Coal Stockpiles Dwindle As Pact Talk To Resume

Lewis Rumored Might Show Up For Today's Talks; Labor Day Showdown Seen

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 23—(AP)—With one eye on the slowly dwindling stockpile of soft coal, the United Mine Workers and operators gathered here for more contract talks today.

There were reports that John L. Lewis, himself, might show up for today's talks. If the UMW chief does make it, it could mean that some concrete developments might come about quickly.

Lewis last night was reported to be in Clarksburg. There was no immediate indication, however, whether he planned to attend the contract talks.

In previous negotiations rounds since the soft coal contracts expired, little or no progress towards new pacts has been apparent.

Under the three-day week, production has averaged slightly better than 7,000,000 tons weekly, or about 5,000,000 tons less than normal.

The existing stockpile (coal above the ground) is estimated at between 40,000,000 and 45,000,000 tons by various industry sources.

It is being whittled down at the rate of about 2,000,000 tons a week, as the country is now consuming about 9,000,000 tons weekly.

When the weather turns cool, the rate will step up. The smaller the stockpile, the stronger Lewis' hand will become.

New Excise Tax Cut Drive Opens

Drive For Reduction Of Wartime Rates 'By Christmas' Launched On Heels Of Doughton's Encouraging Report

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—A new drive for a slash-by-Christmas in wartime excise tax rates was launched in Congress today.

Developed in the face of a forceful statement by Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee that he sees no prospect for such a tax cut this year.

Doughton said the threat of a federal deficit of $5,000,000,000 or more in the present fiscal year virtually forecloses hope for such a slash now.

But House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, author of an excise-cutting bill, said: "Maybe if we bring enough pressure we'll still get something done."

Two Democrats—Reps. Mulr of New York and Davenport of Pennsylvania—took the House floor to demand a reduction in the wartime rates. These amount to 30 per cent of the retail price of many items such as furs, cosmetics, jewelry and luggage.

Still, the best bet right now is that Doughton is right—that there will be no slash before perhaps sometime in 1950.

"I believe it is important," said Doughton, the No. 1 congressional tax spokesman, "to make this clear so that consumers will not postpone the purchase of goods subject to tax in the hope of an immediate reduction."

However, Doughton did hold out some hope for excise tax relief in 1950. He announced he has instructed the congressional staff of tax experts to begin a study of possible tax revisions and reductions, for consideration by Congress next year.

Forest Fires In U.S. And Canada Said Spreading

New Fires Spring Up As Fire Fighters Win One Battle To Save Villages

By the Associated Press Thousands of men struggled today to halt the spread of forest fires in the United States and Canada.

Flames licked at timberland in Maine, in western and far western states and in Quebec. Scores of persons were evacuated from their homes, hundreds of livestock perished and thousands of acres of brush and timberland were burned over.

Officials in San Diego County, California, declared an emergency condition when one new fire broke out and other minor blazes were reported.

The new fire raged in Deluz Canyon, north of Fallbrook. Scores of settlers fled before the flames. Three small ranches were burned and hundreds of livestock perished.

In Quebec, army and civilian firefighters won a battle against a five-mile-wide fire and saved the Laurentian mountain villages of Terrebonne Heights and Pincourt from threatened destruction.

A shift in the wind contributed to their efforts. The two villages are 25 miles north of Montreal. In Maine more than a dozen fires burned in brush, slash and timberland.

Austin H. Wilkins, deputy forest commissioner, said the state was fast approaching the extreme drought conditions of 1947. In that year forest fires in Maine cost 16 lives and $30,000,000 damage.

As new fires flared up, weary crews continued their battle against days-old fires in other mountainous western states. In Idaho, some gains were made after wind driven fires roared out of control over 14,000 acres in the Payette National Forest.

Suspended General Asserts High Position Never Abused

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—Major Gen. Herman Feldman acknowledged today that he gave James V. Hunt information on army buying plans in 1947 but declared it was not confidential and he did not know of Hunt's position as a so-called "five percent."

In the witness chair of a Senate investigating committee, the suspended army quartermaster General swore: "At no time have I abused my position or misused the influence of my office."

The short, balding officer said, too, that he welcomed the inquiry and prepared to "justify every action I have taken and every decision I have made."

Feldman had a long prepared statement, the gist of which was that he had done nothing wrong and was motivated at all times by what he believed to be good for the service and for the country.

Immediately after he finished reading it, the hearing was recessed until tomorrow when he will take the stand for questioning.

The committee had set the stage for his appearance by developing from documents that he sent the buying information to Hunt and also advised an army purchasing officer to get in touch with Hunt.

He told the officer that "Hunt has ready access to the White House." Hunt is the management committee's investigations subcommittee to order a general inquiry into "five percenters"—persons who get government contracts for others for a fee, usually five per cent.

Feldman, suspended army quartermaster General, was waiting to testify when Francis D. Flanagan, assistant committee counsel, read two letters into the record. Both were written by Feldman.

One letter was to Hunt. Dated July 23, 1947, it accompanied the information on army buying plans. Witnesses earlier in the hearing had told of this letter.

States Righters Go On Trial For Deserting Party

Southern Congressmen Expect Verbal Spanking By National Committee

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—States Righters members of the Democratic National committee went on trial at a party "court" today on charges of desertion in last year's political campaign.

Southerners in Congress fully expect the Democratic family row to wind up in a verbal spanking to be publicly administered to States Righters tomorrow by the National committee.

The committee is getting together to pick a new chairman. But before it gets around to that, leaders of President Truman want to give the boot to national committeemen and women who refused to support him in last year's campaign. A credential committee will pass judgment on that.

The National committee meeting is the first since the 1948 Democratic convention which brought an: A scrap over civil rights a spectacular walkout by some Dixie delegations and election victories for the rebellious states' righters in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina.

Those four states went far. Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the States' Rights Presidential candidate.

Now it is up to the credential committee to recommend retention or expulsion of the national committee members from those states. The National committee itself will act on the recommendations tomorrow.

After that, it will decide on a successor to J. Howard McGrath, who is resigning as National chairman, and also as U. S. Senator from Rhode Island, to move into the Cabinet as Attorney General.

William M. Boyle, Jr., the $30,000 a year executive vice chairman of the committee, is lined up to replace McGrath. Both McGrath and President Truman want Boyle to get the job and nobody else is after it.

Extra Rent Control Funds Said Possible

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—Rent control officials welcomed today the possibility of more money to enforce rent control ceilings, but still did not withdraw plans to abandon them in many areas.

A truce in the Senate battle over rent control funds was reached yesterday. Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) dropped his battle for more money when he was promised that the request can be renewed in January if the situation then demands it.

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods described the result of the Senate fight as a "reaffirmation of congressional support for effective rent control."

He did not say what he was going to do about his announced plans to lift ceilings in one-third of the areas which still have them.

Woods had said such action would be necessary if his agency got no more money for the current fiscal year than the $17,500,000 figure approved by both the House and Senate.

Douglas, in withdrawing his demand for more money, said senators of both parties had assured him Woods would get extra funds later if he needed it.

But Housing Expediter Silent On Announced Plans To Lift Controls On One-Third Of Areas Affected

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—Rent control officials welcomed today the possibility of more money to enforce rent control ceilings, but still did not withdraw plans to abandon them in many areas.

Losing His Fight On Education Aid

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—Rep. Sims (D-NC) today pressed his fight to force committee action on an aid-to-education bill as civic leaders and lawmakers gathered for another discussion of the hot issue.

Sims appeared to be fighting a losing battle. With tomorrow the deadline, he still needed one more signature on a petition which would force Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) to call together the House Labor and Education Committee for consideration of the bill.

Meanwhile, the committee scheduled a repeat performance of yesterday's round table discussion—which produced little but heated words.

One committee member, Rep. Steed (D-Okl) boycotted the session. Another, Rep. Wood (D-Ga) walked out after charging Lesinski with "stalling" tactics.

While the meeting was attended by spokesmen for business, education, labor, religious and other groups, only CIO legislative representative James B. Carey was heard—and he quickly became embroiled in a sharp exchange with Rep. Werdel (R-Calif.).

Lonely Hearts Slayers Vague On Reasons For Their Crime

Ossining, N.Y., Aug. 23—(AP)—Doomed to die, two "lonely hearts" murderers sat in solitary confinement in separate death houses at Sing Sing prison today as their lawyers started mapping an appeal.

Mrs. Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez, her lover, are under sentence to die in the electric chair during the week beginning Oct. 10.

But their case must be passed upon by the court of appeals. New York state's highest tribunal, there was no indication today as to how long the mandatory appeal would take.

Mrs. Beck, 26-year-old, 300-pound divorcee, and Fernandez, 34 were brought to the prison by automobile last year after being sentenced by State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora in New York City.

The pair was asked the routine questions, including "to what do you attribute your criminal act?" Mrs. Beck replied "something I got into. I had no control."

House Approves Future Spending Authorization

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—The House passed a $1,114,000,000 authorization bill yesterday for flood control and rivers and harbors spending in future years.

Sent to the Senate, where action this session is doubtful, the bill carries authorizations totaling $995,000,000 for flood control work and $119,539,975 for rivers and harbors improvements.

The omnibus measure appropriates no funds, but makes the projects eligible for future appropriations.

Chairman Whittington (D-Miss) of the House Public Works Committee told the House that 70 per cent of the monetary authorization in the bill is for additional work on multi-million dollar projects now under way.

Flatly Opposes Arms Aid Action

Washington, Aug. 23—(AP)—Senator Wherry (R-Neb) announced flatly today that he will oppose any Foreign Arms program at this time.

This stand by the Republican floor leader in the Senate was in line with his day-in-and-day-out criticism of Truman administration policies. He said action now on arms aid would be "just throwing money away" and that Congress should wait until January to review the situation.

Wherry set out his opposition as the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee met jointly to start the stiff task of drafting a measure to supply American arms to (A) Atlantic pact nations; (B) Greece and Turkey; and (C) Iran, Korea and the Philippines.

The anticipated committee struggle over a bill will be to oppose the floor over Foreign policy.

One Senator, who has opposed both the Marshall European Recovery plan and the Atlantic pact, told a reporter privately that a "determined and aggressive" effort will be made to scuttle the arms program.

Advance Made On Leaf Prices

Top-quality leaf was also reported as bringing a better average than on Friday's sale with a considerable quantity ranging around the sixty-five dollar mark.

Poorer grades still dominated the market, though their average price trend showed little improvement.

Raleigh, Aug. 23—(AP)—Tobacco prices were steady yesterday on North Carolina's Eastern flue-cured belt and advanced on the Carolina border belt.

The Federal-State Market News Service said average prices on the Eastern belt for better leaf, most cutters, and medium quality lugs showed slight improvement over Friday.

Poorer quality grades dropped slightly but changes, in all instances, were less than $3 a hundred pounds.

Ministers Deplore New Sunday Theater Hours

The Greenville Ministerial Association has expressed surprise and disappointment at the action of the board of aldermen in recently extending the hours for Sunday movies in Greenville.

In a letter to the mayor and board of aldermen, the association urges the "enactment of laws that will tend to increase rather than lessen respect for God's Holy Day."

The protest of the Ministerial Association follows: "We, the members of the Greenville Ministerial Association, wish to go on record as deploring the action taken recently by the Board of Aldermen by which motion pictures will be operated during church hours."

"We were surprised and disappointed that the leaders of our city took one step more in the direction of complete desecration of the Lord's Day. We had hoped that our city would continue to witness to the presence of the church and its services in our community."

"With this in mind, gentlemen, we ask that you seriously consider the desires of the Christian people of Greenville and enact laws that will tend to increase rather than lessen respect for God's Holy Day."

Motorists Get Deputy's Badge

Lambertville, N.J., Aug. 23—(AP) What with Lambertville's centennial celebration next week and the expected influx of out-of-towners, City Commissioner Howard Holcombe was worried about the traffic problem.

He came up with this solution: Every motorist arriving in town will get a deputy sheriff's badge. Among the duties that go along with the badge is the requirement that "traffic regulations will be enforced and obeyed by this car."

Defiance Of Moscow

The 'Revolt' By Yugoslavia And Defiance Of Finland And Moderate Communists Of Soviet Occupied Germany; Analyst Sees No Bluffing On Either Side

By DeWITT MacKENZIE The defiance of Moscow by Yugoslavia, Finland and the moderate Communists of Soviet occupied Germany gives one to pause for consideration of the significance.

We shall be rash, I think, to jump to conclusions in trying to figure the potentialities of this "revolt" against Moscow, or how far Russia may be prepared to go in maintaining her prestige. For example, take Russia's threatening note to a politically rebellious and defiant Yugoslavia.

Says Fans Want Bergman Back

Rome, Aug. 23—(AP) Ingrid Bergman's fans are clamoring for her to stay in pictures, the actress' personal representative said today.

Joseph Steele, here with the Swedish actress, told a reporter tonight that 60 to 65 per cent of Miss Bergman's fan mail now contains pleas for her to change her mind.

Recover Tobacco Taken From Barn

Lumberton, Aug. 23—(AP)—Sheriff Willis C. Britt said today that almost half a ton of stolen tobacco had been recovered and that one arrest had been made.

The tobacco, suspended on about 800 curing sticks in Archie Britt's barn, was traced along a county road by false clues. Deputies arrested Bill Locklear and lodged him in county jail on a larceny charge.

Bond Issue Sold

Raleigh, August 23—(AP)—A $250,000 school building bond issue of the Greenville school district was sold by the local government commission today.

The bond issue, with an average maturity of 17.32 years was sold at 3.52 per cent interest.

Low bidders were Vance Securities, J. Lee Perler and Kirchofer and Arnold Associates.

Already Collect Ten Percent Of Campaign Goal

Approximately 10 per cent of the goal set for the EOTC athletic scholarship drive already has been collected by members of the solicitations committee, Chairman E. H. Rawl announced today.

Rawl said reports from committee members show over $2,300 of the $20,000 quota for the athletic scholarships this fall already has been turned over to Treasurer J. Herbert Waldrop.

The chairman today urged committee members to contact persons on their solicitations lists as soon as possible so the drive for the athletic scholarships may be brought to a close at the earliest possible date.

Local Guardsmen At Fort Jackson For Encampment

By BOB CARSON
Battery "C" of the 890th Field Artillery Battalion arrived at Fort Jackson, S. C., last Sunday night, Aug. 14, to begin their annual two weeks encampment. Part of the battery made the trip down by motor convoy and the rest of the unit went by bus to Goldsboro and proceeded the rest of the way by train.

Battery "C" arrived at Fort Jackson about 8:30 Sunday night, were refreshed by a hot meal and assigned to their barracks. Monday was spent in unloading equipment and preparing for a three-day field problem. The weather has been unseasonably hot down here for the past couple of weeks but there are ample Post Exchange facilities for all troops.

On Tuesday our battalion took to the field on a three-day combat problem. All the artillery units went into firing positions and regular combat security was observed. As usual on our first night in the field and our portable homes, (commonly referred to as Pup Tents), this area was saturated with a record rainfall. Seven and one half inches of rain fell during the night. Each tent was therefore equipped with running water. As a whole Battery "C" fared pretty good; only two or three men got some of their things damp during the night. They were able to dry their stuff the next day. Our cooks did an excellent job in the field and there was plenty of good chow for everybody and enough left over for seconds for the chow hounds.

Last Saturday was Governors Day and all of the North Carolina National Guardsmen participated in a parade for Governor Kerr Scott. Battery "C" was commended for the fine showing they made in the parade. After a short talk by Gov. Scott all of the Guardsmen were dismissed for the weekend. Various trips to the beaches, lakes and nearby cities was the order of the day. Recreation is very important for the morale of the troops and every attempt is being made to utilize all available recreational facilities.

Battery "C" will go on the range this Wednesday and Thursday to fire their guns (155 mm. Howitzers). Last year at Fort Bragg, Battery "C" was one of the top firing batteries in the battalion but they are going to have to work hard this year as the competitive spirit between batteries is very keen.

All North Carolina Guardsmen will move out next Sunday to return to their various home stations throughout the state. The training they receive at these annual encampments will not only tend to make healthier men out of them but they will cultivate new friendships and begin to realize that paying taxes is only a small part of the duties of a citizen of the United States.

See Big Loss To N. C. Through Lack Of Maintenance, Repairs

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Aug. 23 — A committee headed by Dr. W. A. Stumpf of Duke University has just reported that North Carolina taxpayers stand to lose a lot of money through inadequate attention to repairs and maintenance of public school buildings.

This is not a new thought. When the idea was first recognized or who promulgated it is lost to history. Some ancient person expressed it in different language long before the editor of the collection of Biblical Proverbs carried it forward. Later still some other person phrased it in the familiar words "A stitch in time saves nine," and "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Your reporter has made three statewide tours of inspection with the advisory budget commission checking on building needs at the various state institutions. At almost every port of call illustrations were pointed out of major repair needs, or even necessity to tear down a building and construct a new one, where a few dollars judiciously spent in repairs over the years would have saved the investment.

One case comes to mind. The 1944 inspection trip discovered at one institution that about three feet of metal gutter had broken loose on the corner of a four story building. It could have been repaired for something like $25. But material and labor were hard to get during the war. By 1946 the situation was much worse. Several additional feet of gutter had broken loose and the stucco wall was damaged. Labor and materials were still hard to get, and nothing was done. By the 1948 visit a major reconstruction job was required.

There was even some question of whether it would be more economic to dismantle the whole wing of the building and start over with a new one. Further report on the particular item will be made after the 1950 budget inspection tour. Similar situations could be cited at every state institution and almost every schoolhouse or local public building.

Occasion for the study made by the Stumpf commission was the venture on a fifty million dollar program of state aid for local school buildings. It will get much more attention than reports on state buildings. State buildings are relatively few and are located in a few communities. There is only one courthouse in each county. But there is at least one school house in every district and the object lesson is much closer to hand.

Inadequacy of funds and divided responsibility have been the chief cause for lack of attention to repairs of public buildings. Dr. Stumpf's commission recommends that larger proportion of building money should be earmarked for maintenance; and that even for local school houses the state should assume major responsibility for providing training and certification of building custodians.

From year to year individual members of the advisory budget commission have made similar recommendations with respect to state buildings. Somehow when they got around to making up official reports for the general assembly, and when the question came up in the legislature, the matter of repairs and maintenance has gotten the usual treatment accorded a red-headed step child.

It is possible that attention now focused on local buildings which so many more taxpayers can see and where the repair jobs are naturally less expensive, may bring about enough interest among taxpayers to protect heavy capital investment by forcing custodians to keep up the buildings as they should be kept.

VISITORS IN CITY

Discusses Social Attitude Survey

By WYATT BROWN

The results of a questionnaire presented to children in the Greenville schools and some neighboring high schools were given to the Rotarians by Rotarian Carl Adams, professor of psychology at East Carolina Teachers College, last night together with some explanatory comments. Some of the Rotarians answered the questionnaire at the suggestion of Dr. Adams.

One of the most encouraging figures was in answer to the question "Do you think that Negroes should have as good schools, churches, theaters, etc. as white people have?" Out of two hundred and thirty high school students answering two hundred and nineteen said, "yes."

At the outset Dr. Adams told of a survey made among school children which satisfied the investigators that there is no correlation between cheating and other more significant acts. In the questionnaire put out by the ECTC psychology department the students replied "yes" one hundred and seventy-five, "no" fifty-two to the question "Do you believe that a child would cheat on a test and yet would not think of stealing?"

In summing up the whole questionnaire Dr. Adams said he found a fine social attitude in the students participating.

Guests of the Club last night were Jimmie Brewer of Greenville and Ed Thomas of Atlanta, Ga. Visiting Rotarians were Dr. J. L. Newborn, Arch Flanagan, and Ed Nash Warren of the Farmville Club; A. F. Rowe and Frank Dupree of the Ayden Club. The program was presented by Johnnie Overton, Ercell Webb, club president presided.

Cases Tried In Police Court Friday Morning

NOT SO HOT

The local Weather Bureau reports that the highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 86 degree. Lowest last night was 70 and at 8 p. m. today it was 76. Highest temperature here a year ago yesterday was 87 degrees.

Nearly six inches of rain has fallen in this area during Aug. Rainfall for the same period last year was 2.42 inches. Mrs. C. E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau, reported today.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE WISDOM? Walter Savage Landor, the great English writer who died almost 100 years ago, had an unfortunate experience in his life which contributed much to his literary success.

Landor was the son of a wealthy household. During the Napoleonic Wars he organized a regiment to serve in Spain against the Dictator and supported this regiment at his own expense. Suddenly, after a military defeat and other unfortunate circumstances, his regiment disappeared over night, and the young hero returned to England in a great hurry as he had left in a few years before. Landor's military career was over, but his biographer says that he brought back with him in his memory the material for the sublime poem published in the language of Milton and the last masterpiece of Shelley and the first masterpiece of Keats—the lofty tragedy of Count Julian.

It is the old story over again of turning a failure into a success of picking up the broken pieces of a ruined project upon which one had set his hopes, and finding when they are put together again, that they make something much better than the original project. Life's great successes have frequently come out of his tragedies. When the courageous find themselves apparently defeated, they always ask the question, "Where do we go from here?"

THE MECHANICAL BRAIN

Scientists have announced that the day of the thinking machine may be nearer at hand than most people realize, and in view of the world situation, man perhaps is in need of something which will aid him in his thinking, and direct his actions into more constructive lines.

The prospects of a mechanical brain may tax the imagination of many people who try to comprehend just what occurs in the wires and coils of the man-made thinking machine. But at times it is even more difficult to understand what goes on in the brains of men.

A thinking machine of the future may lighten the burden upon men in the business world, and make simple operations out of complicated mathematical problems. The answer to the restlessness and chaos which today haunt the footsteps of men in every nation, however, will not be erased by the fabrication of a mechanical brain. The goals of world peace, security, fellowship and brotherhood will be attained not through the use of mechanical geniuses, but only when the men themselves more diligently use the powers of thought with which they were endowed by God—not by man.

POLITICS — A combination of politics and personalities occupied a good part of the time of the wild life resources commission Monday. Discussion revolved around demand of O. L. Woodhouse, newly appointed commissioner for the first wild life district, that he be allowed to name protectors in his territory because he couldn't do a good job unless these men were loyal to him. Political implications were answered by Floyd Crouse, oldest member in point of service on the board, when he said the proposed Woodhouse system had been tried and would not work; that the state wild life resource board was policy making and not administrative.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Last night as I walked in from work the phone was ringing. It was Sidney Johnson, who wanted to know if Wife Rachel and I wanted to shoot a few hands of bridge. His conversation began, "Whatcha doing?"

My reply: "I just walked in from work with a hatchet in my hand." Sidney was alarmed. "Listen," he reasoned, "I know you get hard up for column material sometimes, but control yourself. You've been reading too much about those hatchet murders lately. Think of all the bridge we've played together. Remember that you party back when we were single? It rained the whole weekend and everybody was bored stiff except us. We played bridge 15 hours a day."

Of course Sidney was kidding, but he really didn't realize why I had brought the hatchet home until it reminded him that I had built some shelves for our breakfast room. Then he understood and said, "Oh, I see. You're going to chop up the shelves so you'll have some firewood when winter comes."

Sidney has seen the shelves, which made his statement even more insulting. Wife Rachel likes them fine, but I must admit that she's prejudiced. And I'll bet that those shelves are the only ones in town that have automobile paint on them (sold exclusively in Greenville by you know who). Rachel has a hard time keeping me from selling our guests on a paint job for their cars, hoping to sell the paint.

ing a dam at White's mill pond in Halifax County, and secondary impounding basins on Grassy Creek in Granville and Little Island Creek in Vance, depend to large extent upon completion of the Bug's Island federal project. At White's Mill Mattamuskeet Lake in Hyde County and Lake Charles Camp in Nash County there is the problem of leasing from individual land owners and co-operation with various other organizations. The same overlapping jurisdiction was encountered about a house for the Uwharrie game refuge manager and establishment of jurisdictional lines in national forest areas.

Somehow they can't seem to visualize the same paint that is on the shelves on their cars. Maybe it's because the shelves are painted white, but what's wrong with painting an automobile white? All of these words have passed and still the reason for the hatchet hasn't come to light. For some unknown reason the shelves refuse to fit the wall that they were built to lean against. No doubt the wall is leaning, because I refuse to admit that the shelves weren't built right. With the hatchet I'll whittle them until they fit, even if the result is firewood.

Now I wonder why I've spent all of this effort defending the shelves when it really wasn't my idea to build them in the first place. Being a husband subjects a man to certain things like mowing the lawn, emptying the garbage and building shelves. Of all things, the garbage is the worst, even more so than being insulted about the shelves. If there is a person in Greenville who can say something favorable about garbage I would certainly like to hear it.

Being the breadwinner in the household is, so they tell me, a responsible "position," but I doubt it. How can a man with such a "responsible position" be required to empty the garbage? It beats me.

After a long search I have found one silver lining. There is a certain amount of sport involved in sneaking your garbage, when your car is full, into the neighbor's larger can. And J. D. Wilson, my neighbor, killed this joy when he offered to let me use his can anytime mine is full. Have you ever heard of such a killjoy? And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By ED CREAGH (For Hal Boyle) New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—I was going to tell you today about how to play Canasta, a card game that is having a great vogue among Canasta players, but something came up and—

Well, why be coy about it? What came up is that my brand new Canasta rule book (price $1) got ripped down the middle, my wife went to bed with a sick headache, the Larsons don't love us any more, and I've got to buy a television set.

School Days Should Be Happy Days

Vacation is a good time for parents to take stock of their children's vision. If your children dislike to read; if they are not as good at games as their playmates; if their schoolmarks last term were not what you hoped for or expected—then—by all means—look to their vision... undoubtedly the seat of all the trouble. Do it now—so that they may enjoy their vacation, and so that they can do good work next school term—easily and without effort.

Ridgeway At Five Points, Greenville, N. C.

This sorry sequence began at breakfast last Friday. My wife looked at me over the top of her newspaper, waited for permission to speak, and inquired "Why don't we learn to play Canasta?"

"Why should we?" I asked jovially. My mouth, however, was filled at the time with yogurt (a milk food favored by yogurt eaters) and my wife understood me to say: "Why, certainly."

So Friday night found me opening the Canasta rule book with all the enthusiasm of a boy confronted by "Elementary Algebra" on the first day of school. Five seconds later I clapped the book shut.

"We can't do it," I said, grinning. "Canasta takes two decks and we've only got that one we keep around in case a gypsy fortune-teller should drop in." My wife took it very well. Too well.

"All right," she said. "Cards can wait. We'll drop in on the Larsons instead. I know you don't like them but—" "I don't dislike them," I objected. "It's just that I can't stand them. But they do have a television set. At least I can watch the fights." Bill and Edith Larsen practically kissed us.

"Goody," Edith said, "now we can play that new game everybody's talking about—Canasta." And we did—for one solid hour and 42 minutes. That is the others tried to teach me the game while I kept one despairing eye on the silent and dark TV set.

They told me about melding. And about wild deuces and jokers. And about "going out" and "going out" concealed." It seems there is a difference. And about black threes, which contain more mysteries than Poe found in the Rue Morgue.

"You got the fidgets, Pal?" Bill asked finally. "You act even stupider than usual tonight."

I was about to reply cuttingly when I noticed that my fistful of cards included some matching kings, queens and nines. "Hey," I said, "I can what-d'ya-call-it. I can meld."

Edith glared. "It's a rule of this game," she informed me chillingly, "that you say, 'Partner, may I go out?'"

I looked at my wife. I looked at the TV set. Something inside me mopped.

"Partner," I said, rising, "May I go out?" And I made the door before she could answer.

Well, the rule book was torn in half when I got home, rather late. And the bottle of headache tablets was missing from the medicine chest so I knew my wife was feeling poorly. I didn't disturb her. I slept on the studio couch.

"I was thinking," I said at breakfast, "that you're right about our needing a television set. I could order it through Bill's firm as a sort of peace offering."

She smiled and then started to laugh and everything was all right.

In's And Out's In Getting Veterans' NSLI Dividend

Raleigh, N.C. (Special)—Here are the most important things for World War II veterans to remember when applying for their National Service Life Insurance dividend, according to J. M. Caldwell, Director of the N.C. Veterans Commission.

No. 1—Wait until August 29 before doing anything.

No. 2—Fill out and sign a dividend application form from one of the offices of the local County Veterans Service Officers or from any local veterans organization or any post office.

No. 3—Read the first section of the form, which is devoted to instructions, and decide whether the procedure is understood. If not, ask the County Service Officer for help in filling it out correctly. (This will mean more prompt action on the part of the VA and a quicker monetary return to the veteran.)

No. 4—When filling out the form, be as neat as possible, especially in name spelling and address listing. Be sure to list an address at which mail can be received for the six-month period following the date of application.

No. 5—If the veteran does not remember his policy number, which is requested on the blank, don't worry about it. The VA wants those numbers for ready reference, but they are not essential. There is also a blank space for veterans to write in their "claim numbers," if any. If a veteran has been issued such a number, the Service Officer will have it in that vet's records. If none was issued, forget it. The VA has the name, rank and serial number of every eligible veteran.

No. 6—Once the application is in the mail, don't worry about how soon payment will be made, and don't use the anticipated amount as a promissory note for personal debts. The VA will have about 17,000,000 veterans' records to check, so individual correspondence will only delay YOUR dividend.

Beneficiaries of deceased veterans who are entitled to a share of the refund need not bother with the form. They will be mailed a check by the VA.

Veterans may clip out this article to serve as a guide in applying for the dividends. Do not clip represented forms from newspapers and submit them, however. Only the government printed cardboard forms will be accepted and processed.

The local County Service Officer and the District Service Offices of the N. C. Veterans Commission will be glad to aid veterans in filing for the NSLI refund, and so will post officers of all the veterans organizations or their representatives.

Volcanic Island Is Doubled By Recent Eruption

Auckland, New Zealand—(P)—Seen and unseen volcanoes play strange tricks in the South Pacific. The latest stunt doubled the size of Mathef Island, a tiny spot on the Pacific 200 miles east of New Caledonia.

The change in Mathef Island was found by the New Zealand naval frigate Pukaki. Until recently, Mathef Island was 30 acres of land with a slight volcanic peak. Now it has a second volcanic peak, 500 feet high, beside the first. It is 12000 yards long today and 800 yards across the widest spot.

The sides fall steeply to the sea. Crew of the Pukaki saw wisps of steam and smoke coming up from the rock, but there was no sign of volcanic action from the new peak. Mathef Island was discovered in 1788. No people live there, but countless sea birds make their homes on the island.

Winterville Boys Attend Camp At White Lake

Twenty members of the Future Farmers of America of Winterville returned at the recent weekend from a week's outing at camp at White Lake. Prof. J. H. Mobley, agriculture teacher at the Winterville high school, accompanied them. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cox of Winterville were special guests of the Future Farmers of America.

The boys made an excellent record in camp, winning second place with a total of 180 points. The Aurora Future Farmers of America won first place with 205 points. Winterville boys won first place in two contests. Donald Paramore and Ben Stocks won in shuffleboard; Thomas Nobles, (22 out of 25 shots) in basketball; foul shooting. Winterville boys won second place in volley ball. Dick Buck won second place in table tennis.

Fourteen high schools from various parts of the state were represented. Polk county FFA boys traveled the longest distance to attend the camp, Mobley said.

The Winterville boys went on a tour Thursday and inspected Greene brothers' mammoth lumber mill, where they saw from 8,000 to 10,000 feet of lumber sawed per hour. This was the first time any of the students had observed a band-saw outting logs. The boys went from the mill to the field to observe polled Hereford beef cattle, owned by the same people. They were shown some of the finest beef animals in this breed. They saw a bull that the Greene brothers paid $10,000 for, and another one, which they raised and for which they have refused a $15,000 offer. The Winterville boys inspected the pasture and barns.

The Future Farmers of America summer camp has been open for 11 weeks. It is estimated that 4,212 boys of the state have attended this summer.

Russia Restores Its Old Kremlins

Moscow—(P)—The Moscow Kremlin is only one—and of course the most famous—among its many kremlins. A "kremlin" in old Russia was a fortified center of a town, usually erected on a hill or elevated area, and walled with wood piles or brick. It was the center of defense of the city—and in the early days often contained the whole city—when the Mongols, Tartars or other enemies attacked. In connection with a general campaign to restore historical monuments throughout the country in many centers restoration work has been undertaken on local kremlins.

Discuss Hopes For Oil Wells

London—(P)—The Petroleum Information Bureau, in a memorandum issued in London, said there "is a vast area of potentially oil bearing land in Latin America still to be explored." One of the most promising regions now being explored, is the Montana zone, which includes parts of Peru, Ecuador and Colombia, at the foothills of the Andes.

But the memorandum warned that only if sufficiently large resources were discovered there would the world oil trade benefit from it. With enough production, the construction of a pipeline across the Andes to the Pacific Ocean would be justified, it said. Private companies are reluctant to engage in the heavy expenses needed for wide exploration work in view of "restrictive oil legislation" by some countries.

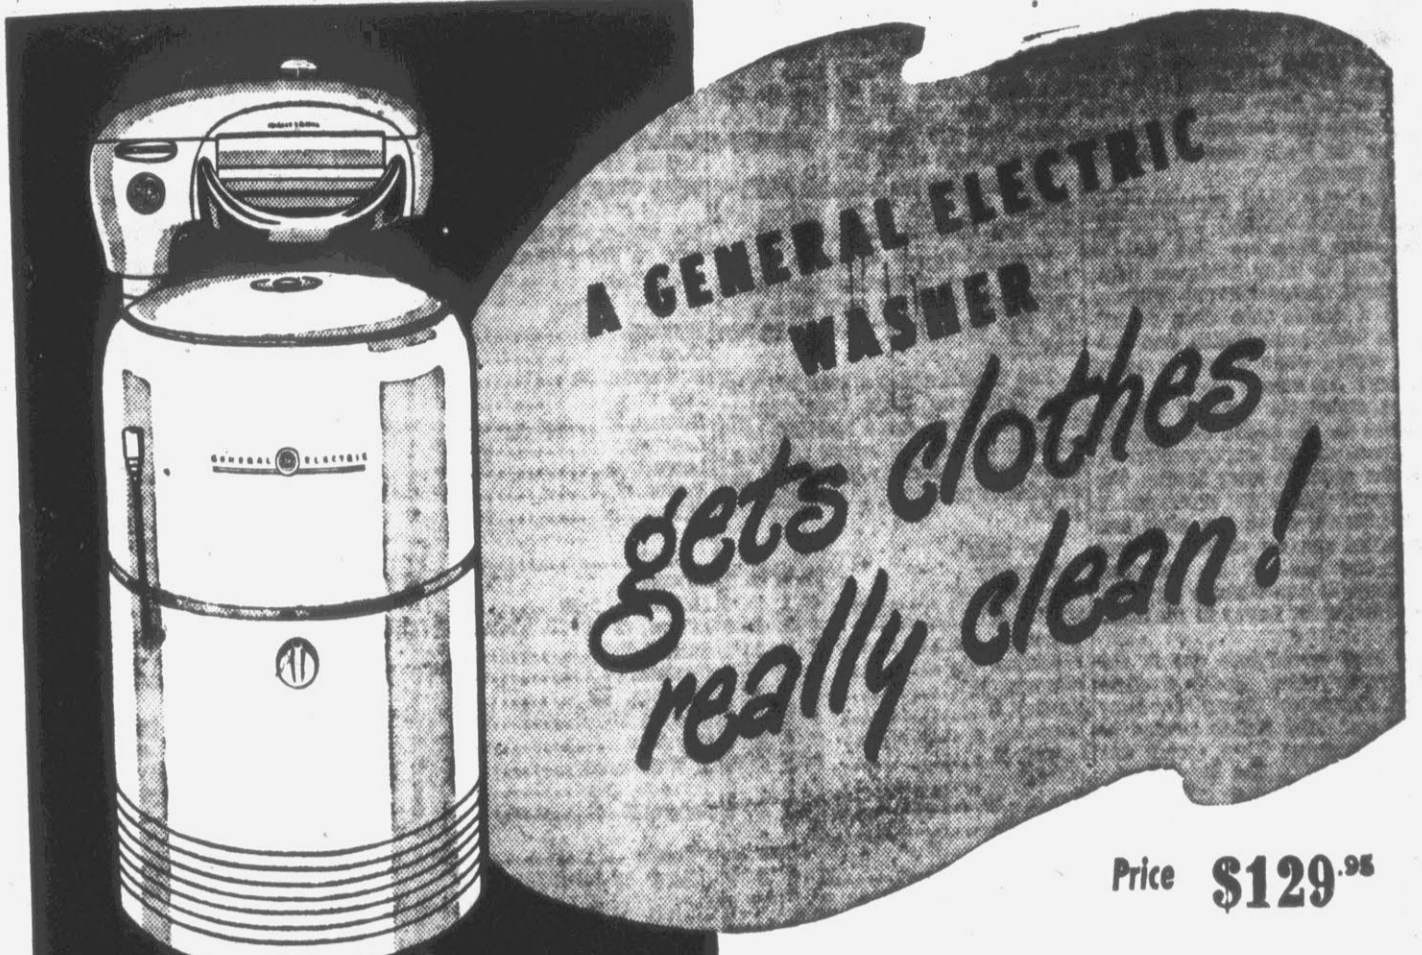

Phenomenal waves ten to 15 feet high, traveling as much as 45 miles an hour, are formed by the spring tidal "bore" in the mouth of the Amazon river, says the Encyclopedia Americana.

Jays Take Second Game By The Fatal One-Run Margin

Greenies Get Off To Fast Start But Held Down After Three-Run Outburst In First

By BERT MOYE

The Roanoke Rapids Jays swept the two-game series with the Greenies by taking the second game of the series over in Roanoke Rapids last night by the score of 4 to 3.

The Greenies did all their scoring in the first frame and after that were completely baffled by the offerings of Alton Brown, who let the Greenies down with only three hits during the contest. All of the runs by the locals were of the unearned variety.

In the first, Paul Strausser and Hubert Smith reached base on errors. John Tepedino flew out to right field to bring Strausser home from third. Manager Pappy Williams drilled a double into deep center field to bring home Smith and Williams scored when Varney reached first on a Jay error.

That ended the scoring for the Greenies for the night, even though they had several opportunities to knot the count in later frames. For the second night in succession a pinch-hitter went to the plate and was called out on strikes without taking the bat off his shoulder. Last night it was Charlie Graham, pinch-hitting for Lewey in the ninth inning.

The Jays scored one run in the first frame when Eddie Jackson walked. Manager Glenn Lockamy singled and Milt Bolick singled to bring in Jackson. They scored another singleton in the third frame when Milt Bolick led off with a double and came home on Val Gonzalez's timely single.

What proved to be their winning runs came in the sixth frame. Dick Beard led off with a single and was caught stealing for the first out. Dewey Marling flew out to right field for the second out. Alton Brown reached first when John Tepedino threw wild to first. Eddie Jackson followed with a double and then Manager Glenn Lockamy came through with a single to bring home Brown and Jackson for the winning run. Both of the markers were of the unearned variety.

Frank Lapovicy started on the mound for the Greenies and after giving up two hits and two walks one run with only one man out in the first frame, was relieved by Jim Lewey, who went the rest of the route for the Greenies, giving up nine hits and three runs.

Milt Bolick with a double and two singles led the 11-hit attack off the two Greenie pitchers.

Manager Pappy Williams with a double, John Tepedino and Sindo Valle with a single each accounted for the three hits received by the Greenies.

The Greenies play a twin bill with the Goldsboro Bugs here tonight with the first game starting at 7 o'clock. So far this season the Bugs have been victorious in nine of the seventeen contests between the two clubs.

Carolina Sales Wins 10-6 Game

The first game of the playoff for the city championship got under way last night with a flurry of hits on both teams and a four-run first inning for each. The clincher for Sales was a fourmaster with the sackers loaded by E. Warren in the bottom of the sixth and they won going away by the score of 10-6.

This evening the second game of the two-out-of-three series will be held at Third Street diamond.

Yankees Buy Up More 'Artillery' In Johnny Mize

New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—The New York Yankees hauled in another piece of heavy artillery today for their American League pennant push—the Giants' home run specialist, big John Mize.

In a sudden and surprising move, the Yankees bought the 36-year-old first baseman from their National League neighbors for an undisclosed sum and told him to get in uniform right away.

The deal exploded with such unexpectedness that Mize had to rush to catch a midnight train for Detroit, where the Yankees open a two-game series today.

The announcement was made shortly after dinner time last night. "We've sold Johnny Mize to the Yankees for an undisclosed sum," said Eddie Brannick, secretary of the Giants. "He was waived out of the National League. He joins the club immediately."

He added that the deal was cooked up in a meeting among the Yankee co-owners, Dan Topping and Del Webb, and the head man of the Giants, Horace Stoneham. No money was disclosed. The Giants were supposed to have put a $200,000 price tag on the floric faced first-sacker when Brooklyn expressed an interest in him in the spring.

Mize, who has hit more homers than any active player in the majors, probably will move right in behind Joe DiMaggio in the Yankees' batting order—the No. 5 spot. That will permit Tommy Henrich, who has been holding down first, to return to his favorite position in right field.

Mize is a long-ball hitter who as a lefthanded pull swinger should find the short rightfield barrier at Yankee Stadium to his liking.

He has poled out 315 home runs during his major league career. The Yanks' DiMaggio is second with 314.

O-O-O

The loss for the Greenies last night was their fourth straight loss by a one-run margin and marked the 18th loss of the season that the Greenies have lost by one run. The victory for Alton Brown was his fourth over the Greenies this season as against three reverses. Lewey's loss to the Jays was his second as against one win. Greenville has now won 12 contests from the Jays this season and have dropped six. The loss away from home last night was number 36 for the Greenies. The Greenies are currently seven and one-half games behind the league leading Rocky Mount Leafs, five games behind the second-place Kinston Eagles and three games behind the third place New Bern Bears. Fifth place Goldsboro is three full games behind the Greenies.

Ladies Night will be observed at Guy Smith Stadium tonight when the Bugs meet the Greenies in a double-header with the first game a seven-inning affair scheduled to begin at 7:00 o'clock. All ladies will be admitted free whether they have a male escort or not. Also don't forget those handsome prizes which are awarded each night that the Greenies play at home.

Carl Churchill, sportswriter for the Roanoke Rapids Daily Herald stated the following in his Monday column of the paper:

"Greenie will no doubt wind up in the first division and the playoffs but that is about as far as they'll get. They have neither the offensive power or the necessary pitching to stand much of a show in the post season contests."

Bull Hamons, manager of the New Bern Bears, was suspended indefinitely and fined $25 Monday by President Ray Goodmon of the Coastal Plain League.

The action reportedly came after a request for such action by fans and city officials of Goldsboro. President George Scott of the Bears was advised of the action by telephone. He stated he understood that Goldsboro club officials had no part in the request.

The complaint came following Friday night's game in which Goldsboro defeated New Bern, 6-3 at Goldsboro. Hamons is alleged to have cursed fans and officials after the game. This is the third game this season that Hamons has been suspended.

ures computed through last Sunday's games. He was 11 points ahead of runner-up George Kell of Detroit, who had 345.

Rickey Says Pennant Hangs In Balance On Meeting Cardinals

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
A world series atmosphere descended on Ebbets Field today with the St. Louis Cardinals in Flatbush to take on the Brooklyn Dodgers in a series that Branch Rickey claims will decide the National League pennant.

Rickey, great white father of the flock, put the pressure on this series by predicting the winner will represent the senior circuit in the world series.

Stan Musial and company, leading the Dodgers and the league by two games, will stick around for two days during which they clash with the Brooks three times. The proud Red Birds will display their talents twice today, once in the afternoon and again at night. Brooklyn citizens will be charged separate admissions for the privilege of watching these two old antagonists lock horns twice on the same day.

Receipts of the first game will go to charities in Brooklyn, New York and St. Louis. The opener is a play-off of the July 25th game which ended in a 4-4 tie. That game, by mutual agreement, was halted to allow both teams to entrain west.

A Cardinal sweep of the three-game set would boost the Red Bird lead to five games. A Dodger grand slam would enable Brooklyn to take a one game margin. The Cards need to win only one game in order to leave Ebbets Field with the lead in their possession. For today's doubleheader Al Brazie and Red Munger or Howie Pollet are expected to pitch for the Cards against Joe Hatten, and Preacher Roe or Rex Barney.

Brooklyn will take the field attempting to snap a three game losing streak. The Dodgers dropped their third straight in Boston yesterday, 7-6 in the only game in either League.

A couple of former Dodgers, Pete Reiser and Ed Stanky ruined their former mates. Reiser drove home three runs on a triple and single while Stanky socked his first homer of the season for the Braves.

Middleweight Bout Stakes Mean A Lot To Contenders

New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—Both now ring-scarred he is when you think that he fought for the championship back in 1940—twice, as a matter of face, losing both times by decisions to Billy Soose, then the titleholder.

Robbie, on the other hand, is in no danger of losing his welterweight title. But it is doubtful if he'll ever again make the division limit of 147 pounds. That makes it imperative that he win if he hopes to cash in.

Belloise's strategy for the fight is well known. He's going to step in and fight Ray all the way, trying for a knockout.

Robbie's manager, George Gainford, is making Ray move faster. He said Robbie was taking it easy against some of his sparring partners, laying back and waiting for a one-punch opening.

Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the major league record for most games won in the first season—28.

Homemade Boat Is Leading Field

Chicago, Aug. 23—(AP)—A kid from San Diego, Calif., with a homemade boat was the "man" to beat today as the international star class yachting championships moved into their second day at Belmont harbor.

Lowell North, 19-year-old student at California Tech, held the lead over 39 veteran skippers with his triumph in yesterday's opening dash around a 10-mile triangular course. The series includes five races.

North, who worked night and day to build his North Star II in time for the championships, gave the "old salts" a lesson in skipping as he finished in 2 hours, 26 minutes and 17 seconds.

Robinson Still Far Out In Front

New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—Jackie Robinson continues to show the way in the National League's individual batting race but the speedy Brooklyn Dodger second baseman's average is sinking.

Robinson, including games of Sunday, was hitting at a .358 gait, a drop of seven points from his average of a week ago.

The Dodger keystone however, is nursing a sore left leg, suffered Aug. 9 in Philadelphia when he was injured stealing home.

Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals is a distant second. Slaughter is hammering away at a .325 pace.

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

AP Newsfeatures
 by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 15
 With the arrival of the police, some order was brought into the Zodiac. Men were stationed at all the exits and were turning back those who attempted to leave.

"What's this all about?" Lieutenant Fletcher of Homicide addressed a worried Luigi. "Someone phoned that there'd been a shooting."

"I'll take you to Mr. Holway. He carried Miss Lynn to her dressing room," the other replied, leading the way.

Without further comment they followed him toward the dressing rooms at the back of the club. Meanwhile, the club patrons were being lined up while their names and addresses were written down by a sergeant.

Holway met them at the door of Cherry's room, his features devoid of expression. He acted like a man in a trance.

"She's in here." He stepped back into the room. "There's nothing anybody can do—she's dead." There was a heavy finality about the words.

The detective walked over toward the couch where Cherry lay. "Better phone the medical examiner, and get the boys with the cameras." He turned to the policeman who had accompanied him. "As the latter went off, Fletcher looked at Holway.

"You carried her in here?"

"Yes. At first I thought she was alive, but she must have been dead when I picked her up."

"Where'd it happen?"

"She was in the middle of her number. She fell at the edge of the dance floor. I'd been talking to Senator Morrow when the music stopped in the middle of the piece. Everybody was quiet for a moment, and then a woman screamed. I couldn't see what had happened and I started to make my way through the crowd. Then I saw her. My God, Lieutenant, why would anyone do this? Why shoot Cherry of all people? Everybody was her friend." He sat down in a chair, his head in his hands.

Lieutenant Fletcher regarded him thoughtfully. "She was your wife, I understand."

Holway nodded.

"She never told you that anyone had threatened her—never mentioned she was afraid of anyone?"

"No—and yet something had been troubling her the last few weeks. She seemed to have some problem on her mind, but when I spoke to her about it, she laughed it off. I couldn't get anything out of her."

"Did you ever stop to think, Mr. Holway, that you might have enemies who'd try to get at you through her?"

"I never thought about it that way," Holway answered hopelessly. "I can't think of anyone who would have any reason to, although I grant you that in this business you can go along without making some enemies."

"Well—Fletcher looked about him—there's nothing more we can do down here for the present. I'd like you, Mr. Holway, to come upstairs, if you will, and show me the exact spot where it happened."

"I've given orders," Fletcher addressed Holway, "not to let any of the reporters in for the present. Later, you'll have to handle them whichever way you think fit. I'm afraid it can't be hushed up—she was pretty prominent. By the way, I wonder if you could point out this senator you were talking to. I'd like to have a word with him."

They found him calmly sitting at his own table.

Holway made the introduction.

"If you don't need me for a few moments, Lieutenant, there are several things I'll have to attend to."

"Certainly," Fletcher nodded. "I'll see you later."

"Senator Morrow," he said, when Holway had gone. "I can imagine that you are aware of the rather strange circumstances connected with this business. So far no one has come forward who admits to having heard or seen anything that will give us a clue. Don't misunderstand me. It's merely a routine elimination of all logical possibilities. I understand that Mr. Holway was with you for some time this evening just before the shooting—is that right?"

"Yes," the other replied. "I sent a waiter over to his table with a note. There was a matter I wanted to discuss with him. A young lady was with him. For a short while between her numbers, Mrs. Holway also joined them. I believe."

"And this matter you wished to discuss?" Fletcher pursued.

"Purely a business proposition. Holway is trying to interest me in."

"I see. What happened then?"

"The lights were dimmed," the senator continued, "and Mrs. Holway began to sing. Neither of us paid much attention until the music stopped . . . and you know what happened . . ."

try, the same being in Winterville Township.
 Dated this 10th day of August, 1949.
ROBERT BOOTH, Commissioner
 Aug. 9-16-28-30.

MEN READ CAREFULLY
 Thursday, August 25th at 11 a. m. sharp. I want to talk to 8 men who are really ambitious in securing a position that will give them the opportunity of making money. It doesn't matter what your past work has been, all we ask is that you be willing to study and learn as we teach you our work. It will be necessary to get along on $75.00 per week for the first four weeks while learning. You must be able to give the names of three people who will vouch for your honesty and integrity. We prefer men who are married or have some responsibility. Car essential. Therefore, if you are of good character, honest, a willing worker, neat in appearance see Mr. F. V. Shaver at the Proctor Hotel, Greenville, N. C., August 25th at 11 a. m. 23-3

You ought to be driving a '49 PONTIAC

It's a Wonderful Car—a Wonderful Buy!

Wherever you go you hear people talking about the new Pontiac. Naturally, a great many people talk first about Pontiac's outstanding beauty. A great many others say they have heard reports of Pontiac's performance, its alertness in traffic, its smooth luxurious ride and the wonderful convenience of GM Hydra-Matic Drive. Still others tell us what they have heard about Pontiac's economy. And well they might, for Pontiac is sensibly priced, just about the very lowest. And it is so thoroughly dependable that it will give years of pleasure and superb performance with only minimum servicing. Come in soon and get the whole Pontiac story.

'Dream House' Is White Elephant To Its Owners

New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—Add housing problems:

A two-story "dream house" exhibited in the west 52nd street night club belt overshadowed by the towers of Rockefeller Center, was won in a drawing three weeks ago by a student veteran's wife.

She and her husband haven't been able to figure out a way to use the six-room prefabricated house. And they fear notice from the U. S. Internal Revenue Department that they'll have to pay taxes on the value, $15,000.

So they announced last night they would be glad to give back the house to the American Women's Voluntary Services in return for the $500 bonus paid for the winning ticket.

The chief problem is finding a place to move the house from a parking lot at 52nd street and the avenue of the Americas (Sixth avenue).

Mrs. Edna Birnbaum, 63, assistant supervisor of nurses at a hospital, won the house. She and her husband, Alfred, 30, had vision of a better life.

But their joy soon was ruined by the prospects of the costs of collapsing, moving, re-erecting and connecting the house, plus parking lot fees of $50 a day during the delay, and the income tax liability.

The Birnbaums offered unsuccessfully to give the house back to the American Women's Voluntary Services for $3,000.

Then the "lucky" couple tried to sell the house, but prospective purchasers shied away when they learned the costs ahead.

Birnbaum's brother, Rudolph, a lawyer, was called on for advice. He ran into a bunch of headaches, and finally made the 50-cent offer last night.

The parking lot owner, Jerome Voletsky, said he had arranged to have the building dismantled today and moved at his own expense into storage at the Plainfield Lumber and Supply Company, Plainfield, N. J., which erected the "dream house" last January.

The yellow "dream house" was very much a white elephant today.

Beauty Contest

An outstanding feature of the "Farmers' Day" celebration in Greenville on Saturday, September 3, will be the beauty contest at Wright auditorium, on the college campus, that night at 7:15.

Young women from towns of 2,500 or less population are eligible to enter.

Van C. Fleming, Jr., Steering Committee chairman, said $600 in cash prizes will be awarded. Three hundred dollars to the girl winning first place; $200 to second place winner and $100 to third place winner.

Contestants should contact Milton Adams, Beauty Contest chairman, at the State Bank and Trust Company, for full information.

The "Farmers' Day" festivities will start with a parade at 10:30 a. m., followed by U. S. Senator Frank A. Graham in an address at the courthouse.

Australians Good But Test Coming

New York, Aug. 23—(AP)—Australia's hopes of bringing the Davis Cup back down under were enhanced greatly by the victory in the National doubles of Bill Sidwell and Jack Brown.

But, all the hoopla over the Aussies being an almost even money choice to take tennis' premier title home, is just a little premature.

That the Aussies have a good team—probably the best since 1939 when they won the cup—is undeniable.

They'll still have to contend with Ted Schroeder, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, Bill Talbert and Gardner Mulloy, the four best players the United States has to offer. Non-playing Capt. Alrick Man has not announced the U. S. lineup officially yet, but it is a foregone conclusion that Schroeder and Gonzales will play singles and Mulloy and Talbert doubles.

Before his team went to the courts for a practice session at the West side tennis club today—the site of the matches Friday through Sunday—Man said he was not worried.

Cliff Sproule, Aussie Captain, was all smiles. "It certainly is encouraging to succeed so well in the doubles," he said.

"I also think we'll be better in the singles. Remember, Frank Segman came within one point of beating Schroeder at Wimbledon and Frank has improved since then."

Defiance . . .

The Finnish authorities promptly announced they would "inflict a crushing defeat on the Communists" and proceeded to implement this so successfully that the strikes haven't matured as expected. Washington believes the Bolshevik attempt won't succeed because of Finnish resistance.

What must be equally staggering for Moscow is the astonishing move in the Soviet zone of Germany by German Communists who hate Russia. These Germans have formed a new party which, like that of Marshal Tito, represents nationalistic communism that refuses to recognize the sovereignty of Moscow. Not only that, but this new party promptly sent Tito a message pledging him support in his fight against "imperialist Bolshevism."

Will this revolt against Moscow's dictation spread in Eastern Europe? That is possible and, I believe, even probable in due course.

Extra Rent . . .

Woods said: "I'm pleased and grateful with this reaffirmation of congressional support for effective rent control where housing is still critical.

"This means that we can carry out the President's mandate to protect tenants from rent gouging and illegal evictions, and at the same time assure justice to landlords."

PREPARING LAND FOR WINTER COVER CROPS

Farmers are beginning to prepare their land for winter cover crops and pastures. Sowing of the fields will get under way within the next several weeks. Winter cover crops usually include rye, oats and other small grains, and Austrian winter peas, a nitrogen-producing plant of value in soil building, an official of the county farm agent's office said.

SMALL BOY COLLIDES WITH SIDE AUTOMOBILE

A police report today stated that Bill Riley, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Riley, 1908 Chestnut street, was painfully and not seriously injured yesterday when he ran out into the street near the Pitt theater and into the side of a car driven by O. M. Marshburn. The lad received bruises about the head and a leg. A physician examined him and he was taken home.

Australian Has Uranium Located

Perth, Australia—(AP)—A prospector claims he has found large deposits of uranium ore in Western Australia. W. D. Millar says his find is 80 miles west of Marble Bar—hottest town in Australia, 1340 miles northeast of Perth.

Millar told a reporter a local assay showed about 40 per cent uranium content, which would make it the richest known deposit in Australia. Millar has applied to the
