Senators Offer Armed Services Economy Advice

Detailed List Of Hints And Directives Intended To Save Millions

Washington, July 21—(AP)—A Senate committee report laid down some detailed advice to the Armed Services today on how to save millions of dollars.

Fewer flying hours for air force and navy pilots assigned to desk jobs could save $50,000,000 or perhaps more, the report said.

It also asked removal of extra cadets from jeeps and trucks and questioned spending $150,000 apiece for a new type 8-ton truck. It also expressed some doubts about a $238,000 gun.

The list of economy hints and directives back up the senate appropriations committee's drive to slash $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 previously approved by the house. This covers army, navy and Air Force costs for the fiscal year that began July 1.

A copy of the detailed report was made available to a reporter before chairman Elmer Thomas filed it with the Senate.

Thomas called the full appropriations committee back into closed session today in hopes of saving another $600,000,000 to $626,000,000.

The hitherto confidential committee report outlined these particular targets for economy:

1. Reductions in the flying time required for "administrative and proficiency flying by the Air Force and Navy" especially for flying officers on desk jobs. It complained that Air Force "desk pilots" used large two-motored aircraft that cost from $80 to $100 an hour to operate. It suggested smaller planes be used and that two pilots take training time together with an estimated savings "of between $20,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year."

2. A cutback in flying time for guard and reserve officers of the Air Force now listed for 126 and 100 hours each year. Navy Reserve pilots train on 80 hours a year. The Senate was told, with an estimate that if the Air Force did the same "the saving would be in the order of $25,000,000."

3. The large numbers of navy shore stations and army posts. Secretary of Defense Johnson was advised to get rid of inactive or partially active installations.

4. Use of "heavy military-type vehicles for light pick-up operations" was criticized. The report suggested too that post exchanges and commissary stores pay all their costs and that military personnel working in them be assigned other duties.

5. A proposal to spend $77,000,000 on a new type of "sky-sweeper" anti-aircraft guns by the Army Ordnance bureau. Because each gun costs $238,000, Senators suggested additional tests.

6. The committee said it "agreed with the house that jeeps and trucks have too many gadgets and directs the Army bureau or Ordnance to remove superfluous items."

Urges Civilians To Turn In Arms

Guatemala, Guatemala, July 21—(AP)—President Juan Jose Arvalo's Regime today urged civilians who fought for the government in this week's brief revolt to turn in their arms lest violence flare again.

Officials had voiced fear that some 1,000 troops and civilians, brought into the capital when fighting broke out Monday, might stir trouble. Latest reports, however, said police had everything in hand.

Drawing Conclusions Intensified Speculation As To Who Has Secret Of Atomic Bomb; Know-How As Compared With Industrial Ability; Our Safety Lies In Production Power

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

It would be easy to draw false and dangerous conclusions by indulging in speculation about the top-level secret talks being held in Washington on atomic dealings with Britain and Canada.

Are our British friends seeking some boon? Are we so far ahead of them now in atomic developments that they need a report on progress to bring them up to date? Do the uranium mines in the Belgian Congo, said to be controlled by British interests, enter into the picture, inasmuch as Uncle Sam has been getting supplies there?

So the queries go, and inevitably they have intensified speculation in the public mind as to whether Britain has the full secret of the atomic bomb and, more to the point, whether Russia has it. In short, is America still the sole possessor of this terrible knowledge?

There is wide-spread belief among scientific observers that both Britain and Russia must have at least the theoretical knowledge, as distinguished from the industrial knowledge, of how to make the bomb. One of these experts is my colleague Howard Blakeslee, AP science editor, who has made an exhaustive study of the subject and was present at the historic Bikini tests of the atomic bomb.

America's protection at this time, as Blakeslee points out, doesn't lie in exclusive secrets as to how an atomic bomb can be constructed.

Sure England has the know-how, and so does Russia. As a matter of fact many experts say Britain was ahead of America in experiments with nuclear fission when the war came. And since British scientists helped in designing the first atomic bomb, they aren't likely to have forgotten what they learned. Blakeslee goes even further, for he remarked to me:

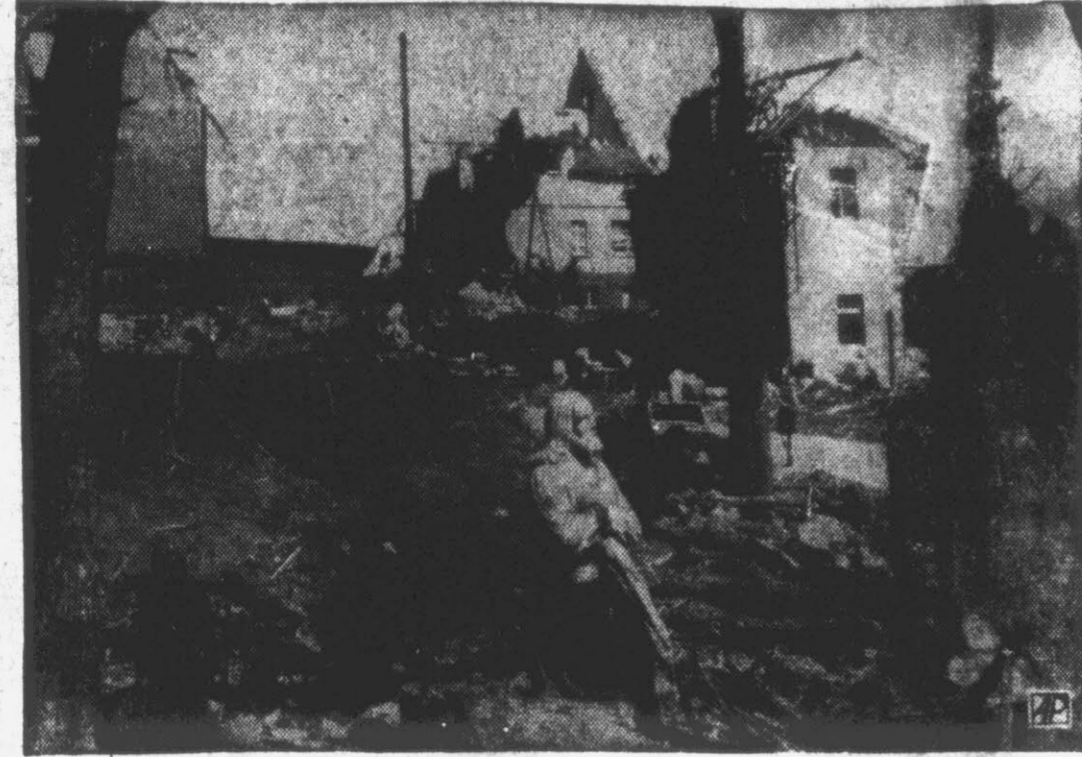

"Considering the high quality of British science, and the fact that they were the largest contributors in developments that produced this bomb, it is entirely possible that the British are actually ahead of the United States in knowledge of how to make better bombs."

As for Russia, at the end of the war she had full access to the studies of German scientists who claimed to have solved the problem of nuclear fission, though they had no industrial equipment with which to manufacture bombs. Communist spies also have been busy since the war seeking information in Britain, Canada and America.

No, our protection doesn't lie in possessing sole knowledge of atomic bomb structure. It lies in the fact that foreign nations, as did Hitlerian Germany, lack the industrial facilities and industrial knowledge for the manufacture of atomic bombs.

The way Blakeslee puts it, the building of the Panama Canal was in exclusive secrets as to how an atomic bomb can be constructed.

Christ's Statue Survives In Blast-Torn Town

A statue of Christ, virtually undamaged, is surrounded by wreckage from an explosion that rocked the town of Pruem, Germany. Three hundred and fifty tons of dynamite blew up. Fourteen persons were killed, 29 injured seriously and 1,000 of Pruem's 6,000 residents were left homeless. The dynamite was to have been used to demolish Adolf Hitler's Westwall, the "Magnet Line" of Nazi Germany. Cause of the explosion is unknown. (AP Wirephoto).

Agriculture Department Sees 'Rather Strong' Tobacco Market

Official Says Cut In Proposed Purchases By Britain To Have Little Real Effect

Washington, July 21—(AP)—A Department of Agriculture official said today a "rather strong" market is expected for tobacco producers.

The feeling within the department, Steve Wrather, the tobacco branch told a reporter, is that the sharp cut in proposed British purchases of American-grown leaf "will not be disturbing."

He referred to the recent British move to buy only $60,000,000 instead of $110,000,000 of leaf from the dollar countries.

The bulk of Great Britain's tobacco imports is supplied by the free-cured regions of the American tobacco belt.

"Despite the British action," said Wrather, "we feel we will have a rather strong market."

He said the domestic situation is "good," noting that cigarette production "is on the upgrade and we expect it to remain on a high level."

Reports during the coming year, he added, "should exceed those of the past 12 months."

"We took 106 million pounds of tobacco under price support loans last year," he said, "and we'll probably take about the same quantity this year."

The department recently posted a support price of 42.5 cents a pound for free-cured tobacco. This figure represented a decline of one and four-tenths cents from the support price of last year.

"The support price in 1948," said Wrather, "was 43.9 cents and the average market price was 40.6 cents. With that we expect no difficulties."

Last year there were 1,061,000,000 pounds of free-cured leaf produced. And the July 1 estimate for the new crop was 1,155,000,000 pounds.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC) and Sen. or Chapman (D-Ky.), whose views usually reflect the thinking of the tobacco belt in Congress, echoed the estimate of Wrather.

Cooley said it was unfortunate the British position was not known earlier.

"On the basis of the best information available," he said, the Department of Agriculture increased tobacco acreage under the quota system by five percent.

"If we had known that British purchases were going to be curtailed as much as they are, we probably wouldn't have boosted our acreage."

"We will have to make adjustments in our 1950 quotas to take care of any surplus we get this year because of the British decision. It's a good thing we have the system."

"Even though the British purchases in dollars won't be as high as we hoped, they still will be greater than they were last year."

He said Britain bought only $76,000,000 worth of tobacco last year. "The British cut won't affect the burley producers," he said, "because only a negligible amount of that leaf is ever used over there."

Some of the close students of tobacco marketing see a possibility that while the United Kingdom cuts down its dollar purchases it won't necessarily have to cut its poundage.

It is explained that the British confronted with consumer demands to maintain quantity, might well lower the quality of its manufactured tobacco.

A TRAVELING HOME London, July 21—(AP)—This is a bird in (not on) the wing.

An Airliner, returned from a roundtrip to Corsica, developed a swifter. Mechanics opened a wing and discovered a bird had built a nest inside.

Hoy is chairman of a Senate expenditures subcommittee which is completing plans for a public inquiry into allegations of the use of influence in the awarding of government contracts.

The term "five percenters" has been applied to persons who help manufacturers get government contracts for a fee. There have been charges that some of those persons have claimed influence with government officials.

The subcommittee's preliminary investigation already has resulted in the suspension of Maj. Gen. Alden H. Wait, chief of the Army's Chemical Corps, and Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general.

Vaughan has said he knows "about 300 persons in Washington" in contract operations. As a result, Rep. Shafer (R-Mich) has called on Mr. Truman to suspend Vaughan. And Senator Mundt (R-SD) has demanded that Vaughan be required to tell the Senate subcommittee "whether he was just wind-jamming, or actually knows something" about "five percenters." Mundt is a member of the subcommittee.

Hoy declined to comment on Mundt's demand, but he told a reporter:

"If anything shows up in our preliminary investigation which indicates that General Vaughan could contribute any information that would be useful to us, we will of course invite him to testify."

Alabama Steps Up War On Mobs

Special Session For Grand Jury Ordered Tomorrow

Birmingham, Ala., July 21—(AP)—High handed lawlessness by night prowling mobs has spurred Alabama crime fighters to increase the tempo of their war on hooded gangsters.

A grand jury was ordered into special session tomorrow to search further into hoodlums, base burnings and threats by mobs.

And State Attorney General Albert Carmichael singled out the federated Ku Klux Klans, Inc. for a legal attack in court.

The new anti-mob campaigns by law agencies came simultaneously with reports of two more mob floppings and disagreement between two top-level Klan officers.

A white man revealed yesterday he and a Negro were taken out Tuesday night by an armed mob, tied to a tree and lashed with a sawmill belt.

Dolph Bailey, 25, said none of the attackers wore masks. He also said they were not Klansmen, adding: "It's a member of the Klan myself."

The attack occurred near Goodwater, about 70 miles southeast of Birmingham.

Committee OK's Low Bids On 3 Trucks For City

The street committee of the Greenville board of aldermen this morning accepted the John Flanagan Buggy company bid for a one and one-half ton truck, and the Scott Motor Sales bid for two one-half ton pick-up trucks for the city.

In a meeting Tuesday morning the aldermen received bids from 11 automobiles and truck dealers for two police cars and three trucks. The aldermen accepted the John Flanagan Buggy company bid on the police cars, and referred the purchasing of the trucks to the street committee which analyzed the bids.

Mayor W. S. Stafford said this afternoon the one and one-half ton truck and one of the pick-up trucks will be assigned to the street department, and the other pick-up truck will be used by the cemetery department of the city.

"We don't have any doubt that this is perfectly legal," he added. He said Attorney General Harry McMullan has ruled that money from the bond issue can be used for equipment.

The law which authorized the bonds, subject to a vote of the people, provided a schedule of distribution to the 100 counties of 90 per cent of the money.

The remaining 10 per cent will go into an equalization fund. From this, McMullan said he believes, the highway commission can temporarily borrow money for equipment.

The commission, Dr. Jordan said, feels that money either from the 90 per cent fund or the equalization fund can be used to buy equipment for a program of stabilization of secondary roads.

In either case, he added, the equipment will be rented to counties with rental costs credited back to the proper funds.

The highway commission has asked the Governor and Council of state to issue $50,000,000 of the bonds, with $5,000,000 earmarked for purchase of equipment. The council has not yet acted in the matter.

Why The Hush-Hush? Atomic Bomb Policy Talks Have Been Pretty Well Kept Secret, But It's Fairly Established It Has To Do With Sharing Know-How; Britain And Canada Know

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Britain and Canada know how to make an atom bomb. Neither has made one. Canada doesn't want to. Britain does. The only one either could make is the old-fashioned, 1945 model.

Neither knows how to make the up-to-date kind that we can turn out now. We've left them behind because this country hasn't shared with them the information on making the most recent model.

The highest government officials here have been having hush-hush talks. From what newsmen can learn those talks are about giving more atomic information to our two wartime allies.

But there's a bit of a mystery in why those talks are occurring at all at this time. Canada says it hasn't done anything to bring on the talks. And an informed Briton here says his country hasn't asked for any information recently. This is the background:

During the war this country, Britain and Canada cooperated in making in the United States the bombs that were dropped on Japan. They shared information then.

Then the sharing stopped—full sharing did—in 1946 when Congress passed the atomic energy act. This act said our government no longer could give any nation—this included Britain and Canada—our most secret information on bomb-making. So, since then, those two countries have received some information from us but have been shut off from the most secret stuff. Now comes a question how do we know Canada and Britain know how to make a bomb but not the 1945 model?

Robert F. Bacher, former member of the atomic energy commission and physicist who worked on the first atom bomb during the war, told a Congressional committee on July 7 that the wartime cooperation between the U. S., Britain and Canada was quite complete.

He said Britain knows how to make the bomb and is getting ready to make one. But he pointed out that there are long steps between getting ready to make a bomb, then making the first one, then turning them out in quantity.

Since the British haven't been in on the most recent knowledge of bomb-making, they'd have to start with the knowledge they had when we drew the curtain on them in 1946, or what additional knowledge they have gained in their own work.

But who says we have a 1949 model different from the 1945 one? This statement also was made July 7 before a Congressional committee by Brigadier General James McCormack, one of the top officials of the atomic energy commission.

Probers Name 2 Atom Scientists As Former Reds

Pair Said Members Of Wartime Communist Cell; Continuing Inquiry

Washington, July 21—(AP)—House spy probers named two atomic scientists today as members of a wartime Communist cell at a west coast laboratory. They said they still are tracking down others.

The house un-American activities committee put the finger on Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz and David Bohm as members of a cell at the radiation laboratory at the University of California at Berkeley.

It did so in an official document that reproduced, with a foreword, last month's hearings on Communist Steve Nelson, Communist party organizer in the San Francisco Bay area in the early 1940's and now operating in western Pennsylvania.

Lomanitz until recently was a professor at Flak University at Nashville. Bohm is a physics professor at Princeton University.

The committee said that the Soviet government first tried to use Nelson's acquaintance with "one of the leading physicists engaged in the development of the atomic bomb" for infiltrating the Berkeley laboratory. This physicist was not named.

The committee said an investigation cleared the scientist and his wife of any subversive activities and said their loyalty never has been questioned by the government.

But under Nelson's guidance, the committee said, a cell of five or six young physicists was developed in the laboratory.

"According to a sworn statement by a witness," the committee said, "Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz was the principal Communist party organizer."

The records of this committee also reflects that David Bohm x x x was also a member of this cell.

"Other alleged members of this cell at the radiation laboratory," it said, "are under investigation by this committee and such evidence of membership will be forthcoming in future hearings of this committee."

On another matter, it still was uncertain whether there will be a hearing for Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the federal bureau of standards. Condon was described by a subcommittee last year as one of the weakest links in atomic security.

A $7,500 suit against the city of Greenville has been filed in the office of the clerk of Pitt county superior court by David Cherry of Pitt county for injuries he received when he fell on one of the city streets.

The suit filed in the clerk's office charges that Cherry tripped on a broken sidewalk on Cotanche street between Third and Fourth streets on the evening of January 29, and that the fall caused him to break a bone in his right leg and suffer other injuries and bruises.

Boy Is Drowned While Swimming

Henry Lee Sparrow, 14, drowned about 1 p.m. yesterday while swimming in Stoneington Creek near Grainger.

The boy was reported to have been swimming with several other boys when he either stepped into a hole or suffered a cramp. Sparrow had been working in a tobacco field and had just eaten and gone swimming at the time that the accident occurred, firemen reported.

The body was recovered about an hour later. Efforts on the part of the members of the Greenville Fire Department's rescue squad who were called to the scene about 2 o'clock failed to restore breathing.

Sparrow was the son of Willie and Mrs. Lois Thomas Sparrow of Grainger.

September First Is Target Date

But Lawmakers See Small Hope For Fast Adjournment

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Congressional leaders have set September 1 as the target date for adjourning this session of Congress.

They aren't optimistic about it and figure that it may be Labor Day or later before all the odds and ends of legislation are cleaned up.

House Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts told newsmen he is scheduling the busy business docket to clear up all "must" bills by the end of August.

In this category are bills to increase the minimum wage payable in interstate industry, to extend social security coverage, and possibly to provide federal aid to education.

The house may finish its work around August 19 and go into a series of three-day recesses while waiting for the senate to wind up its docket.

Technically, under the 1946 Congressional adjournment act, Congress must adjourn not later than July 31 of each year except in time of war or national emergency. House experts have held that since peace treaties have not been signed, the nation still is at war and the adjournment deadline in the 1946 law does not apply.

Atlantic Treaty Vote Late Today Due For Senate

Stormy Wrangle Over Sharing Atomic Secrets Raised By Pact Foes

Washington, July 21—(AP)—The Senate came up to a vote on the North Atlantic pact amid a stormy wrangle over sharing atomic secrets with 11 other nations.

Treaty foes demanded to know whether arms for Europe will mean giving the atomic bomb—or atomic secrets—to the Atlantic allies.

"We've got to have an answer before the treaty is ratified—not after," Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) told reporters. The final treaty vote is scheduled late this afternoon.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told the Senate last night that treaty approval will not obligate the U. S. to give the atom bomb or atomic secrets to pact nations.

The precise nature of military aid to be given to Europe must be determined when Congress acts on proposed arms-for-Europe program, McMahon said.

Senate leaders said they were confident that even the atomic issue will not halt overwhelming approval of the treaty. They estimated no more than 15 votes—and perhaps less—against the pact.

Urges Employers To Release Men For Guard Camp

James B. Tyndall, commander of the Greenville unit of North Carolina National Guard, today appealed to employers of Pitt county to release their men who are members of the company for the period of the national guard encampment to be held at Fort Jackson, S. C. during the period of August 14 through August 28.

Major General J. Van B. Metts, adjutant general of North Carolina, has estimated that approximately 420 officers and warrant officers and 4,700 enlisted men from North Carolina will attend the one-week encampment at Fort Jackson during August.

A total of 78 North Carolina national guard units are expected to take part in the encampment and maneuvers.

Students Ambush Two Terrorists

Johore Bahru, Malaya—(AP)—Six new officers of the Malaya Regiment went out on patrol as part of a jungle warfare course at the British Far East Land Forces training course at Tampoh. They lay in ambush, as the instructors told them to do.

Suddenly, three armed and uniformed Communist terrorists walked into the ambush. It was not part of the training. The patrol set up a rapid fire, killing two.

Large Increase In Fatalities On Highways Noted

Three persons lost their lives on the highways of Pitt County in 1948. State Highway Patrol reports show, and five have been killed in the county during the first six months of this year.

Highway accidents this year show a considerable increase during the first 6 months of the period in comparison with the same period last year, when the state motor vehicle inspection law was in effect.

Checking over the records at the State Highway Patrol office here, it was revealed that nearly all of the accidents involving deaths and injuries and property damage on Pitt County highways the first six months of this year resulted from mechanical defects which would have been eliminated had the inspection law still been in effect.

Box scores of traffic accidents and fatalities now being carried by daily papers in the state show an alarming increase in accidents this year in contrast to last year.

It is now estimated that there are about 11,000,000 Americans 65 years or older.

About 7.6 per cent of the people in the United States now are 65 years old or older.

Capital's Oldest Inhabitants Still Talk Of 'Good Old Days' Recalled

Washington—The Capital's exclusive Oldest Inhabitants Association is still talking about the "good old days." Meeting monthly in the old Union Engine House on H St., the Association boasts a membership of 490. To qualify for membership one must be a man who has lived in the District of Columbia 35 years and must be at least 50 years old.

The cronies enjoy getting together to discuss such subjects as "notable fires in Washington," "picnic in the heart of the city," "the snowstorm of February 1899" and "early games" such as shooting marbles, ducking for apples and playing ring-around-a-rosey.

They like to hash over the great parades of yesteryear... the parade of Coxe's Army 55 years ago, when one of the members recalls seeing "Miss Coxe, a beautiful girl on a white horse," and Cleveland's Inaugural Parade. John Claggett Proctor, the present president, tells the boys about the time he watched a circus parade and an elephant picked him up and laid him down right in the street. He lost the quarter he had saved to see the circus in the excitement.

Mr. Proctor, who has been writing about historical Washington for more than 20 years for the Washington Star and is now putting his stories together in book form, has been a member of the Oldest Inhabitant for 31 years.

Samuel Crown, his grandfather-in-law, an early member, came here in 1806 and other early members had resided in the Capital since 1795. The association was organized in 1806. Its first president was one Benjamin Ogle Taylor, son of John Taylor, "one of the wealthiest citizens of Virginia," who came to the capital and built the famed Octagon House in which James and Dolly Madison once lived and which is now the headquarters of the American Society of Architects.

The Association abhors change has practically the same rules it had in the beginning. Its members don't tolerate political or religious discussions, rarely discuss anything that happens anywhere else in the world or even the news of the day. They're "dead set against bolsheviks" though, Mr. Proctor tells me.

On Washington's birthday some prominent man reads the first president's Farewell Address and on the Fourth of July some one reads the Declaration of Independence. The average age of the Oldest Inhabitants is around 65, but spy Alfred Heilmuller, Sr., confesses to being a "little over 100."

Raleigh, July 21—(AP)—Governor Scott announced yesterday the purging of 270 names from the state's parole list.
 He said the action still leaves 1,177 prisoners on parole who still must report to supervisory authorities.
 Scott said his action was taken following the recommendation of

The governor declared that, with one exception, all those freed of the parole strings had equalled or exceeded the supervision period originally set up for them.
 He said that by purging the active parole rolls it would be possible for more thorough supervision of those left on the list.

Strength FOR THE DAY
LIFE ALWAYS A STRUGGLE
The mahogany trees which are in low and damp soils grow very rapidly, but the mahogany trees which grow amid rocks and upon sterile soil grow slowly and produce much more beautiful wood. There is a greater compactness and beauty of grain and texture in the lumber cut from trees which grow under adverse conditions. It seems that the difficulties of growth and the effort a tree has to put forth to survive at all produces a beauty which the fanciers of good furniture greatly esteem.
It happens frequently also in human life that affliction and trial develop very admirable traits in character. It takes struggle, trial and the discipline of hard work we do not want to do to bring out the best in every one of us. It is a dismal sight to look upon an able person held back in life because of handicaps or the denial of any opportunity to exercise his gifts. But it is equally discouraging to see people with lots of brains, money, and personality coming to the end of their lives with failure written across each decade.
The chick has to peck its way out of the shell to be strong and healthy. The worm cannot turn into a butterfly without a struggle of the most agonizing nature.
So the story of the mahogany tree is a symbol of what goes on throughout human life. It takes struggle for existence to bring beauty of grain and texture to our lives.

MARKETING QUOTAS & TOBACCO ASSOCIATES
North and South Carolina depend heavily on the success of the flue-cured tobacco program. Two vital phases of that program are marketing quotas, which guarantee stabilized market prices through a support program, and the export promotion work carried on by Tobacco Associates.
Since 1934 producers have enjoyed the benefits of an acreage control program, and since 1938 they have operated successfully under marketing quotas with acreage allotments. Repeatedly tobacco growers have voted overwhelmingly to continue this program, which has meant so much to the South's agricultural economy.

PUBLIC FORUM
Discussing problems of interest to this community. In all cases names must accompany any communication.
As time moves on our economic condition naturally varies. Judging the future from the past, it is very obvious that farmers will have to continue to fight for what they get. As a rule, when we sit around waiting for things to happen, those things often happen to our disadvantage. Therefore, it is so necessary for every farmer to give all of his time possible, in order to display his interest in the marketing quotas and tobacco associates referendums.
I feel that every farmer and tenant, who grows tobacco, has definitely made up his mind how he will vote. The thing of vital interest is not that the farmer vote, friends and neighbors to vote also.
In my opinion the accomplishments of Tobacco Associates during the two years of its existence have fully justified its operations. I believe if we study this phase of the program we can understand and appreciate the efforts that have been made for the sales of our tobacco in foreign countries.
Since no other commodity enjoys such a comprehensive program we tobacco growers should work hard to maintain or better our present position. The time for voting, July 23rd (Saturday), is near at hand. Let's take every advantage possible in making this referendum a grand success.

Somebody Told Me...
By L. J. (Jack) Edwards, Jr.
What sport would you say that more Greenville people participate in than any other? Of course the answer is golf. In the nation, over three million play. Because of the interest in golf, today's column is devoted to the U. S. Open champion and one of the greatest tournament players of all time, Ben Hogan, 36, of Fort Worth, Texas.
Ben was the victim of a serious automobile accident last February, but he is rapidly regaining his strength. Golf enthusiasts all over the nation are hoping that he'll be back on the links before long.
Some of Hogan's fans call him "Blazin' Ben" but another nickname, "Little Ice Water," fits him even better. He stands five feet eight and one-half inches and weighs only 140 pounds.
To Hogan, golfing is a business, and nothing bores him more than a sociable round of golf. Anybody who outdoes him more than once a year has to have just about the same qualities that he has, because he rarely has a bad day, and rarely plays two bad holes in a row.
Ben has a horror of what he calls the Sunday golfer's gravest sin: "Just hitting the ball without thinking." Hogan likes to say that he never hits a careless shot. One of his favorite caddies, Clyde Starr, says, "It takes him three hours to go nine holes in practice. He'll say, 'Here, drop 15 balls in this sand trap.' Then he'll not hit every one of them out. If he's not satisfied he'll blast another 15. Then he'll putt till hell won't have it."
Hogan realizes the importance of putting in golf, but he dislikes reports that for the past eighteen months the state has held the rate to below one-half of one percent, which does not forfeit the accreditation standing. But spokesmen for the state department of agriculture and for the extension service at State College agree they are having a harder time holding down spread of the disease.
IMPORTATIONS - Bootleg Importation of dairy cows bought elsewhere and brought into the state without proper inspection is chief cause of the spread. Incidence is not general but is spotted in a few sections. One or two herds in the Albemarle area have been found to have high percentage of infection. Governor Kerr Scott's herd in Alamance county has also been affected to more than average extent. The disease, which causes abortion is highly contagious and ruins the value of a cow for milking purposes although it does not affect the meat. Constant watch is required to prevent bringing in this and other contagious or infectious cattle diseases. That is perhaps the chief reason Governor Scott on his recent cow buying trip to Missouri took with him Dr. W. R. Baynes of the state veterinary division, to help select the cows to be purchased.
INDEMNITY - The state and federal governments co-operate in indemnifying owners of Bang's infected cows up to a maximum of $25 for grade stock and $50 for registered animals. This doesn't mean at all that every cow butchered is paid for by the government.
DUD - The much publicized "surprise" broadcast of Governor Scott Tuesday night turned out to be a dud, in opinion of most capitol square observers. The governor reiterated his demand that private electric utilities and REA co-operate in the job of getting electric current and telephones to unserved rural areas. Since he had previously said the same thing many times, beginning with his inaugural address, there was nothing new or surprising in his radio talk.
SMART - At the same time, capitol square folks credit the governor with very smart handling of the situation. If the people had expected repetition of this demand for service, not many of them would have tuned in their radio sets. But from the first intimation of a "surprise" made by the governor in exuberance of victory on night of the road bond election, he had built up with full cooperation of the press

BOYLE'S COLUMN
By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP) - Five years ago this week many thousands of Americans went for a cross-country walk. And every field they passed made them a year older.
It happened on another continent at a place called St. Lo in a thing called a war. In that long ago time the world still tried to solve its troubles through warfare. The men who took part in breaking the Nazi line there—a sieve to all France—don't remember the whole area so well. They recall better the rough bark feel of a tree they hugged. They remember a ditch they crawled into and hated to leave more than they ever feared to leave their mother's arms.
In those days there was no such thing as a landscape. There was the world you knew on this side of a hedgerow. On the other side was another world—An unknown terror.
And every hedgerow safely passed was another battlefield.
The Germans had lines of fire through them mathematically and fanatically, with skill, with guns, with blood.
It was a noisy time. The little guns chattered all day, and the big guns har-r-rumped all night, like giants clearing their throats.
In the hazy skies great fleets of planes flew over and hit the German positions. And sometimes one would swim into a ackack burst, erupt in flame and go down smoking, leaving a muddy scar against the blue.
The earth was so torn by bomb and shell you would think it could never close up its wounds again. The doughboys were grateful for the craters. They made friendly holes for a man to lie and sweat in until he could gather his breath and courage to go on.
It was a terrible introduction to battle for many green soldiers. "They bring up a new kid in the night," said a sergeant. "I check him in and he finds him in the dark and the medics carry him away. And I haven't even seen the boy's face."
Every battlefield has a hundred famous heroes. Every man who took a step forward was a hero then, but one traded his life for a lasting fame.
He was the "Major of St. Lo"—Thomas D. Howie of the Staunton (Va.) military academy, commander of a battalion of the 29th infantry division.
The Major was young and friendly. He had the grit of leadership. "He was so kind and considerate you always felt comfortable around him," said one of his soldiers.
But Howie also was a determined man. He wanted to be the first man into St. Lo—at the head of his battalion.
"See you in St. Lo," he laughed at the end of a conference of staff officers planning the attack. "It became the division's rallying cry—'see you in St. Lo.'"
The Major didn't make it—alive. During an enemy bombardment he

MARKETING QUOTAS & TOBACCO ASSOCIATES
North and South Carolina depend heavily on the success of the flue-cured tobacco program. Two vital phases of that program are marketing quotas, which guarantee stabilized market prices through a support program, and the export promotion work carried on by Tobacco Associates.
Since 1934 producers have enjoyed the benefits of an acreage control program, and since 1938 they have operated successfully under marketing quotas with acreage allotments. Repeatedly tobacco growers have voted overwhelmingly to continue this program, which has meant so much to the South's agricultural economy.

AROUND CAPITOL SQUARE
BANG'S - State folks interested in dairying are becoming a bit concerned, though not yet alarmed, at increasing incidence of Bang's disease. Some years ago North Carolina attained status of being accredited as free from this highly contagious disease. The freedom was slightly qualified, accreditation being based on a very low incidence ratio. The state veterinary division reports that for the past eighteen months the state has held the rate to below one-half of one percent, which does not forfeit the accreditation standing. But spokesmen for the state department of agriculture and for the extension service at State College agree they are having a harder time holding down spread of the disease.
IMPORTATIONS - Bootleg Importation of dairy cows bought elsewhere and brought into the state without proper inspection is chief cause of the spread. Incidence is not general but is spotted in a few sections. One or two herds in the Albemarle area have been found to have high percentage of infection. Governor Kerr Scott's herd in Alamance county has also been affected to more than average extent. The disease, which causes abortion is highly contagious and ruins the value of a cow for milking purposes although it does not affect the meat. Constant watch is required to prevent bringing in this and other contagious or infectious cattle diseases. That is perhaps the chief reason Governor Scott on his recent cow buying trip to Missouri took with him Dr. W. R. Baynes of the state veterinary division, to help select the cows to be purchased.
INDEMNITY - The state and federal governments co-operate in indemnifying owners of Bang's infected cows up to a maximum of $25 for grade stock and $50 for registered animals. This doesn't mean at all that every cow butchered is paid for by the government.
DUD - The much publicized "surprise" broadcast of Governor Scott Tuesday night turned out to be a dud, in opinion of most capitol square observers. The governor reiterated his demand that private electric utilities and REA co-operate in the job of getting electric current and telephones to unserved rural areas. Since he had previously said the same thing many times, beginning with his inaugural address, there was nothing new or surprising in his radio talk.
SMART - At the same time, capitol square folks credit the governor with very smart handling of the situation. If the people had expected repetition of this demand for service, not many of them would have tuned in their radio sets. But from the first intimation of a "surprise" made by the governor in exuberance of victory on night of the road bond election, he had built up with full cooperation of the press expectation of something startling. As a result, probably more North Carolinians made a point of listening in than ever heard a governor speak before.

EFFECTIVE - It was also agreed that the message would be well received and prove effective among country people. Some language purists criticized the grammatical form and sentence structures of the talk, but all agreed that the burden of the message got over in good style. Gist of it was that utilities have not done right by the country, and the governor is going to see that they do better. That is a very popular chord among folks both in cities and in the country who have been waiting months for telephones and electric lights. Lack of these facilities is by no means limited to rural areas. Demand of city residents for telephones, sewer lines and other utilities has grown much faster than capacity of established agencies to provide them. It sounds good to hear somebody bawl out these agencies for the failure, however unreasonable some of the demands may be.

IN THESE DAYS of post-war restlessness and crime, when every newspaper tells of theft, assault and murder, it is difficult to remember that the world is still in God's hands. Those who are committing these sins are still God's children, and they may seek forgiveness and yet be saved and become useful citizens.

King David, you remember, sinned grievously. He did not kill with his own hands, but he caused the husband of Bathsheba to be slain and so was guilty of murder.

David repented his sin and begged for forgiveness in a Psalm we have for part of our lesson today. Bathsheba was the beautiful woman to whom David, the king, lost his heart. To obtain her for his wife he had her soldier husband placed by his commander in the forefront of the battle, so that he would be killed. David then wed Bathsheba, and she became the mother of Solomon.

We all have sinned, we all must seek forgiveness from God shame and sadness when they have broken some school law, or cheated at some schoolyard game and offended their playmates.

How happy they feel when they have confessed that they were wrong, made amends, been forgiven and taken back into fellowship once more!

"Many sorrows shall be to the wicked; but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him about."

"Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous, and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart."

David's unhappiness and despair before the prophet Nathan awakened his conscience to the enormity of his evil deed, are beautifully portrayed in his cry to the Lord for mercy and prayer for forgiveness:

"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to Thy loving kindness: According to the multitude of Thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions."

"Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin for I acknowledge

When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night Thy hand was heavy upon me.

I acknowledged my sin unto Thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and Thou forgavest.

Restore unto me the joy of Thy salvation. Then will I teach transgressors Thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto Thee.

For Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive, and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee. MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 86: 5. and our fellow-men. David was forgiven. We, too, will be if we sincerely repent and turn from our sins.

Psalm 32 is the second of the so-called Penitential Psalms. In it David speaks of the blessedness of forgiveness after the darkness of the hours in which he kept silent and brooded over his wickedness.

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night Thy hand was heavy upon me; my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah."

"I acknowledged my sin unto Thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and Thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin. Selah."

The meeting opened with the group standing for a few minutes in silent prayer, followed by singing "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross."

The Bible study, taken from John 5 and 6, was led by Mrs. G. S. Nichols, with other members of the group answering the questions in the guide book.

Mrs. W. H. Elks was program leader and the topic for the afternoon was "Christian Homes."

Mrs. W. B. Crawford presided at the business session.

After the benediction, the hostesses served coca colas and assorted cakes.

On Monday evening, July 4, Mrs. J. D. Jones and Mrs. O. L. Erwin were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Jones in honor of Mrs. Julius Erwin, a recent bride.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Jones and introduced to the guests of honor. After arrival of all guests, the game, "Human Bingo," was played, with Mrs. H. B. Humphrey winning the prize.

At the close of the game, the guest of honor was invited into the dining room where she found a lovely arrangement of attractively wrapped gifts. She was assisted in opening these gifts by Mrs. Jones and they were displayed where everyone could see them.

Mrs. Erwin received almost a complete set of china in her pattern and many other useful gifts.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses from a beautifully decorated table in green and white. Refreshments consisted of a chicken salad plate, nuts and iced tea.

About 35 were present for the occasion.

Because of the Federal Revenue Act of 1948 . . .

IS YOUR WILL NOW OBSOLETE?

In view of the Federal Estate and Gift Tax Laws which were recently enacted by Congress, we feel it is important that you review your Will and estate plans at once.

How does the new law affect you, personally? Does it make your Will and estate plans obsolete? In your particular case, changes may—or may not—be desirable.

The Federal Revenue Act of 1948 gives married men and women the privilege of "estate splitting." Thus, tax savings are made possible—under certain conditions—to the extent of 50% of the "adjusted gross estate."

Since the law is complex and must be adapted to each individual case, we suggest you arrange now to talk this matter over with your lawyer.

The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company has always encouraged people to safeguard their estates with modern Wills, and to keep their Wills up-to-date with periodic reviews.

Skillful planning, in many instances, will now permit substantial reductions in Federal Estate and Gift Taxes. You'll want to take advantage of the new opportunities as they might apply to your situation.

J. H. Blount Joins Plea For Referendum Support

Judson H. Blount, of Greenville director of Tobacco Associates and former president of the N.C. Merchants Association today called for full grower support of Marketing Quotas and Tobacco Associates in the referendums, Saturday, July 23.

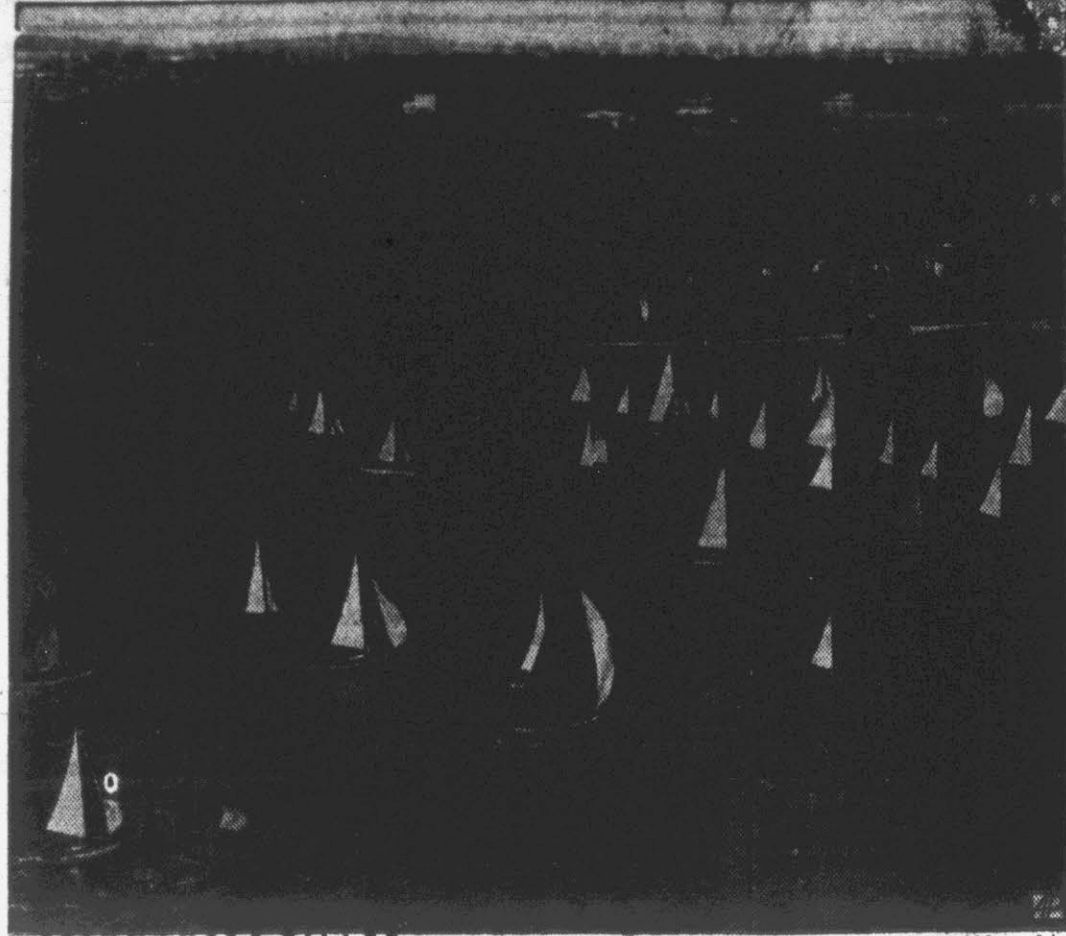

The statement is as follows: "Merchants Associations in the flue-cured tobacco area, as well as the farmers of this region, are interested in the success of Tobacco Associates, since more than 80 per cent of the flue-cured tobacco is exported for foreign consumption. It is important that this phase of the program be carefully studied and coordinated. Until Tobacco Associates was formed, we depended entirely on the Export Leaf Dealers carrying the whole load of selling flue-cured tobacco. The export situation has developed to the point that it requires a little more than just a selling job to keep normal exports to what they were in pre-war years.

"Tobacco Associates is the organization that has efficiently done an outstanding job in working with government agencies, not only here in the United States but in foreign countries. We need to continue and expand this program as there are possibilities of selling a larger poundage of tobacco in countries that are not now using the American type flue-cured tobacco.

"We should not be satisfied, even though we have had remarkable success since the beginning of Tobacco Associates. We should plan to expand this program so as to include the South American countries, as well as Asiatic countries that are not now using much of the flue-cured tobacco.

"In order to continue this type program, it is necessary to have the whole-hearted cooperation of farmers and allied interests, and in order to meet the problems of the future, it will require a united effort and a limited amount of finances. The method of financing is unique in that after the volunteer contributions came in, farmers asked the state legislature to pass Enabling Acts by which all flue-cured farmers can cooperate. This 10c per acre provision, or the means by which farmers will raise their funds will be voted on, on July 23. Allied interests will continue to raise their funds on volunteer basis until some better method is worked out.

"We can look to the future with great confidence if Tobacco Associates has the continued support of farmers and businessmen alike throughout the flue-cured area. I would like to urge every eligible voter to express his or her support of the program on July 23."

Another Increase In Polio For U. S.

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Another increase in infantile paralysis cases was reported by the U. S. Public Health Service today.

For the week ended July 16, there were 1,013 new cases reported for the nation. Compared with 694 the previous week. This is a 49 per cent increase compared with the 43 per cent increase reported last week over the week preceding.

This brought to 4,895 the total for the whole year through July 16, compared with 3,601 during the same period last year—an increase of approximately 1,200 cases.

During the past week, increases were noted in all major areas, with 13 states reporting an increase of 10 or more cases over their totals for the previous week.

The largest increases were reported from:

New York: 72 cases this past week, compared to 16 the week before, with 61 of them being in New York City; Indiana: 52 against 14; Illinois: 55 against 19; Arkansas: 101 against 70; California: 83 against 58.

Nine states have reported more than 100 cases since the beginning of the year. They are:

Texas, 1,019; California, 628; Oklahoma, 348; Arkansas, 328; Minnesota, 186; New York, 186; Illinois, 129; Indiana, 107; and Michigan 101.

MR. TOBACCO GROWER, here's the opportunity to make your opinion count. You and other growers of flue-cured tobacco will vote on Saturday, July 23, to determine if marketing quotas will continue in effect and to determine whether or not Tobacco Associates will continue to exist.

Do you want a balanced economy for the tobacco farmer?

Do you want better prices for tobacco than was received in 1939 when we had no marketing quotas?

Do you want government support prices on the 1950 crop of flue-cured tobacco?

Every tobacco grower's answer to these questions is "Yes." In order to make your answer of "Yes" be known you should vote for 3 years tobacco marketing quotas and for Tobacco Associates and get your neighbor to vote.

Gold Gulch Opera House Again Open For Oldtime Melodrama

By EDWARD S. KITCH
Chicago—(AP)—The Gold Gulch Opera House, of the Chicago Railroad Fair, has opened its swinging doors to oldtime melodrama.

The amusement area of the fair features a wild and woolly frontier town of gold rush days. Its open-air play house is a replica of the first theater in California, the Eagle Opera House built in Sacramento in 1849.

Its false front faces Toughnut Street. Its 40-foot stage is fitted with reflectors for oil lamps. But electric light bulbs are used.

Two old dramas, "The Midnight Express" and "Billy the Kid" are presented on alternate days.

A special notice on its printed program reads:

"No person, sheriff of Gold Gulch excepted, carrying firearms or other weapons, will be admitted to this theater. Strangers, having no other place to deposit their arms, can leave them with the Treasurer at the Box Office, who will check and return them to the owner at the close of the performance."

"The Midnight Express" is a story about a fictitious railroad—the Midwest Central. It carries a

West Greenville Wins Pet Show

Yesterday afternoon the city playgrounds all had pet shows and each was a great success. West Greenville won first place, Cotanche Park second, 14th Street third and 3rd Street fourth. The judges were from Dr. N. M. Jorgensen's community Recreation class at East Carolina, they were Richard Napier, Marshall Baines and Joe Lupton.

On each playground four winners were picked, one each for having the smallest pet, most unusual pet, prettiest pet and best showman. The individual winners on each playground and all of those who had pets entered on the winning West Greenville playground were the guests of Mr. T. Y. Walker, manager of the Pitt theatre next Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock. The show they will see will be "Sorrowful Jones."

The individual winners on each playground are listed below: West Greenville, smallest pet—Kelly and Jack Barnhill, tadpoles; most unusual pet—Carolyn Branch, guinea pig; prettiest pet—Glenn Briley dog; best showman—Frankie Whitchard, bantam rooster.

Cotanche Park: smallest pet—Gayle Clapp, cat; most unusual pet—Danny Parkerson, duck; prettiest pet—Judy Corbett, rabbit; best showman—Billy Clapp, pony.

War Flood Still Mark Valley In Westphalia

Hamburg, Germany—(AP)—The Mohn valley in Westphalia looks today as if it had been the playground of a mad giant. Ten-ton boulders are heaped as if left after an Olympic game of marbles.

In 1943 the valley had what is believed to be the biggest man-made flood in history. May 16 British bombers breached the Mohn dam. Most of the houses swept away have been rebuilt. Their bright newness contrasts with the rusting metal of destroyed factories.

Even today it is not known exactly how many people died in the flood. But those who worked there after the attack recall that the victims totalled between 1,700 and 1,800 dead. The dam itself was re-

Scott's Tuesday Broadcast Is Spurring Action By Utilities

Raleigh, N.C., July 21—(AP)—Governor Scott's Tuesday night demand that utilities expand their services into rural areas is bringing results.

In a statewide radio broadcast, the governor delivered the "surprise" he had promised more than a month ago. The surprise, he said, was a reassertion that he wanted no ifs, ands or buts—he wanted the utilities to hasten their efforts in bringing electricity and telephones to isolated rural residents.

Last night the governor spoke at the Sandhills Peach Festival in Rockingham. He declared that the Southern Bell Telephone Company and the Carolina Power and Light Company had assured him they would try to extend service to the rural areas.

Southern Bell during the day broke ground for a $600,000 telephone exchange in Rockingham. Meanwhile, Southern Bell's Charlotte headquarters announced the utility plans to install more than 5,000 new phones in rural areas of the state this year at a cost of around $1,500,000. Southern Bell serves 28 counties in the state.

In the state capital, the Utilities Commission, also the butt of Scott's blast, said the state's phone and power companies and REA cooperatives have been expanding facilities since the end of the war.

The commission agreed, however, that the governor's demands for continued expansion would spur the companies and cooperatives.

Dog Owners Must Buy License Tags

Owners of dogs in Greenville are required by city law to pay a tax and attach a metal tag to dogs' collars, showing that they are legally licensed. The tags are now on sale at the police station. Osoar Arnold, deputy clerk, is handling the dog license tags.

Incidentally, the city ordinance provides a fine of $5 on dog owners who fail to procure the license tags.

Complains To Police Of Terrorism Acts

James Sharp, colored, 617 Allen's Alley, reported to police yesterday that "family enemies" were terrorizing his mother by damaging screens and doors on the house and shooting. Police stated that the family suspected friends of James Euge, colored, recently convicted in Police Court, of instigating the alleged acts of terrorism. Police are investigating.

The Virgin Islands consist of three main islands and about 80 islets.

Warehouse Bodies Define 'Adequate Set Of Buyers'

Raleigh, N. C., July 21—(AP)—The Board of Governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association has defined the debatable term "an adequate set of buyers."

Meeting in special session yesterday, the board unanimously agreed no warehouse should offer tobacco for sale until the defined adequate set of buyers has been assigned to and secured for such sale.

The board was called into session by the Association's president, Fred S. Royster. It is making a determined effort to assume sufficient competitive bidding on its tobacco markets to assure an adequate price.

Under the definition adopted, an adequate set of buyers consists of buyers for each of the three major domestic tobacco companies and buyers for at least three other recognized companies purchasing tobacco for export or for export and domestic consumption.

The three major companies referred to include the American Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers and R. J. Reynolds. The far-reaching resolution affects tobacco operations in Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, and the Carolinas.

The resolution also held that no warehouse should offer tobacco for sale at auction unless and until an adequate set of buyers, as defined above, has been assigned and secured for such sale.

On any market the amount of tobacco to be graded and sold at auction on any day shall be limited to not more than 400 piles per hour for five and one-half hours for each adequate set of buyers as defined above.

British Navy To Split War Booty

London—(AP)—British seamen are to receive a share of the war booty they helped their country capture from the Nazis during the war.

About $15,000,000 is to be divided among all men and women who served at sea—from the admiral of the fleet on down. Another $5,000,000 will go in a lump to the R. A. F. for its share in helping to find and capture enemy ships and submarines.

The lowest ranking seaman—even the cooks and stewards and deck swabbers—will get about $16.80 each. That's one share. According to rank other officers and men will get more shares. Admirals will collect $42 each.

N. C. Factory Earnings Go Up

Raleigh, July 21—(AP)—Tar Heel factory workers' earnings during June bucked a five-month downward trend and rose 3.8 per cent above May's levels, the State Department of Labor reported yesterday.

The state's 365,500 industrial workers worked an average of 38.9 hours a week last month, up 3.2 per cent from May's 34.7. Their earnings average $39.09 a week.

Roanoke Rapids Jays Take 6 to 4 Win Over Greenies

Big Fifth Inning Outburst Is Only Scoring Period For Locals; Denier Leads Five-Hit Attack Against Jays

By BERT MOYE

The eighth-place Roanoke Rapids Jays handed the Greenies their second straight loss over in Roanoke Rapids last night by taking a 6 to 4 victory behind the five-hit burning of Alton Brown. It was Brown's second win in three days.

The Greenies garnered three of their five hits in the fifth frame to do all their scoring in the contest. Singles by Steve Denier, Willie Mauney and Charlie Graham, together with two walks, an error and a hit batsman gave the Greenies their only runs in this frame.

The Jays scored one run in the first frame on Bolick's double, a wild pitch by Mascarella and a Greenie error. They scored another singleton in the fourth when Gonzalez singled, walks to Quartararo and Piacentino loaded the bases and Martling's fly to centerfield scored Gonzalez.

Three runs in the fifth clinched the game for Brown Eddie Jackson singled to right center and Manager Glenn Lockamy tripled over the left-fielder's head. Lockamy scored on Milt Bolick's outfield fly Val Gonzalez then swung upon it for a 350-foot homer over the rightfield wall.

The Jays' final tally of the game came in the sixth frame when Piacentino reached second on two successive errors by Tepedino and Brown tripled to bring him home.

Art Mascarella went the route for the Greenies, giving up nine hits, six walks and striking out five Jay batters. Val Gonzalez with a homer and a single and Manager Glenn Lockamy with a triple and a single led the attack for the Jays.

Steve Denier with two singles in four trips to the plate led the five-hit attack off the offerings of Brown, who issued six free passes and struck out only two Greenies during the contest. All of the Greenies hits were singles.

The Greenies play the Jays here tonight at Guy Smith Stadium in the second game of the series. Game time is 7:45 o'clock.

V. F. W. Smothers Carolina Dairy

Tonight's Game
Lions vs. Kiwanis

Last evening the V.F.W. team took undisputed possession of third place in the Industrial League softball race by handing Carolina Dairy a 17-9 lacing. The game would have been close if the Dairy defenses hadn't fallen apart in the second inning; however, the hitting was lusty on the V.F.W. team, both Gaylord and Toel getting three for five.

In today's game, Kiwanis will attempt to get into the win column in their game with the Lions.

Davis Cuppers In American Zone Semifinal Play

Montreal, July 21—(AP)—The Davis Cup tennis teams of Australia and Canada today open their American zone semifinals play with the invaders from down under heavily favored.

The winner will tackle Mexico.

4-1 victor over Cuba in semifinals competition

The American zone survivor will face the winner of the France-Italy European zone final. Out of that inter-zone series will emerge the opponent for the United States in the challenge round later in August.

In today's two singles matches Canada's main threat Brendan Macken, meets Billy Sidwell and Henri Rochon opposes Australia's singles champion, 21-year-old Frank Sedgman. Many experts look for the Australians to sweep the matches in straight sets.

Tonight's Games

R. Rapids at GREENVILLE
Wilson at New Bern
Kinston at Goldsboro
Tarboro at Rocky Mount

Sidelights—The win for Roanoke Rapids was their fourth win over the Greenies this season, they have lost nine games to the Greenies. The loss for Mascarella was his 11th of the season and his second loss to the Jays, he has won six games, one of which was from the Jays. The win for Alton Brown was his third win over the Greenies this season, he has dropped two decisions. And speaking of Brown it seems that married life agrees with the Norfolk boy—two wins in three days is not bad pitching. The loss last night was the 24th loss of the season on the road for the Greenies, they have won 19. Good base running will win a lot of ball games sometimes with just a few hits; poor base running will lose a lot of ball games sometimes with oodles of hits. Getting from one base to another is a part of the game; runs are scored that way we are told. The team finishing the game with the most runs is usually declared the winner, so the book says.

Gene Hooks, All-America third baseman from Wake Forest's championship team, will be honored by his home town of Rocky Mount tonight before the game between the Leafs and the Tarboro Athletics. The Lions club is sponsoring the event and have designated it "Gene Hooks" night when he will receive a gift of appreciation from his friends in Rocky Mount. Hooks, at the present time is playing with the Windsor club in the Albemarle League.

Steve Mizerak, Goldsboro pilot who allegedly hit Umpire John Knight in a game with Tarboro Monday night, has been indefinitely suspended by Ray Goodmon president of the Coastal Plain League. No penalty will be incurred until his investigation is completed, Mr. Goodmon stated.

Here's the way the race for the Coastal Plain League crown stand in the present race at the present time—New Bern first; Rocky Mount in second place three games behind the Bears; Goldsboro in third place three and one-half games behind New Bern; Kinston in fourth place four games behind the Bears; Greenville in fifth place, two games behind Kinston and six games behind the Bears; Tarboro in sixth place, two games back of Greenville and eight games behind New Bern; seventh place Wilson is 13 games behind top place New Bern and the Roanoke Rapids' Jays are fourteen and one-half games from the league-leading Bears.

Boys' League Baseball

Athletics vs Tigers

The Tigers scored in every inning except the last to take an easy win over the Athletics by the score of 8 to 7. The Tigers got 18 hits while the A's were being held to six. Walter Perry the leagues leading hitter had a big day at bat with three singles and a triple. Bobby Flye, Jimmy Brewer and Wiley Gardner also of the Tigers had three hits each. Milton Foley with three singles was the only Athletic to get more than one hit.

Dodgers vs Yankees

Bobby Faulkner held the Dodgers hitless yesterday while his team mates were pounding the ball all over the lot to shut them out 23 to 0. Bobby Nunn with a homer and triple, Morgan with a homer and a triple and Billy Bost and Buck Puryear with two singles each were the top hitters for the Yanks. The win gave the Yanks a 12 to 3 record for the season and it was the Dodgers fifteenth loss out of sixteen games.

Sport Slants By Pap

It was upon the recommendation of Bucky Walters that Billy Southwell added the name of Ewell Blackwell to his National League had done little pitching in the first half of the pennant race but in recent outings had shown much of the stuff the t made him the scourge of the National League before he underwent a serious operation for the removal of a kidney.

Blackwell beamed good health before the All-Star battle began at Ebbets Field, and expressed the desire that Manager Southworth grant him the opportunity to work against the American Leaguers. Blackie had been singularly effective in past All-Star games and felt ready to go. As it turned out, Blackwell pitched only the eighth inning but he was most impressive as he fanned Vernon Stephens and Joe Gordon and made big Ed Robinson pop up to Fee Wee Reese. His wicked cross-fire slants looked as deceptive as ever and he looked like the great star of 1947 when he won 22 games and lost eight for the Reds.

There was considerable speculation as to Blackwell's ability to return to his winning form after the operation. Many baseball authorities insisted that he could not and cited several examples of other stars who underwent the same operation and failed to regain their old-time form. Blackie may fool them.

Bolanos Gets Third Crack At Boxing Crown Tonight

Los Angeles, July 21—(AP)—Champion Ike Williams gives Mexico's Enrique Bolanos his third crack at the world lightweight crown tonight in a bout billed for 15 rounds at Wrigley Field.

Winner of the first two matches the Negro climber from Trenton, N. J., is generally favored to turn back the third challenge.

But Bolanos' legion of admirers, here and in his native Mexico, are equally confident their "Toreador" of the prize ring will pull an upset and become the first fighter of his native land to hold an undisputed title.

Matchmaker Charley MacDonald, a veteran in fight matters, predicted a turnout of 18,000 to 20,000 fans and gate receipts of $100,000 up. The fight is being staged for the benefit of a Youth Foundation founded by comedian Lou Costello. Referee for the bout, services gratis, will be Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight king.

Ike won a somewhat unsatisfying split decision in 15 rounds of action in their last encounter. If the strategy pattern is repeated, Williams will be looking for a chance to slip over his deadly, counter punching right and Bolanos, normally a "head hunter," as the saying goes, will work on Ike's mid section, hoping to soften him up.

Bolanos bounded a couple off Ike's iron profile last time out and nothing happened. He shifted to the stomach regions and it is no secret that Ike was glad when the thing was over and he was helped to his dressing room.

Larry Doby In Doghouse For Trying To Steal A Run Against New York

Cleveland, July 21—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians put their star centerfielder, Larry Doby, in the doghouse today after his bold attempt to steal home against New York backfield.

Tribe manager Lou Boudreau huddled with the Negro player for 10 minutes after the futile play last night and then announced he had fined him an undisclosed amount.

The bases were loaded and no one was out when Doby made his dash in the eighth.

"It was not based only on that attempt to steal home tonight," Boudreau explained. "Larry has taken several unnecessary chances lately. This should make him more careful."

Doby couldn't be reached for his side, but Boudreau said "he didn't make any excuses. He just admitted he had made a mistake."

The futile try took the steam out of Cleveland's eighth inning rally and New York went on to win a 7 to 3 verdict. The victory boosted the Yankees' first place margin over Cleveland back to 4 1-2 games and left them even in their three-game series.

A POLICEMAN 60 YEARS

Denver—(AP)—H. Ruge Williams, Denver's deputy police chief, is well into his 60th year in the department. He was only 17 when he became a rookie cop in 1890.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

BORN of the STORM

By Sidney B. Carter

Chapter 16

A few days later, when a second letter came from Kenneth without any direct message for Mrs. Kent, the old woman became so violent in her resentment that, at times, Priscilla was actually afraid—going to the extreme of locking her bedroom door at night.

Kenneth's second letter was a loving one. If Priscilla had been an older woman, she might have detected this sudden sweetness on his part as induced by the pang of a guilty conscience, but instead it gave her young heart new hope. He wrote in a tender, illiterate manner ending the letter with: "I believe the boss appreciates me more now. Maybe I will get a raise and you and me can have our own little home." There was only one jarring note about the whole thing. The letter had obviously been opened and reread.

September passed and October turned the leaves to gold and sent them scurrying underfoot. Priscilla worried about the baby's clothes, as yet she had nothing beyond gifts from the girls and the blue sweater, which was now finished and waiting for its owner to arrive. Kenneth had no money—and with good reason for he was out every night spending it as fast as he made it—and had lately shown an aversion to any mention of the baby. Priscilla hoped that, when the baby came, he would feel differently, but, with a new maturity she found in herself, she had made up her mind that if he didn't, she would go back to work and pay Viola to take care of the child.

The last time she mentioned the coming baby to Kenneth was one morning before breakfast while the two of them were still in their bedroom. Priscilla was looking around the room speculatively.

"Ken," she said suddenly, "I've moved the dresser over there, don't you think we could squeeze a bassinet into that space? Of course, I guess pretty soon I'll need a bed, but then we could..." She never finished over to her and grabbed her fists over her eyes, her powerful fingers reminding her of that day... that awful day of the picnic.

"If you say one more word about that baby," he said, "I'm gonna leave here and you'll never see me again. I ain't so sure I won't do it anyhow." And with that he walked down the stairs and out of the house without even waiting to get his breakfast. Priscilla was frightened more than she had been the day he had shaken her into insensibility, and she did not bring up the subject again.

Mack Claims A's Still In Running

St. Louis, July 21—(AP)—Connie Mack said for the record today his Philadelphia Athletics are "still very much in the running" for the American League pennant.

Ever since the A's went into their present slump—losing 11 of their last 13 games—Philadelphia baseball fans have been asking the question:

"What's the matter with the A's?"

In a telephone conversation with S. O. Grauley, sports editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, the veteran owner-manager of the A's declared:

"I consider the Athletics still very much in the running and am confident they can shake out of this rut and make it interesting for the leaders."

The A's are now in fourth place, nine games behind the leading New York Yankees.

Mack said he plans to call the members of his team together today to discuss their losing streak.

"We are holding a meeting today," he said, "to go over every detail in hopes that our many faults can be corrected and improvement will be made."

Poor pitching and failure of the club's batters to produce in the clutch had the most to do with the A's downfall, Mack said.

Other members of the team have felt that the loss of Buddy Rosar, first string catcher, and a shortage of able-bodied hurlers have hurt the Mackmen most.

In 1900, only 41 per cent of the people in the United States were 60 years old or older.

Famous Names From America's Past Sprinkle Trial Of 11 Communists

New York, July 21—(AP)—Famous names out of America's past are being sprinkled into the record as part of the defense case at the Communist conspiracy trial.

Newest additions to the historical roster are the names of John Alden, a Pilgrim father who came to America on the Mayflower, and his wife, Priscilla.

A defense witness, Mrs. Frances A. Hood, of (33 Fayston Street) Roxbury, Mass., testified yesterday that she is a direct descendant of the famous Colonial couple.

But unlike her shy ancestor, John who had to be urged by Priscilla before he would speak even for himself, Mrs. Hood spoke out strongly in defense of the 11 Red leaders on trial.

She said the Communist party—to which she belongs—teaches the preservation of the American government, not its destruction.

Mrs. Hood, a tall Radcliffe college graduate, is the second defense witness from the Boston area who has summoned up the names of historical forebears in giving personal background.

Previously, Daniel Boone Schirmer, another Roxbury resident, and a self-described descendant of the family of pioneer and trail-blazer Daniel Boone, appeared for the defense.

Boy Is Over The Worst In Grafting New Skin

Philadelphia, July 21—(AP)—Little Melvin Hill "is over the worst" of a series of skin grafting operations to repair the damage caused by a blast of kerosene last December 9.

That was the good word today from the five-year-old boy's doctor, Hans May, who says of the patient: "He is one of the nicest little boys I've ever seen."

Melvin, one of 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hill of Flemington, Pa., suffered third degree burns from his waist down as he poked a kerosene-covered shovel into a furnace.

He spent four months in Lock Haven hospital before he was brought to Lankenau hospital in Philadelphia last April for a long series of skin grafting operations.

"He was just a ghost of a little boy when he came," Dr. May recalled.

Dr. May said he used skin from

Flood Of Mail Is Reaching Scott

Raleigh, July 21—(AP)—Tar Heel folks without telephones and electricity apparently managed to hear Governor Scott's speech Tuesday night.

His office reported today that a flood of letters is coming in in response to the chief executive's demand that utility companies extend lights and phones into rural areas.

One man wrote from Stokesdale that a power company had charged him $300 to extend power from his father's home place in Albemarle county to a tenant house—a distance of about 2,000 feet. The man simply remarked: "It was not fair."

A housewife from Bonnie Doone, a town five miles from Fort Bragg, stated she had been trying to get a telephone for eight years. Many of the letters were in this vein.

Another man termed Scott's "go forward" program "the most forward step which any southern state has taken since the Civil War."

The shortest response came in a letter to the governor from a professor at the University of North Carolina. His letter merely stated: "My Dear Governor Scott: "My Dear Governor Scott: "Good stuff!"

Taxpayer Shocks Board By Saying Assessment Low

Los Angeles, July 21—(AP)—Ever hear of a taxpayer who squawked because his taxes were too low?

The board of equalization found one yesterday. George K. Roth, history and government instructor at John Muir College, Pasadena, told board members:

"Last year I made a protest about the inaccurate figure assessed on my lot on Seaview Avenue. This year it was increased to $400. That is not enough. It is still not equalized with surrounding values.

"The lot is worth $1,000 on today's market and should be assessed at $500. There is no reason for any taxpayer to try to avoid taxes rightfully owed."

The board, still in a state of shock, made no decision.

Why The . . .

He said there's been a "complete model" change since 1945. So much for the background.

On the night of July 14 President Truman called a secret talk. Some of the biggest men in government took part: Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson, General Dwight Eisenhower, members of the Congressional committee on atomic energy.

When they came out of the talk they wouldn't tell reporters what it was about. Later newsmen reported it was about sharing information on the bomb with Britain and Canada, and no one has disputed this.

Again yesterday there was a hush meeting, this time called by the Congressional committee. Again some of the biggest men took part. Again they refused to go into details afterwards.

But why the sudden secret talks about sharing secrets? Yesterday C. D. Howe, acting Prime Minister of Canada, said his government had no connection with the talks.

He said his country knows how to make a bomb, although maybe not "as good as the Americans turn out," but doesn't want to make any.

As for information about the bomb Howe says there's some information his country doesn't get from us but is satisfied with what it is getting.

Marine Pilot Is Rescued At Sea

Norfolk, Va., July 21—(AP)—A Coast Guard Picket boat fished a Marine Corps flyer out of the Atlantic off Cape Hatteras, N. C., after he bailed out of his burning plane yesterday afternoon.

The airman, who was unhurt, is Lt. R. J. Gibson, attached to the Marine Corps Air station at Cherry Point, N. C.

Authorities To Enforce Motor Vehicles Laws

State Highway Patrol, police and other law enforcement agencies are receiving numerous complaints about motor vehicles—cars and trucks—traversing the streets and highways with defective mufflers and contributing to unnecessary noise in traffic.

Orders have been sent out from patrol headquarters at Raleigh for patrolmen to apprehend and indict motorists who violate the law concerning mufflers on motor vehicles. Incidentally, the state patrolmen, cooperating with other officers, are making close checks on persons driving motor vehicles without driver's licenses.

The state law provides a fine of as much as $200 for persons driving without operators' licenses.

child's play as compared with the construction of atomic bombs. The problem of production is incredible since it calls for many great plants and complicated equipment which no nation excepting the United States could provide at this juncture.

Thus the security of America and her allies against atomic attack would seem to depend on how soon some aggressive nation might be able to create the industrial set-up for construction of the bomb. Meantime let's not coddle any illusion that we are the only people in the world who know how to make an atomic bomb.

'Management To Blame' For New Unrest Claimed

Blue Ridge, N.C., July 21—(AP)—A college president today laid at management's door the main blame for industrial unrest and conflict.

The speaker, Dr. Douglas McGregor, president of Antioch College at Yellow Springs, O., made his observations before 700 representatives of management. He spoke before the 30th annual session of the Southern Industrial Relations Conference.

Library Reports Circulation Over 124,000 Books

The annual report of the work of the Sheppard Memorial Library and the libraries in the county which work under the Greenville library given to the board of trustees at a recent meeting by Irene Hester, librarian, revealed that the combined libraries in Pitt county had a total circulation of 124,917 during the past 12 months.

The year ending July 1 marked the first 15 months that the Pitt county bookmobile unit had been in operation. Over 20 per cent of all of the books distributed came through the bookmobile unit which makes regular stops in the county serving the places where there are no libraries.

The annual report given by Miss Hester showed that 33,268 books are now in the libraries in Pitt county. New books were purchased at a record rate with 4,071 new books being added to the library system said Miss Hester. These books were used to replace the 972 books which were withdrawn because of their condition or the outdatedness of the material.

The county library system is composed of the Sheppard Memorial Library, G. W. Carver Library in Greenville, and the town libraries in Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, Winterville, a deposit station in Grifton and the Bookmobile unit.

Over 43 per cent of all the books taken out during the year were juvenile books.

The board of trustees of the Sheppard Memorial Library are: T. I. Wagner, chairman, Joe S. Moye, treasurer, Mrs. B. B. Sugg, S. B. Underwood, Jr., D. H. Conley, J. H. Rose, Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Mrs. Ficklen Arthur, and Mrs. Verona Lee Langford. G. H. Pittman serves as representative of the county board of commissioners, and L. M. Buchanan serves as representative of the Greenville Board of Aldermen.

Negroes Return To Groveland

Groveland, Fla., July 21—(AP)—Negroes began filtering back to their homes here today, their fears calmed by National Guard troops in fighting array.

Some looted on the long business street of this tiny lumber and truck farming town. They seemed at ease for the first time since racial violence broke out last Saturday after the rape of a white housewife.

Early Action On Poll Taxes Seen

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Plans for early House action on poll tax and SFC bills were disclosed today in the face of Southern Democratic opposition to the administration's farm bill.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts told newsmen that a bill to ban the collection of poll taxes in federal elections will be taken up in the House next Monday.

Railroad Action Aids Road Plans

Raleigh, July 21—(AP)—Governor Scott's $200,000,000 rural road program got an unexpected shot in the arm yesterday.

The State Utilities Commission announced that railroads voluntarily have reduced rates for hauling gravel, sand, and road materials.

The move was taken, the commission said, to enable the carriers to meet increased competition from trucks.

Dog Catcher Has Many Dogs To Sell From City Pound

E. E. Jones, the municipality's official dog catcher, has a score or more of unclaimed dogs at the city dog pound, across the river for sale. Owners of canines taken up on the city streets can reclaim their pets, he stated. Dogs taken up while running at large on the streets are turned over to owners on payments of the legal fees. When unclaimed they are sold to persons desiring pets or disposed of in a humane manner. Persons desiring dogs for pets may contact the dog catcher at the police station.

Continued High New Car Sales

Raleigh, July 21—(AP)—Sales of new cars in North Carolina continued on the upgrade during June, the State Department of Motor Vehicles announced today.

Last month 6,538 automobiles were sold in the state as compared with 4,011 for June of last year, the department said.

Truck sales declined, however with 1,647 sold this June as against 1,760 last June.

Chevrolet topped passenger car sales with a total of 1,931. Plymouth, Ford and Pontiac followed in that order.

No Patrol School

The last season the Brooklyn Dodgers finished in last place in the National League was in 1905.

Capt. Lester Jones, commander of Troop A, State Highway Patrol, including 15 northeastern counties, announced today that H. C. Rosser, commander of the North Carolina State Highway Patrol, will not have a state highway patrol training school for candidates this year.
