adequate red wine," protests the cop. "Oh, the sign of a real highbrow," says the sergeant. "Show the gentleman to a private cell. By the way, sir, I'm a red wine man myself. Which do you find most adequate to the palate?"

Well, boys, this is it. The real class war is on now, the true-blue snobbery based on the altitude of the brow.

If a hostess serves you a cole slaw salad, you know she's either a lowbrow herself or thinks you are. A lettuce and tomato salad is only a few I. Q. points higher. And if the old girl, after dinner, suggests the group play gin rummy or bridge—don't take this second insult. If you care anything about social standing, scream at her:

"Listen, Biddy, you think we're Morons? With us it's canasta, the new Argentine game, or we don't pick up the cards." Personally, however, I'm going to sit out this latest cultural war. The lowbrow will probably lose, because if they start drinking an adequate red wine the highbrows will immediately decide beer is better. For a highbrow can't stand to be in the majority.

So I'm going to stay neutral. I'm just a "no-brow" myself, not high, not low, not middle. I'll sip red wine with the highbrow intelligentsia, gulp champagne or scotch and soda with the middle brows or blow 'em from all night with the lowbrows. I'll loll on a horsehair sofa or perch on a posture chair till my back breaks. I'll even sit on a small tack—if that'll help preserve a cultural truce. But neither for class nor mass will I eat grits with sorghum or read T. S. Eliot by candlelight. I won't be brow-beaten.

And I'll go to my grave secretly convinced that falling hair has made more highbrows in America than Harvard University.

Huge Miami Airport Planning New Improvements, Expansion

Miami, Fla., July 7 — (AP) — Miami's International Airport, already one of the biggest and busiest in the world, has embarked on an improvement and expansion program to cost $11,000,000.

The airport, second only to New York's La Guardia Field as an international port of entry, handles nearly a million passengers a year.

It covers 2,500 acres, includes 324 buildings and employs 15,221 persons. There are 12 regularly scheduled air lines and 34 non-scheduled lines.

First step in the improvement program is removal of Seaboard Air Line railroad tracks in the vicinity at a cost of $3,000,000.

A. B. Curry, director of the Port Authority, said other projects include a $3,000,000 terminal building and a $2,000,000 hotel, complete with swimming pool and shops for the convenience of air travelers. These will be followed by another $3,000,000 to be spent on new runways, ramps and taxi ways by 1952.

The present installation is valued at $30,000,000. Air lines pour $80,000,000 yearly into the area in payroll, plus $26,000,000 in purchases. Travelers stopping over leave another $20,000,000, Curry estimated.

Last year 958,583 passengers arrived or departed. Of these, 450,000 were international passengers, many of them top-ranking diplomats traveling between the Americas.

While English is the prevailing language, Spanish is almost as common. Signs in restaurants, shops, rest rooms and other facilities appear in both languages. It is not unusual to hear Portuguese, or any one of a half-dozen other tongues.

A total of 5,475,290 pounds of mail arrived or departed the airport in 1948. Cargo figures are even more impressive—a whopping 43,152,000 pounds. Customs collected more duty on airborne goods here than at all other airports in the nation combined.

Postal business became so great after the war that a separate postal station was set up to handle it. Now 28 clerks are employed, working in shifts around the clock.

Mail destined for out of the country is sorted and sent on its way in a matter of minutes, without having to go through the main station in downtown Miami.

The airport is tremendously important to Miami's economic life. It is estimated that 60 per cent of its employees own their homes.

Of the 324 buildings, 162 are occupied by tenants who have their own businesses, such as repair shops and restaurants.

Air-Conditioned Bed On Display

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 7 — (AP)—If you can't sleep these hot nights, how about an air-conditioned bed?

There is one on display at the current Grand Rapids furniture market.

Shown by Walter B. Stiles, Inc. the bed is low-slung and set on casters. The mattress is made of foam rubber with holes at intervals.

Through these holes circulates air from a conditioning unit underneath. The bed can be just as comfortable in winter as in summer because the conditioner is set for either warm or cool air.

Wingless Chickens Have Advantages Says Breeder

Des Moines, Ia., July 7—(AP)—Wingless chickens have been developed by Peter H. Bauman of Des Moines after 12 years of selective breeding.

Bauman, 32, has about 400 of the wingless chickens.

The advantages? Well, for one thing, Bauman said his birds have white meat when others have only bony wings. I makes them better eating.

And besides, no high fence is needed to keep the chickens in the yard. The birds can't fly at all and Bauman says they can only high jump 18 to 20 inches. A two foot barrier is high enough.

Bauman says the chickens lay an average number of eggs, but he says in time he expects the breed will out-lay other chickens as well as produce more meat. The reason is that the energy an ordinary chicken wastes in "useless flapping and flying about can be utilized in production of meat and eggs," Bauman said.

Lack of wings also makes the drumsticks bigger. That, Bauman said, is because the chicken's upper leg has to work harder to hold the bird upright.

The breed isn't perfect yet, Bauman said. He still gets about five chickens with stubby little wings out of every 100. Those are carefully weeded out of the breeding stock.

On one point Bauman declined to speculate. He said he had "no opinion on whether a rooster can get any satisfaction out of crowing when he has no wings to flap."

ISRAELITES GO SINGING ON WAY TO JERUSALEM

Psalms 120-134.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IS THERE anything more enjoyable than for a group of people to get together for a good song? The many woes that plague the world today seem to melt away when we join our voices in song.

We sing when we are happy, when we are in church or Sunday school; and the songs we have sung in our childhood days in Sunday school remain with us all our lives.

Young people (or older ones) on hikes, or gathered around an outdoor fire, almost always feel the urge to break into song. Happy is the home where the members of the family sing together.

In the home of this writer, all the family sang on Sunday evenings we would sing the hymns of our church, and today it is one of the pleasantest of home memories.

Such singing should be encouraged. It is not everyone who can play a musical instrument, but most can sing, and who can be angry with his brother, sister or friend if they join in song?

Possibly if men and women of different nations could sing together instead of arguing over him that hateth peace. I am for peace: but when I speak, they are for war."

The 121st Psalm is so beautiful and comforting that we love to dwell on it: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help.

"My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

"He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep....

"The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: He shall preserve thy soul.

"The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

Too many people in these days do not know the comfort that church going gives. They would not be able to say with the marching Pilgrims:

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord.

"Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem....

"Whether the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord, unto the testimony of Israel, to give thanks unto the name of the Lord."

"Pray for the peace of Jerusa-this and that, tensions would lessen and we really would live together as brothers instead of enemies, seeing which one can take advantage of the others.

We find the title, A Song of Degrees, over each psalm, has no significance for us. These seem to be marching songs, probably sung as caravans of pilgrims walked on their way to Jerusalem for the holy feasts.

Going to see Jerusalem, the Holy City, where the great temple was, must have made these people very happy, and they sang as they were on their way, thanking Jehovah for their blessings and for His help in past troubles.

The first Psalm in our lesson today—the 120th—seems especially appropriate for us of today when we have ended a terrible war and fear that another may be near.

"In my distress I cried unto the Lord, and He heard me. Deliver my soul, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue. My soul hath long dwelt with lem: they shall prosper that love thee.

"Peace be within Thy walls, and prosperity within thy palaces.

"For my brethren's and companions' sake, I will now say, Peace be within thee."

The word "Jerusalem" means "City of Peace." Alas, that it has seen so little peace. We can, however, now be hopeful for its future.

Psalm 133 begins: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The last psalm assigned us is short, and is addressed to the night-watchers of the temple, and the teacher should explain to the pupils the procedure as related by the commentator.

"Behold, bless ye the Lord, all ye servants of the Lord, which by night stand in the house of the Lord.

"Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord.

"The Lord that made heaven and earth bless thee out of Zion."

Latvian Refugees Say Life In Camp Better Than In U.S.

Greenville, N. C., July 7—(AP)—A family of Latvians plucked last year from Europe's chaos yesterday that life was better in a displaced persons camp than in a land-of-plenty America.

Tar Heel Slated Next YDC Head

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, July 7—J. C. Little of Raleigh, national committeeman for the Young Democratic Clubs, and Hoover Taft of Greenville, national treasurer, returned this week from Salt Lake City where they attended a session of the national YDC committee.

Much of the talk around Salt Lake dealt with the national president to be elected in October at Chattanooga, Tenn. Most prominently mentioned for the post, according to Little, was Basil Whitener of Gastonia, former state YDC president and presently solicitor of the fourteenth district.

The Tar Heel delegates report that if Whitener cannot accept the national presidency because of the time it would take him from his official duties, he is a cinch for permanent chairman of the Chattanooga convention.

Probability of one of these high posts coming to North Carolina with the national treasurer now a Tar Heel, indicates the Young Democrats, like their older brothers in the party, are looking to this state for high type leadership.

ABC Will Push Bootleg Fight

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, July 7—Robert W. Winston, chairman of the state ABC board, is in New York conferring with representatives of the big distilling companies in furtherance of his efforts to stop shipments of liquor into dry North Carolina territory. Winston said before leaving Raleigh that telephone conversations and correspondence indicated the distillers would co-operate as fully as possible.

Another step the chairman believes will prove effective may be imposition of the Maryland state retail tax on liquor sold to out-of-state unlicensed customers. One of the inducements for illegal traffic in liquor has been avoidance of the state taxes. Maryland has not been collecting the state under assumption that it was being collected in North Carolina. Upon being shown that this state has no means of collecting tax except from legal ABC outlets the Maryland attorney general thinks it can be collected by his state.

Collection of the state tax would take a big slice out of the profit made by illegal liquor dealers and to that degree would make the business less attractive.

The Fort Worth ace arrived here yesterday with his wife, Valerie, for a 10-day rest. It's strictly a loafing expedition, he explains.

Ben doesn't show any ill effects of his injuries until he walks. He

Greenies Top Rocky Mount By One-Sided 14-5 Margin

Pappy Leads Hitting Attack With Homer And Two Singles In Eleven-Hit Assault

By BERT MOYE

Frank Mauney, rookie right-hander for the Greenies, completely buffaloed the Rocky Mount Leafs here last night as he turned in a neat job of holding the visitors to seven hits as the Greenies walloped them to the tune of 14 to 5. The win for Mauney was his second of the season over the Leafs and was the Greenies' sixth straight win of the season over Manager Red Benton and his boys.

The Greenies got off to a fast start in winning last night's contest and put across three runs in the first frame to go out in front after which they were never headed. After Steve Denier and Willie Mauney had been issued free passes to first, Manager Pappy Williams came up to the bat and slugged his eighth homer of the season over the park to unload the bases.

Not satisfied with that lead the Greenies came back in the third frame and scored four more runs on singles by Williams, Cohen and Frank Mauney aided by two walks and an error.

After scoring one run in the sixth on Tepedino's double and Willie Mauney's single, the Greenies came back to really ice the game in the seventh when three singles, four walks, two passed balls, sacrifice and a double steal brought in six more runs.

The Leafs scored one run in the first when McJunkin hit to Pitcher Mauney and a wild throw enabled him to reach third after which he scored on Martin's single.

They added three runs in the fourth frame on a homer by John Hanley, his eighteenth of the season, with none on, and Bill Stanton's two run homer, his twelfth of the season. Three singles in the seventh frame gave the Leafs their final run of the game.

Frank Mauney, who went the route for the Greenies, not only pitched seven-hit ball, but struck out a total of seven men and issued only one free pass to first, John Hanley with a homer and a single and a single led the visitors' attack.

The Leafs used four of their regular hurlers in last night's contest and in the final two frames had to call on outfielder Jim Reges for mound duty. The five hurlers gave up a total of eleven base hits, walked nine men, and struck out only two Greenie players.

Manager Pappy Williams with a homer and two singles in four trips to the plate led the locals' attack. Frank Mauney, in addition to his superb pitching, also collected two singles in four trips to the plate and drove in two of the Greenies' runs and scored one run himself on a double steal play.

The Greenies journey over to Rocky Mount tonight to meet the Leafs in a return game and will play the Kingston Eagles here Friday night at the local park.

Remote Control Fishing Is Okay; Hooks Big Trout

Malone, N. Y., July 7—(AP)—Eddie Bashant's fishing rod hooked a nice 16-inch brown trout by remote control.

Eddie was fishing in the Salmon river north of here. He left his rod on a flat rock while he walked to the stream's bank to talk to friends. Water let through the gates of an up-river power dam flooded over Bashant's fishing spot.

Eddie went home without his tackle.

Later, Bill La Plante, another Malone angler, fished from the same spot. Drawing in his line, he found he had hooked Bashant's lost tackle. On the end of the line wriggled Mr. trout.

Tonight's Games
Greenville at Rocky Mount
New Bern at Goldsboro
Wilson at Kingston
Roanoke Rapids at Tarboro

Sidelights:—The win at home last night was number 25. . . Greenville now has won seven out of eleven games with the Leafs this season. . . Greenville had six men left on bases; the Leafs had only four. . . The Greenies were successful in five attempts at base stealing, one of which gave them a run, while the Leafs were unsuccessful in this department. . . Paul Strausser can certainly cover a lot of ground in that centerfield berth and makes some of the prettiest catches ever seen. . . Willie Mauney was really backing up brother Frank last night as he handled several chances against the wall to rob the Leafs of what looked like sure hits. . . The Leafs made two twin killings last night while the Greenies made none. . . Why not a Ladies Night at the local park? Almost all the other towns in the league have had special nights honoring the fair damels. They are our staunchest supporters and really do keep up with the game.

Here and There:—The Wilson Tobs have signed Hal Rose, former rookie pitcher for Rocky Mount Leafs. He was released by Rocky Mount last week. . . Bob Latshaw, former manager of the Wilson Tobs during the 1943 season, has been signed as skipper of the Galax, Virginia, Class "D" club. . . John Red Gay, former Wilson Tobs utility infielder and outfielder, is now playing with Plymouth at a hot corner. . . The Pittman who went into the game last night against the Greenies is a brother to Harvey and Fred Pittman, Wilson hurlers. . . Rumors have it that John Hanley, hard hitting outfielder of the Rocky Mount club, may return to Raleigh of the Carolina League. He was with Raleigh at the start of the season. . . Steve Collins, manager of the Kingston Eagles, has switched to the shortstop position for his club. Collins returned to the lineup just in time to fill the gap left when Stan Romanowski was injured last week. . . Veteran Sam McLawhorn of the Eagles has been placed on the suspended list. Sam's arm is giving him trouble again. . . Ray Komanecky, the hard hitting outfielder for the Tarboro club last season, has been sold by the Richmond Colts to the Goldsboro Bugs in an outright sale. . . The Tarboro Tars will have their pennant raising Saturday night when Bull Hamons and his New Bern Bears invade the Tarboro park for a double-header. President Ray Goodman will be there to participate in the ceremonies. . . The local radio station will have a new sportscaster to give the game from Rocky Mount tonight. He is Bob Weirich, who is turning from editor of the Tarboro Southerner to sportscasting. . . The Leafs presented an innovation to local baseball fans here last night when they arrived at Guy Smith Stadium with Duke Speight, a Negro youth 10 or 12 years old, as bat boy for the club.

Boudreau, Southworth Follow Fans' Vote On All-Star Team

New York, July 7—(AP)—The major league all-stars won't settle their annual argument until Tuesday in Brooklyn, but the nation's baseball fans already have won.

The all-star squads followed exactly the dictates of the 4,637,743 fans who balloted for their favorites.

the National League roster announced last night. They each landed seven players on the 26-man squad. The New York Giants placed four, followed by Boston, Cincinnati and Philadelphia with two each and Chicago and Pittsburgh with one each.

Three of the eight National League pitchers are Dodgers—Ralph Branca, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe. Rounding out the staff are Howie Pollet and George Hunger of the Cardinals; Warren Spann and Vern Bickford of the Braves biggest surprise of the squad Blackwell of Cincinnati. In picking Blackwell, who lost one and lost none while recording several impressive records. Kertzelman (10-5) and Robin (9-6) of the Phillies were by as was Blackwell's Cincinnati mate, Ken Raffensberger (8-4) has pitched four shutouts, both Leagues this year.

Managers Lou Boudreau of the Americans and Billy Southworth of the Nationals were dubbed to be only the top choice for each of the eight positions. But they exercised their judgment solely in the pitching department which wasn't included in the popular voting.

Two additions brought on by peculiar circumstances were sure to meet with the fans' approval.

Joe Dimaggio, of the Yankees, who suddenly returned to his brilliant form after missing the first 65 games of the season, was included on the American League squad for the 11th time.

Eddie Waitkus, of the Phils, who was leading the National League first base poll when he was shot by a crazed girl admirer, was named an honorary member. He finished second to Johnny Mize of the Giants in the final vote. Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, who finished third, was picked for the active squad.

Hoppe Trails In Argentine Tests

Buenos Aires, July 7—(AP)—The cue wizardry of Willie Hoppe, world three-cushion billiards champion, has failed to match that of the Argentine ace, Ezequiel Navarra, in the first five rounds of their 10-day non-titles series.

Navarra today boasted a 420-324 lead in 343 innings of play, with victories in all five rounds. After winning yesterday's afternoon match, 60-22 in 45 innings, he came back to capture the fifth round, 100-93, in 94 innings.

Ocean Drive H Muddy Track

Chicago, July 7—(AP)—Ocean Drive star of Fred W. Hooper's churning through the Arlington mud yesterday for six furlongs won the eighth running of the 200 Dick Welles stables.

Parke, younger brother of Hooper, Ivan, shook off the lunge of Lexbrook stable's Let to win by a length and a half. Drive's illustrious stablemate, pla, finished third, a length behind Lextown.

BORN of the STORM

By Sidney B. Carter

Chapter 3
When Kenneth left, Priscilla found herself wondering what had come over her. Could it be that his man physique and brawny good looks had outweighed his faults? There was something about Kenneth that pulled her toward him. Did he possess a personal magnetism such as had drawn her to Dennis? Priscilla did not think so and yet... She viewed the approach of Saturday night with conflicting thoughts. At times she felt a certain thrill at the prospect of seeing Kenneth again; at times she was definitely frightened at the thought of being alone with him—afraid, not of him, but of her own weakness.

Finally the time arrived and a little, antiquated open car drove up to the curb. Kenneth vaulted lightly over the door and ran up the steps. Priscilla came out on the porch to meet him.

"Hi-ya, Babe, he called unceremoniously. 'I see you're all ready.' 'Yes,' answered Priscilla. 'I'm usually prompt.'"

When they reached the car he picked Priscilla up carefully, as if she were a small child, and lifted her over the door, onto the seat. "Doors don't open," he laughed, bounding to the other side and jumping in beside her.

"Where would you like to go?" he asked, not the least bit out of breath.

"Well," said Priscilla, as soon as she had regained her dignity, "it looks as though I'd go wherever you decide to take me."

"I don't dance," said Kenneth. "A movie, a bite to eat, and a ride—that's the usual thing. How 'bout it?"

"We can go to the movie, any way."

To her surprise, Kenneth didn't even try to take her hand in the movies. They laughed together at the ludicrous situations.

"If I could only get him to stop saying 'ain't' and teach him some grammar, he'd be all right," thought Priscilla. "He's just a little over-vigorous, that's all. I'll have to take him in hand."

When they left the movies Priscilla noticed that girls actually turned around and stared at Kenneth.

"He is handsome!" she thought, as she took his arm proudly and walked with him to the delicatessen shop. They had sandwiches and beer and then Kenneth suggested a ride.

"The evening wouldn't be complete without it," he said. "Besides, we can't disappoint 'Betsy'."

"Pris, when I looked at you the other night I thought you was the prettiest girl I'd ever seen," said Kenneth above the jerky noise of Betsy's motor.

"Am I to infer that you've changed your mind?" asked Priscilla pertly.

"You suit me, just as you are," he said, putting his arm around her shoulder. "You're a fine, sturdy type. I don't like skinny girls. It's a wonder you haven't been snapped up already."

They had reached the open road and Kenneth turned up a side lane, bringing the car to a stop.

He seemed to be a rapid worker. She wasn't sure, out here alone with him, that she was in control of the situation. She decided to adopt a matter-of-fact, unromantic tone.

"Kenneth, would you be hurt if I corrected your English?" she asked.

"No, Babe, go right to it. I guess I need it. I didn't have much schooling." He cleared his throat self-consciously. "I know this is gonna sound funny when you look at me, strong and husky like I am, but when I was little I was sorta delicate. Mom took me outa school early."

"I like you, Ken," she said with sincerity. "I'd love to help you get"

they parked the car at the edge of Emerald Valley. They walked hand and hand across the grass and then reached the mossy ground under the trees beside the little brook she remembered so well. Every step Priscilla took recalled Dennis more and more vividly until she was scarcely aware that Kenneth was beside her.

For this was the place where she had listened to Dennis' love-making; where she had thrilled to the touch of his fingers; and where her lips had held his in youthful, never-to-be forgotten kisses. How could she defile those sacred memories by bringing another man to Dennis' Emerald Valley. Yet here was the logical place for a picnic, she told herself in justification. The flat rocks would make excellent tables and the gurgling brook with its picturesque little waterfall would enhance the gala atmosphere.

"What a swell place," she heard Kenneth say. "Let's stop and pick some flowers."

The sound of his voice jarred her from her reflections. "Yes, that's why I came here. We can decorate our table."

Arrest Follows Baptism Death

Kingsport, Tenn., July 7—(AP)—The drowning of a 14-year-old girl while she was being baptized in the Holston River near here last May 1 has resulted in the arrest of three persons on charges of murder.

Margaret Chapman drowned shortly after being immersed by her grandfather, Franklin W. Lewis, 53, a Holiness preacher.

Arrested and arraigned yesterday besides Lewis were Edward Lee Smith, 36, of Bristol, and Edna Earl King, 34, of Kingsport. A preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday.

The warrant for Lewis' arrest charged felonious, willful and unlawful drowning "while in the act of baptism in the Holston River under dangerous conditions x x x."

At the time of the tragedy, rivermen said river currents were treacherous, following heavy spring rains.

Lewis reported after the drowning that he, the girl and Smith were standing in the river when all three suddenly went down. He said the girl was last seen alive floating downstream.

Style Chart For Vacation Beard Crops

These bearded social lions lived long before the slogan "Shave-and-a-Haircut, Ten-Cents," got started. Beards of innumerable styles have been worn through the ages by kings, emperors, popes, generals and "the man in the street." There were the Belgrave, the Boulanger, the St. James, the Uncle Sam, the goatie, the muton chops, the Parthian bush, the Etruscan curl and the Persian, laced with gold, among many others. Their hairy history has been written by a bearded Englishman, Reginald Reynolds, under the title "Beards" (Doubleday), and these illustrations are from the end papers of his book.

Hotter Last Year

The weather wasn't so hot yesterday. The Weather Bureau thermometers registered 93 degrees as the highest. The lowest last night was 71, and at 8 a. m. today the mercury stood at 79, with refreshing breezes from the west.

At noon today the temperature was 90 degrees and the mercury was rising while cumulus clouds were gathering in the sky, indicating approach of a storm.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday one year ago was 98 degrees. Today one year ago it was 99 degrees and reaching for the 100-degree mark. It's not so hot.
