Solons Approve Barter Plan On Military Supplies

Canadian Barter Deal Said To Help Keep Their Dollar Reserves Intact

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Lawmakers voiced general approval today of a proposal to swap military supplies with Canada, although some of them picked flaws in the plan.

Secretary of Defense Johnson reported to President Truman and the cabinet yesterday that the Canadians want to barter warships, aircraft, small arms ammunition and other things they make for American supplies. This would help keep Canada's dollar reserves intact but still provide her with equipment she can get only in this country.

The Defense Secretary said he is very much in favor of the idea. And so were many members of Congress.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the proposal looks as if it might "be helpful to both countries."

But Senator Maybank (D-SC) said he doesn't like the idea of exchanging U.S. supplies for anti-submarine vessels, one of the Canadian items named.

Along that line, Secretary of the Navy Matthews assured Senator Johnson (D-SC) yesterday that he knows nothing of reports that the Charleston, S. C., Navy Yard will be closed.

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) cautioned against going into any deal by which the Canadians would be called upon to produce highly technical war equipment and thus do away with the need for trained personnel and know-how in this country.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said that if the plan involves acquiring naval vessels from Canada, he doesn't think it will work out.

"We've got more ships tied up now than we know what to do with," he observed. "I would be very reluctant to see us go into a program that would mean more unemployment for our people, particularly around the Navy yards."

Leaflets Urging German Voters To Stay Home

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—Leaflets continued to circulate in west Germany today urging the voters to boycott tomorrow's election for a federal parliament.

Most of the pamphlets were signed by small independent groups regarded by allied observers as of little consequence. Some were unsigned.

Ignoring these attempts to discourage the voters, the major political parties made last minute appeals to the 31,000,000 eligible west Germans to go to the polls and "do their duty."

It will be the first federal election since Hitler seized power.

Gen. Collins To Succeed Bradley

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Gen. Joseph L. Collins, whose fighting 7th corps outdistanced the Nazis halfway across Europe, has been selected to succeed Gen. Omar N. Bradley as army chief of staff.

He was named to the post yesterday by President Truman.

Mr. Truman Thursday nominated Bradley to the newly-created position of chairman of the joint chiefs of staff—the nation's highest military office.

Indo-China Question

Little Country Is Ripe For Collapse When Chinese Communists Reach Border; French Garrison There; Stalemate In Fighting Rebels; What Will Be U. S. Position?

By JAMES D. WHITE

Yesterday the French pulled one of their small garrisons back from a point in Indo-China near the Chinese border.

If and when the Chinese Communists arrive, the French will not be there to stop them.

Possibly for the benefit of American officials planning a new policy to combat Communism in East Asia, this underlines the fact that Indo-China lies squarely in the path of any Communism that spills over from China.

Yet earlier this week, just after Gen. Omar N. Bradley announced that France would get the bulk of American arms sent to Europe to contain Communism there France's President Auriol assured the Indo Chinese that France would defend them from any outside aggressor.

France would need help for this job, because for three years she has failed to beat down the native Nationalist movement led by Ho Chi-Minh, a Communist who heads the unrecognized republic of Vietnam.

It has been a costly stalemate, with the French unable to defeat the rebels and the rebels unable to drive out the French.

Ho Chi-Minh has declared he will go on fighting.

There are two current opinions about Ho. One is that his political bureau is a typically high-handed Red powerhouse, liquidating the

Eastern Belt Opening Delayed One Day; Market Opens Aug. 19

Georgia-Florida Markets Allotted Extra Sales Day; Crop Well Above Expectations

Florence, S. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—An additional sales day has been allotted to five-cured tobacco markets on the Georgia-Florida Belt.

The board of governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association voted the extension last night because the size of the Georgia-Florida crop topped all expectations.

That will mean a one-day delay in the start of sections on the Eastern North Carolina belt. Opening day now is set for Friday, Aug. 19.

The Eastern delay was necessitated because buyers move into that belt from the Georgia-Florida markets.

No other belt openings will be affected. It was emphasized by Fred S. Royster of Henderson, N.C., president of the Bright Belt Association.

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 13 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover was removed today from an eastbound train and taken to a hospital. First reports were that he had suffered a heart attack.

An ambulance met the train, the streamliner "City of San Francisco," when it arrived here.

Senate Leaders Push Action On Reorganization

Follows Tart Appeal By President For Sign Of Good Faith By Congress

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Senate leaders today stepped up action on two government reorganization plans after President Truman tartly urged their approval as a sign of good faith by Congress.

In a strongly-worded letter to Vice President Barkley yesterday, Mr. Truman observed:

"The action taken on these plans will demonstrate whether the many recent professions of support for increased efficiency and economy in government are to be taken seriously or are to be written off as political oratory."

The two proposals—one to set up a cabinet-department office of welfare, the other to transfer two employment agencies from the Federal Security Agency to the Labor Department—have received thumbs-down treatment from the Senate Expenditures committee.

The President said senate objections to the plans "appear to me to be ill-founded and mistaken." And he added that congressional failure to approve the proposals would imperil "the whole great endeavor" of government reorganization.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill) announced yesterday that he will set aside the money bill for the Interior Department to take up the Welfare Department reorganization plan on Tuesday.

He said the senate will hold a night session, if necessary to complete the action on the first plan, so the second one can be taken up Wednesday.

Under the reorganization act, the plans go into effect automatically within 60 days after being submitted by the President, unless either house disapproved. August 17 is the deadline for senate action on both plans, Lucas said.

Mr. Truman criticized as "absurd" any claim that creation of a welfare department "would in some way commit the congress to a course of action on my recommendations for a national health program."

There has been strong opposition in the House to including the public health service in the proposed new set up.

Canton Gateway City Holds Out

Stands Firm Against Overwhelming Attacks By Reds

Canton, Aug. 13 (AP)—Kanshien, gateway city to Canton, was reported standing firm today against furious assaults by 50,000 to 60,000 Communist troops.

A Chinese army spokesman said the Reds still were unable to crack the city's defenses. Pro-government dispatches said fighting raged in the outskirts of that city 215 miles northeast of Canton.

The provincial officials have fled from that capital of Kiangsi province, but the governor is said to be directing Kanshien's defense. He is Gen. Fang Tien, who also is commander-in-chief of the armed forces in Kiangsi.

On the southeast China front, heavy fighting was reported developing in a Communist attempt to isolate the big port of Poochow. Poochow lies opposite the Nationalist Redoubt of Formosa.

Press reports said the Communists were trying to capture Yung-tai, 30 miles southwest of Poochow. It was here that the heaviest fighting was in progress.

However, sharp clashes also were reported around the Min River towns Os Minting and Shuihou, 30 and 40 miles upstream from Poochow.

At the western extremity of the broad south China front, the Communists kept up the pressure along the railway leading to Canton.

Freight Rate To Go Up Sept. 1 For Railroads

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—The nation's railroads announced today that the new four per cent general freight rate increase will be effective Sept. 1.

The Association of American Railroads said notices have been prepared for filing with the Interstate Commerce commission and at freight stations throughout the country Monday.

The increase is expected to add about $293,000,000 a year to railroad freight billings. It will go into effect on the same day that the rail industry extends a 40-hour work week to its non-operating employees.

The ICC said the additional cost of the 40-hour week was a major consideration in granting the rate increase.

Mullen To Quit Utilities Post

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 13 (AP)—Joe H. Mullen, director of the State Utilities Commission's Utilities Division, is leaving his post Aug. 20.

Mullen said yesterday he is resigning to enter private business, although he has made no definite plans. He came with the commission in October, 1945, on being released from the Navy. He has headed the utilities division for a year.

Housing Bills

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Multi-billion dollar measures to aid in the construction of medium cost homes now have the approval of both the senate and house banking committees.

The house group okayed its $3,500,000,000 measure last night. It differs from the senate bill in that it doesn't include a project for $1,000,000,000 in direct loans to housing cooperatives.

The bills call for government assistance in the form of mortgage insurance and direct loans to help persons of modest incomes build homes.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the house committee said he expects both house and senate to act on the measures during this session.

Deep-Freeze Gift Motives Sought

Chinese Charge Aggression Plan By U. S. Exposed

Strongly Assail 'White Paper'; Claim America Opposing Independence

Nanking, Aug. 13 (AP)—Washington's White Paper was labeled by the Chinese Communists today as a confession of failure by the American government of a policy of "interference and aggression" in China.

In the first official reaction, the Communist Hsinhua News Agency asserted the whole news benefited by the White Paper's publication because it exposed "an insatiable American desire for interference and aggression in the affairs of others."

The agency's editorial said the Chinese "must continue to resist and be prepared for continued interference and aggression by American imperialists against China."

Secretary of State Acheson's statement of five basic principles with China was described as providing for "continuation of further aggressive policy."

The editorial referred to Acheson's first point this way:

"The American government wishes to take every possible step to encourage every movement which tends to make China an American colony so that in international conferences China will act as an American satellite."

(This referred to Acheson's proposal to aid the Chinese people to throw off "the foreign yoke" of the Red regime. The White Paper termed the present Chinese government a dismal failure in the war with Communism.)

The editorial also charged that "The United States opposes the independence of China, opposes any regime that will not serve American monopolistic interests, and opposes any foreign country that desires to assist China."

"The American government will continue to consult with other Imperialist countries having colonies in the Far East on ways to enable a continuation of their Imperialistic privileges in the Far East."

"The American government will force the United Nations to adopt measures towards the above aims more particularly relating to measures on the preservation of Imperialistic privileges."

Kinston Bank Employee Is Held In Embezzlement

Kinston, Aug. 13 (AP)—A young former Marine and employee of the Commercial National Bank here was being held today on federal charges of embezzling $33,895 from the bank. He is Chester Josh Olzinski, 24, a native of Nanticoke, Pa.

He is charged with falsifying bank records over a period of two years up until his discharge from the bank July 10. No reason was given for his dismissal by the bank.

Cashier Frank O. Fitzgerald described the youth as "likeable" and his work as "very satisfactory." Bank officials said the charges came as a surprise. They said he settled here after the war, married a local girl and had served as a Santa Claus at a department store two years ago. He came to the bank highly recommended, said Fitzgerald.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) looked over a published list which included all of those reportedly mentioned in the invoices except Connolly, and declared:

"My only comment is that George Allen should not be on the list." Allen, an intimate friend of Mr. Truman, formerly was a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

McCarthy told reporters Gross is "entirely in the clear" with respect to the mysterious freezers.

Another committee member said he was told Mrs. Truman sent a thank-you note to Gross, thinking he was the donor.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said yesterday he had "no information whatever" when he was questioned about the reports dealing with Mrs. Truman and the others. Vinson had no comment. He said he preferred to have the facts come out at the Senate investigation.

The senator who saw the shipment invoices wasn't sure about whether one of the units was tagged for Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who was named as a recipient in one news story.

Says State Lags In Aid Programs

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 13—(AP)—In spite of gains in the past year, North Carolina still lags in public assistance, the State Board of Public Welfare was told yesterday.
Dr. Ellen Winston, welfare commissioner, reported that during fiscal 1948-49 the number of old age assistance recipients rose from 44,106 to 45,560. The average payment increased from $18 to $21.50 a month.
The number of dependent children receiving aid climbed from 9,301 to 12,402 during the period, she added. The average payment per family increased from $36 to $41.50.
R. Eugene Brown, director of public assistance, told the board, however, that despite the increases in average grants, the state continues to rank near the bottom of the 48 in each program.

Local National Guardsmen Leave Sunday For Training

By ROY HARDEE

The second annual National Guard summer encampment since the close of the second World War will get under way Sunday, August 14, at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, with Guard units from North Carolina and Tennessee in attendance.

The Greenville National Guard unit, battery C 690 Field artillery will send about 70 men to the summer encampment. Greenville is a part of a division which is composed of towns in the eastern section of the state.

The Guard unit will leave Greenville Sunday morning at 7:30 by motor convoy and train. The Guardsmen are expected to arrive in Fort Jackson Sunday night at 7:30.

The National Guard was formulated so that the federal government would have a reserve line of defense in case of a national emergency, and one which could be pushed into operation without training. In addition to this duty the Guard is set up to aid in times of floods, fires, riots, and they can be called out by the Governor or the company commander if the need be urgent.

Some 42 men and officers will leave Greenville by bus and travel to Goldsboro where they will take a train to Fort Jackson. The remainder of the troops will go by motor convoy which will leave at the same time. This convoy is a planned operation, Guard officials report, which will give the men actual practice in handling motor transportation on long trips.

The local Guard unit is commanded by Captain James B. Tyndall who has been the commander of the local unit since its return from active service in World War Two.

Guard Lacking Men

Captain Tyndall said that the actual present strength of the Guard unit is 72 men and five officers while its authorized strength is 93 men and five officers.

During the past month 14 new men have been added to the roster of 690 Battery.

Captain Tyndall pointed out that the main purpose of the summer encampment "is to put to practice the knowledge that the men have learned in the training program during the year in the drill sessions."

15 Day Workout

The summer encampment will last for 15 days during which time the members of the Guard will receive pay equal to the regular army according to their rank.

The first week that the 690 Battery is at Fort Jackson a good deal of the time will be spent in the field working on three-day field problems and overnight problems.

Practice with the 50 calibre machine guns will be included in addition to the firing of the big 155 mm guns. The Greenville unit, which is primarily an artillery unit, has 3 big 155 mm howitzers which fire a shell weighing 95 pounds well over ten miles.

Last year the Guard units fired 150 rounds of 95 pound shells while this year they will fire approximately 600 rounds.

While the unit is not in the field special demonstrations will be conducted by troops at Fort Jackson in map reading, first aid care, military courtesy, care of equipment, and motor equipment maintenance. Following these demonstrations the men will have a chance to practice what they have seen, Tyndall said.

Scott to Review Troops

Governor Kerr Scott will review the North Carolina troops at Fort Jackson on Saturday, August 20. This day is known as Governor's Day. The Governor is the commander-in-chief of the Guard troops the same as the President of the United States is head of all Army and Navy units.

After noon on Saturday the Guardsmen will be free to take in the entertainment offered on the post and in the nearby towns, as they have Saturday afternoon and Sunday free.

On the grounds at Fort Jackson there are 12 lakes which have been set up for swimming, service clubs, movies, sports, and other forms of amusements, to pass away the idle hours.

Columbia, South Carolina, a town of about 75,000 population, is located only six miles from the post and the men can reach it by bus.

Battery C carries its own kitchen with it and its cooks can feed 100 men at a time. The preparation of the food for 100 men is directed by Sgt. Francis Brooks who has had 15 years service with the regular Army and the National Guard. Serving under Brooks are three skilled cooks, two who have finished cooking schools operated by the Army.

The Greenville National Guard unit will return to Greenville on August 28 by train and motor.

The heavy equipment will return by railroad flat cars.

Started in 1947

The local unit of the National Guard was started in July 1947 following the close of World War Two. The Guard was officially recognized by the Federal Government in October 1947, when it had 33 men and two officers. No summer encampment was held that year but a heavy training program was carried on in the local army and a recruiting drive was carried on to booster the strength of the unit.

In 1948 the first encampment was held since the war at Fort Bragg

The 690th Battery had 48 men and three officers then.

In Greenville soon there will be set up a service center which will be operated to serve five nearby towns which have Guard units. The service unit will service all types of motor equipment used by the Guard for transportation. A full time paid man will be in charge of this unit making three full time paid men at the local armory.

More Equipment Coming

When the strength of the Guard unit is enlarged more equipment will be stationed with the unit. At the present time the local Guard has three 155 mm guns and three 13 ton tractors which haul the guns and their crews.

One jeep and several troop carriers compose the motor section of the 690th Battery.

The local Guard unit holds a drill each Tuesday night at 7:30 in the winter and at 8:00 in the summer. These drills are two hours long.

The first hour is taken up with drills while the second hour is composed of special training in basic subjects such as operation of motor units and servicing guns. Included is a study of military courtesy, lectures, care of equipment.

Any person who is 17 or older is eligible to join the Guard and the person does not have to have the permission of his parents. He must join for three years if he has not had any Army experience before. When a person joins the Guard he goes in as a recruit and receives a basic pay of $2.50 per drill. As the recruits learn the "ropes" they may receive a raise in rank according to their ability to learn and work. Promotions are made by company officers and the length of service does not have anything to do with the selection of a person for a new rank. Each man is paid according to his rank and his pay is equal to that of the regular Army. The National Guardsmen also have the same rights as the men in the regular Army as far as taking courses offered by the Army for use by them.

If a man stays in the Guards for 20 years, at the age of 60 he is eligible for a retirement with pay according to his rank.

Armory Built for 65

The Greenville armory was built for 65 men and it is now becoming too small for the local Guard, states Commander Tyndall. The building was built in 1937 with J. H. Waldrop as commander.

Now that the armory is being filled with new equipment something will probably have to be done to house the new equipment, Tyndall said.

When the Guard returned from the war they found that the building was in need of repair and work was started on the improvement of

PICTURES LOST

Today's local features appear without pictures because of the loss of a package of the six photographs by the bus company by which they were shipped to the engravers. The loss of the photographs was not discovered until too late to procure duplicates in time for today's issue.

The entire building was repainted and new furniture installed with a day room being set up for the use of all men of the unit.

All the money that was used to buy equipment and remodel the building came from Guard's funds, Tyndall said.

Experienced in Combat

All of the officers of the Guard have had actual combat experience and most of the N. C. O. officers have come from the ranks of the unit. The majority of the men have not had any battle experience with the regular army, Tyndall said.

Captain Tyndall stated that following the Guard encampment at Fort Jackson an extensive recruiting drive will be carried on in an effort to bring the local Guard up to full strength.

The Guard holds regular practices with small arms with a firing range set up near Grimesland for the use of the Guard.

In the basement of the local armory the Guard has set up a small rifle range which is used regularly to improve the skill of the unit's riflemen.

The Greenville Guard unit is a complete unit in more ways than one for even though it is primarily a gun battery it is also equipped with a communications section, machine gun units, motor unit, and kitchen section. This one unit can function as a separate outfit if it had to.

Tarheel Veteran Rides Herd On 35 Million Bees

Elizabeth City, Aug. 13 — (AP)—There's a young war veteran here who has his hands full trying to fill your longing for nature's sweets.

He's Stephen F. Jurash, owner of the Osceola Honey Farms. Riding herd on 35 million bees is Jurash's job and the way he's doing it is a story of how a hobby can become a paying business.

A native of Connecticut, Jurash operated a service station in New York City's Bronx in the thirties. Then came the war which saw him taking to the air for 240 combat missions and meeting, while in service, the future Mrs. Jurash, Osceola West of Elizabeth City.

He returned here after the war and for a time toyed with the idea of establishing an aviation company. But his hobby was bee keeping and before he knew it he was doing what came naturally.

Within four years his work has grown into a big commercial project. He hopes to harvest 50,000 pounds of nature's golden nectar this year, far less than a demanding honey market can use.

Keeping track of his 35,000,000 bees keeps Jurash as busy as any one of them. His 500 bee colonies are scattered all over North Carolina and to keep up with them he has to use both airplane and automobile.

The best way to make commercial beekeeping a success, he explains, is to operate on a migratory scale. The first buds of spring find him beginning his annual trek that will take him all along North Carolina's jagged coastline and eventually to the mountains. The bees collect coastal holly and gum nectar in the springtime and the flow from the mountain sourwood in mid-summer.

The colonies are hauled from site to site in big trailer-trucks at night so as not to upset the temperamental charges. But Jurash shudders when he thinks of what could happen if one of the trucks crashed, freeing the cargo of aroused stinging insects.

When Jurash finds a prospective site, he arranges with the landowner to let the bees swarm over his woods and field, paying him off in

Whether you want rabbit stew, an Easter bunny or an Angora sweater on foot you can find the prime ingredients on a certain Pitt County farm.

Where? On James Harrel Edwards' rabbit farm, Ayden Rt. 2, where hundreds of rabbits are raised each year and sold primarily for food.

On this farm Mr. Edwards keeps an average of nearly 400 rabbits and raises them until they are big enough to send to market. Most of the rabbits, according to Mr. Edwards, are shipped in orange crates to a retailer in Salisbury who prepares them for the market. The ones not sold for food are sold either as pets or to medical schools for experimental purposes.

Started With Pet Rabbit

This unusual occupation was started by the owner a little more than two years ago when he bought a rabbit as a pet for his son. He later bought a stock of Chinchilla rabbits and went into business.

From this small beginning Mr. Edwards has increased his farm until now he has nine pens or hutches which house approximately 400 rabbits. So far the industrious owner has built all of these pens which he estimates cost about $35 a piece. This cost plus the expense of the various types of stock rabbits has brought the total investment in the farm to about $1,000.

Mr. Edwards has cared for the rabbits in his spare time since the business began, but he hopes to make the occupation a full time job in the future. "If I can maintain a farm with an average of 1,000 rabbits I think I'll have enough to really make the business profitable," he said.

The cost of raising the rabbits according to Edwards is "tremendous." The rabbits have to be fed certain types of especially prepared feeds, grains, vegetables and alfalfa hay in order to make the meat sweet and tender. That is what makes the cost so high, he explains. "I couldn't make anything at

Cap'n Murphy Recalls Hot Spell That Lasted Weeks

By CHESTER WALSH

"Cap'n" Johnny Murphy, 84-year-old retired river boat pilot, was "fusing" yesterday about the hot weather.

"Cap'n" Johnny sells popcorn to college and high school students and others next to Belk-Tyler's Store on Fifth street, near five Points.

"This is the hottest weather I've felt in 70 years. It's too hot, and we need rain," he said.

Recalling some torrid weather when he was a boy, Murphy said the hottest weather he ever experienced was when he was about 12 years old. He was living in Greene county then. He said there was no rain from the second week of April in that year until September 17. On this day the people of the Sandy Run section, near Lizzie, in Greene county, went to Ormond's Chapel to have a "day of prayer for rain."

The meeting lasted nearly all day. Murphy didn't remember the name of the preacher. Late that afternoon, he said the rain came down in torrents, flooding the countryside and sending Contentnea Creek over its banks.

"And you know," the venerable retired river boat captain said, "all the people of the community believed the Lord answered their prayer that day and nobody broke a law all that year."

"Cap'n" Murphy said the weather was so dry that summer that the corn did not tassel. The cotton didn't blossom and gardens dried up. That was long before tobacco was raised down in the east, except a few tobacco plants in people's gardens.

The water in Contentnea Creek fell to such a low level that a person could walk across the stream at any point.

"That year was a lean and barren one for the farmers. They had to buy their corn and cotton seed for the next season's planting from farmers in other counties. The dry spell seemed to center over Greene county," he said.

Murphy said his father, James Haywood Murphy, kept on plowing while other farmers waited for rain. He managed to harvest one bale of cotton from six acres of ground. "People had a hard time that year, but they had a friend in the late Travis Hooker, extensive landowner in Greene county, especially around Hookerton," he said.

Incidentally, "Cap'n" Johnny Murphy became a pilot on the Tar and Pamlico rivers when he was grown, plying his motor ships between Greenville and Washington until the Norfolk Southern Railroad built its line through here more than 40 years ago.

In those days traveling salesmen made the trip from Greenville to Washington on the river boats.

Murphy's boat, the "Alterio," was used frequently for moonlight trips down the river half a century ago.

His boat was a passenger and freight vessel.

On one trip down the river "Cap'n" Murphy dropped his spec-

Malaria Fight Helps Grow Food

By ADELAIDE KERR
(AP Newsfeatures)

Lake Success — The United Nations is waging war on malaria in the hope of getting more food for the world.

The world's population is shooting up about 25 million a year. But the food supply is lagging and thus creating one of our most acute problems.

One of the causes of the lagging food supply is malaria, which takes heavy toll of victims' working energy and productive ability. An estimated 300 million people in the world suffer from malaria and since most of them live in agricultural areas, this strikes directly at food supply.

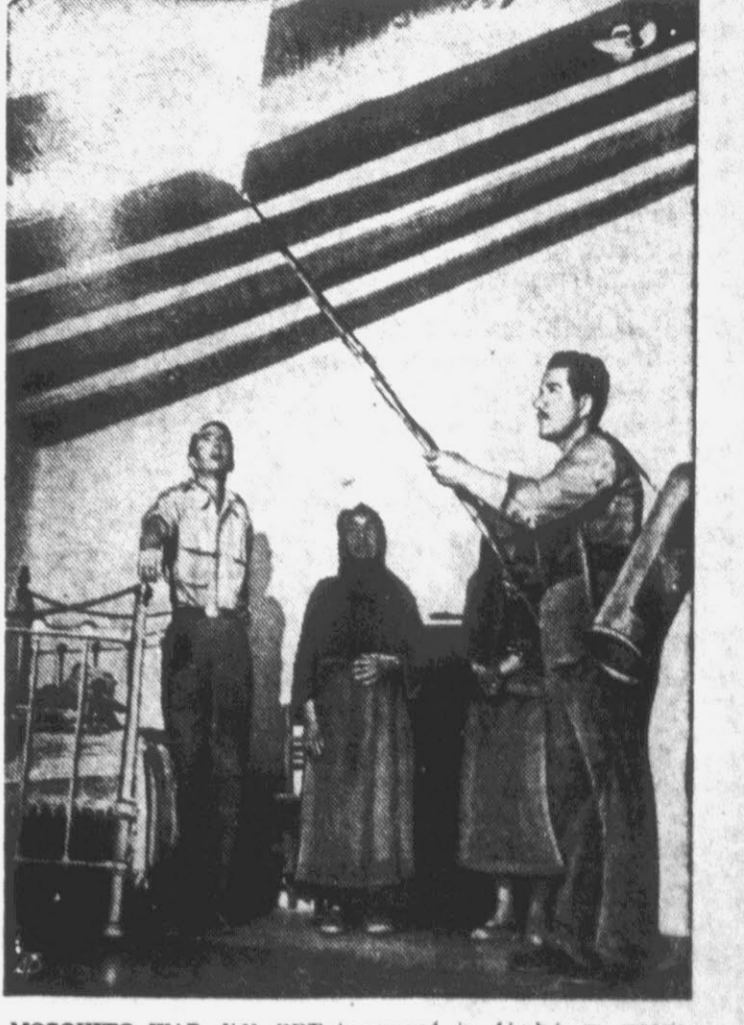

Greece alone is estimated to have lost 30 million man days a year on her farms as a result of malaria, until U. N. India her says this lost work. In India the losses to individuals caused by the disease amount to $320 million a year. And in the United States malaria has cost millions in treatments and loss of crops.

U. N. Economic and Social Council, now meeting in Geneva, is studying reports from two of U. N.'s specialized agencies on work already done—and future plans to continue the fight.

The World Health Organization, of which Uncle Sam is a member, has worked with Italy, Greece and other Balkan countries, supplying health experts, sanitary engineers and advice to governments on how to destroy the malarial mosquito. It also took over the anti-malarial fight of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, after UNRRA was dissolved.

The main weapons were mosquito-killing DDT and new equipment to use it. UNRRA provided Greece and Italy with motorcycles and jeeps for anti-malaria teams which took sprayers and supplies from village to village. Small planes were used to spray open mosquito-breeding areas.

The WHO report states that after UNRRA's three-year DDT campaign in Greece, malaria declined from one million new cases annually to less than 50,000. It says the program had the effect of adding 100 thousand full time workers to Greece's farms.

MOSQUITO WAR—U. N. DDT is sprayed in fight on malaria.

The Food and Agricultural Organization, of which Uncle Sam is also a member and whose report also lies before the council, concentrates its anti-malarial fight on working farm practices. They include methods of irrigating which will not attract mosquitoes, and draining marshlands to prevent further breeding. FAO is now working in the Terai region of the Himalayan foothills where a fertile valley was abandoned because malaria dealing mosquitoes bred there. It is also working with Bam farmers on their problems.

Strength FOR THE DAY

BELIEF AND ACTION MUST BALANCE

What makes a man a Christian? There are some who say that a Christian is a man who believes the Bible, who attends church regularly, who doesn't drink, smoke or swear, and who tries to live an honest and decent life. But there is an inadequacy to all such answers. A man may do all these things and abstain from all gross evils, and yet not be a Christian.

A Christian is a person who believes something, and tries to live his life sincerely on the basis of that belief. A Christian believes in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior and believes to such a degree that he makes that conviction the basis and motive of his life. Merely to believe is to be a sentimentalist or a hypocrite. To try to live the Christian life without the motive power of strong conviction is to attempt the impossible. Christianity involves both conviction and conduct, and conduct truly Christian always grows out of conviction.

Today people emphasize the necessity for Christian conduct but think too little about Christian belief. Our forefathers emphasized belief too much and Christian living too little. Today we fall into the error of believing that we can be Christian without believing very much of anything.

FREE PRIVATE ENTERPRISE
(The State)

We quote from an Associated Press news dispatch which appeared in the papers last week:

"London—Prime Minister Attlee said today Winston Churchill could tell it to the Marines—but not to miners—that Britain needs a revival of free private enterprise to save her from chaos.

"He contrasts the state with the pliable and flexible private owner Attlee said. Tell that one to the Marines. He'd better not tell it to the miners."

"Attlee defended the Labor government's moves since 1945 toward socialism, including nationalization of coal mines, in a Saturday afternoon political speech."

Regardless of what the Prime Minister says, we believe that Mr. Churchill was correct in the statement he made.

Britain needs a revival of free private enterprise. She has gone far down the road of Socialism, and there is no telling what the future holds in store for her system of government. It would be well for her to remember, however, that this road, if traveled too far, is bound to lead to Communism.

And here's something else: whenever a government extends some special privilege to its people, it usually means that that government assumes some new form of control. In other words, whenever a people get something from their government, they also have to give something.

The only thing that the people have to give is their rights.

Yes; Great Britain unquestionably needs a revival of free enterprise. And we, in this country, should take notice of the dangers involved in the present trend of our own government. We, too, are embarking on Socialism. Individual rights and individual enterprise are being knocked around like nobody's business. People who are getting hand-outs are loath to surrender them. They can see only the immediate and personal advantages to themselves; they refuse to look into the future.

Our progress has been built on private enterprise. That fact is obvious to everyone. It is the height of folly and absurdity to discontinue such a policy and exchange it for something distinctly contrary to the principles of a democratic form of government.

But that's exactly what we are doing at the present time, and we will continue to do it until our citizens are awakened to the dangers of the road we are traveling.

Let's hope that we will recognize those dangers before we have gone too far.

COURT—Governor Scott's avowed ambition to "modernize" court procedure is commendable but by no means new, according to a veteran state employee who quit active law practice many years ago to take a salaried position with the state. The same objective has been sought by free men for more than seven hundred years, the man said. He didn't attempt to go beyond the granting of the Magna Carta by King John in 1215, but said that was the beginning of judicial reform for English speaking peoples so far as he knew. He added that almost every session of the British parliament since, and every session of Congress and the state legislature from the founding of these governments until now has struggled with this problem.

STUDY—Governor Scott proposes a study commission to make recommendations to the next general assembly. He said he had asked Willis Smith to head that group. It will not be a new experience for Somebody Told Me ...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

They say a college student will do anything that will attract attention, and the more exciting the better. This is a true tale about students at the University of North Carolina who were in a playful mood one evening:

"Two high-pressure salesmen approached a third student with the offer of a very attractive date. They explained that they had dates that evening, and wanted him to date the extra girl on their hands. With the boy-girl ratio in Chapel Hill of seven to one, the student jumped at the chance.

"As a matter of fact, he didn't even wonder at the plan to meet the girls in Kenan Stadium. He was simply so anxious to have a date that nothing seemed strange to him, not even the fact that an extra girl was available.

"After the three had spruced up they rushed down to the stadium at eight sharp to meet the girls. It was one of those Carolina moons that lit the football field that night, making an automobile visible from some distance. The plan was for the boys to meet the girls at the car, which belonged to one of the girls.

"When the boys were fifty yards away another car sped up, out jumped a man with a gun blaring these words, 'All right, you sons of guns, you've been running around with my wife and I'm going to kill every one of you.' The poor innocent number-three student was quick to follow the two who had got him into the mess. They had elected to run, so he joined in. One shot fired and the student running on his left dropped. Another shot dropped the student on his right.

"The number-three student stopped running quite a while later and didn't show up again at the dormitory until the next day.

"You have no doubt guessed by now that the whole set-up was planned by everybody except the poor number-three student, who was so anxious to have a date. And what did he do to the others when he found out it was all a joke? That part of the story would probably involve many interesting tales of schemes that he spent long hours figuring out.

"Why is it that college students do such crazy things? The fact that they are away from their home towns probably has a lot to do with it. Also, they have some idle time to sit around and think up "clever" tricks to play on each other.

"It just depends on how practical jokes appeal to you. Some people are ready to fight — and others manage to see something funny although they might be the victim.

And I thank you.

general assembly fails to follow recommendations of these commissions.

CONSTITUTIONAL — M a t n trouble is most court procedure is set out in the constitution, and the constitution cannot be amended except by vote of the people. Five of the ten articles in the bill of rights ratified into the federal constitution deal directly with court procedure. These are Articles IV, V, VI, VII, and VIII. Other provisions indirectly affect the courts. Eleven of the 27 sections in the General Declarations article of our state constitution deal with courts. In the body of the state constitution much more space is devoted to the judicial branch of government than to the legislative or executive branches. Several proposals of the commission for improving administration of justice failed of enactment by the recent legislature because of constitutional limitations. Amendments are pending to permit them to be dealt with by the next assembly.

LEGISLATIVE—Every legislature makes some effort to modernize the courts, within constitutional bounds. The record of accomplishment within the past twenty-five years is impressive. Without attempting to list them either in order of importance or with respect to exact time of enactment, here are some of the things done by recent general assemblies.

Back in the twenties the legislature recognized need for more judges than solicitors, and the system of "Bevo" judges was inaugurated. That was designation by the governor of some lawyer to hold just one term of court. After a few years experience that policy was replaced by the present system of naming special judges and placing retired judges on emergency status, subject to call to preside over courts when needed. This system alleviates but does not fully solve the problem involved in providing competent presiding judges for both civil and criminal terms of court. Here again the problem is not new, and the device of another study commission offers small hope of solving it.

Boyle's Column
By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—Men fall head over heels for hazel-eyed Gale Vance. She really throws them.

One reason they find this attractive blonde so irresistible is that she teaches jujitsu and judo. Miss Vance is one of the few lady instructors in these bone-bending pastimes.

"Jujitsu is really just a sport," she said. "But judo is the science of dirty fighting—you use it when you're out for the kill."

"I like to teach dirty fighting. It's the quickest way of disposing of your opponent."

Some feminine athletes are built like telephone booths. This isn't true of Gale. Her muscles are well disposed. They never bulge. They ripple. Her physical charm as well as her physical strength have won her several offers to become a professional wrestler.

"I turned them down," she said. "It is too undignified."

During the war Gale was a member of a judo team that toured Army camps and demonstrated deadly tricks to troops. I saw her in Manila in 1944, and her 265-pound partner was wearing a broken wrist.

"I guess I put on a little too much pressure," said Gale. "but he should have told me I was hurting him."

Miss Vance at present is teaching jujitsu to vacationers at Ma Holders' Youngs Gap Hotel, a resort in the Ocala.

"Many wives are eager to learn the holds," she said. "They want to be able to throw their husbands over their heads. But I teach them to throw a person over their hips instead. It's much easier."

Jujitsu, incidentally, has a number of advantages for the forlorn female living in a man's world.

"It is a wonderful way to reduce," said Gale, "and a girl needs to learn only a few holds to be able to deal with teachers and muggers."

What is the best way for a lady to cope with an annoying subway wolf?

"If you want to discourage him quietly without making a scene," said Gale, "one way is to put your heel on his shinbone and press down hard."

"An elbow is a very handy article. You just give him the sharp end of it in his face. If he's a tall guy and you can't reach his face, jab the elbow fast into his solar plexus or his ribs. You'd be surprised how easy a rib breaks. Of course the knee is always good, too, but you have to be in the right position to use it."

"Generally I try to teach the girls how to get away from a man—rather than to kill the guy."

Once Miss Vance was bothered herself by a Broadway masher. She finally turned on him and said modestly, "I teach jujitsu." The man took the hint and went mashing elsewhere.

Another time she was walking alone at night to her home in the Bronx when a scallawag sprang out and grabbed at her purse.

"I clamped on a wrist lock, kicked his feet out from under him and walked on," she said. "I felt like kicking him while he was down, but I didn't want to take an unfair advantage. I didn't bother to see if he was hurt. He didn't deserve to be looked at."

She gets some unusual pupils. Recently a gentle old white-haired lady came to her.

"My son won't do what I tell him anymore," she said. "I want to learn some kind of a trick so I can hold him still while I give him a good spanking."

"How old is your boy?" asked Gale.

"He's 45," said the old lady, "but he still needs spanking."

WASHINGTON LETTER
By JANE EADS

Washington—A novel plan for easing the baby-sitting problem was outlined to top social agency leaders here by two prominent Peruvian women visitors. The plan calls for a modern hotel for children, to adjoin Lima's proposed new five-story maternity institution. Expectant mothers can leave their other youngsters there while keeping a rendezvous with the stork.

The hotel, to be completed within the next two years, will also receive children of mothers who are ill and unable to care for them and children from homes where there is a communicable disease. Parents with servant problems may also board their tots in the hotel, and tourists will be invited to park their small fry there while sight-seeing Lima.

Senora Rosalia Lavalle de Morales founder and president of El Hogar de la Madre (home of the mother) in Lima, and Senora Lucila F. de Trejeda Soranzo, widow of a former president of Bolivia, are sponsors of the project. Both the hotel and the new maternity institution have been financed without government aid, and the women declare that except for limited banking and financial advice from men it is an all-feminine venture.

Senora de Morales, a sister of Juan Bautista de Lavalla, Peru's ambassador to the Council of the Organization of American States and of Hernando de Lavalla, president of the International Bar Association, has devoted many years to improving the lot of underprivileged mothers and children in Peru. Senora de Trejeda Soranzo also has worked many years with Peruvian maternity institutions.

The two were largely responsible for the erection of El Hogar de la Madre, opened in 1926 to give free pre-natal and post-natal care to needy mothers and their infants.

The new maternity institution, to be called Clinica Mater Admirabilis (expected mother clinic) will cater to families able to pay moderate fees.

The adjoining hotel will be surrounded with fine gardens and well equipped playgrounds where the young boarders may keep out of trouble under the watchful eyes of experts. Special programs and diets for each age group will be worked out.

The Peruvian women are consulting social welfare leaders and maternity and child health specialists, as well as leading architects in other cities of the United States before returning to Peru.

The city of Dubuque, Ia., was named after the French-Canadian trader Julien Dubuque.

BRASS TACKS

What does a man mean when he says, "Let's get down to brass tacks"? He means that he thinks it's time to discuss the real issue.

And that's always a good idea! Nothing is gained by "beating around the bush." Wise men seek the issue . . . and settle it!

In America there are millions of people who attend and support the Church. There are other millions who do not. What is the real issue on which these two groups disagree?

This is the issue: Is man the self-sufficient master of his world, able to overcome every problem by his own strength . . . OR is man the noblest creation of an all-powerful God, weak in the face of life's turmoil when he stands alone, but strong when he joins heart and hand with God?

You're a man and you've seen something of life! Getting down to brass tacks . . . are you stronger WITH GOD or without?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Greenies Get Off To Fast Start, Whip Tarboro 9-3

Score Five In First To Break Three-Game Losing Streak; Tepedino, Strausser And Denier Lead 12-Hit Attack Off Tarboro

Manager Pappy Williams' Greenville Greenies rallied for five runs in the first inning and went on from there to whip the Tarboro Athletics 9 to 3, over in Tarboro last night. The win for the Greenies snapped a three-game losing streak and evened the two-game series between the two clubs.

The Greenies' five runs in the first inning came on four hits, two errors, two wild pitches and a walk and was climaxed by Steve Denier's homer over the left field wall with two mates aboard. It was Denier's second homer this season.

The locals came back to add one more tally in the second frame when Paul Strausser tripled and Charlie Graham singled to bring him home. Their final three runs of the game came in the sixth frame on a walk, singles by Strausser and Tepedino together with an Athletic error.

The Athletics scored two runs in the third frame when they bunched three of their hits aided by a wild pitch. Their final tally came in the seventh on a Greenie error and successive singles by Birchenough and Godbold.

Junior Yohn registered his third straight win against the Athletics this season to bring his record to the present time of 12 wins and 5 losses. He scattered eight hits very effectively, striking out eight men and walking only two.

Oss Godbold with a triple and a single and Connie Hartberger with two singles led the eight-hit attack off Yohn.

Tommy Napoles started on the mound for the Athletics but was sent to the showers in the second frame after pitching to ten men in which he allowed six runs, six hits, and one walk. Jim Birchenough finished the game, allowing a total of six hits, striking out one Greenie batter and walking four. Napoles charged with the loss, now has a record of four wins and three losses against the Greenies this season.

Paul Strausser with a triple and two singles, John Tepedino with three singles and Steve Denier with a homer and a single led the 12-hit attack off the two Tarboro hurlers.

Dodgers vs. Yanks
It was field day at the plate for both teams as the Yanks outslugged the Dodgers 13-5. Extra base knocks were the order of the day as the players collected 3 doubles, 3 triples and 3 home runs. Pitcher D. Evans practically won his own ball game with a four-bagger and a triple. Bobby Faulkner with a homer and a single and L. Quinn with a triple and a double helped the Yanks cause Harrington with the other round-tripper and a single, and A. Joseph with a single and a triple were the big men for the Dodgers.

Athletics vs. Tigers
The Tigers' Larry Flye, with the aid of relief pitcher Bobby Odum scattered 11 hits today while the Tigers scored 7 runs in the 5th inning as the Tigers won out over the A's 11-7. Fred Joseph, Tiger outfielder, had a perfect day at the plate grabbing two singles for 2 official times at bat. Bobby Watson stole top honors for the A's with 3 hits in 4 times at bat.

Ruling By Ford Frick May Play Big Part In Race

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National League pennant race may be decided in President Ford Frick's office.

Frick will be asked to rule on a protest by Manager Burt Shotton of Brooklyn of the Dodgers' 5-3 defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves last night.

The loss, together with St. Louis' 2-1 triumph over Pittsburgh, dumped the Dodgers into second place, a half game back of the Cardinals.

Shotton based his protest over a decision on Duke Snider's eighth inning triple with one out. The Brooklyn outfielder's drive, which according to Umpire Art Gore hit the three-foot screen atop the center-field wall, bounded back on the playing field.

Gore first ruled it a homer, then reversed himself. Snider, running at full tilt, saw Gore signal a homer and slowed up as he came into third. He trotted home without a play being made on him.

The Braves, led by Manager Billy Southworth, stormed on the field protesting the call. After a conference among the four umpires, Snider was sent back to third.

Gore said he thought balls hitting the screen below the railing were home runs. He said he later realized his error and waved Snider back to third. Under the ground rule such a ball is in play.

Shotton said Gore's original call slowed up Snider on the bases, and that he might have completed the circuit even with a play on him. The score was 5-3 at the time. After going back to third Snider did not score, as the next two batters popped out.

Expect Italian Davis Cuppers To Lose Today

Rye, N.Y., Aug. 13—(AP)—The Italian Davis Cuppers were expected to expire quietly today and leave the Australians, as usual, to argue it out with the defending United States team in the challenge round for the world tennis trophy Aug. 26-28 at Forest Hills.

Because of rain, only one match was played yesterday in the inter-zone finals at the Westchester Country Club, but it was the one the European team champions couldn't lose if they hoped to give the Aussies a contest.

Billy Sidwell, a substitute for John Bromwich, who is badly off his game, returned to the court under protest after a two and one-half hour interruption by rain to defeat stocky Gianni Cuculli, ace of the Italian side, 6-2, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

LUKE TOPPED RABBIT MARANVILLE'S BIG LEAGUE RECORD OF 2,153 GAMES AT SHORTSTOP

Wearing Well... 4 Pap

The venerable Lucius Benjamin (Luke) Appling stepped up to the plate in the tenth inning and delivered a two-run homer into the left field stands of Yankee Stadium to give the White Sox a 2-1 triumph over the Yankees. The clout ended a spine-tingling pitchers' battle which had 40,000 fans on the verge of heart failure. For a 40-year-old geezer who has been flirting with retirement for several seasons the hit must have been a real thrill.

This wasn't another ball game to the ageless Appling for it marked the 2,150th big league game in which he had appeared as a shortstop and brought him closer to the realization of one of his dreams—topping Rabbit Maranville's major league record of 2,153. For good measure, Luke has some 173 games to his credit at other posts in the infield for the White Sox.

To many of us it seems that Appling has been covering shortstop for the White Sox all of his life. Actually, he first broke into the Chicago lineup in 1930. Along the line, he managed to capture the American League individual batting championships in 1938 and 1943. He served two years in the Army, but returned to his old dash and vigor with all of his old dash and vigor. Appling's great record is all the more amazing because Luke has been famous for his numerous ailments—real and imaginary. Mister Aches and Pains himself; A broken leg, sustained in training camp in 1938, was certainly real enough but it kept Luke out of action less than half of the season.

Famous Stella Walsh Reaches End Of Athletic Career After Tonight

Odesa, Tex., Aug. 13—(AP)—The women's senior national AAU track and field finals go on tonight with Stella Walsh, one of the greatest athletes of all time, coming to the end of the glory road.

In 1930 Stella first hit the limelight right here in Texas. In the National AAU at Dallas she won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and then beat Babe Didrikson in the broad jump.

Ever since she has been a top-fighter and in 1936 scored a victory in the Olympics. Her Olympic triumph was under the banner of Poland. She now is an American citizen but couldn't compete for the United States in the Olympics anyway.

She has announced that she will retire from track after tonight's competition.

Commanding Lead For Chapel Hill In Wilson Event

Wilson, N. C., Aug. 13—(AP)—Chapel Hill held a commanding 158 points and the team lead as the Southern AAU swimming meet entered the final stage here today.

One new record was on the books going into today's concluding events. It was set last night by Paul Arata, high school sophomore of Lancaster, Pa., when he swam the senior men's 300 yard individual medley in 3:41.7.

Arata lowered the state AAU mark of 5:50-1 held by Ed Rood of Hendersonville.

Going into today's action, scheduled for morning, afternoon and night stands, the team picture shaped up thus:

Chapel Hill 158, Raleigh 96, Tarboro and the University of North Carolina 45, Takoma of Washington, Air Base and Lancaster, Pa., 10 High Point 9, Charlotte 7, Wilmington 4, and Durham 2.

Assault Touted As Being 'As Good As Ever'

Boston, Aug. 13—(AP)—Touted as "good as ever" as a six-year-old the King Ranch's mighty Assault dominates today's 14th renewal of the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

The 1946 triple champion, carrying top weight of 125 pounds, will have only five mediocre rivals, representing but four interests, as he goes postward for the mile and a quarter test.

As a result, each owner will share in the cross stake of $60,000, for in addition to the winner's slice, $10,000 will go to the place horse, with $5,000 for third, $2,500 for fourth and $1,250 for fifth.

While attempting to boost his total earnings well over the $700,000 mark. It is likely that Assault will receive his stiffest argument from the Nor Mill Farms' entry of Michigan 3rd and Wynford 2nd, both Argentine-bred.

So many, in fact, that it's a complete sellout already.

The game is set for Yankee Stadium in New York Nov. 12. The stadium's maximum capacity is listed at 80,000.

Announcement of the sellout was made by the two schools yesterday. No more orders will be accepted athletic officials said. Even worse they added, it will be impossible to fill all the orders that have already been received.

The first U. S. patent for an ice refrigerator was issued in 1803.

Portsiders

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 13—(AP) Swank French Lick Springs Hotel moved its pen stand to the left side of the register today and bellboys practiced palm-up gestures toward portside pockets.

The National Association of left-handed golfers will begin assembling tomorrow for its tenth annual tournament, Monday through Thursday.

About 150 golfers from 20 states are expected to compete.

Bewildered All-Stars Take Up Professional Training

Chicago, Aug. 13—(AP)—Most of the all star collegians, already signed with pro football clubs, rushed to training camps today to begin preparing for their play-for-pay careers.

It's a good thing many of them are in a hurry. Apparently, they have a lot to learn.

The most inept and bewildered All-Star group in the 16-year history of the football series was buried 38-0 by the Philadelphia Eagles last night.

The National League champions, feeding 44 players into the scramble in an effort to keep down the score. Couldn't help but roll up the most decisive edge since the games were inaugurated in 1934. Forty-eight all stars were used out of a stockpile of 66.

A throng of 93,780 fans witnessed the massacre in Soldier Field. Only three fine goal-line stands and other bits of defensive sparkle stood in the All-Stars' favor.

Their heralded offensive weapon, the split T formation proved ineffective. Their aerial attack, behind such aces as Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon and Frank Tripucka of Notre Dame, netted a minus three yards with three completions in 15 attempts.

With such ball carriers as George Talliaferro of Indiana, Smackover Scott of Arkansas, Jack Mitchell of Oklahoma and Bobby Stuart of Army in action, the All-Stars showed their way through the Eagles for a mere 115 yards rushing.

The Eagles uncorked 19 first downs to five, 228 yards rushing and 130 passing.

But more emphatic than figures was the All-Stars' inability to penetrate beyond midfield but once. That was in a first period drive that ended in a lost fumble on the Eagles' 30.

Name Golfers In 'Tam' Are Behind

Chicago, Aug. 13—(AP)—Buck White a chunky, chuckling Southerner who's been a pro for most of his 39 years, rode out in front today, gunning for the $100,000 first prize of the Tam O'Shanter world golf meet.

The Straight-shooting Buck, who signs his name O'Neal white of Greenwood, Miss., shot a seven-under par 65 yesterday for a halfway total of 135. He showed up a lot of youngsters, but he was only one stroke in front.

Right behind old Buck was Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., who used to fire warplane guns over Japan. He banged a 69. His starting 67 made his two day total 136.

Four golfers were tied for third place at 137 as the pro field headed into the last two rounds today with the field cut to 32 low scores and ties. You had to have 144 or better to stay in the chase for the $32,500 total of green stuff.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 7
 Beacon Street had long since seen better days. The houses were all of a uniform ugliness and were long past their prime. The inside of Number 38 was not as forbidding as the outside, but the apparent neatness was that of a housekeeper whose method of tidying up is limited to sticking odds and ends in drawers and behind doors.

Like her house, there were few pretensions about Pifi Warnock. Such character as she possessed could be read on her face, and could be described in one word, "Avarice." Most of her life had been spent wanting things she never got, and from morning till night, she had never ceased berating her husband for his failure to provide her with what she termed the simple luxuries of life. The years had enabled Ben Warnock to adapt himself completely to her constant nagging; in fact, he rarely heard her, so well had he trained himself.

It was barely twenty minutes to ten when Pifi heard the sound of feet on the veranda. Not waiting for the bell to ring, she opened the door.

She stood aside to let William Owens pass her.

"Go right into the front room and make yourself at home," she bustled. "I'm sure anxious to hear if that business you talked to me about can be worked out."

"There's no doubt about it, Mrs. Warnock," he replied. "All the arrangements have been made. Mind you, it's a bit unethical, but you and I know that the ultimate purpose is to surprise your husband. After all, it's perfectly legitimate to take out a policy of insurance on his life. His being notified of the fact is a mere technicality—a mere technicality." He beamed at her smugly. Opening his briefcase, which lay beside him on the couch, he began to sort several papers.

"Here we are." He looked up at her. "A few more questions to be answered, and then I'll just get you to sign these, and that's all there is to it. In view of his present age, a physical examination will, of course, be unnecessary."

"The agent completed several particulars."

"There now, if you'll just sign at the bottom." He held the application form flat on his briefcase while Mrs. Warnock signed where he indicated.

She looked up at him inquiringly. "When will I get the policy, and when am I supposed to pay?"

He laughed at her eagerness. "You pay your part of the first premium today. We'll look after the balance, as I explained to you. I'll see that your policy is rushed through. It might be wise for you to pick the policy up yourself. Three of us have a sort of headquarters at this end of town, in a laundry store, the Liberty Laundry on Maple Street. Do you know it?"

Pifi nodded. "I know about where it is."

"Fine." Owens stuffed the papers back into the case. Methodically, he screwed the cap on his pen and clipped it into his pocket. "Come in sometime Saturday morning, and I'll have everything ready for you."

He looked about him. "Yes, indeed, Mrs. Warnock, you've made an excellent investment, and I know you won't regret it. It'll give you a sense of security."

Aunt Sarah Murson regarded Derris with a baleful look. "You're foolish and obstinate," Sarah said angrily.

Derris put her arm around Sarah's thin shoulders.

"I think you're just a bit peeved that you weren't here when it all happened. Look, I'm not exactly accustomed to being made a fool of. Nobody's going to walk in on me and ask for my help, and then walk right out of the picture when it suits them—not to mention the nerve of taking my car to do it with."

"I haven't anything much to go on," she continued, "but I feel that I owe it to myself to go back to where it all started and take a look around."

"No," she interrupted, as Sarah was about to protest. "I don't want you to go along. If I'm going to get anywhere at all, I feel I can do better alone, you old watchdog." The latter part of the sentence was accompanied by a tender look which belied the harsh words.

"I'll drive you into the village," Derris said, returning with a large wicker shopping basket. "Get together all your stuff. It won't take me out of my way at all, and you'll go through with your marketing that much earlier."

It was well toward ten-thirty before Sarah entered the Farmers' Market. One of the finest in the district, it was always well patronized even by people from the city. The usual drone of voices and general hubbub struck Sarah as she

Defer Requests For More Funds

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A request for a $100,000 grant to the State's medical scholarship fund has been deferred by the council of state.

Dr. John A. Ferrell, executive secretary of the medical care commission, asked that the money be allocated from the contingency and emergency fund to continue the program the next two years.

The council deferred action after Attorney General Harry McMullan said that the statutes might prohibit use of contingency and emergency money for scholarships. He promised a ruling at a later meeting.

Dr. Ferrell said that $41,200 of a $50,000 scholarship fund is committed for 15 loans. The commission has applications for 11 other loans, he added, and more are expected.

The loans go to students who promise to practice medicine or nursing in rural areas after graduation.

Barkley Denies Marriage Rumors

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Vice President Barkley said today he has not even discussed the possibility of marriage with Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, St. Louis widow.

The Vice President, emerging from a cabinet session, told White House reporters:

"The matter of a wedding has never been mentioned or discussed, even on the fringe, between us."

Barkley described Mrs. Hadley with whom he attended a baseball game last weekend as "a very lovely and charming woman." But he specifically denied that there would be a wedding in Paducah, Ky., tomorrow.

"I'm going to Paducah tomorrow to participate in the dedication of an airport to be named Barkley Field," he said.

He added that Mrs. Hadley and her daughter will be in Paducah as his guests and that he might possibly take them back to St. Louis Sunday before he returns to Washington.

In medieval times, warring armies agreed not to campaign against each other during winter.

LAD SLAYS FATHER

Buckhannon, W. Va., Aug. 12.—(AP)—State police said today that 13-year-old Jerry Riggs shot and killed his father to get $60 for a bicycle.

The boy is being held in jail here on a murder charge. The body of his father, Harry Livingston Riggs, 48, was found in a corn field Wednesday at nearby Railmansville.

RAISES FOR CARDS

Cincinnati—(AP)—The latest bulletin from Commissioner A. B. Chandler's office shows that three more St. Louis Cardinals have been granted new contracts (raises in pay). They are Lou Klein, the former Mexican Leaguer, Vernal (Nippy) Jones and Ron Northey. Earlier this season the Cards gave raises on 1949 contracts to Howie Pollet, Al Brash, Tom Glaviano, Hal Rice and Gerald Staley.

British Housewife Nears End Globe-Circling Flight

Melburn, N.S., Aug. 13—(AP)—A pretty British housewife neared the end of a globe-circling flight today after plotting her little plane from Labrador to Greenland in defiance of Canadian air regulations.

Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, 26 made the 700-mile flight with her navigator yesterday. Only two more overwater hops—from Greenland to Iceland to Britain—stand in the way of fulfilling her dream of being the first woman to pilot a single-engine plane around the world.

Canadian aviation authorities, who had forbidden the trans-Atlantic flight as unsafe for single-engine civilian planes, had ordered Mrs. Morrow-Tait to fly back to Bangor, Me.

She took off at 7 a. m. (EST) yesterday, ostensibly for Bangor, then changed course and landed six and a half hours later at Blue West One, the U. S. air base in southern Greenland.

Waiting in England for the world flier are her husband two-year-old daughter. She saw them last on Aug. 18, 1948, when she took off with Navigator Michael Townsend, 26-year-old Cambridge University student, on her eastward trip.

She had had luck most of the way. Her little plane hit a ditch in Marseilles, France, had engine trouble at Calcutta, India, and Fairbanks, Alaska. Last November the plane crashed near the Alaska highway, 235 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

She worked all winter as a waitress and singer in a Fairbanks night club, borrowed another plane and resumed her trip this summer.

Fat Men 'Make Best Husbands'

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 13—(AP)—Fat men make the best husbands and school teachers the best wives. That's the word from the director of the National Institute for Human Relations.

Dr. James F. Bender of New York City declared at the closing summer session convocation of Buffalo State Teachers College yesterday: "The fat man is the least likely to want a divorce, he is a tender and faithful lover and he is more easily persuaded to wash the dishes and get up at night to look at the baby."

Bender, who thinks he's the "rolly-polly type" himself, had this to say to maritally inclined gentlemen: "School teachers love children and they make good mothers. x x x teachers are well adjusted personalities as a rule and are less inclined to be neurotic than the average American woman."

Furthermore, he said when a woman has been giving classroom lectures all day long, she returns home at night too tired to talk, this is "sheer heaven" to most married males.

Farm Owners Doomed In Bulgarian Scheme

Sofia, Bulgaria—The kulak—well-to-do farm owner—is doomed under Bulgaria's five-year plan of building cooperative farms. In the meantime, the kulak will be used to increase national production. But he is in for a squeezing.

By 1953, the Communist-led Bulgarian government expects to have 60 per cent of Bulgaria's arable soil managed by 4,000 cooperative farms. That is an increase from the present 1,522 cooperatives tilling only 12 per cent of the land.

Bulgaria is primarily an agricultural country. It is leading all other eastern European countries in the development of farm cooperatives.

Joining a cooperative is voluntary, the government says. The farmer must contribute all his farm machinery and farm animals. If the cooperative management so directs, he is allowed to retain for his personal use one cow (or two goats), three to five sheep, an unlimited number of hens and beehives, and a small tract of land.

Here are the benefits: The state encourages co-op farms by giving them credits at low interest or by making them financial contributors. The state supplies them with construction and other materials, fuel at 50 per cent reduction, free of customs duty. The state also grants them veterinary, technical and scientific aid, free of charge.

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Titko Chernokolev said Bulgarian farmers were like the men from Missouri at first—they wanted to be shown the proven value of co-ops. Now, he said, having seen the practical results, not only the poor peasants, but middle class peasants as well have a favorable attitude toward the cooperative farm.

Chernokolev said last year the average yield of cereals was 20 per cent greater on co-ops than on private farms.

The deputy minister said Bulgarian co-ops differ from their Russian counterpart in that the Bulgarian landowner can sell his land or withdraw it from the co-op. The land also can be inherited, he said. The Bulgarian owner is paid rent by the co-op management, whereas in Russia no rent is paid.

A kulak by Bulgarian standards is any farmer who owns more than 25 acres of land. He cannot join a co-op. There are some 69,450 kulak farmers in the nation. They own 8.8 per cent of the farms. But these farms produce at present two-thirds of Bulgaria's grain.

The periodical Free Bulgaria said: "The peculiarities of the rural economy make it impossible to proceed with the immediate liquidation of the kulak, although he stands constantly in the way of socialist construction."

The article goes on to say the kulak "is a public nuisance who cannot be tolerated in the long run for that would mean the eventual restoration of capitalism."

The kulak's power is on the wane. So-called land reform deprived 2,450 kulaks of some 113,000 acres of land. This land was distributed among poor peasant, state and cooperative farms.

"Free Bulgaria" said: "Forthcoming restrictive measures against the kulak include the prohibition of the purchase and sale of real estate, a supplementary tax to be imposed by the people's councils, the restriction of rationed goods and, most of all, a ban on the use of hired labor."

Proclaims Sanity In Suicide Note

Arkadelphia, Ark., Aug. 13—(AP)—A man contemplating suicide is very sane, wrote an Arkansas college professor a few minutes before he ended his life in a deserted downtown church yesterday.

Officers found the body of J. C. Stewart, dean of men and psychology professor at Ouachita College, lying behind the pulpit of the First Baptist Church.

Stewart shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber rifle a few minutes after telling his friends goodbye, paying his bills and penning the note, Sheriff Andrew Widener reported.

Stewart, about 65, had borrowed the rifle from Ouachita College Business Manager Byron Price "to shoot turtles." It was found near the body.

Sheriff Widener said a note, found on a table in the church, stated: "You have been wondering whether a man planning suicide is sane. As a psychologist I can tell you he is sometimes very sane. "I have been in ill health for the past four months, have only about three months left to live. I suffer constantly in all parts of my body at all times. I cannot sleep."

Hot Weather

The temperature in the Greenville area continued to soar in the upper 90s yesterday and the Weather Bureau thermometers have recorded 90 or more every day for more than a week.

High temperature yesterday was 96 degrees. During last night it dropped to 74, and at 8 a. m. today it was 76 and rising. It was partly cloudy during the forenoon.

an ending to this column on children, let me state what we teach the students at Utopia College, Eureka, Kansas. Here it is: The future of the United States—and every other country for that matter—depends only partly on scientific progress, or natural health or even cultural advantages. The advance of man everywhere depends upon the recognition that it is immoral to depend upon others or upon the government. Furthermore, that the essence of democracy is individual responsibility for babyhood. Of course, this demands an interest in our fellow man. But we should teach that—in the long-run—we can help save our fellowmen only as we save ourselves physically, mentally and spiritually.

Appropriations Log Jam Cracks

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)—The appropriations log jam in Congress cracked a little today with approval by House and Senate conferees of a $7,817,739,361 money bill financing a number of independent agencies.

The conference committee's measure, which now must be approved by the house and senate, totals $514,352,808 more than the original house bill, but $45,890,993 less than the one passed by the Senate.

GOP CHAIRMAN—Guy George Gabrielson (above), of Bernardsville, N. J., 58-year-old lawyer-business man, is the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Quake Property Damage Goes Up

Quito, Ecuador, Aug. 13—(AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso says latest reports on Ecuador's Aug. 5 earthquake have boosted the estimated property damage to $67,500,000 and the number of dead to more than 6,000.

The President said it is not possible to fix the exact number of casualties, but that all calculations, including that of a U. S. relief mission, "tend to raise the (previously estimated) 4,000 figure to more than 6,000."

Maurice Reddy, assistant disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, who visited the stricken areas, said that in the town of Pelileo he witnessed "the most complete destruction I ever saw in 29 years in the Red Cross."

"Not a single house or building is left standing," he said.

President Galo Plaza said that of Pelileo's 3,500 residents there were only 300 known survivors.

Ends Training For Channel Try

Dover, Eng., Aug. 13—(AP)—Shirley May France has completed training and is ready to try to swim the English Channel when the weather is right, her manager, Ted Wornor, announced today.

In London, the Air Ministry forecast a good weekend on the straits of Dover, which Shirley May hopes to conquer in her swim from Cap Gris Nez, France, to Dover.

Wornor said Shirley May probably will not make the attempt today. He refused to speculate about tomorrow.

Lambs Profitable Asset For Farmers

Boone, Aug. 13—A total of 93 farmers sold 764 lambs for $17,448 in the first cooperative shipment of lambs from Watauga County this year, reports L. E. Tuckwiller, county agent for the State College Extension Service.

Choice animals brought $27 per 100 pounds, and good ones sold for $25.25. Most of the lambs entered in the pool were graded good or choice, but a few dropped to a lower grade.

Flying Family In Two Mishaps

Easton, Md., Aug. 13—(AP)—You can hardly blame Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dunham if they've decided to keep their heads out of the clouds for a while.

On a little flight from Baltimore to Richmond yesterday they ran into some trouble and Dunham crashed landed their light plane near Smithfield, Va. The couple suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Word of the accident was sent to their hometown, Easton, Md., and Bill Newman, manager of the airport there, flew down and picked them up.

On the way home lightning struck the rescue plane, tearing a hole in its wing, Newman and the Dunhams reported to state police. They had some uneasy moments before Newman brought the ship down on a farm near Cambridge, Md., about 15 miles from Easton. Nobody was hurt.

They added that they made the rest of the trip without mishap—by automobile.

950,575 Autos In N. C. Registered

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 13—(AP)—There are 950,575 motor vehicles registered in North Carolina—only 8,000 below the all-time high marked up last year.

If registrations continue at the rate of 800 to 1,300 a day as they did during the past week, the 1948 record of 958,542 should be topped in about 10 days, the Motor Vehicle Department predicted.

FIREMEN CALLED

The Greenville Fire Department was called to the Rosco Norfleet Place on Fifth street last night at 8:30 when a transformer started smoking.

There was no damage to the building firemen reported but the transformer will have to be replaced. The alarm was turned in from box 156.

conflict.

But it also puts up to the United States the question of whether France is going to be supported in Indochina. The American position to date is ambiguous.

American prestige has suffered in East Asia since V-J day because the U. S. has supported, directly or indirectly, such European colonial powers as France, Britain, and the Netherlands in their colonial position so as not to weaken the anti-Communism front in Europe.

This has been potent material for the Communists who have been claiming that America stands for colonialism and continued imperialism over Asia.

At the same time, the one common denominator in Asiatic politics is the Nationalism through which her peoples seek to get rid of anything that smacks of outside control.

The United States must make a choice in Indochina, for that is the next step south from China for Communism.

How A Utopia Will Come

I recently established a college in the center of the U. S.—at Eureka, Kansas, and named it Utopia College. One reason for this name is because nearby are the remains of one of the Utopias Socialist settlements of 75 years ago—which—like the others—failed because individual responsibility was lacking. They depended upon a leader. I took this name to impress upon students that Utopias come not through Socialistic programs, but through honest competition. As

THEN YOU THINK THE PLANE WAS REALLY A GOOD BUY, SCORCHY?

SHE'S TOPS! WATCH!

RETURNING TO BETTY FORBES IN THE PLANE WITH A GLOOMY ESTIMATE OF HER BATTERED "FLYING F FLAGSHIP," SCORCHY IS AMBUSHED AND KAYOED BY PRETO AND CYRIL SNYDE. BY SWITCHING JACKETS, SNYDE (SCORCHY'S PSEUDO TWIN) SITS BESIDE UNSUSPECTING BETTY AND REVS UP THE MOTORS. AS THE PLANE TAXIS FOR A TAKE-OFF, PRETO HIDES IN THE FREIGHT COMPARTMENT WHILE A POLICE ALARM ALERTS THE CONTROL TOWER...

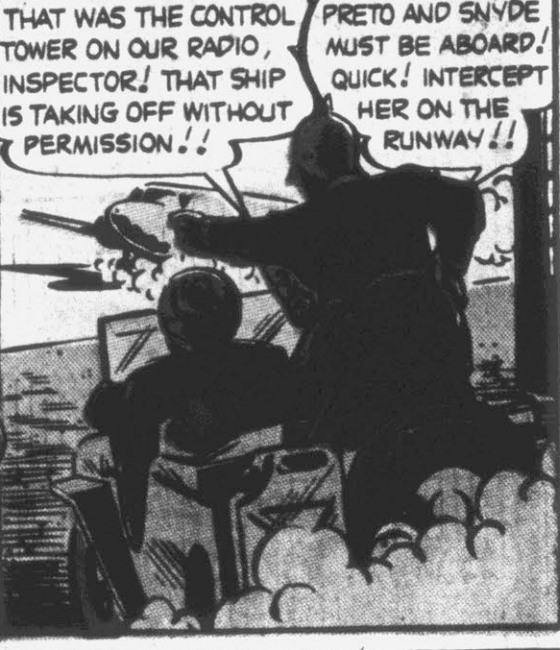

LOOK! THE FUGITIVES MUST BE IN THAT "FLYING F" PELICAN! SHE'S COMING ONTO THE RUNWAY!!

CONTROL TOWER TO "FLYING F"! YOU HAVE NOT BEEN CLEARED FOR A TAKEOFF! THROTTLE YOUR POWER AND TAXI HER OFF THAT STRIP!!

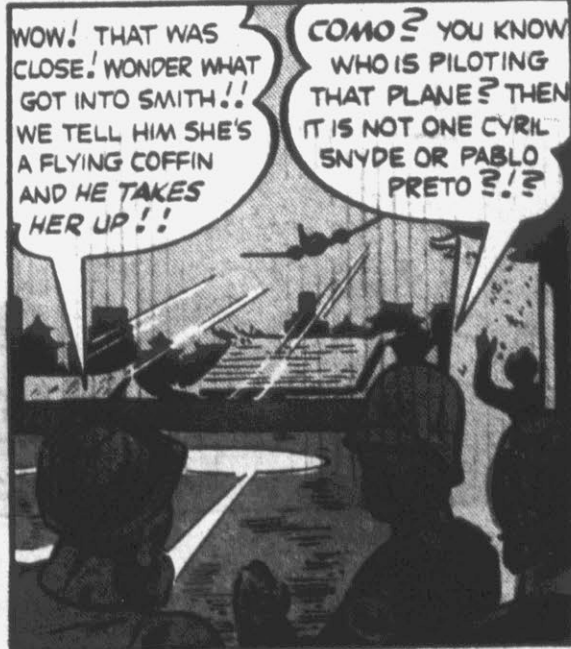

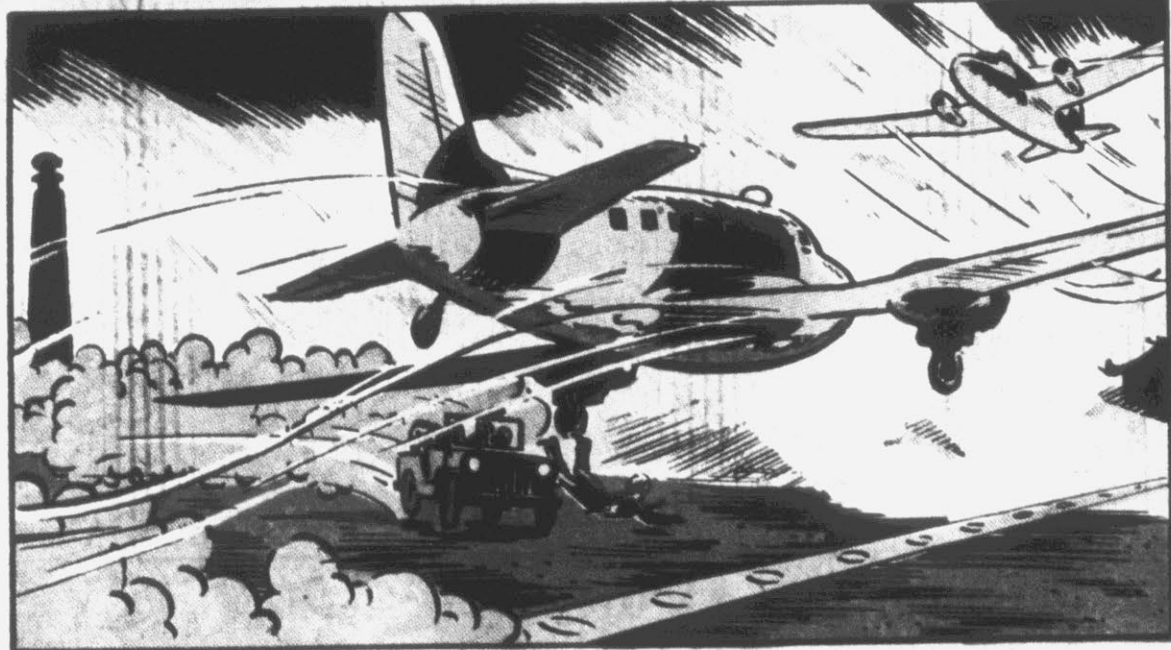

!?! EMERGENCY!!! TOWER TO INCOMING FLIGHT SEVEN! LANDING PERMISSION CANCELLED! CIRCLE THE FIELD! KEEP CLEAR OF RUNWAY THREE!!

THAT WAS THE CONTROL TOWER ON OUR RADIO, INSPECTOR! THAT SHIP IS TAKING OFF WITHOUT PERMISSION!!

PRETO AND SNYDE MUST BE ABOARD! QUICK! INTERCEPT HER ON THE RUNWAY!!

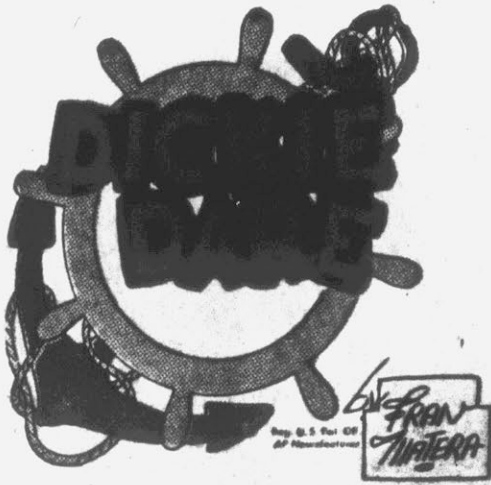

WOW! THAT WAS CLOSE! WONDER WHAT GOT INTO SMITH!! WE TELL HIM SHE'S A FLYING COFFIN AND HE TAKES HER UP!!

COMO? YOU KNOW WHO IS PILOTING THAT PLANE? THEN IT IS NOT ONE CYRIL SNYDE OR PABLO PRETO?!!?

WE JUST FOUND HIM, INSPECTOR! HE WAS CLUBBED AND HIS COAT WAS OFF!!

BOM! THESE PROVE HE IS SNYDE! SO HE FIGHT WITH HIS CONFEDERATE, EH? LOCK HIM UP! WE QUESTION HIM WHEN HE RECOVERS!!

BEHOLD! THE SHE-DEVIL, KRYPTARZI, APPROACHES OUR TRAP!

IT IS GOOD! MAKE SURE NONE ESCAPE THE ROCK SLIDE!

MEANWHILE, ON THE MORE FAMILIAR SIDE OF THE ATLANTIC...

FLASH! LATEST REPORTS SMUGGLED OUT FROM MESSALANDIA INDICATE THE BANDIT LEADER, KRYPTARZI, MAY BE TAKEN IN A COUP PLANNED BY THE DEMOCRATIC RESISTANCE MOVEMENT---

BOY, THAT KRYPTARZI BABE MUST BE A REAL SLICK ARTICLE JUST LIKE IN TH' FUNNIES! BEAUTIFULL, SHIFTY, AN DANGEROUS! JUST MY TYPE!

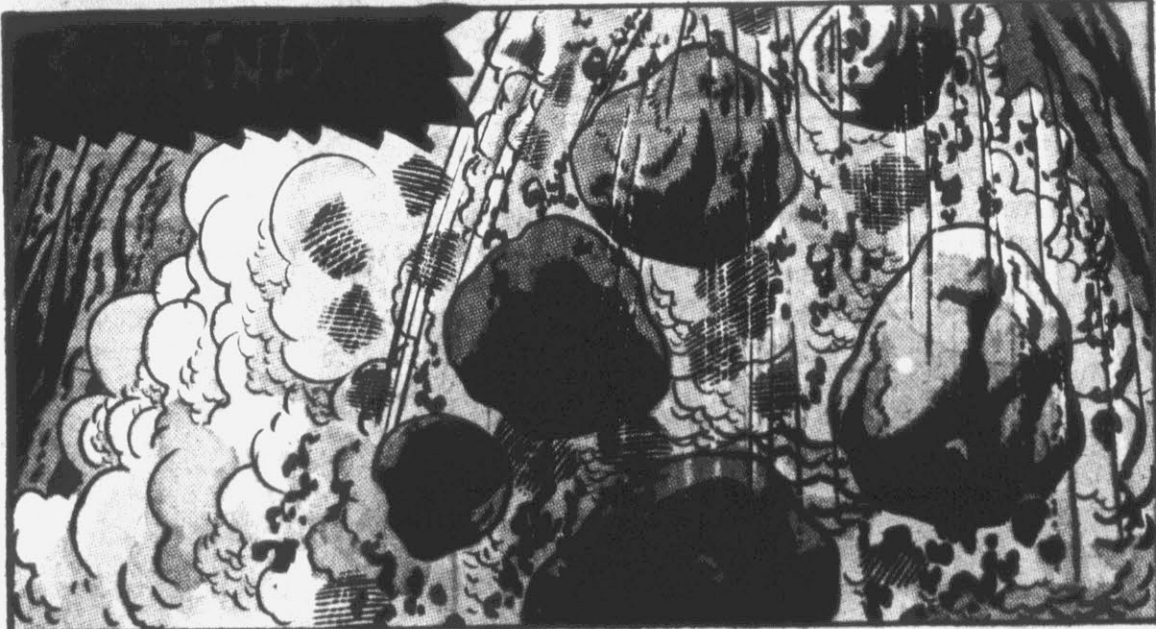

ACKEROD TO YOU, TOO! BESIDES, I BET THE COMMENTATORS MAKE UP HALF THAT STUFF ABOUT HER! -- LET'S LISTEN TO SMIDGE SKENDERSON'S DREAMY BOP!

THEN BACK TO MESSALANDIA...

IF WE'RE GONNA TRY AN' MAKE A BREAK WHEN MISS KRYPTARZI IS ATTACKED, I WISH IT'D HURRY UP AN' HAPPEN!

DAN! A SLIDE!
