Ehringhaus Rites Planned Tuesday

Heart Attack Takes Former Governor Following Weeks Of Illness; Family Requests Quiet Last Rites; Successful Political Record

Raleigh, Aug. 1—(AP)—J. C. B. Ehringhaus, North Carolina's governor during the critical depression years of the early 1930's, died of a heart attack last night.

The 67-year-old former chief executive was stricken at 7:30 p.m. in his suite at the Sir Walter Hotel. His wife was with him but he died before a physician could arrive. He had been ill for several weeks.

He was elected governor in November, 1932, at the height of the country's most devastating depression, and took office the following January. During those critical days, he kept the state on an even financial keel and no essential state services were suspended. He often said he was proud of the fact that no public schools had to close during this period and teachers continued to get their pay.

Since leaving the governorship, Ehringhaus had practiced law in Raleigh in partnership with his son, J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Jr.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of the Good Shepherd (Episcopal) here Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. Commitment rites will follow in the afternoon at the Elizabeth City Episcopal Church at 3:00 p.m.

Governor Scott's office said that, in accordance with the wishes of the family, the body will not lie in state. The family also requested that no flowers be sent.

John Christoph Blucher Ehringhause succeeded O. Max Gardner to the governor's chair by defeating Clifford C. Frazier, the Republican standard bearer, by a 265,096 majority. He had defeated Lt. Governor Richard Fountain and Revenue Commissioner A. J. Maxwell in the Democratic primaries.

Sick with influenza, Ehringhaus left a Norfolk, Va., hospital bed to take the governor's oath Jan. 5, 1933. Then followed four momentous months.

Ehringhaus had to face bank closings, starvation tobacco prices, a $15,000,000 state deficit, and myriad other matters arising from a floundering economy.

When he left his office the deficit had become a surplus. He had proposed the sales tax as a last resort, telling the legislature when he endorsed it that "God helping me, I cannot do otherwise." The three per cent tax has never since been repealed.

Starvation tobacco prices in 1933 caused the governor to issue an unprecedented proclamation closing warehouses until satisfactory prices could be worked out.

He was one of the first to call on industry to accept the NRA codes, and when the Blue Eagle was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, he urged employers to maintain its wage standards.

In December, 1936, he called a special session of the legislature which saw the enactment of the unemployment compensations law.

Senator Clyde Hoey succeeded Ehringhaus to the governor's chair in 1937.

In 1912 Ehringhaus married Matilda Bradford of Washington, N.C. They had three children, J. C. B. Jr., a daughter Mrs. James Cordon of Raleigh, and a son, Haughton.

Ehringhaus was born in Elizabeth City Feb. 5, 1882, a son of Erskine and Carrie Colville Matthews Ehringhaus. He got his law degree from the University of North Carolina in 1903 and immediately began his practice.

Maragon Hints Bank Accounts Being Checked

Concedes Senate Committee May Have Subpoenaed Records In Probe

Washington, Aug. 1— (AP) —John Maragon told reporters today that a senate committee investigating Washington "five percenters" is checking the records of a bank account he had three years ago in San Antonio Tex.

The dapper Margagon called a news conference to deny reports that he had been fired from the American mission to Greece in 1946. But he conceded the Senate expenditures committee may have subpoenaed records of his bank accounts.

Maragon, a one time Kansas City bootblack who once had a pass to the White House, told the committee in previous closed sessions, members said, that his only bank account was in Washington.

Asked by reporters if he had maintained a $40,000 account in Texas, Maragon at first refused to answer.

Later, however, he said he had an account in San Antonio, Tex., about three years ago. He said he thought the name of the bank was the Commercial National.

He wouldn't say how much he had on deposit, or say what business he was in at the time.

The "five percenter" investigation involves persons who charge that fee to get government contracts for business men. The practice is not illegal.

Maragon denied that he is "connected with any one percenters, five percenters, 50 percenters or million percenters."

He said the question of his bank accounts is not how much may have been on deposit, but how much of the money was his.

"You may have a $500,000 bank account and the question is how much of the money is yours," he declared. "You can be in business and make transactions and the deposit ledger will show big amounts, but the question is how much of it is yours."

It was learned earlier today—from the official record of the hush-hush investigation—that Maragon's testimony dealt in part with the disposal of government surplus property.

Judge Refuses Dismiss Case Against Kluxer

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 1—(AP)—Circuit Judge Lewis Bailes today refused to dismiss a contempt citation against Klan Chief William Hugh Morris. Morris' attorney said it was "now impossible" for him to deliver Klan records to a grand jury.

Judge Bailes overruled a motion to dismiss the contempt citation offered by Hugh Locke, attorney for the portly Alabama Klan official.

Morris had promised to do "anything I can" to find secret KKK membership rolls, which he claims were stolen from his home while he was in Jefferson county jail. He is free on bond.

But at the hearing before Judge Bailes today, his attorney repeated an earlier plea by Morris that it was impossible for him to bring forth the records.

The hearing is continuing.

Improved A-Bomb Is In Mass Production

AEC Also Reports Other Atomic Products Being Produced In Greater Quantities Than Ever Before

Washington, Aug. 1—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that its new and more effective atomic bombs—proof-tested at Eniwetok—are being produced "on an industrial basis."

It also said uranium and plutonium for bombs and other atomic energy uses are being produced "in greater quantities than ever before."

Relating "advances in all phases of the national atomic energy program," the AEC in its sixth semi-annual report to Congress also listed progress on the medical front, including indications that relatively inexpensive radioactive cobalt may eventually prove to be a better cancer treatment than radium.

At the same time the AEC disclosed it had found ace-in-the-hole sources of uranium in this country that could be used at some future time for military applications—in case the uranium we now get at home and abroad should cease to be available.

This country now gets most of its uranium from Belgian Congo and Canada which have ores of a high uranium content. Some of the precious stuff also comes from low-grade carnotite ore of the Colorado plateau—an ore relatively low in uranium content.

The commission told today of extensive exploration and prospecting by the AEC and the U. S. Geological Survey all over the country.

This involved "comprehensive examination of virtually every rock formation in this country, and of mine and smelter products, gas and oil wells, and other places where uranimum might occur," the AEC said, adding:

"By mid-year this work had revealed enormous tonnages of very low-grade materials (that is, materials low in uranium content).

"They cost more to process but they could be utilized in the future to sustain an atomic energy program for military purposes, should lower-cost uranium cease to be available."

Tarboro Pickets Prevent Opening Of Cotton Mill

Tarboro, Aug. 1—(AP)—An attempt was made today to reopen the strike-bound Hart Cotton Mill here but the back-to-work movement failed in front of a massed line of pickets.

The Tarboro Southerner reported that approximately 50 retiring workers were denied admittance to the mill by a group of more than 300 pickets.

The incident was witnessed by about 200 non-employe townspeople and more than a half dozen policemen. There was no physical violence, the Southerner reported.

The mill announced last Friday that it would reopen today. "The mill is ready to operate and if the people want to work, it will be available to them," Marcus W. Carter, the mill's general manager, declared.

Lucas Calls For Farm Bill Before Congress Quite

Sees Little Hope Of Closing Shop Before Sept. 5; Holiday Talked

Washington, Aug. 1 — (AP) — Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader of the Senate, called today for passage of a farm bill. He included it on a long list of "must" measures that may keep Congress in session well into September.

Lucas told a reporter he sees little chance that Congress can get away before Labor Day (September 5) at the earliest. If it takes much longer than that to get action on administration bills piled up on the calendar, the lawmakers will just have to stay here, he said.

Among measures Lucas scheduled for action are the House-approved Reciprocal Trade Agreements bill, a measure to lift the minimum wage level to 75 cents an hour, a House-approved proposal to increase government salaries from cabinet members down the line, the pending foreign arms program, a displaced persons bill, appropriations measures and a civil rights bill.

Republican senators will discuss tomorrow a proposal by Senator Morse (R-Ore) that they back a plan for Congress to wind up its present work August 20 and come back November 15.

Lucas said he would rather go on through than to have any such recess. Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee also is against returning to Washington in November.

Lucas said he will keep the Senate working on appropriations bills until all of them have been passed. The minimum wage proposal will come up then, with reciprocal trade agreements legislation behind it.

The Senate may untangle itself early this week from a parliamentary knot which has held up final action on the $6,500,000,000 foreign aid funds bill, most of which is for European recovery.

The measure was sent back to committee to strip out amendments that had been challenged as violating the rule against policy-making proposals in money bills. It comes back to the Senate today with some of the amendments reworded.

Lucas said he will continue his fight to force a requirement for two-thirds approval on two of them. One would earmark $1,800,000,000 in Economic Cooperation Administration and Army funds for purchase of surplus farm crops, and the other would set aside $50,000,000 for loans to Spain.

Ehringhaus died here last night.

Says Hesitation Over Truman Program Would Have Wide Ramifications; Failure To Act Now Might Possibly Cost More In Future

Washington, Aug. 1—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall told Congress today that hesitation in approving President Truman's program of foreign arms aid would be "most unfortunate" and have "wide ramifications."

The former Secretary of State, who was Army chief of staff during World War II, testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee that, while failure to approve the program at this time would result in "a minor economy," it also "might result in the possibility of a major outlay later on."

Endorsing President Truman's $1,450,000,000 program, Marshall agreed with previous statements by Secretary of State Acheson and the Army chief of staff, General Omar N. Bradley.

Marshall told the committee that he had not sat in on consultations while the plan was being worked out, but that he was briefed on it at the State Department last Friday.

"I had been strongly of the opinion x x x that action of this nature was urgently necessary," he added. "As to the fundamental policy involved there is no doubt in my mind as to the desirability of action of this nature immediately."

It is necessary, he said, for the nations of Europe who are friendly to the United States and are resisting Russia to have "mutually cooperative action against aggression."

In the long run, Marshall testified, the program will strengthen rather than weaken the military position of the United States and will give momentum to our foreign policy.

Marshall said that in 1939, if the military requirements stated by the armed services could have been met even to a modest degree, we could have whittled away at least six months of the duration of the war."

He emphasized that he was not criticised Congress or the administration.

He said "the real issue" at that time was the attitude of the American people, which was affected by "a real, aggressive and vocal minority."

Marshall stressed the value of "timing" in the pending program and said the psychological effect of its rejection would not be good among the democracies.

He was the only witness scheduled today by the House Foreign Affairs Committee in its study of the plan to help Atlantic pact and other nations resist possible Soviet aggression. His appearance was expected in advance to touch off a lively discussion of why China was excluded from this arms aid.

Marshall represented the United States as special ambassador to China following the war and is considered by many committee members as a foremost authority on Far Eastern politics.

Questioning of other witnesses, including Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson, has failed to satisfy critics seeking the reasons for not sending what remains of non-communist China in for a chunk of the proposed help. About the only information given to date is that the Far Eastern situation is now being reviewed.

Spain also is not included in the list of nations for which arms are proposed, and some committee members don't like that. Without enlarging the projected cost of the program—about $1,450,000,000 in all—they want its scope expanded.

Border Belt Market Is Set To Open Tomorrow

Experts Sound Optimistic Note For Growers With Predicted Opening Average Of More Than $50 A Hundredweight

(By the Associated Press)

Thousands of tobacco growers along the Carolinas border begin trading their gold leaves tomorrow (Tuesday) for green dollars. And the experts say the farmer will get a pretty good trade for 18-month labors.

It will be an important day in the economy of the tobacco growers, manufacturers, warehousemen, and local merchants that dot the cluster of market communities in South Carolina and the North Carolina border.

Even the peddler has a stake in the tobacco market. He will be there dangling his wares before the farmer with the fat pocketbook.

Tobacco experts have predicted a crop slightly larger than last year's 230,881,008 pounds for the Border belt. This crop was gathered and cured just before the recent hot and dry spell struck.

Tobacco marketing experts have sounded an optimistic note for Border belt growers.

W. P. Hedrick, marketing specialist for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, predicted an opening price average of more than $50 a hundredweight.

The belt's opening average last year was $50.09 for 8,639,768 pounds.

Henry M. Hardee Dies In Norfolk

Former Greenville Resident Known As Philanthropist

Henry M. Hardee, 82, of Norfolk, Va., retired business man and philanthropist, died at a Norfolk hospital Saturday afternoon at 2:15. He suffered a fall about 10 days ago, fracturing his collarbone. His death was unexpected.

Funeral services will be held in Norfolk Tuesday at 11 a.m. Burial will be in the Hardee mausoleum in Norfolk.

Mr. Hardee, a native of Greene County, was born in the Ormondsville section. He came to Greenville in his younger days and engaged in the mercantile business. He went to Norfolk about 40 years ago and was engaged in the real estate business there until his retirement some years ago.

Mr. Hardee's philanthropies are legend. He always took an active interest in church and educational affairs and young people. In 1941 he donated $10,000 to Greenville Girl Scouts, Inc., with which to erect the main building on the Girl Scout camp site on Pamlico River below Chocowinity.

This gift was in honor of the memory of his father and mother. A bronze plaque over the fireplace in the Girl Scout administration building, containing Mr. Hardee's name and those of his father and mother, was placed some time ago. The summer camp, overlooking a high bluff on the river, was named Camp Hardee in their honor.

Recently, Mr. Hardee made an additional gift of $1,500 to the Girl Scout camp.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Carl Hardee of Norfolk and Henry M. Hardee Jr. of Suffolk, Va.; three daughters, Mrs. Marie Schonk of Norfolk, Mrs. Hattie Tripple of Norfolk and Mrs. Essie Lassiter of Gloucester, Va. Numerous nieces and nephews in this section of the state also survive.

China Policy Studied

State Department Creating New Pattern For Far Eastern Diplomacy; Should We Send Aid To Nationalist China? The Red Avalanche; Containing Communism Is Goal

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The question of what, if any, further material aid America can usefully give to hard-pressed Nationalist China in her fight for survival against the Chinese Communist revolutionists has again become a burning subject of public debate.

Meanwhile the Washington State Department is engaged in creating a new pattern for far Eastern diplomacy, including the policy for China. Philip C. Jessup, Ambassador at large, is hearing a group of experts who are preparing an exhaustive report on past policies toward China, supposedly to clear the way for a fresh policy.

Thus far there has been no official indication of the trend of the projected diplomacy. Still, as a matter of speculation one would expect that the Chinese policy would be made to fit into a general Far Eastern program for halting the spread of Communism in that vast area.

So far as concerns China, the big question is whether the Nationalists under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek already have shot their bolt. On this point there is a wide, and sometimes vitriolic, difference of opinion in the United States.

The Red avalanche has continued to sweep southward until the temporary Nationalist capital in the great coastal city of Canton is threatened with capture. Still, the imperturbable Chiang—veteran of a lifetime of wartime—maintains that his followers are far from beaten and still can win, with outside material assistance.

Do conditions in China justify his judgment? That's one for American military chiefs to decide.

However, as previously indicated, the Chinese puzzle would seem to be a part of the general problem of containing Communism in Asia as a whole. The major question is how America and her Democratic allies can build a dam to prevent the spread of Communism in the Orient.

In considering this problem one envisages the creation of a series of positions which would form a huge arc about western and southern China, from Japan to India. Please take a look at your maps of Asia and see what this means.

You will see that this arc includes Japan, the Philippines, French Indo-China, Siam, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies, Burma and India. One would expect that the new Asiatic program, unless it represents a great change, would include the consolidation of this vast arc against the Red advance.

That arc, when consolidated, would form a tremendous barrier to the Communists. Indeed, there are many

Even The Police Joined In Hunt For Teddy Bear

A heart-broken kid this week is vacationing on Ocracoke Island with her parents. Not that the child doesn't like the change from her Raleigh home to the sandy island but enroute she lost her life-long friend — a fuzzy, well-worn teddy bear.

The Raleigh couple stopped at a Greenville restaurant for a meal during the week-end enroute to Washington to catch the mail boat to the outer banks. While in Greenville a small handbag either fell from, or was taken from their car—and in it was Teddy.

The loss was not discovered until the couple reached Washington and prepared to board the boat. The child asked for Teddy, but he was not there.

The couple contacted friends in Greenville, and even the local police joined in the search for Teddy, but so far the bear has not been found.

The father of the child said the teddy bear would be "worth its weight in gold" to the child, if it could be recovered.

Year To Year Basis

The Marshall Plan Is A Four-Year Plan, But Money Is Appropriated To Keep It Going Each Year; Dawdling Along Has Slowed Appropriation; Senate Argues

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 1—(AP)—Delayed doings during dreary days let legislators' lawmaking linger.

That sums up what's been happening to the Marshall Plan this slow-paced, unexciting session of Congress.

More than a year ago President Truman laid the plan in Congress' lap to help Europe recover from the war.

And last year Congress approved it and voted money to keep it going one year. But it's a four-year plan.

So, for each of the four years it must come before Congress, which then has to decide to:

1. Kill it altogether, instead of letting it run the full four years. (That's not going to happen this year.)

2. Or, approve it for another year and vote money for it for another year, suiting itself on how much money it votes.

In Congress there's a big difference between approving (authorizing) something and voting money (appropriating) for it.

They're two separate actions. Congress may authorize something but not get around to appropriating for it for weeks or months.

So this year the plan came up in Congress again. In April the House and Senate authorized it for one year more.

That was in the spring and Mr. Truman had asked Congress to appropriate $6,200,000,000 for it for another year.

Dawdling along with other stuff, Congress didn't get around to appropriating money for the plan till this summer.

The House acted in June on that but decided Mr. Truman was asking too much and trimmed the total.

Then it was the Senate's turn since there couldn't be any appropriation at all unless the Senate also voted money and both houses were in agreement on how much. But—

Before the Senate could vote, it had to have an appropriations bill outlining how the money was to be spent.

It's the job of the Senate's Appropriations Committee to prepare the bill. This it did.

But it also thought the President was asking too much. Like the House, it decided the total should be chopped.

But the Senate Appropriations Committee went a step further. It wrote these instructions into the bill before sending it up to the Senate for a vote:

One billion, 800 million dollars of the total money (including that for occupied areas), should be used for buying surplus American crops—

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
August 1, 1909

The Greenville Tobacco market opened today for the sale of the 1909 crop. Owing to previous bad weather and heavy rains there was not much tobacco on the market, the five warehouses having only a few loads each. Though they did not bring much tobacco, there were many farmers present to see how the market started off and they seemed satisfied at the opening prices which ran from 4 cents to 12 1-2 cents. There will be seven months in which the sales can be made and the farmers will find it profitable to sell only part of their crop each month and not crowd the market.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Holds July Meeting

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7032 held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday night, July 28, at the club house.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Margaret Brown. The opening prayer was given by Chaplain Lossie Lewis. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Ruth Garner, and approved.

The following new members were sworn in: Mesdames Jane Broadwell, Jane Joyner and Minnie Mae Laughinghouse.

Letters of thanks were read from the retiring state president, Mrs. Alberta Varner, and post national president, Alice Chadwick, for gifts sent to them by the Greenville auxiliary to the state encampment.

The auxiliary voted favorably on the following issues: to send as many members as possible to Veterans hospital in Fayetteville the fourth Sunday in September to entertain the patients, to send 5 wrapped birthday gifts to Veterans hospital and to send $5 to help furnish the Guest House at Oteen.

Mrs. Lossie Lewis very graciously thanked the ladies for flowers cards and visits during her recent illness.

After the closing ceremonies the meeting was turned over to the hostesses, Mesdames Louise Drum, Margaret Brown, Janet Turnage and Margaret Joyner who served refreshments.

Christian Science Service

"Love" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, July 31. Golden Text: II Corinthians 13:11. "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon are the following from the Bible: "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might." (Deuteronomy 6:5). And from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "The starting-point of divine science is that God, Spirit, is all-in-all, and that there is no other might nor mind, that God is love, and therefore He is divine Principle." Women In The Church

The assassination of Mahatma Gandhi "saw the collapse of the religious-political parties that were the canker in the body politic of India," out of that suffering and penitence came "a cleansing of the heart of India," and the heart and mind of the Dominions have been "opened to the Christian gospel as never before." This is the belief of Miss Sarah Chakko, Indian Christian leader and president of Isabella Thoburn College, Luchnow. Miss Chakko urges, because of this new situation in India and Pakistan, that Christian schools and churches emphasize the "production of men of probity and character" which is one of their great needs as independent nations; that the churches assist the government in the latter's plans for public health and medical relief; and that the church assist in bettering rural village life.

The recent death at the age of 86 of Mrs. Nora Lambuth Park, a retired missionary of the Methodist Church, in Soochcow, China, brings again before church people the name of one credited with doing perhaps more than any other woman missionary half a century ago to free Chinese women from foot-binding and other social disadvantages. Mrs. Park was the widow of Dr. William Hecter Park, who was one of the most famous medical missionary pioneers sent to China by Methodism, and the founder of Soochow Hospital and seven other hospitals. She was a sister of the late Bishop Walter R. Lambuth, long a medical missionary in China, and later founder of his Churche's mission in the Belgian Congo, Africa. They were the children of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Lambuth, Methodist pioneers in China.

"An ominous advance of Communism on many of our fields, civil war in China and Burma, Japan at the cross roads, revolutionary changes in India, difficult cultural readjustments in Africa, physical hunger and malnutrition on nine-tenths of the globe an illiteracy and lack of decent literature, racial maladjustments and rising cost of administration—these and other problems force the Foreign Missions Conference of North America to feel that its back is to the wall," "But," says Mrs. Leslie E. Swain, noted Baptist leader, "we insist that we find the situation challenging and we carry on. We are confident that Christianity has not only survived but has even grown under and makes its impact upon all kinds of political systems."

Miss Audrey May Becomes Bride Of William H. Page

The marriage of Miss Audrey Doris May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles May, Sr., and William Hoke Page, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Page of Lincolnton, was solemnized in an afternoon ceremony July 30, 1949, in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, Greenville, North Carolina. The Reverend Robert W. Bradshaw of Wilson, former pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, heard the vows of the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with oregon and plumosa greens, seven, nine and twelve branched candelabra and tall standards of white glads and white bracken. At the altar single candelabra with tall cathedral candles were used.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mr. Leon Fleming, organist, and Mr. Harper Darden, soloist. Mr. Darden sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "All For You." At the close of the ceremony, "Oh Perfect Love" was sung as a benediction. Traditional marches were used and "To A Wild Rose" was played during the ceremony.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of candelight satin with fitted bodice, portrait neckline, bouffant skirt ending in a cathedral train. The full length sleeves ended in calla lily points and the veil of imported French illusion fell from a Queen Anne's bonnet of imported lace. The dress was made by the bride's mother. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The prayer book, carried by the bride, was used by the groom's mother in her wedding. It was topped with a white orchid and showered with valley lilies.

Miss Shirley Savage was maid of honor, and Mrs. Frank Strawn was the matron of honor. The honor attendants wore white marquisette over taffeta with period-style and bodice and drop shoulders, yoke outlined with white embroidery similar to the bride's gown. The bouffant skirts with bands of white embroidery hung full over hoop skirts and they wore long mitts of white marquisette.

The bridesmaids were Misses Addie Mae Page of Emory University, sister of the groom, Margaret Goforth of Rutherfordton, Betsy Hellen of Greenville, and Jean Davis of Kings Mountain. Their white dreses were in the same style of those of the honor attendants. All the attendants carried cascade bouquets of asters tied with pastel shades of satin ribbons. They wore matching tiaras of flowers.

Katie Lou Williams of Kinston was flower girl. Wilson Lowery, Jr., of Trenton was ring bearer. These attendants were cousins of the bride.

Mrs. May, mother of the bride wore a gown of pale blue crepe. Mrs Harry E. Page, sister-in-law of the groom, wore a black lace gown and Mrs. William J. McLaughlin sister of the groom wore a printed gown.

Mrs. William H. Page

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the Greenville Woman's Club. The bridal color scheme of green and white was carried out in decorations.

Receiving at the front door were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Aman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and Rev. Bradshaw. Mr. and Mrs. James F. Lowery introduced the guests to the receiving line, which was composed of Mr. and Mrs. May, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Page, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin.

Mrs. Charles A. White introduced to the second receiving line which included the bride's attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mannine, Jr., invited guests to the refreshment table. Mrs. Adelaid Bloxton and Miss Mabel Lacy of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, served punch. They were assisted in serving bridal cakes, nuts and mints by Misses Verna Belle and Catherine Lowery and Mrs. Garrison Goforth and Mrs. Mansel Phifer of Kings Mountain.

Mrs. J. R. Lowery of Trenton, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. J. R. Davis presided at the brides book. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lowery.

Assisting throughout the club house were Misses Mary Alice Davis, Suzanne Kilgo, Betsy Nobles, Betty Lou Brown, and Mesdames Lee Alcorn, John C. Getsinger, Adron Skinner, Keith Williams and Paul Taylor. Miss Frances Aman played nuptial music at the reception and Mr. Darden rendered several solos.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Page left on a wedding trip to unannounced points. For traveling the bride wore a palm beach suit of aqua with black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. After August 16, the couple will make their home in Kings Mountain.

Mrs. Page attended Greenville High School and was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College with an A. B. degree in home economics and science. Since her graduation she has been teaching vocational home economics in Kings Mountain school.

Mr. Page graduated from Kings Mountain High School and served three years in the army. Thirty two months were spent in China, Burma and India. He is now employed at the Neisler Mills, Inc., in Kings Mountain.

The bride was extensively entertained in both Greenville and Kings Mountain.

Lids Removed On Rent Controls In 82 Large Cities

Chicago, Aug. 1—(AP)—Lids have been popped off rent controls in at least 82 cities since local option authority, granted by Congress, became effective on April 1.

During the same time, Tighe E. Woods, federal housing expediter lifted restrictions in 168 other communities but recently slapped them back on three after rents rose sharply.

Five states also have taken action under the local option provision of the 1949 rent control act toward abolishing ceilings or setting up their own systems.

In Nevada a bill passed by the legislature is awaiting signature of the governor to knock out restrictions.

Nebraska has completed action and lifting of controls there awaits notification by the governor to the housing expediter of the state's intention.

The entire state of Texas will be decontrolled, effective Oct. 19, but the legislature authorized cities to clamp ceiling on locally by ordinance.

In Wisconsin, a bill signed by the governor Saturday will lift the lids on June 1, 1959, but allow, meanwhile, immediate rent increases of from 15 to 30 percent. It also revises eviction regulations.

A bill passed by the Alabama legislature to decontrol that state has become snarled in a court test over whether it was signed by the governor within the time limit allowed to make it legal.

The report on the decontrol in cities was made by the American Municipal Association which lists 8,000 city governments in its membership.

The association said that a number of cities had decided against removing rent ceilings at this time and that at least 56 others have scheduled hearings on the proposal.

Curb Market Sales In July Total $519

Strength FOR THE DAY

HARD TO HOLD ONE'S IDEALS

"When I was a boy," a speaker said recently in an after-dinner speech, "I had a hound dog. Early in the morning he would start out to the hills, and his bark would be deep and ominous. He was on his way to get a deer. Later in the morning you could hear him as he ran the trails up on the mountain, barking in a more staccato tone, and we knew then that he was after a fox. In the afternoon when he whined, we knew he was digging under a stone for a chipmunk."

Many lives start out that way and end that way. The first enthusiasm is for big things. This dwindles into satisfaction with little things. Life ends at last with a whine, as we dig under stones for chipmunks.

There is nothing so hard in life as to maintain through the whole of it the ideals we had in our youth—to start out for a deer and never to be satisfied until we get it. There is nothing so dismal as the whine of a man who in middle age apologizes for having given up his youthful ideas, or in old age looks back and is sour about the whole thing. The decline is pathetic—from deer to fox, from fox to chipmunk; from the deep baying of a hound on the trail of something big to a pitiful whimper at the day's end, as a man declares himself satisfied with a chipmunk.

A GREAT NORTH CAROLINIAN

In the death of Former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus North Carolina has lost another of its great citizens. His forceful efforts as governor during the depression years helped to bring the state through what easily could have been a disastrous period.

As a friend of education he was one of those who sponsored and worked for the establishment of East Carolina Teachers College and since that early period of his life he has continued to espouse the cause of education in the state.

Since leaving the governor's office he has continued to grow in popularity and at the time of his unexpected death last night was held in high esteem throughout the state.

HE LEAVES A LIVING MEMORIAL

The Girl Scouts of this community lost a great friend and benefactor in the death Saturday of Henry M. Hardee, of Norfolk. Mr. Hardee was a former Greenville businessman and although he has been away from this city for many years he never lost contact with the people back home and had been interested in their activities and welfare. It was a large contribution from him that made the Girl Scout Camp Hardee, on Pamlico River, possible and since its establishment he has made additional contributions to the project. The part that Camp Hardee plays in the future of organized Girl Scout work in this community will be a living memorial to the generosity of this former Greenville resident.

If We Arm The Sentry—

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

They say Americans are the greatest joiner-uppers in the world. The reason, of course, is that we have so many things to join. With the slightest urge someone will start a new organization, find others with the same interest, and before long a new club is going strong.

A fellow up in New York by the name of Nick Matsoukas decided that there are too many superstitious people in the world, so he started an organization of non-superstitious people to show those having whims how silly they are. He calls the club the National Committee of 13 Against Superstition, Prejudice and Fear.

Nick walked into a New York furniture store one day to buy some mirrors. "What size and style do you prefer?" the saleswoman asked.

"Oh, any kind will do," he replied. "We just want to break them. It's Friday the 13th, you know. Please wrap up 13 of them."

The saleswoman called the manager. Matsoukas had to do a lot of fast talking to convince the manager that he wasn't a crackpot, but he finally got the mirrors.

For three years Nick and his superstition-chasers have been meeting each Friday the 13th to walk under ladders, throw rabbit's feet in trash cans, and ignore black cats crossing their paths. This sort of conduct has brought none of the committee members any ill fortune, so the organization feels that it is accomplishing its purpose—to show that all superstitions are silly and without basis.

The headquarters of the committee is suite 1313 of a New York office building. It was founded on Friday, August 13, 1946. Whenever a Friday the 13th rolls around, Nick arranges for the committee to meet wherever a large audience can gather. Meetings have been held in hotels, on theater stages, and even in museums. At first the members light three cigarettes on a match; open umbrellas indoors and smash mirrors. Before their sessions end the audience usually gets into the spirit of things and joins in the antics.

The biggest and most spectacular meeting was held last summer at New York's American Museum of Natural History. Opening on Friday, August 13th, the session lasted 13 days. On the first day an insurance agent stationed himself outside the entrance and passed out pamphlets listing special rates for accident insurance. Naturally, business was awful. The only casualty was a stout woman who refused to join in the ceremonies. In order to avoid passing under two ladders she fell and sprained an ankle!

Occasionally the committee undertakes a serious mission. When the American Heart Association had its campaign the committee raised thousands of dollars by publishing a bulletin explaining the lack of truth behind the 13 most popular superstitions concerning heart ailments. On the back of each pamphlet it was requested that the reader return 13 cents to the heart fund.

Does Greenville need a chapter of this organization? A survey by Edwards shows that eight out of ten Greenvillians are superstitious. Further investigation shows that the superstitious prefer to remain that way, and those who are not prefer to leave the ones who are alone. Maybe we don't need the club here, but I'll lay ten to one that someone would join in a movement to start one.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

POLITICAL — The hot weather which is not conducive to long range thinking, the immediate interest in such things as road bonds, appointments to state jobs and worry over where to spend vacations—and how to pay for them—has caused a temporary lull in political gossiping around capitol square. But a few hardy souls insist upon trying to figure out the future course of political events in the state. Lack of specific knowledge combined with the heat has brought forth some weird speculative suggestions.

LEGISLATIVE—First objective in next spring's primary for selection of members of the congress and the general assembly. For first time in history the people of North Carolina will elect in the same year two United States Senators, twelve members of the national house of representatives and one hundred seventy members of the state legislature. There will also be up for election a state commissioner of insurance to complete the term from which William P. Hodges recently resigned and Waldo Cheek was appointed until the next election.

Judicial—Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the supreme court and Associate Justices E. B. Denny and Sam J. Ervin come up for re-election for eight year terms. Ten superior court judges, nominated by districts but elected by the state at large, also face expiring terms next year. They are Judges Hunt Parker, Clawson Williams, W. C. Harris, John M. Clement, Donald Phillips, Frank Armstrong, J. A. Rousseau, J. Will Pless, Zeb V. Nettles and Dan K. Moore. Judge J. C. Rudisill, recently appointed in place of Judge Wilson Warlick who went to the federal bench, will also be up for election to fill the unexpired term until 1954. Other judicial elections will be for eight year terms.

CONTESTS—Other elections may be necessary in executive or judicial fields, but none is presently contemplated. Traditionally, incumbent judges have little if any opposition. That is not the case with legislative and executive positions. Almost certainly there will be lively opposition to Insurance Commissioner Cheek. Practically every seat in the general assembly will be contested, and there is very lively prospect of heated contests for the United States senate and several seats in the national house of representatives.

RUMORS—It is in this area that hot weather rumors thrive. About the time the 1949 legislature adjourned there was a good deal of talk about friends of Governor Scott seeking to purge the assembly of those members who did not go along with his program. Some of that talk is being revived. Last week an imaginative Washington correspondent sent out a story to the effect Governor Scott indicated on his recent visit to Bedlam on the Potomac that he would seek to change several congressmen. Both Raleigh and Washington rumor factories have produced reports that Governor Scott will seek to keep Senator Frank Graham in the office to which he appointed him, and would seek to replace Senator Clyde Hoey with someone more in sympathy with the Scott program. Starting from that premise the gossipers have a good time exploring potential progress through the devious by-ways of politics.

TRADES—While the immediate objective is the 1950 election the politicos are said to be looking ahead to 1954, when a new governor and a United States senator for the full six-year term will have to be elected. So "they say" another "they" are making—or trying to make—trades and deals covering both years.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The big news today is—"It's cooler."

Those two magic words were of more interest along the heat-hit Eastern seaboard than the standings of the major league baseball teams or the question of arming friendly nations under the Atlantic pact.

"It's cooler!"

"It's cooler!"

"It's cooler!!"

Everybody said it—and everybody felt it. Everybody was on relief — on relief from the weather. And glad to be!

Because the weather has been on every mind all summer long. It's had everybody by the throat—gasping, here in this Hades-by-the-Hudson.

Never in history has so much humanity been wedded to so much humidity, nor longed so hard for a divorce. The month of July was the hottest ever recorded here, but the heat started long before that. Since the first of January the Weather Bureau reports that metropolitan New York has had a temperature excess of 1,043 degrees above normal.

When you have 1,043 degrees above normal there are only two things the average citizen can do about them. That is to feel them—and to complain about them.

The heat wave has had more impact on Mr. New Yorker than the ten-cent subway fare. But even the Chamber of Commerce is tired of admitting that "we have more of everything than anybody—including more weather."

Out in Phoenix, Ariz., or Kansas City, Mo., boastful denizens sometimes prove how hot it gets there by frying an egg on the street.

That is unnecessary braggadocio here. You simply break the egg on your forehead, and by the time it rolls down to your mouth it has been poached in the perspiration. The streets have been so searing that even the pigeons refuse to land in them until two hours after sundown. There is a movement underway to get the ASPCA to equip them with sandals.

The weather has played all kinds of strange pranks on people. We will leave out the fellow in Washington, D. C., who stole 36 gallons of anti-freeze solution. Let us take up television.

In the ordinary television program you see two of everything, even if you have 20-20 vision. This is normal, and the second figures is known as the "ghost." But in the current heat wave every character on a television program looks like the Dionne quintuplets. And the name players are wondering if they can't claim a quintuple hooper rating, since everybody sees them five times.

At the beach you can't see the sands for the people.

The refrigerated movie palaces have done a thriving business. Some folks have simply moved into them for the duration. As one captain-of-ushers put it:

"We don't mind them bringing box lunches so much, but washing their nylon shirts in the men's room—that's going too far."

Along 51st Street—the poor man's glamor lane—they tell of a heat-desperate patron who pulled out a pistol and told a bartender trying to close the joint at 4 a. m.:

"It's all right if you want to go home, but I'm staying here. And you're going to leave the air-conditioning on, too."

Well, there's a mass of cool air from Canada here now, the most welcome thing that's come to town since Jenny Lind. And Mayor Bill O'Dwyer had better keep it here—or the Democrats are going to have a tough election in autumn.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington—Ladies in saris, royal potentates, ex-spies, news-headliners of every variety are a common sight in the capital, but most folks here had never seen a gold bug, a hooded katydid or stick insect until recently.

Celebrity-jaded Washingtonians winding through a labyrinth of glass cases during the sportsmen's show, feasted their eyes on a spectacular collection of butterflies, beetles, spiders, moths and related odd creatures from all corners of the globe.

They represented a large number of the 20,000 tropical specimens collected over the past 41 years by a tall, slightly stooping English-born naturalist—James F. May. Mr. May's young son, John, helped him build the collection into the exhibition, which is said to be one of the largest in the world.

Though I had gone to look at outboard motors, fishing tackle and try to guess the weight of a salmon in a cake of ice, I couldn't keep away from Mr. May's show. As I approached I found him deep in conversation with some men from the Smithsonian Institute, also attracted to the exhibit.

Mr. May told me he became interested in collecting through his father, a retired naval man who had taken him to South America at the age of two on an expedition to collect orchids, snakes and butterflies.

He has collected in Africa, where he fought in the Boer War, and in many countries of Europe. Some of his specimens have been exchanges with other collectors.

He began collecting as a hobby. Now he makes a living at it. Visitors, however, are never charged to see the collection. They drop dimes, quarters, "sometimes as much as "15" in a bowl M. May places at the exit of the labyrinth.

The May collection is permanently housed on the May ranch near Colorado Springs, Colo, and Mr. May is assisted in building up the exhibition by two other sons, Bob, 26, who is with the Hudson's Bay Company in the Far North, and Glen, 22, in Colorado.

Mr. May takes his collection about the country in a special trailer drawn by a 3-ton tractor. The specimens in their glass cases are set in rubber trays to prevent damage.

Pole Sitters Talk It Over

Cleveland, Aug. 1—(AP)—Two of the nation's leading pole sitters will talk over mutual problems today.

A long distance telephone call between Charley Lupica of Cleveland and Mrs. Jean Ellis of Boston has been arranged by a Boston station.

Mrs. Ellis is spending her days on a pole because she cannot find a place to live for "reasonable" rent. Lupica has promised to stay on his platform 40 feet above street level until the Cleveland Indians are in first place.

American steel production in 1948 was 88,533,729 tons, a peacetime record.

State Ends Fiscal Year With Larger Balance Than Expected

Raleigh, N. C., Ang. 1—(AP)—North Carolina ended the fiscal year with a general fund credit balance of $13,937,735, Governor Scott announced over the weekend.

He said this was more than $2,000,000 than had been anticipated The extra large credit balance cut the anticipated gap between revenues and appropriations for the next two years.

Scott said the reduction in the anticipated deficit resulted from unspent appropriations for the 1947 49 biennium, which ended June 30.

The money went back to the general fund for use in the next two years.

According to the report, the general fund's revenue for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30, was $140,843,645. This compares with $129,568,152 the previous year.

Total funds available last year were $221,015,200. Including a credit balance of $80,171,555 at the start of the year. The previous year's availability was $172,111,870, including a $42,543,718 credit balance at the start.

The fiscal year's expenditures were listed as $207,077,465. Actually, this figure includes appropriations by the 1949 legislature of $25,000,000 to help counties build schools and $72,827,734 for permanent improvements for agencies and institutions.

Air Force And Navy Units Hunt Missing Plane

Langley Air Force Base, Va., Aug. 1—(AP)—Air Force and Navy units concenterated a search today in the Weldon, N. C., area for an F-80 jet missing since last night on a flight from Maxwell Field, Ala., to Langley Air Force Base.

The pilot of the missing plane was identified by the Langley public information officer as 1st Lt. Fletcher T. Bender, a native of Indianapolis. His wife resides in Hampton.

First Lt Henry C. Evatt, leader of the flight, told base officers that he missed Bender's plane over Weldon as the flight started letting down from 14,000 feet on the final approach to Langley. Leveling off at 3,000 feet, he tried to contact Bender by radio, he reparted, then searched the area for 20 minuts before proceeding to Langley.

Talbert Revives American Hopes On Grass Courts

South Orange, N.J., Aug. 1—(AP)—America's hopes of winning the Eastern Grass Courts singles championships opening today have revived overnight because of the surprising tennis being played by Billy Talbert of New York.

News that the three top-ranked U.S. stars, Pancho Gonsales of Los Angeles, Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., and Frank Parker of Los Angeles, would only compete in the doubles was nullified by Talbert's upset win over Gonsales yesterday.

Talbert staged an uphill fight to defeat the National champion and win the 59th annual Meadow Club tennis championship at Southampton, N.Y., by scores of 6-4, 5-7, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2. At one time in the match Talbert trailed two sets to one and 0-4 in the fourth sets.

Extra Allotment Of $10,000 For Soil Improvement

An additional allotment of $10,000 has been made to Pitt County's Agricultural Conservation Program use during the next two months for soil building practices.

Wyatt Highsmith, secretary of the Pitt Agricultural Conservation Association, said the allotment is in addition to the $115,000 which the county received for conservation practices for the year.

The money is now available to local farmers for financing soil building practices which can be carried out during the next two months, Highsmith said.

According to Highsmith, the original $115,000 which was allotted to the county already has been used by the farmers of Pitt County.

Hairless Calf To Get A Knitted Sweater

Bar Mills, Me. —(AP)— Hairless Alice is just that kind of a pure-blooded Hereford heifer. Where there should be white hair, Alice's hide is pink; where brown should grow, it is tan.

The calf is owned by William H. Bruce, editor of the Maine Farm Bureau News. When it was born on May 15, it was protected with a coat and blanket. A neighbor woman says she is going to knit a sweater for Alice. A previous calf born of the same cow was normal.

Good 'Sidewalk Superintendent'

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Burns and their five children are enjoying a new $400 television set at home these days because Burns is a good sidewalk superintendent.

When a local wrecking concern began razing the old Hotel Henry this spring to make way for the new U.S. Steel-Mellon Bank Building, passers-by were invited to guess when the site would be levelled. Burns, a Bureau of Internal Revenue agent, stopped by on his lunch hour one day, gave the project a cursory glance, and guessed exactly right.

Vichy Rebuilding Health Center Despite Complex

Vichy—(AP)—This French town of 30,000 inhabitants is strongly fighting its inferiority complex. Vichy has bee n associated for four years with a capitulation regime and its name then meant the provisional capital of the "French State." Though it was only provisional, it lasted too long for Vichy officials who have to rebuild the reputation of this health spa.

They have modified the label of some of their mineral water bottles for exxport. All Vichy water is called "Vichy-Etat" (Vichy-State) but Great Britain objected to that name. So Vivhy bottles for England just bear, under a tricolor ribbon, the sole name of the city.

Greenies Break Tarboro Jinx With Three Wins In Row

Conclude Series With 12-0 Score

Clinched Saturday's Game With 3 Runs In First Frame For 4-1 Victory; Convincing 7-2 And 12-0 Scores In Sunday Doubleheader

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy William's Greenville Greenies made a clean sweep of their three-game series with the Tarboro Athletics during the past week-end by taking Saturday night's game over in Tarboro, 4 to 1, and then returning home yesterday afternoon to take a twin bill by the scores of 7 to 2 and 12 to 0. The triple win for the Greenies placed them solidly in fifth place position, three games ahead of the Athletics and moved them to within a game and a half of the fourth place Goldsboro Goldbugs.

Saturday's Game

The Greenies started off fast to take the first of the three-game series over in Tarboro Saturday night when they shoved across three runs in the first frame to clinch the win.

Sindo Valle and Steve Denier reached base on two successive errors by the Athletics, John Tepedino walked to load the bases. Pappy Williams singled to bring home Valle and Denier and then when Willie Mauney hit to first baseman Warfield who errored the ball, Tepedino raced home.

The Athletics came back in the second frame to score their only run of the game. Bob Haller singled, Connie Hartbarger doubled and Manager Joe Antolick flew out to deep right field with Haller coming home.

Jim Lewey went the route for the Greenies and registered his first win against the Athletics this season. He now has a record of seven wins and eight losses. Dal Orf and Gus Godbold with two singles each led the seven-hit attack off Lewey, who issued only one walk and struck out nine men.

Tony Napoles on the mound for the Athletics received his second set back of the season against the Greenies. He has four wins. He gave up only four hits during the contest, but costly miscues spelt his downfall.

Sunday's Games

The Greenies won the first game of the double-header here yesterday by the score of 7 to 2 as Junior Yohn scattered seven hits very effectively through the seven-inning affair. The win for Yohn was his second over the Athletics this season and he now has a record of nine wins and five losses.

The Athletics scored in the second inning when Antolick singled, was sacrificed to second by Turk and Billy Carr singled to bring him home.

The Greenies came back in their half of the second to knot the count at one-all when Mauney walked, Varney singled with Mauney taking third and a long fly to deep centerfield by Paul Strausser allowed Mauney to score from third on the out.

The Greenies added one run in the fourth when Pappy Williams singled, stole second and Varney singled to bring him home. They scored three runs in the fifth frame on singles by Valle and Denier aided by two costly Tarboro errors, and came back with two mor eruns in the sixth on successive singles by Strausser, Polica and Yohn.

Jl Busa with two singles led the seven-hit attack off Yohn. Sid Varney with two singles for three trips to the plate led the Greenies eight-hit attack off Busa, who now has a record of one win and one loss against the Greenies.

The Greenies took the second game by collecting 12 hits off three Tarboro hurlers, aided by six errors, which they converted into a dozen runs.

Art Mascarella, registering his third win against the Athletics this season held the visitors to three lone singles and pitched his second shutout of the season against the Athletics.

The Greenies scored one run in the first frame when Denier singled Tepedino sacrificed him to second and Denier raced home from second when Schiavo threw wild to second to try and pick him off the second sack.

They scored five runs in the third on doubles by Tepedino and Mauney, a single by Varney, two walks and three costly errors by the Athletics. They added a singleton in the sixth on doubles by Strausser and Nick Polica and scored five more runs in the seventh, on five hits, including a triple by Tepedino one walk, four stolen bases and two more errors by the Athletics.

Tepedino with a triple and a double and Strausser and Polica with a double and a single each led the 12-hit attack off the three Tarboro hurlers.

Tonight's Games

Greenville at Goldsboro
Kinston at Roanoke Rapids
Rocky Mount at New Bern
Wilson at Tarboro

Pete Gillespie has been given his release by the Greenville ball club at his own request. Pete will return to his home at Haw River, N. C., to coach a team there. Best of luck to you, Pete. . . . Charlie Nordmeyer has been placed on the disabled list. . . . Kinston is getting a new pitcher, another limited service man. His name is Allen Dragg and is being sent to the Eagles by Anderson, S. C. . . . Bull Hamons is sitting up in the grandstand for the next three days to watch his Bears play. He has been suspended for three days; this is the third time. . . . The Bears have added Outfielder J. L. Sinnott, who was obtained from the Sumter Chicks of the Tri-State League. The Bears have also sold their catcher, Russ Hand, to the Chicks. . . . One of the poorest exhibitions of sportsmanship was shown here Friday night when Kinston played here. Manager Steve Collins in going to third base did all in his power to spike Sindo Valle as he attempted to steal the sack. Valle was hurt at the time and Collins walked over to the Kinston dugout without even as much as offering an apology to the injured player. Poor sportsmanship, if you ask me. . . . Vince Gohl, who was thrown out of the second game of the doubleheader yesterday, had every reason to get mad at the umps. When he hit the ball he started running to first but Umpire Bartel who was umpiring at this sack waved to the runner that the ball was foul. Gohl started to return to the plate for another pitch but upon doing so was greeted by Umpire Knight who was advising him that the ball was fair. That was certainly enough to make Gohl mad because it was a well hit ball and he was literally "robbed" of a hit. . . . Greenville now has a record of six wins and 10 losses to the Tarboro Athletics. . . . The win for Mascarella was his third win against Tarboro this season and was his second shutout. He has lost twice to the Athletics and his record now is six wins and 12 losses. . . . The doubleheader here yesterday was the final one on the Greenies' schedule until rain halts another contest. It was the 16th twin bill played by the Greenies this season and the third with the Athletics. They split with them on the two other occasions. Their present record in doubleheaders shows them winning both ends of a twin bill on six occasions, they have split five; have lost both ends of a doubleheader on four occasions and in one doubleheader lost the first game and tied the second game. . . . In the three game series with Tarboro just completed the Greenies made a total of 23 runs, seven of the runs being of the earned variety and 16 of the unearned variety; the Athletics made a total of only three runs in the series; the Greenies made only three errors while Tarboro committed fourteen. . . . The Greenies made a total of 24 hits for 31 total bases and the Athletics made 17 hits for 18 total bases. . . . Greenville used only three pitchers in the three-game series while Tarboro used five.

Racing Fans Descend On Saratoga As 24-Day August Meeting Starts

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Aug. 1—(AP)—Racing fans descend on venerable Saratoga today as they have for 83 years, and the always present horsey talk reaches a crescendo.

The opening of the 24-day August meeting of the Saratoga Associatin features the 75th running f America's oldest race for two-year-olds—the Flash Stakes.

Residents joined with prominent figures of the stage, screen entertainment and business world to honor Actor Monte Woolley. Best known of his portrayal of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the bewhiskered Monte is known locally as "The Man Who Stayed in Saratoga." He moved here as a boy and always has called the little town home.

A "Monte Woolley Day" program, with a testimonial dinner and a parade of gay ninety horse-drawn carriages, features the opening of the racing season.

Twenty-two stake events have top billings on the full August racing program. Eight races are carded for each week-day afternoon, including a steeplechase, or hurdle event.

Snead's Victory Wins Him $2,600

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1—(AP)—Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., professional who says he's "tired of golf" had something today to relieve that tired feeling.

It was the $2,600 he won yesterday by taking first place in the 46th annual western open with a 72-hole total of 268. That score bettered the western open record of 270, set in 1947 by Johnny Palmer, Badin N. C., and equalled the record for the 6,557-yard Keller course, set in 1946 by Henry Ransom.

To get his 268, Snead had to shoot one of three rounds of 65 scored in the four days of play in the western classic. He fired that one Saturday to add to his earlier rounds of 69 and 67.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis shot a 65 yesterday to boost himself to a four-round total of 272 and take down $1,900 second money.

Win Over Cards Sunday Puts Brooklyn Back In Race

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sport Writer

Don Newcombe, big Negro right-hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers who has had his ups and down, has something to smile about today. He's turned the tables on his chief tormentors—the St. Louis Cardinals.

Solidly cuffed in three previous encounters with the rollicking Red Birds, Newcombe clipped the league-leaders, 4-2, yesterday to snap the Cards' nine-game winning streak and put the Bums back in the National League race.

The Cards spoiled Newcombe's major league debut on May 20, socking him for four hits and three runs in a third of an inning. The next time the two met, the Cards belted Newcombe out of the box in the ninth inning with a three-run rally and went on to win in overtime.

Newcombe's third brush against the Birds occurred a week ago Sunday and what the Cards did to him shouldn't happed. He couldn't get anybody out in the first inning. The Cards breezed to a 14-1 victory and took over first place from the Dodgers.

Yesterday, however, Newcombe had the Cards' number. The largest St. Louis crowd of the season, 32,965 fans saw the big fellow check the Cards on Eight hits.

He blanked the league leaders until the ninth when singles by Ron Northey, Glen Nelson and Lou Klein plus Duke Snider's first error of the season allowed the Cards to score twice. Newcombe got pinch-hitter Bill Baker to ground out to end the game.

The victory cut the Cards' advantage over the Dodgers to one and a half games.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to four games over the second place Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks split a twin bill with the Chicago White Sox, taking the opener, 3-2 and dropping the nightcap, 2-1, in ten innings. The Indians were blanked, 3-0 by Mickey McDermott and the Red Sox in Boston.

Ed Lopat bested young Billy Pierce in the first game on Johnny Lindell's ninth inning homer and Tommy Henrich's run-scoring single.

Luke Appling slammed a two-run homer with two down in the tenth to give lefty Bob Kuzava the nod over Duane Pillette in the nightcap.

McDermott scattered eight hits and fanned seven in out-pitching Gene Bearden. Dom Dimaggio of the Red Sox collected one hit to extend his consecutive game hitting streak to 27.

The Detroit Tigers made it three straight shutouts over the Philadelphia Athletics as Ted Gray and Fred Hutchinson Pitched the Bengals to 3-0 and 6-0 triumphs in the Quaker City. Gray yielded eight hits and Hutch five.

Sherry Robertson Socked a pair of homers and Eddie Robinson one to pace the Washington Senators to a 7-3 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

The New York Giants butchered the Cincinnati Reds, 10-0 and 9-0 confining their scoring to three innings. They scored ten runs in the first two innings of the opener with home runs by Johnny Mize, Ray Mueller and Hank Thompson featuring the bombardment.

Pro Basketball Merger Is Step Nearer Completion

Indianapolis, Aug. 1—(AP)—The National Basketball League and Basketball Association of America today were reported near agreement on a merger that would end costly bidding for college stars.

The big cities of the BAA and the smaller communities of the older NBL will meet in New York Wednesday to try to agree on details.

Ike Duffey, NBL president and wealthy Anderson, Ind., meat packer, said the oft-proposed merger was nearer reality than ever before after an NBL meeting here Saturday.

He said it had to come "sooner or later, or both leagues will be ruined."

Hammond, Ind., of the NBL has been conducting a civic campaign to raise money to keep its team going after a financially bad 1948-49 season. Providence, R.I., of the BAA has asked that its franchise be suspended temporarily.

Indianapolis of the BAA is in receivership.

The leagues have fought each other with increased bitterness since Indianapolis, Minneapolis and Fort Wayne bolted from the NBL to BAA in May, 1948.

The scramble for college stars reached a climax with bidding for seniors from the University of Kentucky's N.C.A.A. champions last spring. The NBL pulled a fast one by putting the boys in business for themselves as a new Indianapolis team, the Olympians. It also snatched huge Butler Fieldhouse away from the tottery Indianapolis BAA team.

There were complications in Olympian plans due to the fact that All-America center Alex Groza of Kentucky had signed contracts with both leagues.

Chapter 25

In the days—and nights—that followed, Priscilla tried hard to figure things out. In the daytime she lost her old efficiency at the office as she stared into space instead of concentrating on the work before her. Night after sleepless night she lay beside Dora, thinking in a circle and listening, always listening, for a sound from Kenneth's room which would indicate he was in pain.

One night, when she had to go into his room to give him his second sleeping pill, she stood beside his bed for a moment afterwards. "Kenneth," she said gently, "would it help if you told me about . . . about what happened in San Francisco?" She was sorry immediately that she had asked. His eyes fastened on her face in terror and he jerked his shoulders painfully, convulsively.

"What do you know about San Francisco?" he gasped.

"Why . . . why, I didn't know for sure it was San Francisco," said Priscilla, trying to soothe him. "I was just guessing. There, there. You don't have to tell me. It isn't important for me to know."

Kenneth was so agitated as a result of her question—and her correct guess—that Priscilla had a hard time calming him. She drew up a chair to his bedside and sat there until she was sure the sleeping tablet was taking effect.

Priscilla did not ask him again about the San Francisco incident.

April crept by and May budded into being with a joyousness Priscila's heart could not match. She walked to work every morning unmindful of the sunlight shining on her and at noon, when the other girls asked her to join them for lunch, she declined politely. Every day she went off by herself to a small eating place on a side street, avoiding carefully the cafeteria where she had met Dennis that day so long ago . . . two dreary months ago . . . seventy aeons . . .

One day she had a telephone call at the office. The minute she heard her mother's voice, she knew tears were being wilfully put into it. It was an old trick her mother had played on her father, that tearful voice, and now Priscilla knew it was being tried out on her.

"Priscilla, I heard . . . about everything," Mrs. Hayden said. "I just wanted to say that I don't see any reason for you to make a servant of yourself at the Kents'. Lorraine has a new baby, you know," she continued rapidly, forgetting to make her voice catch, "and you might just as well come home and help us out as stay at the Kents and be a servant . . ."

Priscilla cut in shortly, not caring whether the switchboard operator, or anybody, might be listening. "I may just as well be a servant one place as the other," she said firmly and hung up. Let Mother assimilate that, she thought. She needn't think she can boss me the way she bossed Dad. And yet . . . people were bossing her in a sense . . . she wasn't free. . . . Was she being strong in staying with Kenneth now . . . or was she just being ineffectual, unable to plan her own life and have it go the way she wanted it? She felt she must make some opportunity to see Dennis soon, to talk things over.

That night Kenneth changed from the meek person he had recently been and made himself as difficult as possible, demanding that she give him both a drink of whiskey and a sleeping pill.

"You've had enough whisky for today," Priscila told him. "Don't you want to get well?"

"Aw, you can't fool me none. I ain't never gonna get well."

"Don't talk like that, Kenneth. You'll get well if you take care of yourself. The doctor says in another week you can sit up." This was true While Kenneth's face had not lost any of its haggardness, there was every reason to believe he would soon be up in a wheel chair and . . after that . . . crutches . . .

"Listen," Kenneth yelled suddenly, as if to prove in spite of his words that he was indeed getting better, "I wanna glass of whisky and you better damsight bring it here."

Priscila lost her temper. "Look here, Kenneth," she said, "I don't have to stay here. I only came to help out. If you can't talk decently, I'll leave."

Their raised voices brought Mrs. Kent, Pop, and Dora into the bedroom. Mrs. Kent ran over to her son's bedside. "What's the matter?" she cried. "What's Priscilla doing to you?"

"I'm not doing anything to him," exclaimed Priscilla indignantly "And if he can't appreciate what I'm doing for him, I'm going to leave."

This last remark seemed to hit Mrs. Kent where it did the most good. Despite her antipathy toward Priscilla as a daughter-in-law, the sharer of her son's affections, she evidently did not want her to leave.

"Oh . . . oh, I guess we'd best not interfere," she said and promptly turned the temper she had intended for Priscilla toward Dora and Pop. "Dora," she scolded, "it's past your bedtime. Why ain't you never ready for bed when it's time to go? And you, too," she snapped at Pop, "you and your bad heart. You can always stay up when you want to . . ." She herded them out of the room, literally snapping at their heels.

Kenneth fell back on his pillow, exhausted by the excitement. "I'm sorry, Priscilla," he said weakly, "but I'll never be no good again."

Again Priscilla felt that deep pity for him. She gave him his sedative, which he took meekly enough, and then she went back to Dora's room where the child was slowly getting undressed. Priscilla sat down on the side of the bed.

"Priscilla."

"Yes, Dora."

Dora's slow mind was evidently working on a difficult connection. "Do you know why I think Kenneth feels bad tonight?"

"No. Why should he feel any worse than usual?"

"Those men were here today," said Dora. "Those men—you know the two men who brought him home?"

$300 Robbery From Automobile Saturday Night

John W. Williams, 703 East Fourth Street, reported to police today that about $300 in a money bag had been stolen from a car parked in his yard some time since late Saturday night.

Capt. S. Bowen Dorsey, identification specialist with the police department who is investigating the robbery, quoted Williams as saying that he left the money bag in the glove compartment of the car. He also stated that Noah Williams, his father, took the car Sunday morning and that the money was discovered to be missing.

Warns Motorists In Ls and Ms Pass Examinations Now

Motor vehicle drivers whose names start with the letters L and M are required by law to pass examinations for renewal of their drivers' licenses before the end of this year.

Harry Martin, State Highway Division of Safety, is on duty daily on the third floor of the City Hall to give examinations from 9 to 5 o'clock; Saturdays from 9 to 1 p.m. He urged motorists to go up early for examinations and license renewals and avoid a last minute rush later on.

The state law provides a heavy penalty for motorists who drive without proper licenses, Martin said.

PIGEONS AND STARLINGS BATTLE AT LIBRARY

Every afternoon about sundown flocks of pigeons and starlings, an aggressive and scrappy breed of bird, have a battle for roosting quarters above the stately columns on the portico at Sheppard Memorial Library. The aerial battles attract much attention between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evenings.

PIGEONS NUISANCE

Police have received a complaint that pigeons are a nuisance on the upper part of the portico at Immanuel Baptist Church. Request was made that authorities do something to abate the nuisance.

Hearing Appears Likely On Plane Collision Cause

Fort Dix, N.J., Aug. 1—(AP)—A public hearing by the Civil Aeronautics Board appeared possible today as an aftermath of the crash of a Navy fighter plane and a commercial airliner in which 16 persons died Saturday.

The possibility of a public hearing was suggested last night by William K. Andrews, director of the board's Bureau of Safety Investigation. CAB representatives and Navy officials are investigating reports that the naval pilot was "buzzing" the Eastern Airlines plane when they collided in the air near Fort Dix, N.J.

An account of the buzzing from a Pipe cub pilot who witnessed the accident, George W. Humphries of Fairhaven, was backed up by pilots for Eastern Airlines and National Airlines. They said their planes had been buzzed by Navy fighters in the same area shortly before the collision.

Identification of the airlines' 15 victims—12 passengers and three crewmen—meanwhile was proceeding slowly. All were charred beyond recognition by a fire which broke out when the plane hit the ground. Teeth provided the only means of identification. The body of the Navy pilot, Lieut. (jg) Robert V. Poe, 26, of Hampton, Va., was found two miles away.

Admiral Lucian Moebus, assistant chief of naval operations for air, said in Washington that "if there was any buzzing it was in direct violation of our existing rules."

A national military establishment spokesman said the Navy's regulations call for pilots to stay 1,000 feet away from commercial or transport craft and that pilots are not to fly acrobatically or erratically in the vicinity of such planes.

Rowan County Votes In Favor Of ABC Stores

Salisbury, N. C., Aug 1—(AP)—Rowan county has voted in favor of opening ABC liquor stores.

The complete unofficial count from the 34 precincts in Saturday's election was for the stores 7,856, against 6,709.

A similar election was held in 1947 and the stores were defeated, 8,495 to 5,917. The sale of beer and wine is legal in Rowan.

It was the first victory for controlled liquor stores in a North Carolina county-wide election since Mecklenburg voted them in two years ago.

Within the last three weeks voters in Columbus, Perquimans and Iredell counties have rejected establishment of the stores.

Embassy Attache Is Polio Victim

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 1—(AP)—Robert G. Braden, 29, third secretary and vice consul of the United States embassy in Belgrade, died today. He was stricken with Poliomyelitis (infantile paralys) three days ago.

Braden was a native of Pasadena, Calif. He served five years in the U. S. Navy during the war as a lieutenant.

Aleo Textile Mill Plans Reopen After Walkout

Rockingham, N.C., Aug. 1—(AP)—The 800 workers at the Aleo Manufacturing Company textile mill are scheduled to return to their jobs tomorrow or Wednesday, ending a three-week strike.

Representatives of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America said in a statement yesterday "we regret very much this stoppage took place as a result of a misunderstanding The stoppage should never have occurred."

The strike—over terms of sale of 194 mill houses—ended yesterday when union Local 603 ratified a settlement agreement.

Joel Leighton, business manager of the TWUA south-central joint board, said management had agreed that employes would have 30 days after a new work contract is signed to make down payments on the houses. Negotiations on a contract stopped when the strike started. They will be resumed next Monday.

The shop committee of Local 603 met with Sam T. Snoddy, manager of the mill, and issued a statement yesterday which said in part:

"On behalf of the employes and ourselves, we regret very much this stoppage took place as a result of a misunderstanding. The stoppage should never have occurred."

Emil Rieve, TWUA president, issued this statement yesterday:

"I am satisfied the work stoppage at Aleo was a result of a regrettable misunderstanding. I believe the company will be fair in connection with the sale of the village houses."

Chief Of Army Field Forces To Retire In Month

Fort Monroe, Va., July 30—(AP) — Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief, Army field forces, will retire September 30, the public information office at Fort Monroe, site of AFF headquarters, announced today.

The famed general will be 62 years old in September and an elaborate ceremony is expected for the formal retirement at the fort. The was no indication today as to who might succeed the general in directing activities of the Army Field Forces.

Weight Handicap For Racing Crew

Halifax, Aug. 1—(AP)—The young crew from the Plion Yacht club of Marblehead, Mass., didn't carry much weight in the International Bluenose class Yacht races—not as ballast, that is. The Plion entry—wound up last but got the most applause at the trophy-giving afterwards—was skippered by a 17-year-old girl, Sandy Andrews. Two boys, Norm Smith, 12, and Mike Smith, 14, formed her crew.

The three were handicapped in Saturday's final race by lack of weight to hold their craft down in the heavy wind. Despite shipping a good deal of water, they carried on.

At one point, Mike, leaning far out to hold the starboard side down, toppled overboard. Sandy had to come about to pick him up.

A motorboat standing by offered to take Mike aboard but Sandy said he was needed badly as ballast.

The championship was won by Andrew Mprphy of the Boston Yacht club.

Showers Bring Relief; Crops Are Benefitted

Rain Saturday and Sunday nights in the Greenville area brought relief to the sweltering populace, reduced the temperature considerably, gave new life to crops growing in the fields and tended to slow up the fast ripening of tobacco.

Torrid weather, with the temperature ranging in the upper 90s and at 100 degrees twice, had prevailed here for nearly two weeks.

Mrs. C. E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, reported that .78 of an inch of rain fell here Saturday night, and .42 of an inch Sunday night—total one and one-fifth inches.

Rainfall here during July was 4.35 inches.

Rainfall for the first seven months of this year was 26.07 inches, and this was in line with the average annual precipitation in the section.

Total rainfall for last year was about 37 inches.

Four Train Cars Derailed; One Passenger Hurt

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Aug. 1—(AP)— Four passenger cars left the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks yesterday as the Chicago Express highballed along a straight stretch in the mountains at 50 miles an hour.

Railroad officials said only one passenger, who was not identified, was injured badly enough to be taken off the train. The passenger was not believed to be seriously injured, and was treated by a physician at nearby Hancock, Md.

Other passengers received treatment on the spot for minor injuries.

The last four cars of the westbound New York-Chicago train were involved. The last two, both pullmans, overturned. The two preceding them, both coaches, left the rails but remained upright.

Brannan Assures His Cooperation

Washington, July 30 — (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has promised senators full cooperation on any farm price-support plan they draft.

But he also has ruled out any "compromise" on his own plan to let prices of certain perishable farm products find their own market level, with farmers getting treasury subsidies if necessary.

Sales of bicycles are estimated at 2,000,000 annually in the United States.

Robert Nathan Claims Industry Can Afford Big Wage Increase

New York, Aug. 1—(AP)—An economist appearing for the CIO Steelworkers told the presidential steel board today that industry as a whole can pay "substantial wage increases."

Robert R. Nathan, the economist, a former government official, devoted his argument to the situation in American business as a whole at today's session.

Last Friday, Nathan discussed the ability of the steel industry in particular to pay the 30 cents an hour package demanded by the union.

The three-man presidential board was named by Mr. Truman July 16 after he had succeeded in establishing a 60-day truce in the dispute which threatened a nation-wide strike.

The board's findings of fact and recommendations are to go to the President August 30. Its proposals will not be binding on either side, but the government hopes they will lay the basis for a settlement.

"There is not any question but that corporations as a whole can afford substantial wage increases," Nathan told the board. He added:

"The data support the conclusion that moderate wage increases do not at all preclude price decreases too."

The package asked by the union includes 12½ cents an hour for wages with the remainder divided between pensions and social insurance benefits. An increase of 30 cents an hour would amount to a boost of about 18 percent in the current pay of the steelworkers.

The economist said there has been a moderate recession in the past nine months with indications that unemployment still is on the increase. There were 3,800,000 jobless in June, he reported.

But, he said, this decline in business has not brought deep enough price reductions to bolster buying power appreciably.

Lamb Crop For '49 Is Smallest

Washington, Aug. 1—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that this year's lamb crop was the smallest since it started keeping records in 1924.

The crop was reported at 18,906,000 head. That was about 1,000,000, or six per cent, smaller than last year. The crop also was about 10,000,000 head, or 35 per cent, smaller than the 1938-47 average.

Virginians Cast Votes Tomorrow

Candidates predicted that 300,000 votes will be cast in the balloting, which follows the hardest fought campaign among the Democrats in recent years. Republican Walter Johnson is unopposed.

The Democratic candidates, John S. Battle, Francis Pickens Miller, Horace H. Edwards, and Remmie L. Arnold will make final appeals over radio stations here tonight.

Robert M. Hazelwood, state campaign manager for Arnold, said last night at a rally here that he had been offered $10,000 to "desert" his candidate.

Hazelwood did not say who had made the offer. Questioned by a reporter, he said the bid had come from a man "very close to Harry F. Byrd," senior United States senator for Virginia who has endorsed Battle, dominant party organization candidate in the race.

Byrd could not be reached for comment. Battle said the Hazelwood statement "sounds ridiculous to me. I never heard of such a thing."

like tobacco, cotton, wheat, dairy stuff—to send to Europe.

This brought a steaming argument last week when the Senate got around to voting appropriations for the plan.

Some senators argued the surplus crop idea was meant to give "farm relief" to American farmers instead of really helping Europe.

They argued whether the surplus crop provision had any place in the bill at all.

Finally, Vice President Barkley ruled it shouldn't be there. So—

The appropriations bill had to go back to the appropriations committee to be fixed up all over again so it could be sent up to the Senate again to be chewed over and voted upon.

military experts who hold that Japan is a more powerful base of operations than China, since the former has a greater military potential.

There is one important point to be considered in connection with the creation of such a defensive arc. It's solidarity most certainly would depend on satisfying the Nationalist ambitions of the native peoples concerned.

Truman Reports Greek Progress

Washington, Aug. 1—(AP)—President Truman told Congress today that the Greek government, with American help, is making "solid progress" toward winning its civil war with the Communists.

He attributed this to improved Greek leadership, accumulating U. S. Military supplies, months of training of Greek soldiers, and "determination, decisiveness and aggressiveness" in the orders of the Greek high command.

Despite the reported progress militarily and in the Greek economy, the President declared that guerrilla forces are still strong. He said they are still receiving help from Albania and Bulgaria and that the Greek government remains "entirely dependent" on the United States for weapons to prosecute the war.

The chief executive in a report to Congress covering the first quarter of this year said that on March 31 the strength of the guerrilla forces was estimated at 19,830 as compared with 26,000 a year earlier.

He estimated Greek guerrilla losses for the total period of the civil war from June, 1946 to March, 1040 at 70,000, killed, surrendered or captured and exclusive of wounded. There were no reports on the wounded.

In the same space of time the Greek army was shown to have suffered losses of 37,934 killed, wounded or missing.

Lightning Bolt Claims Third Victim Today

Baker, Fla., Aug. 1—(AP)—Lightning bolt that struck a baseball diamond with terrifying effect claimed its third player victim today.

Twenty-year old Joe Taylor, of Crestview, who was playing second base for the Baker nine, died in a Crestview hospital.

Fifty other persons were injured when the bolt struck a chicked wire barricade behind home plate and bounded onto the playing field. The lightning scattered a screaming Sunday afternoon crowd of 300.

The bolt plowed a ditch three inches deep and 20 feet long in the baseball diamond and spread flashes of electricity and sparks throughout the park.

Kares To Reopen Modernized Cafe Tomorrow Night

Kares Restaurant, 429 Evans St., recently remodeled and equipped and furnished as a modern restaurant, such as is usually found in metropolitan cities, will have its formal opening Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

The restaurant is air conditioned. New fixtures and booths have been installed. The fountain has additional features for the convenience of the public. The kitchen has been entirely remodeled and the equipment is ideal. The illumination is of the daylight type. The ventilation is superb.

Chris Kares and George Koutroulias, the owners, today extended an invitation to the public to attend the opening Tuesday night. "Kares" is a popular meeting place for high school and college students and hundreds who come to Greenville to shop or on other business.

The management stated that the same excellent quality meals will be served and at the same old prices. It has provided more comfort and convenience for its patrons, Chris Kares said.

The place has been closed several weeks for improvements.

Short Circuit Is Cause Of Fire

Greenville firemen answered a call about 11 o'clock this morning to extinguish a fire at 106 N. Summit street in the house occupied by Doc. Cannon.

Assistant Fire Chief Jasper Jones said the fire wa scaused by a short circuit in the fuse box, and slight damage to the wiring of the house was the extent of the damage caused by the fire.

No fires were reported to the local fire department during the weekend.

British Prime Minister Ailing

London, Aug. 1—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee has fallen ill, becoming the third of Britain's "big four" leaders to go on the sick list in time of a National crisis.

"Mr. Attlee is ill at Chequers with a chill," said a spokesman at No. 10 Downing street, the Prime Minister's official residence.

New ABC Regulations On Sale Of Beer Effective

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 1—(AP)—New State ABC board regulations affecting the beer industry became effective today.

One of the new rules prohibits retailers from maintaining signs advertizing beer outside their places of business.

Another is aimed at stopping all public drinking at 11:30 p. m.

The new regulation requires all beer and beer containers to be cleared from tables by 11:30 p. m.

Still another of the new rules makes it illegal for beer wholesalers to sell to retailers who do not have state ABC board permits.

C. A. Upchurch, Jr., director of the ABC board's beer division, was critical of beer retailers who are erecting trick signs to evade the ban on beer advertising by retailers—signs such as "we sell?—20 cents a bottle," or "we sell what it's against the law to advertise."

Upchurch said he planned no immediate action against such evasions, but he added, "we do disapprove, and we think they're very foolish. We think they ought to cooperate instead of staying up all night thinking up ways to evade the regulations."

The advertising ban prohibits all outside signs advertising beer, but it permits dealers to post their ABC board license number in letters not over five inches high.

Except for the few attempts at evasion of the ban, Upchurch said he had received "very good cooperation from the retailers and no complaints at all."

N. C. Personnel Director Reduces His Own Salary

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 1—The first salary cut made by Henry Hilton as director of personnel was in his own pay. The Governor and the personnel council had fixed the director's salary at $10,000 a year. Dr. Hilton thought was out of line and asked that it be reduced to $9,000. He said he didn't want the smaller salaried people with whom he has to deal to feel that the top was hogging the money.

Other high bracket salaries fixed by the Governor, the council of state or the advisory budget commission, include $12,000 each for David S. Coltrane, assistant director of the budget; Henry Jordan, chairman of the highway commission and Dr. Roy Norton, state health officer. Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw will draw $10,000. Those drawing $8,640 include Charles M. Williams, director of purchase and contract; Charles J. Parker secretary to the governor; Landon C. Rosser, commissioner of motor vehicles; Gurney P. Hood, commissioner of banks and Stanely Winborne, chairman of the utilities commission. The other utilities commissioners, Robert Grady Johnson, Fred C. Hunter, Joshua James and Edward McMahan get $8,280 each.

Most of the other department heads, except elective oficials, get $7,920 a year. These salaries represent a 20 per cent increase above the scale which prevailed prior to meeting of the 1949 general assembly. The governor gets a salary of $15,000 a year, the lieutenant governor $2,100; the attorney general $8,400 and other elective officials $7,500. Compensation of elective officials cannot be changed during the term for which they were elected.

Several other high bracket salaries—such as superintendent of hospitals, director of the ports authority, presidents of state insttutions—are fixed by the respective boards having control over these agencies.

As of January, 1949, the American steel industry had an annual capacity of 96,000,000 tons of steel ingots and castings.

TB Death Rate Takes Big Drop

New York, Aug. 1—(AP)—The tuberculosis death rate in the United States last year was 11 per cent under 1947, the sharpest decrease in this country in one year since 1921, the National Tuberculosis Association reported yesterday.

The death rate last year was 29.8 in 100,000 population, as compared with 33.5 in 1947, accordding to provisional figures made public by Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director of the Association.

An iron blade, perhaps 5,000 years old, was found in an Egyptian pyramid.

General Howley To Soon Give Up Berlin Command

Berlin, Aug. 1—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley soon will relinquish his job as American commandant in Berlin — one of the hottest spots in the east-west cold war.

He said today he had asked to be relieved in order to return home. U. S. military Governor John J. McClay said Howley's request will be accepted.

McCloy said Howley's record in Berlin was "courageous, outstanding, and in the best tradition of Gen. Howley's own fine combat service, which was great and gallant."

American military government sources said Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now chief of staff for American army forces in Europe, will succeed Howley.
