Govm't Agencies Penniless While Money Is Tied Up

Can't Spend A Penny Legally Until Emergency Appropriation Bill Passed

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The United States military establishment was penniless today, along with the Interior Department, the Veterans Administration, and the Economic Cooperation Administration.

Technically, said Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee, they can't spend or commit a single penny legally, and some government people "are getting frantic about it."

However, the Defense Department showed no pressing anxiety. An official said it has authority under basic law to continue contracting for food, fuel, etc.; its civilian payroll normally runs 12 days behind services rendered.

Something may be done about the situation before the end of the day.

It results from the fact that Congress has not yet finally passed the annual appropriation bills for the agencies involved, and a temporary financing measure for them expired last midnight.

Many regular appropriations bills which the House had out of the way months ago have become bogged down in the Senate.

Yesterday the House, apparently expressing its anger at the Senate delay, failed to muster the two-thirds vote needed to push through another quick extension measure—although the stop-gap money bill did get a majority.

Cannon has asked the Rules Committee to grant clearance for the emergency measure under procedure requiring only a majority vote.

The Rules Committee turned him down late yesterday but was expected to change its mind later.

Even so, the temporary measure can't be called up in the House under normal procedure until tomorrow. It could be passed today only by unanimous consent or a two-thirds vote, and Cannon said he does not think that can be done in view of "yesterday's developments."

"I've done everything I can do," Cannon told newsmen. "It was simple partisan politics that caused this situation."

Never before in the history of Congress, Cannon said, has such an appropriation log-jam existed, "and I've looked up the records way back."

Although the House broke all records this year in passing the annual appropriation bills for the fiscal year that started June 30, the Senate has been slower than usual on them. It has not passed the Defense or Interior bills, and its changes in House bills have caused the foreign recovery and several other measures to be sent to Senate-House conferences where they await adjustment.

West German Election

A Rebirth Of A Partially Disembodied Nation; Way Paved For Coalition Government Believing In Free Enterprise; Germany May Again Become European Power

The Parliamentary elections in the American, British and French zones of western Germany constitute a rebirth of that militarily defeated and partially disembodied (but far from despairing) nation.

The election of the 402-member federal Parliament has resulted in a heavy defeat for Communism. It has paved the way for a conservative government if the parties of the right form a coalition. These are the parties that believe in free enterprise as opposed to Socialistic Nationalization and Paternalism.

The new Germany is, of course, still deprived of the eastern portion which is occupied by Russia. There is no indication as to when, if ever, the Russian zone may be united to the western state. Gone from the Reich also are all its former holdings east of the Oder and western Neisse rivers, which have been absorbed by Poland and Russia.

However, I believe we are witnessing the revival of Germany as a war power in continental Europe. She was the politico-economic keystone of central Europe before the late war. She bids fair to be so again, for the Germans are a dynamic people.

This prospect has, of course, been causing anxiety among the nations which have suffered so grievously from German aggression. It is agreed among the allies that the

Hoffman Calls For European Exports

Trade Leaders Told Their Countries Doing Less Than They Should To Earn U. S. Dollars; Markets In America Sought

Paris, Aug. 16—(AP)—Marshall Aid Chief Paul G. Hoffman told European trade leaders today their countries are doing less than they should to earn their U. S. dollars.

He spoke at a meeting of the heads of delegations to the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) at its headquarters here. This is the 19-area group charged with dividing up Marshall Plan funds.

Hoffman said he saw no way to meet Europe's chronic dollar shortage except by earning dollars through exports. He had found, he added, little evidence that this fact is being squarely faced except by one or two countries.

He did not specify which countries he meant.

At a news conference yesterday, Hoffman praised the new British Dollar Export Board for trying to find additional U. S. markets. He also said that Belgium was doing work on this line.

He told the OEEC delegates that there is a great need for their governments to give their manufacturers incentives "to win and hold a place in that (American) market."

First, he said, there must be a willingness to earn more dollars; then the United States would see about how it could give this effort technical help.

Herve Alphonse asked for details on how such aid would be given. Hoffman replied that when a specific European industry showed an interest in selling more of its products in the United States, an American market expert would be found in that particular line to show the Europeans how to increase sales.

Hoffman also criticized OEEC's informal set-up. He said it was a matter of "breath-taking urgency" to tell the United States what kind of job the OEEC is doing. There is a growing notion in America, he reported, that the Marshall Plan is a political but not an economic success.

Hoffman's statements were reported by M. D. Mallett, OEEC's press relations chief.

It is hard to convince Congress, Hoffman told the delegates, that the OEEC can claim solid accomplishments. It is up to the European countries, he added, "to make a living fact out of European cooperation."

One Million Jobs

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Tobin forecast today an increase of a million jobs by the end of the year and a corresponding drop in unemployment.

Tobin reported to President Truman that the employment situation is improving steadily. He told reporters on leaving the White House:

"It looks very much like there will be a decided increase in employment during the next six months and that by the end of the year payrolls will be increased by approximately 1,000,000 persons."

This does not take in the possibility of a major strike in coal or steel, he said.

Tobin said there would be a substantial increase in employment and a drop in unemployment figures beginning about the middle of September.

He said he based his forecast on the fact that purchasing orders to build up depleted inventories are increasing and will continue to accelerate.

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Administration acceptance was forecast today for some of a series of amendments offered by Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Dulles (R-NY) to the $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

Before the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee met to begin work on writing the measure, an Administration spokesman told a reporter he thinks some compromises will have to be made in order to get a bill out speedily.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations group talked the Vandenberg-Dulles proposals over with State Department officials in a two-hour conference but declined any comment.

By a vote of 14 to 5, the House foreign committee last night approved a bill carrying the full total, although split between cash and contract authority. House leaders, encouraged by this vote, aimed at floor action on the bill tomorrow or Thursday.

This measure contains an "anti-permitter" provision which would penalize anyone who has been a government employee during the last two years for accepting a gift or payment in connection with foreign arms procurement.

A House drive to cut the outlay is expected. Senate action on the measure may be delayed until September. There is talk of a 10-day recess over Labor Day. Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said if he had his way action would be put off till January.

Vandenberg and Dulles proposed that the Senate slice $160,990,000 off the total, principally through cutting out $155,000,000 aid to Western European countries to get their own arms production going.

Behind this move was said to be the fear by the two Republican senators that United States action alone to speed up arms production in France would have repercussions in Western Germany, stripped of many of its industrial plants.

France is expected to get the lion's share of arms aid of all types, with only a token payment of a few millions going to Great Britain.

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman took personal command today of the Administration's fight to rescue two controversial government reorganization plans.

He did so by summoning six Democratic senators to the White House and appealing for favorable action on the proposals. Senator Hoey (D-NC), who served as spokesman for the six, told reporters afterwards that some of the group have been opposed to the plans.

Shortly after the White House meeting broke up, the Senate opened debate on Mr. Truman's reorganization plan No. 1. This calls for a new department of welfare.

Plan No. 2 next on the Senate schedule, would shift the Bureau of Employment Security from the Federal Security Administration to the Labor Department.

Today's conference was President Truman's second move within four days in behalf of the two plans. In a letter to Vice President Barkley Friday, the President declared that objections raised against the plans appeared to him "ill-founded and mistaken."

"If plans such as these are rejected," Mr. Truman said, then "a serious blow will be dealt to the prospects for further progress."

Beyond disclosing Mr. Truman's appeal for approval of the plans, he would not discuss the White House conference. The other senators at the meeting were Sparkman and Hill of Alabama, Fulbright of Arkansas, Johnson of Texas, and Maybank of South Carolina.

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Dr. Willford I. King, chairman of the Committee for Constitutional Government, said today that workers would have been better off without labor unions the last two decades.

King gave his testimony to the Senate Banking Committee, which has been holding hearings on the economic power of labor organizations. The committee that the witness heads is a private organization which has combated many of the programs of the Roosevelt-Truman Presidential Administrations.

King, economics professor-emeritus at New York University, offered charts to show that while union membership has risen five fold in the last two decades, "labor's percentage of the product has remained nearly constant year after year."

He said also:

"In the 90 years from 1849 to 1939, capital investment per worker increased nine fold. It was this which caused the gross value of the worker's product to be multiplied by seven, and his hourly real wage to be more than quadrupled."

King said leaders of "the great labor monopolies" are not interested in keeping wage rates at a level which will keep everyone employed, but instead are insisting on an unwarranted fourth postwar round of wage increases. He said the result is pricing labor out of the market.

Changes By Dulles And Vandenberg Forecast As Having Final Approval

Gen. MacArthur Declines Invitation To Come Home

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has formally declined an invitation to return to the United States to give Congress a report on the Far Eastern situation.

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees had voted 13 to 12 to ask MacArthur to come home from Tokyo to testify in connection with the administration's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms aid bill.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson today made public the text of a reply from MacArthur in which the general said:

"For the best reasons set forth in my public statement of Aug. 11th I believe I can best serve the national interest by remaining at my post of duty here."

Johnson had forwarded the request of the Senate committees to MacArthur and Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger, also wanted for testimony on the Far Eastern situation.

Johnson did not order either to return.

MacArthur in his reply to Johnson said that this statement of Aug. 11 was as follows:

"I could not help but be deeply appreciative of the honor reflected in the desire expressed by certain distinguished members of the U. S. Senate that I proceed to Washington to give my views for consideration by the Congress on the issue of United States arms aid to the government of China."

Mike Swallows Everything Says Anxious Mother

Kansas City, Kas., Aug. 16—(AP)—Mike was hustled to a hospital yesterday because his mother thought he had swallowed a safety pin.

Physicians found the pin, stuck in a tonsil, and removed it.

Nine-month-old Mike grinned happily at his mother, Mrs. Maurice O'Shea, remarked he is quite a lad for swallowing things.

"The first time it was his anklet," she recalled. "I got to him in time to grab the toe. Another time he bit the nipple off his bottle and swallowed half of it."

"The time he cleaned out an ashtray of cigarettes and paper matches he was slightly green. I put some adhesive tape on his thumb and he swallowed the tape. He also ate the feet off a plaster of paris doll."

Says Fourth Of Textile Workers In State Idle

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 16—(AP)—About 25 per cent of all the textile workers in North Carolina are now unemployed, CIO's assistant state director Bruce Davis said today.

Others are working only part-time, he added.

Still others, in mills where the textile workers union does not have bargaining contracts, have taken wage decreases in recent months.

A wage differential among the employees in the state's largest industry is beginning to show up as the result of declining business, Davis added.

He said a number of smaller so-called "fringe" or markal mills, besides laying off some employees, have cut wages to about 80 cents an hour.

Driver Is Unhurt As Car Wrecked

A car driven by George Robbins, 44, of Rocky Mount was wrecked at about 1:00 this morning when a rear tire blew out causing the car to turn over once on the New Bern highway about eight miles from Greenville. State Patrolman Dick Chadwick reported today.

The car, a 1947 Chevrolet, was damaged to the extent of $500. Robbins escaped injury, patrolmen said.

Believe Polio Virus Has A Non-Crippling 'Twin'

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 16—(AP)—Yale scientists expressed belief today that a large number of cases diagnosed as poliomyelitis may actually be attributed to a new and apparently non-crippling virus.

Existence of the virus, first reported by the New York State department of health, was confirmed by the Yale researchers after a year's study.

Isolated during last summer's polio outbreak in Southern New England, North Carolina and Texas, the origin of the virus still is unknown and its means of transmission are obscure. But the Yale scientists reported that all infected persons who have come to their attention have recovered with no harmful after-effects.

A report of the Yale research was published today in the proceedings of the Society of Experimental

Atlanta Writer Dies In Hospital

Margaret Mitchell Dies Of Injuries Sustained Thursday

Atlanta, Aug. 16—(AP)—Margaret Mitchell, the author of "Gone With The Wind," died today. She was struck down by a speeding automobile on Peachtree Street last Thursday night.

Miss Mitchell died at 11:59 a. m. (EST) in Henry Grady Memorial Hospital. Doctors said she had a fractured skull, fractures of the pelvis, and other injuries.

The quiet author of the famous civil war novel was hit by a car as she and her husband, John R. Marsh, an advertising executive, crossed the street while walking to a movie near her home.

Police charged the driver of the car, Hugh D. Gravitt, 28, with suspicion of manslaughter. Gravitt, a taxi driver, was off duty at the time and in his private car. Police records show he has had 23 traffic violations previously against him.

The speeding car slammed her to the pavement and dragged her 15 feet.

Marsh, a semi-invalid as the result of a heart attack, held his wife in his arms until police and an ambulance arrived. She was carried to the city hospital, and specialists were called.

Margaret Mitchell turned the civil war tales she heard as a child into "Gone With The Wind," a book sold only by the Bible.

But, she scoffed at any idea it was an easy job.

"Actually, I began writing at the age of six years. I worked 12 years on 'Gone With The Wind' and threw away a lot of novels I had written before that," she once said.

Wants Midget For Cafeteria

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—Wanted: One midget.

Restaurant owner Alex Parker is searching for a midget to serve as major dome in charge of tea, coffee and hot rolls. He says he wants to dress the midget in colonial costume to carry out the theme of his new Colonial Cafeteria.

"Waiters come too high these days," sighed Parker. "I've ordered a midget from the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, but I've waited for days in vain."

Big Business In Shrimp, Oysters

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Canned shrimp and oysters were a $12,500,000 business last year.

The Fish and Wildlife Service said the U. S. pack of canned shrimp in 1948 was 588,870 cases, valued at $7,791,313 to the packers.

This was an increase of 86,537 cases (48 five ounce cans to the case) over 1947 and the largest pack since 1944, but it was only about a third as large as the 1933 record of 1,615,408 cases.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR August 16, 1909

On Monday evening at her home on Eighth street Mrs. W. L. Hall entertained at a porch party a number of young people in honor of her guests. Misses Sallie Long of Garysburg and Annie Penner of Scotland Neck. There was a jumble word contest (the words being the names of cities) in which the prize, a set of gold pins, was won by Miss Helen Forbes. Another interesting feature was a spelling match in which Mr. G. J. Woodard cut up to the head of the class and was awarded a deck of cards. This he permitted the guests of honor to cut for and Miss Long was the winner. Vocal solos by Mrs. Hall and Miss Long were greatly enjoyed by the guests.

Greenville Shoe Store Gets Order From Venezuela

By CHESTER WALSH
Greenville as a shopping center expanded its trading territory recently when Jackson's Shoe Store, on Dickinson Avenue, received an order for shoes from Tia Juna, in the State of Zulo, South America. Manager J. B. Jackson said he received the order from Mrs. H. Sightholm, in Tia Juna, Venezuela, for three pairs of shoes similar to some footwear she saw advertised by the International Shoe Company, St. Louis, Mo., in Good Housekeeping magazine. The South American woman stated that the St. Louis firm wrote her that she could obtain the shoes from Jackson's Shoe Store in Greenville, N. C. The shoes were to be shipped to Mrs. G. C. Stapleton, 116 Bayshore Avenue, Jacksonville, N. C. A check for $22 accompanied the order. Jackson forwarded the order for the special sizes to the International Shoe Company in St. Louis and the shoes have been shipped, he said.

Left Fortune In His Deposit Box

Los Angeles, Aug. 16 — (AP) — Three quarters of a million dollars in cash was left in a safe deposit box by Wallace Beery, an accounting of his $2,000,000 estate shows. Government bonds worth more than $600,000 also were listed in the inventory, ordered by Superior Court to determine inheritance taxes. The actor, who died April 15 at the age of 64, left the bulk of his estate to his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, 18, his brother, William, and his nephew, Noah Beery Jr. Claims against the estate include those of his former wife, Mrs. Mary Areta Foyt, who seeks one half; and Gloria Schumm, film bit player, who contends Beery was the father of her 18-month-old son. She has asked for $104,135. Beery denied paternity and specifically disinherited the infant in his will.

Approximately 17,000,000 work days were lost in farm accidents in this country in 1948.

Death Car Driver Ordered Held For Grand Jury

At an inquest at the City Hall last night, a coroner's jury ordered Jasper W. Crawford, 29, of Greenville, held for the grand jury under $5,000 bond in connection with the death of Irvin M. Barber Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Barber of Greenville, who was killed in a three-car collision in Hillsdale the night of July 16.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse presided. Crawford provided bail. J. B. James is his attorney.

At police headquarters, Crawford is charged with driving drunk, reckless driving, speeding and manslaughter.

Testimony at the inquest was that Crawford, driving toward Winterville, attempted to pass a car driven by Jesse Ray Faulkner of near Winterville; that Crawford saw an oncoming car, changed his direction and passed the Faulkner car on the right; that his car crashed into the rear end of the vehicle, causing it to hurtle across the highway, and colliding head on with the car driven by Irving M. Barber. Further testimony was that Crawford's car continued 200 feet beyond the scene of the collision and landed in a ditch.

Crawford and eight other persons were injured, the Barber child fatally. The three cars were badly damaged, it was testified.

Final Arguments In Murder Trial

New York, Aug. 16 — (AP) — The trial of two alleged "lonely hearts" slayers was devoted today to the final arguments of attorneys.

Herbert E. Rosenberg, defense lawyer, charged yesterday that the accused pair were "legally kidnaped and shanghaied" from Michigan to New York. The defendants, fat Mrs. Martha Beck, 29, and Raymond Fernandez, 34, were arrested first in Michigan and charged with two murders there. They were extradited to New York for trial because Michigan has no death penalty and New York has.

State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora ordered Rosenberg's remark stricken from the trial record. The defense contends Mrs. Beck was insane at the time Mrs. Janey Fay, 66-year-old Albany, N.Y., widow was bludgeoned and strangled in Valley Stream, N.Y., last Jan. 4. It also has challenged the state's charge that Mrs. Beck hit Mrs. Fay on the head with a hammer. The defense contends Fernandez, Mrs. Beck's lover, had no part in the crime.

Dive Delayed

Smuggler's Cove, Calif., Aug. 16 — (AP) — Marine Explorer Otis Barton has called off, at least temporarily, his attempt to descend 6,000 feet below the ocean's surface.

Beet for three days by mechanical difficulties and rough weather, Barton yesterday had himself hauled back to the surface after being lowered in his diving bell to 2300 feet. This is probably the deepest any man has ever descended in a diving bell.

In yesterday's dive, Barton said he saw a sausage-shaped light, apparently some sort of fish; a "beautiful eel" and a jellyfish giving off a golden glow. He called off the descent because of power failure. "It would be just a stunt without lights or pictures," he explained.

(Dear Judge)

This is the time of year when some of the smartest young moderns are bitten by the "why go back to school" bug. After a summer of making some easy money for the first time in their lives, perhaps, they just can't get school-minded.

It is tough to tear away from a good paying job, especially when one has been assured of new fancy duds, movies and carfare while working. But these jobs are merely stop gaps and not meant to launch you on a career. When one is choosing one's life work, more preparation must be made.

First of all you've got to be equipped not merely to get the job but to hold it, and this is what your school does for you. When you've got that diploma in your hand, you will have confidence and assurance which are necessary to success.

Even a girl or boy who wants a glamor career in the music world can get a test of ability in school. Girl vocalists can get good experience in local choirs. Boys can get practice in school bands or glee clubs.

Gene Williams, perhaps one of the youngest professional band leaders in the industry, got his start at the age of 16 after he had finished high school. He got his ground work singing with a choral group and the Teaneck, N.J., high school band. He has been with Johnny Long, Vincent Lopez, Claude Thornhill and George Paxton. He says:

"I just happened to be lucky. Lots of girls and boys leave homes and a good education for a fling in the music world. Most times they have no musical background, and flounder around all their lives just being tenth raters. It is so much wiser to find out if you have talent before embarking on a career. Schoolmates can be severe but good critics."

Gene says long hours must be spent practicing music just as one studies for any other career. Girl singers need to be well groomed.

attractive and have singing ability, before they even attempt to crash the music world.
If you have talent, don't worry. You'll get by, and don't try to rush into anything. Talent improves with the years.

Girl Scout campers at the Western Hemisphere Encampment at Muskegon, Mich., learned from Girl Scout representatives from Central and South America that social life in these countries is quite different from ours.

For one thing, girls from the West Indies can't go out alone together with boys until they are officially engaged. In Trinidad only girls over 19 or 20 can go out with boys unchaperoned. Ecuador girls can't kiss a boy until it is definitely established that they are going to get married.

As Joan McMillan of Toronto said, "I can't imagine what it would be like to have my parents or grandparents coming out on a date with my boy friends and me." Neither can lots of kids. Can't you just see Mom now... sitting in the back of the jeep when you go riding... taking a back seat in the canoe... chaperoning from under an apple tree when you are on picnics... knitting in the living room while you and Johnny toast marshmallows...

And just think how Johnny's expenses would go up... a coke for Mom every time he buys one for you... an extra seat at the movies, football and basketball games (with Mom sitting between you)... nice little quiet dinners multiplied by three. Parties and dances would be a little crowded with all the chaperons stepping on each other's toes and hogging the moonlight at garden parties.

It's tough enough to get a guy to propose with moonlight and roses working overtime but with Mom clattering up the picture, wouldn't he have a perfect excuse to stay a bachelor

Promising New Malaria Control Drugs Emerging

Dallas, Aug. 16—(AP)—A. U. S. public health officer says three promising new malaria control drugs have emerged from a three-year experiment at Seagoville, south of here.

The experiment involved female mosquitoes and 251 military prisoners at the Seagoville Federal Correctional Institution.

Dr. C. A. Imboden Jr., director of the tests, listed the drugs yesterday as chloroquine, chloroquine and pentamidine.

Drugs were tested as preventives, cures and suppressants. Atabrine, familiar to thousands of ex-GIs, is a suppressant. While taken regularly it acts to prevent chills and fever even though malaria parasites may be in the bloodstream.

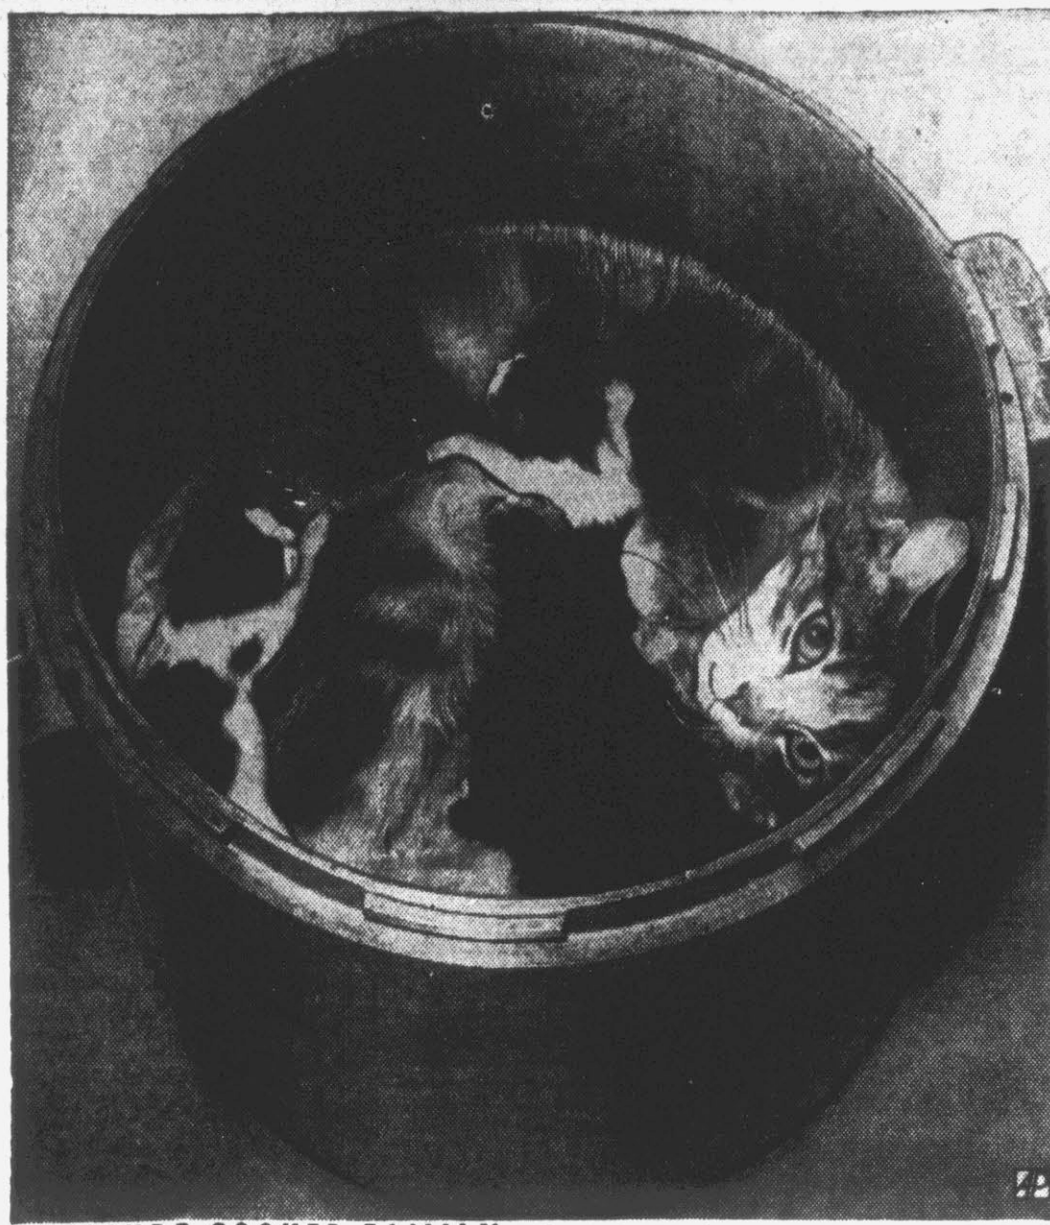

The prison tests, Dr. Imboden reported, indicate that both chloroquine and chloroquine are better suppressants than atabrine. Also, both are useful in bringing acute cases of malaria to a quick end.

Pentamidine, taken with quinine for fourteen days, will stop malaria and prevent relapse in 90 per cent of the patients, the doctor said.

Mississippians May Settle Demo Rift Issue At Polls

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 16—(AP)—Mississippians may settle at the polls the State's Rights-Trumanite dispute.

Gov. Fielding Wright said last night he wanted to show the national party which of the two factions is the Democratic party in his state.

The test will come in an election of Executive Committee members.

Gov. Wright said he would call a special legislative session to provide legislation authorizing the new election.

The governor set no date for the session, but said it would be held at the earliest possible time.

His action came after a dispute over whether the state's National Committee members would be invited to a meeting called by the Democratic party for August 24.

The national committee has not invited the two Mississippians elected by the State Democratic convention, which supported the States' Rights candidates in the presidential election last year. Instead the national group favors two leaders of the pro-Truman faction.

In the general election, the States' Rights got 167,738 votes to 18,948 for Truman.

Wright touched off the southern revolt in his inaugural address. Other southerners supported him and nominated the Mississippi as a running mate for States' Rights presidential nominee Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

But at a luncheon yesterday Lionel Barrymore could think of nothing more to say than:

Rotarians Hear Guest Speaker

By WYATT BROWN

"If we will give ourselves to carrying out the ideals of Rotary, we will catch the vision and then there will be no turning back," challenged immediate-past district governor of the 189th District Rotary International Sherwood Roberson of Robersonville last night in his address to the local Rotary Club on his version of Vocational Service.

He insisted that it becomes a practical idea when applied in one's own personal sphere of activity.

In some informal remarks preceding his address Mr. Roberson, who belongs to the Robersonville Rotary Club that was organized through the efforts of the Greenville club—mainly J. B. Kittrell—said as an off-spring of the Greenville club he wanted to first say, "Hello, pop!"

The Rotary ideal of service above self he urged would be found a practical asset in business life. He warned that a successful business man must not think it was a stroke of genius but consider the part played by the employees and clientele. At this point he advised fair deal for labor by Rotarians who have made themselves well informed. He declared it would be fascinating to go into such a venture.

In answer to the three questions, Can we avoid a third world war, avoid economic collapse, replace class hatred with a cooperative spirit?, he cited Rotary ideals applied on the local level coming to an international head in the Rotary International leaders.

At this point in his address he cited the record of Christ and his handful of followers who had the courage to carry out an ideal. "We have the chance if we have the courage," he exhorted, "to serve our day and generation the best we can. This is a time for greatness and not weakness; a time for vision while the world shrinks with premonitions of disaster."

Visiting Rotarians last night were Marvin Everette of Robersonville, Dr. Grady Dixon of Ayden and Dr. John Mewborn of Farmville. Guests of the club were Dr. Hall Hargrove and James Pope of Raleigh. Vice-President L. M. (Buck) Buchanan presided. Johnnie Overton presented the program and introduced the speaker.

Strength FOR THE DAY

COST OF HAPPINESS
Two men who had not seen each other since school days met some months ago in a New York office. One had been a Y.M.C.A. worker most of his life, and the other had made a considerable fortune in manufacturing.

Said the rich man to his friend of modest means: "How have the years treated you, Bill?" "Oh, first rate," replied the Y.M.C.A. worker, "only of course I haven't made the money you have." "I'd trade places with you any day. My life has been spent among the most miserably unhappy group you would find anywhere. They have wealth but they have nothing else, and most of them are drinking themselves stupid trying to forget how unhappy they are."

The possession of money is very pleasant, provided one does not have to sacrifice anything to get it—that is, anything really important. Almost everyone who has become rich through his own efforts has had to sacrifice considerable comfort in order to be successful, but those people who are successful to give up wholesome friendships, the respect and love of their children, and the happiness of a well-ordered home life in order to be rich, have certainly got the worst of a bad bargain.

Happiness comes not from what we possess but from what possesses us.

HE'S GOING DEEP TO A NEW FRONTIER

A scientist plans to descend a mile into the depths of the ocean, and the imagination of millions is stirred.

Now a mile isn't so far as we measure distances; but when it's measured perpendicularly, that mile gains added significance.

Though man has flown higher, a mile above the earth is still considered high; a mile into the ocean depths or into the bowels of the earth is more difficult to attain and more of a feat.

It is remarkable that though man is "master of the earth," his natural domain is limited to a thin layer measuring perhaps four or five miles. When he ventures outside these barriers, he is crossing a new frontier.

Frontiers are still exciting to the average man... they hold a lure and a promise of strange things. And despite his occasional display of callousness, Mr. Average Man is a romanticist under the skin.

Progress is marked by the finding and crossing of frontiers. Man's imagination and curiosity drives him further along the road to his goal of true mastery of his environment. That will be quite an accomplishment when you consider that though mankind has been around for several thousand years, there are still groups who have only begun to emerge from their Stone Age, and millions more live in a barbaric society.

The depths of the mysterious oceans contain sights, and presumably creatures, never beheld by the eyes of man. Professor Otis Barton's descent is to be made in the name of Science, but even the most coldly objective mind could not fail to be thrilled by the prospect of invading a hitherto forbidden place of the earth.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—Life has been a breezy round of gayety since "Little Blowhard" came to our house to stay.

The neighbors drop in unexpectedly. Lost friends from bygone years look us up and stay for an enchanted evening.

Yes, sir, the world has been making a beaten path to our doorway, it's all because of "Little Blowhard." He's boomed our social standing so high I don't see how the blue book can leave us out another year—unless its editors are overlooking us for pure spite.

"Little Blowhard" is an air-conditioning unit. He specializes in making the good old summertime feel as good as the good old wintertime. He throws heat out the window as fast as he finds it; just loves to re-weather the weather.

For years Frances has been threatening to get one of these gadgets. And I've fought against it—on religious as well as financial grounds.

"If the Lord meant Manhattan to be cool in the summer," I objected, "He would float an iceberg up the East River and blow a wind across it to make everyone comfortable."

"Don't talk nonsense on your days off from work," said Frances. "Electricity comes from Heaven, and they've figured out a way to use electricity to make a room cool. And, furthermore, the Lord helps those who help themselves."

From there the conversation drifted on to more important topics, like why hadn't I bought her an engagement ring 12 years ago and when, if ever, did I plan to get it? Soon there was a nice cool two-way breeze going.

Well, I forgot all about the matter until the other day I came home and opened the bedroom door. I glanced at the window—and it looked like the radiator of a speeding car was chugging into the room.

Instinctively I hit the floor. Just then Frances came in and said: "What are you doing, Rover Boy, looking for termites?"

"Duck—or it'll hit you," I said, pointing at the window.

"Don't be a goose—that's our new air-conditioning unit," announced Frances. "Isn't it a nice surprise?"

I tried to tell her that it was foolish to buy a wind machine so late.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Book larin' is a funny thing. You go to school for years to get it and then cast some of the information aside soon afterwards. Today I have in mind the study of English grammar. After four years of college a graduate would be labeled as an A-one pill if he came home and never made a grammatical error.

Now that's a strong statement, particularly considering the fact that Greenville has more than its share of English teachers to attack it. So I'd better back it up good fashioned. Is the use of "good fashioned" correct? Probably not, but it supposedly hits the nail on the head.

One grammatical rule that cramps the everyday talker is the one that forbids your using a preposition to end a sentence. Correct example: "He chose the biggest bat with which to hit the ball." Who can deny that it's easier and sounds better to say, since the worst of the summer was over. But it is no use arguing with wives or the weather. For the next five days a heat wave gripped the town.

"See?" Said Frances, every time the thermometer rose. And all it did was rise.

"Little Blowhard" puffed and puffed like a polar bear choking on an ice cube. Three mornings in a row I waked up with icicles between my toes. Then Frances found that by turning a few knobs the little monster could be calmed down.

Our guests love him. They come at dusk and most of them leave before daybreak. They like to tease "Little Blowhard." They blow cigarette smoke in his side, and he whooshes it out his front radiator in a filtered haze.

"I'm not running him down," said one guest, "but I know an air-conditioner up in the Bronx can blow smoke rings off coals, he's a year older than your little Blowhard."

I've had a little trouble with another guest who wants to pour ice water and soap powder in "little blowhard's" side. Wants to see if he can manufacture snowflakes. But darned if I'm going to turn my bedroom into a ski slope for anybody.

"He chose the biggest bat to hit the ball with." "With which?" this and "with which" that is for the birds. We should be allowed to end a sentence with anything we want to end it "with."

And there's that rule about not splitting an infinitive. "To emphatically declare" is incorrect; we should say "to declare emphatically." Let's choose up and split hairs.

But there is a rule that makes for better-sounding speech, and that is using a possessive before a grand. Example: "I talked to him about you going to the game" is correctly said, "I talked to him about your going to the game." Likewise, "We were all concerned about Willie's getting a hit last night in the bottom half of the ninth."

Probably the most frequently made grammatical error we make is the use of a double negative, which makes a positive. "Nobody didn't notice that the runner was safe," means that if nobody didn't notice it, somebody did.

A person with a strong desire to speak correctly usually is careful to put the "ly" on adverbs. For example, "come quickly," instead of "come quick." Many of these eager-beavers stretch the effort too far by saying, "Don't feel badly." This is one exception to the "ly" on the adverb rule. If a person feels badly his sense of touch is ailing and he needs to have it fixed. If he feels bad his over-all physical condition needs aid.

Now I'm not trying to prove that we should get out of our way to make a grammatical error, but at times it pays off in increased emphasis. For the one error that we should be allowed to make most, I nominate "ain't got no." That's expressive. However, "ain't got narn" is taking it a little too far. It's just a matter of determining how far to go.

Another descriptive error is "get shed of," in place of the conventional "get rid of." You must admit that your departure with anything sounds more permanent if you get the shed of it. And if you are courting "right study" there's more going on than if you court constantly, or even right steady.

It's just a matter of knowing how far to go; who knows? And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

BREAK—Resignation of Tom Alexander as a member of the board of conservation and development came as a surprise to most Capitol observers and was greeted with general expressions of regret. Alexander was the only member of the board identified with the tourist industry, and is also a highly trained and experienced forester. Furthermore, he was one of Governor Scott's recent appointees, replacing another man from the same area who was not regarded as suitable to help carry on the Scott Government's program. Resignations from the board had been anticipated, but they were expected from carry-overs from previous administrations. Alexander's action constitutes a significant break in the inner circle of the governor's official family.

DISCOURAGED—In his letter of resignation the mountain man (operates a big dude ranch at Catta-loochee) told the governor he had accepted the appointment reluctantly, but in the hope his knowledge of forestry and his interest in tourist trade might be of service to the state. He became discouraged when he was convinced that political influence rather than personal ability or public service were controlling decisions affecting state policy, so he asked that his resignation be accepted at earliest convenient date.

CUTE—Here's a cute little story which will not be found in state records, but is supported by them. For months the Carolina Central Telephone Company has been under fire by communities served and the utilities commission about the inadequacy of service rendered several communities, including Waxhaw—a small town on the state line in Union county. Unable to modernize the exchange, Central has been trying to sell it or give it away. It was offered virtually as a free gift to L. P. Spoon of Charlotte, operator of several small town exchanges.

PREMIUM—Spoon went down to look the situation over, decided he could do something with it. And the "it" is the story. He would accept the exchange as a gift from Central if the community would give him $5,000 to take it! The Waxhaw folks want and desperately need better telephone service, but they don't want it that bad.

PROBLEM—This little story illustrates the very acute problem involved in small town and rural telephone service. The threat of canceling franchise does not frighten most of the companies, for nothing would please them better than to get out from under the obligations involved. It is of record that the utilities commission did cancel the franchise of Central at Summerfield—only to find that nobody else could be found to render even an adequate service. The community and the commission asked the company to carry on until something can be worked out.

OO-OOPS—Several communities, including Waxhaw, have made inquiries about co-operative telephone systems in connection with the rural electrification administration. That will be necessarily slow and in many instances very expensive. Employment of a full-time telephone engineer by the utilities commission and greater interest manifested by REA may speed up procedure. A bonus of a premium of $5,000 in addition to high service charges doesn't provide a satisfactory answer.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—The nation's capital is earning its reputation, this summer at least, as the country's top host to a combination of heat and humidity that some even averting will wilt the Washington Monument. For some citizens this record sweltering is merely the other fellow's griping. They are the folks who can leave town—or who live in air-conditioned apartments and hotels, have yachts and private swimming pools.

There is also little or no brooding on the part of most foreign diplomats assigned to Washington. Most of the embassies are at least partially air-conditioned. In addition there are about a dozen or more country clubs edging the city, offering the illusion of a resort vacation within a few miles of steaming downtown Washington. Some of these, like the Chevy Chase Country Club are ultra-ultra and cater to a chosen few, but some are open to all who own land within a given area.

One of the biggest of these is the Congressional Country Club. Its first President, back in 1924, was former President Herbert Hoover then Secretary of Commerce. But what about the average work-which reached a record high of 348 billion last year, is not expected to be affected by the new taxes and rate raises.

er in the nation's bee-hive? As? In some are luckier than others. The Capitol, the Senate and House of Representatives buildings are all air-cooled.

The White House is air-conditioned throughout. So are numerous others, including the new State Department building, the Pentagon, Labor Department, ECA, Federal Security, Justice Department and the Supreme Court.

Some time ago the White House got out a "heat policy." This provides dismissal of federal employees from extremely hot buildings, or portions of buildings, when temperature and humidity combine to make "conditions of extreme discomfort." A chart is provided to give supervisors a cue as to when "conditions of extreme discomfort" are obtained:

"Ninety degrees of temperature and 70 per cent humidity; 91 degrees and 66 per cent; 92 and 63; 94 and 55; 95 and 50; 96 and 46; 97 and 40; 98 and 38; 99 and 34, and finally 100 degrees and 30 per cent humidity."

TB Said Menace For Singapore

Singapore—(AP)—The director of the Singapore Anti-Tuberculosis Association Clinic says this crown colony has the highest rate of active, positive tuberculosis of any city in the world.

Dr. G. H. Garlick described the city as "heavily saturated with the disease." He said his association puts the incidence of the ailment at 18 per cent with the dangerous age between 13 and 18 years.

Highway Commission To Begin Bond Road Program In Autumn

Raleigh—Governor Scott's ten new highway commissioners will launch the first phase of their $200,000,000 road improvement program this fall.

Barely three months after the successful June 1 bond referendum the state's new roadbuilders expect to begin announcing which roads get first priority under the expanded program. By late September they hope to release full details about the first batch of bond money roads.

That doesn't mean the roads will get paved immediately, but work will start on some this fall and on many others next winter and spring.

Planning these road projects has been a full-time job for the commissioners since their appointment last May 1.

During the summer months they have been poring over highway plans with their engineering staffs, holding public meetings with county commissioners and hearing about road problems from an increasing number of citizens delegations.

Some commissioners have been personally riding over every road earmarked for hard-surfacing. Others have asked commissioners and citizens' groups to assist in recommending roads for improvement.

All this is new experience for the Governor's roadbuilders. None of the vice commissioners had much knowledge about highway construction matters before joining the commission. Only one man—Highway Chairman Henry W. Jordan of Cedar Falls—was a hold-over from the Cherry administration. Dairyman George Coble of Lexington had three months head start on his colleagues. He joined the commission Feb. 1.

The others began with a clean slate—and a reshuffling of division engineers July 1 made it a new start all around.

The new commissioners got a quick start on their planning program. In June they voted to request issuance of $50,000,000 of the $200,000,000 in bond money. In July they decided to buy $5,000,000 worth of road construction and maintenance equipment. This month they directed their engineering staffs to speed up work on all regular construction projects waiting to be let to contract.

Governor Scott's road program calls for the hard-surfacing of 12,000 miles of secondary roads and stabilization of another 35,000 miles. In some cases commissioners will concentrate on stabilization before construction. Some feel that keeping dirt roads well maintained during the coming winter should outrank the black topping program. Letters have been sent to county school superintendents requesting advice about school bus routes needing first attention during bad weather.

This is another fine example of doing things the American way, and it's a program that the people of North Carolina and the beer industry, too, will encourage and support.

Gunmen's Trail Getting Colder

Salem Crossroads, S. C., Aug. 16 (AP)—The trail of two gunmen who held up a general store here Saturday night and escaped with $41,500 grew cold again today.

Officers investigating the reported robbery of Wash Ladd's general store questioned a man and a woman in North Carolina yesterday. But the questioning apparently produced no clues.

An unidentified woman in Charlotte and a soldier at Fort Bragg were those questioned. The soldier was held for South Carolina officers but he was released when the robbery victim failed to identify him as one of the holdup pair.

Ladd, operator of the general store at this tiny hamlet northwest of Columbia in Fairfield County, told officers two armed men snatched the money from a tin box beneath his bed. Both men had pistols and one held the storekeeper's mouth and eyes, Ladd reported.

Liquor Trouble Grows In India

Madras, India—(AP)—Prohibition offences are increasing in Madras India's most completely dry province. In July, there were 5,581 offences in all 25 districts of the province. Nearly half of these were cases of illicit distilling of spirits.

The French-Indian settlements adjoining the Madras province are "convenient bases" for liquor smuggling, government reports said. Bottles of liquor are being brought into Indian territory concealed in tea chests.

The government blamed public apathy for the increase in prohibition offences. It said that when prohibition police raided a "suspicious" village in Kurnool district. They were received with a barrage of stones. Even the village prohibition committee failed to cooperate in the detection of offences.

A member of the provincial legislature, the Yuvaraja of Pithapuram has given notice of resolution advising the government to drop prohibition in the province which he says is unsuccessful, and results in the loss of a third of the provincial revenue.

Greenies 'Walk' To 5-4 Win Against Kinston Eagles

Timely Hits And Brilliant Pitching Marks Big Game

Locals Come From Behind Twice To Defeat Third Place Rivals With Big Ninth Frame

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy Williams Greenies raked up their fourth consecutive win last night by edging the Kinston Eagles, 5 to 4 in a contest played at Guy Smith Stadium. The game was a thrill from beginning to end and featured tight hurling on both sides.

The Greenies spotted the Eagles two runs in the first frame and one in the fourth to give them a 3 to 0 advantage, but the Greenies came back in their half of the fourth frame to knot the count at three-all.

In the first, walks to Hollis and Romankowski, a sacrifice by Hedrick and a line single into left field by Harry Soufas, sent the Eagles out front with two runs. They scored in the fourth on three walks, sacrifice, error and a double steal.

The locals came back in their half of the fourth to knot the count at 3 to 3 by pushing across three markers. Willie Mauney reached first on Collin's error at short. Varney singled, Valle was walked to load the bases, and then Junior Yohn came through with a timely single to bring home Mauney and Varney with Valle taking third. Then Paul Strausser hit a fly to deep center field with Valle scoring on the out.

Both teams remained scoreless until the ninth when the Kinston Eagles again went out in front by 4 to 3. Manager Steve Collins led off with a double into left field. Boehmer, pinch-hitting for Voiselle was safe on a fielder's choice, and then Neb Hollis flew out to deep right field with Collins racing home from third.

The Greenies, in their half of the ninth, staged a two-run rally to give them the ball game. Valle walked, Mustian, pinch-hitting for Yohn struck out; Paul Strausser was walked. Hubert Smith forced Strausser at second with Valle taking third on the out. John Tepedino then came through with his only hit of the evening to bring in Valle for the tying run. Manager Pappy Williams was walked loading the bases. Then the Eagles removed Jim Wallace from the mound and Vincent Jones walked Mauney to force in Smith for what proved the winning run.

Bobby Harrison started on the ground for the Greenies but was relieved in the second frame with two men on base after yielding two runs and two hits in the one inning which he worked. Junior Yohn came to his rescue at this point and pitched three-hit ball the rest of the way striking out five and walking three to gain credit for his 13th win of the season. He has suffered only five defeats so far this season. Ray Rosenwinkle with two singles led the five hit attack off Harrison and Yohn.

The Eagles used three hurlers in last night's contest who gave up only

Have you any finger nails this morning? That was certainly a real thriller last night and was well worth waiting for to win. It was anybody's ball game until the final out and was one of the prettiest games played here all season.

The win was Greenville's sixth win over the Eagles as against 11 reverses. It was Junior Yohn's 13th win of the season and his first over Kinston. Manager Steve Collins of the Eagles was almost disrobed by Paul Strausser in the third frame last night when Paul stole second base after that Steve stayed away from the second sack when the Greenies headed that way.

Two beautiful double plays were executed by the Greenies last night and figured very prominently in the defeat handed the Eagles. The win moved the third place Eagles and a win over in Kinston tonight will put them in a tie for the third place spot in CPL standings.

Charlie Nordmeyer, with a record of one win and two losses since his stay with the Greenies, has been given his outright release by the local club. Charlie says that he plans to return to his home within the next day or so.

Big Jake Daniel, sold by the Bears to the Burlington Bees of the Class B Carolina League, has rejoined the New Bern club. Daniel has been in a hitting slump since joining the Bees. His return to the Bears will probably send Pete King to the pitching staff or the outfield.

Wilson has two new ball players. One is Ralph Bernadini, former Rocky Mount and Goldsboro catcher and the other player is Hubert Clark, a rookie outfielder, who has been playing with Franklin, Va., of the Class "D" Virginia League.

Mel Parnell, lefthander of the Red Sox, equaled his 1948 record of 15 wins on July 31 when he defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 3. He has lost six, two fewer than he dropped during the entire 1948 season.

Tommy kept the club rolling along while Joe DiMaggio was sidelined.

One hears a lot about the Spartan courage of the old Baltimore Orioles in contrast to the pampered big league baseball player of today. It may be true that some of the current baseball stars are "babied" but there are a fair share in action right now who could fit into the picture with the most rugged of the Orioles. Take Tommy Henry, for example.

The Yankees' "Old Reliable" has been battered and bruised all season long. He's been playing with torn ribs, twisted knee and now a broken toe! Tommy cracked his big toe in batting practice and was ordered to the sidelines for at least a week by the Yankees' physician, Dr. Sydney Gaynor. Casey Stengel was reconciled to the bad break and was ready to install Billy Johnson at first base the following day.

Palmer's Iron Nerve Wins Big Victory And Future Is Bright

Chicago, Aug. 16—(AP)—Let it be warning to top money-winner Sammy Snead, up-and-coming Johnny Palmer may be golf's greatest man of concentration since Ben Hogan and Bryon Nelson left the circuit.

That's why Palmer yesterday walked off with golf's biggest single victory, the $10,000 nugget in Tam O'Shanter's "world" meet.

Johnny's 68 to 70 playoff triumph over resplendent Jimmy Demaret hoisted him to third spot in the cash-collecting ranks with $23,512. Snead, who finished third in the "world," has $30,893, and National open champion Cary Middlecoff has $24,604.

Perhaps owing some of his ability to bear down in the pinches to his meditation while a waist gunner on 32 bombing raids over Japan, Palmer fashioned his "world" triumph on an iron-nerved approach game. It was his biggest win since taking the 1947 western open.

He was in trouble against Demaret on six holes yet lost par on only one. Four times he saved pars and he came through with a birdie which saved his day on the 17th. It was a 130-yard shot from under a tree to within four feet and he sank the putt. That broke Demaret's back, leaving him two taps back facing the final green.

George Schnetter, the PGA's tournament manager who has seen Palmer over good, bad and indifferent courses, observed that Palmer's concentration may be even more complete than that of Hogan, who was a 135-pound hunk of ice in action.

"Ben used to get upset once in a while, but Palmer insulates himself against galleries, cameras and everything except his game," commented Schnetter.

And yesterday Johnny steeled himself against one more distraction—hole-by-hole betting offers of Tam promoter George S. May. Jovial Demaret accepted May's friendly, lopsided bets. But not Palmer. It's possible he didn't even hear May, but more likely he simply ignored him.

That's not to call Palmer a blue nose. He's one of the most natural, popular and easy-to-meet guys in the business. But his business is golf, and his associates say business definitely is going to get better for the 31-year-old former textile mill hand and caddy from Badin, N. C.

Prizetels were first made by a monk in Southern France in 610 A. D.

GHS Grid Drills To Open Monday

The High School Gridders will start workouts Wednesday morning at Third St. Park at 10:00 a.m. Workouts will be held each morning only for the remainder of the week. Beginning next week the work will be stepped up to two practices a day.

A great deal of rebuilding will have to be done before Sept. 16, when the opening game of the season will be played with the Edenton Aces who finished in second place last year in the Northeastern Conference. Only one back and two linemen will be back from last year's starting team and the success of this year's eleven will depend mostly on how well the Jayvees of last year come along.

All home games of the Phantoms will be played on the new College Field, which should make the games more attractive. Plenty of good seats and the accessibility of the field should make for a more comfortable and larger crowd.

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 9

The house on Lilac Street, though still austere, was much less gloomy with a bright sun warming its gray stone front. Derris paid off her cab and ran up the front steps. Cherry lived here.

And Cherry, in red and black satin lounging pajamas, was waiting for her at the top of the stairs. "Morning, honey. I was hoping you'd be early. It's been ages since you were over."

Derris followed her into the large room overlooking the street. "Don't forget I'm a working girl," she glanced around the room before sitting down. "When are you going to move out of this joint, Cherry? It depresses me."

Cherry shrugged her shoulders. "That's up to Dave; why don't you ask him?"

Derris did not miss the rebuff in Cherry's voice. To change the subject, she opened her briefcase and took out the completed sketches. "See what you think of these," she asked.

"They're swell, darling. You can go ahead with the dresses any time," Derris watched her covertly. She was accustomed to the other's fickle likes and dislikes, but something about Cherry's manner puzzled her. "Didn't you say you wanted to show me the new bar? The idea is grand, but I still think it's a shame to waste it on this place."

Cherry couldn't help laughing. "You realize, of course, you're the only one who can get away with a remark like that. After all, if I'm going to live here, I can at least try to make it more modern."

"It may be a swell hobby, though a bit too expensive for me. But then, I'm not the most popular singer in town."

"You are polite, the perfect guest," Cherry's eyes sparkled. "Throwing compliments around for free—or did you really mean that?"

"Cherry, that's one thing I've never fooled about. You've got a swell voice, and what's more, the dramatic technique to put it over. It's not so much the way you sing as the staging you do for effect."

Cherry shrugged, although she was pleased. "Wait till you see the new number Dave and I have been working on—the one I want one of the new dresses for."

"Which reminds me," Derris interrupted her. "I came here for profit as well as pleasure, and lady, are you going to pay?"

"I always seem to come into the picture when there's a question of paying for something," David Holway entered the room.

"Nice of you to finally get around to visiting us," he remarked, "although I can't say it's much of a compliment when the only thing that brings you over is to sell Cherry a dress."

"Dave, come and see this simply gorgeous thing Derris's designed for my Moon and Stars number," Cherry interrupted.

"It can't be as hopeless as all that," David's voice echoed. "It must be old age," Derris laughed.

"I think the poor girl needs a drink," Cherry said, as she got up and led the way.

Holway stepped behind the bar. "What'll you have? It's on the house."

The sudden jangle of the front door bell startled Derris. Cherry noticed it and laughed.

"That thing makes me jump, too, every time I hear it, and I live here. It doesn't matter what part"

One-Eyed Cars Face Crackdown By State Patrol

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 16.—(AP)—A crackdown on cars with only one headlight working has been ordered by Highway Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar.

Beginning the first of next month, Tolar said yesterday, the patrol will issue equipment tickets to every one-eyed car encountered.

When a driver receives a ticket, he will be given 48 hours to get the lighting defect repaired. The ticket, together with the signature of the garage man or service station operator making the repair, must be mailed to the highway patrolman who issued it.

Tolar said if the motorist does not comply with the 48 hour period, warrants will be issued.

Atlanta Author Holding Her Own

Atlanta, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Margaret Mitchell, famed author of "Gone With The Wind," was reported holding her own today after a serious relapse.

The 48-year-old Pulitzer prize winner was unconscious, and a physician at Grady Memorial Hospital described her condition as "extremely critical."

She received a fractured skull, a fractured pelvis, and possible internal injuries when she was struck down by a motor car Thursday night.

About six and a half billion glasses of iced tea are consumed in this country every year.

GETS NEW POST —
 Rear Admiral Felix L. Johnson (above), of Leonardtown, Md., former director of naval public information, will be new director of naval intelligence, succeeding Rear Admiral Thomas B. Inglis, Houghton Lake, Mich.

Taylor Hospital Announces

The Opening On
SEPTEMBER 1, 1949 OF A TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TRAINING PRACTICAL NURSES

The course of instruction will cover a period of one year, after which the graduates may go into practical nursing, or continue in hospital work at excellent pay. The student nurses will be furnished full maintenance, which consists of room and board, laundry, text books and uniforms. They will also be given a small allowance for incidental expenses. Young ladies, between the ages of 17 and 28 years are eligible to enter this school. The educational requirements are at least two years high school work.

Those interested should contact Mrs. Elizabeth McNeill, director of nurses, at Taylor Hospital, Washington, N. C., as soon as possible.

Czechs 'Thank Stalin' For Gift Of German Plant

Prague.—(AP)—A hammer-and-sickle toting beauty queen was elected during the "Radio Dny Stalinovcu (Joyous Days of the Stalinites)" held at the Big Stalin synthetic petroleum plant in northwestern Bohemia.

The "Joyous Days of the Stalinites" were held on the fourth anniversary of the handing over of the Stalin plant to the Czechs by the Red army. The plant was built by the Germans during the occupation of Czechoslovakia. Therefore, technically, it constituted Russian war booty.

However, it was given to the Czechs as a gift by special order of Stalin. Henceforth, every year the Communist - controlled Czech government holds a "thank you" festival. However, the Czechs are having a hard time putting the plant on a paying basis. The Germans built it to produce synthetic gasoline at any price. After the war, equipment for the production of subsidiary petroleum products had to be installed at great cost.

Costly Wedding Rites Deplored

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya.—(AP)—The Malay mothers-in-law are to blame. So insists modern-thinking Malays who are trying to break down the conservative tradition that brings bankruptcy to a family when one of the children gets married. The Malay wedding, even in the most impoverished kampongs (settlements) of Malaya, cost upwards of $2,750. And it's the hidebound mother-in-law who demands that tradition be upheld even if it cripples family finances to the extent that houses have to be mortgaged says the Penang branch of the United Malay National Organization.

Deeds Federal Land To State

Washington, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Krug decided $4,168 acres of federal land to North Carolina today for use in wildlife conservation.

Rep. Deane (D-NC) accepted the deed at a ceremony in Krug's office.

The land is in Richmond, Scotland and Moore counties in the fashionable Pinehurst-Southern Pines area. The property includes 11 lakes totaling 2377 acres. The transfer was authorized by Congress two years ago.

Daytona Beach Chill Is Delayed

Daytona Beach, Fla.—(AP)—Old-timers expecting the ocean to turn cold early in August seem to be in for disappointment.

Nearly every year, Lifeguard Captain Don Kirkwood says, the temperature drops in August if south-west winds blow. They blow the warm surface water toward the Gulf Stream, allowing sub-surface cold to rise.

The change occurs only where the beach is white and wide and is not noticed at any other beach in the south, Kirkwood says. The water is still warm, however, with little likelihood of change.

The Tea Bureau reports that two-thirds of all Americans 15 years old and over drink iced tea in the summer.

House Refuses Stop-Gap Bill

Washington, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The House refused today to pass another "stopgap" appropriations bill.

This left the armed services and several other government departments without funds to operate after midnight tonight.

The House voted 176 to 145 for the "stopgap" appropriation to finance the departments until their regular appropriations. Under the procedure used, however, a two-thirds majority was required for passage.

Monday's Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court yesterday, Judge J.W.H. Roberts tried seven defendants on charges of driving motor vehicles without operator's licenses. The court fined five of them $25 and costs. The costs total about $15 in each case, raising the sum paid to $40 by each of the five defendants.

Those convicted are William N. Boyd, Oscar Moya, colored, Ben E. Fleming, Melvin A. Humbles and Hubert E. Jones.

A. G. Kruske was not guilty. The court continued prayer for judgment in the case of Frank O. Brannen.

M. D. Yelverton was not guilty of reckless driving and hit-run. Driving drunk; John V. Lewis six months in jail, suspended on payment of $100 and costs and his operator's license was ordered revoked for a year. James A. Taylor received a similar sentence.

Larry J. Pierce, convicted of driving drunk, was given six months in jail or pay $100 fine and costs, and his license was ordered revoked.

Humber Attends Europe Council

By CHESTER WALSH

Robert Lee Humber, founder of the World Federation of Nations Plan before World War II started, now sojourning in Europe on an important mission in connection with the World Federation Plan, wrote interestingly in a letter from Strasbourg, in Alsace, France, August 10. Humber's letter follows:

"Today I attended the opening session of the European Council—a dream of European statesmen for four centuries.

"The purpose of the council is to debate the social, economic and political problems of Europe and to settle them in an atmosphere of friendship. Among the notable figures present were Churchill, Bevin, Schuman and Spaak—builders of the 'New Europe.'

"There is a growing conviction among the people of the European continent that the nation-state is no longer capable of settling world problems, alone—that the values involved are too tremendous for any one geographical region to defend—and that a world state is indispensable if the individual is to enjoy the years to come in freedom, prosperity and peace.

"Economic conditions in Europe are improving on the continent. Production in France, Belgium and other countries now exceed the pre-war levels. The moral stamina of the people is sound. They not only are willing to work, but they have faith in themselves and their future—an omen of great significance for this generation's tomorrow!"

Humber in his letter to the Daily Reflector, sent greetings to friends and acquaintances and others in the states.

Because of the importance of the meet, all members were asked to attend.

U.S. Ambassador Calls On Stalin

Moscow, Aug. 16—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk said today his meeting with Prime Minister Stalin in the Kremlin last night was a "courteous pleasant visit."

The conversation lasted about 45 minutes. Kirk said he had requested the interview with Stalin and described his visit as a "courtesy call" according to Protocol. It was the first time the 61-year-old American envoy had met the Soviet leader. Kirk, a retired Admiral who succeeded Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as Ambassador to Moscow, arrived in the Soviet capital in June.

LEGION MEETING

The local American Legion post will meet tonight at seven thirty in the Legion home.

West German . . .

this, of course, is that Germany should be considered at all for such a position, as well as a place in the Marshall plan, in view of her transgressions.

In any event, the new German government will represent the voice of the people to an extent never before known in the Reich. As the signs read the days of autocracy and dictatorship in Germany are gone. Prussianism, which was so heavily responsible for past aggression, has suffered a death blow.

Democracy would seem to be arriving in Germany.

Retiring . . .

and that must do something that's not good.

(Sure, I know there are plenty of retired people who still lead a full life. I'm talking about all those that suddenly feel the rug of life pulled out from under them.)

But between the young people and the really old and retired there is a growing army of aging people, no longer young, not yet really old.

And, because in American society there's been so much emphasis on speed and hard work, aging people have been looked upon in business as something less than necessary.

It must be an awful thing to be aging and out of work and know that the eyes which look across an employment office table at you are thinking: "Can he stand up under this job I might offer him, of just where will he fit in?"

Maybe something the Loyal Order of Moose is trying to do will find an answer to some of these things. It's setting up a laboratory at Moosehaven Park, Fla.

A professor of psychology has been hired. He'll have a staff. They'll try to find answers to the problem of how to use elderly people in American life.

Meet Tonight

Members of the "Farmers' Day celebration committee are requested to meet with Steering Committee Chairman Van C. Fleming, Jr., at the Chamber of Commerce offices tonight at 8 o'clock.

The meeting is important and various committee chairmen are expected to make definite reports tonight.

U. S. Senator Frank Graham will be the speaker "Farmers' Day."

Hog Market

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices much weaker. Tops of $19 at Goldsboro, Wilson, Greenville, Washington; $19.25 at Tarboro, Kinston and Rocky Mount; Richmond weaker at $20.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 26; eggs steady, a large 50.

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 16—(AP)—Weakness in wheat, especially the September delivery, cramped the advance of feed grains at today's board of trade session. Off and on, during the session selling in the nearby wheat delivery depressed other grains, but corn exhibited considerable independent strength. At times September corn was up around a cent, the result of some commercial buying and short covering.

At the finish wheat was 1 1/4 to 2 cents lower than yesterday's close, September $1.98 1/4-1/2. Corn was 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, September $1.19 1/4-1/2. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 lower, September 64 1/2. Rye was 3 to 5 cents lower, September $1.41. Soybeans were 1/4 to 2 cents lower, November $2.36 1/4-3/8. Lard was 10

Governor Denies 'Politics' Tale

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 16—(AP)—Governor Scott today denied charges that politics would be involved in contract.

"The man who can give the best service should get it," the Governor said at his news conference.

The Governor was questioned about charges made by Thomas W. Alexander of Waynesville, who resigned yesterday as a member of the state board of conservation and development.

Strong Demand, Higher Prices

Valdosta, Ga., Aug. 16—(AP)—Stronger demand and higher prices marked trading yesterday on the Georgia-Florida flue cured tobacco market.

Price advances over Friday's figures ranged from $1 to $4 a hundred pounds on leaf and smoking leaf grades.

Cutters were firm to higher and other grades generally held steady.

Adel and Hazelhurst held their final sales of the season, making six markets now closed.
