Senators Begin Debate On Trade Agreements Bill

Passage Of Reciprocal Trade Measure One Of Truman's Urgent Items

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—The Senate came up today to the start of debate on the sharply contested reciprocal trade agreements bill.

Passage of this measure is one of the more urgent demands President Truman has made of his Senate leaders. It passed the House by a 319 to 69 margin in February but barely squeaked through the Senate Finance Committee, 7 to 6, last March.

The measure would extend to June 12, 1951 the President's authority to make international agreements raising or lowering American tariffs. It is under hot fire from Republicans.

Administration lieutenants as they resist any efforts to compromise on a GOP proposal to write into the bill a so-called perit point provision. They have the President's orders to fight it out on this line.

Such a provision would direct the Tariff Commission to point out when it believed proposed tariff cuts would damage American industry. The President could go ahead with rate reductions in such cases, but would have to explain to Congress why he took such action.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee, who will pilot the measure through the Senate, has opposed any such compromise.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the party's Senate leader, called a conference of all Democrats for tomorrow to check over his team defenses.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) told a reporter he doesn't believe any of the Democrats will go off the party reservation on this issue. Senator Ives (R-NY) predicted that when the bill finally gets approval of Congress it will carry some provision such as the Republicans have proposed.

Fire Endangers Many Buildings In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 7—(AP)—The walls of a blazing down-town seven-story building here buckled and collapsed today hurling flames and embers high into the air and setting fire to buildings as far as three blocks from the scene.

Flying embers started fires in 15 establishments in the heart of the city's business district—hotels, restaurants, warehouses.

Most were roof top blazes which quickly were put out by firemen using hand extinguishers.

Six firemen were hurt, none seriously. Hundreds of hotel and guests and store employees fled safely from the burning building.

Marcantonio Retains Control

New York, Sept. 7—(AP)—Rep Vito Marcantonio, left-wing American Labor Party congressman, was assured of continued control of his party's Manhattan organization today on the basis of primary election returns.

Ewart G. Guntz, a Negro backed by Marcantonio, won nomination for Manhattan borough president yesterday over Eugene P. Connolly, city councilman and Manhattan secretary of the ALP.

Bevin, Cripps On Hand For Session

Arrive In Washington For Talks With U.S. And Canada On Dollar Emergency; Sympathetic Attitude Expected By American Officials

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—Britain's foreign policy and economic chiefs arrived today for talks with the United States and Canada on the British dollar crisis.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps came by train from New York where their ship docked last night.

Bevin described the three-power conference as a means "to win the struggle for one world, one world of free and democratic peoples."

Bevin gave his views in New York and he declined to amplify them upon reaching Washington.

A reporter told him that Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Charles Abbott said yesterday that Canada would be glad to see British plan dollars anywhere.

Bevin smiled over this idea for a moment, said he had no comment but then added, "It sounds rather good, anyway."

In three power talks starting in fifth floor conference room at State Department the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

These and other measures, which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically, are designed.

Zoning Board Of City Discusses Policies Tuesday

Act On Requests For Exceptions And Urge Familiarity With Ordinance

The city zoning board meeting in the office of Mayor W. S. Stafford yesterday discussed policies, acted on some requests for exceptions to zoning ordinance restrictions and set the Monday night before the first Thursday night of each month as regular meeting night for the board.

City Attorney R. B. Lee discussed certain portions of the ordinance helping board members to clarify certain questions that had been raised in reference to lots already on record at the time the zoning ordinance was adopted and to certain areas already partially built up under conditions that do not comply with the zoning restrictions.

It was brought to the attention of the board that very few citizens are familiar with the restrictions of the zoning laws and as a result go ahead with the purchase of lots and building plans and then find out later that they cannot obtain a building permit because their plans do not meet the requirements.

The board urged that before purchasing building lots or making plans to build all persons acquaint themselves with the restrictions on the property. The cooperation of real estate agents in explaining such restrictions to purchasers of the property was also requested.

The board ruled that all future requests to the board for relief or exceptions to the zoning laws must be made in writing and accompanied by a plot of the property involved together with full details of building plans.

The board is composed of D. J. Whitchard, chairman; Dr. S. M. Crisp, vice-chairman; Van C. Fleming, secretary; Joseph M. Dresbach and Thomas Webb.

Claim Miracle Healed Crippled Girl At Revival

Payetteville, Sept. 7—(AP)—Parents of a crippled Indian young woman said today she was cured last week by a miracle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emanuel of Godwin, Route 1, said their daughter, Perlie, "felt the power" at a revival service in a tent here.

The service was concluded Saturday night by the Rev. Reuben Jones of Kinston, a pastor of the Free Will Holiness Church.

The parents said Perlie discarded her crutches and walked from the tent with only a slight limp. They said it was the first time she was known to have walked unaided since stricken with spastic paralysis at the age of eight. She now is 25.

Perlie had undergone two operations in efforts to correct her condition. The last was in 1941. The parents said doctors had held no hope that she ever would walk normally.

Atlantic City Contest Opens

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 7—(AP)—Some of the nation's most beautiful girls tonight began an intense competition that will end Saturday in the selection of Miss America of 1949.

For three days the 52 girls in the Miss America pageant will show off the way they look in a bathing suit, the poses they can muster in an evening gown, and their entertaining talents.

Judged on these three distinct contest phases, 16 lucky finalists will enter the homestretch on Saturday.

Carmichael Is Appointed Acting President UNC

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 7—(AP)—W. D. Carmichael, Jr., comptroller of the Greater University of North Carolina, is now acting president of the three-unit institution.

The appointment was made yesterday by the executive committee of the University's board of trustees.

Carmichael, who will continue as comptroller, actually has been acting as president since Dr. Frank P. Graham resigned to become a U. S. Senator. He has been chairman of a committee of chancellors

Immense Hurricane Still Drifting At Slow Rate

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7—(AP)—An immense hurricane, its course still uncertain, drifted slowly northeastward in the open Atlantic today.

The Miami weather bureau said the forward movement of the "large and severe hurricane" was still slow and erratic but probably toward the northeast at five to six miles an hour.

The gigantic disturbance was about 900 miles east of Palm Beach, Fla., and 390 miles south of Bermuda. It packed winds of 120 to 130 miles per hour near the center and winds of hurricane force—75 miles per hour or more—over an area 125 to 150

Public Hearing Sept. 27 On Decontrol Greenville Rents

The matter of decontrol of rents in the Greenville area will be discussed at a public hearing at the City Hall on Tuesday night Sept. 27 as a result of action of the board of aldermen in an adjourned meeting last night. The action was taken after City Attorney Raleigh B.

Lee advised the board that the rent control law required at least 10 days public notice of such a meeting before final action could be taken by the board in requesting decontrol. At its regular meeting last Thursday night the aldermen voted to instruct the city attorney to draw up the necessary resolution requesting the governor to approve decontrol for this area. Since that action was taken there had been protests from some citizens and many were on hand last night preparatory to voicing their opinions for or against the action. In view of the announcement of a full public hearing to be held on the 27th there was little discussion of the matter last night.

Other matters given attention by the board last night were as follows:

A request from Jack Wallace for remission of licenses for a dance to be held at East Carolina Teachers College on September 17 by the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars with half the profits to go to the college foundation, was granted.

J. H. Rose was granted permission for the Negro high school football team to have use of the Municipal Stadium after the close of the baseball season.

Bids for repairs of the roof and walls of the fire station were received and the matter was referred to the fire committee for action. The matter of necessary minor repairs to certain fire equipment was also referred to the committee.

C. K. Beatty, superintendent of the street department, made his monthly report revealing considerable activity during the month.

The matter of a stop light to replace the blinker at the corner of Boyd Avenue and Chestnut street was discussed. It was pointed out that some motorists did not understand that a red blinker required a full stop before entering the intersection and that such a misunderstanding made the corner dangerous. Police Chief Lester Page stated that he believed the present light was necessary and would prove just as effective as a stop light.

He said that in addition to the blinker light the Chestnut Street corners are plainly marked with stop signs. He said the law requires a full stop for a red blinker and he was instructing his officers to give more attention to the intersection and arrest motorists who fail to comply with the law.

The matter of minor repairs at the curb market was discussed and turned over to a committee for attention.

Friday Beauty Contest Winners

Mayor Proclaims 'Clean-Up Week'

City Property Owners Asked To Cooperate Next Week

Next week will be "Clean-Up" week in Greenville and every property owner is urged by the city authorities to co-operate by having his or her premises thoroughly cleaned. The city itself will see that all streets, alleys and public grounds are cleaned up during the period.

In connection with "Clean-Up Week" Mayor W. S. Stafford has issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greenville on September 1, 1949, designated the week of September 12th through 17th as Clean-Up Week for the city of Greenville, and

"Whereas, it is to the mutual benefit of every individual, firm and organization of the City of Greenville to lend their best efforts to this endeavor to make Greenville a healthier and more beautiful place in which to live,

"Now, therefore, I, W. S. Stafford, Mayor of the City of Greenville, do hereby proclaim and designate the week beginning and ending September 12, 1949, and ending September 17, 1949, as Clean-Up Week for the City of Greenville.

"Witness my hand and official seal of the City of Greenville, N.C., this 6th day of September 1949."

Strike Parley

New York, Sept. 7—(AP)—Top employer and union leaders from Hawaii gathered in New York today for a new effort to settle the islanders' costly, bitterly fought dock strike.

The 130-day-old walkout has reduced steamship service in and out of Hawaii to a small fraction of normal.

Cyrus S. Ching, head of the federal mediation and conciliation service, called today's meeting under the Taft-Hartley law.

Auto Inspection Backed By Scott

Governor Favors Program In Discussing Traffic Toll

Raleigh, Sept. 7—(AP)—Governor Scott asserted today that he favored a new program of mechanical inspection of motor vehicles.

The Governor talked to 36 captains, lieutenants and sergeants of the State Highway Patrol gathered here today for a safety conference.

The gathering was held following a Labor Day weekend in which 12 persons were killed and 177 were injured on the roads, and at a time when highway slaughter for the year had mounted to 546 lives.

The patrolmen met here to exchange ideas on how to reduce this toll.

Governor Scott said he thought the 1949 General Assembly made a mistake in killing the state's auto inspection program and that he would favor enactment by the 1951 assembly of a new inspection law.

He told the patrolmen he thought they could best promote safety by continually patrolling the highways to act as a deterrent to law violators—particularly speedsters. To this end he urged them to spend as little time as possible in court and in working with other law enforcement officers on other phases of law enforcement.

Attlee Attacks Effort To Split U. S., Britain

Bridlington, Eng., Sept. 7—(AP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee today denounced opponents of Britain's Labor government who he said were trying to make "bad blood" between Britain and the United States.

In an address before the Trades Union Congress, eight million member backbone of the Labor party, Attlee promised Britain would do its utmost to solve the dollar shortage which threatens Britain with economic disaster.

But, he added, the problem "cannot be solved by any one government in isolation."

"There is a lot of effort being put out to try to make bad blood between Britain and the United States," he said.

Seek Determine Sanity Of Unruh In Mass Slaying

Psychiatrists Question Him As Thirteenth Victim Of His Bullets Dies

Camden, N.J., Sept. 7—(AP)—Four psychiatrists today questioned Howard Unruh, 26-year-old war veteran who massacred 13 persons on River Road.

Twelve-five men, five women and two children—were killed yesterday as the silent, methodical Unruh put his "preconceived plan into execution." Three others—a woman and two youths—were wounded.

The 13th, John Wilson, 10, died this morning at Cooper Hospital, where Unruh underwent an unsuccessful operation for the removal of a bullet from his hip.

Prosecutor Mitchell Cohen said Unruh's wound is not serious and that he physically is able to undergo extensive questioning by mental health experts.

Should the psychiatrists find that Unruh was sane, Cohen said he will press for an immediate grand jury indictment, early trial and death by electrocution.

The prosecutor told newsmen that Unruh, a Bible-reading war veteran with an "arsenal of weapons," said in his statement yesterday that he killed because of "resentment against his neighbors."

Cohen said Unruh listed four shopkeepers as his intended victims: druggist Maurice Cohen, 40; shoemaker John Pilchirik, 27; barber Clark Hoover, 33, and tailor Thomas Zegrino, 29.

He got Cohen, Pilchirik and Hoover. Zegrino escaped because he wasn't in his shop when Unruh walked in carrying his German Luger pistol. Unruh stalked to the rear of the shop and killed Zegrino's bride of a month.

In addition to those four, Unruh killed druggist Cohen's wife and mother; an insurance salesman, a television salesman, two women and a boy in a car; a six-year-old boy getting a haircut in Hoover's barber shop, and a two-year-old boy who poked his head out of a window.

Cohen was asked whether Unruh said anything at the scenes "to having killed innocent men, women and children."

"He wasn't asked that question," Cohen said. "And he didn't volunteer any motive other than the fact that he said he had been building up a grudge against his neighbors for two years since he returned from the army."

Cancer Research Lab Is Damaged

Durham, N. C., Sept. 7—(AP)—A fire of undetermined origin damaged three rooms of a second-floor cancer research laboratory in the Duke University medical research building early this morning.

Estimated damage to materials and equipment was about $2,000. W. E. Whitford, director of operation and maintenance, said. However, Dr. Frank L. Engel, who is in charge of the research project, said that much of the medical research data and materials are "irreplaceable."

Fire extinguishers were used while the plane was returning here, and on landing, baggage was removed and no evidence could be found that there had been a fire, officials said.

False Alarm Of Fire On Plane

Medford, Ore., Sept. 7—(AP)—A Northwest Airlines DC-4 landed here safely today after turning back on a Seattle-to-Honolulu flight when a warning light indicated fire in the baggage compartment.

Fire extinguishers were used while the plane was returning here, and on landing, baggage was removed and no evidence could be found that there had been a fire, officials said.

See Politics As General's Goal

Eisenhower Said Talking Like Ambitious Republican

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is talking so much like a Republican that some Washington office holders are beginning to think he may have his eye on the 1952 GOP presidential nomination.

Despite Eisenhower's recent assertion he hasn't the slightest interest in such a nomination, Senator Ives (R-NY) told a reporter he won't be surprised if the general's name is put before the next party nominating convention.

Agreeing, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) said he thinks Eisenhower would provide tough opposition to anyone the Democrats nominate.

Along with many others in Congress, Sparkman said he is beginning to believe that President Truman will be a candidate for another term.

The President hasn't said anything publicly about his plans. Lawmakers said that in private conversations he has left the door open to the possibility that he might run again, particularly if Congress doesn't enact his social welfare program before the next presidential election.

What is the crisis? The British are running out of American dollars which they badly need for buying American goods. But—the British are not here looking for another loan.

The talks aim at this: To work out some way by which Britain won't have to use up so fast the dollars it has. No one expects a miracle solution.

At this moment the problem is to find a stop-gap way of getting Britain out of its jam. How did it get into the jam? There is no simple answer. There are a number of answers. Here are some:

Remember that the U. S. and Canada do business with dollars. Britain's money is the pound. When Americans and Canadians sell to the British, they want to be paid in dollars.

So, having dollars is part of Britain's life blood since she needs to buy more from the U. S. and Canada than they have to buy from her.

Britain was short of dollars after the war, since it used up so many of them buying war supplies from us. The U. S. and Canada gave Britain loans. The U. S. even helped out with the Marshall plan. But now Britain is running out of dollars again. Why? For one thing, Britain hasn't been selling enough goods to the dollar nations to get dollars with which to buy from them.

Before the war, Britain had several prime ways of gathering in dollars. For instance:

1. It had a lot of holdings in the dollar countries, giving Britain a big steady income in dollars. During the war, to scrape up dollars to buy huge supplies, Britain sold many of its American holdings.

Britons figure now that—if they hadn't had to sell those holdings—they'd be getting from them an income of about $2,000,000,000 a year. So, that's two billion British could use now but doesn't have.

2. It picked up a lot of revenue from its shipping. But much of that was shot to pieces in the war. So—another dollar source weakened.

3. Britain has not been self-sufficient. It has had to import to live. It ran the imported goods through its factories and then sold the manufactured items abroad at a profit to buy other things it needed. This gave the British dollars, too.

But a lot of Britain's factories were destroyed during the war, and

Test For Socialism

Stormy Showdown Coming In Britain's Next General Election; Time Of Election Is Undecided; Much Depends On Talks In Washington; Burden Of Proof

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

England's experiment with socialist government is headed for a stormy showdown in the next general election, which will determine whether the country wishes to continue the regime or return to the old system of free enterprise.

The Labor (Socialist) Government which came to power in July of '45 would have a normal life of five years—that is, until next summer. However, England's economic crisis has reached such a grave pass that it's anybody's guess whether it will get better or worse. This confronts the socialist leaders with the problem of whether to hang on until the end of their term—in hope of improvement—or to force an early election on the chance that things are better now than they will be later.

As things stand, that decision must hinge largely on crystal-gazing. Much will depend, it strikes me, on the outcome of the British-Canadian-American conference opening in Washington today to seek a solution of John Bull's predicament. If relief can be devised, the socialist political chances might be improved.

England's socialist leaders are under no delusions about the political dangers ahead. Both Sir William Lawther, president of the great British Trades Union Congress, and James Griffiths, chairman of the Labor party, warned the annual conference of the T.U.C. Monday that socialism is facing a tough fight.

This blunt warning was aimed at wildcat strikes which have been complicating the economic crisis. Both leaders declared labor might lose the next general election if it didn't stay on the job. Sir William asserted that some work stoppages have been instigated by Communists.

So Britain's socialist leaders are worried—and for good reason. Things haven't worked out as they hoped. Economic difficulties, which they inherited as the result of the war, have gone from bad to worse.

Inevitably there has arisen the searching question of whether the situation has worsened because of socialist policies or whether the same misfortune would have dogged the conservatives if they had been continued in power. That's a question which the voters most certainly will want answered before they go to the polls.

The burden of proof will rest with the socialists, and it won't be easy to produce the evidence. They can claim with perfect right that they inherited serious economic difficulties. Few will dispute that. But the

Fact-Finders To Report On Steel

Washington, Sept. 7—(AP)—The White House said today that tentative plans call for the steel fact-finding board to report to President Truman Saturday morning.

That day is the deadline for the Presidential panel to turn over its recommendations for settling a wage dispute that threatens a strike in the steel industry.

The CIO Steel Workers Union is demanding a 30-cents-an-hour "package" increase. It has set Sept. 14 for a strike unless a settlement is reached before then.

Braden To Keep Raleigh Post

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 7—(AP)—Amid the applause of some 400 Raleigh citizens, Roy S. Braden today withdrew his resignation as the Capitol City's Mayor.

The 60-year-old city official withdrew his notice of quitting at a meeting in Memorial auditorium attended by the city council and the large flock of interested citizens.

The schools in the city have been running on a half-day schedule for the first three days, but regular schedules will start Thursday morning. Principal Owen Dowd said today.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

September 7, 1909

Reports of August tobacco sales at the various markets show that tobacco has averaged from 5 1-2 to 6 1-2 cents a pound. Of course farmers could not raise tobacco at this figure if they could not realize any more on their crop. However, we believe, the bulk of the tobacco sold was of a low grade and farmers will undoubtedly bring the general average up when they market their better grades during this month and later in the season. Not only the prosperity of the farmer but that of tobacco sections generally is affected adversely when the farmer does not get an adequate return for his labor.

Cake Cutting Given For Bridal Couple

Miss Daphne McLawhorn and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Worthington entertained at a cake-cutting at the home of the latter in Ayden on Thursday evening following the wedding rehearsal of Miss Mamie McLawhorn and Mr. Kenneth Dew.

The dining room featured decorations in green and pink in contrast to the living room in which the traditional white with green was used. The table was covered with an exquisite lace and cutwork cloth. Extending from the three-tiered wedding cake were streamers from which the bridal attendants pulled favors.

Mrs. C. D. Langston, assisted by Mrs. R. H. McLawhorn, Jr., served the wedding cake after the bridal couple-cut had cut the honor slice. Delicious pistachio-flavored pink and green ice cream was served by Mrs. Charles Wilkerson. Presiding at the attractively appointed punch bowl was Mrs. Charles McLawhorn. Approximately fifty guests, including the wedding party and out-of-town guests, attended.

Dinner Honors College Staff

Members of the Faculty Wives club of East Carolina Teachers College entertained Monday evening at an informal dinner in honor of the college staff. Approximately 170 guests were present in the north dining room of the college to enjoy the hospitality of club members. The dinner was served cafeteria style.

On arrival, guests were greeted by a receiving line headed by Mrs. F. D. Duncan, president of the Faculty Wives club, Mr. Duncan, President and Mrs. John D. Messick, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dole, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bing, Mrs. Dorothy Perkins, Mr. Ralph Fuller, M.-Sgt. W. H. Wise, and others.

During the dinner Mrs. Duncan gave a short speech welcoming staff members to the campus at the beginning of the college year. A program of music was presented by Dan E. Vorholt and George E. Perry, faculty members of the college department of music.

Young Democrats Meet Here Friday

BY CHESTER WALSH

Prominent leaders in State Young Democrats Clubs have been invited to attend a supper meeting of the Pitt County Young Democrats here Friday night at 6:30 o'clock at Respos place.

All Young Democrats of Pitt county are invited to attend. The supper will be "dutch" treat. President J. B. Spilman, Jr., will preside.

Speakers expected to attend the rally include Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, president of the State Young Democrats; Ralph Monger, Jr., of Sanford, director of information, and E. Hoover Taft, Jr., of Greenville, national Young Democrats treasurer and a past president of the North Carolina Young Democrats.

The Pitt County club will elect delegates to the Young Democrats State convention at New Bern September 15-17 and new officers for the coming year.

Three candidates for president of the State Young Democrats are expected to speak at the meeting here. They are George Fountain of Tarboro, Terry Sanford of Fayetteville and Eugene A. Gordon of Graham.

Party leaders invited to attend include John G. Clark, county chairman; Mrs. J. B. Spilman, vice-chairman; State Senator Paul E. Jones of Farmville; Representative S. O. Worthington of Greenville and Frank Kilpatrick of Ayden; Jack Spain, secretary to U.S. Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, and others.

Shirley Savage Is Complimented

Miss Shirley Savage, bride-elect of Saturday, was guest of honor at a Coca-Cola party Monday morning, given by Mrs. H. H. Duncan and Mrs. Jim Grooms of Greensboro.

The guests were received in the living room, which was decorated with lovely early fall flowers. Coca-Colas, sandwiches, cookies, nuts and mints were served buffet-style from the dining room table, which was centered with a bowl of white flowers.

Miss Savage was presented a bridal corsage of white flowers and silver in her chosen pattern by the hostesses. There were twelve guests.

Great Britain's first adhesive postage stamp was made in 1840 and bore a portrait of the young Queen Victoria.

Informal Reception Given Freshmen

Freshmen at East Carolina Teachers College were honor guests Monday evening at an informal reception in the Wright auditorium on the campus. Approximately 700 members of the class, largest freshman group in the history of the college, attended. Faculty and staff members were present to meet the newcomers and to welcome them to the campus. Arrangements for the reception were in charge of the faculty social committee, headed by Miss Lillah Gaut as chairman. Punch and cookies were served during the evening.

Orientation Program For Largest Freshman Class

East Carolina Teachers College's largest freshman class, approximately 700 in number, is spending this week participating in events of the Twentieth Annual Orientation Program to be staged for new students on the campus. Following registration for courses and a series of social and academic programs class work for the fall quarter will begin for all students Thursday morning, September 8.

Upperclassmen, including students transferring credits from other colleges, have been arriving on the campus during the week. Approximately 900 of these are expected to attend the college during the fall. The total enrollment, according to Dr. J. K. Long, registrar, estimated at 1600 men and women students will break previous records for a single quarter at the college. The largest previous enrollment was in the fall quarter of 1947, when 1401 students attended East Carolina.

Freshmen had their first taste of college life Monday morning, Sept. 5, at a general assembly in the Wright auditorium. College President John D. Messick, Dean Leo W. Jenkins, Registrar J. K. Long, and other college officials welcomed the newcomers to the campus and discussed with them various phases of college life.

and Donald Hatch of Mt. Olive, president of the YMCA, have been in charge during the week of a series of meetings designed to acquaint the freshmen with college regulations and with various activities on the campus. The faculty social committee entertained freshmen at an informal reception Monday evening in the Wright auditorium.

The wreck was investigated by Patrolmen Ernest Guthrie and D. E. Perry.

In commenting on the accident Patrolman Guthrie caused attention to the fact that at least five serious accidents had occurred at the same location within the past few months. He said there was a slight curve in the highway at that point and that there were practically no shoulders on the roads. He warned motorists of the danger and urged the exercise of more caution on the highways especially on curves.

Dog Is Casualty In Auto Accident

A white Eskimo Spitz dog was the only fatality in a crash of two cars on the Grimesland highway yesterday afternoon although John C. Williams, the driver of one of the cars received painful cuts about the face and is held on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and careless and reckless driving.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon on the curve just west of Pinkie's place near Chicod creek when a 1936 Ford driven by John C. Williams, Greenville RFD 3, crashed into the rear of a 1941 Buick, driven by James Whitfield, colored, of Chicod. Both cars, traveling in the direction of Greenville, received considerable damage. The dog was riding in the front seat of the Williams car.

Pickets Follow Britons Here On Crisis Meeting

New York, Sept. 7—(AP)—Shouting, sign-carrying pickets dogged British officials last night as they passed through New York on their way to economic talks in Washington.

The pickets chanted such slogans as: "Get rid of those British pan-handlers."

And: "There'll always be a British empire as long as Uncle Sam pays for it."

About 700 pickets were on hand at the dock as the British delegation, including Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, embarked from the liner Mauretania.

Four New Members Join ECTC Faculty For Term

Four new members of the faculty began work at East Carolina Teachers college at the beginning of the fall quarter on September 5.

Dr. Kenneth Bing of Girardeau Missouri, joined the faculty as director of the Department of Industrial Arts. Formerly he held a similar position at Southeastern Missouri State Teachers College.

Under Dr. Bing's direction the college here will offer this year for the first time a major in industrial arts. The department at East Carolina is being expanded in number of faculty members and equipment. Enlargement of the industrial arts program is being effected in order to meet a demand from public schools for well-trained teachers in the field.

Frank G. Fuller of Providence Rhode Island, has joined the staff of the department of education. Mr. Fuller is a graduate of Aurora College in Illinois and of George Washington University, where he is working on a doctorate. During World War II he served as Army Instructor-Counselor, Reconditioning Service, Walter Reed Hospital Washington, D. C. For the past two years he has been teacher-counselor at Gwynn Park High School, Brandywine, Maryland. During the summer session of 1948 Mr. Fuller was a member of the East Carolina faculty.

Mrs. Dorothy W. Perkins, formerly head of the speech correction and hearing department of the Dozwagiac city schools in Michigan will be this year a member of the department of education and will do work in speech correction. She holds degrees from the University of Michigan and Iowa State University and has had ten years of experience in work dealing with the speech handicaps of children. She is a member of the American Speech Association and other similar organizations. During the past summer Mrs. Perkins was a member of the college faculty here.

Coach William E. Dole, formerly football mentor at Fayetteville High School, has been on the campus for several days putting the East Carolina Pirates through practices preliminary to the opening game with the Cherry Point Marines next Thursday, September 15. Dole replaced Jim Johnson as coach of the college here. He is a graduate of the University of West Virginia and of New York University. His Fayetteville High team won the state football championship twice.

Fall Weather

Highest temperature recorded in the Greenville area yesterday by the local Weather Bureau was 57 degrees; lowest last night was 79 and at 3 a.m. today it was 73. Highest temperature here a year ago was 85 degrees. The nights were much cooler at this time a year ago.

Strength FOR THE DAY RELIGIOUS NOVELS The recent popularity of a number of excellent religious novels such as Graham Green's "The Heart of the Matter," and Alan Patton's "Ory the Beloved Country," and the interest aroused by Thomas Merton's "Seven Storey Mountain" is a heartening indication that the taste of the reading public has not been completely degraded by the modern physiological, or rather pathological, novel. The fact that books in which the standard heroine is a hussy, the hero a misanthropic neurotic, and the supporting characters stereotypes of degeneracy have sold by the tens of thousands might indicate that the moral character of the educated public is undergoing a relapse. Readers seemed avidly intent to taste experiences entirely incompatible with normal decent living. Against this background it is refreshing indeed to see that an even greater reader interest has arisen in fiction characters who sought after God and were courageous enough to recognize their misdeeds as sins, and who felt a duty to cultivate moral character instead of rationalizing a life devoted to the grossest types of self-gratification. What people read is a pretty good indication of what they are. It is encouraging for the Christian to realize that many still strive to model their lives on Christ's teachings and resist the sins of the flesh.

HELLO, ALL YOU SPECIAL INTERESTS Once again President Truman has tilted with the windmills of "special interests," this time in his Labor Day speeches. The term, as used by the President, implies a group that is distinctly ominous and anti-Democratic (party, that 'is); one would also gather that it is sponsored and led by paunchy financiers, pouting industrialists and enemies of the Common Man. But all this is by implication. All the public really has to go on, is the wordy assault on an unknown quantity... identified in algebra as "x", but in political speeches as "organized special interests."

It's handy to have an "x" or a "special interest" around for a scapegoat; especially if you aren't too careful about identifying your unknown quantity, but it also has its drawbacks. People just might begin looking at their neighbor and wondering to themselves "is he one of those special interests I've been warned about by the man in the White House?" A thing like that could get out of hand, leading to witch-hunts far surpassing anything staged by the House Un-American Activities Committee or the good people of old Salem. The hard fact is, that the title "special interests" is bestowed on anyone and everything opposing President Truman and his ideas. It isn't mentioned, but the President and his closest political advisors are a very special, special interest; just as are labor unions, Chambers of Commerce, civic clubs and any group seeking to better its own lot or that of its government. Every individual voter is, or should be, a very

Somebody Told Me... By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR. Wife Rachel went to Raleigh yesterday and brought me back one of those neck ties. By "one of those" I mean a tie that I used to have silent opinions about. When Rachel first started bringing me neck ties I used to shudder at the sight of them. How can a girl with such good taste (except in husbands) pick out such ties, I would think, very silently. Then the time would come when I had put off wearing the tie as long as I could, so I would put it on, cringing with every turn of the knot. However, the first person I would see, even if he was a very slight acquaintance, would rave about the swiftness of the neck tie—how it was the prettiest he had ever seen. If he would see 15 people during the course of the evening, 10 would tell me what good taste I have in neck ties, whereupon I would give full credit to Wife Rachel. Many months ago I decided that my only evidence of good taste is in my choice of a wife. So when Rachel showed up with another "one of those" ties yesterday I raved about it with anticipation of what an impression it'll make. It reminds me of how a blind man would feel complimenting something he can't see, but others can. This one is pink, with seven brown diamonds down the front. The diamonds are outlined in green. Already I can hear the compliments on that tie. And the amazing thing about Rachel's ties is that she can see a value a mile away. This tie was a $2.50 value for fifty cents. Yesterday, Ivey Taylor's in Raleigh was having a junk sale. Men's drawers, sizes 36 to 46, were selling for 59 cents, $1.50 values. The idea was to clear the store of what they termed "junk," which is, of course, no reflection on the tie. From experience I know that everybody else will like it, and what's my opinion against everybody else? Not only that, the tie will eventually grow on me. After four or five compliments I'll wear it so much that it'll take root. Then I'll get used to it, too. They tell me that there are men in this world who have excellent judgment when it comes to clothes. There are some who aren't color-blind, some who never wear a green tie with blue socks, and even some who never wear clashing shades of the same color. Just think of the time and trouble it takes those men to find the exact clothes for a matching wardrobe. Having all of that judgment creates too much work and worry. In this case, ignorance is a great time-saver. There are thousands of young men in America who are not at all concerned about this business of a wardrobe, simply because they expect to have a personal tailor in a few years. I'm referring to the college graduates fresh out of school. The class of '49 at Carolina had over 7,000 men, and every one of them left Chapel Hill with the idea that he is going to make a million dollars in just a few years. One year in the cruel world (off the college campus) is enough to make most of them forget the idea of having a tailor. The solution, of course, is to have a wife who can spot a value a mile away. It might be called junk by the merchant, but a smart wife can pick the one good peach out of the bad barrel. And I thank you.

ry, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and rental for outside offices required by expanding state departments. The general assembly considered needed improvements at the mansion and appropriated money for the recognized needs. The elevator and other items were added later as "contingency and emergency needs," as was the previously granted $2,835 for renovating the governor's offices. HOLE—Allocations to date from the million dollars annually set aside by the legislature for contingencies and emergencies unfrequently amount to $147,048 in a little over two months. The fact that a large part of this amount was for items that either should have been presented to the legislature, or were presented and rejected, means that for the next ten months the fund will have to be more carefully guarded so that if actual contingencies or emergencies develop they can be taken care of without calling a special session to make appropriations.

ALP CORAL TIP AIR RAISE HOE LLEWARD VAULT SITS LEDGES GRANE CARES LAGS RAVEN SO AGE TENET PEA ME SEVER DEES BANES GRANT CORRAL ARAL OREIC ORIGINS ALE ENDED NEE TAD SODAS GOA Liaison — Governor Scott told his press conference Tuesday he anchored to failure by poor vision. The class "dullard" has often proved to be the most intelligent child in the class... when his defective vision was discovered and corrected. The stubborn, unsocial child has often turned out to be an active, likeable leader of his classmates... when his defective vision was discovered and corrected. Poor vision is an unsuspected handicap that is anchoring many fine children, today, to failure. The only way of discovering its presence is by an eyesight examination. Ridgeways At Five Points, Greenville, N. C.

had not discussed with the department of conservation and development on the one hand and the wildlife resources commission on the other the matter of a liaison officer, but he had heard something about it. The governor said he could see where such a go-between man would aid considerably in handling matters of overlapping jurisdiction. The newsman didn't have an opportunity to develop discussion, because the buildings and grounds board with the library commission kept the governor more than 30 minutes beyond press conference time and the boys had deadlines to meet. Newspaper presses are like time and tide in that they wait for no man. CO-OPERATION — At previous press conferences and elsewhere Governor Scott had made it clear he seeks closer co-operation among all state agencies dealing with closely related subjects or with overlapping responsibility. The C and D department's jurisdiction over forests and streams, and wildlife resources control over game and fish hunting and fishing, is just one of many instances in which fuller co-operation is needed. Relations of the state department of agriculture and the extension service at State College is another. Sundry functions of the departments of labor health, insurance and employment security frequently overlap, and all of them become involved with functions of the industrial commission in administering the workmen's compensation law. Other problems arise in allocating specific courses among the units of the Greater University, in relations of teacher training colleges to the public school system and the university. Roads for school buses tie in with the board of education's consolidation program, and safety measures run through industry, public health and highway traffic. State government is a complex project, and while some departments, institutions and agencies apparently would like to operate autonomously truth is they just cannot. They must be co-ordinated and work in co-operation with each other to do a good job for the taxpaying citizens.

Boyle's Column By HAL BOYLE New York—(P)—It is much easier today to win the Kentucky Derby than it is to become Miss America. All a horse has to do to clinch the Derby is to run fastest. And it can use all four legs. But it doesn't have to prove it can ride a human being, sing a folk song, paint a picture, look well in bathing suit and evening gown, do a tap dance or give Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The average racehorse isn't even sure Lincoln ever had an address in Gettysburg. But to win the Atlantic City beauty contest now a girl not only has to show Derby form—she has to demonstrate personality, talent and intelligence. And she goes through a more rigorous training routine than the average Derby entrant. She may even have to eat oats (oatmeal) to slim her figure. Many of the lassies competing this week for the nation's $5,000 beauty crown at the Jersey resort spent a week or two in Manhattan getting a final curvy-curve. They hire specialists to teach them how to walk gracefully and use makeup artfully. "I've tramped miles up and down my hotel room learning all over again how to walk," said brown-haired, 18-year-old Miss Arkansas-Barbara Brothers, bust 34, hips 34. She would like to have a rubber face. "Mine is all worn out from smiling," she said. Miss Brothers, besides looking beautiful, can sing, paint water colors, and write poetry. If she wins she said she would positively reject any Hollywood offers. "I want to become director of religious education for the Methodist Church," she said. She is sponsored by the Eastern Arkansas Young Men's club. Another candidate, "Miss Wyoming"—Esther MacLean, 22, bust 34 waist 25, hips 34, spent the last few days before the contest studying at the Barbizon school of modeling. Sponsored by the University of Wyoming, she is a mezzo soprano and wants to continue her study of music. Eastern Beauty techniques have left Miss MacLeod a little bemused. "The hardest thing I had to learn was to put lipstick on with a brush," she laughed. "You get a finer lip line that way—they say." Miss Wyoming, who arrived with Stetson hat and cowboy boots, is a water safety instructor and can play the piano as well as sing. "I can also rope, tie and brand a calf—a small calf," she said. Unfortunately, even if she borrowed a clothesline, a horse (Miss Montana brought one) and the Herford heifer that accompanied Miss Nevada, she wouldn't be able to demonstrate this talent. Calf or heifer branding isn't on the contest program—which puts the girls from the west, where women are women, under a handicap. Miss Arkansas will be one of the few entrants with a clique—three University of Arkansas students who decided to go to Atlantic City and root for her. One is Bob Riley an almost sightless war veteran who also is a member of the Arkansas Legislature. "Bob is real fun," said Mrs. Tom Allen, chaperon for Miss Arkansas. "Once, during a night out, he lost his glass eye. So he put an ad in the University paper saying: "Lost one glass eye—probably blood-shot."

Ginger Rogers Sheds A Husband Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(P)—The man who didn't come to dinner no longer is the husband of Ginger Rogers. The 38-year-old actress obtained a divorce yesterday from her third husband, actor Jack Briggs, Jr., 29, who she described as "everything I've ever dreamed of" when they married in Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 16, 1943. They separated last July 30. Charging cruelty, Miss Rogers testified that Briggs didn't come home to dinner—even on their sixth wedding anniversary when she prepared the meal herself.

Harnett Outlaws Beer-Wine Sales Lillington, N. C., Sept. 7.—(P)—Residents of Harnett county yesterday voted to stop the legal sale of beer and wine by an unofficial majority of better than 2 1-2 to 1. The result from 20 of the 21 precincts: Against beer 4,263, for 1,621. Against wine 4,098, for 1,581. Harnett thus became the 32nd of North Carolina's 100 counties in the bone dry column. However, the county will vote on Nov. 15 whether or not to open A B C liquor stores.

TEEN TALK

No, you've just taken a job. Congratulations!

If this is your first business experience, perhaps you are puzzled about a few things—your obligation to your job, and how much of your time the boss actually buys.

Young people are likely to get unusual ideas, these days, about holding a job. In the first place they expect much more of the boss than they give in exchange. They might be late 15 or 30 minutes three times a week, but let the boss ask them to work ten minutes overtime some night, and they resent the intrusion on their private time.

At home, instead of getting good sound advice about work experiences, perhaps you hear snatches of conversations from which you make unwise deductions. Mom might good naturedly tease Pop about his pretty secretary. Or you might hear stories about the girl next door who was lucky enough to marry her boss. Or perhaps you've been inspired by reading love stories about secretaries, who always are (in fiction) much more sympathetic to the boss than his wife.

Is it any wonder that the neophyte gets the impression that the success of her job depends entirely on whether she can win the boss' attentions, whether he happens to be a handsome young man or a doddering old man?

A competent girl need have no fears about losing her job, if she does not take him up on that dinner date or slip innuendo. If she does accept his attentions, she might lose her job anyway, because perhaps he'll tire of her after those first few dinners, his philandering usually being of cautious interest. Few bosses ever marry love-sick stenographers; fewer of them divorce their wives to do it.

The salary your boss pays you each week does not entitle him to your company after business hours. Smart girls have found ways to discourage the idea this way:

1. Have a boy friend or a brother or your father pick you up at the office once in a while. If the boss gets friendly with them, fine.
2. If he makes suggestive remarks about dates, play dumb.
3. Get chummy with his wife as soon as possible. You can do this by having friendly chats with her on the phone, when she calls the office.
4. If he has a daughter your age, talk about her occasionally to him.

Of course, you can't blame it all on the boss. Some girls set out to get him interested by any means. Then there are the girls who do it unwittingly by dressing in poor taste—heavy rouged lips and faces, mascara, short skirts, low-cut dresses—easy ways to give any man the wrong impression.

If you want to be treated like a lady, act like one. This is a steel armor of itself.

Sit with your two feet flat on the floor when you take dictation. Don't slump into the chair, covetly eyeing your employer. When at the filing cabinet, stand like a lady. Your charms won't help him overlook filing or typing errors... not for long, anyway. Other ways to be faithful to your job are:

1. Be poised, neat and pleasant. Skip the heavy makeup but use a deodorant and don't forget tooth paste.
2. Wear tailored clothes, not sequin drapes or sloppy sweaters.
3. Give your boss all the time he is entitled to. Save your office discussions about that new book or new shade of lipstick until after hours.
4. Don't curl up at your desk or sit with knees crossed in a sloppily posture. Do office tasks with enthusiasm.

German Gov't Convenes Today

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The first German government since Adolf Hitler convened today.

The Bundestag, upper house of the West German federal republic was the first branch of the new government to begin work. The Bundestag, the lower house, opens its first session this afternoon.

A federal president will be elected Sept. 12 by a convention of 402 Bundestag deputies and 400 special delegates from the state legislatures.

British High Commissioner, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, and the American and French High Commissioners John J. McCloy and Andre Francois-Poncet were present.

The session was officially called to order by Joannes Bueli, 73, of Hamburg, the oldest German senator.

Earlier, in Catholic and Protestant churches, clergymen had prayed for the welfare of the new republic.

The Bundestag elected Karl Arnold as its president. He is a Christian Democrat and minister-president of the largest state—North-Rhine Westphalia, which includes the Ruhr.

Ten of the 11 states voted for Arnold. Only Bavaria's deputies abstained.

Life Slipped

Baltimore, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A 75-year-old woman who was forced to breathe through a small metal tube suffocated yesterday when the tube slipped from her hands.

She was Mrs. Laura McMullen, formerly of Harrington, Del. She had been staying here with a sister, Mrs. Flossie Powell.

Police said Mrs. McMullen had undergone a cancer operation some months ago and had to breathe through a detachable steel tube in her throat.

She had removed it for cleaning and was going to insert a substitute section when it dropped into the folds of her dress.

She suffocated before help arrived.

Several Villages Said Recaptured

Canton, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The National Defense Ministry today claimed recapture of several villages from Communist forces driving toward the Canton-Hankow railroad from Hucheng, 170 miles north of Canton.

The ministry's announcement said ground was recovered up to a point to 20 miles west of Jucheng. That would place the fighting halfway between Jucheng and the railroad.

Chinese news dispatches said a small force of Nationalist militiamen created a diversion by a guerrilla-like raid on Jucheng itself.

Five Communist divisions were reported preparing to attack An-jen, 40 miles east of Hengyang; some 120 miles northwest of Jucheng.

Other reports said the Reds were building defense works on the northern side of the mountains on the Kwangtung-Kiangsi border. Mei Pass, through which the highway from Kanhien to Kukong runs, was being fortified, these reports said.

In Shensi Province both sides were said to be throwing reinforcements into a battle near Fenghsien, 40 miles southwest of the Lunghai railroad town of Paochi.

Dispatches said the fate of southern Shensi hinged on the battle.

Negro Home Demonstration News

Forty members of the County Council of Negro Home Demonstration Clubs met Saturday morning, September 3rd, at 10 o'clock for the purpose of planning their club activities for the remainder of 1949 and to formulate plans of demonstration meetings to be given in 1950.

The county-wide Achievement Day to be held November 4th at 10 o'clock will have each club exhibiting a phase of the year's work; reports will be given on the accomplishment by club members and a style show. On November 8th at 10 o'clock a special interest meeting will be held on meat canning. On November 10th club members will attend the District Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs in Louisburg.

Besides a suggestive list of demonstrations to be given in 1950, emphasis will be placed on training leaders. The first training school will be to train club officers. A model club meeting will be dramatized. Each month a training school will be given for project leaders.

Mrs. Mamie Leary, Calico Home Demonstration, gave an excellent report on the Farmers and Homemakers Conference attended in July.

Council officers selected to serve for the new year are as follows:

Mrs. Maggie Strong, president; Mrs. Mamie Leary, vice president; Mrs. M. T. Burney, secretary; Mrs. Ometa Allen, assistant secretary; Mrs. J. M. Reaves, treasurer.

Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, Home

agent, introduced Mr. Talmage T. Mitchell, Negro Assistant County Agent, to the group. Helpful remarks were given by Mr. Mitchell. The meeting was closed by repeating the club collect.

Arm And Leg Of Rutledge Found To Be Paralyzed

York Me., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge's physician said today that the jurist's left arm and leg are paralyzed.

The 55-year-old justice suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. He has been in York Hospital 11 days.

"Justice Rutledge shows a slight improvement in speech but his left arm and left leg do not show any improvement in paralysis," said Dr. Elmer Tower.

Justice Rutledge is "almost out" of the coma into which he sank last Friday, Dr. Tower said. "The justice's pulse and respiration remain the same."

The hospital has reported a slight improvement in the jurist's condition in the past few days.

Phantom Backfield Shows Well; Weakness Is In Line

GHS Squad Gets First Taste Of Outside Opposition Thursday In Scrimmage With Farmville Eleven; Experience Lacking In Forward Wall

By EUGENE PRICE
Greenville High School's North-eastern Conference football hopes took a new lease on life this week as the Phantom backfield showed promise of developing into a fast and smooth working quartet of ball carriers.

But the forward wall, which suffered the loss of most of its lettermen including all conference Bobby Fleming, exhibited pointed weaknesses and showed little promise of matching the performance evidenced by the backs.

The squad will get its first taste of outside opposition Thursday afternoon when it goes to Farmville for a scrimmage session with the Farmville high school eleven.

"Our backs are looking very good," Coach Farley of the Phantoms said yesterday afternoon following a lengthy intersquad scrimmage session. He expressed his satisfaction at the ball handling and blocking performance of Quarterback Jimmy Cox, halfbacks Jake Hixes and Walter Perry, and fullback Paul Conway.

The Greenville backs will not be impressed under the weight list on the roster but they are fast and are getting most of their duties smoothly. "There are a few rough edges yet but they are looking good," Farley explained.

But the gray thatched Phantom mentor shook his head skeptically when he mentioned the line. "We are especially weak offensively at tackle," he said. He was quick to explain that both the boys who are playing the tackle slots are newcomers. One is 240 pound Bruce Strickland and the other is 190 pound Jim Brady. "They're big alright, but they just don't have the experience yet," Farley commented.

Mae Crawford and Julian Vain-right are both showing up "pretty good" at the guard position, Farley said. Crawford was one of the few veteran linemen while Vainright graduated this year from the Jayvee squad. Joe Rowland, another former Jayvee guard, is also being counted on for some work in the Phantom line this fall. Onra Joseph, and Charles Huffstetler, both lower classmen, are also showing promise of becoming good guards for the Phantoms.

Hair, who lettered at center last year, is currently leading the fight for the starting topay turvy post with Tommy Pace and Jimmy Cheatham being counted on for support.

Lem Moore, who looked good at guard for the Jayvees last season, is now making a powerful bid for a starting end post with the varsity. Jack Nielson, out most of last season with an injury, and Billy Tillman are also showing up at end.

Yankees Facing Vital Series In Meeting Boston

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees, leading the American League since the opening gun, face their severest test of the season tonight when they open a vital three-game series with the challenging Boston Red Sox at Yankee Stadium.

Casey Stengel's crippled Yanks lead the sizzling Sox by a game and a half and a Boston sweep would dump the Yanks into second place. Stengel has selected Alie Reynolds (13-4) to face Ellis Kinder (18-5) before an estimated 75,000 plus crowd. Lefty Ed Lopat is the probable Yankee pitcher for the second encounter and Vic Raschi or Tommy Byrne for the third. The Sox are expected to counter with Jack Kramer and 21-game winner Mel Parnell.

Reynolds, despite his impressive won-lost record, has had a rough season while Kinder is enjoying the best campaign of his career. Reynolds has completed only four of 25 starts. He turned in his best game last Saturday when he blanked the last place Washington Senators on three singles.

Kinder, who never won more than ten games in the majors until this season, is working on an eight-game winning streak. The return to action of Joe DiMaggio and possibly Catcher Yogi Berra greatly enhances the Yankee chances. DiMaggio bowed out of the second game in the Labor Day doubleheader in Philadelphia because of leg cramps but the latter reported the ailment has disappeared.

Berra, out with a fractured left thumb since Aug. 7, participated in a "pepper game" yesterday. He reported the digit "felt swell and I guess I'll play." The Yogi's big bat will receive a royal welcome.

While the Yanks and Red Sox go at each other the third place Cleveland Indians and fourth place Detroit Tigers will be battling.

The Tigers entertain the Indians in a two game series. The Indians trail the Yanks by four and one half games. The Tigers are six and one half games behind.

Meanwhile, the equally tense National League race finds the front-running St. Louis Cardinals only one game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Don Newcombe, big Negro right-hander, pitched the Dodgers to within a game of the Red Birds last night as he turned back the Boston Braves 10-2 at Ebbets Field. The Cards, the Chicago Cubs and the entire American League were idle.

Newcombe, in bagging his 18th triumph, yielded only six hits and fanned seven to run his league-leading streakout total to 126.

Jockeys Asked To End Riding Pending Probe

Timonium, Md., Sept. 7—(AP)—Two jockeys have been asked not to accept further mounts at Timonium race track pending the outcome of an investigation of their activities.

That was announced last night by George Brown, Jr., chief steward at the track. Brown said the investigation by the Thoroughbred Racing Association's Protective Bureau deals with possible "unethical behavior and associations."

Chairman H. Courtenay Jenifer of the racing commission named the two jockeys as J. C. Gilbert and Mike Sarno.

"As I understand it, it is a question of Associations," Jenifer said. "It (the investigation) deals in part with a Harford County man believed to be a bookmaker."

Coach Dole Drives Pirates In Long Session With Scrimmage

By FRANK HOGG
Coach Bill Dole put his "Pirates" through a long practice session yesterday. Every single minute of the practice found the squad members engaged in some grueling work. While the backs and ends worked on pass offense and defense, the linemen under the guidance of Coaches Boone and Porter worked on line blocking.

The latter part of the practice found the "Pirates" engaged in a heavy scrimmage. The spirited scrimmage session featured some long runs and fine defensive play.

Several backs broke loose for long runs but the defensive play overshadowed the offensive. Linemen turning in some fine defensive plays were Leon Ellis, Mac Lewis, Stan Peel, Al Auerbach and Ken Booth. Ends Dwight Shoe, John Daughtry and Ed Tanner showed up well on the offense catching passes thrown by Roger Thrift, Sandy Siler and Leon Jones.

Back field candidates showing up well were Frank Maennie, Jack Benzie, Jack Britt and Billy Smith. Smith broke loose for the longest run of the day as he sailed 80 yards.

gal third-sacker last week picked up eight points on Thumpin' Teddy.

While Williams skidded six points to 363, Kell inched up two points to 341. The previous week, Williams held a 20-point margin which now has melted to 12.

Kell is Williams' only barrier to a third straight batting crown and Ted's fifth since 1941. Third with 320 is Bob Dillinger of St. Louis.

Kell Gaining On Ted Williams In Batting Race

Chicago, Sept. 7—(AP)—If Boston's Ted Williams is looking over his shoulder in the American League batting race, he will find Detroit's George Kell coming strong. The Ben-down the field on an off-tackle run. The small speedster was trapped three times but broke loose. Ken Booth, tackle, aided Smith by taking out the safety man with a rolling block.

Coach Dole was pleased with the practice but was well aware of the toll the fast pace he is forced to maintain is taking on his squad. Reggie Byrd and Mike Kovach once again were forced to the sidelines with injuries. Paul Trotman also was sidelined today while Dennis Smith worked out lightly due to a pulled thigh muscle.

Cincinnati, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Major league baseball has voted against repealing the bonus rule, the office of Baseball Commissioner A. R. Chandler announced today.

In a brief statement, Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said: "The amendment to major and major-minor league rule E (F), the bonus rule, on which a mail vote from the major league clubs was requested Aug. 25, failed of passage."

The amendment, which had been approved by the major league executive committee, would have set aside provisions of the bonus rule for the new crop of players but would have kept them in effect for three years for those players already covered.

Shavely Included In Gloomy Ranks Of Grid Coaches

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gloom cast its shadow over most of the football camps of the Southern Conference today (Wednesday). Rain, injuries and poor performances in scrimmage sessions brought moans from coaches, the day's No. 1 grumbler being the usually light-lipped Carl Shavely, boss of the University of North Carolina Tar Heels.

"Everything has gone wrong so far," Shavely said of the Tar Heels' practice to date. "We are having trouble getting representative teams lined up."

Shavely's biggest star, All-America Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice was sidelined with a virus infection. Joe Dudek, a sophomore guard being groomed for a first team spot, received an arm injury. Other Tar Heels also are out of action for various reasons.

George Washington's Colonials lost Jim Regan, first team guard, for the remainder of the season. Regan, of Walpole, Mass., will undergo a knee operation Friday.

Tom Nugent, Virginia Military Institute's new head coach, said the Keydet practice sessions were slowed because some players had to take time out for academic re-examinations. Nugent shifted Tom Hedge, a center, to tackle.

At South Carolina, Coach Rex Enright said his squad's blocking was "terrible" in the young campaign's first scrimmage for the Gamecocks. Enright did take time to praise two regular backs from the 1948 varsity, Steve Wadiak and Bishop Strickland.

Rain got the best of outside drills at Furman, the Citadel and Clemson.

Duke's Wallace Wade toyed with the T-formation as the Blue Devils worked behind locked gates. George Skipworth, former junior varsity back from Columbus, Ga., sparkled during the experiments.

Carroll Blackerby, Dickie Davis, Ed Kissell and Ed Salley filled the air with passes as Wake Forest's Deacons concentrated on pass protection.

North Carolina State's Beattie Feathers used both the T-formation and the Tennessee single wing. Sophomores took the show in the Wolfpack's first full-fledged scrimmage.

Shirley May Will Try Swim Again

Dover, Eng., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Shirley May France, red-eyed, string-haired and tired, said today she will have another try at swimming the English Channel.

"It beat me yesterday, but I am sure I can get across next time," said the 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., schoolgirl.

She does not know when "next time" will be, but it may be in a year or two.

Shirley May was pulled out of the water yesterday afternoon after she had tried courageously for 10 1-2 hours to swim from France to England.

She was hauled out at a point estimated to be six miles from her goal, a very cold, but determined girl.

She protested violently at this. Her shouts of "No, no," rang out over the waves.

"I am very disappointed," Shirley May said after a warm bath and shampoo to take the grease out of her hair. "It was the first five hours of the swim that beat me."

"Those awful, chopping waves washed the grease from my shoulders and after that, of course, I got cold quickly."

The temperature of the water was never above the low sixties and in some frigid currents might have been under 60 degrees, her handlers said.

"I wonder what could have happened if I had had a good day," said Shirley May. "Anyway, I am sure I can do it."

"The child was just battered beyond human endurance," said her coach, Harry Boudakian.

From Section A, Article XIV of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Coastal Plain League governing the post-series, we find the following: "The admission to be charged for any semi-finals, or post-series shall be the same as for the regular season. . . . This means that you fans may attend the post-series games at the regular price paid during the regular season."

Let's take a quick glance at the final standings as the regular season in Coastal Plain League came to a close Monday night. Rocky Mount finished in first position with 79 wins and 60 losses for a 56.8 percentage. The Kinston Eagles finished in second place with 74 wins and 64 losses for a 53.6 percentage, or four and one-half games behind the Leafs; the New Bern Bears with 78 wins and 66 losses and a 525 mark finished in third place, six games behind the Leafs and one and one-half games behind the Bears; and the Greensboro with 71 wins and 67 losses and a .515 mark finished seven and one-half games out of top place, three games behind the second-place Eagles and one and one-half games behind the third-place New Bern Bears. In the second division, Goldsboro and Tarboro finished the season with a .500 mark, nine and one-half games out of top place and two full games behind the Greensboro. The Roanoke Rapids Jays wound up in seventh place with a .435 mark, eighteen and one-half games out of top place and nine games behind the Greensboro with the Wilson Tobs finishing in the cellar with a .419 average, twenty and one-half games from Rocky Mount and thirteen games behind the Greensboro.

There are the all-star teams in the Coastal Plain League as chosen by Rocky Mount baseball fans in the Evening Telegram sports poll conducted by that newspaper last week.

First Team: First base, Pappy Williams; second base, Irv Dickens; shortstop, John Tepedino; third base, Babe Johnson; leftfield, Joe Wheeler; centerfield, Chuck Sedor; rightfield, Clyde Whitener; pitcher, Pepper Martin; catchers, Vince Dahl, Spec Padgett and Tony Naposki; utility, Harry Soufas; and manager was Joe Antolick.

Second Team: First base, Harry Soufas; second base, tied between Frank Gardner and Gus Godbold; shortstop, Frank Tepedino; third

Beau Jack Wins Another Bout In Comeback Road

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Beau Jack, the spoiler, heads for Chicago today to continue his comeback campaign in an important fist duel with Cuba's Kid Gavilan.

The former world lightweight champ leaves the West coast having ruined the hitherto unswayed records of two young California boxers.

Last night the 28-year-old Jack handed Tote Martinez of Stockton a 10-round beating at the Olympic Auditorium. It was Martinez' first loss in 28 professional appearances.

The colorful former Georgia boot-black snapped the winning streak of Johnny Gonsalves in Oakland last Wednesday.

Enos Slaughter Now Challenging Jackie In Race

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, of the St. Louis Cardinals, is stirring up quite a fuss in the National League's individual batting race.

Slaughter, a throwback to Cardinal gas house gang of 1934, today was seriously challenging Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson for the title.

Robinson is but six points in front of Slaughter. Jackie is moving at a 348 gait, including games of Labor Day. Slaughter is hard on his heels at 342.

Birmingham Club On Sales Block

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association are on the sales block.

President G. J. (Gus) Jeebles announced last night that he is ready to sell his 51 per cent share of the stock for a "fair price." He said he prefers to sell to a Birmingham group.

Jeebles added, however, that both the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves have expressed interest in the club.

base, Joe Wheeler; leftfield, Willis Mauney; centerfield, Clyde Whitener; rightfield, Jim Burns; catcher, Joe Antolick; pitchers, Tom Marshall, Dis Volselle and Bob Mangum; utility, Dave Fowler; and manager was Red Benton.

Vince Gohl of Tarboro polled more votes than any other player listed. He culled 115 of a possible 122 points. Spec Padgett was next with 103 of 122 votes. All the players listed on the first team won by heavy majorities over the others, except leftfield, where Joe Wheeler beat out Jim Burns by one point, 24 to 23.

Yes, We sent Dad back to school 40 years ago with correct college clothing. The styles have changed during the past 40 years, but Hill's have continued to sell quality merchandise thru the years. Such well known brands as Hart-Schaffner & Marx and Griffon Clothes . . . Manhattan shirts and pajamas . . . Dobbs Hats . . . McGregor Sportswear . . . Florsheim and Crosby Square Shoes . . . Interwoven Hose . . . Jantzen Sweaters . . . Alligator Gabardine Coats and Rain Wear.

During the '49-'50 College Year—

You will see on every campus in the country, single breasted 4-patch pockets in Flannels, Gabardines and Worsteds.

The wing tip Cordovan oxford is a must with every college student. Grey Flannel Slacks and slip-over sweaters are appropriate in every classroom. On rainy days nothing would be finer than a McGregor Drizler Jacket.

We could suggest Corduroy jackets in all the new Fall shades with a gabardine washable sport shirt.

Shirts with a college education is Manhattan of course, in the new wide spread collars with french cuffs. You may prefer an oxford cloth with button down collars, in white, blue, green, or tan which looks very Collegiate with that Windsor knot tie.

TONIGHT'S GAMES
(Semi-Finals)
Greenville at Rocky Mount
New Bern at Kinston

All roads lead to Rocky Mount tonight when Greenville and Rocky Mount open the post-season series in semifinals play. Game time is 7:45 o'clock and my advice is that you go early and assure yourself a seat. . . . Manager Pappy Williams has stated that he will start Jim Leway against the Leafs in the opening game. Leway at the present time has a record of ten wins and twelve losses. And of his wins and losses none of them are against the Rocky Mount Leafs.

In past records for the season between the two clubs are any indication of what to expect in the series between the Leafs and the Greensboro, then Greenville really has a big advantage. The two clubs met in a total of 20 games this season with the Greensboro coming out on top in fourteen of the twenty contests. The Leafs won the first four straight games played between the two clubs at the start of the season and then from May 23rd through August 3 (or for ten straight meetings between the two clubs) the Greensboro came out victorious in every game. The Greensboro have shut out Rocky Mount twice this season with the Leafs whitewashing the Greensboro on one occasion.

In the other half of the semifinals to be played between the New Bern Bears and the Kinston Eagles the Bears have been victorious in sixteen of their twenty meetings this year and of the sixteen wins by the Bears eight of them have been via the shutout route.

In the twenty-game series between the Leafs and the Greensboro the locals have scored a total of 160 runs and the Rocky Mount Leafs have scored a total of 102 runs.

Let's take a quick glance at the final standings as the regular season in Coastal Plain League came to a close Monday night. Rocky Mount finished in first position with 79 wins and 60 losses for a 56.8 percentage. The Kinston Eagles finished in second place with 74 wins and 64 losses for a 53.6 percentage, or four and one-half games behind the Leafs; the New Bern Bears with 78 wins and 66 losses and a 525 mark finished in third place, six games behind the Leafs and one and one-half games behind the Bears; and the Greensboro with 71 wins and 67 losses and a .515 mark finished seven and one-half games out of top place, three games behind the second-place Eagles and one and one-half games behind the third-place New Bern Bears. In the second division, Goldsboro and Tarboro finished the season with a .500 mark, nine and one-half games out of top place and two full games behind the Greensboro. The Roanoke Rapids Jays wound up in seventh place with a .435 mark, eighteen and one-half games out of top place and nine games behind the Greensboro with the Wilson Tobs finishing in the cellar with a .419 average, twenty and one-half games from Rocky Mount and thirteen games behind the Greensboro.

There are the all-star teams in the Coastal Plain League as chosen by Rocky Mount baseball fans in the Evening Telegram sports poll conducted by that newspaper last week.

First Team: First base, Pappy Williams; second base, Irv Dickens; shortstop, John Tepedino; third base, Babe Johnson; leftfield, Joe Wheeler; centerfield, Chuck Sedor; rightfield, Clyde Whitener; pitcher, Pepper Martin; catchers, Vince Dahl, Spec Padgett and Tony Naposki; utility, Harry Soufas; and manager was Joe Antolick.

Second Team: First base, Harry Soufas; second base, tied between Frank Gardner and Gus Godbold; shortstop, Frank Tepedino; third

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 28
The ringing of the telephone halted Nick Thora in the corridor. Re-entering his office, he took up the receiver. "Yes?" He spoke irritably. Gradually, as he listened, his manner underwent a change. Once or twice he nodded in affirmation of what he was being told. "You've got it straight what you're to do?" the voice at the other end asked. "We don't want any mistakes."

Rushing out of his office, not even bothering to shut the door, he began to give hurried instructions to several men working in the chapel. "One of you fetch the basket out to the front, then get that casket out of here, and step on it. You may have time. If not, you know what to do."

There was no longer any question in Thora's mind. The thing he had so often feared was an actuality. This was the pay-off. Back in his office, he began to gather up various papers and records. Holding them over the metal waste paper basket, he put a match to them, dropping them only when the flames almost burned his hand.

The faint sounds of commotion drifted from the front of the building. Several patrol cars had converged on the building from different directions, one of them pulling up almost at right angles in front of the house to cut off its escape.

Directly in front of the door, a gasping crowd watched the astonishing spectacle of a blazing coffin. An inferno of leaping tongues of flames, fed by the embalming fluid, greedily licked at the polished sides of the casket, turning its fiery outline into a gigantic orange pyre.

Now while the police were occupied would be his opportunity to get away. The side entrance would be his best bet.

He swung around at the sound of the voice behind him. "Going somewhere, Nick?" It asked. Nick had never seen Lieutenant Fletcher before, but recognized him instinctively for what he was.

"What do you want?" Thora asked sharply. "I'm in a hurry. You'd better see me some other time."

"I'm afraid that'll have to wait, Nick," Fletcher advanced into the room. "You're under arrest, a little question of murder. I must caution you that anything you say may be used against you."

Fletcher slowly drew a set of handcuffs from his pocket. Deliberately he extended his hand. "Will you come quietly or wear these?"

Thora shrugged. "I'll come along to humiliate you. You'll see you've made a very serious mistake."

"I'll risk it," Fletcher replied as he accompanied the other out. "It was a good try but it didn't quite work, Nick." He indicated the casket. Although badly scorched, with faint streamers of smoke still rising from the water damped wood the flames were out. A city fire department truck stood at the curb.

Fletcher pushed Thora into the waiting police sedan, and got in beside him.

"Funny how little things can upset a person's schemes," Fletcher said. "Little things like someone turning in the alarm right away and the fire house being just down the block." He chuckled to himself. "I bet this was the first time the boys were asked to put out that kind of fire." He grew serious. "Even at that it was tough and go. It was quite a blaze, but I think we've got enough left to perform an autopsy on."

"Do you think we'll find any arsenic, Nick? Arsenic that wasn't in the embalming fluid?"

Derris pushed open the door of the Liberty Laundry. Although at first she could hear nothing, she had the feeling that she was being watched. She didn't know quite what to make of it. The door to Owens' little office stood ajar, and the room was apparently as empty as the rest of the building. Curiosity drew her toward it. From somewhere she heard the loud ticking of a clock. She did not hear the approach of the man who suddenly stood beside her.

"Oh!" Derris drew back. "You shouldn't sneak up on people like that. You just about scared me to death."

"Looking for someone, miss?" the man asked quietly. Something vaguely familiar about him eluded Derris. Somehow she felt that it was important for her to remember. "I'm only trying to find someone to give this to." She extended the laundry slip. "I'd like to get my things."

"Sorry. It can't be done," he replied. "Orders."

"I don't know what you're talking about, but I want my laundry." Derris spoke sharply, beginning to feel irritated. "Let me speak to the proprietor," she said, attempting to

Little Audrey Pearl Thompson hugs her new pet, Judy II, a gift of the city dog pound at Indianapolis. Her other Cocker Spaniel was brutally beaten by a caller at her home and had to be destroyed by police. The judge sentenced James Purdy, 32, to 60 days on the state farm and fined him $300 for cruelty to animals. # Pitt County Court In Session Here Two Days: Unusually Heavy Docket

By CHESTER WALSH

Judge Dink James and Solicitor Charles Whedbee were confronted by an unusually heavy docket in County Recorder's Court yesterday. The court was in session all day and resumed its sitting again this morning.

The case of James Forrest, charged with driving drunk, was transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Gay Gold Haddock pleaded guilty of driving a motor vehicle after his operator's license had been revoked. Judge James recommended that his driver's license be revoked for an additional 12 months. The court found Haddock guilty of careless and reckless driving, sentenced him to four months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100, costs deducted, and he was ordered not to ride in any motor vehicle except a public bus for three months.

Wilbert Moore was not guilty of careless and reckless driving.

Holland Midgette, convicted of driving drunk and while his operator's license was revoked, was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked for two years.

Robert Barrett, colored, paid court costs for driving a motor vehicle after his operator's license was revoked.

Paul Daniel, colored, convicted of possessing whiskey for sale, was given 90 days on the roads, sentence suspended for two years on payment of $25 and costs.

Johnnie Mobley, colored, whiskey for sale, pleaded nolo contendere and was fined $25 and costs.

Prayer for judgment in the case of Arthur Whitaker, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was continued on payment of court costs.

Non-support: Jimmie Lee Dixon, colored, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $44 for doctor's bill and $5 a week for support of his child Lum Boyd, colored, case continued. Ervin Ross, colored, not pressed with leave.

Abandonment and non-support: Walter Lofton Jr., case transferred to Superior Court. Alton Tyson, charged with violation of court orders in the case, was ordered to serve six months on the roads.

Wiley Briley, worthless check, 30 days, suspended on condition that he pay check and court costs by December 10.

Joe Junior Green, assaulting his wife, paid up on his assessments previously ordered by the court.

Cases disposed of Tuesday afternoon:

next question is tough: "Have the socialist policies, during more than four years of government, improved the economic situation any?"

The answer obviously is in the negative. This puts it up to the party to prove to the public that conservative policies would have met a similar fate. And here again we enter the realm of speculation. The cold fact is that the Labor government departed radically from the system of free enterprise (damned by socialism as "capitalistic") and instituted a very considerable program of nationalization of industries and even of medical services. But still the economic crisis grew.

What the long-range effect of such a policy might have on British economy is a matter of speculation. The question already arises, however, as to how much distrust has been created by nationalization. Is private capital being deterred from investing in non-nationalized industry? Has production slumped in non-nationalized industries because of lack of public investments which are needed for renovations and equipment?

Dollar Crisis . . .

though now Britain's production is much above pre-war days. Yet—and this is important—British manufacturing methods are not so good as ours.

Much of its machinery is out of date and it costs more to make a lot of items than it does in this country. That's a stumbling block to selling British goods here.

The U. S.-Canadian and British trade is out of balance. As noted, Britain needs to buy far more from us than we need from her. This buying from us—more buying than selling—uses up Britain's dollars.

But something else has been using up Britain's dollar supply, also. Britain is linked with a lot of other countries in what is called the "sterling bloc."

Those bloc countries, including Britain, use the pound as their money in trading with one another. But, when they want to buy from the U. S., they need dollars. Where have they been getting the dollars? A big chunk of them from Britain.

Why from Britain, if Britain is short of dollars herself? During the war, when Britain needed dollars so badly, it worked out a deal with its partners in the sterling bloc.

Instead of paying them off in dollars for the things it bought from them, it gave them credit for dollars to be drawn on later. So now, when one of them wants to buy from America, it tells Britain to shell out dollars.

Less than 300,000 American troops were engaged in the war with Spain in 1898.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Negro Riding In Auto

Joe Lawrence Brown, 23-year-old Negro of the Belvoir community, died suddenly last night about 6:30 of a heart attack in a car transporting him to Pitt General hospital.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said Brown, a student at the Veterans' School at Epes Negro High School, rode toward his home in a car with Ulce Atkinson, colored, of Belvoir; that they stopped on the side of the highway and ate grapes; that Brown got on a bicycle, rode a short distance and stopped. When he again got in the car the driver noticed he had stopped talking, felt his heart and it was fluttering. Atkinson started to take him home, but decided to take him to the hospital. Brown was dead on arrival. There will be no inquest.

Brown served nearly four years in the army during World War II. He was a son of Dave Brown, colored, who lives on the Shade Harris farm near Belvoir.

Eisenhower's Labor Day speech to the American Bar Association in St. Louis is regarded widely here as tallying closely with the line of middle of the road Republicans who oppose what they call a welfare state but who don't want to go back to the days of Mark Hanna.

Politicians noted particularly the general's assertion that the future of America "lies down the middle of the road between concentrated wealth on one flank and the unbridled power of statism on the other."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 7—(AP)—A short, lively rally pushed the stock market ahead today. Leading issues advanced fractions to more than a point before demand was satisfied. Top gains were pared here and there but on the whole the improvement was well maintained. Turnover was at the rate of around 900,000 shares for the full session. Brokerage quarters saw nothing in particular in the news to account for the rally.
