

Senate Confused On How To Reach Foreign Aid Vote

Complex Rules Force Legislation's Return To Appropriations Body

Washington, July 28—(AP)—A confused Senate—tangled in its own complex rules—groped for a way today to reach a vote on the big foreign aid bill.

The whole vast issue was thrown back into the lap of the Senate appropriations committee late yesterday on a technical point, leaving the Senate just where it stood two weeks ago.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) was expected to call the committee into extraordinary session sometime today to decide on a course of action. Some Senators demanded the entire recovery program be re-opened.

The Economic Cooperation Administration already has committed most of its emergency funds, and the European recovery program may grind to a halt before the bill gets back on the Senate floor for a vote.

Briefly, here is what happened in the four hours of confusion which stalled the aid bill:

Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois raised a point of order—a challenge—against an amendment which would have required ECA to earmark $1,500,000,000 for buying surplus American farm commodities. The amendment was sponsored by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.).

Lucas' fight to kill the McClellan amendment led finally to a ruling by Vice-President Barkley which was challenged by Senator Taft (R-Ohio). The Senate sided with Taft by a vote of 51 to 38.

And then McClellan challenged the entire bill with a point of order which automatically sent the measure back to the committee.

The basic issue was not European recovery—but whether the amendments violated Senate rules by writing new legislation into an appropriations bill. The constitution originates that all appropriations originate in the house.

Barkley told reporters the people of Europe should not be alarmed by the vote—because it was purely a technical matter of Senate rules. He predicted a foreign aid money bill will be passed.

But the action wiped out four days of Senate debate and left the issue hanging in doubt—possibly for weeks.

McKellar said the bill probably would be offered in the same form a second time. He said it is his understanding that the Senate action strips the bill of all changes made by his committee in the house-passed version. This means a Senate decision to cut ECA funds 10 per cent has been nullified at least temporarily along with other changes.

100 Yesterday

The highest temperature recorded on the U. S. Weather Bureau thermometers in Greenville yesterday was an even 100 degrees.

One year ago yesterday the temperature was 94 degrees.

Lowest temperature recorded here last night was 75 degrees.

At 8 a. m. today the mercury stood at 84 degrees and at noon it was 94 and steadily rising.

Drifting cumulus clouds gave little promise of rain.

Farmers report that the dry weather is causing tobacco to ripen faster than they can cure the leaf and they are hoping for rain. The hot weather is also retarding the filling out of corn in the fields and young corn is suffering, farmers stated.

Uncomfortable Fact

Portugal's Astute Premier Says Red Army Could Probably Reach Channel With Little Opposition; Such A Drive Now Unlikely; Potential Allied Strength

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Premir Antonio De Oliveira Salazar of Portugal advised his National Assembly Tuesday that under present conditions Russia could, if she wanted to, "carry her armies in a smashing march as far as the English Channel and the Pyrenees."

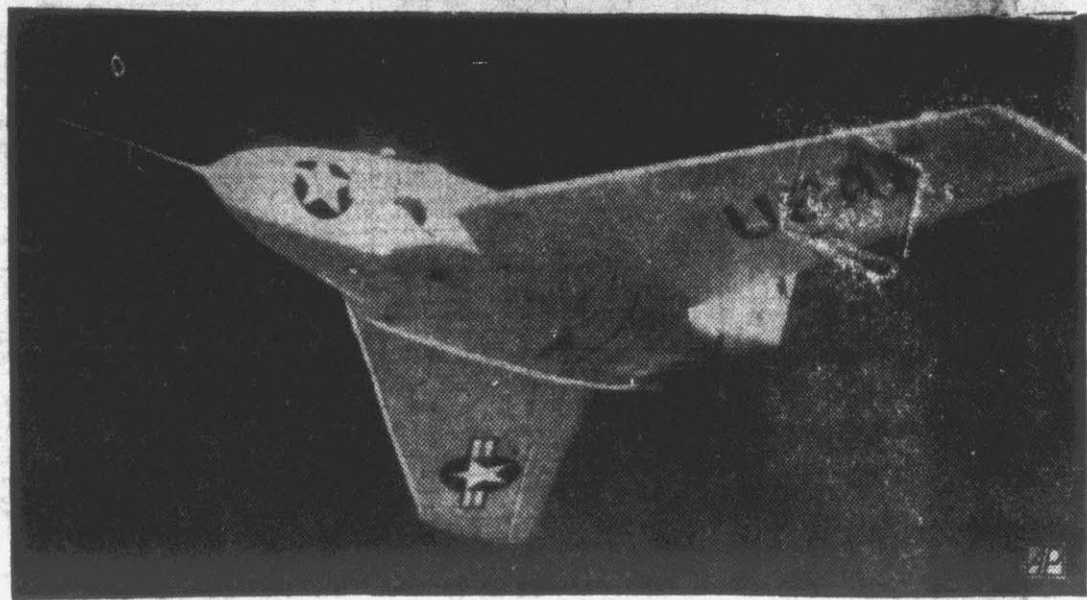

During his twenty-year-old dictatorship the sixty-year-old Salazar has established the reputation of being one of the world's most astute rulers. Therefore when he makes a public statement, which he rarely does, he merits attention.

Of course he was putting pressure on his legislature to ratify the Atlantic pact (which it did yesterday by a vote of 80 to 3). But the fact in itself needn't detract from the validity of his estimate.

The Premier might have added I believe, that while Russia may be capable of such a drive, she isn't likely to undertake it as things now stand. Still it's an uncomfortable fact that from the military standpoint she might be able to achieve it.

As opposed to these forces, Russia is said to have a total of more than

Polio Cases Now Near 7,000 Mark

Running Far Ahead Of 'Second Worst Year', 1944

(By The Associated Press)

Infantile paralysis cases in 1949 are running far ahead of 1944—the second worst polio year in U.S. history.

An Associated Press survey today showed 6,935 cases over the nation through July 26, with 337 polio deaths.

In 1944 the total for the same date was 4,176. Totals for 1944 eventually reached 19,029, topped only by 27,363 in 1916.

The U.S. Public Health Service in Washington reported the 6,339 cases as of July 23 this year was 38.4 per cent higher than the 4,580 reported during the same date in 1948—and 1948 was a near-record year.

The polio appeared to be gaining strength with the hot weather. Government figures showed 1,444 new cases during the week ending July 23. This was an increase of 47.3 per cent over the same week of 1948, which had 979. In 1944, there were 915 new cases for the week ending July 27.

For the most part the polio epidemic appeared to be fairly evenly distributed over the nation. Only scattered epidemic areas were reported.

At least 33 states reported a step-up in the polio rate, while eight showed a decline.

Nineteen states have had more than 100 cases this year compared with only seven states above the 100 mark at the same time last year.

Nearly two-thirds of the nation's polio was centered in nine states. The leaders were Texas, 1,123; California, 708; Arkansas, 488; Oklahoma, 440; New York, 353; Missouri, 302; Minnesota, 286; Michigan, 270 and Illinois, 259.

Bank President Sees Indications Of Tobacco Season Prosperity But Believes It Unwise To Stretch Credit This Year

By CHESTER WALSH

"Prospects for abundant crops with an especially fine crop of tobacco, now being cured, indicate that Pitt county farmers will experience prosperity after the markets open," stated W. M. Woolard, president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, today.

"When you ask me for my advice I am inclined to say that it will be wise policy for farmers and others to take care of their obligations promptly; save some money and not buy too much on credit," the bank president said.

"You know, it now appears that farmers are going to get some good money quickly. With prospective good prices for the leaf, indications are that they will be able to meet their obligations and have some money left over. It might be timely to advise that they are going to get this money quickly, but it's going to be a long time (12 long months) before they get some more," the bank president said.

"It will be unwise for any of us to stretch our credit beyond our means to pay under present conditions. We bankers believe that this year is a good time to be conservative. Pitt County is producing some mighty good crops this year—better than usual. Nobody appears to be worried about prices to be paid for tobacco. This is a time to practice economy, work hard, observe what's going on everywhere and to remember that every season is not a good season," the banker said.

Mr. Woolard, always optimistic always conservative, today held a cheerful outlook on the prospects for the fall season, but he emphasized the importance of using good business practices—individuals, farmers, businessmen and others.

Lay Groundwork To Oppose Laws

GOP In House Plans Court Action If Session Extended

Washington, July 28—(AP)—House Republicans are laying the groundwork to challenge in the courts any major legislation enacted by Congress against their wishes after July 31.

With present plans calling for adjournment around the end of August, a considerable volume of major legislation may be enacted after the end of this month. Set for votes next month are minimum wage, health aid to school children, foreign military assistance, and social security extension bills, in addition to some big appropriation measures.

GOP leaders have reported privately that some of their members will object to action on such bills they don't like after July 31, unless Congress by resolution keeps itself in session after that date.

The objection would be based on a provision of the 1946 Congressional Reorganization Act which says Congress shall adjourn annually not later than July 31 except in time of war or national emergency or unless Congress takes affirmative action to extend the session.

The Democratic leadership of Congress presently has no intention of offering an extension resolution. It takes the position that since the nation still is technically at war and is in a national emergency, the adjournment provision of the 1946 law isn't binding.

Highway Death Toll For June Shows Increase

Raleigh, July 28—(AP)—The death toll on North Carolina highways rose again in June after showing a decrease in May, the State Department of Motor Vehicles reported yesterday.

A total of 62 fatalities and 796 injuries were recorded for last month, the department said. The death toll showed a 22 per cent increase over those killed during June of last year, while the number of injured was a 31 per cent boost over those for the same month last year.

The June figures brought the toll for the half-year to 365 persons killed and 4,157 injured.

Business and professional men were involved in more fatal accidents during June than persons in any other occupation, the department disclosed.

Find Automobile Of Missing Man

Cheraw, S.C., July 28—(AP)—An automobile owned by George Spivey, missing from his home at Mullins since last Saturday, was found here today.

Spivey's billfold, his papers and money removed, was found in the front seat. The ignition key had been broken off but the switch could be turned.

Police said they had no evidence of Spivey's whereabouts. The billfold was the only evidence of possible foul play found in the car, they said.

Barkley Denies Looking For Ring

Chicago, July 28—(AP)—Vice President Barkley said he wasn't shopping for a wedding ring when he spoke at the National Association of Credit Jewellers Convention last night.

The 71 year old widower, after his address, told reporters: "Don't ask me about any women in St. Louis. I'm not here to buy a wedding ring, as one of you suggested."

Barkley stopped at St. Louis last Sunday and paid a social visit to Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, a St. Louis widow he met recently in Washington.

Murray Reveals Union's Demand On Steel Firms

Steelworkers Want Package Hike Of 30 Cents Per Hour In Dispute

New York, July 28—(AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO Steelworkers announced today his union wants a package increase of 30 cents per hour in their current dispute with the steel companies, including a fourth round wage increase of 12 1-2 cents.

Murray revealed the demands for the first time at the opening session of the fact finding board appointed by President Truman to avert a strike in the dispute.

Murray was the first speaker for the union before the board.

The demands also include 11.23 cents per hour for pensions and 6.27 cents per hour for social insurance.

"The union is not afraid to have its side of the dispute examined in the public interest," the gray-haired union head told the board.

"The industry, on the other hand, has been desperately anxious to conceal the economic facts from impartial scrutiny."

"The industry is amassing profits at the staggering rate approximating one billion dollars annually, after all taxes. This is a record high never approached before, even in the boom year of 1929."

The union says that the current average basic wage rate of steel workers is $1.65 per hour. In the previous three rounds of postwar wage increases, the union got 18 1-2 in 1946, 15 cents in 1947, and 13 cents in 1948. The figures for the last two years include some fringe benefits.

As the hearing opened the fact finding board ruled that it would consider evidence on pensions for steel workers along with the two other issues at stake.

This was what the CIO steel workers had asked at a preliminary meeting Tuesday of the three-man board set up to head the case for and against a fourth round wage increase.

Lewis Refuses Industry Offer Won't Give Up 3-Day Work Week For Pact Extension

White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., July 28—(AP)—John L. Lewis refused yesterday to give up his three day work week in exchange for a two year contract without loss of pay.

Lewis' action stirred immediate opposition from the mine owners but they privately said that a show down, meaning the possibility of a lockout of the 400,000 soft coal miners, was not to be expected between now and Aug. 11th, when contract talks are due to resume.

The bargaining negotiations were interrupted yesterday after the soft coal operators offered to extend the present contract until March 31, 1951. Lewis was not present when the operators suggested that the current agreement should be carried over another two years, but Vice President Thomas Kennedy told the operators it was a "ridiculous proposition."

Similarly, Southern coal operators and the union, who were negotiating separately at Bluefield, W.Va., recessed until Aug. 10.

In the meantime coal stock piles which have hurt Lewis at the bargaining table, will be reduced because of his three day work week order limiting production of the coal pits of commercial and steel company mines alike.

Lewis thinks that he can reduce the present coal piles to 20,000,000 tons, the normal reserve, within four to five months.

Lewis' remarks were prepared for delivery to the 10th Annual Cotton Research Congress. The congress opened yesterday and ends tomorrow.

He said farm purchasing power had been reduced through farm prices "falling faster and farther than non-farm prices. He said the United States will begin the new cotton year next week with a carryover of about 5,500,000 bales.

"Well informed men in the cotton trade expect that domestic consumption and the export market in the coming year may amount to about thirteen million bales," Brannan said. "This points to a 1950 carryover of something over seven million bales."

He listed international trade farm income, and the trend of the cotton carryover as elements "basic to the welfare and security of the cotton farmer."

See No Delay In Contract Inquiry

Hoey Says 'Five Percenters' Probe To Begin Next Week

Washington, July 28—(AP)—A public inquiry into the activities of "five percenters" won't be delayed by the illness of a key figure in the case, Senator Hoey (D-NC) said today.

Hoey told reporters the special investigations subcommittee he heads hopes to start hearings some time next week.

The senator said he previously had felt it might be necessary to postpone the inquiry because of the ill health of James V. Hunt, a former Army officer and War Assets Administration employee.

"We still would like to have Hunt on hand at the start, but I find we can get started without him," Hoey said.

Paul Grindle, a Massachusetts manufacturer, has said he paid Hunt $1,000 for help in seeking a government contract. He also said that Hunt claimed influence with two Army major generals who have since been suspended. They are Alden H. Waitt, chief of the Chemical Corps, and Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general.

Washington, July 28—(AP)—A team of seven Republicans and Democratic Senators buckled down today to the task of whipping a new farm program into shape for passage in this session of Congress.

Warns Possibilities Of Direct Military Aggression Cannot Be Ignored; Points Up Constant Fear; Suggests Crossroads Ahead In Soviet Policy

Washington, July 28—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson told Congress today the United States should begin promptly to help rearm Western Europe because "the possibilities of direct military aggression" by huge Soviet forces cannot be ignored.

Leading off the Administration drive for congressional approval of a $1,450,000,000 arms aid program Acheson pictured Western European countries as living under the shadow and constant fear of Russian armies which are the greatest the world has known in peacetime.

He also suggested that Russia is approaching a crossroads in its policies toward the West where it may have to choose whether to continue trying conquest by political means or to resort to "military means."

Acheson appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to make his plea for the arms program, already under attack by influential Congress members.

Acheson said "the mere presence" of the large Russian forces "has had a psychological effect that has been damaging to recovery and stability, and has been a major influence in the loss of freedom and self-determination in important areas of Europe."

"Now can the possibilities of direct military aggression be ignored," he said. "When political aggression fails, as it has failed so far in Western Europe, totalitarian regimes are often tempted to gain their objectives by military means, particularly when they consider that no effective resistance is possible."

"It is our aim to forestall that possibility by making it clear that military aggression against the nations of Western Europe can be undertaken only at great cost and with no assurance of success."

Acheson reportedly told the committee that if this session would back up the plan of the North Atlantic treaty that military assistance he believes peace would be secured and no aggressor would dare take on the whole combination of Western powers.

"The fundamental pledge of the treaty, that an attack on one signatory will mean an attack on all, closes the door to piecemeal aggression," Acheson said.

The bulk of the proposed arms aid would go to pact nations.

Acheson said that in the light of treaty pledges and with the arms program he did not believe "any aggressor at this time would dare" to take the "desperate gamble of an

Trailer Truck Turns Over On Farmville Road

A big truck and trailer, driven by Marvin Lee Modlin, 24, of Washington, N.C. got out of control on the Farmville highway, about five miles from Greenville last night, left the highway and turned over.

State Highway Patrolman Paul Whitley said the damage was not extensive and that the vehicle was not going very fast at the time. The driver was not hurt.

The patrolman said it appeared that the driver temporarily dozed off in a nap when the truck capsized. No arrest was made.

Washington Dog Days

Congress Continues To Show Slow Progress On Overloaded Calendar Of 'Must' Items; One Way To Speed Up Adjournment—Turn Off The Air-Conditioning

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 28—(AP)—These are the dog days in Washington, when the weather is hot enough to boil your shirt, and Congress is trying to finish up for the year and go home.

In spite of the heat, which is scorching the city like a blow-torch, the old, slow, waltz-me-around-again pulling and tugging among the Congressmen never stops.

Of course, they have a nice place for it, air-conditioned, and their offices are cool, so where they do their fusing and long-winded speechmaking is pleasant as spring.

After walking in out of the crushing summer sun and watching them operate in their unwrinkled linens, I figured I could speed up their unfinished business.

It would be easy. Just move them to some of the un-air-conditioned offices in Washington, turn them loose, and see how long it would take them to get done and go home.

Congress wants to get away by Sept. 1. There are a few things left to clear up. That is, of the things they want to clear up.

None now is all talk of some of the big programs that got so much attention earlier in this session. For example, a National compulsory health insurance program.

Nothing will be done on that this year. Maybe next year. But it would be a sturdy character who'd bet that anything happens on it next year, either.

Then there's President Truman's civil rights program—the anti-poll tax bill, an anti-lynching bill, and the FEPC (the fair employment practices commission)—which held a big place in the news when this 81st Congress took over last January.

I can't see how any of it can be squeezed in, even for debate. And there's less chance for any of it to get passed. That will make plenty of talk next year, too.

The Senate earlier this year passed a federal aid to education bill. Then it was sent over to the house for action, since the bill couldn't be law without house approval.

But now it's unlikely the house will act on it, so that will make one more year in which a federal aid to education bill cannot make the grade in Congress, but not quite.

Since the Senate acted, there's been so much legislative controversy over it—particularly the dispute between Francis Cardinal Spellman and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt—that the House will probably skip out of its way.

Congress may try to get through a new minimum wage law—raising minimum pay for workers in interstate industry from 40 to maybe 75 cents an hour—and it may act on these.

Widening social security benefits and voting money for President Truman's program to arm western

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
July 28, 1909

On Monday night last the young men of Greenville gave a delightful sail on old Tar river in honor of Miss Kathleen Long, of Graham, whose visit here came to an end Wednesday morning. During the sail the Green Lemon quartet, an organization of home boys, rendered several beautiful selections. The most pleasant feature of the evening, however, was the singing of Miss Long. The night was ideal. The whole party appeared to be infected with the moonlight and all were half sadly silent as they listened to the familiar old songs which were so sweetly sung. Those who made up the party were: Miss Kathleen Long, of Graham, with Frank W. Wilson; Miss Mary Shelburn with Ames Brown; Miss Lillian Burch with Tom Dupree; Miss Jamie Bryan with Will Lipscomb; Miss Margaret Blow with Willie Wilson; Miss Susie Warren with Cecil Cobb; Miss Myrtle Warren with Jesse Harrington; Miss Helen Johnson with Carl Wilson; Miss Lillian Carr with Thurman Moore; Miss Fannie Bagwell with Mr. Williams; Miss Mamie Bagwell with John Long Horne; Miss Nellie Pender with Charles Haskett; Miss Bettie Reese with Alvin Dupree; Miss Lee Brown with Bob Howard; Miss Helen Forbes with Sam White; Miss Glenn Forbes with Will Best; Miss Mary Smith with C. B. Barnhill; Miss Lila May Willis of New Bern with C. H. Summers of Salisbury; Miss Mattie Moya King with Bill Patrick. Stags Alex Blow, Walter Barnhill, Charlie Manning, N. O. Warren, Burney Warren and Joe Anderson. Chaparones: Dr. and Mrs. Zeno Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Daughtridge.

The living room was decorated with pink garden flowers and in the dining room all white flowers were used. White crepe myrtle and phlox formed the centerpiece on the refreshment table.

Miss Eva Hodges served frosted coffee and cocoa sodas. She was assisted in serving sandwiches, pin wheels, party cookies, pickles and potato sticks by little Misses Elizabeth and Anna Louise White and Margaret Ella Greene.

Miss Glenn was presented an honor gift by the hostess.

Cars Collide At Silo Cafe In City's Suburbs

A car driven by Waldron J. Sanderson, Route 3, Tarboro, collided with the rear end of a car driven by Miss Sue Lassiter of Greenville near the Silo, suburban cafe, on the Winterville highway, last night. Neither of the drivers was injured.

Sanderson's car was considerably damaged. The other car was slightly damaged.

Highway Patrolmen Cpl. John Laws and Paul Whitley, who investigated the collision, said Miss Lassiter was slowing up preparatory to driving into the Silo Cafe parking lot when the collision occurred.

The officers cited Sanderson to court on charges of reckless driving and improper brakes. He will be tried in Police Court Friday.

Accuse Father Of Having Sold Daughter For $500

Bessmer, Ala., July 28—(P)—A young father has been accused of selling his two and a half year old daughter for $500. Police said they are checking reports that he offered his other daughter, age eight months, for adoption for $600.

Edwards' 24-year-old wife said $140 of the money went to buy a 1936 automobile.

Doors Tightened On Bootlegging

Raleigh, N.C., July 28—(AP)—A double-barreled "squeeze-play" now has been effected on Tar Heel bootleggers who obtain liquor from the state of Maryland.

State ABC Chairman R. W. Winston announced yesterday that major distillers have advised him they have directed wholesalers in Maryland to cease selling to distributors who export into "dry" areas, especially North Carolina.

This move apparently applied the clincher. Maryland passed a regulation effective July 15 outlawing the export by distributors of liquor into a state or section of a state which forbids its sale.

These two actions resulted from a campaign launched last month by Winston to cut the lines supplying bootleggers in "dry" parts of North Carolina.

The ABC chairman said he was very much pleased at the cooperation given by the distillers. He added that his office plans to keep a sharp watch for the opening of new supply lines.

CAN-CAN RUFFLES . . . For flirtatious ladies, this black sheer wool sheath with petticoat ruffles of nylon net. By Lilly Dache.

VAMPIRE SILHOUETTE This evening sheath of black is shirred from neck to knee, banded in velvet and hemline chou.

SIREN STUFF . . . Brown silk tweed combines with a huge hip drape of black velvet for dinner elegance. The huge hat is black velvet.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor
A woman should look like a woman, says Lilly Dache, who has been applying that principle to her hat designs for many years. Now, in her first wholesale dress collection, the dynamic Lilly revives the era of Irene Castle, the days of the Merry Widow hat, the peg-top drape, the hobble skirt silhouette.

Mme. Dache, French volatile and possessed of definite ideas, sometimes bordering on the violent wishes luxurious fabrics and lush trimmings with a fine free hand, achieving an effect of elegance bound to have its effect on the national style picture.

Strictly asexual in flavor are the low, revealing necklines, the daringly draped skirts and the outsize Merry Widow hats of black satin or velvet which highlights the Dache collection. There are, of course, plenty of slim, simple and youthful suits, plenty of demure evening skirts and blouses for the less daring. But the theme closest to the designer's heart is the vampire note.

There are can-can ruffles flaring unexpectedly at the knee of a dress with a tightly draped torso. There is an evening gown, hirtes and banded from neck to knee, blossoming into tiered ruffles below. There are dinner gowns with yards and yards of fabric draped on one hip yet managing to achieve a sleek and tapered silhouette.

When Mme. Dache designs coats, she cuts them with plenty of yardage, muffles them up around the shin with huge collars, wraps them tight about the hips. Some of her hats have a feeling of height, others are huge picture hats, to frame the face and balance the silhouette.

Another trick which the designer draws from her capacious sleeve is the sheath evening dress which may be transferred indefinitely by addition and subtraction of boleros, cummerbunds and aprons.

TVA Plugs In Millionth Power Customer Today

Humboldt, Tenn., July 28—(AP)—The Tennessee Valley authority, the Government's power colossus of the south, plugs in its one-millionth customer here today.

With elaborate ceremony, the farm of 50-year-old Chester Williams will be turned into an electrical paradise after years of oil lamps and wood stoves.

A large group of public power officials were invited to see the Williams home hum with new electrical appliances—range, refrigerator, deep freeze unit, hot water heater and a pump to make obsolete the old oaken bucket that hangs in the well.

TVA director James P. Pope of Knoxville paid tribute to the TVA distributors who ran power lines to a million valley homes, farms and businesses.

"In 1933 there were only 15,000 electrified farms in the valley," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at the ceremony. "Today there are almost 300,000. The 144 distributors operate 66,000 miles of rural lines, enough to span the American continent 20 times."

Pope added that the remaining valley farms are being electrified at the rate of six to seven thousand each month.

The director said the 20-times increase of electrified farms was so significant that it was appropriate to honor a farmer as the millionth consumer.

"Miss Tennessee"

Miss Adelyn Sumner (above), 22, of Knoxville, was elected "Miss Tennessee of 1949" in a beauty pageant at the state convention of the American Legion in Chattanooga. Chosen from eight finalists, she will represent Tennessee in the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City, N. J., in September. (AP Wirephoto).

Tobacco Sales Continue Heavy But Prices Off

Valdosta, Ga., July 28—(AP)—Prices dropped $1 to $5 a hundred pounds yesterday, the second day of the Georgia-Florida flue cured tobacco market.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported general quality of the leaf was lower than on the opening day.

Auctions the first day totaled 10,519,478 pounds for an average price of $46.70 a hundred. Volume exceeded opening sales of last year by 1,750,000 pounds.

Era Of Bucket Brigade Is Ending

Athens, July 28—(AP)—The Bucket Brigade of Aurora soon will be nothing but a nostalgic memory.

This little town is now the proud possessor of a flashy, modern fire engine with all the trimmings.

The truck, first ever owned by the town, was delivered here yesterday. It was purchased from the proceeds of a bond issue voted last spring.

Anniversary

Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, July 28—(AP)—Thirty five years ago today World War I broke out as an indirect result of a double slaying in this ancient town.

On June 28, 1914 Serbian student Gavrillo Princep fatally shot Archduke Francis of Austria and his pretty young wife.

Criticism For Bernard Baruch

Moscow, July 28—(AP)—Bernard Baruch was taken to task here today for his remarks about the economy of Western Europe.

Most newspapers printed a dispatch from New York by the official Soviet news agency, Tass, quoting Baruch as being dissatisfied with the activities of countries participating in the Marshall Plan. They also carried his statement that Britain was spending too much time on nationalization.

"In a word," said the story, "Baruch considers himself the boss of Western Europe and hastens to make a kind of remarks a boss makes."

Strength FOR THE DAY

LET THE TIDE DO IT
Many years ago when the Hell Gate bridge was being built over the East River in New York, engineers discovered the bulk of a derelict ship sunk deep in the mud just where one of the piers of the bridge was to be located. Try as they would, they could not dislodge the bulk, and apparently all the tugging in the world was never going to raise it from the bottom.

At last one of the engineers had a bright idea. He took an old flat boat and, when the tide was low fastened it to the sunken ship. Then he waited for the tide to rise. What the boats could not do, the great energy of the sea did with ease. When the tide swept in, the derelict was loosened from the bottom of the river, freed from the mud in which it had been imbedded for generations.

There is a spiritual truth here which must be apparent to us all. We have sins and weaknesses in our lives at which we have been tugging for years in an attempt to get rid of them. The message not only of the incident related above but the whole revealed word of God is that if we will let the tidal energy of the divine sweep into our souls it will raise out of our lives the derelicts that have become imbedded there.

We fight a losing fight against sin when we try with our own efforts alone to dislodge it. It is only when we give our lives into the hands of God that He does for us what we cannot do for ourselves.

THE LION
The British Lion, in true form, again has struck out its shaggy paw for a lion's share of the doles from the pockets of American taxpayers.

The unexpected request from the British government for $624,000,000 more American aid than had been tentatively allotted to the country from Marshall plan funds has caused much unrest in the other European countries which are attempting to regain their sound economic status through the use of United States loans.

While the smaller Marshall plan countries had resigned themselves to the Congressional slash in appropriations the British government has come forth with a request which if granted would give her approximately 40 per cent of all the money appropriated by Congress for European economic recovery.

Should the British request be granted it will mean the other countries will have to give up dollars to help Britain, and it is unlikely that the other nations will be willing to make such sacrifices for the support of the British socialist government. On the other hand, all decisions of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation, the organization which splits up Marshall plan funds, must be unanimous. Should Britain hold out for her request, chances are that real cooperation between the countries will be out of the question.

The British government has been riding out its economic storm on the backs of the tax payers of the United States for years, and during the course of time Britain's economic situation has failed to show appreciable improvement. Through poor administration in the British government, millions of American dollars are being poured down the drainholes created by the over-nationalization of the country's industry and business.

Britain's economic condition is important to the United States, but also important to this country is the economic situation of the other European nations which are struggling to get back on their feet.

The British government should tighten its belt and do the best it can with the share of the American dollars allotted to it, and not expect to drain off the dollars from the other needy countries to toss into its own tidal wave of spending.

MORNING CITY — Representatives of resort areas and operators of facilities catering to the travel trade let it be known they want the state advertising policy which has prevailed for the past twelve years continued. Some fifty men and women from mountain, sandhills and beach resort areas made an impressive presentation of their case to the state board of conservation and development at its annual summer meeting here.

AROUSED — Those engaged in serving tourists and vacationists have all along supported the state advertising program, but this was the first time such unanimous and enthusiastic interest has been manifested. One beach chamber of commerce officer said maybe they are just coming to realize the importance of cooperative and concerted effort. One of the 26 men from the Wilmington section said

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Going to school is an ordeal for some people simply because it's difficult for them to understand why they are studying math, history, science, or a foreign language. They just can't see how they'll use what they learn in those subjects after they leave school. During the war the Army was smart enough to require its instructors to motivate the troops — to emphasize always the need of learning a subject.

There is a subject taught in our schools that requires no motivation—home economics. In high school every girl is beginning to think about getting married, and learning how to cook and sew go along with that thought.

Last night one of wife Rachel's college chums, Mrs. Nancy Williams of Warrenton, was our guest for dinner. Nancy is attending the Home Economics Education Conference at East Carolina Teachers College, which has as its purpose the improvement of teaching methods. Over 180 teachers are attending the week-long meeting.

To me Home Economics had always meant a study of cooking and sewing. Nancy was quick to remind me that I share the opinion of most people, but actually Home Economics includes seven phases: child development, housing, family relationships, health, consumer economics, food, and clothing.

In the tenth grade the study of family relationships branches out to include boy-girl relationships. Nancy provides a question box for her students to drop unsigned questions in, so they will not hesitate to bring up their problems. Typical questions: "Should I let a boy kiss me on the first date?" (Nancy's answer: No!), "How old should I be when I start having dates?" "I'm 14. Should I date someone who's 27?" "How late should I be allowed to stay out at night?" "How will I be able to tell when I'm in love?"

In answer to that last question Nancy tells her students that they are too young to know. The time will come, she assures them, when they will know without question.

Nancy emphasizes to girls the fact that they should wait until they are in their twenties to get married, and their husbands should have an adequate income, say $40 a week. At hearing her make that statement, Nancy's students ask her where they will have the opportunity to meet such millionaires.

Nancy says that a majority of her students actually think that their parents are being mean to them by requiring them to come in early. She emphasizes to the girls that their parents love them so much that they don't want anything harmful to happen to them. "When you have children," she says, "you'll feel the same way."

In December Nancy was married. Rachel asked her what her students thought about her getting married. Her reply: "They probably thought it was about time." Nancy's 24.

And I thank you.

showing inclination to cooperate. A co-ordinated advertising program boasting the peculiar advantages each and supported by all has been developed and the operators insist upon that general policy being continued.

SHARPE — Spokesmen for the groups all paid high tribute to Bill Sharpe, retiring head of the news-advertising bureau, and voiced regret that he is leaving the state for employment in private business. Art Jones, manager of the Asheville chamber of commerce, presented a resolution from that body urging the board to ask Sharpe to reconsider.

PROGRAM—It was made clear however, that the associated tourist interests are more concerned about the program itself than about who will direct it. They know that final responsibility rests upon the board itself. They had heard of proposals to divert a substantial part of the advertising fund to educational work inside the state and to promoting the C and D department. They vigorously oppose such ideas.

BIG—E. L. White, former mayor of Wilmington, pointed out that the tourist industry yields big cash returns to North Carolina, something like two hundred million dollars a year. While operators of resort facilities are chief direct beneficiaries, White noted that roadside tourist homes, filling stations and farms selling food products also shared in distribution of this huge sum. Albert Tufts of Pinehurst, Incorporated, said because of their individual advertising, type of operation and clientele, his hotels did not directly benefit from state advertising. However, his company strongly endorses the program as it has been carried out in the past.

TAR HEELS—Some concern was expressed about the probable fate of the Honorary Tar Heel organization. That is a group of nationally famed writers and photographers who have done stories about this state and have spent a good deal of time here. Board Chairman J. L. Home gave assurance every effort will be made to keep this group identified with the state. They met at Nag's Head in April, will come to Morehead City in September and will go to Cataloochee Ranch in Haywood county for a bear hunt in October. These visits always produce "good copy" about North Carolina.

Boyle's Column

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
There is considerable talk—one might almost say propaganda—about how mistaken we all are in assuming that life stops abruptly around the 40th birthday.

The opinion, however, is held in some pretty important places—like employers who want to hire new hands. Almost any want-ad section you read is studded with job notations bearing age requirements most of which place 35 as the maximum. A Mr. Pitkin wrote a book about life beginning at 40 which several years ago put a little fire into the idea that wisdom and experience counted for something too.

But no one seems to have done much to disabuse the general public of the idea that there can be fun, even glamor, on the long side of the 40th birthday. And for this little notion, I think we can thank heartily not only the movies but our popular fiction magazines.

Miss Isobe Moore, who writes stories and sells them to these aforementioned magazines, came right out on a radio broadcast I happened to be listening to one day and admitted there was a magazine cabal against permitting any female of such advanced years becoming, of all things, heroine.

"If you want to sell your story," said Miss Moore with some bitterness, "you have to keep your heroine under 40, and she must be slim. Oh, she might have a few gray hairs, but only a very few."

This situation, she continued, offers some pretty problems to authors who have evolved a plot about a married woman (the heroine) who has adult children. This plot occasionally, very occasionally occurs in magazines, just to break up the monotony of a steady diet of young-love, boy-meet-girl romances.

"And it's a real problem," said Miss Moore. "You constantly find yourself in the position of having a heroine who must have married when she was 13, 14 or 15 years old, or else you have to be uncomfortably vague about her current years or the passage of time."

We all know that in the movies attractive mothers always look in their early 30s.

Both the magazines and motion pictures are aesthetically interested in keeping older heroines on the painfully thin side. The magazines have their glamor illustrations to think about, too.

The result of this campaign—it's probably unintentional and concerned with popularity—has been unfortunate. The great American reading and movie-going public has gradually absorbed the idea that (a) once a woman is 40, she's ready for knitting and the rocking chair, brother and that's it and (b) nothing interesting or exciting can possibly happen to a woman a bit over the weight limit.

Obviously, that can't be true. Remember, the Duchess of Windsor was 40 when she became a Duchess. Remember, the number one hobby of American woman is dieting, as a look at the advertisements and articles in those same offending magazines will tell you. If you took out of circulation all the pump-and-girls and women in the country more than the nation's economy would be upset. The nation's menfolk would be, too, and there certainly wouldn't be anywhere near enough women to go around.

There has been a notable increase in heroines/ages recently in the magazine stories. Seems to me now that the idea age is around 28 for unmarried heroines. The married ones can sneak into the thirties and still hang on to romance and glamor.

The daring authors of Broadway's top hit, "South Pacific" have even farther by having their hero a guy in his mid-fifties—a widower, yet—deeply and romantically in love. But they have the heroine cut more in the traditional pattern.

Maybe by next year, some brave soul will do something about a wild love affair between a gray-haired widow of 45, a little on the plump side, and a balding gent of 55, also a little inclined toward avoirdupois. On second thought, maybe they

Locomotive Bell Goes To Church

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(AP)—After 30 years on a locomotive, a brass bell from engine 1509 of the Atlantic Coast Line now calls the faithful to services at the Lakeview Presbyterian church. Engine 1509 formerly ran between Tampa, Fla., and Richmond, Va., but it has been retired. The church is in the process of being built and until it is finished, services are being held in the basement.

Highway Commission Has $7 Million Surplus Says Chairman

Raleigh, N. C., July 28—(AP)—The State Highway Commission ended the fiscal year with an unobligated surplus of $7,684,927.43, Highway Commission Chairman Dr. Henry W. Jordan announced yesterday.

Scott had predicted, during last year's gubernatorial fight that the July 1 figure would be under $8,000,000. Some of his opponents declared it would range between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

A year ago the commission had a surplus of $38,832,467. With the addition of the past year's collections, the total available for use during the 1948-49 fiscal year was $102,176,481.10.

Of this total, $85,201,539.79 was spent on normal commission activities. That left programmed funds of $9,280,983.88 and the unobligated fund of $7,684,927.43.

In issuing a statement on the commission's end of the year finances Dr. Jordan declared that rural areas will begin getting bond money roads in the fall.

Commenting on the Highway Commission plans to spend $50,000,000 of the $200,000,000 road bonds in the current fiscal year, he said: "We expect to spend these funds in an intelligent and business-like manner as soon as the commission's road-building facilities have been carefully expanded to take care of the additional load."

Dr. Jordan declared "the expenditures of the fiscal year just ended show clearly why the highway commission needs the extra road money made available by the people in the June 4 election. With little more than $7,000,000 in unobligated funds remaining on July 1. We would have been unable to carry on a highway building program equal to that of the last two years."

"The $200,000,000 bond issue funds," he continued, "have been authorized at a time when our war-accumulated surplus is used up and when our highway roadbuilding machine is reaching peak operation capacity."

A regular 1949-50 appropriation of $21,178,628, added to the programmed $9,280,984 surplus, will mean a total of $30,459,612 for the commission this year. This is about the same as the amount spent in the past year.

The audit showed that commission expenditures rose to a new high of $86,201,539 last year. For the two previous years the figure was $70,905,888 and $74,646,094. Most of the increased spending went for road construction and betterment.

Wounded Woman 'Should Recover'

Kinston, N. C., July 28—(AP)—The estranged wife of a young electrician was in a critical condition today after being shot yesterday by her husband who later killed himself.

The suicide victim was Joseph Franklin Albritton, 24, who died last night in Memorial General Hospital a half hour after shooting himself in the heart, Coroner Raymond Jarman reported.

A bullet was removed last night from the chest of 22-year-old Mrs. Mollie Christine Hamilton Albritton, who had been separated from her husband since last February.

Dr. Oscar W. Cranz said that although Mrs. Albritton is still on the critical list, she would recover from her wound unless something unforeseen develops.

Albritton shot his wife with a .22 caliber pistol, Coroner Jarman said, after he had failed to effect a reconciliation as she sat in an automobile on a Kinston street corner. Albritton then drove the car to Liberty Hill Road about a mile east of here, the coroner added, where he shot himself in the heart as Mrs. Albritton sat by his side.

She did not lose consciousness and declared after her arrival at the hospital that her husband shot her and then himself, Jarman said.

The coroner said it was a clear case of attempted murder and suicide.

FACTS ABOUT BEER

From the Census of Manufactures

The U. S. Census of Manufactures supplies what is probably the most authoritative index of an industry's place in the national economy.

Preliminary reports for 1947, the first business census since 1909, are now being released by the Government. They show that the brewing industry makes a valuable contribution to the nation's welfare and economy.

The Government report shows that in 1947, the brewing industry paid out $292,000,000 in both wages and salaries, spent $508,000,000 for materials, supplies, containers, fuel and contract work, and another $111,000,000 for new plants and equipment—making a total of approximately $912,000,000.

The brewing industry employed 82,524 persons—63,668 of them being engaged in production and other related operations. This latter group averaged $3,300 per year per worker—one of the highest wage averages to be found in any American industry.

For three centuries beer and ale have contributed to moderation and temperance in America. The Census report confirms that economically, too, beer's legal sale and manufacture is an American asset worth preserving.

Italian Police Insure Privacy

Milan, Italy, July 28—(AP)—Photographers cruised out to take pictures of Winston Churchill swimming yesterday, but they were stoned by police. Several rocks nearly hit their motorboat.

Churchill is vacationing at Gardone on Lake Garda in northern Italy. He has requested privacy from newsmen and photographers.

Giuseppe Mundo, assistant Milan police chief has ordered confiscated any pictures of Churchill in swimming tops.

Canadians estimate their country has 1,290,360 square miles of forested area.

Famous U. S. Third Army Will Have Its 'Day' On August First

In order to commemorate and perpetuate the outstanding military history of the famous Third United States Army, and especially its victorious drives across France and Germany during World War II, Army Commander Lieutenant General Alvan C. Gillem, Jr. has designated August 1 as Third Army Day throughout the seven states comprising the Army area.

The commanders of all Army units and installations in the seven southeastern states will arrange appropriate military ceremonies commemorating the brilliant achievements of this battle-scarred Army.

In World War II, Third Army became operational on August 1, 1944 and under the dynamic and daring leadership of General George S. Patton, Jr., immediately initiated the drive which carried triumphantly across France.

In rapid succession it captured the fortress of Metz, France, turned to the north and engaged in the Battle of the Bulge; then steamed relentlessly and ruthlessly across the Rhine, destroying an entire Army group.

The following wartime members of the famous Third Army will be invited to be special guests at various Third Army installations on August 1, Third Army Day:

Major General Hobart R. Gay, commanding general, Military District of Washington, to Third Army Headquarters, Atlanta; Major General O. P. Westland, deputy commander National War College, to Headquarters Third Army; Brigadier General Walter J. Muller, commanding general, Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Virginia to Fort Bragg, N. C.; Colonel Halley G. Maddox, Third Army Headquarters, Atlanta to Fort Benning, Georgia; Colonel Frederick S. Matthews, Second Army, Fort Meade, Maryland to Fort Jackson, S. C.; and Colonel William A. Horne Jr., Georgia National Guard to Fort Jackson, S. C.

All Third Army combat veterans both present members and former members, will be honored on this date.

Walkout Has Hit Fashion Showing

Paris, July 28—(AP)—The world famous fall fashion showings by the dressmakers of Paris were threatened today by a walkout of 14,000 seamstresses.

The shows are scheduled to begin next week. The effect a complete work stoppage might have was uncertain.

While many designers said their autumn models are ready and that they could go ahead with their showings. It was understood some dressmakers might have to cancel their shows. There normally is feverish last-minute activity in the shops, with final alterations and fittings.

The seamstresses asked wage raises to bring levels up to 40 cents an hour for skilled tailors. The proposed salary scale ranged down to nine cents an hour for first year apprentices. The employers say this would be a 30 per cent increase.

The walkout was not complete last night. A survey showed Schiaparelli and Lanvin shut down and curtailed operations at Christian Dior, Jacques Heim and the Jean Dessè establishments. Carven and Balmain reported normal activity.

Plan Opening Of Tobacco Market

Florence, S. C., July 28—(AP)—Government graders and tobacco warehousemen opened a two-day conference here today to plan for the opening of auction sales on the South Carolina Belt. Government tobacco officials from Washington, Columbia and Raleigh also were present.

A second tobacco meeting will be held here beginning 2 p. m. tomorrow. This will bring together warehousemen from the South Carolina Belt and the Border Belt. They will sign contracts with the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corporation.

Sales on both belts start next Tuesday.

Husband, Wife Held As Bandits

New York, July 27—(AP)—A man-and-wife bandit team was arrested in a stolen automobile at Times Square at 2 a. m. (EST) today after a holdup in a bar and grill in which they made a getaway and gunfire, police reported.

The pair was trapped by an alarm sent to police radio cars. They were booked as Charles and Dorothy Robinson of Louisville, Ky., and charged with robbery, assault and violation of the anti-weapons law.

Gunnison, Colo.—(P)—There's no profit in re-selling stamps so the First National Bank is glad it's out of the "postoffice" business.

Tellers were puzzled by a flood of tourists asking for stamps, mailing schedules and such until one visitor finally noticed that an arrow sign, intended to point to the post office around a corner, had been moved by the wind until it pointed directly at the bank.

DIXIE—THE MARGARINE WITH THAT FLAVOR YOU HAVE ALWAYS WANTED. DIXIE means D-e-e-licious!

Ask for BOWL-MIX OR QUICK-MIX DIXIE MARGARINE

This is another big reason why we're sure

LUCKY STRIKE

MEANS FINE TOBACCO!

Tests made by America's largest cigarette research laboratory scientifically help Lucky Strike buyers select the fine tobacco that goes into Luckies!

YOU SEE HERE the largest and most complete laboratory of its kind operated by any cigarette manufacturer in America.

For many years Lucky Strike scientists have delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale. Out of this has grown an elaborate system of quality control. Every step in the making of Luckies—from before the tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the laboratory's watchful eye.

As you read this, a constant stream of tobacco . . . samples from every tobacco-growing area . . . is flowing into the laboratory in Richmond, Virginia. These samples are scientifically analyzed, and reports of their quality go to the men who buy at auction for the makers of Lucky Strike.

Armed with this confidential, scientific information—and their own sound judgment—these men go after finer, lighter, milder tobacco. This fine tobacco—together with scientifically controlled manufacturing methods—is your assurance that there is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike!

This man knows where fine tobacco grows. Here is one of Lucky Strike's tobacco-buying supervisors gathering sample leaves from a curing barn. Such samples are obtained from every tobacco-growing area and sent to the laboratory for pre-market analysis. No wonder—L. S./M. F. T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco!

This scientist knows how to test tobacco. In our Tobacco Control Division, samples sent to the laboratory are subjected to scores of analyses to determine smoking quality. This vital testing, both before and after tobacco is purchased, has been conducted for years . . . still another guarantee that Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.

Reports received. The laboratory sends results of the analyses to the buying supervisors. This information helps the buyer go after finer, lighter, milder tobacco for Lucky Strike. Thus the judgment of the buyer at tobacco auctions is combined with modern science at the laboratory to assure you that Luckies are a finer, milder cigarette.

We know:

Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Maultsby of

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the Rector Kitchens

Here Is Tantalizing Taste Appeal

You'll find this platter, will strike a high note in appetite appeal with your family and friends—yet it is a thrifty main dish because it makes the most of three of the season's tastiest foods—Wilson's Certified Frankfurters, fresh-garden sweet corn and sliced vine-ripened tomatoes. It's an All-American team-up that is delightful summertime eating.

During this warm weather we are quite naturally interested in finding foods that may be prepared quickly and easily: Main course platters that appeal at once to the flourishing play-time appetites of children and the lagging hot-weather appetites of adults. Corn filled frankfurters will do just that! You just can't go wrong this new way with an old favorite.

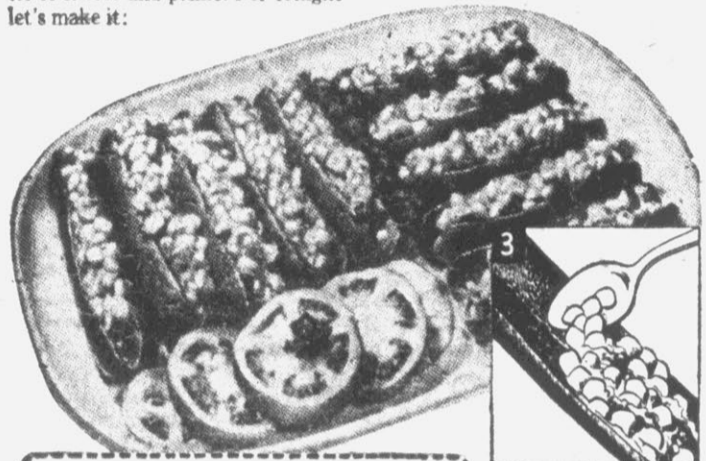

Of course, corn is not the only good filling for frankfurters, but it is timely. There's a great variety of vegetable slaws including carrot and cabbage that are perfect in cold franks (franks are already cooked, you know). There's fruit filling like pineapple. There's bread stuffing and the reliable favorite of cheese and pickle. For tonight let's make it:

Corn from cob or can

Plus egg and seasonings

Bakes tastily in Franks

CORN FILLED FRANKFURTERS

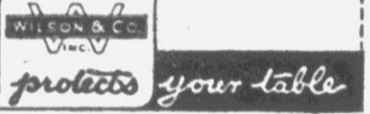

Cut half-way through one side:

1 lb. Wilson's Certified Frankfurters

Inside you'll find the leanest pork and beef delicately blended with spices to enhance their rich natural flavor. My, they are good! Meanwhile blend:

- 1 cup cooked fresh-cut corn from the cob (2 ears), canned whole kernel or frozen
- 1 slightly beaten egg
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons Clear Brook Butter or Certified Margarine

Place in a shallow baking pan. Add water to a depth of 1/4 inch and bake in a 350° F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes or broil until appetizingly browned.

Greenville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, July 24, at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Woodard of 1101 Fifth street. Rev. P. H. Mumford, pastor of York Memorial A. M. E. In the receiving line were Mrs. Maggie Woodard, Mrs. Laura Walker and Mrs. Luia Dawson, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. Maultsby who following the ceremony entertained at a reception on the spacious lawn.

Braves vs Athletics
The Braves had an easy time winning their third game in a row yesterday, winning over the Athletics at Third Street by the score of 20 to 4. The Braves hit the ball hard and often to run up the big margin. Taylor had a big day at bat with two doubles, a single and triple. Johnny Farley and Bobby Perry had three hits apiece and Dash a visitor hit a triple and homer. For the A's Walter Gooch with a homer and single and Sydney Briley with two doubles got four of the hits that the A's managed off of the slants of Farley.

Yankees vs Reds
The Yanks won over the Reds in a free hitting contest 16 to 13 yesterday at W. Greenville. The Reds scored twice in the sixth to tie the score at 13 to 13, but the Yanks came back in the seventh to score three runs to win. Bobby Nunn of the Yanks had three hits, one of which was for the circuit with the bases loaded. Dallas Evans had two singles for the Yanks. Billy Casper, a newcomer from Texas led the Reds with two hits.

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Maybe Connie Mack was right when he said his Philadelphia A's still had a chance in the American League race.

They laughed at the kindly old gent when he spoke with optimism in St. Louis as his A's floundered close to the second division. They had lost 12 of their last 14 on a sorry road trip.

When he let Carl Scheib pitch the entire nine innings at Chicago last week, absorbing an 18-hit, 12-0 drubbing, many figured Mr. Mack was conceding.

Then the A's turned a doubleheader sweep over the White Sox Sunday and now three straight over the wobbly St. Louis Browns and they have a shiny new five-game winning streak. Furthermore, they are only 7½ back of the leading New York Yankees and only a half game behind the sizzling Boston Red Sox.

To cap this turn-about-face, Scheib went the route again last night, despite a five-run first inning assault by the Browns.

Scheib survived and settled down. Roy Sievers and Dick Kokos hit homers in that first inning and Bob Dillinger smashed a triple. After that frame, Scheib allowed only two more hits.

Philadelphia won the opener of the twilight-night doubleheader for Lou Brissie, 7-3, with a four-run spurt in the fourth when Eddie Joost cleared the bases with a double.

Chapman Is Only U. S. Golfer In Quarter-Finals

Saint John, N.B., July 28.—(AP)—America's hopes in the Canadian Amateur Golf championships rested with Dick Chapman as play entered the quarter-finals today.

The Pinehurst, N.C. veteran became the only U.S. survivor after yesterday's expulsion of defending champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio. Tommy Riddell, Quebec amateur king, ended the muscular American's two-year reign one up in 19 holes.

Chapman, 1940 American Amateur champion and 1947 runnerup for the British Amateur title, had little trouble getting past the two 18-hole rounds yesterday. He first defeated Doug Batus, Vancouver, 4 and 2, then took his afternoon match from Vern Mobs, Edmonton, Alta., 6 and 4.

U. S. Athletes In Norway Figure To Take Lead

Oslo, Norway, July 28.—(AP)—The powerful United States track and field squad figured to take the lead tonight in the second session of the three-day "Little Olympics."

Heading tonight's program is the first half of the decathlon competition. Young Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., the American and

Snead Provides Ample Warnings

St. Paul, Minn., July 28.—(AP)—The Western Golf Association's 46th open tournament moves onto a public course for the first time in its history today, with Sam Snead warning the field that he'll be tough to beat.

Snead conveyed his warning in double-barreled fashion yesterday, first, in a practice round he put together a six-under-par 66. Then just to show he meant business, he won a driving contest with a 300-foot effort, 12 feet better than the 288-footer of Cary Middlecoff. Snead drove another ball 296 feet just to prove it was no mistake.

The combination of the low practice round score, and the long drives furnished potent ammunition for Snead's supporters, who have claimed that the way the driving contest ended is just about the way the Western open will end—Snead in the No. 1 spot and Middlecoff just behind.

If Snead can fulfill that prediction, he will hold three major titles. He has won the National Professional Golfers Association crown and the Masters.

The Greenies are now tied with the Tarboro Athletics for fifth place in the league standings and Greenville dropped a decision to New Bern. . . . Despite the fact that Goldsboro took a double loss last night the Greenies are three full games behind the fourth place Bugs. They are six and one-half games behind first place New Bern. . . . The win for New Bern was their ninth over the Greenies this season as against seven losses. . . . Steve Miserak, deposed manager of the Goldsboro Bugs, has returned to his home in New Jersey. That the folks in Goldsboro liked Miserak is shown by the fact that Goldsboro fans started a drive to raise funds in order to see that Steve didn't suffer financially from losing his temper when he resented being called an allegedly ugly name. Quite a sum has been raised and contributions continue to come in for the former manager.

Maxie Wilson, former Wilson manager-player, will take over the managing duties with the Goldsboro Goldbugs. Ed Worley, president of the club, says that Lefty will be in the front office as business manager for a few days. He will be engaged as active player-manager of the Goldbugs at an early date, Mr. Worley said. Wilson will take over the duties of Steve Miserak who was suspended for 90 days for clouting a Coastal Plain League umpire. . . . Greenville fans will have a chance to see Johnny Jones, famous baseball clown, at least on two occasions when the Greenies play away from home. He will appear in Wilson when the Greenies play there August 4 and will be in Rocky Mount on Saturday night, August 6, when the Greenies play in that park. . . . And a last note on Sunday baseball. New Bern applied to League Prexy Ray Goodmon for permission to play a Sunday night game this coming Sunday with the Kinston Eagles. He granted the Bears the permission to do so. The regular curfew will govern this contest as controls week day games. No inning will begin after 11:50 p.m. Sunday's usual curfew is 5:50 p.m. for a new inning. The games cannot start before 9:15 at night. Wouldn't be a bad idea to play that twin bill here this Sunday night with Tarboro; would certainly be better than having the players bake in this hot weather and the sun and belief is that there will be a larger attendance. Whether they could play two games in the period allotted is another matter, but is well worth trying and if this couldn't be worked out how about playing one in the afternoon and the other one Sunday night. . . . Goldsboro had Booster's Night at their double-header game with Rocky Mount in Goldsboro last night and over 2,000 paid admissions jammed the Goldsboro Municipal Stadium to witness the twin bill. A nice purse was given to the holder of a lucky ticket during the contests.

Yohn Holds Bears Until Big Fifth Frame When Four Hits And Four Runs Spelled Defeat; Greenies Score In Second And Eighth

By BERT MOYE

The New Bern Bears garnered all four of their hits and all four of their tallies in the fifth inning to edge a 4 to 3 win over Greenville in New Bern last night to even the two-game series between the two clubs.

Junior Yohn, on the mound for the Greenies, pitched hitless and scoreless ball up until the fifth frame when the Bears jumped on him for four hits, including two doubles, to send him to the showers and Art Mascarella was called in to finish the game. Mascarella put out the fire and held the Bears hitless and scoreless in the remaining frames.

In the fifth, Joe Wheeler doubled and Jim Burns singled. Art Frieburger walked to fill the bases. Pete King singled into right for two runs and Joe Anthony sacrificed the runners down. Neil Howard's double into leftfield scored the last two runs.

Nick Polica making his third appearance for the Greenies, collected two singles in four trips to the plate and on each occasion his Greenville run.

The Greenies did all their scoring in two frames, scoring one run in the second frame and then coming back in the eighth to put across two more tallies and drive starting hurler Spec Padgett from the mound.

The Greenies collected a total of ten hits off the offering of Spec Padgett and Manager Bull Hamons with Sid Varney collecting three singles in four trips to the plate to lead the attack. Steve Denier got a double and a single and Nick Polica came through with two timely hits to help out in the attack.

Junior Yohn, who was credited with the loss, dropped his fifth loss of the season as against nine wins.

The win for Spec Padgett was his eighteenth win of the season and his second against the Greenies. He has lost seven.

The Greenies travel to Kinston tonight to meet the Kinston Eagles in the first of a two-game series and on Friday night play the Eagles back here at home.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

BORN of the STORM

By Sidney B. Carter

Chapter 22

Dennis helped her out of the car and led her indoors to the living room. Priscilla was so interested in the fire, which was exactly as she had known it would be, and in the comfortable furnishings that she scarcely knew that Dennis had helped her off with her coat and handed it to a manservant to take away.

"Tom, this is Mrs. Kent," Dennis was saying. Priscilla turned apologetically and smiled at Tom. He was a thin, capable-looking man who smiled back at her and disappeared. A moment later he reappeared noticeably with a couple of long ones.

Priscilla took her drink from the tray and sat down with a feeling of relaxation she had not known for a long time.

"This is wonderful," she said with a sigh. She had really meant "You are wonderful," but one couldn't be that frank until the other person...

Dennis was seated on an ottoman at her feet, looking at her with his soft brown eyes. "You are wonderful," he said. Priscilla felt a rush of emotion. It was simply too much, the contrast between this lovely place and the Kent home, Dennis' kindness as against Kenneth's brutality. Her eyes filled with tears and Dennis, seeing them, turned away and gazed into the fire.

Priscilla leaned over to put her hand on the coffee table and somehow she and Dennis were in each other's arms. He pulled her over to him and they sat on the ottoman together, her arms around his neck. He raised her head and his lips rested ever so lightly upon hers. Gradually he pressed her to him and their lips clung closer. Reluctantly he released her. He held her head between his hands.

"Oh, my darling!" he breathed. Priscilla gazed at him, her senses enthralled—unable to speak. She drew his face down to hers and kissed him again.

"I knew it would be like this," she said. For answer he drew her to him again.

Priscilla was flushed and excited as they ate their meal and Dennis, too, seemed to feel very gay. He teased Tom about his cooking every time the man came into the room and, although Tom didn't seem to mind the teasing, Priscilla kept telling him how good the food was for fear his feelings would be hurt. Kenneth seemed very far away.

After dinner they settled themselves cozily on the couch. Dennis' arm placed protectively about Priscilla's shoulders.

"Why did you come back, Dennis?" she asked after a few minutes of silence. "Did it have anything to do with me?"

"Yes, it had a great deal to do with you," Dennis answered. "Gertrude wrote to me and your brother-in-law."

"Why, what did they...?" Priscilla began. She was really surprised. It was surprising enough to know that Gertrude had written to Dennis about her, but James... that was the most surprising of all. Dennis cleared his throat as if in embarrassment. "Well, they said," he told her, "they wanted to let me know how you were getting along. They thought I'd be interested. They told me that your marriage wasn't working out so well and that you weren't expecting a baby."

"Yes," said Priscilla. "I was expecting a baby, but..." Her mouth twisted bitterly as did her thoughts. She could not say any more about that.

"So I came back when I heard

Superintendent J. H. Rose Tells Extent Of School Improvements

Superintendent of Greenville city schools J. H. Rose today described features of an intensive construction and remodeling job that is under way in the city school system.

In the Greenville High School building alone, over $20,000 is being spent on repairs and changes to the building, Rose said.

The roof of the building has been resurfaced at a cost of about $8,000 and is like new, while the gym has been worked on and will soon be painted.

Other changes being carried on in the high school building consist of cutting another door into the Principal's office, painting of all the building which was not painted last year, and the installing of new furniture in some of the rooms.

New equipment has been ordered for the Home Economics rooms and the floors of two rooms in the basement of the building will be covered with tile.

Superintendent Rose said during the coming year $3,000 will be spent towards equipping the libraries in the school system with new books, bringing them up to date.

At the C. M. Eppes school over $25,000 is being spent on the building and grounds.

The entire building has been repaired and a new room has been added for use by each of the following classes this fall: the art class, wood-working department and the band group.

Work has been carried on for the past weeks on the grading of a modern sports field next to the high school building.

In addition to the work in the two high schools, the grammar schools are also being worked on with the construction of new rooms at Third Street and West Greenville. A lunch room and a first grade room which is supposed to be the most up-to-date room of its kind is being built at the Third Street school, Rose said.

Bulwinkle Goes Back To Capital

Gastonia, July 26—(AP)—Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle of North Carolina's 11th district returned to Washington today after a two-month illness.

The 66-year-old former attorney major flew from Charlotte to the capital. For several months he has been confined to bed with a spinal ailment.

Byrd's Leadership Faces Serious Test On Tuesday

Richmond, Va., July 26—(AP)—The successor of Governor William M. Tucker.

Battle's opponents are Francis Pickens Miller, out-and-out anti-Byrd candidate; Horace H. Edwards, former mayor of Richmond and former Democratic state chairman; and Remmie L. Arnold, Petersburg pen and pencil manufacturer and a member of the Imperial Divan of the Shrine.

Three years ago Byrd himself was challenged by Martin A. Hutchinson, Richmond lawyer, but the senator defeated him 141,923 to 81,905.

This year's four-cornered contest isn't so simple as the Byrd-anti-Byrd fight of 1946, and for this reason the threat to Byrd is more serious.

Battle, 59-year-old Charlottesville lawyer, is chairman of the Finance Committee of the Virginia Senate and like Byrd, is known for fiscal conservatism. He hopes there will be no serious split in the conservative vote.

Miller, 54 and also from Charlottesville, was a wartime colonel on Eisenhower's staff. He has campaigned for what he terms a "free society" and has denounced the Byrd organization—the "machine" in his words—on every suitable occasion. Miller is an ardent Roosevelt-Truman Democrat while Byrd was frequently at odds with both presidents.

Edwards, 46, broke with the Byrd organization last summer and is campaigning as a "middle of the road" man. He says he thinks the people want a change but not such a revolution as he predicts Miller would bring about.

Battle and Miller supporters picture the contest as a fight between them, but Edwards supporters contend this is propaganda intended to prevent Edwards from drawing strength from both sides. None of the candidates, except Arnold, predict that the Petersburgurgher will run better than fourth.

Waldrop Advises Buying Of Bonds

"It looks like Pitt County has hit the jackpot this year, with the best crop of tobacco in many years, and equally other good crops," J. H. Waldrop, vice-president and cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, said today.

"Most of the farmers will have ample funds to pay their debts, with some to spare," he added.

"Nation-wide unemployment is up, production is slowing down and prices are leveling off, according to statistics," the bank official pointed out. "Now is the time to prepare for the 'rainy day.' I would advise the purchase of United States Savings Bonds, to start savings accounts in your respective banks. We should all remember that the pendulum swings, and sometimes are inclined to deal in extremes. It is a true saying that whatever goes up must come down. My advice is to be prepared for whatever the future may bring economically—whether it's good or bad." Cashier Waldrop stated.

The Aiken law, much criticized during the 1948 election campaign, is based on a so-called flexible price support program. It would allow federal price supports on some crops to dip as low as 60 per cent of parity—a government-set standard considered fair to both farmers and consumers.

The present law sets most supports at 90 per cent.

Anderson, former secretary of agriculture under President Truman told a reporter he believes the bipartisan group "can work out an acceptable farm bill before this session ends" to replace both the existing laws.

Aiken promised Republican cooperation "if we can work out a simple bill based upon flexible supports that everybody understands."

"The gangster mind likes to gamble only one sure thing," he said. "It is the aim of this program to insure that successful swift and comparatively effortless military action by an aggressor would be impossible and therefore to make the gamble too hazardous to be tempting."

One after another Acheson sought to meet the criticisms of the arms program by Senate and House members during the Senate debate on ratification of the treaty.

He said that because "our resources are limited" it is necessary to concentrate the main American effort on Europe. He termed this an effort vital to American security.

But the arms program alone will probably provide almost a month's talk in the Senate where talk is unlimited and plenty of Senators don't like the idea of sending munitions overseas.

Meanwhile, though, there'll be plenty of news out of Congress. Congressmen will be holding hearings and issuing statements.

In keeping with the celebration of Safety Week, this is only to remind you to do your part. This is a very important week. Many lives are lost because of carelessness—a nail sticking up, a broken step, a wire sticking up, broken glass, sharp points turned up, hoses and rakes, throwing lighted matches in.

Remember you are your brother's keeper when it comes to dearning the lesson of safety, always remember the lives and health of others.

The question is often asked—who takes charge in growing the family garden? The county agent thinks that both should get their heads together in growing a garden when the miltly budget will be more complete when vegetables are involved.

Stay in the garden for the next 30 days, plant the following vegetables, so we can feel that we will have plenty of vegetables as well as some for the neighbors—collards, tomato plants, cucumber, turnips, roasting ear corn, okra, Irish potato.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—Soybeans and lard ran away from the rest of the market on the board of trade today. Opening as much as 7 cents higher on a rush of buying orders, soybeans slumped a few cents around mid-day and then came back to push to new highs for the day late in the session. Grains never did very much.

Wheat closed 1/4% lower, September $2.06-2.05 1/2. corn was 1/4% lower to 1/2 higher, September $1.28 1/2-1/2, oats were 1/4 to 1 cent lower, September 64 1/2-1/2, rye was 1/4 to 2 cents lower, September $1.53 1/4-1.53.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Another Tobacco Barn Is Burned

A tobacco barn on the farm of E. L. Joyner, two miles on the Stantonburg road was destroyed by fire last night about 1:30, the Greenville Fire Department reported today.

The tobacco barn was in flames by the time that a truck from the fire department could travel to the fire.

Firemen Ray Smith and Bobby Gaylor who manned the fire truck sent to the barn said they could only prevent the fire from spreading to other structures as the barn was too far gone when they arrived.
