

Coal Operators In Talk With Unions

Probability Of Strike By Miners Discounted; Present Work Week May Be Extended

White Sulphur Springs W. Va., Aug. 11—(AP)—Northern and Western coal operators gathered here today with John L. Lewis' union negotiators to renew contract talks amid reports that:

- 1—United Mine Workers members will stage another walkout, and
- 2—That the three-day work week which has been in effect in coal mines east of the Mississippi since early July will be lengthened to four or five days.

Neither side would comment officially on the opposite reports.

The strike rumor apparently had its rise in the fact that Lewis gave the Northern and Western operators, representing 300,000,000 tons of production, notice of contract termination 60 days ago next Sunday. The Tard-Harley act outlaws such strikes until after that long a cooling off period.

However, the soft coal pact all ran out June 30 and the UMW holds that the labor law does not apply in cases where terminations are set by contract.

Other operator and UMW sources were inclined to discount the strike report.

Some operators speculated unofficially that the work week will be lengthened soon. Lewis may order it, they said, so that more coal might be mined and thus more money would flow into the union's welfare fund. The fund is supported by a 20-cent royalty on each ton of coal brought from the mines.

The Senate was told last month that the fund paid out $14,000,000 more than it took in in the last year.

However, the three-day week is cutting down the huge stockpile of coal above the ground. The smaller the stockpile gets, the stronger Lewis' bargaining position becomes.

Talks between the UMW and the Southern Coal Producers Association resumed yesterday, at Bristol, W. Va. The SCPA represents about 97,000,000 tons of annual production.

The session lasted two and one-half hours, but no announcement was made of what went on.

The SCPA-UMW discussions have been going on intermittently for 11 weeks. There has been little sign of progress.

The union turned down Southern operators' demands that it throw out the contract clause that members would work only when "able and willing," and for other concessions.

However, Lewis has not made his own demands known.

CIRCUS MAN ILL

Chicago, Aug. 11—(AP)—Robert Ringling, 51, director of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, was reported slightly improved but still in "critical" condition after an operation Sunday.

Officials at St. Luke's Hospital said Ringling's fever dropped slightly during the night. He has had repeated blood transfusions.

American Football Referee Depicted As Using Armored Car; Gangsterism Played Up; Goofier The Stories The Better Foreigners Like Them

By JAMES D. WHITE

Some of the giddier ideas abroad about America are being hopped up by Communist propagandists.

Sample: A recent Moscow cartoon shows an American football game so violent that the referee operates in an armored car among players and fans armed with guns and clubs. A recent article in "Rude Pravo," the official Communist newspaper in Prague, Czechoslovakia, depicts America as a place where sitting on flagpoles is common.

According to AP's Prague correspondent, Richard Kaschke, Rude Pravo's argument runs like this: America is so full of contradictions and frustrations that one out of thirty Americans blows his top and climbs a flagpole or does something equally odd to get away from it all. "Apparently," says Rude Pravo, "it is really hard for an average American today to keep his mental balance. Some of them—they are called pole-sitters—sit on high poles and try to keep their perch there as long as possible. Pictures are made of them and newspapers write front page stories about them."

"Then, soap, soft-drink and soup manufacturers ask them to endorse their products. Hollywood companies offer them screen tests. Political correspondents ask their opinions on the international situation."

Rude Pravo shows it's abreast of developments by reporting that Chicago "used to be" famous for its gangsters. But it says Chicago recently announced that during a sim-

Ford Workers Vote To Strike If Necessary

Willing To Back Up Contract Demands With Walkout If Negotiations Fail

Detroit, Aug. 11—(AP)—Ford workers in Michigan voted overwhelmingly to back up their contract demands with a strike, if necessary.

The state labor mediation board reported today that 65,001 voted for a strike and 9,549 against. This was a 7-1 majority.

The three-day election, required by state law, cleared away the last legal obstacle to a strike of Ford Motor Co.'s 105,000 hourly rated production employees, 80,000 of whom work in Michigan. The election was asked by the CIO United Auto Workers.

UAW president Walter Reuther said there would be no immediate walkout. He expressed hope that agreement could still be reached at the bargaining table.

Talks on the UAW's demand for $100 monthly pensions, health benefits and a cost-of-living wage increase have been going on since June 2.

A few technicalities remained to be cleared up in the wake of the election.

Union and company challengers must approve the vote count and then the mediation board must certify it. Board chairman Noel P. Fox said certification probably would be completed tomorrow.

The UAW can legally call a strike in Michigan any time within 30

Soldiers Held In Big Robbery

Pair Held Up Fayetteville Western Union Office Last Night

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 11—(AP)—Fayetteville police today arrested two Fort Bragg soldiers on charges of holding up a downtown Western Union office last night and taking $5,000 in money orders and $229 in cash.

According to M. W. Stone, night manager of the telegraph office, two unmasked men entered the office about 9:45 p. m. and ordered him and several customers to lie down on the floor. One of the men carried a gun wrapped in a shirt.

As they left, the shirt dropped from the gun. Police traced the laundry mark on the shirt to two soldiers at nearby Fort Bragg. Chief of detectives Will G. Clark identified the two as Pvt. Daniel Henson, 19, of Long Beach, Calif., and Pvt. Harold D. Crider, 26, of Visalia, Calif. Both are members of the 82nd Air Borne division at Fort Bragg.

Clark said that each has made an oral confession of the holdup. All of the money orders have been recovered and most of the cash. Stone has identified Crider as the bandit who carried the gun.

Earthquake Strikes Ecuador, Kills Thousands

Here is a scene of devastation in the town of Pelileo, Ecuador, one of 50 communities destroyed by the earthquake that killed thousands last Friday. Survivors are digging into the ruins in search of dead and injured. Some estimates placed the number of dead at between 2,000 and 4,000. Many perished in Pelileo. (AP Wirephoto).

Herbert Hoover Warns Against Free Spending

Former President Says Posterity Will Be Robbed Of Inheritance

Palo Alto, Calif., Aug. 11—(AP)—The nation today had the sober warning of its only living former President that its spending policies, if unchecked, will rob posterity of its inheritance.

Former President Herbert Hoover, in a significant address, asserted last night that the United States "is blisfully driving down the back road to collectivism at top speed."

"We have not had a great socialization of property," he said, "but we are on the last mile to collectivism through governmental collection and spending of the savings of the people."

The country's President from 1929 to 1933 spoke before an estimated 10,000 persons in the beautiful grass carpeted Laurence Frost Memorial Bowl on the Stanford University campus, virtually in the shadow of the Hoover Institute and Library on war, revolution and peace, founded in 1915.

Hoover headed a special commission on government organization which recently completed a two-year study with a report recommending economies of four billion dollars a year.

In his talk, broadcast by the four major networks, he said: "My word to you, my fellow citizens, on this seventy-fifth birthday is this: the founding fathers dedicated the structure of our government to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. We of this generation inherited this precious blessing. Yet as spendthrifts we are on our way to rob posterity of its inheritance."

"The American people have solved many great crises in National life. The qualities of self-restraint, of integrity, of conscience and courage still live in our people. It is not too late to summon these qualities."

Assailing new federal and state proposals for spending taxes, he said: "Along this road of spending, the government either takes over, which is Socialism, or dictates institutional and economic life, which is Fascism."

He said "the American mind is troubled by the growth of collectivism throughout the world."

The "few hundred thousand Communists and their fellow travelers in this country" he termed a "nuisance" who require attention but who cannot destroy the republic.

And there are also "the doctrinaire socialists who peacefully dream of their Utopia."

Continue Probe Army Contracts

Expect To Uncover Evidence Against Five-Percenters

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee today planned to take the lid off some of the evidence that led to the suspension of the Army's Chemical Corps chief last July 16.

Maj. Gen. Milton E. Ward was suspended as chief of the Chemical Corps by Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray on that date along with Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, quartermaster general.

Gray said in a statement then that he acted because evidence secured by the Senate committee "indicated that each officer had exhibited a lack of that judgment and sense of propriety which must be expected of persons in their positions."

The committee is looking into the activities of "five percenters"—persons who seek government contracts for others for a fee.

A committee aide told reporters the group plans to start in "on a matter affecting General Ward" after first hearing testimony from Clarence Oehler. He said this matter would involve part of the evidence that led to the 56-year-old officer's suspension.

Oehler, formerly supervisor of the War Assets Administration's Storage Warehouse Division at Chicago, now is reported associated with the American Industrial Development Corp., St. Louis.

The committee wants to ask him about correspondence he is said to

Broom Sale

Tonight at 7 o'clock the Greenville Lions Club's gigantic broom sale is scheduled to begin. Members of the club will canvass homes in Greenville tonight and tomorrow night. Proceeds from the broom sales go to the Lions blind fund.

The Lions broom sale chairman, Withers Harvey, stated this morning that he hoped the Lions salesmen will find someone at every home ready to buy a broom.

The broom truck is parked at Five Points and retail sales are being made during the day from the truck. This project has been cheerfully accepted in other localities.

Pitt Girls Get Scholarships

Ayden And Greenville Girls Receive Veterans Awards

Two Pitt county girls, Carolyn Mae Corey of Greenville and Arlene Joyner of Ayden have been notified by the North Carolina Veterans Commission that they have been awarded four year scholarships to the state educational institution of their choice.

The Pitt county girls received two of the ten scholarships awarded each year to the children of disabled World War I veterans.

Both the Pitt county girls have indicated they will enter Woman's College of the University of North Carolina this fall.

The scholarships include free tuition, room and board, and all necessary fees required of students for a period of four academic years.

Miss Joyner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Joyner of Ayden, and Miss Corey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Corey of Greenville.

Prisoner Who Fell 60 Feet "Doing Fine"

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 11—(AP)—A Negro prisoner who fell 60 feet in a futile escape attempt at Central Prison yesterday was "doing fine" today.

Deputy warden Ray Yarborough said that Alexander Howard, 30, clambered 60 feet up a drain pipe on the main prison building before he fell, crashing through a metal roof to a concrete floor.

Doctors said X-rays discovered his only injury was a small fracture to the coccyx—a bone leading off from the spine.

Attorney General Harry McMillan ducked that request by citing the statute which very specifically places responsibility for such appointments in the director subject to the board. There might have been more said and done about that particular phase had it not been for the more spectacular charges of political influence and unethical practices in connection with handling the state advertising account.

At outset of the meeting Chairman Horne brought up the unfinished business of these charges, which had been made by Fred Davis, another Scott appointee, at Morehead City. Davis had said he had supporting letters and affidavits indicating that J. W. Bunn, Raleigh lawyer and former member of the board, had taken a fee for legal service in connection getting the advertising business for Ayer & Gillett of Charlotte while he was a member of the state board responsible for selecting the agency.

In response to statements by Horne that such evidence was not produced at his request, Davis said he was afraid to give it to Horne for fear he would be "double-crossed again." Reference apparently was to Davis' belief Horne had given publicity to matters which Davis had regarded as confidential.

Bill For 75-Cents Minimum Wage Gets House Approval

Taft's Action Cheers Friends Of Arms Plan

Senator Not To Lead Fight Against Measure; Military Chiefs Support Program

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)—Friends of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 arms aid plan were cheered today by (1) word that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) won't lead a fight against it, and (2) strong support from the military chiefs.

Taft, Chairman of the GOP policy committee, told a reporter he probably will vote against the plan of arming friendly nations. But he added he will not spearhead the opposition as he did against the North Atlantic treaty. Taft came nowhere near winning his fight on the pact but he gave it plenty of trouble.

The joint chiefs of staff—General Omar N. Bradley of the Army, Admiral Louis E. Denfeld of the Navy, and General Hoyt Vandenberg of the Air Force added words of firm support yesterday. They gave closed door reports to the senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee, and the house foreign affairs committee. The committees are studying the President's arms program.

The Senate groups called for testimony today from W. Averell Harriman, Ambassador-at-large, and Ambassador to Greece Henry F. Gracy.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said he is confident the Senate will approve the entire amount. It would be used for rearming the North Atlantic pact nations in addition to Iran, Greece, Turkey, Korea and the Philippines.

One group of Senators headed by Senator Vandenberg favor a stop-gap program until the North Atlantic defense committee comes into being and recommends a defense plan for western Europe.

This situation, Senators said privately, has thrown the Michigan Senator into opposition with his nephew, General Vandenberg.

General Vandenberg is reported to have told Senators that he is opposed to any stop-gap measures. He backs Bradley and Denfeld in their arguments that the entire amount is needed to give western Europe the necessary arms for defense.

Bradley testified yesterday that whatever defense plans are made, the arms will be needed for Europe's armies and delay could prove costly. General Vandenberg is said to have backed this argument against his uncle's stand to tie the arms program more closely to the North Atlantic treaty.

Is Prepared For Any Recession

Federal Reserve System Better Equipped Than Ever Before

Washington, Aug. 11—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said today it is well armed to combat a recession, if it need be.

Its 35th annual report to Congress declared "The Federal Reserve system is much better equipped than ever before to meet the credit needs of the economy in a period of downward adjustment."

Anti-recession weapons were ticked off:

1. "Virtually unlimited means of supplying the money market with additional reserves, if the situation should call for such action."
2. Possession of sufficient gold certificate reserves—about $23,000,000,000—by the 12 Federal Reserve (central) banks to enable them to "more than double" paper money notes and loans to member banks.
3. Legal authority for the Reserve banks to "lend to member banks on any assets considered to be acceptable as security for advances."
4. Further legal authority for the Reserve banks to make loans for working capital purposes to business and industry "when other credit is unavailable."

The board, however, repeated the complaint it made during the boom that preceded last fall: the Federal Reserve system "lacks adequate means of coping with a recurrence of strong inflationary pressures."

Amvets Gather In Annual Convention

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 11—(AP)—Members of the State Department of Amvets gathered here today for their annual convention. The sessions will last through Sunday.

Army Secretary Gordon Gray is expected to witness a parade Saturday morning which will climax the four-day program. At a banquet session Saturday night, the speaker will be Lt. Col. Roswell P. Rosen, chief of the Army's Public Information office.

Gray is scheduled to speak at a memorial session Sunday, and Governor Scott also has been invited to speak.

Two business sessions will be held tomorrow.

Over 3,000 New Cases Of Polio Are Reported

Total For Nation Climbs Above 11,000 With Latest Reports

(By the Associated Press)

More than 3,000 new polio cases this month have boosted the nation's total for this year over 11,000.

An Associated Press survey through August 9 showed that the number of cases in 1949 was running roughly 4,000 ahead of that for the same date in 1948.

Last year, with a total of 27,680 cases reported, was the second highest on record for polio incidence. The worst year was 1916 when more than 30,000 cases were counted.

Judged solely by case figures, the polio situation looks more alarming than it really is, health authorities pointed out. They said that a greater percentage of polio cases are recognized and reported each year, and that many of the added proportion are so mild they would have been diagnosed as a cold in the head a few years ago.

Also, many local health officers reported a slackening off in new case reports. And it was noted that this year's polio season developed several weeks earlier than is usual.

Actually, the 11,000 cases reported to date represents a ratio of about one victim to every 15,000 persons in the United States.

There was no accurate check on the number of deaths from the disease to date this year, but they were expected to run between six and nine per cent of reported cases. This would mean about one fatality to more than 150,000 persons.

Most health officers reported the proportion of paralytic cases was no greater this year than formerly. The percentage of bulbar cases was reported under the usual ratio in most areas. Bulbar polio is the type which affects the medulla oblongata, the rear portion of the brain. It causes patients to lose control of their breathing, swallowing and other involuntary muscular processes. Bulbar cases are those treated with iron lungs.

The Aug. 9 survey showed an increase of more than 1,700 cases in three days since an earlier nationwide check.

It showed eight states had reported more than 500 cases since the first of the year. They were Arkansas 577, California 626, Illinois 720, Michigan 569, Missouri 597, New York 1,110, Oklahoma 582, and Texas 1,339.

Other unusually high figures included Indiana 362, Minnesota 466 and Ohio 348.

Mrs. Slaughter Talks Before W. C. T. U.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 3, Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley was hostess to the members of the W. C. T. U.

The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn, "America the Beautiful."

Mrs. F. P. Brooks led in prayer. Mrs. J. H. Rose gave an inspiring devotional. She used as her subject, "Standards of Service." Mrs. Rose read parts of scripture from Psalms 121 and First Corinthians 3-9.

We are God's co-workers when we dedicate ourselves to the will of God and when we give ourselves in service to our fellowman.

Mrs. B. B. Slaughter of New Bern, state vice president of the W. C. T. U., brought a most interesting message. Mrs. Slaughter said, a cartoon recently seen was worded like this: "The United States in account with John Barleycorn. The long arm of Uncle Sam was reaching out gathering in the revenue—liquor revenue, billions of dollars, easy to get revenue. Who pays it? The man or woman who drinks, their dependents, men in other lines of business for every time the cash register of the tavern, the cocktail room, the liquor package store rings they suffer."

On the other side of the books there is the cost. Home trouble, brutality to children, vice, crime accidents, waste, drink-caused sickness, insanity, juvenile delinquency are parts of the cost.

We need men in public office and citizens who will vote at every opportunity for sober, God-fearing leaders in the White House, in the Congress, in every governor's mansion and in every legislator's seat.

Alcoholic Anonymous is a wonderful organization for reclaiming a person, but none of us wish anyone to have to suffer all the pain and ignominy when it could be avoided. Prevention is surely preferable to cure, so we have the alcohol education in the public schools, which is required by law. We have the radio, the quarterly lessons on temperance in our church schools and the distribution of leaflets. Such procedure may save persons from wasted lives.

Mrs. W. T. C. Briggs the president, conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Briggs announced that Mrs. W. H. Causey, field worker for the state, would be here for the September meeting.

During the social hour Mrs. Hadley served delightful refreshments. The meeting adjourned with the W. C. T. U. benediction.

world's largest training and educational systems," said Capt. Ralph W. Ferrese of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station located at 401 Evans St.

"Under the Army's new Career Guidance Program, the soldier advances steadily within his chosen job field, dependent primarily on his efficiency, skill, and knowledge."

In essence, the Army's advancement system is tied in directly with a man's output on the job and his desire to advance."

Capt. Ferrese stated that Army entrance requirements have been raised considerably and that the entire recruiting picture has become a highly selective one.

More American Men Married, And Liking It, Say Statistics

New York.—More American men are married, maintaining a home and raising a family—and what's more, apparently liking it—than ever before in the history of the country.

This is based upon a study of the American husband by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who bring attention to the impressive fact that there are now about 35 1-2 million married men in the United States, and that some 34 1-3 million of them are living with their wives.

"Even the small proportion—approximately three percent—living apart includes those men who are employed away from home or are temporarily absent for reason other than marital discord," the statisticians note.

The otherwise happy situation is clouded somewhat by the fact that, because of the housing shortage, about 2 1-2 million married couples are living with relatives or in other temporary quarters, such as transient hotels and lodging houses.

Other interesting collateral data revealed by the study include these: Nearly one third of the husbands are under 35 years of age, and about one quarter are past 55. Of these at ages 35 to 54, 98 per cent are gainfully employed, or seeking employment, as a means of meeting their family responsibilities. Although the proportion of wives who work is greater than ever before, less than one fourth of all wives work outside the home, and these are mostly the younger ones who have been married only a short time.

"More than nine out of every ten young men in this country eventually marry," the statisticians say. "All in all, American men look with great favor on traditional family life. They make a home, raise a family, provide for current needs, and save for their old age and for such contingencies as prolonged sickness and premature death."

In other words, fellows, we are keeping our collective most to the well-known grindstone.

Here's another big reason why

THERE IS NO FINER CIGARETTE IN THE WORLD TODAY THAN LUCKY STRIKE

America's finest cigarette laboratory assures you that—

1. Lucky Strike always means fine tobacco!
2. Lucky Strike is always a finer cigarette!

YOU SEE HERE the largest and most complete laboratory of its kind operated by any cigarette manufacturer in America.

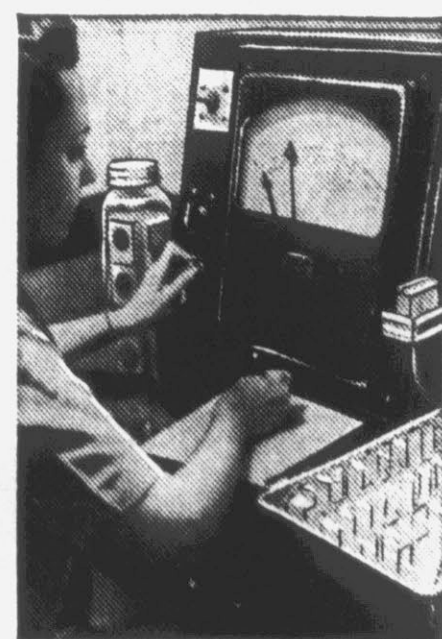

For many years Lucky Strike scientists have delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale. Out of this has grown an elaborate system of quality control. Every step in the making of Luckies—from before the tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the laboratory's watchful eye.

As you read this, a constant stream of tobacco . . . samples from every tobacco-growing area . . . is flowing into the laboratory in Richmond, Virginia. These samples are scientifically analyzed, and reports of their quality go to the men who buy at auction for the makers of Lucky Strike.

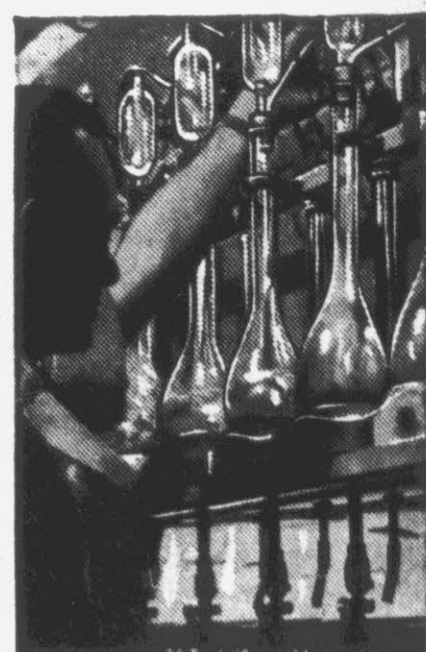

Armed with this confidential, scientific information—and their own sound judgment—these men go after finer tobacco. This fine tobacco—together with scientifically controlled manufacturing methods—is your assurance that there is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike!

Everything's under control! Lucky Strike scientists supervise intricate tests daily to guarantee that the weight, size, density and firmness of your Lucky Strike are always right. Such details are rigidly controlled to guarantee you a truly finer cigarette.

Luckies stay fresh. After Lucky Strike cigarettes have been made and then packaged, they must be tightly sealed to remain fresh. Here you see the cellophane seal being tested for air-tightness. Such instruments are in use at every plant.

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine.

FINDING SPIRITUAL TREASURE
A young woman slightly over thirty years of age has written recently saying that she had joined a certain well-known church and had for the first time found certain spiritual values for which she had been searching over the years.
"Going to church," she writes, "is no longer something which I do only because I ought to do it. It is as if I suddenly had inherited a priceless possession. Eventually one seems to find the 'how' of doing and living. It may be that is why I feel now as I do. As a child in Sunday school, one learns the 'why' and that sticks, but it seems as though most human beings have to blunder around a great deal before they catch up with the 'how.'"

Every minister reading these words will probably feel within him a longing that every person joining church might have this experience.
And many church members may ask themselves as they read these words, why they have not had such an experience upon joining church.
There may be a number of right answers to this question, but the most probable is that although people have great spiritual needs, they are seldom conscious of them, and even those who are seem to lack either ingenuity or knowledge as to what to do about the situation.

POLITICAL FOOTBALL
While other football teams all over the state are waiting for September 1 to begin their training for the fall season, Governor Scott already has begun whipping his team into shape. This time it is at the expense of the Department of Conservation and Development and the people of North Carolina by using the state's $150,000 advertising contract and the appointment of head of the news bureau as political footballs.

Governor Scott, in his appointment of his secretary, Charles Parker, as head of the state news bureau last week, clearly overstepped his bounds of authority as set up by the statutes of North Carolina, and he disregarded the laws of the state to gain the selfish end he desires—to have a stranglehold on the government of the state so he can run it as he damn well pleases without regard for other officials or the interest of the general public of North Carolina.

The Conservation and Development board yesterday went to Attorney General Harry McMullan to ask what authority if any the governor had to appoint the head of the state news bureau. Mc-Mullan refused to issue a ruling on the statute which governs the appointment, but told the board members, "if you read the statute you'll know as much about it as I do. In this case the statutes are clear."

The statutes place the authority for appointing the experts and assistants to carry out the state's conservation and development program squarely in the hands of the director of the Conservation and Development department, with the approval of the board.

Scott's maneuver with the Conservation and Development board was another in his apparent efforts to provoke into resigning certain members of the state boards who are not under his control and whom he can neither dominate nor force out of office until their terms expire.

Political maneuvering is to be expected from all politicians from the town constable up. But when the Governor of the state takes it upon himself to disregard the laws of the state in carrying out his own wishes, the situation is getting out of hand and should be brought to a halt.

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—In the old days a Hollywood script writer had very little to live for.
He supported a house or two, a wife or three, some children a few servants—and a five-star ulcer. This brought him little happiness for, after all he was only a writer.
In the Hierarchy of Hollywood a writer was just a $1500-a-week object of charity. His forlorn paper dream—the script—was hacked by the producer, misconceived by the director, ambushed by the actors, and left writing on the floor by the film cutter.
The only thing left of his original product—in many cases—was a comma here and there. And you can't hear a comma on the screen.
Today all this is changed. It is now possible for movie writers to get ahead in the world without marrying the daughter of the man who owns the studio. There is a happy ending for them now, too.
They can work their way up to become directors, producers and—yes—even film cutters. Some of them now write, produce, direct, and cut the film. They run the show from idea to screen.
This is all to the good—in the opinion of Sidney Buchman, who spent a decade as a writer before he became a producer.
"In some studios 75 per cent of the producers are writers or former writers," he said. "And about

Somebody Told Me...
By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Occasionally this column hits a serious note. One of those times was in the month of May, when I did a three-day series on alcoholism and the organization which has realized the most success in curing the disease, Alcoholics Anonymous.

The series was inspired by a speech I heard in Chapel Hill by a member of the group, James Street, author of such best-selling novels as "Tap Roots," "The Gauntlet," "Oh Promised Land," "By Valor and Arms," and "In My Father's House." Street told an English class at the University, of which I was a member, about his experiences as a drunk for 18 years, and his success at going dry as a member of AA. It was not until he stopped drinking that he became a successful author. Beforehand he made a living between drunks as a newspaper columnist.

All of the information for the series of columns I did came from Street's address. The purpose of the series was to reach you readers with two important facts: (1) alcoholism is a disease, and those of us who deal with excessive drinkers should realize that fact, learn something about the disease, and always act accordingly; and (2) an organization that has been eighty per cent successful in curing drunks, Alcoholics Anonymous, exists in Eastern North Carolina.

AA is the sort of organization that most of us think about in connection with large cities, but it's right here in our section of the country. These towns in this area have members of AA: Kingston, Tarboro, New Bern, Goldsboro, Durham, Dunn, Clinton, Greensboro, Lillington, Raleigh, Angier, Benson, Sanford, Erwin, Fayetteville, Pinehurst, Bule's Creek, Southern Pines, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Henderson, Coates and Charlotte.

Of course the big question is half are carrying out both functions."

Buchman, 47, is an expressive-featured man who looks and gestures more like Exo Pinza or John do we have members of AA in Greenville? The answer is yes. The day after the final column in the series was printed I received an anonymous telephone call from a person who offered to give to me the box number of the New Bern AA group, which any interested person could contact for help. Some time later the person called me back with the box number, 312, which I printed.

Yesterday I received this letter written on stationery letterheaded "Alcoholics Anonymous, New Bern Group."

"Dear Mr. Edwards:
"I just want to let you know that I have definite proof that your column was read by one in-terested party. This box number is still willing to answer further inquiries.
"The 'anonymous voice' that gave you our box number is making a wonderful member of our group. We have a membership of forty. We meet Sunday and Thursday nights, and August 10th we became one year old.
"Because of the hot weather we have postponed our first anniversary banquet until October 22nd. At that time we plan to have a real AA affair open to the public (that is, for $2.00 to cover the turkey dinner). We have speakers from Charlotte and Richmond.
"Would you be willing to give us a little plug in your column prior to the banquet? I would like to have a few non-alcoholics from Greenville present. We cannot carry on our work without interested persons to lead the alcoholic to us.
"Sincerely,
"Her name",
"Corresponding Sec'y"
Not only will I plug the AA meeting later, but I'll be there and report the meeting. If this column has guided one alcoholic to AA, the space devoted to the story of the disease was well spent. And I'm proud—wouldn't you be? And I thank you.

Barrymore than a man who got his callouses studying a typewriter.
"If a man has the skill to write a fine script," he said, "he certainly should have the judgment to carry it out—to know whether a set right or a costume is right.
"When a writer trying to imple-ment his work in film first comes down from the ivory tower, he falters a bit, then takes to it like a duck takes to water.
"After all who has a better un-derstanding of the script than the man who writes it? Why shouldn't he be able to pick and direct the cast and see that they carry out his own conceptions? And as for cut-ting the film, what is that but an-other rewriting technique?"
Buchman himself wrote such scripts as "The Sign of the Cross."

FAIRS—The 1949 general assem-responsibility for setting up regu-cultural fairs throughout the state.

L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, is this week calling upon operated last year, and as many new ones as he can ascertain expect to function this year, to register with the department the official

DEFERRED—Ballentine sets out that because of the short time before the fairs will begin it was deemed expedient not to attempt enforcing regulations this year, except in broad principle. Sometime this fall, well ahead of planning for local fairs next year, the board of agriculture will adopt rules de-

SCHOOLS—Information received by Paul Reid, controller of the state board of education, indicated that the conference of superintendents scheduled to be held at Mars Hill College next week will be one of the best attended in history of the summer conference idea. In addition to the usual routing problem of public school administration the superintendents this year will have special interest in two topics—the handling of auxiliary local accounts and the fifty million dollar building program.

ACCOUNTS—For many years
there has not been very accurate auditing control over the handling of auxiliary funds such as athletic associations, lunch rooms and school bands. The recent legislature took cognizance of this situation and amended the law so as to require channeling these auxiliary funds through regular school accounting procedures. Considerable time will be devoted to discussion of this problem at the Mars Hill meeting.

BUILDING—Of more importance only because the amount involved is larger, may be the upcoming state aided school building program. Heretofore the state has had little control over school buildings. Superintendents have dealt with county

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the  Kitchens

Mighty Fine Eating—prepared the EASY summer way. Here's another Rector platterful of juicy pot roast, that's good to look at and mighty good to eat! It's FINE Wilson's Certified meat—pot roasted the right slow, low heat way to save its full aroma and meaty goodness. You'll find this is Hubby's favorite among summer entrees.

Whole Family's Choice—Cook's choice too, for August is that sweltering month when a pot roast that cooks over the mere heat of a tiny simmer burner, in a tightly covered heavy kettle, keeps the kitchen COOL; yet provides the family with that temptingly hot, meat platter they all hanker for regularly.

Bonus Platter Second Night!—On a second night there's a BONUS platter of choice pot roast sliced cold, ready and waiting to make the cook and family happy all over again. Tomatoes with cottage cheese stuffing furnish the color accent.

1. Popular First Night Premiere Here in all its browned, juicy, fork-tender goodness is Wilson's Certified Pot Roast.

2. A 2nd Night. Too same roast... next night. Now in tempting cold slices. Still as protein-rich and d-e-l-i-c-i-o-u-s...

PERFECT POT ROAST OF BEEF

For a: 4 lb. pot roast of beef from a Wilson's CERTIFIED Round, Rump or Chuck

Blend: 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Coat the meat with flour. Meanwhile slowly heat up a heavy pan over moderate heat. When pan is hot add:

3 tablespoons drippings or Laurel Leaf Lard

Slowly brown meat thoroughly over moderate heat. Then add:

1 to 2 cups water or tomato juice, adding more only as needed.

Turn the heat LOW (almost out), cover kettle tightly and cook three hours or more to fork-tenderness turning the meat over when half done.

Make gravy* and serve.

*Per cup of gravy use:

1 cup pot roast liquor skimmed of excess fat, 1 tablespoon flour plus 1 tablespoon water and 1 teaspoon

The CS Rooster Says: "BE FOXY ABOUT FOODS"

Said Mrs. Dupree, I'm smart as a fox,
I feed my family, I buy my frocks
Though my budget is small, I don't need more,
For I save at my thrifty Colonial Store.

Shrewd shopping is easy at Colonial Stores, because there you will always find quality foods at low prices which even the thriftiest shoppers can afford. What's more, all prices are plainly marked on every item, and those you see on Friday and Saturday you will also see every other day of the week.

You'll find plenty of low-price specials at Colonial Stores, too. They are "bonus specials"—the benefits from advantageous purchases and lower market conditions which we always pass on to you. But the biggest saving comes from item-by-item, day-by-day low prices which make every day Value Day at Colonial Stores.

For consistent savings every day,

Charge Farmer With Damaging Greenville Home

William Perry King, 33-year-old farmer of near Greenville, was in the city jail this morning charged with disorderly conduct and damaging property at the home of J. C. Youngblood, 332 S. 7th St., yesterday. King will be tried in Police Court next Monday morning.

Youngblood, owner of the house told police that King was visiting E. E. McGowan, a roomer at his home; that they had an argument and McGowan left for a short time. When he returned, the police report states, King allegedly had turned over a soot-laden stove, damaged a radio and furniture, damaged the walls of the rooms, etc., and caused from $100 to $200 of damage. King's car, being held at police headquarters until he was to be released on bond, contained a large side of smoked meat and a stand of lard, and the grease was circulating in the boot of the car, police said.

Seven Favorite Ways To Serve Fluffy Riceland Rice

Seven Quick Ways To Serve Riceland Rice

Many good cooks know more than 200 different, delicious ways to serve Riceland Rice.

Delicious Riceland Rice is a favorite ingredient in the better recipes for soups, chili, stews, meat loaves, croquettes, casseroles, jambalayas, chicken dressing, griddle cakes, muffins, salads, puddings, pies, bavarians, custards and countless other dishes.

And, of course, Riceland Rice is the basis of dozens of rice main dishes such as Rice Fiesta, Mexican Rice, Spanish Rice, Flemish Rice and Turkish Rice, to name just a few.

Tender-cooked, fluffy Riceland Rice is wonderfully delicious "as is", served plain, so you can enjoy the steaming, wholesome goodness of the world's most delicious rice itself. Many families serve it that way with every meal, often with one or more of the following additions:

7 Quick Ways To Serve Riceland Rice

Riceland Rice With Gravy
Whenever you serve meat, make a lot of rich, brown gravy to put over individual servings of hot, fluffy Riceland Rice. Meat, rice and gravy just naturally go together.

Hot, Buttered Riceland Rice
Let a slice of butter or margarine melt down through each individual serving of hot, fluffy Riceland Rice. Mmm! Mmm! What flavor!

Sugared Riceland Rice
Like it sweet? Then after the butter or margarine has melted through the hot, fluffy Riceland Rice, sprinkle white or brown sugar over the top. Many folks also add a light sprinkling of cinnamon.

Hot Riceland Rice With Sugar And Cream

For breakfast serve hot, fluffy Riceland Rice with sugar and cream. Riceland Rice can be cooked the day before and heated in a jiffy for a quick, energy-rich breakfast.

Serve Riceland Rice with sugar and cream for a delicious, nourishing lunch. Wonderful for hungry children after school, too. Wholesome and easily digested.

Riceland Rice with sugar and cream makes a quick, economical and delicious dinner dessert. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon if desired.

Riceland Rice Is Easy To Cook! Tender! Fluffy!

To get the best results with this recipe and all rice recipes, be sure to use Riceland Rice. It's the world's most delicious rice—grown in the heart of the quality rice belt of America. Only the choice, perfect-cooking rice grains are packed in Riceland packages.

This quality rice is quick and easy to cook. Riceland Rice cooks deliciously tender with white, fluffy, individual grains.

Most grocers now feature this better-cooking, wonderfully-delicious, packaged rice—and at economical prices, too! Riceland Rice costs only one-cent a serving.

Charge Farmer With Passing Worthless Check

Police arrested Johnny W. Clark, 30-year-old tenant farmer on the

A. F. Fornes farm near Vanceboro yesterday afternoon and charged him with giving a worthless check for a $38.50 radio at Quinn-Miller and Stroud's Furniture Store. Police said Clark also is wanted by New Bern police.

Police said they had information that Clark bought the radio and tendered a check, which was accepted. He took the radio, in a box, with him. Shortly afterwards the clerk became suspicious, did some investigating and reported the matter to the police. An officer picked up Clark and the radio on Dickinson Avenue. He said Clark had tried to sell the radio. He will be tried in Police Court Monday August 15.

Thailand Hunts For Tax Evasion

Bangkok — (AP) — The Thai (Siam) revenue department is sending out secret agents to run down stamp tax evaders among businessmen who are mulching the government of $1,000,000 a year.

A revenue department official said most of the evasion is done by keeping two sets of books, one to be shown revenue officials and the other to keep track of the firm's actual transactions. Foreign as well as Thai business houses join in the practice, he added.

Refugees Demand Women's Return

New Delhi — (AP) — Unmindful of rains, about 40 refugees in rags squatted in the open before the relief minister's house here. They demanded immediate rehabilitation and recovery of their abducted women from Pakistan.

These refugees sat on till the evening shouting slogans. They refused to budge until Minister Mohanlal Saxena came out and assured them of his personal attention. The July rains had flooded most of their quarters rendering them homeless.

Soviet Political Group Is Growing

Moscow — (AP) — The All Union Society for the Dissemination of Political and Scientific Knowledge is disseminating a lot of political and scientific knowledge. Membership has reached 40,000—almost doubling since 1948.

In 1947 the Society had organized about 1,000 lectures a month in towns and villages. In 1948, 7,000 lectures were given in a month, but in 1949 the total had grown to about 20,000 lectures a month.

Chief Learns Story Authentic

Duesseldorf, Germany — (AP) — Two policemen from Hilden near here fell off their motorcycle. In hospital they explained they had been driving at about 20 miles an hour when a bicyclist suddenly stopped in front of them and caused the accident.

The police chief didn't believe their story and asked two other policemen to demonstrate that the accident was avoidable. They are in the same hospital now, with the same sort of injury.

Wild Shooting

Residents of the 100 block on Washington Street yesterday complained to police about small boys shooting air rifles in the neighborhood. Stray shots caused some housekeepers to duck to cover when the air-propelled pellets peppered windows or sides of houses. The air rifle marksmen had disappeared when police investigated.

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 4

Derris started as the man beside her stirred.

"Thank heaven he's not dead, anyway," she thought.

At first his voice was so low that she could barely hear him.

"Where are we going? What's this place?"

"My house—we're almost there," Derris pulled up in front of her house.

"Please wait for me by the front door," she said. "I want to get the car out of the way as quickly as possible. Even though there's rarely anyone about at this time, I don't want someone ready with bright answers if certain people start asking questions. Sure you can make it all right?"

He nodded an assurance he was far from feeling and began to walk toward the patio. It had been hard enough to stand up straight, let alone walk forward. No matter how carefully he placed his feet, the ground seemed to tilt and roll under him.

A voice came from a long distance.

"Oh, please try—it's just a little further."

In spite of Derris's efforts, she did not quite succeed in getting him to the sofa. Halfway across the room, he collapsed as if his legs had been knocked out from under him. For a moment, Derris stood helplessly looking down at him. If only Sarah were there. Well, wishing wouldn't get things done. She hurried over to the windows, avoiding the furniture, and pulled the drapes closed. Then she clicked on the lights.

Derris gave up the idea of trying to pull him toward the sofa. He was much too heavy a weight for her, and besides, she didn't want to take the risk of having the bleeding start up too freely again. She would have to call Dr. Bayles, she thought as she automatically picked up the phone.

"This is Derris Martin, Doctor. I'm so sorry to bother you so late, but I've got to see you right away, at my place. It can't wait till morning." In spite of her efforts at self-control, Derris could hear her voice rising.

Apparently the doctor heard it too, because he asked sharply: "What's the matter?"

Mindful of possible listeners, Derris mentioned a cut hand.

Soon the sound of tires on gravel announced the doctor's arrival.

Dr. Julius Victor Bayles always gave the impression of being a much larger man than he actually was. Actually, he was little more than five-foot-six in height, with a slight tendency to fat. Thick, bushy, black eyebrows and a large nose, ending in an enormous mustache, gave him a mock-serious air.

"Now, young lady, what's this all about?" he boomed.

"Certainly no cut fingers," glancing down at her hands, "so it must be something much more serious to make you so upset, eh?"

"I'm afraid that was a pretty slim pretext I made up to bring you over. The fact is, I've gotten myself mixed up in something more than I bargained for—in here." The doctor followed her as she entered the living room.

Obviously Dr. Bayles had not expected anything like this. He stopped abruptly, then walked across and bent over the man on the floor. A low whistle escaped him. Straightening up, he asked, "Who is he?"

"I'm afraid I don't know," the doctor glanced at her curiously.

"You don't know? Where did you meet him? How did he get here?"

"I brought him," Derris replied. "That's fine." The doctor's voice was sarcastic. "Now we know everything was so simple. You're quite sure you didn't shoot him?"

One look at Derris's worried face precluded any more remarks in this vein.

"O. K., we'll get busy and see what we can do. Get me some boiling water, Derris, please, and see if you can find some place where we can put him. We'd never get him upstairs. And perhaps it might be a good idea to make some good, strong coffee, while you're at it."

After drinking the coffee, she told him the whole story. He was silent for several minutes after she had finished, and she did not interrupt his train of thought.

Dr. Bayles finally looked at her. "To put it plainly, I don't like the look of this thing. I'm afraid I'll have to report this."

"Must you?" Derris's face was serious. "Couldn't you possibly wait—and—she finished lamely. 'Please don't just yet anyway.'"

"But, my dear child, do you realize what we may be getting into? For all we know we may be harboring a criminal. The police should be notified, and if he has nothing to hide, he won't be inconvenienced in any way. If he has, then we're well out of it. Let the authorities do the worrying."

"Dr. Bayles"—Derris's face was tense and earnest—"you've known me for a long time, haven't you? And you've never known me to do anything downright stupid, or to go off the deep end. I saw the two men; you didn't. They weren't police. For a moment she shivered at the recollection. "Police don't act the way they did. If they weren't who were they? What were they after? All I'm asking is that you after I make a report right away. Besides, it's too late now, and obviously he's not going to get away tonight. Let's hear what he has to say and then, there'll always be time enough to do what you think best."

Dr. Bayles smiled in spite of himself.

"Darned if I don't think you could talk the whippers out of Santa Claus. I guess your powers of persuasion are too much for me."

"I'll be quite comfortable on the sofa in the front room. After all, you're pretty certain you weren't followed, but we can't take any chances," he said. "If you'll get me a couple of blankets and a pillow, I'll be all set."

When she returned with them, Derris found the doctor carefully going through the pockets of the stranger's overcoat and suit. He looked up at her and said disgruntledly:

"Not a single thing to give us a clue. Nothing very enlightening, if you ask me—not even an initial."

Trailway Bus Is Struck By Auto

A 1948 Mercury car driven by Heber T. Savage, Jr., 24, Greenville, struck a Carolina Trailways bus on the Farmville highway about one-half mile from Greenville yesterday afternoon about 4:00. State Highway Patrolman Paul C. Whitely reported today.

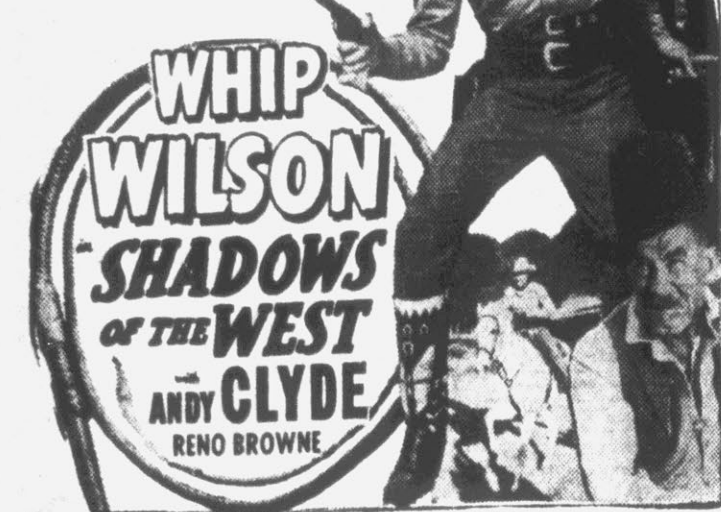

Savage came around a curve on the Farmville highway and came upon a bus driven by Joseph W. Robins of Rocky Mount which was discharging passengers. Savage took to a ditch to avoid hitting the bus but his car came back across the road and struck the bus on the side. Whitely said.

The Carolina Trailways bus was damaged about $150 and the Mercury suffered damages estimated at $450.

Patrolmen who investigated the wreck stated that no charges had been brought against the drivers. Marvin Mills, a passenger in the bus, was injured and the face and was treated by a doctor in Greenville.

The cost of stripping and re-striping 100,000 miles of highway each year is estimated at $2,800,000 or $28 a mile.

Hot Weather

The highest temperature recorded in the Greenville area yesterday by the U. S. Weather Bureau station was 95 degrees. It has been 90 degrees or more each day this week.

Lowest last night was 75 degrees.

At 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 79 and was rising. At 11 a.m. it was 90 degrees.

The highest temperature here a year ago yesterday was 91 degrees.

Incidentally, on 24 of the last 31 days, the official temperature has ranged from 90 degrees upward, Mrs. C. E. Malden, local observer, said today.

Checking over her records, she found that the hottest day here in many years was 105 degrees on August 29, 1948. The mercury then hovered around the 100-mark several days. On August 30 it was 102 degrees.

It is "refreshing" to recall that the coldest day in the Greenville area in many years was the day after last Christmas, when the mercury went down to 16 degrees above zero.

Warns Pedestrians To Cross Streets On Green Lights

Police Chief Lester D. Page yesterday again warned pedestrians to watch the traffic lights on the streets and not cross until the green light shows. He said many accidents can be avoided if pedestrians will cross on the green lights—never on the red lights. Chief Page also warned motorists about not stopping at "stop" signs. Motorists failing to heed the "stop" signs will be arrested when apprehended.

"Don't cross streets in the middle of a block," the chief said.

With the opening of the bright leaf tobacco market next week—Thursday, August 18, traffic in the city is expected to be very heavy. Police warn motorists not to park on the left side of streets.

City ordinances provide heavy penalties for violating traffic rules.

PEDESTRIAN COLLIDES WITH AUTO HERE YESTERDAY

A police report today stated that Mrs. H. B. Drum, 207 Conetown street, was injured yesterday when she stepped in front of a car driven by Nick Sideris, which was proceeding slowly. Sideris offered aid and Mrs. Drum said it was her fault, the police report said. There was no arrest. A checkup by a physician showed that Mrs. Drum was only slightly shocked and bruised.

Pitt Bloodhounds Lead Officers To Escaped Convicts

Raleigh, Aug. 11—(AP)—Two more of the nine negro convicts who broke out of the Edgecombe county prison camp Sunday have been recaptured, the prison department reported.

Prison Supervisor J. G. Sawyer said Ernest Green, 47, was taken near Scotland Neck Tuesday night and Buster Burgess, 47, was caught near Bethel.

The two were trailed by bloodhounds from the Pitt county prison camp, Sawyer said.

Only one of the nine escapees remains at large, Anthony R. Stone, 24.

have conducted with James V. Hunt, Washington management counselor, in April 1947 when Oehler was with WAA.

Hunt, a former Army lieutenant colonel and war assets consultant, is a prime figure in the investigation.

The subcommittee has heard testimony from Paul Grindle, Framingham, Mass., manufacturer, that Hunt named to him as "close personal friends" both Waitt and Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide.

Vaughan's name was brought into the hearing again yesterday by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods. He testified that Vaughan had come to his office to see about hurrying up a construction permit for the Tanforan Race Track in California on January 12, 1948.

Chairman Hoye (D-NC) told reporters there may be more references to Vaughan later. Other committee sources predicted in advance that Vaughan's name would figure today in connection with Waitt. Waitt himself is expected to take the stand tomorrow.

made untruths, and wound up with the story of the snake biting a deer which had saved it from a forest fire just because "he was a damned snake."

Further allegations of misuse of prestige by committee members to get personal business and similar niceties (?) were exchanged.

Columns could be written about that meeting and the things which precipitated it. When all the writing was done just a few facts would stand out: Members of the committee and officials in the department, as well as the governor of North Carolina, are really interested in promoting the state. Majority of the committee thinks the basic policies which have proven successful in the past should be continued. Governor Scott and his staunch political supporters apparently think the state can be served best by substituting new ideas and making sure that every employee was a Scott supporter in the primary.

Communist . . .

Any editor who ever filed news from this country abroad can tell you. The great demand abroad for the fresh in American life. This situation is better than it used to be, since so much news of vital importance to the rest of the world originates here. But the goofy story from this chromium-plated wilderness is the one that always wows the foreign reader.

I know one editor who threw a story in the wastebasket the other day. It was about a movie actress who lost her bathing suit in a big wave. He thought it was a press-agent's stunt. The same story was a big hit in Latin America.

There was another editor who was filling a news service to Britain and threw out a story about one of our more extreme religious cults. He thought it couldn't possibly interest the staid British. Another editor who had worked in Britain snatched the story up and sent it to England in full.

"They love that stuff over there," he said severely.

In short, the world outside tends to think of America as the home of the abnormal, and therefore is not much interested in what is normal.

This is what the Communists are working on.

It had been introduced this year in Congress by the committee chairman, Rep. Crosser, Ohio Democrat. There were some things about the bill which Wolverton disliked.

He protested that the committee never had been told who wrote it. Just then William J. Patterson, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, spoke up.

He said he and a member of his staff had written the bill a year ago and that a year ago it was introduced for them by Wolverton. This year it was reintroduced by Crosser.

Wolverton remembered then and said he had introduced it as courtesy for the ICC although, when doing that, congressmen may not like everything in the bill.

days after certification. This period can be extended by mutual agreement between the disputing parties.

The UAW International executive board was scheduled to meet today to act on the election results. The board was expected to authorize union officers to call the walk-out at any time they saw fit.

A total of 75,000 out of 80,000 eligible Michigan Ford workers voted in the election, Fox said. There were 405 challenged ballots and 275 invalidated ones.

Holidays Over

Yesterday's half-holiday was the last early closing of the summer season. Next Wednesday business will be carried on as usual, with warehouses, factories and merchants and other business places getting ready for the rush which always comes with the opening of the bright leaf tobacco market.

The market opens a week from today—Thursday, Aug. 18. The Wednesday half-holidays were sponsored by the Greenville Merchants' Association. The mid-week closing of business places is general over Eastern Carolina.
