Will Elaborate On Economic Report

President Truman Undertakes First Major 'Fireside Chat' Of The Year Tonight In Discussing His Plan To Prevent A Depression

Washington, July 13 (AP)—President Truman is going to sit down tonight and tell the American people about his prescription for heading off a depression.

He wants to get over to them his idea there is nothing to be scared about in the moderate economic decline unless folks get panicky.

And he wants to defend the fiscal policy of his administration against criticism by some members of Congress.

The President will talk to the nation over four major radio networks and via telephone from a desk in the movie projection room at the White House.

This first major so-called "fireside chat" by Mr. Truman this year is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The talk, White House aides said, will be an elaboration of his mid-year economic report to Congress on Monday. In this he scooped earlier demands for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase and proposed an 11-point program to expand production, employment and purchasing power.

The theme of that message was that the country cannot have prosperity "by getting adjusted to the idea of a depression—by cutting investment or employment or wages or essential government programs."

Mr. Truman took the stand that to cut what he called essential programs, in an effort to avoid in-the-red financing, would lower national output, and employment as well. He said such cutting could cost the government more in the long run than they would save now.

He has pledged the administration to seek achievement within a few years of a "national output well above 300 million dollars" through "constantly growing employment and purchasing power."

The President is expected to tell radio listeners why he backed down from his demands for a major tax increase in favor of raises only in gift and estate taxes and repeal of the transportation tax on freight.

As an aid to business, he asked more liberal provisions permitting corporations to average out bad years against good, to some extent in determining their tax obligations.

As further incentives, he advocated:

1. Extension of the maximum time of maturity of RFC loans to business.
2. A study of investment and development and market opportunities.
3. Legislation to provide technical assistance to underdeveloped areas abroad "and to encourage investments in such areas."

Will Follow Up Drive On Waste

Raleigh, July 13 (AP)—Governor Scott plans a quick follow-up on his call for cutting waste in state spending and for tighter tax collections.

Within several days, his office said today, he will call a meeting of state officials concerned with spending and tell them to dig for efficiency as well as economy in their departments.

The governor also will tell them it was reported, to get an early start on the administration's program.

Forty Firemen Watched Blaze

About 40 firemen who were attending the Eastern North Carolina Firemen's meeting being held in Bethel last night were on hand to watch a tobacco barn on a farm near Bethel burn up.

The firemen were attracted to the scene by a big column of smoke rising in the sky. When the firemen arrived at the scene of the fire there was no fire fighting equipment present and they could do nothing to halt the fire.

The barn which was curing tobacco and its contents was a total loss.

Asiatc Pact Purpose

Reasons Behind Chiang Kai-Shek And President Quirino Calling For Joint Action Against Communism; U. S. Membership Is One Hope; China Is Strengthened

By JAMES D. WHITE

As the cold war grips East Asia, it is only natural that political leaders there should get together on how to stop the spread of Communism.

This is one reason, but by no means the only reason, that the "retired" generalissimo of China, Chiang Kai-shek, and President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines have met and agreed to form an anti-communist union of countries in the Western Pacific. It could serve a variety of other purposes.

Before we go into these, here are the salient facts about the proposed union:

It is far short of the Pacific pact Quirino and others called for last winter when the Atlantic pact was announced. It does not mention the military aid necessary to give it teeth, but could set up an organization capable of being converted to handle such aid if and when the United States gets around to it.

President Syngman Rhee of Southern Korea already has said "Korea stands ready to join." While he was saying this, his envoy to the United Nations was asking permission to raise the Southern Korean armed force from 100,000 to 400,000 men.

In Washington, the State Department says it views such movements as the proposed Pacific union "with sympathy," but stands on Secretary Acheson's earlier statement that a Pacific pact at this time would be premature.

Getting the United States as a member is a prime objective of the union. Australia, New Zealand, Siam, Indonesia, and Burma also will be sought as members.

Japan is not considered eligible now, being technically at war with all the proposed members. Gen. MacArthur has said nothing publicly either to encourage or discourage the idea of the union. However, Japan is the scene of growing Communist activity. The supreme commander is a personal friend of Quirino and recently took occasion, according to one correspondent, to send private greetings to Chiang just before Chiang went to the Philippines to confer with Quirino.

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Hongkong indicates that Chiang may be promoting the Pacific union from his "retirement" as another way of prolonging his refugee government in Canton as the recognized government of Nationalist China.

This dispatch, quoting competent but not otherwise identified observers, says the news already has given Canton a "shot in the arm."

What the Nationalists would like, of course, would be an outbreak of war between the United States and Russia," says the dispatch. "Since this appears unlikely, the next best thing would be some

Board Approves City Budget In Tuesday Session

Only Minor Changes Made In Proposed Outlays; Official Action In August

The Greenville board of aldermen last night tentatively approved a budget of $314,524.68 for the operation of the city government during the current fiscal year. The budget will be adopted officially by the aldermen in their regular meeting in August.

Only minor changes were made last night in the proposed budget which was presented to the aldermen in their regular meeting last Thursday.

Heading the list of city expenditures for the year will be the street department which has a budget of $84,300. The police department budget was set at $78,430, an increase of approximately $7,000 over its budget for last year. The salary appropriation for the police department, however, is set up for 19 uniformed officers—one less than was on the force last year. Including the chief of police and clerks, the police department will total 24 men during the coming year.

The total budget for the coming year balances with the estimated city revenue of $314,524.68, and is based on a tax levy for the city of $1.50 per $100 property valuation.

A breakdown of the budget by departments shows: administrative, $8,513.11; city clerk's office, $11,200; police department, $78,430; fire department, $31,411; street department, $84,300; sanitation and health, $2,850; libraries, $8,115; insurance, $10,017.50; donations, $1,385; buildings and city property, $12,190; miscellaneous, $12,197; swimming pool, $2,750; cemeteries, $11,725; airport, $1,000; parking meters, $4,723.76; overdrafts—cash, $11,526.73; accrued salaries, $6,000; fixing Second Street, $10,000; printing ordinances, $2,500; H. B. Tripp—River-side Drive, $600.

Aldermen Act On Many Requests

Parking Meters And City Auto Tags Are Discussed

In the aldermen's meeting last night, which was devoted principally to the consideration of the city budget, the Greenville aldermen acted on a request to replace parking meters of Evans Street south of Five Points, and ordered a change in the city ordinance governing city auto tags.

Alderman R. E. Rogers told the board several merchants have requested that the meters on Evans street south of Five Points which were removed Friday be replaced to keep traffic moving in that section of the business district. After some discussion a committee composed of Aldermen Rogers, Collins and Waldrop was appointed to consider the matter and the committee was given the power to act.

Police Chief Lester D. Page appeared before the aldermen and requested the city ordinance governing automobile license tags be amended to meet present day situations. The police chief asked that valid dates of automobile tags be made from January 1 through December 31, and that the ordinance be amended so tags may be legally displayed on either end of the vehicle rather than on the front only as the old ordinance now reads.

The aldermen approved the police chief's request and ordered the new ordinance drawn.

After receiving a petition from property owners in the blocks between 12th and 13th streets and Charles and Cotanche streets for tilling a drainage ditch, the aldermen voted to have the ditch tilled and covered at the city's expense.

Leon Roebuck and James T. Keel, owners of the city bus lines, appeared before the board and presented for consideration of the board suggested improvements in city streets

Army Convoy To Test Berlin Bars

Sixty Trucks Loaded With Supplies Head For Frontier

Berlin, July 13 (AP)—An American Army convoy of 60 trucks, loaded with supplies for the U. S. military post in Berlin, rolled toward the Soviet-zone frontier today in a test of Russian policy.

Unarmed, but with American military police escorts, the convoy is scheduled to appear at the Russian's Helmsstedt checkpoint on the main Berlin autobahn tomorrow morning.

British military police at Helmsstedt reported today that several hundred Berlin-bound German trucks were stalled there in a continuation of the tieup which the Russians began Sunday.

The military police said that Soviet guards had allowed as many as six trucks an hour to pass in the early morning but were now getting back to as few as three.

The American Army, if its convoy gets through the Soviet zone without difficulty tomorrow, plans to establish a weekly trucking service to its Berlin post to relieve some of the burden on the U. S.-British airlift.

British officials said it was not yet known whether they would institute army truck convoys on the same basis.

Since the formal lifting of the Berlin blockade May 12, Allied vehicles have traveled the Soviet zone autobahn without hindrance.

Witnesses Gone, Trial Is Held Up

Greensboro, July 13 (AP)—Three of the state's key witnesses absent, the trial of Francis Duval (George) Smith, alleged kidnaper of lottery tickets, could not start in municipal-county court. Hearing was delayed to August 16.

Subpoenas for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Black of Wilmington and for Jean Webster Wyrick, High Point road, had been issued, all three were reported this morning as missing.

Leaf Referendum Polling Places Announced Today

More than the loan and expenses the farmer participates in any net gains which may be realized. Loans furnish a protection that eliminates some of the risks from tobacco growing.

The polls will open at 6:00 a.m. and close at 7:00 p.m. Voting places in Pitt County will be as follows:

Ayden, A. Town Hall; Ayden B. Town Hall; Beaver Dam, Mack Smith's Store, Bell Arthur; Belpo, Dupree Bros. Store; Bethel, Town Hall; Carolina, School Building in Stokes; Chocod, A. Heber Porter's Store.

Chocod B. Town Hall in Grimes; Chocod C. Barber Shop at Black Jack; Chocod D. L. C. Veterans' Store; Falkland, Barber Shop; Farmville, Town Hall; Fountain, Town Hall.

Greenville A. County Court House; Greenville B. County Court House; Greenville C. County Court House; Greenville D. County Court House; Pactivol, School Building.

Swift Creek A. Quinerly's Store at Quinerly or Town Hall, Grifton; Swift Creek B. Stokes & Lane Store; Winterville A. Town Hall; Winterville B. Town Hall.

Utilities Plan Purchase Of Two Transformers

The Greenville Utilities Commission in its regular meeting last night approved the purchase of two new transformers for the city power system, discussed the rural electrification program, and heard a financial report of the utilities.

Utilities Superintendent Martin Swartz said the two new KVA transformers will be put in the underground network on Fourth Street.

The financial report by Business Manager Larry Brown showed the total income of the Greenville utilities for the month of June as $100,065.48.

Members of the commission discussed the rural electrification program of the Greenville plant, and instructed the superintendent to continue with the plan-mapping of the rural districts in the plant's territory. Plans for furnishing power to the rural areas must be presented to a federal agency and approved before the program will be considered by the federal Rural Electrification Administration.

Niemoller Raps German War Plant Dismantling

Chichester, England, July 13 (AP)—Pastor Martin Niemoller of Berlin, ex U-boat captain and anti-Nazi leader, demanded today that world Protestants act to halt dismantling of German war plants.

"Dismantling is a crime against humanity," he said.

Dr. Niemoller addressed the Central Council of the 44-nation World Council of Churches in a six-day conference here on world church problems.

He told the delegates that there are 12,000,000 Germans in Western Germany from the nation's eastern provinces and that present German industrial installations cannot absorb them.

Charity Racket In Black Market

Frankfurt, Germany, July 13 (AP)—American officials reported today they have uncovered a gift parcel racket involving the shipment of huge quantities of goods from the United States to phony charitable groups in Germany.

The United States Army, three military government agencies and German customs officials have launched a drive to crack the racket.

U. S. customs officials said coffee, cigars, chocolate, nylons, drugs and cloth are being shipped to the U. S. occupation zone as gift parcels and then resold on the black market.

O'Dwyer To Run For Mayor Again

New York, July 13 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer announced today that he will run for reelection.

The mayor said at a news conference: "I deem it my duty in the interests of the city to run for reelection."

The announcement came a day after the Democratic mayor conferred with President Truman in Washington and just after Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan had been promised the nomination by three of the city's five Democratic leaders.

Watching And Waiting

A Nation Holds Its Breath As Steelworkers And Steel Industry Brace For Struggle; The First Postwar Steel Strike And Its Dangers; Crisis Once Again

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Once more in a deeply serious moment of its history the nation holds its breath as two giants, the steelworkers and the steel industry, get braced for struggle.

Turn back the pages of the history book a moment—

It was a cold, gray, snowy day, the striking steelworkers set up their picket lines and began their endless struggle, shuffling, circling around.

They had built small fires near their line of march around the gates of the steel mills at Pittsburgh. Every once in a while a picket dropped out of line to warm his hands and bones by a fire.

The day was Jan. 21, 1946. It was the first day, the start, of the big postwar steel strike. It was there and saw it begin. The whole nation was watching.

At the time, I wrote that this might be the start of a tragic chapter in American history, for America at that moment was trying to reconvert to peace.

Steel was then, and is now, the heart and backbone of the American economy. Steel was basic. It was needed everywhere to get the country going on the high road to great peacetime prosperity.

But a steel strike, if it lasted long, could push the whole economy into a stumbling, staggering downhill gait and for a very simple reason that anyone could understand:

Since steel was basic in all kinds

Acheson Flatly Opposes Any Cut In Arms Aid Fund

Secretary Of State Says Administration's Figures Cut To Minimum

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today flatly opposed any cut in the Administration's projected $1,450,000,000 foreign arms aid program.

He said this figure represents the absolute minimum needed for Western Europe and other areas.

The secretary stated his position at a news conference while opposition led by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) was wiping out prospects for a quick Senate vote on the North Atlantic treaty.

The small group opposing the defense agreement centered their fire on the military aid program and the commitments carried in the pact.

Acheson also commented on another issue which has arisen on Capitol Hill. He agreed with Senator Dulles (R-NY) that the United States delegation at the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Paris had considered whether the American people should be kept "artificially alarmed" and had rejected the idea completely.

The matter came up, Acheson said, in discussion of whether the Russians might try to create a false sense of peace and security by making a show of cooperation. The U. S. delegation, he added, decided that it should not reject any possible avenue of cooperation with the Soviet Union merely because acceptance of the avenue might relax tension in the world.

Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill.) said he may keep the Senate in session Saturday to reach a vote on the 12-nation alliance designed to strengthen the defenses of the West against attack.

The dispute was becoming so sharp that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was reported getting ready to re-enter the fight with a second major speech in favor of the treaty.

New York's new Republican governor, John Foster Dulles—carried the fight for the pact yesterday. Dulles denied that the pact carries any commitment to supply arms for Europe.

He did say his present impression is that the proposed arms program is "excessive and unnecessary" and he feels free to vote against it in the present form.

Dulles said if he thought the treaty meant the United States had to re-arm Europe to "withstand an all-out Soviet attack" then he would vote against it.

Steelworkers Agree Delay Strike Call For Sixty Days

Truman Ready To Act Regardless Of Steel Firms

Plans To Go Ahead With Appointing Fact-Finding Body In Steel Dispute

Washington, July 13 (AP)—President Truman was reported ready today to go ahead with his fact-finding plan to avert a steel strike, despite company rejections, provided the union accepts.

An official close to the President said privately that if the CIO steel workers union agrees to work 60 days beyond its Saturday strike deadline as requested, Mr. Truman will name the special three-man study group anyway.

This official said if the companies then fail to operate or co-operate with the panel the unions would probably contend the employers would be in a public position of locking out their workers.

Three major steel producers, U. S. Steel, Republic and Bethlehem, already rejected the idea of a special panel making recommendations for a solution of the big wage-pension dispute. Another, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., said it was willing to continue operating for the 60-day period. However, J. & L. failed to say whether it would co-operate with the panel.

Two other steel firms Mr. Truman asked to go along with the fact-finding plan, Wheeling Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., reserved their reply to the President's request.

U. S. Steel, Republic and Bethlehem all said any fact-finding board should conform with the Taft-Hartley law. That would mean a board lacking powers to recommend a solution, charged only with summing up the facts involved in the dispute.

Moreover, a Taft-Hartley board's report would pave the way for seeking a court injunction against a strike.

The President was reported as taking the course he did in belief that (1) no national emergency endangers the nation's health or safety yet exists justifying the Taft-Hartley procedure, and (2) there was no assurance of any settlement under the T-H emergency provisions.

Further, Mr. Truman's advisers were described as believing that if Jones and Laughlin and enough other steel companies go along with the President's recommendation, enough steel output would be assured so there wouldn't be any national emergency.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, was preparing a list of names as suggested choices for the three members of Mr. Truman's board.

London's Strike Said Threat To British Economy

London, July 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today London's spreading wildcat dock strike threatens the economy of Britain at "a critical period in its history."

Attlee spoke as 14,000 idle dockers of a total force of 25,000 dug in for a showdown with the government. The strike, tying up 132 ships and causing eight others to be un-manned, seriously hampered Britain's export-import program at a time when the nation is hard pressed by a growing dollar crisis.

The unofficial committee running the strike—declared by the Labor government to be illegal and Communist-led—announced plans for a monster mass meeting Sunday in Trafalgar Square in support of the workers.

Eastern Firemen Meet At Bethel

Approximately 125 From 22 Towns In Area Attend

Bethel, July 13 (AP)—The Eastern North Carolina Firemen's Association held its regular quarterly meeting in Bethel last night with approximately 125 firemen and chiefs from 22 towns in eastern North Carolina present for the supper and business meeting.

The visiting firemen were welcomed to the town of Bethel and the meeting by Mayor Rook.

Following the barbecue supper the business session was conducted with much discussion being carried on about the proposed changes in the constitution of the North Carolina Firemen's Association.

At the state convention to be held in Carolina Beach next month, the state firemen will vote on changing the present voting powers of the paid fire departments and the volunteer firemen, said State Fire Marshal Sherwood B. Brockwell who explained how the proposed changes would affect the voting powers of the various fire departments as compared with the present voting arrangements. Each department now gets two votes regardless of the size of the departments.

Brockwell told of the increased work in rural fire fighting that is being done by the fire departments in the state, and praised them for their efforts in trying to cut down the danger of fires in the rural areas.

Present from Raleigh with State Fire Marshal Brockwell were newly appointed Insurance Commissioner Wado C. Cheat and Fire Chief Loyd of the Raleigh Fire Department.

The Eastern Carolina Firemen meet every three months in one of the towns of the group.

Philip Murray Announces Union's Executive Board Accepts President Truman's Proposal; Only One Of Six Steel Companies Accept Plan

New York, July 13 (AP)—A statement in which Raymond Fernandez, 34, alleged lonely hearts killer, told of using "a lot of strength" to strangle Mrs. Janet Fay, Albany, N.Y., widow, was read to a Bronx Supreme Court jury today.

Fernandez and Mrs. Martha Beck, 29, are on trial on first degree murder charges in the budgeon-strangulation slaying of Mrs. Fay.

The statement, purportedly made by Fernandez after he and Mrs. Beck were arrested in Michigan, said Mrs. Beck struck Mrs. Fay twice on the head with a hammer and placed a scarf around her neck.

Fernandez, the statement said, placed the hammer handle in the loop of the scarf and twisted it.

"I used a lot of strength to do it," the statement said.

A statement made by Mrs. Beck was read yesterday.

Philip Murray Announces Union's Executive Board Accepts President Truman's Proposal; Only One Of Six Steel Companies Accept Plan

Pittsburgh, July 13 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers today announced that his union's executive board "by unanimous action" has accepted President Truman's proposal for a 60-day delay in a steel strike.

The executive board's decision will be given to the unions wage policy committee for ratification at a meeting at 1 p. m. EST today.

Murray said:

"When the wage policy committee acts today we will officially notify the President of our decision."

Murray's action thus delays a strike of 500,000 union steelmakers was set for this week-end—on Friday and Saturday midnight.

Murray told a news conference he had no comment on the U. S. Steel Corp.'s refusal to go along with the President's plan.

The Union leader said he probably would have a statement concerning U. S. Steel following this afternoon's union meeting.

Only one of six steel companies—Jones and Laughlin—thus far has accepted the White House proposal.

The President made the same request of U. S. Steel Corp., Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., and Wheeling Steel.

Jones and Laughlin, one of the nation's leading independent producers immediately wired the President it was agreeable to the 60-day reprieve.

Then U. S. Steel hurled its bombshell. The corporation declared it would have nothing to do with the fact-finding board. It based its objections on the fact that the President had by-passed the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Republic and Bethlehem, then chimed in with rejections. They echoed U. S. Steel's reasons.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube promised its answer today. Wheeling Steel did not comment.

It had been believed the Steel Union would go along with the President's plan. "Big Steel's" rejection, however, made the union position doubtful.

Mr. Truman was reported ready to name a fact-finding board—despite company rejections—if the union agrees to it.

The last nation-wide steel strike was in 1946. A five-week strike then resulted in an 11-2 cents hourly wage boost.

Under President Truman's proposal, the three-man board would make its recommendation by Aug. 30, and operations would continue under the present wages and working conditions until Sept. 14.

Benjamin Fairless, U. S. Steel President, wired the President the Taft-Hartley law is applicable to the present situation, that it does not permit boards to make recommendations, and that "we are unwilling to go outside of that statute."

The Taft-Hartley act requires the President first to proclaim the situation involved a National emergency. He may then name a fact-finding board which has no power to make recommendations.

The board Mr. Truman proposed to appoint in the present dispute would make recommendations, although they would not be binding.

Under the Taft-Hartley law he has wide discretion after a fact-finding board has reported, including power to seek court injunctions.

40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR July 13, 1909

Miss Bernice Lang, of Farmville is visiting Miss Mamie Ruth Tunstall.

W. R. Wilson returned today from Bethel where he had been to attend a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. V. Murphy went to Kinston today.

The farmers are having good weather for tobacco curing, but it is hot work.

Young Lee Scott Goes To Prison

Richmond, Va., July 12—(AP)—The bars of Virginia's state penitentiary closed behind 16-year-old Lee Scott last night, a little more than two months after the husky athlete choked Dana Marie Weaver to death in a church kitchen.

Scott, a boxed New Testament and a new hairbrush his only possessions except the clothes he wore entered the penitentiary at 8:10 p. m. to begin a 90-year sentence.

He looked forlorn, lonely, and a little awed. During the long term ahead, he said, he would read the Bible "and everything I can get my hands on."

He will be eligible for parole in 12 years.

Dana Marie, a classmate of Scott at Jefferson High School, also was 16 when she was slain in Christ Episcopal Church on May 8.

East Rockingham Plant Is Struck

Rockingham, N. C., July 12—(AP)—Workers threw up a picket line last night at the Alco Manufacturing Company and stopped all operations at the East Rockingham plant which employs about 1,000.

The walkout started among second shift workers in the weave room, a management spokesman said. Some of them started a picket line and third shift workers, who reported at 10 p. m. did not cross it. Many of them joined the line, which numbered about 200 marchers.

Management and representatives of the workers indicated they might have statements today.

7-Foot 'Gator Is A House Pet

Budapest, Hungary—(AP)—Dogs and other common domestic animals in Hungary take a tax—but not the alligator owned by Lazzio Lipthay of Pecs.

The alligator was just a few inches long when he arrived from South America a little over 10 years ago. Now he measures around seven feet. He eats three whittings a week, but slept nine months last winter. All the alligator likes a comfortable armchair in the Lipthay home, and his master says: "Deep and sincere friendship binds us together."

A REAL DROUGHT
Holyhead, Wales, July 12—(AP)—So severe is the drought on the island of Anglesey that country inns now show this sign: "No water, please take soda with your whiskey."

Billy Batchelor Guest Of Lord And Lady Astor

By CHESTER WALSH
Billy Mack Batchelor of Greenville, senior student at Duke University and a member of the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps, now on a cruise with U. S. Naval Academy midshipmen in European waters, had some thrilling experiences, and the greatest was being entertained at tea in Lord and Lady Astor's home, near London, with a group of other American midshipmen.

During the stopover at Portsmouth, England's greatest naval base, Batchelor and others, with time off, took a trip to London and suburbs. While there, Lady Astor, one of the four Langhorne sisters of Virginia, international beauties after the turn of the century, had the midshipmen as guests at her palatial home.

Lady Astor, always charming, always gracious, inquired, "Are there any boys here from Virginia?" No answer. Billy Mack Batchelor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Batchelor of Greenville, "ad libbed." "There's one from North Carolina, Virginia's next door neighbor. Is that close enough?"

Lady Astor greeted Batchelor affectionately with an embrace, and then there was the usual interesting chat so much enjoyed by Americans abroad when they meet someone from the homeland. Lord Astor was equally hospitable. Batchelor wrote his parents in Greenville.

The American Naval Academy midshipmen and Reserve Officers' Training Corps students, a thousand or more, left Norfolk, Va., on an American cruiser on June 2 for the European cruise, with stops at important naval bases and side-trips as special privileges. The ship will return to Norfolk July 25. Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor plan to go to Norfolk to meet their son.

Reserve Officers Training Corps students from Duke University and the University of North Carolina who made their grades were on the cruise with the midshipmen.

The first cruise was in the Caribbean Sea, stopping at Cuba, Puerto Rico and other places. The second midshipmen's cruise with ROTC students was in the Pacific, with stops at Hawaii and other places.

This year's cruise to European waters was the third cruise.

Bridge Luncheon Honors Bride

On Tuesday, July 5, the Misses Janice Owens and Mary Anne Keel entertained with a bridge luncheon in honor of Mrs. Clifton Hugh Edwards, Jr., the former Miss Ann Morton, in the Magnolia room of the Proctor hotel. Mrs. R. V. Keel assisted her daughter, Miss Owens and Mrs. Leon Roebuck with the luncheon.

The luncheon tables were decorated most attractively with centerpieces of summer flowers and miniature corsages for each of the twenty guests. The honor guest's place was designated by a lovely corsage of red roses.

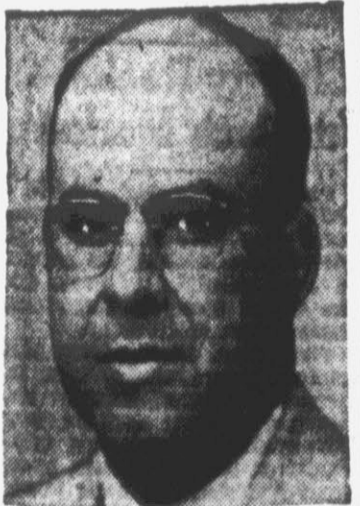

Miss Keel and Miss Owens presented Mrs. Edwards two attractive brass based lamps.

After luncheon bridge was played. High score was won by Miss Peggy Williams and low score by Miss Mary Smith.

Why doesn't the bank pay interest on checking accounts?

Payment of interest on checking accounts in any insured bank is prohibited by law or regulation. The reason is that the bank can pay interest on deposits only out of earnings from the investment of those deposits. Inasmuch as checking account funds can be withdrawn on demand, cash reserves must be larger to meet withdrawals, therefore the amount available for investment is smaller and the investment period shorter.

Had Us Alarmed For A Minute

Strength FOR THE DAY

WAITING TIME PROFITABLY
After the Apostle Paul had been arrested in Jerusalem at the end of his third missionary journey, he was sent to Caesarea, the capital of Palestine, to await trial. There he remained in prison for two years.

How trying those two years must have been. What a waste of time this long period of enforced inactivity on the part of a useful man appeared to be. Yet during those two years, Luke, Paul's companion, who later wrote the Gospel which bears his name and the Book of Acts, was collecting historical material for his momentous work. Looking back now on that scene it is revealed to us that these two years were among the most profitable in the life of Paul and his associates and in the history of the Christian Church.

Often we are put on the broad of our backs or caught in a cul-de-sac or crowded off the pathway of life and compelled to remain in the ditch for a while. We think what a waste of time this all is. Very often later years disclose that this was really a time of inestimable profit to us. Sir Isaac Newton was reclining under a tree when an apple fell on his head, and he forthwith made an important scientific discovery. Epoch-making ideas have often come to the great while they were in throes of persecution or while they were languishing in enforced idleness.

Take life as it comes. It teaches us its lessons when and where it will.

HIGHWAY SLAUGHTER
People all over the state and nation are killing and injuring their fellow men in highway accidents daily at an alarmingly high rate, and people of Pitt county are no exception.

Yesterday Pitt county's fifth highway fatality of the year occurred when a man died of injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday night. While last year only three fatal highway accidents occurred in the county, the number almost doubled during the first half of this year. Highway patrolmen also report a marked increase in the number of minor highway accidents.

Some of the accidents, it is true, are due to mechanical defects in the vehicles, but by and large, the accidents are due to carelessness and recklessness of individual drivers.

No statutes on the law books can make a person drive carefully. Highway safety in Pitt county and North Carolina is a matter which must be practiced daily by each driver if the shameful slaughter of mankind on the highways of the state is to be eliminated.

SAVING THE PENNIES
A penny saved is a penny earned, and we are in full accord with Governor Kerr Scott's campaign to eliminate the "petty graft" in the state government.

Naturally in an organization as large as the one which is necessary to operate the North Carolina government there is going to be some lost motion, but Scott has started in the right direction to save the tax-payers of the state some money in at least one respect.

The elimination of the waste of five or ten dollars a year by each of the state's 40,000 employes would amount to a tidy saving for North Carolinians during the course of a year, and if the campaign is conducted thoroughly, the saving probably will run close to a million dollars annually rather than the quarter of a million which Governor Scott estimated.

Around Capitol Square

ed this week to step up his Go Forward program by urging the budget commission to make available as rapidly as possible moneys appropriated by the general assembly for state buildings and services. The governor had members of the advisory budget commission and others having responsibility in this connection for luncheon at the mansion Tuesday and urged full speed ahead in state development.

ON GUARD—The governor also urged those responsible for watching over expenditure of state money to be on guard against waste, especially in little things. Big waste is so obvious few people will attempt it. Such items as use of state owned automobiles for private purposes pilfering of stamps for personal correspondence, long distance phone calls for other than essential public business, and snatching an occasional meal from prison camps were some of the items which the governor suggested needed watching. To that end he had the SBI director at the luncheon, too.

PREVALENT—It has been common knowledge that these petty misfeasance have prevailed throughout state personnel, from top to bottom, especially with respect to use of automobiles and telephones. There is often a close dividing line between official and unofficial use. State employes are not supposed to take state owned cars home at night. On the other hand, it is often cheaper to do that than to pay garage storage or subject the car to weather and theft risk down town. It is not unusual to see state cars used for taking home groceries and other personal

Somebody Told Me ...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

For many years I have heard that the Frenchman is the world's greatest maker of love. Yesterday I had the opportunity to kick that question around with a French girl, Jacqueline Mezlat-Belouze, a student at East Carolina Teachers College.

Jackie says that there's no truth in that theory, for Americans make as much or more love as Frenchmen, and probably just as well. She says that she continually hears that Paree is a town for loving, but probably as much takes place in New York, Los Angeles, or the back door of Cotten Hall at ECTC.

Actually Jackie doesn't live in France, but in one of her colonies in North Africa, Algiers. She applied to the office of the Institute of International Education in Paris for a scholarship to an American college, and was granted one year's schooling at ECTC. In France she was awarded a Master of Arts degree at the University of Grenoble; she will leave Greenville next week to pursue a master's degree in English at the University of Redlands in California. In addition to her native tongue she speaks English fluently, reads Spanish well and speaks it some, and reads some German. And she's only 21. At the California University Jackie will have the opportunity to improve her Spanish, for in that section of the country many speak Spanish.

When she arrived in America October 3rd of last year she was greeted as a war bride. Americans flooded her with questions about her husband's branch of the service, his home town, and how long had it been since she had seen him. The reason for the questions was that she came to America on the "Marine Tiger," which is an ex-troop ship now being used for transporting war brides. She was quick to explain that her mission is education.

Jackie's impression of the American sandwich is certainly food for thought. She says that in the first place the bread has so much taken out of it to make it clean that there is very little left except air. After eating an American sandwich, until she got used to them, Jackie felt as though she had had nothing to eat. To supplement what is taken out, she says, Americans take vitamin pills.

Since she has been here Jackie has been a candidate for the Greenville Swimming Team. Her first swim in the ocean (she has swum many times in the Mediterranean) was this summer at the lifeguard, where she had the lifeguards in an uproar because she ventured into water at the beach someone asked her if she was from New Jersey. Her no-why? answer brought the remark, "You talk like a Northerner."

We Americans are always told that Europeans think all of us are rich, so I asked Jackie her opinion on this matter. She commented that we use the word "poor" incorrectly, and elaborated by explaining that she visited what was considered a "poor" home near here, heard a radio playing as she approached the house. "In France, if you say you are poor it means that you don't have a roof to put over your head or bread to put under your teeth. A radio is not a necessity of life. In France poor people don't even have the necessities, much less radios."

My interview with Jackie will be continued tomorrow.

And I thank you.

The governor pointed out that if the average for each of the 40-odd thousand state employes was only $5 a year—about ten cents a week—the total would approximate a quarter million dollars. That would pay salaries for a hundred good school teachers. It would just about pay the cost of a session of the general assembly.

LEAKS—There will always be borderline cases, and the governor said he knew all the leaks could not be stopped. He further said it was not his idea to get hardboiled and prosecute anybody. He had found in numerous cases that culprits willingly cooperated when the situation was called to their attention.

EXAMPLED—Several employes interviewed by your reporter said they knew they had been sponging a little bit, but they were only following the example set by the big shots. They thought it slightly unbusiness. For that matter, it is not unusual for high ranking officials with state paid chauffeurs to use public automobiles for purely personal trips to and from home and for weekend visits away from Raleigh. Governors themselves have not been averse to such practice.

SIZEABLE—Single items are insignificant, but the aggregate cost to the state runs into big figures.

WHAT AMERICAN WORK IS WORTH

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Here's the kind of legislation the average American high school youth, as represented by boy "governors" of 22 states, would like to see:

1. Compulsory sex education in all high schools.
2. Provision for high school courses in communism, socialism and fascism as a means of understanding and combating them.
3. Minimum wages for teachers with the lowest level at $2,400.
4. No racial, religious or other discrimination in any of the schools or in any of the states.
5. Close supervision and control of public places, such as hotels, res-fair to pick on $3,000 a year or less personnel, when officials in the $10,000 and above brackets were doing the same thing with apparent impunity. One man whose job does not call for travel was very happy about the governor's stand. He said he had to maintain his own family car, while others in his department on comparable salary had state cars which they used indiscriminately for official and personal trips. He said he had heard that some big time officials sold their personal automobiles when they took state jobs and depended entirely upon state-owned cars for visiting, shopping, going to church, carrying children to school and similar purposes, including purely political travel. "Although we are supposed to get the same pay," he said, "these folks who use state cars actually get several hundred dollars a year more than I do."

8. Compulsory teaching of driving and traffic safety in all high schools and state inspection of motor vehicles as well as periodic re-examination of all drivers.

9. Treatment of the mentally ill with the primary aim of curing them and returning them to normal, useful living within society.

10. High school sponsored health and accident insurance covering members of varsity athletic teams.

These bills were adopted here by the First National Conference of Boy Governors from 22 states, held in the Senate Office Building. The conference was sponsored by the nation's Hi-Y Clubs, organized by the Y.M.C.A.

The bills were selected from some 300 passed by model states early this spring by boys representing some 500,000 high school youths throughout the nation. The young "governors" seek to have them implemented in their own state legislatures.

"This legislation," a Y.M.C.A. official says, "represents a cross-section of the serious thinking of American boys and girls. To my mind it's a little better than the old man's."

Quincy, Mass., was settled in 1625 and ranks among the oldest permanent settlements in New England.

The 'Exes' Who Got The Axe In State Jobs Doing All Right

BY LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, N. C., July 13—What has happened to the folks who lost their jobs with the state through the wielding of Governor Scott's rather hefty axe?

That question is frequently asked both by friends and non-friends of the displaced officials. The answer is that they seem to be doing all right. Those who have not already established eminently satisfactory connections outside state employment are having difficulty only in deciding between several good propositions.

Former Governor Gregg Cherry who was replaced but not displaced by Governor Kerr Scott, has gotten well re-established in his Gastonia law practice.

Charles M. Johnson, former state treasurer, who chose the hazards of a chance at the governorship instead of continuing in the office he had held for sixteen years, has a lucrative connection with the First Securities Corporation of Durham. He says he is having a better time and making more money than he did with the state.

The dozen top level appointive officials who resigned voluntarily or at request of Governor Scott are not suffering hardships by reason of separation from the state payroll. Here's what they are doing now (listed alphabetically for convenience):

Claude Abernathy, former burial commissioner, is now a trial attorney in the tax division of the United States attorney general's office at Washington.

Vance Baise, former chief engineer for the highway and public works commission, is head man in the Carolina Asphalt Association, Inc., at Raleigh, and is doing engineering consultant work for municipalities on paving problems.

W. Z. Betts, former director of the division of purchase and contract, hasn't decided which of several tentative propositions to accept. He has spent his time since July 1 assisting his successor C. M. Williams, to get acquainted with the purchasing job.

Hatheway Cross, former paroles commissioner, opened a law office in Raleigh early in January and has an excellent practice.

Robert G. Deyton, former assistant director of the budget, is standing by until the books for the fiscal year are closed. Within a few days he will go to his new job with Eucosta Corporation at substantially larger salary than the $10,000 paid him by the state.

William Dunn, Jr., for some years assistant and acting commissioner of paroles, hasn't decided what he will do. It is known he has several salaried offers, but he may go into law on his own.

Bruce Etheridge, long time director of conservation and development is taking it easy at his comfortable Roanoke Island home and looking after his various business interests around Manteo.

Charles Z. Flack, who resigned as chief clerk of the utilities commission the day Governor Scott was inaugurated, is making a lot of money in his real estate and insurance business at Forest City.

Edwin Gill, former revenue commissioner, has spent the time since July 1 resting and trying to decide whether to accept one of several salaries much larger than the state paid him or open a law office.

A. H. (Sandy) Graham, former highway chairman, is doing all right in his Hillsboro law office.

Buren Jurney, former industrial commissioner, is looking after his farming interest in Iredell county and may open a law office.

Carl Williamson, state ABC chairman for several years, is devoting full time to his extensive farming interests in Wake county, says he feels better than for a long time.

Monarchists Of Bavaria 'Dream'

Munich —(AP)— Diehard monarchists still dream of reviving a south-German kingdom of Bavaria. Their king would be Crown Prince Rupprecht, 80-year-old son of Bavaria's last reigning king, Ludwig.

Ludwig lost his throne in 1918 along with all other royal German rulers in the post-war collapse of Kaiser Wilhelm's imperial Reich.

Since then Bavaria has been just another German state. Its governors were elected, not born into office. Its once rich and powerful monarch seemed to be only a dead relic of an age gone by—fit only for museums which its castles had become.

But the loyal followers of the throne continued to dream. They gave a convincing demonstration of this recently when Crown Prince Rupprecht celebrated his 80th birthday. Thousands of people from all over Bavaria turned out to pay him homage. Celebration turned into a series of truly royal receptions.

The monarchists made one big political attempt recently to realize their dreams. In the confusion of Germany's second defeat they sensed a chance to recoup what they had lost in the first world war. In 1946, they formed a political party. They called it the "Koenigspartei," or "king's party." Almost overnight 10,000 persons from the city of Munich alone rallied to the royal colors. All over Bavaria the movement spread.

U.S. Military Government soon stepped in and banned the party on the grounds that it had become a "playground for fascist elements." Party or no party, however, the monarchist dream continued to smolder. Monarchists and monarchist sentiment emerged in several other parties. Strongest supporter of Bavarian monarchism now is the Bavarian Party, a minor but growing organization which exploits the traditional desire of Bavarians to be independent from all the rest of Germany.

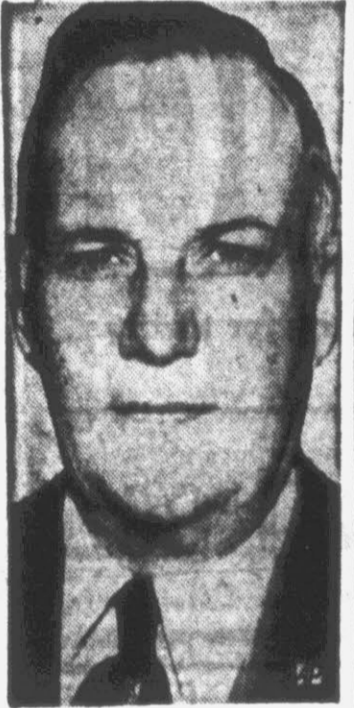

Aeschylus, greatest of the Greek tragic poets, won 13 contests until he was defeated in 468 B. C. by Sophocles.

Radical Changes in Cars Sketched for Later Study

Detroit, July 13—(AP)—Half a dozen auto makers have blue-printed radically different cars but they aren't likely to appear within the next 12 months.

Two of the vehicles are smaller units. The others are only a few inches shorter of wheelbase but much lighter in weight.

So far all the cars are just ideas. The industry generally needs neither smaller nor lighter cars to stimulate sales right now. If retail sales follow the expected pattern it will not need them in 1950.

Production costs are another thing that may keep the smaller and lighter cars on the shelf indefinitely. Presumably if a car can be made lighter it could be made more economically. But Chevrolet and Ford learned a couple of years ago that the economies would be smaller than expected. They learned also that there would be little

Disability Law Provides Judge Good Pension

Raleigh, N.C., July 13—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Luther Hamilton, 55, of Morehead City, will be retired at $6,600 a year under a disability law. Governor Scott said yesterday a superior judge may retire on two-thirds of his $10,000 pay if he is disabled and has served more than six years. Hamilton served uninterruptedly from 1937 until the end of last month, when Governor Scott failed to reappoint him.

Scott said he is acting to let Hamilton retire on the basis of a physician's certificate stating Hamilton is disabled by a heart condition. His retirement pay is expected to be retroactive to July 1.

Turks Wake Up To Excitement Of Ark Search

Istanbul, Turkey, July 13—(AP)—The hunt for Noah's Ark is on in earnest now that the snow is melting in Turkish highlands. Scores of Turks are engaged in the search and foreigners are seeking permission to roam the country.

Newspapers have given considerable space to the ark hunts, and for the first time official Ankara is showing more than usual interest in the projects.

Particular interest centers on Mount Ararat on the Turkish-Soviet frontier. Remains of the ark are reported to have been seen there and at two other places in Turkey. Ararat is traditionally regarded as the ark's resting place.

Four Americans have gone to Ankara to seek the Turkish general staff's permission to cross military zones on their way to Ararat. They asked Ambassador George Wadsworth to intercede for them with Turkish authorities.

The Americans, who arrived in Turkey July 1, are Dr. A. J. Smith of Greensboro, N.C.; E. J. Newton of Colfax, N.C.; Walter I. Wood of Sea Cliff, N.Y., and W. G. Ogg of Knoxville, Tenn.

Most observers think the Americans will have difficulty obtaining permission for their exploration. The Mount Ararat area is closely guarded.

Russia has contended that visitors wanting to climb the mountain are spies. Ararat looks down on Soviet territory.

Two Turks have claimed they found the ark, not at Ararat but 12 walking days from Tokat in north central Anatolia. They asked a pledge from the government for 40 per cent of whatever money it might bring and got such an assurance. Another purported find was reported from Mardin near the Syrian frontier in southeast Turkey.

Important Field Meet Of Farmers Speight's Farm

Farmers of Pitt county will have a field meeting at the Speight Seed Farm, near Winterville, Thursday, July 14, at 2 p.m., to discuss tobacco and hybrid corn production.

Dr. E. R. Collins, extension agronomist of State College, Raleigh will be there to discuss with the farmers better production methods of growing corn, as well as the hybrid seed corn program.

Farmers who attend the field meet will have opportunity to see hybrid corn seed production fields as well as the hybrid seed corn processing plant. Pitt County Farm Agent Sam C. Winchester said today.

Tobacco seed production fields and variety tests will be visited, where farmers may see the different kinds of tobacco grown in this area, side by side. The varieties, which include black shank and types resistant to Granville wilt, may be observed along with some of the advanced strains of diseases resistant varieties, Assistant Farm Agent S. J. Weeks said.

Miss Jean Hardee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hardee of near Greenville, and William H. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Crawford of near Greenville, were married in a candlelight ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Nickens, Methodist minister of Grimesland, officiated, using the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Thelma Jane Hardee, cousin of the bride.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She chose for her wedding a white suit with orchid and white accessories. Her corsage was of purple orchids.

Hugh Hardee, Jr., was best man. The bride's mother wore a lavender dress with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a black and white sheer with white and black accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to unannounced points. Upon their return they will make their home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crawford.

On Tuesday, July 5, Mrs. W. B. Crawford and Mrs. J. E. Wilkerson were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. W. H. Crawford, a recent bride. Mrs. Julius Erwin, recent bride, shared honors for the occasion.

The guests were met at the door by Mesdames Crawford and Wilkerson, and were introduced to the guests of honor. The gifts were received by Miss Mary Lib Worthington.

After arrival of all the guests, five of the young ladies took part in a contest to see which could dress the best looking bride in five minutes, out of a clothes pin and crepe paper. Mrs. John Fordham was the winner.

Miss Betty Rose Wilkerson then read an appropriate essay on "Husbands." Just as she finished Little John Lang, nephew of the bride, came in rolling a large wagon beautifully decorated in green and white and filled to the top with attractively wrapped packages. The honoree, assisted by Miss Wilkerson, unwrapped the gifts and they were displayed so the other guests could see them.

Mrs. Crawford was the recipient of many useful and lovely gifts. Mrs. Erwin was remembered with a gift by the hostesses.

Refreshments consisting of punch party sandwiches and various other dainties were served from a beautifully appointed table centered with a lovely arrangement of white gladioli, lace fern and shasta daisies. Long white tapers were burning at each end of the table and were decorated with green fern. The color scheme of green and white was used throughout the home.

Mrs. W. B. Crawford served punch, Mrs. Wilkerson, Misses Mary Lib and Sue Worthington and Betty Wilkerson assisted in serving the other refreshments. Mrs. E. M. Tyson, Jr., rendered several beautiful piano solos during the evening and at the conclusion Miss Wilkerson sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Goodbyes were said by Mrs. Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberson and sons, Earl and Bennie, of Raeford and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gillette of Richmond, Va., were week end guests of Mrs. Annie Flanagan.

Misses Frances and Vina Crawford and Alton Ray Thomas visited Atlantic Beach, Beaufort and Cherry Point Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albion Moore of Hopewell, Va., visited relatives at Ballard's during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. George Worthington of Washington, D.C., attended "The Lost Colony" at Manteo during the week end and spent Monday night with Mrs. Worthington's mother, Mrs. Verna Joyner, en route to Washington.

Miss Edith Tyson and G. T. Tyson, Jr., were guests in Gates county last week.

Miss Doris Harris of Durham was a week end guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyers of Rocky Mount visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tyson Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Stokes of Washington were Sunday guests of Mrs. Mamie R. Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. Isham B. Nichols and son, I. B., Jr., spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer S. Nichols.

Mrs. P. R. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. W. Elks and daughter, Nannie Sue were Greenville visitors Sunday.

George Hines, Dean Stocks, James Sugg and Robert Sutton spent several days in Washington the past week.

Miss Juanita Sugg of the Lang's community was a week end guest of Mrs. Roy Smith.

Miss Mary Lib Nichols returned to Charlotte Monday after spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer S. Nichols.

Bomb Threatens London Hospital

London, July 13—(AP)—Ambulances removed 300 patients today from a hospital endangered by a World War II bomb buried across the street.

The bomb, dropped by a German plane in 1941, burrowed 25 feet in the ground without exploding. A disposal unit found it Monday.

Patients evacuated were in wards facing the bomb. They were taken home or to other hospitals.

Another 225 patients were permitted to stay.

The disposal unit will decide tomorrow whether to dig the bomb out or try to de-fuse it on the spot.

Before the dare-devil experts go to work the neighborhood will be cleared, subway trains will be diverted and gas will be cut off in the area.

Optimistic workmen went ahead today putting new glass in basement windows of the hospital, less than 50 feet from the bomb.

On Tuesday, July 5, Mrs. W. B. Crawford and Mrs. J. E. Wilkerson were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. W. H. Crawford, a recent bride. Mrs. Julius Erwin, recent bride, shared honors for the occasion.

The guests were met at the door by Mesdames Crawford and Wilkerson, and were introduced to the guests of honor. The gifts were received by Miss Mary Lib Worthington.

After arrival of all the guests, five of the young ladies took part in a contest to see which could dress the best looking bride in five minutes, out of a clothes pin and crepe paper. Mrs. John Fordham was the winner.

Miss Betty Rose Wilkerson then read an appropriate essay on "Husbands." Just as she finished Little John Lang, nephew of the bride, came in rolling a large wagon beautifully decorated in green and white and filled to the top with attractively wrapped packages. The honoree, assisted by Miss Wilkerson, unwrapped the gifts and they were displayed so the other guests could see them.

Mrs. Crawford was the recipient of many useful and lovely gifts. Mrs. Erwin was remembered with a gift by the hostesses.

Brooklyn, July 13—(AP)—Branch Rickey, among many National Leaguers writing under the humiliation of his circuit's latest setback by American League all-stars, 11-7, today laid the blame on the fans' doorstep.

Rickey, head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, in whose Ebbets Field the latest nightmare for the National League took place, said "it seems to me that the nationwide fans' voting idea is not the best one. 'I may be wrong in that,' he added, 'but I am sure of this, however. The manager should not be forced to start with the fans' top selections—and play them for three innings. He should be privileged to start anybody he sees fit and use him as long as he desires.'"

Rickey said after the first three amateurish innings, the game was played in a smoother fashion because the managers were running things. In the sloppily-played first inning the National League infield fell apart and permitted the opposition to score four unearned runs. That eventually was the margin of defeat. The Nationals got back two runs in their half of the inning when Stan Musial followed Jackie Robinson's double with a home run over the right field screen. They made it 4-3 in the second and only Ted Williams' sensational backhanded catch of Don Newcombe's fly prevented the Nationals from having a big inning. The Nationals' third inning attack produced two runs and put them in front for the first and only time in the game.

The Americans regained the lead in the fourth, capitalizing on Eddie Joost's freak single which both managers—Billy Southworth of the National and Lou Boudreau—agreed later was the decisive play of the game.

With runners on second and third and two out, Newcombe apparently had Joost fooled on a low outside curve. Joost hit it with the end of his bat and sent a twisting little looper to first. But the ball had "English" on it and it hopped crazily off Gil Hodges' bare right hand and rolled into short right. Both runners scored to put the Americans ahead 6-5.

The Nationals never caught up, although Ralph Kiner later blasted a two run homer off Philadelphia's Lou Bristle. By that time the Americans had tallied two more on Joe DiMaggio's two run double off Boston's Vern Bickford. They added three more in the seventh against the Cardinals' Howie Pollet to ice the game. Although happy over the outcome, Boudreau agreed with the majority of the 32,577 fans who paid $79,226.02—all of which goes to the players pension fund—that it was one of the shabbiest played games since the all-star competition began in 1933. The National League has won only four of the 16 games played. "It was the sloppiest played game ever played," volunteered Joe Gordon, Cleveland's second base star, "but they just outplayed us."

Hoppe Trailing Argentine Star

Buenos Aires, July 13—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, world three-cushion billiards champion, is well behind Argentina's Ezequiel Navarra in their 1,500-point series despite victories in the 12th and 13th rounds. The American captured yesterday's afternoon match, 72-60 in 45 innings, 94-90, in 85 innings. Hoppe apparently succeeded in adjusting his play to the soft cushions which he had complained about earlier in the non-title series. Navarra leads, 1,050-826 after 804 innings of play.

Eagles Depart For Grid Drills

Philadelphia, July 13—(AP)—It's not exactly football weather in these parts but 20 members of the Philadelphia Eagles depart today for their training camp at Grand Rapids, Mich. The remainder of the 50-man squad will make the trip to camp from their scattered homes. The championship Eagles are going into training at their earliest date in order to be ready for the Aug. 12 clash with the college all-stars in Chicago.

Passing Ace Of SMU May Join Ranks Of Pros

Aubrey, Tex., July 13—(AP)—Southern Methodist University's great Gilbert Johnson may pass to the pro ranks today. The aerial wizard of the Mustang football team said, "I'll know definitely this afternoon whether I'll turn professional."

Loss of Johnson would be a terrific blow to Southern Methodist's bid for a third straight Southwest Conference championship. Coach Matty Bell termed him "irreplaceable." Johnson said he had been considering turning professional for a year. "I haven't signed any contract yet," the 25-year-old ex-sailor declared. The New York Yankees of the All-America Conference and the Philadelphia Eagles of the National League hold draft rights to the blond passing ace.

Wolves vs Orioles
Basehits rained all over the field yesterday at Third Street Park from the bats of the W. Greenville Wolves and they took an easy 12 to 3 win over the Orioles. While the Wolves were getting 20 hits off the offerings of two Orioles pitchers, Billy Dunn on the mound for the Wolves allowed the Orioles but four hits. Pat Sawyer with two doubles and a triple, Charles Hollingsworth with two doubles and a single and Mickey West and O'Neal with three singles led the Wolves attack. George Siders got three singles for the Orioles.

Cards vs Red Sox
Billy Johnson pitched the Cards to 12 to 3 win over the Red Sox at the Training School yesterday holding the Sox scoreless until the last two innings. The game was close until the last two innings when the Cards scored eight runs. Jesse Boyd and Harold Edwards with four hits each and Jesse Speight, Billy Johnson and Eddie Lee with two each led the hitting for the winners. Staton was the only player of the Red Sox to hit safely twice.

Yankees vs Reds
The Yankees won an easy 13 to 6 victory over their arch rivals, the Reds of W. Greenville yesterday. The Yanks scored four runs in the first and were never headed. Leroy Quinn got two doubles and a triple and Morgan got three singles to lead the Yanks. Catlett and Tom Smith got two hits each for the Reds.

Tarboro Trounces Greenies By Wide Margin Of 11-To-2

Winning Runs Come In Fifth, And Extra Markers Piled Up In Seventh, Eighth

By BERT MOYE

Manager Joe Antolick's Tarboro Athletics handed the Greenies their fourth straight loss at Tarboro last night by mauling them to the tune of 11 to 2. The win for the Athletics was their sixth straight win over the Greenies this season.

The Athletics scored one run in the third on three successive hits and two walks, and then came back in the fifth to score what proved their winning markers when singles by Kobl and Orf followed by Bob Bubeck's triple gave them two runs.

The Greenies managed to score one run in each of the fourth and seventh frames. In the fourth, Steve Denier led off with a double, stole third and scored on John Tepedino's double. In the seventh, Willie Mauney got an infield hit, Cohen singled and then Bobby Harrison, pinch-hitting for Nordmeyer, singled to bring in Mauney. That was the end of the Greenies' scoring for the night.

Tarboro came back in the seventh frame and scored two runs on three walks, a single and an error; and really went on a scoring spree in the eighth when three singles, a double, three walks, a sacrifice and two errors gave them six runs.

Vince Gohl went the route for the Athletics and held the Greenies to seven hits with Willie Mauney getting two singles to lead the weak attack.

Charlie Nordmeyer went the first six frames for the Greenies and allowed three runs, eight hits, struck out four and walked one when he was taken out for a pinch hitter.

Norman Clark, pitching in his second successive game in as many days, pitched the final two frames and allowed eight runs, walked five and struck out one.

Connie Hartberger, centerfielder of the Athletics, got three singles in four trips to the plate to lead the 13-hit attack off the two Greenie hurlers.

The two teams meet each other tonight out at Guy Smith Stadium. Game time is 7:45 o'clock.

Carolina Sales And Rotary Win

Tonight's Game Junior Chamber vs. Lions

Rotary won their second decision over Kiwanis last night with a ten-run splurge in the first inning, giving them an over-all total of 18 runs, sixteen hits and three errors, to ten runs, ten hits and several errors marked up by Kiwanis.

American Lady Corset started out last night like they were going to eat up the league-leading Carolina Sales team; however, in the third the big bats of the Sales nine went into operation and they won going away 11 to 6.

Sidelights — Last night marked the 13th meeting of the Tarboro Athletics and the Greenville Greenies and in ten of those contests the Athletics have come out on top. . . . In the 13-game series the Athletics have scored a total of 80 runs and the Greenies have scored 55 runs. . . . The win for Gohl was his 12th of the season and his third over the Greenies. . . . Charlie Nordmeyer received credit for his first loss since joining the Greenies. . . . Question asked your columnist this morning by sports fan: Why was Charlie Nordmeyer taken out of the game in the seventh for a pinch hitter when he had pitched such a beautiful game up to this point? He certainly couldn't have done any worse than what did take place in those last two frames? Answer: Pappy Williams is the manager, not me. . . . Thank goodness. . . . Received nice letter from Jack Hedgepeth, announcer at the park who is down in Orlando, Florida. . . . Stated he was getting along fine and would be home about the 28th of this month. . . . Nice to hear from you Jack and will be looking forward to your return with much pleasure. . . . 0-0-0

Ross Morrow will be out of the Tobs lineup for a while yet. His left arm is bothering him as a result of his injury at Greenville. The husky outfielder is anxious to get back at his job, but the man, A. W. Fleming, says "No." until the injury is completely healed, and rightfully so. . . . 0-0-0

The Senators approached the high mark for futility, July 2, when they stranded 11 runners, though defeating the Yankees, 2 to 1. They had 14 left the day before and ten the preceding night for a total of 41 in three days. . . . 0-0-0

Hitting two successive home runs against the Giants, July 2, and blasting another against the Phils July 4, Pee Wee Rees of the Dodgers tied the high mark of his career, 12 made in 1947. The Dodger shortstop poled a total of nine last year. . . .

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

BORN of the STORM

By Sidney B. Carter

Chapter 9

April, with its deceptive sweetness, sneaked up on Priscilla before she knew it. March had been a nasty month, the month of her father's illness; however, with the coming of April he seemed to be regaining his strength and Priscilla felt the weight of the world lifted from her heart. It was warm and there were showers, but April had brought sunshine too.

For the first time in her life, Priscilla had forgotten her own birthday. To her surprise, when she returned to her room after her bath that morning, she found little Druse fully dressed and waiting for her. With a loving face, Druse ran up to her sister, calling out "Happy birthday!" presented her with a much-beribboned package. Priscilla took her in her arms.

"Thanks, honey!" she exclaimed. "Just think—I'm eighteen today. Why, I had forgotten all about it!" Priscilla dressed hurriedly and then went down to breakfast. The entire family, with the exception of Mr. Hayden, who breakfasted in his room, were at the table. Not one of them said anything about Priscilla's birthday. In fact, no one said anything at all. Priscilla escaped from the table as soon as she could and went upstairs for her morning visit with her father.

Mr. Hayden was sitting in a chair by the window, an Afghan thrown over his knees.

He passed a hand wearily in the direction of his eyes. When he spoke, he did not look at her.

"There are some things I've wanted to tell you for a long time," he said, "about your mother." An expression of pain crossed his face. "When we were first married, your mother was the sweetest girl in town and just about the prettiest. We had not been married a year, however," he continued, "before your mother's ambitions started to get the better of her. She began to nag me to go into another line of work. But I love teaching. I knew I couldn't be happy doing anything else. Then Lorraine was born and for awhile your mother was happy with the baby, but just as soon as she began to get around with the other mothers, she began to nag me again. So-and-so's little girl had finer clothes than our little girl. The neighbor's child was going to be sent to a private school. Why couldn't we have enough money for things like that?"

"By the time you were born, Priscilla, your mother hated me." He turned and looked down at his daughter pityingly. "You unfortunately look very much like me. I used to have big, thick hair and my eyes were once as keen as blue as yours." He sighed. "Every time she looks at you, she's reminded of me. Therefore, she hates you, too. She can't help it."

"Dad," she asked wonderingly, "if Mother . . . if Mother hated you, how did Druse get born?"

"Darling, you are so innocent," he said. "Don't you know that sex attraction is stronger than any other on earth? It can fool you. You may think it's love and it isn't. And then again there may be love at the start and when love is gone, the attraction still remains."

"That's why," he told her seriously, "I want you to be so sure before you marry."

Priscilla wanted to ask more questions, but, sensing that her father was tired now, she helped him back to bed for his morning nap. As she started downstairs the telephone rang. It was Kenneth.

Her confused emotions clarified themselves when she heard his cheerful "Hi-ya, Babe!" coming over the wire.

"Hi, yourself!" she responded. "It was nice to talk with someone who was simple and uncomplicated."

"How about a private birthday party?" Kenneth was asking, "with me?"

"You? Who are you?" Priscilla said playfully.

He hesitated and then his answer came, softly. "I'm the guy who loves you." It was a wonderful, comforting thing to hear.

Priscilla looked cautiously around to see if anyone was in the hallway. No one was. "I love you, too," she murmured into the telephone.

"What did you say?" Kenneth asked. "I could have sworn you said . . ."

"Come on over," Priscilla told him hastily, "and I'll tell you all about it."

Within fifteen minutes Priscilla was in his arms again, this time feeling a sense of comfort and shelter that she had never felt before. The April sun was warm and Kenneth was happy as a man can be with his best girl beside him. His high spirits were contagious and Priscilla's heart sang a little song to itself. This is love, just as Dad said. I'm very sure. This is love. They parked in the little side lane where they had stopped on their very first ride.

"This seems familiar," said Priscilla.

"Well, if there's any danger of forgettin' anything, here's a reminder." He laughed, as he leaned over and folded her in his arms, kissing her as never before. Priscilla's pulses were racing, her arms were around his neck, and, even when he started to straighten up, she clung to him and kept her lips close against his.

"You're iniprevin' honey," he smiled. "Pris," he continued more seriously, "you wouldn't take my engagement ring. How about accepting it as a birthday present?"

"I will take it, Kenneth, but not as a birthday gift."

"Do you mean you'll marry me?" he asked, highly agitated.

Free-Ride Plane Injures Five

Three boy passengers were shaken and two boys among spectators were knocked down in the crash-landing of a plane giving free rides at Portland, Ore. The ship overshot the landing field and cracked up. The three youthful passengers are huddled near the plane a few moments after the landing. Left to right: Elmo Good, 14, and Don Kitchen, 14, both of Salem, Ore., and Val Roth, 11, of Portland. With them are attendants of the air show. Nobody was hurt seriously. (AP Wirephoto).

Priscilla hesitated only a moment. "Yes, dear, whenever you say," she murmured and put her head against his shoulder. Never again, she thought joyfully, will I be left out in the cold. I have Kenneth.

Kenneth slipped the ring on her finger and held her in his arms again.

"Well, what are we waitin' for?" exclaimed Kenneth suddenly. "I gotta get to a phone and call the minister. We can drive up right away."

"Tonight!" exclaimed Priscilla. "I have no clothes or anything."

"I'll let you off at your house. You get the things you need. I'll go to the drug store to phone and buy a toothbrush," he added, smiling. "You hurry and come down as quick as you can and I'll be back for you in a jiffy. Be careful that nobody sees your bundle. When it's all over, we'll phone the folks."

There was no need for Priscilla to answer and they drove off.

Priscilla got her things without creating the least suspicion. She came out of the house just as Kenneth drew up. He vaulted out as usual; lifted her over the door; took his seat beside her, and in a moment they were off again.

As they drove away, Priscilla cuddled in his arm and cushioned her head on his broad shoulder.

3-Day Work Week Order Said Behind His Beating

Bessemer, Ala., July 13—(AP)—A mine employee's complaint that he was kicked and beaten for not observing a three-day work week resulted in the arrest of eight men.

Thomas A. Warnell told sheriff's deputies he was dragged from a bus by a mob of 50 men, kicked and beaten about the head and body last Friday night.

He said he was attacked while on his way to work at the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company's Short Creek coal mine.

Warnell, a veteran and father of two children, is employed at the mine as an electrician-motor inspector, a maintenance position. He said he did not feel he was affected by a recent union order (United Mine Workers) to work only three days.

A union employee himself, Warnell said he had been told he "would not live to testify" if he took any legal action against his attackers.

Warrants charging assault with intent to murder were sworn out Monday against 11 men. Eight have been arrested and lodged in the Bessemer jail.

Warnell said all the men are employed by the Short Creek mine and are UMW members.

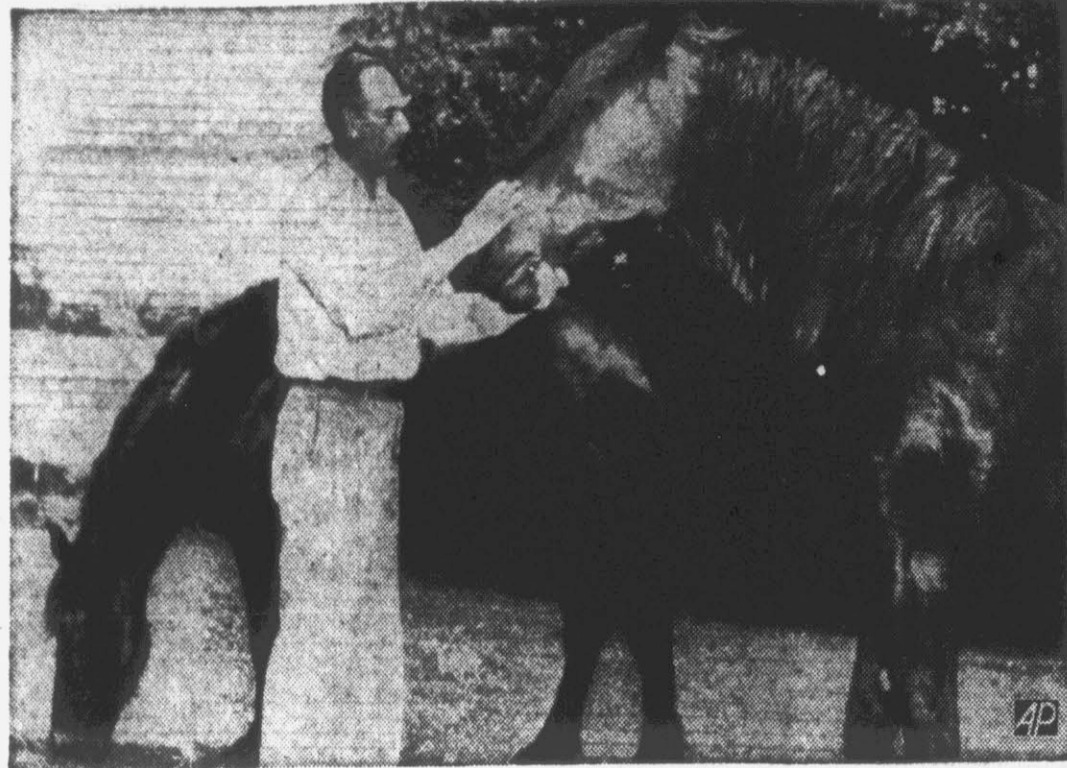

TCI officials said yesterday that operators at the Short Creek mine were at a standstill. Several shifts failed to report for work after the arrests. The mine employs about 450 men.

sort of common anti-Communist front among Asiatic nations which would be a big moral if not a substantial boost to the Kuomintang position.

The Hongkong report says the Chiang-Quinn agreement has the effect of "consolidating wavering Kuomintang elements in Canton behind the party. They still are betting on American atom bombs to win a war with Russia if they can just stall off the Reds long enough for the war to take place," the report concludes.

Acheson Spends A Quiet Weekend On His Farm

Road Is Now Opened To Bigger, Better Television

Washington, July 13—(AP)—Bigger and better television is on the way—but the projected expansion may take as much as two years getting into full swing.

The Federal Communications Commission has issued long-awaited proposals for quadrupling video operations to bring visual broadcasting to all parts of the nation.

Forty-two new television sending channels, in addition to the dozen already in use, are contemplated.

The FCC proposed that the new channels employ frequencies in the "ultra high" spectrum previously reserved for experimentation. These frequencies are out of the reach of most receiving sets now in the hands of the public without adding "converters" or other special attachments.

The present twelve channels use "very high" frequencies.

FCC proposed a revised table of channel allocations for cities and towns across the country. In the re-shuffle, some centers would lose previously allocated channels, but many metropolitan areas would gain added facilities for local broadcasting.

FCC officials said the proposed multiplying of channels would make possible about 2,245 broadcasting stations in 1,400 cities and towns. They said only 543 stations in 221 locations can be squeezed on present channels.

Playground Activities

Yesterday afternoon at Cotanche Park much interest was shown in the playground tin can still races. Rachel Phillips of West Greenville carried away top honor in the race for girls and Mack Smith was the winner for boys. Darlene Phillips of West Greenville was second and Jean Henderson third from Cotanche, for the girls and James Hudson and Bobby Williams from 14th street came in second and third in the race for boys.

The race yesterday did not change the playground order of standing but it did raise the scores to the following:

1. West Greenville—332 points.
2. Cotanche—266 points.
3. 14th Street—199 points.
4. 3rd Street—43 points.

On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the playground Ping Pong players will compete out at N.Y.A. for city playground championship.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Cotanche Park girls meet the West Greenville girls in softball. The game is at Cotanche Park. The West Greenville playground will be closed after 4 o'clock this afternoon in order that the children and the teacher can attend the game.

and traffic regulations which will enable the city bus lines to give better service. The recommendations were referred to a committee composed of Aldermen Buchanan, Cox and Rogers for study.

After some discussion about the control of weeds throughout the city, the board decided to turn the problem of weed control over to the street department to be worked out to do away with the weeds which have grown up on city property as well as private property in the city.

The aldermen instructed Street Superintendent Beatty to take immediate steps to cut the weeds which have grown up on the city property between Second and Third streets.

Upon a motion by Alderman Heber B. Tripp, the aldermen authorized a committee to represent the city with respect to the curb mar-

Watching . . .

But a steel strike, coming at such a serious time, would have just the opposite effect.

The strikers alone would mean about another 1,000,000 unemployed. If the strike comes, and lasts long thousands upon thousands of other men will be thrown into idleness when their companies, which depend on steel, shut down because they can't get it.

If this should happen soon, or in the next couple of months, there's no telling what damage might be done the nation.

Utah, first in gold mining, was probably the last area in the continental United States to be explored.

Ruritan Club Of Pactolus Holds Monday Meeting

The Pactolus Ruritan Club held its regular meeting Monday evening at the Knotty Pine Inn in Washington. In the absence of their president, John Overton, O. H. Forrest acted as chairman.

The chairman of the education committee reported the project of cleaning and leveling the school grounds at Pactolus was complete and at the same time expressed his thanks for the efforts extended to make the project a success.

A new committee, composed of five members, was appointed to investigate and develop a plan to get more streets paved in Pactolus. J. B. Barnhill will serve as chairman of this committee.

After the business session, Noel Lee, Jr., treasurer of Ruritan National and a member of the Pactolus club, gave members a pep talk on how to improve cooperation throughout a civic service club.

Escapee Wanted To Visit Family

Fayetteville, N. C., July 13—A 22-year old Negro prison camp escapee who wanted to see his parents and grandmother gave himself up at his home in nearby Wade today.

Rural policeman David McNeill reported that the prisoner, Elway Bell, phoned him this morning to say he was ready to return to his road gang at Jacksonville where he escaped July 7.

McNeill said Bell, serving a term for the second degree murder of his wife, related that he escaped under a hail of bullets and fled into the swamps.

Detectives Can Call For Police

Gastonia, N. C., July 13—(AP)—Pat Cooke and Arnold Armstrong formed a partnership here recently to operate a detective agency.

Cooke, a lawyer, was to handle the legal work and Armstrong was to run down the clues.

They had their first case today. Someone rified the safe in Cook's office, making off with $29 in cash.

N.Y. Cotton

New York, July 13—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 20 cents a bale lower to 15 cents higher today.

Noon prices were unchanged to 20 cents a bale higher than the previous close. July 32.99, Oct. 29.50 and Dec. 29.39.

Futures closed 55 to 80 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—Moderate selling pressure and a lack of commercial buying combined to send grains lower on the board of trade today. Losses were not large and activity slumped below recent days.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/2 lower, July $2.00 1/4-1/2, corn was 1 cent lower to 1 1/2 higher, July $1.39 1/2, oats were 1/4-1/2 lower, July 62, rye was 1 cent lower to 1/4 higher, July $1.47 1/2, soybeans were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July $2.51 1/4-1/2, and lard was 15 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $10.72.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, July 13—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers stronger at 27-28; eggs steady, grade A large 54.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, July 13—(AP)—A general advance in the stock market today carried prices fractions to more than 2 points higher. The upturn late in the day was accompanied by a heavy trading that pushed the volume to the rate of around 1,000,000 shares for the entire day.
