Europeans Claim U. S. Aid Failed Solve Problems

Top Marshall Plan Officials Say Continent Not Yet Self-Supporting

Paris, Sept. 1—(AP)—Europe's two top Marshall plan officials declared today that more than $5,000,000,000 in American aid has failed so far to put the war-damaged continent on the road to self support.

They reported that Europe's economic situation has improved in the last two years, but that the dollar-shortage problem had not been solved.

The report, to be sent to U. S. Marshall Plan authorities, was made by Baron Jean Charles Snoy of Belgium, chairman of the 19-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation, and Robert Marjolin of France, OEEC secretary-general.

"If it was at one time our belief that European recovery was proceeding fast enough to make it possible to achieve vitability (self support) in 1952, we must now admit that the rate of progress is not sufficient." Baron Snoy and Marjolin said.

"The dollar problem, despite the improvement in the situation over the last two years, is not on the way to solution."

Similar statements have been made recently by delegates to the assembly of the new Council of Europe at Strasbourg. They advocated more measures of economic cooperation between European countries and lowering of trade barriers.

The goal of the Marshall Plan has been to make Europe economically self supporting by 1952.

The Snoy-Marjolin report was studied yesterday at a meeting of the OEEC council, which approved a plan for distribution of about $3,670,000,000 in Marshall aid for 1949-50. The plan was drawn up by Baron Snoy and Marjolin after the 19 recipient countries had argued bitterly over their needs for additional allocations.

Fire Losses For City Declines From Last Year

A considerable drop in fire losses was noted today by Fire Chief George Gardner, who released his report covering January 1 to September 1 this morning.

The total loss has been set at $25,432.16, Gardner said, explaining that it was considerably lower than last year's total.

Building permits issued for August numbered seven dwellings and one commercial, the bringing the total for the year to date to 47 dwellings and seven commercial.

The seven dwellings permitted in August are valued at $51,055 and the commercial building is valued at $550. The value of the 47 dwellings permitted from January 1 to September has been set at $333,250 and the seven commercial buildings have been valued at $21,850.

Legion Demands Immigration End

Philadelphia, Sept. 1—(AP)—The American Legion's 31st national convention demanded today that the United States "curtail as far as possible any further immigration" at this time.

The Legion view was expressed in a resolution adopted shortly before the Legionnaires were to begin balloting to choose a new national commander, major item at the final session of the four-day convention.

Vaughan Faces Investigating Committee

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan (center, back to camera), is questioned by Chairman Clyde Hoey (D-NC) of the Senate Investigating Committee in its probe of five percenters in Washington. Seated beside Vaughan are Col. Cornelius Mara (left), Vaughan's assistant and Carl L. Bristine, Washington attorney. At committee table are left to right: Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-Md), Committee Counsel William P. Rogers, Chairman Hoey, Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis), Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD), and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me). Vaughan denied that there was anything improper in anything he did for any business man, or that he ever received any fee, gift or favor in return for his aid. (AP Wirephoto).

Varied Program Prepared For Farmers' Day Event Saturday

'Homecoming Day' For Farmers Of Eastern Carolina Has Full Schedule Of Festive Projects; Two Dances Climax Celebration

Forty pretty girls from eight Eastern Carolina counties have entered the beauty pageant to be held here "Farmers' Day," Saturday, September 3. They are from Martin, Pitt, Wilson, Sampson, Greene, Edgecombe and Craven.

The deadline for entries was midnight, August 31.

Various organizations and towns of 2,500 or less population are sponsoring the contestants.

Six hundred dollars, plus special gifts, will be awarded winners — $300 for first prize, $200 second, and $100 third. The beauty pageant will be held at Wright auditorium on East Carolina Teachers College campus Saturday night, September 3, at 7:15.

The contestants will be feted at a banquet in their honor preceding the pageant. They also are expected to participate in the parade which opens the "Farmers' Day" celebration at 10 a.m. that day.

A free dance at Wright auditorium after the pageant, with Dean Hudson's orchestra providing the music will climax the "Farmers' Day celebration. A street square dance will be held at the same time on Evans Street, near Five Points.

"Farmers' Day" in Greenville is not a commercial affair. The tobacco and business interests of the city are sponsoring the event as something of a "homecoming day" for farmers and their families of the dozen or more adjacent counties of Eastern Carolina.

A schedule of "Farmers' Day" exercises follows: 10 a.m., parade, headed by Marine Corps and the high school bands and a company of marines from Cherry Point and prominent marine officers.

At 11 a.m., U. S. Senator Frank Porter Graham speaks from the courthouse portico. Dr. John D. Messick, president of ECTC, will introduce him.

At 2 p.m., special events for farm families at the courthouse, with

Polio Campaign

New York, Sept. 1 —(AP)— For the first time in its history, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is laying plans for a special fund-raising drive.

The drive is made necessary, President Basil O'Connor said yesterday, because of the extent of this year's polio incidence.

The Foundation, he said, has spent $7,078,800 on new cases this year, and a remaining fund of $3,000,000 will probably be used up by November.

The 11-year-old Foundation until now has conducted one campaign a year.

Senate Minimum Pay Bill Passes

Two Houses Yet To Compromise On Separate Measures

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)—An increase in the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour was virtually assured today.

The Senate voted for it yesterday; the house did so earlier. All that remains now is for the two branches to compromise other points in the bills each passed to revise the 1938 wage-hour law.

The principal issue to be settled concerns employes covered by the law. The house bill would remove about 1,000,000 workers from coverage. The senate provided exemptions for an estimated 250,000 or so, mainly in retail stores.

With the senate taking a week's rest and the house on vacation until Sept 21, efforts to iron out the differences will be delayed.

But when the senate late yesterday passed by voice vote a bill lifting the wage flood to 75 cents, the administration chalked up a major victory for a part of President Truman's program.

Some 22,600,000 workers are covered by the law, but Senator Pepper (D-Fla) floor manager of the bill, said that only about 1,500,000 of them now are being paid less than 75 cents an hour.

He figured the higher minimum would cost employers $665,000,000 annually in wage payments.

Yugoslav Press Says Moscow Sold Them Out

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept 1—(AP) Yugoslavia's official newspaper charged today that Russia was getting $50,000,000 for selling out Yugoslav claims to a slice of southern Austria.

The charge was the latest propaganda blast in the war of nerves between Russia and Yugoslavia. The dispute has been highlighted by rumors of Soviet troop concentrations on Yugoslavia's borders, countermoved by Marshal Tito's army and stories of sabotage inside this Balkan country.

The newspaper Borba, voice of Tito's government, put the $50,000,000 price tag on what it called Russia's "betrayal" of Yugoslavia.

Borba declared Russia dropped her support of Yugoslav territorial claims on Austria last June after she got western agreement on raising Soviet war claims against Austria from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.

N. C. Advertising Budget Revealed

Agencies Informed $384,000 To Be Spent On Contract

Greensboro, Sept. 1—(AP)—North Carolina's state advertising budget for 1949-51 will be $384,000, it was revealed today in a letter sent to local advertising agencies.

The letter accompanied a four-page, 13-part questionnaire for agencies to complete if they wish to bid for the contract. This was over the signature of George R. Ross director of the State Department of Conservation and Development.

"If you wish to bid for the advertising contract of the state of North Carolina, it will be necessary to return this questionnaire within 10 days," Ross said.

"This is not (the word was underscored) an invitation to submit proposals. Those who return questionnaires will be advised further regarding procedures . . ."

Information desired includes: Experience of the agency or its principals in handling tourist, industrial, and agricultural development advertising; experience in national magazine and metropolitan newspaper advertising; work in radio and television; number of creative personnel, such as those in contact work, copywriting, and art; recognition by national publishers' groups; list of principal active accounts; approximate total annual billings to clients; history of organization; background of principals, and evidence of financial responsibility.

San Francisco, Sept. 1—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews and a party of high officials landed safely early today after being forced back from a flight to Honolulu by engine trouble.

Parade To Open Holiday Program Of Farmers' Day

Distinguished Guests, Bands, Marines And Beauty Contestants In Line

Bands, state officials, members of the Marine Corps, and beautiful girls will be among the feature attractions in the Farmers Day parade to be staged in Greenville Saturday morning at 10:30.

Col. Owen Marshburn, chairman of the parade committee, said today Senator Frank P. Graham State Secretary of Agriculture Stag Ballentine, General W. I. Miller commander of the Marine Air station at Cherry Point, and Jonathan Daniels, of Raleigh, will be among the distinguished guests of Greenville who will appear in the parade.

The parade will begin at the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and pass down Dickinson Avenue to Five Points, and then travel along Evans Street to the court house square.

The order of the parade listed by Marshburn gives the lead position to the parade's motor police escort. Following in order will be two cars of distinguished guests, the Marine band from Cherry Point, Marine troops from Cherry Point, members of the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, Greenville high school band, beauty pageant contestants in convertibles, motorized farm equipment, and farm animals.

Marshburn said the Marine band from Cherry Point will arrive in Greenville by plane Saturday morning, and other troops will be transported by trucks.

Following the parade, U. S. Senator Frank P. Graham will deliver the principal address of the day from the portico of the Pitt County court house.

Minor Changes In Prison Rules

Raleigh, Sept. 1 —(AP)— The Highway Commission decided today to continue a study being made of prison discipline rules.

Pending the completion of this study, the commission voted to continue its present rules—with minor changes—in effect.

Commission Chairman Dr. Henry W. Jordan said he expected the study of the rules to be completed within 30 days.

Reservist Units Finish Training

Camp LeJeune, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—The greatest summer training schedule for Marine Reservists ever attempted by the United States Marine Corps comes to a halt tomorrow as the last of more than 12,000 members of the organized reserve corps units take their departure from LeJeune.

The only training phase not uncompleted is that of a few volunteer reservists that will begin to report here this week-end.

Better Cotton Dividends Promised By CCC Loan

Faced with the possibility that early cotton will be met by a low market price, farmers of this section were assured yesterday that cotton which has been classed by the Cotton Classing Service will be eligible for participation in the Commodity Credit Corporation loan program, County Agent S. C. Winchester reported this morning.

Attending a meeting of the CCC at Kinston yesterday, Winchester was told that middling 15-16 cotton would be accepted for $30.10, with the price varying either way depending on better or lower grades.

This may give the growers 10 to 15 dollars more to the sale when the cotton hits the market since the early rush will have a tendency to bring the market price down, Winchester explained.

Ginners have posted bond to take true samples of each bale to send to Raleigh for it to be classed. The loan price will be determined according to the grade the cotton gets in the state capital.

Winchester explained that if the market price is lower than the loan price, the growers sell their cotton to the government and it is stored in bonded warehouses in Bethel or Farmville until July 1. If during that time the cotton price goes above the loan price, farmers may buy their cotton at the loan price and sell it on the market.

Attending the meeting in Kinston yesterday from Pitt County were Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Highsmith of the Production Marketing Administration, and Mrs Frank Little, also of the PMA.

John Bryan, field man of the PMA, was principal speaker at the meeting.

Priorities For Country Folk Here On Saturday

The country folks will have priority of Cotanche Park and the Greenville Municipal swimming pool Saturday when the city plays host to its farming neighbors at Farmers Day, Recreation Commissioner H. D. Tripp announced this morning.

"We want to let all the boys and girls out in the country know that we are reserving the swimming pool for them on Saturday," Tripp explained. He pointed out, however that if the pool was not filled to capacity, then city folks would be admitted. Swimming in the pool will be free.

Cotanche Park will provide the visitors with an ideal spot for their lunch. Tripp reported that wire tables, picnic style, have been put up to accomodate the farm families. He added that rest rooms at the swimming pool would be available for the visitors.

Efforts were being made today to arrange for a concession stand to be set up at the park to provide the visitors with cold drinks and nick-nacks.

Playground equipment, including softball, horse shoes, basketball volley ball and others, will be available, Tripp asserted. He said that if the country boys and girls so desire, they can have swimming and diving contests at the pool where adequate life guard protection will be provided.

County's Credit Rating Reflected In Note Sale

W. H. Woolard Discusses Purchase Of Hospital Bond Anticipatory Notes; Cites Reasons For Extra Strong Bid

By CHESTER WALSH

Purchase of $352,500 of Pitt County hospital bonds, short term anticipatory notes, by the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Greenville through the Local Government Commission in Raleigh Tuesday, was an evidence of the strength of the city's banking institution and its confidence in the county's credit, officials indicated today.

The notes are to provide funds in anticipation of sale of bonds for the Pitt County Hospital, being erected on the Moye property, near the radio station. The hospital is to be a 120-bed institution and its cost will be $1,400,000. The Moye heirs donated the land as the hospital site.

President W. H. Woolard of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, today, in an interview with a Daily Reflector reporter, said:

"We bid extra strong on these notes for the following reasons:

"They are short term maturities The majority of them will come due within six months, which is the season of the year when funds are more plentiful in this section of North Carolina.

"Our confidence in Pitt County is backed by the high credit rating the county enjoys in the bond market. Its obligations are considered high grade investments and are paid promptly at maturity.

"Furthermore," President Woolard said, "interest received on these notes is not subject to income taxes. We bought them as a sound investment and because our bank desires to be of special service to Pitt County."

Japanese Count Toll By Typhoon

Dead And Injured Pile Up In Ravaged Tokyo Area

Tokyo, Sept. 1—(AP)—Dead and injured piled up today in Tokyo's typhoon-flood ravished area with 68 known dead, 223 injured and 50 milling in the metropolitan area which includes Yokohama.

Some 100,000 men worked feverishly to sandbag river levees against a repetition of floods which in 1947 drowned 2,000.

Reports of property damage from wind and water mounted steadily after the blow which lashed the Tokyo bay metropolitan area last night, left 66,000 homeless, verified figures from the National Rural Police showed.

Victims still were being pulled from shattered buildings when the flood toll started trickling in over partly patched communications. Thirty-one drowned in a levee break that let the Waterosi river sweep through Aioi in the mountains northwest of Tokyo.

But the big danger was to come when the Tone river and other streams—swollen by 13 inches of rain in the mountains—raged down onto the Kanto plain north of Tokyo.

It was here, authorities feared, that the 1947 devastation to the Tokyo area might be repeated. The Japanese government concentrated its 100,000 man labor force in this heavily diked low country.

All the dead were Japanese. The only American mentioned in either casualty or missing lists was an eighth Army soldier hospitalized by flying glass.

Tobacco Auction Begins Today On Five Markets

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—Tobacco auction sales began today on five markets of the middle belt.

James Speed, sales supervisor at Henderson, estimated that an average price of $52 per hundred was maintained during the first hour of sales. He said that quality of the offerings was better than expected—including much smoking type leaf—and farmers were well pleased with prices.

The Oxford market reported that offerings included much sorry tobacco, and an opening day average of between $46 and $47 was expected. Sales supervisor C. W. Allen said that prices ranged from $4 for trashy grades up to $66 for top qualities.

'Deceived' Over Place In Line

Los Angeles, Sept. 1—(AP)—Maj Clarence D. Lang, 66, retired Army officer, asks Superior Court to annual his marriage to Mrs. Mildred W. Lang, 51, because she did not tell him he was her seventh husband.

Lang's suit, filed yesterday, said he thought he was only her fifth husband.

Taft Concerned Only With Race

Washington, Sept. 1 — (AP) — Republican Senator Taft says he's not a candidate for the 1952 presidential nomination—and the only thing he's got his eye on is the 1950 Senate race in Ohio.

He said last night in a radio interview that he expects to spend the next three or four months touring his home state to "tell them why I voted for this and that x x x."

He is running for re-election in Ohio next year.

Declines Comment On Whether General Received 'Fair Deal' From Committee; Vaughan Indicates Maragon Won't Be Seen Again In White House

Washington, Sept 1—(AP)— President Truman said today he will keep Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as his army aide.

That was just about all the comment Mr. Truman would make at a news conference about the Senate investigation of Vaughan's activities.

To other questions, Mr. Truman said the hearing was held on Capitol Hill, and that it would not be continued up here (meaning the White House.)

A reporter asked whether he thought Vaughan had got a "fair deal" from the committee.

Mr. Truman declined comment.

Although the committee has dismissed Vaughan as a witness, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) said it is "just getting started" in its inquiry about him.

McCarthy, talking with reporters in advance of the President's news conference, also said that for Mr. Truman to keep Vaughan as his military aide would amount to endorsing not only the "New Deal" and the "Fair Deal" but also "all of Harry Vaughan's deals."

Vaughan himself has indicated that one former White House figure—John Maragon—won't be seen around there in the future.

Vaughan said yesterday that Maragon needs to be "washed up, fumigated."

A reporter told Mr. Truman that Vaughan had said Maragon was his "lovable" friend, but ought to be "fumigated" before he re-enters the White House.

The reporter wanted to know what the President thought about that.

It was then that Mr. Truman asserted that the committee hearing was being held at the capitol and it would not be continued at the White House.

The word that Vaughan would stay on as the President's aide came when a reporter asked Mr. Truman if he contemplated any change in Army aides.

The President said: I do not.

Vaughan, in be-ribboned summer uniform, was standing behind the President at the meeting with reporters.

One question put to Mr. Truman was whether he had barred Maragon from the White House.

The President replied to it by again saying that the hearings were being held at the Capitol.

McCarthy told reporters at the capitol after the press conference that Mr. Truman, in retaining Vaughan, is saying in effect that it is "proper" for Vaughan to "peddle influence."

Furthermore, he said, the retention "not only encourages other government employes to follow Vaughan's example, "but says to them that what Vaughan has done is proper—go now and do likewise."

"I just think it is inexcusable," the Wisconsin Senator declared, adding that it should create a "big market for deep freezers."

McCarthy's reference was to the committee's disclosure that officials of the Albert J. Verley Perfume Co., Chicago, gave Vaughan seven home freezers for himself and friends in 1945. One of the freezers was turned over to Mrs. Truman for the little White House in Independence, Mo.

With Vaughan's help, the Verley officials had got transportation to Europe on army air transport planes on Perfume business shortly after V-E day.

'War Of Nerves' Said Slackening

Truman Voices Optimism, Hopes For Early Surrender

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)—President Truman said today the war of nerves between the Communists and Democratic nations was slackening up very much. He expressed hope it would end in surrender as did the world war II shooting conflict.

The President made the comment at his news conference on the 10th anniversary of Hitler's invasion of Poland. He did not say so but implied that the surrender he hoped for would be that of the foes of the Democratic nations.

Asked for comment on the anniversary, Mr. Truman said he was exceedingly happy that the shooting war did not continue and regretted that it was followed by a war of nerves. He said he hoped the war of nerves would end likewise in surrender.

When a reporter asked what he meant by surrender, he said he meant just that. Pressed for his opinion on the present stage of the war of nerves he said it was slackening up very much.

Later on, Mr. Truman said he was hopeful that the war of nerves will cease soon. When it does he said everybody will then be in a mood for peace, the United Nations would then work as it should and we should have generations of world peace.

But he had nothing to say about Soviet troop movements in the vicinity of Yugoslavia. Secretary of State Acheson described those yesterday as part of the Soviet war of nerves.

Polio Epidemic Seen On Wane

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)—The approach of autumn has brought the first break in the nation's polio epidemic, the Public Health Service said today.

For the first time since last March, the agency said, the count of new cases has declined.

It dropped from 3,422 for the week ending August 20 to 3,214 for the week ending August 27. In the corresponding week a year ago the total was 1,412.

Pacific Union Moves

Fresh Burst Of Activity Seen Shortly On Project; Politico-Economic Methods Instead Of Military Means; Philippine President Active; Japan Involved

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

We are likely to see a fresh burst of activity shortly in the interests of the Pacific Union proposed by President Elpidio Quorino of the Philippines as a Far Eastern counterpart of the Atlantic pact.

This project is primarily designed to halt the advance of Communism in the Orient—not by military means but by politico-economic methods. The move takes on special significance in view of the striking Communist successes in China. Its supporters hope that it may help prevent another global conflagration like the late war, which today marks the tenth anniversary of its Hitlerian whelping.

The energetic Senor Quirino is letting no grass grow under his feet in pushing his far-reaching project. It first was announced to the outside world on July 11 after he discussed it with President Chiang Kai-Shek of China in Manila at a conference to which the Generalissimo had been invited. These two chiefs of state having agreed on the necessity of such a development, President Quirimo visited America and on August 9 made a plea for American support in addressing the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

Quirino and Chiang also agreed that relations between China and the Philippines should be strengthened and that practical measures should be taken immediately for promotion of close economic and cultural cooperation. The South Korean republic was expected to be an early participant, and it was agreed that invitations for collaboration should go to Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, India and Siam.

The task of pursuing the project with these nations has been assigned to Brigadier General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United Nations. He has just arrived in America, armed with a blue print of the proposed Pacific Union, to carry out his difficult and delicate mission. It is important to note that these activities are being carried out within the precincts of the peace organization itself, this emphasizing the peaceful intentions of the pact.

General Romulo not only will have to sell this idea to the other nations of southeast Asia, but it is understood that he will harmonize the plans for a Pacific Union with developments of the U. S. State Department's far eastern policy. It is a tough assignment whatever way you look at it.

And what about Japan and its relations to this Pacific pact? Well of course Nippon's relations to the Pacific Union will become a major

Progress Thus Far

Accomplishments Of The 81st Congress This Session; Little More Expected; Major Legislation Approved By Both Houses; Those Still Awaiting Action By Senate

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)— It's time to take stock of what this Congress, the 81st, has done.

It's been in continuous session since early January. Now the House has taken a three-weeks' vacation, its work practically finished.

The slower Senate is still grinding along. It may be here for weeks, after it returns from the one-week holiday it started last night.

But mostly it will be winding up its part of the job which the house already has completed. So little new can be expected.

Every year Congress passes a number of laws which don't make headlines. This Congress has done the same. That means a lot of work.

But the work of any Congress is judged by the big pieces of lawmaking it puts through.

On that score—major legislation—this Congress does not have a very distinguished record.

Here are the big bills passed by this Congress, meaning finished action by both house and senate:

1. It continued the Marshall plan for Europe. (The two differed on how much money to spend on it. They'll have to iron that out.)

2. It voted to keep rent control from April 1, 1949 until June 30, 1950.

3. It set up a government housing program 810,000 dwelling units for low income families; slum clearance; and housing help for farmers.

4. It unified the armed forces more closely, strengthening the hand of Secretary of Defense Johnson.

5. It approved six of the seven plans President Truman submitted for reorganizing the government. These plans followed in part the recommendations of the Hoover commission on governmental reorganization.

6. It passed a new minimum wage bill, raising the present 40 cents an hour to 75 cents for people working for firms that do business across state lines. The house acted weeks ago on this, the senate last night. All they have to do now is compromise a few differences.

So much for the big bills actually passed by both houses. Now for the bills that were passed by the house and, although still awaiting action by the senate, are expected to pass there and become law:

1. Military aid for Europe to back up the Atlantic pact.

2. Renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements act. This act, continually renewed by Congress since it was first passed in 1934, is a cornerstone in this country's Foreign Trade and Policy.

Under it the President can lower

Dessert Bridge Honors Miss Savage

Miss Marion Brown entertained Monday night at her home on Elm street honoring Miss Shirley Savage, bride-elect with a dessert bridge kitchen shower.

Throughout the home arrangements of mixed flowers in pastel shades were used. The individual tables were centered with mixed arrangements and the bride's table was centered with an all-white arrangement. Miss Savage's place was marked by a corsage of pink asters.

The hostess was assisted in serving molded ices, cakes, nuts, and mints by her mother, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Vernon Tyson and Miss Betty Lou Brown.

There were four tables of bridge and during the evening coca colas and nuts were served. Miss Shirley Warner won high score and Miss Savage won low.

Miss Savage received many useful gifts for her kitchen.

Refreshment guests were Mrs. Frank Savage, mother of the bride, and Mrs. J. D. Aman.

Small Craft Warning Along East Coast

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Weather Bureau reported today that small craft warnings are being hoisted along the coast from Block Island to the Virginia Capes.

The Bureau said strong winds and thunderstorms are expected.

Mrs. Julian W. Rives

Rives-Davis

The wedding of Miss Mary Alice Davis, daughter of Mrs. Robert D. Whitehurst and the late Elwood B. Davis, to Mr. Julian W. Rives, son of Mrs. Johnnie B. Rives and the late Johnnie B. Rives of Enfield was solemnized in a most impressive lawn setting at the home of the bride on Saturday afternoon, August 13, at 6 o'clock. The Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw, of Wilson, former pastor of the bride, officiated.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Russell Hunnicut, of Bethel, pianist and Miss Nina Whitaker, soloist, of Enfield, which included "Through The Years" and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. "To a Wild Rose" was played during the ceremony. At the close of the ceremony Miss Whitaker sang "The Lord's Prayer," which was followed by the benediction.

The guests assembled on the lawn for the occasion.

An unusually beautiful outdoor setting composed of an ivy entwined archway which had baskets of white gladioli and Oregon fern on either side with a background of tall native greenery was the setting for the ceremony.

The groom had as his best man, Mr. Sam Beavans, of Enfield, N. C. The ushers were Mr. Cecil Powell of Robersonville, N. C. Mr. Eli Bellamy, of Enfield, cousin of the groom, Mr. Forrest Matter of Norfolk, Va., and Mr. William C. Taylor, Jr., of Greenville, N. C., cousin of the bride.

Miss Margaret Johnston, of Greenville and Tarboro, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow marquisette dress with matching mits and halo. She carried a bouquet of purple asters tied with matching ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lynette Rives, of Enfield and Richmond, Va., sister of the groom, and Miss Linda Taylor, cousin of the bride. They wore dresses of nile green marquisette with matching mits and halos styled identically like that of the maid of honor. They carried bouquets of pink asters tied with matching ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Robert D. Whitehurst, wore a gown of cloud white goddess lace over satin fashioned with fitted bodice and a wide V neckline in the back outlined with a lace bertha and full skirt which ended in a short train. She wore a finger tip veil of imported French illusion which was gathered from a Juliet cap of matching lace and white lace elbow-length mits which ended in points over her hands. Her only ornament was an antique lavalier which was a gift from her maternal grandmother. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses centered with a white purple throated orchid.

Mrs. Whitehurst, mother of the bride was gowned in a dress of black lace and net and she wore a corsage of pink better times roses while Mrs. Rives, mother of the groom, wore a gown of aqua crepe. Her corsage was red better times roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception on the lawn at their home. Mrs. Miriam White, of Enfield and Miss Alya Ray Taylor, aunt of the bride, served punch from a beautifully appointed table covered with a cut work cloth and centered with an arrangement of tuberoses, pom pom chrysanthemums and fern. Salted nuts, mints and bridal cakes were served by Misses Kathryn Van Nortwick, Geraldine Taylor, Etta Basemore, Margaret Lee Duke, Vivian Rives, Catherine Taylor and Mrs. Andrew Taylor. Assisting in receiving in the house were Mrs. Clara Roberson and Mrs. Beulah Brown at the front door. Mrs. M. T. Bradshaw directed the guests to the gift room and Mrs. Edward Hemingway presided over the bride's book. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Painter, of Graham, N. C.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to western North Carolina, Natural Bridge, Va., and the Sky Line Drive. For traveling Mrs. Rives wore a white Matchmaker suit with navy accessories and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet. After their return, Mr. and Mrs. Rives will be at home in Enfield.

The bride graduated from Greenville High School, attended Greensboro College for two years and was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College in 1947. For the past two years she has been a member of the Enfield school faculty.

Mr. Rives graduated from Enfield High School and spent four years in the Navy. He is now employed by the Mack Oil Company of Enfield.

Following the rehearsal of the Rives-Davis wedding on Friday evening, August 12, Miss Alya Ray Taylor entertained the bride and bridegroom, bridal party, out-of-town guests and the members of their immediate families at a cake cutting at her home on eighth street.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with summer flowers. A color note of green and white was observed in the dining room where an arrangement of tuberoses, pom pom chrysanthemums and fern, was used.

The bride's table was covered with a cut work and lace cloth and it was centered with the three tiered wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom under the archway of orange blossoms and wedding bells. The cake was flanked with burning tapers in silver candelabras.

The guests were greeted by the hostess and invited into the dining room for refreshments. After the bride and groom elect had cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. Robert D. Whitehurst, mother of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Andrew Taylor and Mrs. Clara Roberson, seated at either end of the table served bridal ices from silver patters. Nuts and mints were served by Misses Etta Basemore, Catherine Taylor, Katherine Van Nortwick and Mrs. Edward Hemingway. Mrs. E. E. Everett served punch from a lace covered table in the living room.

Miss Margaret Johnston honored Miss Mary Alice Davis, bride elect and the members of her bridal party at a wedding breakfast at the Old Towne Inn Saturday, August 13, at 12 o'clock. Covers were laid for 14 guests. The table was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and fern. A three course breakfast was served. The honoree's place was marked with a corsage of white asters and she was presented a crystal vase by the hostess.

Miss Linda Taylor entertained Miss Mary Alice Davis, the members of her bridal party and the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom at a luncheon in the Magnolia room of the Proctor Hotel Thursday, August 11, at 1 o'clock. A three course luncheon was served. The centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of multicolored summer flowers.

The place of the bride elect was marked with a corsage of Rubrum lilies and tuberoses. Miss Shirley Savage, bride elect of September, and Miss Eleanor Brown, bride elect of August were also given corsages and gifts of silver in their chosen pattern. The honor guest was presented a silver gravy boat by the hostess. Covers were laid for 18 guests.

Tea Given To Honor Miss Griffin

Mrs. W. C. Stokes and Miss Juanita Stokes were joint hostesses on Tuesday afternoon entertaining in honor of Miss Evelyn Griffin, whose marriage to Mr. Leslie Garner will take place in September. Mrs. Ella Pate and Mrs. W. S. Bost greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line which was composed of Mrs. Stokes, Miss Griffin, Mrs. Griffin, and Mrs. Lila Garner. The honoree was presented a corsage upon arrival.

The guests were invited in the dining room by Miss Elizabeth Manning. The tea table was covered with a white imported linen cloth centered with an arrangement of white bridal flowers in a crystal bowl. Flanking the arrangement were two tier candelabra holding white tapers.

Miss Louise Griffin presided at the punch bowl and Miss Frances Griffin served bridal cakes. Assisting in serving mints and nuts were Mrs. Shep Roebuck and Miss Rebecca Pate. Miss Louise Hines presided over the register and good-byes were said to Miss Juanita Stokes.

Informal Tea Honors Miss Ricks

Mrs. J. L. Savage entertained at an informal tea on a recent Friday afternoon at her suburban home, "Dilassa," honoring Miss Elizabeth Ricks, bride-elect of September 4.

The house was decorated with vari-colored asters, rainbow candles and magnolia leaves, carrying out a pastel color scheme.

The table in the dining room was spread with an embroidered cut work cloth and centered with pastel asters, flanked by rainbow candles.

Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. With punch, open face sandwiches, sanddabs, hors d'oeuvres, salted nuts and mints, in pastel shades, each representing a bouquet of flowers were served.

About 74 of Miss Ricks friends called during the afternoon.

The honor guest was presented a corsage of pastel asters and a table cloth and napkins.

Allied Florists Has Call Meeting

A call meeting of the Greenville Association of Allied Florists was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Marie B. Cox, on Tuesday night at 8 p. m. Various topics of discussion were brought up and solutions sought.

The high-light of the meeting however was the discussion of our part as Allied Florists in helping to make "The Farmers' Day Beauty Pageant" to be held in Greenville on Saturday, a huge success. Much interest was shown in this matter and a cooperative spirit prevailed.

The president reminded us that the North Carolina State Florist Association meets in Morehead City, September 13th and 14th, and urged all that could to go.

The next meeting of the Greenville Association will be with Mrs. Minnie Huneycutt of Greenville Floral Company on Tuesday night, October 11th.—Reported.

Fire Department Has All-Time Low Record

Winston-Salem, Sept. 1 — (AP) —The Winston-Salem Fire Department hit an all-time low record of fire damage during August.

Fire Chief M. G. Brown said today that only $50 damage was recorded for the entire month—the smallest damage figure since the department began to keep records in 1914.

Twenty-One Contestants In Friday Beauty Contest

Twenty-one contestants are now entered in the beauty contest which will be held at the Greenville swimming pool Friday night at 8:00.

The beauty contest is sponsored jointly by the Junior Woman's Club and the city recreation committee and it will bring to a close the summer work of these two clubs. The beauty contest is open to any Greenville girl.

The highlight of the night will be the selection of the Queen of Pageant who will be crowned and presented with various prizes which have been donated by Greenville businessmen.

Seats have been set up at the pool so that all people who desire to attend the beauty contest may enjoy the program in comfort.

On the program for Friday night will be swimming stunts, races, and diving performances and also a boy will be dressed up like a girl and will take part in the contest.

Greenville floral companies are providing the flowers for the contest.

J. H. Boyd Jr. will crown the beauty queen and present the prizes to the winners at the contest.

Judges for the beauty pageant are: Mrs. Key Brown, Joe Taft and Dink James.

The entries in the beauty contest are:

Jean Hollingsworth, Mandola Hollingsworth, Barbara Tilly, Billie Jean Simpson, Jean Williams, Patty Bland, Ruby Padgett, Peggy Barrow, Carolyn Clapp, Margarette Fleming, Betty Sue Branch, Betty Morton, Betty Harris, Ann Dunn, Ruth Page, Jackie Sears, Alice Folev Jones, Francis Bendall, Martha Mackenzie, Louise Batson and Bobbie Windberry.

Acclaims Fashion Show As 'Highly Successful'

Blount Harvey's first fashion show held here since pre-war days was acclaimed as highly successful yesterday by Manager Charles Blair.

An estimated 500 ladies were on hand for yesterday's modeling of 49 fall garments, exhibiting the very latest styles in women's wear and modeled by 20 ladies of this vicinity.

The models participated by special request, Blair explained after the fashion program, held in the third floor fashion room of Blount-Harvey's big store here.

The fashion room was attractively decorated by floral arrangements from the Cox Florists of Greenville, which also furnished the corsages worn by the models.

Mrs. J. M. Spilman, consultant at the store, served as coordinator during the hour long display of fall wear. Mrs. Spilman worked in cooperation with Mrs. Mary Dunn and Miss Ella Sockrell.

Manager Blair announced immediately following the program that plans were to repeat the fashion show next fall, due to the success it experienced yesterday. He expressed his appreciation to the many ladies who came to see the new styles modeled.

A summer downpour took a recess just before the show was to open, a factor which added to the success of the program. Blair explained that he feared at first that the rain would keep many ladies away.

Refreshments were served following the modeling of the new fashions.

Models participating in the event were: Misses Nelson Blount, Carolyn Lewis, Madge Stancill, Diana Hodges, Jean McGowan, Janice Owens, Elizabeth Copeland, Gay McLawhorn, Frances Aman, Jane Massey, Dorothy Ormond, Muriel Shotwell, Mary Rose Crisp, Betsy Nobles, and Ona Shindler, and Mesdames M. L. Wright, Leon Smith Dennis Hardee, H. L. Newborn, and Robert Arthur.

Strength FOR THE DAY

DO YOU BELIEVE IN MIRACLES?

Does religion help in sickness?

It certainly does. First of all we can be sure that the discoveries at which science is arriving every day in the treatment of disease are God-inspired and God-guided. Good doctors, nurses, and technicians are God's agents in the achieving of great ends.

The second way in which religion helps in sickness is that its assurances and its convictions calm the mind of the patient and predispose him to recovery. Doctors all recognize this as a real factor in healing.

But greatest of all is the direct effect of God's power on the life of a person who is ill. To try to explain modern healings by saying that they are the result of wholesome suggestions by the physician or by the patient himself is wholly inadequate. There is something much beyond this. God, in ways we do not understand and probably never will understand, reaches down into the life of individuals and continues to perform miracles. The miracle stories of the New Testament are not fairy tales or legends or myths. They are solemnly recorded facts by persons who witnessed them, and they are intended to fill us with a conviction that they can happen today, if men and women have faith enough to enable them so to happen.

A TRAFFIC HAZARD

For a number of years, traffic on the streets of Greenville has been something of a problem for the law enforcement officers and the citizens of the city to cope with. And during the tobacco season when hundreds of additional vehicles from other parts of the county are in Greenville, the traffic situation really becomes a problem.

In recent years, the Greenville police force has arranged parking on the city streets to give the maximum amount of space to the vehicles operating on the streets; but recently, another hazard has appeared adjacent to the city's busiest intersection.

Boys and girls attending the Pitt Theatre at the present time are allowed to park bicycles on the street in front of the movie, and cars operating on Evans street are forced to maneuver around the parked bicycles to avoid colliding with the bikes.

It seems to The Reflector if there is good reasoning behind the law prohibiting parking of automobiles on the East side of Evans street from Seventh street to Five Points, the same reasoning should be applied to keep the parked bicycles from making the city's most used intersection any more hazardous than it already is.

PUBLIC FORUM

Discussing problems of interest to this community. In all cases names must accompany any communication.

In reply to the Diamond Dust article that appeared Tuesday, August 30, I am very grateful that I, and hundreds of others, did not see the demonstration at Guy Smith Ball Park on Monday night as the editor of Diamond Dust saw it.

This writer was present at the game and saw it all from start to finish, including the affair after the ball game was over. I have attended practically all the ball games played on the local diamond, and brother, if you call the decisions by Umpire Tolle Monday night "close," then one of us is blind; they were not even close . . . especially when he called a man safe, and then after pressure from the opposing team two or three minutes later called him out.

Now I, for one, when I go to a ball game, do not feel like I am in church, at a funeral, or having entered the Sanctum Sanctorum, but have gone to a place where one ball team is a rival of another, and may the best team win with honest and just decision from the judges. But when such decisions as we had rendered last Monday night don't get a fan's dander up, then I say return him his money and let him go home.

I know there were two or three fans who probably let their better judgment run away with them, and probably called Brother Tolle some names best not repeated. I did not hear what they called him, but I will say this much, outside of two or three who probably lost their heads, there were hundreds who were just lightseers as I was, and would not have thought of doing Brother Umpire any harm.

Brother Editor of the Diamond Dust . . . were you present when that good and honorable man, Mr. Guy Smith, made that impressive talk at the entrance of the dugout? Did you see the men who were there leave the diamond immediately, as reverently as if they were leaving church? What was so disgraceful about that? Were you present outside the park after the game? What was so disgraceful there? . . . A hundred people were gathered, ninety-seven were laughing and having a good time, you would have seen the same thing at a Sunday school picnic, at a fire, at a parade, and especially at any ball game. It just depends on how you want to look at a thing, and make anything you want to out of it.

I for one, am a hundred per cent behind the Greenville baseball club, as fine a bunch of baseball boys as you'll ever know, with the finest and best manager in the Coastal Plain League. x x x

Thank you kind friends, I know you feel as I do; you are behind our club win, lose or draw, and if standing behind your boys and your manager is poor sportsmanship and disgraceful in the sight of a few, why it won't hurt what they think. Let's forget it all.

Twisting The Lion's Tail

Somebody Told Me . . .

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

It certainly is a shame, but the identical Briley twins seem to be getting less and less identical as the years go by. At least that's the way it appears to Wife Rachel and I, probably because we were in high school with them. But unless you know them pretty well you probably can't tell them apart now.

Rachel and I went through that stage of not knowing which was which, but that was years ago. The deal is that the longer you know them the less they look alike to you.

James works at Garris-Evans Lumber Company and Leonard at the Person-Garrett Tobacco Company and attends the University of North Carolina during the off seasons. James married Mary Ann Harris from Greenville and Leonard, Aline Kain of Fayetteville.

Being a twin has its advantages, but just think of what one goes through during his childhood. How would you like to wake up and see someone in the room with you who looks exactly like you? I even take special precaution to move the mirror far enough away from the bed to escape seeing myself the first time I open my eyes in the morning.

Folks make jokes about the tricks identical twins can pull by being two places at once. The other night at a bridge party I managed to squeeze this story out of James and Leonard:

One of the requirements of an English course the twins were taking together was to recite 18 lines of Chaucer from memory. The brain in the family, Rachel, tells me that a typical line of Chaucer goes like this: "When that April with its shores suite," which means, "When April comes with her sweet showers." From that small example you can see why Chaucer is hard to memorize, understand, or even pronounce.

Despite the difficulty of the task Leonard learned his lines in short order and on Monday of that particular week recited them in a breeze. James knocked off the first six lines like forty, but seemed to get stuck there. And on top of that things began to happen to him that can happen to no one like they can to a student. All of a sudden he was assigned quizzes in two other courses, plus a heavy load of outside reading. James was in a jam.

Time creeped up on the Brileys and James was on the recitation schedule. The only solution was to let Leonard substitute for James, so they switched books and seats.

Without looking up the teacher called out, "James Briley." Leonard stood up and gave the spiel. "How do I know that you aren't your brother?" asked the teacher when Leonard finished.

"I hadn't thought of that," said Leonard.

"Well," replied the teacher, "the only way of telling that I know is that you did a better job than your brother and got a better grade. You got 92 and your brother got 90."

If the occasion had arisen for Leonard to take a quiz for James again he vowed that he would take it for James first and for himself the second time. James said he wouldn't mind getting the low grade, a "low" grade like 90, he means.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

C. and E.—During the first two months of the current fiscal year the contingency and emergency fund has been nicked for about $75,000. The general assembly appropriates one million dollars a year to this mund, which is disbursed by the governor and council of state. It was established to take care of contingencies and emergencies arising when the general assembly is not in session, and which could not be foreseen by the legislature. Actually, a great many of the allocations from the fund are in the nature of passing the buck and are for purposes which the legislature could have—and in many instances did—recognize the claim but declined to appropriate money.

ALLOCATIONS — The approved allocations so far this year include: $32,970 to match county appropriations for veterans' service officers. The assembly set aside $50,000 for this purpose but wrote in the act requirement that the state should match local money up to $1,000 in each county. It was expected some fifty counties would need to be matched; actually the matching fund required $82,970.

$2,835 for renovating the governor's offices, including air conditioning units. No legislative appropriation was requested for this item.

$5,459 to the department of archives and history for atruck to transport around the state for public display the gifts of the French merci train.

$14,118 for additional employees in the new personnel department over and above the number approved by the general assembly.

$6,500 to the Institute of Government for services rendered the local government commission.

$2,000 to the general statutes commission.

$3,000 to the judicial council for apart time secretary.

$7,675 to the state board of elections to pay for printing new registration books for all North Carolina voters.

REJECTED — The council of state turned down several requests for supplemental or additional appropriations. Biggest of these rejected items was $100,000 asked by the medical care commission to increase legislative appropriations for the student loan fund.

PENDING—Also pending are several requests totaling many thousands of dollars, in which the biggest item is that of the buildings and grounds board for more than $10,000 to supplement legislative appropriations and previous C and E allotments for work at the governor's mansion—including installation of a passenger elevator.

QUESTIONABLE — While these objects are of unquestionable legality, it is obvious that most of them do not constitute contingencies or emregencies that could not have been anticipated by the general assembly, and for which legislative appropriations could have been made. In some instances it was a case of direct buck-passing by the assembly; in others it was the governor and council of state running directly counter to expressed legislative intent.

CHANGES — Effective September 1, Charles Parker, who has served as private secretary to Governor Scott since his inauguration moves over to his new job as head of the advertising-news division in the department of conservation and development. Theoretically, he succeeds John Hemmer, who has been acting director for a month, but actually he succeeds Bill Sharpe who resigned August 1 to take a position with Carolina Power and Light Company. At the same time John Marshall assumed the duties as private secretary to Governor Scott.

SALARIES—There has been a lot of talk, with some attempt to make mystery of it, about both Parker and Marshall taking salary cuts accompanied by speculation of what the new salaries will be. Check of official records shows that Parker will get $6,912 a year, the same as Sharpe drew. Marshall will get $7,500 as the governor's secretary. During the general assembly and the period of getting the Scott administration underway Parker drew $8,640.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—It is ten years ago today since Adolf Hitler plunged the world into its first trillion-dollar war.

No paperhanger in history ever messed up a place more.

Remember?

Millions of people heard the broadcast of the fateful speech to the Reichstag in which Hitler told the German people their troops had marched into Poland.

It gave a shivery feeling. The fairy emotionalism of the little man seeped through his alien tongue into the hearts of listeners in many lands. The hall in which he spoke was hung with scarlet banners, for red is the color of war, and the hall shook with bursts of massed applause—as if led by invisible cheerleaders. It was like something out of the middle ages.

Exactly 2,074 days later the returns from Adolf's speech were in. His Reich and many other countries were in ruins. Some 22,060,000 men, women and children had been killed, including Fuehrer Hitler and his Arch-buddy, Benito Mussolini, who ended the war hanging by his heels beside his Mistress, dead and bleeding, some 54,400,000 had been wounded.

It was the biggest jackpot of all time for brother Mars. He had rung up $1,116,991,463,084 on his cash register and about $230,900,000,000 in property damage. This doesn't even include the cost in money and damage of the long war in China which is still in flower.

The United States picked up the biggest part of the check—$330,030,463,084—and it is still picking up the checks.

What does it all add up to?

Well, the Germans are still sorting bricks from the rubble of their cities, and will be for years. They are bystanding now. But the chief issue raised by Hitler is still undecided—freedom or tyranny, the eldest issue on earth and never settled.

War didn't even dent the global population. Wars never do that so well as a good long plague. It is a tremendous tribute to the imperishable vitality and optimism of the human race that it has gone on having children like mad. There are some 2,300,000,000 people in the world, more than ever, and some 150,000,000 dwell in America—more than ever.

Here more people are eating higher on the hog living better, farming more, than at any period in our story. And America is still a little startled at the realization it has replaced the British Empire as the biggest single factor for world order. That carries the privileges of greater responsibility—and, inevitably, higher taxes. That is the price of being the big brother.

What did the war teach us? Well, chiefly, it taught us a sense of geography—and that's important. Places like Bastogne, Kasserine Gap, Tokyo Paris, London, Liege, and Berlin don't seem to strange and far now. Millions came home with memories of what people are like and how they live in foreign places.

There is a steel skyscraper growing up now beside Manhattan's East river, the first building in the United Nations new home. The problem is whether everybody can grow up as it is growing. For the question is no longer whether any particular nation can get along in the world, but whether all nations can get along in the world together.

Whether they do or not, it is doubtful whether war in itself, even in the radio-active atomic age, can alone destroy anything so durable and stubborn as mankind.

For nothing yet has ever been able to keep people from having hope—and children.

"Dead as a dodo" refers to a clumsy cousin of the pigeon that was three times the size of a turkey and lived on the Indian Ocean Island of Mauritius until three centuries ago. The dodo—a name derived from the Portuguese word for simpleton—could neither fly, fight nor run away.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Is Your Child the "One in Five"?

One school child in five is retarded because his vision is defective. Poor vision is a great handicap to a child. It shows him up in every way. It forces him to work harder to master his studies; handicaps him in his relationships with other children and grown-ups, too. It tends to warp his personality—and generally sets him back in his struggle to get ahead and make his mark.

Make sure your child's vision is right! Don't handicap him!

Senatorial Races Attract Attention Of Politicians During Waiting Period

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, Sept. 1.—This is the era of missionary scouts, feeler-outers, and trial balloons leading up to the contests for the state's two seats in the United States Senate next spring.

There is some interest among politically minded in the question of whether Governor Scott will make real effort to "purge" the next legislature of those who decline to go along all the way with his ideas. There is some veiled speculation about prospective candidates for governor in 1952. There is some interest in the matter of redistricting the state for congressional representation based on the 1950 census. Mainly the political gossip deals with the senatorial races This is the first time the people will elect both United States senators the same year.

Senator Clyde Hoey's term expires and his seat would come up for filling in any event. Untimely death of Senator J. M. Broughton and interim appointment of Frank Graham to the Senate until the people can vote necessitates election of a man—or woman—to fill out that term.

This two-senator election finds politicians without precedent as a guide. It hasn't ever happened before. Furthermore, every other time the people have had to pass upon an executive appointee to the Senate has been at the end of the term, both of the senator and the governor. This election comes during the first half of the governor's term and the first third of the senator's. That makes a difference.

So there is to greater degree than ever before a mixture of concern about effect upon both state and national administrations. North Carolinians apparently are more concerned about the state and local angles.

It is pretty generally conceded that the seat allotted by common consent to the western half of the state is the key to the present situation. If Senator Clyde Hoey has serious opposition there will almost certainly be a candidate against Senator Frank Graham. If Senator Hoey doesn't have opposition, chances are rated about even that Senator Graham will not.

Everybody knows Clyde Hoey's political prestige. He has never been defeated in a campaign, and he will be hard to beat under any circumstances. He is stronger now, by reason of his activities in the senatorial investigations of "influence peddlers" than he was a few months ago. But organized labor still doesn't like him, and there is prospect Labor may get out a candidate against him.

Who? Former Senator Bob Reynolds is a prospect that cannot be laughed off. Major L. P. McLendon are numerous others less well known are numerous other less well known who might be induced to run. Most likely contender right now is Theron Lamar Caudle of Wadesboro, assistant U.S. attorney general. He is a former assistant district attorney for the western federal court district by nomination of then Senator Reynolds. He is believed to be acceptable to labor and more acceptable than most other possibilities to the industrial element — though not as highly favored as Hoey or McLendon in those quarters. If Caudle runs he is expected to have access to money which former Senator Reynolds can muster.

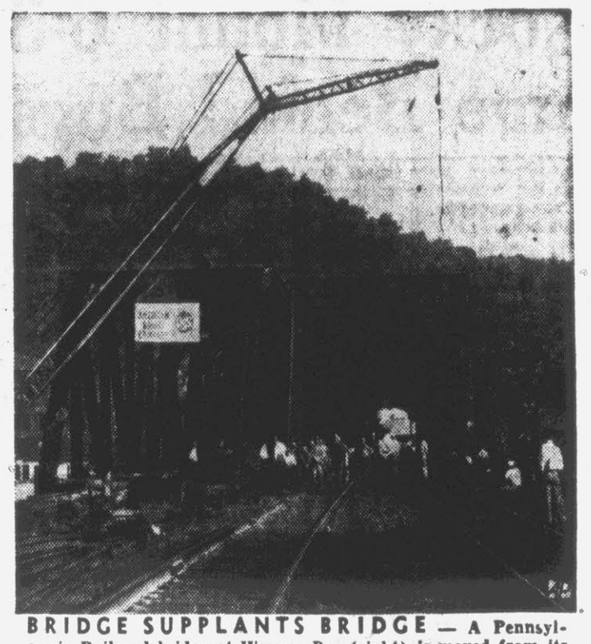

His age, his personal popularity his geographic location and other factors make him a "natural." Caudle is not presently an avowed candidate, but close friends are letting it be known he can be drafted without much protest. And he will be in the state next week to check up on the situation. Just how he stands with Governor Kerr Scott, National Committeeman Jonathan Daniels and other would-be party bosses is not too certain. In fact, it is believed they would prefer no contest at all.

There is just about as much uncertainty with respect to potential opposition to Senator Frank Graham. Looming largest on this scene is William B. Umstead of Durham former congressman from the sixth district, and U.S. senator for 18 months by appointment of Governor Cherry upon death of Senator J. W. Bailey. Umstead was defeated for nomination to the full term in a hotly contested race with former Governor J. M. Broughton last year. His attitude since, his conduct during the fall campaign and his personal popularity puts him definitely in No. 1 position in any line-up of statewide candidates. Mr. Umstead knows a lot of things — among them when to keep his mouth closed. So he isn't talking. Labor doesn't like his voting record in the Senate, but the farmers are believed to be more favorably inclined to him than to Senator Graham. That is especially true in the east where Graham is feared because of alleged concepts about racial equality and communism.

There is some talk that L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture, might be induced to run for the Senate. Ballentine is not talking, either; but he is known to feel that he has a job to do in his present position that should not be compromised by a mid-term political race.

Congressman Harold Cooley has been mentioned. His friends say he would rather remain as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee than risk a contest for the Senate. Congressman Graham (Hap) Barden also has been brought into the range of potentials.

Nothing is certain yet—not even that there will be contests for the Senate seats. Folks are just beginning to talk, that's all.

Gas Pipe Line Plans Approved

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1—(AP)—Plans for building a natural gas pipe line across North Carolina have the approval of the State Utilities Commission.

Commission General Counsel John Taylor is expected to voice the commission's approval at a hearing before the Federal Communications Commission in Washington on Sept. 14 when the Piedmont Natural Gas Corporation presents its application for building the line.

The proposed line would serve communities throughout the Piedmont section of the state.

On First Day

All former Greenville High School students will report to their homerooms of last year Monday morning at 8:40 to begin their 1949-50 school year, Principal O. E. Dowd announced this morning.

He said that all new students, including those going to the eighth grade, will assemble in the high school auditorium at 8:40 to receive their schedules and room assignments.

Those students reporting to the auditorium should use the Fifth Street entrance, Dowd urged.

The principal reported that registration for the opening is complete with some 18 more students enrolled than attended school here last year.

Five Ring Circus Coming To Town

The Dailey Brothers five-ring railroad circus will be in Greenville to give two performances on Thursday, September 15 at the Old Fair Grounds, according to a report from Robert M. Burns, circus Press Agent.

The show, which operates out of Gonzales, Texas, is rated as one of the best circus programs on the road today. The usual buffoonery is provided by an array of clowns wild animal acts are plentiful featuring a 25-elephant contingent with its five ton giants, and then there will be trick riding, steer roping and other acts.

Numerous outstanding aerialists will be on hand to show their skill in the air. Many others will perform as bareback riders, acrobats wild west riders and elephant mahouts.

The circus will arrive here early by train on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 15 and immediately set up its equipment for matinee and evening shows. The afternoon program begins at 3 p.m. while the night show starts at 8 o'clock.

House Damaged By Sudden Fire

A fire late yesterday afternoon of unknown origin did considerable damage to the home of Lester Best, colored, 414 14th Street.

Greenville firemen said that the fire had gained much headway when they arrived and that it was beginning to eat its way out the top of the roof and the windows of the house.

Firemen quickly laid a line of hose and soon had a stream of water on the burning building, which was threatening other houses nearby.

Firemen suppressed the blaze after fighting it for about twenty minutes.

The only persons in the house at the time that the fire started were some children who were playing in the back bedroom where the fire is supposed to have started, firemen said.

The furnishings in the house were a total loss while the building was heavily damaged by fire and water. The only portion of the house which did not burn was a back room, but this was damaged by smoke and heat.

The tenant house was owned by Mrs. Pattie Wooten of Greenville.

Turn Up Example Of Soil Erosion

Des Moines—(AP)—A dramatic example of what happens to soil during heavy rains was shown while soil techicians were preparing for a recent field day on the Mable P. Jurgenson farm near Marshalltown.

The techicians were working in a gully where a tile outlet dam was being constructed for the central Iowa farm field day. They found that slightly more than two and a half feet of top soil had eroded into the gully.

When the workmen finished digging the foundation for the dam, the original ground level was clearly defined. The soil was black in color while that in the two and a half feet next to the surface was brown.

Jury Challenged In Rape Trial

Windsor, N.C., Sept. 1—(AP)—A jury selected to try Raleigh Speller for the third time on rape charges was under challenge today.

Attorneys for the 46-year-old Negro who has been convicted twice on the capital charge and won a new trial each time argued that a jury selected from a Vance County venier was illegally constituted.

They asserted that in Vance County Negroes have been systematically excluded from jury service.

Storm Growing

Miami, Fla., Sept. 1—(AP)—A small but growing tropical storm today moved on Martinique Island, about 1,400 miles east southeast of Miami.

Northeast storm warnings were ordered extended from Martinique to Antigua and southwest storm warnings flew from St. Lucia southward to Granada Island, in the Caribbean island chain.

The weather bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, said the storm was attended by winds of 40 to 50 miles per hour over an area 75 miles to the east of center and is increasing very slowly in intensity.

It is moving northwestward or west northwestward at about 12 miles per hour.

Greenies Trounce Rocky Mount 6-3 Moving To Half-Game Behind Bugs

Harrison Notches Another Win With Help From Lewey As Pappy Drives In Three Runs

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy Williams and his Greenville Greenies continued their march toward the coveted fourth position in the Coastal Plain League by trouncing the Rocky Mount Leafs, 6 to 3, here last night in the final home game of the regular season between the two clubs. The win for the Greenies moved them to within a half-game of the Bugs, who lost last night to the New Bern Bears.

The Greenies jumped into the lead in the first frame by scoring a tally on the sensational base running of Paul Strausser and a timely single by Manager Pappy Williams. Strausser led off with a walk, stole second, stole third and then scored on William's single into left field. Strausser really had a night of it last night as he continued his base running throughout the contest stealing a total of four bases for the night.

The Leafs came back in the second stanza to take a 2 to 1 lead when Frank Tepedino beat out an infield hit, McJunkin and Gardner were walked loading the bases and Chuck Sedor singled into left field to bring home Frank Tepedino and McJunkin.

The Greenies came back in the third frame to stage a big five run rally and put them out in front for the rest of the game. After Bobby Harrison had gone out shortstop to first for the initial out, Paul Strausser came across with a sizzling single down the third base line. Charlie Graham followed with another single advancing Strausser to third. John Tepedino singled and brought in Strausser and Manager Pappy Williams followed with a double to right field to bring in Graham and Tepedino. Willie Mauney got a single advancing Williams to third and Varney walked loading the bases. Then Sindo Valle flew out to deep left field with Williams scoring and minutes later Mauney scored from third on Catcher Martin's passed ball.

The Leafs threatened again in the eighth inning when two walks, an infield hit and Pepper Martin's single produced a run, but it was at this point that Valle made one of the prettiest catches seen this season when he caught Manager Red Benton's line drive to put out the fire.

Bobby Harrison received credit for the win, although he had to have help from Jim Lewey in the last two frames. The Leafs made all their runs and all their hits off Harrison, while Lewey came in in the eighth with none out to hold the Leafs scoreless and hitless the remainder of the game.

The Leafs used three hurlers with Charlie Garmon the starting hurler being credited with the loss after pitching only two and one-third frames when he gave up six hits and all six of the Greenie runs.

Manager Pappy Williams with a double and a single, which drove in three of the Greenie's six runs, and Willie Mauney with two singles, led the nine-hit attack off the three Leaf hurlers.

The Greenies travel over to Rocky Mount tonight to meet the Leafs in the second of the two-game series. They return to Greenville tomorrow night when they meet the Wilson Tobs in the first of a two-game series.

Highest Award

Philadelphia, Sept. 1—(AP)—George Herman "Babe" Ruth yesterday was awarded posthumously the American Legion's Distinguished Service Medal for his interest in the nation's youth.

The medal — the Legion's highest award—was accepted on behalf of her late husband by Mrs. Ruth as 5,000 delegates to the Legion's 31st annual convention arose and applauded in Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

The award, first given in 1921, has been presented to 34 persons, including Marshal Foch of France, General Pershing, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman, who was honored on Monday.

East's All-Stars To Test Giants

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—An eastern all-star team of collegians will test the New York pro football Giants' new T-formation tonight for the benefit of the New York Herald Tribune's fresh air fund.

Steve Owen, Giants' head coach, has called on Al Sherman, who coached the Peterson Panthers to the American League title last year, to install the T as the Giants' regular attack.

Steve has snubbed the T for years using it only as a change of pace for his single wing and A formations.

The Giants' change of style is built around speedy, triple-threating Charley Conerly, a passing star who polished his backfield abilities at Mississippi University.

The collegions, drilled by big Herman Hickman, head coach at Yale, also will employ the T. The 40-man college squad is drawn from 23 eastern schools, most of which used the T attack.

Hickman's attack is centered around Army's backfield star, Bobby Jack Stuart.

The game will be played at the Polo grounds with the kickoff at 7:30 p. m. (EST).

Sees Plenty Of Tennis Talent In Years To Come

Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept. 1—(AP)—Even if the heroes of America's recent Davis Cup defense should depart from the amateur scene, this country is fortified with enough young tennis talent to insure its success in international competition for years to come.

That's the considered opinion of Alrick H. Mann Jr., captain of the U.S. Davis Cup forces, a steady customer at the national tennis championships here this week.

"All the members of this year's Davis Cup team should be good for at least one more year unless they retire or turn pro," said Mann. "But if they aren't available, we have several youngsters coming along who should do all right with another year's experience."

Turnesa Against 'Unknown' Field

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 1—(AP)—The 49th U. S. amateur golf championship, now that it's down to where you can recognize the players without a scorecard, stacks up as a battle between Willie Turnesa and a flock of "dark horses."

The defending titlist from Elmsford, N. Y., little bigger than a full-grown brassie, stood out like an ailing thumb today as the tournament swung into the fifth and quarter-final rounds.

The big question around Oak Hill's 6,800 wooded yards was: who's going to beat Turnesa?

It won't be Robert (Skee) Riegel or Frank Stranahan or any member of the British Walker Cup team.

Riegel and Stranahan, two of the hottest favorites, went out yesterday one right after the other. Part Perowne, the last of Britain's golfing song bowed to Bill Campbell, the golfing legislator from Huntington, W. Va., who finished one up.

The international segment, with all the British fallen, was represented by a mere wisp of a boy from Canada—Bob Fair of Toronto, who is just 19, all of 125 pounds and playing his first tournament in the U. S.

Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia provided the tournament's major upset when he ousted Piegel, the No. 1 favorite, 4 and 2. Riegel had put the skids under Stranahan in the featured third round joust, also 3 and 2.

Hero Wedemeyer Quietly Sold To Baltimore Colts

Los Angeles, Sept. 1—(AP)—A hero one season, a cast-off the next.

That was the story, a familiar one in sports, today as Herman Wedemeyer left the Los Angeles Dons and the coach who guided him to fame in College football, Jimmy Phelan.

A brief announcement—barely a peep compared to the ballyhoo that ushered him into the Don fold and pro football last year—merely said that Squirmin' Herman had been sold outright to the rival Baltimore Colts of the All-America conference.

The details, the amount of cash and whether the Colts would assume a fancy salary the little Hawaiian commanded when he went into the pro ranks, were not given.

There was an added line from Phelan to the effect that Herman probably would fare better as a breakaway back under Baltimore's T-formation style of play.

Bewitch Neared Coaltown Mark

Chicago, Sept. 1—(AP)—Bewitch, Calumet Farm's flying four-year-old filly, came within 2-5ths of a second of Coaltown's world and track mark in winning the $27,450 Beverly Handicap in 1.34 2-5 at Washington Park yesterday.

Steve Brooks rode the winner over the "dead" racing strip as the fleet filly carried 125 pounds—the most she ever toted.

Final Check-Up For Yacht Race

Miami, Fla., Sept. 1—(AP)—Thirty-three outstanding sailing skippers made last minute preparations today for the opening of the international lightling class championships tomorrow.

A heat a day will be run during the three day championships. The speedy craft will race twice around a three-mile triangular course each heat.

Dick Bertram of Miami, who won the event last year at Point Abino, Ontario, Canada, was out to make it two in a row.

o-O-o

Sidelights — The win for the Greenies moved them with one-half game of the fourth place Goldsboro Bugs as the Bugs were whitewashed by the Bears last night . . . The win for Harrison was his eighth of the season and his third against the Leafs this season. He has lost six, one being to Rocky Mount . . . The loss by Garmon was his third to the Greenies this season . . . The Greenies now have won 13 contests out of a total of 19 played with the Leafs this season . . . The win at home last night was number 39 for the Greenies . . . They have lost 27 at home thus far . . . That catch by Sindo Valle last night in the eighth frame was one of the prettiest seen on the local diamond this year and was easily the difference between a win and a defeat for the Greenies last night. But speaking of Valle, he is one of the best defensive players in the league . . . If you merchants and individuals haven't contributed to the players for Player Appreciation Night to be held here tomorrow night do so at once.

o-O-o

Although a game won in the early part of the season counts just as much in the standings as a game won on the closing day, when a team really gets "hot" in the closing month while the remainder of the league stands still it's no wonder that that team can climb right up to the top.

Back on July 31 Rocky Mount was in third place in the league while Kinston and New Bern were apparently battling it out for first place. The Leafs didn't look particularly like pennant winners. In fact, they were just recovering from a prolonged slump. But since that time Rocky Mount has been playing at a .706 clip while other teams except Wilson were hovering around the .500 mark. Wilson was the "dog" of the league, playing only .321 ball.

Here's the way the standings would look Thursday if all games prior to August were discarded and the season had gotten to a fresh start at that time:

	W	L	PCT
Rocky Mount	14	10	.706
Tarboro	16	14	.533
Greenville	15	14	.517
Goldsboro	14	16	.466
Roa. Rapids	16	17	.454
New Bern	15	19	.441
Wilson	9	19	.321

From those figures it's easy to see why the Leafs are now practically a sure thing for the pennant. It also gives a good indication that they will be the team to beat in the playoffs.

It's interesting to note that Tarboro and Roanoke Rapids, two teams which have been banged around considerably, have been playing much better ball than New Bern for the past month. Both of those teams got off to slow starts this year with rookie-laden rosters. The rookies have now acquired a certain amount of polish and are beginning to carry their weight in the league. But it's too late for Roanoke Rapids, and Tarboro would have to run into a bit of luck to make up the two games by which fourth-place Goldsboro leads the A's.

Cooler Weather

The highest temperature recorded in Greenville yesterday was 85 degrees. Lowest last night was 67, and at 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 71. Highest temperature yesterday a year ago was 92 degrees.

Rainfall here during the past 24 hours was about one-fifth of an inch. Total rainfall for August was 7.26 inches. Total rainfall in August a year ago was only 2.42 inches, Mrs. Carl E. Malden, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, reported.

Dole Orders Heavy Drills On First Day Practice Season

Scrimmage Decreed By Pirates' Mentor Who Says 'Time Won't Wait For Anyone'

Coach William E. (Bill) Dole whose opening surprise was an announcement that all East Carolina football drills would be held behind closed doors this year pulled his second ace out of the hole today when he opened the practice season with heavy drills and scrimmages.

"Time won't wait for anyone," the former Fayetteville high school coach explained this morning as he assembled his 1949 prospects on the practice field.

Fifty-five boys, a number of them holdovers from last season, met with Dole last night at the Wright building to hear him tell of opening day plans of heavy drills. Four team managers who have been whipping the equipment into shape for the opening were on the field at day break lining it off for the scrimmage this morning.

In practice session this morning Dole stressed blocking and tackling, ball handling, pass defense, and maneuvering in the line. The boys were issued heavy gear last night.

In addition, the boys worked on the tackling dummy and sled today as they went through a hurry up campaign to get into shape.

Scrimmage was on the docket for the afternoon. It was reported that Dole probably would start cutting the squad shortly as the boys who are not of college material will be discovered early.

On Monday of this week Dole announced that all practice sessions would be behind closed doors. The new mentor, who coached one of the best high school teams in the state, is taking advantage of every opportunity to break the Pirates in on the win column. Last season the locals went winless all year.

Play Tonight

The championship games in the Boys Baseball League, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, will be played tonight in Guy Smith Stadium beginning at 6:45.

Games will be played to determine the winner of each of the three divisions, each game being limited to one hour playing time. No admission will be charged.

Psalms Tell of God's Justice

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 49:1-7; 72; 82.

They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him.

Give the king Thy judgments, O God, and Thy righteousness unto the king's son. He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy.

Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things. And blessed be His glorious name forever; and let the whole earth be filled with His glory.

Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked. Arise, O God, judge the earth: for Thou shalt inherit all nations.

Petrillo Threatens Music Black-Out In Union Feud

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—James C. Petrillo has threatened to silence orchestras in New York, and possibly throughout the nation, in a dispute with the AFL American Guild of Variety Artists.

Petrillo, head of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, said yesterday he may pull orchestras out of New York hotels, night clubs and theaters "in a couple of days."

The action, he said, "could extend over the entire country."

The threat appeared to be the start of a showdown battle in a long-standing feud between the musicians' union and the AGVA, composed mostly of actors.

Petrillo accused the AGVA of "raiding our union" and forcing AFM members to join the AGVA, too. He ordered any musicians who had joined the AGVA to get out of it.

"Every time one of our men opens his mouth," Petrillo said, "up pops an agent of the AGVA and says, 'Gimme $50 — you said something. Your're an actor.' This has got to stop."

Petrillo told a news conference that "we are debating on how far we must go to stop this outfit from raiding our union."

He said he hadn't decided whether to call out orchestras at 10 New York places, or four, as a starter. He said he may order all AFM members not to appear on any programs with AGVA members.

This, he said, would tie up hotel entertainment, vaudeville, night clubs and possibly some television shows.

Proctor, Vt., calls itself the marble capital of the United States; about 70 per cent of the nation's supply comes from Proctor quarries.

Construction On Eight Hospitals May Start Soon

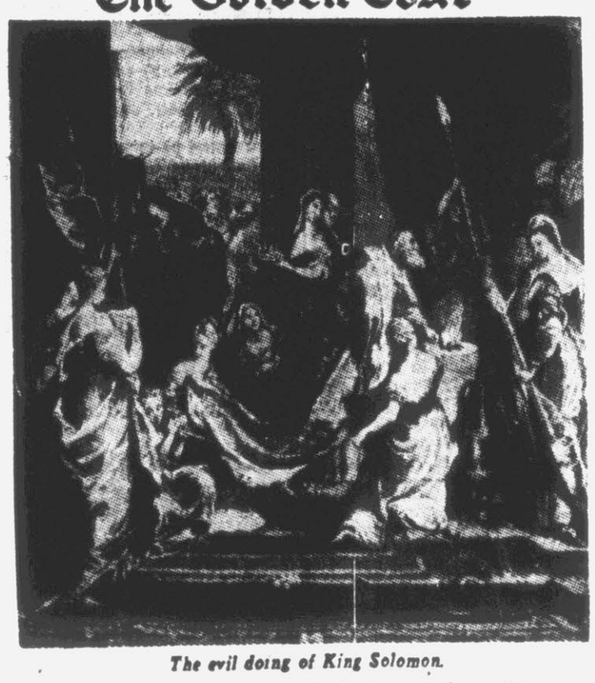

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1—(AP)—Construction work may begin this fall on eight hospital projects, Dr. John A. Ferrell, executive secretary of the Medical Care Commission, reported yesterday.

Bids will be opened for a 100-bed hospital at Gastonia on Sept. 15, a 100-bed hospital at Smithfield on Sept. 20, and a 100-bed hospital at North Wilkesboro and a 20-bed hospital at Burgaw early in October.

Plans also call for letting contracts on the following hospitals before the end of the year: Windsor, 50 beds; Concord, 100 beds; Jefferson, 25 beds; and Morganton, 40 beds.

In 1947, Canada imported $2,000,000,000 worth of goods from the United States.

Psalms Tell of God's Justice

HIS PEOPLE SHALL BE JUDGED WITH RIGHTEOUSNESS

Scripture—Psalms 49:1-7; 72; 82.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THERE ARE few human problems more heartbreaking than injustice. It has wrecked many lives. Just punishment for sins committed may be borne, but to suffer for wrongdoing of which we are not guilty, is maddening.

Even in happy homes a child may occasionally be punished for something he did not do, and his sense of justice is outraged and leaves a deep and long-felt hurt. Injustice toward young children is a fault that parents should strive to avoid above all things—and teachers and others in charge of youngsters equally.

We hear of men who have been imprisoned for years for a crime they did not commit. No amount of atonement can blot out those years of suffering and the obloquy they brought.

This lesson will be remembered by the pupils longer if that point is stressed, and they are made to see what a sin it is to falsely accuse a playmate, and told to be sure of their facts before they make any accusation—no matter how small.

In Psalm 49, King David calls upon all people—"low and high, rich and poor, together"—to listen to his wisdom:

"They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches;

"None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give God a ransom for him."

Money can do much to relieve suffering—as those who need and have none can testify. But if one has sinned, money will not buy innocence. The person who committed the crime knows in his soul he is guilty, and although justice may for a time pass him by—perhaps by means of this same wealth—he never can be happy again.

The sad thing is that money does sometimes buy off a dishonest judge, while those without rich or influential friends suffer injustice.

Psalm 72 is called A Song for Solomon, and ends with the words, "The prayers of David, son of Jesus, are ended."

It is thought that David uttered this prayer when he was dying, and Solomon put it into the form of the Psalm that David's memory should never perish. Only two Psalms bear the name of Solomon, this and the 127th.

"Give the king Thy judgments, O God, and Thy righteousness unto the king's son.

"He shall judge Thy people with righteousness, and Thy poor with judgment.

"He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor."

We know that Solomon was a wise judge in many ways, but he—like all human beings—had his faults, and he oppressed the people more than his father David or his predecessor, Saul, by taxing them excessively.

No one is perfect, and so judgments are often faulty—even when judges have the best of intentions—and in our country, this writer is sure, that a large majority of our judges try honestly and conscientiously to give justice to all who are brought before them, whether they be rich or poor—native sons or those whom some call "foreigners."

Judges, jurors, teachers, parents, and many others should read the opening words of the 82nd Psalm and take them to heart. Jesus Christ was the only man whose judgments were perfect. He condemned only the willfully wicked. He had compassion on the poor, yet gave consideration to the rich. His heart was large enough so that, even in the midst of his agony on the cross, He called upon His Father, God, to forgive his enemies.

"God standeth in the congregation of the mighty; He judgeth among the gods.

"How long will ye judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.

"Defend the poor and fatherless; do justice to the afflicted and needy.

"Deliver the poor and needy; rid them out of the hand of the wicked."

"I have said, Ye are gods; and all of you are children of the most High.

"But ye shall die like men, and fall like one of the princes.

"Arise, O God, judge the earth: for Thou shalt inherit all nations."

When real justice comes to our earth, many changes will be made—but God's world will really be here.

Quiet Rites For Roosevelt And Socialite Bride

New York, Sept. 1—(AP)—In a simple ceremony attended by a few relatives and friends, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., was married yesterday to Socialite Suzanne Perrin, wartime Marine reservist.

The ceremony joining the late President's third son and the 28-year-old Miss Perrin was held at the bride's East 66th St. apartment. The couple met last spring and had been engaged six weeks.

It was the second marriage for 35-year-old Roosevelt, and the first for his bride.

Roosevelt's marriage in 1937 to the former Ethel Du Pont ended in divorce last May.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the groom's mother, attended the ceremony. Roosevelt's brother, Elliott, was best man.

Negro Sentenced For 2 Slayings

Whiteville, Sept 1 — (AP) Jasper Jenkins, 37, Negro, faced 12 to 18 years in prison today for a double slaying.

He was sentenced by Judge Wilkins P. Horton yesterday after a jury convicted him of second degree murder in the deaths of Leander Kelly and Richard Ardell Smith, Negroes. The jury recommended mercy.

World Observes 10th Anniversary Of War's Start

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is the 10th anniversary of the beginning of World War II in Europe and the fourth anniversary of the Japanese surrender ceremony.

The Moscow weekly New Times seized the occasion to declare the Soviet Union won the European war single handed.

"The Soviet people bore the entire burden of the war against the German fascist invaders," it said.

In Tokyo (where it was Friday Japanese time), Gen. Douglas MacArthur reviewed Japan's four years under Allied occupation and declared communism is no longer a major threat to Japan.

"The Japanese people," said MacArthur "have fully and faithfully observed their surrender commitments and advanced steadily along the road of spiritual regeneration and physical reconstruction."

In four years Japan's population has grown by 9,500,000, MacArthur reported, "yet there has been no mass unemployment, no social unrest and no large-scale dole."

West German newspapers noted the tenth anniversary of the outbreak of World War Two today with a chorus of "We don't want another."

It was on Sept. 1, 1939, that Adolf Hitler's armored legions drove into Poland.

But while the West German press called today for peace, the Soviet-licensed press in Berlin said the American Army was preparing for another war on German soil.

The independent Frankfurt newspaper Abendpost, in the American zone, keynoted the Western German comment against war.

"On this day, we will not regret that we lost the war," said Abendpost, "but we will regret that it was started by our government.

"That we lost the war is no shame for us—but it is shameful and depressing that it was the Germans who attacked their neighbors."

The Frankfurt Neue Presse said that Germany and Europe would cease to exist "if we forget a second time the slogan "No More War."

"No More War" was a popular slogan in Germany after World War One.

Patrol Office Change Is Made

By CHESTER WALSH

Capt. Lester Jones, commander of State Highway Patrol Troop A, which includes the northeastern counties, the past 18 years, and stationed in Greenville, left for Fayetteville today to take command of Troop B.

Capt. David T. Lambert, who also has been in the State Highway Patrol since it was organized and who has been commander of Troop C at Greensboro the past 12 years, came here today to succeed Capt. Jones.

Capt. Jones was honor guest at a supper meeting last night at the recreation hall at police headquarters given by the Peace Officers' Association of Pitt County. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and Greenville Police Chief Lester D. Page jointly presided.

Fifth District Solicitor W. J. (Dick) Bundy and Police Court Judge J. W. H. Roberts and Sheriff Tyson and Chief Page paid tribute to Capt. Jones for his long and honorable highway patrol and World War I service.

Law enforcement officers of all of the towns of Pitt county were present. They presented Capt. Jones a substantial gift in a gesture of their appreciation of his loyal service.

Capt. Lambert, who came here this morning, is a veteran patrolman. He is a native of Raleigh; is married, and has two children, Joy Hunter Lambert(12, and Ann Thomas Lambert, 9. He is a Methodist. His family will live at the Westbrook apartments on Charles street.

The patrol captain expressed appreciation of the courtesies extended him since he was notified of his transfer here several weeks ago.

Other highway patrolmen stationed here are Lt Tom Brown, who was transferred from New Bern; Cpl. John Laws, Dick Chadwick, Paul C. Whitley. Patrolmen Ernest Guthrie is stationed at Farmville; R. C. Holt at Ayden and D. E. Perry at Bethel.

American tariffs on goods from a foreign country which in turn agrees to lower its tariffs on some of our goods.

3. Revising the displaced persons act to cut out features which are considered to discriminate against some groups of DP's who wanted to come to the U. S. (The senate may act but that's not certain.)

4. Keeping for another year the present system of holding farm prices up. It's not clear what the senate will do on this, whether it will agree to the house plan or vote one of its own, or what. It probably will do something.

The following items, all major points which Mr. Truman wanted this Congress to pass, have no chance of passing this year:

1. A bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor act. The senate voted to make mild changes in it. The house hasn't acted, isn't expected to. So T-H stands unchanged.

2. Social Security. Mr. Truman wanted the Social Security program widened to cover more people, give higher benefits. No action this year. Maybe next year.

Last, among the major things, comes federal aid to education. The senate passed a bill to draft such aid. Before the house could act, the whole subject was engulfed in a religious controversy. Small chance of house action this year. Therefore, small chance of federal aid.

issue in due time. She will be too important militarily, politically and economically to be left out of the picture. However, that question isn't pressing, since Japan technically is still at war with her neighbors.

It is well that this issue doesn't have to be settled now, since Japan's war victims still are bitter. The Philippines, for example, not only deported all Japs at the end of the fighting but passed a law forbidding Japanese for all time to enter the Philippines.

That law still stands, and it will take much to change it so long as the terrors of the Jap invasion still are burning in the memories of the public. Many Filipinos even are bitterly opposed to reopening any trade relations with Japan.

President Quirino, however, has been viewing the situation broad-mindedly, although his personal grievance against the Japs is vast. His wife and three children were killed during the closing days of the war when the invaders went wild and killed indiscriminately.

Ayden Girl Won Beauty Contest

Sarah Sellers, 17, of Ayden, was crowned "Miss Atlantic Beach of 1949" at Morehead City at the second annual "Atlantic Beach showcase of beauties" and coronation ball, which was held at the Surf Club.

Ruth Page of Greenville was selected the third place runner up in the beauty contest which had a field of eight contestants.

Miss Sellers won over eight girls from different sections of North Carolina. In gaining the title, one girl was chosen each week during the two months that the beach was open to take part in the beauti contest.

Francis Hadnott of New Bern "Miss Atlantic Beach of 1948" crowned Miss Sellers and presented her with a loving cup which she will keep during the year. Next year Miss Sellers will reign over the beauty pageant and crown the winner for 1950.

The beauty queen is five feet eight inches tall, and weighs 130 pounds. She has brown eyes and flaming red hair, and lives in Ayden.

The second place winner was Peggy Littleton of Goldsboro.

The three top contestants were each presented with many prizes which included sweaters, lamps pocket books, and other items.

Other contestants in the beauty contest held at the Surf Club at Morehead City were: Anna Francis Bunn, Murfreesboro; Ann Miles Durham; Betty Lloyd, Raleigh; Toby Ann Cohen, Roanoke, Virginia, and Jean Farrior of Morehead City.

Farm Compromise Has Bi-Partisan Senate Backing

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)—Senators of both parties plugged today for passage of a compromise farm program, apparently with President Truman's backing.

The measure, written by Senator Anderson (D-NM), was sent to the Senate for action yesterday soon after Democratic farm leaders returned from a visit to the White House.

The Democrats wouldn't say what Mr. Truman had told them, but Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) reported that the Senate Agriculture Committee had been informed the President would support the Anderson bill.

"I think this assures that the farmers will be in pretty good shape for another year," Aiken said. "This is a long range farm program that is not in conflict with the 1948 act now on the books."

Snow Hill, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—The second round of the bright belt warehouse association's fight against tobacco rump sales is scheduled for Raleigh on Sept. 15

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle in Greene Superior Court yesterday ordered 14 Rocky Mount operators to appear before him in Wake Superior court that day and show cause why their rump sales should not be restrained.

He issued the order at the close of a long hearing on an action brought against the warehousemen by the Association seeking to halt rump sales pending final court settlement of the issue. Rump sales are sales at which an adequate set of buyers is not present.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 1—(AP)—Old crop wheat deliveries put on a private display of strength in an otherwise listless grain market today. September wheat bounded up more than 2 cents at times under aggressive buying.

Wheat closed 1¾ lower to 2⅜ higher, September $2.03⅛-¼, corn was ½-1⅝ lower, September $1.24⅝-½, oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, September 67¾-⅞, rye was ½-¾ higher, September $1.40¼, soybeans were 1½ to 2 cents lower November $2.33-$2.32¾, and lard was 2 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $12.20.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Sept. 1—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady to slightly stronger. Tops of $20 at Tarboro, Goldsboro, Wilson, Greenville Washington, Kinston, and Rocky Mount; Richmond stronger at $20.75.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Sept. 1—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady to two cents higher at 27 to 29; eggs steady. A large 59.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 1 —(AP)— A snappy advance gave the stock market its biggest lift today in a couple of weeks. A good handful of leading issues sold at the best prices of the year on gains running from fractions to around a point — in some cases considerably more. Turnover was at a rate of 1,000,000 shares for the full session.

Chamber Commerce Bulletin Gives Valuable Information Recent Issue

By CHESTER WALSH

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce's monthly bulletin, edited by Manager Willard T. Kyzer, is a newsy and valuable document and has much news of vital importance to businessmen and others.

The late August bulletin reviews the opening of the tobacco market and points out that the market broke all records for pounds sold on opening day.

The Bulletin stresses the imprtance of "Farmers Day," to be celebrated in Greenvile next Saturday September 3, and enumerates many of the features of the day's program for entertaining farmers and their families. A big parade in the morning and U.S. Senator Frank Porter Graham speaking at the courthouse and the special events of the day to be climaxed by a beauty contest and dance at the college at night are stressed.

Manager Kyzer reminds that the "Guide to Greenville" is expected to be off the press in a few days.

Three new members were added to the Chamber of Commerce roster recently. They are Hollowell's Drug Store, Pitt County Fair and United Surplus, Inc.

The Chamber of Commerce Bulletin reminds that activity here resulted in maintaining a satisfactory mail service between Greenville and Greensboro and points west.

The Bulletin again warns businessmen and others to be alert for check flashers who buy merchandise and submit a check, expecting change.

The Pitt County Fair, with Norman H. Chambliss as manager, is given special attention in the Bulletin. The dates are October 3-8.

Manager Kyzer, in the Bulletin encourages the citizens in the Pactolus section to continue their efforts to have telephone service provided there. He urged support of the campaign of the ECTC Athletic Scholarship Committee for $10,000 to provide scholarships for worthy young men students at the college.

Soviet Demands U. S. Dollars

Prague—(AP)—Business is business, even among the professed adherents of the strict Marxist-Leninist line. Czechoslovaks got further proof of this recently when the Russians handed them a bill—in dollars — for the transport of a Czechoslovak track and field team to an invitational meet in Moscow

Upon their return some of the athletes said that, although they lost on points, they had profited in "a great lesson in socialism." A month later the Russians also gave them "a whacking stiff bill" for the ride—to Moscow and back—in Russian transport planes. The Russians asked dollars, no Czech crowns or Soviet rubles.

PRIVATE GRANDSTAND — This couple turned the rear of their sports car into a private grandstand during the road races for foreign cars on the runway of Linden, N. J., airport.

Hears Lectures In Phone Booth

Chicago, Sept. 1—(AP)—Will the college campus of the future be a telephone booth?

Could be.

This fall the University of Illinois College of Dentistry in Chicago will provide postgraduate courses for some 7,000 dentists who won't be in Chicago. They will be in 135 other cities getting their instruction by telephone.

The idea started in 1947 when Dr Saul Levy, a Scranton, Pa., dentist called Dr. Robert G. Kesel at the University Dental School here. Dr. Levy said he wanted to attend the postgraduate course on control of tooth decay but couldn't spare the time to travel to Chicago.

"Why," he asked, "can't I hear the lectures by telephone?"

The result: Dr. Levy and 19 other Scranton dentists met in the Chamber of Commerce Building on class nights, got out lantern slides and charts that had come in the mail, hooked an amplifier to the telephone, and listened. They didn't miss a word.

Word of the innovation got around in the profession. Other dentists in towns outside the big dental school centers became interested. Classes-by-wire were brought to dentists in Scranton and New Iberia, La., in the spring of 1948. There was a six city hookup in Illinois last fall.

But that was only a starter—and a small one, at that. The university, starting Oct. 10, will put on a postgraduate educational series that will reach 136 cities in 38 states and two in Canada over telephone lines.

Museum To House German Offices

Bonn, Germany—(AP)—Some officials of the new German Federal Republic will have stuffed lions, pre-historic mammoths and rare butterflies as neighbors. They'll all be together in the Alexander Koenig museum in this first capital city of Western Germany.

Bomb-battered Bonn is woefully short of office space. New buildings are blossoming amid the war ruins. But it will be years before enough space is available to house all the ministeries of the infant republic, if they stay here permanently. So one ministry probably will settle in the museum. It will have one wing—and the relics of the past will have what's left.

Galileo built his first telescope at Padua, Italy, 340 years ago.

Trade Costumes And Pass Guard

Chicago—(AP)—Bathing beach attire is banned at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. So the museum added a stock of a half-dozen wrap-on skirts for women visitors wearing bathing suits or shorts. Bathers from nearby Jackson Park beach on Chicago's South Side frequently entered the museaum in scanty wear.

Mrs. Martha McGrew, of the museum staff, said that, although officials aren't against such brevity they didn't consider the museum a proper place to wear play clothing. But on one occasion the spare skirts weren't needed. Girl guides at the museum entrance halted six teenage girls. Children under 12 are permitted to enter wearing brief apparel.

One girl, Mrs. McGrew said, was overage. A younger girl was appropriately dressed. None would enter unless all were admitted. The girls went into a huddle. They disappeared and soon returned.

All were passed through the entrance. The older girl had exchanged costumes with the appropriately clothed 12-year-old.

Australian Law Is Roadblock To Nationalization

Sydney—(AP)— Australia's Labor Government is doing little about nationalisation. It hasn't the power. The Australian Constitution says: "Trade, commerce, and intercourse among the states, whether by means of internal carriage or ocean navigation, shall be absolutely free."

That sentence, in Section 92, has been the wrecker of Labor Party dreams of nationalization. There have been 40 High Court cases and two Privy Council cases in which judges and lords have decided how section 92 applies in certain cases.

Today the general legal view is that Section 92 cuts right across plans for nationalization—transport banks, coal mines, breweries, or almost anything else that has business in more than one state. Latest defeat of a nationalization plan was in the Banking Case. The Privy Council, in London, ruled the Australian Government has no power to make a law to nationalise private trading banks.

Change-Over Is Effective Today

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1—(AP)—A shift in Governor Scott's first team put a new state advertising director and a new gubernatorial secretary on the job today.

Charles J. Parker, the governor's private secretary for eight months, moved to the State Department of Conservation and Development as advertising director.

John H. Marshall of Raleigh came into the Capitol to take the secretarial post. He has been publications editor for the Farmers Cooperative Exchange, a job from which he took leave twice in the past 18 months to help Scott campaigns. First he worked for Scott in the Democratic primaries last year, and this spring directed the campaign of Better Schools and Roads, Inc., for road and school bond issues.

Parker, who drew $8,640 a year as the governor's secretary, will get $6,912 as advertising director. Marshall will get $7,500.

Publicity Hound Jumped In 'Chute

Fort Lee, N.J., Sept. 1—(AP)—The young man stopped his taxi on the George Washington Bridge, saying he felt ill. He got out, stepped to the guard rail and plunged over.

But this time it wasn't suicide. A big white parachute blossomed out under the bridge and the youth floated 248 feet down to the Hudson River, untangled himself, and swam to the New Jersey shore.

He was Robert "Jumping Jack" Niles, 22, a self-confessed publicity seeker with a yen for jumping off high places. With a parachute, of course.

Niles told police he also had jumped off the 220-foot high Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco on April 15, 1949, and took a 450-foot header from the tower of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge on May 10, 1949. He said he lived in Oakland.

Fort Lee police booked "Jumping Jack" on a disorderly person charge last night. He was released on $15 bail and a hearing is set for Sept. 8.

Science Studies Mud For Army And Engineers

Ithaca, N.Y.—(AP)—A team of Cornell scientists is studying mud for the U.S. Army. They have found some hitherto unrecognized forces at work in common dirt. The purpose is to learn to strengthen soil without tons of cement or other mixtures. Ever since men used mud to make dwellings most everyone including engineers, believed that soils made of particles of the same sizes, acted about the same. But clay soils with particles of exactly the same sizes may behave differently.

In some clays the tiny particles are held in position by forces that act at a distance. These forces presumably are electrical. Recently a similar force acting between living particles has been discovered by biologists.

Differences in mineral composition affect the behavior of clay particles. Many forces originate at the surface between a particle and water around it. Through these forces, fine clays may have a large influence on the solidification of a mixture. Clays also can change their strength, according to what contaminates their surfaces.

It's Moving Day For Commanders Of Road Patrol

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 1—(AP)—It's moving day for the four troop commanders of the State Highway Patrol.

Transfers which were announced July 15 will put Capt. Lester Jones with Troop B at Fayetteville; Capt. D. T. Lambert with Troop A at Greenville; Capt. C. A. Speed with Troop D at Asheville; and Capt. W. B. Lentz with Troop C at Greensboro.

Jones formerly was at Greenville, Lambert at Greensboro, Speed at Fayetteville, and Lentz at Asheville.

Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar said the changes are in line with a patrol policy which calls for reassignment of one-fourth of patrol strength each year.

Have Candidate For Presidency Of State YDC

White Lake, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)—Young Democrats of the Seventh Congressional District are sponsoring Terry Sanford of Fayetteville for the state YDC presidency.

Plans for backing him at the YDC convention in New Bern this month were made here last night at a meeting for the district, which includes Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, Robeson, and New Hanover Counties.

Sanford, a lawyer, is commander of the National Guard unit at Fayetteville and president of the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has served two terms as judge advocate of the State Department of the American Legion. He is a University of North Carolina graduate.

Hope's Sponsor Goes To Court

Los Angeles, Sept. 1—(AP)—Bob Hope's sponsor wants the comedian to keep alive on his radio program, apparently figuring Hope and soap don't sell well in cans.

Lever Bros. Co. asked court confirmation yesterday of an arbitration decision that under his contract Hope must do his broadcasts in person, not by transcription.

Hope's eight-year contract ranges from $20,000 to $25,000 per program.

Roaming Bears Reported Now Livestock Menace

Waynesville, Sept. 1 — (AP) — Bears from the Great Smoky Mountains National Park today were reported killing livestock on farms bordering the area.

One cattle raiser said roaming bears are becoming a major threat to farm animals.

"Our bear population has increased to such a point that they are actually starving," said Thomas W Alexander, operator of Cataloochee Ranch. "The berry crops, 'Sarvis' crops, and acorn crops are again short this year, and the bears are grazing on weeds like cattle.

"Stock killing by these hungry bears has become a major problem Last year I lost nearly $1,000 worth of cattle, including two grown cows and a number of calves One neighbor lost a full grown steer, and others lost calves and sheep. Already this year, with the scattered blackberry crop eaten out, the bears are in the livestock. I have already lost at least two cows and possibly more, and all the stock owners in this section are losing time from their other farm work trying to protect their stock."

Alexander, who resigned recently from the State Board of Conservation and Development, said "There are more bears this year than ever before, and they are poor and hungry."

"They are already roaming out from the park seeking food of any sort," he added. "The situation is so serious that we feel some sort of legal public control is essential These stock killing bears (all bears are not naturally killers) come out at night, kill a calf or cow and eat what they want, and go back into the park to sleep off their feast in daytime. Stock owners are prohibited from following them back into the park with dogs and guns. The killers return for more meat the next night, often followed by others who have probably smelled the meat odor; and when these once get the taste of meat, they, too, are killers from then on. We have known as many as four bears feeding on one cow carcass."

Secret Service For Australians

Canberra—(AP)—Australia's new secret service is operating. Its head, Judge Geoffrey S. Reed, has reported to the government that the service is established and functioning as part of Australia's defenses.

The official title of the new service is the Australian Security Intelligence Organization. Its job is to protect Australia from attempted sabotage, espionage, and subversive activities. It has secret "field men" in government departments and industrial and defense works to report suspicious activities.

The 3,000 islands of the Bahama group extend over a distance of 630 miles.

AC Bulldogs To Use 'T' Offense

Wilson, N. C. Sept. 1—(AP)—Atlantic Christian College football team will discard its traditional single wing type of attack this season and will replace it with the faster "T" formation offense.

Head coach Bill Crutchfield announced the change today when the team opened its practice sessions here for the approaching grid season.

It will mark the first time that Crutchfield or his assistant, Bobby Reynolds, have coached a "T" formation team. Both are former University of North Carolina football performers who played the single wing under Carl Snavely.

However, during the off season both Crutchfield and Raynolds have both Crutchfield and Reynolds have coaching clinic under the guidance of Paul Brown, famous mentor of the Cleveland Browns of the All America football conference.

Crutchfield welcomed 56 grid aspirants into camp here today as ACC opened drills.

A full schedule of practice has been arranged by the coach with drills slated twice a day. This is necessary, Crutchfield maintains, because the opening game of the season is set for September 17, when the Bulldogs meet Catawba College at Salisbury, N. C., in a North State conference encounter.

Postman Finds Dogs Friendly If Treated Right

Daytona Beach, Fla.—(AP)—Postman Johnny Jones, who has been carrying the mail 14 years, has a few observations on dogs:

"I have no trouble with big ones. People are just scared of their size. It's the little ones that are yappiest and which will chase you.

"Ninety percent of the dogs I've met are friendly; the others are the reserved type, not necessarily mean but stand-offish. First thing I do when I meet a new dog is whistle and talk to him in a friendly voice. The thing to do is be friendly, but don't push it.

"If you're riding a bicycle, remember it's the bike the dog is barking at. Get off and walk until the animal gets to know you. Never act afraid; don't threaten a dog. Don't pick up a stick because you may startle him into attacking you. Trouble with dogs is mostly caused by humans, anyway. Handle a dog right and he'll respond in a friendly way.

Explosion Lifts Miner To Safety

Kalgoorlie, West Australia—(AP)—A gold miner here was incautious There was an explosion 70 feet away. His mates rushed in expecting to find him shattered. He was merely dazed. The explosion had lifted him bodily, and the flying rocks had passed under him. He was, however, severely peppered by small bits, which had forced pieces of dungaree and flannel beneath his skin. Blood poisoning resulted but he recovered.

Pony Refuses To Take A Holiday

Chatswood, N.S.W., Australia — (AP)—Maurice Woodward, builder decided his pony had grown too old to carry him to work, so bought a utility truck.

But it just didn't work out. Prince fretted, appeared on the doorstep every morning to let the boss know it was time to get going, couldn't understand when Mr. Woodward went off in the new-fangled horseless carriage and left his faithful offsider behind.

It got so pathetic that Woodward now hitches Prince beside the truck and takes him along at a few miles per hour.

rmy 'Cans' Great Supply Of Military Might In Pennsylvania

By RENE J. CAPPON
(AP Newsfeatures)

ambersburg, Pa. — If like a tern European general staff you shopping for war merchandise could start with a visit to this quil Pennsylvania Dutch coun-de.

rawling between rich farmland the tree-clad Blue Ridge moun-tains, the Army's Letterkenny Ord-nance Depot here goes about the business of preserving and rejuve-nating a huge pile of military goods

The visitor finds a self-sufficient little state of 22,000 acres, preoccu-pied with a persistent struggle against persistant foes—time and weather.

Storing quantities of military re-serve stock returned from war use and maintaining it in the best pos-sible condition is the job of Col Robert Daniels, commandant of the Depot which also supplies Eastern army posts.

Most impressive at first sight are entire fields crowded with thou-sands of combat vehicles — tanks halftracks, armored and scout cars jeeps and trucks. Some are spick and span. Others, fewer in num-ber, are rust-eaten and battered Preservatives cover the more sen-sitive parts.

Throughout the United States, an army spokesman said, 39,000,000 square feet of land is used for such open storage.

Letterkenny employing 5,000 civil-ians, is one of the big ones among 80 or so depots which store surplus military equipment.

Defense Secretary Louis Johnson has told Congress that some of that materiel will go to North Atlantic pact members on approval of the European arms aid program. But a spokesman in Washington said most of the stuff poured back from the battle fronts at the war's end and placed in reserve is "not service-able."

In the serviceable category at Letterkenny is much of the equip-ment at the tank farm, a system re-sembling the Navy's mothball fleet. About 300 containers encase entire tanks, jeeps, trucks, and amphibious "weasels." Unspecified equipment slumbers, embalmed in oil and pre-servatives, in the de-humidified air of the tank farm.

Ammunition is stored in "igloos," concrete molehills that dot a large area. There are more than 800 of these carefully scattered to mini-mize effects of a possible explosion. Signs reminding personnel that "Death is so permanent" add a grim note of caution.

Besides storing ammunition, the depot conducts a big salvaging pro-ject in which thousands of obso-lete bombs and shells are taken apart. The TNT is preserved. The cases go for scrap.

Television has been adapted as a safety measure in this process of "demilitarizing" ammunition. While a mechanical device slowly unscrews the base plate of a bomb or shell—with the danger of fric-tion touching off a blast—a tele-vision camera is focused on it. From a distance, and behind barricades of concrete, earth, and steel, work-ers watch the process on a televi-sion screen.

Col. Daniels' domain has its own police and fire departments, abou' 150 miles of roads, 60 miles of rail-road tracks, 35 warehouses, ma-chine and repair shops, garages farms and farm houses—even a 200-year-old box-shaped church.

Charley Flye At Last Caught Fish; Too Big To Handle

Charles F. Flye, who does a lot of fishing in Florida during winter months, and who frequently trolls for the wily tarpon, in Florida bays went fishing off Gloucester, on the New England coast, recently and really caught a big fish—a 760-pound tuna.

Capt. Davis, skipper of the fish-ing boat, Flye and Lebrun Spence a Tarheel now sojourning in Flor-ida, and others aboard spent nearly two hours landing the mammoth fish. The party had pictures taken to prove the catch.

There were 60 boats in the fish-ing fleet. Those aboard Capt. Davis' boat had been fishing all day in 250 feet of water when the big tuna struck the line. Then the battle was on. The fish towed the boat in all directions and lashed the craft with volumes of water before the skipper managed to land a roped harpoon in the finny creature's body. It was hauled aboard the boat with bock and tackle. They sold the fish to a commercial deal-er.

"I helped to catch one big one," Flye said upon his return to Green-ville, "and now I'm satisfied."

Chapter 23

Somewhere on the outskirts of town a heavy truck surmounted by a huge crane was busily engaged in lifting an automobile from the depths of a river. The operation was being performed under the direction of the police.

A second patrol car had driven up, its three occupants joining the one on the scene.

After some fifteen minutes, broken only by the grinding of gears as the crane began to roll in the yards of chain, and the occasional hoarse shouts from below, the body of a middle-aged green car rose from the surface of the water. Higher and higher it swung, streams of water cascading from it. The tow truck trundled forward over the uneven ground as the slack was taken up.

"It sure beats all how he got this far from the highway," one of the troopers said as he moved toward the car. The other two had meanwhile climbed up from below.

The one who had been in the water to fasten the chain about the submerged car shivered.

"If you guys don't mind, I'll take one of the cars and get back to town. It's cold." After he had gone, the trooper who had started to investigate the car pulled open the door.

An exclamation brought the others.

"Say, look at this, will you?" He held up a set of Ohio plates. "Boys, it looks like we've got a hot car on our hands. I'll bet if we check the list we'll find this one on it. Wait till I just take a look-see."

He hurried toward the highway patrol car.

"Looks like my guess was right," he said as he came back. "This car was reported stolen about a week ago over in Jersey. This looks like professional work. They've even changed the paint job. It was listed as tan."

"You know, the way the car got in here's darn funny," one of the others declared. "Did you get a statement from anyone who saw it?"

"No. First thing we heard, something was wrong was when the motorcycle patrol reported that they thought a car had gone off the road, and would we take a look."

"It's not so hard to reconstruct what happened as to try and figure out how it happened.

"The highway along here is smooth and straight. There's a bit of an incline, but you can't even call it a hill. Something made him suddenly leave the highway. He apparently struck that tree a glancing blow, plowed through a field of rocks—you can see where it tore through the weeds and underbrush down into twenty feet or so of water."

They walked back in the direction of the highway; the trail of the car was plain to follow.

"It must be all of a hundred and thirty feet from the road to the pit. He must have been going at a terrific speed."

Up on the highway, they began to examine the concrete paving and both shoulders of the road. Except where the car had gone off, leaving the clear mark of tires in the soft dirt of the edge, there was nothing to be seen.

"I can't understand it. The road's as dry as a board. We haven't had rain for several days. There's no sign of any obstruction and no skid marks. Not even an indication that the brakes were applied suddenly."

"There's certainly no sign of a collision," one of the men agreed. "Anything that could have struck this car with enough force to send it off the road would have been damaged pretty badly itself. Just the same, we'll ask around the garages to see if anyone's come in to have some collision work done. This job is banged up a bit, but not more so that you would expect after it was bounced off the rocks. As for the broken front window, Bill did that in diving for the body. The door was wedged, and that was the only way to get the guy out. We figured we could maybe still bring him around, but he'd been in too long."

"Was he banged up much?"

"He had some bruises and lacerations on his forehead. When the doctor got here he said his neck was broken, probably as a result of the plunge. They'll probably know more after they get through examining the body."

"I guess you guys want me to tow the wreck to your garage?" the driver of the crane asked. "Or do you want me to take it somewhere else?"

"No. We'll hold it for a while. We'll have to let the police over in Jersey know we've located it, but first we've got to see if we can find out something about the guy that was driving it."

"Get his name?"

"Yeah. As far as we could make from the identification on him, he lived on Beacon Street. His name's Warnock."

(To be continued)

Another Step By Indians Toward Their Freedom

Washington— The American Indian has taken another small but important step toward independence and self-sufficiency.

The Interior Department disclosed that it had discontinued government supervision over certain tribal affairs of two Indian tribes—the Saginaw Chippewa of Michigan and the Stockbridge - Munsee of Wisconsin. It was the first harvest from the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 (IRA), the Indian version of the New Deal, was was designed to make all Indians some day independent, economically and politically.

The IRA set up a plan under which Indians could work their way out of the status of government wards by proving themselves self supporting and capable of self-government. After a period of years they could gain their independence either through a vote of the tribe or by permission of the secretary of interior.

The two tribes were the first to apply for freedom and the first to get it. Many others seem ready for it but can't seem to make up their minds about some matters—such as whether the new set-up should continue communal tribal ownership of lumber, grazing and other lands and enterprises.

Each of these two tribes contains about 500 Indians. Both are predominantly of mixed blood and are well assimilated in their communities, enjoying the same working and social conditions as other Americans there.

Their new status gives them all the rights and responsibilities of other Americans except that they cannot sell their land without the approval of the secretary of interior. This rule holds in the case of all Indians, but the secretary freely grants his permission if it appears the sale will not lead to the Indian's impoverishment.

Many other Indians are relatively well off and seem ready for complete freedom, such as the Menominees of Wisconsin, the Klamaths of Oregon and the Osages of Oklahoma.

But until the final step is taken all the approximately 400,000 American Indians aside from the two tribes are wards of the Federal government. The secretary of the interior must approve all business transactions such as leases and loans.

The bulk of the Indian population is heavily dependent on Uncle Sam for all kinds of welfare, educational and medical assistance. In the 12 months ending last June 30 they cost the government $44,310,314.

The program of the Indian Service for some years has been designed to get the Indians on their feet and off the taxpayers' necks as rapidly as possible. But the government has learned through painful and expensive experience that this cannot be done all at once despite repeated clamor for just giving the Indian what is coming to him and letting him shift for himself.

That has been tried repeatedly in the history of the republic, and each time the Indian has come back after a generation or so, penniless disease-ridden and direly in need of public care. When he has been given full rights to his property he has usually dissipated it through his own improvidence and the machinations of white land grabbers.

Now the idea is first to prepare the Indian for freedom: Teach him how to farm, raise cattle, fish, engage in lumbering and get jobs in his community. Educate him, teach him self-government, restore his pride in his race and culture, and gradually let him get used to taking care of himself—learning primarily as much as the white man does about the value of the dollar.

Rangoon Counts Hunger Deaths

Rangoon —(AP)— Malnutrition was said officially to be the cause of 30 percent of deaths in Rangoon. Official statistics show that the city's daily average death rate is 40 persons.

A newspaper investigation into living conditions showed that many wage-earners have as their daily diet boiled peas and rice. The paper reported that meat, fish, fruits and vegetables were beyond the means of most citizens.

The present population of Rangoon is estimated to be 750,000.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin from the Rector Kitchens

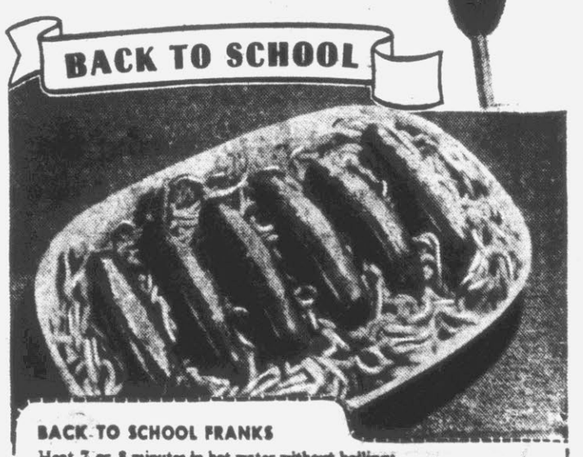

CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

Whether it's a road side picnic, the last day at camp, a backyard barbecue, a beach party or just fun with food at home, it's almost certain to be Frankfurters that are served on Labor Day. Choose Wilson's CERTIFIED and you'll be sure of top quality.

Wilson's CERTIFIED Frankfurters come to you in natural casings or skinless, ready for the picnic. Yes, they are even ready-cooked. It's perfectly all right to slice them cold right into the bowl of potato salad. Or you can cook them to your heart's content.

Some Smart "Cook-Out" Ideas Are: Franks roasted juicy brown just as they come from the package; stuffed with mustard or cheese. Bacon wrapped, too, if you like. Filled with a mixture of ¼ lb. Wilson's CERTIFIED Liver Sausage plus 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 2 tablespoons minced dill pickles, then either bacon wrapped or roasted plain.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL FRANKS

Heat 7 or 8 minutes in hot water without boiling:
1 pound Wilson's CERTIFIED Frankfurters
Slit and fill with grated cheese. Serve hot on heated spaghetti, using:
1 can spaghetti in tomato sauce.

Youngsters love this delightful quickie combination. Serve it hot for their lunch. The hearty, protein-rich contents of this quick and easy meal gives youngsters the kind of energy they need for active school days.

Wilson's Certified Frankfurters are made from the finest of ingredients— the leanest pork and beef, delicately seasoned with pure spices.

Krug Proposes Agencies Join On Recommending Dam Outlay

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)— Secretary of Interior Krug proposed today that three government agencies get together as soon as possible to recommend appropriation of funds for federal construction of hydro-electric dams at Roanoke Rapids and Gaston, N. C.

Virginia Electric and Power company has asked a federal power commission license to construct a $24,-$15,000 project at Roanoke Rapids and has stated it would like to build a dam at Gaston.

The Secretary of the Interior opposed the VEPCO application and urged that public money, rather than private capital, be used in the Virginia-North Carolina power project. Rural electrification cooperatives of Virginia sided with him.

Hearings were held this year before Examiner Frank A. Hampton, of Hamptonville, N. C midnight tonight is the deadline for filing final briefs. Answers to these briefs must be presented to the FPC by September 23. Then oral arguments on the application will be scheduled.

Krug asked in a 169-page brief, being filed with the commission today, that the VEPCO application be dismissed. Twice before he has asked rejection of the application, but each time the commission denied his motion.

SITE OF CAPITAL FAIR — Open space behind the National Guard armory (left center) will be covered by Fair buildings in 1950 celebration of Washington's 150th anniversary.

He said the flood control act of 1944 contained a "declaration" that the projects were "adopted and authorized in the interest of National Security and with a view toward providing an adequate reservoir of useful and worthy public works for the post-war construction program. x x x"

This act approved a plan for federal development of the Roanoke river basin to include the Roanoke Rapids and Gaston sites, and nine other dams. Two of them: Buggs Island on the Roanoke river and Philpott on the Smith river, are under construction by Army engineers.

Krug contended that "it would be both desirable and appropriate for the FPC, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of the Army in conformity with the federal power act to join in recommending to the President and the Congress that funds be made available, so that these projects may be constructed as soon as possible x x x."

Marion Bradshaw Is Promoted To Rank Of Major

Marion A. Bradshaw, son of Mr and Mrs. M. T. Bradshaw of 320 East 10th St., Greenville, has been promoted to the rank of major, Brig. Gen. James E. Briggs, commanding general of MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., announced today.

Major Bradshaw enlisted in the U. S. Air Force in November, 1941, and was graduated a second lieutenant pilot in July 1942 at Moultrie, Ga. He was chief of supply with the occupational Air Force for 23 months at Okinawa. Major Bradshaw holds the aeronautical rating of senior pilot. He is now engaged as a group supply officer for the 306th Bomb Group at MacDill.

Major and Mrs. Bradshaw, the former Betty Scott Hengeveld of Winchester, Va., now reside at 3121 Fielder Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Beaten Body Of Cabman Is Found

Fayetteville, Sept. 1—(AP)—The naked, beaten body of a Fayetteville cab driver was found at dawn today in a Robeson County cornfield.

A widespread search had been set off at 2 a.m., upon the discovery of Howard Christopher Hayes abandoned cab on a Fayetteville street. Officers in a police cruiser found Hayes' clothing in the cab. The clothes showed traces of white sand, that sent officers and 25 cab drivers searching in eastern Cumberland County, an area of white sand.

Till Moore, a farmer living five miles north of St. Pauls in adjoining Robeson County, reported that he came upon the body of the 22-year-old, unmarried cabman about 6 a.m. Deputy Sheriff Paul McMillan said the head apparently had been struck by a heavy object. The mouth bore injuries.

Sheriff W. C. Britt of Robeson County said a small boy reported seeing five soldiers and a cab driver in the vicinity last night. Fayetteville associates said Hayes was unaccounted for since answering a call to a grill about 9:30 o'clock last night.

Joint Exercises On Arctic Front

Washington, Sept. 1—(AP)— Canadian and United States ground and air units will work out fighting techniques this winter for combined defense of the critical arctic frontier.

The Army announced today that "exercise cross-index," —involving comparatively small units of the Armies of the two nations, supported by the U. S. and Roal Canadian Air forces—will be conducted in the Yukon and Alaska areas near Whitehorse, N. Y., during January and February.

Each Army will provide a "one-battalion combat team including infantry—some of which will be employed in a parachute role—artillery, engineers, signals and other supporting arms and services," the formal announcement said.

Army officials declared to specify the total number of men involved, pointing out that the size of a combat team varies widely, depending on its mission.

The two air forces will provide fighter cover for troops and bomber, reconnassiance transport planes.

Farmville School Enrollment High

The Farmville Public Schools opened on Tuesday, August 30, with a record enrollment, according to Sam D. Bundy, principal of the school.

The enrollment for the opening day was 485 in the elementary school and 245 in the high school for a total enrollment of 730. This represents a net gain of 42 pupils over the enrollment at the close of last session.

Principal Bundy stated that by the end of the first week the enrollment in the elementary school is expected to reach the 500 mark and the high school enrollment probably will reach at least 250 for a total enrollment of 7750.

The Emperor Augustus used to boast that he found ancient Rome a city of brick and left it a city of marble.

GAR Breaks Up For Last Time

Indianapolis, Sept. 1—(AP)— The Grand Army of the Republic broke up for the last time today.

There was a final clasping of shaking old hands last night, a God-speed from their commander and a prayer.

Today six old veterans are scattering to the four winds, never to meet again, at least in formal encampment. They signed and sealed the decision in the only business session yesterday.

Then for more than an hour, veterans of later—but no more colorful—wars marched behind the separate cars in which the six tired old soldiers rode in a twilight parade. Almost 100,000 thronged the curbs along the 12-block route, cheering the aged men in their last blaze of martial glory.

Bands of fifers brought back the almost-dead memories of '65 with "The Battle Cry of Freedom" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching."

Due To Complete Apportionment

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 1—(AP)— The State Board of Education was slated to complete plans today for disbursing $50,000,000 of State aid to counties for school buildings.

The Board's building committee met yesterday to work over some of the details for presentation to the session today.

A new controller of the board took over at the meeting. He is Clarence D. Douglas, who was elevated recently from the post of director of auditing and accounting. He succeeded Paul Reid, who resigned to become president of Western Carolina Teachers College.
