Sen. Taft Says U. S. Endangered By Big Spending

Warns Truman Program Leading United States Into A Totalitarian State

Columbus, O., July 16—(AP)—President Truman's program of huge government spending is leading the United States into a totalitarian state, Senator Robert A. Taft declared last night.

Mr. Truman, the Republican quarterback asserted, apparently has little regard for revenue provided by the people and the necessity of cutting government spending.

"Any President except one obsessed with the Panacea of government spending would have cut his budget to meet the revenue provided by the people," Taft charged.

The Ohio Republican spoke to the nation in a radio address over the Mutual network from Columbus. His talk was a reply to the President's "fireside chat Wednesday."

"Huge government spending has from the beginning been one of the essential features of Mr. Truman's program to follow the labor socialized government of England into a totalitarian state, directing the lives and activities of its citizens," Taft declared.

"It is complete nonsense to say that the government cannot cut its expense. There is not a bureau in Washington which couldn't cut 10 per cent of its personnel and be more efficient."

"An average 10 per cent reduction would balance the budget."

Taft warned that our economy could be seriously endangered by an increase in taxes.

"We have reached a point where increased taxation will prevent the very prosperity necessary to produce the taxes," he asserted.

"We have come to a point where we must determine the limit of our tax burden and then cut out expenses to meet our income and pay something on the national debt. Every individual in this country has to give up things he would like to have because he hasn't got the money to pay for them. The government is no different from any individual."

The Senator tied in his attack on the President's budget with a defense of the 81st Congress. The Congress, he said, "is not a negative Congress although its great merit will be that it has prevented changes which would affect the whole nature of our government and the character of the American republic."

"Affirmatively," he said, "its program is:

1. Reduce expenses and avoid a tax increase.
2. Adopt a welfare program to give federal aid to states to help them do a better job in education, health, housing and relief. This whole program would cost about a tenth of the President's compulsory health insurance alone.
3. Revise the Taft-Hartley act to correct those features which sound criticism has been directed but retain its basic principles of equal collective bargaining and union responsibility. The Senate passed that kind of a bill.
4. Maintain our aid to foreign countries but only to the extent absolutely essential to maintain peace without sacrificing the liberty and the security of the United States."

A Warm Little War

Koreans Killing Each Other Along The Border Between Russian And U. S. Occupied Areas; Not Very Hot—UN Observers; American Aid; Defenses Sought

By JAMES D. WHITE

Since late May a warm little war has been going on in a remote corner of Korea.

Northern and Southern Koreans have been killing each other on the Ongjin Peninsula. Most of this tongue of rice-growing land lies in Southern Korea. That is south of the 38th parallel that divides Korea into two separate countries. The upper, smaller part is north of the line. From this northern region north Korean militia moved across the boundary and tried to take over.

The Southerners say they threw them back, but that the Northerners keep infiltrating back and have to be cleaned out.

This little war hasn't got very hot—yet. The front is only about 25 miles long. Neither side has thrown its real army into the fight.

There is a United Nations commission in Southern Korea which has reported that it can't do much more than observe what is going on.

It has tried recently to get into Soviet-dominated Northern Korea, but it waited to verify the withdrawal of Soviet troops last winter. The request was actually rejected by the Northern Koreans.

American combat troops left Southern Korea by July 1. A military advisory mission remains.

The little war on Ongjin is merely the latest clash—more severe

Congress Told 32 UN Delegates Are Ex-Spies

Intelligence Agency Reports Representatives Of Foreign Governments Have Records Of Espionage Abroad

Washington, July 16—(AP)—"The Central Intelligence Agency reported to Congress today that 32 representatives of foreign governments given visas to enter this country have records of spy work abroad."

These 32 are among 100 foreign representatives about whom a Senate Judiciary subcommittee questioned the CIA.

In the same group, the intelligence agency reported, are 29 persons listed as high-ranking Communist party officials.

"In how many instances, if at all," the subcommittee asked, "has the State Department insisted upon the entry to this country of an alien concerning whom recommendation has been made by the visa division of the department that the entry of such alien is against the security interests of the United States?"

In reply, John E. Peurifoy, deputy undersecretary of state, said:

"The visa division states that it does not recall more than approximately 10 cases in which its original recommendation that visa be refused on a security grounds have not been accepted by the superior officers of the department within the last three years."

"In all these cases, the responsible officers of the department dealing with all other phases of the conduct of foreign relations, as well as the questions of the security factor in-

than usual—in a long series of border incidents. There have been no reports that the Koreans are any more worked up about it than usual. It may have helped to speed up, however, consideration by the American Congress of a measure which would give Southern Korea about $150 million in American aid.

Meanwhile Dr. Syngman Rhee head of the southern government has asked United Nations permission to quadruple his armed forces. That would make them number about 400,000 men. Yesterday his assembly in Seoul voted two years compulsory military training for all Korean men reaching 20 years of age.

His government was set up under United Nations auspices. It is recognized by the United States and several of its allies in the World War as the legal government for all Korea. This government is anti-Communist.

The northern regime was established during the Soviet occupation and is recognized as the legal government for all Korea by the Soviet Union and a number of its satellites. This government is Communist.

For this situation there is no likely diplomatic remedy short of a private understanding between Russia and the United States to

Czech Reds Plan Liquidate Church

Party Manifesto Says Step Necessary For Communism

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 16—(AP)—A Czech Communist party manifesto called today for liquidation of "our greatest enemy, the church."

The manifesto came on the heels of a statement by Justice Minister Alex Cernik that anyone who moves to put into effect the excommunication of Communists decreed by the Vatican will be arrested and tried for treason.

(A Vatican informant said excommunication requires no enforcement, that it acts upon the guilty in the secrecy of their own consciences.)

The party manifesto declared it was imperative to "liquidate the enemy" in order to complete the communization of the country. This, it said, did not mean liquidating the Roman Catholic Church entirely, but did mean liquidating "the church question."

It said this move to crush church authority was especially necessary because of the hierarchy's hold on the peasantry, which must be broken to make way for the collectivization of farms.

It called for the building of a wall between the bishops and the people. It urged a campaign to turn the people against the Catholic priest, Archbishop Josef Beran, now a semi-captive of the government.

In a fiery speech yesterday Cernik blasted Archbishop Beran as a traitor and announced that a law had been drafted to take control of the church.

By CHESTER WALSH
Capt. Lester Jones of Greenville, commander of Troop A, northeastern district, 27 counties, State Highway Patrol, has been transferred from Greenville headquarters to Fayetteville. Capt. D. T. Lambert, State highway commander at Greensboro, will succeed Capt. Jones here.

Jones was one of the first men to be appointed to the State Highway Patrol when it was organized in 1929. He has figured in solving numerous nationally important cases. Pitt County Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and Greenville Police Chief Lester D. Page said today. They said that a creditable feature of Capt. Jones' administration of Troop A has been his ready cooperation with other law enforcement agencies.

Jones is a native of Ayden. He was chief of police in Greenville from 1920 to 1928. He then served a year as police chief at Washington, and later was appointed to the State Highway Patrol, with headquarters here. He is a veteran of World War I.

He said he had been notified by State Highway Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar of his transfer and is now making plans to take up his duties at Fayetteville.

Rail Strike To Hit California

San Francisco, July 16—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen yesterday called a strike against the Pacific lines of the Southern Pacific railroad at 6 p. m. July 22.

The action resulted from a dispute about the number of brakemen to be employed.

California last fall amended its so-called full crew law to require only two brakemen and one conductor on any train in road service.

The above facts show that until 5,000,000 are reported as "unemployed," we have nothing to worry about. Remember that since 1917 the total number of employed has jumped from 25,000,000 to 60,000,000 people. Remember that five times as many women are employed today as before World War I. Remember how much less work a carpenter, painter or bricklayer does today than he did thirty years ago. It is a miracle that

Railroad Union President Dies

Heart Attack Is Fatal For A. F. Whitney Early Today

Cleveland, July 16—(AP)—A. F. Whitney, 76, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, died today at 1:54 a.m. (Eastern Daytime Time) of a heart attack.

A member of Whitney's office staff said there was no warning of the attack and that the elderly labor statesman had put in a full day at his office.

In recent weeks, Whitney had been active in planning labor legislation. A meeting in rules with leaders of the nation's railroads was pending for the near future.

The union president had dinner and spent last evening with guests at his Bay Village home. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Whitney, said he awakened her with calls that he wasn't feeling well several hours after they retired.

Mrs. Whitney said he had a temperature and she called the brotherhood's vice-president, J. P. Cahill. Whitney was dead when she returned to his side.

Whitney became best known to the average American when he disagreed publicly with President Truman over a trainmen's strike issue in May, 1946.

The President called him and Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to Washington for a private discussion of the trainmen's grievances with the nation's railroads.

The meeting broke up in disagreement and the President asked Congress to pass an automatic draft act for striking railroads.

Later, Whitney resumed cordial relations with the President and was labor's outstanding voice for his reelection. He campaigned at the Democratic convention and during the actual presidential campaign.

Havelock Man's Car Hits Tree

A car driven by Frank J. Huber, 41, of Havelock, got out of control on the New Bern highway, about a mile east of Greenville, last night about 7 o'clock, ran off the road, skidded after the driver steered it back on the wet pavement, then collided with a big tree.

The car was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. Huber was shaken up. His wife received lacerations on her face and knee. She was treated at Pitt General Hospital and released. State Highway Patrolman Paul Whitley stated.

He quoted Huber as saying that in trying to dodge a road sign he collided with the tree.

Babson Discusses Unemployment

Babson Park, Mass., July 15—Of course, someday this country will suffer from a bad dose of unemployment; but this time has not come yet and it will not come during 1949. The present unemployment scene which certain labor union officials are starting has no justification.

What Are The Facts?
Let us assume that the official figures issued last week of 3,788,000 unemployed are correct, although I think these are too large. Well, when I was Assistant Secretary of Labor in 1917-1919, normal unemployment was then officially stated as 2,500,000. This included the sick and those even temporarily laid off. Yet, in those years the total business of the country was less than half what it is today.

The above facts show that until 5,000,000 are reported as "unemployed," we have nothing to worry about. Remember that since 1917 the total number of employed has jumped from 25,000,000 to 60,000,000 people. Remember that five times as many women are employed today as before World War I. Remember how much less work a carpenter, painter or bricklayer does today than he did thirty years ago. It is a miracle that some of them are now employed at all!

Unemployment Insurance for good or evil? I don't know; but I believe that many are now leaving their jobs for vacations this summer and are taking their $25 per week "unemployment" insurance. I am sure that such insurance encourages unemployment and increases the unemployment figures. Once each month your state publishes what it paid out the previous month to the so-called "unemployed." Much of this money is being taken unfairly, but the people say: "Everyone also is getting it, so why shouldn't I?" Over half of the unemployment money which is being distributed every week in your community comes out of the rest of us. It is one of the chief causes for present high taxes. It is teaching people to be dishonest; and it is leading to great abuse and corruption the same as did prohibition.

I recently heard of a city where over 100 clerks are busy everyday just writing unemployment checks! It is not just the money paid out

'Fourth Round' Of Postwar Pay Increases Up To Board

Washington, July 16—(AP)—A Presidential fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute took over one of the nation's biggest economic questions today—should there be a "fourth round" of postwar wage increases?

The three-man board was appointed last night by President Truman to end a tense 72 hours speculation over whether the steel industry, or a big part of it, would be shut down indefinitely today.

The board's recommendations on wages, pensions and insurance issues in the steel dispute won't be binding on either the industry or Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers. But the White House hopes it will point the way to a settlement.

And how the steelworkers fare on their fourth round demands may well become a pattern for all industry. It has happened that way before.

A million steelworkers called off plans for a walkout to begin last midnight when the industry's giants including U. S. Steel, reluctantly gave in to the administration's 60-day strike truce plan.

Mr. Truman appointed Carroll R. Daugherty, Northwestern University professor of business economics, as chairman of the impartial panel. Serving with him will be Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, former White House adviser, and David L. Cole, Paterson, N. J., labor relations expert who has served on other Truman labor fact-finding boards.

The President, relieved by acceptance of his peace plan by big and little steel firms, won something in his exchange with the industrial giants. He was able to by-pass the Taft-Hartley act in dealing with a major labor crisis. Friends of the labor statute were not too happy about that, but unions took comfort because of their recent set-backs in attempts to repeal the act.

Mr. Truman insisted on a 60-day strike truce beginning today and Murray quickly consented for the union. Most of the steel companies held back until a few hours before the strike deadline.

Only one previous U. S. strike could have matched it. That was the same union's walkout of January-February, 1946, over the "first round" of wage increases following the war. That resulted in an 18 1-2 cent hourly pay boost and a $5 hike in the cost of a ton of raw steel.

The three-man board has until August 30 to make its settlement recommendations to the White House. The truce is to continue to September 14.

The board will have to weigh Murray's wage demands, reported to be a suggested 20-cent hike. On top of that, however, Murray wants $150 monthly pensions for retired steel puffers, and a group insurance plan.

Some companies say Murray can't talk about pensions until contracts expire next April. So Murray and CIO General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg will have their toughest job trying to prove to the fact-finding board that the union has a legal right to demand a pension plan now.

John A. Stephens, vice-president in charge of industrial relations of U. S. Steel Corporation, told reporters last week that he and Murray had an understanding that pensions would be forgotten until next spring, in exchange for the 13-cent pay rise in July, 1948.

It's Possible
Austin, Texas, July 16—(AP)—It was Tom Shell's turn to drive his big truck to the city garbage dump.

As Shell drove in, a man came up and began directing him to a place to unload.

"Come on back some more," the man kept saying.

Shell backed and backed. Suddenly he remembered the drop-off at the dump. He slapped on his brakes.

The rear wheels were three inches from the edge of a 60-foot drop.

"What's the matter with you? Are you crazy?" he asked the man.

"I guess so. I'm a patient at the Austin State Hospital out here with a working party unloading garbage. Guess you're right," the man replied.

Major Generals Named In Probe

Two Suspended By Army On Basis Of Senate Inquiry

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Investigating senators disclosed today that two top-ranking Army major generals have been temporarily suspended as a result of an investigation of alleged influence in awarding contracts.

Chairman Hoye (D-N.C.) of the special Senate investigating subcommittee first disclosed that the Army generals had been temporarily relieved from duties, without disclosing their identities.

He said the action was taken by Army Secretary Gordon Gray and the Army Inspector General on the basis of evidence accumulated by Senate investigators.

The Senate agents, Hoye said, have been inquiring into charges involving "activities of certain persons in connection with government procurement."

A story in the New York Herald Tribune on activities of "five persons" collecting fees for influence in award of government contracts touched off the investigation.

Hoye's announcement today said William P. Rogers, chief counsel of the Senate group, and other investigators have "questioned many witnesses in the course of this investigation."

Evidence involving Army personnel "was turned over to the Inspector General of the Army," Hoye said in a statement adding:

"I have been informed today by Army representatives that, based on this evidence, the Secretary of the Army has seen fit to relieve from their duties temporarily two major generals, pending the completion of the investigation."

"I desire to point out that this action on the part of the Army was taken on its own initiative and without any request on the part of the committees or any of its representatives."

Discuss Closure Of Cuke Market
Approximately 500 Growers In County Said Took Loss

Approximately 50 cucumber growers from Pitt and surrounding counties met at the Pitt county court house last night to discuss with Harry Wescott, director of markets of the North Carolina department of agriculture, the closing of cucumber markets operated by the T. G. Basnight company of Pitt county two weeks before the contract with growers expired.

Mark Smith, master of the Ballards Grange, in calling the meeting for last night, said the closing of the market before the farmers' contracts expired affected approximately 500 farmers in Pitt, Greene and Wilson counties, and caused losses to the farmers "involving thousands of dollars."

Present at the meeting last night from the state department of agriculture were Wescott and Gilbert Clark.

Wescott at the beginning of the meeting told the farmers, "We are not down here as judges or anything like that. We want to explain the act passed by the 1941 legislature (regulating contractors for agricultural products) and see if you have anything which will fit into it."

Clark said the first notification of the closing of the Basnight cucumber buying station was received in the agriculture department with the strike was impending, and now three things have happened:

1. President Truman has appointed a fact-finding board of three men—none of them connected with the companies, the government or the workers—to learn the facts and tell the public what they find.

2. The workers and the companies have agreed to cooperate with the fact-finders in giving them information, or, at least, in presenting their sides of the argument.

3. Both sides have agreed there'll be no work stoppage for the next 60 days.

When they're all through making their check, the fact-finders will recommend that:

The companies can afford to give the workers none of some, or all of what they ask.

But, since there's no law compelling either side to do what the board recommends, neither side has to budge an inch from its present position. It can ignore what the board recommends.

If that happens them, at the end of the 60 days, there may be a strike and all the board's work will have gone for nothing.

Even though the board has no power to compel either side to accept what it says, its recommendations nevertheless will have great weight for several reasons:

All the public knew was that the workers had said "we want" and the companies had said "we can't give."

But could the companies afford to give some or all of what the workers asked? Did the workers have any real claim to anything? Or, were they asking too much?

Those questions were unanswered.

May Sidetrack Re-Arming Fund Set For Europe

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) said today the Senate may side-track President Truman's $1,450,000,000 foreign military program and, instead, authorize the Army to furnish arms to Europe from surplus stocks.

This move could be made by resolution, George told reporters, without taking formal action on the disputed arms program.

The veteran Congressman said the plan is not yet under active study—but it is one of the possibilities in sight to achieve an Atlantic defense against possible attack from Russia. He expressed grave doubts that Congress would act at this session on the President's proposed arms plan.

President Truman's board of three fact-finders in the steel dispute have a big job.

But there'll be no steel strike for the next 60 days while they do their job and report what they find.

At the end of that time there may or may not be a strike. At least it has been delayed two months.

All this week the nation had hovered on the edge of a strike, which came about this way:

The steel companies had turned down the demands of the CIO Steel Workers for better pay, pensions and so on.

The workers threatened to strike this week-end. Then this became more than just a dispute between workers

Boards Unite On Spending Plans

Raleigh, N.C., July 16—(AP)—Two state boards, given separate appropriations by the 1949 legislature for school health, have joined forces on how the funds shall be spent.

The State Boards of Health and Public Instruction announced last night the pooling of rules on how the money shall be distributed and regulations receiving units must meet.

Between them, the boards will receive $800,000 each year of the 1949-51 biennium, the money earmarked specifically for school health.

The plan announced last night requires that to receive the funds allocated, each local health officer, and the superintendent within each health jurisdiction, must submit to a joint plan outlining the method of expenditure.

For the biennium, the board of education's fund for school health totals about $550,000, while the board of health's totals $250,000, the latter averaging 40 cents per pupil and the former 50 cents.

their influence toward having every farmer who grows tobacco to vote in the Flue-Cured Tobacco Referendum next Saturday, to maintain crop control and parity prices. He recalled the days in the early 1930s when tobacco prices averaged around 8 and 9 cents a pound; reviewed the worthy aims of Tobacco Associates, Inc., an organization of farmers, tobaccoists, warehousemen, bankers, businessmen and others, which seeks to develop and maintain markets for flue-cured tobacco and get the best prices for the leaf. Mr. Sugg spoke briefly, but impressively, and the Kiwanians manifested their appreciation of his timely message. President Arthur Tripp presided.

R. W. (Sunbeam) Shiplett had a birthday and donated a nickel for each year of his age. M. K. Blount won the attendance prize, donated by Judge Dink James.

Past President N. C. Brooks called attention to the Carolinas Kiwanis District convention to be held at Chapel Hill August 29-30. Delegates are Arthur Tripp, A. B. Corey and Milo Smith; alternates, James Ray Pittman, Aubrey Tilley and Roy Coburn.

Ambitious Building Program For Pitt County Schools

Big Improvement Made During Vacation Period

School Districts, Through Their Own Bond Issues, To Spend $465,000 Renovating And Building; Most Since 1936-38

During the out-of-school months this summer, the individual school districts in Pitt county have undertaken through their own bond issues the most ambitious building and renovation program the public education system of the county has experienced since the public works days of 1936 and 1938.

The school districts of the county this summer are spending a combined total of approximately $465,000 for renovation of old school buildings and the construction of new buildings. Approximately $250,000 of the total will be spent in the county system, and $215,000 will be spent in the Greenville school district.

A further breakdown of the $465,000 total shows that approximately $309,000 of the amount is being spent on schools for Negro students.

Largest Building Since 1930
The two largest individual projects being undertaken at the present time are the construction of a $165,684 Negro elementary and high school in Farmville, and the construction of a $76,519 Negro elementary school in Greenville. The figures do not include the cost of equipping the schools.

The Farmville school, the largest single building added to the county school system since the Ayden school was built in 1930, will have 18 classrooms and is expected to accommodate approximately 600 elementary school students and 175 high school students. The T-shaped single story building will be constructed of fire-resistant material throughout, and have concrete roof and floors. In addition to the classrooms, library and science room, the building will have an office, a teachers room, a health room, book room and storage room.

Although an auditorium and lunchroom are not being included in the building at the present time, County Superintendent of Schools D. H. Conley said the building is so constructed that these facilities can be added when the funds are available. The new building will be equipped throughout with fluorescent lighting and modern heating and will connect with the old six-room building to make a 24-classroom building. H. B. Sugg of Farmville, who has been with the county school system for a number of years, will be principal of the new school, Conley said.

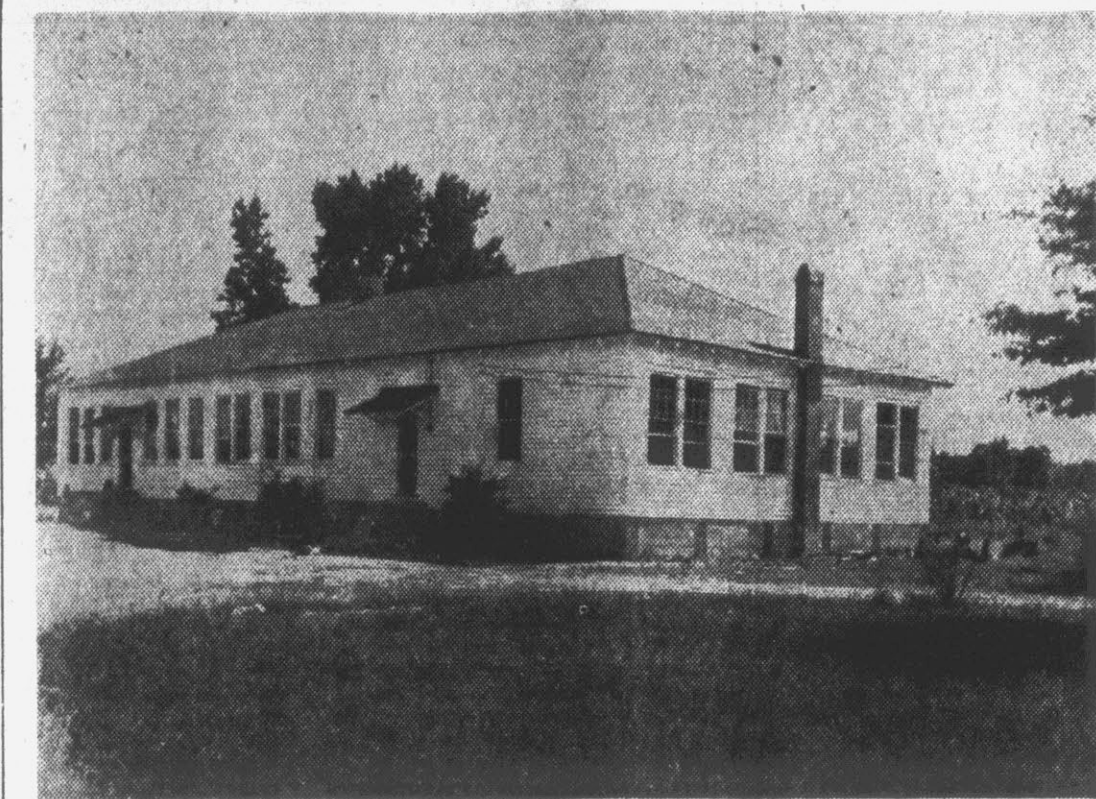

Construction on the new building was begun during the latter part of April, and school officials are hoping the building will be ready for use in September shortly after the county schools open.

Construction in Greenville Schools
The $76,000 building in Greenville will have eight classrooms, offices, an auditorium, lunchroom and kitchen. The structure, being built on a 14-acre plot of city property in the Cooperfield section of Greenville, will be the second Negro elementary school in the city system. Construction on the new building began May 30.

In other building and renovation work being done in the Greenville school system, according to plans announced by City Superintendent J. H. Rose, $30,000 is being spent on the C. M. Epps high school, $60,000 is being spent on the West Greenville elementary school, and approximately $40,000 is being spent on the Third Street elementary school.

At the C. M. Epps school a band room and a work shop are being added, and the athletic field adjoining the school grounds is being graded and improved.

$100,000 for Two Schools combination auditorium, physical education building and lunch room, are being built in an all-purpose building. Rose said classrooms in the present building are being modernized and repairs are being made to the roof of the building.

The $40,000 being spent on the Third Street school will pay for the adding of classrooms, a library and a lunchroom and kitchen.

Money for the construction work being done in the Greenville school system was received from a bond issue voted by the people of the city in 1940, and recently approved for sale by the county commissioners after a ruling by the North Carolina Supreme court said the bond issue still is valid.

Commenting on the construction program in the Greenville schools recently, Rose said it has been the effort of the local school board and school officials to have the additions to the school buildings constructed in a manner which will afford the maximum usage possible.

"We have tried to construct additions so they may be used all through the school day rather than for a few hours during each day," he stated.

Gymnasium at Belvoir
Throughout the various school districts which make up the county school system, construction and renovation programs are being carried out to afford the county system better physical equipment at the beginning of the 1949-50 school year than ever before in the history of Pitt county.

At the Belvoir school a $35,000 gymnasium is under construction and is expected to be completed by the end of the summer. The concrete floors and foundation for the building have been laid, and the rough plumbing has been installed. The steel for the building has been delivered and was being erected this week. According to the plans for the new building, the gymnasium will be 75 feet wide, 112 feet long and 20 feet high, and will contain showers and dressing rooms in addition to the large floor space for athletic events.

Fountain and Falkland Schools
The Fountain school is being completely renovated and repainted during the summer months at a cost of approximately $10,000 to the people of the school district. New plumbing fixtures are being installed in the building, new rest rooms are being installed, and classrooms are getting new lighting systems repainting and thorough overhauling in preparation for the opening of school this fall. In addition, the auditorium is being repaired and given a fresh coat of paint.

At Falkland, two rooms have been added to the Negro school building and the renovation of the building is to be completed within the next two weeks. The building has been painted on the outside, and painters are putting the finishing touches to the building's new coat of paint on the inside. In some of the rooms new classroom furniture is piled high waiting to be taken from its wrappings for use when the county schools open late in August. Superintendent Conley said the total cost on the project is expected to reach $7,500. Another asset to the school, Conley stated, will be the paving of the road from the highway intersection at Falkland to the school building, which the state highway commission is expected to do in the near future.

In addition to this project, two other small Negro schools in the Falkland section have been completely renovated. The Shivers school has been renovated at a cost of $3,000, and the school at Sally's Branch was renovated at a cost of $2,000.

Earlier in the summer a new five-room Negro school was completed at Haddock's Cross Roads and is to be occupied next fall. The total cost of the building and equipment is expected to be about $10,000. At the Clemmons Negro school east of Stokes $1,000 has been spent for renovation of the building.

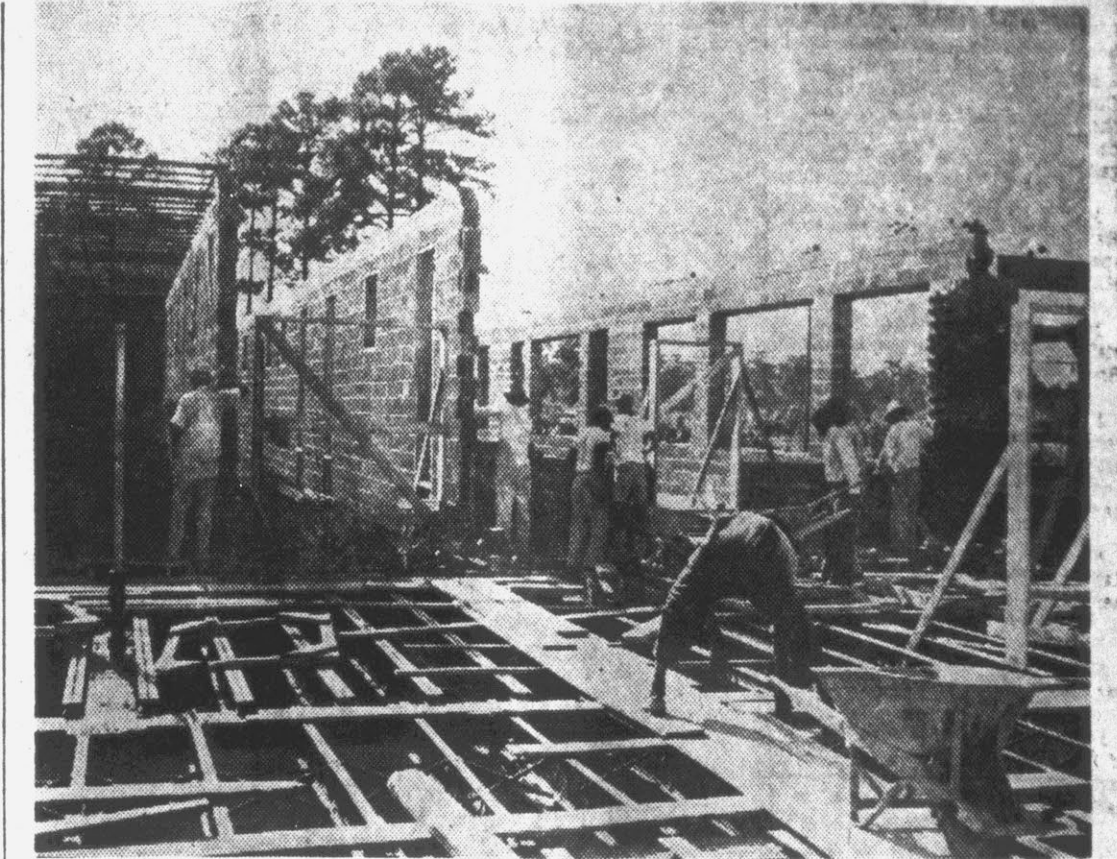

The Negro school at Nichols has been renovated and enlarged from a two-room school to a four-room school at the cost of $3,500.

Minor Repairs to Some Schools
Large schools in various communities throughout the county which underwent major repairs last summer, this year are getting minor face-lifting treatments.

The high schools at Grimesland and Winterville are being painted and minor repairs are being made where necessary. At the Chiefton school new lights are being installed in the classrooms, and the electrical system in the building is being renovated. The school also is receiving a fresh coat of paint on the inside.

At the Grifton school general repairs are being made to the roof of the building and the windows and painting is being done both on the inside and the outside of the building. In Ayden the school outside woodwork is being painted, and some painting is being done in the interior of the building; while repairs are being made to the roof of the elementary school building.

Pitt Gets Additional $687,202
The sum of close to half a million dollars which is being spent on the schools in Pitt county this summer is being financed entirely through bond issues of the individual school districts. In addition to the amount being financed through district bond issues, Pitt county will receive

Workmen lay bricks and concrete blocks in the wall of the $165,000 fire-resistant school building at Farmville which will house the Negro elementary and high school students. The building is the largest constructed in the county school system since the Ayden school was built in 1930. It will have 18 class rooms, offices, and a teachers room. An auditorium and lunchroom are to be added to the building when funds are available. (Daily Reflector photo) from the school building appropriation of the recent General Assembly and the $250,000 bond issue voted by the people of the state in June a total of $687,202, according to figures received by Superintendent Conley.

This money, however, Conley said, will not be distributed to the county until a survey of the local school system has been made and approval is received from a state agency.

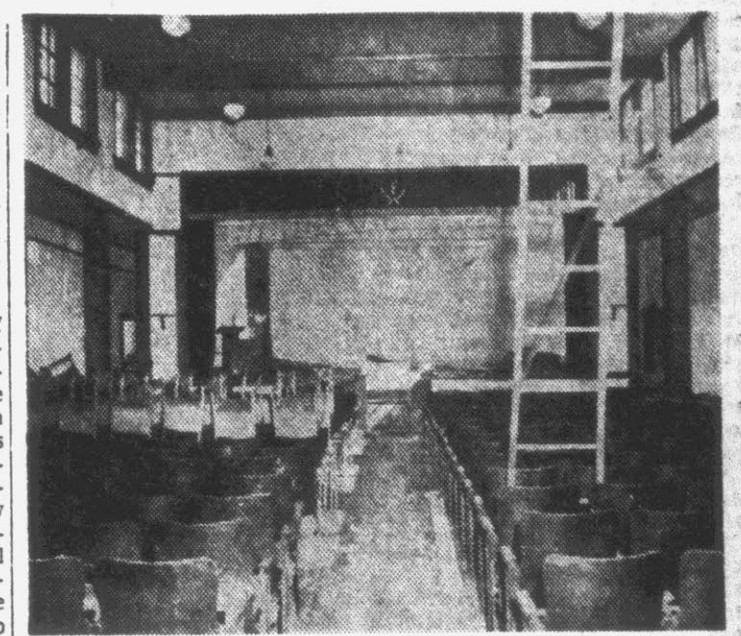

Allotment to City System
According to the regulations of the bond issue and legislative appropriation, the county superintendent said, the money allotted to the county is to be distributed between the county and city school systems based on the per capita daily attendance. Under the set-up, Conley explained, the Greenville city school system which has approximately 20 per cent of the school children of Pitt county, will receive approximately $137,400 of the $687,202 which has been allotted to Pitt county.

Commenting on the history-making building program which is being carried on in Pitt county at the expense of its individual citizens, and the future program which will be financed from state funds, Superintendent Conley stated, "There is a lot being undertaken, and a lot more will be undertaken for the benefit of the school children in the future. What we really want to do is to have the school children of Pitt county to appreciate what is being done for them, and use it and not waste their time."

Raleigh, July 16 — (AP) — The State Highway Patrol put on the road for the first time today 40 new two-door Fords. Most of them are painted the customary black and silver.

The auditorium at the Fountain school may look a little untidy in the above picture, but by the time the county schools open this fall it will have been renovated and will have a new coat of paint. Hunt For Clues In Third Murder

Fort Bragg, July 16 — (AP) — Army authorities hunted for clues today to determine the slayer of a Negro soldier here.

The soldier's body, shot in the back, was found near the Ft. Bragg reservation yesterday. He had been dead some time.

The body was discovered in the same general area where other homicides have occurred in recent months. A white woman was found dead on a lover's lane in that area several months ago. Previously, the body of a white soldier was found near there.

Departs Today For Brief Lebanon Visit

Mrs. Bassma Barakey of Greenville left today for a six-month visit with her parents in Beirut, Lebanon.

Mrs. Barakey left her native land when she was eight years old and came to the United States in 1930. The Barakeys, who operate the Victory Grill at Five Points, came to Greenville in 1935. Mr. Barakey will accompany his wife to New York where she and her two children will leave for Lebanon.

Present plans called for her return to the United States after about six months, said Mr. Barakey.

A portion of the foundation wall for the new Negro elementary school in Greenville takes shape after a little over a month's work on the $76,000 building. Louis DuPree, Of Greenville On Afghanistan Expedition

Are you one of those who have dreamed of seeing those "far away places"? At least one young man from Greenville is wearing the label of "world traveler" these days; he's Louis DuPree, one-time graduate of Greenville High School.

DuPree embarked on a plane last Tuesday, i. New York, for Afghanistan. He is accompanying the first American archaeological expedition to that land by the American Museum of Natural History. The archaeological student has made several expeditions of this nature; his last, in 1948, was to the general area of the Swiss-French border; and the return route included more than a glimpse of South America. Led by Walter A. Fairseris, Jr. of the museum's department of anthropology the expedition will seek traces of what are believed to be some of the earliest cultures in history in the southern areas of Afghanistan near the Daxi-i-Margo, the fabled "desert of death."

The expedition being undertaken this summer will work in cooperation with the Afghan Ministry of Education in exploring areas which it is hoped will yield evidence of these prehistoric cultures of Afghanistan in Central Asia provided the basis for better known later civilizations in Mesopotamia and India. In fact, according to Mr. Fairseris, veteran archaeologist, these prehistoric cultures in Afghanistan may have been among the earliest forerunners of basic eastern and western civilizations.

This summer's field exploration will be the first of a series of expeditions which may carry over several years, according to Mr. Fairseris, who added that the explorations would be divided into two general phases consisting of studies of the Paleolithic period and the earliest Neolithic ranging from 2000 to 3000 years B.C.

Mr. Fairseris will be accompanied on the expedition by Louis DuPree, a graduate student in archaeology at Harvard University, and Henry W. Hart, an architect and graduate student at Yale University. DuPree accompanied last year's Peabody expedition which explored prehistoric man traces in French caves. Fairseris did extensive archaeological work in Mongolia and China during the past war and also did extensive work on study and preparation of the famous Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews Mongolian collections at The American Museum of Natural History.

The expedition will also be accompanied in the field by several Afghan students who will assist in excavations and will be trained in field study activities.

It is expected that the expedition will uncover great numbers of artifacts such as Stone Age tools, weapons, and pottery which will provide scientists with significant guides to the life of previously unknown cultures.

Expedition members left New York by plane on Tuesday July 12 for Karachi, India. From Karachi the group will proceed by train to Peshawar and then through the Khyber Pass to Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan. From Kabul the group will then travel into the field, going southward to the Helmand River area.

The expedition's special field equipment has been sent ahead by boat and will be picked up by the expedition at Karachi. The expedition expects to remain in the field for approximately six months.

Dr. Rudolph R. Wilman Announces Winning Composers In N. C. Contest

Winners in the annual contest for North Carolina Composers were announced by Dr. Rudolph R. Wilman, director of the Department of Music at East Carolina Teachers College and state chairman for North Carolina Composers. The contest is an annual event sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs and is designed to promote and encourage the native composer.

In the 1949 contest there were 26 entries in the Professional Division and 96 entries in the Amateur Division. Judging the manuscripts for the Professional Division was Dr. Howard A. Murphy, composer teacher and author, of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York. Entries in the Amateur Division were judged by Miss Rachel Rosenberger, composer and teacher, on the staff of the music department at Meredith College, Raleigh.

The following winning compositions were named for five classifications in the Professional Division: Piano Solo: "Intermezzo" by Roy H. Milligan of Winston-Salem, First Place; Vocal Solo: "Music I Heard With You" by Kenneth B. Lee, of Hickory, First Place and special prize; Instrumental Solo: "Noc-risne" for violin and piano by Roy J. Milligan of Winston-Salem, First Place; Choral Work: "Song

Trailing By Bloodhound, His Specialty

For the past 10 years, when a bloodhound has been needed for trailing duty anywhere in the eastern North Carolina counties from Elizabeth City to Southport, some law enforcement officer usually contacts Captain Paul Crawford, superintendent of the state prison farm near Greenville, and he has a pair of trusty on the way in short order.

Through the years, Capt. Crawford and his husky dogs have tramped across the fields and through swamps in this section of North Carolina searching for everything from lost children to escaped convicts, murderers, and bank robbers.

Although he seldom takes to the trail himself these days, because "I'm too old for running now," Capt. Crawford keeps at his disposal as crafty a pair of bloodhounds as will be found in the state, and he owns several other bloodhounds which he has loaned to other prison and law enforcement officers throughout the state.

Mack and Old Frank
The two king-pin bloodhounds at the state prison farm in Pitt county at the present time are Frank, a dark, nine-year-old hound, and Mack, a husky red, four-year-old hound that is just coming into his own in this business of tracking humans through the plowed fields and vine-entangled woods. Each dog stands about 27 inches high and weighs about 110 pounds.

Capt. Crawford has delegated the job of actually running the dogs to Harvey Fillingane, but when the dogs go out on a big chase, Capt. Crawford always is along to direct the operations and nail the quarry as quickly as possible.

Both Frank and Mack are silent trailers and are kept on strong leather leashes while on the trail. Capt. Crawford got Frank when he was a frisky six-month-old pup and trained him to the ways of the trail. Mack he raised from a litter of one of his older dogs which has since died.

Training the Dogs
As for training the bloodhounds, it seems to be a matter which is done according to the taste of the dog owner. Capt. Crawford starts his dogs when they are about four months old, by letting them play a game of hide and seek with some person they have seen go a short distance into the woods.

As the dog begins to get the idea of following a trail, a person is sent deeper and deeper into the woods, and the trails are made more difficult for the dogs to follow. Bloodhounds, just as highly trained horses, have to be broken to the harness and taught to respond to the directions given by the man at the other end of the leash. During the final stages of the training, difficult trails are laid across fields and into the swamps characteristic of the eastern section of the state, and the man being tracked leaves pieces of white paper along the trail so the trainer can be sure the inexperienced dog keeps to the track.

When asked how long it takes to get a bloodhound to trail just as his master would like for him to, Capt. Crawford commented, "I don't reckon a fellow ever would get a dog to track just like he wanted him to do." However, Capt. Crawford explained, a bloodhound that has been put through the proper training can be put on a trail when he is about nine months old and track fairly well. "But a dog's got to be about five years old before he really knows exactly what to do on a trail and you can put a lot of confidence in him."

Dogs Get Calls Day and Night
Calls come to the prison camp practically any hour of the day or night for the dogs to be sent on some mission. Just how many calls he has had since he has been keeping bloodhounds, Capt. Crawford says he can not estimate, but the 10 or 15 dogs he has owned have spent many long hours on the trail.

"If I answered all the calls I get I wouldn't have time to look after the camp or do anything else," he explained as he puffed away at his cigarette. "People would keep me and the dogs busy all the time. There is no charge for using the dogs, but Capt. Crawford says 'sometimes folks give me a little money for putting the dogs on a trail.'"

Although Frank and Mack usually track separately instead of together, between the two of them they have a record of which any two dogs and their owner can justly boast.

The oldest trail the dogs have been called on to work out was the faint scene left by a five-year-old Negro boy who wandered away from his home into a swamp in Tyrrell county a few years ago. Although the trail was more than 27 hours old when Frank and Mack took up the search, they worked out the direction in which the child had gone, and in a few hours came upon the child about five miles in the swamp.

In spite of the fact that the dogs have not been called on to stay on one trail for more than six to eight hours at a time, Capt. Crawford and his helper, Fillingane, readily agree that several hours behind a tugging dog is quite a workout for any man.

Captured Columbia Bank Robbers
Only last fall Frank and Mack were the unsung heroes in the capture of six of the daring robbers who staged the hold-up at the Columbia bank and made off with a large amount of money.

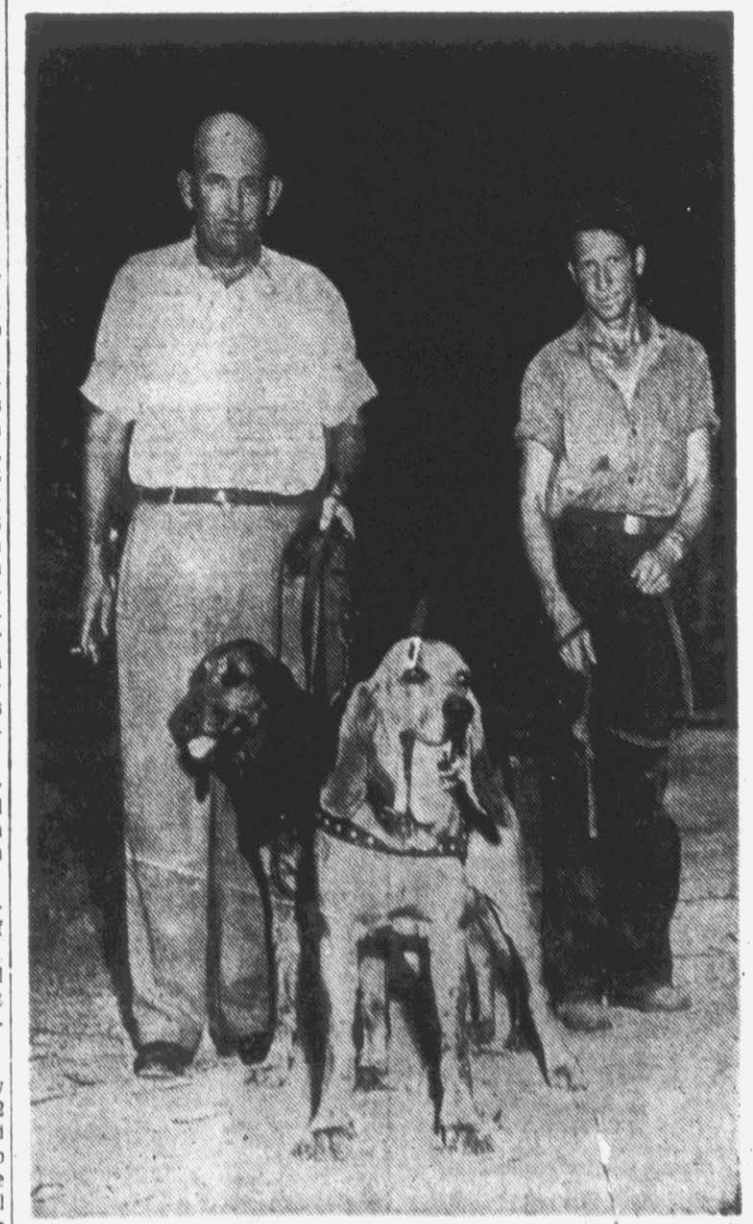

The dogs from the Pitt county camp were called to the scene and put on the trail where the robbers left their car and fled into the woods. The dogs took up the trail and within a few hours led the policemen and highway patrolmen to the brush in which the fugitives were hiding with their suitcase filled with $60,000 of the bank's money. The bank robbers and the officers exchanged a few shots, but the fugitives were taken without anyone being wounded.

In relating the incident, Capt. Crawford shook his head and remarked, "Those bills in that suitcase were the most money I've ever seen in my life."

Several years ago when four Negro prisoners broke away from the state prison farm in Halifax county taking with them a sub-machine gun and four pump-guns, the dogs from the Pitt county camp were called for the chase. The dogs led the officers to three of the convicts who surrendered without a struggle, and then led the officers to the fourth escapee who elected to shoot it out with the officers and was killed in the gun battle.

Big assignments come to the dogs and to the runners on comparatively few occasions, but the routine matters which call the dogs to the trail several times each week are important in the law enforcement work, and vital to the efficient operation of the police, patrolmen and county officers. During the past two weeks, Capt. Crawford said, his dogs have been called on unusually large number of times to run escaped convicts in Pitt, Onslow, Jones, Edgecombe and Lenoir counties.

With Frank and Mack, it's all the same, whether they are tracking a lost child or chasing a fugitive from justice. They are eager to get underway, hard to keep up with, and usually bring the officers to the person they are looking for at the end of the trail.

Capt. Paul Crawford (left), superintendent of the state prison farm in Pitt county, and Harvey Fillingane hold to the leashes of the bloodhounds Frank and Mack which play an important part in law enforcement in eastern North Carolina. The dogs have been called on to trail fugitives in almost every county in the eastern part of the state between Elizabeth City and Southport. They were instrumental in the capture of six of the daring robbers who last fall held up the Columbia bank. (Daily Reflector photo)

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE CHRISTIAN WAY
The Chinese government some years ago gave orders that all opium addicts found after a certain date were to be executed. Just today, in planning through an old copy of the life of Li Hung Chang, the famous Chinese statesman of a generation ago, I came across a notation in his diary in which he said that in fulfillment of his orders, twelve hundred addicts had been decapitated the day before. He also remarked casually that he had just given orders for a Chinese officer to be put to death by being cut to bits because he had sold opium to the soldiers. Incidentally he remarked that General Gordon, the well-known Christian soldier, whose life was an inspiration to so many, flew into a rage over the whole situation and denounced Li unmercifully.

And well he might, for Gordon represented the Christian way of handling an evil rather than the pagan way. It was old John Woolman, the Quaker, who on one occasion prayed that he might be baptized into a living sense of all human conditions. Christianity does just that thing. It makes men conscious of the poignant suffering, the sin, the misery of human life.

Christ is the answer to the world's sin—not wholesale slaying, not cruel punishment, but Christ.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
SURPRISES—Most folks around Capitol square think Governor Scott still has in store that big surprise he mentioned the night of the road bond election. The idea prevails that the series of mild shocks which the governor has been giving state employees is a sort of conditioning process getting them ready for the big one. The movement inaugurated by the governor to stop what he calls petty graft at state expense occasioned a ripple of interest. The stop-order to the state auditor directing him not to pay the salary or honor expense vouchers after July 26th for Harris Sample, director of probation, shocked Capitol square folks.

AUTHORITY—Immediate question was raised as to the governor's authority to enforce that order. The law says the director shall be elected by the probate commission, with approval of the governor, and his salary is fixed by the governor and council of state. The commission could not employ a director without the governor's approval, but there is some question whether the governor can arbitrarily fire the director without commission assent. There is also legal question as to whether the governor, without concurrence of the council of state, can stop or fix the director's salary.

EXTRAORDINARY—Action of the governor in this case has no parallel in state history, so there is no precedent as guide for further action. The governor and several members of the council of state were out of the city and those here declined to comment. Sample said he had nothing to say on the subject. Prevailing opinion around the Capitol Friday was that the governor's authority would not be contested, although a few people thought it might be a good idea to have the question determined as basis for future proceedings.

UNTOUCHABLE—Governor Scott was explaining to newsmen his plans to cut out some of the petty pilfering and sponging which he had been told was going on among state employees. He mentioned specifically the practice of employees in other departments stopping by prison camps to eat a free meal, and the alleged abuse of night time eating at central prison. One reporter asked if his plan included stopping the legislature from going to the prison to eat once in awhile. "No," replied the governor, "I'm not going to try to stop the legislature. I can't do anything about that." Another reporter suggested that the governor's main trouble had apparently been to get the legislature started, rather than stopped. His excellency just chuckled but declined to comment.

TAR HEELS—One hundred and fifty four members of the 1949 general assembly were native Tar Heels. Sixteen members—13 representatives and three senators—were born outside the state. The North Carolina Manual, off the press last week, shows out-of-state origin of legislators as follows: Senators—Tennessee two and Virginia one; Representatives—South Carolina seven, Georgia two, Kentucky, Texas, Arkansas and Washington, state ones

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Somebody Asked Me to write a column on people who borrow books and never return them. It seems to me that the first consideration is the seriousness of such a practice. Admittedly, most people read a book only once, and therefore the value of the book, after it is read, lies in the opportunity to lend it out for someone else's enjoyment. Of course the book goes out of circulation when one person freezes it on his shelf.

If the truth were known, it would probably be told that some of us borrow books, never get around to reading them, and then are ashamed to return them unread after so long a time. This type of person expects to get around to reading the book any day, but never gets there.

There is no doubt that some of us like to give the impression that we are better readers than we are. When a particular author is brought into a discussion we like to expound on our impressions of his various works. The first thing we know someone in the conversation proudly reports that he has a new book by so-and-so; would you like to read it? Regardless of his genuine interest, Mr. Informer is caught and has to take the book. Many a book has gone out of circulation that way. The greatest category, however, is the group who see a new book on a friend's shelf and point on it.

What is the solution? The person who inspired this column has an idea. Since she has forgotten who the borrowers of her various books are, she mentioned putting a notice in the paper stating that she would not be at home on a particular afternoon between the hours of 5:00 and 8:00. During these hours, this notice would say, all of her books may be returned to her house with no questions asked.

Of course the catch is this: who would ever believe that she really had forgotten them, and how many would suspect that she was hiding behind a bush watching them return the books?

Well, maybe the idea isn't so hot, but any effort to get frozen books back in circulation is a step in the right direction.

Overheard in Greenville: There are so many sinners standing in line down at the ABC store that it's almost impossible for a good Christian man to get a bottle.

As the infantile paralysis season advances, health officials are watching weekly reports of new cases. Since the third week in March, the low point of the "polio year," 1949 has looked worse nationally than the epidemic year of 1948—2,273 cases vs. 2,020. The worst epidemic is in Texas, with 715 cases since mid-March and new ones still being reported at a rate of more than 100 a week.

But the experts are not yet alarmed. More cases are being reported each week, but the rate of increase has dropped.

And I thank you.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—In 1947, when prices soared to 10 times what they were before the war, housewives of Batavia, Dutch East Indies, organized to combat the evil. Back of the organization, known as the Housewives Protective Association, was an attractive little Javanese woman, the wife of Abdul Kadir, vice chairman of the Netherlands Delegation to the United Nations.

The name Abdul Kadir means: "Servant of the Almighty," and her own name, Sri Moelst, Madame Kadir told me on a visit, means "Lovely Flame." "Life became very difficult for the housewife at that time," Mme. Kadir said. "So the women set up cooperative shops where members of the association could get tinned and packaged items and other articles at prices ranging from 30 to 40 per cent lower than in ordinary shops. Vegetables and meats were under government controls."

Most of the 17 shops established by the association were operated in the homes of members because of the housing shortage. In Batavia there had been much destruction and no re-building, Mme. Kadir explained.

The association, which began with some 400 members, has grown to 3,500 of many nationalities and standing, including some American women, and housewives are joining the group in increasing numbers. Mme. Kadir, now honorary chairman, says that apart from the shops the organization started three baby health centers. In each center there is a woman doctor and a nurse.

The association provides courses for young women on homemaking and cultural subjects. It bought sewing machines and other household gadgets difficult to obtain, and it rents these at small charges to members. Cooking courses are being conducted in the homes of various members.

The women are interested in learning Western cookery. This is taught by some of the American members. In Batavia the popular native menu called "Ragstafel," or rice dinner, is composed of rice served with many different dishes made from chicken, meat, shrimp or vegetables and served with hot pepper sauces.

While the men of Batavia have adopted the European dress, discarding the skirt and turban, the women are still wearing their picturesque native garb.

Patrol Captains In Major Shift

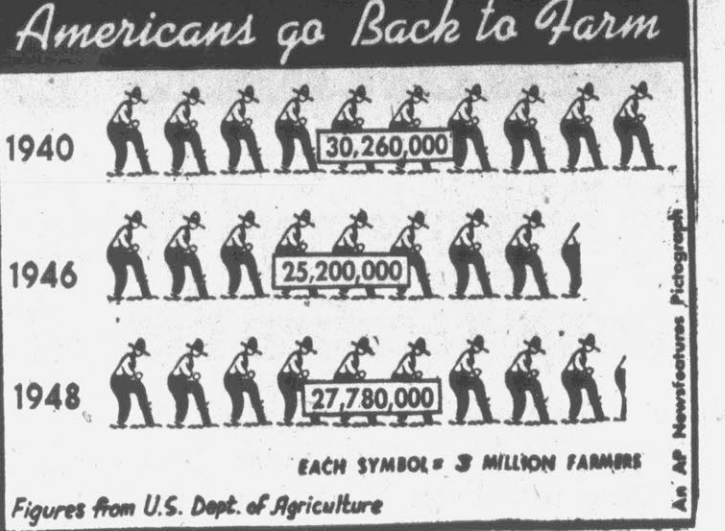

Raleigh, N. C., July 16—(AP)—North Carolina's four highway patrol troop captains will transfer to new districts before the end of the year.

The wholesale shift, the first in the patrol's 20-year history, was announced yesterday by Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar.

Under the shift, Capt. Lester Jones, Troop A commander with headquarters at Greenville, will transfer to Fayetteville and command Troop B; Capt. D. T. Lambert, Troop C commander at Greensboro, will go to Greenville; Capt. C. A. Speed, Troop B commander, to Asheville to command Troop D; and Capt. W. B. Lantz, Troop D commander, to Greensboro as Troop C commander.

Tolar said the changes will be effective "sometime between now and the first of the year." He declared the shifts were made along "the governor's line that a change is good for everybody." The changes were not made, Tolar said, at the direction of the governor.

Leaf Crop Over 10-Year Average

Raleigh, N. C., July 16—(P)—The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service estimated yesterday that the state's 1949 flue-cured tobacco crop will hit 778,050,000 pounds.

The 1948 crop totaled 739,380,000 pounds, about five per cent lower, and this year's estimate is about 15 per cent greater than the 10-year average.

The state's burley tobacco crop was estimated at 18,260,000 pounds, compared with 17,804,000 pounds last year.

July 1 prospects, the report said, indicated average yields of 1,235 pounds an acre, second only to last year's record of 1,245 pounds an acre. The total estimated acreage of flue-cured types in the state was placed at 630,000 acres, six per cent under the 10-year average.

THE JOHNSONS OF CHURCHVILLE

Just a typical American family, living in a typical American town:

Mr. Johnson had to climb the ladder of success the hard way—but he kept on climbing.

Mrs. Johnson smiled her way to happiness — smiling through weariness, smiling even through tears.

Marian's life seemed to blossom overnight from dolls to dates, and with the blossoming came a beauty that is more than skin deep.

And little "Chip," for all of the mischief in his merry eyes, shows promise of the same honest courage that folks admire in "the old block."

A certain church—one of the churches for which their town was named—has been mighty dear to the hearts of the Johnsons all these years. Their loyalty, their energy, their unselfish generosity have helped to make it "a fine church."

And that church, through the God-given truth it is teaching, has helped make the Johnsons "fine people."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Greenies Divide Two With New Bern By 12-7 And 0-5

Hitting Spree In First Game Includes Two Homers For Locals; Greenies Start Three Game Series With Leafs Here Tonight

By BERT MOYE

The Greenville Greenies and the New Bern Bears split their twin bill in New Bern last night with the Greenies taking the opening game, 12 to 7, and the Bears coming back to shut out the Greenies, 5 to 0, in the nightcap.

First Game

In the first game, the Greenies went on a hitting spree to connect with 16 hits off two New Bern hurlers, including homers by Sid Varney and Pappy Williams, to take a one-sided contest by the score of 12 to 7. The game was begun in the fourth inning as the conclusion to a rained out contest between the two clubs on July 3rd.

The Greenies gained an early lead by running up a 7 to 1 lead in the first five frames as they pounded Neil Lefler for an even dozen hits to send him to the showers after six frames on the mound. Joe Anthony, a catcher, went in and pitched the remaining four frames.

Two runs in the sixth inning gave Greenville their winning margin. Steve Denier and John Tepedino walked on a fielder's choice. A long fly to left field by Sid Varney scored Denier and Williams' single scored Tepedino with the second run.

Art Mascarella, registering his sixth win of the season, pitched the first seven and two-third frames, but had to have help from Don Purdy in the last innings.

The two hurlers gave up a total of 16 hits with Bevil collecting a double and two singles in five trips to the plate to lead the Bears' attack.

Pappy Williams with a homer and two singles and John Tepedino with a double and two singles and Sid Varney with a homer and a single led the 16-hit attack off the two New Bern hurlers.

Second Game

In the second game, the Bears' outfielder, Roy Kennedy, literally "stole" the second game as it was his run in the first frame that was enough for the win. Kennedy reached first on a single, stole second, stole third and then on a double steal play stole home.

Ted Weygant, pitching for the Bears, registered his third win against the Greenies and his second shutout of the season against Greenville. The Bears now have won nine contests from the Greenies as against six losses.

The Bears' scoring was all done with singletons being scored in the first and last four frames.

Jim Lewey, starting hurler for the Greenies, was credited with the loss, his eighth of the season. He has four wins.

Paul Strausser with a double and two singles in four trips to the plate led the eight-hit attack off Weygant.

Roy Kennedy with a double and two singles in four trips to the plate led the 10-hit attack off Lewey and Pappy, Greenville hurlers.

The Greenies open a three-game series with the Rocky Mount Leafs here tonight with a single game starting at 7:45 and on Sunday afternoon journey to Rocky Mount where they play a doubleheader.

Gonzales Needs Win Over Seixas To Play Parker

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Defending champion and first-seeded Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles needs a win today over third-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia to keep the National Clay Courts tennis tournament running true to form.

The week long meet from the start has pointed to a showdown for the crown between Gonzales and veteran Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, No. 2 and aiming for his sixth clay courts diadem.

Parker already has gained the clay courts finals Sunday. He ousted Herbert Flinn, former National junior champion from Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-3, 7-5, 6-3 yesterday.

The other semi-final match between Gonzales and Seixas is on tap today.

Call For Bids On Dump Trucks

Raleigh, July 16—(AP)—The State Highway Commission issued a call for bids yesterday on an estimated $1,000,000 worth of dump trucks.

Only three days earlier the commission sent out advertisements on an estimated $4,000,000 worth of heavy equipment, including loaders, mixers, scrapers, graders and tractors.

The commission has said it wanted to allocate about $5,000,000 of the state's $200,000,000 rural road bond issue for road building equipment.

Volcano Active For Ninth Day

Santa Cruz, La Palma, Canary Islands, July 16—(AP)—Mount Pedra volcano erupted flames and molten lava today for the ninth straight day on this tiny Atlantic island.

Clouds of steam rose high in the air at the spot where the stream of molten lava, 600 yards wide and 20 yards deep, poured into the sea. Several mountain villages have been engulfed in the stream of flaming rock but early evacuation prevented loss of life. Damage so far is estimated at over $2,000,000.

Drug Indicated

Baltimore, July 16—(AP)—A hearing will be held next Tuesday before the Maryland Racing Commission for the owner and trainer of a harness horse which the commission said won at Laurel raceway under the influence of a drug.

Commission Chairman H. Courtenay Jenifer said saliva tests indicated a stimulant had been used on Key Volo 1st Monday night. The six-year-old gelding pacer won the fourth race and paid $43.20 for $2.

The commission ordered H. Harden of Smithfield, N. C., and driver of the horse, and George D. Woodley, its owner, to appear for the hearing.

Pending the outcome of the inquiry, all horses owned or trained by the pair have been banned from the raceway.

Talent Hunt By Cincinnati Reds

Davidson, July 16—Final preparations were completed Friday for the two-day try-out camp the Cincinnati Reds will hold in Edenton, July 18-19.

The talent hunt will be conducted by Red Scouts Norman Sheppard, who is athletic director of Davidson college, and Neal Millard.

The two-day session will be given to the examination by the National League scouts of the diamond talent available in Eastern North Carolina who are interested in signing contracts with a major league club.

Registration will be held at the City Park in Edenton, the scene of the camp.

The gathering sponsored by the Cincinnati group will not be a clinic or school but rather an opportunity for the recent high school graduate, college, semi-pro or amateur player to show his talent to the scouts.

All players will furnish their own uniforms and bear their own travel expenses although all the players signed will have expenses refunded. Registration will begin at the City stadium in Edenton at 10 a. m. July 18 with around 200 boys expected.

-CAPTAIN OF THE KAMRATERNA F.C. SWEDISH AMATEUR SOCCER TEAM, WHICH HAS BEEN TITLED THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

Soccer Stars ... 4 Raps

10 Newsweek 246

While soccer is the main reason for the members of the Kamraterna, F. C. of Göteborg, Sweden, being in America, they have more than a passing interest in the people who reside in the United States and Canada where the team is touring. And it is a safe bet that the soccer-playing brethren in both host nations are more than passively interested in a team coming from a country which won the Olympic soccer crown in London last summer.

Except for the intensity of training and a better basic knowledge of soccer the Kamraterna players have much in common with American and Canadian booters. The Swedish team is composed entirely of amateurs. While they must all work for a living, soccer to the Kamraterna booters is more than just a pastime. They train seriously and the height of success is to be named to the Swedish national team which represents the country in international matches or to be a member of the Olympic team. Kamraterna boasts two members of the latter team in Henry Anderson a fireman by trade and rated Sweden's best goalkeeper, and Rune Emanuelson captain of the team.

The Swedish visitors are interested in meeting the firemen, office workers, mailmen and bricklayers of this country and Canada for discussion of their common interests. Soccer and work in their related fields. The sessions should prove profitable to all concerned.

Czech Net Stars Under Security Police Guard

Gstaad, Switzerland, July 16—(AP)—While security police kept a wary eye on Czechoslovakian diplomats, Tennis Stars Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, who renounced the Communist Czech government, faced each other today in the semifinals of the Swiss championships.

The two gave strict orders to the Swiss that they were not to be contacted for any reason whatsoever by members of the Czech legation—and their wishes apparently were being carried out.

Jan Zelenka, cultural attache of the Czechs, demanded to be taken to their room, but was refused. He then said he wished to talk to them by phone, but the Swiss security police, who were rushed from Bern to protect the athletes, also vetoed that idea.

The actual tournament has been pushed to the background while players and officials speculate on the results of the move. In joint statements, Drobny, a mainstay of the Czech Davis Cup team and a fine hockey player, and Cernik defined they ever were Communists, and said they wished to take refuge in the United States.

The statement came on the heels of orders from Prague for the pair to return home immediately because two Germans and a Spaniard were participating in the tournament.

"We wish to state that we are sportsmen completely devoted to tennis and in no way connected with politics," the statement said. "We therefore have decided to respect Swiss hospitality, and shall play to the end of the championship."

The Lions club showed all its claws last night as it dug into the top-ranking Junior Chamber team for a 2-1 victory. The win moved the Lions into a first place tie in the Civic League softball play; both they and the Jaycees have a season record of three wins and one loss. Both teams played errorless ball and each club made but four hits. The game was limited to five innings because of rain.

Howie Pollet Convincing Fans That Cards Are Pennant-Bound

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Howie Pollet, who peddles insurance for Skipper Eddie Dyer in the winter, is selling many National League fans a pennant policy on the St. Louis Cards.

The slim left-handed pitcher is helping boss Dyer meet his premiums as Card manager with a fine 12-5 record that makes him top winner in the league.

Dyer has been criticized freely for stringing along with his veteran players. Pollet, because he showed nothing in 1947 and only fair stuff last season, was an open target. Eddie never gave up on Howard, who pitched for him back in his old Texas League days at Houston.

Pollet didn't let Dyer down either. his stuff. After four relief jobs he found the old 1946 pennant charm. Back on the starting routine May 14 he edged Pittsburgh and then lost a heart breaker, 2-0 to Brooklyn.

Since that loss to the Dodgers he has been a whiz, winning 11 of 13 including three shutouts over Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Knowing that Brooklyn already had protected its lead by whacking Cincinnati in an afternoon game, 11-5 Pollet took the hill last night in Philadelphia. A win was a must for the Birds.

Pollet and Robin Roberts hooked up in a 0-0 duel just like the one Lanier lost to Ken Heintzelman on Thursday night on a 1-0 score. It went down to the seventh with no hits for either.

Boys' League Baseball

Giants vs. Trojans

The Giants of the Training School continued their winning streak at the expense of the Trojans of W. Greenville. They snowed out the Trojans 25 to 0. The Trojans lost their third game in a row after joining the league but should not be discouraged because these same Giants lost their first four starts in the league before winning a game. The Giants are the hottest team in the league now with W. L. Allen turning back the opposing hitters without any trouble. Allen, an eight year old redhead, allowed the Trojans only one hit and struck out nine. If the Trojans can get their pitching straightened out they will begin to give the opposition trouble. Bro Edwards, Allen's battery mate, led the hitting for the Giants with a triple and three singles. Allen, Baldrice, and Evans got two hits for the Giants. Captain Kelly Barnhill got the Trojans' lone hit and was the most active man in the field.

Cards vs. Wolves

The league leading Cards won over their closest rivals, the Wolves of W. Greenville, yesterday 17 to 8. The Wolves were not up to par in this game and the Cards coasted to victory after running up a big lead in the second and third innings. Harold Edwards with a double and two singles, Dave Nobles with three singles, and R. Averette and Eddie Lee with two singles each, led for the Cards. Charles Pollard with a triple and two singles and J. Barnhill with two singles were the leaders for the Wolves.

Tigers vs. Athletics

The Athletics outlasted and outfielded the Tigers yesterday to win 10 to 7. The A's played steady defensive ball and hit at opportune times while the Tigers were guilty of seven fielding miscues. Richard Joyner with three singles and Virgilus Haymes, Bobby Watson and Jimmy Dillingham with two hits each led for the A's. Lem Pleasant with a double and two singles and Bobby Fly with two singles were the offensive stars for the Tigers.

Dodgers vs. Reds

Yesterday was a "red letter day" for the Dodgers, they won their first game of the season. It was their first win in fourteen starts. These Dodgers are to be congratulated on their fine spirit and their determination in sticking to their guns and battling all the way. In yesterday's game it looked like the same old story until the Dodgers, after trailing all the game, rose up in their final turn at bat to score five runs to win 6 to 3. Roy Taylor and Edgar Moore led the Dodgers at bat with three hits each. Jimmy Hendrix with three singles and Bobby Howell with two singles led for the Wolves.

Schedule for Monday

Braves vs. Athletics, Third St. 9:30 a.m.
Reds vs. Yanks, Training School. 9:30 a.m.
Giants vs. Cubs, Third Street. 9:30 a.m.
Cards vs. Orioles, Training Sch. 2:30 p.m.

Chapter 12
 It was about four o'clock when they arrived at Priscilla's home. The door opened before they rang the bell and Drusie came running out to meet them. Priscilla stooped over and hugged her sister affectionately.

"Pris, I missed you so much. Please don't go away," she begged. "Honey, I'm not going away. I'll see you every day. Here's Kenneth. He's your brother now. Don't you want to kiss him, too?"

Drusie hung her head shyly while Kenneth lifted her, as he had done, and gave her a kiss. They all went inside, where Lorraine congratulated them rather diffidently. As Priscilla looked into her sister's sharp, suspicious eyes, she had a surprising flash of insight. I know what's in her mind, thought Priscilla. She's thinking that Kenneth and I have been having an affair and that we had to get married. Priscilla found herself wishing that she could have remained a child forever. If growing up meant seeing into other people's minds. She wondered whether she would soon be like her father, who understood people too well.

"Mother took Dad to the doctor," said Lorraine before Priscilla could ask where they were. "Dad had a bad spell last night . . . on account of you." Priscilla started as if she had been struck. Her heart ached at this news, but at the same time she had another unwelcome flash of insight. Lorraine's manner told so plainly that she was glad her father had had a bad spell. If Priscilla had been the cause of it. Anything, thought Priscilla, pleases her if it puts me in a poor light.

Without another word to Lorraine, Priscilla motioned Kenneth and Drusie to come with her and went upstairs to collect her belongings. While Kenneth carried down Priscilla's few precious books—most of them gifts from Dennis—Drusie helped pack her sister's clothes in a worn, little suitcase. She brought out the dusting powder—her birthday gift of yesterday—and, despite Priscilla's insistence that she keep it for herself, she placed it in the suitcase. Then no longer able to control herself, she rested her head against her sister's arm and burst into tears. Priscilla consoled her as best she could but only when she promised to come often and give her piano lessons did little Drusie smile again.

"Suppose we go downstairs now and play till Dad comes home," suggested Drusie.

When she and Drusie entered the living room, Lorraine had gone to the kitchen, evidently wishing to avoid seeing Priscilla again. Kenneth was outside, putting Priscilla's things into the car and she took advantage of his absence to sit down at the piano and play Clair de Lune for Drusie. Drusie, under Priscilla's gentle tutelage, had learned to love the classics, but as yet she had not been able to get Kenneth to listen to that kind of music. Whenever she made the attempt, he would grow restive almost immediately.

"Pep it up, Babes," he would say. "Play Darktown Strutter's Ball." She had just about given up on that score.

As the last notes of the beautiful Debussy composition died away Priscilla heard the front door open. Her father and mother entered the room. Mrs. Hayden stood stockstill just inside the living room doorway, but Priscilla's father came over and took her in his arms without a word of reproach.

"Oh, Father," cried Priscilla. She could not say any more for tears.

choked her throat, as she thought of the suffering she had caused him. "Are you all right?"

"Quite," he said, releasing her.

At this point a snort from Mrs. Hayden startled them both. They had been so engrossed in their conversation that they—at least Priscilla—had forgotten about her.

"Happy!" snorted Mrs. Hayden.

Scott On Air

Raleigh, N.C., July 16—(AP)—Governor Scott has scheduled a 15-minute radio address at 6:15 Tuesday night.

It will be his first address over the air since the night of June 4, when it was apparent his $300,000,000 rural road bond election had passed. At the time, Scott promised, "I shall schedule another 'surprise'."

The talk, scheduled over Raleigh's three stations—WNAO, WFTF, and WRAL—probably will reveal his surprise, according to Scott's secretary, Charles Parker.

Since June 4 Scott has repeatedly stated that the surprise would not be as great as speculators would have it.

Los Angeles Consul From Spain Is Frank On Franco

Los Angeles—Los Angeles' first consul from the Franco government in Spain, who once fought on the Communist side but says he now hates Russia, is spreading a new political gospel in Los Angeles.

He is Jose Del Arco, 33, a career diplomat who admittedly is lecturing himself hoarse trying to convert Americans to friendship with Spain.

In the three months since his arrival he has made many speeches, notably to students and faculty groups of the University of Southern California, Loyola University, and the University of California at Los Angeles.

If you were to talk with Del Arco, he first would attempt to justify Franco as a man of expediency. "A leader must do what is necessary to save his country," he says. "Franco saved Spain from the ravages of World War II, and he saved it from Communism."

If you were still unconvinced, Del Arco might drop this thought: "It is wrong to speak of the 'Franco government' as synonymous with Spain. Franco is but a moment in our history. An important moment to be sure, however, because only through him was Spain saved as a nation. Without Franco, Spain would have been absorbed into the Soviet."

In an interview, Del Arco said "there is no question that in the event of war between the United States and Russia, Spain would either remain neutral or seek to join the American side."

But the American people might decide they did not want Franco as an ally. Spain was not invited to sign the Atlantic Pact.

"It might come about that the United States would accept Spain but not Franco," Del Arco concedes. "I do not say this is necessarily what would happen—but legal procedure has already been established for a provisional government to succeed him if Franco should ever resign."

"Look at it this way. You fought Italy, yet Italy is now your friend. You did not fight Spain, but some people in America still regard my government with distrust. Why? There can be only one reason. Italy got rid of Mussolini. And the people of Spain in honest election have retained Franco."

Del Arco, small, dapper and fast talking, resembles a high-pressure salesman more than he does a diplomat. He sees nothing strange in the fact that he, a former soldier in the Communist forces in Spain, has been chosen to represent Franco's government in so large a city as Los Angeles.

"There are 30 or more other loyalists in similar positions around the world," he says.

After the Spanish civil war ended in 1939, Del Arco resumed his studies at the University of Madrid. Graduated with a Ph. D. He passed the diplomatic service examination at the head of his class. In the summer of 1944 he went to New York City as assistant consul. In 1947 he returned to Spain for 15 months before coming to Los Angeles.

The boyhood home of General Dwight D. Eisenhower at Abilene, Kansas was dedicated as a national shrine June 22, 1947.

Marine Reserve Air Units Open Big Maneuvers

Cherry Point, N. C., July 16—(P)—More than 2,000 members and 300 planes of the Marine Air Reserve moved into Cherry Point today for large scale maneuvers.

The men and planes came from 16 squadrons east of the Mississippi. Their arrival today opened two weeks of training which will see the Reserve flying hundreds of missions in close support of Marine ground force in amphibious assault operations.

Fourteen of the squadrons are fighting units. The two others are ground control and intercept squadrons.

Brig. Gen. William O. Brice, Commander of the Marine Air Reserve command, is in charge of the maneuvers.

Squadrons come from Akron and Columbus, Ohio; Atlanta, Miami and Jacksonville, Fla.; Glenview, Ill.; New York; Norfolk, Va.; Squantum, Mass.; Washington, Detroit and Philadelphia.

London Dockers Ignore Canadian Union's Appeal

London, July 16—(P)—Despite appeals from Canadian union leaders, a Canadian seamen's dispute paralyzed London's waterfront for the 20th day today.

London Longshoremen have boycotted two Canadian ships involved in a jurisdictional fight between Canadian unions. The dockers' boycott spread to other vessels and imperiled Britain's import of vital goods and export of the material she needs to sell.

Prime Minister Attlee received a telegram yesterday from 16 Canadian trade union leaders declaring transportation unions in Canada are not supporting the strike. The attitude of the London dockers, the telegram said, appears to be based on "misinformation and Communist propaganda."

In the meantime British troops continued to load and unload ships.

Fire Company Is At Annual Meet

Greenville's Rough and Ready Fire Company attended the fifty-ninth annual session of the North Carolina Volunteer Fire Association which was held in Warrenton July 12-14.

The Greenville company won the 100 yards reel race, with a first prize of $30 in twenty and three-quarters seconds; the auto truck race, 100 yards, with a first prize of $25 in sixteen and three-quarters seconds; the 100 yards foot race was won by Joe Lee Joyner of the Greenville company with a first prize of $10. Joyner was running against eight men from Greenville, Warrenton, Wilson and Wake Forest.

In the 100 yards reel race for the championship belt, Wilson won in 19 seconds; Greenville 23 seconds; Warrenton 23 seconds.

The Greenville company won the championship belt for 12 consecutive years, lost it in 1947, won it back at last year's convention, and were defending champions at this year's convention in Warrenton.

Hague Objects To 'Life Story'

Newark, N.J., July 16—(AP)—The Newark Evening News said today it had received a 461-word telegram from Frank Hague asking that it abandon its scheduled series of stories on his life.

"This is to advise you that I strenuously object to your contemplated action, and I demand that you abandon it," the News quoted the Jersey City political leader as saying in his telegram.

The new series on the life of the Democratic national vice chairman start in tomorrow's editions, the Newark News announced. It will be entitled "Frank Hague, Last of the Bosses."

New ABC Regulations To Affect Beer Dealers

Raleigh, July 16—(AP)—Another batch of regulations affecting retail and wholesale beer dealers was handed down yesterday by the State ABC Board.

C. A. Upchurch, Jr., director of the Malt Beverage Division of the board, said the regulations will go into effect as soon as those involved can be notified.

The new rules are:

No allowance shall be made by any brewer or distributor to any retailer on account of chipped or broken bottles.

Distributors and wholesalers shall not sell beer or ale on credit. All transactions shall be in cash.

No distributor or wholesaler shall enter into any agreement to hold any checks.

No sales to be made to anyone not possessing a beer permit issued by the ABC Board through the Malt Beverage Division.

No platform deliveries will be permitted except to persons known to be licensed retail dealers and holders of ABC retail malt beverage permits. (This means private citizens cannot buy beer or ale by the case from distributors.)

Wholesale route salesmen caught violating ABC Board regulations as to beer or ale will be subject to revocation of their salesmen's license.

No distributor or brewery representative is to make gifts of money or other thing of value to retailers or retail employees.

New York's Bus Strike May Be Extended Soon

New York, July 16—(AP)—New York City's giant network of bus lines, already severely crippled, faces the threat of a greatly widened strike next week.

With bus service of some 1,125,000 daily riders now shut down, the CIO Transport Workers Union made plans for possible extension of the strike to lines used by 1,800,000 more passengers.

This would tie up virtually all privately operated bus transportation in the metropolis, halting bus service on a total of 106 routes and affecting nearly 3,000,000 riders a day.

Cut off from their usual means of transportation, patrons of the struck lines rode subways, taxicabs or got to work afoot.

Subway lines, although operating on speeded-up schedules, don't duplicate the bus routes in many cases, and therefore could not serve as substitute transportation for many riders.

Numerous New Yorkers began using their own automobiles for getting about the city.

The swelling bus strike started unexpectedly early Thursday as a protest against the lay off of four Omnibus Corp. mechanics for allegedly refusing to accept new company work schedules.

But the stoppage now has developed into a full-fledged union battle for new contract concessions including a 21-cent hourly wage boost, a 40 instead of a 48-hour work week, and improved pensions. Present wages on the struck lines average $1.50 an hour.

Evacuate Area To Remove Bomb

the report that the cucumber under contract were diseased. Local farmers, however, in last night's meeting told the state officials that the cucumbers from the same fields were bought by other cucumber buyers after the Basnight company stopped purchasing. Several farmers told the state agents they had carried the same cucumbers which Basnight had not purchased to Robertsonville where they were accepted at $5, $3 and 70, top market prices.

Wescott took from the local farmers information about the acres of cucumbers affected, and the yield so far this year, and said the information will be taken back to Raleigh where it will be considered by agricultural department officials.

Wescott also told the growers that a representative from the agricultural department will come to the county to make an inspection of the crop to see what diseases are present in the cucumbers.

Smith said today he does not know whether another meeting on the matter will be called by the farmers.

During the meeting Pitt county agent S. C. Winchester urged the farmers to make careful planning in setting out next year's cucumber crop, and stressed the need for using disease control methods recommended by the state agricultural extension service.

of the country's greatest authorities on Business Economics has some ideas on this question.

He is reported to have estimated that the Industrial Index of the Federal Reserve Board will go off about 25 per cent below the peak of 1948 and that about 8 to 10 per cent of this decline has already taken place leaving only about 15 per cent or more to go. Let us hope he is correct as other authorities believe this Industrial Index will go off 50 per cent which means we may have 40 per cent more to decline.

How To Look

Let us look forward instead of backward; upward instead of downward; outward instead of inward. Think of the great unfilled orders today for more automobiles, more roads, more houses, more bathrooms and especially more household electrical appliances. This latter demand is especially evident from the budgets which the public utility systems have for the next few years. The electric power companies alone tell me that, unless some catastrophe like war should happen, there will be a doubling of the next ten years. This will require new great power plants as well as new wire, poles and millions of new motors and appliances of all kinds. Certainly, this is no time for those of good character and education to worry about unemployment. Such persons can, if necessary, create new jobs for themselves.

Fact-Finding . . .

The three fact-finders, outsiders in the dispute, are supposed to be impartial. And in this dispute they're really representing the public.

So if they suggest that one side or the other should do something, there'll be strong public opinion against the side which refuses.

And neither side would be eager to be accused in the public mind of causing a strike which might hurt the nation.

To find out whether the workers have justice on their side, the fact-finders will have to examine their demands.

And to find out whether the companies have justice on their side in refusing to grant the workers' demands, the fact-finders will have to dig into the companies' profits, costs and so on.

Both sides, since they'll want to put their best face before the public, probably will cooperate pretty well.
