Economy Drive Backfires On Globe-Trotting Solons

Washington, Sept. 3—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson's protest against using military aircraft to haul Senators around the world brought a we-can-pass-a-law reaction today from Congress.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) who first received the pointed suggestion that Congressmen ride the regular commercial airlines, told a reporter:

"This may bring this airplane issue to the front. If the military officials can assign plane to anyone they like, then Congress may have to take notice of it and fix the policy."

Graham Asks Close Study Of Farm Plans In Developing 'Best' Program

Senator Frank P. Graham, speaking today before a crowd of more than a thousand people in the high-light of the Greenville Farmers Day, called on members of the Congress of the United States to study the four major agricultural programs now before them and "get the best and most out of any and all of them in the development of a long range program for the farmer, so that the farm people will have parity with the other groups in our economy."

Senator Graham made his address from the speakers platform on the courthouse lawn where he was surrounded by visiting dignitaries and prominent citizens of Greenville and Pitt county.

SEN. FRANK P. GRAHAM

Graham was introduced by Dr. John Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College. J. S. Ficklen presided, and introduced Congressman Herbert Bonner, Jack Clyde R. Tar Heel Senator Pleads For More Unity Both At Home And Abroad; Advocates Limited Federation Of Nations Within United Nations Framework To Meet Coming Revolution Of Atomic Age

Senator Graham made his address from the speakers platform on the courthouse lawn where he was surrounded by visiting dignitaries and prominent citizens of Greenville and Pitt county.

Graham was introduced by Dr. John Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College. J. S. Ficklen presided, and introduced Congressman Herbert Bonner, Jack Clyde R. Miller, commander of the Marine Air Base at Cherry Point, Fla., and Van C. Flemming of the Farmers Day committee.

Senator Graham in his address, pointed to the great progress which North Carolina has made in the development of farms, roads, health, schools and industries. "North Carolina has set an example for the other states of the union in that we take what we have and share it with our neighbors and between our cities," said our speaker, Graham asserted. "It is another step on the way to the recognition that we are one great family."

As for the federal farm program, Graham pointed out that the Gore bill, the Aiken, the Brannan plan and the Anderson plan all are looking toward support prices for agriculture. He referred to federal subsidies to railroads and other industry, and declared, "The farmer, like industrial workers is subject to great world economic forces over which he has no control."

The senator said should a farm bill be passed by Congress this session it "will be somewhere between the Gore bill and the Anderson plan."

Turning to the world situation, the senator told his audience of town people and farm people that the time has come for a limited international federation of nations within the United Nations.

Misses Kittrell Give Coca-Cola Party

Misses Frances and Elizabeth Kittrell entertained at a Coca-Cola hour last Friday morning at their home on East Fifth Street honoring Miss Shirley Savage, September bride-elect and Mrs. Tim Payne of Washington, N. C., a recent bride.

Miss Elizabeth Ricks shared honors with the two honorees. The hostesses, the honor guests and their mothers received the guests in the hall. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, the mother of the hostesses presided over the bride's table. She was assisted in serving food drinks and appropriate accompaniments by Miss Betsy Nobles.

The spacious home was decorated throughout with beautiful arrangements of midsummer flowers in varied hues. The dining room table carried out the bridal note. A miniature bride in the midst of a bower of trailing clematis, white gladioli and white altheas made a particularly appropriate setting for the occasion.

The hostesses remembered Miss Savage with a gift of silver, Miss Ricks with crystal in her chosen pattern and Mrs. Payne received linen pillow cases.

Upon arrival each honoree was presented a corsage of white gladioli centered with a red rose.

About twenty-five close friends of the brides called during the hour.

Mrs. Charles M. King

King-Hawes
Wilmington, N. C.—The wedding of Miss Katherine Gustrane Hawes of Atkinson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hawes, and niece of Dr. and Mrs. John T. Hogard of this city, to Lt. Comdr. Charles M. King, USN, son of Mrs. R. W. King and the late R. W. King, of Greenville, was solemnized August 27 in a beautiful ceremony at 4 o'clock at St. James' Episcopal church. The Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Wright, bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, and the Rev. Mortimer Glover, officiated.

A lovely setting of white chrysanthemums, white gladioli and southern amilax was created for the nuptials.

The bride entered the church with her uncle, Dr. Hogard, who gave her in marriage. She wore a white satin gown designed with basque waist with tiny buttons down neckline to waist in the back, a yoke of net with inserts of lace and seed pearls, and leg o' mutton sleeves which came to points over the hands. The full flowing skirt extended into a court train. Her head-dress was a tiara of orange blossoms that held in place her fingertip veil of illusion. Her bouquet was a tuberoses and Malayan jasmine showered with tuberoses.

Miss Emily Hawes of Atkinson, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor and wore a gown of gold satin with draped off-shoulder neckline and fitted to the hip with gathered fullness to the floor. Her bouquet was of shaded bronze chrysanthemums tied with emerald ribbon. She wore dwarf chrysanthemums in her hair.

Bridemaids were Miss Virginia Harris of Wilmington and Miss Virginia Perkins of Greenville. Their gowns were made on lines as that of the maid-of-honor in emerald satin. Their flowers were also in shades of bronze and tied with bronze ribbon. Their hair arrangements were chrysanthemums.

Richard W. King, of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, attended him as best man. Ushers were Dr. Alva Van Nortwick of Jacksonville, Fla., Lt. Comdr. Harry Frederickson, USN, of Jacksonville and Bill Moore and Jack Hadley, both of Greenville.

Immediately following the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Hogard entertained with a reception in honor of the newlyweds at their home on Orange street. Later in the evening, the couple left for New York from where they will sail to Bermuda for their honeymoon. For going away, the bride chose a navy blue Bellidiano suit with navy accessories. Her hat was also of navy blue with chrysanthemum trim. After the trip, the couple will reside in Jacksonville, Fla.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony were: Mrs. R. W. King, Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Perkins, Richard W. King, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Gaylord, Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., Miss Virginia Gaylord, W. O. Moore, Jake N. Hadley, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gaylord, all of Greenville, Dr. and Mrs. Alva Van Nortwick, Lt. Comdr. Harry Frederickson, Mrs. Carl Ingles of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Tom A. Galbreath of Kingston; Mrs. Gladys Harper of Burlington, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Hawes of Charlotte.

Betty Morton Is Selected Beauty Queen In Contest Friday Evening

Betty Morton, 2 col 24 thin Spoon
Betty Morton of Greenville was selected last night as the beauty Queen of the Beauty contest held at the Swimming pool by the Junior Woman's Club and the recreation committee of Greenville.

A capacity crowd gathered at the pool to watch the twenty-one contestants parade before the judges. People standing at the railing surrounding the pool were three and four deep.

Comedy played a big part in last night's program with entertainment by the "Raving Beauty" Lo Clark, alias, Louis Clark who nearly stole the contest when he walked out with the girls in the contest dressed as a girl.

The spot light was focused much of the time last night on the "Red Man" a stunt actor by name of Jack Knowles, who kept the crowd rocking on their heels with his act.

The beauty Queen was crowned by former mayor Jack Boyd and was presented with numerous prizes from the recreation committee and the Junior Woman's club.

Floral companies in Greenville furnished flowers which decorated the pool and also the Queen's flowers.

Members of the Junior woman's club expressed their thanks last night to the different firms and persons who had a part in making the beauty contest last night a big success.

Pitt School Opening Momentous Day For Youngsters

Although Tuesday passed quietly and without any particular significance for many adults, it was one of the biggest days of the year for approximately 13,000 Pitt county boys and girls.

For some it meant the end of playtime and the return to the grueling nine months of books and school teachers, but for most of the thousands of youngsters around the county who donned their Sunday best early Tuesday morning, it was the beginning of a new year which would bring new faces, new friends, new experiences and new knowledge.

For all it was the beginning of school.

Boys who since last May had limited their every-day clothing to overalls, last Tuesday carefully put on their neatly pressed trousers and white shirts; and girls who had been content to spend the summer months wearing shorts and T shirts picked out their best cotton dresses to wear on the first day of school.

By 7 o'clock Tuesday the highways and by-ways of the Pitt county road system were dotted with small groups of boys and girls waiting for the school bus to take them to the opening day of school. And throughout the county 106 school buses were kept busy picking up their youthful passengers and transporting them safely to the proper school.

An Historical Year
This week the Pitt county school system began one of the biggest years in the history of its operation. The system this year has a total of 378 teachers, the largest number in the history of the county school system, and ironically enough with the expansion, for the first time in the history of the county school system there is not a single one-teacher school. The one-teacher institutions, which for years were the rule rather than the exception in public schools, has gradually given way to a more progressive educational program and the consolidation of the smaller schools into single large units.

During the summer months, the individual school districts of the county school system spent more than $250,000 in the construction of new school buildings and the renovation and repairing of old buildings. It is the largest building program which the county educational system has experienced since the days of the 30s when the federal government work programs furnished thousands of dollars for all types of construction work.

At the cross roads waiting for the bus, on the school grounds waiting for the bell which meant the official beginning of another year, and in the classroom waiting for the teacher to get the roll in order, the older students who for several years had experienced the opening day of school conducted themselves confidently, while the beginners sheepishly eyed one another, and wondered what this new world of blackboards, color crayons, books and teachers held in store for them.

First Graders Not Alone
Although many first graders made the trip to the first day of school with an older brother or sister, or some friend who had been to school before, many were taken to school by their mothers who apparently were as excited over the beginning of school as the youngsters. While the beginners occupied themselves with making new friends, drawing pictures, or just watching the goings-on, their mothers gathered in groups about the classrooms or in the halls of the school building.

From a group of mothers at the Farmville school, patiently waiting for classes to be dismissed, a casual by-stander could catch such remarks as—"Opening day isn't new to me, because I have one in almost every grade"—or the chipper voice which replied to a question, "Well I really don't know. The first grade was at the other end of the hall when I was in school here."

Buses Essential to School System

The opening day of the county schools, however, meant a great deal more than having the teachers at the buildings at the proper time. The Pitt county school system is built around the transportation of thousands of children daily from their homes to schools several miles away.

This year the county is operating 106 school buses, compared to 101 school buses which were operated in the county last year. The buses traveled an average of 3,298 miles a day for the 180-day school year or a total of 593,640 miles. And not a single accident was reported in the transportation of school children in Pitt county last year. The buses transported an average of 5,942 school boys and girls to school and then back home each day of the last school year.

Bus Cost 5 1/2 Cents Per Student
The school buses of the county consumed a total of 109,726 gallons of gasoline during the school year and had a total operating cost of $67,158.75. The per student cost for operating the school buses was 5 1/2 cents.

For a period of years North Carolina was rated near the bottom of the list of states in safety in transportation of school children, but in recent years it has risen to the top of the list of states in the safe transportation of its school children. Although many improvements have been made in the transportation methods, many experts attribute a great deal of the improvement to the replacement of adults with teen-age school boys and girls as school bus drivers. In Pitt county last year, there was

O'Neal Foundation Provides Living Memorial To Humanity, Brotherhood

This week the people of Greenville and surrounding communities completed a project which is not only a memorial to a man but a memorial to humanity, to brotherhood, and to the hundreds of men and women, boys and girls who gave their time and labor to the project. Unlike many memorials in these days of vain men and conquering heroes, the memorial in Greenville is in the form of a modest four-room bungalow, which itself reflects the humble spirit of brotherhood in which its foundations lie.

The memorial is the house built by the O'Neal Foundation, which was organized last February for the purpose of providing a home for Mrs. William Benjamin O'Neal Jr., the widow of a slain taxi driver, and Mrs. William Benjamin O'Neal Sr., aged mother of the slain man.

Ben O'Neal was a veteran in his own right, for he served in European battle fronts during World War II, and spent 15 months as a prisoner of war in a German prison camp. Upon his return to his home in Greenville, he began learning auto mechanics at the Greenville veterans school, and after school hours drove a taxi to provide for his wife and mother. On the night of February 5, he was murdered at a lonely spot between Greenville and Grimesland by two Negro youths.

Attention Given O'Neal's Family

News of the brutal slaying stunned the community for a day or so, but soon the public focused its attention on providing for O'Neal's mother and his wife, who was expecting a baby. The plight of the surviving O'Neals was first brought to the public's attention by J. H. Rose of Greenville, and the project was immediately spearheaded by then-Mayor J. H. Boyd Jr., who called a meeting of representatives of the city's civic groups and organized the O'Neal Foundation.

Once the foundation was established, donations of money began flowing in from hundreds of people, whites and Negroes, in Pitt County and surrounding areas, even though there was no drive to raise funds for the project. Some donations came from people in communities hundreds of miles away, and many offers came from carpenters, bricklayers, painters and others who offered to give free time to construction of a house for the O'Neals.

Networks Join In War Against Ban Of Giveaways

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Two more major networks joined the American Broadcasting Company today in a court fight against the ban on giveaway shows.

The National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting system filed civil suits to enjoin the federal communications commission from enforcing its ban on such programs. The FCC interpreted them as lotteries.

The FCC has ruled that radio must stop giving away iceboxes, glaciers, and similar trinkets to lucky listeners beginning Oct. 1.

NBC and CBS contended, as did ABC earlier in the week, that the federal agency has no power to interpret the lottery section of the criminal code in this way.

Stamp meters can stamp up to 300 letters per minute.

one adult school bus driver, and there were 27 teen-age boys and three teen-age girls who were charged with safely transporting their school mates to and from their homes every day.

Each school bus is checked every day by an expert mechanic from the school bus service garage in Winterville, and defects in the conditions of the buses are quickly discovered and corrected before they become dangerous to the safety of the school children.

And while the mechanics and school bus maintenance men do not generally go around boasting about their girl drivers, most of them will admit privately that the girl drivers generally seem to take better care of the buses, operate them more economically, and have less mechanical trouble with their buses than the boy drivers.

Like many children on the opening day of Pitt county schools, these seven wait impatiently on the side of the road for the school bus that will take them to the Winterville school. The boys (left to right) are Kenneth McLawhorn, William Stocks, and James McLawhorn. The girls are Faye McLawhorn, Barbara Jean Stocks, Yvonne Briley and Leola Briley.

Boys will be boys—and especially on the first day of school. Here Mrs. Herman Baker, principal of the Fountain school, has a few words with six of her seventh grade boys who were so engrossed in a ball game that they were late coming into class from the morning recess. The offenders (left to right) are Kincheon Owens, Phillip Carraway, Bill Lilly, Marlin Dilda, Hugh Pierce and Billy Mayo.

These first graders in Miss Margaret Lewis' class at Farmville school occupy themselves during the first day of school with drawing pictures while their teacher is busy talking with their mothers. Generally the mothers who accompanied the first graders to school were as excited as their children.

Dressed up and ready to return to nine months of books and school, this happy gang of Pitt county school children alight from the bus which brought them to the Winterville school. This year the Pitt county school system will operate 106 buses daily taking rural children to and from school.

Farm Bureau Asks Farmers To Join Farm Parity For Agriculture Club

W. A. Allen, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, appealed today to the farmers of Pitt County to become members of the Farm Bureau Parity for Agriculture Club. "To become a member," Allen said, "it is necessary for a person to join the Pitt County Farm Bureau and secure the memberships of at least nine other farmers."

During the 1948 State-wide Farm Bureau membership drive, 1,827 Tar Heel farm men and women were members of the club, thereby dedicating themselves to fight for the parity principles for Agriculture and pledging themselves to make whatever sacrifices necessary to give farm people the same protection that is afforded other groups. Farm Bureau memberships written by Parity Club members last year totaled $3,420.

"The Parity for Agriculture Club was formed in honor of the past president of the American Farm Bureau, Edward A. O'Neal, who during 16 years as president fought constantly for parity income for the farmers of the nation," Allen said. "The North Carolina Farm Bureau recognizes its members who perform specified duties in procuring memberships each year as Edward A. O'Neal Parity Club Members."

President Allen explained that the man and woman securing the largest number of Farm Bureau members in the State will each be given expense-paid trips to the National Farm Bureau convention in Chicago this fall. Awards designated for use in defraying the expenses of Parity Club members to the National convention will also be made to each county reaching its minimum membership quota. "Only through strong farm organization," Allen said, "can farmers make headway against the forces which tend to strangle production, peg prices and hinder the free distribution of goods and services to the disadvantage of producers and consumers."

Pitt county school buses traveled a total of 3,298 miles a day last year and transported an average of 5,942 school children to school and back home each day. It takes a crew of good mechanics to keep the county's 106 school buses going, and in the picture above some of them make a check on one of the buses at the Winterville shop.

CONCERNING THE DREAMER

Leonardo da Vinci made a drawing of an airplane 500 years ago. That discarded drawing exists today with these words inscribed beneath it: "There shall be wings."

This teaches us a great deal about the quality of certain figures long since dead. There have been wise men in every age, let us never forget that. But it also makes plain to us that the dreamer is one of the chief persons upon whom humanity relies for its progress.

If you are a dreamer yourself or if you have a child somewhat disposed to dream, do not be discouraged. Greatness lurks in dreams.

WELCOME

Greenville extends a cordial welcome to the farmers of this area who are special guests here today. The rural families are indeed the backbone of this community and every merchant, businessman and citizen of Greenville is glad to have a part in playing host to the farmers and their families.

"Our Greenville, Yours If You Come," is not just an empty slogan.

It is an invitation to you to visit this city as often as possible and enjoy the friendliness and hospitality you will find here.

NO "RUMP" SALES HERE

While the argument about rump sales on some of the tobacco markets continues with court action now pending, it must be remembered by the farmers that there have been no such "rump" sales on the Greenville market. The Greenville tobacco market needs extra buyers just as much as other markets but when it was learned that all the buying companies would not be represented in the extra set of buyers the Greenville market refused to put on the extra sales.

EXPENSIVE - Government becomes each year more expensive, and also more expensive. For many years this has been evident with respect to federal activities, and more recently state and local units have extended governmental services much further than was thought possible a couple of decades ago.

EVALUATION - It is hard to put a dollar value on public health, public education, law enforcement (which in broad scale includes the national military establishment) and other functions which use up major part of public tax revenue.

INTERMINGLED - Ramifications of the federal government are too reaching for accurate analysis. Municipal government, which used to be concerned with a few basic items such as police and fire departments, street maintenance and garbage collection, is now inextricably entangled with social services and joint participation with state and federal agencies.

GROWTH - Thirty years is not a long time in the life of a state. It doesn't even include the first so-called World War. But state government has more than doubled within that time in dollar cost and number of employees even if the school and highway workers who used to be on county basis are not included.

By now you should have guessed that there is one catch. You know I wouldn't write a column about how we love each other.

There was a Saturday afternoon (my afternoon off) that I was feeling rather chipper. After assembly creates some new department or agency of state government, and every one increases duties imposed upon established departments.

Tuesday when I came home J. D. was hard at work. When I drove up and saw what was going on I was perplexed. This problem, I thought, must have some solution. Ever since Tuesday I've been trying to decide what that solution is. And all of that time the grass has continued to grow.

The Worker and His Job -

Why does American Industry stand pre-eminent among the industrial systems of the world? One reason is the quality and character of the American worker.

He is not a beaten, frustrated individual with a sour and cynical outlook on life. He is a man of hope, of plans, of interests. He knows that he has a big stake in industry and in a free and democratic government.

The American worker is not a slave of industry; neither is he the slave of an oppressive government which practices forced labor. He is a free man, secure in his rights, safe in his home, respected by his neighbors.

The American worker believes in God and inherits a religious tradition. He is the backbone of his Church and a strong supporter of civic morality and righteousness. He has faith in God, faith in men, faith in America.

This is the simple story behind America's industrial supremacy. She excels because her people believe in God and right and honest work, in peace and goodwill toward others.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wilson Halts Onrushing Greenies By Staving Off Big Rally In Last Frame

Greenies Go Down Fighting As Tobs Edge Them Out By 6-5 Count; Graham And Tepedino Lead Nine-Hit Attack

The cellar dwelling Wilson Tobs halted the Greenies' winning streak at three games last night as they edged a 6 to 5 win over Manager Pappy Williams boys out at Guy Smith Stadium.

The Tobs rallied for a run in the ninth on Al Rhem's double and Dale Sanner's single and then staved off a ninth inning rally of the Greenies in the bottom of the ninth to take the win.

Wilson went out in front in the second frame with a singleton. Manager Morrow walked. Dingler singled, Mitchell sacrificed and then Hobgood flew out to deep centerfield for their first run.

The Greenies evned the count at one-all in the third on Paul Strausser's double into left centerfield and Charlie Graham's timely single, and then took a 3 to 1 advantage in the bottom of the fifth scoring two runs on Yohn's single, Strausser's sacrifice followed by Graham and Pappy Williams's successive double.

Bobby Dingler's homer over the left field wall to bring in Dale Sanner who had been issued a free pass to first, knotted the count at 3-3 in the sixth frame. The Tobs came back in the eighth frame to score two runs on three singles.

Both clubs used three hurlers in last night's game with Junior Yohn, the starting pitcher for the Greenies being credited with the loss, his eighth of the season and his third to the Tobs. Jim Whitesides, the starting hurler for the Tobs was credited with the win, his first over the Greenies this season.

Dale Sanner with three singles and Bobby Dingler with a homer and a single led the 10-hit attack off the three Greenie hurlers.

Charlie Graham with a double and two singles and John Tepedino with two singles, led the nine-hit attack off three Tobs hurlers.

The Greenies travel to Wilson tonight to meet the Tobs in a return game and Sunday afternoon here play the Kinston Eagles in the first of a three-game crucial series.

Playing Polo on a Pap

The business of attending the annual press barbecue in the hallowed halls of the Meadow Brook Club in Westbury, L.I., is one of the more pleasant chores in the lot of a sports scribe. For the more ambitious writers there is a round of golf to work up an appetite. Others loiter at the bar until the round-robin practice matches staged in preparation for the open polo championship. Properly prepared, the scribe stuff themselves with a delicious meal and then relax to hear about the National Open Polo championship—the real reason for the gathering.

Newcombe Lives Up To Price Tax Fixed By Rickey

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball world laughed when Branch Rickey hung a $500,000 price tag on Don Newcombe before the big Negro righthander ever donned a major league uniform.

Laughter turned to snickers when the head man of the Dodgers "slashed" the price to $300,000 this spring. Today they're not even smiling, just wishing that they owned Fort Knox and its gold.

Newcombe is the "solid" member of an otherwise shaky Brooklyn pitching staff.

Since he joined the Dodgers in mid May Newcombe has displayed the wares that brought fame and fortune to such former Dodger mound stars as Dazzy Vance, Van Mungo and Whit Wyatt.

Like his illustrious predecessors Newcombe can fog the ball past the batters, daring them to try and hit it.

The husky Negro hasn't any trick pitches, no sliders, screwballs or junk. Just a hopping fast ball, sharp breaking curve and a change of pace.

Newcombe looked like a million dollars last night as he pitched the Dodgers to an 8-0 five-hit triumph over the New York Giants in the Polo Grounds.

The victory was his third straight shutout and his 14th of the season against six defeats. The triumph also moved the second place Dodgers to within a game and a half of the idle front-running St. Louis Cardinals.

Newcombe now has pitched 30 consecutive scoreless innings. He previously blanked the Cards and Pittsburgh and held Boston scoreless in the last three innings of a game.

"Newk" struck out seven Giants to run his whiff total to 119 and the Boston's Warren Spahn for the league leadership in this department.

Besides his brilliant pitching, Newcombe scored twice and banded out two of Brooklyn's 12 hits, a double and single.

Brooklyn wrapped up the game in the first inning, scoring three runs earned runs off Dave Koso. The Dodgers sent Koso to cover with another three run blast in the fourth. Every Dodger except Gil Hodges collected at least one hit.

TONIGHT'S GAMES

Greenville at Wilson.
New Bern at R. Rapids.
Goldsboro at Tarboro.
Rocky Mount at Kinston.

The regular season in the Coastal Plain League will be brought to close on Monday night, with each team in the league having three more games scheduled to be played. The following is the schedule of play for the league for the remaining two days: Sunday, Sept. 4—Kinston at Greenville, Tarboro at New Bern, Roanoke Rapids at Goldsboro and Wilson at Rocky Mount in a double-header; Monday, Sept. 5—Greenville at Kinston, double-header, New Bern at Tarboro, double-header, Goldsboro at Roanoke Rapids, double-header and Rocky Mount at Kinston in a single game.

Goldsboro's Clyde Whitener continued as leader in the Coastal Plains batting race with a .352 average, two points shy of last week's mark and a 19 point lead over his second place rival, Pappy Williams of Greenville, who according to statistics compiled by the Howe Bureau and which include all games through August 29 posted a .333 figure. John Tepedino, Greenville shortstop, continued in third place with .317, followed by Try Dickens of Wilson and Barney Soufas of Kinston with .314 averages.

Whitener held his lead in hits with 180 and shared the lead in doubles with Bob Johnson, Rocky Mount third baseman with 39 each. John Tepedino continued to top departments with 20 runs scored and 12 triples, while Pepper Martin of Rocky Mount hold the lead in three departments, total bases with 274, home runs with 27, and runs batted in with 117. Bill Bevil of New Bern continues to prove himself a tough man to retire once he starts for a base having stolen 85 bases thus far this season.

Vince Gohl of Tarboro continued as top man in the pitching department chalking up wins number 17 and 18 during the week end having only four losses this season.

The Greenies upped their standing in team batting this past week when they jumped to second place with a .259 average, which was the same as for the past period. The Rocky Mount Leafs lead the other teams in hitting with a .270 mark. In comparison with the other clubs in the league the Greenies are second in total runs with 759; second in total hits with 1,135; second in total bases with 1,546; are sixth in total doubles with 189; are third in total number of triples with 30; are second in the home run department with a total of 55; are fourth in sacrifice hits with 89; are leading the league with the most number of stolen bases, 227; and in total strikeouts are seventh with 603.

However the Greenies took a drop in team fielding when they took possession of fifth place this week. Last week they were third in the league. The Greenies at the present time are fielding at a .949 mark with the New Bern Bears setting the pace in this department with a .955 mark. They are fifth in total number of double plays with 93; third in passed balls with 27; are fifth in total putouts with 3,400; fourth in number of assists with 1,443; and are fourth in total errors committed with 258.

Commenting on his 1949 prospects, Coach Tripp admitted that his team this year is light and inexperienced but predicted a scrapping outfit which had the all important will to win.

The Baltimore Colts under a seven touchdown, 49 to 17, avalanche of points and uncorking a host of flashy rookies in the process.

The Colts took a 17-14 lead in the second quarter, quickly lost it and trailed, 21-17, at halftime.

Rookie Hosea Rodgers, former North Carolina fullback, scored a Don touchdown.

The highest pitching percentage of the major league pitchers was posted by Robert (Lefty) Grove—48.0.

Grid Candidates Loosen Up For Heavy Sessions

Dole Drives Grid Hopefuls Hard; Two Workouts Today

By FRANK HOGG
The East Carolina football squad once again took to the field today for practice sessions both in the morning and afternoon. With today's practice being only their second of the season the "Pirates" took to the field at 8:30 this morning in high spirits—determined to give their all to secure a place on Coach Bill Dole's squad. With each passing practice over the entire squad knows that Coach Dole has to cut his squad soon and every man has hopes of making the team.

Morning practice found the Pirates hard at work on ball handling and blocking. While Coach Dole instructed his potential quarterbacks on ball handling from the T-formation, Assistant Coach Jack Boone put the linemen to work on the blocking sled. Near the end of the practice Coach Dole worked his backs and ends on pass offense while Coach Boone had the linemen sharpen up their line blocking.

The early part of the afternoon session was devoted to learning more plays. Once again Coach Dole split his squad into four teams and after having each team learn the plays, he then having a few call-thenics, he sounded the words the boys were waiting for, "Let's scrimmage."

The first of four teams, to go on offensive had a backfield combination of Roger Thrift, quarterback, Mike Kovach, left half, Doug Bryant, right half, and Frank Maennle, fullback. Putting the ball into play on their own 20 yard line they went 80 yards in 8 plays for the first score. A pass from Thrift to Dwight Shoe picked up 5 and then Mike Kovach exploded through left tackle for 11 yards and a first down. A diving shoestring tackle by Center Bob Boyd prevented a certain touchdown run. Frank Maennle went for 10 yards and another first down on the next play. Thrift, mix-pass to left and Ed Tanner for another 11 yards and a first down. Doug Bryant got 7 yards off tackle and Kovach lost 8 on the next two plays. Maennle picked up 6 through the middle for another first down and on the next play broke through the line, picked up some nice field blocking and went all the way for the touchdown.

Placing the ball in play again this same team scored again, this time taking only four plays. Thrift's pass to Shoe went incomplete and then Kovach ran for 12 yards and a first down. Bryant picked up 8 yards and on the next play Roger Thrift once again took to the air and passed to left and Ed Tanner who went over for the score. Keeping possession of the ball this team once again started a march down the field. Frank Maennle dashed around right and for 14 yards and on the next play Thrift passed to Mike Kovach for 55 yards. At this point Coach Dole replaced the backfields and began alternating players on both offense and defense.

The remainder of the practice found the entire Pirate squad engaging in the scrimmage under Coach Dole's critical eyes. John Smith, Bobby Grady, Jack Benzie, Abb Williams and Bill Darby turned in some nice running performances while Sandy Siler and Leon Jones looked good handling the quarterback spot. In the line some yeoman work was turned in by Ed Brandt, Ken Booth, Leon Ellis, Dwight Shoe and Ed Tanner.

Coach Dole was well pleased with the practice and progress shown by the squad but he emphasized the fact that plenty of hard work was in store. Coach Dole dismissed practice after telling the squad to report at the Wright building to see motion pictures of some of the plays they would be using.

Before showing the pictures to his Pirates Coach Dole once again informed his squad of the hard road ahead. Timing and blocking once again were stressed by Coach Dole as he said, "The backfield is not going any place without blocking."

With time pressing him Coach Dole has to cut his squad but with the tremendous effort of the entire squad today Coach Dole wants to have another look at his boys before he takes any action. East Carolina fans can be sure of one thing this year: no matter how the games turn out the Pirates will have a fighting team on the field.

Surprise Finalists Meet For Amateur Golf Crown

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 3—(AP)—A Texas rancher who keeps pinching himself to find out if it's true and a determined young Oklahoman clashed today in the "100-1" shot-finals of the National Amateur golf tournament.

Rufus King, a jolly cow and oil man from Wichita Falls, Tex., and Charlie Coe, 135-pound buggy whip from Oklahoma City, were to play 36 holes or less over Oak Hill's wooded acres to decide a successor to Willie Turnesa. They tee off at 8:30 a. m. and 1 p. m.

"Gosh, I can hardly believe it," King exclaimed after he had eliminated Turnesa, 2 and 1, yesterday in a fiercely waged 36-hole semifinal.

The 33-year-old Texan, who failed to qualify in his own state championship last summer, was the darkest of dark horses. He shot his way through a bracket that included both of last year's finalists, Turnesa and Ray Billows, and Great Britain's best, Amateur champion Max McGrady and Ronnie White.

King's surprise at his lofty station was not shared by his finalist opponent. Coe blew out William C. Campbell, the Huntington, W. Va., law maker with cold dispatch, just as if it was part of the script. The score was a one-sided 8 and 7.

A grim young man once he gets a golf stick in his hand, Coe has had his eyes on this one since he was eliminated by Billows in the semifinals last year at Memphis.

At 25, he is regarded as one of the nation's outstanding young shot-makers. The links followers have known all along he was good—they just didn't know when he would arrive.

The Yankees, members of the All-America Conference, a professional league, have had only fair success thus far this year. They've been whipped twice and were victorious only over the Baltimore Colts.

The Clippers perform independently of any organized league—taking on all comers.

In 1918, Cliff Cravath of Philadelphia won the National League home run championship with only eight circuit clouts.

THE HOUSE ON LILAC STREET by FRED BAYARD Chapter 25. Illustration showing a street scene with a sign that says 'OBSERVE SAFETY FIRST WEEK Be Careful! DON'T TAKE RISKS AVOID ACCIDENTS!'

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET by FRED BAYARD Chapter 25. Everything about the Forty-seventh Street precinct seemed different, Derris thought, as she noted the day-time activity of the place. The almost solemn quiet which had reigned there the previous night was missing. The police sergeant who looked up at her approach was not the one of the evening before. He stopped making entries in the book in front of him. "Yes, miss?" "My name is Martin, Derris Martin. Late last night I preferred charges here against someone in connection with a hit and run accident. I believe he was booked under the name of John Smith."

Hobnobbing With Marines Today Fine Experience

By CHESTER WALSH

The best drilled military outfit to pass through Greenville since World War II was the company of 150 men from the First Platoon, Air Group 24, Cherry Point Marines, under command of Capt. James G. Taylor.

Those Marines moved along with the "dress and precision of veterans," and nearly all of them are young men.

Acting 1st Sgt. J. F. Forsthofer relays his commands in a sing-song manner and the Marines respond as a unit. Standing out in the parade was the right guide, Sgt. Ivan Carpenter of Long Beach, Calif., a veteran of six years service in the Marines.

Hobnobbing with the Marines at the armory here while they ate their lunch today, recalled the World War II days, when the Marines from Cherry Point were stationed at the airfield in Greenville.

Capt. Taylor, the commanding officer, a war veteran, a man with a magnetic personality, and who by "almost a whisper" can bring his men to attention when they are off duty, gave his men some pointers on the hospitality of Greenville people; recalled that the Cherry Point Marines call Greenville home, and said "We hope we will be invited to come again."

F. L. Joyner, former lieutenant in the Battery C, 600th Field Artillery, N. C. National Guard, battery administrative officer, and Capt. J. B. Tyndall and other officers were hosts to the visiting Marines at the armory and provided "wide open house" for them.

Respass provided the barbecue dinner and all of the "trimmings" for the Marines.

Cars Collide At Intersection

Two 1949 automobiles were damaged considerably but their drivers escaped injury Saturday morning in a collision at the corner of Boyd and Chestnut streets, Greenville, police reported today.

Investigating officer W. E. Peterson reported that a 1949 Oldsmobile operated by Robert Galloway Little of this city, was hit on the side by a 1949 Mercury driven by Harry E. Porter.

The officer said the Oldsmobile failed to stop for a stop sign and was almost completely demolished by the Mercury. Damage to the Mercury is expected to run near $500, Peterson said.

One of the cars smashed into a fire plug, knocking it loose and sending water all over the vicinity of the wreck.

Neither of the two drivers was injured. Officers say Little has been indicted on charges of failing to stop for a stop sign and damaging public property.

He will be given a hearing Monday morning.

Exchange Club Met Last Night

Approximately 20 members of the newly organized Exchange Club of Greenville met last night in the Magnolia Room of the Proctor Hotel.

President S. O. Worthington presided at the meeting and called on Bill Watson, organizer of the club, and John G. Clark, vice-president, for remarks.

Tentative plans for the Charter party for the club members and their guests were discussed during the business session of the meeting.

Pitt Swine Breeders To Meet On Monday

Before a farmer can take part in an association's sponsored hog sale he must be a member of the Pitt County Purebred Swine Breeders Association, a release from the association said today.

The announcement came with a release saying the directors of the association will meet in the Agriculture Building here Monday night at eight o'clock.

Rules and regulations concerning the association will be made at the meeting, it was reported.

The purpose of the organization is to make Pitt County the outstanding pure bred swine raising county in the state, officials say.

'Mystery Mist' Causing Damage

Tilghman, Md., Sept. 2—(AP)—Auto paint is eaten away. Holes are burned through clothing on the wash-line. Stone houses are discolored.

Complaints from residents of this Chesapeake Bay Island led to an investigation today of a mysterious "mist" believed to be responsible for such phenomena.

There are several theories. One involves fumes from a fertilizer plant. Another, put forward by Dr. Lewis S. Welby, Talbot county medical examiner, believes water cabbages may be to blame. Dr. Welby explains his water cabbage theory thus:

When the big leaves of the plant rot, they give off a hydrogen sulphide fume. If enough hydrogen sulphide gets into the air and there is a heavy dew, the hydrogen sulphide may dissolve in the dewdrops and form sulphur dioxide. That in turn becomes sulphurous acid. The acid does the dirty work.

N. Y. Governor Sends Police To Robeson Rally

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey today ordered "all available state police" into the Peckskill area tomorrow to prevent disorder at what he called "pro-Communist meeting" at a Paul Robeson concert tomorrow night.

Dewey acted as sponsors of the concert mapped court action to try to keep demonstrating veterans from the scene of the scheduled performance, located near the spot where a riot prevented a concert by the Negro singer last Saturday.

The governor said he ordered the extra troopers at the request of the Westchester County sheriff, Fred W. Ruscoe, but added that he was holding the sheriff and district attorney "strictly accountable" for maintaining order.

Meyers Bids For Prison Release

Washington, Sept. 3—(AP)—Benjamin E. Meyers, the one-time major general ousted from the Army and sent to prison in 1948, was understood today to have made a new bid for early release from custody.

His attorneys, asked about reports that Meyers had suggested a compromise settlement of the government's $87,000 income tax claims against him, said there have been "some discussions" with the Justice Department on the subject. They declined to talk details.

Both the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Bureau declined official comment.

No Evidence Of Foul Play In Man's Death

A 65-year-old Chicago Negro man was found dead at his home Thursday afternoon at around five o'clock.

But Coroner G. H. Rouse reported today that there was no evidence of foul play and that the man had apparently died of natural causes.

The dead man was identified as Clyde Pritchett of Chicago.

No inquest was necessary, the coroner said.

Greece Accused Of 'Violations'

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 3—(AP)—Bulgaria today charged Greece with violating her territory and said she refused responsibility for what might follow.

A long statement issued by the government press department said the protest had been sent to United Nations headquarters in New York listing 25 aggressive acts committed by Greece against Bulgaria between Aug. 22 and Aug. 30.

Graham Asks . . .

(Continued from page one) these other great revolutionary thinkers had been able to muddle their way to this fateful hour, but we don't have much time. We can not be isolated in this day from the sky above, the ocean around, and the Communist beyond."

"Time is short. Civilization itself is at stake. An idea 2,000 years old taught by the teacher of Nazareth and which men always thought impractical has become the most practical and necessary idea for the saving of civilization itself against the suicide of the human race."

"The ideas are the brotherhood of man, the fatherhood of God, and one great human family in North Carolina, in America and in the world."

Following his address at the court house, Senator Graham spoke at a luncheon for the teachers of the Greenville city schools.

He will leave this afternoon for Manteo where he will speak tonight at the final performance of the season of the "Lost Colony." He will return to Washington on Tuesday.

In a sidewalk interview this morning, Senator Graham responded in his friendly manner to questioning reporters who chatted with him as he shook hands and greeted old friends who passed on the street.

Responding to the question of when Congress will adjourn, Senator Graham quipped with a smile, "Brother, I wish you'd tell me. Not right soon, I think."

The senator said the reciprocal trade program for the next major issue taken up by Congress. As for the arms bill for Europe, Graham stated, "I don't know the fixed date for the arms bill," but said he had not had the opportunity to study the program as thoroughly as he would like.

Senator Graham arrived in Greenville last night, and was the guest of Jack Spain, secretary to Senator Clyde R. Hoey.

Praise Handling . . .

(Continued from page one) where. A feature of the day's festivities was the Greenville fire department's emergency rescue truck, with full Red Cross equipment and ready for service, stationed on Evans Street near Five Points. Fire Chief George Gardner said the truck is always under the direction of the Pitt County Medical Society; that today Dr. E. B. Aycock was in charge, and that Mrs. John Warner represented the Red Cross.

"The feature of today's parade is those pretty girls in the parade who are going to participate in the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored beauty pageant at the college tonight," said David Thurston House, clerk of Superior Court, and numerous other county officials standing by agreed with him.

During Children's Day, prices on all rides will be reduced for the children. Teachers will give the students admission slips. Ken Maynard will put on a special performance for the kids, officials said.

Jolt From . . .

Every year when Congress closes, or is near closing, as this one is, Senators and Representatives scamp in all directions around the world by plane or boat.

When they go—singly or in groups as a committee—"official" business, it's at government expense. Which means that the taxpayer, pay for the ride, hotel, meals and so on.

Newsmen who cover Congress year in and out estimate that 99 per cent of all travel by Congressmen and Senators abroad is at government expense.

One veteran House member, who hasn't missed a trip abroad for years, predicted that this year around half the 485 House members will be out of the country by the end of the year.

Babson . . .

Small Businessmen

Those were days when every small businessman had a chance to become a big businessman. Today under the present income taxes it is very difficult for any small businessman to compete both against big business and big labor unions. Today the big corporations are "frozen" big; while the little businessmen are "frozen" little.

If you have any doubts about this, write my friend Ernest H. Gaunt of Havenhill, Mass., who has made an intimate study of this situation.

Fifty years ago national advertising was unknown except in the case of patent medicines and there were only a few national weeklies, and they had small circulations. The Saturday Evening Post then had only a hundred thousand. As a result, advertising rates were so low that the small businessman could afford to advertise as well as the large corporation. Today advertising rates are 25 times what they were then. The small businessman cannot now afford national advertising as he is obliged to pay the same rates per page as the big operators.

What The Nation Needs

Today labor unions have a greater and more dangerous monopoly by fixing prices and output than management ever had. Hence, the Anti-Trust laws should now be amended to include labor unions and forbid the fixing of prices, wages or output. If the people, through their legal representatives, want to "fix minimums" this should be permissible, but only through proper legislation. Furthermore, if there need be any exemptions to the Anti-Trust laws, these should be in favor of the small businessman. He, today, is really in the same unfortunate position that labor unions were fifty years ago.

Fed Up . . .

Suddenly McDonough barked "Let's go!" He swung his huge rod as he set the hook in what was estimated to be an 800 to 900 pound fish. Sonny yanked a cord which released the craft from its mooring. The powerful motors began to throb. "Red" stood at hand for any emergency, but away from Mc-

Donough since no aid can be given a tournament fisherman once he has hooked his fish.

The battle was on. It's an absurd comparison, I know, but as McDonough fought that fish I could think of nothing but a man tackling a Bengal tiger with his bare hands.

The tuna now had perhaps 300 yards of line run out and was in command of the situation. It was Mac's business to curb the fish's rushes and gain command himself. He had to work mighty fast because we were encircled by other boats and our theater of operation was relatively small.

It was a savage fight. Mac's big muscles swelled as he threw every ounce of his vast strength into the task of curbing the tuna's wild rushes and reeling it in inch by inch. His chair swung violently back and forth as his line lashed the water. No man could stand that long.

Meantime Sonny was performing unbelievable feats with the craft. He swung it, he reversed it with screaming gears, he drove it lunging forward—he rode it like a spinning polo pony. He followed every movement of the fisherman.

Nobody spoke. The tension was thick enough to eat, and became more so as we approached other boats anchored nearby. About nine minutes had passed and Mac had all but gained control over the huge fish when the tuna gave a sudden rush around the anchor line of a neighboring craft.

McDonough's line was severed. Silence on the Jersey Lightning II. Everybody was stunned. Sonny, as white as face as a sheet, Mac sat and stared at the water for a long minute. Then he suddenly threw back his head and his big boyish laugh boomed out.

With that the crew jumped into action to prepare for more fishing.
