

Yugoslavia Gets Promise Of Steel Mill; Loan Likely

Developments Strengthen Hand Of Dictator Tito In Fight With Moscow

By the Associated Press
Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia received assurance from the United States today that he can buy an American steel mill. His regime also may receive a loan from the World Bank.

Both developments would serve to strengthen Tito's hand in his dispute with the Moscow-directed Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform).
That dispute has been going on for nearly 14 months and is getting warmer now. Czechoslovakia's Communists, who are in good standing with the Cominform, have launched a big-scale propaganda campaign urging the Yugoslav people to destroy Tito's government. The drive was featured by the passing of resolutions among workers in Czechoslovak factories and by proclamations issued by Yugoslav emigre groups resident in Czechoslovakia.

Tito's Communist government was ousted from the Cominform last year because of Nationalist deviations from what the Kremlin regards as orthodox communism. The other Communist governments of Eastern Europe have clamped an economic blockade on Yugoslavia, but Tito has shown no signs of giving in to Moscow.

After months of consideration, the United States government has granted Yugoslavia an export license which she needs before placing an order for an American steel mill.
The American decision represents the strongest move taken by Washington to help the Yugoslav dictator. Shipment of the steel mill, valued at $3,000,000, would mark the first time since the war that the United States has deliberately sent "war potential" material to a Communist-run nation.

The decision also foreshadowed possible approval of a loan to Yugoslavia from the World Bank, where the United States has a dominant voice.
A special commission of the bank arrived in Belgrade last night for an on-the-spot inquiry into Yugoslavia's loan request. There have been no official figures made public on how much Yugoslavia is seeking.

Children Picket City Officials

Pittsburgh, Aug. 18—(AP)—City officials leaving the city-county building for lunch today had to pass through a children's picket line.
The kids carried signs making it clear they wanted more playgrounds. About 50 children from densely populated Lawrenceville section were in the picket line. Some of the signs read: "We are the Dead-End Kids," and "Unfair Mayor and City Council to 3,000 kids of the tenth ward—no playground."

Judge To Hear Mill Arguments

Raleigh, Aug. 18—(AP)—Federal Judge Don Gilliam is scheduled to hear arguments today growing out of a Tarboro cotton mill strike.
The federal judge will decide whether an attempt by the Hart Cotton Mills to restrain strikers from mass picketing should be heard in federal or state courts.
The suit grew out of an attempt to reopen the mill on Aug. 1.

Move To Make Germany A Member Of Council Of Europe Gains Momentum; Reasons Why West Is Anxious To Include Germans In Their Parliament; No Haste
By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The move to make Germany an early member of the council of Europe—the new brotherhood of old world Democracies—is gaining remarkable momentum.
Winston Churchill yesterday advocated the addition of the defeated country to this 12-nation council which its sponsors hope will develop into a parliament comprising all the European Democracies.
Britain's famous war-time Prime Minister, who led his people in the life and death struggle against German aggression, was speaking before the consultative assembly of the council in the ancient French city of Strasbourg whose streets not so long ago echoed to the crash of Hitlerian hob-nailed boots.
Simultaneously in Washington American Secretary of State Dean Acheson expressed himself as favoring the acceptance of the New West German republic in the council for Europe. He said the United States believes this would be a constructive step in the integration of a peaceful, freedom loving Germany into the community of western Europe. At the same time the Secretary warned the western Germans against abusing the freedoms permitted them by the western occupation powers.
Why should the western Democracies be anxious to include in their new European parliament a Ger-

Truman Asks Public 'Suspend Judgment' On General Vaughan

President Truman today sharply critical of investigating committee leaks and raps tendency to stress evidence against aide.
Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—President Truman today asked the country to "suspend judgment" on Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan until after his Army aide testifies before the Senate five percent inquiry.
Mr. Truman, at a news conference, directed his request particularly to reporters and editors.
He was sharply critical of what he called leaks from the committee and what he described as a "tendency to build up the most critical testimony against Vaughan at closed hearings."

Mr. Truman made it clear at the outset that he did not intend to answer any questions concerning the inquiry.
Reporters thus were unable to ask him about a Republican demand that Mr. Truman fire Vaughan from the veterans affairs post.
Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) voiced the demand that Mr. Truman fire Vaughan from the veterans affairs post.

McCarthy added that as a Republican senator he does not feel he has the right to suggest that Vaughan be ousted from his other job as the President's Army aide.
The President read rapidly today from a prepared statement saying: "At the outset, I want to say to you that I do not intend to answer any questions pertaining to the testimony that has been given before Senator Hoyer's (D-N.C.) committee."
"General Vaughan has already said that he will go before the committee and make a full statement on all matters with which his name has been connected."

"I suggest, as the chairman of the committee has done, that you gentlemen and your editors, in common fairness, suspend judgment on General Vaughan until he has been heard by the committee."

Truman Implies His Backing Of Dixiecrat Ban

Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—President Truman gave implied backing today to a decision of the Democratic high command to bar some states' rights from next Wednesday's national committee meeting.
Mr. Truman was asked at a news conference whether he approved plans of retiring Chairman J. Howard McGrath to close the door against some committeemen who did not support the Truman campaign last year.

He replied the national committee is in control of its own membership. And he added, with a significant look at the newsmen, it is made up of Democrats.

Business Loans Volume Appears To Be Increasing

Trend Indicates Business Now Stocking Up For Future Heavy Selling

Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—Business loans appear definitely on the increase in volume. The gain is a sign that business men are stocking up on goods at last for fall and Christmas sales.

Finance officials here predicted today this uptrend will go on—with perhaps some interruptions—right on up to Christmas itself.
The rejuvenating effects on the economy of increased inventory buying can be judged by the fact that the commerce department singles out a cutback in that buying as the prime cause of the 1949 dip in business.

A federal reserve board report showing an $80,000,000 increase in loans to business men by leading city banks during the week ended August 10, mirrored a virtually country-wide improvement.
All districts shared in the expansion except the Cleveland district, where there was a $7,000,000 downturn, and Boston, where the loan volume was unchanged, officials reported.

The big gains were $38,000,000 in New York City and $20,000,000 in the Kansas City district. At New York, the loan increases extended to a wide variety of business fields, officials said.

With business men ordering more goods to sell in turn to their customers, factories can be expected to step up operations and in some cases recall workers laid off when orders thinned or stopped.

Leon Keyserling, of President Truman's council of economic advisers said only yesterday that the country will have to get back to and exceed 1948 production levels to be prosperous.

Declaring increased production is easy and that the No. 1 problem is to lift consumption to the levels of productive capacity, Keyserling told a war veterans' luncheon.

"In the next ten years we must find ways to absorb 80 to 100 billions of additional goods unless we are going to be faced perpetually with rising unemployment and increasing under-utilization of our productive resources."

Charlotte Chief Heads Firemen

Carolina Beach, N. C., Aug. 18—(AP)—Fire Chief Donald S. Charles of Charlotte headed the North Carolina firemen's association today as the organization prepared to wind up its annual convention.

The convention was scheduled to close this morning with fire equipment races between competing towns.
Charles was named president of the association at yesterday's closing business session. He succeeds George W. Gardner of Greenville.

Assistant Chief Curtis Flanagan of Farmville was chosen vice-president of the firemen's group.

Blaze Destroys 12-Room School

Pittsboro, Aug. 18—(AP)—A fire yesterday destroyed the Beils High School in eastern Chatham County. The building consisted of 12 classrooms and an auditorium was attended last year by 281 pupils.

School officials said the building was insured for $64,350 and its equipment for $1,750.

Martha Beck, Fernandez Guilty; Penalty Is Death

New York, Aug. 18—(AP)—Plum Martha Beck and her lover, Raymond Fernandez, were convicted of first degree murder today in the lonely hearts murder case. The verdict carries a mandatory death sentence.

Both defendants received the verdict stoically. Fernandez stood erect, his face displaying no emotion. Mrs. Beck rested her tauft fingers on the defense counsel table.
The verdict was announced by a jury that had been kept in session all night on orders of the court. The court set Monday for sentencing and defense motions.

Near dawn, the jurors on duty since yesterday morning asked permission to go to bed. However, the court said it would not be convenient to grant the request, and sent them back to their deliberations.

After the verdict was announced both defendants were instructed to sit down. Mrs. Beck stared at her lawyer, Herbert E. Rosenberg, and Fernandez glared at the still standing defense lawyer.

Greenville Warehouses Busy On Eve Of Market Opening

Agencies Pulled Out Of Financial 'Hole'

Quick Teamwork By House And Senate Appropriations Committees Ends Temporary Emergency With Stopgap Bill

Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—Swift action on Capitol Hill pulled a number of big government agencies out of a financial hole today.
But nearly $30,000,000,000 in operating funds that should have been voted six weeks ago still were snarled up in Congress. Sept. 15 is the new deadline for solving the tangle—the third new deadline Congress has set since June 30.

Quick teamwork between Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) and McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees ended a temporary financial emergency late yesterday for a long list of government agencies which have been waiting for passage of their regular appropriations since the new fiscal year started July 1.

Cannon and McKellar sped approval of a stopgap measure so about 40 government agencies can continue meeting payrolls and other expenses. Officially the Army, Navy, Air Force, Atomic Energy Commission, Veterans Administration, Interior Department and more than a score of other agencies ran out of money at midnight Monday.

The House, which originates all appropriations, did its work weeks ago but a stubborn and slow-moving economy drive in the Senate has bogged down six major money bills there.

Twice Congress passed stopgap measures—one to permit reduced spending during July and then another for the first 15 days of August. Rebellious House members blocked the third stopgap move earlier this week.

Cannon finally forced a favorable House vote yesterday. McKellar promptly called his committee into session, won their approval of the new stopgap measure, then rushed it through the Senate by voice vote late in the day.

Helsinki, Aug. 18—(AP)—Police and striking lumberjacks exchanged fire today in the first skirmish of a new communist strike offensive which a government official says is aimed at seizing power in Finland.

The exchange took place at Kemmla, a lumbering town. Up to 1,500 strikers broke through police lines in an attempt to attack others reporting for work at a timber sorting dam.

Police fired in the air. Strikers answered with pistol shots. The strikers were dispersed. One striker was reported shot.

Troops, which had been standing by for an emergency at a town some 60 miles away, were called to the Kemmla area. The government yesterday declared the strike there illegal.

Kemi was the first arena of what the government describes as a country-wide strike offensive, aimed at creating chaos "in order to usurp power and establish a people's democracy (communist government) in Finland."

These officials will discuss the unbalanced trade between the U. S. dollar and British sterling areas which has left Britain desperately short of dollars.

Official sources said the four-part document comprises:
1. A study of the background and causes of the critical unbalance between the dollar and sterling areas.
2. A review of what each of the three governments has done to meet and redress that unbalance.

3. A close look at the situation as it exists now, underlying all the implications of a failure to agree on a solution.
4. A series of proposals aiming broadly at achieving some kind of world pattern which would allow a free flow of currencies between the dollar and non-dollar systems.

Informants said the British document attempts to prove that the dollar crisis is not British or American, but a global crisis.

Ignore Protests Over Buying Of Road Machinery

Raleigh, Aug. 18—(AP)—Attempts by North Carolina road building contractors to block the use of bond money for highway equipment are having no effect on the highway commission.
Highway Commission Chairman Henry Jordan and Chief Engineer W. H. Rogers, Jr., said yesterday the program as if the objection had never been raised.

Director Charles Williams of the Division of Purchase and Contract said the state board of award will meet tomorrow to approve the award of the first batch of machinery contracts.

The commission has announced it expects to use about $5,000,000 of the state's $200,000,000 rural road bond issue for machinery.

Stanberry, Mo., Aug. 18—(AP)—Elder A. E. Liddell of Ypsilanti, Mich., yesterday was named chairman of the board of 12 which will direct the business of the Church of God.

The two branches of the church were merged here Tuesday at the golden jubilee conference. The consolidation vote was 196 to 16. Delegates from 40 states, Canada and Mexico are attending the sessions.

Liddell succeeds Elder William Alexander, Joplin, Mo., who headed the Salem Branch of the Church and Elder Burt F. Marks who directed the Stanberry Branch.

Members of the board include Emma Hawkins, Farmville, N.C.

Local Tobacco Board Of Trade Says Market Will Attempt Sale With Sixth Set Of Buyers; Leaf On Local Floors Of Better Grade Than 1948 Opening

Activity around Greenville's 17 warehouses was lively today as warehousemen and farmers eagerly awaited tomorrow's opening of the local tobacco market.

Enough tobacco already is on the Greenville warehouse floors to consume all the opening day's selling time, and warehousemen indicated that sales will be full for several days at least.

Officials of the local Tobacco Board of Trade said today the Greenville market tomorrow will attempt a sale with the sixth set of buyers. The market has had five sets of buyers for several years and this year is seeking an additional set of buyers. The decision to use the sixth set of buyers was made this morning at a meeting of the group.

The sixth set of buyers is scheduled to follow sales at Keel's warehouse when the sales begin at 8:30 tomorrow morning. James T. Keel stated this morning, however, "We will not sell any tobacco (with the sixth set of buyers) unless we have full buyer representation as laid down by the board of governors of the warehouse association."

The governing body of the warehouse association recently designated as a full set of buyers representatives of three domestic tobacco companies and three recognized export companies. The executive committee of the North Carolina Farm Bureau at a meeting last night in Farmville designated a full set of buyers as having representatives from Reynolds Tobacco company, Liggett-Myers Tobacco company, American Tobacco company and three recognized export companies.

A sixth set of government graders have been allotted to the Greenville market for the sale, along with additional sets of graders for 24 other tobacco markets which have requested additional sets of graders for the current season.

Local warehousemen said this morning the break of leaf now on the floors for the opening sales is considerably better than the opening break on the Greenville market for last year's sale. Warehousemen today expressed the belief that the average for opening day on the Greenville market will be upwards of $50.

Last year on opening day the market averaged $48.73 per 100 pounds.

Chilean Gov't Given Emergency Powers In Riots

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 18—(AP)—Emergency powers asked by the government to cope with bloody rioting that has crippled Santiago for 48 hours went into effect with Congressional approval today.

The Chamber of Deputies approved the request 95 to 10 after an all night session.

Disagreement over a half cent boost in bus fares caused the rioting, which has cost seven lives. The government charges Communist agitators have fanned the unrest.

The new law empowers the government to move citizens from one part of the country to the other; to arrest suspects in their homes without court order, and to suspend or restrict the right of public assembly and the liberty of press and radio.

There's A Lot Of Plans, Pacts And Programs Which Could Be Confusing; A List Of Them; What They Mean; One Point Stands Out, Western World Is More United

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—By this time you may be getting dizzy trying to follow all the international plans, pacts and programs.

The Marshall plan, the Atlantic pact, arms for Europe, the council of Europe, western federation. What do they mean?

They mean—except for western federation, which is something in the future—just this:
The nations of the western world are teaming up in one way or another. Take the plans one by one:

The Marshall plan—This is economic help which the United States is giving to 16 nations to help them recover from the war and stand off Communism.

They are Britain, France, Western Germany, Netherlands, Italy, Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Norway, Greece, Sweden, Trieste, Turkey, Denmark, Iceland, Ireland.

The Atlantic pact—Under this, a military alliance, the following 12 nations agree to go to one another's help if they're attacked:
United States, Canada, Belgium, Britain, Luxembourg, France, Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Italy, Iceland, Portugal.

The arms program—Under this the U. S.—if Congress approves—will help arm its partners in the Atlantic pact, or some of them, so they could withstand a Russian attack for a while. Congress has be-

No Revolution In Paris Fashions At Showing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Paris.

The French dress designers have issued their decrees on how women will dress for a few months. But there's nothing revolutionary and they are not apt to start insurrections.

King of the French countries remains Christian Dior, and at the moment it looks as though none of the Crown Princes had been able to grab the crown from his uneasy head. No one has launched anything like that "new look" of his a few seasons back.

There's general agreement that skirts should hover in the vicinity of 13 and 14 inches—mid-calf. Dior pegged his shorter, however, 15 to 15 1/2, although this caused no one to swoon.

Skirts, says Paris, must be very, very slim—sheathlike—or very full. Nothing in between. Either way it is discomforting news to those who haven't gotten around yet to take off those pounds added during the summer. In suits, there is a definite trend toward skin-tight skirts and jackets made bulky by draped effects over the hips, full backs and big sleeves.

If anything is spotlighted, it's the dressmakers' preoccupation with the shoulderline and sleeves. Shoulder padding, as such, is as outmoded as Congress Gaiters, but that doesn't mean you can get away with an old suit you had in the mid-thirties. No, indeed, the couturier now is engaged in heaping things on top of and around the natural, sloping shoulder. Big, barrel-like sleeves, for instance, have the effect of broadening and squaring the silhouette. Sleeve inserts have been dropped down somewhere on the upper arm instead of at the point where arm and shoulder meet. Fly-away effect reach up in the air off the shoulder. There's great interest in symmetrical effects—a single shoulder strap on an evening gown, or a winged dingo rising from one shoulder.

On coats, everyone seems agreed, there must be collars which practically conceal the face. Pierre Balmain had some coats with luscious fur collars leaving only the eyes visible. And so did Jean Desses.

Desses, a "discovery" of a couple of seasons ago, and Jacques Fath were concerned with side drapes. Desses' whole collection was pegged on two lines, which he called the "Kite" and the "Lasso." The former was a squared-away drape which he carried up into the shoulders. The latter was a spiral line, which made the gown look as though they had been coiled onto the Mannequins. Fath called his side drape a "fashioning line," and it was graceful and wearable, although scarcely startling.

The whole mood of the clothes demands and receives tiny hats. They are of all shapes, from a head hugging helmet to a tiny pillbox perched atop. Incidentally, short-cropped hair very carefully groomed is still the vogue. With the high collars and tiny hats it makes heads look strangely small.

About half the yearly egg production in the United States is laid from March through June.

Leg Brace 'Too Hot' For Thief

Detroit, Aug. 18 — (AP) — Little Sally Porrett's leg brace was too hot for a thief to handle.

It was stolen from her father's parked car after he obtained it from an orthopedic shop where it was made under a surgeon's prescription just for Sally. The brace was designed to enable the seven-year-old girl to walk normally for the first time. Since birth spastic paralysis had crippled her right leg.

Two small boys found the brace yesterday while playing in a vacant lot. The thief had torn open the package and tossed it into some bushes.

Pretty Sally is going to the doctor's office to have a plaster cast removed from her leg and the brace fitted.

Her parents have promised her a red tricycle as soon as she learns how to walk with the brace.

DEBT TO PREDECESSORS
Edison is generally credited with having invented the incandescent light, and he deserves this credit. But almost forty years before Edison's triumph, a man by the name of Grove made a crude incandescent light, followed a few years later by J. A. Starr of Cincinnati. In 1876, a year before Edison's great invention, three men produced an incandescent lamp.

But none of these had the finish or the great commercial promise which Edison's carbon lamp, produced in 1879, had. Edison's contribution was twofold. First of all, he solved the problem of generating and distributing of current to homes, and then he produced a filament which would burn for several hundred hours. He gathered up what men before him had done, gave these findings a new turn, added to them the increment of his genius, and produced an invention destined to transform the world.

No one ever produces a great invention or does a great service for mankind independent of all who have gone before. Even Jesus of Nazareth built firmly on the foundations of the prophets. Many of his teachings—in fact most of them—are to be found either in the Old Testament or in the writings of the rabbis. Much of his ministry consisted in giving divine touch and turn to material which through generations had been used by humanity to its great benefit.

SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE IS GOOD BUSINESS

The campaign to raise ten thousand dollars for an athletic scholarship fund at East Carolina Teachers College is under way, and its successful completion will mean a lot to both the college and local businessmen.

Ten thousand dollars sounds like an awful lot of money. It is a lot of money, but it's only a drop in the bucket compared to the sum spent by students each term in Greenville.

The scholarship goal is to provide five hundred dollars for twenty worthy students who can be labeled as "assets" on the athletic field. As has been pointed out before, the cost of one college term for the average student, usually runs above the $500 scholarship; but even accepting that amount as paying for the minimum needs of each student, when it is multiplied by the total enrollment, you'll appreciate the extent of business brought to Greenville by those students.

With the establishment of ECTC in the field of athletics, more students can be expected to enroll here, and local aid in the sports program becomes an investment.

As in all investments, you get out of it only what you put in.

Forward-looking people of Greenville promoted a very creditable athletic stadium for ECTC. If the job is to be wrapped up right, the school should be given a hand in raising interest in the athletic program. Once it's started, they'll keep the ball rolling.

HIGHWAYS—The entire United States is more highway conscious than ever before. North Carolina's current program for spending proceeds of a $200 million bond issue on rural roads, plus larger than ever revenue for normal road purposes, is not out of line with expansion programs in other states and in the national highway system. It's a far cry in development (though only about thirty years in time) from the township road system, worked by free labor in lieu of taxes, to congressional deliberations over an eleven billion dollar interstate highway system. Despite attention to the super-duper interstate highways, the principal concern of most North Carolinians is still the community road. They proved that in the vote for two hundred million dollars in bonds solely for the construction of rural roads last June.

INTERSTATE—The interstate system of super highways now under consideration in the Congress was briefly explained by Charles M. Upham, former state highway engineer at Governor Scott's press conference Tuesday. It is outlined in more detail in the current issue of Highway Highlights, publication of the national highway users conference. The overall project contemplates some forty thousand miles of highways connecting state capitals and principal cities, and estimated to cost eleven and a quarter billion dollars. Tentative plans call for spending $63 million dollars a year for twenty years, although there is some sentiment for making it 750 million a year for fifteen years. Out of this project North Carolina would get 7127 miles of super-duper highway at a cost of $72,857,000. That figures a little more than $100,000 a mile, or just about one-third the estimated average cost throughout the country. The proposed cost varies greatly. Nevada's contemplated 537 miles being estimated at less than $37,000 a mile, while Pennsylvania's 1357 miles are figured at over $709,000 a mile.

LOCAL—Going to the other extreme there is increasing interest in state and federal aid to purely local roads.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Like everyone else, news writers probably get a little bored at times, despite the fact that they report exciting news. To nip the boredom in the bud, they sensationalize a story now and then. Their favorite tools of sensationalizing are murders, which can be built up to almost any pitch desired. Big-city tabloid papers are famous for blowing up the news into dramatic stories. Columnists are the same way. Earl Wilson, the Broadway columnist, was determined to do a column on nudists, so he took off his clothes and joined a colony long enough to find out what it was all about. Could there be any better way of getting a first-hand story?

Earl found out that nudists really don't mind being viewed as long as the viewer is also in the nude. Last week the nudists of the American Sunbathing Association found a Peeping Tom who was observing their convention in Deer Creek Canyon, Colorado, through a three-foot telescope. They trapped him, made him take off his clothes, and then invited him to stare all he wanted. That takes the cake, brother.

Getting rich is a foolish desire, because rich people soon get ulcers from such high living or worry themselves to death. Yet, most of us have that foolish desire. When a new invention comes out we wonder why we weren't the ones to make the million dollars on it.

This week it's a little black box about the size of a parking meter that's making the million. This gadget is fastened on top of a refrigerator and the customer has to drop in a quarter a day, or whatever the installment payment may be. If the customer fails to drop the coin in the refrigerator shaft.

Because of this gadget, which sells refrigerators at nothing down, one South Bend, Indiana, store increased its refrigerator sales in one week from six to 247.

These meters have also been used on stoves, washers, and television sets. The catch is that the customer can feed the meter only when the appliance is in use. Smart merchants have escaped this hitch by attaching the meter to the refrigerator, no matter what appliance is bought. Refrigerators, of course, have to keep going.

Another one of those marriage deals was pulled the other day. When his best friend decided to get married, a fellow from St. Joseph, Missouri, decided to make it a double wedding. He ran a newspaper ad: "Wanted, a girl under 21, to get married Saturday." After interviewing only a few of 253 willing candidates he chose one and married her on schedule before a big crowd at the Frog Hop ballroom.

And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By ED CREAGH
(For Hal Boyle)

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—If you really can't decide what to get me for Christmas, there's a little doodad on display over at the Waldorf-Astoria that would suit me like Chestnut dressing suits roast turkey.

Not that I'm hinting, mind you. As a matter of fact I'm not sure what I'm doing. I've just come back from that $35,000,000 jewel show at the Waldorf and frankly, friend, I'm glitter-happy.

The American National Retail Jewellers, whose baby it is, says it's the biggest display of precious stones and baubles ever held. Acres of diamonds, Bushels of rubies. Pearls by the peck.

In one word: Golly!

Anyhow, there I was, holding a cigarette and wishing I had a match, when a big, happy looking fellow held out a tricky little gadget touched a button and presto! There was flame.

"Thanks," I said, lighting up. "That's quite a lighter."

"You like it?" said the man. Carl Begemann of the American Safety Razor Corp. "Well, sir, you can have this lighter—"

"Gosh, thanks. But—"
"—for $5,000."
"—I didn't say anything. I couldn't. Of course," Begemann said, "this tray and that little urn go with it. All 14-carat gold. There are 36 diamonds and 24 rubies in the set. Just right for a Christmas stocking, wouldn't you say?"

This last remark was not aimed at me but at another gawker who at least looked as if he might have money, so I drifted away, puffing gingerly at the cigarette which had just had a $5,000 light. It tasted like any other cigarette.

Then who should come along but a well-proportioned, brown-eyed blonde named Roma Paige, all decked out in a white nylon bathing suit with pearls dripping from every thread.

"Don't I look expensive?" she asked brightly. "You're supposed to guess how many pearls I'm wearing. If you guess right you win a mug of champagne."

I guessed 2,315 but that couldn't have been right because a woman's handbag I examined a few minutes later turned out to be covered by 14,000 pearls, and Miss Paige's swim suit was not much larger than the handbag.

Well, a little larger, anyway. "Actually," whispered Miss Theresa Jacobson, who was guarding the handbag, "there are only 13,999 pearls. Somebody dropped it and one pearl fell off."

"But there are 20 carats of diamonds and 30 carats of rubies and the setting is pure palladium."

"Gosh," I said. "And the—ah—price?"

Miss J. looked elaborately casual. "Twenty thousand dollars," she said. "It's the most expensive handbag in the world. We've sold three just like it—one each in Memphis, Miami and Los Angeles."

That did it.

If a woman can pay 20 perfectly good dollars for a poorly old handbag that she'll probably leave behind in the movies someday, who says a $5,000 lighter set is too good for me?

Well, sir, you can

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

Washington — Newspaperwomen Dorothy Williams protests that any story about her would make dull reading, despite the fact she's going to Luxembourg with U. S. Minister Perle Mesta. "I never walked a tight rope across Niagara Falls," says Dorothy. She's aware however, she may be balancing on a tight rope after all, a diplomatic tight rope. She goes to Luxembourg as press attaché at the American legation.

Dorothy recently resigned from the Washington staff of a wire news service. She has been in the newspaper profession ever since she was graduated from the University of Michigan—she won't say when. She covered everything from pink teas to the Purple Gang back in Detroit when she worked for the Free Press. Her beat in Washington has taken her from Capitol Hill to the White House. More recently she covered the trials of "Axis Sally" and Judy Coplon.

She got her first job by answering an ad in a newspaper. It was on the Birmingham, Mich., Eclectic, one of the oldest weeklies in the country. She served as society editor and one-half the staff and wrote advice to the lovelorn. Capable, attractive, an encyclopedia of luscious and colorful anecdotes, she is one of the most popular members of the Fourth Estate. Last year she served as president of the Women's National Press Club. When news of her election to this office reached Detroit she received the following wire from a printer with whom she had worked: "Lead with your left and rest between rounds."

When news reached Detroit of her appointment to the Luxembourg job

So as we were saying about that Christmas remembrance—

But don't let me know you're ordering it, will you? I want it to be a surprise.

Frankfurt Pharmacy Is 600 Years Old

Frankfurt.—(AP)—The oldest German "modern" pharmacy is celebrating its 600th anniversary in Frankfurt. Before 1349, pharmacies were only allowed to sell herbs and simple ointments. Only physicians were permitted to prepare prescriptions.

In 1349, a bubonic plague ravaged Frankfurt. "The Black Death" took its toll among doctors, too. Authority was given to one pharmacy to prepare medicines. Success was so great that Prague and four German cities soon followed Frankfurt's example.

she received this wire from a managing editor: "There really isn't such a country is there— a Luxembourger just another road-sandwich?"

Dorothy is looking forward with zest to her latest assignment, is conscientiously boning up on the history, customs and current status of Luxembourg, feels that the job is a challenge.

When I last talked with her she told me the State Department was in the process of checking her emotional stability. They won't find her phlegmatic, nor will they find she's the kind that gets the "screaming meemies" at some untoward situation.

She likes to take her shoes off at parties, loves lovely cloths, has a continental flair for entertaining, serves up superbly sumptuous food, likes zippy perfumes and everything to eat except tripe.

Child Ate Paint From Furniture, Dies Of Poison

Hyattsville, Md., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Four-year-old Claudette Garver loved to gnaw the paint off furniture. She died Saturday.

The county medical examiner certified her death resulted from lead poisoning.

Claudette's three-year-old sister Elizabeth was treated at Children's Hospital for the same ailment.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Garver said for the past year the children persisted in chewing the paint from the furniture in their home. Mrs. Garver said Claudette ignored all punishment to gnaw on furniture "just like a little beaver."

Her husband said a doctor had told them it was due to some deficiency in the children's systems.

Agitation Harvest Is Communist Plan

Moscow.—(AP)—Communist party organizations are playing a large role in the 1949 Soviet harvest. There are 36,000 agitators working in the Rostov district, for example.

"The first days of the harvest, however," said "Culture and Life," "have shown that a number of party organizations have not developed active political work among the masses."

Record Payroll And Number Of Jobholders For State Govm'ts

Washington, Aug. 18—(AP)—State government employed 892,000 persons in April and carried a $197,000,000 monthly payroll.

The census bureau, reporting this yesterday called it a record both in numbers and in pay.

Compared with 12 months earlier, the number of jobholders was up 6.1 per cent of 56,000.

The payroll itself was up $25,700,000 a month or 15 per cent for the period, largely because average pay went up from $185 a month in April, 1948, to $200 last April.

State government now have "nearly half as many employees as the federal government, and about one-third as many employees as all local governments combined," the bureau said.

Their payrolls aren't, however, growing as fast as in earlier post-war years, it added.

Schools—and mainly colleges, at that—were said to account for more personnel (30 per cent of the overall total) and payroll (29 per cent) than any other single function.

Highways and hospitals together accounted (each almost equalled) for another 23 per cent of state employees.

Practically one-half of all payrolls and 43 per cent of payroll for the 46 state governments were reported accounted for by New York, California, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Illinois, Texas, Ohio and Michigan.

North Carolina's high-up position arises from the operation of its public schools by the state rather than by local governments, as is the usual case.

Nation's Losses By Fire Drop To New Low In July

New York, Aug. 18—(AP)—The nation's fire losses in July fell to a new low for 1949, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported Wednesday.

Estimated July losses totaled $49,592,000, a decrease of 4.2 per cent under the June figure and 2.7 per cent under all losses in July, 1948.

Total losses for the first seven months of 1949 reached $398,399,000 which is $39,036,000, or 9.9 per cent under the like period of 1948.

The figures included losses under fire insurance policies and an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

Education Board Runs Smoothly In Doing Business

Raleigh, Aug. 18—The smoothness and efficiency with which the state board of education attended to the important business of selecting a controller to succeed Paul Reid was in striking contrast with bickering and quarreling in other boards.

The education group met in special called session Tuesday, discussed qualifications for the job and then personalities, agreed upon the best man for post, called to get the governor's approval, and then in open meeting unanimously elected Clarence D. Douglas, for many years the departmental auditor.

The reason this business went over so smoothly was simply that board members and the governor alike in this instance complied with the law. In some other instances personal and political feelings have caused the statutes to be ignored or violated.

Many expressions of gratification were heard around capitol square over the fact politics did not get into the school situation. There have been some unfortunate instances of political involvement in counties and districts, but it has been many years since political implications were found in school administration on state level.

Douglas' commission and with the consolidated state board of education since it was first set up in 1943, qualifies him well for the new position, which is one of greater authority and opportunity without very much change in technique or subject matter handled.

Endorses USO

Raleigh, Aug. 18—(AP)—Governor Scott, in a statement issued from his office yesterday, endorsed the recently reactivated United Service Organization.

There are 10 USO units operating in North Carolina at present and a drive will be made in all counties. Leon J. Scott, son of Fayetteville is chairman of the campaign.

Scott viewed the reactivation of the USO by President Truman on a nationwide basis as "a positive acceptance of our civilian community responsibility to our peacetime armed forces." He said "I commend to all citizens this important civilian aid to the soldiers, sailors, and Marines who are maintaining our national defense."

Infant Can Swim But No Crawler

Los Angeles, Aug. 18—(AP)—Little Robin Leigh Whitford is a veteran swimmer—at the age of seven months.

If you thing that's unusual, listen: She started learning by paddling in her bathwater, when she was but four days old!

Robin put on a demonstration for photographers at the Ambassador Hotel pool. Her swim coach, Mrs. Crystal Scarborough, tossed her in the pool.

Robin sank and a photographer started peeling off his coat. But the infant emerged without a splutter and swam to the edge of the pool, using a junior version of the Australian crawl.

But her mother, Mrs. Marie Whitford, said Robin can't yet crawl on a floor. But she's been swimming for three months.

If placed on her back in the water, Robin will swim that way. She can travel about 30 feet.

When cameramen asked Mrs. Whitford to set Robin up beside the pool, the mother replied: "Oh, she can't do that yet—she's too young!"

Feeder Calf Sale On September 15

Rocky Mount, N. C., Aug. 18—The first eastern Carolina Cooperative Feeder Calf sale will be held in Rocky Mount on Sept. 15th, Chairman H. R. Hinton, Agriculture committee, Rocky Mount Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

The sale will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Rocky Mount Chamber of Commerce.

The sale will be sponsored in cooperation with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service in order to make available suitable feeder beef cattle for fattening during the winter and next spring. The farmers in this section are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to supplement their income normally received from crops.

Plans for the sale were made when meetings were held by Dr. L. I. Case, head of the Animal Husbandry Extension Department of N. C. State College, and the Livestock Development committee of the Rocky Mount Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman Hinton stated that during the sale only calves of strictly beef breeding will be acceptable. Both steer and heifer calves will be included. No calf under 300 pounds in weight and over twelve months of age will be accepted. Calves will be sorted into official grades at the market on the sale date by an official grader and will be sold in lots of much size as deemed advisable.

Shrubbery Was Marijuana Plant

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 18—(AP)—Eight months ago, a friend gave Mrs. Jean Sharp some seeds. The seeds sprouted quickly into a high ornamental hedge. Slips from the plants soon did the same for neighbors.

Yesterday Neighbor Mrs. H. B. Ramage took a spig to a nurseryman and asked for some seeds of the "what-you-call-it."

The nurseryman whispered when he told her what it was.

Police soon harvested and burned the neighborhood shrubbery. It was marijuana.

Non-Standard Teachers Ruled As 'Replaceable'

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 17—(AP)—Even though they've been selected for the coming school year, non-standard certificate Tar Heel school teachers may be replaced.

That was the ruling Attorney General Harry McMullan gave the State Board of Education yesterday.

McMullan said the non-standard certificate teachers may be replaced by better qualified teachers. A non-standard certificate is issued to a teacher who has failed to meet the requirements for an "A" certificate.

Last month the board issued a regulation declaring that a non-standard teacher may continue to teach only if the superintendent says no better qualified teacher can be obtained.

When the board met yesterday, its members were uncertain whether the regulation also would apply to non-certified teachers who were notified prior to the new ruling that they were to teach again this fall.

McMullan said the ruling would apply to all non-standard teachers, whether notified or not.

Is Your Child the "One in Five"?

One school child in five is retarded because his vision is defective. Poor vision is a great handicap to a child. It shows him up in every way. It forces him to work harder to master his studies; handicaps him in his relationships with other children and grown-ups, too. It tends to warp his personality—and generally sets him back in his struggle to get ahead and make his mark.

Make sure your child's vision is right! Don't handicap him!

Murder Charges Confront Driver

Atlanta, Aug. 17—(AP)—Murder charges have been placed against the taxi driver who fatally injured Margaret Mitchell, world-famous author of "Gone With the Wind."

Miss Mitchell died yesterday in Grady Memorial Hospital.

Death came five days after she was struck down by a speeding automobile on Peachtree street, which her novel helped make famous. She died in an operating room as physicians prepared for emergency surgery to try to save her life.

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Hugh D. Gravitt, the 28-year-old driver of the car which hit Miss Mitchell, is being held without bond of a charge of murder.

Gravitt, listed on police records for 22 previous traffic violations, was off duty and driving his own car when he struck Miss Mitchell.

In private life, Miss Mitchell was the wife of John R. Marsh, an advertising executive. Her age, which she withheld even from "Who's Who," was listed on hospital records as 43.

Messages of sympathy poured into the Marsh apartment from throughout the world.

Flags in downtown Atlanta and at the State capital were ordered at half staff until after the funeral.

Second Set Of Twins In A Year

Jasper, Tenn., Aug. 17—(AP)—Mrs. Raymond Hix of Whitwell, Tenn., has given birth to her fourth child in less than a year.

The stork made only two trips—twins each time.

A boy and a girl, both reported doing fine, were born Sunday. The first set, also a boy and a girl, was born Sept. 10, 1948.

Hix, a packing house employee, and his wife have two other children, one two years old and the other four.

Glassblowers take pride in being called "blow-hards" because it is their enormous breath pressure that shapes much of the fine handmade American glassware. Cheeks of some glassblowers distend until their faces are as large as cantaloupes.

HOUSEHOLD INSTITUTE COOKWARE CARD PLAN EXPIRES THIS SATURDAY AUG. 20th

His Conquerors Will Pay Costs Of Defending Top Nazi Officer

Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 18.—(AP)—One of Hitler's top generals, Erich von Manstein, will stand trial in Hamburg on Aug. 23 as a war criminal—his defense paid for by the charity of his conquerors.

He will be the 938th—and last—German to face a British military court on war crimes charges. Of his predecessors in the dock 655 were convicted and 192 sentenced to death.

There has been considerable controversy in Great Britain over the case because of the length of time Von Manstein has been confined awaiting trial. He was captured at the end of the war after he had retired from the German army. Many prominent people in Britain argued that the charges should be dropped, not necessarily because they are unjustified but because of the long delay.

When the government turned down their plea a fund to provide him with British defense counsel was started. Among the contributors was Britain's war leader Winston Churchill, who gave $100.

Von Manstein was born in November 1887 in the name of Von Lewinski. He changed his name some time before World War II. There are 17 charges against him. The lengthy indictment was altogether 192 sub-sections, each detailing an alleged criminal act.

In 1939 Manstein was chief of staff to an army group commanded by Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt. He was then 52 and held the rank of Lieutenant-General. In 1941 he became an army corps commander with the rank of General of Infantry. From 1941 he commanded the German 11th army, and was promoted full General, then Field Marshal. He commanded army group Don and army group South on the Russian front from 1942 to 1944. In March 1944 he was placed on the reserve at the age of 57.

The following summary of the charges was issued by British army of the Rhine:

"The first three charges deal with atrocities alleged to have been committed against Polish civilians and prisoners of war by units belonging to the army group of which he was chief of staff.

"Further charges allege his participation in the killing and maltreatment of large numbers of Soviet prisoners of war and in the deaths of many prisoners of war from neglect, starvation and disease. Further it is alleged that Von Manstein forcibly recruited Russian prisoners of war into units of the German army operating against their own countrymen.

"The charges also allege that he participated in the crime of genocide in Russia, in mass extermination of Jews, Gypsies, and others by shooting, gassing and drowning. "Other charges deal with his complicity in the indiscriminate and arbitrary killing of civilians under the pretext of suspected anti-German activities."

A special medical examination last May ruled Von Manstein fit to stand trial. The same medical board ruled his war-time boss, Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt, fit to be tried. Also let off for medical reasons was Colonel General Adolf Strauss. Both Strauss and Rundstedt are now in German hospitals.

Deplores Deformed Feet Among Women

Liverpool, England.—(AP)—The president-elect of the British Medical Association said today 90 per cent of British women are deforming their feet by poor choice of shoes.

Professor R. P. McMurray told the Liverpool Rotary Club: "Nature intended woman's big toe to be on the inside of her foot. But she buys shoes in which the point of the shoe is in the middle of her foot."

"When husbands mention this they are told to mind their own business."

Salads Are Summertime Eating at Its Best—There is nothing like the lift a salad can give to jaded summer appetites. A light-colored meal like a salad luncheon won't leave you with a mid-afternoon let-down if you'll make sure of ample meat in its make-up. It takes a man to demand meat in his salads but ladies, too, will find meat a perfect salad accent.

Meat in Salad Makes Better Nutrition—Pure, lean meat like the Wilson's Mor meats (Beef, Pork, Veal or Lamb) are excellent in your favorite tossed salad, gelatin salad mold or as cold cuts with any vegetable or fruit salad. Add the meat—in strips, shredded or in slices—but make the salad at the last minute and rush it crisp and cold to the table for highest vitamin values. Here's a salad recipe that's easy as one, two, three.

EASY-MOLD SALAD

- 1 Slice MOR meat from top to bottom to form perfect cold cut squares.
- 2 Pack vegetable salad mixture (see recipe or use your favorite) in cup or mold and invert on MOR cold-cut slice in lettuce cup.

EASY-MOLD MOR SALAD

In separate bowls make vegetable slaws of cabbage, carrot and green pepper by shredding and mixing each to your taste with:

Wilson's Salad Dressing

Season further if you like. (Chopped peanuts are a delightful addition to the carrot or cabbage layers.) Press each vegetable slaw separately into mold or small cup starting with green pepper layer, then carrot, then cabbage. When mold is full, loosen at edge with point of knife and invert over lettuce cup containing MOR meat slice. Salad will drop into place on meat slice. Serve.

Repeat for as many salads as you wish to make.

Garnish with stuffed olives.

Some of the goals for the coming year expected to be reviewed at the meeting here include the employment of a full-time paid secretary, the publication of a monthly association magazine, the continuation of its "Know Your State Government Forum" and minor revisions of the state personnel act.

The organization, open to state employees, works for the improvement of pay and working conditions. In the last general assembly, it supported a pay raise which was granted to state workers.

A 15-mile world championship swimming race for men will be staged Sept. 2 at Toronto with $12,900 in prizes.

Attention Of Millions On King Tobacco This Week

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Attention of millions of subjects throughout the world is this week focused on the throne room of King Nicotine, which is located in Eastern North Carolina.

Someone has said that tobacco having no value for food, clothing or shelter, yet furnishes employment to millions and enjoyment to hundreds of millions of people throughout the world. It is grown to some extent on every continent, and is used in diverse form by men and women of every race. The tobacco leaf is compressed into juicy plums for chewing; rolled into elongated cones as cigars, ground into dust for snuff, granulated for pipes and shredded for cigarettes.

Its juices, vapors and aromas give solace to the nervous business man in the marts of trade, to the lonely shepherd on isolated hills and the sailor at sea, to the sweating laborer in tropic climes and the hardy explorer insuring arctic circles, to the miner digging deep into the bowels of earth and the aviator soaring toward the sun.

Aborigines in Africa and Asia, big bankers in New York and London, hoboes on the open road and denizens of city slums are alike dependent upon and responsive to its soothing effects.

Traffic in tobacco occupies attention of international merchants and influences decisions of statesmen. It affects the value of the American dollar and the British pound and complicates diplomacy throughout the world.

That is the kingdom over which King Nicotine holds sway. And the throne room of that kingdom is in Eastern North Carolina.

Of all forms in which tobacco is used the cigarette is most universal. Every formula for a decent cigarette is built around the cured bright-leaf tobacco as the base. This particular type of tobacco is produced mostly in Eastern America, from Florida to Canada. More than half the total world production is in the Carolinas, and in the Carolinas the Eastern North Carolina warehouse belt is dominant.

That is why worldwide attention is centered on the opening of markets in the eastern belt on Friday. Sales have been going on in Florida and Georgia for several weeks, along the Carolinas border for several days. Later the Middle Belt markets in North Carolina, and the Old Belt in Carolina and Virginia will go into action. Then there are the various types of fire-cured and sun-cured, Turkish and Burley and what have you. Each type has its important place in the realm of King Nicotine, but the king's throne room, the heart and soul and backbone of his kingdom, is the Eastern North Carolina belt.

Therefore, what happens in Eastern North Carolina this week and from now until late October is important. Most vitally concerned are the farmers who have put money and worry, toil and sweat, into producing the crop of tobacco. Slightly less concerned are the multiplied thousands of workers in processing plants. Then hundreds of millions of smokers, chewers and dippers in the world.

There's another angle. International trade and diplomacy is concerned, and the tax collector is alert. Last year government in the United States got a billion in taxes on tobacco products, about one-third of which went to states and municipalities, the rest to the federal government.

Yes, it's a big week in North Carolina. Believe it or not, the reaction of one tenant farmer in Pitt county might start a chain of action that would affect the Marshall plan, and thus influence international relations toward precipitating or avoiding another world war.

War's End Didn't Finish Training For Reservists

By MAC ROY RASOR
(AP Newsfeatures)
Camp Pendleton, Calif. — War's end four years ago didn't end training of beach heads for thousands of civilian Marine reservists. They're at it again.

This time it's part of the rough-and-tumble summer training for some 17,000 of them at this sprawling 200-square-mile southern California camp that stretches 20 miles along the Pacific coast.

They came by land, air and sea from 33 cities west of the Mississippi.

Other thousands of reservists training at east coast camps make the combined reserve training program the largest ever undertaken by the Marine Corps.

Reservists reporting here include veterans polishing up their old know-how and young Marine newcomers learning the way big brother did things at Salpene or Iwo Jima.

One son learned from his dad. He was PFC Les Sowell, accompanied by his Tech Sergeant father, Jack R. Sowell, both of Oakland, Calif.

Many give up much for the training. Some leave businesses. Others sacrifice vacations or civilian salaries. In return they get two weeks of intensive training packed into days that sometime begin as early as 4 a.m.

They fire the pistol, M1 rifle, carbine and Browning Automatic Rifle for record. Combat attack and defense tactics put the reserves to crawling, running and "hitting the deck." They scout and patrol through the camp's rugged hills and valleys. They scramble down cargo nets into landing craft and hit the beach on the run to capture objectives. They bivouac in overnight problems. They watch seasoned First Marine Division troops demonstrate fire power and assault and defense tactics.

On Saturday afternoon and Sunday they get liberty to visit nearby Los Angeles, Hollywood or other southern California resort spots. Why do men give up vacations for that?

Ask them and the answer you most often get sums up to something like: "I want to be ready if we ever have to fight again."

There are units here from Montana, Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona, California, Washington and Oregon.

Two infantry units from Shelby Montana, were the first reserve ground troops ever to be transported to a summer training camp by air.

The program continues through Sept. 3.

The faces of the four presidents sculptured into the rock of Mount Rushmore in South Dakota's Black Hills can be seen from the air at a distance of 60 miles.

Seven Rescued From Fire-Swept Schooner In Gulf

Los Angeles, Aug. 18—(AP)—Five University of Southern California students and two others were saved from a fire-swept schooner adrift off Acapulco, Mexico, relatives learned here last night.

Two of the men, Frederick Kemp 23, of Rocky Mount, N.C., and Elmer Metzger, 20, of Davenport Iowa, were burned in an engine explosion which started the blaze. They are hospitalized in Mexico City.

The seven young men quelled the flames after a two-hour battle some 200 miles off Acapulco. A distress signal sent on a hand-cranked transmitter brought the freighter William Lykes to the aid of the 52-foot Los Amigos. The freighter took the men to Acapulco.

Averages Go Up On Border Belt

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 18—(AP)—Tobacco auction bid averages on the blue-cured Carolinas border belt upped $1 to $2 yesterday compared with Tuesday's sales.

The U. S. and N. C. department's of agriculture reported that smoking leaf, cutters, and top quality lugs were fairly steady.

Auction bid averages yesterday were: Fine lemon leaf $62, good lemon smoking leaf $63, good lemon cutters $65, good lemon lugs $60 and best thin nondescript 10.50.

The face of Abraham Lincoln sculptured into the rock of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills, is so large that a man could stand erect in an eye.

Bank Resources Down, But Still At A Safe Level

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Aug. 18—(AP)—Although aggregate resources of banks in North Carolina, as shown by composite June 30 statements, dropped to near the 1945 level, experienced bankers say there is no occasion for worry.

Composite statement released by the state banking commission showed that aggregate resources of all banks—national, state commercial and industrial—operating in the state fell $117,269,205.08 on June 30, 1949, below the figure set on June 30, 1948, which was an all time high.

The composite statement shows less idle money and more activity in bank accounts. The loan and discount item is way up, while deposits are way down. That means less idle money, but it also means wartime and postwar reserves are being depleted.

Various interpretations can be made of this report. The fact that larger percentage of money is being used instead of lying around idle looks good.

The fact that this is the first time in a dozen years that total bank resources are less than shown the year before, doesn't look good.

Stability and solidity of banking institutions is shown by the report that after all adjustments in capital stock there is a net gain of over eight million dollars.

It may be interesting commentary on changing times to note that while assets of regular commercial and industrial banks have declined, those of industrial loan agencies supervised by the banking commission increased nearly ten percent during the past year.

Makes Profit Out Of Iron Curtain Breech

Luebeck—(AP)—A young German girl refugee from the Soviet zone succeeded in piercing the iron curtain and making money from it. In the British Zone resort of Travemunde on the Baltic, she set up a former Wehrmacht artillery range finder. For the equivalent of a nickel you can peep through and try to find out what goes on in the nearby Soviet Zone.

Greenies Swap Shutouts In Two Tilts At Rocky Mount By 0-7, 9-0 Scores

Opener Took Up In Fourth Inning Of Previous Rained Out Game; Nightcap Puts Feather In Mascarella's Cap; Pappy Hits Another Homer

The Greenville Greenies split their twin bill with the Rocky Mount Leafs last night over in Rocky Mount with the Leafs blanking the Greenies, 7-0, in the opening game and then the Greenies coming back in the second game to whitewash the Leafs by a score of 9-0.

First Game

Taking up where they left off with a 4-0 lead in the fourth inning of a rained out game on August 6, the Rocky Mount Leafs blanked the Greenville, 7-0, in the opening game of a doubleheader.

The Leafs scored four runs in the third frame on successive singles by Sedor, Liffey and Reges, a walk and Frank Tepedino's three-run double to put the Leafs in the lead, prior to the rain which halted proceedings on August 6.

They came back in the fourth frame to chalk up another tally on walks to Liffey and Reges, after two men were out, and Pepper Martin's line single into left field to bring in Liffey.

Two more markers were added in the sixth on three singles, a double and a sacrifice.

Lefty Tom Marshall went the route for the Leafs and registered his first win over the Greenies this season as he held the Greenies to five scattered hits. Prior to last night's performance he had dropped two decisions to the Greenies.

Willie Mauney with a double and a single in four trips to the total hits accounted for two of the total hits received by the Greenies.

Charlie Nordmeyer, recently released by the Greenies, was credited with the loss, to give him a record of one win and one loss against the Leafs and to bring his record for the season with the Greenies to one win and three losses.

Ed Perry took up where Nordmeyer left off when the contest was called and pitched one and one-third frames, giving up four hits and two runs, and Frank Lapovicy recently acquired from Kinston finished the game holding the Leafs scoreless on three scattered hits.

Chuck Sedor with three singles in five trips to the plate led the 12-hit attack off the three Greenville hurlers.

Second Game

Manager Pappy Williams' Greenies came back in the nightcap to shut out the Rocky Mount Leafs, 9-0, over their twelfth win of the season over the Leafs, as Art Mascarella held them to five scattered hits, while pitching his first win.

The Greenies did all their scoring in the late innings. They scored in the fifth without benefit of a hit. Willie Mauney reached first on Gardner's error at second base, then he stole second and advanced to third when Catcher Pepper Martin threw wild to second. Sid Varney flew out to deep right field to bring him home.

Three more runs came in the sixth inning when Strauss singled, Lapovicy walked and then after Tepedino had grounded out for the second out, Pappy Williams slammed one over the left field wall—a distance of about 330 feet—to clear the bases.

Singles by Lapovicy, Williams, Varney and Denier, aided by two errors and a wild pitch gave the Greenies three more runs in the eighth inning. They added their final two runs of the game in the ninth on Mascarella's single, two errors, a hit batsman, a walk and a stolen base.

Pappy Williams with a homer and a single featured the seven-hit attack of the three Leaf hurlers who incidentally failed to strike out a single Greenville player. Despite the fact that the Leafs made eight mistakes, five of the runs made by the Greenies were of the earned variety.

Art Mascarella held the Leafs to five hits, struck out two men and walked two. Sedor and Reges each got two hits apiece to lead the Leafs attack.

The Greenies played at home to night with the Leafs and on the mound for the Leafs will be Lefty Jacobs, who in his two previous attempts with the Greenies has suffered two defeats. Although Manager Pappy Williams has not stated his starting hurler, it is all probability will be Vernon Mustian, who will be facing the Leafs for the first time this season.

Cream Of Crop Promises Tight Walker Match

Mamereonek, N.Y., Aug. 18—(AP)—The cream of this country's and Britain's amateur golfers were slated for final rounds over the winged foot course today in preparation for their clash tomorrow and Saturday in the Walker Cup matches.

Expert observers, including Claude Harmon, the Winged Foot pro, who have watched the two teams practice in recent days, are predicting one of the closest matches since the international trophy first was played for in 1922.

The British have brought over a strong, well-balanced side, led by big, laughing Max McCready, who defeated both Frank Stranahan and Willie Turnesa on his way to the British Amateur championship this summer.

The meeting will get under way at 9 a.m. with the morning session being devoted to a study of the National High School Football rules and a written exam for all prospective high school officials. Also at the morning session, Coach Bill Doie of the college will lead a discussion for coaches.

Since this is the first year that North Carolina high schools will play under National Federation rules, it is important that all coaches and officials attend this meeting here next Tuesday.

Siamese Boxing Champs To Fight In United States

Kong Young of Hong Kong, rounds in Bangkok last March and was placed eighth in the 1948 Maszine world bantamweight rankings, one place above Young.

Nai Sompong, a veteran fighter has defeated many rising hopes of his class in the Malayan ring.

Ambidextrous In Two Big Sports

Hot Springs, Ark.—Jack McMahan 175-pound Hot Springs high school sophomore, pitched baseball in the summer and football in the fall without worrying about overworking his arm.

A standout in both sports, he's a left-hander on the hurlers mound and a right-hander football passer.

His coach, Joe Dildy, who labels McMahan as a "daddy prospect" in both sports says:

"But he can't throw a baseball right-handed or a football left-handed with any accuracy."

Jap Swimmers Go After Two More AAU Crowns, Little To Stop 'Em

TOP SWIMMERS 18 Spoon Los Angeles, Aug. 18—(AP)—With two titles sewed up, Japan's world beating swim squad goes after two more national AAU crowns today.

And—ask the 8000-odd fans who saw last night's amazing performances—what's to stop them?

Hironoshin Furuhashi, who in two short days has stamped himself as one of swimming's immortals, will seek the 400-meter free style title to go with the 1500 meter which he won in record time yesterday.

Furuhashi, after a 30-lap stroke for stroke battle with teammate Shiro Hashizume, won by four yards in 18:29.8, far under the listed world mark of 18:58.8 by T.

The win for Rocky Mount in the opening game of the double-header last night was the first victory for the Leafs over Greenville in eleven games; as a matter of fact it was the first win since May 18th. Greenville has now won 12 contests from the Leafs and lost 5.

The double-header last night was the 17th played by the Greenies this season and the third with Rocky Mount. In the two previous bargain bills with the Leafs the Greenies won both of the games and last night was the first split which the Leafs have had this season.

Art Mascarella registered his eighth win in the second game last night and marked the first win over Rocky Mount; he had lost two. Mascarella's last 27 innings has had two shutouts to his credit and has allowed only one run and that run was of the unearned variety.

The shutout handed the Greenies in the first game was number 8 against the Greenies this season and was the first by Rocky Mount.

The shutout against Rocky Mount in the second game was number twelve for the Greenies and the second against the Leafs.

Joby Griffin, rookie pitcher for the Leafs, has been given his release by that club. Word comes from Wilson that the Washington Senators are displaying an honest interest in the Wilson baseball club.

The Senators would like to operate there next season. In fact, they have two representatives—Ossie Bluege, former manager of the Senators and now farm director for the club, and H. L. Reeder of the Senators, who are in Wilson to talk over the matter with the club officials. They want to arrange a working agreement whereby they could send some class "D" players to Wilson next season and also furnish a manager.

The Kinston Eagles have added two more rookies to their roster. They are Dick Woods (who was suspended while he went to Pennsylvania to visit his wife who was sick) and Harvey Daul, late of the Grainger High School State champions.

Monday is the deadline for players who can participate in the playoffs to be with the club, so any changes made by the clubs will have to come within that period. Lefty Eddie Neville, former star hurler of the Tarboro club in the Coastal Plain League, has broken into the 20-game winner class. Eddie is southerning them over for the Durham Bulls in the Carolina League.

Don't forget those nice gifts which will be awarded at tonight's game by the various local merchants.

The Coastal Plain League Sports-writers and Sportscasters Association is selecting an All-Star team for the 1949 season. This team is being chosen through the combined efforts of the eight radio stations and eight newspapers in the league. Each station and newspaper is entitled to one vote.

A deadline of August 31 has been set. Sportswriters and sportscasters in the league are being asked to second in their choice of an all-star team and a second string team immediately.

The team will consist of the regular line-up plus left and right handed pitchers, a utility player and a manager. An alternate team is also being chosen of the same number of players.

A choice of the most outstanding player in the league, to whom will be awarded a trophy and a savings bond at the final play-off game, is also being made. This is an annual selection and presentation of the sportswriters and sportscasters association.

Plans are now being formed to honor members of the all-star team at a banquet in which the league officials, sportswriters and sportscasters are to take part.

Cleveland Falters In Pennant Race As Pitchers Fail Deliver

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's baseball crown was slightly askew today, needing only a couple of more nudges to knock it off completely.

It is becoming more and more evident that unless Bob Feller and Bob Lemon get some much needed pitching help, that world championship flag won't be waving much longer at the Indians' municipal stadium.

Of the highly heralded big five, only Feller and Lemon have been coming through of late. Gene Bearden, of whom much was expected after his sensational freshman season, has been a flop. Steve Gromek, who flashed so brilliantly in the world series, has done nothing this season. Gromek has won four games this season, and Bearden seven.

Early Wynn, who took up the slack during June and July, has been getting his bumps of late. The relief brigade, with one or two exceptions, hasn't been coming through. Of Cleveland's last nine victories, Feller and Lemon have won six.

The Indians went into battle without Feller and Lemon yesterday and were nearly scalped by the lowly St. Louis Browns. They took a double defeat that might prove to be the blow that knocked them out of the pennant race. The Browns won by scores of 10-6 and 5-2.

The twin setbacks dumped the Tribe into third place a full five games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees.

Race Track Fire Destroys Twenty Thoroughbreds

Raton, N. Mex., Aug. 18—(AP)—Flames were brought under control early today after sweeping through three barns at the La Mesa horse race track. Two stable men were severely burned.

Twenty thoroughbreds were destroyed, including a stud, La Bre which Howard Lackey of Raton recently purchased from C. S. Howard for $10,000.

Racing Secretary Harvey Foster said the damage to the barns would exceed $20,000. He said he could not estimate the value of the horses lost.

The animals burned to death included Gold Ball and Short Respite, also owned by Lackey. They won stakes at Santa Anita last winter.

Dean Turritt, a former jockey who has been employed as a valet here, was credited by Foster with leading several score horses to safety.

Cuban Abandons Channel Swim At Half-Way Mark

Calais, France, Aug. 18—(AP)—Jose Cortinas abandoned his attempt to swim the English Channel today and returned to Calais after covering half the distance to Dover in six hours.

The 32-year-old Cuban left Calais at 12:45 a.m. this morning (6:45 p.m., EST, Wednesday).

Earlier, it had been reported from Dover, on the English side of the channel, that fresh northeasterly winds had stirred up choppy seas in that area.

Dover headquarters for Shirley May France, 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., high school girl, announced that in view of the roughening waters she would not attempt her channel swim this afternoon.

If later forecasts are favorable, she may begin her swim at midnight, her advisors said.

Cortinas was beaten by the bitter cold and adverse winds that rolled heavy waves directly into his face.

When the boat that accompanied him returned to Calais, Cortinas was lying on the deck asleep, covered with blankets. His petite wife, Elda, stood over him.

"He was magnificent," one crew member exclaimed.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET
by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 11
The ladies' lounge of the Grant Theatre was practically deserted when Derris and her friend, Ruth Hamilton, entered.

"I wish I hadn't lugged this thing along," Derris indicated her red morocco briefcase. "But I often look over stuff at night, and carrying it is more or less force of habit."

"Here, let me take it."

As they were going through the door Ruth was almost knocked down by a woman coming toward them.

"Clumsy fool," Ruth muttered to herself as the woman continued on her way without any effort to apologize. "You'd almost think she did that on purpose."

Ruth was still angry when they found their seats. She got up again almost immediately. "Save my place, Derris. I've got to go back upstairs. That woman must have made me drop my gloves. They may still be there. I'll only be a minute."

Many minutes passed. Ruth hadn't come back. She'd been gone a long time. Too long!

Derris got up and quickly made her way toward the lounge, unable to shake off an increasing uneasiness. It grew into active alarm as she entered the doorway.

Ruth was lying on a couch, her eyes closed. A woman standing beside it looked up quickly as she entered. Something familiar about her eluded Derris for a moment.

There was no one else in the room and there was no sign of the attendant anywhere.

"What is it?" Derris asked, her breath coming sharply, as if she had been running. "What's the matter with her?"

The woman smiled. She sounded well educated.

"Don't be alarmed, my dear. My daughter has suffered from these attacks before. They never last long."

She bent over and stroked Ruth's hair. "Poor darling, I've phoned my son. He'll be here soon with the car, and we'll take her home."

For a brief second the sheer effrontery of the thing appalled Derris. Her thoughts raced wildly ahead.

"You're not her mother?" Derris exclaimed. "Her mother's dead. Whatever you're trying to do, you won't get away with it."

The woman was a consummate actress. She was putting Derris on the defensive.

Derris realized she'd have to act quickly to forestall whatever this woman was planning. Her only chance was to find a member of the theater staff to help her. She hated to leave Ruth, even for the time it would take to find someone, but there was nothing else she could do. It took longer than she thought to find an usher, and it was with obvious reluctance that he agreed to come back with her.

There was no trace of Ruth or the woman!

The attendant, whom Derris hadn't previously seen, came forward, obviously surprised at the presence of the usher.

"Where is the stout lady who was here a few minutes ago? She was with a girl who was lying on that couch," shouted Derris.

"I'm sorry, miss; I don't think I noticed them. So many people go in and out all the time I never remember any of them. Certainly no one like you describe has been here during the last half-hour or so, so far as I can remember."

Derris's helplessness enraged her. "Don't lie to me! Where did they go?"

She raced outside to the manager's office, and without any prearrangement she stormed in. With an effort she gained a semblance of control. Without wasting unnecessary words, she told him what had happened. The usher, who had followed on her heels, was hovering about the door.

"Jack, ask the lounge attendant to come to my office right away. This is a serious matter, Miss Martin!" he continued as she supplied her name. "Did you ever see this woman before?"

Suddenly Derris remembered why the woman had seemed familiar.

"She came into the lounge earlier this evening. She almost knocked me down. I remember, Ruth thought she'd done it on purpose."

A knock at the door ushered in the attendant.

"Please sit down, Miss Bertram. Miss Martin has told me what has happened, or what she thinks has happened. If you know anything you think might help, you should tell us."

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see Miss Martin?" indicating Derris with a nod, "before she came up with the usher?"

"No, I didn't."

"You were upstairs all afternoon?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"You're quite certain, Miss Bertram?"

"I was there all afternoon."

The manager turned to Derris with a shrug.

"I'm afraid we can't help you very much. You hear what Miss Bertram says."

Derris got up abruptly and stormed out of the theater.

Getting into a cab, she asked the driver to drop her at the nearest police station, which proved to be only a few blocks away.

Her story was listened to attentively, and all the particulars she could give them taken down.

"You say, miss, this girl had no living relations that you know of?"

"No. She told me she came from Gentian, Iowa, but that's all I know. She said that her parents were dead."

"Give me a description of her, and what she was wearing, please."

"She's about twenty, my height, with much the same hair coloring as mine. Her eyes are gray-blue. She was wearing a suit with a small black and white check, a little black hat, and had black suede shoes, and purse. She must have taken my red leather briefcase. She'd been carrying it, and it wasn't anywhere in the lounge. That's about all I can tell you." Derris looked at the detective inquiringly.

"And now she has disappeared, possibly kidnapped?"

Tobacco Farmers Advised Not To Sort, Grade Leaf Too Early

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The world's largest cigarette type tobacco belt—the Eastern North Carolina—begins sales tomorrow with heavy sales predicted.

However, on the eve of opening sales, a state tobacco marketing specialist issued a note of caution to the growers of the weed.

W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist with the state department of agriculture, advised farmers not to sort and grade their tobacco too early in advance of sale.

He said the hot, muggy weather now prevailing has a tendency to create "high order" tobacco. The stabilization corporation will not accept tobacco on which the grader has placed a "U" or "W" indicating unsound and wet conditions, he said.

Hedrick said the delay in opening the Eastern belt—today—has caused some confusion among growers and warehousemen. He declared the change in dates may result in block-opening. Many growers who have "worked up" tobacco for the opening declared Hedrick, will not be able to find floor space until early next week.

"The Eastern crop generally is good—in fact, somewhat better than last year," he said. "Many growers report, however, that while the quality is good, the weight is considerably lighter than last year."

The crop estimate for the Eastern belt, as of Aug. 1 was 399,900,000 pounds, compared with 372,000,000 in 1948. The increase in poundage is attributed to a five per cent increase in acreage.

A Dr. Pepper truck and a 1942 Nash car were involved in a wreck on the Washington highway yesterday afternoon about 3:20, four miles from Greenville near W. R. Elks store, State Highway Patrolman Paul C. Whitely reported today.

Patrolman Whitely said that the Dr. Pepper truck driven by Joseph C. Paramore, 21, of near Washington, was hit by a 1942 Nash driven by Josh C. Blanchard, 35, of Los Angeles, California, when the truck attempted to make a left turn as the car driven by Blanchard started to pass resulting in a collision.

Damage to the truck was estimated to $50 while the car suffered damages of $100, Patrolman Whitely said.

No one was injured in the wreck and no charges were made against the two drivers.
